

Decontrol Of Oil Planned By Ford

CHICAGO (AP) — President Ford announced Saturday he will propose a bill next week removing price controls from domestic oil in a way that he said would not result in a sudden rise in gasoline prices.

Ford said his proposal to Congress will be "a responsible, well-timed decontrol of domestic oil... so that there will not be a precipitous rise, but at the same time offer encouragement for those that are seeking to increase and improve our domestic oil production." The President told a news conference midway through his three-day trip to Illinois and Michigan that gasoline prices could rise substantially anyway unless domestic oil production is increased. And he said Congress must move quickly to avoid price hikes that might occur if "we stay vulnerable to foreign oil."

During the half-hour session, Ford also said he hoped the Soviet Union would buy, excess supplies of U.S. grain. And he said he has no personal knowledge of any CIA-related employees at the White House. He said he was not referring to personnel assigned with his knowledge.

The President also reiterated that he regards his Midwest trip, the first since he declared his 1976 candidacy last Tuesday, as nonpolitical. Because he is traveling in his role as President rather than candidate, the government is paying his travel costs.

After the news conference and delivery of a commencement address to graduates of Chicago State University, the President and Mrs. Ford were bound for Traverse City, Mich., where he planned to participate in a golf tournament.

He was also to attend a youth concert at Interlochen, Mich., and spend the night at Mackinac Island before returning Sunday to the White House.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Ford will meet Monday with energy and economic advisers to work out details of his oil proposal. It apparently rejects an approach taken Friday by Senate-House conferees who sought to impose price ceilings on all U.S.-produced oil and to roll back the price of what is termed "new oil."

Decontrol of domestic oil, as Ford will propose, would gradually remove the Federal Energy Administration price limit averaging $5.25 a barrel on all oil from U.S. wells that began production before mid-1972.

These prices presumably would eventually rise to the world market level, which now tops $12 a barrel.

Ford had warm words for the oil industry and chided Congress for not removing what he said were limitations on oil producers.

"I'm convinced the oil industry is doing everything they can under the law to increase oil production," he said. "They are limited by law... we have to get some changes in the law. Congress hasn't done anything here."

Sinai Troop Withdrawal 'Progress'
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger claimed progress toward a settlement in Sinai after talks Saturday with Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin.

However, Kissinger told newsmen at a stopover in London that "significant differences still remain and we will know in the course of the next few weeks whether they can be bridged."

As a result of his discussions with Rabin outside Bonn, newsmen were told, the Israeli cabinet probably will authorize a precise withdrawal line and send Ambassador Simcha Dinitz to Washington with the results by midweek.

Meanwhile, Kissinger will report to President Ford, who has issued repeated warnings that unless there is a partial settlement soon the Middle East could drift into war.

Gun Raid Nets Okie Bank Veep

LAWTON, Okla. (AP)—Bank Vice President Jimmy Harrell, 32, was free on bond Saturday while police continued their investigation of 45 firearms, some of them stolen, which they seized in a raid on his home at Cache and another at Indianola.

Police obtained a search warrant for Harrell's home Friday after equipping Charles G. Johnson, 29, of Lawton with secret tape recorders to bug conversations with Harrell, detective Jim Ingram said.

No charge was filed against Harrell, but Special District Court Judge David Carter released him on a $500 appearance bond Friday night and ordered him to appear in court at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The gun investigation began Friday morning after police questioned Johnson, who had been arrested at Duncan on a burglary warrant from Comanche County (Lawton) on Thursday, Ingram said.

Ingram said he drove Johnson to Cache, 15 miles west of Lawton, and recorded a telephone call from Johnson to Harrell that resulted in a meeting between Johnson and Harrell behind the First State Bank of Cache. That conversation, Ingram said, was recorded by bugs on Johnson's person and in his car.

The recordings showed the men discussed the firearms and other property that was confiscated, Ingram said.

Thirty-two weapons were taken from Harrell's home at Cache and 13 others from the home of a relative at Indianola, Ingram said. They included 10 pistols and 35 rifles and shotguns valued at several thousand dollars, police said.

The National Crime Information Center reported nine of the firearms had been stolen in Lawton, Oklahoma City, Corpus Christi, Tex., and Montpelier, Vt., Ingram said.

Researcher Is Shocked By Ban

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — The scientist whose research was cited by the federal government as the basis for its ban on cyclamates says he was shocked when the artificial sweeteners were ordered of the market.

"It concluded nothing about cyclamates," Dr. Bernard Oster said of his study that was cited in the 1969 decision halting use of the chemical that millions of weight-conscious Americans were drinking in diet soft drinks.

State Demos Fuss Over Selection Of Delegates

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas Democratic party leaders, alternating between rebellion and harmony, finally approved Saturday a plan for selecting delegates to the 1976 national Democratic convention.

However, State Democratic Chairman Calvin Guest, Bryan, called another meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee for September to act on further expected changes expected by national party heads.

"We are by no means through today," said Gordon Wynne Jr., Wills Point, whose rules committee of the SDEC, drew up the plan. "We fully expect to get more requests from the (national) Compliance Review Com-

BIG SPRING, TEXAS (79720) SUNDAY, JULY 13, 1975

FREE — U.S. Army Col. Ernest R. Morgan is flanked by two Lebanese soldiers on his way to the U.S. embassy in Beirut Saturday. Morgan was released earlier in the day after two weeks as a kidnap victim of Lebanese Moslem revolutionaries.

Food Delivered, Colonel Released

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A U.S. Army colonel, kidnaped two weeks ago by Palestinian radicals, was released Saturday after the Lebanese government delivered free food and other supplies demanded in ransom.

Col. Ernest R. Morgan's only statement before going into seclusion with U.S. officials was: "Tell my mother I'm fine, glad to be free and alive. I was treated well."

Moslem leaders who reportedly arranged the release first brought Morgan, 43, of Petersburg, Va., to the residence of Lebanon's Premier Rashid Karami. Shortly afterward he was taken to meet U.S. Embassy officials and a spokesman announced he would be secluded at least until Sunday, presumably for a medical checkup and debriefing by American officials. Details of the release were not disclosed.

At her home in Petersburg, Morgan's mother Evelyn Johnson said, "I want to say that all my tears are not for sorrow — they're also for joy from the depths of my heart. We didn't know we had so many wonderful friends from all walks of life and in every part of the country until these hours of need."

"I hope the prayers for my son will also bring peace among men."

Morgan was clean shaven, appeared fit and smiled broadly when he arrived at the premier's residence a little more than two hours before the deadline set by his kidnapers for his execution. He was accompanied by Sheik Abdullatif Ziade, a Moslem religious judge, and Mohammed Mokaddem, a leader of the left-wing October 24 Movement. Reporters were told that organization had negotiated

Morgan's release. The kidnapers, calling themselves the Socialist Revolutionary Action Organization, twice threatened to execute Morgan "by firing squad" as

Fail To Post $25,000 Bonds

Harold Cooksey, 50, and James Cooksey, 46, of Midland are in Howard County jail in lieu of $25,000 bond each.

Bond was set in New Mexico by Judge E. Forrest Sanders of the 3rd Judicial District, after the pair was arrested in Las Cruces late Thursday.

The duo waived extradition. They were returned to Big Spring on felony theft charges in connection with oilfield equipment stolen off the Turner lease.

Sheriff A. N. Standard will go to the district attorney Monday to discuss possible other charges. The two men, along with Carl Harding, who was arrested last Sunday, disarmed Deputy Buster McCartney and damaged the deputy's car.

This occurred when McCartney went to an oil lease on the Edwards Ranch south of Coahoma where three men were reported to be stealing gasoline.

a spy if their demands for free food, clothing and building materials were not met. The first deadline set for Wednesday was extended to 9 p.m. — 2 p.m. EDT — Saturday.

An all night hunt followed and lawmen then joined in tracking the pair through West Texas to El Paso, into Mexico and back into New Mexico.

Texas Rangers Pete Montemayor of El Paso and Charlie Hodges of Midland brought the Cookseys back from Las Cruces to the local jail, arriving at 9 p.m. Friday, lacking one day of being a week after the first report.

The Cookseys also face charges in Mitchell County of stealing a truck belong to Standard Oil Co. The truck was found two blocks from the International Bridge in El Paso.

CLOUDY
Partly cloudy today through Monday, with a 20 per cent chance of thunderstorms tonight. Upper 90s for a high today, slightly warmer Monday.

Reviewing the

Big Spring Week

with Joe Pickle

Three men really stirred a hornets nest when they hijacked Deputy Sheriff Eddie Owens and battered his car Saturday night a week ago when he surprised them following an oilfield burglary. Officers warmed over the area and the next day flushed out Carl Harding, Midland. They sniffed out the trail of Harold (Deano) Cooksey and his brother, James (Pinko) Cooksey of Midland and nailed them Thursday at Las Cruces, N.M.

Education is a wise investment, according to an adage. It begins to appear the investment around here will top the $10 million mark this year. Big Spring school trustees trotted out a tentative budget of $7,774,000 (subject to an Aug. 11 hearing), and earlier Howard College trustees indicated they would be looking at a budget over $2 million. Yet to come are the figures from Coahoma and Forsan. A good portion of increases comes from new state salary minimums.

Since 1902, Mitchell County Precinct 2 has been dry. On the basis of last Tuesday's referendum on the subject, it may stay dry to 2002. Voters, led by a heavy outpouring in Westbrook, turned down legalized sale 292-142.

MOLESTER FLEES ON BIKE

An eight-year-old girl was sexually molested behind a garage on Runnels street at about 7:34 p.m. Friday, according to Big Spring Police.

The incident, reported by her father, is being investigated by juvenile authorities.

The assailant was seen leaving the scene on a bicycle, police reported.

The girl was treated and released at a local hospital.

Astros Wind Up Training In Texas, Fly To Florida

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Russian rocket was on its pad, the American astronauts wound up their training and the only major concern Saturday for next week's U.S. Soviet space chase was the kind of weather that gives fits to Florida's Chamber of Commerce.

Thomas P. Stafford, the American commander for Tuesday's U.S.-Soviet space chase landed a T38 jet in a rainstorm and declared: "I hope it's not like this next Tuesday."

Stafford flew here from the Johnson Space Center, Houston, Tex., where earlier in the day he and his two astronaut colleagues completed their training for the joint mission.

The other members of the crew, Vance D. Brand and Donald K. Slayton, also piloted individual T38s from Texas.

"I hope we have all this bad weather today," Stafford said, adding that the forecast for Tuesday was good.

He was bareheaded and wore a flight suit as he talked with reporters in a downpour after landing at nearby Patrick Air Force Base.

The two Soviet cosmonauts, Alexei Leonov and Valeri Kubasov, have been in quarantine at their launch site several days. Their rocket and spaceship were moved to the launch pad Saturday.

State Demos Fuss Over Selection Of Delegates

Then the committee adopted on voice vote a motion by Bill V. Williams, Houston, that the committee named to audit operations of the Democratic teletown in Texas on July 26-27 be enlarged from four to seven members and that all findings be made available to SDEC members.

"We should be in an austerity program now because we are in debt," Williams said. "We're in debt $80,000 and I've never seen where and when this debt originated."

Guest said earlier in a speech to the committee that party indebtedness had been reduced by more than $50,000 the past three years.

The chairman warned SDEC members about getting "presidentitis" in 1976. "With so many potential candidates in the race, I am sure that each of us will have our favorites, but I hope and pray that we won't succumb to presidentitis and end up with nothing but petty squabbling on this committee," he said.

COMMUNISTS ARRESTED — Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi addresses labor leaders and managers of government-run corporations. Reliable reports said Saturday that the Indian government has arrested a number of pro-Peking Communists for leading an anti-government demonstration.

Keep In STEP And Stay Out Of Trouble

The footprint with the word STEP stands for the new Selective Traffic Enforcement Program.

This should be the last time that you will see that symbol, but it may not be because it will be stamped on the traffic tickets issued by policemen under the new program.

Last year 1,392 accidents inside the Big Spring city limits cost property owners $1,519,720 and nine persons were killed. In the first six months this year, 53 accidents have accounted for $660,540 in damage and two people have been killed.

The office, under the correlation of Police Chief Vance Chisum, Capt. Sherrill Farmer and Susan Thomas, traffic coordinator, have selected the 22 intersections in which the most wrecks occurred last year.

Circuitous Trip Taken To Fill Texan's Order

HOLLAND, Tex. (AP)—A roundtrip from Texas to Rotterdam, the Netherlands for only 10 cents?

Sounds unbelievable, but it happened.

Jerry Pavlot of Holland, Bell County, Tex., went into a Temple store to buy a part for his water well pump. The store didn't have the part in stock, and ordered it for him from its Dallas warehouse.

After waiting several days for the part — a two-inch piece of quarter-inch pipe — Pavlot went to another Temple store which had the part, bought it and repaired his pump.

Later, the part he ordered out of Dallas arrived almost two months late.

Pavlot discovered why it was late when he looked at the address and postmarks on the package.

It was addressed simply to Jerry Pavlot, B325, Holland. One postmark, with 10 cents postage, was marked Dallas and dated May 13. The other was marked Rotterdam.

Handwritten on the package was "unknown in Holland."

Pavlot said he plans to keep the pipe in his storeroom as a spare in case his pump needs repairing again.

Wallace Is Up But With Cast

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace has made his first public appearance since breaking the shin bone on his paralyzed left leg.

The governor told newsmen Friday the injury "hasn't given me any second thoughts about political life at all." He made it clear he still intends to seek the Democratic presidential nomination, although a formal announcement is still pending.

Postal Service To Make Cuts In Service Unless...

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service will have to make drastic cuts in service unless it gets higher postal rates soon, its chief financial officer says.

Without new revenue, the Postal Service faces a financial crisis within a few months, Ralph W. Nicholson, senior assistant postmaster general for finance, said in an interview.

bring expenses down to the level of revenue. The solution is to put revenue up," Nicholson said.

So far there have been no service cuts, he said.

Nicholson continued the Postal Service's attack on the independent Postal Rate Commission, saying: "We can't continue with the present rate-making structure."

putting mail delivery on a sound, business-like basis.

When the Postal Service took over the Post Office Department, it assumed an equity of $1.7 billion. This amount, most of which was in cash, has dwindled to $435 million, Nicholson said.

At current mail rates, the Postal Service is losing an average of $250 million per month, he said.

Light Agenda For Dawson

LAMESA — A relatively light agenda faces the Dawson County Commissioners Court in its Monday session.

The court will consider acceptance of a change in insurance rates. Otherwise, most of the meeting will be given over to receiving reports from the treasurer, librarian, the health unit, and the fire department.

Bicentennial Town Crier

One more "thank you" to Jerry Foresyth for his tremendous leadership in getting the Comanche Trail Park in shape for July 4th.

Mamie Lee Dadds and the "Let Freedom Ring" cast really appreciated the freshly painted dressing rooms, the mirrors and hanging racks — all new and just in time for pageant use.

Kudos, too, to Jerry's lovely wife, Jan, and daughter Jana, for helping wherever needed during the day.

Kentwood center featured it in a noontime program. Now, patches with the Bicentennial emblem have been requested by a group from Webb — Margaret Baum heaved a sigh of relief when the Bicentennial decals arrived just in time to go on sale the 4th. She was right — they are elegant, and can be purchased from members of the Big Spring State Hospital Volunteer Council.

Like mother, like daughter. Joni Avery is already booked for five Bicentennial programs. Mom Johnnie Lou whipped up a red and white eagle decorated outfit just for these occasions. Joni will look as good as she sounds!

Plans are now underway for the Starlight Specials, another Festival '76 production. Joe Dunn is serving as chairman and will have the best help available — Katy Thomas Grimes on publicity, and Nancy Thomas Allen, ushers. (Jane and Dr. Clyde train their daughters to be involved, just like Mom and Dad.)

Gospel night will be Aug. 3; Fiesta night, Aug. 5th; and Western night, Aug. 7th. Respective chairmen are Frank Wentz, Lydia Molinda and Joe Dunn — and they still need local talent. A phone call to the Chamber of Commerce will do it. How about you?

Here we go raving about the talents of Mike Paul again! His art work added so much to the fabulous special Bicentennial edition of the Big Spring Herald. Must run in the family to be helpful; that was his fetching daughter, Kris, dressed in old-fashioned attire and handing out programs at "Let Freedom Ring."

The hours of loving toil put in by Joe Pickle and others of the Herald staff were very evident in the special edition.

Such an ambitious and well-done project deserves hearty praise from all of us. Thanks, Dub Pearson, you gave us a real Bicentennial blast-off!

A note from Linnie Keese (Mrs. B.M.) gave particulars on the recent Bicentennial program of the American Association of Retired People at Kentwood Center.

Among those featured were Marshall Brown, Mrs. L. B. Mundi, and Mrs. C. A. Holcomb. T. K. Price read "Paul Revere's Ride" and "In Flanders Fields." (And up to now we thought T. K. was only good at bowling!) Thanks, for sharing, Linnie.

The crowd at "Let Freedom Ring" was by far the largest ever. Some of that could be due to the unstinting support of several Big Spring Chamber of Commerce board members (Daryle Hohertz, Ariel LaFond, Dub Pearson, Clyde McMahon, Sr., Ken Perry all look better in blonde wigs) who performed in the show.

Amazingly, Perry Culwell and his Jaycees were still on their feet and proved to be able thespians, too, along with Steering Committeeman Collyns Moore. Colonial dresses abounded. By next July 4th, this should be the height of fashion.

Wasn't Al Scott effective as Patrick Henry? His continued service is a real bright spot. We also thank the Vellie Sorrells family for sharing talented son-in-law, Rep. Mike Ezzell, with us to be the Towne Crier in the pageant. The two little Ezzells and Dr. Charles Hays' baby daughter, Kelly, seemed impressed with the "elocutionary" efforts of their dads. It was all great now, about next year, Mamie Lee...

Tidbits: Calls keep coming for the use of the Bicentennial flag. Joe Wallace and Sherry Mullins used it for a 4-H dress revue. — The

Starlight Dates Are Announced

Times, dates and places for the Starlight Specials have been set by the Public Affairs Council of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, according to project chairman Joe Dunn.

The Specials will begin on Sunday night, Aug. 3, with Gospel music being performed by several church groups and choirs.

The program will be at 8:30 p.m. at the Amphitheater in Comanche Trail Park.

Fiesta Night will be held on Tuesday of that week, the same time and place, with several Latin bands performing.

Thursday will be Western Night, with western bands providing the entertainment.

SOUTH VIETNAMESE LEARN ENGLISH

'Table' Or 'Television?' Or Is That 'Mug' Or 'Cup?'

By MARJ CARPENTER
 "We are not just from Vietnam," said Tran Viet Van haltingly in English. "We like to say South Vietnam."

Van's intent was clear. So is the desire of the South Vietnamese to learn the language of their new adopted land.

Classes in English are being held at Runnels Junior High under the adult education program of Big Spring Schools. The first class Monday noon drew 27 of the new Big Spring residents, said Keith Swim, program director. The afternoon class had 18 on opening day.

Van is one of the lucky ones.

He had learned some English in the Air Force. Both he and his wife have three years of college and can read and write English. But as Van puts it, "She doesn't hear English very well."

Now they are learning conversational English. They already speak two languages — Vietnamese and French.

Another one of the group, Binh Lam Benson, known in this country as Ben, was wanting courses in grammar. He has had three basic English courses at Lackland Air Force Base.

"This city — Big Spring is kind to us. We feel welcome here," said Van. "Many have been at Air Base." He spread his hands around the circle. "We are all young. Want to learn and do good. We make new friends. Our people and your people."

"Some old (people) came. Are at Camp Chaffee. But not many. Mostly young."

EVERY DAY PLEASE

The class was filled with enthusiasm. When an interpreter asked if they wanted to come two or three days a week, the answer was "every day, please."

This put a mild panic into the car pool volunteers. Capt. James Gibbar is heading up a group of volunteers in this department. Any individual who can help transport part of the group to and from classes is urged to call Capt. Gibbar at 3-7408.

"We are desperately needing cars, a possible use of a church bus and driver, or help with payment of car pool gasoline," he added.

Only one of the South Vietnamese has qualified for his Texas driver's license, but none owns a car. Volunteers have been helping them get to class. The adult education course will also try to help them with their driver's license tests.

One set of English classes will be from 12 noon to 2 p.m. and another from 5-7 p.m. The hours are set around their work schedules, since many of them work 3 a.m. to 11 a.m. at Fiberglass or different hours at Berkley Homes.

FEW CHILDREN

There are only a few small children and they are being allowed to come to class. "They may pick up some English. Actually we will try to place the younger ones in Head Start when school starts," Keith Swim stated.

"This will place quite a challenge on those teachers who are already confronted with Spanish-speaking students," Swim added.

Mrs. Bonnie Watkins, experienced in teaching language, is the instructor with the help of aides who are interpreters.

Even calling the roll is formidable. Try this for size: Hang Nga Tran Thi, Ngoc Quach, Ai Dong, Ai Thuy and Ai Thu Quach; Nghi Dang Hoang, Chuyen Ho Kim, Thoi Quach Van, Toan Tran Van, Ly Reay, Hung Tran Quy, Triyen Dink Quang,

YOUR NAME, PLEASE — Mrs. Bonnie Watkins is writing down the first day pupils and these South Vietnamese girls laugh happily as they discover the English equivalent of their names is Ann, Moon and Dawn. (Photo By Danny Valdes)

Lea Hung, Quynh Tran-Dinh Que, Ncoylin Thi, Van Tran-Viet, Quelinh Tran-Viet, Que-lan Tran-Nong, Anh Tran Viet; Tai, Nha Van, Khanh Ngoc, Ngoc Mai and Binh Lam Benson, Cuong Tran Nam, Bao Tran Quoc and one with a simple name of Tot Simpson.

This is just the morning class. The afternoon brought another 18 new students, which totals 45 of the 84 who are sponsored by various individuals in Big Spring.

NINE IN FAMILY

The latest family to arrive this week had nine members and is sponsored by the flight training squadron at Webb that last year trained some 85 Vietnamese pilots here in Big Spring. The success of that program and the acceptance of those students by citizens in the community is the main reason that so many have returned here. Consequently, probably no other town of the same population in the United States that has thrown out the welcome mat like Big Spring have done.

Mrs. Watkins began her first lesson with simple objects in the room and said, "Pen" with the group happily echoing "Pen." She then went to "Table, magazine, glass and blackboard."

"But it's green," objected one who knew his colors.

CUP OR MUG?

"Cup" she said and one woman who had been drinking coffee with a neighbor looked confused and asked "Mug?"

She pointed next to the top of a television and one young man across the room could only see the top and added quickly, "Table."

Everybody laughed happily and said, "Television" — a word they had quickly learned.

She held up a soft drink bottle and said, "Bottle" and one quired, "Coke?"

Books are being sent from Lackland Air Force Base to be used in the course here. The adult education program also has flash cards and pictures. Grammar books will be made available for the more advanced.

LOVELY NAME

One young girl explained that her name meant "Moon" and dropped her head timidly. "That is a lovely name," the teacher assured her.

The South Vietnamese (or New West Texans) chattered among themselves. Their enthusiasm for the project was evident.

Van's wife brought a little booklet in her purse. In it she had written down the important things. It held the addresses of those left behind. It has the name of her sponsor. It has the names of new friends. She jotted down the hours of the class, for learning English is one of the important things to these dispossessed people in a new land.

Will Find Out If CIA Pros Planted In Senate?

CHICAGO (AP) — President Ford said Saturday he assumes allegations of Central Intelligence Agency infiltration in past administrations will be investigated by the press and Congress.

In Washington, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he will ask congressional investigators to find out if CIA agents were planted in the Senate.

At a news conference, Ford was asked about reports that the CIA has had "contact men" at the White House and other agencies.

"As far as I know personally, there are no people presently employed in the White House who have a relationship with the CIA, of which I am personally unaware," Ford said.

Ford said allegations that CIA men infiltrated past administrations will be investigated.

Asked who would do the investigating, Ford said: "The press, for one, and I assume Congress is looking into these allegations."

He said it would be premature to make any comment about Alexander Butterfield's relationship with the CIA when he served as a top administrative assistant to former President Nixon. A retired CIA operative has said Butterfield was a "contact officer."

Mansfield, D-Mont., said he has no evidence that spies

Safety Push Wink Planning Progresses On Celebration

Webb AFB's military and civilian population of close to 3,200 captured the second leg of safety's triple crown here last weekend, by completing the second straight three-day weekend without suffering a reportable accident.

The victory against accidents boosted Webb's already impressive safety record for this year. To date, there have been only six reportable accidents and the most serious of those was a broken jaw. By this time last year Webb had already totaled 21 reportables, nine of those involving motor vehicles.

Ground safety officials indicated that they want to finish the year with no more reportables, but realistically they are continuing to eye their goal of no more than 18 accidents for the year.

After completing the Fourth of July weekend, considered by many to be one of the most dangerous of our nation's holidays, the Labor Day weekend stands as the next three-day hurdle in the triple crown. Base officials said that they hope to sweep the Memorial Day, Fourth of July and Labor Day weekends, then prepare the base for the fall and winter challenges, the Christmas and New Year's Day holidays.

At present, six base units are slated for a warmup weekend sometime this month. The units recently passed the 120-day mark without a reportable accident, and have earned a day off. Other base units are expected to reach their own magic 120-day goal before Labor Day.

WINK — A Queen contest, parade, barbecue, dance and a fiddler's concert will highlight the two day Wink 4-H Western Fun Days, August 1 and 2.

Friday's events include the Queen Contest at 8 p.m. in the High School auditorium. On Saturday, events will begin at 10 a.m. in Wink Park and will continue all day. A dance will last from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Sunday.

Low-Level Alert Issued By Portugal's Leaders

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Portugal's leftist military rulers nervously ordered troops on a partial alert Saturday after the country's largest political party quit the government and the second-biggest delivered an ultimatum the army was expected to reject.

The worst crisis in the regime's short history was aggravated by dangerous clashes among guerrilla movements in the African territory of Angola which threatened to engulf Portuguese soldiers stationed there until Nov. 11 independence day.

Authorities in Angola estimated as many as 200 persons may have died since Wednesday. Officials here confirmed only six deaths but said the toll could go higher.

A military spokesman said troops in Portugal were confined to barracks in a "state of vigilance" because of the crisis following the walkout of Mario Soares' Socialist party from the cabinet Friday.

At the end of an all-night meeting, the military's Revolutionary Council said it lamented the Socialist's departure, but the nation's supreme political authority made no move to bring them back. It said replacements for the departing Socialist ministers would be sought among "competent and patriotic elements."

Premier Vasco Goncalves, an army general who backs the Communists, began consultations to revamp the cabinet. Among the people called to his Sao Bento residence were Communist party chief Alvaro Cunhal.

Soares left the cabinet saying the country was headed toward "a police state run by a new class of bureaucrats to oppress the workers." His departure was precipitated by the military taking over the Socialist party newspaper Republica.

Shortly after Soares took the biggest electoral force into opposition, the runners-up in national elections last April handed a set of demands to President Francisco Costa Gomes. The Popular Democrats said they, too, would quit if the trend toward East European style people's republic democracy was not reversed. They gave Costa Gomes until Wednesday to reply.

A rejection of the Popular Democrats' conditions would mean the dominant radical military faction had turned its back on parliamentary democracy, leaving it with two basic choices: To rule openly with Communist support alone, or form an all-military government with civilian specialists claiming no party affiliation.

Western diplomats were deeply apprehensive about the political future of Portugal, a member of the North Atlantic alliance with a key geographical reach to the east Atlantic sealanes.

The Soviets and their East European allies have urged on the radical military. Their representatives in Portugal are numerous and active.

The confrontation in Portugal is on three main fronts — Communists and their military backers against non-Communists, the main political parties against the military, and finally, moderate officers in the military leadership against radicals.

The target of officers who seek his ouster, Goncalves has managed to survive. But he felt his position sufficiently threatened to cancel a trip Friday night to independence ceremonies on the West African coastal island of Sao Tome.

AMARILLO DA FEEL BOARD IS DOING SORRY JOB' Texas Parole System Blasted

EDITOR'S NOTE — According to the Texas parole handbook, a state prison inmate is supposed to be granted parole "only if it is in the public interest." Reporter Bill Cos of the Amarillo Globe-News found this is not always the case. And he uncovered some of the sharpest criticism of the parole system in his own backyard.

AMARILLO (AP) — Dist. Atty. Tom Curtis of Amarillo says he is so distressed over the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles that he favors a legislative investigation of the board.

He said he feels the board is doing a "sorry job" by prematurely paroling prison inmates whose backgrounds and case histories indicate little or no rehabilitation.

"The parole board is letting people out without an in-depth evaluation on their potential to commit crime or not, and these decisions have nothing to do with whether the parolees are a danger to society or not," Curtis said in a recent interview.

"The way it is handled is automatic in many regards. The board doesn't pay enough attention to individual character and personality.

"They look too much at labels and automatic formulas. In certain crimes, parole is granted after the inmate has applied three times; in others it may be granted on first application."

Contending the board conducts little more than superficial evaluation of prospective parolees, the district attorney said:

"The board doesn't have the proper tools to work with, the facilities or the highly trained personnel, and they do a sorry job.

"The answer to an improved system for the operation of the parole board is through legislative revamping of the system. There needs to be a legislative investigation or hearing to find out what the problems are and seek some answers.

"It is high time such an investigation be conducted with the view toward correcting the corrections system. Some people are getting out, and by the same logic, probably some of the wrong people are being kept in," Curtis said.

A number of other Potter County (Amarillo) officials agreed in essence with the district attorney, and Sheriff T.L. Baker said:

"Violent criminals are treated like any others...The board should take a second look and make a careful study before putting such a man on parole. As it is, they are all stirred up in one hat, and it's a rubber stamp sort of thing."

Amarillo Police Chief Lee Spradlin noted that the parole system is a "necessary part of our criminal justice system" but added:

"By the same token the three-member panel in Austin cannot effectively screen that many applicants, parole those who need to be and keep those who need to be kept in prison."

Parole supervisor Louis Schoenfeld, whose office is in suburban Dallas, said the parole system by no means is infallible.

"We make mistakes. We have failures. But the people we are working with are failures. Our main job is to change their life style. I think parole is working very well," he said.

Charles G. Shandera, a member of the board, says he believes the parole system is performing its function of protecting society and insists the parole of offenders who have committed crimes against persons is guarded closely.

"I'll defend it all the way down the wire," Shandera said. "Now, you can look at it two ways. You can look at a person who is on parole, and see how many persons are doing things to break the law while they are on parole, and then make a determination from that.

"But I don't feel like that is a legitimate yardstick for measuring a decent parole program. I think we have to look at that person until the day he dies.

"Did his parole cause his whole life to be affected in such a way that there is less criminality in it because he is on parole than there would have been without it? If you're talking about that, and I think that's the way you have to look at it, then I don't think there's any question about it but what we're doing a good job," Shandera said.

PLACED ON PAROLE

During the last six months, according to Clyde Whiteside, chairman of the Board of Pardons and Paroles, 64.85 per cent of the inmates released from Texas prisons were placed on parole.

A major bill aimed at improving the pardons and parole board was signed into law recently by Gov. Dolph Briscoe and it goes into effect this summer.

The bill, passed on the last day of the 1975 legislature, provides for the appointment of six parole commissioners to assist the three-member board on a decision-making level.

Under the bill, one-third of the commissioners will be appointed by the governor, one-third by the chief justice of the Texas Supreme Court and one-third by the presiding judge of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

Except for that legislation, most of the parole bills introduced during the last session fell by the wayside.

F15 Fighters Being Checked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Technical problems are continuing to plague U.S. military aviation, with four major types of warplane grounded within six weeks.

The latest problem was disclosed Friday when the Air Force said it has pulled all 34 F15 fighter planes out of service as a precaution due to "contamination of oil used for lubricating a sub-system geardrive assembly."

Examination of some of the F15s showed that oil mixed with fuel used to power the jet engines, the Air Force said. It said specialists from the Air Force and McDonnell Douglas Corp., builder of the $14.4-million planes, are seeking the cause and corrective action.

Since June 2, a total of 839 Navy F4 Phantoms, Navy F17 Tomcats and Air Force A17 fighter-bombers have been grounded for varying periods because of problems with the engines or control systems.

On Trial For Her Life In Slaying Of Jailer

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — After nearly a year of legal maneuverings and preparation, Joan Little goes on trial for her life Monday in the slaying of a male jailer who she says tried to rape her.

Miss Little, a 21-year-old black, faces a mandatory death penalty if convicted of first-degree murder in the death of Clarence Allgood, a 62-year-old white farmer who was the night jailer at the Beaufort County Jail.

The young woman, awaiting appeal of a breaking and entering conviction, was the only female inmate at the jail in Washington, N.C., last Aug. 27. Allgood was found stabbed to death in her cell in the early morning hours. She had fled.

During an eight-day manhunt in rural eastern North Carolina, authorities treated the case as a simple escape. Attempts were made to have Miss Little declared an outlaw under a North Carolina statute that would allow any citizen to shoot her on sight.

Only later, when a medical examiner's report revealed that Allgood was naked from the waist down, did the case take on new significance.

With the help of Durham civil rights attorney Jerry

Paul, Miss Little surrendered to state authorities. She said the jailer had tried to rape her in her cell and that she stabbed him in self-defense with his own icepick.

The allegation of sexual assault attracted attention from women's rights and civil rights advocates. Miss Little, never an activist, was thrust into the national limelight drawing the interest of civil rights and feminist groups.

Her trial was originally docketed in Beaufort County for last November, but a continuance was granted as Miss Little's attorneys fought to move the trial from the rural east to an urban area.

Paul argued that a black woman could not get a fair trial from an eastern North Carolina jury.

After three weeks of pretrial hearings in Beaufort County in April, Superior Court Judge Henry McKinnon granted a change of venue to Raleigh, the state capital 115 miles to the west.

Dist. Atty. William Griffin appealed the decision to the State Supreme Court but was turned down. So, the trial begins here Monday with Judge Hamilton Hobgood presiding.

Jury selection for the trial in the Wake County Superior Court is expected to take two weeks and the entire proceeding four to six weeks.

The state is expected to contend that Miss Little lured Allgood into her cell as part of an escape plot. The defense contends that Miss Little became frantic when the jailer tried to assault her, fended off his attack, then ran for her life.

Allgood was found slumped on a cot in Miss Little's cell. He had 11 stab wounds and clutched an icepick in one hand, his trousers in the other. There was semen found on his leg.

Beaufort County Sheriff O.E. "Red" Davis said the icepick had been kept in a desk drawer in the jailer's office after it was taken from another person who was arrested.

How to select the right nursing home.

We Americans are not just living longer, we're living more useful, productive lives.

But an increasing number of the chronically ill, the old, the convalescent, need some place other than the hospital and their home where they can receive personal health care, round-the-clock attention and the opportunity to continue to live their lives with meaning.

As your community extended health care facility we want to help you make the right decision. Here are some guidelines: see your family physician to determine the kind of care needed; feel free to visit our facility; ask us for our costs in writing and financial advice about Medicaid; examine all of our facilities; check our food quality; verify our safety features; and finally, observe how our residents spend their time.

There's a lot more to selecting the right nursing home. We want to help. If you have any questions, please call or visit us.

U.S. CONCENTRATING ON DEVELOPMENT OF REUSABLE SPACECRAFT

Russians Will Likely Dominate Space Travel 'Til '79

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Russia will likely dominate manned space travel for the next four years while America goes through a spacecraft model change. But by the 1980s, the United States should be the world's common carrier in space.

The Apollo-Soyuz Test Project (ASTP), the joint U.S.-Soviet mission set for launch July 15, is expected to be the last voyage of the Apollo spacecraft, the reliable vehicle that ferried men to the moon and back, and America's last manned space flight until at least 1979.

Russia, however, is expected to continue manned flights at the rate of several a year using the Soyuz, a simple earth orbital spacecraft, much smaller and less sophisticated than the Apollo. The Soyuz is the Soviet space workhorse, used to fly two-man crews to Salyut space stations.

American space officials say the Russians are building a massive space complex — three or four times larger than Cape Canaveral, Fla. — in a southern Soviet desert.

Astronaut Thomas P. Stafford, Apollo commander for the ASTP mission and one of the few foreigners to visit the Russian Baykonur Cosmodrome, said the Soviet space complex "makes Cape Canaveral look pretty small."

He said the complex still under construction includes a new city of 50,000 called Leninsk to support the space missions.

"They are not slowing down one bit in their space program," he said. "They told us they're going to continue to have several manned flights a year."

The American space agency is concentrating its effort and funds on development of the Space Shuttle, a reusable spacecraft.

Dr. Christopher C. Kraft, director of the Johnson Space Center near Houston, said the Shuttle may turn America into a space transportation agency for the whole world.

Experts believe that once the shuttle is operational, American companies and foreign governments will pay freight charges to deliver payloads into earth orbit. In effect, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) would become the common carrier in space, just as trucks, railroads and ships are common carriers on earth.

engines of the shuttle, will develop more than three million pounds of thrust.

The booster rockets are attached to the outside of the orbiter and will be jettisoned at about 27 miles in altitude. They will parachute into the ocean to be recovered and reused.

An external propellant tank, the largest element of the shuttle system, will feed the orbiter's engines during the launch phase and is the only part of the system that is not reused.

conditions after some mechanical or electrical failure, could be returned to service at a fraction of their cost.

Manufacturing in space could become a reality with the shuttle, some experts believe, and lead to significant advances in medicine, communications and manufactured materials.

For example, experts believe that electronic crystals manufactured in space at a purity not possible on earth could lead to such things as wrist television sets, hearing aids the size of a pinhead, or cardiac pacemakers the size of a nickel.

The first international payload for the shuttle is already under development. Spacelab is a scientific space station being developed by 10 European nations which will pay NASA to deliver the module into space aboard the shuttle.

Current plans for the shuttle's development call for horizontal flight tests in two years and the first earth orbital flight in 1979. If all goes well, officials expect the shuttle, history's first fully reusable spacecraft, to be operational by 1980.

America may spend the next four years watching the Soviets dominate manned spaceflight, but as one official put it, "The wait will be worth it if we get the shuttle flying."

Ernest Ammable, Big Spring Dress Factory, discovered a burglary at that location at 7:46 a.m. Saturday. Entry was gained through a small window over an air duct and 50 cents stolen from a change box. Some coin operated machines were damaged slightly.

Mrs. Sylvia Justice, 3622 Calvin, reported the theft of 12 tapes and a baseball glove from her car while it was parked at Big Spring High School. Value of the property was $124.

Danny Bell, 421 Pine, reported the theft of a tape player, a tape case and 30 tapes from his auto while it was parked at the Ritz Theater. Total value was set at $300.

James Adams reported gasoline stolen from his car while it was parked at the Southland Apartments.

1976 To Be Boom Year For Car Sales, Exec Says

DETROIT (AP) — Thomas A. Murphy, General Motors Corp. chairman, says 1976 will be a boom year for new car sales even if sticker prices increase and gasoline climbs to 90 cents a gallon.

Murphy said skyrocketing fuel costs will not dampen efforts to end the two-year slump which has forced 150,000 auto workers, including 88,000 at GM, onto the jobless rolls this year.

He even suggested higher gasoline prices may stimulate sales by forcing motorists to purchase new, more fuel-efficient vehicles.

"I don't think we're going to have dollar-a-gallon gasoline," he said in an interview with The Associated Press. "But our studies indicate that certainly (prices) as high as 90 cents should not be a great factor."

One new GM product

Murphy hopes will sell strongly is the Chevette, a minicar set to debut this fall and designed to compete with the smallest imports.

Murphy gave The AP the first official confirmation of the company's Chevette plans and said he hopes the car will help dispel myths about the superiority of foreign models. The Chevette will be smaller than GM's subcompact Vega, and the company believes it will get up to 40 miles to the gallon.

Murphy said he is confident 1976 will be a strong year for the industry, with car sales "comfortably above 10 million" units — almost a 20 per cent gain over 1975's expected level.

His bullish forecast is in line with estimates by other auto executives, but well above projections by most financial analysts.

Murphy said he feels the end is near for the industry's worst sales slump since the Great Depression.

"(1976) should be a strong year. If you look at all the statistics, you can prophesy a real boom year, assuming there aren't any major upsets," he said. It was the unexpected Mideast oil embargo in the fall of 1973 that kicked off the current slump.

Murphy said final 1975 sales, including imports, should reach 8.5 million, although only 4.1 million were sold in the first six months.

On prices, Murphy said GM would feel justified in charging enough to compensate for about $200 per car in unexpected cost increases since last fall plus $300 in previous unrecovered costs. But he said he feels constrained by weak consumer demand.

GM, Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. have hinted they may raise prices as much as $300 a car this fall, although analysts say consumer resistance will keep the hikes in the $150 to $200 range.

Murphy attacked expected demands of the United Auto Workers in 1976 contract talks for a shortened work week. He said it would seriously hurt the industry's ability to compete with foreign products.

UAW officials are seeking a shortened work week to increase employment in the industry. Hourly employment at the four major car companies has declined by nearly 200,000 since the boom year of 1973.

Man Uses Knife To Get Wallet

Police are seeking a man who held a knife to the throat of Gene Halfmann at 11:25 a.m. Saturday, and robbed him of his wallet.

Halfmann was driving along and stopped at a stop sign at NW 10th and Lamesa Drive when he said an assailant pulled him out of the car and held a knife to his throat. He then took the wallet, which contained no money and was valued at about $5.

Free On Bail

Roger Edwards, 19, 809 E. 16th, is free on $5,000 bond after he was arrested by Howard County Sheriff's Deputies for the July 5 burglary of the Pearl Distributing Co.

Bond was set by Justice of Peace Gus Ochotorena.

HOUSING, TRANSPORTATION, HEALTH SURVEY UNDER WAY

Representatives of the Information and Referral Service are conducting a survey in Howard County and will be for another week.

Questions will deal with housing, health and transportation.

Results will be turned over to the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission. The information will be the basis for developing a plan for delivery of human services in the basin area.

Citizens are asked for their assistance when they are approached. All survey aides will bear proper identification. Anyone desiring further information may contact the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center (267-6387, Ext. 0).

Accused Truck Thieves Jailed

Patricia Aguilar, 22, and Rickey Lee Dodson, 24, are being held in Howard County jail for the Martin County Sheriff's Department. They were arrested in Columbus, Miss., driving a pickup truck allegedly stolen in Stanton April 27.

The county jail is being used by Martin County officers pending the completion of the new jail facilities there.

THE WEEK

The Big Spring city council gave its approval last week to a proposal by the joint city-schools board of equalization that there be a general reevaluation of the tax rolls. Schools probably will go along, but the county — well that's another matter.

The new airman's dining hall at Webb AFB, to be dedicated at the Aug. 3 open house, will memorialize Capt. Steven Bennett, who gave his life in combat to save that of his passenger in an observation plane. For this heroic act, the Medal of Honor, the nation's highest, was conferred on the Webb AFB graduate posthumously.

That once-in-a-lifetime opportunity which saw the high school choir go to Europe a couple of years ago turns out to be a twice-in-a-lifetime chance. Trustees last week gave approval to the choir to try to raise $79,000 for a trip next summer but it declined any school-fund support.

When the board last Spring ran up a trial balloon of no final exams for seniors, it was dependent upon how well attendance held up. Well, attendance was rotten, and exams are back, except under rigid conditions.

Howard College will sell its $1,500,000 PE-coliseum bond issue Aug. 19. The way the bond market has been doing, it might have been better to have sold the day they were voted (which, of course, was impossible). The prime rate has gone up half a per cent in the past two weeks.

That U.S. 80 Highway tennis tournament here brought several hundred people into town for a few days. The father-son duo of Harold and Danny Olesen captured two singles titles; Jay Box, Big Spring, and Tommy Deavenport, Stanton, along with Dori Crooker, Big Spring and Judy Jones, Abilene, sacked double honors.

Coahoma last week received its first revenue-sharing check in the amount of $4,007. It probably will be applied to paving.

Announced during the week was a change in ownership of the longest-continuously owned and operated business in the county — the Howard County Abstract Company. Kay McDaniel acquired all the stock from Andrea Walker, whose father A. C. Walker, helped found it in 1907.

Big Spring is hosting the district Little League play this week (actually it got started Saturday evening). Teams — and their fans — will be here from Midland and Lamesa all week.

When police gave charge to Manuel Lopez, 18, they sort of felt sorry when the car he was driving was almost totally demolished against an utility pole. Turned out he should have felt sorry for someone else — the car belonged to a used car dealer.

Our town is losing one of its civic fixtures. Carlisle (Frosty) Robison has been promoted to be in charge of America Petrofina's loss control department and will be moving soon to Dallas. Few people have contributed as much to what is good in Big Spring as have Frosty and Judy.

The Permian Basin Planning Council have approval to three local projects totaling $364,121 (Head Start, Scurry Street widening, and shuttle bus service to Midland-Odessa.) Now remains only the little matter of getting the money. P.S. Hold your breath for Thursday when the Owens Street Overpass goes up for bids.

FROM THE NOTEBOOK: A former Big Spring, Zollie Mae Dodge Childers sends an interesting bit of news about another Big Spring, Lorena Byrnes (Lorena Brooks, daughter of late Judge and Mrs. James T. Brooks), who was recognized July 2 by Gov. Dolph Briscoe, as the state's outstanding handicapped employe and given a large framed citation. And Onieta Sledge sent a clipping about how Bill and Sandy Nixon, who were stationed at Webb AFB during his military days and were active in church and civic affairs, telling how they have bought and rehabilitated an 80-year-old home which now is a show place in Ferris (he is in personnel for Sears and Sandy teaches at Red Oak).

Should have mentioned this last week, but those striking cover pages for our Bicentennial edition are the creations of Mike Paul.

JOHN PATTERSON REJECTS TOUR OFFER
Moving those drums seemed too much

Asked To Join 'Tops In Blue'

Webb AFB's John Patterson had just seen his $2,000 Ludwig drums loaded onto a commercial airliner and he settled back as the plane took off westward along the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Behind him at Keesler AFB, Miss., he had just celebrated his 21st birthday and a first place finish at the Air Training Command Talent Show.

Ahead at Lackland AFB, Tex., waited the All Air Force Talent Show with some of the best performers in blue. About 150 performers would be vying for coveted "Roger" and spots with the touring "Tops in Blue."

Patterson had to worry about 15 of the 150 that would be competing in his talent category, instrumental solo. And at Lackland, Patterson did his thing.

Looking on at his performance along with the judges was T.Sgt. John Edwards. The judges would choose the winners of the "Rogers" while Edwards would pick the talent for the "Tops in Blue" show, regardless of the judges' decisions.

After the balloting, another drummer and a harmonica player were chosen ahead of Patterson. However, Edwards came to Patterson after the competition and asked him to join the prestigious "Tops in Blue." Patterson declined.

"I really wanted one of those trophies," says Patterson. "The drummer that beat me out won it on pure showmanship. And that blues harmonica player, he was just super."

Had he played the harmonica, he might have gone with "Tops in Blue," but packing and unpacking those drums seemed a little too much. Anyhow, there's always next year.

DEATHS

John Black

John Lytle Black, 86, died at 8:10 a.m. Saturday in a local nursing home following a lengthy illness.

Services are pending at the Yeager Mortuary, Eagle Pass.

He was born Oct. 3, 1888 in San Antonio. He was a retired superintendent of a utility company.

Black came to Big Spring from Crystal City in 1964. He was a member of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church.

Survivors include his wife, Florence, of the home; six daughters, Mrs. Mary Rose Finch, Los Angeles, Calif., Mrs. Kenneth Rhudd, New Braunfels, Mrs. Leon Hinkle, Austin, Mrs. Tom O'Neal, Long Beach, Calif., Miss Frances Black, Dallas, and Miss Teresa Black, Fort Worth; two sisters, Mrs. Genevieve Harper, Eagle Pass, and Mrs. W. G. Orr, Houston; four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Mrs. McMahan

Imogene McMahan, 63, wife of Ray McMahan, died Saturday 11 a.m., in a hospital here after an illness of more than two months duration.

Services will be 2 p.m. Monday at the First Christian Church with her pastor, the Rev. Bill Smythe, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the Trinity Memorial Park under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Mrs. McMahan had undergone cerebral surgery at Lubbock for removal of a brain tumor. She was returned here more than a week ago.

She was born in Odessa Sept. 30, 1911 and moved with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Runyan, to Big Spring in 1914. After her father's death, she helped operate his plumbing business for a number of years.

She and Ray McMahan, who is the retired pressman for the Big Spring Herald, were married here April 2, 1937. McMahan was a member of the First Christian Church and for a number of years was its benevolence chairman. For a time she was a worker in the PTA. She was active in a number of other things and was considered an expert in bridge.

Surviving her are her husband; one son, Jerry McMahan, San Antonio; one daughter, Mrs. Whitney (Lynn) Reynolds, Big Spring; four grandchildren. She also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Edith Trappnell and Mrs. Faye Burleson, both of Big Spring.

For those who wish to make memorials, the family suggested the American Cancer Society.

MRS. RAY McMAHEN

Monday Rites

Services will be held 2 p.m. Monday in the First Baptist Church in Kermit for Mrs. C. L. (Jo Ann) Speed Henry, 39, Snyder, victim of a two-car collision 2.6 miles southwest of here on the Big Spring highway. The mishap occurred about 2 a.m. Friday.

Highway Patrolman Keith Pherigo said the Henry car was headed south and one carrying William King, 39, and his wife, Dixie 29, was going north. There were no skid marks. Mrs. Henry was declared dead at the scene; Mrs. King was flown to John Sealy Hospital in Galveston in critical condition, and King was resting well at Cogdell Hospital in Snyder. All were residents of Snyder.

Suspect Posts $5,000 Bond

Manuel Lopez, 19, 818 W. 7th, is free on $5,000 bond after he was arrested in Stanton for car theft.

A Big Spring policeman arrested Lopez in Stanton and returned him to Big Spring where felony theft charges are filed.

Peace Justice Gus Ochotorena set bond.

Abilene Man Drowning Victim

ARANSAS PASS, Tex. (AP) — Demetrio A. Ortega, 35, of Abilene, drowned Saturday after he fell out of his boat while fishing in the Gulf near here.

Authorities said Ortega was in a boat with his brother-in-law Joe Perez, also of Abilene, when the steering mechanism of the boat malfunctioned and the two men were thrown overboard. Perez was rescued.

Forged Check Rap Jails Two

Doris Jean Henry, 29, 409 N. Bell and Patricia Ann Palmer, 21, 210 N. Johnson, were arrested Friday by Big Spring Detective Avery Falkner in connection with the passing of a forged check at Airport Grocery.

Reviews ABC Highlights

Bill Sneed, ABC president, was the featured speaker at the weekly meeting of the club Friday at the Settles Hotel.

Sneed reviewed highlights of last week's national convention in Oklahoma City. He along with Wayne Rock, outgoing president, now ABC district governor, were in attendance.

Also present at the convention was past national president, Roy Cagle. He was elected to that post when the national was held in Big Spring in 1949.

The ABC will be responsible for the concessions during the upcoming Howard County Fair.

Alfa Romero Car Glistens At Glen

WATKINS GLEN, N.Y. (AP) — Derek Bell, England and Henri Pescarolo of France drove an Alfa Romeo to victory Saturday in the Six Hours of Endurance race for sports cars at the Watkins Glen road racing course.

The race was for several different types of sports cars, with the powerful Alfa Romeos and Renaults competing in the speedier prototype class—cars built only for racing. The Alfa driven by Bell and Pescarolo took over the lead on the 30th lap after Jody Scheckter of South Africa, piloting another Renault Alpine driven by Frenchmen Gerard Larrousse and Jean Pierre Jarrier.

LL DISTRICT PLAY Texas, Midland Clubs Advance

Big Spring Texas, Lamesa, Midland Western and Midland North Central scored first round wins here Saturday in the District Little League Tournament.

Monday's district games pit Lamesa against Midland Northern at the American Park and Midland Tower taking on Midland Western at International Park. Both games will start at 8 p.m.

District play continues through Friday. Big Spring International filed a protest against Midland North Central in a night game at the American Park. The out-of-town club won, 2-0. Midland N-C took a player out of service during the game then allowed him to reenter.

Texas' Dickie Wrightsil pitched a six-hitter. Sammy Torres, Edward Vela and Mark Salazar each blasted a

American Seeks Domination End

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Baseball's 46th All-Star Game, showcasing the game's top players, will be staged in County Stadium Tuesday night with the American League again seeking to end a National League domination of the midseason classic.

ML President Lee MacPhail pledged an all-out effort to beat the Nationals in last summer's game at Pittsburgh's Three Rivers Stadium. But the NL prevailed with a 7-2 victory to give it a 26-18 edge with one tie in the series that started in 1933.

The first-time AL starters will be three Yankees, catcher Thurman Munson, outfielder Bobby Bonds and third baseman Graig Nettles, along with two Oakland A's, catcher Gene Tenace and outfielder Joe Rudi.

Rangers Downed

BOSTON (AP) — Rookie Mike Cubbage of the Texas Rangers just reached the first row of the right field stands for a two-run homer and Bernie Carbo of the Boston Sox was unhappy.

"I think I could have caught the ball," Carbo said later. "I didn't know the guy was that strong."

Carbo, who doubled and scored on hot-hitting Fred Lynn's single in the first inning, got a chance to make amends for any misjudgment in the sixth inning.

After singles by Bob Heise and Tim Blackwell, Carbo hoisted a 3-1 pitch high in the air to left center. Helped by a stiff tailwind, the ball easily made the screen atop the 37-foot wall for a three-run homer, Carbo's 14th of the year.

The pitch was low and inside and I had to fight it all the way," Carbo said. "I hit the ball pretty good, but I don't know. It might have been off the wall if it hadn't been for the wind."

Carbo's homer put the Red Sox in front 7-5. They went on to add four more runs in the eighth inning and defeat the Rangers 11-8 for their fifth consecutive victory.

The Rangers got two-run homers from Jeff Burroughs (18th) in the first, Cubbage (4th) in the fourth and Toby Harrah (10th) in the ninth. However, the Red Sox countered with a 16-hit attack, featured by Carbo's homer and six doubles.

The homer by Carbo was the first off Texas reliever Stan Thomas in 23 games this season. It also cost the young hurler his second defeat. He has won four.

Boston's Dick Drago became an unexpected starter when southpaw Bill Lee checked into the clubhouse suffering from a virus. Drago was tagged for five runs and five hits in four innings.

Rookie Jim Burton replaced Drago in the fifth and picked up his first major league victory although he needed relief help from Diego Segui in the seventh.

Forbes Trial Nearing End

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — "It's an unwritten rule of hockey that a stick is a cheap-shot instrument," an amateur hockey player testified Friday in the assault trial of Boston Bruins player Dave Forbes.

"You don't have very good leverage on skates so you can't do much damage by just fighting with your hands," added Mark Zelenovich, 25, of Minneapolis. He said he began playing youth hockey when he was in grade school, played on his high school team and currently plays in Minneapolis recreational leagues.

Forbes is charged with aggravated assault for allegedly jabbing Henry Boucha of the Minnesota North Stars in the eye with a hockey stick Jan. 4 in a game at Bloomington, Minn.

Witnesses Friday said they saw Forbes charge Boucha as the two players left the penalty box, strike the Minnesota player with his stick and continue attacking him with their fists.

Robert Utecht, the public address announcer for the North Stars, said he saw the incident from a distance of about 10 feet.

"Forbes jabbed his stick at Henry's eye as though it was a bayonet," said Utecht. He said Forbes then "hammered" at Boucha's head with his fists until several Minnesota players pulled him off.

Utecht and two other witnesses said Forbes was congratulated when he returned to the Boston bench after the incident.

"I saw the coach (Boston's Don Cherry) put his arm around Forbes and pat him on the back," said Utecht.

Foyt Highest Paid Athlete

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Race driver A.J. Foyt's winnings through the first half of 1975 totaled nearly $350,000, placing him among the highest paid male athletes in the world, the U.S. Auto Club reported Saturday.

Foyt, who has won more than $2.5 million in his career, accumulated $349,868 by July 1. But he quickly topped the $350,000 mark with $975 won in a July 4 stock car race.

Foyt, 40, Houston, Tex., made the milestone without winning the Indianapolis 500, which pays about $250,000 to the winner.

Houston Mistake Costly

HOUSTON (AP) — Philadelphia outfielder Greg Luzinski waited for just the right mistake by Houston rookie pitcher Doug Konicieczny Friday night and then turned it into a game-breaker.

With the score knotted at 1-1 in the sixth inning, Luzinski powered his 24th homer of the season into the left field seats to lead the Phils to a 2-1 victory over the Astros.

"He (Konicieczny) made some good pitches to me, but then he made some mistakes and I hit them," said Luzinski, who had a perfect four for four performance.

It was Luzinski's third fourth-inning showing of the season and stretches his current hitting streak to 11 games. He's driven in 46 runs in the last 42 games.

Despite his outstanding season, Luzinski goes into next week's all-star game as a substitute.

"There's not much you can do about the voting system," Luzinski said. "I'm happy I'm going in as a substitute. Other people have been hurt by the voting. (Pittsburgh's) Richie Zisk had a good year last year and didn't go. That wasn't right. The combination of me being hurt last year and being out of the lineup didn't help me with the fans."

Cards Out For 20th Win

Boasting a 19-4 record, the Big Spring Cardinals attempt today in Pecos to cross the 20-win mark.

They face the Pecos Pirates in a doubleheader starting at 1:30 p.m. Next Sunday, the Cards will be back home, facing the Odessa Stars here in a double bill at Steer Park.

Manager Chico Rubio may start Orlando Olague in the opener, and if he falters, Jodie Flores is ready for relief. Frank Rubio will be the second game starter, but he also could be used in relief.

Otherwise the lineup will include Felix Martinez, shortstop; Sammy Rodriguez, second base; Pat Martinez Jr., first base;

Also due to see action are Joe Cadenhead, Tony Martinez and Arthur Valdez.

Trawl Catch

GALVESTON — In these days of 27-pound, state-record striped bass, a mere 16 1/2-pounder is hardly news.

Except that this 16 1/2-lb striped bass was taken in a shrimp trawl from Galveston Bay.

According to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department Coastal Fisheries Regional Director Ernest Simmons of Corpus Christi, the big striped was taken June 16 west of the ship channel off the southeast end of Redfish Island.

Simmons and P&W Coastal Fisheries chief Bob Stevens speculate that the fish moved down the Trinity River and into the saline waters of Galveston Bay.

Recently, Parks and Wildlife Department officials stocked some 55,000 fingerling striped bass in the upper end of San Antonio Bay in an effort to establish the fish in coastal Texas waters.

Big Spring To Broadway

By JO BRIGHT

Helon Blount Kaldenberg had excused herself for a few minutes from the flow of friends who had come to wish her well and talk about remembered days. In the quietness of the den, she gave up trying to light a wet match and leaned forward on the divan to talk easily about how she got started in "show business."

"It was at the Ritz Theatre, or maybe the amphitheatre. Which was it? Oh, I don't know for sure, I was only three years old, and I was doing the things Mother taught me."

Miss Blount, who was reared in Big Spring and graduated from Big Spring High School, is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Blount.

"Mother was quite a musician, you know. She and Ruby Reed and Ruby Bell formed the 'West Texans' and they performed for a number of years. In fact, they were on the Major Bowles Amateur Hour in 1939."

Miss Blount laughed as she explained that the Big Springers annoyed Major Bowles by refusing to say that they "had fun everywhere they went." It seems the trio sometimes sang for funerals.

During her early days here, Miss Blount took piano and voice lessons from the late Nell Frazier for 14 years and went on to receive a Bachelors and Masters Degree in Music from the University of Texas in Austin.

When she went East in 1953, she didn't exactly take New York by storm. It's not that easy.

Her first job was as a dance teacher for Arthur Murray and, later she worked as a reservations clerk for National Airlines. In both instances, her warm-natured, gregarious personality served her well. Perhaps, her "big break" came in 1955 when she got her "first part" in the "Oldsmobile Show."

"This was a full-blown production which began on Broadway and traveled the country for two years," explained Mrs. Kaldenberg. "We had a private train, and it was lots of fun. Chita Rivera was one of the leads."

It was when she appeared on Broadway with the original companies of "Most Happy Fella" (working under Frank Loesser), that she met Keith Kaldenberg, another talented singer, and they were married in 1959. Their daughter, Kim, is now 15 and already has her heart set on a musical career. The family lives at Sea Cliff, Long Island.

"Keith's last GOOD show was 'Hello, Dolly,' which he has done with Channing, Ginger Rogers and others," continued Mrs. Kaldenberg. Grinning, she added, "Like the rest of us, he's had several flops since then." His last show was a musical version of 'Cyrano' with Jose Ferrer."

Miss Blount just completed a leading role in the play, "The Miser," at Kansas City and will return to New York soon to continue her theatrical career.

"Are Falling" (with Barry Nelson). The latter was directed by George Abbott. Next, came Hal Prince's "Follies" (with Alexis Smith, Dorothy Collins, Gene Nelson and Yvonne DiCarlo. Off-Broadway, Miss Blount appeared in "Fly Blackbird", Obie award winner, "Riverwind," "My Wife and I," "Curly McDimple" and "A Quarter for the Ladies Room."

The current issue of an entertainment magazine says of Miss Blount, "She was the recent hit of the Waldo Astoria show, 'Everybody Loves Opal'."

Miss Blount arrived here last week from Kansas City, where she starred with Bill McCutcheon and Paul Marin in "The Miser", a farce by Moliere.

Always aware of "timing", Miss Blount realized she had to get back to her guests.

"It's good to be back; to see old friends," she said, then added a little wistfully, "but it's not the same town, of course. There's a new courthouse, and they've cut off the mountain. And I can't find an old adobe church I remember."

Nothing lasts forever.

JEWELRY BOX — Fred Tatum, instructor, and Kathryn Milch, student, exhibit some of the many items which students in jewelry manufacture have turned out at Howard College. The first class has just completed its basic course; the next starts in September.

Will members of a class just graduated at Howard College form the nucleus of an independent, creative industry?

Maybe. At any rate, the college's first class in jewelry making has finished its initial year and members are turning out items of their own creation. Some are given to friends, some are selling. Fred Tatum, instructor, hopes that more of the latter will take place.

Kathryn Milch, one of the five out of the original eight students who completed the course, has this in mind. She has marketed a ring of her own design, and hopes to set up her own shop. Like others in the class, she also has given several items to friends.

What can be done is as limitless as the creativity of the individual, according to Tatum, who himself has a wide clientele. Originally a watchmaker, Tatum was interested in jewelry making by a Jewish salesman who called on his shop more than three decades ago. Tatum's friend sent back to the old country to get wax, told him how it could be used in mould making, and then left Tatum on his own.

The trial and error process was tedious, but after a time Tatum gave up his watchmaking to become a full-time jewelry manufacturer. Now he passes on tricks of the trade he mastered in 20 years in the field, but each individual still has to develop skills of delicate hand work and learn to envision what a final product will look like.

The course, which is a non-credit adult course but which is offered on a semester basis, was begun as a creative undertaking, also as a possible vocational rehabilitation outlet.

The next one begins in September, and Theron Lee, director of adult education, begins registration Aug. 27-28. Others in the initial class were David Gomez, Carol McMahon, Bill Raine, and Barbara Leopold, Kathy's sister. Barbara also is getting serious about the idea of a shop someday.

Instruction begins with the such basics as glossary of jewelry terms, introduction to tools including an oxygen-natural gas jeweler's torch (1-5 pounds pressure; greater the pressure the hotter the flame). Students learn about metals, alloys and ratings (14 carat gold means 14 parts gold to 10 alloy, and 24 carat is "fine" gold, which would produce as much as 30 miles of gold wire).

Next comes instruction in design. Initially students sketch designs, then transfer to wax. Later, many prefer to begin with the wax. One problem in jewelry making is to convert flat designs into round, cylindrical, spherical, etc. objects. On the wax, it has to be right.

"Everything shows up when you make the mould," said Kathy.

In casting rings, Tatum prefers that the basic design be completed, then the heads (to which jewels are attached) be added before the cast is made. This makes for greater strength, he said. Casting is done by heating the crucible to 1,700 to 2,100 F. degrees or more, then spinning the metal into the mould by centrifugal force.

Moulds are made by pouring "investment" a mixture of quartz and plaster of Paris, around the completed wax model. Then the "investment" is baked so that the wax vaporizes, leaving the void to be filled.

Training also includes setting stones. Tatum cuts his own, sometimes reducing a large rock to a small setting before the essential 56 facets are achieved. Students buy processed stones mostly. The flanges do not actually clamp over the stone edges. Rather, grooves are meticulously filed to fit over the edge, and then the flange is carefully honed so that it appears the stone is simply sitting in the mount.

Students work with a head gear which has magnification, goggles, etc. and use high-power hand magnification. When they hit on a design they want to standardize for repeat production, they cast a rubber mould into which wax is poured, and the usual process follows. So far they have turned out everything from unique rings to bracelets, pendants, and ear rings. Tatum hopes they go on from there to cover the field.

They Said 'I Do' Seventy Years Ago

By MARJ CARPENTER

"When I said, 'I do,' I meant 'I do,'" said Mrs. Henry (Eddie) Miller.

"I went to a dance down at Lingleville back when I was 17 years old. I hadn't seen Addie since she was a little thing," added Henry Miller. "She came to that dance with her uncle and he said, 'Here's Addie.'"

"I began to forget about other girl friends. I turned 18 on the Fourth of July and on the 11th of July, we got married. That was 70 years ago. That doesn't seem possible."

The Millers, who live in the Silver Heels addition passed this incredible anniversary Friday. They were among the first to move to the subdivision. Their small stucco home is less pretentious than many of their neighbors, but it's a happy spot.

"GOOD THINGS"

They look after each other. Mrs. Miller went to M. D. Anderson in Houston for cancer treatment 14 years ago. "I haven't been real well lately, but I do all right," she stated firmly. "I'd like to live to be a 110 if I can be active," she added.

"The Good Lord's been good to us," Addie said here this week. "We've had a happy life and a lot of good things have happened."

"If I owe anybody a nickel, I don't know it," mused Miller. "If I have an enemy, I don't know it."

The Millers have also been good to a lot of people. They raised a daughter, Mrs. Vernon Walker, Big Spring, and a son, Jack Miller, Odessa. They also raised a couple of nephews who were orphaned — R. D. (Doc) Tindol, Coahoma, and Waldo Tindol.

"Their parents died the same year. They needed a home," the Millers stated. They added, "We love having them in the family." They also helped a couple of other nephews.

The Millers rode in a wagon from around Lingleville to Greer County, Okla. a year after they married. He worked on a farm. They then went to the Indian Territory for three years. About 1929, they came out around Forsan, Coahoma, and Itan and worked in the oilfields.

"I worked at anything that came to hand. I did a little bit of everything — tool dressing, driller, but mostly I was a dirt contractor or 'mule skinner' as they call it.

KEEP EYES OPEN

"No, I never got hurt. You're supposed to keep your eyes open. I got knocked down one time by a 10-inch pipe and the wagon ran over me, but I wasn't hurt," he added.

Mrs. Miller recalls as "among the good times" as "the years when I could do work in the Assembly of God Church."

He recalls "fishing trips" and tells some of the wildest of fish tales.

He got his first car, he said, "when I bought one of the first T-Models a year after it first came out."

As for Presidential Races, he said, "I always voted Democrat except one time I voted for Teddy Roosevelt on the Bull Moose ticket."

All of Miller's family are deceased, but Addie (being the oldest) has two sisters, Mrs. Marie Miller and Mrs. Lee Harrison of Big Spring, and four brothers still living, including Melvin Tindol, Coahoma, Charlie Tindol, Big Spring; Walter Tindol, Odessa and Marcel Tindol of Houston and Big Spring.

SMOKE THAT CIGARETTE

Miller lit up a cigarette, and said thoughtfully, "I guess I've spent a million dollars smoking. It may get me any day." He showed off his pipe collection and admitted that "For years, I like to roll my own cigarettes."

Born in 1888 just 12 years after the Centennial of America, he said, "He couldn't recall anybody talking about celebrating the first hundred years much."

In 70 years of married life divorce never crossed their minds.

"We didn't believe in it. And anyway, we've been happy most of the time. I'll bet that Justice of the Peace Long that married us would be surprised. But then he probably died years ago."

ADDIE AND HENRY MILLER ... married seventy years

Dear Abby

Bible Used As Excuse For Long Hair On Men

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column that a teenage boy, much to the dismay of his mother, had long hair and tried to justify it by saying that Jesus had long hair. His mother then said, "So you want to be like Jesus? O.K. Jesus didn't have a car — he had to walk everywhere. So just hand over the car keys!"

And you, Dear Abby, said: "That Jesus story doesn't hold up very well because nowhere in the Bible does it state that Jesus had long hair. In fact there are Biblical injunctions against long hair. (New Testament, 1 Corinthians, Chapter 11, Verse 14.)"

Well, Dear Abby, you are mistaken: Jesus DID have long hair because Jesus was a Nazarene and the laws for the Nazarenes are given in Numbers, Chapter 6: "All the days of the vow of separation there shall be no razor come upon his head, until the days be fulfilled, in which he separated himself unto the Lord, he shall be holy, and shall the locks of the hair of his head grow."

D.H.J.: RALEIGH, N.C.

DEAR RALEIGH: Before I throw in the towel AND the razor, let's hear from a Bible college student in Los Angeles:

DEAR ABBY: First of all, if Jesus had long hair, what has that to do with today? In His day all men had long hair. It was the custom. We could take that same logic re George Washington and powdered wigs. He wasn't the only man in his day to wear powdered wigs, so why do we use him as an example?

I am tired of hearing people quote Corinthians 11:14 ("Doth not even nature itself teach you that if a man have long hair, it is a shame unto him") to support their stand against long-haired men.

What the Bible really says is that it is a shame for a man to wear a hairdo in imitation of women.

I hope that through your column you can get people to stop using Jesus Christ as an excuse for wearing long hair, beards, sandals, robes or whatever the wearing apparel of the day was. Judas Iscariot and Pontius Pilate also had long hair. Why don't people use THEM as examples? Sign me. . . .

MRS. G. R. (MYRA) ROBINSON

B&PW Honors Mrs. Robinson

Mrs. G. R. (Myra B.) Robinson, president of Robinson Drilling Company of Texas Inc. has been chosen by the Business and Professional Women's Club as its Woman of the Month for July. Each month, during International Women's Year, the club is honoring an outstanding woman in the community in this manner.

Mrs. Robinson, who was born at Fort Worth, is the daughter of Mrs. John Brown and the late Mr. Brown. Mrs. Brown, 85, still lives alone at her present home in Colorado City. Mrs. Robinson, a graduate of Colorado City High School, attended the University of California at Los Angeles for a year and was employed for four years by the Agriculture Adjustment Administration.

In 1942, she married G. R. (Bob) Robinson of Miami, Okla., traveling with him to various bases until he was sent overseas. After the war, Robinson and his father, Glenn O. Robinson formed the Robinson Drilling Company, first with cable tools and combination rigs. In 1947, they bought rotary rigs and jack knife derricks. During the early years, Bob was the tool pusher, Glenn was land man and Mrs. Robinson kept books, payroll and answered the phone from the office in the garage of their home.

During the years that their three children were growing up, Mrs. Robinson was a full-time housewife, working with Boy and Girl Scout activities and other youth groups. Also, she was secretary for Mitchell County Republicans and, for 25 years, was organist for the Presbyterian Church.

In 1966, Robinson Drilling Company moved to Big Spring. Following Bob Robinson's death in 1972, the company was reorganized with Mrs. Robinson as president. Now the company operates four rigs capable of drilling 5,000 to 13,000 feet depths. Each rig has one tool pusher with three crews of four men each. Currently, the company is developing leases in Howard, Martin, Mitchell and Sterling counties.

Mrs. Robinson's other main interest is ranching, and her ranch five miles south of Westbrook produces Hereford commercial cattle. There, the manager is continuing Robinson's interest in conservation work — root plowing and reseeded with improved grasses.

Mrs. Robinson is a past president of the Music Study Club, 1930 Hyperion Club and the Green Thumb Garden Club. She is a member of First Presbyterian Church, and serves on the boards of the YMCA and Community Concert Association as well as being a member of the Bicentennial Horizons Committee. She was appointed by Gov. Dolph Briscoe to serve a one-year term on the board for CETA.

The Robinson children are Mike Robinson, Mrs. Ronny (Myra Ellen) Crownover and Mrs. Douglas (Anne) Compton. Mike, a geologist for Texaco, is now working in Hamburg, Germany. He received a BS from Princeton University and a Ph.D. in petroleum engineering at the University of Texas. He worked for three years in Tripoli, Libya, in the Sahara Desert.

Mrs. Crownover, who earned a BA at Southern Methodist University and an MA at Texas A&M, will move with her family in August to Gainesville, Texas where her husband will practice veterinary medicine after graduating from A&M.

Mrs. Compton, who received a BA from SMU, is currently working on a master's at the University of Houston. Her husband is a graduate student at Rice University majoring in architecture. They are spending this summer touring Europe.

Economical

Chicken is a great way to keep up with protein requirements. The National Broiler Council says there are twenty-three grams of protein in every three-ounce serving of broiled chicken without the bone. Want another reason for serving chicken? It's low in cost — so eat chicken for health and economy's sake.

Miss Cook Marries Steven Stone Friday

MRS. STEVEN STONE

Miss Vickie Lyn Cook and Steven Stone exchanged vows in a ceremony Friday evening in the Midway Baptist Church with the Rev. Rufus Wilson, pastor, officiating.

An arch centered the altar which was flanked by spiral candelabra and accented with arrangements of flowers. Performing nuptial selections were Mrs. Bill Fryrear, organist, Miss Albertine Ratliff at Llano, pianist, and Mrs. Benny Mansfield, vocalist.

The couple's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Cook, Rt. 1, Box 475, and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Stone, Rt. 1, Box 350. The bride, a graduate of Coahoma High School, is employed at State National Bank. Stone is also a graduate of CHS and Howard College and will continue at the University of Texas at the Permian Basin, Odessa. He is employed at Big Spring State Hospital. The couple will reside at Hillside Trailer Park.

Carrying a crescent bouquet of white carnations, red roses and gypsophila, the bride was attired in a formal gown of white peau de soie with overlay of white organza. Crystals and lace embellished the high collar and long puffed sleeves, and the A-line skirt extended to the back to form a chapel-length train. Her veil of illusion fell from a bandeau of flower petals, pearls and rhinestones, flowing over the train of the gown.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Pat Enfield of Hawley, and the bridesmaid was Miss Terri Jo Cook, sister of the bride. They were attired in red doubleknit dresses featuring an empire waistline, low rounded neckline and short white organza sleeves with red ribbon inserts. In their hair they wore clusters of red and white flowers tied with matching streamers. Their bouquets were of red carnations and white daisies interspersed with gypsophila, tied with satin streamers.

Benny Mansfield served as best man, and Keith Stone, brother of the bridegroom, was the groomsmen. Ushers were Ricky Stone and Dicky Stone, brothers of the bridegroom. Mandy Kenemer was the flower girl, and Lance Cook, Fort Worth, was the ring bearer.

Prior to leaving on a trip to Ruudoso, N.M., the couple was honored with a reception in the fellowship hall of the church. The table was covered with a white organza cloth and centered with a candelabrum based in roses and carnations. Crystal and silver appointments were used.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Elaine Kenemer, Mrs. Elvone Holland, Mrs. Billie Patterson and Mrs. Johnnie Bennett.

Guests attending from out-of-town included Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Cook Sr., Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Cook Jr. and Jerry Hinson, all of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Weaver and Miss Jane Cook, all of Clyde; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ratliff, Llano; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hinson, Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bailey, Weatherford; and Mr. and Mrs. Pat Enfield, Hawley.

Thursday evening, the bridegroom's parents hosted a dinner at the Brandin' Iron for members of the wedding party.

MR. AND MRS. L. O. SHORTES

50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Shortes, 2100 Alabama, formerly of Ackerly, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary July 19 at their home.

They were married July 19, 1925 at Sparsburg and resided in the Brown Community before moving to Big Spring in 1966.

Shortes was born Oct. 2, 1903 in Doyle, Wise County, and moved to Brown Community in 1909. He served on the school board there until Brown consolidated with other school districts. He also was a member of the Farmers Home Administration committee and the Martin County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Mrs. Shortes moved with her family to Brown, which was named for her father, the late A. B. Brown, in 1905. She is the former Lorena Ethel Brown and was born at Winters in Runnels County.

For 42 years she taught Sunday School and was the church secretary at Assemblies of God.

The Shortes' have two children and five grandchildren. Their children are Mrs. Doris Carlton, Tulia, and Lowell D. Shortes, Ackerly.

All friends and relatives are invited to attend the reception, which will be from 2:30 p.m. until 5 p.m.

Couple Selects August Date

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Burt of Fort Worth announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Lisa, to Charles E. Springer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Springer, 612 Tulane. The couple plans to be married at 7 p.m. Aug. 16 in the Tower Baptist Church, Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Price Mims are on a trip to New Orleans, La., following their wedding Saturday evening in the First Presbyterian Church, Lake Charles, La.

Dr. H. Richard Copeland, minister, officiated before an altar accented with yellow and white roses, daisies and mums flanked by candelabra entwined with greenery and gypsophila. Phillip Cady was the organist and vocalist was Miss Jo Lynn Duplissey.

The bride is the former Vicki Elaine Drum, daughter of Mrs. Carl William Drum, Lake Charles, La., and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. William Price Mims, 1023 Bluebonnet. The bride, a graduate of McNeese State University, was affiliated with Phi Mu sorority. She is an English teacher at Decatur Junior High School, Decatur.

Mims is a graduate of Big Spring High School and North Texas State University where he was affiliated with Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. He is varsity football coach at DHS.

Carrying a cascade of yellow and white roses with gypsophila and ivy, the bride was attired in a candelight gown of silk organza. Venice lace and seed pearls trimmed the V-neckline, empire bodice, lantern sleeves and chapel-length train. A beaded Juliet headpiece held her tiered finger-tip-length veil of illusion, which was trimmed in lace and beading.

The bridal attendants were Miss Karen Drum, sister of the bride, maid of honor; and Miss Cathy Murrell, Miss Anne Bowman, and Miss Anne Hance, bridesmaids. Miss Hance is from Oberlin, La. They were attired in floor-length dresses of yellow and white print voile over yellow satin. They wore matching garden hats and carried yellow roses.

Gregg Pate of Big Spring served as best man, and groomsmen were Dale Westmoreland, Port Arthur; Robert Pope, Dallas; and Jimmy Wilson, Big Spring. Ushers were Bill Drum, brother of the bride; Kenny

MRS. SAM PRICE MIMS

Brown and Gage Mims, both of Big Spring; and David Nations, Jacksboro. Candelighters were Christy Drum, sister of the bride, and Pam Fuselier.

Immediately following the ceremony, the couple was honored with a reception in the Garden Room at the Holiday Inn. Candelabra entwined with yellow and white flowers centered the white lace covered table, where refreshments were served by Miss Coco Marek, Miss Peggy Wilson, Miss Gloria Carpenter, Miss Lynn Zimmerman and Miss Pat Adams.

Out-of-town relatives attending were Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Nations, Jacksboro; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Coats, Lawton, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mims, Mrs. W. P. Mims, mother of the bridegroom, and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Roberts, all of Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Pope, Dallas; Walter Drum, Mr. and Mrs. George Drum, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Drum, all of Garland; Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Casteel, Houston; and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kitchens, Tyler.

The women's fashion message for fall and winter, courtesy of JCPenney, can be summed up in one word: sweaters . . . sweaters in a variety of colorations, patterns, and textures.

Sweaters, from wrap cardigans to sets, are expected by Penney fashion authorities to repeat last year's strong performance. They will be seen with the ever-present pants as well as skirts. Completing the look will be a solid or patterned shirt and scarf around the neck.

Sweaters are featured in the opening section of Penney's fall and winter 1975 catalog now being distributed to families primarily in the eastern two-thirds of the United States. The book contains 1,340 pages compared with 1,316 in last year's comparable catalog. Approximately 71 per cent of the book is in full color.

The fall and winter book starts the catalog salute to the American Bicentennial observance. Scattered through the book are more than 40 word sketches based on the theme "200 Years Ago in America." The catalog also features a variety of home furnishings and accessories inspired by early-American design. Included among the "Americana" are furniture, draperies, bedspreads, and dinnerware.

Miss Fortenberry Is Married Saturday

Miss Florence Sue Fortenberry and Michael Paul Robertson were married Saturday evening in College Baptist Church with Dr. Kenneth Patrick, pastor of

MRS. MICHAEL PAUL ROBERTSON

First Baptist Church, officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Luther Ray Fortenberry, 1207 Lloyd, and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Robertson, 2509 Central.

Musicians were Mrs. Donald Richardson, organist, and Miss Shiretta Ownbey, pianist, who accompanied the vocalists, Ricky Mitchell and Mrs. Bob Boren.

After a trip to San Antonio, the newlyweds will reside in Lubbock where he is employed by Galbraith Steel Supply and she will be a senior at Texas Tech. Big Spring High School graduates, they both attended Howard College. Robertson later attended Southwest Texas State University and the University of Texas at Austin.

The bride was attired in a gown of white silk organdy with Venise lace. The moulded bodice and sheer upper yoke featured a high neckline banded with garlands of lace flowerettes which were repeated on the brief Greek sleeves. Floral appliques were sprinkled over the circular skirt, which swept into a chapel-length train, and trimmed a brief veil which fell from a Baroque capulet. She carried a bouquet of white carnations, mums, pink roses, English ivy and gypsophila tied with streamers.

Miss Gay Harris, the maid of honor, was attired in a gown of beige floral print over pink styled with empire bodice, pleated yoke and A-line skirt. Her costume was completed with a pink picture hat. Identical dresses and hats, in apple green, were worn by the other attendants. Miss Vicki Robertson, the bridegroom's sister; Miss Susan Tein, Miss Khenda Harland and Mrs. David Whitten. They carried cascades of pink carnations and gypsophila tied with green satin. E. H. Robertson served as best man, and groomsmen were Charles Thomas, Austin; Mike Pipes, San Marcos; Terry Rountree and Steve Stanley, Austin. The ushers were Gary Wilkerson and Scott Robertson, and Keane Arney of Russellville, Ky., was the ring bearer. Miss Tracie Wilkerson was the flower girl.

The reception was held at the church where the refreshment table was covered with tulle over white satin and appointed with crystal and silver.

Mrs. Randy Robertson, sister of the bridegroom, registered the guests, and refreshments were served by Mrs. Mike Moates, Mrs. Corky Harris, Miss Zina Johnston, Miss Debbie Bennett and Mrs. Robert Campbell.

Out-of-town relatives attending were Mrs. Archie Spence, grandmother of the bride, Roy Spence and Loyd Spence, all of Headrick, Okla.; Mrs. Les Dobbs, Geromino, Okla.; Dr. and Mrs. Alton Arney, Russellville, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Williams, Slaton; Mrs. Charles O'Neal, Mt. Vernon; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fortenberry, San Angelo; Mrs. Gene Bono and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Chapman, all of Bonham; Mrs. B. M. Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Carleton and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Harris, all of Lubbock; and Mr. and Mrs. Naomi Harris, Idalou.

MRS. TONY M. LUNA

Couple United In Marriage

The wedding of Miss LuAnne Lowry to Tony M. Luna was solemnized Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in St. Paul Presbyterian Church with Chaplain Lee Butler officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Cal D. Lowry, Rt. 2, Box 24A, and Mr. and Mrs. George Luna, Lubbock. The wedding party stood before an archway decorated with greenery flanked by baskets of gladioli and candelabra. Nuptial selections were by Miss Margaret Cooper, trumpeter, and Van Johnson, organist.

The bride was attired in a white cotton floor-length dress. The bodice was designed with a V-neckline trimmed in lace, long sleeves gathered into lace-covered cuffs and an empire waistline accented with a sash. She wore a white garden hat covered with lace.

Altrusa Club Appointments

The Altrusa Club met Thursday at noon in Coker's Restaurant with Mrs. Milton Knowles, president, presiding.

Mrs. Knowles appointed the following as committee chairmen: Mrs. Dorothy Ragan, information; Mrs. Pauline Petty, international relations; Mrs. Houston Cowden, community services; and Mrs. Willard Hendrick, vocational services. The next meeting will be July 24 in the home of Mrs. Loyd Wooten, 817 W. 8th.

and carried a bouquet of carnations and pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Tommy Durham of Lubbock was the matron of honor, and Miss Barbara Plant was the maid of honor. They were attired in floor-length dresses of floral print styled with short full sleeves. They wore garden hats and carried baskets of spring flowers.

Dixon Moreland of Levelland served as the best man, and the groomsmen were Cal D. Lowry Jr., brother of the bride; ushers were Ricky Luna, brother of the bridegroom and Phillip Lowry, brother of the bride. Penny Daniel was the flower girl.

The bride is a graduate of Angelo State University and is attending Texas Tech University as a graduate student. Luna is employed by Farmers Exchange of Lubbock, a sporting goods firm. The couple will reside in Lubbock.

Following the ceremony, the couple was honored with a reception in the Webb AFB Officers Club. Serving refreshments were Miss Sara Luna, Mrs. Duane Sanders, Miss Phyllis Jones and Miss Gena Lowry.

Out-of-town relatives attending included Mrs. T. P. Lowry, grandmother of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Daniel, all of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Williams, Meeker, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. George Luna, and Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Luna, all of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Long, Dickens; and Mr. and Mrs. Varney Moore, Munday.

Miss Martin Leaves For FHA Meet

Lisa Martin, a Junior at Sands High School, will be among 1800 delegates representing over 439,800 Future Homemakers of America (FHA) at the organization's 1975 national meeting in Washington D.C., Monday through Thursday.

Revolving around the theme, "A Past to Honor — A Future to Mold," the meeting will center on the Bicentennial celebration. Delegates will be involved in small group workshops, concern sessions, slide presentation viewings and large group sessions for the four-day event.

Sessions will be designed to help youth focus on personal growth, community growth and growth within FHA. Plans also include a trip to Capitol Hill to visit U.S. senators and representatives.

Miss Martin is the Area II first vice president. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Martin Jr. of Ackerly.

Dress Revue Slated For District 2

The District 2 4-H Dress Revue will be held Monday at the Southpark Inn in Lubbock. In keeping with the bicentennial celebration, the theme will be "Mirror of American Costume (1776-1976)".

Two Mitchell County youth are slated to participate in the day's events. These are Dawn Lemons, junior entrant and Mary Martinez, senior entrant.

Seniors are to judge themselves to select those to attend the state fair in Dallas (October). Juniors are to participate in the public revue along with the seniors. Judging gets underway at 10:30 a.m. Junior 4-H'ers and their mothers are scheduled for a program at that time.

Following the noon luncheon, the public is invited to view the parade of fashions in the Bronze Room at 1:00 p.m. Awards will be presented at that time.

Beverly Beil At Workshop

Miss Beverly Beil, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beil, is attending the Fred Waring Music Workshop which is being held at East Stroudsburg State College, East Stroudsburg, Pa. The session begins today and continues through July 24.

Miss Beil will be auditioning before Waring and his staff for the Workshop Talent Reviews which will be held later. She plans to visit New York City during her stay in the East. She will be a Junior this fall at Big Spring High School and will participate in the Meistersingers.

NUPTIALS — Miss Lisa Ann Quick and Bruce Russell Hawkins were married in a garden ceremony Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Blackman, Abilene. The bride, a graduate of Brownwood High School, is the daughter of Mrs. Charles W. Neefe, 2701 Rebecca, and John R. Bob Quick, Houston. Mr. and Mrs. J. Robert Miller, Abilene, are parents of the bridegroom, a graduate of Cooper High School. After a trip to points in Texas, the couple will reside at 1351 Marshall, Abilene, while attending McMurry College.

Garden Party Held Thursday

A Bicentennial Barbecue and yard party was held Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Y. Clinkscales, 705 W. 18th, for members and guests of the Texas Star African Violet Club. Mrs. Clinkscales and Mrs. Paul Guy were the hostesses.

The tables were decorated in patriotic colors, and the main centerpiece was an old time "band stand" with miniature musicians inside the stand. The entertainment area was ringed with red, white and blue candles.

Mrs. Guy, club president, presided for a brief business session. The study theme for the coming year will be "Grow and Show — Violets and More Violets." Two films will be shown during the year, and programs will focus on the planting and care of African Violets.

Plans were made to hold a bake sale July 19-20 at May Belle's Antique grounds, 1617 E. Third. Also, the club will participate in the flower show sponsored by the Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs at Howard County Fair, Sept. 15-20.

The next scheduled club meeting will be at 7:30 p.m., Aug. 7 in the home of Mrs. G. T. Orenbaum, 504 Dallas.

MRS. ROBERT LANE HOOVER

Lubbock Rites Held Saturday

St. John's United Methodist Church, Lubbock, was the setting for the Saturday afternoon wedding of Miss Linda Crawford to Robert Lane Hoover. Dr. Dudley Strain, pastor, officiated with Mrs. Boyd Ramsey serving as organist.

The altar setting was enhanced with arrangements of white flowers and greenery by brass stands topped with hurricane lamps.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delaine T. Crawford, Lubbock, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell E. Hoover, 1213 E. 16th.

For the wedding, the bride was attired in a formal gown of white organza over satin; the empire bodice styled with stand-up lace collar and fitted sleeves with button closure accented with Chantilly lace. Her veil of illusion flowed from a pearl-seeded headpiece and was edged with Chantilly lace. She carried a bouquet of gypsophila and stephanotis.

Mrs. Michael McGee, Ft. Riley, Kan., was her sister's matron of honor, and bridesmaids were another sister, Mrs. Johnny James; Miss Janet Hoover and Miss Ellen Gossett, both of Big Spring. Miss Hoover is a sister of the bridegroom.

They were attired in floor-length dresses of pink floral chiffon designed with high waistline, A-line skirt, puffed sleeves and a ruffle trim at the neckline.

Serving as best man was the bridegroom's brother, Ken Hoover, Irving. Groomsmen were Jerry McDuff, Hempstead; Mike Cunningham and David Crawford, brother of the bride. Sam Jones and Johnny James were ushers.

The bride is a graduate of Texas Tech University with a degree in food and nutrition and home economics education. She completed the Vanderbilt University Dietetic Internship Program and will be employed as a dietician at Charlton Methodist Hospital, Dallas. Hoover is a graduate of Texas Christian University with a degree in journalism and religion. He plans to continue at Brite Graduate Divinity School, TCU, in September. This summer he is employed in Volunteer Services Program at the VA Hospital. The couple will reside in Dallas.

Prior to leaving on a trip to Ruidoso, N.M., the couple was honored with a reception in the Garden Room at the church. The table was covered with a pink cloth and centered with candelabra and a bouquet of mixed flowers.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gossett, Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Jeffers and Mr. and Mrs. Randy Jeffers, all of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Smith, Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bond, Lamesa; Mrs. Kenneth Hoover, Irving; Mrs. Edna Hoover, Denver, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Dennie Bond, Carrollton; Rev. and Mrs. Bobby Phillips, Odessa; and Mrs. Richard Tucker, Arlington.

Baby Shower Held Tuesday

Mrs. Pam Thompson was honored Tuesday evening with a baby shower in the home of Mrs. W. A. Moore, 528 Scott. There were 11 other hostesses.

Mrs. Thompson was presented a corsage made of various baby items. Yellow and green were used in decorations; the table covered with a green cloth and centered with an arrangement of daisies and mums.

Guests attending included the honoree's mother, Mrs. Tony White; Thompson's mother, Mrs. Kenny Thompson; and Mrs. Pam Thompson's grandmother, Mrs. Erma Price.

Wedding Ceremony Performed Saturday

Miss Cheryl Jean Bradshaw became the bride of Jerry Dale Jones in a candlelight ceremony held Saturday evening in Frist Baptist Church, Stanton. The Rev. Charles West of the First Baptist Church, Woodson, and the Rev. David Blancett of First Baptist Church, Stanton, officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Troy C. Bradshaw, Stanton, and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry D. Jones, of Woodson. The bride is a graduate of Stanton High School and attended Howard College. Jones is a graduate of Woodson High School and attended Cisco Junior College and Western Texas College in Snyder. He is the owner and operator of Jerry's Garage and Welding Co. in Woodson. Upon returning from a trip to the Quartz Mountains, Okla., the couple will reside in Woodson.

The wedding party stood before an archway covered with greenery and daisy poms topped with doves. Spiral candelabra and arrangements of mixed flowers completed the setting. Nuptial selections were performed by Frank O'Banion, organist, and vocalists, Mrs. Charles West of Woodson and Marc Traweek of Midland.

For the wedding, the bride chose a gown of peau de satin overlaid with lily of the valley reembrodered peau de soie. The empire bodice was fashioned with a pleated organza ruffle accented with rose lace and sheer cuffed sleeves of peau de soie. Her mantilla veil of illusion was edged in rose lace which formed a chapel-length train. She carried a cascade of white daisy poms centered with a yellow orchid.

The maid of honor was Miss Nancy Glynn who wore a yellow floor-length dress styled in sheer daisy flocked polyester with fitted bodice and butterfly sleeves trimmed in reembrodered daisy lace. The matron of honor was Mrs. Richard Martel, Big Spring, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Lee Bellah, sister of the bride, and Miss Janice Jones, sister of the bridegroom, both of Woodson. They were attired in blue dresses identical to that of the maid of honor. They all wore matching garden hats and carried nosegays of mixed flowers.

Darrell Bradshaw, brother of the bride, was best man, and serving as groomsmen were T. Sgt. Richard Martel, Big Spring, brother-in-law of the bride; Larry Jones, San Angelo; and Eddie Harris, Haskell. Ushers were Lee Bellah and Danny Jones, both of Woodson. Michelle Bellah, Woodson, was the flower girl, and Greg Morris, Fort Worth, was the ring bearer.

After the ceremony, the couple was honored with a reception in the fellowship hall of the church, where refreshments were served by Miss Cheryl McCutcheon and Mrs. Syd Fowler, both of Big Spring; and Miss Darilynn Stewart and Miss Jackie Jones. Registering guests was Mrs. Wayne

Museum Exhibit Continues, Plays, Festivals Upcoming

A number of out-of-state visitors, as well as local and area people, are still visiting the Heritage Museum to view the remarkable pictorial Texas Ranger exhibit. Did you know the Rangers were assigned to protect workers from Indians, etc. when the T&P railroad built through here in 1881? Did you know that Col. E. M. House solved the security problem for Woodrow Wilson, when, as a presidential candidate, he was threatened repeatedly, so Col. House borrowed Capt. Bill McDonald, who took care of that matter? These and many other items are contained in the museum's current news letter compiled by Gerri Atwell, curator.

Coming up Sept. 30 for a few days will be the Country Store exhibit; and then "Texas and the Bicentennial Celebration," a traveling exhibit from the Institute of Texan Cultures will be on display Oct. 10-Nov. 10.

Speaking of news letters, the "senior citizen" in these parts is the "Borden Citizen", voice of the Borden County Historical Survey Committee, which recently issued Vol. X, No. 2. The lead story is the second part about Lt. Ludwig Siegmund Anton Von Roeder, forebear of a well-known Scurry-Borden family. There is also a piece by Carl H. Mangum of his family's days at Durham, once the most thriving city in Borden County — now only a memory.

Two former Big Spring residents will have a two-person art show in Winwood Mall at Odessa, Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 10 a.m. until 9 p.m. daily. Lula Bell Klinger, Midland, has studied extensively and is currently artist-of-the-year in Texas. She paints in oils and water colors, also does pen and ink washes. Nancy Klinger, Dallas, likewise has had extensive training under leading art teachers, and is a member of the Southwest Water Color Society.

At Midland, the Pickwick Players will revive their 1950s adaptation of "Tom Sawyer" and present it Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 2:30 p.m. in the Midland Community Theatre. The box office number in Midland is 682-2544.

The fourth play in the Globe of the Great Southwest Theatre in Odessa, "The Life of Christ," opens 2:30 p.m. today as one of the alternates to the Shakespearean season. Charles Benton, veteran actor, is cast in the role of Christ. Of the play he said "there is no way to work with this material and not be affected by it." The play will be repeated on Sunday afternoons to Aug. 24.

"Texas' Biggest Block Party," the annual Texan Folklore Festival at the Institute of Texan Cultures, will be held Aug. 7-10. Storyteller Jim Williams will swap yarns; there will be fox calls, a demonstration of the Navajo spindle, stainless steel knife handle making, glass blowing (a la Polish artisans), and gay costumes as well as all kinds of ethnic food. Lorraine and Harold of Big Spring will join their "kissin' cousin" Poles from all parts of Texas to present Polish foods, dances, costumes and crafts.

A touring production of the "Oldest Living Graduate," one of the plays in Preston Jones' highly acclaimed "Bradleyville Trilogy" will be presented by the Dallas Theatre Center July 20-21 at Texas Tech University at 8 p.m. daily. (Tickets are $3 and $2). The play premiered last fall at Dallas Theatre Center, where Jones is resident playwright. Although he has a disclaimer that Bradleyville is not Colorado City, Jones lived there for a time, and that makes the play all the more interesting.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Wooten of Gallup, N.M., will be at the shop of the Museum of the Southwest in Midland today with a new collection of Indian pieces, including jewelry, fabrics, silver, etc.

America's number one contemporary soul gospel singing group, "Andrea Crouch and the Disciples," will appear at the Ector County Coliseum July 28 at 8 p.m. The Permian Basin Rehabilitation Center is sponsoring.

It takes several wrong turns and bad navigation but it is possible for a Mississippi River showboat to end up in the Comanche Springs swimming pool at Fort Stockton. This will be part of the setting for that city's annual three-day water carnival set for Thursday, Friday and Saturday. There's music, water ballets and lots of other fun starting at 8:30 p.m.

Genealogical Group Plans '76 Exhibit

The Genealogical Society of Big Spring met Thursday evening in Howard County Library with Bill Steagald presiding.

Plans were finalized to sponsor a Bicentennial project in the foyer showcase of the library. Cards will be placed on exhibit describing revolutionary war ancestors of local residents.

Mrs. Evelyn Holly and Mrs. Bobby Wall were guests; the latter having returned to Big Spring after residing in North Carolina.

Members told of trips made to trace their lines of ancestry. Mrs. John Arnold showed a framed diploma of her great-grandfather, Elias Glass Tynes, who graduated in 1886 from the Memphis Medical and Hospital College in Memphis, Tenn.

Mrs. Richard Atkins gave an account of a trip to Austin and a side trip to visit the land of her grandparents at Mormon Mills Falls. She also attended the Hays family reunion while there.

Mrs. Dean Sheppard, a new member, exhibited marriage and death certificates that verified the election of her grandfather as a sheriff in 1890 and later as a county clerk.

Mrs. Helen Early and Mrs. John Damron gave accounts of ancestral discoveries recently.

I made gravy, but couldn't decide what to put in. I didn't want to use a gravy boat because it was too big, and there wasn't enough gravy to fill it properly.

Dear Heloise: My little ones just love watermelon and cantaloupe, but always get their clothes wet when eating them, from the juice dripping off their elbows.

A LOVELIER YOU

Pretty Hands Take Nuptial Spotlight

By MARY SUE MILLER
Lovely hands are a much-admired feminine attribute, but never more desirable than when a wedding band is slipped over the bride's finger. Actually, hands play a stellar role from the day they wear an engagement ring. Ring dazzle calls for hand dazzle.

Ideally the complexion of bridal hands is translucent and petal-smooth. And the nails have a flawless shape and luster. This kind of perfection never results from slapdash care, like a dab of lotion and a hasty manicure.

For beauty's sake, hands need very special pampering. And here are some very special pamperers:

—Apply moisturizing hand cream after every washing. The treatment is made possible by purse-size tubes of the stuff. Formulas containing vitamin A are special smoothers.

Use cream facial soap for washings. For on-the-go girls, soap wafers are available in aluminum foil packets.

—Other than by weekly manicures, nails become lovelier through nightly applications of cuticle oil or cream, by frequent changes of enamel, and medium-long oval shaping. When nails are weak, brush-on protein treatments used under enamel are helpful.

—Thereafter, wedding-day loveliness is attained with silvery, pale pink polish, pats of antiperspirant on the palms, and whisks of perfume on the wrists.

But day-to-day care is the real secret of the feminine hand. "Keeping everlastingly at it brings success," as the old saying goes.

LOVELIER HANDS Do you have a hand problem? Send for "Lovelier Hands," a booklet that covers every step in your quest for hand beauty. It tells how to keep the skin and nails groomed; how to overcome weak nails, polish chips, discolored knuckles, prominent veins, wrinkles; how to use the hands with poised grace. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin.

New Prefix Used For Salutations

How would you like to be called Nogen?
It's an idea conceived by a university professor to solve all the salutation problems brought on by the feminist liberation movement.

Dr. Patricia Wells, who is married and the director of the Oregon State University School of Business Office Administration, says you might avoid gender-type references by saying "ladies or gentlemen." Dear Sir or Madam.

But, says Mrs. Wells who prefers the Mrs. prefix, all of those salutations are awkward.

And "Dear Person" takes some getting used to. "Person," she says is the one proposed by a women's liberationist that could be used for men, women, and children alike.

"So, you say, 'Person Jean Doe.' The abbreviation would be 'Pn', pronounced 'pen.' She comes forward with a new word — "Nogen."

"It has a slight connotation of two words — no gender. It is not identified with a specific movement."

STILL PLANTING GUAR

Need General Rain In Far West Texas

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Favorable moisture conditions are hastening crop growth across much of the state, Dr. John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says.

Some guar is still being planted on the Rolling Plains, and replanting of some peanut acreage is under way in West Central Texas areas where hail and wind damage occurred earlier, Hutchison said.

Wheat harvesting is complete in the South Plains and is almost finished in the Panhandle, he said. Sorghum harvesting has passed the halfway point in the Coastal Bend, but wet fields slowed the harvest in southern counties, he said.

Insects are increasing in many areas of the state, and spray treatments are under way in some areas, Hutchison said. The sunflower moth is being treated in Dickens County.

Livestock producers continue to battle screwworms and larger infestations of hornflies in many areas, he said. District agricultural agents gave these reports:

Panhandle: Wheat harvesting is nearing completion. Soybeans and sugar beets are making good growth. Sunflowers are starting to bloom. Most livestock are in good to excellent condition.

South Plains: The wheat harvest is complete with above average yields. Sorghum, cotton, sunflowers and corn crops are making excellent progress. A second cutting of alfalfa is under way.

Rolling Plains: Sunflowers are blooming. Cotton is making excellent growth. Some guar is still being planted. Potato harvesting is 85 per cent complete in the Munday area. Insects are increasing in some counties.

North Central: Wheat and oat harvesting is complete. Cotton, corn and sorghum are making good growth. Insects are increasing on vegetables. Peanuts are making good progress.

Northwest: Sorghums are beginning to mature. Soybeans are making good growth. The vegetable harvest is under way. Watermelons are making good growth.

Far West: A general rain is needed. The onion harvest is nearing completion, with 145,000 bags shipped from Fort Stockton sheds. Advanced alfalfa cuttings are under way in Pecos and El Paso counties.

West Central: Moisture varies from short to adequate. Most small grain crops have been harvested. Cotton prospects appear good despite some weevil activity. Some aphid and greenbug damage is appearing in sorghum.

Central: Cotton is generally fruiting well but insects are increasing in Hill, McLennan and Coryell counties. Midge damage is reported in sorghums in several areas. Pasture conditions are good.

East: Pastures are growing despite lack of fertilization. Livestock are in good condition. Peaches, peas and beans are being harvested. Cotton is in the bloom stage.

Southeast and Upper Gulf Coast: Light to moderate insect problems are being reported in cotton. Standing water is slowing soybean growth. Rice is making good progress. Some walnut caterpillar damage is occurring in pecans.

South Central: Most crops need open weather. Cotton is blooming. Corn is nearing maturity. Peanuts are making good growth. Much of the vegetable harvest is complete. Pecans are doing well although spraying for insect control is under way.

South: Sorghum is about 55 per cent harvested in the Corpus Christi area. Ranges, although in good condition, need rain. Cattle marketing is increasing, and screwworms, hornflies and Gulf Coast ticks continue to be a problem. Screwworm outbreaks remain heavy in southern counties.

'Crowbar' Wipes Out Doctrine

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court has ruled that a teen-age cowboy, permanently disabled when a cantankerous horse named "Crowbar" collided with another rider's mount, has the right to a jury trial of his suit against MM Cattle Co.

A district judge at Stinnett had ruled that lawyers for Benny Farley had not presented sufficient evidence of negligence by the ranching operation to warrant jury consideration.

Farley, 15 when the accident occurred three years ago, was assigned Crowbar by his father, Bunk Farley, foreman of the MM ranch.

"Considering the known dangerous nature of Crowbar and the necessity for supervision of a boy of Benny's years in this type of activity, we feel there was sufficient evidence submitted by the plaintiff to raise a fact issue of negligence," the court said.

The court wiped out a longstanding doctrine that a person has no grounds to collect damages for negligence," the court said.

The court accepted a risk. In the future, the court said, the reasonableness of an accident victim's conduct "in confronting a risk will be determined under the principles of contributory negligence."

Poor Compete With Sacred Cows, Dogs For Garbage In Fear City

CALCUTTA, India (AP) — A new fear has been added to this teeming city where the hungry and dying compete with sacred cows and dogs for garbage and space on the streets. It is the fear of arrest in the night under Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's tough emergency laws.

plague-ridden London during the Middle Ages. Beggars ranging from dwarfs to elderly veterans of the British colonial army harass tourists with deadly persistence.

But as in other Indian cities, new fear is evident in the once lively press. Not only are newspapers uniformly publishing the same censored stories, but Calcutta newsmen are avoiding friends from the Western press. When they do meet, it is furtively and apologetically.

"This can happen even if you merely excite the suspicion of the authorities," said a Western diplomat with many Indian friends in Calcutta.

A billboard on main Charinghee Street reads: "Calcutta, center of Indian culture or monstrous obscurity? You decide."

Desperation is such an integral part of the daily life of most of Calcutta's seven million people that the recent crackdown against opposition politicians and newspapers seems secondary to sheer survival itself.

Even though this Bengalese city is the traditional crucible for revolt in India, "to resist now would mean bloodshed."

Still willing to speak critically in Calcutta are the middle-class businessmen who sustain the city as the commercial nerve center of India despite its myriad problems.

Vacation Time To Care For Cameras

Vacation season is that exciting period of the year that gladdens the hearts of photo fans and opens up new areas of picture-taking opportunities. But it's also a time to be wary of perils ready to pounce on your camera and interfere with its normal operations — items like heat and humidity, salt-water spray and grains of sand. And it's also a time when cameras can be bumped, dropped, left behind or momentarily put down "for a second" in a hotel, airport, train or bus terminal.

When you're aware of potential accidents and what carelessness or forgetfulness can lead to, steps can be taken to avoid mishaps. The dangers are not new and warnings have been sounded before but since we're dealing with automated equipment in an age of automation, this is an automatic annual reminder. In fact, extra care is necessary because modern automatic cameras depend on built-in sensitive meters, delicately balanced needles and tiny gears. They can be thrown off balance easily by a hard bump or a small fall. This can happen if the camera is tossed onto an auto, train or plane seat and if the brakes are suddenly applied or the plane hits an air pocket.

CHILDREN'S CORNER Award Winning Books Deserve Another Look

By SUSAN CONLEY
Howard County Library
The Newbery Medal is the best known and most prestigious award given in the U.S. for children's literature. This award was begun in 1922 and named for John Newbery, first children's book publisher. The award is presented annually for the most distinguished contribution to children's literature.

chosen by a committee of the American Library Association. Teachers, librarians, and parents regard these books as the models of good reading for children.

Are these award winning books, chosen by adults, popular with children? Many educators and children are saying "no!"

Some children read them only at the insistence of teachers or parents. Left on their own, many children would not choose these books to read.

Another problem with Newbery books is their reading level. Many of the award books contain a junior high vocabulary and content and are not geared to children.

In spite of these drawbacks, there are some very readable Newbery books. Among these are "Sounder" by William Armstrong, "Island of the Blue Dolphins" by Scott O'Neil, and "The Witch of Blackbird Pond" by E. Speare. The first two titles have been made into movies.

"Julie of the Wolves" by Jean George is the story of an Eskimo girl who is lost in the vast Arctic tundra. In order to stay alive she becomes a member of a wolf pack.

"Mrs. Frisby and the Rats of NIMH" by R. O'Brien is a science fiction story. Mrs. Frisby is a mouse whose husband has died mysteriously. She turns to the rats for help and finds out that her husband and the rats have been imprisoned in a laboratory called NIMH.

Boys and girls are invited to read these and other Newbery books and offer their comments on them. The Howard County Library contains multiple copies of all but three Newbery Medal books.

Hitchcock Unchanged, Making 53rd Movie

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In the transitory world of Hollywood, few things remain unchanged. Alfred Hitchcock is the rare exception.

The producer-director is now filming his 53rd movie, "Deceit," and he is doing so in the same thorough, unflappable manner he has employed since he started directing exactly 50 years ago.

Most movie sets are a frenzy of activity. Hitchcock's are as noisy as the reading room of a London club.

A visitor dropped in at Stage 28 of Universal Studio and found the director in his office-trailer where he talked about "Deceit."

He reported that the film is one day ahead of schedule despite the replacement of Roy Thinnes as the second male lead. There were rumors that Thinnes was fired after arguing with Hitchcock about the interpretation of his role.

"The rumors are false," Hitchcock declared. "The fellow — what was his name? On, yes, Thinnes — didn't work enough for us to disagree. I recognized early that he wasn't strong enough."

"The character is a kidnaper, and he needed an air of menace. Thinnes didn't have it, and so I replaced him with an actor named William Devane, the chap who played President Kennedy in the television film about the Cuban missile crisis."

Hitchcock expressed satisfaction with the rest of his cast: "Bruce Dern is the male star; he plays an investigator for a fake medium. He has worked for me before in 'Marnie' and in the television shows.

"Barbara Harris is the medium, who uses the information to surprise her clients. I was warned that she might not show up on time, but her conduct has been exemplary.

"The part of the kidnaper's accomplice is played by Karen Black, also an accomplished actress."

He described the plot as two stories proceeding independently of each other until the four characters meet at the top of a pyramid. His major challenge is pulling off the kidnapping of a bishop as he is conducting cathedral service.

He seemed to relish the prospect. He has enjoyed such outrageous scenes as a chase across Mount Rushmore ("North by Northwest") and murder during a cymbal crash in a concert hall ("The Man Who Knew Too Much").

appeared at the door to announce that filming could begin.

The director walked slowly to the jewelry store set, squeezing his bulk between a door and an arc lamp. He took a chair with his jaw almost touching the camera.

He told a wry story to his somewhat awed players, Black and Devane, in a quiet voice that fit the conspiratorial nature of the scene. The performers whispered their lines about developments in the kidnapping. "Cut and print," said Hitchcock, completing another block in his pyramid.

Book Traces Oswald's Gun

THE GUN. By Henry S. Bloomgarden. Grossman-Viking, 152 Pages. $6.95.

This is the story of a rifle, a Mannlicher-Carcano rifle made for the Italian Army. Rifle number C2766, made in Terni in 1940. The rifle Lee Harvey Oswald is alleged to have used to assassinate President John F. Kennedy.

In this absorbing book, subtitled "A Biography of the Gun that Killed John F. Kennedy," Henry S. Bloomgarden traces in extremely fine detail the history of that rifle, from the time it came out of the factory, to its sale, along with hundreds of others just like it, to a gun-distributing firm, to its arrival in an American warehouse and to its final, bloody end.

As he traces the weapon along its path, Bloomgarden studs his narrative with any number of interesting asides, such as the story of the publishing executive who, when told the shots that killed Kennedy sounded like firecrackers, remembers a time years earlier when he lay wounded in Italy during World War II. As he waited for a medic to arrive, he could hear a Mannlicher-Carcano being fired in the distance and "it sounded like the Fourth of July." Or Kennedy's remark on the morning of Nov. 22, 1963: "... if anybody really wants to shoot the President it is not a very difficult job — all one has to do is get on a high building someday with a telescopic rifle, and there is nothing anybody can do to defend against such an attempt."

Bloomgarden's story is fast-paced and interesting for the most part. It does tend to slow a bit when he gets involved in discussing gun-control laws, or the lack of them, in the United States, and how relatively easy it is to get one's hands on a lethal firearm in this country. But, for the most part, this book is gripping reading — and chilling.

Phil Thomas
AP Books Editor

The remedy: anchor the camera firmly when it's placed in any moving vehicle so it can't bounce around or drop.

On vacation, "little drops of water, little grains of sand..." are great to romp, swim and play with in pools, boats and beaches — but keep them out of cameras!

Just a few grains of sand can worm their way into a shutter mechanism or tiny gear and put a camera out of operation. And flying spray from a boat can seep into a camera and gum up the works.

Of course a camera should be handy for beach and boat pictures but it should be protected when in use as well as when put aside in between pictures. If there are breezes blowing, fine sand and spray often tag along but they can be blocked by body interference. Or the camera can be operated while encased in a pliable plastic bag with the lens poking clear.

An extra safety measure for lenses is the addition of a skylight or haze filter. It serves a double purpose: it absorbs some of the excess blue light in the atmosphere giving better, more natural color rendition without affecting exposure in any way. And since it may be left on the lens for other picture taking, it serves as a shield against fingerprints, dust, sand and spray. If scratched or marred, it is far easier to replace the skylight filter than a lens!

When not in use, film supply as well as camera should be stored away in protective custody in an insulated type of bag or case. Keep it out of the sun's path, of course, but remember a shady area may not remain shady as the hours go by. You can pack silica gel with your films to absorb moisture from the air, both before and after they have been exposed.

Air-conditioned hotel and motel rooms are a blessing in the summer heat. But it can be a mixed blessing, some people discover as their body systems change from cold to hot. Cameras and films may react, too. Equipment kept overnight in an air-conditioned room may have moisture condensation on the lens surface when first brought to the heat of outdoors. It'll disappear shortly by evaporation, so don't start taking pictures without checking the lens first.

Since accidents do happen on vacation and people do leave belongings behind in a restaurant or hotel or when rushing to make a bus, train or plane, it's a good idea to have back-up insurance. Camera floater policies are relatively inexpensive and, though they cannot bring back lost picture opportunities, at least they'll replace a lost camera.
