Reduction In Troops Abroad Voted Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate refused today to require a 200,000-man reduction in the 485,000 American troops deployed overseas.

A troop-cut amendment by Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, was defeated by voice vote, with only a few senators on the floor.

The action followed rejection Wednesday of initial budget-cutting assaults on a $30.3 billion weapons authorization bill.

Votes were scheduled for later today on amendments to cut funding for such major new weapons systems as the B1 bomber, the AWACS flying radar system and additional advanced intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Turned down Wednesday were attempts to impose an over-all $1.2 billion cut in weapons procurement and research and to stop technology development programs to increase the accuracy and yield of land- and sea-based missiles.

The votes came after appeals by President Ford, Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller and Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger in commencement addresses to maintain U.S. military strength.

Ford, at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., counseled against cuts in what he called the "bedrock defense budget" to show world leaders "that Americans have lost neither their nerve nor their national will."

At the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., Rockefeller said America must pursue both the path of detente and a program of rebuilding its military strength to match the increasing military growth of the Soviet Union around the world.

At the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo., Schlesinger said U.S. military power must be maintained until "the Soviet Union accepts" the permanence and legitimacy of Western social order.

In the first Senate test, a $1.2 billion over-all reduction proposed by Sens. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., Alan Cranston, D-Calif., and Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., was defeated 59 to 36.

After closed-door debate for an hour and 40 minutes, the Senate turned down 52 to 42 an amendment by Sens. Thomas McIntyre, D-N.H., and Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., to deny funds for further research to improve accuracy and yield of land- and sea-based nuclear warhead missiles.

In an unclassified statement inserted in the Senate record, McIntyre said the accuracy-yield programs would give the United States the option of attacking specific targets, such as Soviet ICBM silos, instead of whole cities.

"They shift us from a policy of deterring nuclear war to doctrines and technologies designed to fight limited nuclear war," he said. "These programs run counter to our national security because they put a hair trigger on nuclear war and will draw Soviet fire by giving them an incentive to strike first in a period of crisis."

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., responded that the Soviet Union has more and larger missiles and is working on accuracy im-

Spurt Noted In Building

Building permits for the month of May in Big Spring are up from last May to a total of $382,060. Last May totaled $163,010.

Four new residence permits total $135,000, one new commercial facility is set at $55,000 and commercial remodeling permits total $165,000.

The commercial remodeling is $150,000 for an office building at 611 Main, owned by Doris Pike Guthrie and $15,000 remodeling on the Cosden Building.

Long John Silver's Seafood is building a new business at 2403 Gregg in the name of E. Bill Knight.

The four new residences are for L.W. Whisenunt, 2904 Melrose, $35,000; Jim Gray, 2816 Coronado Ave., $34,000; Art Franklin Construction, 2705 Coronado, $35,000 and Heinze and Little, 2703 Coronado, $31,000.

John Phillips, building inspector, reminds persons roofing or re-roofing from hail damage that permits are needed for roofing or re-roofing a building. Permits may be obtained at City Hall.

Special House Committee To Question Duval DA

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A special House investigating committee today begins what is expected to be a lengthy examination of Duval County Dist. Atty. Arnulfo Guerra, who testified Wednesday it was his idea to remove four school trustees from office.

Guerra denied there was a conspiracy between him and State District Court Judge O. P. Carrillo, whose possible impeachment the committee is investigating.

Guerra said Wednesday he came from Roma and knew nothing about Duval County politics when he took office last Dec. 2 except that it had a bad reputation. The George Parr faction backed him in his election, not Carrillo's supporters, guerra said.

When he took office, "it was the most disorganized mess I've ever seen in my life. There had been no cases prosecuted for a year."

He began to suspect wrongdoing in certain public offices, he said, and launched his own investigation on Feb. 10.

"I proceeded on the theory that if I didn't do something I might later be accused of obstruction of justice," he said.

He got the support of the grand jury, which was not controlled by Carrillo and San Antonio banker-rancher Clinton Manges, as had been charged, he said. "Six or seven members of the grand jury were George Parr men," he said.

Guerra said he couldn't specify the matters being investigated because he is sworn to keep grand jury proceedings secret.

He went to Carrillo's ranch for the first time in his life on March 13, he said. "I asked him to be available to me for petitions to remove from office some school trustees" in the Benavides Independent School District. He said the judge agreed and suggested that it be done in open court.

Guerra "violated the speed laws to get to the courthouse before it closed" because "it was my impression that records were being destroyed."

But word had leaked out, he said. "There were little clumps of people standing all around the courthouse." One man told him, "George Parr is armed and he's going to kill Judge Carrillo."

He said County Judge Archer Parr, George Parr's nephew, came over and "started raising hell. He mouthed off. I finally told him he ought to get out his uncle out of there, or somebody should."

About that time, Manges and some other men showed up, he said.

Tender Made By Dunlap's Is Due To Be Considered

Stockholders of Hemphill-Wells Co., will meet in Lubbock June 13 to consider a tender made by Dunlap's for the local H-W store.

Dunlap's operates several department stores in West Texas, including locations in Lubbock, Midland and El Paso and has a gross annual business said to approach $50 million.

Tom Hoskins, Midland, an official of the firm, is due in Big Spring Friday to confer with officials of the local Hemphill-Wells store.

Feds Charge Playboy Used 'Blue Boxes'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Playboy financier Bernard Cornfeld, once considered a financial and promotional wizard, has been indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of attempting to make free overseas phone calls.

The three-count indictment Wednesday said Cornfeld used a "blue box" electronic device to place 343 overseas calls from telephones in his Beverly Hills mansion.

The U.S. attorney's office said Cornfeld directed several of his women employees to use the "blue boxes" to place calls.

JACK WARREN

GOP Chief Resigning

AUSTIN (AP) — Jack Warren, Tyler, state chairman of the Republican Party, said today he is resigning.

His successor will be elected at a special meeting of the Republican State Executive Committee June 29 in Austin.

In a letter of resignation sent each member of the state committee, Warren said pressing needs of his own business endeavors made it necessary that he step down.

Kleasen Departs

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Less than three hours after Robert Kleasen was formally sentenced to death Wednesday in the Mormon missionaries murder case he was taken to Huntsville.

District Court Judge Tom Blackwell pronounced the sentence according to the verdict Monday of a seven-woman, five-man jury that Kleasen was guilty of capital murder in the death of Mormon missionary Mark J. Fischer, Milwaukee, Wis. The jury took 21 minutes Tuesday to decide that Kleasen should die in the electric chair at Huntsville.

After sentencing, the first death penalty assessed in Travis county since 1970, Blackwell turned over Kleasen to the sheriff's department which transferred him to the Department of Corrections at Huntsville where he will stay during the mandatory appeal of his sentence to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

A motion by defense lawyer R. Roscoe Haley to drop the indictment against Kleasen for murder of the second missionary, Gary Darley of Simi Valley, Calif., was denied by Blackwell.

Stolen Oil Field Gear Recovered Near Here

Law enforcement officers Wednesday afternoon recovered about $6,000 worth of stolen oil field equipment from under scrap lumber behind Pop's Well Service Inc. on north U.S. 87. No one has been charged with the theft.

James A. Perry, owner of the firm, said he was aware the equipment was there but had neglected to notify authorities. Perry agreed to the search voluntarily and led the investigating officers to the tools. Officers had obtained a search warrant from Peace Justice Gus Ochotorena Jr., in case Perry refused.

A winch truck was used to move oil field tongs weighing about 2,500 pounds and valued at $5,900. With the tongs were various hand tools.

The equipment was stolen from the Devonian Oil Co. lease southeast of Big Spring several weeks ago. An inventory of the confiscated equipment was given to Perry, who was interviewed.

Investigating were Deputy Sheriff Buster McCartney, Texas Ranger George Frasier and H. Guy Talbot, special investigator for the district attorney.

Hostages Released Unharmed

GRANITE, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma's corrections chief says he sees no problems in meeting most of the demands of a group of inmates which took 11 persons hostage during an eight-hour uprising.

All of the hostages were released unharmed, and the uprising ended without violence Wednesday after the rebels' list of demands was broadcast, as they had directed, some eight hours after the disturbance began.

Among other things, the convicts demanded expanded visitation hours; permission to decorate cell walls; more cell-storage space; better rehabilitation and job training programs; and immunity from prosecution in connection with the takeover.

Acting State Corrections Director John Grider, a former warden at the reformatory, said he thought most issues could be resolved, but he said he would make no promises of immunity or amnesty.

The group of convicts, armed with knives, icepicks, hammers and homemade weapons, grabbed the hostages and took over the reformatory's education building at 9 a.m.

About 70 inmates were in the building at the time, but 10 fled and officials said they believe only about 20, or possibly 30, actually took part in the rebellion.

'I FEEL GUILTY,' SAYS ONE OF JURORS IN HOUSTON

Ex-Big Springer Gets Death Chair

HOUSTON (AP) — Ronald C. O'Bryan, described by friends as a dedicated church member, a leader in a parent-teacher organization and "a decent person" was sentenced to death in the electric chair Wednesday for the Halloween candy poisoning of his young son.

O'Bryan resided in Big Spring with his family from November, 1967 until April, 1968. He is an optician at Texas State Optical in Houston and was employed at the TSO office in Big Spring.

O'Bryan, 30, appeared unmoved and impassive as a district court jury of 10 men and two women returned the death sentence verdict after only 71 minutes of deliberation.

The pale, heavy-set defendant minutes later walked quickly to a holding cell nearby and wept without restraint.

The same jury on Tuesday convicted O'Bryan of killing his son, Timothy, 8, by giving the youngster cyanide-laced trick-or-treat candy. Deliberations for the verdict lasted only 46 minutes.

One of the jurors, Carl James Lewis, 21, a county employe, told newsmen he was not pressured into his vote for death but that "I feel guilty."

"I'm not feeling guilty just because I helped send this guy to the chair," Lewis said. "I guess I just didn't do what I was supposed to do."

Lewis said he at first doubted O'Bryan would commit future violence but the doubts evaporated during deliberations in the jury room Wednesday. He said the doubts returned after the sentencing verdict was read in court.

"I think my mind was closed when I was in that (jury) room," he said. "Nobody could pressure me into something like that, but the jury system ought to be changed so you can come up with your verdict alone."

The state contended O'Bryan was deeply in debt and that he killed his son to collect on more than $30,000 in life insurance. Appeal of the conviction is automatic. Defense attorney Richard Harrison said his client felt "rotten, absolutely rotten."

"We got a fair trial," he said, "but sometimes I lose a little faith in the jury system. I felt all along that he was innocent and I still feel that way."

Assistant district attorney Mike Hinton said he thought the jury "did the right thing."

"Death should be given only in a proper case," he said. "If this was not a proper case I don't know what one would be."

In closing arguments for the punishment phase of the trial, Hinton called O'Bryan "cold blooded" and without hope of rehabilitation or repentance.

"We have a duty to future innocent victims to carve this cancer out of society forever," he said. "By your verdict of death, removing this cancer, you would deter anybody who would commit a like crime."

This state presented no witnesses in the punishment phase of the month-long trial, but nine friends and neighbors of O'Bryan testified for the defense.

All of the witnesses said they believed O'Bryan was not capable of committing acts of violence that would threaten society. They said he was an active church member, a leader in the Parent-Teachers' Organization.

"He was a decent person," said Dr. D. L. Akin, an optometrist who worked with O'Bryan. "Peaceful. Agreeable. A very nice person."

"He was always friendly," said Mrs. E. W. Parish, a former neighbor of O'Bryan's. "He always expressed concern for his family."

According to state testimony, O'Bryan took out $10,000 accidental death insurance policies on his son and daughter, Elizabeth Lane, 6, in January, 1974.

Later that year, he sold the family home to pay off loans, but continued to be deeply in debt. Last September, according to witnesses, O'Bryan began showing unusual interest in cyanide, discussing the chemical with at least seven people.

A chemist said he asked where he could buy the poison and what constituted a lethal dose. A chemical salesman identified O'Bryan as a man who tried to buy the poison.

Early in October, O'Bryan took out $20,000 life insurance policies on each of his children. An insurance agent said O'Bryan paid for the insurance with $108 in cash.

Mrs. Daylene O'Bryan, the defendant's wife, testified that at the time the family was so deeply in debt a finance company was trying to repossess one of their cars.

She said she knew nothing of the $20,000 policies and had argued unsuccessfully against the two $10,000 policies.

Her testimony triggered the only break in O'Bryan's composure throughout the long trial. He wept quietly through much of her appearance on the stand.

Mrs. O'Bryan and two other relatives also testified that after Timothy's death, O'Bryan discussed at length how the insurance money was to be spent. She said he mentioned a trip to Florida, a long vacation from work and a new home.

The insurance agent said O'Bryan called him to start processing a claim within hours after Timothy's death.

According to O'Bryan's own testimony, he and a friend, Jim Bates, were escorting their children on a rain-drenched trick-or-treat outing when he received the death candy.

O'Bryan said he was given it by a man at a particular house in Pasadena, a Houston suburb.

A Sad Commentary

It is a pity that the Senate Agriculture Committee has found it necessary to order an investigation of the system for inspecting grain sold for export. The assumption that grain merchants would permit only first-quality grain to be exported, if for no other reason than the hope of repeated orders, has been brought into question.

Unfortunately, as the recent indictments of exporters and inspectors on the Gulf Coast indicates, something less than quality grain has been exported. Collusion between exporters and inspectors is strongly suggested.

The export of grain of poor quality is especially reprehensible at this time of world food shortages. All too often the receiving country, which may have had extreme difficulty in obtaining needed shipments of grain, meekly accepts inferior quality grain.

If we cannot depend on the morality of exporters, then the federal government must interpose itself between the seller and the buyer. If a government inspector is careless or venal, let him be fired for incompetence or tried for accepting a bribe. Let the bribe-giver be dealt with sternly. But all this provides a sad commentary on a business which should pride itself on its product and take the steps necessary to guarantee that the grades promised are delivered.

A Change — But With Reason

There are increasing signs that the United States policy toward Cuba may be facing reappraisal if not change. There are those who advocate immediate restoration of diplomatic and other relations.

Perhaps this is a long-range goal, but it is not something to be rushed into unilaterally. There needs to be preparatory understandings, not only about the course ahead, but about expropriations and other deeds of the past. The objective is not to meddle in the internal affairs of another nation, but to establish relations upon a frank exchange of views and principles, political as well as economic.

The organization of American States, the vehicle for the U.S.-sponsored embargo of Cuba, is likely to drop its barriers soon. OAS meets in July in Costa Rica and observers feel that a simple majority vote will be permitted to change rules (rather than two-thirds majority) to lift an embargo in relations. Already a majority of the OAS members favor this course.

One view is that we cannot hope to exert much influence over what goes on in Cuba if we are not enjoying normal relations with it, hence, the sooner we recognize Cuba, the better. This may be true, but it also may be a will 'o' the wisp hope. More likely, our chances for influential relations will have to be hammered out prior to restoration of full relations, else we'll be left with hope rather than performance.

Fringe Benefit

Around The Rim

Marj Carpenter

For eight weeks now, we have enjoyed the picture of the young Walter Finley in the days when he covered the Missouri legislature in his Sunday version of Around the Rim.

I decided if he was going to leave the picture there forever and confuse newcomers in town as to his real identity, that it was time that I too take the picture "that mother likes" and run it with my rim.

MINE HAPPENS to have been taken when I was three years old. But as you can see, the hair-do is exactly the same as my present hair-do.

And anyway, that's the age that I was at the first time that I attempted to report a shooting incident.

I'm sure I've told the tale, but I will reiterate for those who missed it. My brother, the neighbor youth, and I were ready to depart one Saturday afternoon for the local movie house and Tom Mix.

At that time, my Aunt Elsie arrived with Little Harvey in tow and declared loud and long that precious Little Harvey could not attend violent movies like Tom Mix. The long and short of it was that I had to stay home and play with Little Harvey while my brother and the neighbor went to the show. I was not thrilled.

To make the best of a bad deal, we confiscated my brother's miniature cars and took them down into the field to build roads. We were sitting there running our cars across the roads with a hooden hooden sound when a man ran past where we were sitting. We rose up out of the grass in time to see a car leap the curb and come into the field.

A MAN, who every Sunday went to our church, was on the running board of the car. He raised a gun and shot. The man who had run by us fell against a tree. Little Harvey and I got there first and watched him fall at our feet with dying gasps.

The men in the car were upset. "Where did those kids come from?" And the one who did the shooting said, "That's Walter Collier's little girl." About then, Grandad arrived across the field and grabbed us by the back of our collars and carried us to the house, hollering at us all the way.

It turned out that the man shot down was responsible for shooting several other people across town. But whenever I would try to tell everybody who shot the man, my Dad would say, "No, Marjorie, you are mistaken. Somebody else fired the shot. He is a retired law official and no longer carries a gun." Well, that's a right young age to learn that people do not want the news reported correctly.

The best part of the entire situation was the arrival of my brother and the neighbor. They came out of the picture show and heard there was a shooting at the Collier place. They ran 16 blocks as hard as their bare feet would go and when they hit the edge of the field, Grandpa nailed them and said, "You can't go down there."

I LOOKED over at them with that sweet little look shown in the picture above and said, "Walter and I saw the man get shot. We watched him die. I'm glad I didn't go to that crummy picture show."

That was what is referred to as a fringe benefit for reporters.

My Answer

Billy Graham

What do you do with a husband who is anti-social? He constantly vetoes everything I suggest, and I feel like a nothing. I keep telling myself I must forgive, but it's affecting my health.

M.M.D.

Marriage should never be permitted to become an arrangement whereby both parties sink to the lowest common denominator of accomplishment. That's destructive! But have you tried to suggest situations that would please him?

Now, if you've really tried everything, and if your husband still elects to isolate himself, living selfishly without regard of others, that lifestyle need not be imposed on you. Make and cultivate a circle of friends. Without neglecting him, spend whatever time is necessary to reap the benefits that friendship supplies.

Jesus wants nobody to feel like a nobody. He lifts the fallen. According to Luke 4, Christ described His own ministry as setting at "liberty them that are bruised."

One has said that self-respect is the cornerstone of all virtue. In Matthew 22:39, the Lord even made it the yardstick for loving our neighbor.

Foreign Nightmare

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — Using the congressional ban on American military aid to Turkey as his worst-case benchmark, Gerald R. Ford is now known to feel that legislative encroachment on the President's freedom to make and carry out U.S. foreign policy has reached a dangerous level.

JUST BEFORE leaving last week on his European summit trip, the President made clear in private conversations that the Turkish aid ban was one of the most unwise actions ever taken by Congress in dictating to the executive branch on a critical issue of foreign policy.

Indeed, the President is known to have carried his criticism of that congressional aid ban even beyond the hard case made by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. Mr. Ford now believes that:

— CONGRESS JUST conveniently overlooked the fact that it was the former Greek military junta, not Turkey, that set the Cypriot tragedy in motion by deposing Archbishop Makarios as president of Cyprus.

— The congressional aid ban has actually forced Turkey to finance storage costs of U.S. weapons paid for by Ankara but now stored in American depots because of the embargo.

— THE EXPLOSIVE Cyprus question could have been solved months ago by Turkish territorial concessions if Turkey had not been publicly affronted by the aid ban.

This worst-case benchmark of congressional intrusion into a President's traditional control over foreign policy, privately termed a disaster by Mr. Ford, is only one of what he regards as many severe congressional restraints on his freedom to carry out foreign policy.

ANOTHER IS the pro-Israel letter, signed by 76 senators and interpreted by Mr. Ford as a clear threat to his whole foreign aid program. What disturbed the President most about the letter — which he suspects was deliberately promoted by the Israeli government — was the apparent threat by the 76 senators to hold up all foreign aid unless Mr. Ford agrees to give Israel much of the $2.59 billion it requests.

Publicly, Mr. Ford accepted the letter from the Senators as a candid declaration to consider in his reassessment of U.S. policy toward the Middle East following collapse of Kissinger's Egyptian-Israeli negotiations early this year.

BUT WITH intimates, the President is known to be less charitable. The letter appeared to him as a one-sided political effort to promote Israel's special interest which raised obvious problems for Egypt, Syria and Jordan. As such, it did the opposite of helping Israel's cause because it lacked even the semblance of objective analysis Mr. Ford is now attempting in his effort to solve the Arab-Israeli mess.

THE latest computer analysis of the data is disturbing, Sindlinger says, because it shows a lot of young, inexperienced and not very well-off individuals have moved into the stock market during the past few months.

The biggest gain in the stockholder population between Feb. 12 and May 21, says Sindlinger, was among the unemployed, some 409 per cent. In February there

Say It Ain't So!!!

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Could it really be so? Have thousands of the nation's unemployed decided that the way out of their economic dilemma is to invest in the stock market?

You may find the notion difficult to accept, but pollster Albert Sindlinger, who relies solely on the evidence of his data, maintains that's what the data reveals.

Sindlinger's information is assembled by daily telephone questioning of households. During the past 20 years or so he calculates that his interviewees have spoken with more than 4.4 million households.

The latest computer analysis of the data is disturbing, Sindlinger says, because it shows a lot of young, inexperienced and not very well-off individuals have moved into the stock market during the past few months.

The biggest gain in the stockholder population between Feb. 12 and May 21, says Sindlinger, was among the unemployed, some 409 per cent. In February there were 427,000 such stockholders; in May, 2,175,000.

A gain of more than 42 per cent was registered by a category he calls "clerks and salesmen, most of whom are under 50." In February they numbered 4.35 million, in May, 6.18 million.

At the same time, Sindlinger noted, the category he calls professional-technical and kindred, a category that includes doctors and lawyers, fell by 9.2 per cent, from 10.56 million to 9.59 million.

This latter group, he suggests, is being replaced by a new, younger, inexperienced "sucker" group. He says this new group is made up of people who can't afford to lose money, who have little experience — sometimes none — in the market.

"They are convinced that the recession had bottomed out and that they are getting in on the bottom. They believe the stock market and the economy will rise together."

Sindlinger doesn't think this will happen, and he bases his belief on the general level of confidence in the economy. Stockholder confidence is high, he concedes, but general confidence isn't.

The economy, he fears, is in worse shape than many of the new, enthusiastic investors realize. Non-stockholders, he noted, have not improved their level of confidence in 10 weeks.

Why? Fears and doubts. Millions of Americans cannot afford to buy houses and automobiles, Sindlinger states, and then asks: If two basic industries such as housing and autos are depressed, how can the economy recover strongly or quickly?

Indications are for a slow, painful recovery, he states — not the leap forward expected by many investors.

Sindlinger, who has many brokerage house customers, believes a major correction is coming. "Unless there is some radical change of behavior — an aberration of human nature — or a cataclysmic event like a war, we'll stand behind our projection."

And based on current information, he says, the market soon may trap some naive investors.

Usually You Get Calcium

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 68 years old and have just been told that I have a mild rheumatoid arthritis. The X-rays show a thinning of the bones due to loss of calcium.

I am wondering whether taking calcium tablets would help. My doctor said it would not. Is this true in general of arthritis, or is it just peculiar to those who have rheumatoid arthritis? Is there some difference of opinion? I am taking calcium lactate daily just in case.

L.W. Arthritis is a disease of the joints, the rheumatoid type an acute inflammation of the joint tissues. Calcium supplements are not going to help this. You are wasting your money if you think it is.

Besides, any balanced diet is sufficient in calcium. Now, it is important for you to be getting a sufficient amount of vitamin D in your diet, because without that your body will not be utilizing whatever calcium you are getting in your food. This is why vitamin D is added to most of our milk supply.

The milk contains the calcium, and the vitamin D fortification permits the body to utilize it. So unless your diet is devoid of any calcium-containing foods, there is no need for supplements. A combination of calcium and phosphorus is needed to maintain general bone health. Foods such as fish provide good phosphorus supply. It is also present, though in smaller amounts, in other foods.

My booklet, "How You Can Control Arthritis," contains a discussion of the various forms of the disease, along with some tips on how to live with it. If you want a copy, mail 35 cents to me in care of the Big Spring Herald, and enclose a long, stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Another thought. At 68, you can expect some deterioration of bone structure. This can appear as osteoporosis, which is prevalent among women after menopause. This is not technically an arthritis. It can be helped with adequate calcium in the diet, and this may be what you are referring to.

There are dozens of different conditions that are often lumped into the general category of arthritis. A recent study indicates that of every 100 persons in clinics who complain of "rheumatism," 40 have rheumatoid arthritis, 30 osteoarthritis, 15 rheumatic disease of the muscles. The other 15 have related conditions such as gout.

So careful diagnosis is important. Beware of simplistic answers.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is a bezoar? What causes it? I am a diabetic, and have been told that diabetics get these. The term is new to me.

M.N. A bezoar is a compacted mass formed in the stomach that won't pass into the intestines. A common form is the "hair ball" found in the stomachs of people who have the habit of pulling out their hair and chewing it. It can be disintegrated by use of an enzyme (papase) from the papaya fruit seeds. Your physician can advise you on this.

Otherwise, it is necessary to remove it surgically. It has nothing to do with diabetes.

To find out what causes high blood pressure and what can be done to treat it, send for a copy of "Controlling Your Blood Pressure (Hypertension)" by Dr. Thosteson. Write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 3999, Elgin, Ill. 60120, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

EDITORIALS / OPINIONS

Future Of USIA

William F. Buckley, Jr.

Early in May, Dr. Frank Stanton testified before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, giving the recommendations of the citizens panel over which he presided on what to do about the United States Information Agency. After he was done, the committee heard the current director of the USIA, Mr. James Keogh, who opposes the Stanton recommendations, which are to repatriate USIA into the State Department, leaving the Voice of America under a five-member board with an independent majority. What ensued was less an exploration of Mr. Keogh's objections than a strangely vituperative attack on the Voice of America by Sen. Charles Percy. He raised two points which throw light on the basic question of what United States information policy should be.

SHOULD THE Voice of America approach the news with the same kind of curiosity the Associated Press, say, or CBS, or Time, would show toward a news event? Consider an example on which Sen. Percy sought to score.

When the panicky evacuation of South Vietnam began following the South Vietnamese Army's retreat from the north, and the mass refugee movement southward, the government set up a Task Force in which the relevant federal agencies — e.g., the Pentagon, the State Department, USIA — were represented. This Task Force met night and day to coordinate policy on evacuation. At one of the meetings the chairman requested that the Voice of America limit its coverage of the evacuation to official statements and acts committed — to avoid speculation and panic. His point was not only reasonable, it was sustained by the evidence of the recent fate of Danang.

ALTHOUGH IT is seldom possible, in the world of information, to document a cause-and-effect relation, it appears probable that VOA news broadcasts giving out the dire plight of Danang contributed to the great refugee panic: the exact equivalent of shouting fire in a crowded theatre. It is, by the way, appropriate to remind ourselves that Justice Holmes did not condemn only the man who shouts "Fire!" in a crowded theatre when there is no fire. He condemned the man equally who shouts "Fire!" even if there is a fire.

Mr. Keogh agreed to comply with the request of the Task Force, and for a period, VOA broadcasts dwelled evasively on the heat of the situation in Saigon. This Sen. Percy condemned as outrageous. I do not believe that Justice Holmes would have condemned it.

What about the Kent State killings? They were something of a climactic in the United States during the period of protest. Is it the purpose of the Voice of America to communicate to the people of Yugoslavia and Sweden, Indonesia and India, the news of America in exactly the same mix as that news that grabs American listeners?

DOES IT FOLLOW, if the answer to these questions is negative, that the Voice of America should be governed by different directives from those that govern commercial newspapers and channels? The question gets to the root of the whole business of what the U.S. should seek to accomplish in its information service.

SEN. PERCY had a well-stocked inventory of objections, many brought together by a studious dissembler from VOA policy. Consider another one. President Ford was scheduled to talk at 9 p.m. (EDT) at Tulane University. The advance text of his speech was made available to the USIA, and it contained the electric phrase, "The war is finished — as far as America is concerned."

These are words of great gravity when uttered before the capital city of an ally that is actually occupied by the enemy. Even so, Voice of America newscasters made several early news references to the statement as having been "prepared for delivery." But surveying a news report from the correspondent at Tulane scheduled for 7 p.m. delivery, a VOA editor deleted the particular phrase. He reasoned that is was charged with great meaning, possibly of catastrophic consequence to the morale of Saigon's last defenders; that the President, or his advisers might, on giving the speech a final reading, decide to excise the phrase.

Accordingly, he cut it out of the news round-up, with instructions that it should be aired immediately after the President had publicly spoken the words. It is not clear — to do him justice — that Sen. Percy was aware of the background of the excision. But he did take the doctrinaire line that the President's speech, warts and all, should have been broadcast from the moment the advanced text was received.

ONE WONDERS. How should the VOA treat, say, the uprising in Attica in its broadcasts to the peoples of the world? It was a grim story, of great meaning and drama, to Americans. But should it have, occupied as much time, proportionately on a VOA broadcast, as it occupied on the CBS News?

What about the Kent State killings? They were something of a climactic in the United States during the period of protest. Is it the purpose of the Voice of America to communicate to the people of Yugoslavia and Sweden, Indonesia and India, the news of America in exactly the same mix as that news that grabs American listeners?

DOES IT FOLLOW, if the answer to these questions is negative, that the Voice of America should be governed by different directives from those that govern commercial newspapers and channels? The question gets to the root of the whole business of what the U.S. should seek to accomplish in its information service.

Area Grapes Could One Day Produce Outstanding Wines

AUSTIN — Someday a formal sit-down Texas-style barbecue will fail to make the society pages and will be the lowlight of the social season because the less-than-well-heeled host or hostess failed to uncork a bottle of Yellow Rose of Texas '77.

A three-year project being conducted on University of Texas lands in West Texas near Van Horn is successful, then that region may join France's Bordeaux and California's Napa County in the oenologist's (wine fanciers') hall of fame.

According to the project coordinator, Billy Carr, Midland, land agent for University Lands, the project to grow grapes on University property is one aspect of a large program to find additional uses for the University's land holdings in West Texas.

NEW USES

"In the past we have been able to lease the land mainly to ranchers for grazing cattle, sheep and goats," Mr. Carr said. "Now we hope that by finding new agricultural uses for the land we can increase its value."

Fifteen Firms To Participate

Fifteen firms and organizations will join the Texas Society of Professional Engineers in College Station June 11-14 to participate in TSPE's 39th Annual meeting and engineering exhibition under the theme "Put It Together." Exhibitors will be showing the pieces of the puzzle that the professional engineer can utilize in "putting together" everything from a nuclear power plant to a highway.

Among the displays to be presented will be one from Raymond International, Inc., a Houston-based specialist in engineering and construction of land and offshore structures. Raymond will show developments it has pioneered in design of a new deepwater drilling platform, in foundation construction and related services, and in bridge building. Exhibits will be open Wednesday through Friday.

in trust by The University of Texas as an endowment from the State to help support the University. Since 1934 Texas A&M University has shared in the earnings from the lands, receiving one-third of the Available Fund (the money earned from investing the Permanent University Fund).

Most of the land owned by the University is suited only for grazing. Were it not for the oil and gas which were discovered in 1923, the University would own merely a large chunk of one of the world's great deserts.

"The oil and gas won't last forever," Mr. Carr warned, "and we are looking at a number of projects to supplement the decreasing income from petroleum. Right now the grape project is one of the most promising."

The grape demonstration project is a cooperative effort among University of Texas Lands, UT Austin's Balcones Research Center, Texas A&M's Agricultural Extension Service and Evergreen Farms which leases University lands near Van Horn.

USE SPACE SKILLS

Dr. William Hazard of the Space Data Laboratory at Balcones Research Center was in charge of locating University lands which would be suitable for grape cultivation.

Infrared scanning of the land provided the location of land which fell into the proper temperature range for the growing of grapes.

"The satellite data gave us the general area where grapes could be grown," Dr. Hazard says, "but we needed data on the prime grape sites in canyons and valleys which were too small to be revealed by the satellite data."

Helicopters from the U.S. Army Night Vision Laboratory provided the means of determining temperature variations in those areas.

According to Dr. Hazard, one of the most important phases of the project was verifying what was seen by the air-borne detectors by placing remote sensing devices in areas where indications were good that grapes could be grown.

Sites were monitored by electronic thermometers which measured air and soil temperatures at several depths. Other information gathered included soil moisture, dew point, solar radiation and wind intensity. Dr. Hazard developed his own method of hail detection by placing styrofoam sheets at each site which can accurately and inexpensively record the intensity and size of hailstones.

"Our pilot study involved the acquisition of infrared data on earth resources from the Air Force and the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration," says Dr. Hazard. "The polar orbiting satellites take twice-daily infrared readings of West Texas and provided our initial data bases."

Final Appropriations Figures Are Released

State Sen. Ray Farabee Wednesday announced the final appropriations figures for the Big Spring State Hospital and Howard College.

For fiscal 1975-76, the Big Spring State Hospital received $7,415,895. The 1976-77 appropriation is $7,871,257.

Howard College received $512,082 and $561,254 for fiscal 1975-76 and fiscal 1976-77, respectively.

The senator said he was pleased that all state agencies and programs in the 30th senatorial district were funded.

"Not only do these programs fulfill a vital need to the communities and areas they serve, but they also funnel a portion of the state's tax dollar back into the local community," Farabee said.

Sen. Farabee, serving his first term in the legislature, was a member of the senate finance committee which plays a vital part in state funding.

Referring to other state programs and agencies, Farabee explained that increases were necessitated in a number of these areas due to rising costs. The senator emphasized, however, that an effort was made to "hold the line" on state spending, even in the face of these rising expenses.

As a result, some projects were cut.

"For example, a $23.4 million state office building and an $8.6 million addition to the current state courts building were deleted from the final appropriations bill," Farabee said.

Delay Investigation Of Police Chief Lynn

HOUSTON (AP) — City Council has delayed action for one week on a proposal by Councilman James McConnell for an investigation of Police Chief Carrol M. Lynn.

McConn says he's specifically interested in allegations Lynn made before a House judiciary subcommittee in Washington last week that Houston police officers used illegal wiretaps in their investigations.

McConn, a possible mayoral candidate against Mayor Fred Hofheinz, said he was concerned about bad publicity about the city's police department including the wiretap allegations and reports that Lynn and other officers had fixed some parking tickets.

Hofheinz opposed the council investigation. Hofheinz says such a probe would jeopardize investigations underway by state and federal grand juries.

Hofheinz says he understands that the grand juries are probing, among other things, reports of conflict of interest by Lynn. "I think the whole thing is just a plain bad idea," Hofheinz said. "You're not going to do anything but cause more bad publicity for the department."

McConn said Lynn now says he has no first hand evidence of illegal wiretapping by Houston police officers. Lynn told Harris County Dist. Atty. Carol Vance in a letter dated May 30 he had no personal knowledge of specific cases in which illegal wiretaps occurred.

"Lynn has testified all over the country that wiretapping is rampant in the department," McConn said. The councilman added Lynn should stop the "bad publicity and go back to running the police department."

James Pittman, a former municipal court auditor, said in an affidavit that Lynn, Sgt. Donald Baker and Patrolman Ben Denham from 1971 to 1973 brought substantial numbers of traffic tickets to Pittman "to be taken care of."

KATHY BROWN Coahoma Girl Grant Winner

Ten 1975 high school seniors, including Kathy Brown of Coahoma High School, have been awarded four-year, $2,000 scholarships by the Skelly Oil Company Foundation, according to Foundation President James D. Boswell.

Three alternates each receive $500 grants. This is the 11th consecutive year Skelly has made the awards, which go to qualified dependents of Skelly and subsidiary employees.

Kathy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brown of Rural Route 1, Big Spring. Brown works as a process engineer at Skelly's East Vealmoor natural gasoline plant near Big Spring.

In her senior year Kathy was a member of the National Honor Society, Spanish and chess clubs, newspaper and yearbook staffs and was also a participating member on the tennis team.

BABY STOLEN

Bizarre Murder Of Pregnant Woman

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An eight-month old girl has been returned to her parents after she was apparently stolen from her mother at birth by a nurse now charged in the bizarre murder of a pregnant woman.

Authorities said 37-year-old Mary Childs was told her child was stillborn by the nurse, who showed her a fetus after delivering the baby at Kaiser Hospital.

The nurse, Norma Armistead, 44, has been charged with murder in the death of Kathryn Viramontes, 28, of Van Nuys. Officials said the 28-month-old woman was killed and her living baby boy then delivered by Caesarian section. Officials found the Childs infant last month in the Armistead woman's home during the investigation of the Viramontes murder. They said Mrs. Armistead, an obstetrical nurse at Kaiser Hospital, had obtained a birth certificate for the Childs infant.

A Los Angeles Juvenile Court judge granted Mrs. Childs temporary custody of the baby girl Wednesday pending a final ruling June 25.

But it was settled as far as the tearful Mrs. Childs was concerned. "They couldn't take her away from me for anything in the world," she said.

PRESIDENTIAL VETO SUSTAINED — Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., leader of a Democratic effort to override the Presidential veto of the emergency jobs bill, chats with House Minority Leader John J. Rhodes of Arizona, right, in Washington Wednesday after the House sustained President Ford's veto of the legislation. The vote was 277-145, five short of the two-thirds majority that would have been required to override.

Think They Can Sustain Veto Of Strip Mine Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Victorious in sustaining President Ford's veto of a jobs bill, Republican congressional leaders told him today they think they can sustain his veto of a strip mining bill as well and deliver a weapons authorization "in the form he wishes."

After meeting with Ford at breakfast, Senate Minority Leader Hugh Scott said he told the President chances are even in the Senate for sustaining the strip mining veto. In the House, Scott said, it would be less difficult.

But he said he was confident one of the two branches of Congress would sustain the President's action. The measure would require restoration of land scarred by strip mining. Ford vetoed it, saying it would put 36,000 miners out of work.

Scott said he also told Ford he now believes a 15-month authorization for weapons procurement and development "will survive in the form he wishes." The measure is presently before the Senate.

Democrats who lost their attempt to override the President's jobs bill veto are talking of more modest legislation and about how right they were in not labeling the present Congress veto-proof.

The Democratic House majority failed by five votes Wednesday to override the veto of a $5.3-billion bill designed to provide 900,000 publicly financed jobs for the unemployed. The vote was 277 to 145; a two-thirds majority was needed to override.

A group of Republicans has introduced a $2.3-billion bill, some $265 million above Ford's recommendations.

but said they thought it would be acceptable to the White House. Majority Leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., and other Democrats said they expect other substitute legislation to be introduced. There was some talk of trying to attach it to a bill, like one to extend U.S. Treasury borrowing power, that would be hard to veto.

Democratic leaders, who had made the vetoed bill a symbol of their quarrel with Ford's economic policies, did not hide their disappointment at the outcome. "Unfortunately and disappointingly," Speaker Carl Albert called it. He predicted Republicans would be hurt as a result of the veto, "but more important it will hurt the country."

O'Neill commented, "Today an unelected President and a Republican minority of the house denied 900,000 people the opportunity of employment. It is a sad day for America."

"It continues the veto tyranny he (Ford) has over the House," commented

Rep. John J. McFall of California, the Democratic whip.

The AFL-CIO set out to elect a veto-proof Congress in 1974 and some Democrats campaigned in 1974 for a party majority big enough to override the vetoes then-President Richard M. Nixon was exercising. However, no party leaders claimed after the election that a veto-proof Congress had been achieved.

Republicans, including Ford, have used the phrase to needle and sometimes to blame the Democratic-controlled Congress.

Until a death reduced their ranks by one, Democrats had exactly a two-to-one advantage in the House — 290 to 145. But since party ranks, especially those of the Democrats, are rarely absolutely solid, this was not considered to constitute a veto-proof House. The Senate, divided 61 to 38 with one seat still in dispute, had not even a mathematical two-thirds advantage for the Democrats.

THANKS TO COURT Texas' Phone Rates Down

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texans' phone rates are down again this morning courtesy of the Texas Supreme Court, at least until the battle between the state attorney general and Southwestern Bell is settled in court.

The Supreme Court Wednesday suspended Bell's $45 million long distance rate increase and the company immediately announced it would restore the old rates immediately.

Company officials in Dallas declined any other comments on the action.

The phone company had put the higher rates in effect last May 14 after the 3rd Court of Civil Appeals ruled that the courts have no power to stop the telephone company from raising its rates for long distance calls within Texas.

Atty. Gen. John Hill then appealed to the state's Supreme Court.

The appeals court had acted on an earlier injunction request filed by Hill seeking to block the rate increase.

Chief Justice Joe Greenhill said Wednesday the court had granted Hill's request for speedy consideration, and set a hearing in the case for June 18.

Hill asked the Supreme Court to enjoin the rate increase while it considered his appeal and the court ruled that the injunction was necessary "to preserve and enforce the jurisdiction of this court."

Hill has called his challenge of the rate increase "the perfect case, where you have all the law on your side and you have all the facts on your side."

The rate increases, which amount to $125,000 a day, were blocked first by State District Court Judge Tom Blackwell of Austin on Feb. 18 when he asserted that the courts have power over utility matters outside city limits. Blackwell called the rate increase "unreasonably high."

The Texas Legislature this week for the first time approved a bill setting up a three-man commission to regulate utilities, including telephone charges and service. But it will be months before the commission can begin operations.

A major part of the case of utility regulation advocates has been the fact that rates for long distance calls between Texas cities are, in some cases, higher than those for interstate calls of shorter distance. Bell claims it needs the additional income because of increased costs and in order to maintain its standard of service.

KEEPING QUIET — Ellen Gruse, left, and Marie Turgeon, New Haven, Conn., roommates, face a hearing Friday that could result in their imprisonment for failing to testify to a grand jury investigating Connecticut activities of Susan Saxe, captured recently in Philadelphia, and Katherine Ann Power. The New Haven women have already served 28 days in jail for failure to testify before the grand jury, which they contend is snooping on the women's movement and has gone beyond the legitimate scope of its inquiry.

Sadat Reopens Suez Canal; Vows To Liberate Arab Lands

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP) — President Anwar Sadat today as a "tributary of peace and a channel of prosperity and cooperation among men." But he vowed to liberate all Arab lands from Israeli occupation.

Sadat said Egypt, in reopening the canal, wanted to "remind friendly people everywhere that cherished parts of Arab land are still suffering under foreign occupation and Arab people are enduring the anguish of forced exile.

Egypt is determined "to perform the sacred duty of liberating" usurped Arab rights," he declared.

Wearing his white naval uniform as commander of the Egyptian navy, Sadat proclaimed the waterway "completely cleared and purged of Israeli aggression following our glorious crossing of the canal Oct. 6, 1973."

"It is only natural that this Egyptian artery should continue to serve the prosperity of mankind and return to its role of linking the four corners of the world, promoting trade and harmony among people and nations," he declared.

In Tel Aviv, Israeli Transport Minister Gad Yaacobi said Egypt had pledged in writing to permit Israeli cargoes through the canal. He said a Liberian ship headed for the Suez with sugar for Israel would be "a test case."

Yaacobi told Radio Israel that Egypt agreed to let Israeli cargoes through the canal in the disengagement pact with Israel signed last January. "Without any doubt this is a part of the disengagement of forces agreement," he said. "It was a commitment given by Egypt to the United States, in writing."

In two days of celebrations, Sadat will travel the length of the waterway linking the Mediterranean and the Red Sea.

School Awarded Grant By MDA

HOUSTON — The Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA) has awarded a grant of $259,958 for the establishment of a neuromuscular disease research center at Baylor College of Medicine, Jerry Lewis, MDA national chairman, announced at a news conference here Thursday.

The award is for the first-year support of a comprehensive research and clinical program, and brings the total amount being spent this year by MDA in Texas for research and patient care to more than $1,475,000.

Allocation Plan Told

American Petrofina, Inc., today announced that effective June 1, 1975 its gasoline was allocated to customers at a factor of 80 per cent of their respective adjusted base period volumes as determined by the Federal Energy Administration.

According to Tom E. Cook, marketing vice president, the amount of gasoline being made available to customers, even at the allocation factor of 80 per cent, will in the aggregate equal or exceed the amount purchased from the company in any month except April of 1975. Because of upward adjustments to the 1972 base period volumes made in accordance with FEA regulations, potential sales volume at a 100 per cent factor is greater than the maximum gasoline production available from Fina's refineries, he said.

American Petrofina's refineries, although not operating at maximum levels, are currently operating at rates in excess of the industry's average in the United States. They are scheduled to increase daily throughput by more than 5 per cent in June. However, Cook said, in order to supply the 80 per cent factor in June the company will purchase gasoline on the open market to augment its own production of motor fuel. He also reported that inventories of gasoline had been depleted in the last two months by heavier than anticipated sales.

He noted that at current competitive price levels the company is not able to recoup the increased cost of raw materials and of operations at its refineries even to the extent permitted under the rules of the Federal Energy Administration. Thus, until prices are increased, it is not likely that refinery throughputs will be raised significantly.

Probated Terms May Be Revoked

Motions to revoke probation being served by two men were filed in 118th District Court Wednesday afternoon.

The defendants are John Raymond Elrod, 25, 403 Washington Blvd., and Manuel Renteria, 18, 1200 Grafia Ave.

District Attorney Robert H. (Bob) Moore III is accusing Renteria of theft of a 1968 pickup from Raymond Hamby on April 12.

On March 20, Renteria was given a 10-year probated sentence for burglary of a vehicle parked by Big Spring Bowl-A-Rama Inc.

Elrod, on Oct. 23, 1973, pleaded guilty to theft of two electric ranges and two refrigerators and was given a six-year probated sentence.

He has been arrested for the June 4 theft of a socket set.

Elrod was seen leaving Big Spring Hardware Wednesday with a socket set and Richard Atkins, manager went in pursuit. The police took up the chase and arrested Elrod in Swartz's store, where he apparently ran after throwing the socket set in the alley. He was reported to be standing by the telephone in Swartz's, breathing heavily when the officers made the arrest.

Elrod and Renteria were being held in county jail today with no bonds permitted.

Points Raised Over Gas Bill

Pioneer Natural Gas Company officials, in testimony prepared for delivery to the Railroad Commission of Texas hearing in Austin, contend for continued use of natural gas as a boiler fuel.

Pioneer officials, who are in Austin for the hearing which started on Tuesday, have raised several points, including:

There should be no restriction on the use of gas for the purpose of generating steam by existing or new customers using less than 100 Mcf per day. Maximum efficiency of the gas usage should be encouraged.

The use of gas to create hot water or steam for the purpose of heating and cooling buildings is a superior use of gas and should continue both for existing and new uses.

The use of gas to create hot water or steam for sterilization, equipment cleaning, steam turbines for air conditioning, process heating, feedstock, agriculture and manufacturing processes should continue both for existing and new customers.

Newly-planned plants should not rely on natural gas as a primary source of boiler fuel for the generation of electricity. Standby sources also should be considered.

Jury Duty Evasion Raps Hit Divorced Dad Of Boy

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Jury duty evasion charges have been filed against the divorced father of a 9-year-old boy.

Archey asked for the same treatment when his name came up in a 400-member jury call Monday. District Judge Robert R. Murray refused.

When Archey failed to appear Tuesday afternoon and again Wednesday, Murray signed a complaint alleging the salesman was absent from jury duty "without a reasonable excuse."

Archey's lawyer, Peter Torres Jr., said the discriminatory exemption rule would be tested in court.

Conviction of the misdemeanor charge would mean a $10 to $100 fine.

Archey is president of Texas Fathers for Equal Rights, a group of divorced men.

James said the 18 cents per pack cigarette tax brought in $22.3 million, a slight decrease from the $22.8 million of May 1974.

Both the animal warden and the game warden went to the address this morning to warn the resident that it is unlawful to capture owls, hawks and eagles. They were planning to release the birds into the rural area.

Says He Paid 'Kickback Money Face To Face'

MARSHALL, Tex. (AP) — A government witness returns to the stand today for cross examination after testifying that he paid "kickback money face to face" to Harrison County commissioner Z. T. Craver and former commissioner Fred Metcalf. The witness, Horace Eugene Mann, was granted immunity in return for his testimony in the trial of Craver and Metcalf. The two, plus Morgan O. Dolittle, former executive of AVM voting machines; Claude Andrew Tressgrove and Enos Burt, both of Natchez, Miss., John Springs of Jackson, Miss., and Ralph Holland of Little Rock, Ark. are charged with bribery, mail fraud and conspiracy. Mann testified Wednesday he paid the kickbacks for the county's purchase of AVM voting machines. Holland, Spring, Burt and Tressgrove are officers or representatives of American United Products Corp., distributor of AVM voting machines. Under cross examination, Mann admitted some discrepancies in his testimony Wednesday concerning dates and his statements in 1971 and 1972 to Internal Revenue Service agents. But he reiterated his allegations that he gave kickback money to Craver and Metcalf.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thurs., June 5, 1975 5-A

Under questioning by defense attorney William Mahoney, representing Dolittle, Mann said he left the voting machine business—he was employed both by American United Products and Shoop voting machines—because "I was tired of buying breads, bribes and whiskey and it permeated the entire voting machine business."

County Agent Offers Advice To Gardeners

Bruce Griffith, county agent, discussed the prevention of disease in the garden when he was guest speaker Monday evening for the Organic Soil Makers. The group met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Johansen, Hansen Road. Preach Martin presided.

"Fall gardens should be planned in the spring and spring gardens in the fall," said Griffith, noting that soil preparation is of utmost importance and that planting should be done when soil temperature is right. Because weeds harbor insects which may carry diseases to plants, weed control is important. Another way to discourage disease is to rotate crops every year, especially tomatoes. If left in the same place too long, the plants are subject to damage by nematodes. Insects may be controlled by the use of insecticides, however, organic gardeners prefer to do it by hand (picking) or by spraying with soap solutions, using pepper, garlic, etc.

Griffith said that produce should be harvested in stages, with fruit being picked when it is ripe rather than being left to fall off the tree or vine. Gardens should be kept clean.

Following the program,

Mrs. Johansen gave each of those present an African violet plant, and members toured the Johansen's greenhouse.

There will be a called meeting of the board prior to the next regular meeting.

Blood Pressure Check Could Save Your Life

DEAR READERS: If you have no interest in your health or the health of those you love, skip Dear Abby today.

Do you know what your blood pressure is? If you do, you are one in about 10,000. If you don't, the most important thing you can do today is to call your doctor and make an appointment to have it checked.

You may not realize it, but high blood pressure kills about 250,000 people a year. And hundreds and thousands more are crippled by strokes, suffer from kidney disease, or are the victims of a long list of other ailments due to high blood pressure.

Tragic? Yes. But all the more tragic because our very able secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Caspar Weinberger, tells us that high blood pressure can be eliminated or controlled by medication and diet. Also, high blood pressure is hereditary, so if your mother or father have it, that's all the more reason to check your blood pressure regularly. And have your children's checked, too.

It takes less than five minutes, it's absolutely painless and if you can't afford a private physician, your local public health department will check it without charge. Now, get going!

DEAR ABBY: A close relative of mine recently announced his engagement to a girl he had been going with for a long time. They set their wedding date, and the bride proceeded to make plans for a lovely, big church wedding.

The groom's mother told them if her daughter (who is married, living in another state and expecting a baby around the wedding date) delivers before the wedding, she will not attend the wedding.

In other words, the groom's mother feels that being with her daughter when she has a baby is more important than being with her son on his wedding day. I was astonished! However, when I told my mother about this, she agreed with the groom's mother. I was speechless. What do YOU say?

DEAR SPEECHLESS: I'm not speechless. I could make a long speech about why some mothers feel that it's more important to be with their daughters when they have babies than it is to be with their sons when they get married.

DEAR ABBY: You blew it! The lady with the kid who refused to eat anything but peanut butter and jelly sandwiches and chocolate ice cream doesn't need a doctor's help. All it takes is this:

Don't buy any more peanut butter or ice cream, and when the kid gets hungry enough he'll eat anything. Including liver and spinach.

BEEN THERE

DEAR ABBY: I am a fifth-grader teacher, and my class has just finished an extensive course on understanding handicaps. We had the good fortune to have as guests some extraordinary persons with physical disabilities. They gave their time to let my children listen, question and learn about deafness, blindness, amputation and mental retardation from first-hand sources.

The children were eager to learn about the capabilities of each of these guests as well as the problems they faced because of their handicaps. After the class spent two mornings "handicapped" themselves as part of the course, I'm convinced their understanding has grown at least three sizes.

True, those who are "sickened" by the sight of handicapped people need a lesson in tact, but they also need some correct information to overcome their prejudices.

There are hundreds of people like Diane, Ede, Steve, Charlotte and my father who are willing and eager to teach children about their handicaps. I urge schools and civic groups to seek them out and use their services. They are beautiful people.

DEAR "TEACH": Amen! Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Attempt To Void School Policy

FORT WORTH (AP) — Two Fort Worth high school teachers have filed suit here in an attempt to void a school district policy which prohibits married teachers from working in the same school.

The couple, Arthur and Sylvia Tave, say in the suit that they were married in 1972 while both teaching at Arlington Heights High School.

Increases In Wholesale Prices Slow During May

WASHINGTON (AP) — Increases in wholesale prices slowed to four-tenths of a per cent in May after April's sharp jump, the Labor Department reported today.

Two-thirds of the May increase was attributed to higher prices for farm products.

Wholesale prices had fallen for four consecutive months before rising 1.5 per cent in April. However, the Ford administration said that sharp one-month increase did not portend a return to the high monthly rates of inflation in 1974.

Although the sharp slowdown in wholesale prices this year has not been fully reflected at retail, they have slowed the pace of consumer price increase. Wholesale prices in the past three months have risen at an annual rate of 5.5 per cent while the annual rate at retail has been 5.8 per cent during this period.

Industrial commodities prices rose only two-tenths of a per cent last month following increases of one-tenth in each of the previous two months.

Economists regard the industrial commodities portion of the Wholesale Price Index as a truer measure of inflation because food prices are more erratic and therefore do not have as great an impact on the overall price structure as do changes in industrial prices.

The four-tenths rise in wholesale prices last month, although high by historical standards, was well below the monthly increases typical in 1974.

In May, farm products rose 2.9 per cent following a jump of 6.7 per cent in April. Processed food and seed declined nine-tenths of a per cent, following a rise of 3.5 per cent the previous month.

Combining these two sectors, agricultural prices rose six-tenths of a per cent to a level 8.2 per cent above May 1974.

The rise in the agricultural sector resulted mainly from higher prices for livestock, raw cotton, potatoes, live poultry and eggs. Livestock alone was reported up 14.1 per cent last month.

Meanwhile, industrial prices remained fairly stable, continuing a trend that began earlier this year. The largest increases in this sector were for lumber and wood products, fuels and power.

The Wholesale Price Index last month stood at 173.2, meaning that it cost $173.20 to buy goods that cost $100 in the 1967 base year.

Lightning Deaths

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. (AP) — Two beet field workers from Texas and Oklahoma were killed Tuesday afternoon when lightning struck.

Authorities said one was killed by the lightning and the other died later as a result of the concussion of the lightning.

Scotts Bluff County Coroner W. H. Kirwin identified the two as Jesus Munoz, 26, Altus, Okla., and Fernando Gutierrez, 17, Harlingen, Tex. Kirwin said Munoz was killed as lightning directly struck him and Gutierrez died later in a Scottsbluff hospital.

The two were hoeing in a field about four miles east of Scottsbluff along with a group of six others. Kirwin said the two were about 60 feet apart and working slightly behind the others when the lightning struck. The others were not hurt.

Kirwin said the force of the lightning tore the clothes from Munoz' body and his shoes were found 50 feet apart.

Plan To 'Break' Baseball Fans

ARLINGTON (AP) — Arlington is apparently getting ready to disarm baseball fans who bring their own beverages to Arlington Stadium.

The city council is scheduled to consider an ordinance tonight that will forbid fans from bringing glass containers, cans, ice chests and other "plastic rigid-side containers" into the stadium.

"We've found broken bottles, glass, etcetera, throughout the stadium."

CLASSROOM SHOOTING Will Attend Funeral Instead Of Graduation

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Army Sgt. George Russell and his wife arrive here from Killeen, Texas today for their daughter's graduation from secretarial school.

But they will be attending her funeral instead.

Jacqueline Raynell Russell, 19, was shot Wednesday during the last day of classes by Charles Leon Paggett, 25, to whom she had once been engaged. Police said Paggett then killed himself.

Miss Russell died later at Grady Hospital.

"He walked into the classroom and instructed the teacher to tell everyone to leave," said officer W. D. Swinney. "He was armed with a .30-30 rifle. He shot her and then turned the gun on himself."

Paggett, who had worked for the Coca-Cola Co. the last seven years, had brought the gun into the Atlanta College of Business in a cardboard box with the price tag still attached.

The 15 students were watching shorthand instructor Fremma Landacre write on the blackboard when the neatly dressed man walked into the class.

Several witnesses said he appeared to have been drinking. "I asked, 'May I help you?' and he answered, 'Yes, clear the room," Mrs. Landacre said. "But he didn't get them time to get out before he started shooting."

Mrs. Landacre said she ducked into a storage closet. "All she said was, 'Why?'" one of Miss Russell's classmates said. "And then he shot her."

The dead girl's father is an Army investigator stationed at Fort Hood in Central Texas.

Chris Danford On Dean's List

Chris Danford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Danford, 4008 Parkway, was among those students named to the Dean's List at Texas Tech University for the spring semester.

Chris, a 1971 graduate of Big Spring High School is a senior chemistry major.

Scene To Shift Next Spring

WESTBROOK (SC) — The Westbrook High School graduation exercises were conducted in the gymnasium for the last year this spring.

The school's new auditorium will be ready in time for the 1976 exercises.

Jobless Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — New claims for unemployment insurance benefits in the week ending May 24 fell below 400,000 for the first time since early October, the Labor Department reported today.

The department said initial claims totaled 392,500, a drop of 18,700 from the previous week and the smallest number in any seven-day period since the week ending Oct. 12 when 358,000 claims were filed.

Initial claims for jobless benefits have gradually declined since reaching a peak of 851,000 the week ending Jan. 18, and Labor Secretary John T. Dunlop said this indicates the rate of growth in unemployment is slowing.

A total of 6,116,700 persons received unemployment insurance under seven separate programs in the week ending May 17, the latest week for which those figures were available. This was a drop of 85,500 from the previous week.

New Alien Card Idea

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Immigration and Naturalization Service has asked Congress to approve a new system the agency says will help in identifying illegal aliens.

The system is an electronically coded identification card for legal aliens that would be difficult to alter or forge.

The agency requested $4.7 million in its fiscal 1976 budget for the cards and electronic reading machines. A spokesman said the service could have the system operating within a year once the budget item is approved.

The new card would contain the legal alien's photograph, his fingerprints, descriptive characteristics and other data in a coded form that could be read only by the machine.

Current identification cards, the spokesman said, are easily counterfeited by or for illegal aliens.

Unless you have a specific reason to suspect that a particular defender holds a missing card, any finesse you take has a 50% per cent chance of success. However, that does not mean that it makes no difference which finesse you take when you have a choice—there are many considerations that dictate your selection.

North-South did well to reach a good slam on minimal point count but with hands that fitted well. When North jumped to four diamonds over two no trump, he pinpointed his singleton club. South decided that his six-card suit, club ace and fitting heart honors merited bidding a small slam in diamonds.

West's low spade lead got his side off to a good start. Dummy's king won, and declarer ran the jack of diamonds to West's king. A spade came back, taken in dummy, and declarer had a spade loser to worry about. He reckoned that, since the chances on the club and heart finesse were equal, he would try the club finesse in an effort to get rid of dummy's spade loser. West won the king of clubs and cashed a spade to administer a two-trick defeat.

While it is true that both the club and heart finesse stood an equal chance to win, declarer overlooked something in his calculations. Even if the club finesse succeeded, he would still need the heart finesse to fulfill his contract!

If the heart finesse were successful, however, declarer would not need the club finesse. He would be able to discard his own losing spade on one of dummy's heart honors. Therefore, the club finesse was superfluous and only offered the defenders an extra chance to defeat the contract.

Gay Preacher Petitioning

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Fate of a homosexual former Methodist minister seeking to regain his credentials rested with the Methodist Southwest Texas Conference board of ministry today.

Bishop Eugene Slater said Monday that he would give to the board a petition by a San Antonio church asking that former minister Gene Leggett be reinstated.

Earlier Slater barred Leggett from a news conference at the start of the group's annual meeting here.

Leggett had presented credentials from "Together Now," a publication he said is for homosexuals.

"I wanted to ask the bishop what ministry the church will provide for the gay people of this community and what action officials plan to take in regard to the civil and human rights of gay people," Leggett told other reporters later.

Leggett lost his minister's credentials a few years ago when he proclaimed his homosexuality. He now serves as a Sunday School teacher at St. Stephens Church here.

St. Stephens has petitioned the conference to readmit Leggett to the preaching ranks.

Besides the petition, other issues before the conference were world hunger and spiritual hunger, the bishop said.

Oil Prices On Way Up

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — The oil cartel may raise prices on crude oil 30 to 35 per cent in September, the governor of Iran's central bank warned today.

Mohammed Yeganeh told a news conference the hike would balance recent losses in the purchasing power of the dollar. He said "an early upward revision of oil prices has become imperative." But he refused to say exactly what increase is being considered.

Yeganeh is heading Iran's delegation to the ministerial meeting of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries in Libreville, Gabon, in West Africa next week.

Yeganeh indicated he expected the decision to raise prices to be made at the Libreville meeting.

The OPEC countries "cannot be expected any longer to pay for the failure of industrial nations to curb their inflation," he asserted.

He said the prices of goods OPEC countries buy from the industrial countries increased some 40 per cent last year and a further increase of 10 to 15 per cent is expected by September, when the current freeze on the price of crude oil is to end.

The OPEC countries will be then losing at least 30 to 35 per cent of the purchasing power of their dollar earnings, Yeganeh said.

Schools To Get Books In June

New textbooks scheduled for use in Texas public schools next September will be shipped to school districts across the state beginning June 16, including Big Spring, Coahoma and Forsan school districts.

"We expect all books to be available to Texas schools by late August," Dr. L. Harlan Ford, Texas Education Agency deputy commissioner for programs and personnel development, said in Austin.

"Textbook publishers, state depositories, and freight lines are cooperating with us in every way possible to expedite these shipments," Ford added.

Shipment of the new books had been delayed by the need for exact figures allocated for text materials purchased by the Biennial Appropriations Bill passed Monday (June 2) by the 64th Texas Legislature.

Total cost of the books adopted for state use beginning in the 1975-76 school year is expected to reach $39 million, according to Ford.

Elementary school subjects covered by the new adoption include kindergarten oral language development, bilingual education in grades one and two, elementary language and grammar, elementary science, and handwriting for grades one through three.

High school subjects include speech, advanced mathematics, Spanish, and choral music. All books were approved at local district level during the spring months.

Mail Proposal Given Scant Odds To Pass

Big Spring Postmaster Frank Hardesty said that knowledgeable people in the Postal Department give a proposal to reduce first class postage rates to 8.5 cents per ounce and to increase other rates little chance for enactment.

The 8.5 cent rate for first class and higher rates for newspapers, magazines, circulars, catalogs and packages were recommended by Administrative Law Judge Seymour Wener, who presided over extensive hearings that explored what it costs to handle the mail.

"Even though it costs less than 10 cents to handle a first class letter," Hardesty said, "there just isn't enough volume in second and third class mail to pay for the services we provide at a loss."

He said that the extra postage on first class mail goes to help pay for such services as a special library postage rate, free postage on braille material, and special rates for education material.

He added that the U.S. Postal Service takes in $1 for every $1.24 in expenses and that the situation may get worse because of negotiations with the Postal Workers Union.

Hardesty said he expects the Postal Department to request an increase in first class rates to 13 cents an ounce after the union negotiations are settled. He said that if the union gets some of its demands, it may ask for 14 cents for first class postage.

Enrollment Is At Alltime High

GI Bill enrollments have set two record highs, topping all monthly totals for the current GI Bill and exceeding all previous fiscal year totals in only nine months, Jack Coker, Waco, Veterans Administration regional director, announced today.

Veteran enrollments under the Veterans Administration program reached 1.8 million high mark in March, pushing the total in the first nine months of the fiscal year to 2.158 million, Coker said. This compares to 2.128 million for all of fiscal year 1974.

Enrollment among active duty servicemen also was up — 11,000 more than the fiscal year 1974 figure — bringing the total for veterans and servicemen to 2,370 million. College level trainees during the period numbered 1,501 million.

Coker added that the spurt followed enactment of a December 1974 law raising benefits by 22.7 per cent.

Sponsors Still Being Sought

Finding jobs for Vietnamese refugees is not the big problem anymore, according to Herb Shipp, Activities Director at the First Baptist Church, as the church gets fully involved in helping place the refugees in Big Spring.

He said that sponsors are still needed for refugees, despite the good response from local citizens since the church became involved in the project.

Shipp added that anyone who has a job or housing for rent, anyone who wishes to sponsor a refugee or a family, or anyone who wants more information about sponsoring a refugee should contact the church office.

Midland Firm Wins Contract

STANTON — Martin County Commissioner's court accepted a bid of $41,205.30 from West Texas Office Supply in Midland for new furniture for the new courtroom.

The low bid was $40,334.71 from Bennett's of Lubbock, but the court felt the brand offered by West Texas was superior.

The court also discussed present personnel and talked with Larry Green of the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission about the possibility of receiving funding for added road employes this year.

They also approved purchase of a new portable welder for the county. They voted to advertise for bids on a new pickup for Calvin Smith, newly hired country road engineer.

It was agreed that while using his own pickup, he would be reimbursed at 15 cents per mile.

By CLARK LESHER

David Newman, who graduated from Big Spring High in the early 70s, and more recent Pan American baseball member, is due to report in time for Sunday's Cardinal vs Acuna matchup at 1:30 p.m., at Steer Park.

Texas used two explosive innings — the first and the second — to defeat Pan American 9-2 May 25 in the finals of the NCAA South Central Regional playoff.

Frank Rubio, Card spokesman, announced all little league baseball players in uniform will be admitted free to the game Sunday.

The Cardinals were somewhat worn-out in their new experience with south of the border game plans Sunday. The first was played at 10 a.m. with the nightcap following several hours later at 3 p.m.

Following the finale, the Cardinals headed straight back for Big Spring, arriving home around 4 a.m. The majority of Card members had to report to work that very same day.

The Cardinals though had no trouble combating the likes of Tripoli, 11-6 and 16-5. Nine ball games in a row have been won by the Cards.

Coolidge Hunt, Loraine High head coach and athletic director, resigned to become first assistant football coach at Jim Ned High in Tuscola.

He was All-Southwest Conference fullback at Texas Tech for three years. Hunter played one year of pro ball with the Green Bay Packers before deciding to enter the prep coaching field.

Brett Blackwell, who excelled in both basketball and baseball at Midland Lee, has inked a letter of intent with Baylor University.

The 6-0, 160-pound All-State guard for the Rebel cagers, will compete in both sports at the Waco school. Blackwell averaged 17 points per game for the 4A state semi-finalist Lee quintet.

During his three years as a starter, Lee posted a 91-13 record. Blackwell hit 439 as the club won the 5-4A baseball title. Lee lost out in its bid for state laurels by virtue of a playing ground forfeiture rule to Duncanville.

WHAT'S IT WORTH DEPARTMENT — Comment from Dallas Cowboy Ed "Too Tall" Jones after spending time in Baton Rouge, La., with weight coach Alvin Roy.

"I'm ready, said Ed. "I'm not going to play part of the time this season, I'm going to play all the time." Ed has been switched to the strongside position.

The Senior Monahans clouted Big Spring Rustlers, 28-1, and Ed's 66 Phillies pounded First Federal Belles, 21-8, and State National Greenbacks socked Forsan Oil Well Misfits, 10-8, in Minor go-round.

In American Pee-Wee League action Wednesday, the Panthers bounced the Mustangs, 7-4. Panther pitcher John Richardson allowed no hits.

Wayne Coffey scored the winning run for the Starfighters in the bottom of the sixth. He also was four for four at the plate.

Coffey and Joe Justice combined their Starfighter pitching talents to limit the Sabres to seven hits.

DOUBLING UP — Texas' Lenny Randle is out at second as Baltimore second baseman Bobby Grich gets off throw to first for a double play. The first inning action Wednesday in Baltimore came when Jeff Burroughs grounded to shortstop Mark Belanger, who quickly tossed it to Grich. The Rangers went on to defeat the Orioles in 12 innings, however, 3-2.

Mets Hold Off Astros

San Diego's Bill Greif played hit-and-run against the Phillies but slugger Greg Luzinski wasn't playing.

The Padres and the Phils entwined their game with an exchange of beanballs Wednesday night. First Greif hit Philadelphia's Dave Cash in the sixth. Then Tug McGraw threw close to San Diego's John Grubb in the seventh. When Greif fired one over Luzinski's head in the bottom of the seventh, the big outfielder charged the mound.

"I hit him a few times," said Luzinski. "He ran looking for help. What I said to him isn't printable."

Both teams emptied their benches, there was a lot of milling around and shoving, but the only casualty was Padre third baseman Ted Kubiak who caught an elbow on the head.

The umpires, surprisingly, decided not to kick anyone out of the game.

"They were two people wanting each other, explained plate umpire Doug Harvey. "Just let 'em go together. We surrounded the group looking for cheap shots. A cheap shot and the man goes."

No one went. Oh yes, Philadelphia won the ballgame 7-2. Mike Schmidt and Ollie Brown homered for the Phils and Wayne Twitchell, 4-6, was the winner. Schmidt's homer was his 10th of the season and fourth in the last three games.

Elsewhere in the National League, Pittsburgh edged Cincinnati 2-1, Los Angeles blanked Montreal 3-0, New York shaded Houston 1-0, St. Louis beat Atlanta 5-2 and San Francisco outslugged Chicago 10-8.

PIRATES 2, REDS 1 - Jerry Reuss hurried no-hit ball until Dave Concepcion smashed a single off his right shin with one out in the seventh. Reuss had to leave the game but Dave Giusti and Ramon Hernandez held the Reds in check. Al

The ABC Rebels scored six runs in the seventh to tumble the Red Sox, 8-7, Wednesday in Senior Texas Teen-Age League action. Paul Spence of the Red Sox and the Rebels' Rodney Floyd each socked a two-bagger.

Rangers Break Losing Streak With Baltimore

By The Associated Press John "Blue Moon" Odom made a strong pitch for more money Wednesday night... In fact, he made several strong pitches.

Odom, fighting with the Cleveland Indians for a higher salary, added weight to his argument with a splendid 4-0 shutout over the Kansas City Royals.

Odom, traded May 22 to the Indians from the Oakland A's, was immediately unhappy with the salary paid him at Cleveland. He claimed that the Indians have to make up for playoff and World Series money he might get with the defending World Champion A's.

Odom said that if the Indians don't cough up the money he wants, he'd like to leave Cleveland and would prefer to either be traded to the Texas Rangers, or go back to the A's.

In the other American League games, it was: Boston 7, Chicago 6; Texas 3, Baltimore 2 in 12 innings; New York 6, Minnesota 3; California 2, Detroit 1 and Oakland 11, Milwaukee 3.

Home runs by Boog Powell, John Lowenstein and Alan Ashby backed Odom's great pitching. The right-hander held the Royals hitless until the sixth inning, although men reached base on walks in the second, third and fifth.

Powell's home run came in the first inning with Rick Manning on base. Lowenstein backed up Powell's homer with his own into the same spot in the right-field stands, giving the Indians a 3-0 first-inning lead.

REDSOX 7, WHITE SOX 6 - Rick Burleson's run-scoring single capped a four-run Boston rally in the bottom of the ninth inning, lifting the Red Sox over the White Sox.

Fort Worth Cinches Jet Plane Deal?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Four NATO nations have decided to purchase the YF16 fighter plane, giving General Dynamics Corp. and America "the arms contract of the century," the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner reported Tuesday.

The Herald-Examiner quoted "reliable sources" in Paris as saying the jet plane deal was cinched for all four countries when Belgium chose the plane over the competing French Mirage MS3.

The report said Belgium will make a formal announcement within a few days.

The contract calls for an initial $3 billion order for 348 jet planes.

The four NATO countries reportedly ready to purchase the Fort Worth, Tex.-produced airplane are Norway, Holland, Denmark and Belgium.

Norway, Holland and Denmark had said earlier they favor the YF16 but would reserve a decision until Belgium decided which plane it wanted.

Belgium has purchased several models of the Mirage jet over the past years.

Gary Is Hired For City Job

STANTON — After a year of discussion, the Stanton City Hall remodeling project became closer to reality with the hiring of Big Spring architect, John Gary, at the Tuesday night meeting.

The council budgeted over $11,000 for the remodeling project for last year's revenue sharing funds and added $13,765 this year. A general remodeling of the outside of the building is planned as well as construction of a council meeting room and an office for the city manager.

In other action, the council voted to grant a $3,000 tax exemption for persons 65 years of age and older. This matter was brought to the attention of the council by Mayor Cecil Bridges.

Triple Slaying

BEREA, Ky. (AP) — A 24-year-old man was taken into custody Wednesday and held for questioning after a shooting spree that left his father, mother and grandmother dead in their home here, State Police said.

State Police Col. Lewis Babb said Kris Ilo Kogerman Jr. was taken into custody in the slayings but that no charges were filed immediately against him.

Two other people — a city judge and a city police officer — were wounded in the shooting, police said.

Killed were Kris Kogerman Sr., about 50; his wife, Amanda Kogerman; and Mrs. Kogerman's mother, Amanda Sode, 82, according to Babb.

Kris Kogerman Sr. and his wife were instructors at Berea College. Babb said Mrs. Sode ran next door to the home of Police Judge George Noss for help after the Kogermans were shot. She then headed back toward the Kogerman home but was cut down by gunfire, Babb said.

"Noss then called city police, and when they arrived on the scene, Noss ran out to tell the police officers where the shooting was coming from, and at that time the judge and one of the police officers was hit," Babb said.

Neither Noss nor the police officer, Ronnie Devere, were seriously hurt, Babb said. After the judge and Devere were shot, "then there was quite a bit more shooting," said Babb.

Bandit Said Wrong Thing To New York Designer

NEW YORK (AP) — When a holdup man demanded that fashion designer Jacques Bellini turn over jewelry with great sentimental value, "I really went berserk," Bellini said. He hurled an antique bench at the holdup man in his East Side apartment and then took away the intruder's gun.

"It looked just like a German-made automatic," Bellini said after Friday's robbery. "He put it to my head and told me he would kill me." It turned out that the gun fired only pellets. The holdup man ignored it as Bellini pointed at him, and he escaped with $95, a $900 wristwatch and a gold ring.

About 150 'Pot Planes' Cross Borders Each Day

MIAMI (AP) — Every day about 150 airplanes laden with marijuana cross the borders of the United States, and federal officials say a growing number of them aren't completing their illicit missions.

"The pilots come a dime-a-dozen. Whether they can fly is immaterial," Jacques Kiere, director of a federal drug enforcement intelligence agency, said Wednesday.

Kiere said his agency, the El Paso (Texas) Intelligence Center, knows of 49 crashes since Jan. 1 involving planes smuggling marijuana into this country. While many of those crashes occurred in other countries, all involved planes connected with marijuana traffic in the United States, he said.

Officials attribute the number of failed missions to the greed and inexperience of smugglers and enforcement efforts of local and federal officers.

"The smugglers tend to overload their planes, and the pilots often land on undeveloped strips and pieces of road," Kiere said.

David Costa, deputy regional director of the Federal Drug Enforcement Agency in Miami, said a major operation by Jamaican and American agents last year dealt a severe blow to the Jamaican marijuana industry.

The mission, dubbed Operation Buccaneer, ended with the confiscation of 730,000 pounds of marijuana and 8,083 pounds of marijuana seeds, Costa said.

CONFISCATED HASHISH — David Costa, Deputy Regional Director of the Federal Drug Enforcement Agency in Miami, Fla., shows a package of hashish held in evidence after it was seized earlier this year. Officials say about 150 marijuana-laden airplanes cross the borders of the United States every day.

As a result, smugglers began concentrating on the Colombian and Mexican brands.

To carry the marijuana that far, smugglers needed longrange, large-payload, dependable machines. Enter the World War II B25, Lockheed Lodestar and Constellation airplanes.

"The bombers can carry pot in the bomb bays, which are doubly effective because if the pilot suspects he is being followed he can dump the stuff before we catch up or just pass low over trucks or whatever and make the delivery without even landing," Kiere said.

For people seeking to make a lot of money quick, marijuana smuggling offers large rewards at comparatively little risk.

Pot retails on the street for about $300 a pound, depending on quality and location. It can be bought in large quantities for $8-$10 a pound in Colombia.

If 150 planes cross the borders each day, that means about 52,500 flights a year. Last year, only about 1,700 persons were arrested for trafficking in marijuana.

Alcoholic Meet Nears

Therapists, judges, law enforcement officers, clergymen, and counselors will gather in the Howard College auditorium Friday for a Continuing Education seminar on alcoholism and drug addiction.

The seminar will begin with registration from 8 to 9 a.m. and the general session will be from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Registration fee is $1, and for another $1, Howard College will give a continuing education credit.

Dr. Thomas L. Porter, University of Georgia and a native of Big Spring, will speak on the "Utilization of Group Process Skills and Problem Solving Techniques."

Dr. Jerry Lyles, Vernon Center, will speak on the "Vernon Center Program for Drug Dependent Youth."

The program is made possible through a contract with the Texas Commission on Alcoholism through the Big Spring State Hospital. Lunch, which is optional, will be served at the college cafeteria for $3.

Three French Daredevils Cross Niagra River Gorge

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP) — Three French daredevils, using a motorcycle and balancing poles, crossed the Niagara River gorge Wednesday on cables that carry a cable car above the whirlpool rapids.

Henry Julien Rechatin, 44; his wife, Janyck; and a friend, Frank Lucas, made the 1,800-foot journey on steel cable car strands that are slung between walls of the gorge on the Canadian side.

Lucas operated the specially built motorcycle while Rechatin stood on a small platform on the rear of the cycle with a balancing pole. At one point, Rechatin's wife dangled from the cycle by one foot, and Rechatin stepped onto the cable and walked a short distance.

Only a few tourists and reporters were present for the crossing.

Rechatin is trying to win permission from the Niagara Parks Commission to walk a high wire over Niagara Falls, which are a short distance upstream from the whirlpool.

On Tuesday, Rechatin balanced on a couple of chairs placed on a platform jutting from a ledge atop a tourist tower 520 feet high.

After completing the walk over the whirlpool rapids today, Rechatin told reporters through an interpreter, "I know these people do not give permits out to commit suicide. But I am a professional, and I believe I have proved it. I am now hoping for a permit to walk on a tight rope over Niagara Falls."

Niagara Parks police, who forbid such stunts, were debating whether to file charges against Rechatin and his fellow daredevils. Rechatin said police advised him to remain in the city for 24 hours and said he was prepared to pay any fines that may be levied.

Youth Shot And Killed

DALLAS (AP) — An unidentified black youth was shot and killed Tuesday night by a plain clothes security guard who suspected the youth of shoplifting at an Oak Cliff drug store, police said.

Police said the 42-year-old guard was taken into custody.

Officers said witnesses reported that the man stopped the youth to question him about the alleged theft of five record albums at the store. When the youth fled, the man reportedly followed and fired when the youth did not respond to his order to stop.

HC Woman Will Attend Meet

Doris Huijbregtse, director of special services at Howard College, will be a participant in the 18th annual Institute of Alcohol Studies to be held June 8-11 at Jester Center Halls on the University of Texas campus in Austin.

The Institute is sponsored by the Texas Commission on Alcoholism (TCA) in cooperation with the University of Texas at Austin, division of extension. This year's meeting will focus on the theme — "The Helping Process: Integrating Who You Are With What You Do." Workshops planned for a maximum of 500 participants will focus on the helping process in clinical skill development, prevention techniques for special groups, and current trends in the alcoholism field.

Currently there are an estimated one-half million alcohol abusers and alcoholic individuals in Texas, each affecting their family members, friends and fellow workers. The featured speaker for the institute, Dr. Sid Wolf, director of the division of Alcoholism for Baltimore County Department of Health, will emphasize the theme in his keynote address on Sunday and in the workshops he will be co-leading with Jacquie Small, clinical training specialist, on counselor effectiveness training.

HILL CHANGES MIND Teachers Lose Summer Aid

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas public school teachers cannot collect jobless benefits during summer months if they have a contract to teach next fall, Atty. Gen. John Hill said.

The decision by the attorney general dimmed the hopes of thousands of Texas teachers who have put in unemployment claims on the basis of a previous opinion he made recently.

Hill explained that the change was brought about by a special provision in the public school financing bill, passed Sunday.

"We believe it is clear that by adoption of the language in the bill the legislature intended to provide that public school employees would be disqualified for Special Unemployment Assistance Program benefits during the period between school terms if they have a contract to perform services for the district in the following year," the opinion Tuesday said.

A spokesman for the Texas Employment Service said it was unlikely that teachers who have already applied for jobless pay would get their checks, if they are under contract.

There is a one-week waiting period after application is made for a claim before it is processed for payment, in order to give the TEC a chance to find the applicant a job.

"We accept claims from anyone who wants to file a claim but frankly, I don't think any of the teachers will get paid," the spokesman said.

The TEC said that about 70,000 public school employees, such as cafeteria workers and grounds keepers, who are not under contract will not be affected by Hill's opinion and can draw benefits if they are unemployed during the summer months. Neither will the decision affect private school teachers, even if they are under contract, because they are not covered by the public school financing bill.

The special provision in the school bill, which also contains pay raises for teachers that will raise the minimum teachers salary by $1,400 to $9,000 a year, becomes effective immediately it is signed by Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

Briscoe's office had tentatively scheduled signing of the bill Tuesday but postponed it indefinitely while the state comptroller checks to be sure there is enough state revenue in sight the next two years to cover the appropriations.

Ford To Announce Just Any Day Now

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford will officially announce his intention to run for a full term in the White House before the end of June, says Press Secretary Ron Nessen.

Nessen predicted the timetable Wednesday when questioned about a statement by a group of Republicans who recently met with the President and said his candidacy declaration would come within a month.

Course Begins Next Monday

Two sections of defensive driving will be offered at Howard College beginning next week and running for four weeks.

Persons interested in an evening course should register and attend the first meeting Monday, 7 p.m. in the Horace Garrett Center library-conference room. Those interested in a morning session should register and attend the first class meeting on Tuesday, 10 a.m. in the same room.

The class periods are two hours long. To obtain a certificate, which may merit a reduction in insurance rates with some companies, a participant must attend all four class meetings.

The course is available to senior citizens for the $1 cost of the certificate; persons below 55 years of age or who are not retired will be charged a $10 registration fee. Theron Lee (7-6311, ext. 78) or Mary Newell (3-4016) can furnish more information.

Test Kitchen Recipes Call For Little Sugar

"Wunderbar—Ginger Cookies" is the last in a series of twelve new economy recipes from the test kitchens of Imperial Sugar. The recipe for the cookies appears below.

The recipes which appeared in our newspaper this spring, are Imperial's newest collection of economy recipes. Included in the series were main dishes, salads, breads, muffins, as well as sweets like pound cake, pudding and cookies.

All of the recipes were developed and kitchen-tested with economy in mind. The ingredients are not unusual, different or overly costly... and chances are most of them are already in your pantry.

With a further eye toward economy, each recipe has a note suggesting how you might change, substitute or omit certain ingredients.

While each recipe calls for sugar, the amounts are small. Several call for only one tablespoon... just enough to enhance taste and texture or help bake to a golden brown color.

In case you missed any of the recipes and would like the complete collection, Imperial Sugar has made it easy to obtain them. If you would like a handy folder containing the entire series of 12 economy recipes without charge, send your name, address, zip code and a red pure cane block from an Imperial Sugar bag or carton to: Imperial Sugar Company, P. O. Box 500, Sugar Land, Texas, 77478. The folder will be sent free with postage paid.

WUNDERBAR means "wonderful", and that's what you'll think about these ginger-flavored treats. The entire family will like them with milk or hot chocolate at snack time.

These new economy recipes are the beginning of Imperial's economy recipe program for 1975. A complete new Imperial Sugar Economy Cookbook is now being published and will be available this summer. Details about the new cookbook will appear in the Herald in several weeks.

School's Out, Mother! Fill That Cookie Jar

These "classic" cookies are the good all-around cookie jar cookies, the kinds that tempt you to reach for more. Kids like them; grown-ups like them. Golden brown, chewy-crisp, rich and sweet describe such cookies as Walnut Chews. Special ingredient is ready-to-eat high protein cereal.

WALNUT CHEWS

- 3 cups ready-to-eat high protein cereal
- 2 cups sifted regular all-purpose flour
- 1/2 tsp. baking soda
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 3/4 cup regular margarine or butter, softened
- 2 cups brown sugar, firmly packed
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts

Measure cereal; then crush to 1 1/2 cups. Set aside. Sift together flour, soda and salt. Set aside.

Measure margarine and sugar into mixing bowl; beat until light and fluffy. Add eggs; beat well. Add dry ingredients, nuts and cereal; thoroughly combine. Drop by level measuring-tablespoons onto lightly greased baking sheets, two inches apart.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 16 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove immediately from baking sheets; cool on wire racks.

Yield: 4 1/2 dozen Walnut Chews, about 2 1/2 inches in diameter.

CHOCOLATE MARSH-MALLOW FUDGEIES

- One 12-oz. pkg. (2 cups) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
- One 14-oz. can sweetened condensed milk
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 1 cup quck or old fashioned oats, uncooked
- 1 1/2 cups miniature marshmallows

Melt chocolate pieces in the top of a double boiler over hot (not boiling) water. Remove from heat. Blend in milk and vanilla. Stir in oats and marshmallows. Spread in a greased 9-inch square pan. Chill until firm. Cut into squares. Store in refrigerator.

Makes about three dozen.

DOUBLE BUTTERSCOTCH DROPS

- 3 cups enriched flour
- 1 tsp. baking powder
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. baking soda
- 1 cup butter, softened
- 2 pkgs. (3 3/4 oz. each) butterscotch pudding and pie filling (not instant)
- 2-3rd cup corn syrup
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup chopped pecans
- 1 6-oz. pkg. (1 cup) butterscotch morsels

Stir together flour, baking powder, salt and soda. Cream together butter and dry pudding until fluffy. Beat in syrup and eggs. Stir in flour. Fold in pecans and butterscotch morsels. Drop by level measuring-tablespoons onto greased baking sheets. Bake in preheated 350 degrees oven about 12 minutes. Remove from baking sheets and cool on wire racks. Makes about six dozen.

Note: Spoon flour into dry measuring cup; level. Do not scoop.

Cool Summer Yogurt Dish

Authentic East Indian, and delightfully cooling when served with a hot curry.

YOGURT BANANAS

- 8-oz. container unflavored yogurt
 - Pinch of salt
 - 1/2 tsp. white pepper
 - 1 1/2 tsps. sugar
 - Large ripe banana
- Stir together the yogurt, salt, pepper and sugar; chill. Just before serving, peel the banana and slice very thin; fold into yogurt mixture. Turn into a small attractive serving bowl and serve at once as a curry accompaniment.

Good Cookies Every Time

For uniform drop cookies, press dough into measuring spoons. Use a small, rubber scraper to drop them on cookie sheets.

If rolled cookie dough seems dry, work in a tablespoon of butter or cream.

Cool cookies thoroughly before storing. For crisp cookies, store in loosely covered container. If they absorb moisture from the air, crisp in 300 degrees oven 5 to 10 minutes. Soft cookies should be stored in tightly covered containers. If cookies tend to dry out, add a piece of apple, orange or bread to container. Store only the same kind of cookies in the same container.

To avoid cookie breakage during mailing, place crumpled paper on bottom of box to cushion. Arrange cookies in rows with layer of crushed wax paper or folded paper towel between and on top of cookies. Fill each crevice with puffed cereal or popcorn. If the cookies aren't being sent overseas, the cereal and popcorn can be eaten, too! Bar and drop cookies are best for mailing.

For perfect steamed puddings, or fruitcakes, cook in temperature-controlled roaster.

LET US SPAY? Women's Lib Gone To Dogs

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP) — Local women's rights advocates are upset over a state regulation requiring that female dogs and cats be spayed when they are adopted from licensed animal shelters.

Similar neutering of males is not required, and some officials think the regulation will condemn most female animals to death because of the added cost of adoption.

The Rock Island animal shelter recently began enforcing the regulation, bringing protests at a board meeting of the Quad Cities chapter of the National Organization for Women.

"We all disagreed with it, very much so," said Joan Ritzinger, a spokeswoman. "I think it's very discriminatory, because they could castrate male dogs cheaper and it would be much more effective, I think."

The state regulation which went into effect last July is an attempt to control the growing numbers of stray dogs and cats, said David R. Bromwell, veterinarian with the state Department of Agriculture.

"We hear this (complaint) from the various women's liberation groups, equal rights and everything, and they have a valid thought," said Bromwell. But he said it was "a realistic way to at least attempt to curb some of the unwanted expansion in the population."

Officials estimate that cost of spaying a dog is $50 or more in the Rock Island area.

Gilbert Norris, Rock Island health officer, said that since the city shelter began enforcing the regulation about two weeks ago only one female has been adopted.

"That (regulation) just puts the price of the animal out of reach," he said. "They aren't worth that much."

IMPROVEMENT IN MENTAL HEALTH Psychiatry Of Violence

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The people of Northern Ireland have experienced a marked, short-term improvement in their mental health during nearly six years of sectarian warfare, says a psychiatrist who has extensively studied the phenomenon.

"I'm not advocating violence as a means of improving mental health," said Dr. H.A. Lyons. "It's a peculiar side effect that has been described repeatedly in countries in time of war."

But Lyons, a consultant at Belfast's Purdysburn Hospital, warned that the long term effects of the violence "are much, much more disturbing" including a shredding of the social fabric, a decline in moral standards, a rise in crime and an increase in bigotry.

Since the Northern Ireland violence erupted in 1969, Lyons has published studies of the psychological impact of the warfare on the local population. He is regarded in Britain as one of the leading experts in that field.

Spain during the Spanish Civil War, all European countries during World War II, and Northern Ireland since 1969, Lyons said, noticed among their general populations a significant drop in the number of suicides, nervous breakdowns, admissions to mental hospitals and visits to psychiatrists.

The suicide rate among Northern Ireland's 1.5-million population has halved during The Troubles, Lyons said. But during the same period the sectarian strife has taken the lives of more than 1,200 persons, wounded or crippled for life another 9,000 and further polarized the Roman Catholic and Protestant communities.

"One of the biggest causes of mental illness is boredom, feeling that you've arrived at your destination with nothing further to do," Lyons explained. "But in a wartime situation people have a cause, have a purpose, something to strive for, they're actively involved."

In London, psychiatrist Joshua Bierer noted that mental illness is most prevalent in affluent societies such as the United States where many people are bored because of their lack of motivation.

Dr. Bierer, medical director of the Institute of Social Psychiatry and editor of the International Journal of Social Psychiatry, said he was familiar with Lyons' Ulster findings and that he and most psychiatrists would not find them surprising.

Bierer told of his own work at a psychiatric clinic in London during World War II. He said that when the war broke out he expected the clinic to be swamped by people whose mental health had been impaired by the stresses of war but, instead, the number of patients decreased significantly.

"It was the biggest surprise of my life," he said. He added that psychiatrists have since found that the health in present-day Western societies are boredom and lack of motivation, usually absent in wartime.

But in the long run, Dr. Lyons said, prolonged violence can severely impair the collective psyche of a people. In Ulster, he said, "what we're doing is bringing up another generation of bigots."

"We've taught our teenagers to hate," Lyons said. "These kids were 9 or 10 when the thing started. They're now 16 or 17. So for a very formative time of their lives they have been taught and conditioned to hate, taught and conditioned that violence is an acceptable way of life. It's a pattern that's been ingrained in them."

(An American psychiatrist who has written on the subject, Dr. Jules H. Masserman of Chicago, endorsed Lyons' findings: "It is a phenomenon during warfare when trivial issues fade into insignificance," he said.

(Dr. Masserman added that the additional finding, of deleterious effects on children growing up as witnesses to adult cruelty, also has been found in other wartime situations.)

"When the politicians do decide to come together — and I suppose they will — certainly these teenagers won't be able to suddenly settle down," Lyons said. "So you will have in the future a big problem of crime and anti-social behavior — young criminals and juvenile delinquents and so forth. And nobody's really considering this."

Lyons said he has noted an upsurge in crime and anti-social behavior not directly connected with the sectarian troubles — petty vandalism, reckless driving, drunkenness, wife-beating and marital infidelity. He said it's partly because the police are too busy with bombing and murder to deal with the vandal or drunk, but also due to the stress and strain of prolonged civil strife.

"I mean if you're living in a street where there's shooting and bombing, intimidation, army searches, your family interned, and so forth, to be a bit worried, a bit anxious about the situation is normal," Lyons said. "To be indifferent, callous and cold would be indicative of mental illness." Also, he said, it's mentally healthy to let off steam.

Another spinoff of the troubles, Lyons said, is that there is virtually no drug problem in Northern Ireland.

Teen-agers in some countries "have to go out and search for their kicks" and sometimes resort to drugs, he said. "But in Belfast kids can get their kicks just by sitting in their front door in a civil war situation," hurling rocks and epithets at the soldiers and police.

Also, the psychiatrist added, "the leaders of the militant organizations are extremely anti-drugs and anyone who's found taking or, more seriously, peddling drugs gets shot in the kneecap. That's a pretty strong deterrent."

Hunt's Sons To Be Tried In Lubbock

DALLAS (AP) — Federal officials here say two of the late billionaire H. L. Hunt's sons will be tried in Lubbock Sept. 15 on illegal wiretap charges.

A pretrial hearing is set for July 11, said Asst. U. S. Atty. Richard Stephens, who will prosecute the case for the government.

The government contends

Nelson Bunker Hunt and William Herbert Hunt hired a private detective agency in 1969 to tap the telephones of six top employees in the Hunt Oil Co. organization.

The trial has been delayed by a series of court appeals by the Hunts to block introduction of certain recordings into evidence.

The U.S. Supreme Court declined to hear their appeal last month, clearing the way for the Lubbock trial.

Plans Made In Lamesa For College Building

LAMESA — Twenty-one interested persons and members of the education committee of the Chamber of Commerce met Tuesday to review the Howard County Community College program and to map plans to secure a building to house the center locally.

Theron Lee and Mike Bruner of the Howard County College staff met with the group, led by R.B. Snell. The need for local headquarters was emphasized.

Lee, director of continuing education at the college, said, "Our program has been fairly successful here, but could be more effective with a facility of our own provided by the community. We would hire the local coordinator and have money in our budget for other matters, but cannot rent or buy a building out of Howard County. It is difficult to conduct courses from 45 miles away. If we could label a building "Lamesa Community College Center", we believe we could run 12 to 15 classes a semester.

A nine-member committee was named to secure a physical plant and set financing of the facility. The committee includes Richard Crawley, Willis Gresham, Walter Buckel, Inez McBrayer, Neal Chastain, Bob Crawley, Jim Norris, Lee McAllister and Fred Weaver.

Boiler Fuel Hearing Held

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission has been told that stopping the use of natural gas as boiler fuel would affect everything from the quality of hospital care to the price of meat.

The Commission is holding hearings on the proposed boiler fuel order.

Roy Ayers of the Texas Hospital Association told Commission examiner

Frank Youngblood Wednesday that eliminating or curtailing boiler fuel uses of natural gas, "would seriously impair hospitals' ability to provide treatment to the sick and injured."

Ayers said hospitals need to fire boilers for such things as sterilizing instruments and laundering garments and bed sheets, and "there is no practical alternative to natural gas."

Russell D. Ryker, process engineer with Iowa Beef Processors, said the availability of gas was a factor in locating the firm's new plant at Amarillo. He said small boilers are used to produce steam for use in the rendering process and to heat water for cleaning up. Coal is not an economical fuel for boiler of that size, he pointed out.

Several witnesses said that natural market forces, reflecting big jumps in gas prices, already were producing a trend toward reduced consumption and the use of alternative fuels.

Our Clutter Is Also Wasteful

Omar Burleson, M.C. 17th District, Texas

WASHINGTON, D.C. —

The mounting problem of disposing of solid wastes plagues all America. Cities, towns, manufacturing and commercial operations are finding it more and more difficult to meet standards in disposing of liquid effluence but getting rid of solid materials is even more so.

In the past four or five decades, according to reports, the amount of solid waste discarded per person in this country has doubled. Collections of throw-away stuff amount to more than 225 million tons per year with disposal costs of more than $5 billion annually. The National League of Cities reports that about half our towns and cities will run out of current disposal capacity in from two to five years.

The increase in the volume of materials entering the solid waste stream has a potentially serious drain on our national resources. The U.S. Geological Survey has warned that by 1985 our nation will be dependent on foreign imports for more than one-half of its supply of nine basic raw materials.

Some studies on the subject warn that we are approaching a mineral crisis which could rival the energy shortage unless steps are taken to encourage the recovery and re-use of raw materials.

In spite of the continuing increase in the size of our national trash can the U.S. today recycles a lower percentage of discarded solid materials than ever before. It is estimated that we recycle only 1 per cent of municipal wastes. Published statistics gathered by the Environmental Protection Agency indicate that we recycle only 19 per cent of all wastepaper, 18 per cent of aluminum, 5 per cent of glass and 4 per cent of textiles. According to the Midwest Research Institute, recycling will continue to decline in the absence of new developments towards recycling and the need for economic incentives to do so.

Studies show that the recovery of even a small portion of the 110 million tons of industrial solid wastes which must currently be disposed of each year would produce significant energy savings. The President's Advisory Commission on Environmental Quality estimates that more than 90 per cent of energy presently required could be saved if worn-out aluminum products were recycled. Paper manufacturers could save upwards of 66 per cent if full use was made of recycled paper, instead of the use of wood pulp. If steel and other scrap metals were recycled to the full potential, 50 per cent of present energy use could be saved.

At a time when we are searching for ways to conserve energy, Federal tax policies and freight rates continue to favor the use of virgin materials. One of the most sensible sections of the energy bill now pending in the Congress provides incentives needed for recycling facilities for millions of tons of wasted raw materials. It provides tax credits for research and development, to find ways and means to get rid of solid wastes and allows certain tax credits for facilities installed to cope with this very serious situation.

Our affluence in this country has led us to think that we have an inexhaustible supply of natural resources but we do not. Besides, we are cluttering our land with cast-offs.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Equal Rights Amendment in Missouri is dead for a third year.

Missouri is the sixth state to reject ERA this spring.

ERA was defeated in the Missouri House two years ago and died in a committee in 1974. It narrowly cleared the House Feb. 6, giving the Senate its first chance to consider the proposed amendment.
