Bicentennial Paper Will Appear Early

Friday's edition of The Herald, probably the most ambitious undertaking ever tackled by the staff, will appear at the subscribers' doorsteps and be available at newsstands in the morning so that employees can take a holiday along with other citizens of the nation. The Bicentennial theme is used throughout the July 4th paper, with emphasis on local and area history. Joe Pickle, editor, produced the copyrighted articles after exhaustive research. A limited number of the six-section souvenir papers will be available at the Herald. The price will be 75 cents or can be mailed anywhere for a total price of $1. One of the many distinguished men whose names appear in the historical sections is Gen. Robert E. Lee, who later was to lead the Confederacy against the Union armies in the 1861-65 War Between the States. Gen. Lee camped at the original "big spring" here several times before he was to resign his commission from the United States Army and rally to the cause of the South.

Funds Earmarked For John Connally

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Oklahoma City lawyer Stuart Russell never knew that $5,000 he gave to an Associated Milk Producers Inc. (AMPI) lobbyist was earmarked for Treasury Secretary John Connally, the lobbyist testified today. Bob A. Lilly was cross-examined by lawyers for Russell, who is on trial on charges of violating laws prohibiting corporate contributions to candidates in federal elections. "I gave $10,000 to Mr. Jacobsen (AMPI lawyer Jake Jacobsen) and he told me it would be for Mr. Connally," Lilly said. Lilly said he got the $10,000 from Russell, but told Russell only generally that the money would be used for political purposes. Connally was acquitted earlier this year on charges that Jacobsen gave the money to him as a bribe. Lilly testified that Jacobsen requested cash. "And he certainly wouldn't have accepted a check made payable to John Connally?" defense lawyer Wallace Duncan asked. "I don't know whether he would have or not," Lilly said. Lilly testified earlier that Russell knew the money he gave went for politics but said the 58-year-old lawyer was kept in the dark about the illegal specifics of various contributions. Lilly said Russell was one of several lawyers and consultants from whom he regularly got money for illegal corporate contributions. He said they later would submit bills for bogus legal fees to recover their funds. Generally up to 50 per cent was added to the false billings to account for income taxes. But he said Russell knew

Ralph Proctors To Fly Special Flag Today

Long may it wave. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Proctor of the Luther Community have a very special flag. Flags which have flown over the Capitol in Washington are usually sent to schools and clubs and hospitals. This particular flag was flown atop the nation's Capitol on Jan. 15, 1975 and was sent to Anna Proctor by her sister, Mary Lou Spurzum, who works at the Pentagon. She obtained the flag from the Hon. John L. McClellon. The Proctors received the standard in February and have been saving it for a very special occasion. They will put it up at their home tomorrow, opening day of the Bicentennial celebration of the United States. After Friday, they plan to fly it on all special holidays.

Jobless Rate Dips In June

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government reported today that the nation's unemployment rate dropped to 8.6 per cent in June, but officials said that because of a statistical quirk it was too early to say whether the sharp decline signaled real improvement in the grim jobless picture. The rate was 9.2 per cent in May. The Labor Department also reported that wholesale prices in June decreased by one-tenth of one per cent, largely because of a decline in prices of food and farm products. Virtually all the decline in the June jobless rate was attributed to a statistical quirk that showed more young people looking for work in June than really sought jobs. Julius Shiskin, commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said the nation wouldn't know whether there was a real improvement of unemployment "until we see the July figures." Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, has said that because of the statistical quirk a decline from 9.2 per cent in May to 8.6 per cent in June would mean an unchanged situation. But the June unemployment figures appeared to show some improvement in the jobless rate for heads of households, which was down to 6.1 per cent from May's total of 6.3 per cent.

Garbage Collectors End Wildcat Strike

By The Associated Press. New York Mayor Abraham D. Beame and the head of the sanitationmen's union announced agreement today to end a three-day wildcat walkout and have the sanitation men return to work at noon to begin removing 50,000 tons of garbage that piled up in the city streets. The agreement came after the city declared a "partial" health hazard, obtained a court order against the walkout and faced growing problems that climaxed Wednesday night with hundreds of trash fires in crowded sections of the city. The mayor's announcement said the men would return to work pending final action in Albany on the city's request for additional taxing powers that could restore some of the 19,000 city jobs cut because of the budget crisis. John DeLury, head of the Uniformed Sanitationmen's Association, said his union would post $1.6 million to cover any losses the city might sustain by returning all his men to work and then not getting enough money to pay for all of them.

The announcement said "there is still a probability of layoffs" and added that union and city officials would look to the federal government for additional funding. DeLury said "all" the 10,600 striking sanitationmen would return to work. A tentative agreement was reached in Albany Wednesday night on a new tax power package and final language was being worked out today. In response to the budget-induced layoffs, city firemen began their own job action Wednesday, increasing sick calls and instituting a slowdown. City policemen, however, voted against any formal job action in response to the layoffs. Beame said at a news conference in Albany that the sanitationmen would be working through the Fourth of July holiday, even though it means paying them time and a half, because the city must be cleaned up. But he said the strikers would be penalized because under the provisions of the state's Taylor Law forbidding public employee strikes, they are fined two days' pay for each day they missed. Beame emphasized that there will be some layoffs but said they would try to minimize the effect in the Sanitation Department by tapping uncommitted federal funds, retirements and other devices. In Pennsylvania, state officials obtained court orders against some of the more than 46,000 striking state employees and there were reports of scattered violence. Three pickets in Indiana County were attacked and clubbed Wednesday night by five unidentified men who arrived in a car at the Pennsylvania Department of Transportation offices, state police said. And in Northern California, three court clerks were jailed and thousands of other workers threatened with dismissal as the first public employees strike in Santa Clara County history entered its third day. The walkout by the 10,600 sanitationmen in New York did not have official union sanction, but city officials called it the "best organized wildcat strike" they had ever seen. Uniformed Sanitationmen's Association officials claim they have been urging their members to end their wildcat strike. Union chief John DeLury has said of the workers, "I can't control them."

BULLETIN

Lightning struck a house at 4112 Bilger at 1 p.m. today, knocking the high wires and telephone wires out at the residence. Fire trucks rushed to the scene, but the house did not catch on fire. There was an immediate traffic jam from cars in the area. Rainy skies dumped hard rains within a half hour period. Cars were lined up on Highway 87 south of Big Spring when visibility became close to zero. Other cars crept into town with their lights on while the downpour continued.

The World At-A-Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proposing "a detente with nature," President Ford pledged today a firm commitment to cleaning up the environment but cautioned he must balance that against economic considerations. In his text for the dedication of an environmental research center in Cincinnati, Ford said "You have my pledge that this country will remain firmly committed" to seeking a cleaner and healthier environment. VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — An armed Pathet Lao guard threatened to kill the acting director of the U.S. Information Service in Vientiane today when the American tried to enter his office. The American, Lawrence C. Daks, said the guard shouted "Get out or I'll kill you!" in Lao as he chambered a round in his AK47 assault rifle. Daks retreated and said the threat was probably a "personal reaction" rather than the result of orders from Communist Pathet Lao officials who now dominate the Laotian government. BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Security forces searched Beirut for an American colonel kidnaped four days ago at the height of the street fighting. A security officer said all Palestinian guerrilla organizations denied any knowledge of Col. Ernest R. Morgan, an officer with the U.S. military aid mission in Turkey who was seized at the height of Sunday's clashes. Morgan, 43, of Petersburg, Va., was on his way back to Turkey from a meeting in Pakistan. WASHINGTON (AP) — If you're interested in getting a $30,000 loan to buy a house, a new federal law could save you up to $9,000 in interest costs over the life of the mortgage. Or if you can't make payments on a house you already own because you've lost your job, that same law might help you keep that home. President Ford signed the Emergency Housing Act of 1975 into law Wednesday, saying it would help push along a recovery of the depressed housing and construction industries.

Carpenters Work For New Contract

Carpenters in the Big Spring area are working without a union contract which expired July 1 and are in the process of negotiating a possible wage increase. Carpenters in the Big Spring area are currently making $6.65 according to Jim Bill Little, one of the local contractors. In Abilene, they have been making $6.90 per hour and are on strike at this time, an Associated Press story relates. They walked out after mid-morning negotiations failed with the local chapter of Associated General Contractors on Wednesday. In San Angelo, where negotiations are also under way, carpenters are making $6.45 per hour. One report indicated that they have agreed to a .60 cent increase, according to local contractors. "Fortunately for Big Spring, a lot of carpenters work for themselves and show up at the lumber yards in the morning seeking work," Little stated. "We are short of carpenters in this area right now because there has been a large volume of construction." In addition to new residences going up, Little Construction Co. has just completed the Colorado River Municipal Water District Office and is working on the Security State Bank building. R. M. Wells of Quanah is constructing a large dormitory at Webb AFB. Kasch Bros. Inc. is working on the Malone-Hogan Clinic.

THUGS' WET REMINDER

NEW BRAUNFELS, Tex. (AP) — Not only did burglars take nearly $4,000 worth of belongings from Jerry Wilton's house they left behind a wet reminder that they had been there. They closed all the doors and windows and turned on all the faucets. Damage was estimated at $18,000.

Washer Woman Is Washed Up

A town-to-town con game with a fake roll of quarters came to a halt in Lamesa Wednesday when an alert clerk at Furr's Super Market opened the roll of washers with a quarter on each end. Mrs. Peggy Weatherford, 46, of Las Vegas, Nev. is in custody in city jail this morning in Lamesa with bond set at $500. Both Big Spring and Snyder police departments have warrants out for her arrest. Descriptions by clerks at four local stores flim-flammed by the woman described her as all the way from 5 feet 2 to 5-8. She is actually 5-2. They also described her as being in her early 20s all the way up to near 50. The near 50 turned out to be the closest. Avery Falkner, city detective, went over to take a statement from Mrs. Weatherford Wednesday.

EVERYWHERE THERE'S COFFEE

Soberest Convention, Sure Not Most Somber

DENVER (AP) — It may be the soberest convention in the country but certainly not the most somber. The hotels, motels, trailer courts, campgrounds and even the dormitories of the city's colleges are filled to capacity. But the bars are doing no extra business. The streets are filled with smiling conventioners bearing the traditional name tag, but identifying the wearer only as Bob G., Tom S., Richard B. or Betty C. It is a gathering of the world's largest organization which is not really an organization. Some 18,000-20,000 people are in Denver for the 40th Anniversary International Convention of Alcoholics Anonymous (AA). There are no business meetings; no policies are set or reviewed; there are no tours, no side trips or other distractions. As one conventioner put it, "It's just a good old local AA meeting on a grand scale." There is an air of fun and conviviality, lots of smiles, handshakes and social events, and, as usual, truckloads of coffee. The catering service handling the convention has laid in 12,600 pounds of coffee, 250 cases of sugar and 1,620 gallons of cream. Coffee cups required for the meeting filled two 40-foot trailer trucks. And built for the occasion were two special coffee makers with 50 spigots, which will make more than 500,000 cups per day. Conventioners arriving on a special charter flight from Connecticut were forced to land in Milwaukee to replenish the coffee supply before continuing to Denver. The key to AA's success is alcoholics helping one another. There is no president, no national leadership; even the board of trustees and the General Service Office, which provides services to local groups, are made up of "nameless" persons. Members say AA is merely a group of people trying to help other people, and personalities only seem to get in the way.

Funds Earmarked For John Connally

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Oklahoma City lawyer Stuart Russell never knew that $5,000 he gave to an Associated Milk Producers Inc. (AMPI) lobbyist was earmarked for Treasury Secretary John Connally, the lobbyist testified today.

Bob A. Lilly was cross-examined by lawyers for Russell, who is on trial on charges of violating laws prohibiting corporate contributions to candidates in federal elections.

"I gave $10,000 to Mr. Jacobsen (AMPI lawyer Jake Jacobsen) and he told me it would be for Mr. Connally," Lilly said.

Lilly said he got the $10,000 from Russell, but told Russell only generally that the money would be used for political purposes. Connally was acquitted earlier this year on charges that Jacobsen gave the money to him as a bribe.

Lilly testified that Jacobsen requested cash. "And he certainly wouldn't have accepted a check made payable to John Connally?" defense lawyer Wallace Duncan asked.

"I don't know whether he would have or not," Lilly said.

Lilly testified earlier that Russell knew the money he gave went for politics but said the 58-year-old lawyer was kept in the dark about the illegal specifics of various contributions.

Lilly said Russell was one of several lawyers and consultants from whom he regularly got money for illegal corporate contributions.

He said they later would submit bills for bogus legal fees to recover their funds. Generally up to 50 per cent was added to the false billings to account for income taxes.

But he said Russell knew only generally about the contributions.

Assistant Special Watergate prosecutor Thomas P. Ruane presented checks, invoices and letters which Lilly identified as related to some two dozen transactions involving Russell during a two-year period.

Defense lawyer Wallace Duncan said he would closely examine each transaction when the trial resumed this morning. Lilly is still on the witness stand.

Duncan told jurors Monday that Russell did not know that the money he gave Lilly and others would be used for illegal purposes.

Duncan added that in some cases the political contributions made came from Russell and involved no corporate funds.

Lilly testified that occasionally he took out loans to make political contributions then would get money to make payments on the loan "using the same method."

Lilly said AMPI general manager Harold S. Nelson once had him get a $100,000 loan which in effect went to President Richard Nixon's one-time personal lawyer, Herbert Kalmbach.

The lobbyist said Russell was among lawyers who gave funds to help pay off the loan.

Many of the transactions went through what Lilly called his "political corporate account" at an Austin, Tex., bank.

Milton Semer, the former AMPI lawyer who delivered the $100,000 to Kalmbach, testified Wednesday also. He said he thought the money had come from AMPI's trust fund set up for legal political contributions, Trust for Agricultural and Political Education (TAPE).

Ralph Proctors To Fly Special Flag Today

Long may it wave.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Proctor of the Luther Community have a very special flag.

Flags which have flown over the Capitol in Washington are usually sent to schools and clubs and hospitals.

This particular flag was flown atop the nation's Capitol on Jan. 15, 1975 and was sent to Anna Proctor by her sister, Mary Lou Spurzum, who works at the Pentagon. She obtained the flag from the Hon. John L. McClelland.

The Proctors received the standard in February and have been saving it for a very special occasion.

They will put it up at their home tomorrow, opening day of the Bicentennial celebration of the United States. After Friday, they plan to fly it on all special holidays.

Well, That's Who

Look who's stepping out front in the polls. Gerald Ford, that's who.

In the latest Gallup political survey, pitting the President against Henry Jackson, Ford comes off a winner with 46 per cent to 37 per cent for Jackson, and 17 per cent undecided. That is a full 7 per cent improvement in Ford's margin over Jackson in the last previous poll, taken in March.

The President's new luster is due to a number of things. The fact none of the Democratic hopefuls has set a brushfire at the grassroots is in part responsible; everyone in the pack seems to be fading, with no stretch runner yet in sight.

Then there is the undeniable fact Gerald Ford is looking and acting much more like a President these days. Complaints about the "imperial presidency" notwithstanding, the American people have grown accustomed to expect a strong leader in the White House. When they see evidence they have one, they respond positively. And Ford's triumphant veto march through the ranks of a disorganized Congress, added to the forceful action to free the Mayaguez and its crew, gives him a strongman luster he had lacked.

Unless the Democrats can get their act together soon, and present what looks like a viable alternative to Ford and his conservative policies, that mad scramble for the nomination everyone is predicting could be an exercise in futility. To repeat the old political saw, you can't beat somebody with nobody — and Gerald Ford is becoming more of a somebody every day.

Texan Lost 'To' Texas

Texas and Southwestern journalism are the poorer for the passing of Robert E. Ford, state editor for the Dallas bureau of the Associated Press.

A gentle man (and those are two words in his case), Bob Ford was a great human being. As Kipling said in one of his poems, he could deal with kings "nor lose the common touch." The little things which interest people everywhere are the things which fascinated Bob Ford. His column, "A Texan Lost in Texas," might well be his epitaph.

And yet there was none more penetrating in his questions when it came to getting at the heart of a story.

He was first and last a good reporter — a thorough reporter with a passion for accuracy and truth. Above that, he was a meticulous craftsman, a master trustee of words. Bob Ford would disclaim that he was "one of the last of the Ford makers," and if not, he certainly was one of the best.

How Legends Start

Around The Rim

Marj Carpenter

Clay Allison was a notorious outlaw of the old west who was laid to rest in Pecos. He died a very unromantic death when he came to town to get supplies. He was headed for home in a wagon when a sack of meal fell over the front wheel.

NOW CLAY had spent more time in the Pecos saloons that day than the general merchandise store. So when he reached over to catch the sack of meal, he rolled out of the wagon, under the wheel and was killed.

Back in 1961, a Mrs. T. Y. Moorhead of Pecos, who was then in her 90s, told me that tale. She was 12 years old at the time of Allison's death and had attended his funeral.

I took her out to the old cemetery behind the meat packing plant to see if we could find the grave. She could not locate the grave and she was the last person alive who had attended that funeral.

There were only one or two graves that were still plainly marked in that cemetery. Most of the gravestones were toppled over and vandals had thrown them all over in one corner of the cemetery. There were no cemetery records so nobody could say for sure, what went where. And there was no marker for Allison.

There were some of the old iron fences, like one sees in the early cemeteries. I took a picture of that unkept cemetery and both the Pecos Independent and the San Angelo Standard Times ran the feature that Clay Allison was buried there somewhere.

ABOUT THAT time, the chamber decided that was a good attraction and put a little sign on the Carlsbad highway pointing off toward the meat packing plant saying "Boot Hill Cemetery."

A grave was selected, apparently at random and somebody got some weathered wood and put an old wooden marker on "Allison's grave." It had not been there earlier. Pictures were made of the grave and one of the ironstone fences placed around it.

A woman in Carlsbad got upset about the Boot Hill sign because her aunt was buried in that cemetery. Her's was one of two clearly marked, well kept graves. The sign was changed to read, burial place of Clay Allison, outlaw, so that it would not indicate that everybody in the cemetery was an outlaw.

I never did think much about it not being authentic, because I knew from what Mrs. Moorhead said that Allison was buried there somewhere.

But now, Pecos is building a real fine tourist park near its museum. It is rebuilding the replica of the Judge Roy Bean Saloon. It isn't dishonest, even though the real Judge Roy Bean Saloon is off down at Langtry where it belongs. But so many people think that it ought to be in Pecos that they have a replica and call it a replica.

BUT THEY'RE now talking about moving Clay Allison's grave over to their new tourist-attraction park. Well I guess that's all right. He was buried in Pecos somewhere in that old cemetery. But when they move the grave, they may be moving somebody's grandmother. If it doesn't bother the grandmother, I guess we shouldn't worry about. But just don't get too sentimental when you're viewing the grave of Clay Allison. I notice the chamber has upgraded his standing to "gun-fighter."

The town does have the right idea about preserving its history. They are really developing an attractive park near the museum for tourists to visit.

I think I will feel about that grave about like I would the unknown soldier. Somebody resting there will be getting a lot of attention.

So, Rest in Peace.

My Answer

Billy Graham

I'm not finding the compatibility in marriage I hoped for. My husband is so fussy about what he eats; he won't eat at my mother's at all. Furthermore, I like to go to bed early because of my job, but he stays up till midnight watching TV. I have to tell him every time the grass needs cutting, and all he thinks about is golf. Wouldn't you be depressed too over such things?

A.S. Perhaps Fielding had a good idea when he made this proposal: "As a great part of the uneasiness of matrimony arises from mere trifles, it would be wise for every young married man to enter into an agreement with his wife that in all disputes, the party who was most convinced they were right should always surrender the victory."

Could it be possible that you're not seeing the forest for the trees? You're letting some relatively minor matters threaten the welfare of the marriage, which is, of course, the paramount consideration.

The Apostle Paul said in 1 Corinthians 7:34 that a married woman is properly concerned "how she may please her husband." Now this is no male chauvinist remark, but I must tell you that if you spent more time really caring for your mate instead of cataloging his shortcomings, you'd have a happy home and a rewarding marriage. Try it, as you pray each day for release from a critical spirit.

Can't Even Give It Away

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — You might think that in a recession the company able to give away its product would not be hurt badly. But the effects of recessions are ubiquitous. Sometimes you can't even give away your product.

This lesson is an old one for publishers of a type of magazine that is distributed to businessmen, tradespeople and professionals. Popularly called trade magazines, they are free and their circulation is controlled.

The publishers make their money from the advertisers, who are assured that their message will be delivered into the hands of a specific type of readers having certain desirable characteristics, including high income.

The precise wording of the promise is up to the publisher, but the Business Publications Audit of Circulation then makes certain the publisher lives up to his guarantee by once-a-year check on the quality of circulation.

"They phrase it in auditable terms," says Thomas Campbell, president of the nonprofit organization, which audits 652 major controlled circulation magazines.

But now the problem: When times get tough, as they have become in the automotive industry, the word goes out to cut costs, and the edict applies to the mail room as well as to the assembly line and the executive suite.

Controlled circulation magazines often are mailed in bulk to company mail rooms, to be distributed by the company's internal mail force. As some see it, mail rooms are an ideal place to cut costs.

At Ford's Rouge Office Building and at its research and engineering center in Dearborn, distribution was discontinued, although workers can pick up their copies at the mail room. Clearly this presents problems.

Chrysler said it notified publisher that it would not distribute their publications internally for the foreseeable future. The magazines, it suggested, might instead be sent to the recipient's home.

By mailing to a home address, however, some value is lost and some cost added. "We lose the passalong," said Campbell. That is, only one reader sees the magazines instead of probably five who see an office-delivered copy.

Home delivery presents other problems. The worker might quit his job and then the publisher must find his replacement. With office-delivered copies the subscription almost routinely is picked up by the successor worker.

While the situation certainly is more than just a nuisance to the publishers, Charles Mill, who directs American Business Press, an industry association, claims "it's a tempest in a teapot." Campbell says there's been "some disruption."

The fact remains that if the publishers cannot get their books into the hands of the readers they promise to deliver, they are in trouble.

Exacting The Truth

William F. Buckley, Jr.

There is a priceless institution in America called John Lofton. He is a youngish man who used to edit the Republican Party's official fortnightly, Monday, wherein he took licentious pleasure in reproducing statements by prominent American liberals exactly contradicting their present positions. He is now a syndicated columnist, and not since the days of Westbrook Pegler has anyone felt as free — indeed, as duty-bound — to telephone public figures to ask them, so to speak face-to-face, just exactly what did they mean by saying so-and-so.

TAKE, FOR instance, the lovely Shana Alexander, a cultural delight who writes a column for Newsweek. When there is a liberal zephyr in the air, Shana will rustle. And sure enough, just a few eeks ago she found herself saying, apropos of her disapproval of the South Vietnamese refugee problem, "if we know one thing about the government founded by Ho Chi Minh, it is that his social services are excellent: good health care, day care, and educational programs abound, especially for the poor."

Now you and I and three and one-half million people who read Newsweek would pass over that asseveration without applying our automatic brakes. Not Lofton. Moreover, he proceeds to put in a call to Shana Alexander. He doesn't know her, but that doesn't matter — Miss Alexander, a professional journalist, has put in heaps of calls to people she doesn't know. Journalists understand that they have responsibilities to fellow journalists.

HOW, LOFTON asked her over the telephone, does Miss Alexander know this about North Vietnam? We, she said snippily, she was "busy typing" just then, and didn't care to discuss "this thing"; Lofton should call her research assistant. So he did. She genially confessed she didn't know exactly where Miss Alexander had got her facts. So he called others: the International Red Cross, the U.N.'s World Health Organization, the State Department. None of them had the foggiest. So he called Vietnam expert Douglas Pike, who called Miss Alexander's assertion "absurd, really," and added that with a per capita income of $85 per year North Vietnam could hardly afford special services for anyone, as North Vietnamese documents themselves admit.

A FEW days later, Lofton found himself on television facing Sander Vanocur and Gloria Emerson, who were crowing over the North Vietnamese victory. I find it almost unfair to quote Miss Emerson, since on the subject of Vietnam she is, quite simply, unbalanced; but after all, she did feed it out, day after day, in the columns of the New York Times for three and a half years, where she ran the longest serialized atrocity story in American history.

Here (it wasn't hard) Lofton forced Miss Emerson to fly her banner. She was "very glad" the North Vietnamese won. She thought the North Vietnamese would, to be sure, run "a very austere, well-ordered, regimented society which in the long run will profit a vast majority of the Vietnamese." (That's the kind of society Adolf Hitler ran.) John Lofton demurred, and the lady replied with an expletive deleted.

Caution In Potassium Use

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: You wrote recently on the subject of potassium. I have a friend who has been told she has a deficiency of potassium. She has been taking potassium pills, but they don't seem to help her.

In the morning she feels badly — weak and faint. What are the symptoms of a lack of potassium? — F.V.H.

Potassium, along with sodium, as I mentioned in that column, is essential in maintaining a proper chemical balance in the body cells. It can be depleted by the use of some diuretics, as well as by (chronic) vomiting, in diarrhea, in some kidney diseases, or in diabetic acidosis.

The symptoms are chiefly muscle weakness and constipation, low blood pressure, heart irregularity, leg cramps. The potassium level can be determined by chemical tests. ECGs also will reveal a pattern of potassium deficiency.

Caution is the word in use of potassium supplements, lest too much be given. In the case of your friend, response to potassium supplement therapy need not be immediate or dramatic. It will also depend on the condition that brought on the deficiency to begin with — which, incidentally, should be determined if this hasn't been done already. And it will be important to monitor potassium levels in subsequent tests. If the symptoms of weakness can be associated with the potassium therapy, then your friend should report this to her doctor, who may want to adjust her medication.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am sending 20 cents to you in care of the Big Spring Herald for your booklet, "How to Control Emphysema," for which I am enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing to me.

My husband had it for several years. His nose started to bleed a lot, and we had to take him to a doctor once to have it stopped. I wonder if that in any way connected to emphysema.

The doctor said it was caused by high blood pressure. — S.K.

Emphysema, as you know, is a lung problem caused by deterioration of the tiny alveoli, little sacs of the lungs involved in transferring oxygen from the air we breathe to the body.

When the lungs are damaged, as in emphysema, the result is a diminished supply of fresh oxygen entering the system. In severe emphysema, a condition called polycythemia can result.

Since the red cells of the blood are the ones that carry oxygen, and since the body is suffering from a shortage of oxygen, more red cells are created to pick up every available bit of oxygen the lungs can hold. This condition can be found in especially high altitude areas because of the rarified air, and for the same reasons I describe above.

The result is a thickened blood, which can aggravate heart conditions. Pulmonary hypertension can result. So, yes, the emphysema and the high blood pressure can be related, as can the nosebleeds. My booklet, which you ordered, will help you get a clearer understanding of the role of the heart and lungs in the disease.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple — write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 3999, Elgin, Ill. 60120 for a copy of his booklet, "How to Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

My Files

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Having applied to the CIA, FBI, IRS and State Department for any files they had on me under the Freedom of Information Act, I waited anxiously for them to arrive. The first envelope, after a 20-day wait, came from the CIA. I must say I was disappointed because I expected a much bulkier package. After all, I had been stationed abroad for 14 years in Paris and I assumed they had kept daily track of all my activities.

IT TURNS out it was terribly meager pickings. The first item was a report from the Soviet Union quoting a Moscow radio station quoting me about something innocuous I had written about the CIA in my column. I only received one mention in the three-page memorandum which was hardly worth the price of the Xeroxed pages.

THE SECOND piece of paper in the file was a memorandum from Cord Meyer Jr. dated June 9, 1964. At that time Meyer's title was Chief of Covert Action Staff. I knew Meyer worked for the CIA but I wasn't sure what he did.

From the memo it appeared that Meyer had had a conversation with Sen. Eugene McCarthy and myself.

Meyer's conversation with McCarthy had been omitted, but mine was reported. It said "Mr. Buchwald added that it was his feeling that the policy control over the agency was not as close as it should be. He cited as an extreme example the claim of the Cuban exiles in the recent 'Bay of Pigs' that they had been encouraged to proceed with the invasion even if the White House issued contrary orders. I stated that I was not personally familiar with the Cuban events, but it was my clear understanding that no such incitement to mutiny had ever been officially authorized and that it was inconceivable to think that it had been."

THAT WAS it! My entire CIA FILE. One lousy mention of the Soviet radio and a stupid conversation at a party with one of the agency's chief spooks when I was probably quoting Time or Newsweek magazine. Either the CIA had no interest in my activities or they had held back everything from the folder and sent me a few cigar ashes.

I was heartbroken. To add insult to injury, the next day I received a letter from the Internal Revenue Service which said: "Please be advised that we checked the indices of the former Special Service Staff and the Baltimore District Intelligence Gathering and Retrieval System. These indices failed to disclose the existence of any record relating to Art Buchwald."

I COULDN'T believe it. Here I was, one of the foremost critics of the Johnson and Nixon administrations, and the IRS claimed it didn't have one piece of derogatory paper on me.

Before I could digest this I heard from Barbara Ennis at the State Department. She informed me that if I sent a check for $21.50, she would send me everything the State Department had about me.

I IMMEDIATELY dispatched $21.50 and waited breathlessly for the files. It arrived a week later. I'm almost ashamed to tell you what was in it. There were six Xeroxed copies of my passport applications over the past 26 years and a letter from George Ball asking me if I would like to have lunch with him sometime.

So there you have it. In spite of the Freedom of Information Act, it's obvious no one in the government wants to tell me what they really have in their files on me. Ah ha! Is the stuff so hot that no one will take the responsibility for releasing it? Or perhaps the true files are in still another computer which the CIA, IRS and State Department don't know about. My only ace in the hole is that I still haven't heard from Clarence Kelley at the FBI.

Gets Protein From Oats

RACINE, Wis. (AP) — In the continuing quest for new sources of protein, a University of Wisconsin chemist has developed a method of extracting protein from oats.

Wisconsin Agriculturalist, a rural magazine, reports that Vernon Youngs is able to extract protein from oats by a simple method in which water is the only chemical used. Youngs hulls the oats and then mills them into flour and bran. He then makes a water slurry of the oat flour and the bran and centrifuges the mixtures. Each yields a high protein layer of more than 50 per cent protein, which could be used to fortify snack foods and bread. A side benefit is a residue bran that is about 19 per cent protein and could be used in breakfast cereals.

STRIKE DEBATED Truckers Want Federal Loans

By The Associated Press
Some independent trucking leaders say a nationwide strike at the end of July is a real possibility, but many of men who drive rigs say they aren't interested in pulling off the road. The truckers say they want federal loans to help meet payments on their rigs, and some leaders say another nationwide strike is the only way to prod the government to action. The merits of such a strike will be debated during a meeting of independent trucking leaders in Chicago on July 12. But at a favorite truck stop along Interstate 70 in Hebron, Ohio, trucking leaders and individual drivers showed little ardor for a strike. Some said the current recession had dampened their enthusiasm. Others said they had unpleasant memories of the violent, two-month-long 1973 strike that cost two lives, many injuries and thousands of lost dollars. "That strike didn't accomplish a damn thing because we were tied to by government people down the line," said Les Salsgiver of Lodi, Ohio, a former leader of the Council of Independent Truckers. The council claimed 22,000 members and was recognized as the strike coordinator. Still, some of the truckers are militant. Millard Holden of McAllen, Tex., president of the Independent Produce Haulers of America, has called for a nationwide work stoppage July 27. "The concept of strike seems to be the only one understood by bureaucrats in Washington," Holden said. William J. Hill, chairman of the National Independent Truckers Unity Committee, said government loans are mandatory. "Things are getting critical and something is going to happen," Hill said after a meeting in Washington with Transportation Secretary William T. Coleman and other government officials. "There is a very real possibility there will be another shutdown." Hill said the truckers must have $5 million in emergency federal loans because loan money for independent truckers has virtually dried up. Many independents have had their rigs repossessed or have been threatened with foreclosures, he said. Mortgage payments on the big rigs sometimes run as high as $800 a month. A new tractor-trailer costs between $38,000 and $50,000, Hill said. But, no matter what their attitude toward a new strike, all the truckers agreed on the issues, the same ones that brought on last year's walkout. They listed four basics they want: —Suspension of the truck-trailer highway use tax. —State ratification of a federal measure increasing the allowable weights on highways. —An end to ICC regulations which prohibit the owner-operators from carrying a load on a return trip. —Action on standardizing state regulations and licensing of trucks.

Special Gear Is Required

The Federal Aviation Administration of the U.S. Department of Transportation today reminded pilots that effective July 1 all aircraft flying 12,500 ft. above mean sea level (MSL) or higher in controlled airspace in the contiguous United States must be equipped with an altitude reporting transponder. In order to accommodate operations in mountainous areas, the regulation does not apply to that airspace above 12,500 ft. MSL which is less than 2,500 ft. above ground level. Also, gliders will be able to operate up to 18,000 MSL without transponders.

Attorneys Quit At Beaumont

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — The U.S. attorney's office here will be left with only a secretary after three resignations become effective in August. Two assistant U.S. attorneys, Charles Ed. Myers and Brack Jones Jr., added their names Wednesday to a string of resignations at the six-person Beaumont office. One month ago, Dennis R. Lewis, assistant attorney in charge of the Beaumont office, resigned to join the tax department of the Exxon Corp. in Houston. At the same time, one secretary left the office to move to Houston. Lewis' secretary has resigned effective later this month.

'Most People Have One Of Three Attitudes About Handicapped'

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Garry Bivins hitchhiked 1,600 miles through Tennessee, North Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi because he "wanted to do something that would be a little out of the norm." Bivins is confined to a wheelchair. He said he got 17 rides during his two-week journey, which was intended "to draw attention to the handicapped." He said most people have one of three attitudes about the handicapped: "They care, they are turned off completely or they are indifferent." The people he met on his hitchhiking trip cared "or they wouldn't have picked me up," he said. Bivins, 29, made part of his trip in a Volkswagen Beetle, "which was a tight squeeze. Most people aren't even aware that wheelchairs fold up." At Jackson, Tenn., he was picked up by a couple pulling a 35-foot boat from California to Boston. They drove him to Knoxville, where he spent the night in a motel, and the next morning he found that the man had paid the bill before continuing east. Paralyzed since 1968 when he was shot during a nightclub fight, Bivins said he has learned that there are all sorts of handicaps — not just physical ones.

He said the handicapped are discriminated against by employers and by people who design public buildings.

Park's Assets Are Acquired

DENVER, COLO. — Sale of one of the largest petroleum distributorship in the United States was announced here today. Pester assumes operation of more than 90 Fina service stations in metro Denver, Fort Morgan, Longmont, Loveland, and Boulder. Consideration in the multi-million dollar transaction was not disclosed.

He said the handicapped are discriminated against by employers and by people who design public buildings.

BRISCOE TELLS JUNIOR BAR No Need For Voting Rights Bill In Texas

DALLAS (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe has reiterated his charges that Texas does not need the Voting Rights Act because there is no discrimination against any group of voters in the state.

The act, Briscoe told the Junior Bar of Texas here Wednesday, would extend federal control over activities that should be strictly in the hands of the state.

While Briscoe was attacking the bill, a measure already passed by the House and now in the Senate for consideration, Secretary of State Mark White was in Washington telling newsmen that the provisions of the bill should be not imposed on Texas.

Extension of the voting rights act would require the U. S. Department of Justice to monitor elections in Texas.

Briscoe said the bill "would also mean no municipality could extend its corporate limits without permission of the Justice Department," and would prevent the state legislature from passing a redistricting bill without approval of the Justice Department.

The governor said there had been no history of extensive denial of voting rights or intimidation of voters, regardless of their race, in Texas.

Briscoe said that Texas already has legislation that empowers the secretary of state to investigate charges of intimidation and voter registration irregularities. He added that new legislation also requires that ballots be printed in both English and Spanish.

Rep. Barbara Jordan, D-Tex., one of the co-sponsors of the new bill, has said the bill should apply to Texas because of intimidation of Mexican-American voters, especially in some South Texas counties.

In Washington, White said the bill would be "a great injustice" to Texas.

He said that since he became the state's chief elections officer in 1973, there had been no substantial claims that any Texans had been denied the right to vote because of color, creed or national origin.

"I have instructed members of my elections division to contact each of the United States attorneys who have had any claims of denial of the right to vote from any Mexican-American in the state," he said. "Every report was negative."

He said that in counties with more than 50 per cent Mexican-American population, 48 per cent of the elected officials—not counting school boards and city councils—were Mexican-American.

"In those counties which have zero to 10 per cent of their population of Spanish surnames (where you would not expect Mexican-Americans to be politically elected) 6.8 per cent of their elected officials have Spanish surnames," White said.

ATC Will Get New Leader

Lt. Gen. John W. Roberts will assume command of the Air Training Command when Lt. Gen. George H. McKee retires in September.

Gen. McKee will culminate nearly 35 years of military service with his retirement. The 52-year-old ATC commander began his career as a private in the Army Air Corps. A hunger for fly made him apply for aviation cadet training. In 1942 he entered that training and within two years was flying B-17s into combat in Europe.

Gen. McKee's first command was the 49th Bombardment Squadron, which he commanded in 1953. Later he served at Strategic Air Command headquarters and then served assignments in Spain, the United States and Puerto Rico as wing commander of various units in those countries.

In 1973, the combat veteran commanded the Eighth Air Force, with responsibilities for SAC operations in the Western Pacific and Southeast Asia regions. He became the ATC commander in September of last year.

Gen. Roberts is currently the deputy chief of staff for personnel, Headquarters U.S. Air Force. He is no stranger to command, having been assigned to ATC and Randolph AFB in the past. His present responsibilities for developing Air Force policy on recruiting, training, education and other personnel matters aid in making him familiar with the command.

The 54-year-old native of Mankato, Minn., began his military career in 1943 as an aviation cadet. After a tour of duty as an instructor pilot, he saw action in Korea as a fighter pilot, flight commander and operations officer.

He then became a research and development education and training officer at ATC headquarters, then at Scott AFB, Ill. He later attended the Air Command and Staff College and returned to ATC in command of the 3529th Combat Crew Training Squadron at Williams AFB, Ariz.

He came to ATC headquarters at Randolph AFB in 1957 as an operations officer in the office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Plans and Operations.

In the years since that assignment, Gen. Roberts has served in several command and staff positions in the Pacific Air Forces and at Air Force Headquarters in the Pentagon.

As the ATC commander, he will be responsible for all initial Air Force training, including: military, technical and flying. He will also head all Air Force recruiting activities.

Auto Inviting

William Desotell, 1104 Austin, left the motor of his automobile running while moving items into a new address Wednesday.

The sight proved too much of a temptation for a passerby. When Desotell returned to the spot where he had parked the vehicle, it had vanished. A witness said he had seen a boy, who looked to be about ten years of age and dressed in red swimming trunks, get behind the wheel of the car and drive it away.

When the car was finally located abandoned at 18th and Doney Streets, a $298 CB radio was missing from it.

HIT FROM REAR — This pickup, driven by James Thomas, 78, of Gail Route, was struck from the rear after it apparently changed lanes in front of a large trailer truck belonging to Ray Harris Trucking and driven by Curtis Steele of Andrews on IS 20 Wednesday near 5 p.m. Mrs. Thomas, a passenger in the pickup, was treated a released at a local hospital for minor injuries. ### 17 Win Tax Adjustments

About 17 tax adjustments were made at the Howard County and the Big Spring City and School Boards of Equalization the past week, according to Tax Appraiser Richard Fleener at the regular meeting of the Tax Appraisal Board Thursday morning.

According to his report to the board, 52 appearances were registered to see the two boards, 34 persons met with the board, and about half of the cases were revalued.

He also reported that the Howard County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1, had only one appointment and revalued taxes on that case, while the Coahoma School District saw 14 and revalued 11 cases.

The Forsan City and School had no appointments. He also reported that his office is short-handed and is using the secretary to carry out some of the duties of a tax appraiser.

The board approved his request to send an assistant, Perry Daniels, to Tax Appraisal School in Amarillo, July 20-23.

Governor Wants To Talk About 'Deal' Under Oath

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Hugh Carey says he wants to testify publicly, under oath, about allegations that he helped his brother obtain a lucrative oil deal. He also asks that all documents in the case be made public.

The Democratic governor denied again Wednesday that he had anything to do with arranging federal approval of the deal put together last year by his brother, Edward Carey, president of the New England Petroleum Corp.

He said he has asked the U.S. Justice Department, which has started an investigation of the charges at his request, to undertake much of that investigation in public.

Carey also revealed that he had retained Joseph Califano, a Washington attorney, to represent him "while I am in Albany fully occupied by the closing days of the legislative session and unable to pursue this matter directly to Washington."

Carey said he wanted to testify under oath "to restate that I had made no contact whatsoever with any official or agency of government in this situation, or any other, on behalf of my brother or his company. Nor did I ever instruct or authorize any member of my staff to do so."

The allegations center on reports that officials of the old Federal Energy Office say they were contacted repeatedly by Carey's office between December 1973 and March 1974, when Carey was a congressman, pressing for the oil deal.

Cox Newspapers said that under the alleged deal, domestic oil normally under price controls at $5.10 a barrel was sold at more than $14 a barrel to an oil refinery in the Bahamas owned by Edward Carey, then resold, mostly to utilities in the New York area, at prices of up to $23 a barrel.

It said he did not instruct or authorize any member of his staff to do so.

MARC VAN ELLS

Van Ells Top Grad

Thirteen 78th Flying Training Wing students received their pilots' wings here recently during graduation ceremonies highlighted by the appearance of an aviation pioneer as the guest speaker.

Col. (ret) Carl J. Crane, a pioneer in the field of instrument flight training, welcomed the Undergraduate Pilot Training Class 76-01 graduates into the fraternity of Air Force pilots.

Heading the list of graduates was 1st Lt. Marc Van Ells, who was awarded four of the five honors presented during the ceremony.

Lt. Van Ells received the Air Training Command Commander's Trophy honoring him as the class' top student, as well as the Academic Training Award, the Military Training Award and the Outstanding Graduate Award.

Second Lt. John R. Beetzel received the Flying Training Award.

Lieutenant Van Ells will remain at Webb as a T-38 instructor pilot, while Lieutenant Beetzel will enter F-4 Phantom training at MacDill AFB, Fla.

The class entered pilot training May 21, 1974.

DUE FOR PROMOTION — Air Force Lt. Gen. Daniel James, left, and Lt. Gen. Robert Huyer will receive their fourth star Sept. 1, 1975, it was announced in Washington by Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger. James will become head of the North American Air Defense Command in Colorado Springs, Colo., and Huyer will become head of the U.S. European Command.

Flicks Off 'Uncle Tom' Jibes From Militants

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thirty years ago, 1st Lt. Daniel James was arrested when he and other black pilots tried to break down a color barrier and enter a white-only officers club.

Now, two wars later, Air Force Lt. Gen. "Chappie" James has become the first black in U.S. history to win promotion to the four-star rank of full general, an advancement announced earlier this week.

Although opportunities for blacks in the armed forces still lag, James qualifies as a symbol of how far things have come since 1945 when he protested segregation at old Freeman Field in Seymour, Ind.

But there has been an undercurrent of jealousy among some white officers who fell out in the intense competition for promotion. James also has been the target of "Uncle Tom" jibes from some militants who resented his appeals to young blacks to work within the system. He has flicked off both kinds of attacks with a booming laugh and an air of total self-assurance.

Now 55, James first attracted public notice in the late 1960s as a command pilot who flew 78 combat missions over North Vietnam. Then Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird brought the big, friendly fighter pilot to the Pentagon in 1970 and installed him in the public affairs office.

It was then that James began making speeches that mixed fervent expressions of patriotism with appeals for unity among the races. At a time of campus unrest, he went to predominantly black universities and advised the students to "cool it."

On Wednesday, after returning from a three-day tour of bases in Germany, Spain and the Azores, James said at McGuire Air Force Base, N.J., that "institutionalized racism has been eliminated from the armed services. Blacks themselves must take advantage of the opportunities that exist in the military."

The son of a school teacher, James was born in Pensacola, Fla., and graduated from Tuskegee Institute before joining the Army Air Corps in World War II.

After expected confirmation by the Senate, James is due to move Sept. 1 from his post as vice commander of the Military Airlift Command to become chief of the North American Defense Command headquartered in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Price Of Gas Skyrockets

By The Associated Press

Something besides rockets is going up this Fourth of July—the price of gasoline.

Gasoline pump prices across the state clicked upward from one to five cents as oil companies through out the country increased prices following President Ford's decision to set tariffs on imported oil.

Oil companies Wednesday announced three-cent increases in the price of gasoline at the pump, but in many places throughout oil-rich Texas the price hikes ranged from two to five cents per gallon.

At Beaumont in Southeast Texas, the price increase varied from 1.4 to 5.0 cents. The largest, five cents, was registered at a Billups station in Vidor, near Beaumont, where gasoline prices jumped from 47.9 cents to 52.9 for regular gas.

Prices for regular gas across the state ranged from 46 cents at some stations in Fort Worth to 60 cents at Lubbock.

Most self-service stations were selling regular gas for 47 cents a gallon. The prevailing prices were under 55 cents a gallon, or just below the national average for the month of June.

Not all companies raised their prices Wednesday. Gulf stations managers said they had anticipated calls from their distributors to raise prices, but the calls never came. Gulf is selling at 51.9 cents for regular gasoline.

Most gas stations managers throughout the state said customers did not complain much about the price increases.

Don Low, manager of a Phillips gas station in Beaumont, said: "I think Americans so far have been indifferent about gas increases, but I think they will eventually protest."

A Texaco service manager said he did not think the oil companies timed the increase to coincide with heavy Fourth of July driving. "But they know a lot more people will be traveling and it means more money," he said.

In Abilene, Jim Bourland, distributor for four Phillips gas stations, said distributors and dealers have to pass the higher prices to the customers. "We just can't absorb the increase," he said explaining that gasoline now was selling in the area for 48.9 to 57.9 cents.

Other dealers said some customers protested. But most agreed with Jimmy Brown, manager of a

Phillips gas station who said after raising prices five cents: "They'll all probably be back."

Meanwhile in El Paso there was a minor gas price war going on with independents dropping prices to 43 cents per gallon. Texaco, however, was selling for 57 cents a gallon.

In Washington, government officials said the tariff increase and Ford's energy program were intended to "control consumption through the price mechanism."

Dates For Camp At Webb Set

Dates for the Camp Mesquite project were set by the Junior Officer Council at its meeting at Webb AFB last week. The program to bring disadvantaged youth to the base for a week is planned for July 21 through 25 for boys and July 28 through August 1 for girls.

A fund raising event is planned for July 18 at the Officers' Open Mess in order to finance the camp. The council estimates it will need $475 to feed the youngsters.

Members of the Junior Officer Council in charge of the different fund raising activities will get help from other members in their organizations. Chairman are: 1st Lt. Margaret F. Irwin, publicity; 1st Lt. David W. Smith, organization; Capt. David W. Powell, printing; 1st Lt. Harold W. Newell, refreshments.

Other junior officers who would like to help with the program are asked to contact their Junior Officer Council representative.

Williams New Police Chief

SLATON — Larry J. Williams, 31, a Grand Prairie policeman, has been named police chief at Slaton. The position pays $800 a month.

The city commission also named Sydney J. Hester Jr., to fill the last vacancy on the city police force. Hester formerly worked for the Lubbock city police force. More recently, he has been a corrections officer for the Department of Corrections in Huntsville.

The police chief's job was left vacant when the commission fired Fred Clark May 28.

ONE OF 49 — This whooping crane chick is one of nine recently hatched by foster parent sandhill cranes at the Grays Lake National Wildlife Refuge near Wyan, Idaho. Scientists are trying to establish a second flock of the whoopers, of which there are 49 left in the world, by placing eggs in crane nests.

Pre-Paid Legal Services Next?

DALLAS (AP) — The day of the average person not obtaining lawyer's services because of a fear of high costs may soon be over in Texas.

The State Bar of Texas is pushing its non-profit corporation set up to make available legal services coverage in the same way as pre-paid health insurance plans.

Doug Richnow, a state bar staff member, said this week at the organization's annual convention here the Texas Legal Protection Plan, Inc. will help "the 70 per cent of Americans who don't go to attorneys because they're scared of the costs."

The corporation, which will be regulated by the State Insurance Board, will allow groups to pay a set amount each month for certain legal services from attorneys who have agreed to participate in the plan, Richnow said.

Richnow explained the program's operation this way: A group such as a labor union, a firm's employees or even a civic organization agrees to pay the corporation a set amount each month.

Webb Phone Calls Are Handled By 8 Women

When Webb AFB personnel pick up a base phone and dial "O" for operator, they talk to any one of eight women working at Webb who provide them with prompt, courteous service.

The operators are Janice Wilemon, Anne Sigmon, Hazel Hull, Kate Lynn, Zenuia Haston, Alice Crane, Bonnie Barber and Betty Daratt who is chief operator. In addition, military helpers work as back up.

The switchboard is a 24-hour operation with each operator working an eight-hour board shift when on duty. They work on a rotating schedule, completing the cycle every seven weeks.

"During a normal eight-hour day, the two operators on duty will handle approximately 2,500 calls," said Mrs. Daratt, who has been at Webb for ten years. "There are 658 working stations, 346 extensions and 28 off-base lines we have to keep track of," she said, "which makes it a little difficult when people don't use their directories."

When asked what were some of the major complaints the operators had, the biggest were calls from people asking what is playing at the base theater or what time the base exchange opens. "Answering and ringing the numbers requested is a full time job in itself, without having to answer all those other questions," said the operators. "Most people are courteous, but we do have those few who make our job a little harder."

Also, during emergencies, it would be helpful if callers didn't ask operators what was going on. Not only are they too busy to answer, but also they are not allowed to give out any information.

The switchboard is owned and maintained by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. "The switchboard is rather old, dating back to 1952," mentioned Mrs.

Medicare Loss Not Foreseen

SWEETWATER — Failure of the Simmons Memorial Hospital here to win accreditation by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals does not mean the facility will lose Medicare.

So says Ken Palmer, chairman of the hospital board. Palmer explained that the Joint Commission's inspection is voluntary and accreditation by it is not necessary to receive Medicare.

Palmer added there were no plans to close the hospital.

July 4, 199 years later.

Freedom still rings loud and clear.

Independence Day, 1975, is especially meaningful, because America is beginning a year-long prelude to her 200th birthday. This is a day to silently or openly express our gratefulness that our forefathers had the boldness to say that man was meant to govern himself.

It's a time to remember the brave, agonizing years of struggle for freedom that followed that fateful July 4, 1776. It's a time to remember how far America and Americans have come in just two centuries. A time to recall all that "we the people" have been through as a nation. Because, from sea to shining sea, for all our minor differences, we all share one thing — our heritage of freedom.

The history of the U.S. as a free nation is one of unprecedented growth. No nation yet approaches its industrial strength. No society in the history of the world has reached its level of prosperity. Electric energy has been a major factor in this progress. And, in the years ahead, America is going to need electric muscle. At Texas Electric, we're working hard to make sure that you'll continue having the electricity you need.

Barber Ahead

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Miller Barber, well on his way to his first million dollars, may never have made a better investment than the new putter he bought after the Masters Tournament this spring.

Barber, $38,500 short of becoming the ninth pro to exceed a million dollars in career earnings, shot a seven-under-par 65 with the help of four putts of 20 feet or more Wednesday for a two-stroke lead after one round of the $130,000 Greater Milwaukee Open Golf Tournament.

"It was my day to make the long ones. I haven't made long putts like that in three years," said Barber, who fouled the 7,010-yard Tuckaway Country Club course in the morning, when greens were soft and moist, and withstood a late challenge by home-state favorite Andy North.

North, a three-year pro and native of Monona, Wis., closed to within one stroke of Barber with the last of his seven birdies, on No. 16. However, he bogeyed the 18th and settled into a three-way tie with Art Wall and Bob Zender at 67.

Seven others, including former Milwaukee Open champions Ken Still and Dave Stockton and 63-year-old marvel Sam Snead, were at 68. Of the 154-man field, 53 shattered par and 23 more matched it.

Perry Suffers 4th Texas Loss In Row

By The Associated Press

Rick Wise wasn't very smart Wednesday night and it cost him his second career no-hitter.

The 23-year-old right-hander of the Boston Red Sox had been extra-sharp... until he faced Milwaukee's light-hitting Bill Sharp with two down in the ninth inning, one out away from becoming the second pitcher in modern baseball history to pitch a no-hitter in each league. But he walked Sharp on four pitches and George Scott and Bobby Darwin followed with home runs.

"It shouldn't have happened," Wise seethed after finishing with a two-hitter and a 6-3 victory in the first game of a two-night doubleheader as Jim Rice drove in four runs with a pair of homers. "I shouldn't have walked that guy."

Wise pitched a no-hitter for the Philadelphia Phillies against the Cincinnati Reds in 1971.

The Brewers bounced back to take the nightcap 4-3 and take undisputed possession of second place in the American League's East Division, one game behind the Red Sox.

Elsewhere, the Cleveland Indians edged the New York Yankees 3-2, the Baltimore Orioles routed the Detroit Tigers 13-6 as Don Baylor belted three consecutive home runs, the Chicago White Sox nipped the Oakland A's 5-4, the Kansas City Royals downed the Texas Rangers 7-6 in 10 innings and the Minnesota Twins trounced the California Angels 9-4.

Indiana 3, Yankees 2 — Duane Kuiper singled with two out in the ninth and raced home on Ed Crosby's single and a freak error on the relay. Crosby's single sent Kuiper to third and he came home when center fielder Bobby Bonds' throw hit Kuiper in the helmet and caromed away. Pitcher Dick Tidrow slipped trying to recover the ball, allowing Kuiper to score easily.

Orlando 11, Tigers 5 — Baylor hit a three-run homer off Tom Walker in the first inning and solo shots off rookie Fernando Arroyo in the third and ex-teammate Bob Reynolds in the fourth. Since he also homered in his last official time at bat against Boston Tuesday night, it gave him a record-tying four consecutive home runs. Jim Northrup also homered for the Orioles.

White Sox 5, A's 4 — Chicago scored the winning run on two-out singles in the ninth inning by Jerry Hairston, Bucky Dent and Brian Downing off Oakland relief ace Rollie Fingers. Reggie Jackson's two-run single helped the A's to a 4-2 lead but the White Sox tied it in the fifth on Jorge Orta's two-run triple.

Royals 7, Rangers 3 — John Mayberry hit a two-run homer off Mike Kekich in the 10th inning, his fourth in two games. However, the loser was Gaylord Perry, who suffered his eighth consecutive setback and fourth in a row since being traded from Cleveland to Texas.

OUTSTANDING CYCLIST — Big Spring's Danny Weir will be among the top entries in the Hi-Noon Optimist Firecracker 75,000 Motor-Cross Races Saturday and Sunday. He is to compete in the 250 and open expert classes.

Midland Game Is Postponed

Louisiana rain and ill-timed errors ruled Texas League baseball Wednesday night.

Wet weather forced postponement of both the Midland at Shreveport and Arkansas at Alexandria games.

San Antonio capitalized on four El Paso errors to squeeze past the Diablos 2-1 in the West Division. A Lafayette pitching error in the 10th inning put Angel Cantres in position to score and clinch a 4-3 victory for Jackson in the East Division.

Troubles for El Paso began in the second inning, when San Antonio's Andy Rodriguez tripled and then scored on a passed ball. The Brewers added their winning run in the sixth when Manny Lantigua's sacrifice fly scored Will Aaron, who had singled and gone to third on two errors.

El Paso's only run came on a sacrifice fly by Paul Dade to score Marty Friedman. Bob Graesman, 4-1, took the victory for San Antonio.

Cantres led off the bottom of the 10th at Jackson with a single to left field and moved to second on a sacrifice by Craig Clark. With two out and Rich Miller up to the plate, Lafayette shortstop Scotty Wade tried to tag Cantres out.

But umpire Tom Jones ruled it a balk because

Lynch Named Tech Coach

Susie Lynch, Big Spring High volleyball coach, resigned Wednesday to become girls basketball and golf coach at Texas Tech. Lynch had been employed in the school system for 11 years. She served on the Texas High School Volleyball Coaches Association Board of Directors for several years.

Chomyszak Back Home

CINCINNATI (AP) — Defensive tackle Steve Chomyszak has returned to his former Cincinnati Bengal teammates after a brief stint with the World Football League.

The Bengals Wednesday announced the return of the Syracuse, N.Y., native, who is expected to help fill the void left by the retirement of defensive tackle Mike Reid.

TEEN-AGE Knights Edge Red Sox

In Junior Teen-Age go-around Wednesday night, the Knights edged the Red Sox, 7-6, and Cain's Yankees outlived the Orioles, 9-2.

Ricky Myers' double in the top of the ninth drove in Freddy Martinez to score the winning Red Sox run. The game was extended for two extra frames.

Mark Harris and Myers divided the Red Sox pitching chores during four and five frames, respectively. Myers was credited with the win.

A heads-loaded triple by James Pickard in the top of the seventh spurred the Yanks to the win. Billy Johnson, Yankees starter and winner, allowed only two hits, fanned 10 and issued only one walk. Losing hurler Louis Rodriguez though only issued three setbacks.

The Yanks now share first place with the Lions and the Elks.

Webb Player Top-Seeded

Top seeded Carl McCaig will head the Webb Air Force Base varsity tennis team into the MCC tournament in July. Joining McCaig on the team will be second seed Park Hinman and third seed, Greg Dull.

Jeff Mitchell, who also qualified for the tournament, will not be able to make the trip because of an illness in the family. Robert Owens, Webb's top seeded senior player, was forced to cancel plans to compete at the ATC tournament because of duty requirements.

98,000 ACES IN THE HOLE — Texas Rangers first baseman Mike Hargrove goes through batting practice at Arlington Stadium before a recent game. The home town hero of Perryton, Texas, Hargrove may well win a spot on the All-Star team after 98,000 votes from a Texas Panhandle town are turned in.

FAVOR HARGROVE Perryton Raids Voting Supply

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Tennis elbows and sore shoulders are well known sports injuries but the people of the Texas Panhandle town of Perryton may have developed a new affliction—All-Star ballot finger.

Spurred by the success of their hometown boy, Texas Ranger first baseman Mike Hargrove, in the Major League, folks in Perryton started a campaign to get him on the starting American League All-Star team.

Perryton is not exactly a metropolis. Its population is just 8,000, but townspeople has raised the Rangers' supply of All-Star ballots to the tune of 98,000. That's 12 ballots for every man, woman and child in town.

The voting is not quite that even, however. "I know one old boy who has voted 15,000 times," said Gail Peterson, a Perryton bowling alley owner who is spearheading the campaign. "There is a good chance he'll win the first prize of a free three-day trip to see the Chomyszak in Kansas City."

Hargrove, the American League's Rookie of the Year

last season, has successfully bucked the sophomore jinx this season. He is currently among the top hitters in the league with a .336 average.

"We've had some injuries and we have another first baseman (Jim Spencer) who is better defensively than I am, so I've been in leftfield," said Hargrove. "But I still consider myself a first baseman and I think that will be my position in the future."

Foster's Blast Settles Astros

landed in the middle tier of seats in Riverfront Stadium's center field and was the longest home run of the season in Cincinnati, landing some 400 feet away.

Meta 7, Cubs 2 — Felix Millan's two-run double snapped a 2-2 tie in the fifth inning and Jon Matlack scattered eight hits, leading New York past Chicago. Matlack walked with one out to start the Mets' winning rally and went to second on a single by Mike Phillips. Both scored on Millan's double off Bull Bobham.

Dodgers 6, Padres 5 — Steve Garvey's bases-loaded single with two out in the 14th inning produced the winning run as Los Angeles beat San Diego.

Houston 10, Cincinnati 4 — Willie Randolph's 4th-inning home run off Cincinnati's Steve Carlton, HR—G. Foster (14).

Montreal 6, Pittsburgh 5 — Larry Bowa triggered the Phillies' winning rally with a one-out single and stole second before Jay Johnstone flied out. Greg Luzinski was intentionally walked before Allen tripped into the right field corner.

Braves 6, Giants 3 — Phil Niekro fired a four-hitter and Bill Poceroba tripled and scored in the third inning and added a two-run single in the fourth to lead Atlanta past San Francisco. Niekro hurled his first shutout of the season to end the Giants' five-game winning streak.

Reds 4, Astros 3 — George Foster blasted a mammoth three-run homer in the sixth inning to power Cincinnati over Houston. Foster's wallop, his 14th homer of the year, followed singles by Ken Griffey and Dan Driessen. The abor-

DECATUR, Ala. (AP) — Phillip Hancock of Greenville, Ala., the Southeastern Conference golf champion, will be among 225 amateurs in the three-day Spirit of America tournament starting Friday.

The University of Florida golfer is one of 107 in the field who have handicaps of three or less.

Also entered are the tournament's defending champion, John Barry of St. Bernard College, Cullman, Ala., and the members of last year's winning collegiate team, Norm Barnhart and Mike Neims of Kentucky.

Competition over the par-71, 7,000-yard Burningtree Country Club course will be for the tournament title and the collegiate title. Teams are entered from 33 colleges.

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Lieman Chuck Brandon, who played with Ottawa of the Canadian Football League for the past four seasons, signed Wednesday with the San Diego Chargers of the National Football League.

The Chargers also signed two 1975 draft choices, middle linebacker Ken Berniah of Auburn and tight end Charles Waddell of North Carolina.

Out To Set Title Mark

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Billie Jean King, within one match of winning her sixth Wimbledon singles crown, could set an all-time women's title record at the All-England Tennis Club before the week is out.

Ms. King, 31, who vows that Friday's final with Evonne Goolagong Cawley is her last major international singles effort, has amassed 18 Wimbledon crowns in five 15-year career — five singles, nine doubles and four mixed doubles.

Victory in two of those three events this week would break the record of 19 all doubles, which belongs to Elizabeth Ryan, who played here in the 1920s and 1930s.

Ms. King moved into the final with a 2-6, 6-2, 6-3 triumph over defending champion Chris Evert on Wednesday. It was Miss Evert's first European loss since 1973, when she bowed to Ms. King in the final here.

Mrs. Cawley earned a berth in the final by beating Margaret Court 6-4, 6-4 in a duel of former Wimbledon champions from Australia.

Ms. King, who constantly battles the pain of bad knees, called her come-from-behind victory over Miss Evert, 11 years her junior, "a real trip. I went to the edge of the ledge. I don't understand how I won."

"I'm kind of relieved," said Miss Evert after her loss. "There's been a lot of pressure on me this year, and I knew I'd have to play great to beat Billie Jean."

Devil Invited As Guest With Exposed Midriff

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know if there is a dress code for church. What is permitted and what isn't? My sister, who is 29 and married, came to church last Sunday wearing a halter-type dress that showed about three times as much as it should.

This sister came to church a few minutes after Mom was seated, and when Mom saw Sis in this outfit, she burst into tears and didn't pick her head up for the whole service. Afterwards, Mom went home and cried all day. She says she is sure Sis is going to the devil.

Maybe I'm of another generation (I am 22), but I didn't think my sister did anything so terrible by coming to church dressed that way. The church is very hot and has no air conditioning. Maybe if the church officials let people dress more comfortably, they would have better attendance in the summer. What do you think?

WARM IN GA.
DEAR WARM: Common sense and a little old-fashioned respect for a house of worship is all the dress code necessary. Your sister shouldn't have exposed her middle, your mother shouldn't have cried all day and all the churches in Georgia should be air-conditioned to discourage bare middles — and the devil.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell me some of the most common clues to look for if I already suspect (which I do) that my wife is meeting another man somewhere during the day? I am not an overly suspicious man, so you will not be generating trouble where none exists.

In this case, simply asking her will not help.

SUSPICIOUS IN DALLAS
DEAR SUSPICIOUS: If a woman gets all dressed up to go "shopping," comes home slightly late and out of breath, has no packages and is wearing her pantyhose inside out, I'd wonder where she'd been.

Get In Your Licks — With Rich, Homemade Ice Cream

By JO BRIGHT

Yes, there is still one certainty in an uncertain world. It cuts across regional boundaries and has no respect for age or sex. It's called ice cream and almost everyone gets in his licks in the summertime.

The history of ice cream is, as might be expected, a rich and flavorful one. Many sources give credit to Alexander the Great (who named the concoction, an "iced drink," "macedoine" after himself) and the Roman Emperor Nero (who sent his slaves out for snow and ice to freeze his favorite fruit drinks). Though these two are the fathers of the modern Popsicle, ice cream was founded (invented?) by a mysterious 17th Century French chef known as De Marco, who first created a frozen dessert of ice cream for a state banquet of England's Charles I. The king and his guests were so delighted that he demanded the recipe be kept forever a secret and paid De Marco 500 pounds sterling to keep his lips sealed. When Charles was beheaded in 1649, the secret leaked from the royal table.

Within 11 years De Marco's famous product was being manufactured in a Paris cafe and, by the turn of the century, it had journeyed to America. George Washington even had his own machine for making ice cream. But not until some one remembered to add salt to lower the freezing temperature, and not until the hand cranked freezer was invented in 1846, did ice cream come into its own.

WORLD'S FAIR
In 1904, the ice cream cone was introduced at the St. Louis World's Fair when an ice cream concessionaire ran out of dishes, and a nearby vendor from Damascus, Ernest A. Hamwi, helped him out. Hamwi sold a product called Zalabia, a thin wafer-like pastry baked on a flat waffle iron and served with sweets. When the ice cream vendors dish supply was exhausted, Hamwi rolled one of his wafers into the shape of a cornucopia and filled it with a scoop of ice cream. Customer reaction was spontaneous. The ice cream cone was born.

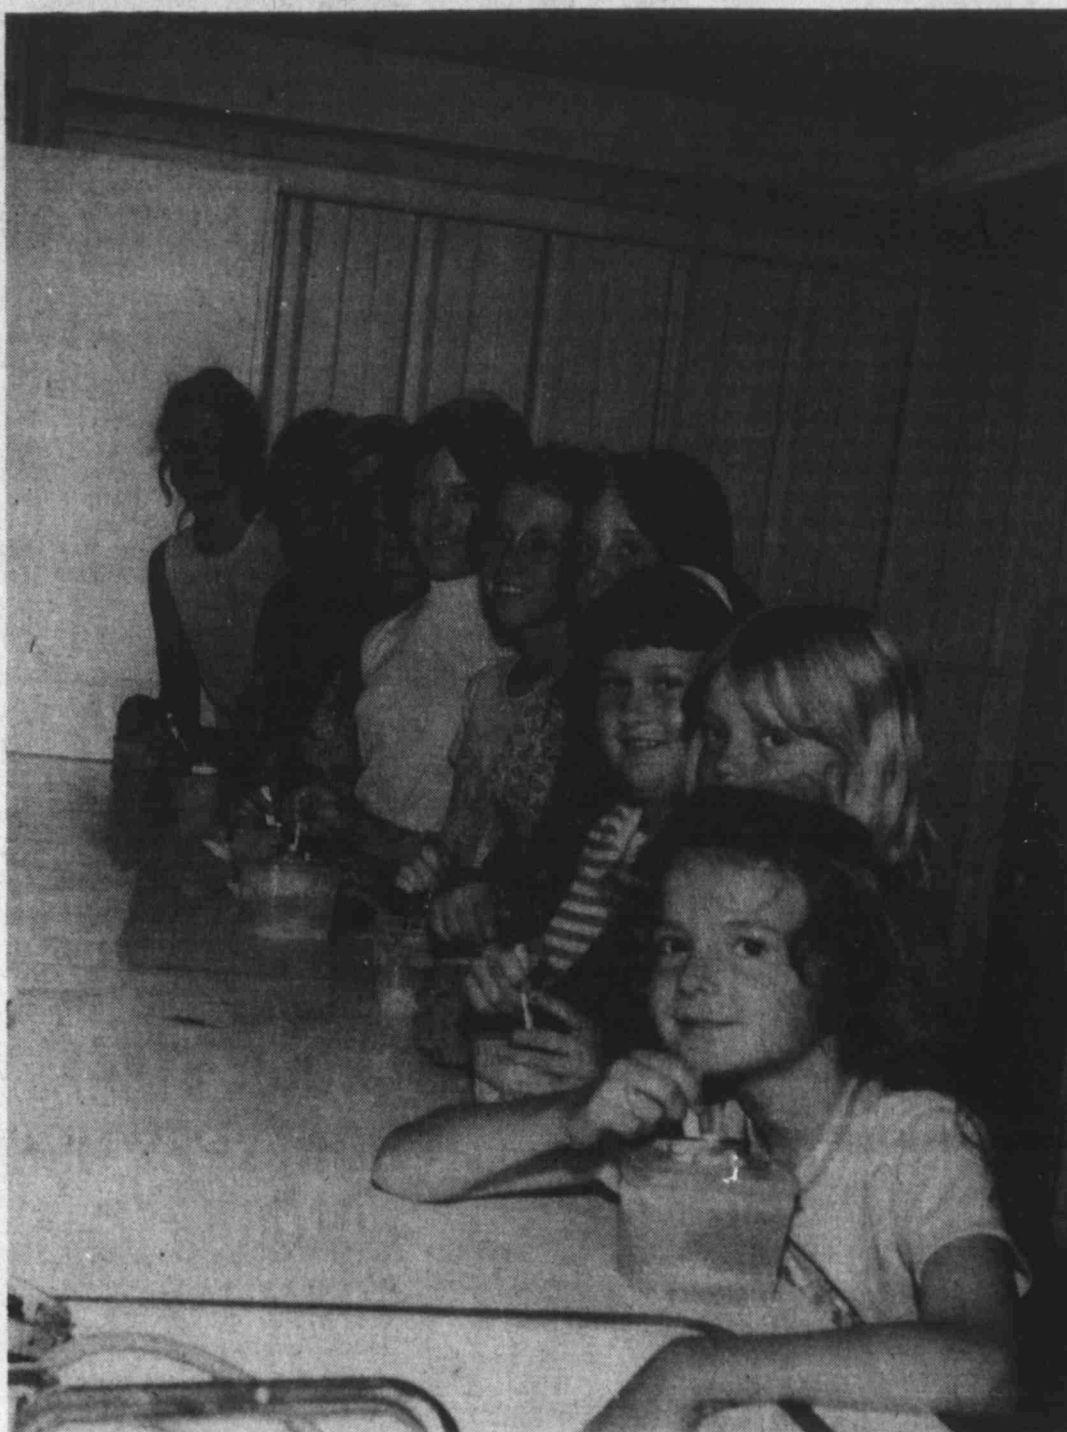

There was once a time when you couldn't sell ice cream sodas on Sunday. To get around this law, one enterprising ice cream shop simply omitted the soda water, left the fruit on the ice cream, and the Sunday soda was the result. Today you can enjoy sundaes any day, Sundays included.

DAIRY MONTH
Highlighting the observance of June as Dairy Month (designated by Dairy Council Inc.) Ms. Miriam Curry of Midland conducted a 4-H program here which stressed the role of food in beauty care. And what food got the most favorable response from the girls? Ice cream!

Instructed by Ms. Curry, the 4-H'ers made ice cream, using small, individual "freezers" which they made themselves.

The program, held in Howard County Fair Barn, included craft work, and Ms. Linda Pittman, Hockley County extension agent, instructed the girls on modeling clothing preparatory to the dress review July 11. Miss Sherry Mullin, Howard County extension agent, planned the activity and was assisted by adult leaders and 4-H team leaders. Approximately 40 girls participated.

Ms. Curry was pleased to share her recipes with Herald readers, so what better time to try your hand at cranking out some old-fashioned homemade ice cream? Then, top it off with a dazzling array of fruits and — or sauces. Since the three most popular flavors of ice cream in America are vanilla, chocolate and strawberry, in that order, why not start with them as a basis, and invent your own variations? Orange sherbert is America's number one favorite sherbert.

VANILLA ICE CREAM
4 cups milk
4 cups whipping cream
2 cups sugar
½ tsp. salt
4 qt. ice cream freezer
20 lbs. crushed ice
2 lbs. rock salt

Thoroughly mix and chill the milk, cream, sugar, salt, and vanilla. Pour into freezer can, filling no more than two-thirds full. Insert dasher, cover can and set in freezer tub.

Then pack the tub one-third full of crushed ice. Continue packing the tub with ice and one-fourth of the rock salt. Turn freezer constantly until crank turns very hard. Drain the tub.

Open freezer can and remove dasher, scraping the ice cream back into the can. Cover tightly and repack the tub with ice and the remaining rock salt. Cover the entire freezer with layers of newspaper or heavy cloth. Let stand about four hours. Makes 16-20 servings.

STRAWBERRY ICE CREAM

1 qt. crushed strawberries
2 eggs
1 cup sugar
3 cups milk
3 cups whipping cream
½ tsp. almond extract
¼ tsp. salt

Sweeten berries to taste. In a large mixing bowl, beat eggs until foamy. Gradually add sugar; beat until thickened. Add milk, cream, almond extract, and salt. Blend in strawberries. Chill.

CHURN-FREEZE. Yield: approximately 1 gallon.
Note: Approximately 3 pints fresh strawberries or approximately 2 pounds frozen strawberries (three 10-ounce packages) or two 16-ounce packages). Other fruits or combinations may be substituted for strawberries.

CHOCOLATE ICE CREAM

1 qt. milk
1 cup cocoa
1 cup light corn syrup
5 eggs
2 cups sugar
1 qt. whipping cream
1 tsp. vanilla extract

In a two-quart saucepan, combine 2 cups of milk, cocoa, and corn syrup. Bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Cool. In a large mixing bowl, beat eggs until foamy; gradually beat in sugar. Add cocoa mixture. Stir in remaining two cups milk, cream, and vanilla. Chill. Churn-freeze. Yield: Approximately 1 gallon.

ORANGE SHERBERT

6 cups milk
2 cups sugar
¼ tsp. salt
2 tbsps. grated orange peel
2½ cups fresh orange juice
5 to 7 tbsps. fresh lemon juice

In a large bowl, combine milk, sugar, and salt. Stir together orange peel and orange and lemon juice. Gradually add to milk, stirring constantly. (Mixture may appear curdled at this stage, but final product is not affected.) Chill. Churn-freeze. Yield: Approximately 1 gallon.

BLUEBERRY SAUCE

2 cups blueberries
1-3rd cup water
½ cup sugar
1 tsp. cornstarch
1 tsp. lemon juice

Combine blueberries, water, sugar and cornstarch. Cook over medium heat, until thickened. Stir in lemon juice. Chill and serve over vanilla ice cream placed on a cantaloupe ring.

STRAWBERRY ALMOND TOPPING

1 pt. sliced strawberries
1-3rd cup sugar
1-3rd cup slivered toasted almonds

Combine ingredients and chill. Serve over strawberry or vanilla ice cream, or use with fresh pineapple covered with strawberry ice cream and topped with the sauce.

CARAMEL-BUTTER SAUCE

¾ cup sugar
Dash of salt
½ cup light corn syrup
¼ cup butter
1 cup half & half
½ tsp. vanilla

Combine sugar, salt, corn syrup, butter and ½ cup cream. Cook slowly, stirring frequently, to 250 degrees on a candy thermometer or until syrup forms a hard ball in cold water. Gradually stir in remaining cream. Cook to 216 degrees, or until a thread forms when dropped from a spoon. Add vanilla. Serve warm.

FUDGE SAUCE

½ cup butter
2¼ cups powdered sugar
2-3rd cup evaporated milk
6 squares bitter chocolate

Mix butter and sugar in top of double boiler. Add evaporated milk and chocolate and cook over hot water for 30 minutes. DO NOT stir while cooking. Remove from heat and beat. May be stored in refrigerator and reheated as needed. If you want a thinner sauce, add cream but do not add water. Makes 1½ pints. Serve warm.

Pantry Pickups

To slice a pound cake or layer cake very thin for a torte use a piece of nylon thread or thin wire. To make even layers, place toothpicks at measured intervals on opposite sides of the cake. Using the toothpicks as a guide, gently cut through the cake. Remove cut layers with large spatula or pancake turner. It is easier if the cake is cold. Reassemble layers using quick and easy canned fillings or frostings.

When creaming butter and sugar, add some of the liquid called for in the recipe. The contents will cream faster with less sticking to the bowl.

Club sandwiches are usually made with chicken or turkey, but when there's no cooked poultry at hand you can make the sandwiches with sardines. Use the sardines whole and layer them with crisply cooked strips of bacon, sliced tomatoes, lettuce and Russian dressing between slices of toast.

Cook food in serving pans when possible. The dishes will be more attractive, will stay warm for a longer period of time, and will save dishes, time and labor.

Search Attic For 'Cream' Freezer

Search the attic for that old hand crank ice cream freezer or try your luck at locating one at a garage sale. They're collector's items, but functional as well. However, if you don't happen to be caught up in the current nostalgic mood and want to have your churned homemade ice cream with less effort, beg, borrow or buy an electric powered freezer. Just don't let the summer go by without making your own peach ice cream.

An important ingredient in the ice cream and sherbet recipes is light corn syrup. Corn syrup in any homemade ice cream mixture helps control the size of the ice and sugar crystals, therefore making a smoother ice cream. As part of the sweetener, it also produces a less sweet, more flavorful ice cream.

HOMEMADE PEACH ICE CREAM

¾ cup sugar
2 tbsps. corn starch
½ tsp. salt
3 cups milk
1-3rd cup Karo light corn syrup
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 cup light cream
2 cups finely chopped fresh peaches
1 tsp. lemon juice
1 tsp. vanilla
2 drops red food coloring, optional

Stir together in 2-quart saucepan sugar, corn starch, and salt. Stir in milk, corn syrup and eggs. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture coats spoon. Chill. Stir in light cream, peaches, lemon juice, vanilla and, if desired, red food coloring. Freeze in 2-quart ice cream freezer following manufacturer's directions or in your usual way. Makes about 2 quarts. Recipe may be doubled for 4-quart freezer. Follow freezer manufacturer's directions on how full to fill can; or fill no more than 2-3rds or ¾ full.

WHETHER MADE in an old style hand cranked freezer or in an electric powered one, you can't beat the pure flavor and good taste of homemade ice cream.

Conflict Of Interest?

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — It is illegal for city commissioner to retain a financial interest in a contract by which he—before he became commissioner—bought water from the city to resell to rural customers, Atty. Gen. John Hill said Wednesday.

But, he said, that would violate civil—not criminal laws.

"Because the contract arose prior to the election of the city commissioner," Hill said, he did not think article 373 of the former Penal Code applied to the situation.

That article, which was repealed in 1973, effective

Jan. 1, 1974, provided a fine of up to $500 for any city officer who "shall become interested ... in the purchase of sale of anything made for or on account of such city. Hill's opinion, which has the force of law, was requested by Patrick Batchelor, criminal district attorney for Navarro County.

MILLIONAIRE BREWS SUPPORT FOR CALIFORNIA GOVERNOR

Coors Thinks Reagan Cure For Political Hangovers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Joseph Coors, the conservative millionaire whose family name is revered by beer drinkers and feared by liberal politicians, thinks Ronald Reagan would be a good presidential cure for the nation's political hangovers.

"I've met with Reagan recently and I think he is going to be a candidate," said Coors in a telephone interview Tuesday. "If Reagan announces — and I think he will — I plan to work for him and become a convention delegate for him." Coors said he prefers the California governor to President Ford on the 1976 Republican ticket although it was Ford who nominated Coors to the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

Coors, 57, is executive vice president and the younger of two brothers who own the Adolph Coors Co. of Golden, Colo., founded by their grandfather.

Coors, a political force in the conservative camp for many years, helps fund several organizations. One of them is the Committee for the Survival of a Free Congress which hopes to replace 100 liberal congressmen with conservatives in the next elections.

The Coors family and other persons associated with the Coors empire reportedly gave $20,000 of the $412,000 which the committee has collected since beginning last July.

Coors also wants no truck with Nelson A. Rockefeller on the presidential ticket, either as No. 1 or as No. 2. "I would do it again," asserted the bespectacled Coors, who was a Colorado delegate pledged to Reagan that year.

"But my philosophy is not to work against some people, but to work for others," he said. "I will be working for somebody other than Vice President Rockefeller."

However, he declined to identify the "several others" whom he would rather see as vice president in case Ford wins the GOP top slot. Other conservatives have also expressed displeasure with Rockefeller.

better able than Ford to do the things I think are important for this nation," said Coors. "For example, we need to balance the budget... I think we should try to reduce the amount of bureaucratic intervention in the business world. All of us are spending too many business hours taking care of the vast amounts of red tape involved in bureaucratic control."

If Ford and Rockefeller were chosen by the GOP, could he see himself backing

Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace's presidential bid? "Wallace certainly is very popular. But I would have a hard time supporting him because he is a Democrat."

Library Gift Is Announced

The local Fraternal Order of Eagles Auxiliary will present a gift of $100 to the Howard County Library for the purchase of books or provision of services for senior citizens. The presentation will be duplicated across the United States and Canada by Eagle Auxiliaries to their respective libraries.

Funds were made available to the Auxiliary by the Eagles Memorial Foundation in appreciation of their cooperation and support of the senior citizen oriented Golden Eagle Fund which the Foundation administers. Eagles nationally raise money so that the Golden Eagle Fund can provide grants to charitable organizations functioning in some field of concern for the aged.

The Eagles Memorial Foundation with headquarters in Bradenton, Fla., was established as a living memorial to Eagle servicemen who died in line of duty. It provides educational and medical-aid not only to the families of such servicemen but has expanded to provide educational benefits to the children of Eagle firemen and law officers who died in line of duty.

Libraries were chosen as recipients because of the helpful service offered by them to senior citizens.

New Awareness Program Set

AUSTIN — State Insurance Board Chairman Joe Christie said the state has launched a new fire awareness and prevention program with the appointment of a full-time state fire marshal.

Christie said Charles Meadows, 60, has been named State fire marshal.

Christie said Charles Meadows, 60, has been named State Fire Marshal under authority given the State Insurance Board in Senate Bill 925, enacted by the Legislature. Meadows, a former Fire Chief of the Odessa Fire Department, has served nearly 10 years as coordinator of fire prevention under a previous state law which designated the Insurance Commissioner certain State Fire Marshal responsibilities. Christie said the revitalized State Fire Marshal's office will give new emphasis to arson investigation and the licensing of fire prevention and detection alarm equipment.

FEA Plan Will be Followed

DALLAS — American Petrofina, Incorporated, today announced that effective July 1, 1975, its gasoline will be allocated to customers at a factor of 70 per cent of their adjusted base period volumes as determined by the Federal Energy Administration.

The July allocation factor is 10 per cent below last month, but is 5 per cent higher than July 1974, said Tom E. Cereks, marketing vice president. American Petrofina's inventory position is 15 per cent lower than at the same period last year. He added that demand continues to exceed the maximum production (now 5 per cent above the industry average) available from Fina's four refineries, and that the company will be unable to purchase as much gasoline to augment its supply as it did last month. So far this year, Fina has supplied 20 per cent more than last year.

Wallace Bad Bet To Win Presidential Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic party leaders around the country disagree sharply in their assessments of the strength George C. Wallace likely will amass when the party selects delegates to its 1976 presidential nominating convention.

However, an Associated Press survey found general agreement among the leaders that it now appears highly unlikely that Wallace can gain enough support to win the party's presidential nomination, although his delegates could hold a crucial balance of power.

The survey, which produced responses from more than half the 50 states including 17 of the 30 now expected to hold primaries, conformed with an estimate of Wallace strength made at the party's national headquarters.

The estimate, based on Wallace's past showings and the way in which the 1976 delegates will be chosen, was that he would probably enter the 1976 convention with more than 720 delegates.

That is nearly double the 385.7 he received on the first ballot in 1972 and could surpass any other candidate — but it is far short of the 1,504 delegates needed to capture the 1976 Democratic nomination.

The wide disparity in forecasts is shown by the fear by party leaders in Wisconsin and Indiana that Wallace may win their presidential primaries, while leaders in neighboring Illinois, Minnesota and Nebraska see little support for the Alabama governor.

In part, the survey shows, the likely Wallace strength is affected by the kind of primary that is held. In a straight popularity contest, where delegates will be divided proportionately according to popular vote, Wallace is expected to do better than in states where delegates will be elected directly.

And his own political strategists believe that he will do less well in states that pick their delegates by caucuses and state conventions than in those that have presidential primaries.

Responses to the AP survey indicated that, in advance of a formal presidential announcement, Wallace organizations are being formed in some states where he has done well in the past — including New Mexico and North Carolina — and some where he hasn't, such as California and Massachusetts.

In the South, Wallace will be tested by a number of regional hopefuls — former Gov. Terry Sanford in North Carolina, Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen in his home state and in Tennessee, former Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia in that state and in Florida, and possibly Sen. Dale Bumpers in Arkansas.

Wildcat Staked

A Mitchell County wildcat has been staked, and another returned only drilling mud on a drillstem test.

In Sterling County, an outpost indicated as a strong gas producer.

C. F. Braun & Co. No. 1-12 Ellwood will be a 7,600 ft. Ellenburgur wildcat 12 miles south of Colorado City and 1 1/4 miles south of the shallow depleted Huribut (Sunflower sand) field. The location is 1,980 from the northeast and southeast lines of section 12-1 6-SPRR. This puts it three-fourths of a mile northwest of a 7,417-ft. failure which topped the Ellenburgur at 7,320 feet on an elevation of 2,069. It also is three-fourths of a mile west of a 7,429-ft. failure which topped the Ellenburgur at 7,350 on an elevation of 2,027 feet.

Meanwhile, Amarillo Ellwood was running logs at 7,971 feet after taking a straddle packer drillstem test from 6,490-560 with only five feet of drilling mud returned in one hour.

HMH Operators No. 1 Sara Bade Estate, a deepening operation 11 miles west of Sterling City, gave assurance of production of gas in the Canyon section, flowing at the estimated rate of a million cubic feet daily through perforations 7,694-704. Operator is preparing to perforate opposite the lower Cisco pay. Formerly drilled as H&H Trustee No. 1 Bade, it was abandoned in 1962 at 4,621 feet. It is 5 1/2 miles southeast of upper Cisco production in the Crede East field and 3 1/2 miles northeast of the Big Salute (Canyon) gas field.

Amoco No. 1 Frank Powell, northwest Glasscock outpost, was testing after acidizing perforations 8,030-050 and 8,888-967 with 2,000 gallons, and fracing with 60,000 gallons.

John L. Cox No. 2 Grunson will be 1,320 from the south and east lines of sections 38-36-3s, T&P, and No. 3-E Calverley 1,320 from the south and east lines of section 12-36-4s, T&P, outposts to the Glasscock portion of the Spraberry Trend. Both are contracted to 8,600 feet.

Lovely No. 1 Guillian, Borden County wildcat, was at 1,485 feet.

Dorchester No. 1 Terry, Sterling explorer, tested through lower Canyon section 7,895-996 after pumping 15 barrels of and 18 water in 72 hours.

Fearless Fosdick And The Energy Saving Bill
 OMAR BURLESON, M.C. 17th District, Texas
 WASHINGTON, D.C. — An "Energy" bill brought out by the Ways and Means Committee has been passed by the House of Representatives. The Senate is working on its version. As originally adopted by the Committee, it was proposed that a tax increase of 3 cents per gallon be placed on gasoline the first of 1976. Another possible 20 cents was to be added over a period of three years if consumption rose above the 1973 level. A tax on automobiles which failed to get 16.5 miles per gallon by 1977 would be taxed with increases over a five-year period unless a particular make of car reached 26 miles per gallon. These provisions were knocked out on amendments which left a system of quotas on imported oil and a system of tax credits for both private and commercial use when energy consumption was reduced by a set per cent. Another bill now out of the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee which does not deal with taxes of any kind would roll back the price of "new oil." This is oil produced after 1973 now selling at the market price. Production of "old" oil now controlled at $5.25 per barrel would be allowed to increase over a period of five years to $7.50 per barrel which would establish one price for all domestic crude oil. The measure provides for an allocation of gasoline by placing a nationwide monthly ceiling on all gasoline consumption. This measure, like the one passed, would also require auto manufacturers to meet a fleet average of 18.5 miles per gallon by 1978 up to 28 miles per gallon by 1985. It also gives the President standby authority to put into effect a rationing plan which must be first submitted and approved by the Congress. There are about as many ideas in Congress on a so-called energy bill as there are members and suggestions from across the Country arrive in every mail. Most of the ideas here say that the American consumer of automobiles and gasoline must be rescued from their own folly in the use of fuel. The Wall Street Journal recently compared some of the current ideas to Al Capp's cartoon character "Fearless Fosdick" who roams cities rescuing hapless citizens from eating poisoned beans by putting dollar-size holes in their heads with his special gun. The idea perhaps would be to eliminate every 10th motorist, which would then save 10 per cent of gasoline consumption. Fearless Fosdick flying a B-52 could put out of business every automobile plant producing cars which average less than 15 miles per gallon and that situation would be taken care of. But why should Congress bludgeon Americans with a tax to conserve. It is difficult to apply remedies for energy conservation to all parts of the Country and have fairness. The cities have public transportation. The smaller towns and rural areas have to depend entirely on their automobiles.

'Leadbelly' Block Flops
 AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge Jack Roberts refused Wednesday to grant the request of a child of the late blues singer Huddie Ledbetter to block release of a movie about Ledbetter's life. Jessie Mae Ledbetter Baisley of San Francisco sought to prevent Paramount Pictures from releasing the motion picture, "Leadbelly." Her lawyers indicated they would proceed with a $750,000 damage suit against Paramount. Witnesses for Paramount indicated that previews of the film would be offered July 25. Marc Merson, producer of "Leadbelly," said the film deals with a 20-year period in Ledbetter's life, from 1905 to 1925. Mrs. Baisley's lawyers contended the movie makes unauthorized use of the name, appearance and life story of her father, who died in 1949. Merson said Mrs. Baisley, a Fort Arthur native, signed a release in 1974. Mrs. Baisley's suit is based on a claim that she is Ledbetter's sole surviving heir. But Paramount's lawyer here, Charlie Dye, produced documents, filed in a New York probate court, that indicated Ledbetter left his estate to his wife and another daughter.
