REPORTS OF 'MASSACRES OF BLACKS BY BLACKS'

Yanks, Europeans Flee Angola

LUANDA, Angola (AP) — Americans and Europeans continued to flee from embattled Angola today as rival nationalist armies vied for control of the southwest African territory.

The British consul general in Luanda, Stanley Croft, said in London that there were reports of "massacres of blacks by blacks" and although there had been no moves against whites the situation in Luanda was becoming increasingly dangerous.

reports that up to 14,000 troops of the Peking-backed National Front for the Liberation of Angola (FNLA) were marching on Luanda from the north to try to take control from the rival MPLA.

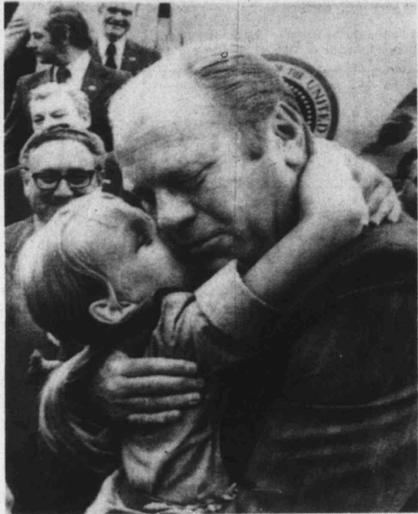

Croft said some Britons, mainly directors of large business concerns, chose not to evacuate because they had no time to make arrangements for their businesses to continue.

Luanda's surrounding shanty-towns and the sky was darkened by smoke from blazing oil tanks on Luanda Bay.

Texaco said a second boat would be available for more Americans wanting to leave.

Portuguese apparently had been angered by the wounding of a Portuguese lieutenant Saturday night and by the resistance they encountered in trying to arrest the alleged assailants.

Portuguese troops are under orders to remain strictly neutral in the power struggle between the rival Angolan forces.

Greet Ford At Warsaw

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — President Ford flew to Poland today for a two-day official visit, the first in a series of meetings with East European Communist leaders.

The President was greeted at Warsaw's military airport by Polish Communist party leader Edward Gierek, President Henryk Jablonski and Premier Piotr Jaroszewicz.

After a welcoming ceremony, Ford and Gierek left the airport in an open limousine and drove through streets lined with cheering Poles to Ford's guest residence in the Royal Wilanow Palace just outside the capital.

Ford arrived in Warsaw after talks with West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt in Bonn that focused chiefly on Western economic ills, and a symbolic visit to American and German troops at a remote outpost known to those stationed there as "the Rock."

Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger held a final session with Schmidt and German Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher over breakfast Sunday night by a three-hour state dinner aboard a Rhine cruise ship that passed the peak where, according to legend, Siegfried slew the dragon — a local tale like that of David and Goliath.

Hardly noted, with overcast skies almost obscuring a nearly full moon, were the plings of the destroyed bridge at Remagen, a strategic objective that American forces seized from Hitler's legions near the end of World War II.

Ironically, one stop scheduled for the President and Mrs. Ford in Warsaw was the reconstructed Old Town section destroyed principally by the Nazis in that same war.

THERE'S NO HALTING HER SUPPORT — A Portuguese woman waves a flag and raises a clenched fist at a rally of the Socialist party Sunday at Figueira da Foz, Portugal. Following a weekend clash between Socialists and militant Communists, Premier Vasco Concalves was believed ready to announce a new cabinet today.

Israel's Final Offer

By the Associated Press
Israel's latest proposals to Egypt for an interim agreement in the Sinai desert are Jerusalem's final offer, Defense Minister Shimon Peres said today.

In an interview with the Tel Aviv newspaper Haaretz, Peres said Israel had gone "a long, long way" and he could not envision any more Israeli concessions to Egypt.

If Cairo's latest proposals are final, Peres said, then "Israel has nothing more to offer."

Israeli sources said Sunday that Egypt had rebuilt its war capability following the 1973 fighting and Israel now feels the chances of another war are much higher than a year ago.

Today, Peres said that Egyptian President Anwar Sadat "perhaps believes he can further harm American-Israeli relations by trying to force Washington to squeeze a bit more out of Israel."

The strategic Mitla and Gidi passes in the Sinai desert would not be surrendered so that Egypt could turn them to its advantage against Israel, the defense minister added.

Peres said the Israeli offer included alternative deployments at the passes but did not concede their strategic value.

He said the latest Egyptian proposal showed Sadat wanted "a great deal from Israel in exchange for nothing."

Rabin told Israeli state television Friday that Israel had turned down Cairo's offers "in their main part," and predicted the negotiations would be prolonged.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger met Sunday with Herman Eilts, the U.S. ambassador to Egypt, and sent him back to Cairo with Israel's latest reply to the Egyptians.

Kissinger directed Eilts to meet him in Yugoslavia next Sunday with the Egyptian response.

The World At-A-Glance

HONOLULU (AP) — The three Apollo astronauts, their lungs still congested from inhaling rocket fuel fumes, face a 10-day period of seclusion here because they are vulnerable to infections. Doctors said Sunday they plan to release Thomas Stafford, Donald Slayton and Vance Brand from Tripler Army Hospital on Tuesday, then place them in "semi-isolation." Their wives were to fly here from the Houston area after it was decided exactly where the astronauts would be kept. The isolation period — which had not been mentioned by the doctors until Sunday — is intended to keep the astronauts away from other people, who might expose them to germs that would not harm a healthy person.

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the FBI's best-kept secrets is its telephone directory. Hardly anyone outside the FBI has one and not even the attorney general has one, although his aides say he doesn't really need it. Reporters and other private citizens cannot get one, not even by petitioning for it under the Freedom of Information Act which is supposed to open all sorts of government files to public view. An Associated Press reporter tried that route but only gained one page of the directory after Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi overruled the FBI. That page lists the numbers for FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley's office and for the offices of 10 of the 13 FBI divisions. The phone numbers long have been listed in the Justice Department directory which is routinely provided to reporters.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal planning agency will recommend today that the Penn Central and six other northeastern railroads be consolidated into a 15,000-mile rail system in the biggest corporate reorganization in American history. Congress will have 60 working days to accept or reject the plan, which was developed after months of public hearings, preliminary reports and recommendations by other governmental agencies. The plan will go into effect automatically if no congressional action is taken. The U.S. Railway Association's final plan for the seven ailing railroads calls for 5,700 miles of track to be abandoned or subsidized by federal-state funds, sources said.

Area Lakes Show Major Gains In Recent Days

Official measurements of rain which fell Friday and Saturday brought the year's total to 18.01, gradually nearing the 18.49 mark, which is the 75-year average total for the entire year.

The Experiment Station measured .52 inch for the 24 hour period ending at 8 a.m. Saturday and .31 inch for the period ending at 8 a.m. Sunday.

Total rainfall for the month was brought up to 5.60 by the weekend rains.

Area lakes have been swollen by rains over the weekend, Lake J.B. Thomas gained 2 foot, or 1,000 acre-feet of water during the weekend rains, to make a total of 3.95 feet or 10,500 acre-feet gained by the lake in the past week. Elevation of the lake was brought to 2,225.01 feet.

At Lake Spence, 1.15 feet, or 8,000 acre-feet of water were entrapped by the lake in the past week, bringing the lakes' elevation to 1,866.90 feet.

BRYAN, Tex. (AP) — District Court Judge W.C. Davis today awarded a $25.2 million judgment to the Lower Colorado River Authority (LCRA) in a suit brought against Coastal States Gas Producing Co.

Parr Back Behind Bars

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Ousted Duval County Judge Archer Parr went back to his cell at the Bexar County jail today after a bond hearing was delayed until Aug. 7.

Parr, controversial heir to the South Texas political machine of his late uncle, George B. Parr, was jailed Friday when the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld his conviction on perjury charges.

He had been free under a cash bond.

When the case was called today, Parr's lawyer, James B. Gillespie, U.S. Atty. John Clark, and Manges' lawyer, Jan Fox, conferred in Suttle's office for about 10 minutes, then mutually agreed to delay the hearing.

Gillespie said he had not been served with all papers in the matter.

Hero's Family, Dad To Attend Ceremony

Elwin Bennett of Lafayette, La., father of the late Capt. Steve Bennett, will attend dedication rites for the airmen's new dining facility during at Bicentennial Open House at Webb AFB at 4:30 p.m., Sunday.

The dining hall will be named for Capt. Bennett, who lost his life in action in the sea off Vietnam. Capt. Bennett is a former Webb AFB student pilot.

The widow, Linda, and daughter, Angela, 5, of the medal Honor winner will also attend the ritual. Cong. Omar Burleson will dedicate the building to Capt. Bennett's memory.

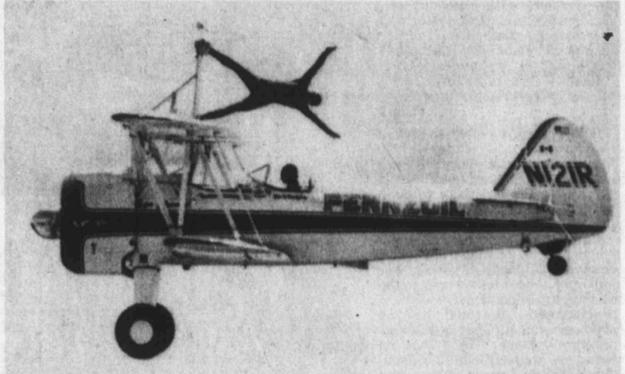

Activities at Webb will begin on the flight line just after noon when gates will be open to the public.

On display will be many modern aircraft in the Department of Defense inventory, including those flown by the Army, Navy and Marine Corps, as well as by the Air Force.

At 1:30 p.m., the U.S. Force Band of the West will begin a concert on the flight line.

One of the highlights of the day's program will be an aerial demonstration by the famed Thunderbirds, starting at 3 p.m. Following the show, the Thunderbirds will be available for autographs and personal greetings.

Visiting aircraft will start departing the field for their home bases around 5 p.m.

WITH THE GREATEST OF EASE? — Wing-walker Francis McCollom hung by his toes Sunday during a performance at a Milwaukee air show. Joe Hughes piloted the Super Stearman biplane as about 5,000 spectators watched.

Commissioners Decide On 8 1/2 % Tax Reduction

County Commissioners Court voted today to reduce county taxes about 8 1/2 per cent and formally request a federal grant for the Moss Creek Road Bridge over Beal's Creek.

Former County Judge Lee Porter spoke for the tax rate cut, arguing that the county had enough funds from other sources for the local share of the bridge costs.

County Judge Bill Tune said they were sure they would receive up to $210,000 or 70 per cent of the $300,000 estimated construction cost. In addition to building to bridge, the road will be straightened.

The county must pay for additional land. Any sum over the $300,000 estimated also will be paid by the county alone.

But the county must put the entire $300,000 or contract price in escrow when the contract is let, Judge Tune said. The federal grant will be reimbursed to the county later.

Commissioner Simon (Cy) Terrazas said that, although

No Charge Yet Filed In Case

Big Spring Police are still investigating the Saturday shooting death of Mrs. Ruby Lee Ortega, 46. Murder charges will likely be filed "sometime this week."

Mrs. Ortega was found dead on a bed at 207 S. Jones with a bullet wound in her head.

She was apparently shot during an altercation with a Big Spring man, who suffered stab wounds in his side.

King Assassination Data To Be Released

ATLANTA (AP) — Public Safety Commissioner Reginald Eaves was expected today to release the results of an investigation into what he has called new material concerning the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The FBI in Atlanta has dismissed the report as "no new information," saying the FBI received similar files in 1971.

"If it had been investigated earlier we would not have been involved," Eaves said recently in reference to the statement by the FBI that it had received the information. "It would have been old hat to us."

Eaves revealed five weeks ago that he had received sworn statements and documents alleging a conspiracy in the slaying of King, who was shot in Memphis, Tenn., April 4, 1968.

he favored the bridge, he would vote against the resolution for federal grant unless the court committed itself to reducing 9 cents from the $1.04 tax rate.

This means taxpayers will be paying about 8 1/2 per cent less taxes on statements which will be mailed Oct. 1.

The 9 cents was a special levy authorized for retiring Farm Road 700 bonds.

The court was able to purchase the land for Farm Road 700 and leave a $104,000 surplus in the bond fund.

"We said we would buy the bonds back if we didn't use it," Porter explained. However, the county was and is paying lower interest on the bonds than on funds invested in certificates of deposits. So the money was kept in the sinking fund for later bond retirement.

While the bonds were voted for Farm Road 700, the bond issue was worded according to state law and did not prohibit use of the funds for other purposes also.

"The only thing you have is the honesty and integrity of the court at the time," Porter said.

Commissioner Ikie Rupard and Judge Tune were not sure the county could find enough money for the bridge without continuing the 9 cent levy. But the resolution to cut taxes and apply for the grant passed without a dissenting vote.

Bill Extending Voting Rights Act Sent To Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — Extension of the 1965 Voting Rights Act for seven more years and expansion of it to cover Mexican-Americans and other minorities in some areas was approved by the House today and sent to President Ford.

A bill extending the act until 1982 keeps seven Southern states under federal electoral supervision until Aug. 6, 1982.

It also extends coverage for the first time to areas in which five per cent or more of the population consists of Mexican-Americans, Alaskan natives, American Indians or people of Asian ancestry where there is a history of low voter registration and discrimination.

The House originally had voted to extend the act for 10 years, but accepted a Senate bill extending it for seven and sent it to President Ford. Rep. Robert P. McClory of Illinois, ranking Republican of the House Judiciary Committee which originated the bill, told the House he still objects to including "Eskimos and Indians," which he said would require costly language training for voting officials, but he said he would approve the bill.

The extension was approved by the Senate last week after the defeat of a series of amendments by senators, who said the South has made great progress in registering black voters and so should be exempted.

Backers of the bill agreed there has been progress in the seven Southern states but said black voter registration still lagged behind the national average.

The bill also imposes a nationwide ban on literacy tests and other measures that discourage blacks and other minority language groups from registering and voting.

Jap Student Skyjacks Jet With 286 Aboard

TOKYO (AP) — A 17-year-old student at a private high school today decided in midflight to go to Hawaii and hijacked a Japanese airliner but was arrested when he let the plane land to unload other passengers, police said.

Police said that about 35 minutes into the flight from Tokyo for Sapporo the youth knocked on the cockpit door and was admitted.

Keeping his hands in his pockets as if he had a weapon, he demanded that the Lockheed Tri-Star bound for northern Japan return to Tokyo, unload the passengers and then go to Honolulu.

Police said there were 286 persons aboard the All Nippon Airways jet, including 11 crew members.

After the passengers disembarked, two policemen wearing airport ground personnel uniforms entered the plane and seized the youth, who turned out to be unarmed, officials said.

Competition Might Be Good

Faced with the prospect of congressional action to alter its regulatory functions, the Civil Aeronautics Board has bestirred itself. It proposed an experiment that would permit existing or new airlines to enter competition on selected routes without CAB permission and grant greater freedom to raise or lower rates.

The airline industry has been ailing for more than 18 months. They had become bloated by years of plenty, as traffic increased more flights were scheduled and more personnel added. With CAB approval, almost routine in many cases, fares were raised in the face of pleas by foreign countries to reduce fares, especially in the lucrative trans-Atlantic trade.

With the recession, though, air travel was reduced. Air lines cut flights and personnel, but fares were not reduced across the board. Almost the last straw came in the Yom Kippur war of 1973, followed by the Arab oil embargo and afterward the sudden quadrupling of the price of oil.

Relief provided by personnel cuts and fewer flights was counteracted by the increased cost of fuel. Some of the largest airlines were threatened with bankruptcy. What should the CAB have done to alleviate the crisis? Should it have encouraged lower fares to bring back lost traffic? Should it have forced airlines to cut schedules drastically? Should it encourage fare competition?

These are some of the questions that have been argued in public and in the Congress.

It is in this context that the CAB has shaken off its lethargy and moved toward less regulation. The CAB has suggested that competition in flights and in fares might be tried on two or more long-haul routes, four or five short-haul routes, and possibly some routes to little used airports on the peripheries of major cities.

The experiment should be useful. It may not solve the industry's problems, but it could provide some answers to nagging questions about the role the CAB has assumed. If free competition is no longer possible in the airline industry, let us discover it and acknowledge it.

A Proper Protest

The U.S. State Department acted properly in protesting India's expulsion of Lewis M. Simons, a reporter for the Washington Post.

Simons incurred the wrath of the Indian government by reporting that some army officers think Mrs. Indira Gandhi, India's prime minister, should resign in the wake of her conviction for election irregularities. Simons' ouster was part of an attempt to silence not only the Indian press, but also reporters from abroad.

The Gandhi government discredited itself by arrests of political foes. The censorship it seeks to impose serves to increase worldwide interest in its police state methods.

My Answer

Billy Graham

My wife and I have been impressed with the Bible statement of Acts 2:44, "All that believed... had all things common." Could the disciples have had a communistic or socialistic form of society? How do you interpret it?

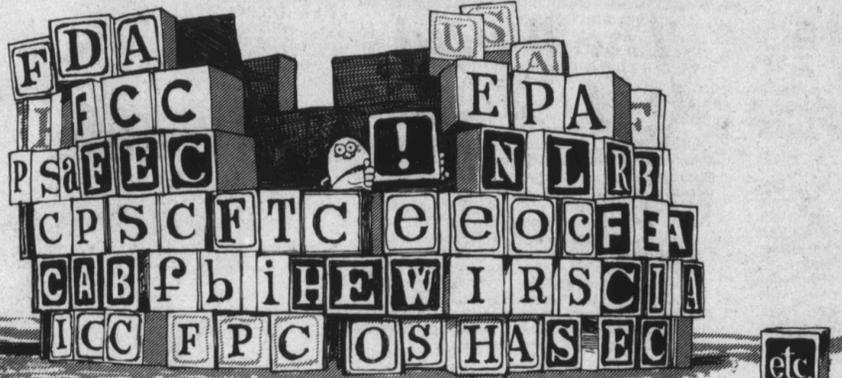

R. E. I.

The reference you mention gives a glimpse of ideal Christian love and unity. We all know that the instinct for material gain is often the last thing to go in the expulsive power of Christ's love. What the early church did here then was prophetic of the Gospel's final dominion of all of man's life. This community of goods, however, was temporary. And it lasted only in the one church at Jerusalem.

Furthermore, it could not be called communistic, because it was entirely voluntary. There was no seizing of property and no compulsion. In the famous case of the deception by Ananias and Sapphira, Peter said to them, "The property was yours to sell or not, as you wished." (Acts 5:4)

While we can't copy the mechanics of the commitment of the early church, we can the philosophy behind it. It was a tribute to unselfishness, mutual concern, and compassion for the needy — all coupled with singleness of heart and a purity of life.

Down The Drain

Art Buchwald

LONDON — No self-respecting American newspaperman can visit London without doing a "Is Britain going down the drain?" column. The English pound is being attacked, the miners are in revolt, the Labor government has lost control and the papers (when they are printed) scream "crisis," "shock," "strike," "protest."

The real problem for me is that I have been visiting Britain for 26 years, and every time I come here it's "going down the drain."

The headlines are always the same, and if you believe them the entire country will be under water in two months.

An English friend of longstanding with whom I was sharing some strawberries at Wimbledon told me, "You know, we are going down the drain."

"You told me that about 20 years ago," I reminded him.

"Oh, yes, but this time it's serious. We've lost the will to work, inflation is at an all-time high and there is going to be a very bad mango crop this year."

"But the restaurants are crowded, the hotels are full of tourists, the streets are packed with cars. How do you explain that?"

"All of you have come over here to watch us go down the drain."

"That's not true," I said defensively. "If there is one thing we don't want, it's for England to go down the drain. Where would our public television get its BBC documentaries if you went down the tube?"

"The drain — not the tube," he cautioned me. "You must take my word for it. It's hopeless. Even Prime Minister Harold Wilson can't save us."

"I can't believe that. Wilson seems to have the situation in hand. And don't forget you now have oil in the North Sea."

"But we can't get it out in time. Our major fear is that as we sink down we'll meet the oil coming up and we'll drown in our own petrol."

"Yet if what you say is true, why are there so many Arab sheiks in London now?"

"They're here to take out their money just before we go down the drain. Every time things get bad they come here to sell their pounds, and that weakens our money which makes it easier for us to go down the you-know-where. Besides, they can do other things in London that they can't do at home."

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor: According to a congressional newsletter I received this week, the results are back on the recent proposal by the Consumer Product Safety Commission to ban the manufacture and sale of hand-gun ammunition on grounds it was a "hazardous substance." Both proponents and opponents agreed that the ultimate aim of this action was to be "backdoor" gun control, and the public was invited to submit written comments.

Amazingly enough, out of over 100,000 letters on the issue, all but 200 categorically opposed the ammunition ban. In view of this, I think it is fair to say that in spite of the general anti-gun feeling much of the news media has tried to create in the past year, a significant percentage of Americans still view their Constitutionally-guaranteed right to keep and bear arms as important to their personal safety and freedom. And perhaps our Congressmen need to be reminded about that fact, especially since an election year is coming up.

John Cuniff

Super-Summit

By JAMES R. PEIPERT
(Substituting for John Cuniff)

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — The European security declaration to be signed in Helsinki this week by the leaders of 35 nations, including President Ford, can mean all things to all people, very little to anybody at all.

The 30,000-word charter, a sort of code of conduct for nations but with no legal backing, is a classic study in diplomatic ambiguity.

It is the result of 30 months of negotiations among nations and blocs with widely divergent ideologies and interests. Like so many consensus efforts the 100-page document is so strewn with qualifiers that it can be interpreted to back, or at least not exclude, almost any national act.

Some points in it are so vague and noncommittal, and leave so much to good will, that some cynical wags among the British delegation circulated anonymously their own parody of it during the closing days of the preparatory talks in Geneva. "Insofar as any significance is attached to this document-documents," the parody began. It said that the participating states "generally understood that they are not committed to anything."

Rudolf Bindschedler, an eminent jurist and chief delegate for neutral Switzerland, commented last week as diplomats put the finishing touches on the document: "It is a political declaration, nothing more and nothing less. Only in two or three years will we be able to see whether it really has had historic importance."

Already, widely different meanings are being attached to the document and its scheduled signing Friday.

The Soviets, who have pushed for a European Security Conference off and on since 1954 and were the prime movers behind the July 30 Ag. 1 super-summit have been billing it with almost evangelical fervor as salvation for a continent ravaged by two world wars this century and countless national conflicts during the past millennium.

For Leonid I. Brezhnev, general secretary of the Soviet Communist party and head of the USSR delegation, the conference will be a crowning personal achievement. It was Brezhnev, more than any other Soviet leader, who paved the way for the conference by proclaiming a program of East-West detente at the Soviet Union's 24th Communist party conference in the spring of 1971.

The key part of the third principle, the main prize for Soviet negotiators, says the participating states "regard as inviolable one another's frontiers as well as the frontiers of all states in Europe, and therefore they will refrain now and in the future from assailing these frontiers."

Causes Of Hives

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is the cause of hives? I have tried about everything my friends suggest to get rid of mine. I've had them for over a month now, and the itching is just driving me crazy. Can you please help me? — E.S.

The technical name for it is urticaria, and it is essentially a sensitivity to something either taken by mouth or breathed in, or contacted physically by the skin. The cause of the symptoms, the itching and the "wheals," is thought to be a release of histamine in the body in response to the allergen, whatever it might be. And it could be anything from penicillin and other drugs to shellfish or other foods such as wheat or eggs. Aspirin is a common offender.

So it is important to determine the cause.

In massive cases, the joints can become involved to a degree where the patient may have to be hospitalized. Fortunately, most cases do not reach this stage of seriousness. But I have known cases so violent that symptoms such as sudden and transient puffing of the eyes, ears, fingers, or other body parts occur with regularity before the condition is brought under control.

I'm afraid your friends are not going to be of much help to you. You don't mention seeing a doctor. I suggest you do, an allergist, if possible. Antihistamines have been helpful in relieving the condition. In severe cases, corticosteroids may be needed.

Otherwise, lotions (calamine, for example) can help ease symptoms. An old remedy, which I suppose is not being used much today because of the new drugs available, is common oatmeal. The hives victim simply placed some oatmeal in a cheesecloth bag and dipped it into warm water, then dabbed the affected area of the body with it, allowing it to dry on. Oatmeal may be added to the bath water, also.

I have neglected to mention another possibility with hives that can cause or worsen attacks — the emotions. Some cases have been traceable to periods of great emotional stress — change of jobs, money crises, etc. This can never be discounted.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you tell me about Krone disease? I cannot find any reference to it in the literature I have. Isn't it related to ulcerated intestines? My son, 33, has it. — Mrs. C.R.

You have the incorrect spelling of it, which is why you could not find your reference. This is Crohn's disease, also called regional ileitis, or regional enteritis.

It differs from other intestinal disorders of this type because the cause cannot be determined. The names refer to the location in the bowel.

It most commonly affects the lower small intestine, leading to a hardening, a thickening and sometimes an ulceration in the bowel lining. At 33, your son is in the prime age group for this to occur. In initial attacks it is sometimes mistaken for appendicitis, since the pain occurs usually in the lower right section of the abdomen. The diagnosis of Crohn's can be verified by X-rays or by tracing the progress of a barium-labeled meal through the intestines.

Sufferers report symptoms of alternating diarrhea and constipation, loss of appetite. Anemia can be a complication as the disease progresses, especially in severe cases of ulceration.

The outcome is as uncertain as the cause and occasionally it is absent for a long time. Careful treatment is wise.

For a better understanding of colitis and other intestinal ailments, their causes and treatment, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 3999, Elgin, Ill. 60120, for a copy of his booklet, "Colitis and Kindred Complaints." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Different Flavor

WASHINGTON — Worried friends and friendly enemies are pressing President Ford to go slower on strategic arms limitation talks (SALT) with the Soviet Union than the less guarded approach favored by his trusted, enormously influential foreign affairs adviser, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

Whether Mr. Ford really does lessen Kissinger's influence as SALT II approaches its climax remains to be seen. But the Secretary's near-monopoly over national security early in the Ford presidency no longer exists, as is suggested by these events:

Before the President leaves for the Helsinki summit, he will confer privately on SALT with former hardline Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, now a Reader's Digest executive, in a meeting requested by the White House. That marks the first time the two old cronies have talked seriously about U.S.-Soviet relations, an area where Laird was Kissinger's toughest critic inside the Nixon administration.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the possible Democratic nominee in 1976, has strongly cautioned the President to go slow on SALT II. His argument: the Kremlin needs an agreement far more than the U.S.

Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger is pushing hard for high-level Pentagon representation at the Helsinki summit, beginning July 30, for any SALT II conversations. This contrasts with Schlesinger's past reticence about elbowing into arms talks.

These developments echo the familiar Pentagon refrain that Kissinger's negotiating posture dangerously omits power, size and accuracy of Soviet nuclear weapons while concentrating on numbers. But some critics also worry that Kissinger, almost certain to leave office in January 1977, may with the President's blessing, be excessively eager to conclude a SALT agreement to cap eight remarkable years.

There is no sign Mr. Ford shares such criticism of Kissinger, who feels many of his critics are unrealistic, tough-talking hardliners unable to carry out a policy nearly as tough as his own in America's current political climate. Nevertheless, ferocious debate on an issue that could determine this nation's fate is being waged backstage for the mind of one man: Gerald R. Ford.

It may have started June 17 when Humphrey reported at the White House on his visit to Moscow. According to other Senators present, Humphrey advised the President that Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev needs SALT II far more than Mr. Ford, giving the U.S. the bargaining advantage. The Senate, said Humphrey, demands far greater examination of details in a SALT II agreement and will frown on any treaty without specifics on size and power of new Soviet missiles.

About the same time, Laird reentered the SALT debate with publication in the July Reader's Digest of an article charging the Soviet Union with cheating on the SALT I agreement. When asked about Laird's article at his June 25 press conference, Mr. Ford replied the Soviets "have not violated the SALT agreement, they have not used any loopholes."

The President had not seen Laird's article. So, Laird gently advised his old friend to read it over. Shortly thereafter, Laird was invited to brief the President on his views of SALT.

Simultaneously, Schlesinger is becoming more assertive. He did not ask for a Pentagon presence at the 1974 summit in Moscow. He wanted a Pentagon official at last November's Vladivostok summit but was turned down.

We Hold These Truths... A Chronicle of America

July, 1775:

With British agents such as Guy Johnson and Dr. John Connolly active among the tribes, Congress appoints commissioners for the northern, middle, and southern Indian districts. Congress also arms the commissioners with gifts for the Indians and with messages such as the one that the Rev. Samuel Kirkland — who has lived among the Indians as a missionary — takes to the Six Nations. In part, that message reads: "[The British] now tell us they will slip their hand into our pocket without asking, as though it were their own; and at their pleasure they will take from us our charters or written civil constitution, which we love as our lives — also our plantations, our houses, and goods whenever they please, without asking our leave." The counselors' entreaties that the Indians not actively support the British meet with a large measure of success.

A Devotion For Today

"We are not contending against flesh and blood, but against the principalities, . . . the spiritual hosts of wickedness."

(Ephesians 6:12, RSV)
PRAYER: Dear Lord and Master, giving our lives unreservedly to You is not easy, but it does make all the difference between cowardice and bravery. Make us strong against the forces of evil. Amen.

REAGAN ENCOURAGED
Won't 'Just Jump Off Cliff With Flag Waving'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ronald Reagan says he won't "just jump off of a cliff with the flag flying" and enter the race for president if the odds are too great against him.

But the 64-year-old former California governor said he is encouraged by the response of audiences and local Republican leaders to his most recent national speaking tour.

Reagan, who finished a six-state, 8,500-mile tour Saturday, said he still didn't know enough about the extent of his support to decide whether to run against President Ford for the GOP nomination in 1976.

But he said he was pleased with last week's trip, which was climaxed with hundreds of "Reagan-for-President" signs and a cheering, enthusiastic crowd at a Raleigh, N.C., rally.

He also spoke at fund-raising events in Tacoma, Wash., Montana, North and South Dakota and Virginia.

Even in the most remote spots the response seemed uniformly friendly.

"You have to feel it was successful," Reagan said. "In most places we were told it was the biggest turnout they ever had. And obviously, my remarks were well received. So you feel good about it."

But Reagan said he will rely heavily on the newly formed "Citizens for Reagan" presidential committee to give him an objective and realistic appraisal of his chances of defeating Ford.

"To me, one of the reassuring things about the committee is these are knowledgeable people who, like me, don't want to just jump off of a cliff with the flag flying," Reagan said.

"And I have the assurance in my own mind that they'd be the first to come instead and say, 'Hey, no go,'" if support is not broad enough.

The committee headed by Sen. Paul Laxalt of Nevada says it will attempt to raise campaign funds, conduct in-depth polling and serve as a rallying point for Reagan supporters.

Reagan said he would oppose Ford only if the committee tells him there is a realistic chance of victory.

Close Votes Predicted In Congress This Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some very close votes are being predicted in Congress this week as the legislators confront the energy problem with oil price controls scheduled to expire Aug. 31.

The majority leaders of both houses indicated Sunday they expect some movement in Congress to cope with the scheduled expiration, which would lead to a relatively fast increase in the price of gasoline and other petroleum products.

Rep. Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., said on CBS' "Face the Nation" that he thinks Congress will reject President Ford's compromise proposal but adopt its own similar measures.

"50-50 CHANCE"

O'Neill said an amendment similar to what the President has suggested will be proposed this week and he expects it to win approval. And he said he anticipates that with such an amendment, Ford will agree to a temporary extension of current controls.

It will be very close, whether the amendment is passed, O'Neill said.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., said on NBC's "Meet the Press" that he thinks there is a "50-50 chance" that Congress will accept President Ford's compromise proposal to remove controls over 39 months.

Congress must consider Ford's plan this week. If Congress does nothing by Friday, the administration's program goes into effect automatically.

If nothing is done, "then it means controls will go off ... and prices for gasoline will skyrocket," Mansfield said.

"The only alternative would be a three-to-six-months' extension of present controls" while another plan can be worked out, he said.

Currently so-called oil, that produced from wells in operation before 1972, is frozen at $5.25 a barrel. It makes up about 60 per cent of the oil produced in the United States. New oil, not controlled, sells for more than $11 a barrel.

Book Columnist Jack Anderson

ODESSA — Jack Anderson, famed Washington columnist, heads the list of scheduled participants in The University of Texas of the Permian Basin's lecturer-concert series.

Anderson, who will speak Sept. 15 at 8 p.m., is followed by New Orleans District Attorney Jim Garrison on Jan. 20 and nuclear physicist Stanton Friedman on March 16.

Anderson's talk will be open to the public. Tickets will be $1 in advance and $1.50 at the door. Depending on the estimated crowd, Anderson will either appear in the gym or the Student Lounge.

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader issued a statement Sunday opposing Ford's plan, saying it will only add money to the coffers of the oil companies. And Nader said members of Congress who have private interests in gas and oil should disqualify themselves from voting on this legislation.

In other Congressional action, as the legislators try to clear the decks for their August vacation beginning at the end of the week, the arms embargo against Turkey is expected to be a major item of discussion, although O'Neill said he doubts that it will come up again for House action this week.

MARGARET WYBLE, RN

Margaret Wyble Employe Of Year

A selection committee composed of Malone-Hogan Hospital employes today named Mrs. Margaret Wyble, R.N., as the Employe Of The Year for the hospital. Selected from a list of ten nominees entered by the employes of the hospital, Mrs. Wyble will be honored with a reception in the cafeteria of the hospital Tuesday, from 2 to 4 p.m. The Malone-Hogan Hospital Volunteers will host the event.

"Mrs. Wyble makes the patient feel extremely important as an individual," "she is always concerned for the patient and his needs," "She does things for people and will not tell them she has done it," "She tries in every way to give the patients whatever care they need," "She takes time to comfort the patient's family," "her rounds are frequent and pertinent". These are just a few of the comments by which employes cited Mrs. Wyble as their choice for MHH's Outstanding employe for 1975.

Using the criteria set up in the Dr. Frist Award, an annual event aimed at recognizing outstanding personnel in Hospital Corporation of America hospitals, the committee rated each nominee according to the employe's positive effect on other people; his or her contribution to the improvement of patient care; dependability in day-to-day performance; people-orientedness; humility or modesty; and his or her unusual concern for the welfare and happiness of patients as evidenced by extraordinary acts of kindness.

When Margaret Wyble first learned that she had been named Employe Of The Year, she said, "I'm flabbergasted". When confronted with the comments made in support of her nomination, Mrs. Wyble ducked her head, "I think they overdid it".

Mrs. Wyble has been at Malone-Hogan Hospital since October of 1974. She and her husband, James, have one daughter, Patricia, who is married to Dr. Don C. Robertson, D.D., who works for the Indian Health Services Gallup, N.M. There are two grandchildren, Bettina, 13, and Curtis, 6.

Mrs. Wyble will be presented a $50 award from the hospital, as well as a Dr. Frist Award engraved plaque, and her name will be entered in the District VII competition of HCA hospitals. The August winner of that competition will receive an additional $100 award, and the national winner will receive an award of $1,000 of HCA stock.

Last year's MHH winner, Dieder Whately, went on to win the national finals of the Dr. Frist Award competition.

A Red Cross spokesman erroneously reported earlier that 22 persons had died in the crash.

Ten women and three children were among those killed.

The accident occurred outside Chalma, a small town about 60 miles southwest of here and 48 miles from Toluca.

A Red Cross worker said it was believed all of the victims were Mexicans.

MEETS HIS IDOL — Ozeas dos Santos, 16, left his jungle village home in Brazil over a year ago to come to Dallas for a cleft palate operation. He recently got to meet his idol, famed soccer star of the New York Cosmos, Pele, who autographed a ball for him. Pele, on learning Ozeas was from the jungle of interior Brazil, told him simply, "You've come a long way."

'Ugly Duckling' Enjoys Life Now

DALLAS (AP) — It's hard to appreciate just how much life has changed for Ozeas dos Santos, 16, in the year since he left his jungle village home in Brazil.

It helped if you could watch him chatting happily with world soccer superstar Pele, who was in town for an exhibition game Sunday.

Back home the other kids were cruel, making sport of the youth's horribly disfigured face and refusing even to let him sit in the same schoolroom with them.

He had to hide behind a curtain to eavesdrop while his brothers and sisters talked about his idol Pele. When they spoke to him at all, they told Ozeas he was "too ugly to think about things like soccer either" and ordered him to go hide in the jungle.

There was none of that ugliness left, however, as he visited here with Pele, who autographed a soccer ball for this young fellow Brazilian. Surgery has worked heartening wonders.

Let Clyde Dial, a Dallas electrician who spends much of his time and money in mission work for the Baptist church and devotes three months a year to that work in Brazil, tell the story. It started more than a year ago.

"On my last trip," related Dial, "I met this family in the very remote village of Rondonia. There were 13 children, one of whom had a gruesome deformity."

"That was Ozeas. He had a cleft palate. His teeth seemed to be growing into his nose and there seemed to be no upper lip at all."

He was so used to being taunted by everyone he met, the boy ran away when Dial tried to talk to him.

"I knew that surgery could help that boy," Dial continued, "and all I could think of was seeing that he got it. I finally gained Ozeas' trust and explained to him what an operation and good medical attention could do. I told him I wanted to bring him to Texas, where he could get help."

Dial arranged with his own First Baptist Church in Dallas, its pastor and some members to help bring Ozeas here—and the month it took for that seemed so long that the youth almost panicked, fearing Dial had forgotten him. The Dallas man also borrowed money from every missionary he knew in Brazil to help pay his young friend's airfare.

At length Ozeas arrived at Baylor Medical Center here, and the first of his operations was so successful he couldn't stay away from a mirror.

Pittsburgh Paper Back After Strike

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The 31-day absence of Pittsburgh's major newspapers officially ended today with the appearance of the morning Post-Gazette.

The evening Press also was scheduled to make its first appearance today.

Both the Press and editorially separate Post-Gazette were shut down June 27 when Teamsters Local 211 walked out in a job reassignment dispute.

An agreement in the sometimes bitter strike was reached last Wednesday in Washington between the union and the Pittsburgh Press Co., which prints both the evening Press and Post-Gazette.

The strike began June 27 over the reassignment of a worker on the newsprint loading dock. The Press unsuccessfully made three legal attempts to end the walkout by 700 drivers.

The agreement appeared to give the union a new method of calculating cost-of-living adjustments, but the company established its right to limit overtime and change work assignments.

The strike was the seventh against the newspapers in the past 4½ years.

Today's 30-page edition of the Post-Gazette appeared on the stands Sunday night with a red ink headline at the top of the front page that read, "We're back!" followed by a list of the paper's regular features.

Greenbugs A Problem

Populations of chemically resistant greenbugs are building rapidly and spreading throughout Texas and Eastern New Mexico plains regions, threatening serious economic injury, according to area entomologists.

The problem has rapidly intensified because the greenbugs are developing resistance to Thiamet, leaving only two chemicals which are generally effective.

Jack King, research director of Grain Sorghum Producers Association and the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board, said Thiamet is "getting only fair control in some places and virtually no control in others, and the resistance is continuing to spread."

"Parathion and Diazinon are still holding but there are reports that resistance is beginning to develop in both," King said. "And the kill time is longer on all three chemicals, in some cases up to three days."

King advised against flying chemical controls for corn leaf aphids at this time. "They (aphids) will probably leave the fields as soon as the sorghum starts to head and what remains will be killed with the greenbug controls."

A farmer with developing greenbug problems should contact his local applicator for information about what chemicals are proving beneficial in his area. King points out that timing is vital and that farmers should avoid spraying too early. He adds that in most cases, the label rates should be used.

"When using Parathion, a rate of ¼ pound per acre active ingredient is advised in good weather or 1-3rd pound per acre if the weather is less than ideal," King urged.

King urged farmers who use Parathion and Diazinon but do not get satisfactory results to contact him immediately at the GSPA-TGSPB offices, 1708-A 15th St., Lubbock Tex. 79401, (806) 763-4425.

Share Drafts Approved For Webb Credit Union

An agreement between the First National Bank in Dallas, the National Credit Union Administration, and Webb AFB Federal Credit Union has been approved and allows Webb Credit Union to offer dividend-bearing share draft accounts to its members.

The share drafts will be similar to checking accounts from other financial institutions except the unused portion will be interest-drawing.

The pilot share draft program, designed by the Texas Credit Union League, will afford credit union members the option of using share drafts instead of checks to pay monthly bills and expenses.

The share drafts will be drawn upon a designated share account by the member at anytime he or she wishes to make a withdrawal from the special account.

This pilot program will allow members direct access to shares through a special share draft account. Thus, members will have the option of placing their payroll, social security, or pension checks into a designated dividend-paying share account. Drafts will then be issued and members will be able to use the drafts to make share withdrawals from the special share account.

Members could use their share drafts in a manner similar to checks from a bank. Meanwhile, the unused portion — that portion of funds remaining in the member's account after all withdrawals are made during the quarter — will be dividend-bearing and will receive the credit union's dividend rate on shares for that quarter period. Providing credit union members an alternate to depositing their payroll, social security, or pension checks into other financial institutions.

Individuals wishing to use the new share drafts could have their payroll or other checks sent directly to the credit union through specially designated forms. Thereafter, the member would have his or her check in their share account on the expected date of deposit.

Wade Choate, general manager of Webb Credit Union, said "the pilot share draft program will help solve the problem of late or lost government checks and allotments. Under this system, money will be deposited into an individual's special share account on a specific date. If their federal allotment or check does not arrive on the expected date, the member's account will still be credited with the payment."

When asked about the specific advantages of this new program, Choate said "in addition to the shares earning dividends during the quarter, these special share accounts will also be eligible to receive the credit union's free life savings insurance up to an aggregate of $5,000 per member and aggregate of $40,000 protection by the National Credit Union Administration. Plus, the member will have immediate access to his or her share account whenever and wherever they wish to use it."

As to when the new program will go into effect at WCU Choate said "we received official approval for the share draft program for the National Credit Union Administration Regional Office in Austin on Friday, July 25, 1975. Once we receive the final paper work, it will be reviewed by our board of directors as to the official date this pilot share draft program will go into effect at Webb Credit Union."

"At present, we hope to have the plan operative by September 1, 1975."

Under the pilot share draft program, members will have until December 31, 1975 to complete and return the applications for the special designated share account. Applications will be available at the credit union by August 15, 1975.

The drafts will be payable through the First National Bank in Dallas, largest bank in Texas with $4.2 billion in assets. The First National, a principal member in the Southwest Automated Clearing House Association was selected due to its expertise in the funds clearing process, according to Mike Morgan, Funds Transfer Coordinator for the Texas Credit Union League.

FTC Says Six Cigarette Firms Violated 'Deal'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission says six cigarette companies have violated an agreement that requires health warnings in advertisements and has asked the Justice Department to prosecute.

The commission voted 4 to 1 Saturday to ask the Attorney General to start civil penalty proceedings against the six companies.

Dissenting commissioner Mayo J. Thompson said the violations of FTC orders are subject to penalties of $10,000 a day for each violation. The penalties, if granted, would be at the discretion of the courts, he added. There are five areas of alleged violations, Thompson said. They include the size of warnings printed on billboard ads, the size of warnings in print media, the adequacy of warnings on vending machines and point-of-sale displays and failure to include appropriate foreign language warnings in foreign language ads.

The six firms named are American Brands, Inc.; Brown and Williamson Tobacco Corp.; Liggett and Myers, Inc.; Lorillard Corp.; Philip Morris, Inc.; and R. J. Reynolds Industries, Inc.

Terry Takes Over

LATROBE, Pa. (AP) — Terry Bradshaw emerged as a cool, confident quarterback in the Pittsburgh Steelers' 1974 Super Bowl drive. And the feeling in the Steeler training camp is that it was nothing more than a prelude for the best Bradshaw has to offer.

"He walked into this training camp and took over the offense like he never has before," said Coach Chuck Noll. "Everything he does now, he does with total confidence. He gets better by the day."

Bradshaw, the first player chosen in the 1970 National Football League draft, agrees that he's gained confidence—but to him that earns the confidence of his teammates.

"I always believed in myself, but I needed others to believe in me as much as I did," he said before a recent workout. "I had to earn that, and it wasn't until the playoffs last year that I did."

"Now I know what I have to do, and my teammates know I can do it, too. I'm ready to make up for some of the leadership that I haven't provided before."

Bradshaw has always been known for his strong passing arm. However, it was his playcalling and use of the running game that made him especially effective last season in playoff victories over Buffalo, Oakland and Minnesota.

"Now, if I find myself throwing the ball more than 20-25 times a game I'll say, 'Hey, wait a minute. Something is wrong here.'"

"It took me a long time to understand the running game and appreciate its value. But now I do," he said.

Bradshaw augments the Steeler running game with his own ball-carrying. He ran 20 yards for a touchdown for the only score of a Steeler scrimmage Saturday.

HIT BY FOUL TIP — Los Angeles Dodgers catcher Steve Yeager is helped by teammates after he was hit in the groin by a foul tip off the bat of Cincinnati Reds batter Ken Griffey in the eighth inning of a game in Cincinnati Sunday. Yeager was taken from the game after incident, during which he was unable to sit up or move for several minutes.

Giants Best Houston, 3-1

By The Associated Press
Now that Cincinnati seems to have locked up the West Division, the question is who'll volunteer to try and stop Pittsburgh in the East? Thank you, Danny Ozark. "Somebody has to and we'll do it best," Philadelphia's feisty manager said as he looked forward to tonight's opener of a three-game series in Pittsburgh against the front-running Pirates.

The Pirates, steamrolling Montreal 4-1 and 5-3 in a doubleheader Sunday, got a bit of unexpected help from St. Louis, which dumped the Phillies 9-6 and dropped them 5 1/2 games out of first place.

In the rest of the National League, Los Angeles beat Cincinnati 5-3, San Diego defeated Atlanta 3-1, San Francisco downed Houston 5-3 and, in another twinbill, Chicago split with New York, winning the opener 4-2 before the Mets took the 10-inning nightcap 4-1.

"It'll wake coach up to the fact both of us can play the second 18 holes, both of us realized we were playing for a big title, forgot friendship and settled down."

Wilson proved to be a little better pressure player than Aune in this old classic, played over the 6,745-yard, par 70 Kansas City Country Club course.

With the holes running out and the battle even, Wilson actually won on the 34th hole by playing the 453-yard, par four troublemaker in regulation. Aune belted his tee shot onto a ridge near a fairway trap, and his next shot was far below the green.

Mann Wins

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "I knew I had to pull myself up by the scuff of the neck," said Carol Mann.

That isn't exactly an easy trick for a 6-foot-3 gal like Miss Mann, but she did the trick.

After bogeying the first hole Sunday, she rolled in three birdie putts, and didn't falter again until she had the $40,000 George Washington Classic locked up with a final round 70 for a 210.

Another three strokes back at 213 were Jo Ann Prentice and Miss Whitworth, both recent Women's Golf Hall of Fame inductees. Miss Prentice finished with a 71, and Miss Whitworth a 74.

Miss Mann said the key to her victory was at the 15th hole, where she was in a bunker on the second shot, and her closest competitor, Miss McAllister, was on the green 18 feet from a birdie on the par four hole.

Miss McAllister's putt however, was two feet right of the hole, and she pushed it in for par. Miss Mann came out of the bunker and holed a 15-footer for par.

"If I bogey and she birdies there, it would have been a swing of two strokes, and I'd of been three ahead with three to go," Miss Mann explained. "Instead it was a swing of nothing. I still led by five."

After falling to the Webb AFB Students in the next to last game, 8-3, Gibbs & Weeks recovered to beat the team club, 4-2, for the District VII Slow-Pitch Softball Championship here Sunday afternoon.

All action was sited on the diamond at FM Road 700 and 11th Street. Nineteen games were played in all with 14 early round tests completed Friday and Saturday. Rain forced final play to be moved back one day.

Both Royce Cox of Gibbs & Weeks and Webb Students' Dennis Barnett carried out iron-man duties for their respective clubs. Barnett hurled four games and Cox, three, Sunday. In the final game, Cox tossed a four-hitter.

Two extra base blows were hit in the finale, doubles by Gibbs & Weeks' Jody Flores and Bruce Carmichael of Webb Students.

The champs finished the district go-around with a 9-1 record followed by Webb Students, 5-2. Super Save had to settle for third with Webb Independents, fourth. Both concluded with 3-2 marks.

Cubs Deck Jackson, 8-3

By The Associated Press
Lafayette whipped Shreveport 10-5 in a battle of Texas League division leaders Sunday, but the three clubs trailing Lafayette in the West all mopped up on East rivals.

Midland beat Jackson 8-3, El Paso blanked Arkansas 4-0 and San Antonio defeated Alexandria 9-6 in the other games.

After spotting the Shreveport Captains a 3-1 edge, the Lafayette Drillers exploded for four runs in the third inning and stayed on top the rest of the way. For Lafayette, Craig Barnes singled in three runs in the big third, Tommy Smith belted a two-run homer in the fifth and Wendell Kim hit a double and three singles in five at-bats, driving in three runs.

Shreveport took its brief lead on Harry Saferight's three-run homer in the second frame. The victory fattened Drillers pitcher Frank Riccielli's record to 12-5.

In a battle of cellar dwellers, the San Antonio Brewers broke things open with a five-run second inning — four of the tallies unearned thanks to a pair of errors by the Alexandria Aces. Wayne Cage socked a solo homer for San Antonio in that inning, and teammate Steve Rametta later contributed a two-run homer and a two-run double.

Alexandria's Dave Hilton tried to make up for his three errors during the game by matching Rametta's feat of a home run and a double which each chased two runs across the plate, and added a second double for good measure.

The 34-year-old Brazilian showed a brief flash of brilliance that has made him the most famed sports figure in the world midway in the first half Sunday night, with a cat-cup move, he flashed by a Dallas defender and placed a perfect pass for an easy goal by Mordechai Shpilger.

But Pele, who was injured a week ago in Canada, went down at 71:29 of the second half in a collision near the Tornado net. He reinjured his thigh and left for the night.

Nicklaus, playing well in front of Weiskopf, appeared to have his first Canadian national championship in his pocket when he stood on the 18th tee. But, not knowing that Weiskopf was in trouble and on his way to a bogey on the 16th, Jack pulled-hooked his drive into a lake on the left of the 18th and eventually made bogey. That cut his lead to a single stroke.

Weiskopf, a close friend who will play as Nicklaus' partner in the National Team championship later in the year, rammed in an 18-foot birdie putt on the 17th to tie and chipped up close to make par on the 18th, setting up the playoff.

"It's a great thrill, it means a lot to win a national championship," Weiskopf, who scored a dramatic birdie on the first extra hole, benefitted from two Nicklaus' lapses and a little putting lesson Jack

Tiger-Cubs Even Seasonal Record

The rain stayed away Sunday as the Big Spring Tiger-Cubs evened their seasonal record at 4-4, drubbing Abilene 18-3, at Steer Park.

Abilene suffered only its third setback in 14 games played.

Ismael Padrez, Big Spring starter and winner, was stingy with hits, allowing only four.

Billy Diaz was the leading Tiger-Cubs batter, going three for four. All of his hits were singles.

Henry Haro, who joined the Tiger-Cubs recently, was credited with eight assisted plays.

As of now, the Tiger Cubs have an open day Sunday, but are trying to locate a club to fill that date.

Draws Crowd

IRVING, Tex. (AP) — Pele succeeded in drawing a record soccer crowd to Texas Stadium, but it was difficult for the game's greatest start to showcase his talents with an injured thigh and teammates who usually ignored his pleas for the ball.

Tired Of Rising Taxes, Americans Nix Proposals

By the Associated Press
Americans fed up with rising taxes have rejected proposed school budgets at a record rate this year, defeating spending plans requiring increased levies on property and other items.

An Associated Press spot check showed the mood of discontent seemed strongest on the East and West Coasts, although there were signs of rebellion elsewhere.

New York State officials said 622 school district budgets were submitted to voters during May and June.

They said a record 155 or 23.4 per cent were rejected. The previous high rate of defeat was in 1969 when just under 20 per cent of the budgets were rejected.

The biggest setbacks came in suburban areas where property taxes already are high. Some of the proposed tax increases ranged up to 20 per cent, with local authorities claiming they needed the money because state aid to education is not keeping pace with inflation.

The trade publication, the Nation's Schools & Colleges, estimated recently that it cost almost $1,170 to educate the average public school student in the academic year that ended last month. That was 14.4 per cent higher than a year earlier and school officials say next year's costs are rising even faster.

The biggest expense for most districts — ranging up to 80 per cent in some areas — is salaries, with fuel costs running second on the list of problems.

Local taxes on real estate and personal property provide the largest chunk of school funding in many areas and the voter rejections of levy increases have forced authorities to reshuffle budgets and cut spending to keep within existing revenues.

Maynard Mathison, a spokesman for the superintendent of public instruction in the state of Washington, said about 2,000 teachers are losing their jobs as a result of the cutbacks.

Washington officials said voters in 67 of the 275 school districts that had elections this spring turned down spending proposals, for a rejection rate of 24 per cent. In contrast, only 9 per cent of the tax plans submitted to the voters last year were defeated.

The turndowns affected about 300,000 of the state's 750,000 pupils.

Hurricane Blanche Poses Threat To Nova Scotia

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Blanche aimed 85-mile-an-hour winds and heavy rain at Nova Scotia today.

Forecasters said residents along the southeast coast were told to expect gale-force winds at about daybreak and hurricane-force winds from the storm's center by midmorning.

"Blanche poses a definite threat to Nova Scotia ... and with the present track may move inland near the central part of the southeast shore by midday," said a forecaster at the National Hurricane Center in Miami. Blanche, which grew out of a tropical depression between Bermuda and the Bahamas last Thursday, was centered about 270 miles southeast of Halifax, near latitude 41.3 north and longitude 66.2 west, at 3 a.m. EDT. It was moving at about 20 miles per hour and was expected to pick up forward speed during the day.

Maximum winds were near the center and gale-force winds extended outward for about 150 miles.

Gale warnings were posted for Maine from Rockland to Eastport and a small-craft advisory was in effect from south of Rockland, Me., to Block Island, R.I.

Webb Chapel Scene Of Sunday Ceremony

Miss Barbara Ann Coates became the bride of Lt. Dennis Allen Jones Sunday afternoon in the chapel at Webb Air Force Base.

The Rev. Donald R. Hudson officiated as the wedding party stood before an altar enhanced with arrangements of white mums, gladioli and pompons flanked by candelabra and palm trees. Mrs. Polly Settles, organist, provided nuptial selections.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Dub Coates, Coahoma, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Jones, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

Carrying a cascade bouquet of white carnations, stephanotis, gypsophila and an orchid, the bride was attired in a formal gown of candelight miramist over satin. The square neckline topped an empire bodice of Alencon lace accented with seed pearls featuring long sleeves gathered into a lace cuff. Lace appliques and seed pearls adorned the A-line skirt, which swept into a chapel-length train. Her veil of Alencon lace illusion fell from a headpiece accented with seed pearls.

Bridal attendants were Mrs. Steven Ritz, Denver, Colo., matron of honor, and bridesmaids, Mrs. Charles Corso, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.; sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Lynn Gannaway, Loraine; Mrs. Johnny Livolsi, Eighty Four, Pa.; Miss Patricia Sue Coates and Miss Peggy Lynn Coates, both of Coahoma. The latter four are sisters of the bride. They were attired in floor-length dresses of powdered blue embroidered miramist fashioned with a ruffle trimmed scooped neckline, puff sleeves and a satin ribbon on the empire waistline. They carried nosegays of light blue carnations, white daisies and gypsophila.

Lt. Steven R. Ritz served

as the best man, and groomsmen were Lt. Donald Cook, Lt. Charles Justiz, Lt. Virgil Unger, Lt. Michael Hickey and Lt. Ronald Allen. Brandy Ledet was the flower girl.

The bride is a graduate of Coahoma High School and Howard County College. She is employed at the Howard County Library as a cataloger. Jones is a graduate of Stranahan High School, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., and the University of Mississippi. He is currently stationed at Webb, but is being transferred to the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Prior to leaving on a trip to Florida, the couple was honored with a reception at the Ramada Inn, where refreshments were served by Mrs. Larry Don McMurtrey, Mrs. Tommy McMurtrey, Miss Margie Martinez, Hobbs, N.M., Miss Becky Null and Mrs. Don Cook of Illinois. Silver candelabra adorned the table, which was centered with an arrangement of daisies, carnations and gypsophila.

Out-of-town guests attending included Dr. and Mrs. F. M. Westphal, Pekin, Ill.; and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Rush, Lamesa.

Miss Allen Has Coffee

Miss Joann Allen, bride-elect of Lt. Robert Decker, was honored with a coffee Friday morning in the home of Mrs. J. H. Burnett, Silver Hills.

Cohostesses included Mrs. John Curry, Mrs. James Cape, Mrs. Norma Porter, Miss Debra Buchanan and Mrs. John Surqueron.

The honoree was presented a corsage of daisies, as was her mother, Mrs. John Glenn Allen.

Crystal and silver appointments were used on the refreshment table.

The couple will be married Aug. 1 in the Allen home, 805 Dallas.

Smokers Double In Eight Years

The number of women who smoke has doubled in the last eight years. But apparently not all of them light up and like it. Many of them want to quit.

That's the judgment of the producers of public TV's "Feeling Good," and they have good reason to think so. They received 20,000 requests for "Quitter's Kits" offered free on an episode that dealt with the dramatic increase in smoking among women over the past ten years. The kit included a self-test to help people find out what kind of smokers they are and various items on how to quit. The majority of the requests were received within a few days after the broadcast and quickly exhausted CTW's limited supply.

The program, titled "You've Come A Long Way . . . Maybe," hosted by Dick Cavett, pointed out that since the Surgeon General's report that smoking is hazardous to health, smoking among men has remained constant. But more women are smoking—double the number of eight years ago.

CTW, the show's producer, reported requests for kits from all 50 states. They came from women on behalf of themselves and from wives and children who wanted their husbands or parents to stop smoking.

One letter said: "I am 13 years old and I would like to send for this quitting kit because when I get older I probably will start smoking and would like to stop."

Many requests came from people who were concerned about a loved one. "I applaud your efforts to eliminate smoking from the realm of 'ultra chic' experience in the minds of so many of today's American women," wrote a young man from New York. He requested a kit for "someone very special to me."

A desperate plea came from one viewer: "Please send the Quitter's Kit. HELP!!!"

From North Carolina, a woman wrote: "I want to feel good! I've been smoking for 20 years and feel punk! And worry about smoking all the time!"

From Oklahoma came a promise: "Will you please send me one of your free Quitter's Kits? I will love you forever."

Local Women Named To List

The Board of Advisors for the Outstanding Young Women of America Awards Program announced today that Susan Beard King, 1108 Mt. Vernon Ave., and Marisue Bowers, 2105 Cecilia, have been selected for inclusion in the 1975 edition of Outstanding Young Women of America.

These women, along with approximately 6,000 others, are being considered for further state and national awards.

Dear Abby

Doctor Warns Parents: Keep Chemicals From Kids

DEAR ABBY: I am a physician. About 72 hours ago, a previously healthy, beautiful, 16-month-old child was brought to our department with obvious burns around his lips and mouth.

Only a few hours before, while visiting his grandparents, he discovered a bottle of lye and ingested only one mouthful. Fourteen doctors and dozens of nurses and operating personnel have been involved in the three operations that this child has already undergone.

The boy is now in our intensive care unit, his eyes held shut with plastic tape, his breathing controlled by a machine and his life supported by tubes placed in his neck, chest, abdomen, penis, arms and legs. All of his esophagus and most of his stomach were destroyed by the lye and had to be surgically removed. If he lives, he will have to be fed through a hole in his abdomen for months.

Abby, please ask your readers to inspect their kitchens, bathrooms, basements and garages, and to place all dangerous chemicals outside the reach of small children. And ask them to pass the word on to their friends and neighbors who may not have children, but who occasionally have young visitors.

This type of needless suffering and death to small children can be stopped today without spending one penny for research or donations.

I hope you will consider this worthy of your column, which is probably read by more people than any other.

RUSH TO THE SEA — 1

New Oil Boom

WASHINGTON (AP) — Oil companies and the Ford administration claim that new and massive drilling on the ocean floor may be just the ticket to reduce America's dependence on imports. So why not take that plunge?

According to a burgeoning number of environmentalists and coastal state leaders, there are reasons aplenty. While few deny at least the possibility of an energy bonanza beneath offshore waters, many fear that any rush to capture it would trigger an environmental — and possibly economic — backwash of disastrous proportions.

"What's an oil company care about Cape May County?" asks New Jersey Gov. Brendan T. Byrne. "Once they've got a lease and they've got it out there, what do they care?"

Massachusetts Gov. Michael S. Dukakis agrees. "I don't think anybody really trusts them," he said of the petroleum industry.

Right or wrong, such suspicions, aimed both at Big Oil and the Interior Department, were heard repeatedly in interviews with local leaders, environmentalists and others as the department hurried to lease huge undersea beds never before drilled.

The 17 offshore basins which may hold oil and natural gas cover some 180 million underwater acres, more than the total area of Rhode Island, Delaware, Connecticut, Hawaii, New Jersey, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont, Maryland, West Virginia, South Carolina, Maine, Indiana, Kentucky and Ohio.

Their undiscovered oil and gas may equal the nation's entire 116 years of past production, worth perhaps $340 billion at current prices — and it's public property; every taxpayer has a stake in it.

Shell Oil Corp. estimates that tapping offshore petroleum can limit imports to 36 per cent of U.S. oil consumption; without it, imports would approach 50 per cent within 15 years. Current imports total about 38 per cent of U.S. consumption.

But offshore production also threatens to bring oil spills and industrial blight, and many coastal states are demanding more information, more control, more money, more time to prepare.

The Interior Department, on the other hand, is not waiting to sort out these demands.

The department wants to auction 1.6 million acres in new areas off Southern California this October; California is suing.

Interior also plans to auction 1.8 million acres in the unexplored Gulf of Alaska this December; Gov. Jay Hammond is pressing Congress to block the sale.

The first East Coast leasing, off Middle Atlantic states, was tentatively scheduled at 2.6 million acres for May 1976; two counties and five towns on Long Island, N.Y., have sued to prevent it.

Opposition also runs strong in New England, faced with an August 1976 leasing of about 1.3 million acres on Georges Bank, one of the world's richest fishing areas.

Only two coastal areas — the Southeast, due for an undetermined amount of leasing in October 1976, and the Gulf of Mexico, accustomed to offshore petroleum since 1954 — seem at all satisfied.

"Unless the oil companies and let them go to work and start drilling," urged South Carolina's Gov. James B. Edwards.

"The criticism has been justified in the past," said Edwards, "but I think the modern-day industries are more sensitive to human needs, to the desires of the environmentalists."

"I think they can be profit-oriented and people-oriented all at the same time."

New Jersey Gov. Byrne declared that turning the oil companies loose offshore "is trusting the free enterprise system on a set of standards I can't accept."

"I think their standards are to get the oil, to make a profit on it, and have whatever concern for the environment is consistent with the free enterprise system."

"The standards have got to be a little more carefully drawn in that regard."

In Maine, Ronald Poitras, director of coastal planning, said, "They've gotten a more intensive public relations campaign to make it look like they're more responsible, but frankly I don't think they are."

"I think the size and the incredible power of these large oil companies make them suspect from the beginning... They're bigger than state governments."

Long Island's suit against Atlantic leasing contended it would only increase the power of major oil companies which "function as a cartel in setting prices, protecting profits and minimizing competition from independents."

Such charges are discounted by officials in Louisiana, an oil state since 1902. "We think it's competitive as hell," said Commissioner of Conservation Ray Sutton.

The Interior Department, as manager of the offshore leases, has proposed to ban joint bidding by major companies as a move to give smaller companies a better chance at winning or sharing leases.

But the Long Island suit charged that Interior itself was dominated by the oil industry and should not be allowed to regulate the same offshore development it is trying so hard to promote.

Alaska Gov. Hammond said the leasing of "frontier areas" was a foregone conclusion, adding that Interior even ignored the recommendations of the President's Council on Environmental Quality (CEQ).

Interior's assistant secretary Roy Huvnes, in charge of the offshore program, said the department can protect the public interest and doesn't need any new laws from Congress.

But Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., a leading spokesman for Interior's critics, said that the public, with 180 million acres and hundreds of billions of dollars at stake, needs the protection only new laws can provide.

Hollings said times have changed and Interior just hasn't caught on yet.

Choate formerly was an accountant for a Snyder business firm. His wife, Janis, is now Mitchell County extension agent.

Choate, a graduate of Texas Tech, has started his duties as assistant administrator at Root Memorial Hospital here.

Choate's show, taped at Murphy Park in Putnam, Conn., has teams from Putnam, Webster, Mass., and Burrillville, R.I., battling for the series "Eastern Regional Championships."

It starts with the blare of a trumpet and the sound of a drum.

They are competing for the "last chance" room before being inspected by U.S. Customs Service agents.

Shelby L. White, assistant regional commissioner of operations for the Customs Service here, said federal officials got the idea for the drums because a large number of young persons returning from Mexico with marijuana told agents they did not know it was illegal to bring it into the United States.

The officials bought some old mailboxes, repainted them and installed them at bridges leading into Texas from Mexico. They also installed large signs stating that marijuana importation is a criminal offense.

"It has worked pretty well," White said. "We don't get large amounts of marijuana, but a lot of people apparently have second thoughts about bringing in small amounts."

Officials decided a year ago to expand the "last chance" boxes to those airports and railroad stations which are entry points into the country. They purchased the metal drums for that purpose.

As one can imagine, the drums and boxes have yielded items other than narcotics — like brass knuckles, knives, chains, dirty diapers, trash and even a rattlesnake.

Dawson Near Top In Hogs

LAMESA — Dawson farms, as of last Dec. 1, boasted 14,000 hogs, which placed the county among the top ten in the state in swine production.

The state had 940,000 last Dec. 1, which meant that Dawson had 1.5 per cent of the total. The state figure was down from the Dec. 1, 1973, aggregate of 1,050,000.

The 1974 total gross income from hog production in the state was estimated at more than $123 million.

'Almost Anything Goes' Warning!!!

By JAY SHARBUTT AP Television Writer NEW YORK (AP) — It has been written that in the event of a missile attack, we'll have only a few minutes' warning. We should like to give you far more advance warning about a bomb ABC will drop on us Thursday.

The device bears the title of "Almost Anything Goes," It's an hour-long, five-week summer series. It has small-town teams participating in zany athletic contests in the spirit of the old potato sack races.

We got an advance look at it last week. We fled after a half-hour, pleading to make a serious attempt at reading "War and Peace," a project we undertake each summer when TV viewing reaches the dregs.

We always fail on account of drink or laziness. But, by neddies, after watching half of "Almost Anything Goes," we're going to read "War and Peace" on Thursday nights for the next five weeks.

The ABC show is that bad. It's a numbing example of what happens when people having fun doing silly sports are covered by sportscasters who are All Business about their chosen calling.

We refer to Charlie Jones and Lynn Shackelford, ABC's reporting team. Their coverage of the just-furloughs proceedings is as intense and cliché-filled as that normally given pro basketball.

Thursday's show, taped at Murphy Park in Putnam, Conn., has teams from Putnam, Webster, Mass., and Burrillville, R.I., battling for the series "Eastern Regional Championships."

It starts with the blare of a trumpet and the sound of a drum. They are competing for the "last chance" room before being inspected by U.S. Customs Service agents.

Shelby L. White, assistant regional commissioner of operations for the Customs Service here, said federal officials got the idea for the drums because a large number of young persons returning from Mexico with marijuana told agents they did not know it was illegal to bring it into the United States.

The officials bought some old mailboxes, repainted them and installed them at bridges leading into Texas from Mexico. They also installed large signs stating that marijuana importation is a criminal offense.

"It has worked pretty well," White said. "We don't get large amounts of marijuana, but a lot of people apparently have second thoughts about bringing in small amounts."

Officials decided a year ago to expand the "last chance" boxes to those airports and railroad stations which are entry points into the country. They purchased the metal drums for that purpose.

As one can imagine, the drums and boxes have yielded items other than narcotics — like brass knuckles, knives, chains, dirty diapers, trash and even a rattlesnake.

GOREN BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN AND OMAR SHARIF © 1975, The Chicago Tribune

Q.1—Both vulnerable, as South you hold: ♠95 ♥A762 ♦1093 ♣9843

The bidding has proceeded: North East South 1 ♥ Dble. ?

What action do you take? A.—Raise to two hearts. This bid shows no particular strength after East's takeout double. It is simply a lead preemptive measure aimed at stealing some of the opponents' bidding room.

Q.2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold: ♠AK984 ♥K1065 ♦74 ♣A8

The bidding has proceeded: East South West North 1 ♦ Dble. Pass 1 ♥ Pass ?

What action do you take? A.—Bid two hearts. Your hand is somewhat better than a minimum double, and even though you have forced partner to bid, the possibility of game still exists if partner has some useful values. Advise him of this.

Q.3—As South, vulnerable, you hold: ♠A1065 ♥A863 ♠AK93

The bidding has proceeded: South East 1 ♠ Dble. 1 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now? A.—While we do not object strongly to a jump of four hearts, we feel that the chances of slam are too good not to make some sort of try. We suggest that you start with a jump shift to two spades, to be followed by a raise to four hearts at your next turn.

Q.4—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold: ♠A76 ♥82 ♠AK92 ♣AJ85

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1 ♦ Pass 1 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now? A.—Two clubs. With 16 points in high cards, your hand is too good to rebid one no trump but not good enough to jump to two no trump. Therefore, your only alternative is to rebid your second suit and await partner's next action.

Q.5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠KQ10954 ♥Q ♦Q1084 ♦73 The bidding has proceeded: South West North East Pass Pass 1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass Pass ?

What action do you take? A.—Bid three spades. Your hand has considerable playing potential, and the auction suggests that partner will have suitably fitting values, since he does not rate to have much in hearts. In view of your original pass, this bid is not forcing.

Q.6—As South, vulnerable, you hold: ♠AK76 ♥95 ♦AQ83 ♠KQ7

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now? A.—One spade. Stretching a point in order to jump rebid two no trump would not normally be criticized, except that this is not the hand for that bid. With our wealth of first- and second-round controls, the hand should play better in a suit if we can find a fit. We can always bid no trump at our next turn.

Q.7—Both vulnerable, as South you hold: ♠A106 ♥AQ7 ♦AJ32 ♣874

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West Pass Pass 1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now? A.—Three spades. You could hardly have a better hand for partner, based on your bidding to this point. You have the maximum high-card count allowable on your bidding, and excellent fits for both of partner's suits. You describe this holding exactly with a jump preference.

Q.8—As South, vulnerable, you hold: ♠AQ54 ♥KQJ97 ♣8532

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass 2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now? A.—Two spades. The alternative bid of four clubs would crowd the auction, and interfere with an orderly investigation of slam possibilities. Partner's next call will help clarify his holding, and we still have jump support in clubs in reserve should we decide to exercise that option.

EIGHT DROWNINGS Half Dozen Die From Asphyxiation

By the Associated Press
Violent deaths took a tragic upturn in Texas during the weekend.
The toll, recorded between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday included 17 in traffic, eight drownings and a half a dozen from asphyxiation.
These were among the victims:
Donald Gene Renfro, 33, of Houston drowned Sunday afternoon when a boat overturned on Lake Livingston about 11 miles west of Livingston. Two other persons in the boat swam to safety.
A two-car collision about a mile east of Rosenberg on U.S. 59 killed two men Sunday. The victims were Claude Nance, 50, of Rosenberg and Clemente Lopez, 76, of Donna. They were in different cars.
Kevin Johnson, 11, of Lufkin drowned Sunday afternoon while swimming at a municipal pool in Lufkin. Witnesses said he had been diving. He was the son of Vernon Johnson.
Robert Charles McGill, 25, a Houston cab driver, was found dead Sunday in a weedy area in Northeast Houston. Police said he was shot in the head with a .38 caliber pistol about midnight Saturday. No arrest was made.

The body of A. D. Evans, 59, was recovered from Taylor Lake near the Johnson Space Center southeast of Houston Sunday. Officers said he fell off a pier into about 12 feet of water.

Alvarado Martinez, 26, of Houston, was struck and killed Sunday by a car. A witness said the vehicle carried him up the street on the hood. Police said a motorist turned himself in later.

Theofilos A. Perdikaris, 51, of Pasadena was killed Sunday when the car he was driving struck a telephone pole.

J. D. Chandler, 57, of Houston, was killed Saturday night when a car hit a stalled automobile on which Chandler was working. Police sought the driver of the car, which witnesses said did not stop.

Three persons were killed near Florence in Central Texas Sunday when their cars collided head-on on a farm road. Officers identified them as Benny Signs, 19, and Ruben L. Miravel, 20, both of Ft. Hood, and Edith Craft, 38, of Killeen.

Steve Goldwater, 21, drowned Sunday night while swimming with friends at Lake Tyler.

Rusk County deputies said they shot to death Henry Williams of Mt. Enterprise when he attacked a liquor agent with a knife during an arrest early Sunday at a care near Mt. Enterprise. The agent was hospitalized.

Paul Caylor, 79, his wife Ruth, 74, and Francine Duggan, 5p, were found dead at the Caylor home in Pampa

Vet Drain In Oklahoma

By the Associated Press
Oklahoma is suffering from a vet drain.
Only a dozen of the 52 persons who graduated last spring from Oklahoma State University's Veterinary College have set up practice in Oklahoma. The rest have left, primarily for higher pay.
One who decided to stay is Dr. David Helms, an honors graduate who has settled in Tulsa. He said He was content with job offers, which ranged from $1,000 to $1,500 a month.

Jobs aren't plentiful in Oklahoma as they are out of state but Helms believes it was a waste of taxpayers' money for graduates to leave the state.

"It's real bad for the state. Oklahoma puts so much taxpayers' money into their education. When they leave, the state just loses that much money," he said.

Dr. Robert Hughes, who settled in Wagoner, noted that Oklahoma vets charge less than in most parts of the country.

Hot Time In Texas

By the Associated Press
With July fading into August, it's hot weather time for sure in Texas.

Although thunderstorms still dotted parts of the state Sunday night and into this morning, none brought appreciable cooling and forecasts promised no relief.

The latest storms even kicked up a couple more harmless tornadoes—one near Alice in extreme South

Texas and another close to Rockwall in North Texas, along with occasionally heavy rain.

Most of the rain fell in the West Texas mountains, parts of North Central Texas and some areas near the coast, finally tapering off this morning. Skies were generally clear to only partly cloudy near daybreak except for a few clouds drifting inland from the Gulf of Mexico.

Early morning temperatures stayed as high as 79 degrees at Dallas,
