

Oil Dialogue Deadlock

PARIS (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger conferred for more than an hour today with French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing and reported "very good progress" had been made toward resuming the dialogue between oil producers and consumers.

Kissinger conferred first with Foreign Minister Jean Sauvagnargues and later went with Sauvagnargues to the unscheduled meeting with Giscard d'Estaing at the Elysee Palace.

As he emerged from his talk with the French president, the secretary of state said "we had very constructive talks on the most outstanding issues, in the spirit of friendly cooperation which characterizes our relationship".

A spokesman for Giscard d'Estaing said the president decided to invite Kissinger and Mr. Sauvagnargues to his office when the talks between the two ministers showed that the viewpoints of the two governments on the energy dialogue had moved substantially closer.

"The president decided to receive Mr. Kissinger and Mr. Sauvagnargues largely to discuss in detail how the dialogue can be resumed," the spokesman said.

Later in the day he flies to Geneva to discuss the Middle East and nuclear weapons with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

U.S. officials said Kissinger believes another preliminary energy conference can begin within two months and that separate commissions dealing with energy, raw materials and the problems of developing nations can start their deliberations by the end of the year.

The first preparatory meeting collapsed in April when the United States and other industrial nations rejected demands by Algeria and other developing nations that the oil conference be broadened to include all raw materials.

Kissinger in May put forward a compromise proposal for several conferences working simultaneously. Last week, the major oil-consuming nations agreed on the three-pronged approach. Charles Robinson, the under-secretary of state for economic affairs, is visiting Brazil after stops in Iran, Saudi Arabia and Venezuela, and a senior American official commented: "It's now beginning to crystallize."

However, U.S. officials are not optimistic about holding back another oil price increase next fall. But they think it will be less than the $3 to $4 a barrel predicted in some quarters.

Newsman traveling with

Kissinger were told he expects Gromyko to give him "an answer" on verification procedures and a number of other issues involved in the proposed 10-year treaty to limit the size of the Soviet and American nuclear arsenals. Kissinger in turn will give Gromyko his assessment of the Soviet position.

While reports from the Middle East suggest the two sides have moved closer together, Kissinger dismissed as "totally wrong" a suggestion that an agreement has already been wrapped up.

"We are not anywhere near that point," he said as he left Washington.

BICENTENNIAL COINS — An "American Bicentennial in Texas" medallion and a U.S. half dollar commemorating the American Bicentennial are both on sale this week in local banks. Carolyn Dyer, Security State Bank, (left) holds the bronze version of the Texas medallion, on sale for $12.50, while Donna Burson, First National Bank, (right) holds the new half dollar. The half dollar features a new reverse, Independence Hall, along with dates 1776-1976 on the obverse. The Texas medallion is also available in 99.9 per cent pure silver for $45.

Lecturer Hills Escapes Death

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — British lecturer Denis Hills, who was sentenced to death for calling Ugandan President Idi Amin a village tyrant, was freed by Amin today after the president met with British Foreign Secretary James Callaghan.

Callaghan met for more than an hour with Amin in Kampala, then drove with Hills to Entebbe airport, on Lake Victoria 20 miles away, where a Royal Air Force plane waited to take them back to London.

Hills, 61, a longtime resident of Uganda and reportedly suffering from cancer, told a British radio newsmen after his release: "I'm feeling very well. I'm very happy indeed."

Hills was arrested April 1 and convicted by a military court of treason for his remarks about Uganda's military president in an unpublished manuscript. Amin announced that he would die before a firing squad on July 4 but postponed the execution. He lifted the death sentence last week after President Mobutu Sese Seko of Zaire interceded on the Briton's behalf.

Amin claimed that Hills was a spy and charged that the other 700 British subjects still living in Uganda were spies also. He threatened reprisals, then did a full reversal and said the Britons were welcome to stay and help develop the former British colony.

Kidnaped Colonel Demands

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A note received by a news agency said today kidnapers decided on a 72-hour extension of their deadline to kill a U.S. Army colonel if certain demands are not met by the U.S. government.

The note was sent to the office here of the French agency Agence France Press.

There was apparently no change in the demands made by the group which seized Col. Ernest R. Morgan of Petersburg, Va. The demands were for delivery of food and building supplies to a slum area of Beirut and have U.S. Ambassador McMurtrie Godley announce the move publicly.

The original deadline passed Wednesday with no sign of Morgan. The new deadline would be 2 p. m. EDT Saturday.

The kidnaping has aggravated a split among Palestine guerrillas. The more moderate leadership of the Palestine Liberation Front — PLO — headed by Yasser Arafat, has accused radical Palestine groups of seizing Morgan.

Both U.S. and Lebanese officials indicated the demand would not be met.

WASTE OF TAXPAYERS' MONEY? Working On Railroad Would Ease Job Woes?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Transportation Secretary William T. Coleman Jr. said today legislation designed to put America's unemployed to work rebuilding the nation's deteriorating rail system could be a waste of taxpayers' money.

Officials of Amtrak and railroad labor organizations gave their support to the proposed legislation Wednesday, saying it would lead to an improved rail network while putting thousands of unemployed Americans to work.

Coleman told a House subcommittee on transportation and commerce today that the legislation was unworkable because it attacked the symptoms of the railroads' problems without getting to the root causes.

He said the adoption of such legislation "will result in a massive expenditure of federal dollars without necessarily improving the roadbeds and track which are needed for a truly efficient, excellent national railroad system."

"Moreover, if $700 million to $2 billion can be found in the present national budget for railroad expenditure, there are better, more intelligent and more effective ways to spend it."

Coleman urged the subcommittee to pass the Ford administration proposal that would provide loan guarantees to the railroads while eliminating some of the regulation imposed on them. He said adoption of any of the four bills currently before the subcommittee "without changes in the basic rail structure or in the regulatory regime can lead to a waste of funds."

Testifying in favor of the proposed legislation was Stephen Ailes, President of the Association of American Railroads. Ailes said the legislation was one of "timeliness and merit" and predicted up to 60,000 railroad jobs could be generated if the legislation were passed.

Jack Curran, representing the Laborers' International Union of North America, and J. C. Turner, representing the International Union of Operating Engineers, said they supported the proposed legislation but had some slight modifications they would propose.

Amtrak President Paul Reistrup testified earlier in favor of the proposal, saying top priority for all upgrading should be given to routes on which Amtrak operates.

He noted that Amtrak is modernizing its aging fleet of passenger cars and has placed more than $525 million in orders for new locomotives, cars and turbine powered trains.

"The federal government is not going to get full value received for the investment in new, high-speed equipment unless track is improved," he said.

He cited 17 lines which need extensive rehabilitation, most of them owned by the financially troubled Penn Central Railroad Co.

Harold C. Crotty, president of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and representing the Railway Labor Executive Association, told the panel the labor group would support any of the four pending bills.

However, the association maintains the secretary of transportation should have discretion to select lines which need upgrading, Crotty said. Some of the bills would limit the authority.

The condition of tracks is one of the most severe problems facing Amtrak now.

Track is so bad in many places in the highly traveled eastern corridor that trains must stay below 30 miles an hour or risk tearing up the rails. Amtrak already has announced plans to spend $15 million on track repairs north of New York City.

HAIRCUT ENDS JOB — Marcus Holmes says his Genghis Khan-type hairstyle has cost him his job as a Detroit city bus driver. Department of Transportation officials said Holmes could remain on the job if he wore a hat or wig, but the 30-year-old driver refused. "They said it's not socially acceptable," Holmes complained. His bosses say he's welcome back if he hides the hairdo or changes it.

Names Allison To GOP Post

AUSTIN (AP) — James N. Allison Jr., president and board chairman of the Midland Reporter-Telegram and the Plainview Daily Herald, has been named co-chairman of Associated Republicans of Texas.

Julian H. Zimmerman, chairman of the group, announced Allison's appointment today, saying he would "add significant strength to the association, especially in the area of campaign strategy for the targeted candidates selected by A.R.T."

Allison is a former deputy national chairman of the GOP and was campaign director for George Bush's successful race for Congress in 1969.

BULLOCK'S TAX RAIDS

Norma 'Just Hustling To Keep Everybody Paid'

DALLAS (AP) — Norma Manis, owner of Norma's, an Oak Cliff cafe known for downhome cooking, says she was "just hustling to keep everybody paid" when Comptroller Bob Bullock came looking for $45,668 in delinquent sales taxes. "They did it to me first, and that made it worse," Mrs. Manis said of Bullock's raid of North Texas area businesses. "It's my own fault, you understand. I was just robbing Peter to pay Paul. The money should never have been used." Mrs. Manis said she had made a "mistake in a marriage that cost me $50,000" and was trying to settle up with other creditors when Bullock knocked on her door.

"It was just such a complete surprise when Bullock showed up because I had been paying them in Austin," she said. "They knew my situation and they told me not to worry because nothing would happen to my place until a judge issued an injunction and then there'd be a hearing."

She said the comptroller's office did not contact her about the delinquent taxes until February.

"After I settled with the federal government — I owed them $500 and they came in and seized my cash register, but I paid them three days later — I started paying the comptroller. They got $3,000 for the past two weeks from me."

Mrs. Manis said she's skeptical about Bullock's current interest — and high visibility — in collecting the back taxes.

"I don't know whether he's making this scene for publicity or he's campaigning or what. But when they closed me down, they put 30 people out of work."

"How they gonna get it (the money) thisaway?" she asked. "Closing down isn't doing anything but hurting Norma's and the people around us."

But Bullock's blitzkrieg on delinquent area firms has gotten results. Dallas district tax official Joel C. Alfie said the phones at his office here had been ringing steadily from delinquents who had heard Bullock was in town. And the office has been calling others among the 10,000 firms in arrears to the tune of $10 million.

While he was here, Bullock closed down one restaurant and negotiated a settlement with another; closed down and seized equipment and goods in a television shop and an airconditioning firm; padlocked three concrete plants pending further negotiations; and negotiated settlements with a microfilm firm and photo shop.

Denies CIA Infiltrated White House, News Media

WASHINGTON (AP) — Director William E. Colby of the Central Intelligence Agency denied an outrageous nonsense today statements that the CIA had infiltrated the White House and other federal agencies.

"There is no truth to it," Colby said.

He said government agencies, including the CIA, "detail people back and forth but this is known to the agencies."

Asked about a report that the CIA had a high-level contact in the White House during former President Richard M. Nixon's administration, Colby said: "I can't identify that reference at all."

The CIA director made the statements in testimony before a House subcommittee investigating CIA mail-opening activities.

He also denied that the CIA has infiltrated the news media or that it had a contact with a former CBS vice president, although Colby refused to comment in detail.

"I can't comment on that because I don't know what they (such reports) are referring to," Colby said. "Obviously we are not infiltrating the news media."

Two congressmen said Wednesday the House intelligence committee has evidence the CIA had infiltrated the White House, at least three other federal agencies and the news media.

"I am not sure spying is the right word," said Rep. Robert W. Kasten, Jr., R-

Wis. "But it looks like there was infiltration by the CIA."

Kasten said committee staff members saw documents at the CIA indicating the agency had contacts in the White House, the Office of Management and Budget, and the commerce and treasury departments.

But Colby replied that the CIA trades employees with other federal agencies and "obviously with respect to our career people we keep records on them."

It is unclear what the purpose of the infiltration was, Kasten told newsmen Wednesday. But he said it was clear the contacts were reporting what they saw back to the CIA.

The World At-A-Glance

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Gregg and I made a mistake," entertainer Cher said in announcing that she was seeking a divorce after nine days of marriage to rock musician Gregg Allman. "I've always believed it best to admit one's mistakes as quickly as possible," she said late Wednesday. "We just cannot live together as man and wife." A spokesman for Cher said the couple had separated last Friday, and Cher had left for an undisclosed location.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Space agency doctors examine three American astronauts today to certify their readiness to fly a joint mission with two Russian cosmonauts next week. The exams, scheduled to last several hours, have a dual purpose: to make sure the astronauts are physically fit and to gather baseline medical data for inflight and postflight comparison. The tests are being conducted at the Johnson Space Center in Houston, Tex., where astronauts Thomas P. Stafford, Vance D. Brand and Donald K. Slayton are undergoing final training for the flight.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — In the belief that turnout is fair play, a local newspaper has done up the National Enquirer what it did into Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger: sift through the garbage. The Enquirer, a weekly newspaper based in nearby Lantana, sent reporter Jay Gourley to haul away trash from the Kissinger household in Washington's Georgetown section on Tuesday. Reporter Steve Mitchell of the Palm Beach Post rummaged through an Enquirer dumpster Wednesday. "My goal was the same as the Enquirer reporter: to sort through old bills and any other old documents for a story," Mitchell wrote of his escapade.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A potential landmark damage suit has been filed against the Chrysler Corp. by a policeman's widow who claims the auto maker is to blame for the shooting death of her husband. Linda Kennedy, 33, of Delray Beach, alleged in the suit filed here Wednesday that a design defect in the rear view mirror system of her husband's Dodge patrol car created a "blind spot" in his vision and allowed a gunman to sneak up behind him. Daniel Kennedy, 33, was killed by a single pistol shot in the head as he sat in his car in the parking lot of a well lighted service station on the night of Aug. 10, 1974.

MIGHTY PRETTY CROPS — A new crop in the Stanton and Ackerly areas are sunflowers. Mrs. Stan (Dina) Smith, a Corden employe, poses in her father's sunflower field near Stanton. E. D. Holcomb is one of many area farmers who has diverted part of his cotton farm to sunflowers this season. Sunflowers are a hardy crop which withstand early weather hazards, brighten up the landscape, and are then harvested with combines for a paying vegetable oil crop. The pumpjack in the background is a reminder that oil is also an important industry in the area.

Going, Going —

According to CBS News, both Vice President Nelson Rockefeller and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger believe William E. Colby should be fired as director of the Central Intelligence Agency. The reason: They regard him as a "weak person who lacks strength of character," and thus should not fill a major government role.

Dissatisfaction with Colby is said to come not from his actions as CIA director necessarily, but from his willingness during testimony to shift blame to others where possible for agency actions. Release of a report Tuesday on domestic activities also seems to make Colby out as a careless user of the truth.

So Colby is expected to get the ax shortly. If that happens, the next CIA director should be a person of demonstrated strength and integrity; he will have a difficult time of it, guiding the agency back to good repute and steering clear of executive branch involvement and interference.

But before that successor is chosen, something should be done about Colby's predecessor as well. Richard Helms presided over the CIA during much of the period covered by the Rockefeller Commission report, most notably during the Watergate era. Now he serves as U.S. ambassador to Iran, a post he was given by then President Richard Nixon after the Watergate break-in and while the cover-up was still intact.

If Colby has demonstrated weakness of character, how about Helms? The Rockefeller report itself comments that Helms was too easily led by the White House into questionable activities with political motives. His weakness is a matter of public record.

Helms should go, too, and as soon as possible. In fact, Helms' demonstrated weakness and approval of illegal CIA activities eclipse anything of which Colby might be guilty.

Limiting The Political Pot

It will be interesting to see what happens in the case of Sen. Lawton Chiles from Florida. He will be remembered as the candidate, who, lacking any base of financial support, walked the entire length of Florida to espouse his cause. He got elected, too, because his gimmick caught the fancy of the people.

Now he is contemplating a bid for re-election. This time, he announced he will not receive a contribution of more than $10 from anyone. Of course, some will say that he is in a better position now to make such an offer, since a United States senator isn't exactly totally unknown.

But it's a bold step, nevertheless. Sen. Chiles' rationale is that if "I can't get enough people who believe in me and the job I'm trying to do to give me the $10, then I guess I don't deserve the job."

If it works, none can say that any special interest, because of weight of contributions, has any favored status. If it doesn't work, well, the Senator can go out with his head up.

Wide Of Mark

William F. Buckley, Jr.

Until someone comes along with greater skill, which cannot be reasonably expected to happen soon, Theodore White's account of the fall of Richard Nixon is likely to serve as a historical text, which is why it is worth examining the premises of this readable best-seller, "Breath of Faith."

MR. WHITE, a child of the Depression as the saying goes, liked the broad historical stroke. It used to be, he writes, that the federal government had a highly limited role to play, but by the '50's, "Government was . . . held to a higher standard; it was there to improve the condition of your life." A great many people have wondered how America ever got around to deducing impeachment of a President from the bugging of Larry O'Brien's telephone. My judgment is that the quantum jump from the one to the other is far more astonishing than the jump from Mr. White's axiomatic acceptance of the proper role of government to Richard Nixon's acceptance of his role as international peace-maker. The final paragraphs in White's book on Nixon cite the reply made by Nixon to President Ford on accepting the presidential pardon. Nixon, you will remember, had said from San Clemente that he "now" understood "how my own mistakes and misjudgments have contributed to the belief" that he had disgraced the presidency. "That the way I tried to deal with Watergate was the wrong way is a burden I shall bear for every day of the life that is left to me." And White's epitaph: "He still had not really learned the way America works."

the group had been imprisoned. As we walked the crowded streets of the largest city in the world, he remarked elatedly on the neatness of the city.

THIRTY YEARS ago, White bumbled, you would have seen corpses lying on the street, dead from pestilence or starvation. No longer. Now we saw Mao-men, and Mao-men do not litter the streets, though they continue to shoot one another occasionally, and most systematically to bully one another into a total conformity with the ideals of a revolution whose ambitions were beyond the imagination of the ogre Haldeman at Nixon's White House.

IN MOSCOW, it is in a sense different, but in a sense the same: the typical Russian harbors a little of that flinty resistance that, in the case of Solzhenitsyn, sparked a series of the great spiritual detonations of the century. Solzhenitsyn understands that the great enemy of civil society is the lie; and that it is living by a lie to celebrate the achievements of Mao Tse-tung, as Richard Nixon did in China; or to vest confidence in the intentions of a brute-totalitarian, as Nixon did in Moscow. But Nixon's opening to China, and his trip to Moscow, are the points of exhilaration in White's book on Nixon. Nixon's foreign policy, he writes, "was to make peace. This philosophy turned out to be revolutionary, correct and triumphant."

MR. WHITE is terribly mistaken. Nixon tripped. But his doing so reflected a coincidence of two things: 1) an idiosyncratic political ineptitude — everyone agrees Nixon made blunder after blunder beginning three days after Watergate; and 2) a sense of priorities with which, really, Nixon's critics have very few problems. Certainly not Teddy White.

I was with him, on a long walk one morning in Peking, when he took three of us to the place where, briefly after the Japanese captured the city, he and another journalist in

BUT YOU see, it was not revolutionary — previous presidents sought peace, with varying degrees of success. We cannot say that the policy of Nixon was correct, having no knowledge of any significant concession we have got out of China or the Soviet Union. To call it triumphant, in a season that sees impasse in the middle east, a Soviet-protected policy of attrition against Israel, a diminished American naval presence, a Portugal virtually satelized, a NATO disrupted, an Indochina lost, SEATO a wreck, is a breach of analytical rigor that borders on — dare one use the word against such a gentle cosmopolitan as Mr. White? — tastelessness.

Sales Tax Is Legal

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The 4 per cent state sales tax, which produces nearly $1.5 billion a year in revenue, is constitutional the 3rd Court of Civil Appeals ruled Wednesday.

The tax has been in effect for 14 years and is the state's biggest revenue producer, but its constitutionality apparently had never been challenged and determined.

American Transfer & Storage raised the issue in a suit to recover $11,654 in sales taxes paid under protest on packing materials used in its business.

Company lawyers contended the tax was not constitutional since it is not among those specifically authorized by the Texas Constitution — property taxes, poll taxes, corporation taxes, occupation taxes and income taxes.

But the appeals court cited another provision that allows other taxes as long as they are "consistent with the principles of taxation fixed in this constitution."

Those principles include the requirement that taxation be equal and uniform and that the state may not tax cities.

Women Managers

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite equal opportunity laws, it will be a long time before women managers in numbers will be pulling the levers at high levels of American industry, a management specialist says.

The explanation, says Eugene Jennings, has nothing to do with sex, courage or ability. It may, however, have a lot to do with intelligence, the desire for achievement and job satisfaction.

"The woman manager is discovering what male managers have known for years, that much of managerial work is tedious and boring," says Jennings, a professor at Michigan State University and a business consultant.

Many women, he continues, "are no different than many men who after 8 or 10 years in the managerial world learn it is not what it is cracked up to be. A lot of the work is simply routine and almost meaningless if you don't have a reason to justify it."

Jennings believes that "the married male with a family can justify the tediousness and onerousness of his work because he is supporting a family; but a woman whose husband is a good breadwinner cannot do so."

After a decade or less in managerial work, many high-achieving women have learned a great deal about carrying the authority and responsibility of managing in terms of profit objectives and budgeting for performance.

Many of them are in the $20,000 to $40,000 salary category and have had experience running a branch office or department or zone. They are just being noticed for possible promotion to division manager.

At this point many of them leave managerial work, Jennings notes, and seek something more rewarding. Finding herself on what she considers a treadmill in terms of job satisfaction, a woman often goes into business for herself.

Another alternative noted by Jennings, who is credited in managerial circles with having built the first computer program to monitor executive mobility, is to work for a smaller, service-oriented corporation that requires more initiative and creativity.

A third alternative is to stay with the corporation but to quit line, or supervisory work, and take on staff work, such as planning, advertising, personnel and aspects of finance that seem more technically than managerially oriented.

Jennings stresses that the decisions made by women aren't signs of inadequacy. "Not all men are cut out for management and not all women are either," he says. But the women, seemingly, have a chance to do something about it.

The corporate world is a poor battleground on which to prove women's liberation, says Jennings. It has its own requirements, and they sometimes conflict with personal ambitions.

Thank Heavens . . .

Around The Rim

Marj Carpenter

The Pony Express ride was quite a success and a lot of people had a lot of fun out of it. There's something romantic about the original pony express, even though it only lasted 16 months before the telegraph took over.

HOWEVER, TODAY, with all the governmental bureaus, it's doubtful that it would have lasted 16 days.

In the first place, pony express riders were hired by size. They were quite small. Nowadays, they would be plagued with the problems of the equal employment opportunity act. They would have to interview large and small, old and young, black and white, men and women. And let's face it, a big fat old woman would never have made a good pony express rider. (In fact, I don't even want to try.)

NEXT, THEY would have faced the ire of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Somebody would have told them that the horses couldn't run that fast, nor that far, and there would have been letters to the editor and other terrible threats.

The Wildlife and Audubon Societies would have threatened them strenuously if they shot and killed rattlesnakes along the way. We are living, breathing testimony to that fact, as Jaycees will testify as to their Rattlesnake Roundup.

And the Environmental Protection Agency . . . oh, my. They could never have passed their regulations. It definitely would have to do something about some of the natural tendencies of ponies. Their pollution would be noticeable.

THE OCCUPATIONAL Safety and Health Act people would never stand still for the Pony Express riders' head gear. Riders would have to wear hard hats for sure, in case the Indians decided to shoot arrows their way. Western hats would never do.

And that's something else, the Bureau of Indian Affairs could never stand still for the attacks on the Indians by the Pony Express.

The safety and health group would also insist there would have to be indoor bathrooms and the women's bathroom, also the old lady pony express rider, would have to have a couch.

NOW THERE ARE also rules about equal opportunities for the handicapped, and if you had a two-story way station, you would have to have ramps for wheel chairs. Just in case somebody came along in a wheel chair.

The Water Quality board would not sanction buckets of drinking water along the way. The water would have to be pure with only so many hundred parts of sand and silt in the streams, where the express riders got a drink.

Funding would have to be approved by the government review committee, the regional planning council and possibly one of the federal or state boards.

H.E.W. WOULD be sure that there was no discrimination. A certain percentage of the riders would have to be from a minority ethnic group in that location. In part of the territory they rode across, that minority might happen to be horned toads.

Thank your stars, Pony Expressmen. You really did this country a service — in the good old days before government bureaus. Any group now who seriously tried to undertake such a project would be so hopelessly embroiled in governmental red tape that they wouldn't even get their foot in the stirrup.

Changing Policy

Robert Novak

MANILA — Attempts by President Ferdinand E. Marcos to balance suppression of Moslem insurgents with courtship of the Arab oil bloc reflects the new de-Americanized foreign policy of the Philippines.

TO THE DISMAY of army officers, Marcos has pulled military punches against escalated guerrilla operations on the southern island of Mindanao rather than give Arab states the impression of a Christian nation waging holy war against its Moslem minority. What's more, he has turned the other cheek to Moslem countries aiding the insurgents.

Such deference to the Arabs was prompted by Philippine economic suffering from higher oil prices last year with their big American brother standing helplessly. That was one of several shocks — beginning with the 1969 Nixon Doctrine and climaxed by the 1975 Indochina debacle — adding up to U.S. decline in East Asia. Thus it caused Marcos to end Manila's echoing of Washington. Besides the Arab courtship, the new policy emphasizes regional Asian ties, abandons vocal anti-Communism and embraces Communist China.

NOR DOES the Philippines any longer copy American political and social models. Martial law under Marcos is flourishing after 1,000 days, reflecting a consensus that America democracy is simply not for this country. Marcos returned last month from Peking rapturous about the Chinese system and suggesting its applications here. For better or worse, the Filipinos are no longer, in William Howard Taft's unfortunate phrase, "our little brown brothers."

MARCOS'S DETERMINATION to establish a distinctly Philippine foreign policy is shown by its interaction with his worst domestic problem: the Mindanao insurrection. While scattered Communist insurgents are no problem, Moslem guerrillas grow stronger and recently pulled off two bloody ambushes of Philippine troops (unreported in the controlled Manila press). Some 30,000 Philippine troops in Mindanao are not even close to suppressing guerrillas whose ancestors plagued Spanish and American colonialists.

My Answer

Billy Graham

I read where the communists (North Vietnamese) when they took over South Vietnam arrested the prostitutes, the pimps and the gamblers. It is also reported that they stopped the drug traffic so prominent there, and did many other things for the betterment of Vietnamese society. How do you, a Christian, explain this? The North Vietnamese, as I understand the situation, are atheists. Is it possible that the communists have a higher standard of ethics and morals than Christians have?

M. B. Your question is based upon an assumption — that South Vietnam, prior to the North Vietnamese take over, was run and controlled by Christians. The truth of the matter is that Christians have always been a tiny minority in Southeast Asia. It is possible that you allude to the American military as Christian. This too is a false assumption. Although we indeed have many Christian military leaders who are Christian, evangelical Christians are also a minority in the military.

You are also assuming, perhaps, that the military encouraged prostitution, gambling and procuring — even drugs. This too is a false assumption. It is common knowledge that the official military policy far from encouraging these vices, do everything to discourage them. Red light districts, for example, are usually "out-of-bounds," and numbers of men and gamblers are targets for the wrath of the military.

As for the communists promoting a kind of high moral ethics, I believe this could be true. Their Soviet "purtanism" and the constant promotion of "clean living" in Pravda, the Soviet newspaper, makes sense, even to the Soviets. Common sense, as well as Christianity, tells us that the sins of the flesh which weaken the moral fabric of people (any people) is in the national interest. The difference is, the Soviets, a totalitarian regime give their people no alternative. They decree that all prostitutes, dope peddlers and pimps — as well as the creators of pornography, be jailed. But, not so in parts of America. One of the costs of freedom is the rash of people with low ideals who constantly prey upon a gullible public for private gain. Control, as the Christian sees it, must come from within. If a person wants to throw his life away in America, he can do it without being arrested and jailed.

No Magic In Vinegar

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have tried all kinds of diets in order to lose weight, but none of them has ever worked for me. I have read that if a person drinks vinegar in a glass of water at each meal, it will reduce your weight, so I tried it.

To my delight it worked. I have lost 15 pounds in just a few months. I drink four teaspoons of apple cider vinegar in a glass of water four times a day. Would you advise me to continue doing this?

Mrs. D.K. I can't buy the vinegar. It is a rather foolish notion that this will help lose weight.

You must have reduced your caloric intake in some way to have shed the 15 pounds. Vinegar is a rather weak acid. So is the stomach environment. It might injure your teeth enamel before it would your stomach. If you had an ulcer, you might experience some irritation from this, however.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: In your booklet on diabetes you mention that there are camps available for diabetic children, where their particular needs can be provided for. Last summer, it was helpful, and the thought put me on the right track in getting my child to a place where he could enjoy summer activity like other youngsters.

Won't you please repeat this information in your column so that other parents can be advised about it?

Mrs. T.E. I am happy to, and I'm pleased it was useful information for you. For some years now various branches of the American Diabetes Association have been organizing camps, providing medical supervision and proper dietary information. In Texas, contact your Lions Clubs.

You can also write for information to the American Diabetes Association headquarters at 1 East 45th Street, New York, N.Y., 10017. I have a booklet that contains further information on handling the diabetic child, and hopefully others might benefit from it. It is available if you send 25 cents to me in care of the Big Spring Herald for "Diabetes, The Sneaky Disease." Enclose a long, stamped and self-addressed envelope for mailing.

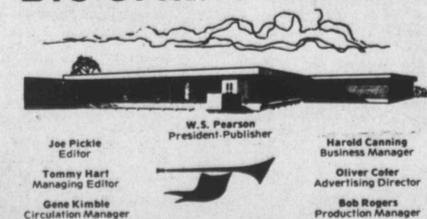

Although cholesterol has been implicated in heart attacks and other circulatory troubles, it is also vital to human life. For this reason, Dr. Thosteson has entitled his booklet, "Control Your Cholesterol Sensibly."

Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever Kills Two Texans

By WALT FINLEY
There's more to ticks than meets the eye and, although these critters are essentially blind, they are efficient pests.
Ticks can carry Rocky Mountain spotted fever which has killed two persons in the state this year, according to the Texas Animal Health Commission.
The TAHC said the two victims were a 41-year-old Tyler man who apparently picked up the ticks while working cattle in Van Zandt County, and a young Cass County woman.
Oklahoma public health officials report 20 unconfirmed cases this year; lab studies are under way to confirm an additional 18 cases. Two deaths are blamed on ticks. The confirmed total is four times the number for this time last year.
"We're concerned. It indicates a pretty sharp increase over what we've seen in the past few years," said Dr. Stanley Ferguson, Oklahoma epidemiologist.

Howard County Extension Agent Ronnie Wood said ticks are a problem locally, mainly on dogs. Although the Extension Service has not released information on widespread infestation, Wood said even his brother's dog was bothered by ticks.
Besides the disease risk, ticks can be irritants during spring and summer recreation since the parasite is flourishing this year after the mild winter and heavy rains.
Dr. Jackie Hair, associate professor of entomology at Oklahoma State University, said insect monitoring indicates all ticks species are on the increase.
He said the two most prevalent species in Texas and Oklahoma are the Lone Star tick—a major pest of man and animals and most commonly seen in eastern Oklahoma—and the American Dog tick, which prefers pets, but will move on to humans after feeding on animals.

"These are the two most important pests of man and both can carry Rocky Mountain spotted fever," Hair said.
Not all the ticks are disease-carriers. Hair said it is important to remove the parasites as soon as possible since the tick cannot start transmitting the disease to the host until it has eaten for 24-36 hours.
This is the risk in those ticks which had fed on pets, he noted.
"It is normal for the male tick to eat, then detach from the host and move around looking for a mate. During this time, if children are playing with the dog or cat on which the tick is moving, it will crawl off and reattach itself to man," Hair noted.
If a tick attaches itself to you, simply pick it off, grasping the tick between your fingers or with tweezers as close to the head of the tick as possible.
A few "experts" suggest a safe, painless, easy way to remove the little devils from one's person.

Saturate a cotton ball with nail polish remover and tape securely in place over the offending visitor. Remove after about 20 minutes and rejoice in observing that the pest has expired, relaxed his grip, and fallen away, with no pulling, tugging, burning, squeezing or other mutilation of either eater or eatee.
Cotton, polish remover and tape should definitely included as standard equipment in every first aid kit prepared for hikes or camp-outs. Charles Lanham, Tulsa district Boy Scout executive, said.
Officials advised against squeezing the body of the parasite during removal. They cautioned against use of hot materials like matches or heated needles which could mutilate and irritate the tick.
Hair said the head of the tick usually will come with the body, but if the head remains it is not reason for concern.

"The body tissue will respond similar to a splinter or thorn. Overnight the tissues will begin rejecting the head and it should come out easily," he said. Then brush the area with an antiseptic such as alcohol.
He said the head of the tick alone cannot transmit disease. "It takes the living tick to transmit disease and cause problems."
Hair advised the following for spring camping and tick control:
Personal hygiene is important, particularly with children. Parents should check children. The parasites usually attach themselves at the hairline, under arms, around the body where clothing fits tightly or where there are folds in the skin.
Camp in areas where maintenance is good including short grass and little underbrush. Avoid camping in thick woods or high grass since ticks are found during the summer on leaf litter and vegetation waiting for a passing host.

If insect repellants are used, these should be applied every two or three hours. There is no insect spray specifically designed for ticks.
Hikers should wear long pants and boots with the pants tucked into the boot top. A commercial repellent called Sevin may be used in dust form on boots and pants. This should not be used on bare skin.
When you are in tick-infested areas, watch your arms and legs and remove the parasites as soon as seen.
Remember, Hair advised, that ticks require wild animal populations to maintain themselves and thus are seldom seen in urban residential areas.
Public health official Ferguson said symptoms of Rocky Mountain spotted fever include aching muscles, fever, headache, and red spots usually first seen on arms and legs, then spreading rapidly.

Planning Panel OKs 3 Projects

Projects affecting Big Spring in the aggregate of $364,126 were approved by the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission at its semi-annual session Tuesday. The affair was held in Ranchland Hills Country Club at Midland and was attended by 19 from Big Spring and Howard County.
Midland County Judge Barbara Culver told the group. "It is fiction that a city or county can go it alone in the complicated world of federal and state grants. A planning council does not weaken the individual governmental units, because it takes nothing away from them, but gives them strength as they perform as a unit."
Mrs. Culver, who is now vice president of the national organization of government councils, was second chairman of the Permian Basin group behind Judge Leslie Pratt of Lamesa and prior to Judge Chester Taggart, Monahans; Judge Buck Luttrell, Fort Stockton and the current chairman, Judge Marcus Crow of Seminole.

crime within their boundaries."
Judge D. W. Parker of Garden City nodded in agreement. Other county judges from this area attending were Judge Bill Tune, Howard, and Judge Pratt, Dawson. Mayor Cecil Bridges, Stanton, was on hand, as were Harold Hall, Big Spring city councilman, who is a member of the board, and Mayor Pro-Tem Polly Mays.

MEETING SET
The next semi-annual meeting will be in Pecos. Fort Stockton also extended an invitation.
In the board meeting which followed, Big Spring saw three projects approved which directly affect it, including $181,705 for the Head Start program of the Big Spring schools, $75,100 for the highway department funds for the proposed project of widening Scurry Street from 15th Street to N. Frontage Road FM 700, and $107,321 from the federal highway administration for a shuttle bus to take passengers to air terminal, UTFB and other colleges in the area.
Other projects approved included highway funds to be spent on Cedar Street in Pecos, Grant Avenue in Odessa and several intersections in Midland, and a city park in Odessa.

NEW MEMBERS
It was announced that both the Howard County Soil and Water Conservation District and the City of Coahoma are new members of the organization.
Judge Crow pointed out the main accomplishments of the year, commending Director Ernie Crawford and his staff. He listed the emergency medical system, the designation as a health district, work in crime prevention, work among the aged, and the Manpower program as some of the newer items handled by the council.
Winkler County is a new member of the council, along with the City of Kermit. Only Crane and Loving Counties in the 17-county area are not members at this time. The Crane County judge was a guest at the luncheon.

TICK TYPES TICKED OFF—These drawings by Velma Finley show the female and male ticks of two Texas species. Both are pests of humans and both can carry Rocky Mountain spotted fever. The two at left are American Dog ticks and the two on the right are Lone Star ticks. The male is characterized by white marbling on its body. The female Lone Star tick has the white dot on the body and the male of the species has white banding close to its tail.

THEY IS US
In outlining the facts and fiction about the council, Mrs. Culver paraphrased Pogo: "I looked for the enemy and found 'they is us.' I also found that we need to inform the public about what the organization is all about."
She was backed up by State Rep. Mike Ezzell, Snyder; E. L. Short, Tahoka; and John Hostenbach, Odessa, who all pled for West Texas to join together for added strength through unity, because numbers become smaller and smaller in the legislature. Rep. Dick Slack, the fourth representative within the council boundaries, was in Austin on the committee hearing the Judge Carrillo proceedings.
Rep. Hostenbach pointed out that by 1980, West Texas will have even less representation in numbers; Rep. Ezzell said that planning is a necessary item for West Texas and that planning councils are important. Rep. Short also urged the West Texas group to stick together.

FUNDS NEEDED
Rep. Short told of some of the things not yet attained in the legislature that he thought would help West Texas, including a need for 100 per cent funding of legal counsel so that "Counties such as Glasscock will not go broke because of a single money."

Defense lawyer Wallace Duncan has said that Russell never knew money he advanced to AMPI officials went for illegal purposes and that some contributions which the government claimed were corporate actually were personal contributions.
Duncan was questioning Russell Wednesday night when U.S. Dist. Court Judge John H. Wood Jr. recessed the trial for the night.
Russell testified that his secretary handled all billings for his practice and that he never looked at billings before they left the office.
The milk lawyer said also that he knew his secretary was giving advances to AMPI officials when they requested them and that she sent false billings to recoup the money.
However, Russell said AMPI officials told him the money went to pay fees of other attorneys and expenses they didn't want to list separately in AMPI books.
Russell said because AMPI officials refused to tell him which lawyers' fees his advances helped pay, he had to treat the bogus billings as income for tax purposes instead of treating them as deductible expenses.
Russell said he once told Isham, "This is a tremendously expensive way for AMPI to raise money."

Lawyer Faces Rugged Cross Exam About Gifts

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Oklahoma City lawyer Stuart Russell faced cross examination today at his trial on charges he helped Associated Milk Producers Inc. (AMPI) funnel corporate funds to political candidates seeking federal office.
Russell, 58, took the stand in his own defense Wednesday and denied he ever authorized billing AMPI to recover political contributions.
Corporations are prohibited by law from contributing to candidates in federal races.
Russell, who wore a black suit and leaned forward resting both arms on the front of the witness box, said he discussed billing clients for contributions only twice—both times with his secretary.
"I instructed her very specifically that we should never bill back a direct political contribution to a client," he said.
Russell said the subject came up after he acquired to make a personal political contribution when solicited by David Parr, a founder of AMPI, in 1968.
He said his secretary, Jane Hart, asked if such a billing AMPI wouldn't be proper.
Assistant Watergate Special Prosecutor Thomas P. Ruane has alleged that Russell gave money to AMPI "political operations or directly to candidates, then billed AMPI to recover

DEATHS Laura Cravens Scopes Evolution Trial Held Half-Century Ago

DAYTON, Tenn. (AP)—It is a half-century ago today that the Scopes evolution trial, one of the most widely publicized court cases in the history of American jurisprudence, started.
And a little table still in use in Robinson's Drug Store is a memento of a major preliminary step to the trial.
During a casual conversation at the table on May 5, 1925, Rhea County High School biology teacher, John Thomas Scopes, agreed to be the defendant in a test case of Tennessee's new evolution law. A plaque notes the date.
The statute forbade the teaching in public schools of any theories that denied the divine creation of man as taught in the Bible.
Scopes had been teaching Darwin's theory that man evolved from a lower form of life.
The case, which went to trial July 10, 1925, attracted worldwide attention. Clarence Darrow, the most famous trial lawyer of the times and an agnostic, headed the defense. William Jennings Bryan, a Bible fundamentalist and three times Democratic nominee for president, joined the prosecution staff.
During the 10-day trial, Darrow poured scorn on what he called Tennessee's "Monkey Law" and Bryan stoutly defended it. Scopes was convicted and fined $100.
On appeal, the state supreme court upheld the constitutionality of the law but threw out the fine on a technicality, denying Scopes grounds for appealing the decision to the U.S. Supreme Court.
All of the principals are now dead except Sue K. Hicks, 79, a retired circuit court judge who lives near Sweetwater. Hicks, a member of the prosecuting team for the Scopes trial, recalls:
"I wrote the warrant for Scopes' arrest. Some members of the school board came to me and my brother, Herbert, and asked if we would represent the county in trying Scopes. We

Whisky Auction

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Liquor seized from a San Antonio dealer who was $405,000 behind in his sales tax payments to the state will be auctioned here July 21, Comptroller Bob Bullock's agents seized nearly 15,000 cases of whisky, beer and wine from three discount liquor houses owned by the dealer.
"Perhaps some of the buying public who paid sales taxes to this dealer which never got to the state treasury can now come in and pick up a bargain or two," he said.
The auction will be held at 10 a.m. in the main ballroom of the Courthouse Square Travel Lodge Hotel.

STICKING TO HER GUNS Divorcee 'Holds Key To The Jail'

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP)—Virginia Ealy has spent a week in jail rather than sign a property settlement worked out as part of a divorce decree.
District Court Judge Roscoe Pile, who held her in contempt of court, said Wednesday he will keep her in jail until she signs.
"She holds the key to the jail," Pile said. "Any time she wants to comply, I'll release her."
But Mrs. Ealy is sticking to her guns.
Her attorney, Frank A. Bruno, says he will appeal directly to the Colorado Supreme Court unless Pile releases her immediately.
"How the hell can a judge order a woman confined to the county jail at a hearing not scheduled for that purpose?" Bruno asked.
Pile sent Mrs. Ealy to jail last Wednesday during a hearing he had arranged to settle maintenance and child-support payments. It was the fourth hearing on the divorce case between Mrs. Ealy and her husband, Gene K. Ealy.
Pile said the case should have been completed in two hours. "This case was the simplest property settlement I ever had," he said. "But they got to fighting so much

'Guys-Dolls' Opens Today

"Guys and Dolls," a rollicking musical packed with zany characters from a Damon Runyan story, opens 8 p.m. today at Howard College.
Repeat performances are set for the same time in the college auditorium Friday and Saturday with a community cast directed by John Gordon and Ken Sprinkle. Tickets are $3 and $1 students.
Featured in title roles are Capt. Dick Risk, Laurie Choate, David Wright, Kay Barnett. Other key parts are played by Danny Rountree, Charles Grizzard, Ricky Mitchell, Bill Cross, Carie Wheeler, Billy LeRea and Janice Gregg.

Slayer Leaves For Penitentiary

Abel Trevino, who pleaded guilty recently in 118th District Court to murder charges, was transferred to Huntsville Wednesday afternoon to begin serving his 25-year sentence for murder.
In other court action Wednesday, Luther Taylor Jenkins pleaded guilty in county court to DWI and was fined $50 and costs. A 30 day sentence was probated for six months.
John E. Curtis is free in a $500 self-recognition bond on a charge of threat to do bodily harm.

Collision Car Proves Stolen

The car involved in the collision Tuesday night with a utility pole at 7th and Johnson was found to be a stolen vehicle.
"I thought all along, ever since 1925, that the law was unconstitutional," Scopes said in later years.
He returned to Dayton only once, in 1960, and observed then that "the town hasn't changed much since 1925."

STICKING TO HER GUNS Divorcee 'Holds Key To The Jail'

... we spent three times as much time as we were supposed to."
Pile, Bruno and Ealy's worked out after three acrimonious hearings to a 50-50 property settlement with the house going to Ealy.
But Bayer said Mrs. Ealy became enraged because her husband brought a girl friend to the house "to show her the house, since they would be living there."
Then, at the July 2 hearing, Mrs. Ealy "came into the court and said, 'I won't sign over,'" the judge said. "That's when he told her he would hold her in contempt unless she signed, and ordered her jailed when she refused."
Keith Ealy, the couple's 22-year-old son, then began reading the Bible to the judge. On Pile's orders, sheriff's officers escorted Mrs. Ealy to her cell and Keith Ealy out of the courtroom.
Pile said Mrs. Ealy is the first woman he has jailed in a divorce case but that he doesn't think that makes the case unusual.
"I've sent hundreds of men to jail in divorce proceedings, mostly for failure to pay child support," he said.

'All American Fashions' Sets Theme For 4-H Dress Revue

A bicentennial theme, "All American Fashions," set the stage for the 1975 Howard County 4-H Dress Revue in the county fair barn. Red, white and blue ribbons and miniature flags decorated a greenery-covered archway which was flanked by floral arrangements. In the background were large American, 4-H and Bicentennial flags.

Over 150 persons were present to see the revue and hear the winners announced. Kayla Gaskins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins and a member of the Knott 4-H Club, was the senior winner, modeling a beige chino two-piece costume with coordinated print blouse. The longer look was featured in a gored skirt, and the tailored jacket had a wide matching belt. Miss Gaskins is attending Howard College and will be a sophomore at Texas Tech University in the fall.

Alternate in the senior division was Dana Westbrook, member of the Gayhill 4-H Club and a junior student at Gail. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Westbrook.

Carmen Holman, Coahoma 4-H Club, took the top spot in the junior division, showing a longer length, berry and beige print knit fashion featuring a self fabric ruffle on the skirt. The cowl neckline could be worn as a hood. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Don Holman. Also outstanding in the junior division, and judged alternate, was Lesli Guitler of the Knott 4-H Club, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Repps Guitler.

Miss Gaskins and Miss Holman will represent Howard County in district competition Monday at Lubbock. A noon luncheon sponsored by the Plains Cooperative Oil Mill will be for the revue participants and their mothers.

Other seniors participating were Darla Harrington, Coahoma 4-H; and Gail Grose and Tricia Jackson, Gayhill 4-H.

Competing in the Junior III division were Toni Mundell, Kathy Harrell, Ladene Hartin and Jaylene Saunders, J.F.F. 4-H; Tammy Peugh, Tonya Shortes, Jana Long, D'Ann Hall, Lesli Guitler and Stacy Parker, Knott 4-H; and Carmen Holman, Coahoma 4-H.

In the Junior II division were Shellie Peterson, Ruby June and Jana Wegner, Gayhill 4-H; Olga Cantu, Knott 4-H; and Paula Kay Allen, Coahoma 4-H.

The Junior I participants were Antoinette Nichols, Lucky Acres 4-H; Gwynne Bryant, Dawn Underwood, Tanya Hollis, Tonya Newsom and Ronda Newsom, Gayhill 4-H; Debra Shortes, Knott 4-H; and Kathi Wallis, Coahoma 4-H.

Scott Underwood of Gayhill 4-H modeled a purchased garment and accessories. Linda Bassham of the same club did not model but had a garment on display.

The clothing program in the county was led by 20 adult 4-H leaders under the supervision of Ms. Sherry Mullin, county extension agent. There are 80 4-H members enrolled, representing five clubs.

The leaders work with the 4-Hers with certain objectives in mind. These are to help the 4-H members build self-confidence and poise through developing an understanding of "self" in order to select and make clothing which is becoming and expressive of the personality, develop grace, good posture and habits of good

Period Attire Sparks Patio Breakfast

Mrs. D. H. Griffith, 1619 E. 17th, was hostess to the Center Point HD Club Tuesday for a Dutch oven breakfast on the patio. Mrs. L. J. Davidson and Mrs. Don McKinney were co-hostesses.

The breakfast was prepared in a Dutch oven used by Mrs. Griffith's parents as they traveled with their children in a covered wagon. The family was moving from Howard County to Arkansas when, in Oklahoma, a blizzard forced them to return to Texas.

Visitors attending were Mrs. J. F. Skalicky, Mrs. J. C. Williams and Mrs. Don McKinney. Mrs. Davidson gave the invocation. Mrs. Alden Ryan presided over business and Mrs. Fannie Kent gave the devotional. Members were attired in colonial costumes.

Mrs. Griffith presented a program on the history of Howard County, giving an account of Capt. Marcy visiting the spring and the Indians who had used it before. A collection of antiques was displayed by Mrs. Davidson and Mrs. Griffith. Mrs. H. L. Stamps won the door prize.

Mrs. Bob Wren announced that senior citizens will be able to tour the Palo Duro Canyon by bus for a fee of $20. Interested persons may get more information by calling Mrs. Marshall Brown, 267-5839.

Plans were finalized for the annual picnic Aug. 12, in Comanche Trail Park for 70 patients from Big Spring State Hospital.

The next meeting will be Sept. 9 with Mrs. Stamps as hostess.

Ceramic Art Demonstrated

The Newcomer's Handicraft Club met Tuesday in the First Federal Community Room with Mrs. Jean Denton and Mrs. Shirley Twing as hostesses.

Mrs. Johnnie Lou Avery of the Howard County Bicentennial Committee gave an account on projects underway and plans for the coming year. Ideas were discussed on the participation open to the club and events it could sponsor.

Mrs. Denton gave a demonstration of ceramics, displaying her works. She showed the art from the pouring of the mold to the various glazes and stains used.

New members welcomed were Mrs. Jane Kelly and Mrs. Kathy Foster.

The next meeting will be July 22 at First Federal Community Room with the Big Spring Squares as guests and performing artists.

Mom Snowed By Son's Gift-Giving Girl Friend

DEAR ABBY: How do I go about telling the girl whom our son dates to please stop buying our family expensive gifts for every occasion? We do not want them because we can't afford to reciprocate.

She has a very large family, and because she gave everyone in our family she ever said hello to a very expensive Christmas gift last year, my son felt that he had to do the same for her family. (He is still paying for them.)

For St. Valentine's Day she gave ME a present and also my husband. On Mother's Day, another one, and she's not even engaged to my son. She even found out when our birthdays were (mine and my husband's, the other children's, even the grandparents!) and the presents come.

Please, please help me solve this. I have no objections to her and my son exchanging gifts, but I wish she would leave the rest of my family alone.

Swine Embargo

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Iowa Secretary of Agriculture Robert Lounsberry imposed an embargo Wednesday on all live hog imports from Texas because of an outbreak of hog cholera in the southwestern state.

Lounsberry said he acted after consulting with Iowa State Veterinarian R.A. Butler.

The secretary said all classes of swine from Texas are prohibited from entering Iowa until further notice.

Dr. Butler says he recommended the embargo because of the outbreak of the disease and because its source had not been identified.

A spokesman for Lounsberry said about 600 head of Texas hogs enter Iowa each year, mostly as breeding stock. But some feeder pigs are included in that number.

COMPLAINS AGAIN — Secretary of State Mark White, at a news conference in Austin Wednesday, again complains about pending legislation to place Texas under the federal voting rights act, tells reporters that Texas is tops in protecting the right to vote.

Texas Continues To Set Pace

Oil well drilling is running 8.90 per cent ahead of a year ago in the United States, according to the July 7 report of Hughes Tool Company to the International Association of Drilling Contractors. There were 1,625 active rigs on that date, up 132. The Texas portion was 623, up 112 or 21.52 per cent.

Battle Of Boats Is A Stand-Off

The battle of the boats is on at Colorado City. A large number of high speed boats on the lakes in recent weeks have upset both fishermen, water skiers, and lake cottage owners.

A request was made to the Colorado City council that boats over 150 horsepower not be allowed on the lake, and that speed be controlled. The council tabled action for further study and dismissed dividing the lake into areas for fishing and water skiing and other types of boat activities.

Many of those disturbed by the larger boats indicated that in their opinion, the lake was not large enough for zoning. However, boat enthusiasts turned out in force also.

The matter is expected to be discussed at the next council meeting on July 22.

Woman Claims Physical Assault

Louisa Rosa Cabazos, 19, of 108 NW 8th, is in Medical Arts Hospital after being treated for injuries received in an aggravated assault at 11:45 p.m. Wednesday.

Joe Garza is in the city jail on public intoxication charges, pending further investigation, no assault charges have been filed.

When police arrived at the address, Miss Cabazos was lying on the ground, holding her stomach and screaming, said officers. Garza was standing over her.

She claimed that he had struck her. She said she had been kicked in the stomach, according to police.

Liquor Transport Count Is Filed

Bill Ray Harris, 42, Lamesa, was arrested Wednesday night by State Patrolman Bill Priest, and charged with illegal transportation of alcoholic beverages.

Harris was arrested eight miles north of Big Spring on Highway 87 in a dry precinct of the county.

Harris was hauling over 10 cases of beer, whiskey and vodka in a truck tractor semi-trailer vehicle, Priest said.

Bond was set by Justice of the Peace Walter Grice at $3,000 and Harris is free on bond.

Q.1—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠84 ♥A5 ♦72 ♣AKQJ963
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♣ Pass
3 ♣ Pass ?
What do you bid now?

A.—Four no trump. This is the time for the Blackwood Convention. If partner shows two aces and two kings, you naturally intend to close out the auction in seven no trump.

Q.2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AJ8752 ♥A7 ♦K854 ♣7
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♣ Pass
2 ♣ Pass ?
What do you bid now?

A.—Three diamonds. You would like to show your six-card spade suit, but a rebid of two spades would not be forcing and a jump to three spades should describe a better suit. Since your new suit bid is forcing, you will have a clearer idea of how to proceed after partner's next bid—if he rebids his suit again, you can afford to raise to game.

Q.3—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠K10 ♥AKJ98 ♦75 ♣J764
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♣ Pass
2 ♣ Pass 2 ♣ Pass
3 ♣ Pass 3 ♣ Pass
? What do you bid now?

A.—Three spades. Despite the fact that you have done nothing but show a minimum opening bid, partner is fishing for big things. Actually, you have quite a useful hand, and you should continue to pinpoint its features for partner.

Q.4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AQJ105 ♥AQ83 ♣AQJ7
West opens the bidding with four hearts, which gets passed round to you. What action do you take?

A.—Bid five hearts. The only way to show your enormous hand is to cue-bid the enemy suit. You simply have to hope that partner will produce enough to allow you to make slam since the opposing preempt has made scientific investigation impossible.

Q.5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠84 ♥AKJ763 ♦A965 ♣A
Your right-hand opponent opens the bidding with one diamond. What action do you take?

A.—Double. A mere overcall of one heart does not do justice to this hand, while a jump to two hearts, according to modern methods, is a preemptive measure.

Q.6—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠Q106 ♥Q1072 ♦A6 ♣10963
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♣ Dble. Pass 1 ♣
Pass 4 ♣ Pass ?
What action do you take?

A.—Bid five diamonds. You might have a complete bust for your first bid, yet partner thinks you can make four hearts even opposite that holding. Actually, your hand was close to a jump to two hearts at your first turn, so you should tell partner that you have a respectable holding by cue-bidding the ace of diamonds.

Q.7—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KJ10 ♥QJ107 ♦A106 ♣A52
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♣ Pass 2 ♣ ?
What action do you take?

A.—Pass. Partner is marked with a near bust, and any action you take could convert a possible small profit into a large loss. As little as the queen of spades in partner's hand might be enough to defeat two hearts, but if you bid, you are liable to be doubled and set in any contract you choose to undertake.

Q.8—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KQ1054 ♥73 ♣AJ7 ♣K93
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♣ Pass 2 ♣ Pass
? What do you bid now?

A.—Two spades. Although you have both unbid suits stopped, you should not rebid two no trump with a dead minimum, that bid normally requires about 15 HCP. For the moment, tell partner about your rebidable spade suit and see how the auction develops.

Quills To Ball Points, So What's Coming Up Next?

OMAR BURLESON, M.C. 17th District, Texas

WASHINGTON, D.C. — It is amazing when we stop to think how technology, even in small matters, affects our everyday living.

How many have had the experience of being told, "They don't make it any more"? This was the case when we recently tried to find a rasp to remove hard-baked enamel from some porch furniture. The elderly man at the hardware store said that he hadn't seen one in years and didn't know where one could be found.

The next experience was trying to find a gasket for an old-style pressure cooker. "They don't make that kind any more," we were told. The ball-point pen has really come into its own since 30 years ago when they were first put on the market. Now it is difficult to find ink and there is no such thing as an inkwell.

At a time, banks kept ink on their tables in the lobbies where customers could fill their fountain pens but it is doubtful there is one anywhere which now provides that service. Post offices used to have ink on their outside tables but after a little experience, no one would gum up their pens with the grade of ink they had. It was more like caustic stove polish, and maybe it was purposely designed to discourage pilferage.

The ball-point pen, we are told, came on the market in 1945 and, for awhile, there was some doubt whether a signature on legal documents using a ball-point pen was acceptable. But now they are just not making regular fountain pens, except those of the kind that takes an ink cartridge to be thrown away when emptied. Don't even think when quills were used instead of pens.

Some of us can remember when it was a sort of graduation to get up to the place where pen and ink could be used instead of a lead pencil. It always seemed that the girls could handle the pen and ink pretty well, but the boys usually had ink all over them at the end of the day, including their shirt fronts.

If this sort of technology has affected us in these small ways, just think how the other great advances have changed our way of living about which we hardly take notice. We have probably catapulted over a century with our scientific advances and as technology begets more technology, it can boggle the mind as to what our living may be like in the next century.

$840,000 Pay Raises Sought

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The Fort Worth Police Association is expected to ask the city council Friday for salary raises totaling almost $840,000 for the police department's nearly 700 officers for the 1975-76 fiscal year.

The salary request ranges from a 7.5 per cent increase for lieutenants up to a 14 per cent increase for deputy chiefs.

Purse-Rich Rodeos Shake Up RCA Season Standings

DENVER, Colo. — All around cowboy championship standings tightened considerably following heavy Fourth of July rodeo competition in the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association. All around leader Don Gay of Mesquite, Texas won first in bull riding at the Moberly, S. Dak., rodeo for $1,100, bringing his season total to $20,973. But second-place Leo Camarillo of Oakdale, Cal., pulled to within $600 of Gay over the weekend after winning nearly $3,000 at rodeos in Cody, Wyo., Greeley, Colo., and Prescott, Ariz.

Six-time all around champ Larry Mahan of Salem, Ore., had a good week, too, winning nearly $1,700 in bareback, saddle bronc and bull riding at the Livingston, Mont., and Cody rodeos. Mahan is third in the standings now with $17,335.

Kent Youngblood of Lamesa, Texas, won $1,828 in calf roping at Greeley, Colo. Three-time saddle bronc champ Bill Smith of Cody won the Greeley bronc-riding contest for $1,071. Jack Ward of Springdale, Ark. (formerly Big Spring and Odessa, Texas) was first in bareback riding at Greeley for $1,131, and placed at Cody for another $100.

Event leaders include: All-around cowboy — Don Gay, Mesquite, Tx., $20,973, and Leo Camarillo, Oakdale, Cal., $20,379; saddle bronc riding — Monty Henson, Mesquite, Tx., $14,638, and Sammie Groves, New Deal, Tx., $14,638; bareback bronc riding — Rusty Riddle, Weatherford, Tx., $17,149, and Joe Alexander, Cora, Wyo., $15,437; bull riding — Don Gay, $18,052, and Jerome Robinson, Brandon, Neb., $10,550; calf roping — Jeff Copenhaver, Spokane, Wash., $14,023, and Junior Garrison, Elgin, Okla., $12,898; steer wrestling — Tommy Puryear, Kyle, Tx., $12,844, and Frank Shep-person, Midwest, Wyo., $12,236; GRA barrel racing — Jimmie Gibbs, Valley Mills, Tx., $8,427, and Becky Carson, Ft. Collins, Colo., $7,310 (Kay Proctor, Odessa, and Howard College student, sixth with $3,678; also Patti Prather, Snyder, Tx., 10th with $3,012).

Deavenport, Box Capture Doubles

Eighteen crowns were conferred Wednesday as the Third Annual Highway 80 Tennis Meet came to an end. Competition for three days centered around 14 courts at the Figure 7 Center.

Southwest Texas State's Tommy Deavenport of Stanton and Big Spring's Jay Box stood alone in the men's open singles and doubles.

The talented pair who doubled up in college play, easily won doubles acclaim, besting Abilene's Dean Chappell and Dean Barrett, 6-4, 6-1.

Novice Kniffen, Big Spring High tennis tutor, and Hugh Porter fell in the men's open doubles semi-final round, losing to Chappell and Barrett, 6-4, 6-1.

Deavenport, a top-flight singles college master, topped Box in the open singles finale by default. Box had moved into the final round alongside Deavenport by beating Lubbock Dunbar's tennis coach, Charlie Morris, 6-1, 6-2.

Big Spring's Danny Olesen had the situation well in hand in the 14-year-old singles and doubles championship matches.

Olesen pasted Jeff Boykin, 6-1, 6-2, for individual honors, then teamed with the Abilene competitor to finally overcome Duncan Kennedy and Jeff Ray of Midland, 7-6, 4-6, 6-1, for dual recognition.

Harold Olesen, father of Danny, received the Men's Singles 35-year-old title trophy, outlasting Snyder's Bob Womack, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4.

JENKINS WINS Rangers Hitting With Authority

Robinson's error to start the Angels' eighth was followed by a sacrifice.

Red Sox 9, Twins 8
Jim Rice's two-out double in the bottom of the ninth inning scored Doug Griffin with the winning run. Boston had tied the game earlier in the ninth on Cecil Cooper's pinch homer. Then Griffin delivered a pinch single and scored all the way from first on Rice's hit.

Brewers 6, Royals 4
Don Money hammered two solo home runs and Bobby Darwin hit one for the Brewers. Money led off the game with his fourth homer of the season and hit No. 5 in the fifth Darwin's 10th homer triggered a four-run uprising against Nelson Briles in the second.

Rangers 4, Yankees 0
Ferguson Jenkins pitched a four-hitter for his first shutout of the season and Jim Sundberg belted a three-run homer. Tom Griffe doubled home the Rangers' first run in the opening inning and Sundberg cracked his sixth home run in the sixth.

A's 3, Indians 1
Dick Bosman, Paul Lindblad and Rollie Fingers combined to pitch a five-hitter for Oakland. Bosman, who started the season with the Indians, gave up two hits, both in the fourth.

Tigers 6, White Sox 2
Bill Freehan hit a three-run homer and Jack Pierce drove in Detroit's other three runs with a single and a grounder. Ray Bare scattered eight hits, including Brian Downing's two-run homer, the first runs off Tiger pitching in 21 innings.

It was poetic justice. First, Brooks Robinson took advantage of a third-strike wild pitch that would have ended the eighth inning and delivered a two-run single to put the Baltimore Orioles in front of the California Angels 2-1 Wednesday night.

But in the bottom of the eighth, the brilliant Robinson, winner of 15 consecutive Gold Glove awards as the American League's premier fielding third baseman, made a wild throw — only his second error all season — and the Angels promptly rebounded for a 3-2 victory on Dave Collins' two-run pinch triple.

Elsewhere, the Boston Red Sox wiped out a six-run deficit and edged the Minnesota Twins 9-8, the Texas Rangers blanked the New York Yankees 4-0, the Milwaukee Brewers downed the Kansas City Royals 6-4, the Oakland A's beat the Cleveland Indians 3-1 and the Detroit Tigers won their eighth straight, beating the Chicago White Sox 6-2.

The Red Sox boosted their lead in the East Division to two games over New York and Milwaukee and six over Baltimore while Oakland has a seven-game bulge over Kansas City in the AL West.

At tonight's regular monthly school board meeting, Russell McMeans, Stanton superintendent of schools, will submit the name of Bob Richardson to fill the high school's football coach and athletic director role.

The dual position became open when Bill Young resigned last month to become junior high principal. Richardson has served as Stanton High's head track coach and assistant football coordinator. He has 23 years of coaching experience, 20 years at Odessa Ector, and two and a half years at Stanton.

Jim Williams, Buffalo head basketball coach and assistant football coach has resigned as well as Linda Dudley, girls basketball tutor. McMeans is reported to recommend Midland's Bill Jordan had an off season last year after being named defensive player of the year 1973. He said he did not train at all before last season and also recently found out he had played with a fractured rib.

"I knew my back was bothering me, but I just thought it was old age," Jordan praised the top rookie. "He is best rookie we've had around since Bob Lilly." He has great quickness and movement.

Patty Hulme of Coahoma and Forsan's Ginger Ditmore will be wearing the colors of the North in the Texas High School All-Star contest Saturday at the Brownwood Coliseum. Game time is 8 p.m.

Patty left for Brownwood Tuesday for pre-game preparation with Sonny Barnes, Coahoma's girls varsity coach. The annual contest is held in conjunction with the coaching school.

The South arose to the occasion last year, winning by one point. More than 200 football coaches from junior high, senior high and colleges throughout the state will be in San Angelo Friday and Saturday for the Angelo State coaching clinic.

All of the meetings during the two days will be held in the ASU physical education building. The main clinic objective is to help prepare the coach for the 1975 grid season.

Speakers will include: Bill Yung, Baylor offensive coordinator; John Young, Texas A&M line coach; Cotton Davidson, quarterback and receiver coach; Jerry Moore, Nebraska University receiver coach; Fred Jones, Texas A&I defensive coordinator; Don Smith, UTEP defensive coordinator; Boley Crawford, East Texas State offensive line coach; Ron Harms, Texas A&I offensive coordinator; Jim Wacker, Texas Lutheran head coach; and Bob Patterson, Texas Tech defensive line coach.

The clinic will be under the supervision of Jim Hess, Angelo State's head coach. The first-day program starts at 6:45 p.m. Saturday's sessions are to begin at 9 a.m., with the final talk set for 6 p.m.

Playing his first round of golf in 10 years, Larry Mehl hit one but two holes-in-one at a par-three course in Tucson, Ariz., recently.

Mehl collected his first ace on the 120-yard 11th hole at the Cliff Valley golf course, using a nine iron. On the very next hole, a 116-yarder, he again went to his nine iron, and again put the ball in the cup.

Despite the pair of aces, Mehl finished his round with an 18-hole total of 90, 36 strokes over par for the course.

Abel Lemons, Pan American University head basketball coach, said he will stay at the Edinburg school "until they run me off."

Lemons' voice was heard after being told that Southern Methodist University picked William Allen of Old Dominion as basketball coach.

There had been speculation that Lemons might be considered for the Mustang vacancy. Lemons coached the Broncs to a 22-2 record last season, the best ever for Pan American.

WHAT'S IT WORTH DEPARTMENT — The mutual handle at Ruidoso Downs for the first 25 days of the 1975 season stands at $7,096,687, compared to $6,218,187 after the same number of days in 1974.

This year's average daily handle is $272,949 compared to $259,161 a year ago.

Nettles Nails Down 3rd Base

NEW YORK (AP) — A last-minute burst of support by Yankee fans has given dark horse Graig Nettles the starting spot at third base in the American League lineup for the 1975 All-Star Game.

Nettles, ranked fourth a week ago, attracted a total of 1,181,583 votes to outdistance runnerup Sal Bando of Oakland.

The Yankee infielder, an All-Star rookie, also was one of three New York players to gain a starting position in the 46th annual event, and one of five players who found themselves top vote-getters for the first time.

New York's Thurman Munson was the runaway favorite for catcher with 2,068,535 votes, a margin of 1,093,372 over Oakland's Ray Fosse, and teammate Bobby Bonds took top honors in the outfield. Other newcomers to the leading lineup were outfielder Joe Rudi and first baseman Gene Tenace of Oakland.

Tenace, who like Nettles will be playing in the game for the first time, edged Mike Hargrove of Texas 1,241,377 votes to 1,220,904.

The five will be joined by outfielder Reggie Jackson and shortstop Bert Campaneris of Oakland, and Rod Carew of Minnesota, the league's No. 1 vote-getter in 1975 with 3,165,614. Carew and the National League's Johnny Bench are the only players to be elected as starters in all six years of fan voting.

Munson has never before been a first choice in the All-Star game, but started last year as a substitute for an injured Carlton Fisk. He also appeared in the 1971 and 1973 classics.

The AL outfield contest was the hottest, with Bonds vaulting from third to first place in last week's tabulation with a total of 1,767,198 votes.

Competition is open to the public. Entry fee is $30 per team. Card totals will consist of 18-holes each day.

Participants will be placed in a flight according to the number of entries. Flights are to be assigned Saturday by team's low score.

Free-off time for Saturday is tentatively set for 9 a.m. Gift certificates will be awarded to winners.

Astros Gain 4th Straight Victory

Baseballs slipped out of Tom Seaver's hand. His shoulder hurt. And he couldn't get his curve ball over. He had all kinds of problems pitching to the Atlanta Braves.

And the Braves had all kinds of problems hitting him.

Even when he's troubled, the New York Mets' finest pitcher is hard to beat and he proved it Wednesday night with a classy 7-2 decision over Atlanta in 10 innings.

"He's been pitching great all year," said Rusty Staub, who hit the game-winning homer in the 10th. "If we had gotten him a few runs in some other games, he'd have even more victories than he has."

Seaver's 13th victory of the season was gained despite some frustration and pain.

In the other National League games, the St. Louis Cardinals blanked the San Francisco Giants 9-0; the Houston Astros nipped the Montreal Expos 4-3 in 10 innings; the Cincinnati Reds whipped the Philadelphia Phillies 9-7; the Pittsburgh Pirates trimmed the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-2 and the San Diego Padres tripped the Chicago Cubs 3-2.

Cardinals 9, Giants 0
Willie Davis and Ron Fairly pounded home runs and Ted Simmons collected four hits, leading St. Louis and John Denny over San Francisco. Backed by a 15-hit attack, Denny coasted to his fourth victory with an eight-hitter.

Astros 4, Expos 3
Cesar Cedeno's run-scoring single in the 10th gave Houston its triumph over Montreal. Trailing 3-0 after 1 1/2 innings, Houston finally caught up when Doug Rader hit his sixth home run of the season with one out in the ninth inning off starter Dennis Blair. Don DeMola hit Wilbur Howard with a pitch to open the 10th, and Greg Gross sacrificed. The Expos elected to pitch to Cedeno and he singled to score Howard and give the Astros their fourth victory in a row.

Reds 9, Phillies 7
Johnny Bench drilled a game-tying home run and Dave Concepcion singled home the go-ahead run as sizzling Cincinnati scored five times in the eighth to beat Philadelphia. Bench walloped his 18th homer leading off to pull the Reds into a 5-5 tie. Tony Perez, who earlier hit a two-run homer, then singled and one out later moved to second on Cesar Geronimo's infield hit.

Concepcion drove home Perez with a single to left, giving the Reds a 6-5 lead. Dan Driessen and Pete Rose singled home two more runs and Ken Griffey's sacrifice fly capped the rally, giving the Reds their 15th victory in the last 17 games and a 9 1/2-game lead over Los Angeles in the West.

NICKLAUS ONE STROKE BACK British Course 'Sleeping Giant'

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland (AP) — Carnoustie's 7,065-yard, par-72 championship course is a "sleeping giant," according to Hale Irwin, the 1974 U.S. Open champion.

And anyone hoping to win the British Open title, and the $16,500 that goes with it, must be praying the giant doesn't wake up.

Peter Oosterhuis, the tall British favorite, tamed Carnoustie Wednesday with a four-under-par 68 to gain the lead in the field of 153. But Jack Nicklaus, the hot favorite, also tamed this famed course, and stands just one stroke back going into today's second round.

Tied with Nicklaus were Irwin, Australians Jack Newton and Bob Shearer, and South Africans Andries Oosthuizen and David Huish.

Almost without exception, the leaders came to grief on the very last hole — a 448-yard, par four split twice by a looping burn that cuts across the fairway and again just in front of the green.

Nicklaus, firing on all cylinders, was five under par at one stage but fired a bogey on the final hole to lose a share of the lead. Also bogeying No. 18 were Oosterhuis and Irwin.

The consensus among the players was that the course was relatively docile Wednesday. But all of them were wary about what could happen if the wind — so far scarcely strong enough to ruffle the flags dotting the course — should suddenly blow in from the sea.

Yanks Trim Elks, 18-8

A three-run homer by Alan Bristol in the sixth paved the way for the Yanks to trim the Elks, 18-8, in Teen-Age Junior play Wednesday night.

Billy Ray Johnson was the winning hurler. He is now 7-3 for the season. Mitch Harris of a pair of homers, one a solo and the other for two runs.

The Yanks meet the Lions Saturday at 8 p.m., at the Junior League Park to determine the top West Division leader.

Richardson Is Favored

At tonight's regular monthly school board meeting, Russell McMeans, Stanton superintendent of schools, will submit the name of Bob Richardson to fill the high school's football coach and athletic director role.

The dual position became open when Bill Young resigned last month to become junior high principal.

Richardson has served as Stanton High's head track coach and assistant football coordinator. He has 23 years of coaching experience, 20 years at Odessa Ector, and two and a half years at Stanton.

Jim Williams, Buffalo head basketball coach and assistant football coach has resigned as well as Linda Dudley, girls basketball tutor.

McMeans is reported to recommend Midland's Bill Jordan had an off season last year after being named defensive player of the year 1973.

He said he did not train at all before last season and also recently found out he had played with a fractured rib.

"I knew my back was bothering me, but I just thought it was old age," Jordan praised the top rookie. "He is best rookie we've had around since Bob Lilly."

Drop Charges, Child Returned, Oldest Continuous Business Here Sells

A woman was arrested and then released, and kidnap charges were dropped after a two-year-old boy was picked up and returned to his parents.

The charges were filed when a baby-sitter refused to return the child until baby-sitting fees of "close to $300" were paid, according to the police report.

The child was picked up by officers and returned to the parents, and charges on the sitter were dropped.

For Best Results! Use Herald's Classified Ads

Howard County's business with longest family continuity now has passed into new hands.

The sale of Howard County Abstract Company to Kathryn (Kay) McDaniel, Barcelona Apts., has been announced by Miss Andrea Walker, daughter of one of the founders of the business.

The trade was consummated in April but now has been formalized.

Ms. McDaniel, a long-time resident and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ollie McDaniel, has had 16 years experience in the abstracting field. A graduate of Big Spring High School, Howard College, and who took work from the University of Texas, she got into abstracting after other business experience when in 1959 she worked with Mrs. Adele Carter. Later she was with Elliott and Waldron, then with Ector County Title and Abstract Company. She acquired all of the stock in Howard County Abstract, a corporation, from Miss Walker.

THREE FOUNDED

It was in 1907 when Andrew C. Walker, together with S. H. Morrison and Judge S. A. Penix, incorporated the abstract company here. Miss Walker just naturally became a part of the operation when she was in high school, learning to type up reports during summers. After school she became a full-fledged part of the business.

Her father had bought Judge Penix' share when he moved from the city, and later Miss Walker acquired the stock of S. H. Morrison. Since 1929, the office has operated at the same location directly west from the courthouse.

There's no telling how many abstracts the company has processed, but the last sequence number which Miss Walker signed was 27,918. But that's not the final word, for she doesn't know when the company got around to numbering its abstracts in sequences.

BIG NUMBERS

Similarly, the number of instruments she had examined would be almost astronomical for abstracting involves "searching out the record" for any filed instrument which might in some way affect title to a piece of property.

This includes warranty and quit-claim deeds, oil and gas leases, royalty deeds, mineral deeds, mechanics liens, deeds of trust, transfers and assignments, and more recently federal liens, and financial statements (which formerly were chattel mortgages).

It is meticulous, exacting work, but Miss Walker has enjoyed it and has difficulty understanding why it is hard to find people now who are willing to dig through the records. It's challenge enough when making a supplementary abstract (bringing one up to date) but developing original ones from the first recorded title is something else. Miss Andrea has done hundreds of them.

All her work has been done in Howard County, although her father did go to Glasscock County for a number of years. She did most of her work on an Underwood, having learned on one of its earliest models, which she still thinks is the best typewriter. Now she's resting, doing what she wants to do when she wants to.

Refuses To Sign

HOUSTON (AP) — Thero Lavon Wheeler, 30, believed to be a member of the Symbionese Liberation Army (SLA) that kidnapped Patty Hearst, has refused to sign a bond releasing him to state custody.

Wheeler, an escapee from Soledad prison in California, will remain in federal custody at least until Monday when a formal removal hearing is scheduled before U.S. Magistrate Ronald Blask.

A California state warrant seeking Wheeler's return arrived here Wednesday.

Wheeler is being held in lieu of $100,000 bond. Wheeler was in Soledad at the same time as Donald DeFreeze, leader of the SLA. The FBI says Wheeler, however, is not suspected of being connected with the kidnaping of the heiress.

MEALS THAT CAN WAIT...

In these busy, hectic times, it's difficult, more often than not, to coordinate the schedules of family members and friends.

Sad though it may be, it's true that few families are together at mealtime anymore, except perhaps on weekends or special occasions.

When entertaining, one has to allow for the guests who get caught in heavy traffic, the professional man who has to work late or the guests who, for no stated reason, call to say they will have to be a little late.

With clever menu planning, tardy guests needn't ruin the dinner. Today's buffet menu will wait. Just pour some more Partytime Punch. It's made with instant tea, so you can quickly stir up another pitcherful if need be.

If everyone in the family wants to eat breakfast at a different time, you can take that situation in stride, too — and without spending the morning as a short-order cook. No one will tire of the Quick Basic Breakfast menu: There are countless possible variations on the fruit and cheese theme, and the Honey-Almond Wheat Bread is so delicious that you can serve it frequently.

Cabbage Strata

- 3 cups finely shredded cabbage
- 1/4 cup mayonnaise
- 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
- 1 tablespoon instant minced onion
- 1 teaspoon prepared yellow mustard
- 5 slices soft white bread, buttered
- 1 cup grated Monterey Jack cheese
- 1 cup grated Swiss cheese
- 2 eggs
- 3/4 cup milk
- 1/3 cup white dinner wine or milk
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper

Well ahead of time, cover cabbage with water in saucepan, bring to a boil, drain. Combine with mayonnaise, pimiento, onion and mustard. Cut bread slices into quarters, make layers of bread, cabbage mixture and cheeses in 1 1/2 to 2-quart baking dish. Sprinkle top with cheeses; cover with saran; chill. Beat eggs with milk, wine, salt and pepper and refrigerate in large jar with tight lid. 30 to 45 minutes before serving, shake jar to mix contents well and pour over casserole; bake at 375 degrees about 30 minutes or until mixture is puffed and browned. Serve fairly soon or hold in warm oven. Makes 6 to 8 servings. Double recipe if you wish.

Apricot-Glazed Ham

When purchasing bone-in ham, allow 3/4 to 1 lb. per serving. Place bone-in half ham cut-side down on rack in roasting pan; bake at 325 degrees until meat thermometer inserted centrally registers 160 degrees F. For 6 to 8 lbs., allow 3 to 3 1/2 hours.

To make glaze, combine about 3/4 cup syrup from a can (1 lb.) of apricot halves, 1/2 cup apricots and 1/2 cup brown sugar (packed) in electric blender; puree. In saucepan, boil gently 5 minutes.

About 1/2 hour before ham is done, remove from oven and cut off any rind. Score fatty surface in diamond pattern and spoon or brush on some apricot glaze. Return to oven and finish baking, brushing with more glaze 2 or 3 times. Cool slightly, then chill. Serve on platter garnished with parsley and apricot halves.

Orange-Almond Cake

- Butter or margarine
- 3/4 to 1 cup sliced natural (unblanched) almonds
- 2 packages (1 lb. 2 1/2 oz. or 1 lb. 3 oz. each) yellow cake mix
- 1 teaspoon almond extract
- 1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1 can (6 oz.) frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
- 1/2 cup sugar

Generously coat a 10 x 4-inch tube pan with butter. Press almonds into butter to coat bottom and sides of pan; refrigerate. Prepare cake mix as package directs, adding almond extract. Pour batter into almond-coated pan to within 2 inches from top. (With some mixes you may have up to 1 1/2 cups remaining batter; use for cupcakes). Bake cake at 350 degrees about 1 1/4 hours; cool 10 minutes, then remove from pan and cool thoroughly.

For topping, blend cornstarch into a small amount of orange concentrate in saucepan; stir in remaining orange concentrate and cook, stirring constantly over medium-low heat, until sauce comes to boil and becomes thick. Stir in sugar until melted. Spoon over cake. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Honey-Almond Wheat Bread

- 1 cup whole natural (unblanched) almonds
  - 2 cakes (6 oz. each) compressed yeast
  - 1 cup warm water (80 to 85 degrees F.)
  - 1/4 cup brown sugar (packed)
  - 1/3 cup honey
  - 2 eggs, beaten
  - 1 teaspoon salt
  - 1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted
  - 2 teaspoons grated orange rind
  - 1/2 cup buttermilk
  - 2 cups whole wheat flour, unsifted
  - 2 1/2 cups all-purpose flour, unsifted
- Brown Sugar Filling (recipe follows)

Chop almonds. Crumble yeast into warm water and stir until dissolved. Stir in brown sugar and honey. Stir in eggs, salt, melted butter, orange rind and buttermilk. Mix flours with all but 2 tablespoons almonds; stir into liquid mixture. Let this very soft dough rest for 10 minutes. Scrape dough onto board or pastry cloth dusted with about 1/2 cup additional all-purpose flour; knead about 5 minutes, working in flour on board, until dough is elastic but still soft and tender. Place dough in greased bowl, cover bowl with saran and let rise in warm place about 2 1/2 hours or until doubled in bulk. (A turned-off oven with light on is a good place.)

Turn dough onto floured board again; gently pat into 12 x 10-inch rectangle. Sprinkle Brown Sugar Filling over dough and roll up from 10-inch side. Fold two ends under to make a ball-shaped loaf and place on greased baking sheet. Brush with some melted butter. Fold a 36-inch piece of foil to make a 2-inch wide strip 36 inches long. Fasten strip with paper clips into ring and set ring around dough. Cover dough loosely with saran and let rise in warm place until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Sprinkle loaf with remaining chopped almonds and some additional brown sugar if you like. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour or until golden brown. Makes one (3 3/4 lb.) loaf. Cut into halves or quarters and freeze separately if you wish.

Brown Sugar Filling: Mix 1/2 cup brown sugar (packed) with 1 tablespoon cinnamon and 2 tablespoons wheat germ.

'TORE HER BODY APART' Wins New Trial After 5,000-Year Verdict

AUSTIN (AP) — Charles Wayne Anderson, sentenced to 5,000 years in prison for killing his estranged wife with a shotgun blast that "tore her body apart," won the right to a new trial today because of improper remarks by a prosecutor.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals sent the case back to Waco for retrial.

In its opinion, the court said that on June 20, 1973 Anderson drank beer and took pills, then broke into the house where his estranged wife, Katherine, their 11-year-old son and his wife's brother were staying.

"While she was in bed, the appellant shot his wife three times with a .12 gauge shotgun; it tore her body apart. He followed his son from the house into the yard and shot him twice with the shotgun, but the son recovered and was a witness at the trial. The appellant also cut the throat of his brother-in-law almost from ear to ear, but he too recovered," the court said.

But, it added, "the horrible facts of this crime did not license the assistant district attorney to transgress the rules governing the trial of criminal cases in order to obtain from the jury a 5,000-year verdict."

The prosecutor told the jury that Anderson's defense lawyer "doesn't have guts enough to come up here" and say his client was innocent.

"And I have never seen anybody weak enough to come up and mealy-mouth a jury like that and don't even have guts enough to say the man is not guilty. He won't even say that himself, his lawyer, but he wants you to go up there and say it," the prosecutor said.

The high court said the trial judge should have sustained objections by the defense lawyer.

It also said it was "highly improper" for the prosecutor to request more time to argue because the defense counsel was making "frivolous objections."

"Instead of agreeing with the prosecutor, the court should have admonished the prosecutor against making such unwarranted statements," the high court said.

Festival Due On Saturday

St. Thomas Catholic Church will have its Mid-Summer Festival Friday and Saturday at the church and on the church grounds at 605 N. Main.

One of the features will be Mexican dinners served each day starting at 12 noon, plus numerous other Mexican dishes and other food. There will be fun and game booths, contests, pony ride, etc. which will last until 11 p.m. both days.

Reigning over the festival will be Minnie Yanez, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Yanez, assisted by Olga Mendoza, first runner-up, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Mendoza, and Mary Helen Guzman, second runner-up, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Guzman.

In charge of the arrangements are Pedro Rodriguez, president of the men's St. Joseph Society, and Mrs. Isabel Escovedo, president of the Altar Society. The festival, of course, is open to the public.

'Brothers' Ill

SANSOM PARK, Tex. (AP) — Two men remain hospitalized in Fort Worth after slashing their wrists in a cafe this week in a ritual to become blood brothers.

Captain, Model Marry After Stranded On Raft

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A schooner captain and a fashion model who vowed they would marry if they survived being shipwrecked and stranded on a raft in the Caribbean have made good on their pledge.

"It was a nice wedding outside with a party inside and lots of champagne," Robyn Fairfax-Ross, 26, of Sydney, Australia, said here following her wedding to Anthony Pike, 41, of Singapore.

The nuptials were held Monday with about 30 persons attending the private ceremony at a friend's home in a well-to-do residential section.

The couple was on an around-the-world voyage in their 52-foot schooner Gypsy when the yacht began taking on water and sank off the coast of Haiti.

The two, the only ones aboard the boat, managed to get into a five-foot inflatable raft. They survived for three days on a half-box of raisins and raw meat from a seagull they were able to catch with their bare hands.

"I proposed on the raft," Pike said after a passing cruise ship rescued them on June 23.

"I had thought it was not necessary, but she was so brave on the raft and didn't blame me for getting her into that position that those qualifications convinced me."

The new Mrs. Pike said the couple planned to fly to London for a visit before proceeding to Australia where they will live. But beyond that the couple's plans were indefinite.

Mrs. Pike said she believes she and her husband, who is an experienced sailor, will sail again some day but "after an experience like that it's sort of nice to be on dry land."

Midland Center Sets Marriage Contract Class

A second course, if needed is scheduled for July 29-31, said Dr. Ray Bristol, executive director of the Center.

Dr. Bristol said that the objective of the Pastoral Counseling Center in offering the sessions is the introduction of an analysis, as a means of achieving personal growth as well as improvement of the marriage contract. It is open to any interested person or couples regardless of marital status.

Deadline for registering will be July 15. Persons interested may contact the Pastoral Counseling Center (915-697-2261.)

Honor Student

James Raymond Wilhelm, 1895 Thorpe Road, has been named to the 1975 Spring Semester Dean's List in the College of Continuing Studies at the University of Nebraska at Omaha. The list recognizes those students who maintained a grade point average of 3.5 or better on a 4.0 scale while carrying 12 or more credit hours.

Construction Strike Likely To End Soon

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A contract agreement with two of the largest labor unions in North Texas will provide the impetus for a negotiated settlement of the ten-week-old construction strike in the Fort Worth-Dallas area, labor and management leaders said here.

Leaders of the two laborers' unions, representing 6,000 workers, and a spokesman for the contractors predicted that their agreement will be the "catalyst" to virtually end the longest and most costly construction strike in the North Texas area.

A spokesman for the multicraft unions, however, said the laborers' contract will have no effect on their contract negotiations.

The contract agreement, reached Tuesday morning between the Fort Worth and Dallas laborers and the North Texas Contractors Association, provides a minimum of $1.15 an hour increase in wages over a three-year contract.

Exxon Hits FEA With Fed Suit

DALLAS (AP) — A suit was filed in federal court here Tuesday by Exxon Corp. asking that the Federal Energy Administration (FEA) be enjoined from attempting to control the price of natural gas liquids.

The suit, filed in U.S. District Judge Robert Hill's court, also asked that the agency's method of computing costs be declared "arbitrary and capricious."

Exxon was the second company to file suit against the FEA. Mobil filed a similar action here on May 2. Mobil asked that the agency's authority to control prices be limited to "crude oil, residual fuel and each refined petroleum product."

Judge Orders Parr's Removal

HEBRONVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A district court judge under indictment for income tax evasion and the subject of a Texas House impeachment inquiry Wednesday signed an order removing from office a county judge convicted of perjury.

With a stroke of his pen on a judgment order, District Court Judge O.P. Carrillo permanently removed suspended Duval County Judge Archer Parr from the office Parr has held for the past 16 years. Parr will remain suspended pending the outcome of his appeal, the judge said.

In a lengthy statement issued after the ruling, Foster criticized Judge Carrillo, noting that Foster had tried to get the judge to disqualify himself from presiding on grounds that Judge Carrillo is involved in a political conspiracy to take control of Duval County from Parr and his political faction.

Of the ruling and subsequent judgement, Foster said, "The last shred of judicial dignity has now been ripped from the due process of law shield to which all citizens are supposed to be entitled."

The judgment was signed after Judge Carrillo granted a motion for an instructed verdict against Parr in his ouster trial here.

The motion was filed by Dist. Atty. Arnulfo Guerra Monday after Parr failed to appear for a deposition hearing at San Diego.

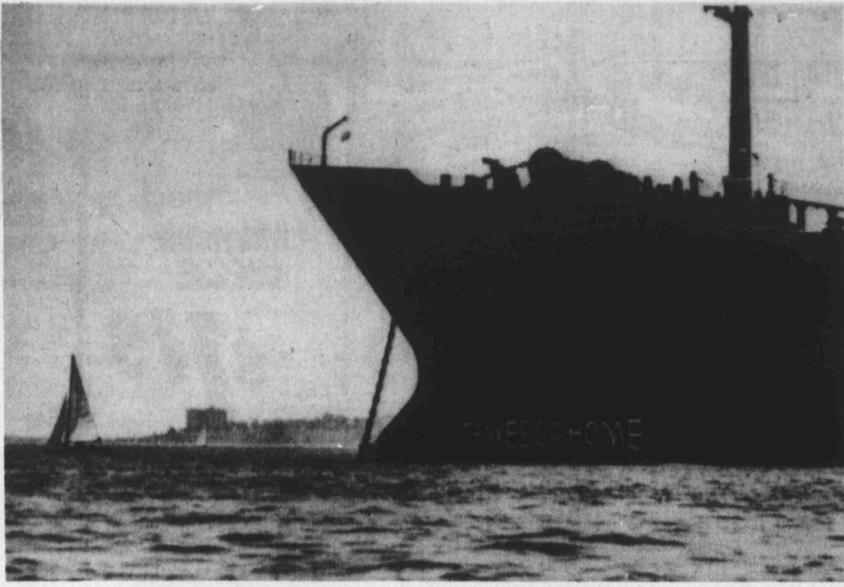

The deposition hearing became necessary because Parr, a nephew of the late South Texas political boss George B. Parr and heir apparent to the title "Duke of Duval," could not be located to be subpoenaed.

The ouster trial resulted from a civil suit filed by Guerra against Parr on March 24. At that time, Judge Carrillo temporarily suspended Parr from office.

The civil suit noted Parr's perjury conviction and accused Parr of acts of official misconduct and conflict of interest.

Defense lawyer Mervin Foster of San Diego said he will appeal the judge's ruling and instructed verdict that ordered the jury of nine men and three women to rule against Parr and declare him guilty of "incompetence, gross carelessness and official misconduct."

"The real question at issue during this case was not whether Archer Parr should or should not remain as county judge of Duval County, but in truth and in fact is whether or not our judicial process can withstand and survive an onslaught of political abuse and misuse of judicial power," Foster continued.

Five Perish When Car Rolls

CARNESVILLE, Ga. (AP) — A tractor-trailer rig rammed into a car Wednesday night, killed five persons at an intersection near this northeast Georgia town.

"The car was rolled up like a tin can," said a trooper at the scene.

The truck driver, who was slightly injured, was charged with disregarding a stop sign, the state patrol said. He was identified as James Coursey, 22, of Conyers.

A spokesman for the patrol said the truck hit the car broadside and rolled on top of it.

The victims were identified as Quilla Kesler Sheffield, 46, of Atlanta; her sister, Doris K. Mephram, 54, of Atlanta; Mrs. Sheffield's two step-children, Jane and Mark Sheffield, both 15, of Houston, Tex., and her mother, Ellis Gillespie Kesler, 76, of Carnesville.

Rains Pop Panhandle

Scattered heavy thunderstorms spawned by a stationary front pelted the Texas Panhandle and South Plains today while isolated showers spread over most sections of North Texas.

Strong thunderstorms occurred in the southern half of the Panhandle between Amarillo and Plainview and from west of Childress to just southeast of Tucumcari, N.M.

Earlier, heavy thundershowers were reported in the South Plains northeast of Lubbock in Motley and Floyd counties.

Less severe and more widely scattered showers stretched across North Central Texas from Wichita Falls to Palestine and in the Fort Worth area.

West Texas and most of the southern half of the state had generally clear to partly cloudy skies.

Temperatures near dawn ranged from 65 at Dalhart to 82 at Tyler. Most readings were in the 70s.

Most shower activity Wednesday had reached its peak by sunset after an afternoon of thundershowers in northern sections. However, tornado warnings were issued for two Northwest Texas counties about 10 p.m. after funnel clouds were sighted.

Maximum temperatures reached the 90s in most areas of the state Wednesday afternoon. Cotulla topped the list with 100 degrees.

Forecasters predicted thundershowers for parts of Southeast Texas tonight.

Special Driving Course Available

Students are needed for a defensive driving course which will be offered four nights next week if 30 pupils can be obtained.

Verl Green, education director at Webb Air Force Base, said students may pre-register with the Howard College registrar or at the Education Bldg. 603 at Webb by noon Tuesday.

The defensive drivers' course cuts car insurance 10 per cent on liability, collision and medical payments. A fee for taking the course is $10 and includes the textbook and the certification that the course has been completed.

Classes will be held July 15-18 for two hours nightly 7-9 p.m. The location will be announced.

Wins Award

Bill Wood, who operated J&J Auto Supply here has received a special award from the Gates Rubber Company in Denver, Colo., for exceptional customer service. The award was made on the basis of the visit of the Gates' "mysterious shopper" at the store.

Admits Feedlot Operators Now Making Profit

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — The president of the Texas Cattlemen Association said here Wednesday feedlot operators are now making a profit, but prices paid to cattlemen and ranchers are still below the break-even level.

"There is no reason to think the situation of the cattlemen and ranchers will improve in the near future," said association president Glenn Deen of Dumas.

Deen commented on reports from New Mexico that cattlemen there had seen beef prices there go up 50 per cent in recent weeks.

He said prices paid feedlot operators now fluctuate around 53 cents a pound compared to a low of 34 cents in March.

"At 53 cents a pound we (feedlot operators) have been making some money and the business in the yards is beginning to pick up," he said.

Prices went up, he said, because in February and March "we were losing so much money that no cattle were placed on feed and now there is a shortage of fed cattle."

But he pointed out that cattlemen are still selling their calves for less than the cost of production.

They are reducing the number of their cattle, Deen said.

He noted, however, that there is an abundance of grass-fed cows, more than enough to supply the demand and that accounts for the low prices paid to cattlemen.

Final Arguments Slated In 'Blue Boxes' Trial

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Lawyers present final arguments today in the federal trial of Houston electronics expert J.L. Patterson, accused of possessing "blue boxes."

Patterson's lawyers rested their case in a surprise move Wednesday after calling only two witnesses.

Blue boxes are devices used to circumvent billing computers when making long distance telephone calls. They are against federal law.

Donald Gunn of Houston, a patent lawyer specializing in electronic equipment, testified for the defense that Patterson's device was similar to a blue box but different.

Gunn said Patterson designed the electronic device for legal uses such as opening or closing garage doors, turning lights on or off and for security purposes.

The patent lawyer said Patterson came to him to have the devices in question patented and that Gunn advised the device would be legal.

Another defense witness, John Kelleher, a former assistant U.S. attorney in New York now teaching law at San Diego University in California, said Patterson had helped the government during investigations of "white collar crime" in 1970.

He said Patterson once showed him how long distance bills could be avoided by using the device, which emits special tone signals.

Kelleher said Patterson called Rome, Italy, information but refused to let Kelleher make a similar toll-free call to his wife in England because such use of the device would be illegal.

Patterson's lawyers rested their case even though several more character witnesses were waiting to testify, including former Houston police chief Carol Vance.

Patterson has advised various police departments on wiretaps and has assisted in civil suits against telephone companies.

He was arrested in downtown San Antonio last November after a meeting with a security agent for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

Prosecutors called as witnesses a Bell Laboratory scientist who explained how long distance billings operate and an FBI electronics specialist who said Patterson's devices were blue boxes.

LONELY? — Nellie Rodgers, R.N., director of supportive living for the DeKalb Mental Health Center in Atlanta, Ga., isn't. She will, however, have much to say on the subject as a clinician for the monthly seminar on alcoholism set for 9 a.m. Friday in the Allred auditorium at Big Spring State Hospital.

Saving Seconds In Critical Cases

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Mid-cities ambulance attendants can now radio a patient's symptoms ahead to the hospital, saving precious seconds in critical cases.

Bob Kellow, co-owner of the Hurst-based firm, called it a "first" claiming no other ambulance firm in the county has the two-way capability.

Another Viet Family Is Due

Members of Flying Training Squadron 3389, who are sponsors of a South Vietnamese family due to have arrived at Terminal today at 1:30 p.m., reported the family includes nine members.

Big Spring is fast becoming one of the main towns for a community of its size for sponsoring the refugees.

While Odessa was talking about its one family arriving today at Terminal, Big Spring now has close to 75 Vietnamese, all of whom have sponsors, jobs, and places to live.

This is due in part to the fact that the 3389th flying squadron was training foreign students during the past year at Webb AFB, many of whom were from Vietnam. They made many friends in this area.

Upward Bound Has Awards Program

The first class of Upward Bound students were challenged Wednesday evening at the awards banquet at Howard College to have educated hearts as well as minds.

Johnnie Lou Avery, financial aids officer who will become assistant to the president of the college in September, told the group that nothing good comes except by work and that even "if you have an itch for something, you have to scratch to get it." But having an urge to learn and a will to become educated in skills is not enough, she said. The educated heart, which boils down to good manners, awareness of others, is needed to give "a style and polish to your total commitment."

TOP HONORS

The large crowd of students, counselors and parents cheered the selection of Mary Perez, Stanton, and Luis Porras, Big Spring, as Mr. and Miss Upward Bound for the summer program which has seen a large number of the students domiciled on campus for college, pre-college study over a six-weeks period. Raye Jones, Stanton, and Jerry Trevino, Big Spring, were announced by Leroy McClendon as winners of the coaches' awards. Then Bobby Menchaca announced selection of Yolanda Cortez, Big Spring, and Nolan Russell, Colorado City, as winners of the dormitory resident awards.

Tony Ortiz, counselor for the occupational educational division, president, and Herb Johnson recognized those completing the Upward Bound program, also those who won college achievement awards. In turn, Reta Jones, speaking for the students, heaped praise on Herb Johnson for his administration of the program and for his personal inspiration. Also lauded was Joe Montoya, who preceded Johnson as director of the project.

CERTIFICATES

Mrs. Avery was introduced by Dr. Charles Hays, college president, who also expressed appreciation to the students for their participation during the past school year as well as the summer. Miss Anna Smith worded the invocation and Edna Guevara, Miss Howard College 1975, won a big hand for her skit as a woman mechanic.

Winning diplomas from Upward Bound were Vernon Ausbie, Rodney Calhoun, Emma Campos, Freddie Espinoza, Ivy Johnson, Myra Jones, Irma Sanchez, all of Colorado High; Rosmarie Garcia, Louis Porras, Janie Rodriguez,

Liberty Still Valid Force

Love of liberty was the driving force that helped Continental soldiers and the colonists overcome seemingly insurmountable difficulties and win independence in the American Revolution. This still can be the force to carry the nation into its third century as the world's greatest democracy, according to T.Sgt. Harvey Schirmer.

Sgt. Schirmer addressed the Downtown Lions at their Wednesday noon meeting, launching the year's programs with a Bicentennial thrust. Troubles now are no greater, and possibly not as great, as faced the colonists, he said, and not only during the war, but also in the period following when in 1784 a French diplomat wrote back that "there is no general government, no president or congress strong enough to act." Yet, within five years the remarkable Constitution of the United States had been produced and democratic ideals began to flourish.

Now, as then, said Sgt. Schirmer, "democracy must be made to work", and quoted Thomas Jefferson that "the road from despotism to liberty is no featherbed," and Benjamin Franklin's quip that "you have a republic, if you can keep it."

Gift of $50 by the Lions Auxiliary to the Texas Lions League for Crippled Children was acknowledged, as was a like amount from the members to the Lions International Fund.

THEFTS

Kenneth Sherrill, 600 Runnels, reported a pocket calculator valued at $75 stolen from his residence.

Devors Texaco reported three mag wheels and three tires stolen from a vehicle parked at the side of the station; value: $350.

Roundtable, Swim Slated

The Cub leaders roundtable is set for 7:30 p.m. today at the St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, and all Cub leaders are urged to take part. David Jansch will be chairman of the monthly training and informational session.

The Cubs' swimming meet is set for Friday 5 p.m.-8 p.m. at the airman's pool at Webb AFB, said Mrs. Ruby Bruns, head of the Cubbing section for the Lone Star District. All parents are invited to come to this event, which will include activities for non-swimmers as well as for swimmers.

Clear Path To Challenge Excessive Utility Rates

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Atty. Gen. John Hill says the Texas Supreme Court has cleared the way for possible future suits by his office and private citizens to challenge excessive utility rates.

The court upheld an injunction blocking Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.'s proposed $45 million rate increase for intrastate long distance service and declared judges have the power to review utility rates for reasonableness.

A Bell spokesman said the company would ask the court for a rehearing within two weeks.

For the immediate future, the unanimous 8-0 ruling means that Bell cannot put the rate increase into effect pending a full hearing before State District Court Judge Tom Blackwell of Austin on whether the proposed charges are reasonable.

Hill said he would be willing to drop his challenge if Bell submitted a lower set of rates that the attorney general's experts determined were not excessive.

At Hill's request, Blackwell issued a temporary injunction blocking the increase in February, and the high court upheld it Wednesday.

"The important thing is the victory it represents for the public. . . It would be ludicrous to leave the public at the mercy of an unregulated utility," Hill told a news conference.

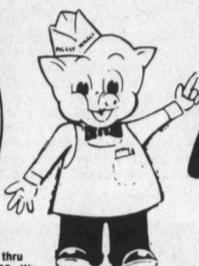

His rate case in Blackwell's court is still relevant despite the fact that a new state utility commission comes into being in September. Hill said the commission's ratemaking power does not take effect until Sept. 1, 1976.

The attorney general said several other rate cases were brought to his attention while the Bell appeal was pending and would be investigated.

"If we find hard evidence that the rates are unreasonably high... extortionate or excessive, we'll challenge them," Hill said.

He also said he believed the decision gives "a citizen of this state the right to enter the courts that belong to that court if he or she feels that he or she can show by evidence that an excessive rate is being charged."

ARMORED CAR CRASH $3 Million Fortune Flutters Among Pines

BECKVILLE, Tex. (AP) — An armored car and a pickup truck collided near here Wednesday, spilling more than $3 million in bills and coins along a narrow state highway.

Highway patrolmen, sheriff's deputies, an off-duty policeman and game wardens joined in the cleanup. "Everybody's out there but me and the telephone," said a sheriff's department secretary. Off-duty Carthage, Tex.,

policeman Charles Cammack leaped atop the overturned armored car with a shotgun and kept passing motorists, gawkers and reporters at bay during the cleanup. The collision occurred about 6 a.m. on a hilltop on Texas 149 deep in the pine forests some 35 miles west of the Louisiana border. The truck was hauling currency from the Dallas Federal Reserve Bank to banks throughout East Texas and Northwest Louisiana when it collided with a pickup truck near the Beckville city limits.

Investigators said the armored car careened off the pickup truck, skidded broadside for 150 feet then pitched over in a heap on the roadside.

"I don't know what happened," said armored car driver Lynn Ray, 32. The truck's doors burst open and sacks filled with as much as $100,000 each flew out, split open, and the greenbacks swirled in the breeze.

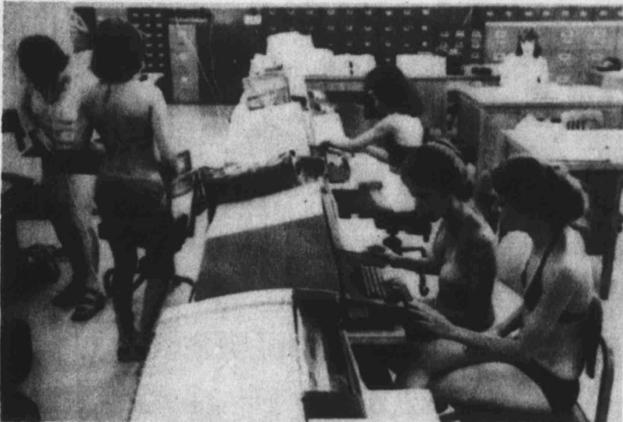

Officers dug into the dirt for nickels, dimes and a large quantity of the new bicentennial half dollars pitched into the grass.

"There was money everywhere. Coins scattered all over the place," said one witness.

An hour after the accident, a second armored car arrived to pick up the money.

Officers said there was no mad scramble for money as they kept motorists moving.

Johnnie Fancher, 18, driver of the pickup truck, was hospitalized at Lufkin with a broken arm and leg. His ear was almost severed.

AP WIREPHOTO
LIGHT ATTIRE — Personnel employed at a branch of the Department of Social Affairs in Quebec City go about their duties in swimwear to protest what they felt were high temperatures inside the building. They said they would continue to come to work in like attire until an air conditioner is installed.

Bentsen's Finances

WASHINGTON (AP) — Documents filed with the federal Election Commission show that more than half of the contributors to the presidential campaign of Sen. Lloyd Bentsen D-Tex. are from Texas.

The commission showed Bentsen's campaign has raised $350,000 in the past four months, bringing the receipts of the "Bentsen in '76 Committee" to $466,000.

A number of the contributors from non-Texans were from executives in the banking and insurance industries, where Bentsen has gained early support.

The senator has announced that he has qualified for federal funds by meeting the requirements for contributions totaling $5,000 in each of 20 states — an indication of more than strictly regional support.

'The Chicago Conspiracy Trial' Worth Watching

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — If you're gifted with viewing endurance, catch "The Chicago Conspiracy Trial" on public TV tonight. It lasts 2½ hours, should have been cut to 90 minutes, but still is worth watching.

It's a dramatization of the controversial trial of Abbie Hoffman and seven other radicals opposed to the Vietnam war who were charged with conspiring to incite a riot at the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

Co-produced by the British Broadcasting Corp. and Time-Life Television, its script is based entirely on verbatim excerpts taken from the 23,000-page trial transcript, public TV officials say.

Narrated by a British announcer and acted by American thespians, it starts with opening pleadings before Julius Hoffman, the crusty federal court judge whose conduct of the 20-week trial was heavily criticized by leading liberal figures after the verdict came in.

Then the program cuts to film clips of the antiwar demonstrations and violence surrounding the 1968 convention to set the stage for the ensuing fireworks and impassioned speeches in court.

The proceedings — including the much-publicized binding and gagging of defendant Bobby Seale, head of the Black Panthers — are amply illustrated in the show's selection of various trial phases, phases which occasionally include some obscenities rarely heard on TV.

Alas, the dramatization at times gets bogged down in long-winded minor moments of the trial and one starts wishing the re-creation hadn't been so thorough.

Viet Refugees

To Hunt Shrimp

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — South Texas shrimpers who have complained of labor shortages may get some relief from 100 South Vietnamese refugees — most of them fishermen — who have settled here.

The refugees arrived Wednesday from Eglin Air Force Base in Florida and will be housed temporarily in a 24-unit motel in Port Isabel with help from a group of Catholic charities, South Texas fishing interests and the federal government.

BICENTENNIAL CR '76 SAYS 'HEY THERE, YOUNG FELLER'

All of the bicentennial activities thus far have been geared to the 200th birthday of the United States.

"Granted, the United States is 200 years old," officers of the Big Spring High School band stated here this week. "But this is comparatively young in the list of nations in the world. We are beginning to think of America as old and even portray Uncle Sam as old."

"This is why our Campus Review for 1976 will be geared around a young teen-age version of Uncle Sam. We think Uncle Sam is filled with youth and enthusiasm. "But this is comparatively young in the list of nations in the world. We are beginning to think of America as old and even portray Uncle Sam as old."

"Our theme this year will be 'Play It Again, Sam' and in late August, try-outs will be held for the lead role of Uncle Sam," Bill Bradley, director stated.

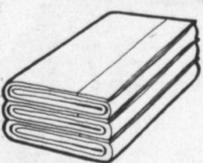

"Look out, America and look out, Big Spring! Uncle Sam is just coming of age. What's 200 years? That's nothing in the timetable of nations. Our land is young and vigorous," said Bradley.
