Two Air Force Officers Killed By Terrorists

TEHRAN (AP) — Terrorists shot and killed two U.S. Air Force officers on a Tehran street today as they were being driven to work.

The assassins escaped. The Iranian government said they were Marxist guerrillas, and "no action will be spared to find the murderers and bring them to justice."

The embassy officially identified the dead men as Air Force Lt. Col. Paul R. Shafer Jr., 45, a native of Dayton, Ohio, and Air Force Lt. Col. Jack J. Turner, 45, from Carbondale, Ill.

Shafer, a graduate of Ohio State University, was married and the father of two children. Turner, a graduate of the University of Nebraska, was married and the father of three children.

About 20,000 U.S. citizens now live in Iran.

Unofficial sources also reported an Iranian murdered by terrorists today. They said he was an employee of the government radio-television company, Ebrahim Nushirevani, but had no other information about this killing.

A woman telephoned The Associated Press office anonymously at noon and said: "The execution of American officers today was a reply to the execution of nine Iranian revolutionaries in prison last month."

Identifying herself as a spokesman for the Iranian People's Warriors Association, she said Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi is a "stooge of the Americans, therefore we murder Americans." The shah paid a state visit to the President Ford in Washington last week and is now in Paris on his way home.

An Embassy communique gave this account of the shooting: "Two U.S. military officers were assassinated by terrorists at 6:30 a.m.

Wednesday, May 21. As the officers were being driven to their duties, a car pulled out to block their progress on the street. Another car rammed them from behind.

"According to an eyewitness, three men got out of the automobiles and after ordering the Iranian driver of the car carrying the officers to get down on the floor of the car, shot the two officers several times as they fell to the floor. The terrorists then got into a third car and made their escape."

A Marxist-anarchist underground has been active in Iran for several years. About 200 of them have been killed in battles with the police or executed by firing squads, and Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi said while visiting Washington recently that about 3,000 of them are in jail.

Officials in Washington said the U.S. military assistance group in Iran now numbers 1,000 Americans in uniform and about 2,000 civilians. The American community in the country totals 20,000 people and is expected to reach 50,000 by 1980 because of Iran's huge purchases of American arms, industrial equipment and other major items.

An Iranian government spokesman expressed "deep regret" at the murder of the two officers.

SHE NOSE SHE'S BEING BUGGED — A cockchafer (European beetle) is tickling the fanciful nose of a young girl in the Frankfurt zoo, which ordered 30 cockchafers from Switzerland for springtime exhibition. Zoo officials tried in vain to locate the bugs in West Germany.

Community Center Vote Is Scheduled June 19

After years of discussion and planning, voters will make a decision June 19 on whether there is to be a coliseum-type community center on the Howard College campus.

College trustees ordered an election Tuesday for this date in the amount of $1,500,000. Although it is not mandatory, a second proposition would raise the countywide district's permissible rate by 10 cents if it became necessary to impose it. Some private funds may be available for the project.

The proposed structure would be located east of Birdwell Lane and south of Kentucky way, and within proximity of the present parking grounds of Memorial Stadium.

AROUND STAGE Although final plans are yet to be formed, the tentative outlay calls for 3,300 permanent seats around the interior bowl. For lecture or concert type programs, another 1,200 seats could be placed on the floor facing or around a mobile stage.

The building also would contain another meeting room with capability of some 600 seminar or lecture participants. This would be reducible in 12-ft. increments for a variety of meeting rooms.

One of the prime purposes of the structure would be to house the college physical education and indoor athletic programs. It would also contain two handball courts, health club, varsity and three PE dressing rooms; four concession stands; ample exhibit space in the corridor ringing the main space; various offices, restrooms, etc.

Outside dimensions would be 240X164-ft., accounting for 78,600 feet of space. The arena floor would be in an excavated area with the borrowed earth rolled and used as embankment to elevate the top of the seating sections six feet above grade level. The clear-span sector, rising to a height of 40 feet, would be suitable for circuses, ice shows, basketball, volleyball, etc. The auxiliary meeting room area would be 120X36 feet. Gary and Hohertz are the architects.

TAX NEEDED Voters will be asked to decide whether to issue the bonds and pledge a tax sufficient to retire them. Carter Johnston, bond consultant, proposed a schedule which will concentrate on the payment of $563,994 in bonds and interest due between now and 1982, when all current obligations will have been retired. Then, the total debt service would concentrate in the succeeding 13 years until retirement of the coliseum bonds. Johnston's estimates were based on assumed 6 1/2 per cent interest, which he hoped could be bettered.

This will be the first bond issue submitted by the college in 10 years. The 70-cent rate maximum, if the 10-cent increase in ceiling is authorized, would be considerably less than the statutory limit of $1, said Dr. Charles Hays, college president.

Dr. Hays said that an intense educational program is being developed to acquaint the voters of the countywide district with the facts about the college as well as the proposed facility. Assuming approval of the bonds, the college would still be in the median debt range of college districts of the state, and its $10 million campus — designed for offering training would still leave this one of the lower per capita costs for unexcelled education, he said.

The next meeting will be June 2 in order to canvass the returns.

Overriding a presidential veto requires a vote of two-thirds of those present.

Albert said both the White House and the coal industry had been active in lining up votes in the House to sustain Ford's disapproval of the controversial bill.

Memorial Day Rites Slated The veterans organizations of Big Spring and the surrounding area will observe Memorial Day, May 26, with ceremonies at the east end of the Howard County courthouse, beginning at 10 a.m.

Dignitaries and representatives of the various veterans' organizations, as well as the Gold Star mothers and fathers will be in attendance. For those unable to attend, the ceremonies will be broadcast live over the facilities of KBYG Radio."

Mining Showdown Postponed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sponsors of a strip mining bill, fearful they do not have the votes to override President Ford's veto, postponed a showdown scheduled for today until June 10.

Speaker Carl Albert told newsmen the decision was made at the request of members who had been handling the bill and added, "The reason is we are not sure we have got enough votes."

The postponement came as the White House waged a heavy lobbying campaign in an effort to sustain the President's veto. The bill would protect the environment against coal strip mining.

Overriding a presidential veto requires a vote of two-thirds of those present.

Albert said both the White House and the coal industry had been active in lining up votes in the House to sustain Ford's disapproval of the controversial bill.

Chamber Seeks Listings For Calendar Of Events

Clubs, schools, organizations, and Bicentennial committees who have activities slated for June should contact the Chamber of Commerce before Friday in order to get the activities listed on the Calendar of Events for June.

The Calendar, sponsored by the Tourist Development Committee of the Economic Development Council, includes all activities of interest to tourists and local residents.

This is the second month of publication for the calendar, and more events are needed to fill out the month, according to Chamber Manager Terry Hanson.

The calendar is financed by proceeds from the motel occupancy tax and is distributed to local motel and hotel rooms and to the public.

It also includes a map of Big Spring, pinpointing places of interest and includes a few photographs of Big Spring attractions.

To report an activity, call the Chamber office at 263-7641.

Blood Donations Are Solicited

West Texas Blood Services of San Angelo will send its mobile unit to Forsan May 30 to accommodate volunteers who desire to donate blood for Terry Mills, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Mills of Sterling City Route.

Terry is now in the Anderson Clayton Hospital in Houston where he is being treated for leukemia.

The unit will be in operation at the band hall from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. Those who plan to volunteer are being asked to contact Bob Cowley at the Fire Service Station in Forsan or call the Mills home at 398-5416.

Grocery Prices Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Grocery prices reversed a two-month downturn and helped push over-all consumer prices up six-tenths of a per cent in April, the government reported today.

The April increase was double that of March and the biggest increase since January when retail prices also rose six-tenths of a per cent. But the increase still was far below the typical monthly increases of inflationary 1974, when the annual rate was 12.2 per cent.

The White House had said it did not expect the lower March rate to continue. The April increase was in line with the administration's forecast of an annual inflation rate of about 6 or 7 per cent this year.

Retail prices over the past three months have risen at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 5.8 per cent.

Graduation Exercises Under Way For Schools

Many area high schools hold graduation exercises this week with Big Spring and Lamesa holding the latest commencement exercises on May 29.

Garden City will hold its graduation exercises for 18 seniors Thursday, May 22 at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium. The school will have no baccalaureate services.

At Sands High in Ackerly, the exercises will also be at 8 p.m. Thursday May 22 with an identical number of 18 seniors. Its baccalaureate was held last Sunday. Eighth grade graduation will be held Friday, May 23, at 8 p.m.

Coahoma has 76 seniors this year and will also hold its combined baccalaureate-graduation services at 8 p.m. Thursday, May 22 in the high school auditorium.

At Stanton, exercises for 40 seniors will be held at 8 p.m. Friday, May 23, at the high school auditorium. The 8th grade will hold its event at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Westbrook held its baccalaureate last Sunday in Wildcat gym. The graduation will be held there at 8:15 p.m., Thursday, May 22.

At Colorado City, the baccalaureate services will be this Sunday at 4 p.m. at the high school auditorium.

Graduation exercises are next Tuesday, May 27 at 8 p.m., in the high school stadium for 89 seniors.

Lamesa High will graduate 193 Thursday, May 29, at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Baccalaureate is to be held Sunday, with a location to be announced.

Big Spring's baccalaureate for 303 seniors will be held at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in Memorial Stadium. Graduation will be Thursday, May 29 at the same location.

The World At-A-Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration officials expect the cartel of oil-exporting nations to impose a petroleum price increase of 10 to 15 per cent by the end of the summer, a move that could provide more trouble for the U.S. economy. The administration's expectations were made known after the House Rules Committee abruptly suspended action Tuesday evening on a congressional energy conservation measure. The committee was to schedule the bill for House floor action today but instead put the matter over until after Congress comes back from its Memorial Day recess on June 2.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Women cadets could enroll at the three military academies as early as next year if the Senate follows the House in voting to end the sex barrier. Admission of women to West Point, Annapolis and the Air Force Academy was approved Tuesday night by the House 303 to 96 over objections that entrance to the academies could be the first step to putting them into combat.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's main purpose in going to next week's NATO summit meeting in Brussels is to reassure the allies that U.S. support remains firm despite defeats in Indochina. All heads of government except France's plan to attend, and sources here say President Valery Giscard d'Estaing may show up, depending on his reading of the public mood.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford appears to have found a "non-political" strategy for getting an early start on his promised 1976 campaign by embracing the role of "Bicentennial President." Ford assumed the Bicentennial mantle twice in three days this week, before markedly different audiences in Philadelphia and Charlotte, N.C. In each case the results could only have heartened the President and his political advisers.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Florida doctors looked forward today to guaranteed insurance coverage and a reduction in patient lawsuits under a medical malpractice reform act signed Tuesday by Gov. Reubin Askew. Sponsors said the new law represents the first comprehensive attack on the malpractice dilemma in the nation. In California, where doctor protests over soaring malpractice rates have halted nonessential surgery at many hospitals, the legislature is in special session to consider malpractice legislation.

HOMEWOOD, Ill. (AP) — "If it were me that needed help, Barbara would be there," says 12-year-old Carol Searing, who is about to sacrifice one of her kidneys to save her twin sister. A judge on Tuesday approved the operation in which Carol will donate the kidney to her sister. "Barbara is incredibly lucky," her father, George Searing, said. "Because she has an identical twin to donate the kidney, there is no danger that her body will reject it." Barbara has been receiving dialysis treatments since April, he said, but these treatments would eventually begin to harm her.

CONOVER, Wis. (AP) — Dorothy Rice is in the lingerie business. For cows. She is president of the Franksville Specialty Co., which makes giant brassieres for milk-laden dairy cows. The bras, which come in basic barnyard brown, are not only designed to make cows more comfortable and induce them to give more milk, but they also help keep cows from injuring their sagging udders. Mrs. Rice says her company sold 5,000 udder supports last year for about $31 each.

'BOY COMPLAINED OF BITTER TASTE'

O'Bryan Gave Son Poisoned Candy?

HOUSTON (AP) — A suburban Deer Park police officer testified Tuesday that Ronald G. O'Bryan told investigators he gave his own son Halloween candy which police said later proved to contain a lethal dose of cyanide poison.

William P. Bess, a Deer Park, Tex. police detective, described in testimony an interview with O'Bryan which took place only a few hours after Timothy O'Bryan, 8, died Halloween night of cyanide poisoning.

"He said his son asked for candy and picked up a Giant Pixy Stix (a powdered confection packaged in plastic tubes)," said Bess.

"The father opened it for him and the boy took some, but said it wouldn't come out. So he (O'Bryan) said he rolled it between his hands and the boy ate it, said the officer.

"He (O'Bryan) said he held the tube and poured it down the child," said Bess. "The boy complained of a bitter taste and he (O'Bryan) gave the child some Kool Aide to wash it down."

Within a few minutes the boy was vomiting and convulsing.

Again quoting O'Bryan, Bess said: "He held him over the commode. He (the boy) heaved and then he went limp in his (O'Bryan's) arms."

Bess said the boy died a short time after being taken to a hospital and the officer met with O'Bryan at the family townhouse apartment. The officer said O'Bryan surprised him with his composure.

"He was upset," said Bess, "but I thought he should have been more emotional."

O'Bryan is charged with capital murder in the death of his son. The state charges that he poisoned the boy to collect on an insurance policy. He is also charged with attempted murder for allegedly handing out four other cyanide-laced Pixy Stix.

Earlier witnesses testified that the Pixy Stix appeared in O'Bryan's hands during a rain-drenched trick or treat outing in the Bowling Green subdivision of Pasadena, a town neighboring Deer Park

Both are Houston suburbs. The trick or treat outing came after the O'Bryan family had dinner with the family of Jim Bates, a resident of Bowling Green.

Two Bates children, Kimberly, 11, and Mark, 9, testified that O'Bryan handed out five Pixy Stix at the Bates home after the Halloween outing. They said he had one of the candies left after giving one each to the Bates children and one each to Timothy and to his daughter, Elizabeth O'Bryan, 6.

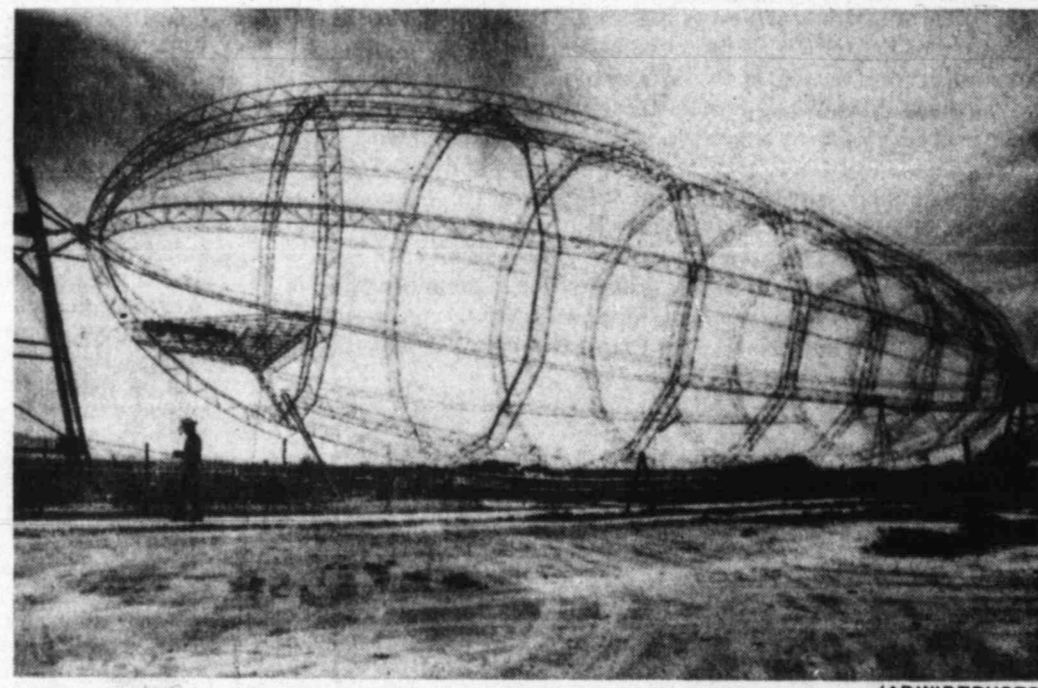

The fifth candy went to Whitney Parker, a 10-year-old boy who called on the Bates home while O'Bryan was there.

Parker, a Pasadena fifth grader, testified Tuesday that he tried to eat the cyanide-laced candy, but failed only because he couldn't open the tough plastic tube.

The youngster said he was with three other children when they stopped at the Bates home.

He said O'Bryan opened the door.

"He gave us a handful of bubble gum and then reached behind him and brought out a Pix Stix," said Parker. "He held it up real high and said 'who wants this'."

AIRSHIP TAKING SHAPE — The first rigid American-built airship since the 1930s is gradually taking shape on farmland near Chandler, Ariz. It's being built by the father-son team of Clair and Darwin Conrad. They plan to have the craft in the air by Christmas.

Meany's Track Record

Economists can be found to support just about any argument about the economy, where it's headed and why it's behaved as it has. But out of all the confusion of learned voices during the past several months, no economist has a better track record than crusty George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO.

When President Ford convoked his "Economic Summit" parley in the fall, it concluded inflation was the No. 1 target. Thus was spawned the WIN button, the President's "clean your plates" speech and all the rest — to be followed quickly by a deep slide into recession.

At that conference, Meany was a participant. But he wasn't among those on the consensus side. Instead, Meany was warning that recession was our No. 1 worry, that jobs were going to become scarcer, and that government should concentrate its efforts on stimulating the economy rather than drying it up.

As it turned out, Meany was right. Since then, the government has come forth with its usual economic projections. Meany has had his own set of figures, different from the government's, on what prospects are. Meany has been the more accurate forecaster.

Now, when everyone is signalling a turnaround in store, Meany is again in dissent. He predicts a jobless rate of 11.5 per cent before the year is out; that would mean about 9.7 million Americans out of work. The figure is considerably above government predictions.

What does the labor chief propose that government do? The opposite of official policy is his prescription. Instead of worrying about a budget deficit of $65 billion, Meany says we should hike it perhaps to $100 billion, in an all-out attack on recession. His argument is that the first priority should be jobs, not worry over inflation of the money supply. Unless the risk of a whopping deficit is accepted, Meany warns, high rates of unemployment will linger for years, wrecking the economy.

His arguments are worth consideration, but the stimulation of the economic adrenals should be coupled with a commitment to pull back with commensurate speed and skill. The hard fact is that someday, somehow, we must pay back (deficit) borrowed monies.

Nostalgic Times

Many Americans are taking a nostalgic trip, back to what seemed a happier time when Harry Truman was giving them hell — then was just about anyone that opposed him. Truman revisited is an amusing and often stirring experience.

What seemed to have started this interest was Merle Miller's "Plain Speaking." It is a condensed and edited version of many long, taped conversations between Miller and Truman. It reveals the embattled warrior at his uninhibited best.

Another manifestation of the mood is the sellout crowds at Ford's Theater in Washington to see "Give 'Em Hell Harry," with James Whitmore in the role of Truman.

It was another era, of course. We had just emerged from World War II, the most powerful nation in the world. We still had the illusion we could be the policeman of the world. We had a reservoir of world popularity which has long since been eroded.

Today we are no longer cocky. The Watergate affair and related matters and our disappointment in Vietnam has left us confused and dismayed. The world is no longer our oyster. But we are still very much in it, and still a potent force in it.

Very Interesting

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

From the National LP-Gas Association (LP being liquefied petroleum gas) comes a piece which suggests that "America may be overlooking the obvious, LP-powered automobiles, naturally."

WELL, THIS isn't new, for already there are thousands of pickups, buses, trucks, tractors, etc. operating on just this very fuel. There's one little catch to this — LP comes from the same basic source as more conventional gasoline. The fuel shortage, as I read the experts, is not so much one of petroleum derivative as it is of petroleum (oil and gas) itself.

Reminds me of a piece of unforgettable advice I got from a friend in my baseball days. He had figured out a bit of strategy and asked if I could hit the ball where I wanted. Sometimes, I boasted. Then, knock it over the centerfielder, he offered. So it's not the refinements so much as it is the basics.

ANYHOW, THERE is much to be said for the LP-Gas as an automotive fuel. It burns more completely and hence contributes practically nothing to atmospheric pollution. It burns cleaner, almost eliminates engine carbon and sludge, thus extending engine life. Generally speaking, engines fired by LP-Gas use less oil, and causes far less trouble on spark plugs and carburetor. In many instances, it sells for less than gasoline.

THEN WHY doesn't everyone convert to propane or some of the other LP-Gases. One thing is that it takes around $500 to make the switch. Another is that you just don't drive up to the average service station and say "fill 'er up with LP-G." And, I have a feeling that if everyone shifted, or even a sizeable portion of the car owners, we would experience a super-shortage of the material. It has been less than a year since dealers were crying for LP to satisfy their farm home and off-main gas customers.

FOR THOSE who can, and who have assured sources of supplies, conversion to LP-Gas may offer real convenience, and even economy. If we're patient, we wait around for liquid hydrogen to come on the market. Prototypes of fuel systems using this almost inexhaustible fuel have shown wonderful results.

There's some speculation that lesser fuels will be used, for instance some countries propel their urban buses with steam generated from charcoal. But charcoal can produce carbon monoxide, too, and anyhow, it would be just like some cowboy to burn cowpicks, and pollution would get clear out of hand.

THE ULTIMATE, some say, is nuclear powered units, but that seems now to be far fetched or a long, long time away. The same may be said for solar-powered units which would convert the sun's rays to energy, either steam or electrical (direct or through charged batteries for electric cars).

As Artie Johnson used to say: "Very interesting." But as for me, I think I'll stay on speaking terms with my friendly service station operator.

Win No. 2

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — On the heels of the spectacular triumph in the Mayaguez incident, Gerald R. Ford's embattled presidency is nearing a second successive foreign policy win: breaking the ominous deadlock with Congress over barring U.S. military aid to Turkey.

MORE IMPORTANT, the virtual certainty that the Senate will vote tomorrow to lift the arms embargo assures a delay in the expected closing down by Turkey of vital American base facilities. Once started, that process could erode even more dangerously the strained relations between the U.S. and its longtime valuable ally.

The private Senate headcount shows a minimum of 53 Senators ready to vote to end the arms embargo imposed last fall by the Greek congressional lobby after Turkey's use of U.S. arms in invading Cyprus.

WHAT MAKES the timing so important is today's meeting of the Central Treaty Organization (CENTO) in Ankara. In confidential negotiations with Congressmen leading the Greek lobby, administration officials have pointedly warned that Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and his political deputy, under Secretary Joseph J. Sisco, would find themselves in a diplomatic hornet's nest in Ankara unless Congress showed some give on the arms embargo.

That word has now switched a number of Senators. Softening their anti-Turk animus even more, however, is the fact that Monday's vote, unlike the similar vote last fall, follows the November election. The well-financed Greek-American lobby had far more leverage last fall.

SEN. THOMAS Eagleton of Missouri, who led last fall's Senate bar of all U.S. military aid to Ankara, is still opposed. However, Eagleton will confine himself to a speech opposing the amendment, and not make an all-out fight against it.

Only two weeks ago congressional leaders of the Greek lobby privately warned the White House that if the President insisted on forcing a Senate vote now, Kissinger would be "burned to a crisp" in the debate. Following Mr. Ford's new eminence as a strong President boldly moving to assert American rights in last week's dramatic Cambodian rescue, such threats have vanished.

"Comon, Jerry! It's high time the White House gave us some sense of direction!"

We Hold These Truths... A Chronicle of America

May, 1775:

In a letter to his friend, Dr. William Small — now returned to England — Thomas Jefferson writes: "[We have recently] received the unhappy news of an action of considerable magnitude between the king's troops and our brethren of Boston. . . . This accident has cut off our last hopes of reconciliation, and a phrenzy of revenge seems to have seized all ranks of people. It is lamentable that the only mediatory power acknowledged by both parties [the king], instead of leading to a reconciliation his divided people, should pursue the incendiary purpose of still blowing up the flames, as we find him constantly doing in every speech and declaration. . . . [And] the dignity of Parliament, it seems, can brook no opposition to its power. Strange that a set of men who have made sale of their virtue to the minister [Lord North, the Prime Minister] should yet talk of retaining dignity!"

What's Missing?

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Interest rates are falling, the rate of price rises is slowing, consumer confidence seems to be strengthening, and the economy in general appears to be correcting some of its major imbalances.

What's missing, and its absence is obvious when you dwell upon it, is the proverbial collective sigh of relief that the worst is over. There are no celebrations in Washington, in academia, in the offices of industry, in union halls.

It is understandable why workers aren't happy; at 8.9 per cent, the rate of unemployment remains at a rate close to double that which we expect to prevail when times are good. And the rate isn't expected to decline quickly.

Neither do you have to be told again why the automotive people are upset; they've had one sales disappointment after another, the latest being the steady passage of May without even a hint of the usual springtime sales rally. Less obvious is the reason why others, from consumers up to presidential advisers, aren't ready to sit back, relax and enjoy the coming recovery.

The most plausible explanation for the lack of enthusiasm is that a good many people are looking beyond the latter part of 1975 and they don't like what they see: Many of the same problems we've just come through.

That is, they fear a return to inflation, to higher interest rates and perhaps even shortages, the most serious possibility in that category being a lack of capital to finance industry's expansion.

A lot of people hear of the impending capital shortage without comprehending its significance. But if there is insufficient capital to finance business and government, the whole economy could stagnate. Somewhere between $25,000 and $50,000, depending upon the industry, is necessary to create a job, and L. William Seidman, assistant to the President for economic affairs, estimated here this week that we'll need to make 10 million new jobs by 1980.

If the capital isn't there — from the savings of individuals, from the big financial institutions such as insurance companies and pension funds, and from foreign investment, then the jobs can't be created.

The darkest specter out ahead is the federal deficit, whose financing takes precedence over that of private enterprise. Can the credit markets accommodate huge federal deficits?

Raymond Saulnier, former economic adviser to President Eisenhower, says one consequence could be higher interest rates and faster inflation and a return to ceilings on wages, prices and interest rates. A dismal prospect.

Liver Transplants

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I know they have done several heart and kidney transplants, but I wonder if they have ever tried a liver transplant.

C.D.P. The Bulletin of the American College of Surgeons in a recent issue carried a rather complete rundown on all organ transplants performed worldwide. The figures are gathered periodically by the Organ Transplant Registry.

As of January of this year, the registry had recorded a total of 189 liver transplants. Only a fraction of the patients have survived, however — 24 for more than a year, 12 for two years, and six for three years. One recipient survived five years. Kidney transplants have been by far the most numerous — and the most successful. There have been 19,907 such transplants involving 17,936 patients. Those alive today with functioning kidney grafts number approximately 8,000. The longest surviving recipient who received a kidney from an identical twin — has lived 18 years after surgery.

There have been 36 pancreas transplants made, and of these only one is alive with a functioning graft. He has lived 2.7 years after surgery. Much progress is being made in this challenging field of medicine, but much more remains to be made. The biggest problem remains that of the failure of the tissues of one body to accept the tissue of another. In liver transplants, the problem of complications in the biliary duct following surgery remains as a particular drawback.

Is angina pectoris dangerous? Is there a cure? If you would like to learn more about this heart condition, write to Dr. Thosteson, in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 3999, Elgin, Illinois 60120, for a copy of his booklet, "How to Handle Angina Pectoris." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

My Answer

Billy Graham

A growing problem today seems to be marital infidelity and marriage breakup. I think young people are marrying without proper preparation. Don't you think we must stress education, financial stability and a reluctance to enter relationships that can't be sustained? H.O.

Since your letter was unsigned and without many clues, I could not tell about your own age or marital status. It sounded, however, as if you were a senior citizen and perhaps unmarried.

You see, it's very easy to be objective about love when it doesn't involve yourself. Unfortunately, affairs of the heart are seldom determined by cold analysis. There's a chemistry of love that often defies reason. As far as preparation is concerned, I can think of many long-term marriages — happy and successful ones — which began while both were young, and hence could have had only the most meager preparation.

No, what's needed is more than education or lessons in budget building. There's a spiritual dimension to successful marriage. And when each lives for Christ, then they will have God's blessing on their love for each other. The spiritual strength of faith is the only weapon against marital boredom and ultimately infidelity.

A Devotion For Today . .

"Love does not insist on its own way." (1 Corinthians 13:5, RSV)

PRAYER: Dear Father, give us the kind of heart that cares, the kind of heart that transmits to every person we meet the message of his or her importance. As those persons see how much we care, help us to tell them of You, Lord — who cares so much more. Amen.

Gem Course Is Planned

Applications are being accepted at Howard College for a beginning class in jewelry manufacturing. It is one of two of its kind in Texas, and Theron Lee, director of continuing education for HC, predicted a substantial enrollment for both the Summer and Autumn classes. The course will be in the fundamental use of tools and equipment in the manufacturing of costume and fine jewelry. One section of the class has been going since last Autumn with the result that numbers of creative and strikingly beautiful pieces have been turned out, said Lee. Instructor is Fred Tatum, an experienced jeweler. The current and Summer sign up will be Part I of a two-part program. The second phase will begin with the Autumn semester. Fee for the class is $150, said Lee. More information or pre-registration may be gained by calling the office of continuing education at Howard College.

Record Sum Is Accumulated

LAMESA — Youths and civic leaders here rode bicycles a combined total of more than 1,444 miles Saturday to raise a record $2,400 for the American Cancer Society. The annual Bike-A-Thon was labeled a success after riders topped last year's mark by more than $1,000. Trophies awarded to school classes and organizations fielding the most riders went to the B.Z. Rogers Elementary School fourth graders, Middle School sixth graders and Lamesa High School freshmen. The Lamesa Jaycees won first place and the travelling trophy which the Lamesa Optimists held after winning last year. The 1948 Delphin Club, only women's organization in the event, placed second among civic clubs.

Reshuffle Caused Many TV Editors To Groan

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — On April 21, NBC unveiled its evening TV lineup for next fall. On April 30, a day after CBS rolled out its new lineup, NBC moved 10 shows to new times to more effectively battle for viewers. The big reshuffle caused many TV editors to groan and wonder why NBC simply didn't follow the custom of past years and wait for CBS' fall schedule before announcing its own. "We wanted to be the first one out," says NBC-TV's president, Bob Howard. He said being first not only carries prestige in TV, it also "sets in people's minds a sign of leadership" in the industry. Leadership, particularly in ratings, is what Howard is pushing hard for next season after 19 seasons of being No. 2 to CBS in the cumulative ratings for evening programs. He conceded that when NBC first announced its 1975-76 schedule, "we knew that we were probably going to have to make some changes ... we had to guess and go on rumor of what we'd heard of the CBS schedule." He said a major surprise in CBS' schedule was the move of "All in the Family" from Saturday to Monday night, and a minor surprise the shift of "M-A-S-H" from Tuesday to Friday night. However, he said the important thing was that NBC was the first to tell advertising agencies which new shows it had decided on for fall, in addition to which current series would return in September. While NBC's second 1975-76 schedule might have irked TV editors, no advertising agencies gripped about Schedule No. 2 "because nothing was being bought then," he said. "They were delighted that we came out first. They could look at our product. They were, I think, a little disappointed that CBS had delayed a little bit and that they had to wait for ABC's schedule. "But the early buys, the 'upfront' money as we call it, weren't being made until these people had a chance to look at all the schedules." He said sponsors generally don't start plunking down their cash until they've looked at the new shows and perused the three networks' fall schedules to see the competing lineup of new and returning programs. Sponsors sometimes prefer to advertise on specific nights, Howard said, "but they mainly want to buy the strongest schedule they can, one which meets their demands and draws the type of people they want to reach."

To Select Miss Vacant Lot At Armadillo Event

VICTORIA, Tex. (AP) — The Best All Around Person in the World will be chosen here sometime this week and will take his place of honor alongside the best belcher, best beer can smasher and that queen of queens, whoever she may be, Miss Vacant Lot. Those who claim to be officials of the fifth First Annual International Armadillo Confab and Exposition expect around 50,000 persons to show up here Friday through Sunday for zany events and hoopla, not the least of which is the interest-charged armadillo rooting and burrowing contest. Other events will include a cigarette roll-off, world championship tobacco-spitting contest in both the upwind and downwind categories, tuba and raspberry blow-off, and a yell-off. Organizers of the annual regalia say there will be, in addition to fiddlers and bluegrass musicians, a Saturday night concert staged by three bands — The Velvet Cowpasture, Asleep At the Wheel, and Rural Route Three.

Open Building On Historic Site

COLORADO CITY — The City National Bank made a bit of history here Sunday on a historic date. Open house was held in a new bank addition. Separated by a driveway from the main building, the new structure is on the site of the historic old Barcroft Hotel. The annex will contain offices for three attorneys, including Charles C. Thompson, president and board chairman of the bank. One of the main features, however, is a community room for civic groups. Having the distinction of being the first to make use of it will be the cultural committee of the Chamber of Commerce 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Free Bus Rides, Laying Off 46

DALLAS (AP) — A program offering free bus rides downtown will cost the Dallas Transit System about $160,000, almost the same amount the system says it will save by laying off 46 employees. The 41 drivers and five maintenance workers will be laid off June 1. DTS General Manager Ellis Watkins said the layoffs were necessitated by a declining number of riders and to help keep the system's budget deficit from growing larger than the $4.2 million now predicted. The layoffs will save the system about $163,000 for this year, Watkins said. They are the first layoffs in the bus system's history. The system also will trim 75,000 miles of bus service a month, although not in peak passenger hours, he said. The free downtown ride program, which began Monday, seemed to be working as some drivers reported as many as four times the normal passenger load in the downtown area. Under the program, riders who board downtown pay when they get off the bus. Those who get off downtown pay nothing, but those who go beyond pay the regular fare.

Bodies Found At San Angelo

SAN ANGELO — Police were investigating the events surrounding the discovery of two bodies here Sunday morning. Foul play was suspected in one instance. Passing motorists discovered the body of Jesse Fitchett Ochava, 66, at 1 a.m. in a street. He had suffered a severe head injury, and police theorized he might have been the victim of a hit and run mishap. No foul play was suspected in the death of Mrs. Adela Parras, whose body was found in the kitchen of a lounge at 10:30 a.m. Sunday.

OFFERED AT COST AS A BICENTENNIAL PUBLIC SERVICE

The BICENTENNIAL is NOW. 200 Years ago our colonial leaders were taking sides and debating far into the night the pros and cons of our troubled relationship to the mother country — England. The chief outrages imposed by the British: the Writs of Assistance (search warrants), the Stamp Act (ridiculous taxes), the Townsend Acts (import duties), the quartering of "redcoats" in Boston (nicknames "lobsterbacks")... all these and more outraged the colonies.

Out of it all came the Declaration of Independence, The Revolutionary War, Victory at Yorktown and in 1777 the Continental Congress resolved: "That the flag of the thirteen United States be thirteen stripes — alternate red and white; that the union be thirteen stars — white in a blue field, representing a new constellation."

We offer at cost as a Bicentennial Public Service a complete home flag kit — a 3 x 5-foot double-stitched heavy cotton flag — a 6-foot jointed 2-piece staff with top ornament — a heavy mounting bracket with three screws — all in a sturdy 2-piece storage carton with full color flag history folder. Ruling In Favor Of Bell

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The 3rd Court of Civil Appeals overruled today Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill's motion for rehearing in the proposed $45 million intrastate rate increase by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

The court also overruled Hill's motion to modify the court's judgment in which Hill asked that the rate increase be prohibited pending appeal to the Texas Supreme Court.

The appeals court wrote no opinion. It informed Hill of its action in a brief letter.

A spokesman in Hill's office said three motions were being drafted for filing with the Texas Supreme Court: writ of error (the appeal); to advance the suit on the high court's docket; and to stay enforcement of the appeals court decision.

State District Court Judge Tom Blackwell enjoined Bell from imposing its new rate, but the appeals court reversed that decision last week and dissolved the injunction.

Bell announced it would charge the new rates immediately.

Hill said he would appeal to the Texas Supreme Court. He filed a motion with the 3rd Court of Civil Appeals for rehearing and also a motion to modify the appeals court's judgment to stop Bell from putting the new rates into effect pending appeal.

Charles Marshall, Bell's vice president for Texas, had said the firm already had lost $9 million because Hill's suit stopped imposition of the new rates as scheduled on March 1.

Hill held a news conference immediately after the appeals court decision last week in which he again asserted he thought he had a perfect case, with all the law and all the facts on his side.

Seize Couple Marines, Civilian At AID Unit

VIETIANE, Laos (AP) — About 200 Lao students seized the U.S. aid agency headquarters in Vientiane today and held two American Marines and an American civilian behind the locked gates of the compound.

The students told newsmen at the gate they had offered to release the Americans if they would "surrender" but all three refused.

U.S. Charge d'Affaires Christian A. Chapman made a verbal protest to Premier Souvanna Phouma and Foreign Minister Phoumi Vongvichit. The embassy said they told him the situation would be "resolved," which was interpreted to mean the government would take some action.

The students issued handwritten lists of demands which included the immediate dissolution of the U.S. Agency for International Development (AID) and the departure of all of its American employees within three days.

They also demanded that AID turn over all its facilities to the government including personal goods that had been imported tax free, that taxes be paid on personal property of Americans before they leave the country and that police check on the export of "individual American belongings" and on payment of taxes and visas of Americans and non-Laotians employed by AID.

The demands were broadcast over the government radio station.

Meanwhile, in the south Lao town of Savannakhet, a dozen Americans and six other foreigners remained under loose arrest for the sixth day. But they appeared to be in no danger.

Pathet Lao troops on Tuesday occupied the town, which had been a stronghold of the nowpowerless rightist faction and its army. The chief American official in the town, Sanford Stone, 58, told a newsman from Vientiane: "We are just fine. We are confined to our houses, but we have food.... We have never been asked to leave and we have never been threatened."

The seizure of the Vientiane headquarters of the U.S. Agency for International Development was the second anti-American demonstration in the Laotian capital since the Communist Pathet Lao began taking control of the government two weeks ago and followed similar attacks on the AID headquarters in Savannakhet and Luang Prabang, the royal capital.

The U.S. Embassy in a statement Monday night said it was ready to "modify, reduce or eliminate" economic assistance to Laos. It has asked the Laotian government for a clear-cut statement of its views on the American aid program — which totals $32.5 million this year — but has received no reply.

The students slipped quietly into the big fenced AID compound in Vientiane about 1:30 a.m. when two Marine guards were the only Americans inside. The Marines were not molested.

The youths remained in control of the compound as the day passed, and there were unconfirmed reports that they looted the commissary. Police patrols sat on the roadside outside the fence but took no action against the youths.

Triple Slaying

DALLAS (AP) — A flurry of gunfire at a bar just north of the downtown district left three men dead today.

Police identified them as Harvey Brown, 46; Danny Welky, 32; and Huey Spann, 30, of Dallas. Details of what took place were sketchy, and officers said they had established no motive.

Investigators theorized that Brown shot the other two men inside the bar and, in turn, was gunned down by an unidentified assailant on a parking lot outside. The shootings occurred shortly after 12:30 a.m.

Brown, shot three times, was found dead at the scene. The other two men, each shot once, died soon afterward at different hospitals.

Officers said they had found no weapons.

Two Arrested; One Charged

State Trooper Ben Lockhart and Bill Whitton, chief deputy sheriff, arrested two Denver, Colo., men this morning in connection with theft of a truck.

Parts of the truck, which was rented in Denver, were recovered.

Agustus Sims, 41, Denver, is charged there with theft. A second man from Denver, 42, was being held pending possibly filing of a criminal complaint.

The suspects were arrested at two different auto salvage stores.

THE WAIT IS OVER — Mrs. Ervin Anderson waits anxiously (right) and then reaches for her husband, a crewman of the Mayaguez, as he arrived at the New Orleans airport Tuesday. Anderson was chief steward aboard the US cargo ship that was seized by Cambodia.

Fifteen Servicemen Killed In Rescue Of Merchant Ship

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fifteen servicemen were killed in the rescue of the merchant ship Mayaguez and three others are missing and believed dead, the Pentagon says.

The dead included 11 Marines, two Navy hospital corpsmen and two members of the Air Force, the Pentagon reported Tuesday. Another 50 Marines, Air Force men and sailors were wounded in the battle last week off the coast of Cambodia.

The casualty list, revised up and down several times, now is "as close to final as possible" except for possible "minor adjustments," Pentagon spokesman Joseph Laitin said.

About 350 American troops took part in the battle to free the Mayaguez and rescue its 40-man crew from Cambodian captors. The casualty list shows about 20 per cent of those who participated were either killed or wounded.

Laitin said the three Marines listed as missing in action were fighting on the island when last seen and were not accounted for when the final muster was completed after the Marine force was withdrawn.

Asked if the three might have been captured, Laitin said that "according to eyewitness accounts, there is very little likelihood they are still alive." He modified his statement to say this is certainly true of two of the Marines and probably is so of the third.

At another point, he said that "all eyewitness reports so far indicate that no American fighting men were left alive on the beach."

No bodies have been recovered, he added.

Meanwhile, 10 Mayaguez crewmen landed in San Francisco and one of them described their captors as a ragged bunch of young Cambodians in a "small American-made gunboat" and carrying American-made .50-caliber machine guns and 80mm mortars.

"I saw a lot of American guns," said William F. Bellinger, 52, of Washington, D.C. Asked how they were treated by the Cambodians, another crewman, Angel Rios, 52, of San Juan, Puerto Rico, said, "it was in-between. Not good. Not bad."

Community Council Gets Warning On Stray Pets

The rabies threat in Big Spring drew the attention of members of the Webb Air Force Base-Big Spring Community Council at the bi-monthly meeting Monday.

Lt. Col. (Dr.) Donald L. Coleman, commander of Webb's Hospital, reported that twice as many people are bringing their pets to the base vaccination clinic each week. He said that the base veterinarian, Capt. (Dr.) Larry Brown, met with Dr. H. E. Thompson, veterinarian in Big Spring, and they agreed to give rabies publicity continued emphasis.

A Big Spring city official, R. F. Butler, procurement manager, reported the animal shelter had been broken into over the weekend and some animals removed. A $200 reward is offered for the arrest and conviction of those responsible.

Butler also said the city police are increasing their enforcement of the ordinance against allowing dogs to run at large. There are plans to change the law to make it tougher and to include cats, he said.

All strays spotted by local police are being shot with the dart capture gun. This knocks them out until they are taken to the shelter.

Mrs. Geri Atwell, curator of the Heritage museum was guest and showed a number of slides of early day Big Spring. She was introduced by Daryle Hohertz.

Leroy Olsak, of Lamesa and a former resident, was a visiting Rotarian. Travis Hunter and Art Hyman are program leaders for next week.

Prisoner Signs Writ Application, Leaves

Less than 10 minutes after watching a Howard County jail inmate sign an application for a writ of habeas corpus, a local lawyer said he returned to find the prisoner gone.

Deputy sheriffs from Duncan, Okla., were given custody of the man accused of removing mortgaged property.

Robert Lewis Bateman, 23, 1217 Wright St., was arrested on May 12, Texas Governor Dolph Briscoe having extradited the man.

Bateman was accused of removing mortgaged property from Stephens County, Okla., where Duncan is the county seat. The 1966 model car and household goods were taken to Oklahoma City.

The security agreement with Security State Bank in Duncan was signed in September, 1974. And the offense was alleged to have happened in December, 1974, $690 being owed.

On the afternoon of May 12, Bateman was arrested, the Howard County Sheriff's Office reported.

John Burgess, attorney for Bateman, said he and a deputy sheriff watched Bateman sign an application for a writ of habeas corpus.

District Judge Ralph W. Caton set bond at $1,000 and scheduled the writ hearing for June 5.

But, less than 10 minutes after watching Bateman sign in the presence of a deputy sheriff, Burgess said he was told Bateman was gone.

Bill Whitton, chief deputy sheriff, asked if the Howard County Sheriff's Office was supposed to hold a prisoner "for a month" waiting for an attorney to decide whether to seek a writ of habeas corpus.

Whitton did not reply when asked whether the signed district court order was returned within minutes.

Had Judge Caton granted a writ, Bateman would have been released from jail here.

A spokeswoman for the Stevens County Sheriff's Office in Duncan said Bateman was released on a personal recognizance bond May 15.

'Men Without Country' Seek Political Asylum

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Twenty Cambodian naval officers, now men without a country, have sought political asylum in the United States after graduating from the U.S. Naval Education and Training Center. A Navy spokesman said the junior-grade lieutenants were identified on the graduation certificates as "Khmer (Cambodian) officers."

"They're really like men without a country," Navy spokesman Frank Pritchard said Tuesday. The 20 officers, as well as two Vietnamese officers and one Cambodian senior officer at the Naval War College, were receiving training here when their governments fell to Communist-led insurgents. Immigration officials said Tuesday they strongly favored giving the Cambodians asylum. "We're prepared to let them remain and go out to seek work," said Frank P. Castelno, officer in charge of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization office in Providence.

"We're not going to enforce the departure of any Cambodian or Vietnamese. They can't go back and we're not going to ask them to go back," he said.

Castelno said he was notifying the U.S. State Department of the officers' request for asylum. Earlier this month, the State Department announced it would extend asylum to the officers.

The immigration official said—State Department approval was needed because the officers were in diplomatic status. He called asylum for foreign officers training in the United States "unprecedented."

In an official release, the Navy training center announced that the 20 officers had graduated at a private ceremony Tuesday morning.

Student Council Members Honored

Outgoing members of the student council were honored with an end-of-year picnic hosted by the parents of the new and old executive officers and the council sponsor, Craig Fischer. It was held at the Barcelona swimming pool and club room Tuesday.

Outgoing officers are Doug Robison, Ronnie Mullins, Cathy Meek, Melodie Ray and Vanessa Mancill. New officers are Mullins, Steve Evans, Paul Prather, Donna Carpenter and Janet Ivery.

Parents assisting with the event included Mr. and Mrs. Carlisle Robison, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Meek, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Ray, Mr. and Mrs. Curt Mullins, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Carpenter, and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald McCasland. Assisting were Fischer, Mrs. Susan Finley and Mrs. Jan Breland.

Prior to the weiner roast the group painted fire plugs on W. 3rd in conjunction with the bi-centennial activities and as a council project.

Hot dogs, potato salad, homemade ice cream and lemonade were served.

Recently elected class representatives were also honor guests. Next year's senior representatives include Angie Alderton, Brad Carr, Mary John Cherry, Jodi Grant, Angela Hodnett, Paige Little, Sherre Spraberry and Kim Brock and Pete Ruiz, alternates.

Junior include Leisa Cook, Cynthia Fierro, Steve Hughes, Frosty Reynolds, Bubba Stripling, Tony Vieira and Scott Sullivan and Casey Wilder, alternates.

Sophomores are Steve Cannon, Kenneth Coffey, Toni Hansen, Andra Hohertz, Donny Knight, Irene Little, Mariella Wise and Mike Blalack and Lisa Fort, alternates.

Freshmen are Barry Fish, Derek Horton, Terry Howell, Kenda Hughes, Kirk Mancill, James Pineda and Mike Evans and Woodie Howell, alternates.

Johnnie Lou Avery Is Named To New HC Post

A new position of assistant to the president of Howard College was approved by the trustees at their Tuesday meeting.

Selected for the post is Mrs. Johnnie Lou Avery, presently the financial aids officer, a role she has had for the past nine years.

This is not an office to function instead of the president, Dr. Charles Hays, president, explained, but rather one to assist in special programs, grant applications, public relations, publication of college materials, recruiting, etc.

"We are extremely fortunate in having someone of the qualifications and demonstrated ability of Mrs. Avery," he said. "Our immediate problem will be to find someone to succeed her as financial aids officer. She's recognized as one of the best in the Southwest."

The position will be scheduled on a 12-months basis and will carry a stipend of $10,000 per annum.

Trustees gave approval to a decision to abandon one faculty position in the agricultural education department because of inability to attract a sufficient number of students. Thus, Byron Hedges will be leaving the spot, and trustees voted to name Jack Himes, who will be an HC second-year student, as rodeo coach at $1,000 for the season. Emphasizing that he was not questioning abilities or personalities, Trustee Harold Davis voiced strong objections to student coaches. Harold Wilder, athletic director, said Himes is not an ordinary student, rather much more mature and responsible and is exceptionally well known in the rodeo fields.

Don Box was elevated to the position of data processing director. This will mean the extension of his contract to 12 rather than 10 months, and he still will teach up to two courses, said Dr. Hays.

West Germany's Bonnie And Clyde Go On Trial

STUTTGART, West Germany (AP) — West Germany's Bonnie and Clyde went on trial today in a special courthouse built in a maximum-security prison at a cost of $3.5 million amid a nationwide alert against the possibility of terrorist attempts to free them.

While police, border troops and armored cars stood guard outside public buildings throughout the country, Andreas Baader, 32, and Ulrike Meinhof, 40, leaders of the Baader-Meinhof Gang of anarchists, sullenly took their seats in the dock inside Stammheim Prison.

The 354-page indictment accuses them of masterminding a wave of antistate terror in the early 1970s that killed four U.S. servicemen and a German policeman, of threatening the lives of at least 54 other persons, of bombings, shootings and bank robberies that left 65 persons wounded and netted the equivalent of $200,000.

Two other gang leaders, Jan-Carl Raspe, 30, the gang's bomb expert, and Gudrun Ensslin, 34, a pastor's daughter who became Baader's mistress, also went on trial before the five-judge tribunal. A fifth gang leader, Holger Meins, 33, died last Nov. 9 after a hunger strike that the other four kept up for 145 days.

In West Germany's most heavily guarded court proceeding since the Nuernberg war crimes tribunal three decades ago, dozens of police guarded the two-story courthouse set behind double fences equipped with electronic sensors and under continuous surveillance by television cameras.

With testimony scheduled from some 1,000 witnesses, the trial is expected to last at least 18 months.

There were persistent reports that German anarchists would attack the West German embassies in Oslo and Stockholm in another attempt to force the government to free the defendants. The police in the two capitals put extra guards on the embassies.

A band of anarchists occupied the Stockholm embassy last month, killed two West German diplomats and blew up the building.

Thought Kleasen Crazy Enough To Shoot Someone

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Five jurors have been selected for the murder trial of Robert Kleasen, including a retired Air Force colonel who has a masters degree in chemistry.

Kleasen is accused of killing two Mormon missionaries and then butchering their bodies with a taxidermist's band saw.

The leader of Mormon missionaries in the Austin area has told the Associated Press that one of the two missionaries Kleasen allegedly killed often said Kleasen was capable of murder.

Mormon missionaries work in pairs. Conrad Hardcastle, 22, of Huntington Beach, Calif., told the AP that he was the partner of Gary Darley for three months before Darley and Mark Fischer vanished last Oct. 28.

Darley and Fischer told

Hardcastle and other missionaries Oct. 28 they were going to Kleasen's trailer behind a taxidermy shop for dinner.

"He (Darley) often said he thought Kleasen was probably crazy enough to shoot somebody if he got mad at them," Hardcastle said.

The state has subpoenaed Hardcastle as a witness. Kleasen is being tried only in the slaying of Fischer at this time.

Four jurors were selected Tuesday:

—A 23-year-old telephone company employee who said in answer to a question about her religious preference: "That's a hard question to answer. I have a personal philosophy. No organized religion convinces me." Asked what book she was carrying, she replied: "It's a book of short stories—Kafka, James Joyce, Hemingway ..."

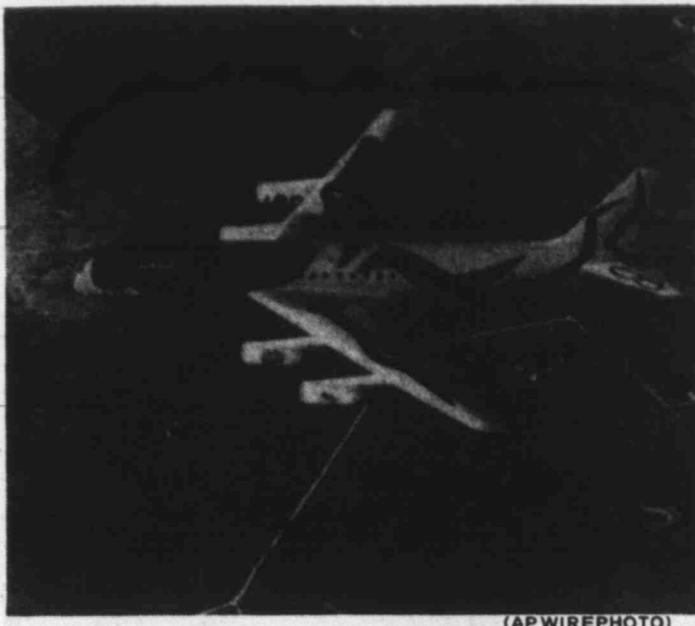

—A 36-year-old Lutheran mother of three. It is a rule of thumb among defense lawyers that they avoid Lutherans, on the theory they are more severe on criminal defendants than members of many of other faiths. But one of Kleasen's lawyers explained that this juror was a member of the American Lutheran Church, not the Missouri Synod Lutheran Church, and he said that made all the difference.

—The retired Air Force colonel, 55, said he is looking for a job. His masters in chemistry should help him understand technical testimony on neutron activation analysis—the test that the prosecution says proves that hair taken from the housing of the band saw belonged to the missionaries.

—A 47-year-old housewife who said she was "kind of pro and con on the death penalty."

Monday, a 52-year-old Methodist mother of three was accepted as the first juror.

State Dist. Court Judge Tom Blackwell has told reporters not to reveal the names of jurors for fear they will be bothered by telephone callers.

FLYING COLORS — This Braniff International jet aircraft painted by Alexander Calder as an original work of art, will be displayed at the Paris Air Show May 28-June 1. It is the first time an aircraft has been invited to appear for non-technical reasons at the show. The fuselage bears hues of red, yellow and blue. The wings are white with red and blue designs and the four jet engines are white with different characters on each.

Improvements Slated For Kitchen In SUB

Trustees of Howard College decided Tuesday to invest some $20,000 in repairs and improvement to the kitchen in the Dora Roberts Student Union Building, also to go it alone on the food service.

Most of the estimate, said Dr. Charles Hays, president, will be for replacement of cooking ranges, dish washers, meat slicers, etc.

In deciding for the college to operate the food service, trustees indicated that they will use the profit margin to help hold down costs and thus not have to raise meal prices.

"This action is in no way disparaging of the service of Jack McCormick and his Quality Food Service," said Dr. Hays. "He has done an outstanding job. Mike Bruner, our new business manager, has had experience in purchasing and operation of a similar situation at Panola College and we feel that we can operate the service ourselves and still remain competitive."

which the board previously approved $25,000, so far have totalled $15,963, Dr. Hays reported. Still to come is the electrical bid.

Bob Brock Ford and Jack Lewis Buick-Cadillac have agreed to a June 1 cancellation date on automobile contracts, Dr. Hays said. This will enable the district to open bids prior to the end of August on new cars, and have $2,334 savings to apply on them.

The board also commissioned Don C. Christopher as the campus police officer. For the next school year, the college will have one commissioned officer.

Regarding expenditures for the Upward Bound program, which is totally federally funded, plus a small operators fee for the college, Don McKinney, trustee, said he thought extra-funded programs ought to be approved annually by the board. It was announced previously that Upward Bound had been funded for another year. Under this operation, students recommended by counselors of eight area high schools are brought to the HC campus weekly for special training and activities. They will spend six weeks this summer on campus. Dr. Hays said although this is not the prime purpose of Upward Bound, he considered it a prime recruiting tool.

NO CHANGE

He added that there will be no change in food policies — seconds will still be available. However, the main meal will be offered at lunch rather than in the evening because it is felt this will stimulate patronage by students, faculty and others.

Homes For Out-Patients Here Are Sought By VA

The Veterans Administration and the Big Spring VA Hospital have begun a search for families in the Big Spring area who are willing to open up their homes to allow one or more veterans to stay with them, according to Gerald DiGrappa, Out-Patient Social Worker at the hospital.

Personal care homes, providing only basic room and board, are needed for veterans whose average age is 50. The Veterans Administration compensates the family for the room and board and also for doing the laundry, if the family wishes to do that.

Those veterans who are to be placed in the personal care homes are fully ambulatory, they can get around by themselves. All medication is provided by the veteran's administration and if he should become ill, he would be placed in the VA Hospital for care, according to DiGrappa.

Sponsoring homes must meet physical criteria set aside by the VA but ordinarily, the average home is more than adequate. All persons placed in these homes must be approved by the Big Spring VA Hospital. Social workers will provide supervision and counseling to the sponsors and the veterans.

Sponsoring homes do not have to be licensed by the state as long as they meet the VA requirements and do not take patients not sent by the hospital.

According to DiGrappa, there will be an immediate need of placement for veterans in August, and the VA would like a listing of potential personal care homes so that veterans can be placed as the need arises.

For more information or to apply, contact the Social Work Service at the VA Hospital or call 263-7361, extension 267.

Delay Contempt Hearing For Two Texas Newsmen

HOUSTON (AP) — A state judge has postponed until May 30 a contempt hearing for two Houston newsmen who refused to reveal to the judge sources of information used in accounts about police wiretapping.

State District Court Judge Andrew Jefferson set the hearing Tuesday for Jon Sandefer, Houston Post reporter, and Lacy Conners of KTRK-TV, former Big Spring resident.

Jefferson on Monday had set May 30 as the date for a similar hearing for Jesse C. Smith, a Houston narcotics officer relieved of duty after being indicted on a charge of illegal wiretapping.

Sandefer and Conners had been called to testify during pretrial proceedings for Andrew Bloom, 41, a liquor store owner charged with sale and possession of LSD.

Jefferson recessed Bloom's trial until after the contempt proceedings have been completed.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Ron Woods objected to the delay and told Jefferson he believed the contempt hearing on the two newsmen was expanding to a general inquiry into wiretapping allegations against Houston police.

He contended that a contempt hearing was the wrong place for a general inquiry into those allegations.

The judge said the hearings technically stem from the trial of Bloom and are both valid and relevant.

"I want to make certain that the record shows that the court does not agree with Wood's theory" of the hearings, Jefferson told the lawyers.

Smith refused Monday to tell if he knew of the general use of wiretapping by police

Mr. and Mrs. Luke Fortenberry, 1207 Lloyd, Big Spring, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sue, to Mr. Mike Robertson, son of Mr. and Mrs. E.H. (Buddy) Robertson, 2509 Central, Big Spring. The couple plans to be married July 12 at College Baptist Church.

It Is Your Right Not To Have Children

DEAR ABBY: I am a 23-year-old, college-educated unmarried woman.

I have definitely made up my mind that I do not want to bear any children. If I marry and want a child, I will adopt a homeless child since I think there are already too many children in the world.

Also, I would like to be able to have sex without worrying about getting pregnant, and no matter what anybody says, there is absolutely NO method of contraception that is 100 per cent foolproof.

I have asked every doctor I know to perform an operation on me to prevent pregnancy, but so far, I have found no one who will. They all say: "Oh, you'll change your mind one day and then will be sorry." Or: "Have a few kids first — then I'll do it for you." They act like they'd be committing some kind of crime.

Abby, why shouldn't I be able to have that kind of operation if that is what I want? And where can I find a doctor who will do it?

IDAHO READER

DEAR READER: I personally feel that if you do not want children, it's your right. Keep shopping around for a doctor. If you can't find one, inquire at your nearest Planned Parenthood office for information. Their motto is: "Every child should be a wanted child." And I couldn't agree more.

DEAR ABBY: It's been 50 years since I've even thought of my childhood sweetheart. Then I read in the obituary column that her father had died, and she was still a "Miss."

I have been a widower for 18 months, so I sent this childhood sweetheart a mass card. She promptly wrote to thank me for it. Then I sent a comic card that read, "Are you free Saturday night? I have $2.95 to spend." (I wrote on the bottom, "On the serious side, I'd like to take you out for dinner if you aren't too upset about the loss of your father.")

No reply. Should I write to her again? Perhaps telephone her?

Do you think that receiving no answer was an answer in the negative?

Thanks for your comments.

'THEY STOLE MY BILL' 'Package' For Texas Officials Outlined

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — City and county officials have been told that eight proposals for revision of the Texas Constitution should be accepted as a single package.

Rep. Ray Hutchison, R-Dallas, said the proposals deliver what was promised in the way of constitutional revision.

"The proposed new Texas Constitution solves those problems the people were told about in 1972 and does very little more," Hutchison told the 10th annual Institute for Mayors, Councilmen and Commissioners.

The Texas Municipal League and the Association of Mayors, Councilmen and Commissioners are sponsors of the institute.

Hutchison listed the issues which prompted the constitutional revision: —The governor's lack of control over fiscal affairs.

—An unwieldy number of state bureaus and agencies.

—Lack of time for the legislature to study problems and "issue reasonable laws."

—The need for a modern and efficient system of justice.

—And, the necessity to "bring local government into the 20th century."

"People criticize county government as archaic," Hutchison said, "but the problem arises because the legislature does not have the power to give counties the power to cope with local problems."

Hutchison, a member of the House Intergovernmental Affairs Committee, said the proposed constitution lowers the home rule requirement for towns from 5,000 to 1,500 population. It also would permit small communities to adopt their own system of government, avoiding incorporation.

In other session, Rep. Lyndon Olson of Waco decried a House-passed bill to establish a state commission to regulate utilities.

"They stole my bill and kept my name and number on it," Olson said of the proposal which he originally sponsored.

Olson said he favored a bill which would keep originate the utility regulation process at the local level and proceed to the state level if necessary.

He said there was enormous pressure to pass a utilities regulation bill.

"If you're from Austin or south of Austin, and you didn't vote for a commission, you're not going to be back next time," he said, adding that support for the commission came from both liberal and conservative House members.

The House-passed bill is "the toughest utilities regulation bill which could be passed out of the Texas Legislature," Olson said.

—And, the necessity to "bring local government into the 20th century."

"People criticize county government as archaic," Hutchison said, "but the problem arises because the legislature does not have the power to give counties the power to cope with local problems."

D. D. Pittman gave recommendations to the building and grounds committee, which included the adoption of a policy for use of YMCA facilities by non-YMCA organizations. The policy was adopted by the Y directorate.
