Bell Exec Denies 'Lavish' Expense Accounts Charge

AUSTIN (AP) — Many expenses submitted by Texas executives of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. have nothing to do with providing better phone service, says the staff of a Senate subcommittee.

WELCOME WINDFALL — Dorothy Campbell and her husband Joseph, both invalids, received welcome news Thursday night: a 50-cent Illinois lottery ticket Mrs. Campbell purchased was the winning number in the lottery and won $300,000 for the couple. The Campbells said Friday they plan to bank their winnings. They have been living on Social Security checks for the past 10 years at their modest home in University City, Mo.

The staff reported Friday at a public hearing that Bell officials "routinely conduct company 'business' at expensive country clubs and restaurants," and the company makes it up by charging higher rates.

Texas customers, the staff said, "are financing the opulent social and personal lifestyles of many (Bell) executives.

The lifestyle include dining "politicians, civic leaders, and journalists" who might be helpful in obtaining higher rates.

"For our executives to avoid such meetings would be ridiculous, for they are part and parcel of the communities we serve," said Bell vice president Charles Marshall in Dallas. "Such people of standing in a community are not so naive as to be swayed by a lunch or dinner."

"In summary, we are pleased that no one said we have done anything illegal. We have not," said Marshall. "We are dismayed that blanket charges that we misuse expense accounts were made. These charges are misleading and unfair."

The staff reported to Sens. Ron Clower, D-Garland, and Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin, of the five-member subcommittee on consumer affairs.

Clower, the chairman, said a fourth and final hearing in August will concentrate on alleged illegal campaign contributions by Bell officers.

Figured into customers' costs, the staff said, are the cost to executives of food, liquor, golf games, private club dues, moving costs and even a $2,500 hunting lease fee to entertain Justin Hoy, a St. Louis official visiting south Texas.

As other examples of costs charged off by executives as "operating expenses," the staff noted $1,509 spent on football tickets by lobbyist Ward Wilkinson and $496 for a party at San Antonio's Plaza Club to honor a new department head.

Manager Byron Maxwell of the Uvalde district claimed the $2,500 hunting expense, the staff said, as well as $476 to attend Gov. Dolph Briscoe's inaugural in 1973 and $411 to go to Laredo for the George Washington birthday celebration.

Investigator Dean Rindy also said editor Sam Wood of the Austin American-Statesman and Richard Morehead, chief of the Dallas Morning News Capitol bureau, had hunted several times on a West Texas lease paid for by Bell.

The staff investigation included a review of detailed expense account vouchers of 17 Bell executives, provided by the company, which were considered "representative" of other expense accounts.

The staff recommended that the new three-member state utilities commission conduct a full audit of Bell's corporate accounts and decide "what business expense can flow to the rate payer."

Other public utilities regulated by the commission also should be audited, the staff said, because its "study reveals the potential for similar abuse" in those utilities.

Backed Loans To Perk Livestock Production

Changes in the special Livestock Emergency Credit Program are now in effect in Texas, according to Jerald O. Crump, County Supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration (FHA) announced today.

The program originated under the Emergency Livestock Credit Act of 1974, will continue to be administered through county offices of FHA, the U.S. Department of Agriculture rural credit agency.

Under the program FHA guarantees loans made by banks and other commercial lenders to help farmers and ranchers continue in various lines of livestock production through a period of adverse economic conditions.

The bill (Public Law 94-35) signed June 16 by President Ford amended terms of the program established last year and extended its duration through December 31, 1976.

Major changes in the program are: —Farmers and ranchers assisted by loan guarantees must be primarily engaged in agricultural production, and livestock operations must account for a substantial portion (at least 25 per cent) of their gross income, working time or investment. Previously FHA required that more than 50 per cent of gross income or time be devoted to livestock operations.

The limit on any one borrower's guaranteed credit is raised to a $350,000 line of credit from the previous loan limit of $250,000.

The maximum guarantee to a lender is raised to 90 per cent of principal and interest from a previous guarantee limit of 80 per cent of loss.

—Maximum term of a loan was raised to seven years, with a three-year renewal permitted. Under the previous terms, loans could be made for three years, with a two-year renewal permitted.

—Under certain conditions, satisfactory evidence of a borrower's repayment ability can be accepted by lenders in lieu of collateral for a guaranteed loan.

—The national ceiling on total guaranteed loans outstanding at any one time is reduced from $2 billion to $1.5 billion. (Loans guaranteed by FHA through Mid-June totaled about $325 million.)

The amended Livestock Emergency Credit Act continues the previous guarantee authority for loans to farmers and ranchers in connection with the breeding, raising, fattening or marketing of beef or dairy cattle, swine, sheep, goats, chickens and turkeys. Interest rates are negotiated between borrowers and lenders.

Farmers and ranchers who may benefit from loan guarantees should apply to banks or other lending institutions. When details of a loan are negotiated, the lender may apply to FHA for a loan guarantee.

Benefits of FHA programs are available without regard to race, creed, color, sex or national origin.

County Supervisor Jerald O. Crump said further information about the program can be obtained from the Howard County FHA office located at Room 220, Federal Building in Big Spring, Texas.

Bid To Recruit Volunteers In Dual-City Drive

A dual-city drive will be launched July 28-31 in the Midland-Odessa area by the Peace Corps and VISTA, in an attempt to recruit volunteers who will use their particular skills to help others.

According to Joe Hindman, a former Peace Corps volunteer who will be heading the drive, Peace Corps and VISTA (Volunteers in Service To America) are seeking people with experience in agriculture and skilled trades, or people with college degrees.

"The Midland-Odessa area was chosen because of the farming, ranching and industry around here," said Hindman. "More than one-third of the requests from developing nations are for Peace Corps volunteers with a knowledge of agriculture. People with skilled trades experience are needed by both the Peace Corps and VISTA to teach on-the-job and in the classroom," Hindman continued.

Requirements to become a volunteer are relatively simple. Applicants must possess good health, be at least 20 years of age and have no dependents. Peace Corps requires U.S. citizenship, but a VISTA Volunteer can be either a citizen or a permanent resident of this country.

NEW CAR PREVIEW

Ho-Hum Lineup?

DETROIT (AP) — A minicar from General Motors and two luxury compacts from Chrysler Corp. highlight an otherwise ho-hum lineup of 1976 models the nation's auto companies will unveil this fall.

Compared with the flock of small cars Detroit introduced in 1975 and a new generation of shrunken family cars planned as 1977 models, 1976 will be a bland year for new products.

The list of new offerings includes Chevrolet's Chevette minicar; the Sunbird, Pontiac's version of the Chevy Monza Towne Coupe; the compact Plymouth Aspen and Dodge Volare, and the Plymouth Arrow, a Japanese import. That's half the number of cars Detroit debuted in 1975.

Current car models, meanwhile, will be substantially unchanged.

The auto companies used to spend heavily on redesigning their cars each year for the sake of appearance and annual marketing strategies.

But increasing federal regulation forced the firms to put their money into development of either all new cars or government-required emissions and safety equipment. These days, existing models only get a facelift every four or five years.

For consumers worried about rising gasoline prices, 1976 models will bring several engineering changes.

The auto companies, which debut new models in September and October, have crash programs under way for improving fuel economy to compete with imports and to meet pledges to the federal government.

Chrysler will introduce a lean-burn engine — the industry's first computerized power plant — which improves fuel economy and meets federal anti-pollution standards without a catalytic converter.

Ford Motor Co. will have no new cars, but is making engineering changes to improve fuel economy by an average three miles per gallon.

American Motors Corp. also has no new cars for 1976.

AMC recently acquired a production line from Volkswagen to build a four-cylinder engine. The only U.S. car company without a four-cylinder engine, AMC plans to put the new power plant in its Gremlin and Pacer to improve fuel economy — but probably not until 1977.

The results of the industry's multibillion-dollar program to scale down the size of big cars will begin showing in 1977 and last through 1980.

The program likely will mean the demise of the current fullsize car, although the familiar names probably will be retained.

The family car of the 1980s is expected to be one to two feet shorter and 600 to 1,000 pounds lighter than today's fullsize models.

The companies are committed to reduce the amount of gasoline burned by their 1980 fleet of cars by 40 per cent from 1975. They expect to reach that goal mainly by eliminating their biggest and least fuel-conscious models.

The gradual phase-out of many big cars will begin in the 1976 model year. Chrysler is dropping its top-of-the-line Imperial, GM is dropping its Chevrolet Bel Air line and all the companies are expected to reduce the number of family cars available for sale this fall.

GOP Hunts 'Winnable' Candidates

AUSTIN (AP) — Associated Republicans of Texas launched their search today for "winnable" local candidates in a five-year program to make Texas a two-party state.

Rudy Juedeman, Odessa, chairman of the executive committee, told a news conference that James Reese, Odessa, and Sam Wyly, Dallas, would be co-chairman of a recruitment drive to seek candidates for the state Senate and House, for county judge, county commissioner and sheriff.

A third co-chairman from Houston will be named later. "We will not be involved in any statewide races and we will not get involved in the primaries," Juedeman said. Juedeman said the Associated Republicans would first recruit local leaders to run on local Republican tickets in areas which appear to be "winnable," then provide "the much needed professional and financial assistance to maximize their chances of being successful."

"This is different from previous policies of the Texas Republican party," Reese said. "A lot of effort was spent in statewide races, not with a lot of success.... It is important to remember that our effort is grassroots oriented.... The conservative, independent thinking Texans who express a preference for Republicans in statewide elections frequently have no Republican candidate sharing their views for whom they can vote at the local level."

Reese said he had recently talked with newly elected State GOP Chairman Ray Hutchison and "we agreed the state party organization and the Associated Republicans of Texas can and will work in concert and harmony."

Juedeman said that the "winnable" target areas would include Travis, Ector and Midland counties, "several Panhandle counties and several counties that have consistently supported Sen. John Tower and local GOP candidates," plus the big city areas of Dallas and Houston.

NATIONAL AWARDS — Donny Knight is shown holding the two plaques received by the Big Spring High School student council for its safety program last year. One was presented this summer at the National Student Safety Conference held in Lincoln, Neb.

National Student Safety Plaque Presented BSHS

The Big Spring High School student council was presented a National Student Safety plaque for meritorious safety activities during the 1974-75 program year.

The presentation was made at the National Student Safety Conference in Lincoln, Nebraska, with Donny Knight, a sophomore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry D. Knight, receiving the plaque. Knight was also selected to the executive board of the NSSP, which will preside over the national NSSP conference next summer in Waco.

The council received the plaque for its activities and its safety scrapbook. It is the top award in the country that can be obtained by a school safety program.

Knight led two capsule summary groups at the conference explaining the safety activities here, including the pilot motorcycle safety course, which was the first in Texas, the fire drill and tornado procedures and the new international road sign project.

After Big Spring won best in its district in the program, Knight was entitled to attend the conference. He was accompanied by Joddie Witte, DPS consultant for safety and driver education. He informed Craig Fishcer, Big Spring's council sponsor, that a state publication will contain an article on the safety program and activities during the past year.

Americans Tortured In Mexican Jails?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department is continuing an investigation of reports that Americans are being tortured in Mexican jails, despite an official report that turned up little evidence of such abuse.

The report was presented at a closed meeting of a House International Affairs subcommittee Monday. It reportedly denied that torture was used to obtain confessions from arrested Americans, most of whom were being held on drug-smuggling charges.

The report stemmed from a trip to Mexico City by a team of State Department and congressional investigators to interview 15 of the nearly 550 Americans incarcerated in Mexico.

Rep. Fortney H. Stark, D-Calif., said Friday that the investigators found some validity to complaints of denial of rights. But he said the report says no evidence was found "that any American citizen has been unjustly treated without an opportunity for redress under Mexican law."

"The team could find little convincing evidence that extreme physical abuse had taken place, with any frequency," the congressman said, quoting the report.

Persons familiar with the investigation, however, reported in interviews that despite the findings of the special team, they believe that torture has taken place.

Stark said the report announced that the State Department would set up a special system to notify American consular officials of arrests involving U.S. citizens in Mexico.

One State Department official, who asked that his name not be used, acknowledged that investigators continue to believe that prisoners have been tortured, but they have not been able to prove it.

Pay More For Beef

WASHINGTON (AP) — American consumers paid more for beef in June than ever before, and those prices apparently continued to soar into this month, the Agriculture Department reports.

Figures released by the department on Thursday gave weight to the Labor Department's announcement earlier this week that higher meat prices had helped boost the cost of living by eight-tenths of one per cent in June, the sharpest rise in six months.

Meat purchases account for an average 30 per cent of consumers' grocery bills.

Retail food prices rose by an average of 14.5 per cent in both 1973 and 1974, but Agriculture Department economists say the increase can be held to 6 to 8 per cent this year if record grain crops are harvested as expected and meat prices subside in the coming months.

Jobless In Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — Unemployment decreased slightly during May in most areas of Texas, the Texas Employment Commission said Friday.

The TEC said there were 306,200 jobless in Texas in May, which represented 5.8 per cent of the labor force. The total was 7,200 fewer jobless than April which had a 5.9 per cent jobless rate. The figures compare with 183,400, or 3.6 per cent, in May 1974.

"The drop during the past month can be attributed to the increase in the number of job openings fewer layoffs and a smaller number of persons entering or re-entering the labor force," the TEC said.

The TEC said 14 of the major employment areas of Texas reported decreased unemployment in May while nine areas had more jobless.

Twelve areas had unemployment rates higher than the state's 5.8 per cent. Area unemployment rates varied from 3.1 per cent in the Amarillo area to 14.5 per cent in the Laredo area, which was an improvement over the 16.6 per cent posted in April.

MALPRACTICE CLAIMS Hospitals To Form Own Insurance Firm

AUSTIN (AP) — An insurance man who says he gathered information on medical malpractice claims "through the back door" says only 20 per cent are for large amounts—$50,000 or more.

The usual losses of $10,000 or less would be fully insured by a proposed new insurance company owned entirely by hospitals, which say they have had enough of mammoth increases in their malpractice rates.

The company would be a "reciprocal," meaning it would be owned by its policyholders. Unlike the usual company, it would not have to build into its rates enough money for profit and agent commissions. It would pay Boon-Chapman Insurance Managers of Austin about 15 or 16 per cent for administration.

Dean Davis, attorney for the Texas Hospital Association, told the State Insurance Board Friday the hospitals would file their application for permission to start a company "by the end of next week."

Harry Stuth of Boon-Chapman told the board he had made an exhaustive three-year study of malpractice claims paid by insurance companies. The widely publicized blockbuster claims of more than $50,000 account for only 5 per cent of the total, he said, while those of less than $10,000 make up 80 per cent of the total. The other 15 per cent are in the $10,000 to $50,000 range, he said.

The hospitals' reciprocal company would pay the entire amount of claims under $10,000 and share the risk of others through reinsurance with larger companies or the state's new malpractice risk sharing pool, the Joint Underwriting Association.

Stuth was asked how he was able to obtain his statistics on paid malpractice claims when the board was still struggling to obtain information.

"Through the back door," he said, meaning through contacts in the major malpractice insurance companies.

He said the estimated cost of running a reciprocal company such as the hospitals want to start was about 25 per cent less than the ordinary company would pay. The proposed company also would save hospitals money because it would require a survey by medical safety engineers to identify and eliminate sources of potential medical accidents,

Stuth said. The company would be required by law to begin operations with $300,000 in cash assets and it would have to build reserves quickly to cover its losses. Stuth said reserves eventually would be about $1 million.

Parr Bond Hearing Monday

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Ousted Duval County Judge Archer Parr is scheduled to face an appeal bond hearing before a federal judge here Monday morning.

Parr was arrested last Thursday on a bench warrant from U.S. District Judge D.W. Suttle after the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans refused to overturn Parr's federal perjury conviction.

Friday South Texas farmer-rancher Clinton Manges asked Suttle to "exonerate and release" the $121,500 cash bond he had posted in Parr's behalf while Parr appealed his conviction.

Since posting Parr's bond, Manges has apparently allied himself with Parr's political opponents, the Carrillo faction, in the complicated world of Duval County politics.

Parr was convicted May 9, 1974, of lying to a federal grand jury investigating the income taxes of his uncle, longtime South Texas political boss George Parr, known as the "Duke of Duval." Archer was assessed a 10-year prison term.

U.S. Atty. John Clark of San Antonio requested the bench warrant for Parr, citing the appeals court's decision and the alleged dual citizenship of Parr, who was born in Mexico City.

Suttle, at the time of Parr's sentencing, had expressed concern because under Mexican law Parr is a Mexican citizen and could not be returned to the United States if he were to flee across the border.

Parr's lawyer, James Gillespie, said after Thursday's arrest Parr was disappointed at the appeals court decision.

"We plan to continue the appeals and asking for a re-hearing and then even appeal to the Supreme Court," Gillespie said.

Enthusiastic Southern Reception For Reagan

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A loud cheer echoed through the pavilion at the North Carolina State Fairgrounds when a young woman waved a Reagan-for-President sign in front of the hall.

By the time the former California governor spoke an hour later, hundreds of the signs — handed out by local supporters — were being waved by the crowd of 2,000 dinner guests.

The South is Ronald Reagan country, according to the political leaders and other supporters who gave him the biggest and most enthusiastic greeting of the six-state tour which started in Washington State and ended in North Carolina.

"He is a man who, faced with a choice, would rather be right than president. There is a good chance he and will be both," said Sen. Jesse Helms, a conservative Republican from North Carolina.

"The Republican party has a right to a choice next year," said Sen. Bill Scott, R-Va., who was among six senators and governors headlining the "Salute to Ronald Reagan" dinner Friday night.

In each city, in widely divergent settings, guests in long reception lines, passers-by in hotel lobbies and party leaders urged Reagan to challenge President Ford for the Republican nomination next year.

But Reagan says he doesn't have an answer yet for those supporters.

"I honestly don't know. I know there is a decision to be made. I have not yet made that decision," he said.

Reagan said he is trying to find out if there is "a call" from enough people for his candidacy: "I have never been able to understand someone who sets out and says, 'I'm going to be president.'"

"I think the people tell you whether you're being called for that. Now many people have expressed to me the belief that I should be a candidate. The question is how deep is that support? Is it a sufficient number of people?"

Reagan's Friday night appearance in Raleigh was his last scheduled speech for seven weeks.

Meanwhile, a two-week-old "Citizens for Reagan" presidential committee is scheduled to open its office in Washington on Monday.

Reagan's travels this past week had all of the elements of a presidential campaign,

CAMP MESQUITER — Carlos Anguiano, one of the 21 young men of "Camp Mesquiter," gets a going over by Major (Dr.) William Blake. All were given brief physical exams when they went to live at Webb Air Force Base the past week. The youngsters have participated in soccer, softball, bowling and swimming. In addition they toured the fire department and viewed a static display of Webb aircraft. Each year Webb hosts the camp which brings disadvantaged youth to the base for a week. A group of girls will participate in similar activities July 28 through Aug. 1.

'Duck Pond' Scandals Figure Hise Resigns

ODESSA — Retired Marine B. Gen. H. W. Hise, who played a role in the UTPB 'duck pond' scandals that led to the resignation of Dr. B. H. Amstead as president of the school, has been dismissed by the university.

Hise said he had been informed by UTPB interim president V. R. Cardozer that his contract would be terminated Aug. 31 because the position is "illogical."

The University of Texas board of regents recently approved a budget which called for the elimination of 22 full-time staff positions. Hise has been serving as administrative assistant to the dean, College of Science and Engineering.

Hise is credited with bringing to the attention of UT regents alleged irregularities in the use of university funds for a duck pond and a three-hole golf course on the campus.

Amstead resigned as the university's first president last December. He remains on the faculty, however. The board of regents have approved a budget of $4,922,658 for the 1975-76 UTPB school year. The budget calls for salary increases of 18.2 per cent above September 1974 for staff members earning $10,500 or less and nine per cent more for those earning above $20,500.

The Welch community with 16 present, won the Friendship Symbol plaque. The symbol is a token of appreciation from the Lamesa chamber and local merchants.

The bicentennial commission and its approved projects will receive most of the net profits, with KMID-TV being reimbursed for its expenses and with 15 per cent going to the producers. A portion of the proceeds will be donated to the band organizations which participate. Ticket prices will range from $10 scaled to a low of $3.75. The stadium will seat slightly over 13,000 when an additional 1,000 moveable seats are installed.

IT'S AN ADULT'S WORLD — When County Judge Bill Tune (left) performed an outdoor marriage ceremony uniting Christy Lou Rupard and Glenn Ferguson Thursday, little Paul Ferguson served as the ring bearer. Paul must have been wondering when he'll grow up, for most adults are built so far off the ground they seem very remote to him. Incidentally, the marriage was the first performed by Tune.

Canning Jar Lids Pilferage

MUNCIE, Ind. (AP) — Ball Corp. has begun an internal investigation and the FBI has been asked to conduct a search in several states for missing canning jar lids amidst reports of a growing home-canning equipment black market. A spokesman for Ball said fewer than one million lids were missing in what has been termed internal thefts. But the Muncie Star said as many as 30 million lids may be missing as part of a black market operation.

Connally Will Address GOPs

John B. Connally, former Secretary of the Treasury, three-term Governor of Texas, and Secretary of the Navy will address the 18th Biennial Convention of the National Federation of Republican Women in Dallas in September. The Texan joins an impressive list of national leaders and Republican Party notables who will appear at the three-day event, September 11-13, at Dallas Convention Center.

Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller, former California Governor Ronald Reagan, Missouri Governor Christopher (Kit) Bond, U.S. Sens. Barry Goldwater and John G. Tower, former U.S. Information Agency Director Frank Shakespeare, Republican National Chairman Mary Louise Smith and several Members of Congress are scheduled to appear before the Republican women.

Recent shortages in the lids used by many consumers for canning home-grown fruits and vegetables has brought about a Federal Trade Commission investigation and charges by congressmen and consumer advocates of market manipulation.

Some consumers are also reported to be hoarding supplies.

Ball spokesman Vern Schranz said outside investigators and auditors have been checking company books for about a week to determine the exact number of missing lids.

The FBI said it had contacted Ball twice this week to determine the number and that "another division" outside Indiana had asked for an investigation in several states to try to find missing lid shipments.

An FBI spokesman declined to name the other states involved. Muncie police said one Muncie grocer who was cooperating with authorities bought a large number of Anchor Hocking Co. lids and rings that were stolen from a warehouse in Richmond, Ind., on the Indiana-Ohio state line.

Bank Deposits In Sharp Gain

Bank deposits increased by about 3.8 per cent in the past month, according to economic indicator information released by the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.

Deposits increased from $84,088,642 in May to $87,351,984 in June, a jump of some $3.27 million.

One bank official said that he believes that the increase is due to normal growth in Big Spring, and that the federal income tax rebate checks did not have much effect on the deposit total.

Savings and loan deposits also showed a healthy increase, jumping from $54.6 million in May to $55.7 million in June, an increase of $1.1 million.

The savings and loan deposits have steadily increased since a total of $50.4 million was reported a year ago.

Building permits for June were $538,982 as compared to $382,060 for May.

Witness To Japs Attack At Pearl Harbor Speaks

A man who was eye-witness to the Japanese attack of Pearl Harbor, Major Gen. (ret.) Franklin A. Nichols spoke at graduation ceremonies for Undergraduate Pilot Training Class 76-02 Friday evening at Webb AFB.

Nineteen men received their pilot wings along with bases of assignment. Three of them, 2nd Lts. David M. Fisher, Timothy T. Green and Lawrence D. Huber, will remain at Webb as instructors — the first two in the Cessna T-37 and the latter in the Northrop T-38 aircraft.

Top graduate was 2nd Lt. Roy D. Mitchell who received the Air Training Commander's trophy, the Flying Training award and Distinguished Graduate Letter. The Academic Training award went to 2nd Lt. Lawrence D. Huber who also received a Distinguished Graduate Letter.

Capt. Kenneth D. Lorenz, the other honoree, was presented the Military Training award.

Gen. (then Lt.) Nichols recalls that on Sunday morning, Dec. 7, 1941, he heard planes in the sky as he was headed for a golf game. He thought they were Navy planes which often flew on Sunday.

But when they began doing something strange he stopped to look. His neighbor came running out of the house next door and said, "Those are Japs! See the rising sun on their wings?"

They jumped in his car and went to the flightline of Wheeler Field but found everything destroyed. That night, after the attack, only eight planes were left out of 150. And they were riddled with bullet holes, their propellers nicked and their wings creased and punctured.

It was while he was assigned to the 7th Pursuit Squadron in New Guinea that General Nichols became an American air ace, shooting down five enemy planes, possibly destroying six more and very nearly getting shot down himself.

Nichols recalled his best mission as happening one year to the date after Pearl Harbor. He led a flight of P-40s which hit a force of 18 Japanese bombers which had a heavy Zero escort. They got two of the bombers, "I got one myself," he said, and the remaining 16 turned tail with their escort and flew back to their base without dropping their bombs.

Mercer, Nix On Program

Two programs in one were presented at the ABC weekly meeting Friday at the Settles Hotel.

George Zachariah introduced Ron Mercer Jr., who discussed his recent one-week stay at Boys' State at Austin. Mercer was sponsored by the ABC.

Jody Nix, a third generation of West Texas fiddlers, played several old-time fiddle tunes. He was introduced by Don Brooks, the club's first vice president.

Nix's appearance was also to help salute and give tribute to the Howard-Glasscock Old Settlers Reunion scheduled for Aug. 1 in Comanche Trail Park.

Joe Turcotte is the newest ABC member, sponsored by Wayne Rock, outgoing president and now district governor.

Bill Reed will be the club's program chairman for the month of August.

The general had a close call in 1943 when he was leading a flight of P-38s — the aircraft credited with shooting down more enemy planes than any other fighter in the Pacific Theater.

When General Nichols sank a Japanese transport he was leading a flight of P-40s carrying 500 pound bombs under each wing. It was the first time that a Japanese convoy had been hit by land-based fighters.

Grace Earnings Record First 6 Months Of Year

NEW YORK — W. R. Grace Co., an international industrial concern, has announced that quarterly and half year earnings, including a gain on the sale of stock in a European food service subsidiary, reached new highs on record second quarter sales. Earnings for the quarter, even excluding the gain and the sale, were higher than any other quarter in Grace's history, despite the difficult economic circumstances prevailing in the world, the company said.

Grace, an international concern with interests in chemicals, consumer products and services, and natural resources, operates an agricultural chemicals plant on Interstate 20 East in Big Spring.

Total income in the second quarter was $79,286,000, compared to $42,967,000 in the second quarter of 1974. Eliminating the effect of the after tax gain of $33,137,000 or $1.06 per common share resulting from the previously announced sale by Grace of 48 per cent interest in the European food service subsidiary, Grace's income was $46,149,000, an increase of 7.4 per cent over the comparable prior year period.

This is equivalent to $1.46 per common and common equivalent share, an increase of 5.8 per cent over the 1974 per share figure of $1.38. Net sales and operating revenues for the period were $922,284,000, or 3.6 per cent higher than the $890,152,000 reported for the same period last year.

For the first six months of the year, Grace net income totaled $110,182,000. $64,610,000 was earned during the same period last year. Earnings per common and common equivalent share increased to $3.51 per share from $2.80.

Half year sales and operating revenues increased 8.4 per cent to $1,777,479,000 versus $1,639,485,000 for the first six months in 1974. Excluding the $33.1 million gain from the six month results, net income was $77,045,000, up by 18.9 per cent, and earnings per common and common equivalent share were $2.45, an increase of 17.8 per cent over the prior year period.

Big Spring Enters District Go-Around

Undeclared Odessa, 10-0, will provide first round District Senior Teen-Age opposition for the Big Spring Kiwanians, 13-2, here Tuesday at the Johnny Stone Park.

Losers of the Big Spring vs Odessa and San Angelo contests play Thursday. Friday's bracket sends winner of game two vs winner of game three. If necessary, a playoff game will come about at 10 p.m. the final day.

All regular tournament games will start each day at 8 p.m. The district winner moves on to the state level at Waco, Aug. 4 through 9.

Competition involves players from the age 16 to 18 years of age. Dick Battle, 6-1, or Pat Carroll, 6-0, the one-two pitching punch on the Big Spring High baseball team, will start on the hill for the Kiwanians.

Bill Battle, father of Dick, is the Big Spring manager with Andy Anderson serving as coach. Fourteen members are on the local club with 11 from the Kiwanians.

Three player additions were added to the Big Spring roster. They include: Barry Canning, Indians; Ken McMurtrey, Optimist; and Kent Newsom, Hardware.

Odessa features a stout club composed of players from Midland High, Midland Lee, Permian and Odessa High. Alex Kager of Permian fame will no doubt get the starting pitching assignment for the visitors.

Kimbrough Wins Right To Trial

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — John Kimbrough, Texas A&M's All-American running back of 1939-40, won the right to a trial of his $1 million invasion of privacy suit stemming from the use of his picture in Coca-Cola advertisements.

The Texas Supreme Court agreed with the Eastland Court of Civil Appeals that the case raised issues for a jury to resolve. A state district judge in Dallas had granted a summary judgment to Coca Cola and Sports Communications, Inc., publisher of Texas Football magazine, that kept the case from going to trial.

Sports Communications had asked each Southwest Conference school in 1972 to designate its outstanding former player, who would receive an oil portrait of himself. Copies would go to his alma mater and the newly established Texas Sports Hall of Fame.

ONE GAME AWAY FROM STATE All-Stars To Travel

The Texas Little League All-Stars are just one game away from making that big trip to the state tournament in Waco, Aug. 4.

The Big Spring club travels to San Angelo Tuesday for a bi-district single game. Game time is listed for 7 p.m., at the Lion Park located on 19th Street.

Winner advances to state play. Texas manager Fred Jara will turn to Dickie Wrightsil, 11-0, as his starting pitcher.

The left-handed slinger was credited with two of three Texas district victories. Wrightsil gave up only one hit as Texas trimmed Midland Northern 3-0, here July 18, for the district championship.

In the district opener, Wrightsil again allowed one safety as Texas blanked Midland Eastern, 9-0.

Wrightsil's pitching buddy Johnnie Abreo helped moved the club into the district finals as he fired a 10-0 no-hitter against Midland Tower.

Wrightsil's best delivery is a drop pitch mixed in with the fast-ball and throws the curve on occasion. He also has developed into a strikeout artist, fanning 12 against Northern. Abreo also carried out the same task with Tower.

Jara assisted by Chon Rodriguez has guided the Texas All-Stars for three seasons. Under his direction the first year, Texas moved on to the state playoffs, but lost its first round game. The club bounced back to take consolation honors.

Last year, Texas was eliminated in first round district action.

RANGERS CLOUTED TWICE Honeymoon Over For Lucchesi

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The honeymoon's over for Frank Lucchesi; it's just beginning for Whitey Herzog. Lucchesi, who became manager of the Texas Rangers when Billy Martin was fired earlier in the week, came to town Friday night with a 3-0 record.

Herzog, who took a similar post with the Kansas City Royals only Thursday when he was named to succeed Jack McKeon, hadn't even led his troops in action. The result: the Royals whipped the Rangers in both ends of a two-night doubleheader 6-3 and 6-1.

"My bubble busted," said Lucchesi. "They baptised me real good. But the players gave me 110 per cent, and that's all I can ask."

"I know all of the days aren't like this," said Herzog, who got a double dose of satisfaction because the Royals had beaten the club which fired him less than two years ago from his only previous managerial endeavor. "It's not that easy."

Herzog said before the twin bill: "I wish we were playing only one game tonight. After it was all over, he retracted his earlier statement. "I was thinking after the first game and the way it went, it would be nice to go home and just think about it. Now I'm glad we played the second game."

Herzog found a couple of surprises—rookie pitcher Dennis Leonard and utility infielder Frank White. He also was impressed with reserve outfielder Al Cowens.

Leonard, 7-5, went the distance in the nightcap, spacing five hits, striking out seven and walking only two. When trouble appeared to be brewing, he squirmed out of it.

"When a pitcher pitches like that," said Herzog, "a manager's really smart."

College All-Stars To Make Comeback

CHICAGO (AP) — The All-Star football game, sidelined last year because of the National Football League players' strike, makes a comeback amid pomp and pageantry Friday night in Soldier Field.

A squad of 55 collegians, including 21 players who were first-round picks in the NFL draft, will challenge the champion Pittsburgh Steelers, 16-6 victors over the Minnesota Vikings in the Super Bowl last January.

John McKay of Southern California, who two years ago was criticized for his "country club" camp, will direct the collegians again.

And once again McKay has run a light camp, with only one-a-day workouts and limited physical contact. In recent years the All-Stars held controlled scrimmages against the Chicago Bears, but McKay even ruled that out this year.

"We're not going to scrimmage the Bears," said McKay, who also ruled out a meeting with the Bears two years ago. "We're getting ready to play the Steelers, not the Bears. If the Bears more guys become regulars in their first year in the NFL than any other All-Star team."

In preparations two years ago, pro scouts were aghast as McKay put the All-Stars through one-a-day workouts and held contact to a minimum.

He silenced his critics as the All-Stars put up an impressive performance before bowing to the Miami Dolphins 14-3. Larry Csonka scored touchdowns in the first and fourth quarters, but in between the collegians outplayed their pro counterparts.

McKay is going through the same routine this time around. "One practice a day is all I can stand," he said.

In addition to the 21 first-round draft picks, the All-Stars have 11 members who were picked in the second round and 10 in the third.

McKay said the 1975 squad "looks good" but it doesn't have as many "name players as we had two years ago. That team probably had more guys become regulars in their first year in the NFL than any other All-Star team."

WATERS ON SECTIONAL Mattingly's Score Best

Stopover No. 34 of the West Texas Junior Golf Tour took place here Friday afternoon at the Big Spring Country Club.

Deathered, Ronald Koerth, Bobby Waters and Bob Barhill. Waters is the lone Big Spring entry.

Tournament play started June 11 and concludes Aug. 8 at the San Angelo Country Club.

San Angelo's Mark Mattingly was first in the 16 through 18-year-old class. He fired a 71 for 18 holes.

Kelly Eng of Midland and Odessa's Kent Stallcup took honors in the 14-15 and 12-13 age brackets, respectively carding a 73 and an 82.

Bruce Carroll of Big Spring placed second in the 12-13 age class, firing an 86. Sectional qualifiers for the state tournament in San Antonio, Aug. 11-15 include: Montie Watson, Odessa; Mattingly, Clay Cornett, Alpine; Brian McCallister, Rex Robertson, Greg Roberts, Greg with 298s.

Chain fired a final round 77 Friday to finish with a four day total of 296.

Steve Novack of Warner Robbins, Ga., a University of Texas golfer, and Houston's Jerry Orebaugh were second with 298s.

HARVESTING SLOWED Cotton In Square To Bloom Stage

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Harvesting of cotton, sorghum and rice was slowed by showers last week in Southeast Texas and along the Upper Gulf Coast, Dr. John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said.

Rains over South and Southwest Texas and in the plains provided needed moisture to boost pasture and range conditions but the rains interrupted harvesting in southern sections and caused some field sprouting of sorghum and cotton.

Grass growth has been good in most sections, he said. Alfalfa is also producing good yields with third and fourth cuttings under way in western areas.

District Agricultural agents gave these reports:

Panhandle: Although the wheat harvest is over farmers are selling little of their crop in anticipation of higher prices. Onions and potatoes are producing good yields.

The cattle market remains steady to strong.

South Plains: Cotton is making good progress. Early fields are beginning to bloom. Greenbugs continue to increase in sorghum and some fields are being sprayed. Onions and cucumbers are being harvested.

Rolling Plains: Most crops are making excellent progress but insects are increasing rapidly. Wheat farmers are plowing land for the fall planting season. Ranges are heavily infested with weeds.

North Central: Corn yields have been good although the total acreage is small. Cotton is progressing well but boll weevils are causing some damage. Hay making is active. Rain is needed in some locations to boost grass growth.

Northeast: The sorghum crop has headed out. Corn is in the roasting ear stage. Cotton is being attacked by boll weevils and fleahoppers. Pecans are falling because of insects and diseases. Pastures need rain.

Far West: Alfalfa is producing good yields. Pinto beans and blackeyed peas are being harvested in Brewster and Jeff Davis counties. Some early calves are moving to market.

West Central: Cotton is in the square to bloom stage. Sorghum is approaching maturity. Insect activity is widespread in sorghum fields. The peach harvest is about complete. Some pastures and ranges need moisture.

Central: Early cotton is setting bolls in southern counties. Early sorghum is maturing rapidly. Insect infestations are increasing in many cotton fields. Lesser cornstalk borers and leaf spot are attacking peanuts. The dryland crop needs rain.

East: Some early corn is being harvested.

NIXING EDUCATION APPROPRIATION — President Ford signs papers in the White House Friday vetoing the $7.9 billion education appropriation act of 1976. Watching the signature is Casper Weinberger, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. In vetoing the money bill, Ford said it was "too much to ask the American people and our economy — to bear."

ITEMS PLACED — M.D. Coggin is placing the box holding items to be included in the cornerstone at the new Martin County Courthouse in ceremonies Friday. Coggin has his name on the stone twice, as both treasurer of the Masonic Lodge 951 and a county commissioner. Immediately behind Coggin in the checkered coat is Tommie Huckabee, architect for the building which will be completed by September.

Illegal Use Of Bugging Equipment Is Reported

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Post says it has been told by a law enforcement officer at Marshall that electronic surveillance equipment purchased by the Harrison County district attorney's office has been used illegally at least once.

The newspaper, in a copyrighted story in its Friday editions, said the officer asked that he not be identified but said he was willing to testify before a grand jury.

The Post quoted him as saying the motel room of a young drug addict was bugged last year. He said the incident was related to him by one of the individuals who allegedly planted the bug.

Harrison County Dist. Atty. Sam Baxter was not available for comment but Nesbitt McIntosh, a district attorney's investigator, was quoted by the newspaper as saying the devices had never been used, illegally or otherwise.

The Post reported last week that the Harrison County district attorney's office has purchased three phone line transmitters — wiretap devices — through a Criminal Justice Division grant in early 1973.

Three room bugs which transmit on an FM radio frequency also were purchased, the newspaper said.

Marshall City Police Sgt. A.D. Jordan was quoted by the Post as saying a small transmitter had been used once on a body bug in a drug investigation.

'Tumbleweed' To Participate

SUN ANTONIO — The Charlie Smith Family of San Angelo and commentator Tumbleweed Smith (Bob Lewis) will participate in the fourth annual Texas Folklife Festival at the UTSA Institute of Texan Cultures in San Antonio, Aug. 7-10.

Charlie, wife Linda, and sons Chuck, age 14 and Mark, age 10, will operate the Festival Macramé School sharing their "Macramé Fever" with the anticipated 85,000 visitors expected to attend the four-day state festival in San Antonio.

An official state bicentennial event, the Festival will be observed by 500 members of the ARBC. The huge grand-daddy of all festivals will cover 15 acres around the Institute's HemisFair site as the 26 ethnic cultures in Texas gather to present their unique foods, games, contests, dances and music.

The Smith Family will show visitors how to create patterns and designs and make everything from hanging pots to wall hangings.

Tumbleweed Smith, a festival ambassador, will be one of 11 storytellers scheduled to discuss such things as hunting, fishing, humor, duck and goose calling, possumology and even wild animal calls.

MP Revenues Show Drop Stress, Strain Of Job Drove Fat Cop To Eat

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Consolidated net income of the Missouri Pacific Railroad for the first half of 1975 was $14,016,130 or $1.12 per share, on a generally accepted accounting basis, compared with $25,421,366, or $2.03 per share, in the same period last year, after giving effect to a five-for-one stock split on July 5, 1974.

Operating revenues were $427,846,724 for the half compared with $432,894,217 in the prior year.

Net income in the first six months of 1975 compares with the $14,972,000 net in the same period of 1973, when a new record at that time was set, largely as a result of the unusually heavy movement of export grain.

Net income for the second quarter was $7,484,380, or 60 cents per share, on revenues of $210,882,131, compared with $14,426,225, or $1.15 per share on revenues of $221,244,135 in the 1974 quarter.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "Some people drink. I eat," Patrolman Gene Smith told the city retirement board.

The board got the 300-pound patrolman's point Wednesday and granted retirement benefits on grounds that the stress and strain of police work drove Smith to eat. It made him so obese he no longer could perform.

His lawyer, George Engler, said Smith will receive about $700 a month — 50 per cent of what he was making a year ago when the police department asked him to leave the force because he was unfit for duty.

Engler said Smith ballooned from 190 pounds 15 years ago to his present weight — all because he took out the frustrations of police work at the dinner table.

The board ruled in Smith's favor after hearing reports from doctors who examined Smith, including Dr. Meyer

Friedman, a heart specialist.

"He sought relief at the dinner table from the emotional stresses and strains of police work," Friedman's report said. "Perhaps he has received some relief by this method but he has paid the price of obesity for it."

"Certainly he is unfit for any police position."

Another physician, Dr. Ralph Rosenberg, said police work "certainly could have contributed to compulsive over-eating which has led to marked obesity."

Smith was granted a year's disability leave with pay a year ago, but his efforts to trim down failed, Engler said.

"He went to diet clinics, he tried fast diets and nothing worked. He couldn't stop eating," said Engler.

Spain Retires FROM Florida.

OR, HOW AMERICA picked up FLORIDA for $5 million.

No luxury hotels. No drinks served at the pool. Just sand and palms and alligators. And a lot of fighting for it that destroyed property throughout Florida.

Americans in Florida figured Spain owed them $5,000,000 in property damages.

Our government offered to pick up the tab for Spain, if Spain would retire from Florida. Spain accepted. And was out.

You know, money from our citizens helped pay for things back then. And it still does.

Today, you can help with U.S. Savings Bonds. And at the same time, they let you build savings. Easily. Automatically.

This happens when you join the Payroll Savings Plan, or buy Bonds where you bank. Year after year, you accumulate more and more savings. And it can add up to a bundle.

So maybe you'd better start this week. Because, someday, you'll have to retire, too.

Now U.S. Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4 1/2% the first year). Lost, stolen or destroyed Bonds can be replaced if records are provided. When needed, Bonds can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Zale's Reports Earnings Gain

Zale Corporation has reported a 10 per cent gain in earnings on moderately lower sales for the first quarter of fiscal 1976, ended June 30.

Net income of $6,192,826, or 47 cents per share, was the highest in any first quarter for Zale, contrasting with the previous record of $5,608,000, or 43 cents a share, in fiscal 1975's comparable period. Sales were $142,645,292, from the prior year's first quarter volume of $146,388,670.

An official said the corporation gave up some $5 million in marginal volume over the period, through selective store closings and the replacement of small appliances with wider selections of jewelry at 598 Zale's Jewelers stores throughout the country.

Changes Tug At Middle America

By the Associated Press
The women's movement is tugging at Middle America, changing lifestyles as traditional as the Iowa cornfields.

It's okay in Des Moines for a woman to join friends for a drink after work and say her husband does the grocery shopping.

It's okay in Olivette, Mo., for a conveyor factory employe to earn less than his wife.

It's okay in Fort Knox, Ky., for an Army captain to vacuum the carpet and clean the bathroom while his wife goes back to school.

It's even okay now in Iowa to have women commanding American Legion posts, and some do.

But the changes have brought some sorrow, like the young man found sitting on a park bench. His girlfriend left him, and he says he shares the blame with "that damned women's lib."

"I don't want to put women down," he explained. "I try to be nice to them, but I don't know what to do."

Traveling across the country, one finds dozens of men and women whose lives have been touched by the women's movement. Some don't even realize it's happened.

Conversations are punctuated with long sighs and pauses as women who once worked only out of economic necessity say that now a million dollars wouldn't keep them home all day. Slowly, often hesitatingly, more and more women whose children have grown up are looking for jobs or going back to school—or thinking about it.

Husbands are helping more with housework and babysitting—not always willingly. Many men are confused as they watch their women becoming more outspoken, more self-assertive, more independent. "There were no truth in packaging laws when I got married," said a man married in the 1950s.

Irma Queck, 47, wife of a hog farmer, is organizing the "porkettes" in Greenfield, Iowa, to participate in the business. "Women are more interested in the business than they used to be," she says.

Mrs. Queck, a plump, cheery, curly-haired mother of eight, does not consider herself a women's libber. She is proud of being a housewife, of feeding eight hungry people three times a day, of keeping their clothes clean and the household running.

Still, as she sits in her farmhouse living room, musing about her children and the ironing and her husband's business, she allows how maybe her thoughts about women's roles have changed.

"I think that women are interested in the business operation and that by being organized, they can help," she said of the "porkettes." "This is not a social organization. One thing we do is check meat thermometers in stores. I'm part of my husband's business."

Irma Queck is not alone. Government statistics show more women are working. Four years ago 28 million women made up 43 per cent of the labor force. Today there are 33 million adult women working—composing almost 46 per cent of the labor force.

Last year there were 13½ million mothers working or looking for jobs, 12 per cent more than in 1970.

Women also are postponing marriage. Last year almost half of all 21-year-old women had never married, compared to 35 per cent in 1960.

Though divorce statistics climbed last year to where there were 63 divorced persons for every 1,000 people with intact marriages, the changes occurring in most people's lives are less dramatic.

"I've changed in the past two years," says Kay Mark, at 36 a mother of three, an executive secretary in a Des Moines hotel and wife of a Wonder Bread salesman. "I came back to work in 1970 because we needed the money. My husband didn't like me working at first. He had the feeling he wasn't providing for the family. Now he feels that other people have wives who work, too."

She pats her bouffant hairdo. "I used to be of the opinion that your husband was to provide and love you, and you did everything for him," she says. "Gradually I've pulled away from that thinking. Every once in a while we have a flare-up."

Mrs. Mark says she hopes her daughters don't marry in their 20th year, as she did; that they pursue careers and take the rest of their lives—including a husband and family—as it comes "but not as their sole goal."

Even when divorce is imminent, women are less traumatized by the realization that they'll be on their own. A North Dakota woman turned to a stranger on an airplane and confided unexpectedly, "Today is my 22nd wedding anniversary. I'm 43 and have four children. I'm getting divorced." She applies some make-up and continues: "I have to get a job and don't have a clue what I'll do. But you know, I'm just beginning to live."

The depressed economy has given women reason to find jobs. Modern conveniences such as dishwashers and washing machines have freed them. And gradually, the women's movement has made it respectable.

And men, conditioned to supporting a family, are finding a working wife makes economic burdens easier to bear.

Ed Grommet, a 24-year-old cost estimator for a Missouri conveyor factory, says his wife, a registered nurse, makes $150 a month more than he does.

Is his masculinity threatened by his wife's financial independence? Grommet shakes his head. "No," he says. "I don't know where we'd be without it. Sometimes I ask her if she thinks I'm paranoid because she makes more. But I'm not."

Grommet says he and his wife just bought a new house, one they could not have afforded on one salary—"no way."

Businessmen are becoming more accustomed to seeing women in responsible positions. "The female members of our organization are taking a more active role," says Robert R. White, the graying, middle-aged business manager of Iowa's American Legion. "We have three women post commanders in Iowa now, and it's only been in the past few years that they've assumed this responsibility."

"It's a very risky area," said Betty J. Durden, 52, a Drake University staffer and mother of three. "Change is very threatening. It reaches the deepest human relations—the family. It's really scary. You wonder sometimes if it's worth it. The hostility that this can generate is startling."

Mrs. Durden, for 30 years the wife of a Commerce Department staffer and a woman who, in her peach pants suit, looks like Ethel Kennedy, sips her drink. She is sitting in a dark Des Moines bar with two other women, a scene that has become more common in the last few years.

"I'm basically very traditional," she says. "But my concept of my role has changed. My husband will probably be doing the grocery shopping tomorrow—and he didn't do this before."

Mom-Son Team First In Forsan

By PAT MILLER
Anita Huff moved to Forsan in the summer of 1928 with her parents and attended the first one room school there in the fall. They came from the oil boom in Wink to work at Forsan. Her father, Jim Huff, drove his team of horses as Mrs. Huff drove their car. The family moved into tents provided for them on the Flemings-Hardesty land (FHE).

That fall Miss Ross and her sister, Daisy, opened the first in a long line of schools by teaching the first through sixth grades in the one room school house. Anita, now Mrs. L. T. Shoults, played basketball on the playground outside the school while her father dug pits with his team of horses for the oil wells.

At that time, there were four hotels, two dry goods stores and two drug stores. Cot houses were provided for the roustabouts where Sun Oil Company offices are now located. The town had two tourist courts—Alexander's and Shorty's.

The road to Forsan cut across the Stewart Ranch.

Mr. Stewart later donated the land used for the townsite from his ranch.

Each oil company (Continental, Cosden and Amerada-Hess being some of the oldest), had a baseball team which competed against teams of other companies.

Churches were scarce, but the Baptist and Church of Christ were established in the area. The Baptist Church met in the school house and later acquired French's Restaurant as its own building.

The Shoults' oldest son, Jimmie, is the only person still living in Forsan who was born there. Another person born in this area who is still living in Forsan is Bob Wash. He was born in 1930 on the Humble Oil Company lease.

Jimmie is the third generation Shoults to be in construction at Forsan. His father, L. T., started the Shoults Construction Co. and has since retired.

The Shoults' five children attended and finished in the Forsan school system. Now two grandchildren are in the system.

ENCORE PERFORMANCE DUE BY AIR FORCE TROUPE—Air Force personnel make up the cast for the "Tops In Blue '75" show scheduled in the Big Spring High School auditorium Wednesday, July 30, starting at 8 p.m. Above are performers in the "Tops In Blue '74" show, which proved to be such a solid hit here last year. This year's show is free to the public.

ATTENDED FIRST SCHOOL—Jimmie Shoults, the only person born in Forsan who still lives there, looks at a school annual with his mother, Mrs. L. T. Shoults, the only person who attended the first school who still lives in Forsan.

Food Co-Op Is Started By Two

SAN BRUNO, Calif. (AP)—About 2½ years ago Pat Coates and her daughter, Sandi Piccini, got interested in doing something about the high cost of food. To sidestep the consumer traps they feel are set by the big food conglomerates, they started a modest food cooperative which they operated out of their homes.

It started with 17 families and has reached its goal of 34.

As the food co-op blossomed several artists contacted the women and requested that they promote their art works in addition to handling food. Soon the home was inadequate for the operation. Now they are installed in a nondescript South San Francisco warehouse. Dozens of artists use their services. In addition to the paintings there are sculptures, antique furniture and even an aquarium.

In consumer circles they have become such experts in handling food cooperatives, that they have become consultants for other groups who want to get into that money-saving business.

Former Newsgirl Was Commended As Nurse

By MARJ CARPENTER
Mrs. Eve White Stovall, a registered nurse who was raised in Big Spring, has recently been commended at Goodfellow Air Base in San Angelo for her service at the Cancer Detection Clinic.

APPLAUDED
She was applauded by Col. John H. Antonelli for her service as a patient smelter technician at the clinic which she operates with the assistance of volunteers. "Openness, understanding and respect are the guidelines used by the Cancer Detection staff headed by Mrs. Stovall."

She joined the Cadet Army Nurse Corps in 1945 and was trained at Parkland Hospital in Dallas. Returning to Big Spring in 1948, an RN at the age of 20, she was going into the service but the war ended. She then worked at the Malone and Hogan Hospital one year, quitting to marry Glen Stovall. They married on the "Bride and Groom Show" Aug. 3, 1949 and she presented a Shine Phillips' book about Big Spring to John Nelson in Hollywood since it was Big Spring's centennial year.

MY WHOLE LIFE
She then began nursing and for 23 years has worked for the Air Force. In her own words, "I took off two weeks to have my son, who is now aged 24, and never stopped working as a nurse. It's been my whole life and now I have a job that is so important."

Her husband has worked for Hemphill Wells for 23 years and her son, Charles is a real estate salesman.

"My first job at the Big Spring Herald prepared me for being able to do eight hour or 16 hour duty in one day with all that training from walking and riding on my paper route."

NEWS CARRIER
She told a tale of becoming a newspaper route girl at age 14, during the war when the Herald had six girls on routes. Her father died when she was eight, so when the opportunity arose, she applied for the job.

"I was 14, skinny, weak and no bicycle. My legs looked like toothpicks and T. J. Dunlap said, 'We will let you try Edwards Heights. My first day out, I decided to put my papers in a little red wagon, since I collapsed under the weight of 150 newspapers on my front and back in a bag. I made it up that hill over on Lancaster and looked back to see 25 of the Heralds blowing in the air like kites."

"Instead of going into a panic, I kept on going until my papers ran out. Calls began to come in around 5 p.m. from Newsom's store and Dallas Streets south. Dunlap got on his motorcycle to come see about me."

She told that her first check went for a bicycle. "The worst time I ever had," she recalled, "was at 3 a.m. one Sunday with ice all over. The bike wouldn't go up the hill so I put the paper bags on the bike and pushed. I worked as a new carrier until my senior year when I went to work as a soda jerk for C. A. Walker."

SODA JERK
She remembered that when the troop trains would stop at the depot, they would fix 50 ice cream cones and 25 shakes in a hurry. "I wanted to do more to help out in the war effort. All I ever had done was sell war bonds as a news carrier, so I joined the

Cadet Army Nurse Corp."

Mrs. Stovall claims that her mother always knew she would end up a nurse. When she was seven years old, she gave five little cousins and a pet goat a dose of x-lax. The entire family got upset.

Also when her sister was three years old and had the chicken pox, Eve painted each pox with mercurachorme. Her mother almost fainted when she saw her.

Last August, she trained at Lackland Hospital in San Antonio to learn to operate the cancer detection clinic, of which she is now in charge.

HAS A PURPOSE
Her sister, June, died at the age of 23 with leukemia, so Mrs. Stovall is particularly interested in fighting cancer.

Apparently her enthusiasm in operating the clinic shines through, because she has not only been commended by the colonel but also by many of the people who went to the clinic for care.

The certificates of achievement and commendations she has received are not as important as the things that she is achieving. She is doing something concrete in a fight against cancer by making people less afraid of attending a pap smear clinic.

Eve White Stovall has apparently come a long way in courage and success since she pulled that red wagon full of newspapers up the hill on Lancaster.

Her Big Spring friends add their congratulations to a former resident for an apparent job well done at the Air Base in San Angelo.

FORMER RESIDENT—Mrs. Eve White Stovall, a registered nurse at the Goodfellow Hospital is shown wheeling Robbie Robinson down the hall. Mrs. Stovall was raised in Big Spring and at one time was a newspaper carrier and a soda jerk during World War II days.

The Rev. Dan McClinton, Austin, officiated as the wedding party stood before an arch covered with greenery, topped with white doves and centered with a starburst of yellow and white gladioli. Arrangements of yellow roses and majestic daisies flanked either side with tandelabra and woodwardia trees.

Insects May Ruin Winter Clothing

A few precautions will keep insects from putting the bite on winter clothing when stored for the summer.

Bob Roselle, extension entomologist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, recommends paradichlorobenzene crystals instead of old-fashioned mothballs for woolens.

Dry clean or wash garments first, then pack in tight containers with about half a pound of PDB to 100 cubic feet.

Roselle said insects that eat animal protein may also attack silk, mohair, feathers, leather and fur. He added that furs are best kept in professional cold storage, where low temperatures prevent bugs from feeding or reproducing.

Frequent vacuuming is good insurance against carpet beetles, he said, but in addition, furniture should be moved, and insecticide used under heavy pieces.

Carpet beetles often damage clothing as well as floor coverings. They create most havoc in the larvae stage, when they look like fuzzy brown worms.

WWI Plans Next Meeting

The Veterans of World War One, Barracks 1474, and the Ladies Auxiliary will meet at 10 a.m. Aug. 2 at the Kentwood Older Adult Center.

Following the business meeting, there will be a covered dish luncheon. Lt. N. A. Wilson will present a program on the U.S. Flag.

Mrs. Brooks Has Shower

The honoree was attired in a floor-length dress of yellow dotted Swiss and was presented a corsage of white daisies and yellow roses. Her mother, Mrs. Gene Perry, and her grandmothers, Mrs. Buck Turnbow of Wienert and Mrs. Hoyt Perry of Haskell, were given corsages of white daisies.

Crystal appointments were used on the table laid with white net over a yellow cloth.

Vows Exchanged In Candlelight Ceremony

The wedding of Miss Marjorie Nell Glenn to David Lynn Chandler was solemnized Friday evening at 8 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Stanton, with the Rev. David Blacett, pastor, officiating, and nuptial selections by Mrs. Roy Koonce, organist, and Dr. Mike Fisher, vocalist. Spiral candelabra, entwined with daisies and gypsophila, flanked the altar.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Glenn, 503 W. 3rd, Stanton, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Chandler, Rt. 1, Stanton.

Carrying a cascade bouquet of white daisies and yellow roses, the bride chose to wear an empire gown in Aline design of silk organza. The oval neckline was encircled with seed pearls, which were repeated on the scallops that extended down the front of the gown. Long tapered sleeves of Chantilly lace ended in petal points over the hand. Chantilly lace formed a plastron redingate effect, which swept into a watteau chapel train.

Miss Cynthia Currie of Garden City was the maid of honor and wore a dress of mint green overlaid with sheer daisy flock. The fitted bodice featured a square neckline and cape sleeves. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Johnny Louder, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Bill Wilson, Mrs. John Wyckoff and Mrs. Terry Franklin, all sisters of the bride. They were attired in dresses of pastel yellow overlaid with sheer daisy flock designed identical to the maid of honor's. They carried nosegays of white daisies and gypsophila.

Johnny Louder served as his brother's-in-law best man, and groomsmen were David Pribyla, Tarzan; Steve Wood, Hereford; Dennis Ireton and H. A. Schuelke. Ushers were David Standefer and Lee Koonce, Midland.

Melissa Franklin was the flower girl and Reggie Franklin was the ring bearer.

The bride is a graduate of Garden City High School and attended Texas Tech University and Commercial College of Midland. Chandler is a graduate of Stanton High School and attended Howard County College and Texas Tech. He is presently engaged in farming. The couple will reside in Lomax.

Immediately following the ceremony, the couple was honored with a reception. Refreshments were served from a table which was laid with a white cloth overlaid in mint green lace. Silver appointments were used as the table was centered with an arrangement of white and yellow daisies. Serving from the table were Miss Patti Petree, Miss Molly Hughes, Mrs. Ryan Walker of Big Spring, and Miss Roxanne Hirt of San Angelo.

Wedding Rites Held Saturday

In a ceremony held Saturday afternoon in the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church, Miss Gloria Ann Cardenas became the bride of Sammy T. Rodriguez.

The Rev. Louis Moeller officiated as the wedding party stood before an arch of greenery and arrangements of white flowers. Musicians were Mrs. Leslie Green, organist, and Miss Sandra Garcia, vocalist.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cardenas, Adrian, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. Alfonso Rodriguez, Lubbock. The bride is a graduate of Adrian High School and was formerly employed by T.G.&Y. Rodriguez is a graduate of Monterey High School, Lubbock, and is employed by Pinkerton Security Incorporation as a security guard.

The bride chose to wear gown of peau de soie. The fitted bodice featured long sheer sleeves and sabre neckline trimmed with seed pearls. The skirt flowed from a fitted waistline in tiers enhanced with seed pearls and sequins into a cathedral-length train of layered flounces. Her finger-tip veil of illusion was embellished with Chantilly lace and fell from a lace-trimmed Camelot cap. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and greenery.

Attending the bride were Miss Susie Rodriguez, maid of honor, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Emma Anaya, matron of honor. They were similarly attired in green and yellow dresses of organza designed with a tiered Aline skirt. Frank Gallegos and Eusebio Anaya were the best men. Annet Hernandez and Marlina Marin served as the flower girls and Stevie Hernandez was the ring bearer.

Immediately following the ceremony, the couple was honored with a reception at the church, where refreshments were served by Mrs. Rosalia Billalba. The table was laid with a white linen cloth with a lace overlay, and arrangements of white flowers.

Relatives attending from out-of-town included Mr. and Mrs. Fred Terrazas, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Holguin, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Florez, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sherman, all of Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. Andres Gutierrez, Fort Stockton; Mr. and Mrs. Nick Terrazas, Dallas; Mrs. Tella Terrazas, grandmother of the bride, and Edward Martinez, both of Michigan; Mr. and Mrs. Remigo Torres, El Paso, grandparents of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Torres, Austin; Mr. and Mrs. Rafael Trevino, and Mr. and Mrs. Agustin Montanez, all of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Ambrosio Rodriguez, Sterling; Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Lucero, Demming, N.M.; and Mr. and Mrs. Nick Martinez, and Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Zapata, all of San Angelo.

Crohn's Disease Cure In Reach Says Scientist

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Experiments show that a vaccine, antitoxin or medicine to cure Crohn's disease and ulcers of the colon may be in reach, a British scientist says.

Dr. David R. Cave said Monday that the two diseases may be transmitted from person to person by a microscopic factor.

"It is too early to tell if it is a virus or a toxin or something else," he reported to scientists attending Digestive Disease Week here, a gathering of 4,000 specialists in diseases of the stomach and intestines.

Crohn's disease is an inflammation of the last segment of the small intestine. Ulcers of colitis is a severe inflammation of the colon.

The cure for both of these diseases has been cutting out the affected part.

Dr. Cave of St. Georges Hospital in London took tissues removed from human patients and injected small amounts into the intestines of rabbits. The diseases developed in the rabbits after three to 24 months in more than half the animals tested, Dr. Cave said.

Further study is needed before a preventive inoculation can be manufactured, however, he said.

Bicentennial Collection Tips

Consumers with the Bicentennial spirit who collect coins, political memorabilia and other symbols from the past need to remember to look for the word "copy" on the item and in the advertising. Items not original must be marked "copy," and consumers who may feel they have bought an item that was not what they expected may report their problem to Hobby, Division of Special Statutes, Federal Trade Commission, Washington, D.C., 20580.

Fluorescent Light Saves Energy

Well-planned fluorescent lighting in the home is a boon to money and energy conscious consumers, Mrs. Jane Berry, housing and home furnishings specialist, said this week.

"For years fluorescent lighting has been standard in commerce and industry because of its efficiency. "Now recent tests in a model home which used more efficient fluorescent lamps instead of incandescent lighting showed a 45 per cent savings in electricity costs," the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said.

Tests in this model home, designed by the National Association of Home Builders with the help of a lighting specialist, measured electricity costs in each room where fluorescent was used. These were compared with a similar incandescent lighting system, she explained.

"Savings realized from the use of fluorescent lighting ranged from 29-66 per cent per room—for an average of 45 per cent."

Previous consumer complaints about fluorescent lighting are esthetically related and can usually be attributed to a poorly designed installation or improper choice of light color, Mrs. Berry said.

A LOVELIER YOU Fun Plus Fitness On Vacation Time

By MARY SUE MILLER

Vacations are a sensitive time for weight watchers. At resort restaurants and hotels the fare is extra tempting: those sweet buns at breakfast, those divine desserts at dinner. Why you can gain 10 pounds in a week without half trying.

Luckily, with a bit of effort you can keep from gaining a lot. First off, you can be abstemious at one meal — cut the sweet at breakfast in favor of toast, or the gooey at dinner in favor of a fruit cup.

Get all the exercise you can. Physical activity disposes of calories. It also helps to keep the figure in firm, balanced proportion. Every day, upon arising, perform this routine that holds the line at waist, abdomen, hips and thigh. Come on, you've got the time:

Starting position: Lie on back with right leg raised perpendicular to floor and arms stretched straight out behind head. Keeping knee rigid, raise left leg one inch off floor — just enough to clear — and try to hold raise throughout.

Action: By pushing with arms, swing torso up so that you can clasp right ankle with both hands. It is possible you cannot make it. In that case, clasp thigh and work hand over hand to reach ankle. Then release ankle and slowly roll back to starting position. Work with left leg. Alternating, repeat 10 times.

Dear Abby

Con's Wife Waiting But Considered Fair Game

DEAR ABBY: I am married, although my husband is in prison. I do not go out with other men, and I don't entertain any, either. I live a clean, simple, uncomplicated life and am only trying to hang in there until my man comes home.

My problem is that most men think that I am "fair game" because I have no husband home. There are several in my neighborhood who insist that I am "lonely," hungry for a man and desperately in need of the company of one. I am tired of trying to straighten these guys out.

Maybe if you print this, they will get the message. Just because a woman is alone doesn't mean that she is available.

WAITING FOR MY MAN DEAR WAITING: Hooray for you! And I hope your man on the inside reads this. It will make his day. God bless.

DEAR ABBY: In fairness to the many older people like myself who cannot eat a large meal at one sitting and who eat many times a day (which the doctors assure us is healthier, anyway), I would like to present the side of the majority on "doggie baggers."

We enjoy restaurant eating every now and then, but my husband resents paying today's prices only to see half of my meal returned to the kitchen uneaten and then hearing me say, "I'm hungry" two hours later. Since asking for a doggie bag is frowned upon in some restaurants, a simple solution for me is to carry my own plastic bags.

Yes, I do this in some friends' homes, too. If you ask for very small portion, the hostess thinks you ate before you came. And if you leave half of it on your plate, she thinks you didn't like it. But if you're truthful, the hostess is delighted to let you take your portion home to enjoy for several meals.

WOOF WOOF IN PA. DEAR WOOF WOOF: I'm with you all the way. Many restaurants offer "a child's" portion at a reduced price, of which many senior citizens also take advantage.

DEAR ABBY: My dad and I are at a disagreement. He says I should not eat with my left hand. He says it is like eating peas with a knife.

I like eating with my left hand, and I think I am old enough to know which hand I feel more comfortable eating with. (I am 16.)

Dad says the etiquette books say that you are supposed to eat with your right hand.

Who is right? Please hurry your answer. I hate eating with my right hand.

BUGGED DEAR BUGGED: I hope your dad is big enough to admit that he is wrong because he is.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69706, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20c) envelope.

Wants To Hike Texans' Home Insurance Rates

AUSTIN (AP) — The insurance industry has asked the State Board of Insurance to raise rates for the typical three-year homeowners policy a whopping 22 per cent.

A request filed with the board by the Texas Insurance Advisory Association also seeks increases in fire and extended coverage rates.

The board set an Aug. 4 hearing on the industry's request, which comes on the heels of a 19.3 per cent statewide average homeowners rate increase that took effect Jan. 20.

Board rate experts have not prepared recommendations of their own but will evaluate those of the industry for the board's use in making a decision.

"Inflation and other factors are soaring beyond anything that could have been predicted," said Clint Dare, Austin spokesman for the Insurance Information Institute in explaining the request.

The industry wants the increases to take effect Sept. 30, but Jack Jones, the board's chief property actuary, said this would be impossible even if the board approves a rate hike.

Broken down by categories of coverage, the industry seeks a 4.2 per cent average statewide increase in fire rates on all classes of buildings and 12.1 per cent on homes; 20.7 per cent on extended coverage against losses from such things as explosions, hail and windstorms; and 22 per cent on homeowners policies.

Extended coverage and homeowners rates are set according to the loss experience in three rating territories. The recommended percentage increases for these are:

Homeowners: Seacoast, including Houston, 20.6; Central Inland, including Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio, Austin and El Paso, 21.8; North Northwest, including Lubbock and Amarillo, 26.1 per cent.
Extended coverage: Seacoast, 19.7 per cent; Central Inland, 15.7 per cent.

Why No Cards Played On Ark?

By SUSAN CONLEY
Children's Librarian

Riddles, jokes and puns. What is more fun than telling them or guessing them?

If you are one of those boys or girls who enjoys quizzing your friends, come to the Howard County Library. There are many riddle and joke books that will help you.

Animal riddles are contained in Bennett Cerf's "Book of Animal Riddles." One riddle goes like this: "What is better than a dog that can count?" The answer is "a spelling bee." Bennett Cerf has also written "Book of Riddles" and "More Riddles."

"The Star-spangled Banana" by Charles Keller is a book of Revolutionary jokes. Do you know what the first bus in America was? Columbus.

Here are some riddles for you to guess. The answers are printed below.

What animal can jump higher than a house?
Why couldn't anyone play cards on the Ark?
Why doesn't the corn like the farmer?

Any animal can because a house can't jump.
Noah sat on the deck.
Because the farmer pulls its ears.

Star Drew $65 Week

Gene Hackman has enjoyed a varied career both on stage and in motion pictures, but not until "Bite the Bullet" came along did he experience his first outdoor action film with all the trimmings of a Western.

"I suppose you could categorize 'Zandy's Bride' as a Western," said Gene, "but actually it was a love story and does not have the elements that go into a Western per se."

Richard Brooks, writer-director of "Bite the Bullet," a Columbia Picture release, also featured Hackman in the same capacity on "The Professionals." Brooks classifies both films as outdoor adventure with horses, guns, action, humor and drama, but not in the scope of the "Western."

One wonders watching Hackman ride a horse where he learned to handle the reins if this is his first picture in this genre.

"I learned to ride in Illinois, where I grew up, when I was three years old, so getting on a horse is not a new experience for me."

Hackman's acting experience came mostly from the stage. He worked off-Broadway for $65 weekly, and the family income was augmented by his wife, who also took to working while they lived in New York.

"I felt if I could get my salary up to $95 a week, we could live well and my wife wouldn't have to work. I went into another play and this time my salary was $115. That, almost was luxury to me."

"While still off-Broadway I was brought to the Coast to do a movie. Then other movies came along, but after each film I went back to New York. I considered that my home. It wasn't until 'Bonnie and Clyde' was released and created such excitement and put a spotlight on me, that my nomination for supporting role, that began to waver. I attended Academy Awards and then went right back to New York, however."

"Offers came fast and furious and I took them. It was like stealing money and I couldn't turn down any offer. I was in some good and some bad pictures, but it made no difference."

"After 'The French Connection' and the Academy Award, things changed for me. I was in position to think about the roles offered me and I weighed them carefully."

"I have been fortunate that a varied group of scripts have come my way. I did mostly comedy on the stage, but for the screen I like to make a selection that gives me a chance to do many things."

"There was a story that I would do a sequel to 'Posedon Adventure.' Not a chance."

CIA 'Charges It'

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans usually can get a quick rundown on the major speeches, news reports and commentaries broadcast on foreign stations simply by reading published accounts or watching TV newscasts. But few realize they also now can get complete or excerpted texts of the same broadcasts by subscribing to a worldwide monitoring service administered by...would you believe...the Central Intelligence Agency.

You can even charge it on your American Express card, the CIA says.

Cosmo Photog Clicks On Sex

By JURATE KAZICKAS
Associated Press

NEW YORK (AP) — Francesco Scavullo, the guy who does those sensuous Cosmopolitan covers, says he needs sexual electricity flowing between him and his subject to make a beautiful photo.

"You have to break down all the insecurities a woman may feel. You have to make her feel good," said Scavullo behind his Hasselblad camera and murmuring "beautiful, sexy," to a seductively posturing model.

Scavullo's studio is papered with his magazine cover photos as well as huge black and whites of stars he's shot: Liza Minelli, Janis Joplin, Gloria Cooper, Barbra Streisand, Kirk Douglas and Mick Jagger. He's also the photographer who brought us Burt Reynolds in the raw, triggering the rage for nude male centerfolds.

His talent with shutter and lens has elicited a stream of compliments from grateful subjects.

Scavullo, a calm, slight, and gentle man is hardly Hollywood's image of the lady killer.

"I have a passion for my work. I love people and get turned on by looking at them through my camera. I like women to look their best. And I try to take pictures of what I think they should look like," said Scavullo.

For the photo session he provides the make-up (the current man with the powder puff is Way Bandy), the hairdo (done by various leading hair stylists) and the latest clothes (fashion editor Sean Byrnes handles these). It's sort of like retouching the person instead of the photo — though he does a lot of that, too.

Scavullo admits it's easier to change a "Mrs. Smith's" looks than those of a movie star who thinks she knows exactly what her image should be.

"They have to trust me," he says. "But most stars are very nervous. I had to spend a whole afternoon just talking to Bar-

Kids Producing Short TV Shows

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Sixth-grader Adriane Steele of Rochester smoothly narrated a television program on teaching careers, using words like "co-curricular activities," without missing a beat.

Adriane's performance was doubly impressive because she and fellow classmates were ranked last spring in the lower 25 percent of their grade in reading skills — at least two years behind other children their age.

She was demonstrating the results of an experimental reading program, in which grade school students produce their own abbreviated television programs.

Ewald Nyquist, state education commissioner, said the program has been a success and should be expanded to school districts throughout the state and the nation.
