

INJURED WOMAN RESCUED — Loretta Matthews is rescued from a wrecked car during the thunderstorm. She was listed in satisfactory condition at Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital today.

Bob E. Wilson said he and his father-in-law, Bee W. Walker, found the wrecked automobile at Driver and Butler Roads at 1 a.m. today.

Woman Trapped In Car

About one hour and a half after residents heard a crash at 1 a.m. today, Loretta Matthews was pulled from a car lying on its side in a ditch by Driver and Butler Roads, a witness said.

Bob E. Wilson said he and his father-in-law, Bee W. Walker, found her trapped inside the wrecked car and notified law enforcement officials and Alert Ambulance.

About 20 or 25 minutes later, Wilson said, an ambulance arrived at the Silver Heels crash scene.

While men worked to rescue her from the car, rain started falling and the wind began blowing. There was "quite a lot of excitement," Wilson said.

They were hindered by the possibility the car would tip over or the woman be further injured.

She complained of neck and back injuries. The woman told him, Wilson said, that her brakes failed.

She was listed in satisfactory condition at Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital today.

Car Promoter Is Convicted

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jerry Dean Michael, who posed as a female car promoter, has been convicted on a 14-year-old bail-jumping charge in a countering case.

Michael, who wore a blue-and-white pants suit and a pink sweater in court when the jury reached the verdict Wednesday, will be sentenced on June 16. He could get up to five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

BULLETIN

HOUSTON (AP) — Defense testimony begins today in the capital murder trial of Ronald C. O'Bryan, charged in the Halloween candy poisoning of his son. The prosecution ended its case Wednesday with witnesses who told of O'Bryan's efforts to purchase the deadly chemical cyanide.

PICNIC A REAL BLAST — The picnic was a real blast when the fifth and sixth grade children of Yakima Valley School Patrol got to fire a .50 caliber machine gun. Some 800 youngsters got a chance to fire blank ammunition at the recent picnic sponsored by the Jaycees and Yakima Police Department.

NO MAJOR DAMAGE REPORTED Funnel Clouds Menace Big Spring Area Again

A faltering thunderstorm that apparently began to break up as it reached Big Spring, dropped as much as 1.8 inches of less-than-welcome moisture early this morning, and kept most people awake because of tornado warnings issued in the early morning hours.

The thunderstorm spawned reportings of several tornadoes in the area, but no major damage was reported.

One funnel touched down

Lightning Hits Tank Battery

Lightning caused a fire in Apco's Kloh Lease tank battery early this morning, destroying one tank and blowing the top off another.

The battery is located eight miles south of Big Spring on the Garden City Highway.

A Webb Air Force Base truck along with a truck from the Silver Heels Fire Department answered the 3 a.m. call turned in by a civil defense volunteer who saw the lightning strike.

According to an Apco spokesman, 85 barrels of oil were lost in the fire.

May Rainfall Now 8.18 In.

Official rainfall measurements in Howard County are threatening the all-time May record, with two days still to go.

Gauges at the U. S. Experiment Farm here revealed .52 of an inch of moisture was trapped in the latest shower this morning, bringing the aggregate for the month to 8.18 inches.

Wettest May on record occurred in 1928 when 10.10 inches fell.

Official measurement for the year is now 10.33 inches, compared to a norm of 6.49 for the period. Almost twice as much moisture has been recorded here as in 1974, when the total rainfall amounted to only 5.21 inches.

According to rain charts started in 1900, the wettest month on record in Howard County occurred in April, 1922, when 12.77 inches fell.

about five miles northwest of Midland and wrecked a house trailer and two tornadoes were confirmed. One was on the ground about four miles southwest of Big Spring and another was spotted a few minutes later, about two miles south of the first sighting, according to W. D. Berry, Civil Defense director.

There were no reports of damage from either of the tornadoes, but they did cause the tornado warning sirens to sound in Big Spring.

Unconfirmed sightings of tornadoes were reported west of Big Spring and in Sand Springs, east of Cosen.

Rainfalls were light to moderate, with the 19th and Main Street Fire Station reporting 1.8 inches, by far the most measured. Other points in the city caught from .35 in College Park Addition to .40 in Western

Man Arrested Here Is Linked To Drug Heist

Quick action on the part of local law officials in cooperation with Martin County officials brought the arrest of one Big Spring youth Wednesday night on charges of burglary of the Stanton Drug Store.

Lyndel Carson Fletcher, 20, of 1109 E. 13th, was arrested at 200 Goliad and charged with burglary. Part of the drugs missing from the Stanton Drug Store reportedly were recovered in his car. There is a warrant out on a second Big Spring youth in the case.

The arrest was made by two Texas Rangers, George Frasier of Big Spring and Charlie Hodges of Midland, along with city police and Martin County Sheriff Dan Saunders, Deputy Tim Hudson and Guy Talbot, investigator for the district attorney.

While at the same address, Dennis Michael Richardson, 22, was arrested and charged with possession of controlled substance. Richard Wayne Hubbard, 20, was also arrested and charged with felony possession of marijuana.

Fletcher, charged with the burglary of the drug store, in which some $3,000 in hard narcotics was reported missing, had his bond set at $5,000 by Justice of the Peace Gus Ochotorena. The Hubbard youth, charged with possession of marijuana, was given a $10,000 bond and Richardson, charged with possession of controlled substance, had his bond set at $2,000. These bonds were also set by Ochotorena.

Fletcher has been transferred to the Martin County jail and the other two were in city jail this morning in lieu of bond.

Address Warnings To Ford

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Feuding leaders of Turkey and Greece today addressed separate warnings to President Ford as the American leader sought to steady the wobbling North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Premier Suleyman Demirel of Turkey told the President during a 75-minute meeting that his government regards the cutoff of arms supplies as "a hostile act."

An authorized Turkish source said Demirel made clear Turkey reserves the right to retaliate unless the embargo is lifted. The retaliation, according to the informant, would be withdrawal of all base and other facilities now available to U.S. forces.

Greek Premier Constantine Caramanlis, aides said, warned Ford the democratic system Caramanlis has been trying to rebuild and consolidate in his country could collapse unless there is an early negotiated settlement of the Cyprus dispute.

Caramanlis emphasized to Ford that he considers the existing situation in the Mediterranean island is neither reasonable nor just.

Turkish-speaking Cypriots, backed by Turkish power, occupy 38 per cent of the island and control 70 per cent of the economy.

Sooner or later, the Greek leader argued, the Greek-speaking Cypriots, who form four-fifths of the population, will break out of their confines.

Ford met separately with Demirel and Caramanlis at the U.S. ambassador's residence here.

"You can't say that progress was made in these meetings," Asst. Secretary of State Arthur Hartman told newsmen afterward.

Hartman said any progress would have to await direct Greek-Turkish discussions here Saturday.

Hartman said Ford was "very careful not to put forward any suggestions" of his own for a possible Cyprus accord. The State Department official said the President merely emphasized "the will of the United States to be as helpful as possible in helping them."

After five hours of sleep, Ford followed a marathon schedule during his first full day as President on European soil.

In addition to meeting with the Greek and Turkish leaders, he had conferences with Chancellor Helmut Schmidt of West Germany and the premiers of Luxembourg, Denmark and Portugal.

All these meetings came before the opening of the NATO summit meeting.

RAIN

Thunderstorm possibilities still lurk in windy skies. Chance of rain 20 per cent today, 30 per cent tonight and 20 per cent Friday. Westerly wind 15-25 miles per hour this afternoon becoming northerly and 8-18 m.p.h. late tonight. High today and Friday, mid 80s. Low tonight, mid 50s.

FUNNY 'SEX' FILM

Machine Gun Party For 800 Youngsters

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP) — The picnic was a real blast. Ranking right up there with the hot dogs was a .50-caliber machine gun for the 800 youngsters to play with.

"I asked the Marine Corps Reserve for a display. They thought maybe the kids could shoot the machine gun... the Marines asked me and I said 'sure,'" said Yakima police officer Mike Amos.

Gunnery Sgt. Richard Cecil said that during the picnic, sponsored by the Jaycees and the Yakima Police Department, the fifth and sixth grade Yakima Valley School Patrol children fired 3,000 rounds of blank ammunition.

Cecil, who supervised the shooting, said, "I thought it might be a good idea. They shot blanks, which, of course, are harmless."

Jaycee-event co-chairman Doug Lemon said he thought the police were arranging a little bit of entertainment. "It kind of surprised me," he said of the demonstration.

After the picnic, the children were treated to a movie, "The Gang That Couldn't Shoot Straight."

"If we could have gotten a bus to get the children out of there, we would have done it," said one teacher, who was unhappy with the film. But the buses had already left.

"There were a lot of four-letter words and people going to bed together," she said. "There were funny parts to it, but it wasn't what I would want a child that age to see and I felt very guilty about taking those children in there."

Of the machine gun demonstration, she said: "Oh, they enjoyed all of that. They were just thrilled. The kids were all out in front of the tank pretending they had been shot."

Teen Kills Two In High School

BRAMPTON, Ont. (AP) — A quiet teenager who killed two persons on a shooting rampage in the halls of a high school before killing himself was apparently bent on revenge against some of his teachers, police say.

Michael Slobodian, 16, who said he was "fed up with life," walked through the corridors of Brampton Centennial Secondary School in this suburb of Toronto shortly before noon Wednesday, spraying bullets from two rifles at screaming, terrified students, authorities said.

He killed a student, John Slinger, 17, and an art teacher, Margaret E. Wright, 25, and wounded 13 students before blowing his head off.

Three of the wounded are in serious condition. Mrs. Wright was one of his intended victims.

Deputy Chief William Teggart of the Peel Regional Police said a note found in the youth's bedroom indicated that revenge may have been the motive. Teggart said the note, addressed to Slobodian's family, named two teachers who Slobodian said he "wanted to eliminate."

One of those named was Mrs. Wright. The name of the other teacher mentioned in the note was not released.

Slobodian's sister, Dona, 18, told newsmen her brother's note said he was "fed up with life," was "going to eliminate some people" and kill himself. She said he had complained about his English and physics teachers writing to

Four Killed In Collision

FORT STOCKTON, Tex. (AP) — Four persons were killed Wednesday night in a two-car, head-on collision 21 miles west of here on U.S. 290.

Highway patrolmen identified the dead in one car as retired Army Col. Lester E. Gross, 65, and his wife, Mabel Gross, 66, both of York, Pa.

Killed in the other car were two soldiers, Tommy E. Permenter, 22, of Mauriceville, Tex., and Robert Grass, 21, of Independence, Mo. It was not learned at once where the soldiers were stationed, officers said.

Authorities said one of the cars was attempting to pass a combine when the accident occurred.

his parents about his poor attendance.

Students who knew him said Slobodian was a good student, was quiet and kept to himself.

Teggart gave this account of the shooting:

Slobodian, carrying a .44 Magnum lever action rifle and a .22 caliber automatic in a guitar case, entered a men's washroom on the first floor of the school shortly before noon. Dona Slobodian said her brother had learned how to handle the weapons while hunting with their father.

The youth apparently loaded the rifles in the washroom and began firing at Slinger and another student. Slinger was fatally wounded.

Slobodian left the washroom, firing at random at students and wounding many of them. He walked three more near the home economics room and five more in the area of the cafeteria.

Then he turned toward the art room and fatally shot Mrs. Wright and wounded two more boys before finally turning the gun on himself. Witnesses said his head was blown off.

In one of the ironies of the incident, Slinger's mother, a first aid instructor who was taking courses at the school, administered first aid to the wounded in the corridor. She was unaware that her son lay bleeding to death a short distance away.

The World At-A-Glance

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Groggy from a floor session that ran until nearly 2:30 a.m., Texas House members tried today to whittle down a stack of major Senate bills before time runs out on the waning legislative session.

First major item of business today was a bill, taken up in the wee hours, that would make numerous changes in the new penal code, including a redefinition of bribery.

Strip mining, health insurance reforms, super-port and juke box regulatory bills run the risk of death by inaction if they are not taken up by midnight Friday.

The session must adjourn at midnight Monday. Medical malpractice insurance tied up the House most of Wednesday, with two bills winning tentative approval. A third — backed by the Texas Medical Association — was defeated 69-71 at 1:30 a.m. today.

The two bills set for final action today provide for regulation of malpractice insurance by the State Insurance Board and for all liability insurance firms to share malpractice coverage risks. Both measures would expire Dec. 31, 1977 — presumably after permanent solutions have been devised by a special study group and approved by the next legislature.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four potential Democratic presidential candidates say that party leaders are unhappy with the current field and are seeking additional entrants in the 1976 presidential race. Such interest by party leaders reportedly is being shown in former Democratic vice presidential candidate Sargent Shriver and in Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, among others.

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — In a crackdown on left-wing extremists, Portugal's leftist military government has arrested a number of members of a small Maoist party in Lisbon and Coimbra, the military security force announced today. A communique accused the Movement for the Reorganization of the Party of the Proletariat, or MRPP, of "falsely revolutionary" activities and attitudes of "confrontation." The announcement said the party was a threat to internal security.

Plane Carrying Ton Of Pot Crashes, Two Persons Die

ROCKWOOD, Tenn. (AP) — A twin-engine Lockheed Lodestar aircraft carrying at least one ton of marijuana valued at $600,000, crashed and burned on take off near Rockwood Municipal Airport early today, killing two persons, authorities said.

Morgan County Sheriff Cecil Byrge said at least 800 pounds of marijuana, some in plastic bags and some wrapped in Mexican newspapers, had been recovered. "There was at least one ton on the plane," he said.

In Washington, a spokesman for the Drug Enforcement Administration placed the current street value of one ton of marijuana at $600,000.

"Some of the marijuana in the fuselage burned for hours after the plane crashed shortly after 3 a.m.," Byrge said.

"Two bodies were found in the wreckage and they were burned beyond recognition," a spokesman for the Roane County Sheriff's Department said.

However, Chuck Alcorn, an investigator for the Roane County Sheriff's office, said

U.S. Customs officials in Texas had tentatively identified the victims only as a Thrasher and a Searles.

There was no further information on what sources the Texas officials were basing their identification of the victims.

The aircraft was owned by Colonial Bank of St. Louis, Mo. Officials of the bank said today they came into ownership of the plane through repossession. They said it was sold late last year by a student at Louisiana State University on a commission basis, but that they did not know who purchased it.

Officials said the two victims were the only persons aboard the plane.

Byrge and other authorities who went to the scene, about six miles west of this east Tennessee town and 40 miles west of Knoxville, said the wreckage was scattered over a half-mile area on the Morgan and Roane County line.

"We don't know whether the plane took on a load of marijuana at the airport, or whether it was already loaded with the stuff," Byrge said. However, he said officials suspected the plane may have taken on the marijuana because "we found about 15 large, empty postboard boxes at the end of the runway."

"This indicates some of the marijuana might have been trucked into the airport and was loaded on the plane when it landed," he said.

Byrge said it has been suspected for some time that Rockwood Municipal Airport was being used as a landing zone for illicit shipments of marijuana. Stakeouts had been conducted, unsuccessfully, in the past, he said.

A Federal Aviation Administration spokesman in Atlanta said the plane's origin and destination were not known. "No flight plan was filed," an official said.

The sheriff's department and local authorities at first identified the downed plane as National Airlines Flight 176 from Jacksonville, Fla. However, officials of the airline and the FAA said that no National plane was missing and that Flight 176 had not left Florida.

Difficult To Define

The House has approved an amendment to the big appropriations bill which would require that all college professors teach at least 12 hours a week. Rep. Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline informed the House that at his alma mater, the University of Texas at Austin, 39 professors teach only one class a week, and another 115 teach only two classes.

To a legislator looking for places to prune, that looks enticing, to be sure.

Senior professors, those who are outstanding in their field and have national or international reputations, seldom teach more than a class or two a week; on some campuses around the nation (outstanding campuses) some professors may not teach at all, except an occasional seminar.

Yet often they are worth their pay. Such outstanding academics are a powerful attraction for other professors; they are as valuable to faculty recruiting as a bowl bid is to football recruiting. Moreover, they are a resource for the university, and for the state in which that university is located. From their research, and from their published works, comes not only the advance of knowledge (which is what college is all about) but the prestige which leads to grants and endowments, plus the recruitment of outstanding faculty and students.

The Texas House of Representatives has been asked to consider a bill creating the Hardin County Drainage District, HB 2157. It is a piece of special interest legislation that should be defeated.

The drainage district proposed would include 40 per cent of the newly-established Big Thicket National Preserve. What is the purpose of this legislation? It would give land speculators the authority to build drainage ditches that could disturb the ecology of the Big Thicket preserve as well as the surrounding, privately-owned property. With drainage, the private area could then be converted into a multi-million-dollar residential development project. The Hardin County Commissioners Court has refused to support the project. The Lumberton City Council has rejected it. Only a few big landowners want it.

The threat to the fauna and flora of the Big Thicket preserve is reason enough alone to defeat this measure. It would benefit only a few real estate promoters and speculators. Buyers of property could be subject to ruinous taxation to repay the district for drainage structures that could be built.

The One-Two Punch

Rowland Evans

WASHINGTON — The letter from 76 Senators pressing President Ford to give up his even-handed Middle East policy and make clear "that the U.S. . . stands firmly with Israel" was only the first of a one-two punch which stripped him of vital bargaining power on the eve of his summit meetings with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin.

THE SECOND punch: an amendment to the defense procurement bill by a leading Democratic presidential candidate and staunch friend of Israel, Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, singling out Israel alone for potentially unlimited supplies of American arms on long-term, low-interest credit sales.

A similar amendment was inserted in the defense procurement bill by Jackson in 1970, but this year the senator decided not to put the amendment in the committee bill but to offer it on the floor after the bill comes up for debate June 2. "That way," said one Senate Democrat, "the amendment will get much bigger treatment in the press."

THE PENTAGON did not request such a special arms deal for Israel, and the President does not want it. Indeed, Sen. John Stennis of Mississippi, chairman of the Armed Services Committee, asked Jackson not to offer the amendment on grounds that military aid to foreign countries falls under the jurisdiction of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama, chairman of Foreign Relations, is planning a point of order, asking the amendment to be sent to his committee.

They'd Better Not

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — President Ford has had such a big win with the American people over the Mayaguez incident that he has become a new man — more assured, stronger and determined to show that the United States is not a paper tiger.

IN FACT he has gotten into the habit of calling Henry Kissinger on the telephone all the time.

"Any American ships been seized lately, Henry?"

"I told you a couple of hours ago, Mr. President, if any country grabbed one of our ships you would be the first to know about it."

"Sorry, Henry, I was chewing gum at the time. I wish the Laotians would try to board one of our vessels. I'd show them a thing or two."

"It's doubtful that any major power such as Laos is going to mess with us, Mr. President, after your strong and forthright action in the Mayaguez incident."

"THEY BETTER not. If we show any weakness at all, every country in the world will think it can push us around. I sure wish Iceland would try to take one of our fishing vessels."

"Henry, I was just thinking. Couldn't we have one of our ships sail close to Ecuador, maybe 10 or 15 miles out?"

"You mean in hopes that Ecuador might try to pull another Pueblo?"

"WITH THIS difference, Henry. We could have B-52s from Guam flying cover over it. One move toward that ship and we drop everything in our arsenal on Quito. I will not stand for piracy of U.S. ships on the high seas."

"Well said, Mr. President. But I believe we ought to let nature take its course."

"Henry, even if someone grabs a canoe I want to hear about it."

"You will, Mr. President."

"I'D LIKE to see Trinidad start something. We'll show them how we deal with a crisis. You don't think Trinidad would resort to piracy, do you, Henry?"

"We have no intelligence that they're thinking about it, Mr. President. But that doesn't say they wouldn't."

"Well, keep the 82nd Airborne on alert just in case. And I'd like some cruisers sent to Monte Carlo. You never know when Prince Rainier thinks he can push us around."

"Consider it done, Mr. President."

"ARE YOU sure Cuba doesn't have any Soviet missiles stationed there any more?"

"They were all pulled out in 1962, Mr. President."

"Look, Mr. President, I have to go back to work. I've got everyone on the lookout for any provocative act which we would have to respond to with measured force and military power. We're on top of this thing."

"You know, Henry, after the Mayaguez incident I received thousands of telegrams in support of my action, including one from Ronald Reagan. Even the conservatives have stopped picking on me, and even the Democrats are looking at me with new respect."

Letter To The Editor

DEAR SIR: My question is this: What kind of a woman who is all woman could possibly be in favor of the Equal Rights Amendment?

I still believe the majority of American women have enough sense to stand up against the stupidity of a few big mouths.

It takes more of a woman to be a good wife and mother than it does to take over a man's job.

Women don't gain respect by an amendment. They gain it by being decent and real women.

Those women for ERA better stop and think. They may get more than they bargained for, and they will not come out ahead in the deal.

If men and women are equal, then neither one has a real place in life. Mrs. Kim Wooten Box 1512

Economic Puzzle

NEW YORK (AP) — You would probably have more peace of mind if you didn't look for the answers today, at least the answers to the economic puzzle that confuses us daily.

While the explanations to economic phenomena never are clear, they usually are a bit less murky than they are now. It may be the problems themselves that defy explanation; it may be the timing only.

That is, most economists are agreed on one thing: We are now approaching the period when the recession is losing its downward momentum but we are not yet in an upturn, and probably won't be for a few months more.

That leaves a situation in which one economist after another is issuing statements that "the consumer soon will be in a buying mood," or "the worst is over for the auto slump," or "stock buyers more confident now."

But those are forecasts, and they don't necessarily jibe with the facts.

General Motors forecasts returning health for automotive sales, but so far the sales statistics don't buttress that faith. Ford and Chrysler don't share it. Neither do some nervous Wall Street analysts.

There are some fears among the latter that GM could overproduce again, resulting in rising inventories and, most disheartening of all, a renewal of shutdowns and layoffs.

The answer, of course, lies off in the future, which helps not a bit to relieve the tensions of today. In the transition period between a shrinking economy and an expanding economy there lie many mysteries, and few answers.

Also somewhat mystifying to most people, it seems safe to say, is the rationale of an oil import tariff of an additional $1 a barrel, as imposed by President Ford. The intent is to reduce U.S. reliance on foreign energy.

While that much seems clear enough, the confusion comes when you realize that the tariff isn't projected to reduce American reliance on imports, except in a relative sense. Actual imports are expected to continue to rise.

The impact of the tariff, it seems, will be to reduce the rate of increase. But it now appears that unless new sources of energy are developed the United States might always be somewhat reliant on foreign sources.

Beware Unsound Advice

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Although I have had diverticulosis for a long time, I have had no difficulty with this problem.

A friend of mine has advised me that colon irrigations are helpful in keeping diverticulosis under control. I would very much like your opinion. — E. J. Z. I would veto colon irrigations on two counts, at least.

Such a procedure will cleanse the lower bowel, but it may also disrupt the natural chemistry of the colon. It is also questionable whether such irrigations would reach any but the lower portions of the colon, and, as you know, diverticulosis (outpouchings from the intestinal wall) can occur anywhere in that structure.

You seem to have your diverticulosis under control, so why fool around with methods that can be damaging, and at best only half-effective?

You would be better off making sure you get an adequate amount of bulk in your diet to promote natural bowel movements. Routine colon irrigations should be avoided unless there is a well-established reason for them.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: On all the laxative compounds there is a warning that continued use may result in dependence on them. But none ever explains what a laxative really does, or what the effect prolonged use does have. No one else has been able to explain this to me. — K. N.

The body moves unneeded solids down the intestinal tract in a process that involves a "peristaltic" movement in the walls of the bowels. This alternating contraction and relaxation of the muscle fibers propels the food and, eventually, the waste to the rectum. There, the rectal muscles take over, being called into action for periodic defecation.

A laxative comes under the general heading of a cathartic. It is generally considered a mild cathartic, as compared with a purgative, which is more severe. A mineral oil would be considered to be a mild cathartic. It mixes with food solids in the intestines, softening them and thus promoting easier passage down the digestive tract. A purgative would be a medication that has a direct and usually strong stimulating effect on the muscles of the intestines. Today, the terms laxative and purgative are generally used interchangeably.

Usually a normal diet will take care of the matter, and no assistance is needed. Prolonged use of any cathartic can disturb both the peristaltic process mentioned above and the natural muscular control at the rectum, making movements irregular and often troublesome. Persons who are habitual cathartic users tend to develop hemorrhoids more than do people who aren't. My booklet, "The Way to Stop Constipation," attempts to bring some common sense to bear on the whole subject. For a conv. send 25 cents to me in care of the Big Spring Herald. # Along The Way

Around The Rim

Marj Carpenter

Beautiful Texas. And it really is after all the rains. As I made a hasty weekend trip to the lower Rio Grande Valley to see my mother, we crossed many rivers as we went by way of Junction, Uvalde and Laredo and returned by way of Kingsville, Beeville, Seguin, Austin and Llano.

WE CROSSED creeks and rivers and all of them are running full with water rippling over small falls and spreading out where there hasn't been water in quite some time.

The wild flowers were colorful and beautiful. As I got into South Texas where I was "born and raised" I could think of a memory or a friend in almost every town with no time to stop and see about any of them.

But as I stopped in Odem for coffee, I heard a sad story. And that's the memory I am going to drum up today. I taught school in that town from 1947-50 and taught in a school that was 100 per cent Mexican American.

All teachers have students that they cannot forget, whether they ever admit that they were really favorites. And such was the case in Jesus (Jessie) Aguilar. The story that I heard was that Jessie recently died digging a sewer ditch which caved in on him. This seemed like one of the most unfair tragedies I have heard lately. And when I tell you about Jessie, you may too think it was unfair for him to die in a sewer ditch.

Jessie was older than the other students in that elementary school. That was before machine cotton pickers and he had to pick cotton every fall and chop cotton every spring. So he was going-on-15 in the 5th grade.

HE NEVER had learned to read too well. Reading was first period so, Jessie would come late for his favorite subjects of arithmetic, spelling, art and recess. But I caught on and switched reading to later in the day and put art first.

Jessie could draw. When the other students were assigned an Easter picture and were happily coloring bunnies and baskets of eggs, Jessie drew and colored a group of Easter lilies that was the prettiest thing I ever saw done with crayolas. I framed it and left it hanging in that classroom.

When he would come bustling in late, before we changed to art, he would sometimes bring a bunch of radishes or carrots and proudly present them to "Mees," which was what I was most often called in that school.

"Where did you get these, Jessie?" I would say. He would answer, "Off the platform," referring to the packing sheds. "You didn't steal them, did you?" And Jessie would answer, "Oh no, I don't think they needed them. They had so many."

He was a natural athlete whom high school missed because he never got there. He helped coach the younger boys and could show them all the fine points of throwing a football or holding a bat.

HE BROUGHT hot tamales to our house at Christmas and said, "My Grandmother says Merry Christmas because I can read a little bit better."

After art was switched to first period, he was seldom late, but one morning he didn't get there for 30 minutes. When he arrived, Jessie was clutching a bouquet of roses and honeysuckle which he dropped on the desk and said, "Mees, please don't fuss today at me. I just stopped to smell the flowers along the way."

When I heard how he died, I dropped my head and thought, "Oh, Jessie. I'm so glad that you did — glad that you stopped to smell the flowers along the way."

EDITORIALS / OPINIONS

Thunder On Right

William F. Buckley, Jr.

Last week, meeting with President Ford and his political advisers and discussing 1976, Sen. William Brock gave his views of Mr. Ford's prospects. Considerable time was devoted, one learns, to the problem posed by American Conservatives, many of whom are minutously dissatisfied with the performance of the Ford Administration. Sen. Brock's predictions were altogether succinct. If, he said, President Ford's ratings are high in the national polls, he will not face opposition from his right wing. If they are not, he will.

DOES SEN. BROCK mean: If President Ford's ratings are high nationally? Or does he mean: If they are high with Republicans? If, of course, make a difference, and there is a subtle connection between that difference and the big event of the Conservative season, which is the publication of Mr. William Rusher's "The Making of the New Majority Party."

A word about the author. He is the publisher of National Review magazine (as such, my colleague). He is a graduate of Princeton and of the Harvard Law School. Indeed, he founded the Harvard Young Republican Club, and as a practicing lawyer in a behemoth New York firm was active in Republican politics, even as he is today. He travelled the road from enthusiasm for Eisenhower, to enthusiasm for Goldwater, thus establishing that you don't stop learning when you leave college, rather the contrary. He did a year or so as special counsel for a Senate investigating committee before going to National Review in the mid-fifties. He has written other books, and is familiar to a large audience in virtue of his anchor role in the television series, "The Advocates." He was among the planners who brought about the nomination of Barry Goldwater in 1964, and it is his utterly settled conviction, looking about him now, that the Republican Party is through. He desires a new party to replace it.

LOTS OF people desire new parties, and are safely permitted to dream their dreams undisturbed. But Mr. Rusher's analysis, as given in his book, is to be distinguished from the pamphleteer's passion for a new party. The book is, to quote the urbane Mr. Robert Novak, a datum "of major importance." Because he "has written a cogent and persuasive argument for a new Independence Party bearing no resemblance to the failed new party efforts of this century but rather seeking to recall the nascent Republican Party of a century ago."

It is Rusher's conviction that the atrophy of the Republican Party is terminal. There is nothing, really, that can bring it back to life.

My Answer

Billy Graham

How do you or anyone else know there is a heaven? It's so easy to invent a new religion — over 300 since Luther. Perhaps heaven is an invention of the mind.

Someone has suggested that heaven is not a place — it is a way of living — a condition of being. Perhaps it's all of these. I believe it exists because Christ, the embodiment of truth, came from there and often spoke of it. We then accept it by faith in Christ.

I think it exists also because in our mind we feel there must be a future state which rewards, or at least compensates, for the inequities of this life. The Bible in dozens of places confirms this which innately we feel.

By the handwriting, I guess you are a senior citizen — perhaps thinking more these days of the world to come. Rest in this — that heaven will be what we have always longed for. All the things that have made earth unlovely and tragic will be absent in heaven. There will be no night, no death, no disease, no sorrow, no tears, no ignorance, no disappointment . . . no war.

Heaven will be a place to challenge the creative genius of the unfettered mind of redeemed man.

A Devotion For Today . . .

"Whoever would be great among you must be your servant." (Mark 10:43, RSV)

PRAYER: Dear Lord, we thank You for those persons who have the responsibility of administration. Please be with them and help them to use their power honestly and with love. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

DDT RULING ASSAILED Cotton Fields May Be Sprouting Soybeans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Farm bureau officials say half of Louisiana's cotton fields may be sprouting soybeans this year because an appeals court upheld a federal ban on DDT.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals here rejected the state's request Wednesday to be permitted to use the pesticide on an emergency basis to control the tobacco budworm in cotton fields.

"I'm certainly disappointed," said James Graugnard, president of the Louisiana Farm Bureau Federation.

Graugnard said cotton farmers had delayed planting much of their cotton until the courts came to a decision on whether they would be allowed to use DDT.

"I'm guessing now that this ruling could mean only half as much cotton would be planted in Louisiana this year," he added.

"There are still a couple of weeks in which cotton could be planted, but this is certain to make many of us switch over to planting soybeans, which can still be planted as late as July."

The Environmental Protection Agency banned DDT in 1972, saying it threatened the environment by killing birds, contaminating animals and fish, and entering man's food chain.

This spring, Louisiana asked permission to use DDT on an emergency basis, saying it would do little harm if properly supervised. But EPA Administrator Russell Train refused the request.

Louisiana asked U.S. Dist. Judge Tom Staggs in Shreveport and later the 5th Circuit to overturn Train's decision.

The state filed its final briefs Tuesday, saying that $50 million to $60 million would be lost unless cotton farmers could use DDT in August or September if there is a massive infestation.

GIVEN SCHOLARSHIP

Loy Long, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Long, 901 E. 16th, is one of 20 seniors in the nation awarded a Facon Foundation Scholarship, given by retired servicemen. Long will attend the Millard School in Bend, Oregon, on a full scholarship including tuition, books, room and board. He is a 1975 BSHS graduate.

Cop No-Billed By Grand Jury

MIDLAND — A Midland grand jury has no-billed Midland police officer James L. Campbell, 22, after looking into circumstances surrounding the May 21 fatal shooting of Green Wiley, 51.

Campbell told the grand jury he was physically attacked by Wiley after he and another officer had answered a disturbance call.

Peace Justice Robert Fine ruled that the shooting was justifiable homicide.

Campbell said Wiley, a part-time mechanic and hog-raiser, attacked him with a 2½-foot metal bar, repeatedly ignoring the officer's warning to desist and calm down.

Wiley died four hours after the shooting.

Women Emerging In Oil-Rich Saudi Arabia

MECCA. Saudi Arabia (AP) — Saudi Arabian women are slowly emerging from age-old confinement to play a limited, but growing, role in the kingdom's oil-fueled social transformation.

Though they still are banned from politics or any direct contact with men outside family circles, hundreds of Saudi women now work as teachers, doctors, nurses and social workers.

Such jobs would have been unthinkable in Saudi Arabia only a decade ago, when Moslem tradition restricted women to the bedroom, the nursery and the kitchen.

King Faisal, who once called in troops to open a girls' school despite strong opposition from conservatives, supported a growing role for women before his assassination last March. The present king, Khaled, has vowed to pursue his brother's policy.

The government recently allowed several Saudi girls to take jobs as radio and television announcers, arguing this did not deviate from Islamic teachings since no direct male-female contact would ensue.

There are no official statistics on education, but hundreds of Saudi women are graduates of modern secular schools and universities in the United States, Europe and Egypt. Some are said to use the latest Paris fashions and makeup—under their top-toe black veils.

Females also attend Saudi universities and schools. Women generally are assigned to teach girls. When men teachers are necessary, the girls watch lessons on closed television circuits. They ask questions through an intercom system handled by elderly female secretaries.

A draft law being debated would allow foreign women to drive cars, an activity now banned for all females. Saudi citizens say local women could get similar rights in a year or two.

Despite the broadening of women's roles, there are no signs the conservative Moslem leadership is deviating from strict Moslem teachings on man-woman relationships, nor even that many people want them to.

"Truly, we have come to realize how good it is to keep women away from men. This saves us a lot of trouble. For one thing, temptation is minimal. For another, women remain pure, and the Moslem family remains united," says a 50-year-old Saudi merchant in this holy city of Islam.

Saudi sources claim there are "hundreds of businessmen" in the country. But none is evident in the kingdom's day-by-day activities. Those sources explained that businessmen prefer to run their affairs through male members of their families.

According to the Central Planning Organization, only 1.5 per cent of the working-age females in Saudi Arabia is working.

Saudi Arabia still rigorously enforces the harsh 14-century-old Islamic penal code that punishes adulterers with public stoning to death. Sex crimes are almost nonexistent here, officials say.

Showers Honor Cynthia Wade

Miss Cynthia Lee Wade, bride-elect of Terrell Wayne Pierce, has been honored with a series of pre-nuptial courtesies, including a kitchen shower held Monday in Monahans.

Hostesses were Mrs. Lowell Bishop, Mrs. Charles R. Candler, Mrs. B. W. Christopher, Mrs. Joe Cox, Mrs. Harold Dutton, Mrs. C. G. Hancock and Mrs. B. R. Watson, all of Monahans.

Corsages of miniature kitchen utensils tied with old-fashioned print ribbon were presented to the honoree, her mother, Mrs. C. D. Wade of Big Spring, and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Varnell Pierce. Miss Wade was attired in a pink and white pantsuit trimmed with white lace.

Refreshments of favorite salads, brought by each guest attending were served. Guests were seated at quartet tables centered with kitchen gadgets which were later presented to Miss Wade along with the salad recipes.

Others attending from Big Spring were Mrs. Steve Lancaster and Ms. Marilyn Baker, sisters of the honoree, who were the hostesses here Friday for a spice and rice bag party in Ms. Baker's home, 1105 E. 15th. Rice bags were made by the 10 guests, and refreshments of punch and cookies were served.

Another gift shower was held in the home of Mrs. E. H. Bouillion Jr., 7 Coachman Circle, with hostesses being Mrs. J. H. Burnett Jr., Mrs. Marvin Miller, Mrs. Milton Knowles and Mrs. Wayne Burns.

Corsages of white daisies tied with blue ribbons were presented to the honoree, both mothers and the future bridegroom's sister, Miss Brenda Pierce of Monahans.

The honoree wore a long dress of floral-printed linen. The hostesses and honored guests were also attired in floor-length dresses.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with an embroidered organdy cloth centered with a candleabra holding white tapers and arranged with white daisies and gypsophila. Gifts were displayed on a table covered with an embroidered organdy cloth interwoven with yellow ribbon.

Miss Wade and Pierce will be married at 7 p.m. June 7 in St. Mary's Episcopal Church with the Rev. Harland Birdwell officiating.

BSP Chapter Announces New Slate

Election of new officers highlighted Tuesday's meeting of Alpha Kappa Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi. Mrs. Gary Huckabay was re-elected president, and serving with her are Mrs. Ronnie Tucker, vice president; Mrs. Donald Larson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Joe McKethan, recording secretary; and Mrs. Terry Sims, treasurer.

Members received stars for qualifying as a three-star chapter. Mrs. Clay LaRochelle, 600 W. 16th, hosted the meeting in her home.

Phi Pals were revealed and gifts were exchanged. After the business meeting, a dinner was held at La. Posada.

Plans were made for a family picnic July 12 in the home of Mrs. Tucker.

Knitting Club Makes Afghans

FORSAN (SC) — The Jiffy Knitting Club met this month in the home of Mrs. Bert Affleck with Mrs. Gladys Perkins serving as demonstrator for the evening. She taught members how to make afghans like some they had seen recently at a seminar in Lubbock. Other members showed garments they had constructed since the last club meeting. Refreshments were served, and the next meeting was scheduled for 7:30 p.m., June 26 in the home of Mrs. J. T. Gallaway.

Country Club Luncheon Honors Miss Johnson

Miss Denise Johnson, a graduating senior at Big Spring High School, was honored at a luncheon Saturday in Big Spring Country Club with Mrs. Bill Estes and Miss Dawn Estes as hostesses.

The honoree is the daughter of Mrs. Clovie Johnson, 2600 Crestline, and Bill Johnson of Dallas. She plans to continue her education at Texas Tech University, Lubbock.

Miss Johnson, who was presented a gift from the hostesses, was accompanied by her mother. The 12 guests were seated at a table decorated in the school colors of black and gold. The centerpiece of gold chrysanthemums had black accents.

Lodge Accepts Resignation

The resignation of Mrs. Mable Morrison, noble grand-elect of John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge, was accepted at Tuesday evening's meeting in the IOOF Hall.

Mrs. Mary Cole, past noble grand, presided and introduced a guest, Mrs. Pat Kilmer, a member of Rebekah Lodge 91, Midland.

It was announced that Odessa Rebekah Lodge 68 will host a "Regional Revival" June 28 honoring the grand master and president. This meeting, which is open to all members in the West Texas Region, will take place at the Inn of the Golden West.

Saturday evening, at Rebekah Lodge 284, there will be a chili supper as a benefit for a local boy who was hospitalized following an automobile accident. This includes the Snyder and Stanton lodges, as well as the two local lodges.

New officers will be elected Tuesday evening.

Altrusa Club Has Luncheon

Mrs. Margaret Michael, president of the Altrusa Club, presided during the group's monthly luncheon at Coker's Restaurant last week.

Guest speaker was Mrs. Harold Davis, co-chairman of the Howard County Bicentennial Committee, who revealed area-wide plans for the celebration and suggested ways in which Altrusans could have a part in the anniversary activities.

It was announced that Mrs. Frances Hendricks will be the club's delegate to this year's international meeting.

On May 29, members and guests will gather at First Federal Community Room at 7:30 p.m. for a salad supper and in June, new officers will be installed.

Dear Abby

She Should Turn This Triangle Into Twosome

DEAR ABBY: I am unmarried with two small children. I don't love their father, although we live together because it's convenient. We get along so-so. We share the bills, and I get the use of his car.

I knew Sam only three weeks when we started living together. I got pregnant, and then I was stuck.

He told me he was divorced, but he won't show me the proof. (I think he's lying.) He gambles a lot, and I can't trust him very far. He works nights and I work days. We have no friends or social life. But Sam is good to the kids, and they love him.

My mother lives in my building, and she is driving me nuts. She interferes and causes arguments between Sam and me. She goes against everything I say to my kids—calls me stupid in front of them and tells them not to listen to me. When I discipline the kids, they cry for Grandma, and this hurts. She also tells everybody my business.

What can I do about her? And what can I do about my messed-up life? I'm 32 and feel like 62.

MISFIT IN CHICAGO

DEAR MISFIT: I see two major problems: Sam and your mother. You need to get away from your mother. She is poison to your self-esteem, and a troublemaker to boot.

Call Family Service, and make an appointment with one of their professional counselors. You need to talk at length with someone who can help you put your life in order. Living with a man you don't love because it's a convenience is a bad trip. Counseling will lighten your burden and show you the way. Good luck. Write again to tell me how you're doing. I care.

DEAR ABBY: Well, here goes my first "Dear Abby" letter:

A dear friend of mine, who happened to be an elderly lady, gave me a beautiful Oriental urn. She was in good health and by no means senile when she gave it to me.

Since her death last week, a daughter-in-law called, asking that I return the urn because "it had been promised to someone in the family." She also suggested that her mother-in-law was not in her right mind when she gave it to me.

I was very hurt to be asked for something that I know was given to me out of love and generosity. I like the urn and want to keep it. I have asked several other people what they would do in this case, and they say, "Keep it."

I need your opinion before making a decision. Thank you.

OHOIAN

DEAR OHOIAN: I vote to keep it.

WHY? WHAT MAKES THEM DO IT? 'Killer Kids'

By DOLORES BARCLAY
Associated Press Writer

They're the "killer kids." Moving from the playground to the penitentiary; terrifying other children as well as adults; committing crimes like murder, armed robbery and rape.

The steady increase in the rate of juvenile felonies, particularly those involving violence and brutality, has forced authorities to re-evaluate crime prevention and correctional programs.

BLEW OFF HEAD

What are the youngsters doing?
—A 13-year-old New York boy blew off his father's head with a shotgun. He escaped from the facility he was sent to, injuring a counselor when he ran away.

—A 17-year-old girl allegedly beat, choked and robbed an 86-year-old man in his Coney Island apartment.

—A 12-year-old boy in New England admitted that he set fire to a playmate. Why? She refused to take money from the cash register in her father's store.

The latest available statistics from the Federal Bureau of Investigation show that people under age 18 committed 44.7 per cent of all serious crimes in 1973, up from 42.6 per cent in 1960.

The increase is not that great. Youthful crime, after all, has been around for decades. The problem emerged during this century after World War II. Juvenile delinquency. The Blackboard Jungle.

BRUTALITY

Why, then, all the concern?
Brutality.

"Years ago, when somebody went into a grocery store to commit a crime, he would take the money and that would suffice," said Dominick DiLorenzo, deputy warden for New York City Department of Corrections. "Today, they feel they have to hurt people. Why do they feel they have to hurt someone when the accomplishment was to get money? So there are now so many senseless killings."

In 1973, 11.2 per cent of all murders and 35.3 per cent of all robberies were committed by people under 18, according to the FBI Crime Index.

In the period between 1960 and 1973, the number of persons 18 and under arrested for murder increased 255.2 per cent, the FBI statistics show. That was more than double the 124.4 per cent increase in the number of people over 18 arrested for murder in the same period.

RAPE

The number of people under 18 arrested for rape during the same period increased 132.3 per cent, while arrests for those over 18 increased 95.2 per cent. Aggravated assault arrests increased 206.2 per cent for people under 18; 101.3 per cent, for those over 18.

In 1973, 13 of the 1,249 youngsters arrested for murder were under age 10; 212 were boys and girls under 14.

DiLorenzo, a 25-year veteran in corrections work, said that when he started on the job, the average age of the so-called young criminal was 28. Now it's 15.

Why? What makes them do it?

Penologists, psychologists, sociologists, lawyers, youth workers, criminologists, parents and children offered a variety of explanations in interviews with The Associated Press.

"These children are the debris of society in terms of the emotionally disturbed," said Leon Herman, administrator, Goshen, N.Y., Center for Boys.

"If you look beneath the pattern of violence, you see a disturbance among these children — a cry for help. Since they do not get attention from their parents or friends, they try to get attention from killing," said Dr. David Abrahamson, a psychoanalyst who has studied the nature of violence. "Most children who commit violent crimes come from homes where they have been brutalized."

DON'T WORRY

Many of these youngsters don't seem to regret their actions; they don't worry about the consequences until after they're caught.

"At the time, all I cared about was getting the money. It didn't matter if they got hurt," said a 16-year-old Chicago mugger, talking about his victims as he visited with members of a youth gang in New York. He was 13 when he committed his first offense, he said.

Another youth, Melvin, was convicted of murdering a taxi driver during the commission of a robbery in upstate New York when he was 13. "I didn't feel anything. It just happened," he said. Melvin, now 17, was remanded to the Goshen Center for 18 months.

"It was just like a toy," Chiba, 18, said of his first gun which he said he bought at age 8. "I knew it could hurt somebody. In one way, that's why I bought it."

EXCITING

"The thought of violence, aggression — it was exciting," said Kenny, 19, who spent five years with a youth gang in Queens, N.Y. He recently was convicted of manslaughter in the knife slaying of a man he argued with during a traffic incident.

The authorities interviewed by The Associated Press cited the erosion of family relations, unpunished official corruption, rapid urbanization and the availability of drugs and handguns as reasons for the increase in violent crime by youngsters.

They also talked about the portrayal of explicit violence on television, the Vietnam War and its media coverage and the stresses of a life of poverty in an affluent society.

Listen to Lawrence Zelic Freedman, co-chairman of the Institute of Social and Behavioral Pathology at the University of Chicago and a former psychiatric consultant to the President's Commission on Violence:

BLAMES TV

"It doesn't matter to an inner city boy who knows that 40 per cent of his friends are out of work when the Department of Labor says unemployment has gone from 8 to 11 per cent.

"It's a permanent condition and he knows his chances of getting a job, at best, are much less than that."

Melvin Tumin, professor of anthropology and sociology at Princeton University, elaborated: "Your hard-working father brings home $88 a week as take-home pay, but the pimp on the block drives a Cadillac. Your father, then, is not a very good moral example of why you should keep your nose clean."

A Los Angeles, Calif., mother of two, whose 12-year-old daughter has three assault complaints against her, blamed television for the child's problems.

"I came in the room one day and she was sitting on her little brother's head. She said she wanted to see him flip and jerk around the way they do on television when someone is smothered. Can you imagine? She got it from television," the mother said.

What can be done? The experts admit they don't know. Solutions are as elusive as causes.

Some authorities argued that longer sentences — more than two years — are not the answer. They said confinement does not necessarily change a child's attitude or prevent a repetition of the crime.

Others said that shorter sentences — 10 months to two years — don't provide enough time to counsel a child and prepare the youngster to go back to school.

The two approaches are typified, to some extent, in New York and Massachusetts.

A bill has been introduced in the New York legislature that would mean longer sentences for juvenile offenders 14 and over. It would enable the Family Court to send the most difficult and violent young felons to the adult criminal justice system. Upon conviction, the child would be sent to a secure facility for a minimum of two years.

Present law provides for sentences of from zero to two years for juveniles convicted of felonies.

Massachusetts closed all of its training schools and reformatories three years ago.

John Gary Is Honored

LUBBOCK — John W. Gary, Big Spring, and Robert C. Killingsworth, Borger, who were graduated with honors from Texas Tech University May 16, are recipients of special awards in architecture.

Gary was awarded the American Institute of Architects medal and Killingsworth won the American Institute of Architects Henry Adams award for 1975 for second highest grade point average.

The medal is awarded annually to the graduating student in architecture, at each accredited school of architecture, who holds the highest cumulative grade point average. Gary is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Gary, 2516 E. 24th Street, Big Spring. His father is an architect in Big Spring.

Killingsworth is the son of Mrs. C. S. Killingsworth, 1103 Lindsey, Borger.

Area Students Earn Diplomas

In exercises May 17 in the Amarillo Civic Center Coliseum, 1,005 West Texas State University graduates received diplomas.

The graduates from Big Spring are Connie Gale Lewis with a bachelor of science degree; Kenneth W. Franklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Franklin of P. O. Box 1362, with a bachelor of science degree; Jorge R. Carrillo, with a bachelor of arts degree; and Denise Faye Teague, with a bachelor of arts degree.

Lengthier Loan Period Sought

WACO — Texas Farm Bureau President Carroll Chaloupka has asked the U.S. Department of Agriculture to rescind the May 23 action on cotton loans and extend the loan period on the 1974 crop from 10 months to 18 months.

"This would allow our cotton producers to work that cotton onto the market and not be forced to compete with Commodity Credit Corporation inventories," Chaloupka said in a message to Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz.

CRIME TAKES ITS TOLL — An unidentified youthful offender holds a lit cigarette and looks out of a window at the Goshen, N. Y., Center for Boys earlier this month. The steady increase in the rate of juvenile felonies, particularly those involving violence and brutality, has forced authorities to reevaluate crime prevention and correctional programs.

BEEN TO BIG SPRING — Shawn Davis, the great three-time world champion saddle bronc rider originally from Whitehall, Mont., is in good form on this high-kicking bronc named Wapiti. He performed the last two years in Big Spring. Saddle bronc riders' equipment consists of a standard bronc saddle and a "hack" reign, a soft woven rope attached to the horse's halter. They spur in a fore and aft motion resembling an arc. Rides are timed for either eight or ten seconds, at the discretion of the sock contractor.

Five From Here To Attend Study

The Big Spring Veterans' Administration Hospital will send five representatives to the Texas Commission on Alcoholism's 18th Annual Institute of Alcohol Studies to be held June 8-11 in Austin, according to hospital director Jack Powell.

Powell will attend the meeting along with Jack Goble, Pew Broughton, Don MacSwain, and Joan Brockman.

The Institute is sponsored by the TCA in cooperation with the University of Texas Division of Extension.

This year's meeting will focus on the theme — "The Helping Process: Integrating Who You Are With What You Do." Featured speaker will be Dr. Sid Wolf, director of the Division of Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism for Baltimore County Department of Health.

Following his address, workshops will be held on counselor effectiveness training.

Registration Opens Monday

The initial six-weeks summer session of Howard College will begin with registration Monday. Classes start Tuesday.

Registration will take place in the Anthony Hunt Library. Courses are mostly of the bread-and-butter type representing the foundation subjects, however there is a broad variety of offerings.

Work satisfactorily completed at Howard College is transferrable in field to any college or university in the country.

SP Honor List Is Released

LEVELLAND — A total of four students from the Big Spring are among 218 students at South Plains College named to the Dean's Honor List for the spring 1975 semester.

In order to be named to the list, students must maintain a 3.25 grade point average while carrying 12 or more semester hours with no failing grade, announced Nathan Tubb, academic dean at SPC.

Students who have received a 4.0 GPA (all A's) have been noted.

Students on the honor list are grouped by hometowns as included:

Gage Hopkins of 601 W. 8th, Big Spring, and Connie M. Cooley, William Dockrey of Route 2 and Phyllis Solomon, all of Colorado City.

Major Names In Rodeo Usually Appear Here

Plans continue for Big Spring's Rodeo and Cowboy Reunion, slated for June 18, 19, 20, and 21 this year in the Big Spring rodeo arena.

Big Spring rodeo is one of the older West Texas shows and West Texas is where the sport originated. Pro rodeo, a native American sport which had its roots in the era of the great cattle, actually became organized on Oct. 30, 1936 at the Boston Garden rodeo in Massachusetts, when a small group of cowboys realized there was only enough prize money at stake for top winners to barely pay expenses home.

They first formed the Cowboys Turtle Association, so named because "a turtle never gets anywhere if he

Option Renewed For Facility

A 500-acre site just west of Midland has been optioned by PPG Industries, Inc., as the possible location of a fiber glass manufacturing facility.

Announcement of the option was made by Martin L. Allday, president of the Industrial Foundation of Midland, Inc., on Wednesday, May 28, during a meeting of the board of directors of the Midland Chamber of Commerce.

"In spite of the general economic slump, PPG Industries, Inc., has demonstrated its continued interest in the Midland-Odessa area as its primary candidate for the site of a new fiber glass manufacturing facility by entering into an option agreement on May 21 with the Industrial Foundation of Midland, Inc.," said its President, Martin L. Allday. The option extends into 1976 and supplants a 1974 agreement for a similar site in the same vicinity located between Midland and Odessa.

Three Resign From Force

POST — Three members of the Post police department having resigned, citing low salaries as their reasons for quitting.

The developments left Post's law enforcement in the hands of Police Chief Jim Truelove, Garza County Sheriff Gene Gandy and one patrolman.

Patrolmen are paid $500 a month in Post.

doesn't stick his neck out."

Within two years an approval system for all rodeos had been established and an official rule book distributed and a board of directors named. In 1945, the group was reorganized and renamed the Rodeo Cowboys Association Inc., becoming a non-profit corporation set up in Fort Worth.

Some of the top cowboys in the nation consistently appear at the Big Spring show. It's no back woods rodeo, but some of the best in the area and there is not a year goes by that some of the top money winners in the world do not appear in Big Spring.

Chief Fired

SLATON — Slaton Police Chief Fred Clark was fired by the Slaton city commission here Wednesday.

Four other members of the six-man police staff gathered at the police station to turn in their badges. Each said he had been dismissed by the commission.

The commission will meet soon to discuss a successor to Clark, who blaked an attorney retained by the city for much of his problems with the commission.

Roger Cooper and Bill Casey said they would remain on the staff.

Petitions have been circulated in Slaton, calling for the recall of at least two of the city commissioners.

Another Man In Her Life

LONDON (AP) — Actress Glenda Jackson is separating from her husband because there is another man in her life, according to a British newspaper.

"What can I say? It used to be her and me and now it is her and him," the paper quoted Miss Jackson's husband, Roy Hodges.

The other man was not identified.

Right To Possess Pot For Personal Use In Homes

ALASKA (AP) — The Alaska Supreme Court ruled Tuesday that citizens have a constitutional right to possess marijuana for personal use in their own homes.

However, the court said the state has a "legitimate concern" with outlawing the use of marijuana in public.

With four concurring opinions and no dissent, the five-member court said the right of individuals to privacy in their homes "would encompass the possession and ingestion of substances such as marijuana in a purely personal, noncommercial context in the home."

Plan Direct Deposits For Recipients Of SS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government plans a big step within the next few months toward eliminating the use of checks in making payments to Social Security recipients and other Americans.

Beginning in August, it will inaugurate a nationwide program to deposit Social Security payments directly with banks or other financial institutions.

The program promises to streamline operations for both the government and the financial institutions while providing a convenience for recipients, officials say.

The program, which has been tested in Georgia and Florida, will be voluntary and the government cannot make direct deposits without the recipient's authorization.

Treasury Department spokesman Pester W. Plumly said the goal is to have at least 40 per cent of the 44 million recipients of regular federal payments on the direct deposit program by 1980.

Plumly said in an interview that the direct payments will benefit recipients, financial institutions and the government.

For recipients, the inconvenience of personally cashing and depositing checks will be eliminated, and there also will be virtually no threat of loss or theft of checks, he said.

For financial institutions, there may be new business from new accounts, faster receipt of the money and a lower volume of check-cashing and check processing.

For the government, there will be simplified operations and fewer checks to prepare, which will improve efficiency and save money, Plumly said.

BOB TERRELL was born again in 1957. He has a Southern Baptist background and while he was stationed at Sheppard Air Force Base, he pastored churches in Oklahoma and Texas. He received the baptism in the Holy Spirit while in the Air Force and retired in 1970, after serving for 20 years, to devote full-time to the call of God to minister to the needs of the greater body of Christ.

Today he ministers at many various points in Texas and Oklahoma, and has helped start churches or meetings in these states. He has also ministered in Canada. Bob was one of the early members of the Wichita Falls Chapter, FGBMFI, when he was serving at Sheppard Air Force Base.

In 1969 Bob received a prophecy that not many days hence, God would reveal unto him the gift of healing in the Lord's ministry through him. At the present time, he is teaching at four different towns each week when he is not at his home at Graham, Texas. Bob is president of the World Ministry Fellowship and is one of the directors of The Grape Press, a Christian newspaper published monthly at Throckmorton, Texas.

ART EDUCATOR SAYS:
Parents Shouldn't Give Kids Coloring Books

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — If parents want their children to be creative, they shouldn't give them coloring books, says one art expert. "The child needs to develop an individual approach to reality through his art," says Dr. Merle Flannery of the University of Florida's College of Education. "A coloring book suggests that there is mold he has to fit into." She suggests giving a child a blank piece of paper and crayons, instead of formalized coloring books with objects to be filled in. "It's much better for the child to find out for himself what his visual representation of live is," Dr. Flannery says. "A parent would not ask a 3-year-old to speak." She also advises parents not to pass judgment on the child's primitive art. "Once I gave a 3-year-old paper and a crayon," she says. "The child had never drawn before, so he was cautious at first. But then he enthusiastically started drawing lines and circles all over the place. He was really having a good time." "Immediately, the mother stopped the child, saying 'Don't mess up the paper.

Draw a bunny.' The little boy sat there bewildered, because to him that bunny didn't mean as much as his scribbles."

Dr. Flannery said parents often force a child to advance too quickly artistically, when they expect normal development in other areas.

"A child babbles before he talks, crawls before he walks, and scribbles before he draws," she says.

"I guess the parents think there must be something wrong with the child if he doesn't draw reality as they see it. Actually, he is just developing his concept of reality, so rushing him at this point will only turn him against art."

Welfare Rolls Hit Record High

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's family welfare rolls reached a record high of 11.2 million persons in February, but the rate of increase began tapering off, the government reported Wednesday.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare said the February increase of 84,789 or 8 per cent was just slightly more than half the 1.3 per cent rise in January.

"While the rolls are still rising," said James S. Dwight of HEW's Social Rehabilitation Service, "the smaller proportion of newcomers suggests that the adverse economic pressures on low-income people are beginning to moderate."

Unemployed fathers on the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) rolls rose 8.5 per cent or 8,937 to a total of 114,431 in February compared with the previous month. That was 15.6 per cent more than in February of last year.

A total of 3.4 million families with a total of more than 8 million children were receiving AFDC payments in February, the last month for which figures are available.

State and federal expenditures for the month totaled $1.95 billion, about $4.5 million more than in January. Costs included $736 million in money payments and $1.1 billion for health care.

AFDC rolls peaked at their previous record of 11,155,959 in March 1973 and then began declining until last August, when the economy worsened.

The February increase to 11,239,611 recipients, 84,789 higher than ever before, was the seventh straight month of rises. The unemployment rate has been rising also, and in February it was 8.2 per cent; it rose to 8.9 per cent in April.

The government said the average AFDC family payment was $216 in February, about $17 higher than the same month in 1974.

Paralyzed Swimmer Will Tackle Channel

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — An elementary school coach, paralyzed from the waist down in an automobile accident, says he will try to swim the English Channel this summer.

"It's easy to get wrapped up in our personal problems, forgetting the beauties associated with our lives," says 24-year-old John Robertson, who coaches three sports from his wheelchair. "We must realize our limitations, but challenge them continually."

The accident that led to that philosophy occurred six years ago.

"I was lying down in the back seat and the two guys in the front seat were talking about Vietnam and then got to talking about death," he says. They agreed that Robertson would be the safest in the event of a wreck.

"See the third pole on the right," he quoted the driver as saying. "Let's get in an accident."

He said that as a joke, the driver swerved. But the car veered out of control and hit the pole. Robertson became a paraplegic. His two companions were not injured.

Today, he doesn't dwell on the mistake. He has completed college, become a teacher at Yavapai Elementary School and coaches basketball, track and softball.

Robertson said he has been training for the 21-mile swim across the channel for two years, swimming more than two miles daily at a local pool and on the weekends in the Gulf of California.

This summer he will to San Diego to train in the choppy ocean water. "I plan to swim 21 miles several times in San Diego before I try the Channel . . . to get my confidence up," he said.

Robertson said he will tackle the Channel in August.

"I want to be an example for others to be able to see that their dreams are possible," he said.

Valley Melon Grower Threatens Bloodshed

HIDALGO, Tex (AP) — An angry South Texas melon farmer said Wednesday he will harvest his cantaloupes despite the activities of the United Farm Workers Union even if it requires bloodshed.

Farmer Chester Moore of El Texano ranch near this South Texas border city said he watched union demonstrators throw rocks and his own melons at his workers Wednesday. He also said some of the union demonstrators ran into his fields and chased his workers, striking some of them.

"I was sitting a little ways off with my shotgun cocked and ready," Moore said. El Texano ranch was the scene of violence Monday when Farmer C. L. Miller Jr. opened fire on demonstrators, wounding ten.

Spokesmen for the union said the demonstrators will return to the International Bridge at Hidalgo Thursday morning to continue their protests.

Moore said his ranch obtained a restraining order forbidding union activities on the ranch, but said it was not served on union leaders until after the Wednesday incident.

"I am going to give the sheriff a chance to do his job — protect us — if he can't handle it, we'll take care of them ourselves," Moore said.

"They (the demonstrators) have no respect for the law whatsoever. If things don't change somebody's going to shed some blood," Moore said.

"If law enforcement can't handle it, there's a bunch of people here willing to do it," he continued.

Claiming his employees are not interested in joining the union, Moore said "none of them demonstrators ever asked me for a job. So what do they want? They've never told me what they want. What the hell do they want? They want some of my hide, I think, but they're not going to get it."

Union organizer Tony Orendain said the demonstrators are an attempt to obtain union representation elections on the South Texas melon fields.

Moore said he does not believe Hidalgo County Sheriff Claudio Castaneda has the manpower needed to handle the situation. He said someone should ask Gov. Dolph Briscoe for additional law enforcement officers.

"Our workers are paid $2 an hour. They're happy and work here the year around. They don't want any part of this union stuff," Moore said.

Moore said he is prepared to do whatever is necessary to harvest his melon crop. "A few of them may have some blood on them, but we're going to harvest the melons."

Yanks Move Out Of Kilometer Six

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Kilometer Six, the large American housing area on the outskirts of Vientiane, was deserted today except for Pathet Lao police patrolling the streets in an apparent effort to prevent looting.

Of the 1,000 Americans in Laos when the Communist Pathet Lao began taking control of the coalition government last month, only 293 remain, the U.S. Embassy said. They include 182 government employees and members of their families and 111 businessmen, journalists and other private citizens.

A few more employees of the U.S. Agency for International Development and their families were scheduled to leave today. But an Embassy spokesman said a final "cellar figure" for the Embassy staff was not available yet.

The last Americans moved out of Kilometer Six Wednesday. Since the evacuation of the area began last week, demonstrating students and the Pathet Lao police allowed those departing to take only one suitcase of belongings.

Many of the houses left vacant in the compound have been broken into and the contents carted away.

The AID headquarters compound in the heart of Vientiane, which was restored to American control Wednesday after a week of student occupation and tense negotiations, was peaceful although Pathet Lao police remained inside in violation of an agreement signed Tuesday night.

U.S. Charge d'Affaires Christian A. Chapman met with Foreign Ministry officials to discuss the presence of the police and the personal property the departing Americans are being forced to leave behind.

New Protection To Be Offered

AUSTIN — Modern jet combat aircraft have rocket ejection seats to save the pilot from almost certain death in a crash. So far, no one has proposed rocket seats for tractor drivers, but starting in 1976 all new tractors will afford the operator increased protection in a rollover.

Noting that tractor rollovers have accounted for 125 deaths among Texas farm workers during the past five years, the Texas Safety Association today issued a reminder that the Occupational Safety and Health Administration has now officially adopted rollover protection standards that apply to all agricultural tractors manufactured after Oct. 25, 1976. After that date tractors of over 20 engine horsepower used in agriculture must be equipped with a seat belt and rollover protective structures which meet government performance requirements.

Calling For Short-Term Federal Loans To Cities

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., says he intends to introduce legislation calling for short-term federal loans to cities facing financial disaster. Bentsen told the Booklyn Chamber of Commerce Wednesday that there are several cities besides New York that would be affected by the proposed legislation. The bill, which he labeled as the Emergency Municipal Fiscal Assistance Act, of 1975, "will provide an emergency source of immediate money to extremely hard-pressed municipal governments," he said. "I am certain we are all aware of the financial plight of New York City. Sadly, other cities are in almost the same situation," the senator said. He mentioned Buffalo, Detroit and Cleveland. "Rather than bemoaning this fact, wringing our hands and doing nothing, I think we at the federal level must ask ourselves responsibly what must be done," he said.

The senator said he intends to attach the bill as an amendment to the first available legislation.

"It will provide an emergency source of immediate money to extremely hard-pressed municipal governments. It will authorize the Federal Financing Bank of the federal government to purchase short-term bonds of financially troubled municipal governments," Bentsen said.

He said that those municipal governments that are excluded from normal bond markets will be able to get the short-term financing at rates of interest a half-point over the market under conditions acceptable to the government.

Brenda Tartar Hired At C-C

COLORADO CITY — Mrs. Nick Farrar, city secretary here and a city employee since 1968, has announced her retirement effective June 30. City Manager James Campbell said he would divide the duties of the position and would hire a tax-assessor-collector to take over the job now being performed by Mrs. Farrar.

Mrs. Brenda Tartar has been approved as a successor to Mrs. Farrar while Mrs. Tina Raschke will serve as tax assessor-collector. Mrs. Tartar's starting salary will be $550 a month. Mrs. Raschke will be paid $500 a month. Mrs. Farrar is presently earning $700 monthly.

Pirates Stop Astros, 3-0

By The Associated Press

Gary Nolan's found the right medicine for a bad shoulder and it's given a shot in the arm to the Cincinnati Reds' pitching staff.

"He's back and we're all tickled," said teammate Johnny Bench after catching Nolan's 6-0, two-hit shutout over the Montreal Expos Wednesday night.

Nolan, battling back from shoulder surgery that sidelined him most of last season, pitched his first shutout since 1972. Nolan's victory, his third straight, sparked visions in the Cincinnati camp of a possible return to the form of 1970, when he won 18 games and led the Reds to the National League pennant.

"This lifts everybody," said Bench. "The load's not on one or two individuals."

In the other National League games, the New York Mets beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3; the Pittsburgh Pirates stopped the Houston Astros 3-0; the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the San Francisco Giants 8-6; the Chicago Cubs nipped the Atlanta Braves 5-4 and the St. Louis Cardinals stopped the San Diego Padres 6-5 in 10 innings.

The triumph was the Reds' seventh straight, tying their longest winning streak in three years.

A solo homer by Joe Morgan in the fourth inning gave Nolan, 4-3, all the support he needed.

METS 4, DODGERS 3
Ed Kranepool's sacrifice fly off Andy Messersmith, making his first appearance ever in relief for Los Angeles, brought home the winning run in the eighth inning as New York beat the Dodgers.

PIRATES 3, ASTROS 0
Dave Parker belted a two-run homer and Ken Brett scattered nine hits as Pittsburgh whipped Houston.

"Anytime you win you've got to be happy," said Brett. "The shutout is icing on the cake."

PHILLIES 8, GIANTS 6
Rookie Jerry Martin's two-run homer, his first in the majors, and a solo shot by Mike Anderson helped Philadelphia beat San Francisco.

CUBS 5, BRAVES 4
Chicago pitcher Bill Bonham scored one run and drove in another run as the Cubs outlasted Atlanta.

CARDINALS 6, PADRES 5
Luis Melendez' two-out, bases-loaded single in the 10th inning scored Lou Brock with the winning run as St. Louis edged San Diego.

YANKEES 6, ROYALS 2
Bobby Bonds hit a pair of two-run homers in support of May's pitching while Chris Chambliss and Graig Nettles added run-scoring doubles as the Yankees ended Kansas City's six-game winning streak.

WHITE SOX 9, BREWERS 3
Carlos May, Ken Henderson and Tony Muser drove in two runs apiece for Chicago. The White Sox piled up a 9-0 lead before George Scott tagged Bahnsen for a two-run homer in the sixth inning.

WATCH THE BOUNCING BALL — Boston Red Sox' second baseman, Doug Griffin (No. 2), bobbles the ball for an error allowing Texas Ranger third baseman, Leo Cardenas, to advance to third base. Texas Ranger, Roy Smalley, grounded the ball to Boston Red Sox' short stop, Dick Burleson, who in turn threw to Griffin in the eighth inning of play. The Red Sox won the game at Arlington Stadium Wednesday night 4-1.

Rangers Fall 4 1/2 Games Behind Western Leader Midland Inactive

By The Associated Press

Vida Blue, Bill Lee, Jim Hughes, Rudy May, Stan Bahnsen and Eric Raich were the American League's pitching stars Wednesday night. Nolan Ryan was not.

Item: Blue hurled a four-hitter and became the first nine-game winner in the majors as the Oakland A's blanked the skidding Baltimore Orioles 5-0 on home runs by Sal Bando, Billy Williams and Reggie Jackson.

Item: Lee also pitched a four-hitter as to the Boston Red Sox downed the Texas Rangers 4-1 but lost his bid for a third consecutive shutout on two eighth-inning errors, one of them his own wild pickoff throw.

Item: Huges, a rookie, scattered seven hits for his sixth straight triumph, a 5-2 victory for the Minnesota Twins over the Detroit Tigers.

Item: May survived first inning wildness and allowed six hits while Bobby Bonds hit a pair of two-run homers in the New York Yankees' 6-2 triumph over the Kansas City Royals.

Item: Bahnsen pitched his first complete game of the season, a six-hit 9-3 success for the Chicago White Sox over the Milwaukee Brewers.

Item: Raich, making his second big league appearance, worked 72-3 strong innings as the Cleveland Indians trimmed Ryan and the California Angels 9-2. Ryan yielded seven hits and six runs in seven innings, including two-run homers by

U.S. Team Commands Big Lead

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP) — The United States' amateur golfers appeared heading for their usual victory against Britain in the Walker cup today, leading 10-6 with eight singles to come over St. Andrews Old Course.

The British started the final day with a strong comeback and two early foursome victories. But at the end of the morning round the Americans had fought back with two triumphs.

The United States need to win only three of the eight singles in the afternoon over the 6,194-yard, par 72 course to win the cup for the 22nd time. Britain has won it twice with one series ending in a tie.

Pat Mulcare and Ian Hutcheon beat U.S. amateur champion Jerry Pate of Pensacola, Fla., and veteran Dick Siderow of Westport, Conn., 1-up to lift British hopes.

Then Mark James and Dick Eyles defeated Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., and John Grace of Fort Worth, Tex., 5 and 3.

Just as Britain appeared set for a third victory, George Burns of Port Washington, N. Y., and Craig Stadler of La Jolla, Calif., came from behind to edge Charlie Green and Hugh Stuart on the last hole.

Finally Jay Haas of Winston-Salem, N. C., and Curtis Strange of Virginia Beach, Va., squared the morning series with a 3-and-2 triumph of Peter Hedges and John Davies.

Sports Briefs

TENNIS
ROME — Harold Solomon of the United States advanced to the third round of the $120,000 Italian Open Tennis Tournament with a 6-1, 2-6, 6-3 victory over Jun Kamiwazumi of Japan, and in women's action top-seeded Chris Evert of the United States, made the quarter-finals, downing Briton Susan Barker, 6-5, 6-3.

BASEBALL

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland — U.S. amateur golfers led Britain 8-4 after the first day of competition of the Walker Cup competition.

Joe Next In Line?

MANILA (AP) — World heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali wants to defend his title against contender and former champion Joe Frazier next Oct. 15 in Manila, the English language Times-Journal reported Thursday.

In its exclusive report, the daily newspaper attributed the story to Filipino fight promoter Lope Sarreal Jr., who said it will be a $10 million promotion.

American promoter Don King, who handled the Ali-Frazier fight in Zaire last October and the forthcoming Ali-Joe Bugner title match in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, next June 30, reportedly cabled Sarreal last Monday to start the negotiations here by depositing $400,000 in escrow with an unnamed bank.

King reportedly wants the Manila fight to start at 10 p.m. New York time (11 a.m. Manila time) for live television coverage. Ali was willing to have his purse reduced by "more than one million dollars," the Times-Journal report also said.

SPORTS SHORTS

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Pistons traded forward Willie Norwood to the Phoenix Suns for center Earl Williams, it was announced Wednesday.

The Pistons, last in rebounding in the National Basketball Association last season, said Williams, a rookie with the Suns last year, would help boost their performance — under the boards.

Williams pulled down 456 rebounds, while playing an average of just over 13 minutes a game. He averaged 4.7 points per game.

Norwood, Detroit's 6-foot-7 forward, has played with the Pistons for four seasons. He has a career average of 8.2 points per game.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers of the National Basketball Association signed free agent Jerry Baskerville Wednesday.

A team spokesman said Baskerville, a 6-foot-7, 190-pound forward, last played at Temple, where he averaged 12.6 pounds and 9.7 rebounds in 1973-74.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ellen Mosher, 25, the women's basketball coach at Whittier College last season, was named Wednesday UCLA's head women's basketball coach, succeeding Kenny Washington.

Ms. Mosher had a 12-2 record last year at Whittier. In her playing days in Allison, Iowa, she averaged 50 points per game, was named to the all-state team and was recently inducted into the Iowa girls' basketball Hall of Fame.

She also earned All-American recognition in three years at two Iowa colleges, Midwestern and Parsons.

District Decision Released

The 5-4 Executive Committee headed by Dr. Emmett McKenzie, Big Spring superintendent of schools, Wednesday imposed a one-year probation in football on Midland Lee.

This concerned a violation of UIL rule No. 24 regarding practices during non-school hours. The violation took place April 22.

The committee met behind closed doors here last Tuesday to review the Rebel case.

"The district executive committee found us guilty of violating a rule and now it is up to us to see that it doesn't happen again," said Dr. James H. Mailey, superintendent of Midland schools.

Lee will still be allowed to compete for district and playoff championships next fall. The punishment is the same as was imposed on Abilene Cooper two years ago. The school participated in a Booster Club sponsored hamburger feed.

4th Annual Invitational Handball Tournament Set

The Fourth Annual Invitational Handball Tournament will unfold June 13-14-15 and 27-28-29 at the Big Spring YMCA, 801 Owens.

John Schiebel, Y physical director will be in charge of the six-day event.

The first three dates will involve Class A & B singles.

Division C single and double competitors take to the court the last of the month.

Entries are limited to 16 in each division. The entry fee is $7.50 for individuals and $10 for the doubles. One Spalding Ace ball and souvenir T-Shirt will be included with entry fee.

Entry deadline is June 9 for A & B Division and June 23 for C and doubles. Matches are to start at 5 p.m. Players are asked to help referee games.

Schiebel anticipates 60 contestants. Entrants outside of Big Spring expressing interest in the tournament include Amarillo, Houston, San Angelo, El Paso, Midland and Odessa.

FOOT ON HEAD HOLD — Eddie Sullivan, 241 pounds, elicited groans from 226-pound Ronnie Roberts and screams from the crowd Tuesday in Seattle, Wash., as he applied a foot to Roberts' neck. It was all part of the fun of what was billed as an "over the rope battle royal" involving 21 wrestlers weighing a total of more than 5,500 pounds. They threw one another out of the ring until one was left inside.

Tennis Program Reviewed

The way the ball is bouncing, it appears there will be an active tennis program at Howard College after all.

A week ago at the board meeting, Harold Wilder, athletic director, had recommended dropping the tennis program, principally because many school had swung to importing stars as team members to freeze out competition. The board took no action.

However, interest by students in the area has been such that the program may be continued, said President Dr. Charles Hays.

So far, there have been 10 inquiries about enrollment from high school tennis players. The college has a new man on the staff as coach. Bobby Menchaca was not only a state UIL competitor, but also was a star on the Angelo State University tennis squad.

Based on increased interest and an experienced coach, the possibility of the program being continued is mounting, Dr. Hays indicated.

Two double plays highlighted the Pirate-Hawk contest. Blake Rossum pitched creditable ball for the Hawks as he fanned 10 but was the loser. Bobby Tolle received credit for the win.

The Pirates are tied for first place with a 6-2 record. Steve Shaeffer of the T-Birds hurled three frames of no-hit ball, fanning four and walking only one. He had excellent relief help from Jamie Graham who fanned seven and allowed only one single.

Fed Up With Superiority

NEW YORK (AP) — Ellie Brown is fed up with the image of crusty superiority built around the National Basketball Association. She says if the league does not accept a $1-million challenge from its junior rival, it's only because the NBA is "scared to death."

Mrs. Brown, 34, owns the Kentucky Colonels, champions of the American Basketball Association.

Earlier in the competition, the blond, bouncy Smith, a student at Long Beach State University, had cleared 18-1, bettering his Garden record of 18 1/4. Those two jumps over 18 feet increased to 12 the number of times he has cleared that height. No other vaulter has done it as often.

Afterwards, Smith said that he and fellow vaulter Bob Richards Jr. go for hypnotic treatments once a week in Irvine, Calif.

"He, the hypnotist, helps us put everything out of our minds," Smith said. "We can stand at the runway and you'd be surprised how high we can go. He helps us increase concentration and other events going on at the same time don't bother us."

What did bother Smith somewhat, he said, during his attempts at 18-7 3/4, were an ailing left shoulder and an aching knee.

Smith's performance earned him $4,000-$2,000 for winning and $2,000 for breaking the record. It was the biggest pay-day for any athlete in the IFA's three-year history and boosted his 1974 earnings to $14,900, second behind Ben Jipcho's $21,300.

Smith's limit Wednesday night was 18-5. He tried three times at 18-7 3/4 but failed on each occasion.

Clearing that height would have shattered the world's record of 18-6 1/2 set earlier this year by Dave Roberts. The indoor amateur record is 18-1 by Dan Ripley of San Jose State.

Afterwards, Smith said that he and fellow vaulter Bob Richards Jr. go for hypnotic treatments once a week in Irvine, Calif.

Better Results Desired By NBA

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Basketball Association was hoping that today's collegiate draft would produce somewhat better results among its top picks than it did a year ago.

Of last year's first through fifth choices, only one, center Tom Burleson of the Seattle SuperSonics, performed up to expectations in the NBA this past season.

The others — Bill Walton, Marvin Barnes, John Shumate and Bobby Jones — were of little or no use to NBA teams.

Walton, the high-priced three-time All-American and two-time Player of the Year from UCLA, was chosen by the Portland Trail Blazers. Instead of leading the Trail Blazers into the playoffs for the first time in the team's five-year history as had been expected, Walton was sidelined for most of the season with injuries and Portland didn't come close to making the playoffs.

Barnes, an All-American from Providence, didn't even play in the NBA, although he was drafted by the Philadelphia 76ers. Instead, he signed with the rivals of St. Louis of the Spirit American Basketball Association and became the ABA's Rookie of the Year.

Shumate, the All-American from Notre Dame, was signed by the NBA's

Phoenix Suns, but he didn't play a single minute for the team after it was discovered before the season that he had a blood clot in his left lung.

Jones, drafted by the Houston Rockets, disdained the NBA for the ABA's in today's draft were All-Americans David Thompson of North Carolina State, Dave Meyers of UCLA and Luther "Tickey" Burden of Utah.

Also highly regarded were Marvin "The Human Eraser" Webster of Morgan State, Junior Bridgeman of Louisville, Kevin Grevey of

Among the top collegians Kentucky, Joe Meriweather of Southern Illinois, Gus Williams of Southern California, Alvan Adams of Oklahoma and Frank Oleynik of Seattle.

Smith Better World Indoor Mark Of 18-4

NEW YORK (AP) — Fiery Steve Smith, concentrating better than ever because of recent hypnotism, says he isn't satisfied with his latest pole vault record.

After leaping 18 feet, 5 inches at the International Track Association pro meet at Madison Square Garden Wednesday night, bettering his own world indoor mark of 18-4, the 23-year-old Smith said, "I won't be satisfied until I do 19 feet. I'm sure I can jump 19 feet and I'm pretty sure I can jump 19-4. I really don't know my limit."

Smith's limit Wednesday night was 18-5. He tried three times at 18-7 3/4 but failed on each occasion.

Clearing that height would have shattered the world's record of 18-6 1/2 set earlier this year by Dave Roberts. The indoor amateur record is 18-1 by Dan Ripley of San Jose State.

Afterwards, Smith said that he and fellow vaulter Bob Richards Jr. go for hypnotic treatments once a week in Irvine, Calif.

A HAPPY MAN — Steve Smith shows his delight after setting a new world indoor pole vault record by soaring 18 feet 5 inches at New York's Madison Square Garden Wednesday night. The jump surpassed his earlier world record he set this season, by 1 inch.

Arkansas-A&M Game Changed

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas-Texas A&M football game this fall will be played Dec. 6 in Little Rock before a national television audience.

The game was originally scheduled for Nov. 1 at Fayetteville. Kickoff time will be 3 p.m. CDT in War Memorial Stadium and ABC will telecast the game.

The Arkansas-Texas game Oct. 18 has been switched to Fayetteville to keep the season ticket packages in balance. That contest is slated for a 2 p.m. kickoff and it is also a possibility for national or regional television, the UA said.

"It is exciting for us in Arkansas to have been asked to move the game to Dec. 6 to be on national television," said Frank Broyles, head football coach and athletic director at Arkansas. "It will be the only major college game on that date, which will bring additional national exposure to our program and our state."

"The late starting time will necessitate lights, thus we had to switch the game from Fayetteville to Little Rock. The Texas game will be moved to Fayetteville to keep our season ticket packages of four games in Little Rock and three games in Fayetteville intact.

"The Southwest Conference is very encouraged that we were able to work this out," Broyles said. "The television package for the conference was not promising and the conference was eager that we would be able to do this."

"Moving the game for national TV will mean around $500,000 to be divided among the Southwest Conference teams. With everybody concerned about spiraling costs, this will be of obvious financial advantage to us and to the Southwest Conference."

ABC asked Arkansas to move its game with Texas to the end of the season on three other occasions and Arkansas complied twice. Texas defeated Arkansas 15-14 in 1969 when both were unbeaten and ranked 1-2 in the country. That game was called the Game of the Century and the crowd included then President Richard Nixon. The next year, Arkansas and Texas played in December in Austin and the Longhorns won 42-7. ABC asked Arkansas to move the game in 1971, but Broyles declined.

Since the game tickets have already printed, tickets originally printed for the Texas A&M game in Fayetteville will now be used for the Texas game and tickets printed for the Texas game in Little Rock will now be used for the A&M game.

Man Allegedly Murdered Turns Up Alive And Well

ADRIAN, Mich., (AP) — A man among persons allegedly slain by Gary Addison Taylor has turned up alive and well in Garden City, the sheriff of Lenawee County says.

Sheriff Richard Germond said Wednesday that the man, Wilbert Parker, was supposed to have been one of the four persons killed and buried near Taylor's former home in Cambridge Township near Adrian.

Germond said Parker had no idea he was the man believed to be buried along with three women.

The sheriff quoted Parker as saying Taylor was a casual acquaintance when they worked together in Ypsilanti. He said Parker apparently did not realize the Taylor he knew in Ypsilanti was the same man now facing a series of murder accusations.

Meanwhile Wednesday, authorities in Sherman, Tex., said they would question Taylor, 39, about recent highway shootings by an unknown sniper.

The sniping attacks took place near Sherman, north of Dallas, the night of May 16. Three buses and three trucks were hit by bullets apparently fired by a sniper positioned on an embankment or overpass on U.S. 75.

A 15-year-old girl, a passenger in one of the buses was injured.

Police in Lansing said Wednesday they have reopened their investigation of the 1972 slaying of Irene Waters because detectives thought they recognized a similarity between Taylor's photo and a composite of the suspect in the Lansing slaying.

Taylor, once known as the "phantom sniper of Royal Oak," was arrested last week in Houston in connection with a series of rapes.

Houston authorities say Taylor later confessed to killing four women in three states. But Taylor told a judge Tuesday that the confessions were forced out of him by a police beating.

Working on a tip from Taylor's former wife, Lenawee County sheriff deputies began searching last week for three women and one man allegedly buried near Taylor's house. Last Thursday deputies turned up the bodies of two Toledo, Ohio, women — 24-year-old Lee Fletcher and 17-year-old Debbie Henneman.

The digging operation was halted Friday. Officials said it would not resume until more accurate information on the location of the other bodies was obtained.

Houston officials said Taylor also has confessed to killing a Houston waitress and a Seattle housewife.

Taylor was found innocent by reason of insanity for shooting at nine women and girls in Royal Oak, Mich. in the late 1950s. He was classified as an escaped mental patient in 1973.

Boycott Threat Bothers Gulf Oil

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Gulf Oil Corp. says it is deeply concerned about a proposal by Jewish leaders to boycott the firm because of its alleged support of Arab oil countries' propaganda in the United States.

Gulf issued a statement Wednesday responding to a resolution from a New York conference of 300 presidents of Jewish organizations.

The resolution supported "acts of conscience taken by individual members reacting to the Gulf Oil gift to Arab sources ... for propaganda purposes in the U.S."

Such acts of conscience could include avoiding purchases at Gulf stations, surrendering credit cards, or writing letters of protest to the company, according to a source at the conference.

Gulf urged the protesters to await the outcome of an investigation of apparently illegal payments the company has admitted making in various forms of duress.

"We are deeply concerned about this resolution," the statement said. "It is based upon incomplete information about a contribution which is one part of an ongoing investigation by the Securities and Exchange Commission."

ONE THRIFTY homemade mix makes them all — Best Blueberry Muffins, Spice Shelf Cake, Parmesan Biscuit Ring and Mix-It-Quick Raisin Bread. This basic baking mix becomes a blessing to the budgeter.

WHAT CAN YOU FIX FROM A THRIFTY MIX?

The question might well be: What can't you fix? So many of the baked items craved by families have simple ingredients in common. In a few minutes and for nominal cost you can make your own mixes. Blend flour, baking powder, shortening, salt, quick or old fashioned oats and nonfat dry milk for Basic Baking Mix. You'll want to reserve a permanent place for it on the kitchen staples shelf.

Begin at breakfast to put it to work! Set Best Blueberry Muffins on the table just as the family sits down. Spice Shelf Cake, generously topped with a broiled coconut-brown sugar frosting, is a sweet way to entertain mid-day or to delight at dinner's dessert. Nice and nippy Parmesan Biscuit Ring brings praise for its pull-apart perkiness. Mix-It-Quick Raisin Bread is inexpensive enough for everyday eating, yet elegant enough to meet company standards. And Plain Good Pancakes, not pictured, mellow mornings, of course! Also discover their potential as a base for main dishes when topped with creamed meats and vegetables.

Basic Baking Mix wins acceptance by well-organized cooks, ones who hunt shortcuts that preserve their pride. With a clear conscience, they can call these clever creations "homemade!"

BASIC BAKING MIX

8 cups sifted all-purpose flour	1-1/2 cups instant nonfat dry milk
1-1/2 cups baking powder	2 cups quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
1 tablespoon salt
1-1/2 cups shortening, soft

Mix together flour, baking powder and salt into very large bowl. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in dry milk and oats. Store mixture in an air-tight container in a cool dry place until ready to use. Makes about 14 cups.

BEST BLUEBERRY MUFFINS

2-1/4 cups Basic Baking Mix	1 egg, beaten
1/4 cup sugar	1/2 cup fresh, frozen or canned blueberries, thawed and drained
3/4 cup water

Combine all ingredients; stir until just blended. (Do not overbeat.) Fill greased muffin cups 2/3 full. Bake in preheated hot oven (400°F.) about 20 minutes. Makes 12 muffins.

SPICE SHELF CAKE

Cake:	Topping:
2 cups Basic Baking Mix	2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
1/2 cup granulated sugar	1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar	2 tablespoons evaporated milk
1 teaspoon cinnamon	1/3 cup flaked or shredded coconut
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg	2 tablespoons chopped nuts
1/8 teaspoon cloves
1/2 cup water
2 eggs, beaten

For cake, combine all ingredients; stir until well blended. Pour into greased and floured 8-inch square baking pan. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350°F.) 30 to 35 minutes. Do not remove cake from pan.

For frosting, combine all ingredients. Spread evenly over cake. Broil until frosting becomes bubbly, about 1 minute. Serve warm. Makes 9 servings.

PARMESAN BISCUIT RING

3 cups Basic Baking Mix	3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
3/4 cup cold water	1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese

Combine Baking Mix and water. With floured hands shape dough to form 12 equal balls. Combine butter and Parmesan cheese. Lightly roll each ball of dough in butter-cheese mixture. Place in single layer in well-greased 5-1/2-cup ring mold.

Bake in preheated moderate oven (375°F.) about 30 minutes or until golden brown. Let stand in pan about 3 minutes. Loosen edges and unmold. Makes 6 servings.

PLAIN GOOD PANCAKES

1-1/2 cups Basic Baking Mix	1-1/2 cups water
	1 egg

Combine Baking Mix, water and egg, stirring until batter is fairly smooth. Pour batter, using scant 1/4 cup per pancake, onto hot, greased griddle. Turn pancakes when tops are covered with bubbles and edges look cooked. Turn only once. Serve with butter and maple-blended syrup. Makes 6 servings.

ARE RISING FOOD PRICES rocking the budget? To stretch meat, a menu item always in demand, keep Basic Mix for Meats handy. Quick or old fashioned oats, blended with spices, stretch the number of servings as they turn oh-so-familiar ground beef into savory main dishes. Saucy Meat Roll cuts into dainty swirls; Hasty Pasties are cheerful topped by Cheddar cheese sauce; and Mighty Meaty Mini-Loaves sport a catsup coating.

BASIC MIX FOR MEATS

7 cups quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked	2 teaspoons oregano
2 tablespoons salt	2 teaspoons pepper
	2 teaspoons onion powder

Combine all ingredients; mix thoroughly. Store in an air-tight container in a cool dry place until ready to use. Makes 7 cups.

SAUCY MEAT ROLL

Filling:	1 teaspoon salt
1 lb. ground beef	1/4 cup shortening, soft
1 cup Basic Mix for Meats	3 tablespoons nonfat dry milk
1/3 cup catsup	1/2 cup quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
1 egg, beaten	1/2 cup water
*Biscuit Dough:	Sauce:
1-1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour	One 10-3/4-oz. can condensed tomato soup
2-1/4 teaspoons baking powder	1/4 cup water

For filling, combine ground beef, Mix for Meats, catsup and egg. For biscuit dough, sift together flour, baking powder and salt into bowl. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in dry milk and oats. Gradually add water (if too dry, add a little more water).

Roll out on floured board or canvas to form a 12 x 9-inch rectangle. Spread ground beef mixture almost to edges of dough, roll up as for jelly roll starting with long end. To seal, dampen edge and press to roll. Place on greased cookie sheet, seam side down. Bake in preheated slow oven (325°F.) about 50 minutes. Combine sauce ingredients; heat thoroughly. Serve with meat roll. Makes 6 servings.

*Two cups Basic Baking Mix can be substituted for flour, baking powder, salt, shortening, dry milk and oats in Biscuit Dough recipe. Add 1/2 cup water and proceed as above.

HASTY PASTIES

Pasties:	Sauce:
1 lb. ground beef	One 11-oz. can condensed Cheddar cheese soup
1 cup Basic Mix for Meats	1/4 cup milk
1/3 cup milk
1 egg, beaten
One 10 to 11-oz. pkg. pie crust mix

For pasties, thoroughly combine ground beef, Mix for Meats, milk and egg. Shape to form 6 large meatballs. Prepare pie crust mix according to package directions. Roll out on floured board or canvas to form 18 x 12-inch rectangle. Cut into six 6-inch squares.

Place meatballs on center of pastry squares; dampen edges. Bring corners of pastry up over meatballs; pinch edges together to seal. Brush with beaten egg. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet in preheated moderate oven (375°F.) about 35 minutes. Combine sauce ingredients; heat thoroughly. Serve with pasties. Garnish each serving with paprika and celery leaves. Makes 6 servings.

MIGHTY MEATY MINI-LOAVES

1 lb. ground beef	3 tablespoons catsup
1 cup Basic Mix for Meats	2 teaspoons firmly packed brown sugar
1 egg, beaten	2 teaspoons prepared mustard
1/3 cup milk

Thoroughly combine ground beef, Mix for Meats, egg and milk. Shape to form 6 small loaves; place in shallow baking pan. Combine catsup, brown sugar and mustard; spread over top of each loaf. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350°F.) about 35 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

maharajah date pie

4 eggs, well beaten	1 cup Imperial Brown Sugar, firmly packed
1 cup white corn syrup	1 tablespoon flour
1 cup (8 oz. package) pitted, chopped dates	1 stick butter or margarine, melted
1 unbaked pastry shell

Combine well beaten eggs, Imperial Brown Sugar and flour; blend well. Stir in melted butter, corn syrup and dates combining well. Pour into 9x1 1/4-inch pie pan lined with an unbaked pastry shell. Bake 40 to 45 minutes in preheated 350°F. oven. If desired, serve with whipped cream. Since pie is very rich, slice in narrow wedges. Serves 10. Good either warm or cold.

Man Allegedly Murdered Turns Up Alive And Well

ADRIAN, Mich., (AP) — A man among persons allegedly slain by Gary Addison Taylor has turned up alive and well in Garden City, the sheriff of Lenawee County says.

Sheriff Richard Germond said Wednesday that the man, Wilbert Parker, was supposed to have been one of the four persons killed and buried near Taylor's former home in Cambridge Township near Adrian.

Germond said Parker had no idea he was the man believed to be buried along with three women.

The sheriff quoted Parker as saying Taylor was a casual acquaintance when they worked together in Ypsilanti. He said Parker apparently did not realize the Taylor he knew in Ypsilanti was the same man now facing a series of murder accusations.

Meanwhile Wednesday, authorities in Sherman, Texas, said they would question Taylor, 39, about recent highway shootings by an unknown sniper.

The sniping attacks took place near Sherman, north of Dallas, the night of May 16. Three buses and three trucks were hit by bullets apparently fired by a sniper positioned on an embankment or overpass on U.S. 75.

A 15-year-old girl, a passenger in one of the buses was injured.

Police in Lansing said Wednesday they have reopened their investigation of the 1972 slaying of Irene Waters because detectives thought they recognized a similarity between Taylor's photo and a composite of the suspect in the Lansing slaying.

Taylor, once known as the "phantom sniper of Royal Oak," was arrested last week in Houston in connection with a series of rapes.

Houston authorities say Taylor later confessed to killing four women in three states. But Taylor told a judge Tuesday that the confessions were forced out of him by a police beating.

Working on a tip from Taylor's former wife, Lenawee County sheriff deputies began searching last week for three women and one man allegedly buried near Taylor's house. Last Thursday deputies turned up the bodies of two Toledo, Ohio, women — 24-year-old Lee Fletcher and 17-year-old Debbie Henneman.

The digging operation was halted Friday. Officials said it would not resume until more accurate information on the location of the other bodies was obtained.

Houston officials said Taylor also has confessed to killing a Houston waitress and a Seattle housewife.

Taylor was found innocent by reason of insanity for shooting at nine women and girls in Royal Oak, Mich. in the late 1950s. He was classified as an escaped mental patient in 1973.

BASIC BAKING MIX

- |                                 |  |
|---------------------------------|--|
| 3 cups sifted all-purpose flour | 1 1/2 cups instant nonfat dry milk           |
| 1/2 cup baking powder           | 3 cups quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked |
| 2 tablespoons salt              |  |
| 1 1/2 cups shortening, soft     |  |

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt into very large bowl. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in dry milk and oats. Store mixture in an air-tight container in a cool dry place until ready to use. Makes about 14 cups.

BEST BLUEBERRY MUFFINS

- |                             |   |
|-----------------------------|---|
| 2-1/4 cups Basic Baking Mix | 1 egg, beaten   |
| 1/4 cup sugar               | 1/2 cup fresh, frozen or canned blueberries, thawed and drained |
| 3/4 cup water               |   |

Combine all ingredients; stir until just blended. (Do not overbeat.) Fill greased muffin cups 2/3 full. Bake in preheated hot oven (400°F.) about 20 minutes. Makes 12 muffins.

SPICE SHELF CAKE

- |                                   |   |
|-----------------------------------|---|
| Cake:                      | Topping:                           |
| 2 cups Basic Baking Mix           | 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted |
| 1/2 cup granulated sugar          | 1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar         |
| 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar | 2 tablespoons evaporated milk             |
| 1 teaspoon cinnamon               | 1/3 cup flaked or shredded coconut        |
| 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg               | 2 tablespoons chopped nuts                |
| 1/8 teaspoon cloves               |   |
| 1/2 cup water                     |   |
| 2 eggs, beaten                    |   |

For cake, combine all ingredients; stir until well blended. Pour into greased and floured 8-inch square baking pan. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350°F.) 30 to 35 minutes. Do not remove cake from pan.

For frosting, combine all ingredients. Spread evenly over cake. Broil until frosting becomes bubbly, about 1 minute. Serve warm. Makes 9 servings.

PARMESAN BISCUIT RING

- |                         |   |
|-------------------------|---|
| 3 cups Basic Baking Mix | 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted |
| 3/4 cup cold water      | 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese            |

Combine Baking Mix and water. With floured hands shape dough to form 12 equal balls. Combine butter and Parmesan cheese. Lightly roll each ball of dough in butter-cheese mixture. Place in single layer in well-greased 5-1/2-cup ring mold.

Bake in preheated moderate oven (375°F.) about 30 minutes or until golden brown. Let stand in pan about 3 minutes. Loosen edges and unmold. Makes 6 servings.

MIX-IT-QUICK RAISIN BREAD

- |                         |                 |
|-------------------------|-----------------|
| 3 cups Basic Baking Mix | 1 cup water     |
| 3/4 cup sugar           | 1 egg, beaten   |
| 1 teaspoon cinnamon     | 1/2 cup raisins |

Grease 8-1/2 x 4-1/2 x 2-1/2-inch loaf pan; line bottom with waxed paper; grease again. Combine all ingredients; stir until just blended. Pour batter into prepared loaf pan. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350°F.) about 1 hour; loosen sides and remove from pan. Remove waxed paper and cool thoroughly. Wrap and store 1 day before slicing. Makes 1 loaf.

| 1 egg, beaten                       | 1/2 cup water                                 |
| Biscuit Dough:               | Sauce:                                 |
| 1-1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour | One 10-3/4-oz. can condensed tomato soup      |
| 2-1/4 teaspoons baking powder       | 1/4 cup water                                 |

For filling, combine ground beef, Mix for Meats, catsup and egg. For biscuit dough, sift together flour, baking powder and salt into bowl. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in dry milk and oats. Gradually add water (if too dry, add a little more water).

Roll out on floured board or canvas to form a 12 x 9-inch rectangle. Spread ground beef mixture almost to edges of dough; roll up as for jelly roll starting with long end. To seal, dampen edge and press to roll. Place on greased cookie sheet, seam side down. Bake in preheated slow oven (325°F.) about 50 minutes. Combine sauce ingredients; heat thoroughly. Serve with meat roll. Makes 6 servings.

*Two cups Basic Baking Mix can be substituted for flour, baking powder, salt, shortening, dry milk and oats in Biscuit Dough recipe. Add 1/2 cup water and proceed as above.

HASTY PASTIES

- |                                     |  |
|-------------------------------------|--|
| Pasties:                     | Sauce:                                |
| 1 lb. ground beef                   | One 11-oz. can condensed Cheddar cheese soup |
| 1 cup Basic Mix for Meats           | 1/4 cup milk                                 |
| 1/3 cup milk                        |  |
| 1 egg, beaten                       |  |
| One 10 to 11-oz. pkg. pie crust mix |  |

For pasties, thoroughly combine ground beef, Mix for Meats, milk and egg. Shape to form 6 large meatballs. Prepare pie crust mix according to package directions. Roll out on floured board or canvas to form 18 x 12-inch rectangle. Cut into six 6-inch squares.

Place meatballs on center of pastry squares; dampen edges. Bring corners of pastry up over meatballs; pinch edges together to seal. Brush with beaten egg. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet in preheated moderate oven (375°F.) about 35 minutes. Combine sauce ingredients; heat thoroughly. Serve with pasties. Garnish each serving with paprika and celery leaves. Makes 6 servings.

- |                           |                                       |
|---------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| 1 lb. ground beef         | 3 tablespoons catsup                  |
| 1 cup Basic Mix for Meats | 2 teaspoons firmly packed brown sugar |
| 1 egg, beaten             | 2 teaspoons prepared mustard          |
| 1/3 cup milk              |                                       |

Thoroughly combine ground beef, Mix for Meats, egg and milk. Shape to form 6 small loaves; place in shallow baking pan. Combine catsup, brown sugar and mustard; spread over top of each loaf. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350°F.) about 35 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

maharajah date pie

- |                        |   |
|------------------------|---|
| 4 eggs, well beaten    | 1 cup Imperial Brown Sugar, firmly packed   |
| 1 tablespoon flour     | 1 stick butter or margarine, melted         |
| 1 cup white corn syrup | 1 cup (8 oz. package) pitted, chopped dates |
| 1 unbaked pastry shell |   |

Combine well beaten eggs, Imperial Brown Sugar and flour; blend well. Stir in melted butter, corn syrup and dates combining well. Pour into 9x1 1/4-inch pie pan lined with an unbaked pastry shell. Bake 40 to 45 minutes in preheated 350°F. oven. If desired, serve with whipped cream. Since pie is very rich, slice in narrow wedges. Serves 10. Good either warm or cold.

NOTE: If preferred, substitute pecan halves for dates and call it Texas Millionaire Pie.

SENATORS VOTE $634 MILLION

Some Fear School Bill May Hike Local Taxes

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Senators have approved a $634 million school finance bill that some fear may put a "cap" on local taxes.

Although the Senate bill would cost $145 million less than the House proposal, it would still require local school districts to supply an additional $386.4 million over the next two years.

Sen. Kent Hance, D-Lubbock, said he was worried that the higher local fund assignments might force numerous school districts "to cut back on programs, raise taxes, or both."

Sen. Oscar Mauzy, D-Dallas, the sponsor, assured his colleagues the state could pay its share without levying new taxes.

The bill was approved on voice vote Wednesday, but six senators — Max Sherman of Amarillo, Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls, Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells, O. H. Harris of Dallas, Peyton McKnight of Tyler and W. T. Moore of Bryan — asked to be shown as voting "no."

"I believe it represents our best chance to equalize educational opportunity without our financial means this session," said Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

Initial hopes that the House might accept the so-called Senate compromise faded with word from Speaker Bill Clayton that House members would insist on a conference committee to negotiate the differences between the two versions.

Of 16 amendments proposed in nearly 2½ hours of debate, the Senate tackled on seven, including a $6.3 million proposal to pay for bilingual instruction in kindergarten.

To "cushion the impact" on local districts, the Senate voted that the first year the local fund assignment may not exceed the money the district is receiving in taxes.

In the second year of the biennium, an increase of up to 50 per cent would be authorized.

Also to insulate local districts from too-drastring economic demands, the bill provides that no district would receive less state aid in the school year beginning in September than 104 per cent of the amount it got in 1974-75.

To maintain programs at higher-than-minimum levels of spending, however, as some districts do, local revenue.

In an effort to begin to correct inequities between the richer and poorer school districts, the Senate bill sets aside $50 million a year to be distributed to the poorer schools on a formula basis.

It provides a minimum salary of $8,000 next September for beginning teachers with a bachelor's degree, with a 5 per cent increase the following year.

In addition:

- Districts would get $90 per student in 1975-76 and $100 the following year for maintenance and operations budgets — compared with $31 this school year. School bus allotments would be increased by 62.5 per cent.
- A district's true market value of property would be relied on in figuring how much state aid each would receive.
- $3 million a year would be used to finance driver's education.

Third Floor Is Due Structure

FORT WORTH — A third floor providing some 16,000 square-feet of space for expanded facilities for Harris College of Nursing and the home economics department will be added to Texas Christian University's Annie Richardson Bass building. The project, expected to begin this summer, will cost approximately $1 million.

The two-story structure was completed for occupancy at the opening of the 1971 fall term. Its cost of $1.4 million came from gifts from the Sid W. Richardson Foundation, the J. E. and L. E. Mabey Foundation, Hoblitzelle Fund of the Southwestern Medical Foundation and federal funds through the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The building's name honors the late Mrs. Bass, sister of the late Sid W. Richardson of Fort Worth. A $500,000 challenge grant from the Mabey Foundation and a $500,000 response from the Richardson Foundation will provide for the third-floor addition.

State Due To Call Star Witness In Murder Trial

AUSTIN — Tex. (AP) — The state may conclude its case today against Robert Kleasen, with the star witness expected to be a federal lab technician who will testify about hair samples found on a taxidermist's band saw.

A process known as neutron activation analysis supposedly is as foolproof as fingerprints, and Mike Hoffman, of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms in Washington, D.C., has been called by the state to tell the jury about it.

Kleasen, 42, is accused of killing Gary Darley, 20, of Simi Valley, Calif., and Mark Fischer, 19, of Milwaukee, Wis.

The state contends Kleasen cut up their heads on the band saw.

Hair samples from Darley and Fischer had been saved by their sweethearts and mailed to Mormon Bishop Frank McCullough of Austin.

Wednesday, McCullough took the witness stand against doctor's orders in order to furnish a critical link in the chain of possession of the hair samples. McCullough suffered a massive heart attack earlier this year.

Before he was sworn as a witness and ordered not to speak to reporters, FBI agent Bruce Yarborough told the Associated Press that the name John T. Williamson, found on a manuscript about poaching in Kleasen's stolen trailer, was the name Kleasen used on his travels in Europe.

The manuscript tells how to dispose of deer carcasses "in a hurry" by sawing up long bones and leg bones, placing body parts in plastic bags and dumping them in trash cans at such places as large schools.

Darley and Fischer vanished an hour after telling fellow Mormon missionaries they were going to a church member's place outside of town to eat venison on Oct. 28.

State witnesses have testified Kleasen served missionaries deer steaks at his trailer west of town.

Rodeo Slated Next Month

The Erath County Trailblazers of Stephenville will hold their annual 13th Trailblazer Roundup Rodeo on June 13-14 at the Erath County Livestock Association Arena in Stephenville.

Contestants must be 19 years of age or under to enter. Trophy belt buckles for each event will be awarded. Some events will be Jackpotted. Included are: Bareback riding, senior bull riding, tie-down calf roping, ribbon roping and girls barrel race. Entry fees for the Jackpotted events are $20, except for the barrel race, which is $15.00. Of the entry fee, $12 will be put back into jackpot.

'THIS THING ISN'T OVER YET' Red River Showdown

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — Seven hundred head of cattle grazed in new and quieter pastures today after an armed showdown between a sheriff's posse and a Red River County rancher.

"I've never been through anything like this before," said Lamar County Sheriff Louie Noles. "It was a real showdown and for a while there I was afraid there was going to be some real shooting."

Sarah Raulston, ranch wife of Kenneth Raulston, said: "We finished moving all the cattle late Tuesday evening but this thing isn't over yet."

The mini range war began last Friday when Noles, armed with a court order obtained by a property owner, went to one of Raulston's leased ranges to forcibly remove the herd. Raulston's ranch is headquartered in Red River County but the property involved in the dispute is in Lamar County. The owner wanted to void the lease for the 1,140-acre range so that he could sell the land, Mrs.

Raulston said. The Raulstons refused to move their herd "because our lease was already paid up."

Noles arrived at the range gate but was met by Raulston who Noles quoted as saying, "I'm going to get reinforcements. If you're still here when I get back, some of us won't leave here alive."

Noles said: "Well, I told 'em to hold everything right there. Don't do nothin'. I went back to town and got me a posse."

Noles returned to the range with 18 armed men on horseback.

"That's exactly what happened," Mrs. Raulston, 32, said. "My husband went and got Blackie Hart, one of our ranchhands and he told me to go get the guns. It took me about 30 minutes but I got back with a couple of 30-30s and three shotguns."

Raulston returned to the pasture gate with Hart. Mrs. Raulston and her 15-year-old daughter returned in their pickup truck.

"Well, we were all squared off across the fence from each other," Sheriff Noles said. "We had a lot of words but it all boiled down to this: I told him 'You're a businessman and you can't do business from the jailhouse. He's an old tush hog and he got puffed up pretty good. I thought for a while we'd all wind up shooting it out but after a while he backed off."

Mrs. Raulston said one of the posse members ordered Hart to come outside the gate "and show his guns. He's a 69-year-old man. He wasn't armed. I was. My husband said 'They didn't know my baby was sitting over there with all the artillery.'"

Mrs. Raulston said the herd was moved over a two-day period to other ranges but "we still plan to file some damage suits over this."

"It all seems kind of funny now. We've laughed about it. But we were fighting for our lives and no one, including the sheriff of Lamar County, is going to run over me. He (sheriff) sallied up and said he was the sheriff of Lamar County and I told him I didn't give a damn who he was. "I could have blown hell out of all of 'em but things cooled off. Maybe it's not my place as a woman but my husband is a good man and our cattle are our lives. And we'll fight for that, believe me."

Noles, a native of Los Angeles, has been sheriff here since 1973. "Well, I think this ought to show people there is still a place in this country for a sheriff. I'm glad it worked out all right. There's one thing about it, you start fooling with a man's wife, his cattle or his land and you're playing a tune for trouble."

Mrs. Raulston also was philosophical. "Well, I guess the sheriff was only trying to do his job and we were doing what we had to do. It's not over yet, though."

Good Deal For Heroin Defendant

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals today reversed a heroin conviction from Dallas because the judge refused to have the cards with the prospective jurors' names shuffled.

The court said Hayward Alexander Jr., who was assessed a life sentence on a heroin possession conviction, is entitled to a new trial.

According to case records, the trial judge denied the motion to shuffle the jury panel's names because the jury list had been prepared and the prospective jurors were being seated in the courtroom when it was made.

The high court said the Code of Criminal Procedure is explicit in saying such a motion must be granted on demand if made before examination of prospective jurors begins.

"The error in refusing appellant's demand is not rendered harmless by virtue of the fact that there is no showing that appellant was forced to take an objectionable juror," the court said.

PUDGY PARMA President's Pal

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — President Ford calls him a close friend, and associates of Leon Parma quickly dismiss thoughts that he may be something more.

Parma says he and his friend of 16 years "share a lot in common and we spend time together."

"I'm not unique by any means," the 48-year-old aerospace executive said recently. "He has more friends around the country than any man I know."

The tanned, almost pudgy Parma is increasingly with Ford, a steady golfing partner during California vacations and visits, but the Californian's friends deny he is Ford's counterpart to Richard Nixon's presidential confidant, C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo.

GOOD FOR HIM

The interests shared by Ford and Parma range from football — Parma was a star quarterback at San Diego State University in 1948-51 — and golf to the Episcopal church, Republican politics and the Navy, in which both served during World War II.

Parma is increasingly invited to top-level talks, but the questions asked of him by Ford deal with California and Californians, not national affairs.

"Certainly the discussions aren't about his office," Parma says of his private conversations with Ford. "And I make it a point of excusing myself when I know he has reading or briefings to do."

"I think it's good for him to have someone totally out of government, someone to talk about the weather, informal casual interests."

As an administrative assistant to Rep. Bob Wilson R-Calif., Parma became a close friend of the Fords when the future 38th U.S. Chief Executive was a young Michigan congressman.

ENJOY GOLF

When Parma heard Ford was making a speech in California in 1962, he invited him to play golf in Palm Springs.

"We played a few rounds of golf and we both enjoyed it," Parma recalls. His wife, Barbara, and Betty Ford "got along well, too."

Both families began a tradition of sharing their Easter vacations in Palm Springs. In their ninth such visit last April, the Parmas were the first family's guests in a rented $355,000 home at Palm Springs' Thunderbird Estates.

Last year, they shared the Christmas holidays on the ski slopes of Vail, Colo., and when Ford took his oath of office Parma and his wife were in the East Room of the White House.

Mrs. Parma's grandfather, Judge John Guthrie McCallum, founded Palm Springs, and Parma himself is a fourth-generation Californian born in nearby Riverside.

In the record books at San Diego State, he is listed for the most pass completions by a quarterback and the most yardage gained.

"SPIRIT OF ST. LOUIS" Parma regrets he never finished law school. After college, he worked briefly for the San Diego Junior Chamber of Commerce and, after being the congressman's aide, became a contracts manager for Ryan Aeronautical. He is management representative today of that firm which a half-century ago built the "Spirit of St. Louis" plane which carried Charles Lindbergh to Paris.

The Parmas live in La Jolla, San Diego's most fashionable section, where Leon is president of the Bishop's School for Girls and board chairman of La Jolla Bank & Trust.

The Parmas have three daughters: Mrs. Roy D. Clark of San Diego; Patricia, a 19-year-old college student; and Julie, 16, and a son Michael, 14.

When Jack Ford or another member of the nation's First Family is in Southern California, the Parmas are usually on hand.

VERY WARM

Has Ford changed over 16 years? Not at all, Parma says.

"He's the same man today as when we first met," he says. "Our relationship is no different. He's a very warm, outgoing, informal man. He's always had deep humility."

Parma says their Palm Springs vacation this year "was far different than the last nine."

"I always had respect for the complexities of the presidency, what I thought were the demands," he said. "But after spending nine days with the President and the First Lady in the same house, I realized I never appreciated those demands fully."

"The responsibilities are awesome and never ending. He didn't leave the White House behind him. With the communications these days, he brought it with him."

"He started briefings around 6:30 a.m. He was always on the telephone. The staff was there."

HIS PATTERN

About public comments concerning Ford's time spent golfing, Parma says: "I don't begrudge him the four hours he was on the golf course. There were 20 other hours in the day. I'd say he spent as much time on work (in Palm Springs) as he did in the White House when we were back there in February."

Parma says Ford is in his best physical condition in years.

"His pattern, as I've seen it develop, seems to be to concentrate for three months or so, then take a week off... He needs that. I saw his strength develop from the day of his arrival at Vail."

Fanne Foxe Reveals All

NEW YORK (AP) — Fanne Foxe says she still has romantic interests in Rep. Wilbur Mills.

But the stripper friend of the Arkansas Democrat would not say whether she wants to marry him.

At a news conference Tuesday in connection with her forthcoming book, "Fanne Foxe, the Real Story Behind the Headlines," Miss Foxe described her relationship with Mills as "very warm and serious."

The 39-year-old stripper-dancer said she wrote the book, with Yvonne Dunleavy, partly "to tell the people what happened so there won't be any confusions."

Well Will Plug Back
 Tom D. Fowler No. 1-E Morgan, a recent Fusselman completion in the Morgan Ranch (multipay) field five miles southeast of Big Spring, will plug back and test the Spraberry. It is located 540 from the north and 2,177 from the west lines of section 34-31-18, T&P and was completed in the Fusselman April 1 for 31 barrels of 50-gravity oil and 14 water with gas-oil ratio of 205-1. The venture is a mile southwest of the depleted Spraberry opener, Kadand No. 1 Flanagan which originally made 140 barrels of oil and had gas-oil ratio of 305-1 from 5,855-850.

Two wildcats were announced for Sterling County. Claud B. Hamil No. 1-R. Wayne Harris, et al will be a 7,800-ft. venture 660 from the south and east line section 104-6, H&TC, Abst, 1169. It is on the Sterling side of the Tom Green field which produces from 7,087-169, being 2 1/2 miles east northeast of the two-well Probandt (Canyon) field, 18 miles south of Sterling City. HNG Oil No. 1-34 McEntire, 3 1/4 miles southeast of the four-well Cisco gas portion of Credo East (multipay) field, 10 miles northwest of Sterling City, will be 1,320 from the north and east line section 34-23, H&TC.
