

Solons Ready To Mull State Spending Plans

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas House members were ready today to send a $11.9 billion general appropriations bill back to the Senate and compromise plans for 1976 and 1977.

The appropriations bill, which passed the Senate earlier in a different form totaling $12.6 billion, won tentative approval of the House Wednesday night, 85-55, after three days of debate.

After today's final vote the big appropriations package, one of the major issues to be decided before June 2 adjournment, will go to a 10-member Senate-House negotiating team to iron out differences between the two houses.

SCHOOL MONEY
The conference committee also will have the job of trimming the spending bill to leave enough 1976-77 state income for public school financing revision, another major issue almost ready for compromise talks.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe has said he will veto any new tax plans sent him by the legislature. He also says he thinks the legislature can solve the state's major problems by June 2 without him calling a special session.

A total of 110 amendments were offered in the three days of House debate with 35 of them winning approval. Supporters of the bill proudly claimed the changes slashed $3.8 million from the original House version.

But much of the Wednesday session was devoted to heated debate about "sending a message" to state agencies that the legislature is still running state government.

PARK PLANNING
About half a dozen successful amendments clamped restrictions on state agencies, including colleges and universities, in the way the appropriations would be spent the next two years.

"The most important thing this amendment will do is settle the question of who makes policy in Texas, the legislature of state agencies," said Rep. Joe Wyatt, D-Bloomington, chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee.

His amendment directed the Parks and Wildlife Department to build a state park in Calhoun County near Port Lavaca, or the department could use only $8 million of the $37 million allocated it for park planning and development.

Wyatt said the Calhoun County park was approved by the 1967 legislature and the money for it had been approved by the 1971 legislature but the Parks and Wildlife Department ignored the legislative directive. Wyatt claimed the state agency saved the money to help build its new parks headquarters — "those hanging gardens of Babylon" — near Austin in a newly created state park.

Wyatt's amendment won 76-64.

Other successful House amendments would:

—Require state colleges and universities to give Faculty raises according to a pattern set by the legislature, not according to the regents or directors. Any money left over would be returned to the state treasury. Rep. Ronald Coleman, D-El Paso, said some state schools, including the University of Texas at El Paso, never distributed all the money given them by the last legislature for faculty raises.

MUST TEACH
—Require that all college professors teach at least 12 hours a week, by an 81-53 vote. Rep. Bill Hollowell, D-Grand Saline, said a total of 39 professors at his alma mater, UT—Austin, teach only one class a week and another 115 teach only two classes weekly.

—Allow the legislature to reprimand or dismiss any state employee or appointed official for lack of fiscal responsibility or gross negligence.

—Prohibit use of state money for any vehicle assigned to a state agency that was not used to its "maximum energy efficiency," Rep. Ben Reyes, D-Houston, said some state agencies were using large station wagons and fancy eight-cylinder cars for messenger service. He said 74 per cent of the present state cars, outside of pursuit cars used by state police, are deluxe or "big engine regular" models.

OPPORTUNITY
An amendment that would have limited the budget to a one-year appropriation failed 84-53.

Earlier, a group of 58 House members asked the governor to veto all 1977 appropriations and bring about a one-year budget. They cited a news release by Comptroller Bullock saying the one-year budget was the solution to Texas' problems.

"There is a great probability that the passage of the new constitution (by the Nov. 4 vote) will require the legislature to convene in January," the legislators said. "Whether by special session or regular session, the legislature should have the opportunity for a more timely and accurate view of fiscal 1977."

The Senate approved Wednesday a $31 million proposal to ease urban traffic jams and said it would attract $120 million in federal funds. Sixty per cent of the state-federal funds would go to cities of 200,000 population or more.

Working on a lengthy calendar of "local and uncontested" proposals, the Senate approved and sent to the governor measures that would:

—Change the name of Tyler State College to Texas Eastern University.

—Require state permits to import, sell, transport or release noxious water plants, with a fine of up to $200 for violating the law.

—Raise examination and license fees for pharmacists, bringing in an additional $589,040.

—Require the Water Quality Board to hold an annual public hearing in either Kinney, Uvalde, Medina, Bexar, Kendall, Comal or Hays County to report on the condition of the Edwards Aquifer.

—Allow the state agriculture commissioner to grade the quality of Texas livestock, using federal standards.

The Senate approved the senate to the House proposals that would:

—Give the State Board of Control authority to establish and operate a statewide telecommunications service for all state government offices. Tex-An, as it is known, is a Bell Telephone network supplying intrastate long distance service.

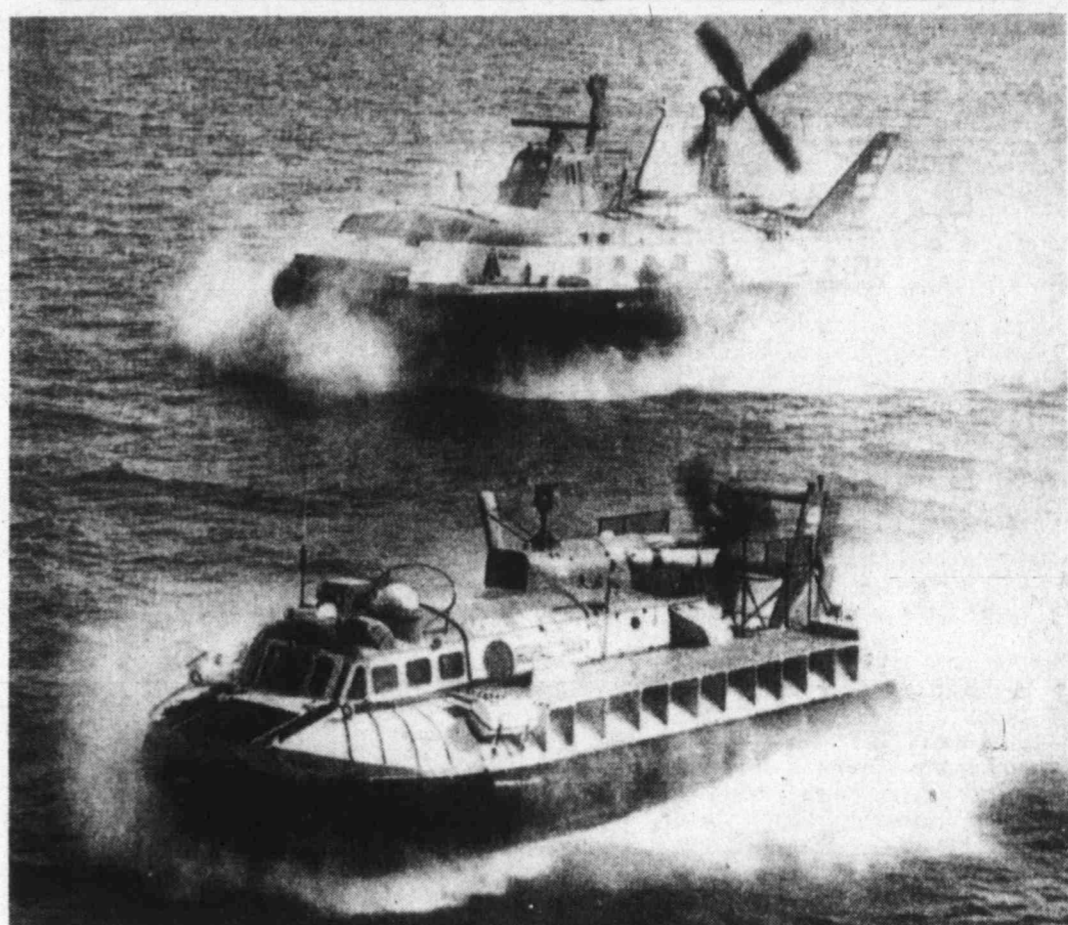

—Authorize the Texas Cancer Coordinating Committee and the State Health Department to make a study of cancer laws in order to make possible recommendations to legislators to stop quick cures for cancer.

—Revise rules of the structural pest control board, including a new requirement that the board could require certified operators to be retested if there are new developments in the industry.

FEWER BAGS Nude Cruises

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the touchiest problems tourists have when they go on a vacation packaged by Barry Plaxen is, "Where do you carry your travelers' checks?"

That's because Plaxen puts all his tours together for tourists in the altogether.

He specializes in nude vacations — nude cruises to Europe, nude swimming at secluded islands, nude dancing, nude theater, nude bus rides and nude almost anything else usually found on a vacation tour — with bare exceptions.

"There's a lot less baggage, a helluva lot!" says Plaxen, whose Skinny Dip Tours has grown to a full-time job he now follows closely from beginning to end.

"I returned from a cruise one year with just my valise and it contained a few T-shirts, shorts and some towels. It raised a few eyebrows from customs men," he said.

His cruises are a specialty of Town and Country Travel of Manhattan. As the brochures put it: "Vacations in the buff" and "The only sounds are water lapping against the hull and quiet, contented breathing."

"I started with one-day bus trips to a nudist camp in New Jersey in 1971. Since then I've built it up," he said.

"We have a lot of locations. We go to Yugoslavia, France, Corsica, Guadeloupe, Antigua, Tahiti, Virgin Islands, Jamaica, Bahamas, and we have transatlantic cruises and Caribbean cruises and yacht cruises.

"The highest price this year was a transatlantic cruise, which was $1,100, and the lowest price trip is a one-day voucher to a nudist camp in Jersey. That's just the admission."

"The ship we use in the Caribbean holds 300 people. The yacht we use in the Virgins holds 12 people. They go to secluded coves where people go swimming or snorkeling or they go nude on the ship. On the luxury cruises, they're nude on the ship, but when they go into port they have to get dressed."

"Yugoslavia is preferred, and France, because they are the only countries with full nudist resorts, almost like nudist cities. You can go to the bank in the nude, to the shopping center, to restaurants. You can drive your car in the nude. Yugoslavia has areas where there are from 1,000 to 8,000 people in the nude."

"People who work there are dressed. All the staff on cruises is dressed. Their reaction at first is ... a little shocked, a little surprised. But after a few minutes, they get used to it," he said.

ALEX SHELEPIN

Relieved Of Post

MOSCOW (AP) — Radio Moscow announced today that Alexander N. Shelepin, one-time head of the Soviet secret police, has been relieved of his job as head of the Soviet trade union system.

Shelepin's removal from the post completes the fall from power of the man once considered a chief rival of Leonid I. Brezhnev.

Last month Shelepin was forced to step down from the ruling Communist party politburo. It was believed at that time he would soon be stripped of the administrative trade union job.

The official radio said a plenum of the central committee of trade unions relieved Shelepin of his job "at his own request."

Shelepin, at 56 the youngest member of the politburo, made a troubled trip to Britain as trade union chief shortly before he was removed from the politburo.

That secrecy-shrouded visit was plagued by anti-Soviet street demonstrations.

Shelepin, who is believed to have had a key role in ousting Nikita Khrushchev from power, was made a full member of the presidium.

Chamber Backing Study Of Amtrak Extension

The Chamber of Commerce Transportation Committee put their stamp of approval on a letter from Big Spring Mayor Wade Choate, requesting a feasibility study of extending Amtrak passenger service from Fort Worth through Abilene, Sweetwater, Big Spring, Midland, Odessa and El Paso.

The letter cited many advantages of locating the passenger rail service through the Western portion of Texas instead of the proposed route from Fort Worth to Sweetwater and to Lubbock, Clovis, and Albuquerque.

Committee members reported their conversations with Texas and Pacific and Missouri Pacific Railroad officials and said they found that the location of the lines are strictly political, and the railroads don't necessarily want the service on their lines.

Amtrak already operates on Missouri Pacific and Texas and Pacific lines from St. Louis to Dallas. It was reported that whatever decision was made in Washington would be carried out by the railroads because of congressional pressure.

FORWARDED
Copies of the letter are also being forwarded to the Congressmen and Senators whose districts are affected by the change and to other cities along the route.

The committee also decided to solicit the support of the Fort Worth, Abilene, Odessa, Midland and El Paso communities to get a favorable study made.

The transportation committee also discussed the operations of Trans Regional Airlines.

Industrial Foundation Chief Executive Ron Mercer said that he flew to Dallas last week via Trans Regional and was favorably impressed by the trip.

Some of the other members of the committee said that they tried to get Trans Regional connections in Dallas to fly to New York and to Washington, but could not get an answer at the Trans Regional number.

It was then reported that Trans Regional had changed their number to 263-8389 and that they are flying passengers regularly to and from Dallas and Midland.

The committee urged the airline not to advertise their service until they are really ready to extend full service in reference to airline connections in Dallas at their last meeting.

PROBLEMS
Mercer said that R.E. McClure, airline manager, said that the airline has had trouble getting a Federal Aviation Administration inspector to inspect the metal detector gate at the airline.

Until the gate is operating, passengers to Dallas will have to deplane at Ozark Gate 1, and handle their own luggage to make their connections with other airlines.

He also said that a union agreement at American Airlines in Dallas calls for seven employees to service each plane that lands there, a lot more than is needed for the twin-engine Cessna 402.

Mercer said that when these details are worked out, McClure indicated that the airline would begin advertising and flying the full schedule.

The World At-A-Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Congress returns June 2 from its 10-day recess, it will face various bills designed to assist the unemployed. The House passed and sent to the Senate a measure to extend and expand two benefits programs for the unemployed. Another House-passed bill authorizes $5 billion for public works projects to put the unemployed to work. Other pending proposals would continue health insurance for the unemployed.

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The group gathers regularly at a tiny beer bar in the basement of Marquette University's Brooks Memorial Union to toast plastic cups and bottles of brew in a toast to the king. The king? That's right. King George III, ruler of Great Britain during the American Revolution. While other Americans are marking the Bicentennial era with salutes to those who fought against King George, the Marquette University American Loyalist Bicentennial Committee is seeking recognition for the American Loyalists, the colonists who backed the king.

CIMARRON, N.M. (AP) — A four-day school week here has eliminated Monday morning blues for students and teachers, and almost everyone likes it enough to want it continued. "The kids like it. You bet they do," said Jack Martin, principal of Cimarron High School. Cimarron School District Supt. Joe Pompeo Jr. said teachers, counselors and principals in the district were unanimously in favor of retaining the four-day week. Of 380 students surveyed, Pompeo said only 14 were against it. Students on the four-day system put in about the same number of hours at school each semester by staying 55 minutes longer each day Tuesday through Friday.

Rites Set Sunday

Baccalaureate services will be held at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in Memorial Stadium for 303 graduating seniors of Big Spring High School.

The Rev. J. B. Sharp, pastor of First United Methodist Church, will deliver the address.

Miss Melanie Hayworth will sing the Lord's Prayer during the service, accompanied by Miss Annabell Deats.

Miss Cady Lee Cheatham will furnish the professional. Miss Nancy Conway will give the invocation. The scripture will be read by Miss Rhonda Riley.

Miss Zetta McClendon will furnish the benediction. The recessional will be played by Miss Sharon Jenkins.

All participants, other than the minister, are members of the 1975 graduating class.

Concert Is Saturday

The combined choirs at Big Spring High School will present their final concert of the school year in the high school auditorium, beginning at 8 o'clock Saturday night. Admission price will be $2.

The Meistersingers will sing excerpts from some of the better known musical shows, among them Porgy and Bess, Furlie, Camelot, Sound of Music, Unsinkable Molly Brown, Paint Your Wagon, Fiddler on the Roof and Carousel.

Also featured will be the boys' and girls' choirs. They will blend voices with several pop tunes.

Tickets can be purchased from any choir member or at the door.

WILL EVACUATE YANKS FROM LAOS BEGINNING FRIDAY

Student Demonstrators Release 18 Americans

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Eighteen Americans detained in Savannakhet for nine days by student demonstrators were flown to Thailand tonight aboard a U.S. Air Force plane, the U.S. Embassy said.

At the same time, an embassy spokesman announced that the evacuation of Americans from Laos would begin Friday by chartered Royal Air Lao jet.

He said the 18 Americans from Savannakhet, including 12 officials of the U.S. Agency for International Development and their families, as well as an unspecified number of Japanese peace corps workers, European missionaries and British volunteer workers, were flown to Udorn air base aboard a U.S. Air Force C47 attached to the U.S. defense attache's office in Vientiane.

The release of the Americans and other foreign nationals, some of whom had been under loose house arrest since students took over the U.S. AID compound in Savannakhet, followed the visit of Interior Minister Pheng Phongsavan to the town on Wednesday.

The Communist-dominated Laotian government said today it has decided to ask Washington to pull the agency out of Laos and hand over all aid material in the country.

The spokesman, Deputy Information Minister Ouday Savannavong, said his government still wants American economic assistance but with "no strings attached."

In Ankara, Turkey,

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said there will be a "substantial reduction" of the U.S. presence in Laos in view of the harassment of Americans by leftist students.

But Kissinger said the reduction is not considered a complete evacuation "at this point." There are about 1,000 Americans in Laos.

One American official in Vientiane said, however, that families of American government employees have been told to be ready to leave the country by Friday.

Kissinger, speaking to reporters after the opening session of the Central Treaty Organization meeting, noted that Washington has been reducing American personnel in Laos to conform to political realities in the country.

The government decision to end the American aid program followed two weeks of anti-American demonstrations in Vientiane, Luang Prabang and Savannakhet, on the Mekong river in southeast Laos. Students demanding the expulsion of all AID personnel have been the leaders of the demonstrations.

Troops of the Communist Pathet Lao are keeping several hundred Americans virtually prisoner in a U.S. housing settlement four miles outside Vientiane.

Inside the city, about 200 students have been occupying the AID compound since Monday and are holding two U.S. Marine guards and an American civilian prisoner.

Twelve Americans, most of them AID employees, and six other foreigners have been held under loose house arrest in Savannakhet for a week.

Ouday said the cabinet was "really, seriously concerned" about the takeover of the AID compound in Vientiane and "will make every effort to avoid trouble in the compound."

He said two cabinet ministers met twice with the students Wednesday but were unable to end the demonstration.

Ouday added that there was no new word from Savannakhet, and "the government is greatly concerned about the fate of the Americans." Pathet Lao troops entered the town on Tuesday, and on Wednesday Interior Minister Pheng Phongsavan flew there to try to get the foreigners out. The Americans reported earlier that they had not been harmed and were in no danger.

The agitation against the American presence in Laos began after the leading rightist members of the Laotian coalition government and the rightist commanders of the Laotian armed forces resigned under pressure from the Communist Pathet Lao, leaving the Communists in control.

The Pathet Lao posted guards at the gate of the American housing compound known as Kilometer 6 and barred most of the Americans living there from going in or out. The few cars that were allowed through the gate were searched thoroughly, and the few Americans allowed out were permitted to take no personal belongings out of the compound.

The soldiers said the gates would be locked at 6 p.m., in effect putting the residents under a night curfew.

The U.S. Charge d'Affaires, Christian A. Chapman, met Wednesday night with two Pathet Lao ministers in the coalition government, but U.S. Embassy sources said Chapman had not yet been able to arrange the release of the Americans and of the aid headquarters.

Elsewhere in Indochina: Radio Phnom Penh said Cambodian troops and civilians are working night and day to repair the damage done to Sihanoukville (Kompong Som) by U.S. bombing during the rescue of the freighter Mayaguez and its crew.

Tough For New Names

The Gannett News Service, headquartered in New York State, conducted a statewide poll recently on prospective Democratic presidential nominees. The results were discouraging to those who think the party needs a new face.

Atop the list stood Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, despite his repeated insistence he won't run. Second was Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington, who's been running the hardest of all. Kennedy had 25 per cent support, Jackson 15 per cent.

Then came Gov. George Wallace (showing his strength even in New York) and Edmund Muskie (not an announced candidate) with 12 per cent each. George McGovern, another nonstarter, garnered 9 per cent.

From there, the support for candidates was tiny: Sen. Frank Church of Idaho, 3 per cent; Rep. Morris Udall of Arizona, 2 per cent; Gov. Reuben Askew of Florida, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas, Jimmy Carter of Georgia, Fred Harris of Oklahoma, each 1 per cent.

What all this proves isn't much. New York is hardly a typical state — although it's difficult to win a presidential election without it. And it's still a long, long time until the 1976 convention.

But given all that, it's a blow to the hopes of those Democrats who have announced, but haven't generated any support of consequence. In a country bereft of leadership, longing for Camelot remains powerfully strong.

No Hope Of Price Relief

A federal grand jury in Chicago has subpoenaed the records of more than 50 fertilizer producers, and international brokers in an effort to learn if collusive contracts or agreements were used to increase fertilizer prices almost four-fold. The tremendous increase in fertilizer prices followed the lifting of government price controls in October 1973.

Government prosecutors and farmers especially would like to know if antitrust violations have occurred in the fertilizer market.

Anhydrous ammonia, the basic fertilizer for the U.S. corn crop, rose from $87.60 a ton in 1973 to $265 a ton today; potash rose from $61.50 a ton to $102 a ton; phosphate rock rose from $26.50 a ton to $52.10 a ton.

But whatever the findings of the grand jury, there is almost no prospect that fertilizer prices will return to lower levels. Cheap fertilizer depends on cheap oil and coal for nitrogen and insecticides. But neither coal nor oil are cheap anymore, although there is no shortage of either.

The high cost of fertilizer is forcing some farmers to use less of it on their land, although they know their yields will suffer. The consumer will eventually pay.

The most tragic effect of the fertilizer price increase is that it imperils the so-called Green Revolution. New and much more prolific strains of rice and wheat depend on heavy applications of fertilizer and insecticides. Poorer countries cannot take advantage of those strains when fertilizer prices quadruple.

There have been no developments to date which would indicate that the fertilizer industry has violated any laws, but even if that were to be the case and punitive action taken, it would not affect prices very much.

Terrible Waste

Around The Rim

Marj Carpenter

One of the greatest wastes of paper in the United States may be the Congressional Record.

Of course, we firmly believe that a record of Congress' activities should be kept so perhaps I should say that the biggest waste may be the time that is wasted in putting irrelevant information into the record.

I WAS ONLY 12 the first time I heard and saw a Congressional filibuster and simply could not believe that one man was standing there reading a boring article to the Congress while the rest appeared to be either nearly asleep or busy with other activities.

Of course, years later, when I found out I had an article read into the Congressional Record, I had to laugh. I had already said to many around me what I thought of reading articles into the record.

The first time I was read into the record was a feature story about Federal Judge D. W. Suttle during his first week as federal judge. It was read into the record by his friend and classmate, Senator Ralph Yarborough.

I was notified that the feature story and my by-line were read into the record and a copy was mailed to me.

While I was still mulling that over, about two months later, I received a second notice. This time it was a cantaloupe article.

Again it was Senator Ralph Yarborough and he read an article I had written on how the Pecos cantaloupe became famous, into the record, complete with my by-line.

Since I had never given the Senator any noticeable or noticeable support, I was stunned when the second article appeared.

I decided things were indeed in desperate shape and that the record was certainly becoming muddled with useless information.

Now the federal judge article I could understand, because of the friendship between the two men. But cantaloupes?

I'LL HAVE TO admit I found covering federal court extremely interesting and got to cover the activities of many federal judges that I truly enjoyed.

Among them are Judge Suttle, as well as Homer Thornberry, Adrian Spear, the late R. W. Thomson, and Judge Garza from Brownsville.

Both Judge Thornberry and Judge Thomson wrote me a personal letter when they left the Pecos court thanking me for the coverage of the court. One thing about it, federal judges can do pretty much whatever they desire. They can say they like it and they can say they don't.

I recall that when Judge Suttle arrived, he did not want a feature story. The press had not treated him too kindly that year. He finally agreed that he would do something he did not usually do and grant an interview. But as it turned out, he liked the article and I always hoped that it made him feel a little bit more kindly toward the press.

I remember one federal judge from Iowa that was sent to Pecos briefly in the aftermath of the Estes days. He had no regard for the press at all and his only comment was "No comment."

We came to know him in those few brief weeks as 'No Comment Green.' But he really carried it to the extreme. We rode up to the federal courtroom on the same elevator one day. I had already learned that he did not comment on news.

So I said simply, "Isn't it a nice day?" He drew away back in one corner of the elevator like I was a rattlesnake about to strike and said in a squeaky voice, "No Comment."

My Answer

Billy Graham

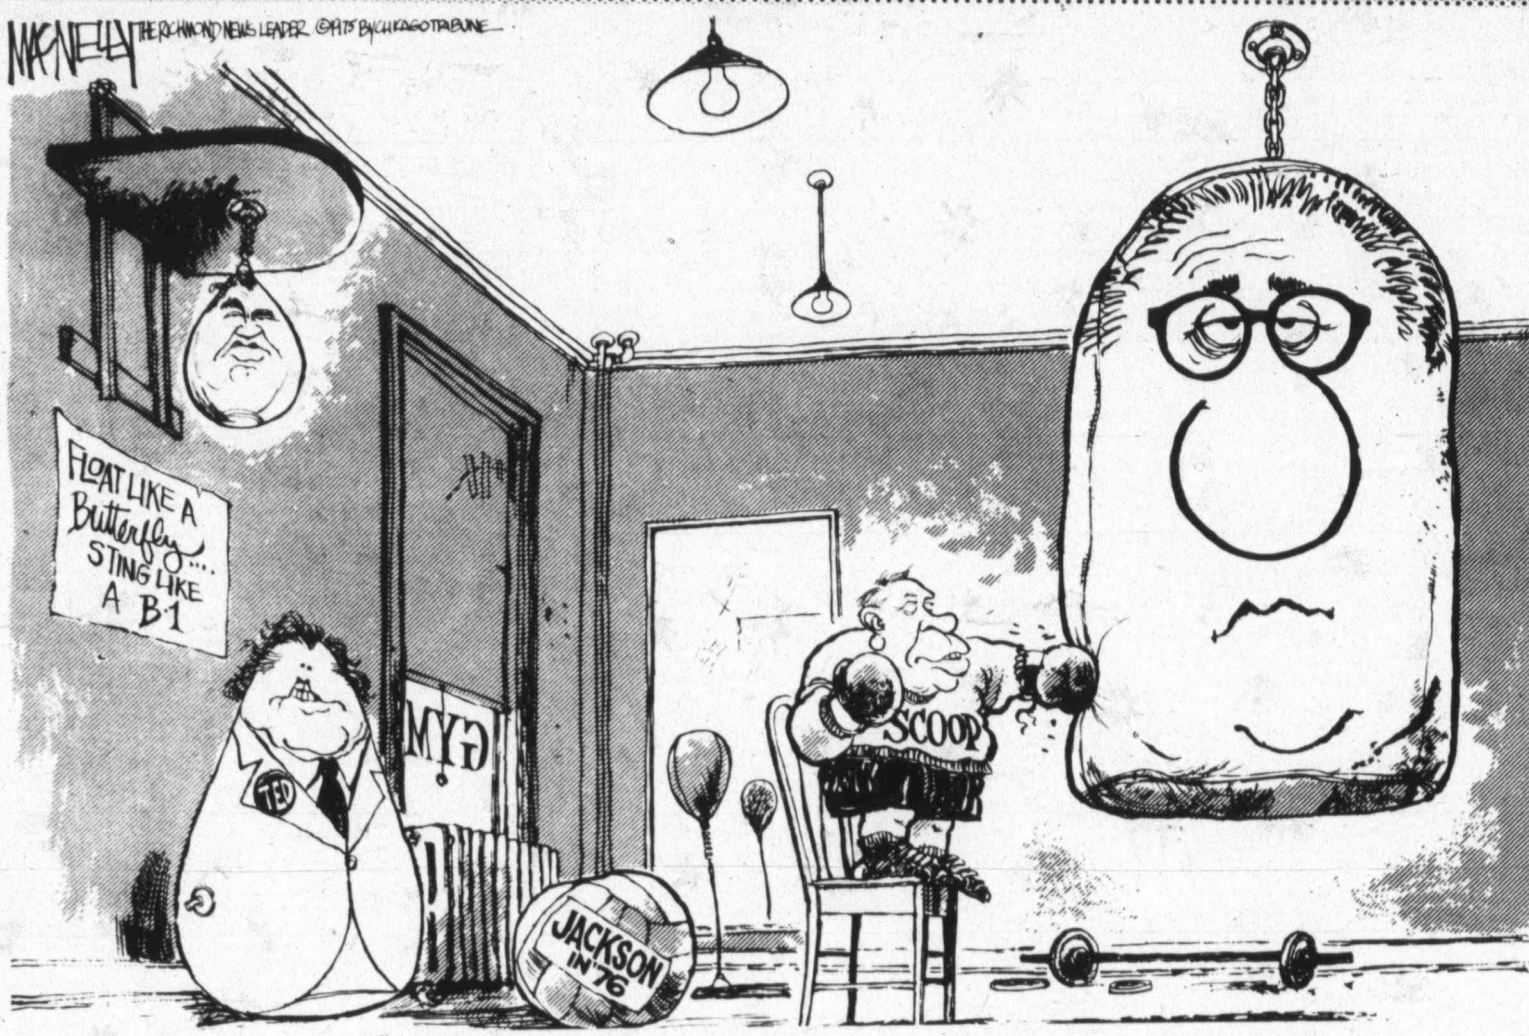

Yes, I have a problem with swearing, but my wife thinks it's more serious than I do. I don't mean to blaspheme God. It's just force of habit. What does the Bible really say about this? H.Y.

One of the most prevalent sins in America today is taking God's name in vain. However, the statement of Deuteronomy 5:11 is still true, "The Lord will not leave unpunished the man who misuses His name" (NEB).

Furthermore, many scholars feel this is much broader than just blasphemy. It prohibits even irreverent use of God's name, so the problem touches a majority of lives.

Now God may not mark this sin by sudden or severe immediate judgment. But its seriousness is not thereby depreciated. Here's the only remedy I know. It's to get Christ really at the heart of your life. You see, the Scripture says (Matthew 12:34), "Out of the abundance of the heart, the mouth speaketh." If the heart is right, the tongue will be right.

If God's Spirit shows you that this is a problem, pray for the power to break the habit. Others have done it; so can you.

Bitter Legacies

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — The Senate Finance Committee Wednesday began confirmation hearings on President Ford's nomination, as the government's top trade negotiator, of William Walker, a 37-year-old White House aide with an immaculate record and a better than even chance to be rejected by the Senate — a paradox traced to today's weakened presidency.

WALKER'S OSTENSIBLE problem is lack of experience in international trade. Sen. Carl Curtis of Nebraska, the Finance Committee's senior Republican, shares that concern but will vote for Walker, he says, "out of deference to the President." Other committee Republicans — Paul Fannin (Ariz.), William Roth (Del.) and perhaps Clifford Hansen (Wyo.) — show no such deference. On the Democratic side, liberals Abraham Ribicoff (Conn.) and Gaylord Nelson (Wis.) are inclined against Walker, and chairman Russell B. Long of Louisiana may join them. If all these Senators vote against Walker, his nomination is dead.

WHAT IS happening here is the intersection of two bitter legacies from the ruined presidency of Richard M. Nixon. The first, especially strong among Democrats, is congressional attempts to usurp presidential selection of high officials, among other functions. The second, involving Republicans, is a corrosive post-Nixon reaction to arrogance from the Oval Office.

THAT SECOND legacy means that opposition against Walker from Republican Senators is in large part an emotional slap back at Walker's boss and patron, White House chief of staff Donald Rumsfeld, and, indirectly, Rumsfeld's departed predecessors, H. R. Haldeman and Gen. Alexander Haig.

Walker is unmistakably Rumsfeld's protege. Brought into the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) as a young Chicago lawyer by fellow Illinoisan Rumsfeld in 1969, Walker followed him to the Cost of Living Council (COLC) in 1972. When Rumsfeld took over the White House last December, he gave Walker the messy task of running the personnel office there. In reward for that hazardous duty, the President on April 15 nominated Walker for the choice post of deputy special trade representative stationed in general to head forthcoming negotiations.

ON HIS courtesy calls to Senators since then, Walker has argued that he gained plenty of negotiating experience as a government lawyer and that past trade negotiators, while more experienced, were concerned with foreign policy dictates rather than driving a hard bargain. With such arguments, Walker would have sailed through the Senate in pre-Watergate days. But in 1975 Senators are touchier about a nominee's qualifications.

Beyond lack of experience, Walker suffers from having been personnel chief. A highly competent but buttoned-down young man who does not suffer fools gladly, Walker treated some seekers of high federal posts recommended by Senators as supplicants rather than VIPs. One Senator now opposing Walker tells of a prominent constituent volunteering for government office being given a runaround by Walker. He is accused of sidetracking a would-be member of the new Commodity Futures Regulatory Commission who had influential support in the Senate Republican cloakroom.

Conservative Republicans who are Walker's sharpest critics also blame him for decisions on some obscure but politically sensitive appointments, including Neil Straehler liberal Democrat on the Federal Elections Commission.

'It Can't Get Much Worse'

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — All through the world of business they are waiting these days for the sound of the economy hitting bottom, hoping that once that ugly clunk is heard they can listen to the sweet music of a recovery.

The anticipation of a bottom being reached soon is based both on the belief that "it can't get much worse" and on the statistical indicators.

Unemployment remains close to 9 per cent of the labor force, corporate profits were off 22.3 per cent in the first quarter, and the Gross National Product has already declined for five straight three-month periods.

Inflation, which tends to decline as recession presses down on the ability and willingness to buy, remained high at 8.5 per cent in the first quarter — but nothing like the 14.4 per cent rate of the previous three months.

Three items are being listened to with special interest, because they will provide clues to the strength and speed of the eventual recovery: Employment, Housing, Automobiles.

EMPLOYMENT—During March and April some signs developed to suggest an easing of the jobless problem. Layoffs declined. Total employment rose in April. The work-week lengthened in some industries.

However, there is also a rising supply of workers, which accounts for the continued high level of unemployment. Chase Manhattan Bank gives this assessment:

"In the months ahead, employment will continue to expand, through probably quite slowly. But improving economic conditions will spur labor force growth, so that the unemployment rate will remain high for some time."

HOUSING—One thing that has been learned in the past couple of months is that just because the thrift institutions have money it doesn't mean they'll be looking for mortgage customers.

The savings and loan associations and savings banks are nervous. With a big federal deficit to be financed, they fear that interest rates in general will shortly begin to rise.

Therefore, they're afraid to make long-term, low-rate commitments of their money.

Scores of financial analysts in corporations, banks, brokerage houses and elsewhere are scaling down their estimates of the size of the housing recovery. Some see it still two or three years away.

AUTOMOBILES — While Ford and Chrysler have sharply scaled down their expectations for 1975 and don't seem to be very optimistic about next year either, General Motors remains unconvinced that a recovery isn't coming.

Some analysts, in fact, believe the days of 10 million sales a year won't be back for many years. Among the most pessimistic, Sindlinger & Co., whose services are used by the Big Three manufacturers, maintains that automotive executives looking for big sales in the next few months or year are operating on "hunches, habit and hope rather than the facts."

But if car sales take a sharp turn upward, it will be a clear signal that a major change has taken place in consumer buying attitudes.

Is Cancer Catching?

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is cancer catching? I have a dear friend sick with cancer. She wants me to visit her, and I am worried.

Mrs. H.M. Dear Dr. Thosteson: After months of reading newspaper and magazine articles concerning cancer-causing viruses and immunity studies, I have become terrified by the possibility that cancer is contagious.

I'm so afraid that cancer can be transmitted by physical contact. Is cancer contagious?

A.D.R. The theory that cancer may be caused by a virus (or a group of viruses) is intriguing, and the subject has been given much public exposure of late. However, there is a lack of evidence that it is contagious, and a preponderance of evidence that says it is not. Experience alone strongly suggests it is not contagious.

A.D.R.'s suggestion is understandable but deceptive. Her reasoning is that if cancer is caused by viruses, and if viruses are contagious in some diseases, why isn't it so with cancer?

It is true that certain virus-caused diseases are highly contagious, chiefly those involving the respiratory tract — pneumonia, for example. Most childhood diseases — measles, mumps, rubella, chickenpox — are caused by viruses and they are contagious.

Viruses have been implicated in certain cancers in animals, but the transmissibility to other animals, or from animals to humans, has not been demonstrated. Nor has it been shown that cancer is contagious among humans.

Literature dealing with all aspects of cancer is replete with the word "may," whereas "is" appears sparingly. There are several non-viral agents suspected in cancer — tars, radiation, certain other chemicals.

Finally, we must place some weight on our years of experience with the disease. If cancer were contagious, evidence pointing to that fact would be considerable and would provide us with much more than mere guess work. We don't have that evidence. Instead, as I said earlier, the evidence we have to the contrary indicates that the incidence of cancer is of a sporadic, random nature.

So A.D.R. should stop worrying, and Mrs. H.M. should visit her sick friend.

We are all, at one time or another, exposed to the same viruses suspected in some cancer. If it were contagious, such exposure would certainly result in a skyrocketing number of cancer victims. This hasn't occurred.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 16 years old and have a very annoying problem. In between my periods I have a flow of white fluid so bad that I have to wear napkins.

My dad says that this is my fertile period, and that it is completely natural. I have tried douching with warm vinegar, but this only helps temporarily.

Your dad is correct. Such a discharge can occur at mid-cycle due to ovulation. How about a tampon instead of the pad? The discharge should last about a day or two.

I wouldn't recommend unnecessary and indiscriminate douching of any kind.

WASHINGTON — When Richard Nixon ran for President in 1968 his image-makers went to work to make the American people forget he was a tough guy and believe he was a nice guy instead. Out of it came the "New Nixon."

GERRY FORD has the opposite problem. He is known as a nice guy, and his image-makers now have until 1976 to make him into a tough guy. It will be a lot harder than anyone thinks.

"Mr. President, we'd like to talk to you about the new Gerry Ford."

"Aw shucks, guys, I don't know if I want to talk about that. Does anybody want any breakfast? I'm making pancakes."

There's the problem, Mr. President, in a nutshell. You're going to have to stop making your own breakfast. Nobody trusts a President who cooks in the White House.

"GEE WHIZ, that's the only fun I have in the morning."

"Do you want to be President in 1976 or don't you?"

"I guess so."

"Then we've got to change the picture Americans have of you."

"Then we've got to change the picture Americans have of you. Now for a start we don't want you to release any more photos of you kissing the First Lady or of Susan sitting on your lap. It's too — too family. The only shots we want in the papers are you sitting at your desk firing a Cabinet officer."

"I CAN'T fire anybody, fellows. You know that."

"You're going to have to show everyone you're in charge."

"Whom should I fire?"

"It doesn't make any differences as long as you do it in public and you humiliate the person."

"I don't think I'd like that."

"It isn't whether you'd like it or not. You're going to have to do it unless you want Ronald Reagan moving into this office."

"RONNIE'S a nice guy."

"He is not, Mr. President, and you better stop saying he is. If you're going to be President of the United States, you've got to hate. Richard Nixon knew that better than anyone."

"Poor Nixon. I hope he's getting better."

"Mr. President, will you forget about Richard Nixon? We're playing hard ball. Now the first thing we've got to do is draw up an enemies list of people you're out to get."

I'M NOT out to get anybody. People may not agree with what I have to say, but that doesn't make them my enemies. Golly gumpdrops."

"This is going to be tougher than we thought, men. Mr. President, if we're going to get you on the ballot, we've got to make everyone think you're a real s.o.b."

"What's an s.o.b.?"

"It's an expletive deleted."

"I don't use expletives deleted and never have. Betty gets mad when I say damn. I'm not sure I want to be President if I have to use expletives deleted."

"Mr. President, Truman used them, Eisenhower used them, Kennedy used them, Johnson used them and Nixon used them. Do you want to be the first President in history who never used an expletive deleted?"

"Well, if you think it would make that much of a difference, draw up a list and I'll choose one. But I'll only say it at Burning Tree while I'm playing golf."

Letter To The Editor

SIR: For over the past eleven years, maybe longer, Perry Bradford of 815 W. 17th, has worked to beautify the edge of a ravine on the west side of his property. He started a cactus garden, and through the years, his friends and neighbors have brought him various cacti from all over the state.

The edge of the ravine belongs to the city, but because of the love of seeing things grow, Mr. Bradford made what could have been just another curb to mow a beauty to behold. During the blooming season, passersby, children, neighbors, would stop to enjoy this man's efforts and the cacti's beauty. And we, like others, had brought him cacti to add to this spot.

This past weekend, the strawberry cactus we had given him bloomed as never before. It was breathtaking in its colors. Someone else must have admired it, too, for they stole it.

Our gift is gone; so is a lot of pleasure and hard work. One cactus may not seem a great loss to most, but it is a loss to Mr. Bradford, the neighbors, us, and all those who have watched this garden grow and beautify a small portion of Big Spring.

Sheriff Is Sued

MIDLAND — A 31-year-old former Midland County Jail inmate, claiming his constitutional rights have been violated, has filed a $180,000 federal court lawsuit here against Sheriff Ed Darnell, his chief deputy, Bill Cornell, and chief jailer, Kenneth Ivy.

Filing suit in the Midland-Odessa Division of federal court was Steve Olgin Jr., a Midlander who is serving a life sentence in state prison on a 1974 conviction in 142nd District Court for the sale of the narcotic heroin.

He had two previous convictions: burglary in 1964 and possession of heroin in 1970.

Olgin, then in jail awaiting trial, said he was thrown into solitary confinement Aug. 8, 1974, without explanation from jailer Ivy until three days later and that he was denied right to counsel and legal materials.

The suit says he and another inmate were transferred from the jail's No. 1 tank to solitary confinement for "an alleged assault on another prisoner."

Olgin said he was confined to the one-man "virtually barren and filthy" cell for 14 days.

The plaintiff alleged that he was "constantly (and) verbally abused" by the jailers and "repeatedly by defendant Cornell."

Sheriff Darnell said Tuesday that he was not notified of the suit.

Olgin, who has signed a pauper's oath, is seeking court-appointed attorneys to represent him in a wished-for jury trial.

He is asking for $150,000 in compensatory damages and $30,000 in punitive damages.

Judge Carrillo Misused Duval Goods, Employees?

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Claims of Duval county property and employees being misused by State Dist. Court Judge O.P. Carrillo have been added to claims of constitutional self-incrimination protection in testimony before a special House committee.

The committee, which is considering whether another panel should be created to draft impeachment articles against Carrillo, heard its second series of witnesses Wednesday night.

Ruben Chapa of Benavides testified that in November 1973 Carrillo used county equipment to do some work on his ranch, Oscar Sanchez and Francisco Ruiz, also of Benavides, said while they were county employees they used county equipment to work on Carrillo's ranch.

R.M. Couling of Benavides, the former tax collector of the Benavides School District, invoked the Fifth Amendment at least 15 times in response to questions by Rep. Terry Canales, D-Premont, and members of the committee.

Canales, whose resolution led to the creation of the committee, had said Tuesday that Couling was the "proprietor" of the Benavides Implement and Hardware Store. Couling pleaded the Fifth Wednesday when asked if he knew where that store was located.

Testimony Tuesday indicated the Benavides Implement and Hardware Store had become a source of supplies to Duval county governmental entities in 1971.

Chapa told the committee it was common knowledge in Benavides that Carrillo used county equipment and employees on his ranch.

"You don't have to go to a bar to hear that," said Chapa, a service station owner. "You can hear it around town."

Ruiz, who, like Chapa and Sanchez, now works for the Duval County Conservation and Reclamation District, said he had used county welding equipment on different occasions at Carrillo's ranch.

Couling, whose lawyer was at his side, took advantage of his constitutional privilege when asked how long he had known Carrillo. Couling pleaded the Fifth in response to a question about who

Miss Angel told the Times Herald she was interviewed by the FBI Monday in Los Angeles on a wide range of topics, including allegations that Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused assassin of Kennedy, had visited the Carousel Club on two occasions shortly before the assassination.

The other stripper was identified as Kathy Kay. Miss Kay reportedly told her Carousel coworkers she had seen—and had, in fact, danced with—Oswald in the club a few days prior to Kennedy's death.

She reportedly left Dallas abruptly on Nov. 24, 1963, the same day Ruby shot Oswald to death in the basement of the Dallas police station.

AMA Chief Urges Docs To Go Back To Work

The president of the American Medical Association says the work slowdown by doctors in California over rising malpractice insurance costs has proved its point, and he urged them to go back to work.

Dr. Malcolm Todd of Long Beach, Calif., an area heavily affected by the malpractice protest, said Wednesday the continuing boycott will create "utter chaos" if it continues.

Protesting doctors, led by anesthesiologists, have been off the job in some areas of northern California since May 1, shutting down all but essential surgery and curtailing other hospital services. Some Southern California doctors have joined the protest.

In New York, Gov. Hugh Carey signed into law Wednesday legislation designed to avert a malpractice insurance crisis in his state.

The law provides for creation of a pool of some 200 private insurance companies to replace Argonaut Insurance Co. when it goes out of the malpractice business in New York after July 1. It also limits the right of patients to sue and sets up a government agency to weed out incompetent doctors.

Similar legislation was signed into law in Florida Tuesday.

AMA Chief Urges Docs To Go Back To Work

The president of the American Medical Association says the work slowdown by doctors in California over rising malpractice insurance costs has proved its point, and he urged them to go back to work.

Dr. Malcolm Todd of Long Beach, Calif., an area heavily affected by the malpractice protest, said Wednesday the continuing boycott will create "utter chaos" if it continues.

Protesting doctors, led by anesthesiologists, have been off the job in some areas of northern California since May 1, shutting down all but essential surgery and curtailing other hospital services. Some Southern California doctors have joined the protest.

In New York, Gov. Hugh Carey signed into law Wednesday legislation designed to avert a malpractice insurance crisis in his state.

The law provides for creation of a pool of some 200 private insurance companies to replace Argonaut Insurance Co. when it goes out of the malpractice business in New York after July 1. It also limits the right of patients to sue and sets up a government agency to weed out incompetent doctors.

Question Former Ruby Strippers At Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — FBI agents have quizzed a former striptease dancer who is believed to be the last person to talk with Jack Ruby before his death, The Dallas Times Herald reported today.

The newspaper said also it has learned that federal agents are seeking a second stripper from Ruby's old Carousel Club for questioning.

The disclosure came on the heels of questioning by federal authorities of several Dallas police officers and amid growing hints of a new FBI investigation into the assassination of President Kennedy.

According to the Times Herald, the first of the two strippers, now a 42-year-old suburban grandmother, was a featured performer at Ruby's nightclub for three years and appeared under the stage name Shari Angel.

Miss Angel told the Times Herald she was interviewed by the FBI Monday in Los Angeles on a wide range of topics, including allegations that Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused assassin of Kennedy, had visited the Carousel Club on two occasions shortly before the assassination.

Man Shot By Police

MIDLAND — A man identified as Green Wiley, 42, was fatally wounded by a police officer here early Wednesday after he reportedly had attacked officers with a piece of metal pipe. He was clad only in a pair of socks at the time.

Wiley died about four hours after the shooting at a Midland hospital.

The police officer, James L. Campbell, was treated for minor injuries and released.

Campbell said that he and a fellow officer, Edgar Hale, were summoned to the scene to investigate a vehicle accident.

There they found a pickup with its front end damaged near a utility pole, which had been knocked down. No one was at the scene.

However, they were attracted by a noise to a nearby garage and there saw a naked man smashing windows with a pipe. The man began hitting the police car with the pipe after it drove up, then turned on the officers after they tried to stop him.

After his warnings failed to halt the rampage, Campbell said he fired once at the man from a distance of about three to five feet, wounding his assailant in the abdomen.

Police identified Wiley as a self-employed swine raiser.

Lad Admits Tag Switch

ROSWELL, N.M. (AP) — A Roswell child confessed in a letter to a local grocery store that he had switched a price tag on a 19-cent ball a year or two ago and cheated the store of nine cents. The child, who didn't sign the letter, taped a dime to the letter.

H & J Farmers' Market received the letter, written in pencil on children's stationery.

The letter, apparently composed by a youngster just learning to write, read: "Dear H & J Workers,

"About a year or two ago, I was in your store with my mom. I wanted a ball very badly. There was a small ball that cost 19 cents. I didn't think my mom would buy it at that price.

"There were some play baby bottles that were 10 cents. I took off one of the 10 cent tags. I took off the 19 cent tag and threw it on the floor. I stuck the 10 cent tag on the ball. I gave it to my mother to buy it. She bought it at the 10 cent price.

"I was thinking today 'if I small thing like that would keep me from getting to heaven, I'd better return it.' "I have used the ball a lot, so I don't think you would want it back. But here is the 10 cents I stole from you."

Below the dime taped to the letter, the young writer added, "Please forgive me. Don't think I made up this story, because I truly did it."

Harold Renfro, store manager, said, "It makes you feel there are some good children. I thought the letter was very, very nice."

Highest Profits Of Any Utilities In The Nation?

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The head of a consumer group Wednesday said Texas private utility companies have the highest profits of any utilities in the nation.

Dave Jones of the Texas Public Interest Research Group said Texas utilities cost the consumers three-quarters of a billion dollars between 1969 and 1973 by charging rates that allowed the firms to make profits above the national average.

In 1973, Jones said, "the average residential consumer could have saved an average of $41.89 on his electric bill if company profits could have been held to the national average."

Jones said the "evidence of excessive utility company profits points directly to the need for a strong utility commission" in Texas.

Currently utility commission bills are under consideration by both the House and Senate.

Traffic Risks Go Up On Holiday Weekends

AUSTIN — The Texas Safety Association today reminded motorists to make their Memorial Day travel sensible by buckling safety belts and observing speed limits.

The Memorial Day holiday period begins at 6 p.m. Friday, May 23, and ends at midnight, Monday, May 26.

The most important passenger protection feature in the American car today is the seat belt system, asserts TSA, yet it is estimated that less than 30 per cent of drivers wear lap and shoulder belts regularly.

As a result, each year more than 14,000 persons die in highway crashes that would not have been fatal if the victims had been wearing safety belts.

TSA cited the National Safety Council estimate that over 100 drivers could be saved over the upcoming holiday if they simply took the time to fasten their safety belts.

Speed is another key factor in traffic deaths and injury, points out TSA, noting that in 1974, statewide traffic deaths decreased by 17 per cent. But in 1975, with compliance to the 55 m.p.h. speed limit apparently slipping, deaths were on the increase again.

The latest Department of Public Safety report shows traffic deaths up 23 per cent so far this year.

Learning to deal with situations that cause accidents can help the driving public survive not only in holiday traffic but every day. A good way to learn is to take the Defensive Driving Course, a joint effort of TSA and the National Safety

Council. Studies show that graduates have fewer accidents and buckle their safety belts. The course also saves the graduate insurance money. Drivers who successfully complete the eight-hour, classroom course are eligible for a ten per cent automobile insurance discount. For more information on the course, contact the Texas Safety Association, P.O. Box 9345, Austin, Texas, 78766.

Why Refuse Jobs To Persons Who Survive Cancer Surgery?

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A Brooklyn, N.Y., surgeon assured employers Wednesday there is no need to refuse jobs to persons who have had cancer surgery.

Dr. Bernard Gardner said this applies to most of the 665,000 Americans who develop cancer each year.

He told specialists in intestinal and liver diseases gathered here during Digestive Disease Week that "the employer needs to realize that for certain cancer patients his fears of being burdened by an inefficient worker suffering a prolonged downhill course may be unfounded."

The State University of New York surgeon said that "recently we have had several patients who were refused employment although they were fully functional and able to work at the time. Many years of useful employability are wasted by such attitudes."

Many of these patients need to earn money, not only to support families but to pay off the thousands of dollars in bills incurred by hospitalization and treatment, he said.

Gardner and three colleagues followed 97 patients after their operations for cancer of the colon, and another 209 women after their operations for breast cancer.

He said his findings also apply to other kinds of cancer surgery.

"The current policy of waiting five years wastes many worthwhile years of active employment," he said.

He said 85 per cent of his patients could go back to work after recovering from cancer operations. This statistic contradicts the belief that cancer patients are disabled permanently or for long periods of time, he said.

"The fact is that these people can go back to work at full pace, even at heavy labor," he said. "Even if the cancer recurs, the worker need not leave until the last stages of the disease. Cancer produces characteristics of physical wasting only then."

GOREN BRIDGE

Neither vulnerable. North deals.

94 A4 J93 AK10853 WEST EAST 3 AK62 QJ1096 K852 Q10752 K864 J4 6

SOUTH QJ10875 73 A Q972

The bidding: North East South West 1 ♠ Dbble. Rdbble. 2 ♥ Pass 3 ♥ 3 ♣ Pass 4 ♣ Dbble. Pass Pass

Opening lead: Queen of ♥.

Never relax. Just because a contract seems simple, doesn't mean you can afford to be careless and neglect to take elementary precautions.

East's double of North's one club opening presented South with a difficult problem. If he redoubled to show his strength, East-West might jam the auction in hearts, preventing South from ever showing both his spade suit and club support.

However, if he chose any other bid, North would never begin to realize South's great playing strength. South elected to show his values, and over East's three hearts, introduced his spade suit. North, with tolerance for spades, had no choice but to raise to game, and East doubled to close the proceedings.

When West led the top of his heart sequence, declarer was delighted with the dummy that appeared on the table. He won the ace of hearts and led a trump. East took the king and shifted to a club. Declarer won in dummy and led another trump. East rose with the ace, led a heart to his partner's nine and scored a club ruff to set the contract one trick.

South missed a simple play that would have allowed him to make the contract as the cards lie. All he had to do was hold up the ace of hearts for one round. No matter what the defenders did, East would then have no way of reaching his partner's hand to obtain a club ruff.

The fact that East made a takeout double of one club indicated that it was East who was short in clubs. Add to this his double of four spades, which was almost surely based on his possession of both the ace and king of trumps. All in all, the holdup of the ace of hearts at trick one was an almost sure-fire way to insure the contract, and would have converted a small loss into a large profit.

High Motel Rates Have Created New Investment Opportunities In Family Camping.
Rising motel/hotel rates are being avoided by travelers. The average American family simply cannot afford $100 days on the road. The leisure-time lifestyle of Americans have changed. It's "back to the basics" ... and that means modern camping. By car and tent or RV. There are 8 1/2 million RVs in the U.S. and nearly as many family travel trailers. Over 100,000 Canadians are avid campers, too! During the first months of 1975 business and family campgrounds jumped 42 percent over last year's same period. Americans are camping out more than ever and you can cash in on this fact. Now is the time for you to invest in a unique business opportunity. Join North America's number one camping host, write:

"WHERE'S SAVES" 1501 E.

Olds Cutlass is the best selling mid-size car in 1975.

Here are four solid reasons why Cutlass is a red hot seller.

1. Gas mileage. According to results published in the EPA Buyer's Guide, Cutlass, with its available 4 bbl. 350 V-8 engine, outclassed all mid-size competitors with V-8s. Results? 15 mpg in the city test; 20 mpg in the highway test.
2. Resale Value. Cutlass has traditionally high resale value. That's nice to know when you decide to buy.
3. Style and Comfort. Outside, sleek style and sculptured lines. Inside, room and comfort to spare. With it all, a ride that makes driving a real pleasure.
4. The added plus. The way an Olds is designed, engineered and built. It's Oldsmobile quality and dependability. A real plus.

And here's OVER 40 YEARS OF one more... DEPENDABLE OLDSMOBILE SERVICE

Cutlass: Beat every other mid-size car according to 1975 calendar year sales figures through April.

Your DOROSCOPE

FRIDAY, MAY 23, 1975
GENERAL TENDENCIES: An excellent day to make long-range plans to increase charm and magnetism, as well as to plan social events. Later you find it necessary to get busy carrying through on promises.

ARIES (Mar 21 to Apr 19) You need to get data, so go after it from the right sources early. Show you are reliable by keeping promises. Make your life more effective.

TAURUS (Apr 20 to May 20) Get busy on those new arrangements you made with partners and come to a better understanding. Those who have opposed you are on your side.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Delve into all that work early and get it behind you efficiently. Gain the cooperation of fellow workers. Take health treatments.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Daytime activities are most pleasant, in business or recreation, but take care you do not overspend in p.m. Use creative talent.

LEO (July 22 to Aug 21) Improve home affairs in every way possible. You can iron out problems in any new romantic interest. Relax in p.m. Read.

VIRGO (Aug 22 to Sept. 22) Come to a far better understanding with partners during day but take care you do not argue at home in p.m. Be punctual. Drive carefully.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Change budget to allow more money for recreation to relieve tensions. Listen to expert's advice to improve your monetary position. Be frugal now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov 21) Cooperate with others today but stick pretty close to trusted pals tonight. Accept some interesting invitation during day.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 22 to Dec 21) Entertaining persons you like is wise tonight, but first handle important matters. Find night accessories to improve wardrobe.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22 to Jan. 20) Contacting good friends during the day can bring something very pleasant into your life. Make decisions with important personalities early.

AQUARIUS (Jan 21 to Feb. 19) Get in touch with persons who can help you advance in your career. Doing some public work also will help you with higher-ups.

PISCES (Feb 20 to Mar. 20) Look into new outlets during day to better your situation considerably. A letter could add to responsibility but is good for you.

PHILLIES BLANKED Astros Sweep 3 Game Series

By the Associated Press

Johnny Bench went to bat for Tony Perez last winter so Perez could go to bat for the Cincinnati Reds this summer.

And, boy, how Perez has been going to bat.

Bench, who interceded for his teammate when the Reds attempted to trade him during the off-season, can play about his grandstand along the way Perez is hitting now.

"I got the feeling back," said Perez Wednesday night — and few would doubt him after he drove in four runs, two with a homer, to lead the Reds' 11-4 conquest of the New York Mets.

The home run was Perez' sixth of the season and the RBI boosted his total to 29, tops on the team.

In the other National League games, the San Francisco Giants shaded the Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1 in 11 innings; the Atlanta Braves trimmed the Montreal Expos 6-3; the Houston Astros blanked the Philadelphia Phillies 4-0; the San Diego Padres nipped the St. Louis Cardinals 1-0 and the Los Angeles Dodgers pounded the Chicago Cubs 10-0.

GIANTS 2, PIRATES 1
 Chris speier's bases-loaded single with none out in the 11th inning gave San Francisco its victory over Pittsburgh and a sweep of their three-game series.

The victory was the Giants' fifth in six games and improved their extrajumping record to 5-0 this season.

BRAVES 6, EXPOS 3
 Darrell Evans smashed his seventh and eighth home runs of the season and Mike Lum added another to Atlanta's long-ball attack, powering the Braves over Montreal.

Evans hit both of his basesempty shots off Steve Renko, 0-2, the first in the opening inning and the second in the fourth. Lum got a bases-empty homer, his second of the season, in the fifth off reliever Don Demola.

ASTROS 4, PHILLIES 0
 Larry Dierker pitched a sixhitter and Milt May doubled home three runs to lead Houston over Philadelphia. May's drive to left off Wayne Twitchell in the fifth inning expanded a 1-0 lead the Astros had acquired on Cesar Cedeño's sacrifice fly in the third.

The victory, fourth straight for the Astros, the last place team in the National League West, enabled them to sweep the three-game series from the Phillies.

PADRES 1, CARDINALS 0
 Joe McIntosh pitched an eight-hitter and San Diego scored an unearned run in the seventh inning on pitcher Bob Gibson's throwing error to edge St. Louis.

Rangers Back In First Place

The Oakland A's asked for it by starting three left-handers at chummy Fenway Park, so the Boston Red Sox gave it to them.

Wednesday night's 7-3 Boston victory featured Carl Yastrzemski's grand slam homer and a two-run shot by Rico Petrocelli off Ken Holtzman.

The Red Sox clobbered six home runs in sweeping the series, stretching the A's losing streak to four and dropping them into a first-place tie in the American League's West Division with the Texas Rangers, who edged the Milwaukee Brewers 5-4.

Elsewhere, the Minnesota Twins nipped the Detroit Tigers 6-5 in 11 innings, the Baltimore Orioles trounced the Chicago White Sox 6-2, the Kansas City Royals downed the New York Yankees 4-1 in 10 innings and the Cleveland Indians shaded the California Angels 3-2.

RANGERS 5, BREWERS 4
Jim Spencer slammed a two-run homer and Jeff Burroughs drove in the decisive run with a sacrifice fly.

The Rangers scored the tying and winning runs against Billy Champion on the fifth inning. One scored on a single by Jim Sundberg, a fielder's choice and single by Willie Davis.

TWINS 6, TIGERS 5
Larry Hisle hit a two-run homer off Detroit relief ace John Hiller in the bottom of the 11th inning after the Tigers scored an unearned run in the top half on Ron LeFlore's infield hit, an error and Gary Sutherland's single. Hiller walked Steve Bete to start the Twins' 11th and Hisle followed with his seventh home run of the season.

ORIOLES 6, WHITE SOX 2
Bobby Grich's three-run homer in a four-run first inning helped Jim Palmer, 7-2, notch his fourth straight victory as the Orioles snapped a fourgame losing streak.

ROYALS 4, YANKEES 1
Fran Healy slammed a three-run homer in the 10th inning after George Brett reached on an error and Cookie Rojas singled.

INDIANS 3, ANGELS 2
Player-Manager Frank Robinson hit two home runs, his first since opening day, and rookie Jim Kern hurled seven shutout innings for his first major league victory.

MSA Elks Trim Gas, 18-2
Four Miss Softball America games were played Tuesday.

In Minor go-round, the Elks trimmed Pioneer Natural Gas, 18-2, First Federal Belles dumped Tommy Gage Fina Flashers, 26-6, and Security State Starlets edged State National Greenbacks, 22-20.

The Optimists drubbed the Kiwanians, 30-3, in a Mini-Minor test.

The annual Black & Gold contest at 7:30 p.m., Friday brings to a close three weeks of sanctioned UUL spring football practice at Big Spring High.

The Steer junior varsity will go through its final spring exercise at 5:30 p.m. A crowd of some 1,000 admirers are expected to pass through the gates.

The Big Spring Quarterback Club will man a concession stand. Cold sandwiches, soft drinks and candy are the items to be on the menu.

There will be no admission charge though donations can be made to the QB club. New club tri-captains include Don Reynolds, Judy Robison and Paschal Odum.

Bob Burris, Steer head coach, said, "I feel like the whole purpose of spring practice is to help the younger players. We have a good up and coming squad."

Burris promises a lot of excitement for the viewers. "We will throw a lot," he added.

The Gold unit will be under the direction of Mark Moore. Promoted from the junior varsity, Mike Valenzuela will guide the Black unit.

Valenzuela carries the same height measurement of Moore, 6-3, but is somewhat lighter than Mark, 165 compared to 205. Missing half of 1974 Steer JV play because of a broken collar bone, Valenzuela has displayed good form and a good right arm in locating receivers.

From reports, Valenzuela could push Moore for the starting field generalship next fall.

Burris said as of now it would be difficult to pick a starting unit either on offense or defense. Several players are fighting hard for positions," he added.

Big Spring features more depth and speed than from last year. The Steers had only six men run the 40 yard dash under five flat last year, compared to 22 this spring.

Steer football competition is up with 58 suiting out compared to 40 last year. Burris probably will carry between a 35 to 40 man squad next fall.

The two-platoon system will be employed. Several Steer players will be switched during the course of the Black & Gold game as well as some fulfilling dual assignments.

Joe Milloway will be the long snapper on both units. The punting chores are to be handled in its entirety by Mike Harris.

Three Steers will go both ways on punt receiving. They include Greg Spears, Ken McMurtrey and Tommy Churchwell.

Injuries were at a minimum this spring as Phil (Doc) Irwin, Steer athletic trainer, felt the team was a lot healthier. The list includes: Jerry Marquez, knee operation; Daniel Gomez, bad back and Greg Hoffmann, shin splints.

Ronnie Mullins was held out of spring practice because of a knee operation last fall.

Davis Inks WFL Pact
ANAHEIM (AP) — Anthony Davis leaped against the fender of a car that costs as much as a new three bedroom house and said he decided to play in the World Football League because he wanted to stay close to home.

The All-American who set records with his running and stunning kickoff returns at the University of Southern California spurned the National Football League New York Jets and signed a five-year contract reported to be worth $2 million with the WFL's Southern California Sun.

Davis, top draft choice of the Jets, whose quarterback Joe Namath may jump to the WFL for more money, said his main reason for signing with the Sun was simple.

"The main thing is I like Southern California. I feel very fortunate to be here. Guys like O. J. Simpson and Mike Garrett had to leave."

Davis told a news conference Wednesday, "My roots are here, my home is here, my friends and my family and my fans are here. The best situation was for me to stay here."

Davis' agent, Mike Trope, detailed other reasons. He said a $38,000 silver-blue Rolls Royce registered in the players' name was a "small part" of a "very substantial" bonus and guarantee package.

Trope said Davis' multi-million dollar contract had been personally guaranteed by the Sun's principal owner, millionaire businessman Sam Battistone.

"The front money of this contract is more substantial than the entire Jets' offer," Trope said. "If this club went under after one year Anthony could go to New York with more money than he would have in three years with the Jets."

Sloan Top NBA Voter
NEW YORK (AP) — Guard Jerry Sloan, the only original member of the Chicago Bulls still with the team, was the top vote-getter on the National Basketball Association's All-Defensive team for the 1974-75 season, it was announced today by Commissioner Walter Kennedy.

In balloting by the league's 18 head coaches, Sloan received 22 points, one more than both guard Walt Frazier of the New York Knicks and forward John Havlicek of the Boston Celtics.

Others named to the first team were Kareem Abdul-Jabbar of the Milwaukee Bucks with 19 points and forward Paul Silas of Boston with 15 points. Chosen to the second team were forwards Elvin Hayes of the Washington Bullets and Bob Love of Chicago, center Dave Cowens of Boston and guards Norm Van Lier of Chicago and Don Chaney of Boston.

Captains Shell Arkansas Twice

By the Associated Press
Front-running Shreveport fattened its West Division lead in the Texas League by shelling Arkansas for two victories by identical 11-2 scores Wednesday night.

Elsewhere about the league Lafayette thumped San Antonio 9-1, Jackson whitewashed El Paso 5-0 and Alexandria beat Midland 6-2.

Three-run homers told the story for the Shreveport Captains in the first half of their twin bill with the Arkansas Travelers. Ron Mitchell belted a fourbagger with two on base in the fifth inning and teammates Tom Thomas and Ken Melvin duplicated the feat in the sixth. Pitcher Ken Jones, 3-2, set the Travelers down with a meager three hits.

In the nightcap the Captains used a seven-run fifth inning to finish sweeping the seventh of nine doubleheaders they have played this season. Key blows in the Shreveport outburst were a double by Mitchell and one of two triples by Harry Saferight, who each drove in three runs. It was the sixth straight triumph for the Captains.

Lewis Award Set Saturday

L. L. Red Lewis, registrar at Howard College, is in Houston where he will be honored Saturday night by the National Junior College Athletic Association as a coaching great in track and field.

The ritual will take place at San Jacinto College in Pasadena.

Lewis, who once shared time at center on the Hardin-Simmons University football team with the immortal Clyde Bulldog Turner, gave HC several National championships and did much to improve the junior college image in the sport. He was active as the HC coach in the late 50s and early 60s, developing several athletes who rated All-America honors.

Howard College no longer fields a track and field team but during Lewis' era was regarded as the No. one school in the nation in that endeavor.

Clint Ramsey, track coach at South Plains College, will help convey the honors upon Lewis.

Ford Collapses At Yankee Game

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball Hall of Famer Whitey Ford, the pitching coach of the New York Yankees, was resting today in Long Island Jewish Hospital after collapsing prior to Wednesday night's game between the Yankees and Kansas City Royals.

Ford, 46, collapsed after pitching 25 minutes of pregame batting practice on the hot, humid night. He was admitted to the hospital "as a precautionary measure."

Ronnie Salmon hit a single and a double to enhance Jets' victory.

Cary Wiggins drove in the winning run for the Sabres in the bottom of the fifth. The Sabres are the only team to have beaten the T-Birds this season.

Here Are Tips To Help College Grads Find Jobs

DALLAS (AP) — Texas college graduates this spring face a tighter job market than usual, but placement officials say openings still exist for well qualified applicants and those willing to work hard finding employment.

"I think there is more negativism than is warranted," said Gene Francis, assistant placement director at Southern Methodist University in Dallas. "If a graduate really has his head on right, he's going to find a job out there."

Most in demand, according to officials surveyed, are accountants and engineers. It's more difficult for liberal arts graduates to find jobs in their fields.

Liberal arts majors are being urged to develop skills in areas outside their major, such as business, accounting and journalism. This experience may help them land employment, the placement officials interviewed said.

The nation's economic recession is partly to blame, but Joseph Ondrey, who helps business students at the University of Texas at Austin, said the number of jobs available is about the same as last year. "But there are more graduates trying to fill them," he said.

The students are making more use of campus job placement facilities, too, Ondrey said. Use of the business placement center at Texas is up 41 per cent from a year ago.

"You don't just get out of school, go down to Houston and knock on some doors to get a job now," said Ondrey. "You've got to work at it."

With more students looking for jobs this spring, those who do the hiring are becoming more selective, Ondrey said. "The best graduates are getting the best jobs, as usual."

Many times a student who is bitter about his failure to land a good job, said Ondrey, "needs to look inside himself. He usually will realize he didn't do as well as he could have in school. He didn't put out enough."

At Texas Tech University in Lubbock, Mrs. Floy Morrison, assistant director of the job placement center, said it's not as easy to find a job this year.

"You just don't walk in and say, 'I have a degree and I want to work,'" she said. "Arts and sciences students have to do the most job hunting since they usually have no professional training or area of skill."

From the placement directors, here's some advice to help in landing a job:

- Be willing to relocate to some other part of the state or country to get the job.
- Texas students like it here and they don't want to go to other places," said Mrs. Morrison.

Keep a positive attitude, especially in interviews. Make yourself attractive to potential employers. "Those students that properly market themselves are going to find jobs," said SMU's Francis.

—If you are still in school, consider taking elective courses in business, management, marketing, journalism, accounting or other areas. A history major with some training in management may find it easier to get a job than a history major without training in another area.

Balance Shown After Events

It costs to stage an area judging event such as the annual FFA and 4-H judging contests on the Howard College campus.

But this year it paid a cash as well as other dividends, a report from Dr. Charles Hays to the Howard College trustees showed Tuesday.

The event, he said, drew something like 545 boys and leaders to the campus in April. Cost of staging the affair was $5,671, of which $4,699 was for purchase of cattle, plus $588 in rentals, feed, etc. But sale of the cattle and entry fee accounted for $6,083 in revenues, leaving a show balance of $411, according to Tommy Joe Johnson of the business office.

Have the satisfaction of knowing that the original style of your clothes is protected when dry cleaned.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court rejected today a plea by Amarillo, Borger and Pampa in their suit against the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority and eight other cities who belong to the authority.

Amarillo, Borger and Pampa contended that the operating and maintenance costs for an aqueduct, dam and reservoir on the Canadian River should be based on a table of percentages attached to a 1960 resolution.

The authority and the other cities—Plainview, Lubbock, Brownfield, Levelland, Tahoka, O'Donnell, Slaton and Lamesa—argued that the percentages applied only to how much of the construction costs each city should pay.

A state district court judge in Hutchinson County granted a summary judgment for the three cities that filed the suit, but the Amarillo Court of Civil Appeals overruled that judgment.

The appeals court said the proper method for determining the distribution of

More Whittled Off ISD Rolls

End-of-school anticipation last week whittled 11 off the enrollment in Big Spring schools. Elementary schools lost five (nine departed at Marcy which accommodates a large number of base-related people) to leave 3,277. Senior high lost six, leaving 1,716, but there was one gain in junior high level, making the secondary total 2,853. Hospital and homebound was down on to 149, leaving a total of 6,279.

Drilling Tempo Has Lessened

Reflecting the peaking of a surge which followed increasing demand for domestic oil a year ago, the drilling increase over a year ago has moderated. The May 19 report of Hughes Tool Company to the International Association of Drilling Contractors showed 1,588 rigs turning, up 181 or 12.93 per cent over a year ago. In Texas, there were 602 active rigs, up 103, or 20.64 per cent.

Witness Denies Giving 'Cyanide Candy' To Boy

HOUSTON (AP) — A man identified to police as the one who distributed poison trick or treat candy that killed a young boy testified Wednesday he worked at an airport Halloween night and arrived home after the youngster was already dead.

The testimony came in the capital murder trial of Ronald Clark O'Bryan, 30, a Deer Park, Tex., man charged with killing his eight-year-old son, Timothy, by giving him cyanide-laced candy.

Melvin, however, testified he worked Halloween from 2 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. The candy was handed out between 7 p.m. and 8 p.m. and Timothy was dead by 10:30 p.m.

ANOTHER BIT

Melvin also testified he "pattered" around the house most of Nov. 1 and was outside occasionally where he could be seen from the street.

O'Bryan was not with police for part of Nov. 1 and the officers testified they didn't know where he was for some of the time during that day. It was the next day, they said, that he produced the description.

Lanier also told of O'Bryan's description of how Timothy ate the poisoned candy.

O'Bryan, said Lanier, said Timothy was in his bedroom when he asked for the Pixy Stix and O'Bryan cut it open for the youngster.

"The boy took a gulp," said Lanier. "The boy asked for another bit, saying that his sister had gotten two Sweet Tarts (another type of candy)."

"Mr. O'Bryan gave him the Pixy Stix and the boy turned it up, but the powder didn't come out," said the officer.

O'Bryan said he took it, felt a hard lump inside the tube, and rolled it between his hands to break up the candy and handed it back to Timothy, said Lanier.

"The boy got a second swallow. He made a funny face and said 'Oh, Dad, that tastes bitter.' He (O'Bryan) gave the boy a taste of Kool Aid and told him to go to bed," the officer testified.

TUMMY HURTS

Moments later the boy got up and O'Bryan asked why.

"Dad, my tummy hurts," the boy was quoted as saying.

Timothy went to the bathroom and immediately began vomiting.

"The boy turned white," said Lanier. "He (O'Bryan) grasped him around the waist. The boy collapsed to the floor and went into convulsions."

A short time later the boy was taken by ambulance to a hospital where he was pronounced dead within minutes.

O'Bryan is charged with capital murder under a Texas statute which permits the death penalty in murders for profit. The state claims O'Bryan killed his son to collect insurance.

O'Bryan is also charged with four counts of attempted murder in connection with the distribution of four other cyanide-laced Pixy Stix.

Deputy Fired

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A late night visit to a Los Fresnos woman proved costly to a Cameron County deputy sheriff who lost his pistol and his job as a result of the trip.

Cameron County Sheriff Gus Krausse said Wednesday he fired deputy Wayne Norman because Norman lost his pistol during an armed altercation with a Brownsville man late Tuesday at the home of a Los Fresnos woman.

The sheriff said Norman drove to the woman's home and was confronted by a Brownsville man who was armed with a rifle. He said Norman was forced to assume a "spread eagle" position on the ground until the Brownsville man took his pistol and allowed him to leave.

Another deputy obtained the pistol later, Krausse said. The sheriff said that although Norman was off duty and drove to the woman's home in his own automobile he has learned that Norman had earlier driven to the woman's home in a patrol car.

Local Jaycees Hailed As Leading Chapter

The Big Spring Jaycees received recognition as the outstanding chapter in population division IV at the 48th annual state convention in Houston last weekend.

The award is made on the basis of chapter projects and membership retention and growth.

Eddie Cole was presented the George O. Wilson Memorial Award as the outstanding local president in the division. Neal Roberts was named the outstanding local secretary and as editor of the newsletter.

Perry Culwell was selected an outstanding vice president.

Big Spring's Rattlesnake Roundup, which was chaired by Robby Robertson, was given first place as a ways and means project.

In overall competition, the Rattlesnake Roundup was considered the outstanding project in the division.

Cole and Robertson were the top two recruiters in the division, with Cole gaining the Pacesetter Award for recruiting more than 30 members in one year.

Ben Faulkner was selected as director of the year by the Texas Jaycee International Senate. The J.C.I. Senate is composed of Jaycees who have passed the age of 35 but have been awarded life memberships for exemplary service.

The Big Spring chapter was lauded for extending the most new chapters in division IV and for being one of two chapters in Texas tripling its membership during 1974-75.

Language Class Nearing End

Seven Big Spring teachers and administrators will complete a bi-lingual course this week which they have been taking two evenings a week for several weeks.

Instructor for the course has been Mrs. Esther Hernandez, bi-lingual teacher in the Big Spring schools. Those completing the course have been Mrs. Helen Gladden, Tom Henry, Steve Morgan, Mrs. Sylvia Henson, Mrs. Viola Merritt, Mrs. Donna Kay Smith and Mrs. Beatrice Webb.

Rose Mary Woods 'Humiliated'

NEW YORK (AP) — Rose Mary Woods was humiliated by treatment allegedly shown her by the Ford administration since her long-time boss, Richard M. Nixon, left Washington, according to the June issue of McCall's magazine.

The magazine said that after Nixon's resignation, Miss Woods was restricted to his old hideaway office in the Executive Office Building, effectively banned from the White House.

It was said that she kept the hideaway office like a shrine until February when Nixon's old office was closed and Miss Woods moved across Lafayette Square to another building.

Making her first appearance since resigning as president in August, Mrs. Nixon stood ovation audience of 65 she attended that of a grammar school where she her early years.

"I always thought I was named who were really mean really," Nixon told Nixon School.

WORKING

Several police officers testified that O'Bryan claimed the poisoned candy eaten by Timothy came from a house in the Bowling Green subdivision of Pasadena, a Houston suburb. The officers said O'Bryan picked out Courtney E. Melvin as the man who gave him the candy during a trick or treat outing.

But Melvin, 32, testified he was at Hobby Airport on Halloween night, working as an airline dispatcher for Texas International.

His testimony was supported by a fellow worker, Kenneth R. Poe. Melvin's wife, Carolyn, also testified that her husband was not at home during the time the candy was allegedly distributed.

Pasadena police detective William D. Lanier said Melvin's identification was brought into the investigation by O'Bryan on Nov. 2, two days after Timothy's death.

Lanier said O'Bryan gave a detailed description, although he earlier told officers he didn't know who gave out the candy.

"The description (by O'Bryan) fits Mr. Melvin to a T," said Lanier.

NOT SURE

Testimony by Lanier and by Pasadena detectives Sidney Smith and Mrs. Evelyn Lancaster gave this sequence in the investigation:

On Halloween night, shortly after Timothy died, O'Bryan said the candy eaten by the boy was a Giant Pixy Stix, a powdered confection packaged in a plastic tube.

O'Bryan said he was given the candy while escorting his two children and another child on a trick or treat outing.

The officers said in interviews on Halloween night and on Nov. 1, O'Bryan could not identify the house where he got the candy or the person who handed it out.

"He said he couldn't even be sure if it was a man or woman," said Mrs. Lancaster.

But during a Nov. 2 interview, the officers said O'Bryan located the house where he got the candy and gave a detailed description of the man who handed it out.

Later that day, Lanier said he escorted O'Bryan down a street in the Bowling Green subdivision.

"There was a group of people standing on the north side of Donarail (street)," said Lanier. "He (O'Bryan) looked and said he recognized one man. He pointed out the man and it was Mr. Melvin."

The earlier description, said the officer, "fits Mr. Melvin to a T."

PO Will Stop Selling Items

Big Spring Postmaster Frank Hardesty has received preliminary word that the local post office will stop selling stationery, mailing envelopes, stamp affixers, and postal scales, along with all other post offices.

The word came from U.S. Representative Richard C. White, El Paso, a member of the Postal Service Committee.

He is awaiting official directions before stopping those services.

"They never were a big business for us here," Hardesty said. "We'll hardly miss it."

Retail stationery stores and other retail outlets had complained because of the Post Office's unfair advantage in selling these items.

According to Hardesty, the post office will continue selling stamp collecting books and starter kits.

School Named Patricia Nixon

CERRITOS, Calif. (AP) — "I'm so, so honored to have a school named after me," said former First Lady Patricia Nixon.

Making her first public appearance since her husband resigned as president last August, Mrs. Nixon got a standing ovation from an audience of 650 persons as she attended the dedication of a grammar school in the town where she spent most of her early years.

"I always thought schools were named after people who were already gone — I mean really gone," Mrs. Nixon told the laughing audience at the Patricia Nixon School.

About Cuba, Time To Ask: 'What's In It For Us?'

OMAR BURLISON, M.C. 17th DISTRICT, TEXAS

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Nations, like many individuals dealing with one another, practice a primary policy of, "What's in it for us?" And they should to the extent necessary to protect their national interests.

It is about time we ask ourselves that same question. In years past, and particularly since the end of World War II, we have too much ignored this question on our own behalf and looked more simply on what is good for someone else.

At a time when there is seemingly a move to change our attitude towards Castro's Cuba, this query has all the legitimacy of commensense.

It was pointed out in this release of March 7, 1974, that rumblings were in motion indicating a softening of our Government's attitude toward Cuba and subtle overtures to change our relationship were in the making. This has now developed into a real probability and, particularly, since Latin American countries who are with us in the Organization of American States tend to feel that Cuba's subversive threat toward them is less than it was a few years ago. There is sentiment inside the O.A.S. to dissolve the collective embargo placed against Cuba soon after Castro's revolution. In other words, each nation would be free to act in lifting their embargo and re-establishing relations.

In fact there is a real campaign in the Western Hemisphere to re-establish these relations which, of course, would be a major victory for Fidel Castro. It would be the great achievement which he has sought since 1959, but on his own terms.

This campaign has been furthered by the recent visit to Cuba by two United States Senators — one a Democrat and the other a Republican. They recently visited Havana without the approval of the State Department, presumably as self-appointed emissaries to establish new contacts.

These senators were greeted upon their arrival by haranguing attacks on the United States in a speech by Castro which lasted about one hour and a half. Evidently, these Senators endured taunts and insults hurled at us, but didn't pack their bags and head back home. Rather, they had dinner with Castro and were subsequently entertained by him.

Nothing is being said of what we should expect from Marxist Castro in exchange for the lifting of the embargo by the Organization of American States or for any recognition that may be extended by our Government. This is a time when it seems perfectly legitimate for us to ask, "What's in it for us?" What's in it for us requires among other things a satisfactory answer on the Russian military bases now in Cuba. They would not be there if not for the aggression against Latin America, the United States or Canada. Their removal should be a condition of any re-establishment of relations.

This should be the first requirement, followed by assurances that Castro will not continue to train, equip and support Communist activities in other American states. This would mean a free and open inspection of what is going on there.

There is a claim of more than $1.5 billion by U.S. citizens whose property was seized in the revolution. How we could recognize a Communist government 90 miles off the Florida coast loaded with offensive missile weapons without resolving these questions to complete satisfaction, is certainly not getting any part of the answer as to what's in it for us.

Lubbock Slaying Decision

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals reversed the murder conviction and 10-year sentence of Jimmy Lee Westbrook of Lubbock County today on the ground his lawyer was not allowed to cross-examine a police officer about an alleged oral confession.

Westbrook was accused of killing Freddy Lee Stephens with a gun on Aug. 6, 1973. Court records show Westbrook immediately telephoned police and gave himself up.

A police officer testified that Westbrook told him where to find incriminating evidence—the expended shells from his gun. Oral confessions are prohibited as court evidence in Texas, except in such cases where they lead to incriminating evidence.

But when Westbrook's lawyer sought to question the officer about other parts of the confession—that he was trying to get his money back for a stolen television set sold to him by Stephens and that Stephens came at him with a knife—the trial judge refused to permit it.

The appeals court said this error was not cured, as the trial judge thought, by Westbrook's own testimony on these points. Westbrook should have been allowed to elicit that information from the officer on the witness stand, the court said in sending the case back for a new trial.

Fraud Nets Pen Terms

KINGSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Thomas A. Preston has been sentenced to two prison terms of 10 years each and $10,000 in fines for his part in the sale of unlicensed securities to a former prisoner of war.

A district court jury here May 9 found Preston guilty of fraud in connection with the sale of the securities to David Carey, a former Navy officer and POW. The same jury recommended the maximum sentence of 10 years imprisonment and a $5,000 fine.

Preston admitted in testimony that he made stock sales to 30 former prisoners of war.

After being sentenced Tuesday in the Carey case, Preston pleaded no contest to a charge involving the sale of securities to Robert D. Woods, another Navy officer and former POW.

District Judge Vernon D. Harville then sentenced Preston to 10 years and a $5,000 fine in the second cases. The judge ordered the sentences to run concurrently—at the same time.

Preston has been charged with making false and fraudulent claims in the sale of Tuskegee, Ala., industrial foundation revenue bonds to the two Navy men.
