'I HAVE TO ADMIRE THEIR DEDICATION,' SAYS U.S. CONSUL

Hostages Freed, Terrorists Libya Bound

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Five Japanese Red Army terrorists today freed 15 hostages, including U.S. Consul Robert Stebbins and a Swedish diplomat, before taking off from Kuala Lumpur airport for Libya with four substitute hostages and five other radicals.

The terrorists stormed a building housing the U.S. Embassy on Monday and took the 15 hostages to the airport after demanding transportation out of the country and the freedom of the five other radicals from Japanese jails.

En route to Libya, the plane put down for a refueling stop at Colombo, Sri Lanka—formerly Ceylon, the Japanese Foreign Ministry said. The Colombo government said it would shoot anyone who tried to get off the plane, which is due in Tripoli, Libya about 10:45 p.m. — 4:45 p.m. EDT.

Stebbins, 42, of Clovis, N.M., said he believed the terrorists would have killed their hostages, originally numbering 52, if their demands were not met. Stebbins and other freed hostages agreed that the terrorists treated them well, however, and gave them candy, cushions and in one instance a bottle of perfume. Stebbins said the terrorists also took valuables and money from the hostages, but later gave them all back.

Stebbins said he believed the terrorists were "very precise, assured, well-organized, courageous people who knew exactly what they wanted and how to get it." He said they were very good toward their hostages but very firm and that if they had not received their demands they would have killed everyone.

"I hope they would some day be people with whom I can sit down and have a cup of coffee and talk about girls and politics and everything. Politics — I did not talk that with them. This was not one of their hangups," he added.

"I have to admire their dedication," Stebbins said. "They were very kind." He said aboard the plane the terrorists took turns resting and the leader wrote a careful record of all the negotiations.

Stebbins was hugged by his wife when he got off the plane. He later received a phone call from his mother, Mrs. Odessa Lloyd of Hemet, Calif., expressing her happiness that he had been freed unharmed.

The freed Swedish diplomat, Charge d'Affaires Fredrik Bergenstrahle, said that while he and the other captives were treated "very well," the three-day ordeal was a frightening experience because "these people are tough and one can never know what they will do."

Another of the 15 freed hostages, Tee Wah Kwung, 20, of Malaysia, said that in the plane, where they were held for the last 24 hours, they were given regular airline food, and that when he left the aircraft one of the gunmen gave him a bottle of perfume as a souvenir.

Others among the 15 hostages released included Gerald Lancaster of Houston, Tex., an engineer; and George Burton, an employee of a San Francisco brokerage firm.

The four substitute hostages were Ramli Omar, Malaysian parliamentary secretary to the Communications Ministry; Osman Kassim, secretary general of the Malaysian Home Ministry; and two senior Japanese Foreign Ministry officials — Ryohai Murata and Ochi Keisuke.

The 15 hostages were the last to be freed of a total of 52 persons seized in the drama that began Monday when the terrorists invaded the U.S.

Embassy building. Most of the others were released Wednesday.

The plane's take-off was delayed for a full day as the terrorists and Malaysians stumbled on new snags in the complex negotiations. These included the raiders' destination and whether they should be armed.

The terrorists had already secured their main demand — the release of five comrades imprisoned in Japanese jails. The five arrived in Kuala Lumpur on Tuesday and had spent most of their time since their arrival waiting in an airport building.

Earlier, two Malaysian explosives experts boarded the plane and came out with two hooded terrorists carrying some packets containing six homemade bombs. They drove in a car about half a mile down the runway, walked a short distance across the grass, placed the bombs in a hole and detonated them.

The explosion, which could be heard a mile away, sent smoke and debris more than 40 feet in the air.

Officials said the terrorists were allowed to keep their firearms, but the bullets were to be kept by the government officials acting as substitute hostages.

At every step of the drama, long drawn-out negotiations were required on such issues as handling of the hostages, where the terrorists would fly, whether they could take arms on the plane and the number of the plane crew.

'THE ODD COUPLE' — Eric Schlenker, 8, left, Fred Schlenker, 11, center, and John Scopione, 11, keep tabs on two-headed garter snake as the forked reptile undulates on a raised piece of glass Wednesday. John spotted the snake in the woods in Glenville, near Schenectady, N.Y., and captured it with the help of Fred. The boys, of Glenville, have named their find "The Odd Couple."

Inflation Regaining Strength

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government reported today that higher costs for food and fuel triggered the second-sharpest jump of the year in wholesale prices during July, offering fresh evidence of a resurgence of inflation.

The Labor Department said its Wholesale Price Index climbed 1.2 per cent, reversing a decline of one-tenth of 1 per cent in June. The rise was the largest since April's 1.5 per cent and was only the third monthly increase of the year.

The increase, which had been expected by administration economists, works out to an annual rate of 14.4 per cent. Combined with June's increase in consumer prices at an annual rate of 9.6 per cent, the latest report indicated that inflation is regaining strength. Consumer prices had subsided to an average annual increase of 5.2 per cent during the three previous months.

Wholesale price increases, of course, usually mean higher prices for consumers — and the latest report did not include several factors already in place which will push up prices.

Administration economists, however, contend the current surge is temporary and will give way within a few months.

The wholesale index includes prices from all levels of the economy.

SUBJECT OF ATTENTION — Charles O'Brien (center), foster son of ex-teamster boss James R. Hoffa, and his lawyer Burdick, at left, listen to a question from a reporter outside Teamster headquarters in Detroit Wednesday afternoon after O'Brien was questioned by the FBI for 3½ hours in connection with the disappearance of Hoffa, now missing for a week. O'Brien stood mute as his lawyer, James Burdick, answered all questions from reporters.

Jury Clears Gurney Of Five Counts

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Confident that he's finally "out of the clutches of the Justice Department," former Sen. Edward J. Gurney says he will try to regain his health before deciding whether to attempt a political comeback.

"The government had its shot. They never had a case to begin with," the elated 61-year-old Republican said Wednesday after a jury cleared him of five charges in a $233,000 slush fund scandal and left two other counts unresolved.

After 56 hours of deliberation over 10 days, the six-man, six-woman jury found Gurney innocent of bribery, accepting unlawful compensation, and three counts of lying to a federal grand jury.

The panel, which heard testimony from 105 witnesses in the 24-week-long trial, said it was deadlocked on a conspiracy charge and one other perjury charge against Gurney.

Codefendants Ralph Kowitz, 51, and K. Wayne Swiger, 61, both suspended Federal Housing Administration officials from Florida, were found innocent.

Explosion Kills Two

CHATEAULIN, France (AP) — A violent explosion ripped through a state-owned explosives factory here today, killing two persons and injuring about 30, officials said.

The Pont-de-Buis plant located near the tip of the Brittany peninsula employs about 600 persons.

The blast damaged houses more than a mile from the factory. A gigantic cloud of smoke rose in the air above the explosion and was visible miles away.

An hour after the blast, a huge fire was burning inside the factory and there were fears of more explosions.

Faustino Vasquez Is Given 90-Year Term

LAMESA — Faustino Vasquez, 21, told a 106th District Court jury here Thursday his act was unintentional when he drove a car over Juanita High last Feb. 4.

The jury weighed the evidence against the second of two brothers on trial for the murder of the 32-year-old woman and adjudged him guilty. Faustino then was sentenced to serve 90 years in the state penitentiary.

Prior to the one-day trial, a motion was made to move the trial out of Dawson County but Judge George Hansard overruled the plea.

Faustino's brother, Ray, 18, has previously been assessed a 99-year prison sentence in the case.

John Mann, named to defend Faustino in the trial, based his arguments on his petition for a change of venue on the claim that publicity in the earlier trial would prejudice a jury in this case.

Police Chief Receiving Food Stamps To Feed Family Of 5

CARLISLE, Iowa (AP) — Police Chief Don Porter began receiving food stamps this week. He has not been paid since July 1 when the city council refused to set his salary.

Hoffa's Son Demanding 'Chuckie' Take Lie Test

DETROIT (AP) — Jimmy Hoffa's son says he believes Charles "Chuckie" O'Brien, Hoffa's foster son, knows what happened to the ex-Teamsters union president. He demands that O'Brien take a lie detector test.

O'Brien, the 41-year-old union organizer raised by Hoffa from the age of 3, said he had no knowledge of Hoffa's whereabouts. He talked with James P. Hoffa, Hoffa's son, who demanded O'Brien take a polygraph examination.

O'Brien emerged Wednesday from several days of seclusion and was interviewed by the FBI for 3½ hours. He is expected to be questioned again as the FBI continues its probe into the disappearance of Hoffa last Wednesday.

SLIPPED OUT OF JAIL TO LOOT DRUG STORE?

DEQUEEN, Ark. (AP) — A Dallas, Tex., man has been charged with a burglary that allegedly occurred while he supposedly was being held at the Sevier County jail here, authorities said Wednesday night.

Robert Doan Sirles, 22, is accused of slipping out of his cell sometime after midnight July 29, burglarizing the Brooks Drug Store here and returning to his cell sometime before 7 a.m.

Pros. Atty. George Steel Jr. of Nashville said the charges were filed Tuesday after a search was made of Sirles' jail cell. A quantity of suspected narcotic drugs alleged to have been taken from the drug store was found in the cell, Steel said.

Sheriff Alvis K. Gore said two keys were found on Sirles during the cell search. One was a "skeleton" key which would fit the cell lock and another was for the outside door of the jail, the sheriff said.

Gore said he believes Sirles made the skeleton key with a file he found in a closet in the jail building. Gore said the key to the outside jail door probably was taken from a cabinet in the dispatcher's office, which usually is locked.

"What we can't figure out is how he got out of his cell in the first place in order to get the file from the closet," Gore said.

He said that one possibility is that Sirles, who is of small build, may have popped the glass in the door of his cell and slipped out.

Gore and Steel said there is no evidence that anyone aided in the alleged escape and burglary.

At the time Sirles allegedly left his cell to rob the store, he was being held on a charge of burglary in a break-in at Bridgers Pharmacy of DeQueen in January.

Gore said Sirles has been transferred to the Howard County jail at Nashville as a "security measure."

Makes Hog Of Himself On His First Birthday

FORK MOUNTAIN, Va. (AP) — Arnold the pig made a pig of himself on his first birthday.

Bethel Mason, Arnold's owner, served a cake with one candle and the 600-pound pig ate all of it Wednesday. "He would have liked to eat the candle, too," Mason said.

Arnold, who shares the run of Mason's filling station with two German shepherd dogs, is about 100 pounds heavier than the average year-old pig.

No wonder. People buy him candy, soft drinks, pies and cakes. And when he isn't eating, he sleeps in the breeze from an electric fan.

"He has been known to drink a beer, too," Mason said. "He's been eating pretty good."

Mason, watching Arnold finish off two gallons of milk, said on the average day the pig eats "10 to 15 pounds of hog feed or corn meal."

But Arnold's birthday appetite appeared to have no bounds.

He gobbled up an apple pie, washed it down with chocolate soda — his favorite soft drink — then turned to desert. It was a nickel gum ball, nuzzled out of Mason's vending machine.

The pig then flopped down in the station's doorway.

If his hot, Arnold spends most of the day in a nearby waterhole. But he always spends his nights on the pavement in front of the service station.

Arnold was part of a litter of pigs owned by Mason, and he began staying around the station in the winter because it was heated. He quickly became a pet.

"Everybody who comes along wants to know when we'll kill him," Mason said. "But I reckon we'll let him stay around here as long as he wants to."

Disturbing Warning

Disturbing words on the drug problem in Texas come in a letter from State Rep. R. B. McAlister of Lubbock. McAlister was reporting on a meeting with U.S. Rep. George Mahon and others including Dr. Judianne Densen-Gerber, lawyer, doctor and a recognized authority in the field of drug abuse.

Dr. Densen-Gerber said she has reliable information that indicates the new target market for heroin is the Southwest and West border region. According to Dr. Densen-Gerber it is the objective of the drug distributors to create as many addicts in Texas as they have created in New York and other Eastern cities, with concentration on public school students in urban areas.

She said Texas is on the threshold of an epidemic and unless immediate and drastic steps are taken 10 per cent of Texas' school children will be exposed to heroin in the 1975-76 school year.

Rep. McAlister says there is little awareness among Texans concerning the enormity of the drug problem. An evidence of this, he says, is in the fact that Texas ranks 53rd among the 50 states and three territories in allocation of state funds to fight drug abuse. Texas appropriated $103,000 for drug abuse treatment programs for the fiscal year. Local funds have increased from zero in 1971 to $1,042,964 in 1975 and federal funds increased from zero in 1971 to $6,148,716 in 1975, McAlister says.

Another development that will affect the drug traffic along the Mexican border is the cessation of drug searches at Border Patrol checkpoints. The Border Patrol reported Tuesday of this week it has virtually stopped searching vehicles at its stations near Falfurrias and Sarita. The two checkpoints had been reporting 20 to 30 drug arrests per month. There were three such arrests during July. In 1974 the two checkpoints accounted for the arrest of 250 persons for drug possession and the seizure of almost $2 million in narcotics.

Similar figures are expected from other checkpoints since the Supreme Court ruled that the government may not stop vehicles at will but must have reasons to suspect that the vehicles contain illegal contraband.

McAlister said that if Dr. Densen-Gerber is right, then the public must be aroused, and the drug problem attacked quickly with all resources available. And that includes a lot more by the State of Texas.

For Some Real Competition

Within little more than a month, the annual Howard County Fair will be coming up. For the first time since the fair was resurrected, prospect is excellent for field and horticultural specimens.

But judging from what we have seen around town and in some fields, we figure there ought to be a new division. Why not a class for the best careless weed? Competition ought to be keen.

Galbraith's Panacea

William F. Buckley, Jr.

The crisis in New York City has caused some pain to some people and will cause greater pain to more people as the clouds gradually part and the public realizes that all the Democratic rhetoric in town cannot create money out of hot air. What one really shouldn't have to suffer is the nostrums seriously proffered by men whose ignorance of New York City affairs is that critical step behind their ongoing affluence to inform us how we could remedy the situation easily — by taxing the rich. As usual, John Kenneth Galbraith, perhaps because of his great stature, is the leader of this school.

THE GOOD LORD provided me with a miserable memory save the pronouncements of Prof. Galbraith, which stick in the mind as if attached there by industrial staplers. When I was running for mayor of New York in 1965, the Professor made the statement that there was "nothing" New York suffered from that couldn't be "cured" by "doubling its budget." Well, New York proceeded to raise even Mr. Galbraith's ante. It tripled the budget. Ten years after making this statement, Prof. Galbraith was asked last week what he would do to help solve the problem. He answered: "I think it's fair to say that no problem associated with New York City could not be solved by providing more money."

MR. GALBRAITH made the mistake of being specific. "It's outrageous," he wrote in the New York Times, "that the development of the metropolitan community has been organized with escape hatches that allow people to enjoy the proximity of the city while not paying their share of taxes. It's outrageous that a person can avoid income tax by moving to New Jersey or Connecticut. Fiscal tinklers are what the suburbs are."

Never mind for a moment the elegance of the language, or the extraordinary sociological naivete of the assumption that people move to the suburbs exclusively for the purpose of saving money. It is an uncommonly philistine statement, on the order of saying that people go to Vermont because the maple sugar is cheaper. Confine yourself to the economic point:

THE CONNECTICUT and New Jersey commuter pays exactly the same New York State income tax on his salary as the New York City resident. This is deducted from his paycheck. What he is spared is the full force of the New York City income tax. This tax is 3.5 per cent for residents, and approximately .5 per cent for non-residents.

Moreover, the city income tax is practically brand new — a gift of the Lindsay administration. New York City had problems for a long time before it elected Mr. Lindsay for mayor, though none of comparable gravity, and solved them without a city income tax, which pays for less than 5 per cent of the city budget. What will they propose next? A borough income tax? And after that? A block income tax?

IT IS CONSISTENT with related hallucinations of Mr. Galbraith that the "affluent" can subsidize every social spending scheme he can concoct. Alas, in this respect the rich get poorer, and the special innovators get richer.

A simple test invalidates the whole of Mr. Galbraith's thesis. Do comparable homes in Connecticut and New Jersey cost more than in Nassau County in New York? The answer is that they do not. By the time the out-of-state commuter has paid his New York State income tax, his New York City income tax (however reduced) and his commutation ticket, there is no economic advantage.

NO DOUBT he also finds it a "strange" point for Mr. Galbraith to be stressing that the commuter's support of firemen, policemen, public schools, and welfare programs in Connecticut and New Jersey is somehow less honorable and civic-minded than support of them in New York City.

"Ho-hum... time for another nap... see ya later..."

Fear Or Confidence?

NEW YORK (AP) — Consumers increased their borrowing in June by the biggest figure in nine months, and now businessmen and economists are trying to understand why.

The $545-million jump brought the total of consumer credit to $186.1 billion, $2.67 billion higher than a year earlier. More significantly, the latest increase was the second in a row after five straight months of decline.

Understandably, the Ford administration would like to say the borrowings indicate widespread belief that it is now safe to take a chance, safe to use tomorrow's money to buy today's goods and services.

Those who adhere to that interpretation believe the economy is steadily recovering from recession and that the recovery will be a solid one, that is, without a return of destructive inflation.

Many others wonder, however, if the consumer isn't a bit more sophisticated in his adjustment to the economic society. While it is still too early to determine, they ask if something more complex isn't occurring.

The basic questions they ask are these: Is the consumer borrowing now not because he has confidence in the future but because of precisely the opposite reason? Is he borrowing now in order to buy before prices rise any more?

This is the old "flight from currency" phenomenon that Prof. George Katona, the pioneer consumer attitude scholar, describes in his new book, "Psychological Economics."

Katona explains that the expectation of a slow and gradual price increase creates uncertainty and loss of confidence and therefore reduces discretionary demand. Consumers in this situation might save rather than spend.

But an entirely different mood prevails when consumers expect shortages or sharp price increases. Under such a situation they might feel it is wiser to exchange their money for commodities while they can.

"In August, 1973," Katona writes, "close to 20 per cent of all survey respondents reported that during the preceding few months they had made some major purchase in order to beat inflation."

He added that "fear of future inflation outweighed the resentment of past price increases."

Are consumers now expressing fear rather than confidence? It cannot be said with certainty at this time, but there are some indications fear is playing some role.

—Based on announcements already made, new model automobiles will cost more in September.

—Gasoline and other oil products prices will be rising.

—Wholesale prices are expected to be higher in the immediate future. Despite declining orders, some industries feel compelled to raise prices in order to cover their costs.

—Farm prices are rising. In the latest report, for the month ended July 15, they were up 3 per cent.

About Crackdown

Around The Rim

Marj Carpenter

Drive friendly. Have you ever noticed that sign? One day last week, it seemed like everybody had taken an overdose of unfriendly driving pills here in Big Spring. And I began to think about that sign.

I DO NOT think that drive friendly means to poke about ten miles an hour with a green light at the end of the block in front of you and then suddenly shoot through the green light just as it changes red. The pokey car gets through and leaves a block of frustrated motorists behind him. That is not friendly.

I do not think it means to suddenly decide to park on the wrong side of the street and suddenly veer off in that direction in a wide arc to the horror of everybody coming in both directions in a kind of keystone cop action.

I'm not even sure that it is driving friendly to do "the Big Spring thing" on 3rd and 4th streets and all go exactly 30 miles an hour in order to make all the lights and allow the guy in the middle lane absolutely no opportunity to change lanes if he happens to want to go in some other direction besides down the middle.

I often think of the policeman down in Mercedes who stopped a woman for running a stop sign and fined her. "I stopped," she said. "No you didn't, ma'am," the policeman quietly replied. "Well," she said, "I oozed up there and looked both ways before I went." And the policeman answered with a straight face, "That will be fine, ma'am, when we get a sign that says ooze."

MY FAVORITE traffic story was told by a highway patrolman and it occurred near San Benito many years ago. The number on that highway is "77". It's the old "77 Sunset Strip" highway.

A resident from South of the Border in a very old car was batting down the highway going about 72 miles per hour in the old days of 60 mile per hour speed limit. That was before going up to 70 and back down to 55.

Anyway, a highway patrolman stopped the car and pointing in the direction of a speed limit sign said, "Didn't you read the sign?"

"Oh, si," said the driver, "It say 77 and my car, she is old; but I try." But all joking aside, the STEP program is going to mean more traffic tickets. It is for the simple purpose of trying to prevent accidents.

Police do not issue tickets for fun. They are not given a kickback for the number of tickets. They do not especially enjoy giving tickets to anybody. They are not especially picking on teenagers, men, women, old folks, foreigners, out of town residents, or people of various races. They do like to get drunks off the street so they may stop more than their share of those. They also pick on speeders, people who run red lights, stop signs, change lanes without signals, and those who make sudden left turns in front of their cars.

The STEP program is designed to help us by making us help ourselves. So drive friendly.

Garbage Issue

Art Buchwald

NEW YORK — What is the burning issue of America today? If you talk to New Yorkers it's garbage. I was walking through the streets of Manhattan the other day with Wexler and we saw the large piles of plastic bags and garbage cans overflowing the brim.

WEXLER SAID, "There it is, the one political issue that our leaders will have to come to terms with or they're going to be thrown out on their ears."

"You think garbage is the thing that has most people upset?" I asked him.

"Not garbage," he replied, "but the failure to pick it up. There are a lot of issues that upset people in this country—unemployment, inflation, wheat deals with Russia and crime in the streets. But those are things you read about and hear about."

GARBAGE IS something you can see with your own eyes and smell with your own nose. It reminds you 24 hours a day that there's something wrong with the country and the people who are running it. When it isn't picked up, the rich as well as the poor go bonkers."

"Then if you were running the city you wouldn't cut back on sanitation men?"

"I'D GIVE THEM everything they asked for." Wexler pointed to the glass skyscrapers we were passing. "Up there in those offices are men making thirty, forty, fifty and one hundred thousand dollars a year. One hundred of them aren't worth one garbage man. If anything they are probably running companies that contribute to the refuse problem. I say the guys who take the garbage away should make as much money as the people who make it."

"That's fair, but nobody wants to pay a sanitation man the salary of a beer can executive."

"THEY DON'T now, but they will soon if somebody doesn't take their garbage away. The country's changing. If the people have the choice of spending a billion dollars for a new aircraft carrier or having a decent refuse disposal system, they'll take the latter any day of the week. You think anyone cares about giving military aid to Turkey? Nobody. But they do care about who removes the snow from their streets. Washington has their priorities all mixed up. And I'll tell you something. If this garbage isn't removed by 1976, everyone is going to be for a big surprise at election time."

"Then you think garbage is more important than detente?"

"THERE ARE SOME people who would say it is the same thing. But the trouble in Washington is nobody cares what happens to people's garbage in the rest of the country. Henry Kissinger sure doesn't care, because he has the press cart his away every night. President Ford doesn't care because he has marines dumping his garbage. Everyone in Washington talks about garbage, but nobody does anything about it."

"What are you suggesting?" I asked Wexler.

"I think we should have a Department of Garbage with the same budget as the Defense Department."

Billy Graham

My Answer

I have a former friend who has a great deal of influence. He also has some definite ideas about how life should be led. From the time I was a kid I followed his ideas because this character promised that when I had a need, he would help me. Following these ideas made me very unpopular but I stuck to them. Now, when I really need help, this character ignores me. Yet, there are people telling me to be true and hold on to this guy. Perhaps it is time I am telling you my former friend's name is God. What should I do? W.F. Perhaps you have Christianity confused with some sort of magic, legerdemain, or witchcraft. While the Bible makes it clear that God does, indeed, answer the reasonable prayers of his servants, it also makes clear that God is not a celestial bellboy who satisfies our every whim at the snap of our fingers. Christianity is not men using God, it is God using men. It is not God conforming to our will, but you and me conforming to God's will. The universe was not made for your glory, for for God's glory. I'm sorry you make bold to call God your "former friend." But, the Bible declares: "There is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother." Proverbs 18:24. And that friend is God.

Just as a little child blames someone else when things go awry, men are inclined to blame God when things go wrong. In my mail, God is blamed for too much rain, too little rain, cancer, leukemia, business disaster, family rifts, church problems, arthritis, the state of the world, and hundreds of other things. And, now you are blaming God for losing your job, which loss you obviously brought on yourself. Let Christ be your example.

A Devotion For Today

"Let us... lay aside every weight, and sin which clings so closely, and let us run with perseverance the race that is set before us." (Hebrews 12:1, RSV). PRAYER: Father, we thank You for the many lessons in open-mindedness which Your Word affords. Help us to grow more like You in the way we treat all Your children. In the name of Christ. Amen.

Nerve Surgery And Ulcer

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Are you familiar with a method of ulcer surgery where the gastric nerves to the stomach are cut?

My husband had a history of ulcers (surgery at 21 and medication for the past 30 years) and two years ago he had two life-threatening attacks within 24 hours. He had the gastric nerve surgery. He has had no trouble with food since.

But he has since ignored his doctor's orders to quit drinking, even though he was told his life could depend on this.

Is he apt to get another attack, or another ulcer, or what? — Mrs. R. H. In serious cases (which your husband's seems to be) when all else fails it is possible to reduce the motility of the stomach and stomach secretions by cutting the vagus nerve. This nerve actuates these activities, allowing healing of a peptic ulcer to proceed more rapidly.

It is even more important now that your husband alter his lifestyle, with special reference to his drinking. The relative inactivity of the stomach after the operation makes an ulcer even more vulnerable to the ravages of imprudent eating and drinking than ever before.

I suspect you want me to "scare" him into realizing this. Only he can do this. My booklet, "How to Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed," contains some frank talk for ulcer patients, and I believe your husband and I believe your husband might be swayed by it. If you want a copy, send 25 cents for it to me in care of the Big Spring Herald. Please enclose a long, stamped and self-addressed envelope for mailing.

To find out what causes high blood pressure and what can be done to treat it, send for a copy of "Controlling Your Blood Pressure (Hypertension)" by Dr. Thosteson. Write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 3999, Elgin, Ill. 60120, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Jacobsen Posts Bail After Jailed On Theft Counts

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Former dairy cooperative lobbyist Jake Jacobsen — perhaps better known as John Connally's accuser — was free on personal recognizance bond today after his arrest on state charges of felony theft.

Jacobsen was arrested Wednesday after a Tom Green County Grand Jury in San Angelo charged him with four counts of felony theft stemming from an $825,000 loan he authorized as an officer at the San Angelo First Savings and Loan Association.

Jacobsen, who accused former Treasury Secretary John Connally of accepting two $5,000 payments to help the milk industry get higher government price supports, already is under federal indictment in the same savings and loan case.

State District Court Judge Tom Blackwell signed for Jacobsen's release from the crowded Travis County Jail late Wednesday after the Austin lawyer agreed to appear for a bond hearing Friday in San Angelo.

Travis County Sheriff Raymond Frank waited for Jacobsen outside a skyscraper near the Capitol Wednesday, after he checked the lawyer's fashionable home and found none there.

When Jacobsen drove into the parking garage, apparently to go to his office, Frank walked up and said, "I guess you've been expecting me."

"No, why?" asked Jacobsen, apparently startled although the morning papers had carried a story of the grand jury's investigation.

Then Jacobsen rode to the county jail in the sheriff's yellow pickup truck.

Frank said officers took Jacobsen's tie and valuables and placed him — still dressed in a handsome brown pinstriped suit — in a cell with 23 other prisoners.

"But it's only built for 20," said Frank. "He's in there with blacks and browns, drunks and dopers."

Jacobsen, former legislative counsel for President Lyndon Johnson, worked more recently for Associated Milk Producers Inc., a San Antonio-based milk marketing cooperative.

A jury in Washington acquitted Connally April 17 in what prosecutors said was a $10,000 bribe from the co-op to get Connally to influence President Nixon to boost milk price supports.

Jacobsen, in a plea-bargaining arrangement with federal prosecutors, had agreed to testify against Connally in return for a promised dismissal of the misapplication charges against Jacobsen.

A federal judge in Dallas later appointed special prosecutors to press the case, and state authorities said they would take action against Jacobsen if federal authorities failed to do so. The government appealed, and the case is pending.

Jacobsen and Ray Cowen, officers of the savings association, were accused in the federal indictment of making the $825,000 loan to Abilene developer Roy Herring without getting proper security.

Rusk Convinced No CIA Agent Assassinated Foreign Leader

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Former U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk says he's convinced no CIA agent ever assassinated a foreign leader.

"I'm convinced, for example, that no foreign leader was killed by a smoking gun in the hand of any employee of the CIA or agent of the CIA," he said.

"Now there are some involvements with some dissident groups that involved various kinds of relationships, chiefly for intelligence gathering purposes," he added.

He also said during his tenure under Presidents Kennedy and Johnson he never discussed assassination of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro.

Rusk, now a law professor at the University of Georgia, made the comments Wednesday at a news conference. He was in New Mexico to visit his son, David and his family, who live in Albuquerque.

Rusk said the role of the CIA in foreign affairs has been exaggerated.

Asked by a newsmen if he knew of any attempt to assassinate Castro, Rusk said, "No one ever recommended assassination to me. There was never any discussion of assassination between me and cabinet colleagues and never any discussion of assassination between me and either President Kennedy or President Johnson...."

"I must say I was fully surprised to learn that somebody might have turned to the Mafia at some point."

"How in the world could anybody put the leaders of organized crime in the position to blackmail the government of the United States by getting them involved in something of that sort. It's stupid."

Asked whether he thought Secretary of State Henry Kissinger had too much power, he said, "I have no doubt at all that President Ford is in charge of foreign policy even if Mr. Kissinger gets all the attention."

"We shouldn't confuse the responsibility of the President with those who serve at his pleasure."

He was critical of Kissinger serving as both secretary of state and White House security adviser. Rusk said both are fulltime jobs.

"I think it was obvious that Mr. Kissinger learned while he was in the White House that a secretary of state should not permit a Henry Kissinger in the White House and therefore when he became secretary of state he made sure there'd not be a successor to him in the White House."

He said, "I think the pattern established by law, anticipating there will be two separate individuals there, is the right pattern."

On NATO, he said, "I don't think there ought to be any misunderstanding about the importance of the NATO alliance, if it is needed. Fortunately, it has succeeded so well that people can pay less attention to it."

"I think those problems of the moment lie with out European NATO allies. After all, Portugal and Italy are both in Europe, and I think the time is over when the United States can come charging in to do every job that's around."

"It's some of our European allies who have recovered from the damage of the war who are pretty fat and lazy that ought to take on some of these responsibilities."

He described the 35-nation European Security Conference as "a kind of acknowledgment of the frontiers of eastern Europe that simply accepts a status quo that's not going to be changed except by general war, and if there's a general war, there won't be any people around to worry about."

Rusk was a leading advocate of the domino theory as a reason for U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

He said, "I don't think we've seen the end of the story yet.... It may take another decade or two before we can really make a balanced judgment on where the course of wisdom lay, either in getting in or in the way in which we got out" of Vietnam.

"As far as I'm personally concerned," Rusk said, "I'm remaining with President Kennedy and President Johnson and the policies they adopted."

Parr Bond Arguments In Midland

MIDLAND — U.S. District Judge D. W. Suttle was to entertain two motions today in the Archie Parr perjury trial.

The government is seeking to revoke Parr's bond on his federal perjury conviction. In addition, Clinton Mangas, once a friend to Parr, is attempting to get his money back after having posted $121,500 in bond money for Parr.

Parr had been at liberty on $121,500 bond until the U.S. 25th Circuit Court of Appeals upheld his conviction July 24.

Parr, nephew of the late George Parr, was found guilty last year of lying to a federal grand jury in matters relating to federal income tax returns of George Parr. George Parr later took his own life, according to an official report, leaving Archie Parr head of political dynasty that was suddenly in shambles.

Held in the Bexar County jail until last Friday, Archie Parr was moved to Midland for the hearings.

Tech Team Discovers Ethylene In Wastes

LUBBOCK — Beef cattle manure has been found to yield significant amounts of ethylene, an important product derived from petroleum and natural gas.

The discovery was made at Texas Tech University by a research team working on a project supported by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's agricultural waste research program located at the Robert S. Kerr Environmental Research Laboratory at Ada, Okla.

EPA provided 73 per cent of the $108,000 project. Additional funding was supplied by Pioneer Natural Gas Company of Amarillo, and the Texas Cattle Feeders Association.

Ethylene is the backbone of the plastics industry which provides a large variety of conveniences and necessities for the American people, such as toys, food wraps and parts for automobiles.

The process which, with minor adjustments, can be made to produce anhydrous ammonia synthesis gas also produces quantities of methane and ethane along with the ethylene. Synthesis gas is used in the manufacture of fertilizers while methane and ethane are major components of natural gas used for fuel.

The researchers are Dr. James E. Halligan, chairman of the Texas Tech Department of Chemical Engineering, Dr. William J. Huffman of that department and a graduate student, Roger Peterson.

"Other students, both graduate and undergraduate, have made valuable contributions to the research," Halligan said.

The researchers advise that the process still is in the developmental stage and that additional data collection and analysis are necessary.

Dr. Halligan began his research with the intention of showing that feedlot waste could be converted into synthetic gas used for the production of anhydrous ammonia fertilizer.

"It was a pleasant surprise to me when we discovered we were getting significant amounts of ethylene," he said, "and I knew it was important to repeat the lab tests on a larger scale to be sure."

R. Douglas Kreis, EPA project officer from Ada, said he sees possible future adaptation of the process to include other animal wastes, municipal refuse, and other organic solid wastes as feedstock for the production of ethylene.

"Assuming a realistic value of 10 cents per pound for ethylene, a conservative estimate of the value of the ethylene production from manure produced from a 100,000 head feedlot in the Texas high plains alone is around $1.8 million per year, Kreis explained. "Ethylene could be produced at the rate of 180 pounds per dry ton on the basis of data collected by the Texas Tech researchers."

A commercial operation capable of processing manure from 100,000 head could produce about 18 million pounds of the gas per year.

"There are an estimated 12 to 14 million tons of cattle manure produced in feedlots annually in the United States. The objective of continuing research," Kreis added, "is to optimize the process to increase the yield of ethylene."

Dr. Halligan said the evidence to date indicates that the process appears to be economically feasible for large concentrations of feedlots, and the engineers said their recommendation would be to place the ethylene production plants at the feedlot because it is easier to ship the gas by pipeline rather than transport the manure.

WASTE INTO ETHYLENE — Chemical engineers at Texas Tech University have discovered a method for converting cattle manure into ethylene, the backbone of the plastics industry. The process, which can be made to produce anhydrous ammonia synthesis gas, also produces methane and ethane. Synthesis gas is used in the manufacture of fertilizers while methane and ethane are major components of natural gas used for fuel. Two members of the research team are, left, Dr. William Huffman of the chemical engineering faculty, and right, Donald F. Carlisle, senior, in the Department of Chemical Engineering. Carlisle is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Willcutt, formerly of Big Spring.

The most attractive option, he said, would be for the operator to feed the gas directly into a pipeline already in existence for ethylene transport. He would not estimate the economic value of such a plant to a feedlot operation because, he said, the value depends upon the market price of ethylene.

There are the extra values of disposing of manure and getting some return on the process, Halligan explained. With an estimated two to four million tons of manure produced annually by the cattle industry in West Texas alone, he said, it is evident that this new process is a constructive solution to the problem.

Dr. Huffman explained that the production of ethylene depends upon the time-temperature factor in the reactor.

"In the reactor we have achieved a different time-temperature history of both solids and gas — different from that of others who have experimented with similar processes," he said. "This allows us to generate significant quantities of useful petrochemical intermediates."

The manure in the pilot plant process yields several products — ethylene and other gases, tars, and a wastewater which must go through a purifying system, and an inert residue containing a large proportion of ash.

The residue may be made into charcoal briquets to fuel to process, with the ash being used for playa lake fills in areas where there are plays, like the Texas high plains. The ash also could be used for a variety of other purposes such as road fills or in construction.

Specific recommendations for cleaning the water product have not been made yet.

"There is no effort to treat the manure before it is put into the reactor," Huffman said. "We don't dry it, but we do grind it. That's all we do."

Huffman said that in wetter climates it would be necessary to add a drying process, and this would reduce the income from the total procedure.

He said the economics of the process favored the drier areas of the country from the plains states westward because the wastes could be put into the process directly from the feedlot without any processing except natural sun drying.

The research plant constructed at Texas Tech has a capacity of one-half ton of manure daily, but commercial plants would need to process 600 to 1,600 tons per day, depending upon the type of venture.

WILL SPEND $1.8 MILLION Seeking To Drive Down Hospital Costs In Texas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government will spend $1.8 million in the next two years in experimental project that officials say could trim $8 from the average $110 daily charge for Texas hospital patients.

O. Ray Hurst, president of the Texas Hospital Association (THA), projected that participating hospitals may save as much as $14 million and that the program should be able to pay its way out at the end of two years.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Texas Hospital Association are sharing equally in the venture which officials announced here Wednesday. The program is designed to cut costs but not the quality of medical care.

In Texas, the average daily charge for a hospital patient was $118.17 in 1950. That had increased to more than $75 in 1970 and was just short of $110 last year.

The experiment involves introducing business management techniques such as group purchasing, collecting manpower, allocation and equipment-sharing among as many as 300 of the 600 hospitals in the THA.

Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller, chairman of the National Commission on Productivity and Work Quality, said the project holds "very exciting promise" for implementation nationwide.

"Individual hospitals are limited in what they can do alone to control the rising costs of medical care," Rockefeller told a news conference. "But working together, through such programs as group purchasing and equipment sharing, hospitals can achieve impressive savings."

'Missing' Labor Leader Found In Houston Jail

HOUSTON (AP) — Police reported Donald A. Horn, Harris County AFL-CIO secretary-treasurer, as missing today but later found him in the jail.

Horn was arrested Wednesday at the scene of a traffic collision and said today jailers had refused to let him use a telephone after he had tried twice to call his wife and got busy signals.

Detective Jim Pierce found Horn in the jail about three hours after Hartsell Gray, Harris County treasurer, had notified police at the request of Horn's family that the labor leader was missing.

Horn, acting Police Chief Joe Clark, Capt. J.M. Albright of the jail division, and other officials then met in Clark's office and Horn was released on his own recognizance.

"I want to get home, eat breakfast, get a shower, and talk with my family," Horn said.

"I think he should have been able to use the phone until he got his party," Clark told newsmen, adding that he had received Horn's complaint and that it would be investigated.

Clark said he would assign Deputy Chief Harry Caldwell to study the department's policy on telephone calls by prisoners.

Clark said Horn contending he was merely trying to exchange names with other persons involved in the traffic accident when he was arrested and that he did not consider this as interference with an officer.

Pierce said Patrolman J.M. Lane reported that Horn "kept butting in" while Lane tried to question others involved in the accident. Pierce quoted Lane as saying he warned Horn several times to stop interfering but that the warnings were ignored.

HEW Bureaucracy Lacks Restraint, Clear Goals

OMAR BURLESON, M.C. 17th DISTRICT, TEXAS WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Department of Health, Education and Welfare was created as a full cabinet post during the Eisenhower Administration with Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby as the first secretary. Since that time in 1953 there have been 11 secretaries, including a new one coming in. Maybe there is good reason for it. The comments of some secretaries on their departure indicate a feeling of frustration of being unable to make function this colossal agency. It is a gigantic job to preside over a network of 130,000 employees and a $118 billion budget. The Congress and the American people would do well to heed the concerns of those who have headed this agency with all its far-flung activities. Elliot Richardson, when resigning as secretary in 1972, warned of the growing gap between promises and performance in the multitude of programs under H.E.W. Utopia was seemingly the goal of the Great Society concept. Who could be against Utopia as a goal — the best of all things for everybody? But perfection is not yet and never can be on this earth. This, in essence, is what Casper Weinberger, now exiting from the secretary position, is saying. The other day in his farewell speech he lamented a "faceless, gray egalitarianism that will ensure an equally mediocre existence for everyone, achieved at the cost of personal liberty." He sees ruin in the readiness of Congress to expand the more than a thousand federal grant programs already on the books and enacting new ones. The secretary says that if the Congress does not learn to say "no," and practice restraint, the nation will wind up as broke as New York City. The ominous fact is that secretaries of H.E.W. have come and gone without making real progress on basic dilemmas. It seems some of them have had a real intent of bringing H.E.W. under reasonable control but with its vast and entrenched bureaucracy, we have to wonder if it is possible. It is not much wonder that resistance comes to reforming some of the expansive and questionable programs now in operation. Those which obviously have failed are more often given more money to expand, and by becoming bigger, hope to succeed. Too often, the failures also become bigger. Everybody wants his particular program continued and contends that if reductions are to be made, they should be made in other places. No one really knows how to slice off the pieces of these vast operations which have proved failures but there is an awareness in the country that government is too big, too expensive and trying to do too much. It could be the beginning of needed changes. This awareness focuses on the fact that a welfare state spends beyond its means, leaving the day of reckoning to another generation. Action may come when enough people believe that we are that other generation.

hearts and ruffed a heart in his hand. The ace and king of trumps brought the welcome news that trumps were 3-2. However, when declarer led a diamond to the king, he saw the ominous ten drop from the East hand. If that card were indeed a singleton and declarer knew East to be an "honest" player, there was trouble ahead. There was a slim chance to make his contract, and declarer played for it. He cashed the ace-king of clubs, and West's queen brought slam chances into the realm of possibility. Next, declarer ruffed dummy's remaining heart and led the jack of clubs. West would not escape the endplay. If he ruffed and led a heart, he would present declarer with a ruff-and-suff, thereby allowing declarer to avoid losing a diamond. Exiting with a diamond would be no better, for that would allow declarer to pick up the suit without a losing trick in it. West did the best he could by discarding his remaining heart, but declarer was aware of the situation. He exited with his last trump, and West was in with nothing but diamonds to lead. He tried the jack, but declarer won in his hand and took the marked finesse for the nine to land a superbly played slam.

Let the duplicate players talk all they want about systems and percentages. The rubber bridge aficionado knows that a lucky streak can shatter all the laws of probabilities and percentages. The foregoing serves only to explain the bidding on this hand. The cards had been running well for South, and he was a firm believer in pushing things to the limit when he was waxing hot. His six spade bid would be frowned upon by purists, but South justified it with some excellent card-reading. West led the top of his heart sequence and declarer was not overenthused when dummy appeared. It seemed he had a certain trump loser and club loser, and there was also the chance of a bad break in either spades or diamonds. Declarer won the ace of

Tax Office Functions Explained To ABWA

Mrs. Zirah Bednar, past president and Woman of the Year for Scenic Chapter, American Business Women's Association, spoke to the group Tuesday evening concerning her duties as county tax assessor and collector.

In detailing the functions of her office, Mrs. Bednar noted that it will soon be using data processing which she said will be more economical, accurate and available for use by some other county offices. She explained the introduction of plastic voting registration cards which will be renewed every other year. The new motor vehicle license plates will be issued every five years, each year a small sticker will be used to update the plates.

Mrs. Bednar expressed the opinion that property taxes have not been changed much, but she said that during the next legislative session there may be a vote on whether to put this control more on a local level rather than state and federal. Also, she noted that voting machines may soon be used here.

In conclusion, the speaker stressed that citizens should report to her office any change of address, precinct or marital status.

The vocational speaker was Ms. Diana McCurry who explained her duties as an office worker at Bob Brock Ford.

Mrs. Ruby Opal Wooten, president, conducted the business session as initial plans were made for the annual Hand of Friendship Tea. Mrs. Lou Orenbaum, tea chairman, said the tea is slated from 2 to 4 p.m., Sept. 14 in First Federal Community Room.

Mrs. Glenn Albert, ways and means chairman, said the chapter will operate a concession stand at the Flea Market, Oct. 18-19. Another fund-raising event will be a spaghetti supper Nov. 7 during which donated items will be won by some of those attending.

Mrs. Lou Thompson asked that reservations be made early for the district meeting which will be held Sept. 22 at Goodfellow Air Force Base.

Chapter members added a new scholarship recipient, Miss Sue Cramer, to those already being sponsored, Mrs. Vickie Tyler Denton and Mrs. Johnnie Lou Burks. A new member, Ms. Jane Crittenden, was installed.

Mrs. Evelyn Delatour, publicity chairman, said posters and communication media will be used to promote good public relations for ABWA.

Prayers were led by Mrs. Orenbaum and Mrs. Bill Leugoud.

The next meeting, in September, will feature a "country style" sack lunch meal.

Dr. Ron Cohorn Talks To LVN's

Dr. Ron Cohorn, psychologist and director of the out-patient clinic, Big Spring State Hospital, spoke to the Licensed Vocational Nurses Association, District 25 at their Tuesday evening meeting. He spoke on personal relationships and emotional maturity.

The LVNA met at Malone-Hogan Hospital and heard a report from Mrs. Annie Branson, secretary, on the national convention of licensed vocational nurses. The 34th convention met in New Orleans where 1400 LVN's attended, including 300 student nurses. John H. Ward was elected new president of that convention. Mrs. Lillian Rhyne, president, read a letter concerning the National Organization of Women.

Joining the organization were Mrs. Wilma Whitaker, and Ms. Cyneather Woodruff. Both work at the state hospital.

Guests included Ms. Barbara Morgan, Ms. Alice Johnson and Ms. Peggy Kirby.

The next meeting will be a salad supper at the state hospital in the staff development room at 7:30 p.m., Sept. 2. All LVN's are invited to attend and bring a salad.

Student Will Describe Trip To UN

A Big Spring High School student, Scott Sullivan, will speak at the Aug. 12 meeting of Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284 on his trip to New York and the United Nations. The Texas Rebekahs sent two bus loads of students on the trip to learn about the United Nations and its affairs; Sullivan was sponsored by the No. 284 lodge.

The lodge received a request at the Tuesday evening meeting at the IOOF Hall from the West Texas Association of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs, Odessa to install officers of that Association at the Oct. 11 meeting.

During a refreshment hour after the business meeting Mrs. Beulah Morrison and Mrs. Dottie Adcock were recognized for their birth days, and Mrs. Olean Melton for her 53rd wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wilson are leaving Friday for Corpus Christi to attend the secretaries and scribes meeting of the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of Texas.

My other sons tell me I am a fool and that Mel can work if he wants to. (They have both sent him money but he gave up.) Mel can sell, but he hates to get up in the morning and work a regular routine. He still thinks he can make it in show business.

How can a mother refuse her son? I love him so much. He never married. What am I to do?

Luncheon Held By Retirees

The local chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons met at Kentwood Older Adult Center Tuesday afternoon. Dr. C. A. Holcomb, president, presided over the monthly business session.

Mrs. Leona Ebersole presented a program on "Growing Old Gracefully," followed by a covered dish luncheon, table games, music and fellowship.

Newcomers Play Bridge

Miss Cynthia Nielson of Alamogordo, N.M. was a guest when the Newcomers Bridge Club met Tuesday afternoon in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room. Winners were Mrs. Janet Hendersen, first; Mrs. Jo Munsel, second and bridge-o; and Mrs. Kathie Bartholomew, door prize. The next meeting will be at 9:30 a.m., Aug. 20 in the Flame Room.

Pauline Petty Is Commended

Mrs. Pauline S. Petty was recommended for a Decoration of Chivalry for her outstanding work in John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge No. 153 at Tuesday evening's meeting at the IOOF Hall.

Mrs. Lois Hood, president, presided at the meeting where a resolution of sympathy was read in memory of J.C. Watkins, husband of a Rebekah member.

A $10 donation from the lodge was made to the home for the elderly at Ennis.

Mrs. Lavelle Hill gave a program honoring an Odd Fellow, Charles Leek.

The next meeting will be Aug. 12.

Couple Weds Here Tuesday

Mrs. Gail Bonner of Big Spring and Mark A. Sutphen of Abilene were married Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Gladys Harding Bryant, 1606 Eleventh Place.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. William Smythe, pastor of the First Christian Church, with Mrs. Bryant and Smith Cochran of Coahoma serving as attendants.

Mr. and Mrs. Sutphen will reside in Big Spring following a wedding trip to Cloudercroft, N.M.

Temperatures

Apparently designers figure lowered thermostats in homes this winter mean more bundling up in general. Big rectangular scarves wrap the throat, knit toques pull down on the head, boots coming just below the knee protect the feet and legs, and some designers show the ultimate of layer treatments — coats on top of coats.

Mother Still Supports Her Middle-Aged Son

DEAR ABBY: When does a mother say no? I am 77, have worked in factories for 44 years and have raised three sons alone after an early divorce. Two of my boys are fine. The youngest is my problem.

Mel, now 50, was in the Navy and graduated from college under the G.I. bill, but his big dream was getting into show business. (He is a good musician but not good enough to work the big time, which is all he will settle for.)

I have lost track of all the money Mel has cost me. It seems like all I do is draw money out of the bank for him. My income is only $260 a month, and I am eating up my nest egg.

My other sons tell me I am a fool and that Mel can work if he wants to. (They have both sent him money but he gave up.) Mel can sell, but he hates to get up in the morning and work a regular routine. He still thinks he can make it in show business.

How can a mother refuse her son? I love him so much. He never married. What am I to do?

MOTHER LOVE

DEAR MOTHER: Don't send Mel another penny! He probably never stuck with a job because he knew he didn't have to — Mother would support him. Tell him that you are all tapped out.

Not everyone can do what he wants to do for a living in which case he does what he CAN. At 50, it's a time Mel became a man. And at 77, you've earned a rest.

DEAR ABBY: I was invited to a house party last Saturday given by a young woman who works with me. (I'm a 23-year-old divorcee.) A rather good-looking guy introduced himself and said, "Another fellow and I have a $20 bet on. He says you're wearing falsies, and I say you're not. If you prove it to me, the $20 is yours."

It so happens that I am 38-26-34, and I don't need falsies, so I said, "You win." Then I took him into the bedroom and unbuttoned my blouse just far enough to prove it and gave him a quick look.

He collected the $20 from his friend and gave it to me. I told him I was going to put it in the poor box at church the next morning, which is exactly what I did.

On Monday it was all over the office that I had done a strip-tease dance at the party!

Abby, I swear, I'm telling it like it was. Do you think what I did was so terrible? It was for a good cause.

MISS JUDGED

DEAR MISS: Face it, dear. You sold a quick peek for $20 — a foolish gambit for a young woman who values her reputation.

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter written by the lady who was told off when she mistook a little boy for a "nice little girl" in the supermarket.

When I was a kid, I remember going to the carnival, and for 25c, a man would guess your weight. Now for another 25c, he'll guess your sex.

STAN IN PALM SPRINGS

DEAR ABBY: I'm 40-years-old, and I have a problem. I always cry at sad movies, hymns, sad stories, parades, beautiful skaters and "The Star Spangled Banner."

Soon my son will be getting married. The plans for the church ceremony sound just beautiful and they end with my son's presenting me with a single red rose! The thought of it sends chills up my spine.

I don't want to embarrass my son or husband by blubbering.

Do you have any suggestions? (I'm on hormones, so it's not the menopause.) Thank you.

SENTIMENTAL IN ILLINOIS

DEAR SENTIMENTAL: Being told in advance will prepare you for the presentation. I'm sure there won't be a dry eye in the house, so if you shed a tear or two, you won't embarrass anyone. Good luck and God bless.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Healthy Plants

Air-conditioning makes people more comfortable, but is hard on house plants. It removes from the air moisture that plants need for best growth, and drafts that hit a plant can severely affect the health and vigor of foliage.

Off-Campus Housing?

AUSTIN (AP) — Lawyers for the state have convinced the Texas Supreme Court to reconsider lower court decisions that a rule requiring unmarried undergraduate women under 23 to live in campus dormitories at Texas Women's University is unconstitutional. Arguments were scheduled for Oct. 29 in the class action suit brought by Vanida Chaykintaste and Caroline Ann Bolce. The Fort Worth Court of Civil Appeals noted that the rule would not have been considered discriminatory if men had not been admitted as students at the formerly all-woman Denton school. But, the appeals court said

"Having provided housing facilities for women it is unconstitutionally discriminating against its male students when it does not provide substantially equivalent and equal housing facilities for men." In addition, the court said, the school is discriminating against its female students when it permits male students to live in off-campus private housing but denies that right to female students. A Denton district court granted an injunction against the school enforcing the rule, and the appeals court affirmed the ruling. The housing rule requires all undergraduate women under 23 to live in university housing unless they are married, live with their parents and commute, are veterans or qualify as "hardship cases."

Weather Blamed For Spiraling Food Costs

You've heard about the drought that hurt the corn, the frost that hit the coffee and the floods that damaged the sugar beets. Now, say farmers, bad weather is cutting into the potato crop.

Less than a year after Americans were buying potatoes at bargain prices because of abundant harvests, there is talk of a shortage. Potatoes which were selling at five pounds for 60 cents in a New York City store this spring now are advertised at five pounds for 80 cents.

No one is ready to make any firm predictions. The U.S. Department of Agriculture's next estimate of 1975 harvests won't be out until Monday. And the real size of the crop won't be known until much later this year.

Peter Chapogas, of the vegetable branch of the USDA Agricultural and Marketing Service, explained that you don't know the yield — the number of potatoes you get from an acre — until you start digging up the potatoes. And since the major producing season for potatoes is the fall, no one is going to start digging the main crop until September.

Meanwhile, however, local officials express concern over bad weather that has hit potato-producing areas.

Idaho, which is the country's biggest potato producer with 24 per cent of the crop, had a long, cold spring which delayed planting. Development of the crop is still far behind normal in eastern Idaho, a major producing area.

Paul J. Eastman, deputy commissioner of agriculture in Maine, the No. 3 state, said: "The appearance of the crop now is not good. There are many saying it's the poorest crop in many years."

Maine produces about 11 per cent of the nation's potatoes. Washington is No. 2 with 12 per cent and California and North Dakota are tied for fourth place with 7 per cent each.

Part of the problem is bad weather. "It was dry in May, then we had 15 days of constant rain which slowed up planting," said Duane A. Smith, marketing economist for the University of Maine's cooperative extension service in Orono. "And then," Smith said, "it turned very dry in June with three or four weeks of virtual drought condition."

Another part of the problem is that farmers who received low prices last year when potatoes were abundant, cut back on the amount they planted this year.

Farmers spent $550 for every acre they planted last year, Smith said. They got back $250. Prices paid to farmers for the 1974 crop started at 42 cents for a 10-pound bag and dropped to 23 cents.

To make a profit this year, Smith said, farmers will need 40 to 50 cents for a 10-pound bag.

Lloyd Schmidt, executive vice president of the Red River Valley Potato Growers Association said farmers in Minnesota and North Dakota planted about 185,000 acres in potatoes this year, about 7 per cent less than in 1974. Thirteen per cent of the land was flooded out in recent heavy rains.

Legislation Is Fighting Computers

The drive to prevent supermarkets from taking price stamps off individual cans and packages has spread to more than half the 50 states, but the campaign has met with little success so far.

Legislation on the subject has been introduced in 27 states and the District of Columbia. Until now, it has been enacted in only one state, Rhode Island, and had been defeated in three, Arkansas, Maryland and South Dakota.

A bill also has been introduced in Congress to require supermarkets to put prices on individual items and to use unit pricing, but no hearings have been scheduled. A spokesman for Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, one of the sponsors of the bill, said he hoped hearings might be set for later this summer.

The controversy stems from attempts to computerize supermarket checkout systems by the use of electronic scanners which would "read" a price code printed on each item by the manufacturer. Regular prices would be marked on shelves instead of on individual products.

TREMORS MEASURED

Alcoholic Monkeys

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Monkeys sporting plastic hats and a slight alcoholic buzz may help researchers determine the effects of withdrawal on the moderate drinker.

"There is a tremor of the hands and extremities even in early stages of alcohol withdrawal," said Dr. Walter A. Pieper, a scientist with the Yerkes Regional Primate Center.

"Our research focuses on moderate alcohol intake," said Pieper, who is working with the small rhesus monkey, "but the dependency is still there and can be seen in the tremors."

Pieper and his staff maintain different blood levels with different monkeys and it's done by infusing alcohol directly into a vein.

Monkeys used in the research have an external portion of a catheter left in a tough plastic box — somewhat resembling a woman's hat known as the pillbox style — permanently secured to their heads.

The animal is strapped into a chair and the tubing in the box on its head connected to the alcohol which then is infused at a rate that matches the monkey's ability to metabolize it into his bloodstream.

"We give them loading doses to get the blood alcohol level up to the desired level and maintain that by putting in alcohol at the same level they burn it up," Pieper said. Dose levels are in range with those of human moderate drinkers, he said.

The tremors are measured by attaching a small device known as a transducer, which records the animal's tiniest muscle movement. It measures the change in frequency of the tremors during the period of alcohol withdrawal.

Pieper said that scientists already know a great deal about the large intake of alcohol from studying humans — their tremors, hallucinations and withdrawals.

"What we're trying to develop is a method for detecting a mild dependence," he said. "What remains to be done is to establish a relationship between the degree of physical dependence and the tremor frequency," Pieper added.

The research, which has been under way for more than a year, is aimed at helping humans make an intelligent choice of their alcohol intake and answer such questions as: What is a moderate intake? What are the consequences of moderate intake on physical dependence?

Telephone Rates Are Due To Rise

STANTON — The city council has dispensed with the services of John Gary, Big Spring architect, and will go another route in revamping the facilities now used for the city hall.

Gary had been hired to draw up plans for remodeling the building, but instead presented plans for a new city hall. He told the city council that remodeling the present building would cost almost as much as building a new one.

In a poll made by the Stanton Reporter, it was determined that most people preferred building a new city hall over a plan to remodel the old one.

Hiss Reinstated To Practice Law

BOSTON (AP) — Alger Hiss, whose conviction in a spy case helped bring Richard M. Nixon to national prominence 25 years ago, has been reinstated to practice law in Massachusetts.

The state Supreme Judicial Court ruled Tuesday that Hiss's good behavior over the past two decades shows he would not again commit the crime for which he was sent to prison — lying to a grand jury.

Hiss, 70, a stationary salesman in New York, said he was "highly gratified" by the ruling. His attorney said Hiss hoped to practice law again in the Boston area.

In the spy case, Whittaker Chambers, an admitted courier for Russian agents, said Hiss gave him secret government documents in 1937 and 1938. Hiss then was an official in the State Department.

Public Records

That plan has yet to take shape, however.

Southwestern Bell Telephone has been granted a rate increase after Southwestern Bell manager Harry Sawyer said that the system was showing only a 2.35 percent profit on its $400,000 investment here.

The new monthly rates mean that business one-party phones will henceforth cost $14; one-party residential phones, $6.25; and two-party residential phones, $4.75. The old rates have been in effect since 1972.

Two downtown blocks in Stanton will be resurfaced at a cost of $7,500. The project will be on St. Joseph's Street from the Martin County courthouse to the front of Cain Tractor and Supply.

He graduated in 1969 from Reydon, Okla. High School and received his B. S. degree in 1973 from Oklahoma State University where he was commissioned through the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program.

Honey Bee $24,000 Year Contract Nixed

HOUSTON (P) — Houston area glaziers have rejected a proposed contract that would pay them about $24,000 a year for a 40-hour work week.

Norman Teoliner, bargaining committee chairman for contractors, said the three-year proposal included a $1 per hour wage increase for each of the first two years and a $1.10 boost the third year.

E. P. South, business representative for Glaziers Local 1778, said an interim agreement has been signed with nine of the 15 contractors providing for a $1.10 per hour increase pending acceptance of a new contract.

When the limited edition Datsun Honey Bee goes on sale August 1 at Don Crawford Datsun, it will become the lowest priced car sold by Datsun.

With a suggested retail price of $2,639, the Honey Bee model of the B-210 series features distinctive interior trim, special bodyside tape stripes, "Honey Bee" emblem and yellow paint scheme.

A 1.4 liter four-cylinder overhead valve engine is standard in the Honey Bee and all B-210s. Economical? This is the engine that achieved 41 miles per gallon in the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) simulated highway driving test.

Coupled to the rugged five main bearing design engine is a four-speed synchromesh transmission with a floor shift. And sure stopping is assured with power-assisted front disc brakes and eight-inch drums in the rear.

Standard equipment on the new Honey Bee includes all-vinyl upholstery, glove compartment, heater and flow-through ventilation. The rest of the Datsun line is also on display at Don Crawford's.

There is the "mid-size" economy champ 710, the top-of-the-line 610 series of family cars, and legendary 280-Z and the rugged "Li'l Hustler" pickup, this year available also in a long wheelbase version.

The Honey Bee suggested retail price of $2,639 does not include state and local taxes, if any, or factory suggested dealer preparation charges.

GUARDS ARRESTED

DALLAS (AP) — Police said Wednesday two private security guards have been arrested on complaints they had been burglarizing their clients' homes.

No charges were filed at once, officers said. Recovered were $20,000 in stolen guns, cameras and jewels. Police said they became suspicious of the pair after they learned a burglary had occurred at a home about the same time the men's patrol car was seen parked outside the home.

The investigation covered a three-month period, police said.

AN ASIDE — President Ford chats with Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., following signing of an extension of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, in the Rose Garden of the White House Wednesday. Kennedy, often mentioned as a possible presidential candidate in 1976, has declared he will not run.

Ford Signs Extension Of Voting Rights Act

WASHINGTON (AP) — Declaring "the right to vote is at the very foundation of our American system," President Ford signed a seven-year extension of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, a landmark piece of civil rights legislation.

"Nothing must interfere with this very precious right," the President said as he signed the bill in a Rose Garden ceremony.

Without Ford's signature, the 10-year-old act, credited with greatly increasing black participation in politics, would have expired at 12:01 a.m. Thursday.

The 1965 law attacked electoral discrimination against blacks in seven Southern states. The extension broadens the coverage to areas in 24 states where more than 5 per cent of voting-age residents are Mexican-American, Alaskan natives, American Indians or of Asian ancestry. Included are certain voting districts of New York City; Texas, and parts of California and Colorado.

The extension also includes the original act's nationwide ban on literacy tests.

The measure requires federal pre-clearance of voting district changes and permits federal registration and election examiners to go into areas that are covered to check records and voting procedures.

It also bans for 10 years English-only elections in states and political subdivisions in which more than 5 per cent of voting-age citizens are members of any single language majority.

Under this provision, a city might be required to print three ballots — in English, Spanish and Chinese, or perhaps another language.

The House had voted a 10-year extension of the 1965 bill, but agreed to the Senate's seven-year version without going to a time-consuming conference as Congress began its August recess last week.

The Senate last month also rejected a Southern-led effort aimed at expanding the coverage of the law to all 50 states. President Ford made a last-minute appeal for such coverage.

Opponents said that the proposal would "gut" the 1965 law that had facilitated the registration of thousands of black voters in the South.

Ford earlier had supported a five-year extension of the original bill.

Dad Of Golfer Weds Divorcee

AUSTIN (AP) — Charles Crenshaw, father of professional golfer Ben Crenshaw, has married Roberta Dickson, whose divorce from lawyer Fagan Dickson resulted in a multimillion dollar settlement in her favor.

Dickson, a former assistant attorney general, served in 1964 as Sen. Ralph Yarborough's statewide finance co-chairman. Dickson announced for Congress in protest of President Lyndon Johnson's Vietnam policies but withdrew after Johnson said he would not seek another term.

SHUT DOWN TIRE DEALER Bullock's Raiders Hit Close To Home

AUSTIN (AP) — State Comptroller Bob Bullock and his agents struck close to home Wednesday, shutting down a tire dealer for allegedly failing to pay sales taxes totaling $47,038 over four years.

Bullock said the Jackson Tire Co. owed the state $37,102 and the city of Austin $9,936.

Other comptroller agents shut down a tire recapping operation and the Jackson Tire Co. at another location. Bullock said merchandise will be sold at public auction if the delinquent taxes are not paid. Reporters who had been invited to accompany "Bullock's Raiders" said Jackson was surprised when Bullock, his agents and the reporters rushed into Jackson's garage near the heart of downtown.

"We've done everything we know to do with this taxpayer," Bullock said of Jackson. "We've even filled out his returns for him. We've helped him, and now we're going to help the buying public who forked over those tax dollars in the first place."

Bullock said several Austin businesses were delinquent in paying taxes, and his agents will "take them one at a time."

"You might be seeing this almost every week in Austin now," Bullock said.

Bullock plans to visit an undisclosed number of Houston delinquents next Monday.

"The sad truth is 12,000 Harris County delinquents owe the state treasury $11.9 million," the comptroller said.

"They're not cheating me. They're cheating their taxpaying customers. They're cheating the kids in the public schools paid for by the state and they're cheating city hall out of money it needs," Bullock said.

Oldtimer In West Texas Eyes 120 Year Old Mark

ASPERMONT, Tex. (AP) — Cane in hand, Glover Miller shuffles through the First National Bank here where he has been employed for as long as anyone can remember.

Miller can remember pretty far back. He says he is 113 years old and few in this West Texas community will quarrel with that.

The oldtimer picks up trash at the bank and relishes memories obscured somewhat by time.

Glover Miller says he was born into slavery near Montgomery, Ala., during the Civil War. "When the Yankees came around, I didn't know anything. Six white men came on horses and told my mama, 'You are as free as we are.' When the old master found out he turned over in his bed and never said another word. He had just bought a bunch of slaves from New Orleans and the word killed him," Miller said.

Here are his observations on life:

"I heard about them on the moon. But I'll tell you one thing: they never fooled around with the sun. And I bet they never will."

"I bought a car from a white woman who didn't like the color. That must have been a hundred years ago." It was Miller's only automobile.

"Let's see," he says, trying to recall how many children he has. "You'll just have to ask my children about that. I've got so many."

His daughters say the old

Firebombings Trio Arrested

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Three men were jailed here Wednesday in connection with what police said has been the firebombings of several stores and offices since the first of the year. Officers arrested the trio without filing immediate charges after receiving a tip from a witness who said he had watched the men hurl a firebomb into a downtown store before dawn.

Walt Disney Lake Project Outlined

TRUCKEE, Calif. (AP) — Walt Disney Productions, stymied in its dream of a year-round resort high in the Sierra mountains, has set its sights on a small man-made lake near the California-Nevada border.

Independence Lake, serene in the shadow of 9,143-foot Mt. Lola, will be the site of Disney's latest family "destination" resort, if local authorities approve.

Plans for the facility 192 miles east of San Francisco and 50 miles west of Reno, Nev., were outlined recently at a meeting for county supervisors and local planners.

Disney will build the resort on 10,000 acres, of which less than 10 percent will be developed. The rest will remain in its natural state.

Included will be a pedestrian-oriented village, a 275-room lodge, underground parking, condominiums, shops, an electric-cog railway, a mountain-top restaurant and a variety of outdoor recreation activities, including skiing, hiking, camping and fishing. It will handle nearly 3,000 overnight visitors and 5,000 skiers each weekend day.

The project is similar to one derailed by environmentalists at Mineral King, a narrow, two-mile-long valley 7,800 feet up in Sequoia National Forest of Central California.

The Mineral King development would have included an "American alpine village," several restaurants, shops, convention facilities and outdoor sports activities.

The Mineral King project drew opposition from environmentalists, led by the Sierra Club, which filed a suit in 1969. The court battle derailed Disney's plans. Disney spokesmen say they haven't really given up on Mineral King, but say it will have to wait until Independence Lake is finished, probably in 1978.

"We do not see Independence Lake as a substitute for Mineral King," said a Disney spokesman. He said the attractions are aimed at different users.

Disney conceived Mineral King as a destination resort for the millions of Southern Californians who already have easy access to Disneyland in Anaheim. Independence Lake is designed for visitors from Northern California and the Pacific Northwest.

Specific figures on money investment are not available, officials say, because of the early stages of the development. The Mineral King project was to have cost $35 million in the late 1960s.

$1,100 Unemployment Benefits Paid Official

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A veteran Oklahoma Employment Security Commission member who drew approximately $1,100 in unemployment benefits this year because of a ruling by commission employees said here the payments "were legal and they were not a conflict of interest."

O. A. Siler of Ponca City, an OESC commissioner for 11 years who also is an employee of Continental Oil Co. and president of Local 5857 of the Oil Chemical and Atomic Workers Union (AFL-CIO), which is made up of Continental employees, said he had nothing to do with the decision that made him eligible for the unemployment benefits.

Siler was among approximately 800 Conoco employees who became eligible for the benefits, up to a maximum of $78 per week, when the OESC's Appeals Tribunal ruled they were victims of a management lockout and were not on strike.

A 1974 law made union workers eligible for unemployment benefits if they were locked out instead of on strike.

Siler and Walter Rapp, OESC administrator, said the members of the Appeals Tribunal are under the merit system and are not subject to pressure from the commission.

"I drew the unemployment benefits from the time the lockout started, March 1, to the time it ended, June 24, for the simple reason that I am a Conoco employee and I had no other source of income," Siler said.

He said he drew approximately $1,100 in benefits at the $78 weekly rate during the nearly four months he was off the job.

"The commission had no vote on the decision on the benefits," he said. "The Appeals Tribunal decided it and they are all merit system employees."

Siler, who was appointed to the commission by then-Gov. Henry Bellmon and reappointed during the David Hall administration, also said Conoco has appealed the ruling to the Board of Review, a three-member panel appointed by Gov. David Boren.

"I certainly don't have any control over the Board of Review," he said. "Their decision ought to be out in two or three weeks and that should settle it."

Rapp said unemployment claims normally "are filed through our local office, but in case of labor disputes they go directly to the Appeals Tribunal so there can be no question of local pressures influencing the decision."

Plemons Draws Life In Prison

DALLAS (AP) — William Ray Plemons, 29, was sentenced Tuesday to life in prison for aggravated robbery during the abduction last May of a deputy sheriff and a cab driver.

The jury took 45 minutes to find Plemons guilty following two days of testimony.

Testimony showed that cab driver Donald Holden picked up Plemons in Fort Worth and was told to drive to Tyler. En route, the cab was stopped in Dallas by Dallas County Deputy Sheriff Genaro Rangel Jr. who was forced at gunpoint into the trunk of his prowl car which Holden was ordered to drive to Texarkana.

Judge Seeking Senior Status

HOUSTON (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge Allen B. Hannay, 83, has asked for a senior status as a federal judge.

Hannay said Wednesday approval of the request submitted to President Ford would create a vacancy for a full-time judge in the Southern District of Texas. The request asked that the vacancy be filled at the earliest practicable date.

Hannay was appointed in 1943 by President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

With senior status, federal judges continue to hear cases at their discretion.

Weather Study Experts Here

Two meetings here today and Friday will focus upon the Hiplax (High Plains) weather modification experiments in the Big Spring area.

Agency representatives from the Bureau of Reclamation and Texas Water Development board area are here for coordinating sessions today.

Friday the advisory board on weather modification for the Texas Water Development Board will convene here. It is led by Ted Smith, head of Meteorological Research, Inc., the firm which is evaluating the modification operations by the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Others on the panel are John Carr, head of the weather research division for TWD, O.H. Ivie, General manager for CRMWD, Dr. James R. Scoggins, Texas A&M, and Dr. Donald R. Haragan, Texas Tech. This board will review the status of the Bureau of Reclamation weather modification studies and will make recommendations to the bureau concerning the Big Spring-South Plains project.

Flying this week from the Howard County airport is a B-23, heavily laden with instruments for checking atmosphere composition, also for particulate matter.

MRI also has a Navajo for flying at levels slightly higher than the CRMWD planes, and an Aero-Commander which will make high altitude samplings.

Representing the Bureau of Reclamation here are Dr. Barnard Silverman, Denver, Colo., chief of research and development for the bureau; Lloyd Steubinger, Denver, Colo., coordinator of the Big Spring leg of the three-pronged bureau study which also has operations at Garden City, Kans and Miles City, Mont; Bob Reggio, Austin, for the TWB, and Smith, together with some of his key personnel; MRI R. A. Schilling, coordinator for the CRMWD, also will be in on the parleys.

HELEN HAYES BACK IN NEW YORK — The first lady of American theatre Helen Hayes, who will be 75 in October, was in New York for the premier of her latest movie "One of Our Dinosaurs is Missing." With her is Evelyn Albizu, a 17-year-old student from Curitiba, Brazil. Miss Hayes was also in New York on behalf of American Field Services, a group which via scholarships brings young people to the United States for study.

Y Has Big Summer

The Big Spring YMCA at Eighth and Owens taught 647 children how to swim this summer along with 42 adults. The aquatic program attracted a total enrollment of 885 not including an additional total of 3,200 participants in open recreational swim.

The gym classes hosted 258 children, grades first through sixth along with another 147 individuals involved in Trampoline and tumbling. Another 144 children participated in arts and crafts under the instruction of Mrs. Kathie Sullivan. Special interest classes ranging from karate and judo to baton and dancing involved 84 individuals.

The fall schedule will be out soon with the new schedule beginning Aug. 25. New programs will be a gymnastics team, a competitive swim team, new women's fitness on Monday and Thursday evenings; a soccer program for grades 3-6 in Gra-Y along with flag football and basketball.

The YMCA has invited all to join in fitness and fun this fall.

Fina Shows Increase

DALLAS — American Petrofina, Incorporated, has announced an increase in second quarter earnings over the depressed first quarter of 1975, but significantly below the record level of 1974. Net income in the first half of 1975 dropped to $14,219,000, or $1.33 per common share as compared with $32,321,000, or $3.03 per share in the same period of 1974.

Gross revenue was $49,775,000 during the first six months of 1975, and $47,411,000 in the same period of 1974. For the second quarter of 1975, net income rose to $9,614,000, or 90¢ per share, from $4,605,000, or 43¢ per share in the first three months of 1975.

R. I. Galland, president, said the improvement in earnings during the second quarter of 1975, as compared with those of the first quarter, is attributed to greater production of crude oil and natural gas, to higher prices of refined products, and to some recovery in demand for products of the petrochemicals and plastics division.

As compared with the first half of 1974, however, Galland stated earnings were adversely affected by a substantially lower level of sales of plastics and petrochemicals, particularly export sales of petrochemicals, by losses on tanker operations, and by increased costs of raw materials and operations which were fully recovered in refined products. Writing off undeveloped off-shore leases over a five-year period also reduced net income.

Dress, Hair Code Is Same

COAHOMA — The same dress and hair code in effect last year at Coahoma schools will be enforced this year.

Supt. W. A. Wilson and the principals said today that students registering Aug. 15 must be in conformance to be admitted.

Basically this means that boys hair must not be longer than the middle of the ear; girls may wear slacks or Levis but not scooter skirts, shorts or halters.

Summertime Is For Living Easy

Sing a song of summer at a table set on porch, patio or in the back yard. Entertaining out of doors can be just as easy as you make it in the good ol' summertime. Go informal, elegant or both, but remember summertime is for living easy and relaxed and that means easy food preparation and serving.

Outdoor barbecuing creates just the right atmosphere for hearty appetites, great story telling and total enjoyment for the "cook" as well as guests. Keep in mind that the most tender meats for barbecuing come from those parts that are the "laziest" cuts from the back, ribs and loin. Pork back ribs are a real treat, especially when brushed with a zesty, flavorful orange sauce and broiled on an outdoor barbecue. They fill the air with a fragrance that invites enthusiastic eating.

Fresh western grown oranges and grapefruit play it cool when coupled with summertime's plentiful fruits. Colorful watermelon makes a convenient container to show off a medley of summer fruits with verve and sparkle.

Complement Convenience Foods

The "easy does it" hostess starts with convenience foods and turns them into her own creations. A flavor-packed canned ham stars for elegance and ease. The glaze and orange cartwheel garnish take only minutes to prepare, but add up to a culinary triumph. Pork products and citrus fruits complement each other, a duo that never fails to capture summer's most capricious or lazy appetite.

You can add the piquant grated peel and tart juice of fresh lemons to two popular convenience foods for a real party popper — Light 'n Lemony Tower Cake.

Make this summer one of real easy livin' — and eating enjoyment.

Patio Party Baked Ham

- 7 to 10-pound canned ham
- Berry Glaze*
- Orange Cartwheels

Place ham on rack in open roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer so it is centered in the thickest part. Do not add water. Do not cover. Bake in a slow oven (325°F.) until thermometer registers 140°F. (allow 15 to 20 minutes per pound). Brush ham with Berry Glaze 30 minutes before it is done. Brush again after 15 to 20 minutes. Arrange Orange Cartwheels on platter around ham.

*Berry Glaze

- 1/2 cup strawberry or raspberry preserves
- 1/2 cup fresh squeezed orange juice
- 1 tablespoon fresh squeezed lemon juice

Combine strawberry or raspberry preserves with fresh orange and lemon juices in a saucepan and cook over low heat for 5 to 10 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Orange Cartwheels

- 2 oranges, peeled

For picture perfect orange cartwheels remove all the white membrane when peeling oranges. Trim a thin slice from both ends of fruit, then slice fruit crosswise into 1/4-inch slices. Cut slices in half.

Light 'n Lemony Tower Cake (10-inch tube cake)

- 1 package (18.5 ounces) lemon chiffon cake mix
- 2 tablespoons fresh grated lemon peel
- Quick Lemon Filling*
- Fresh Lemon Glaze

Prepare lemon chiffon cake mix according to package directions; fold grated lemon peel into prepared batter. Pour into 10 x 4 inch tube pan; bake in moderate oven (350°F.) for 45 to 55 minutes. Cool pan upside down. When cake is completely cool, loosen around sides and tube with narrow spatula. Split cake into 3 layers. Spread Quick Lemon Filling between layers. Glaze top with Fresh Lemon Glaze, drizzling some over edges.

*Quick Lemon Filling

- 1 package (3-1/4 ounces) lemon pudding and pie filling mix
- 1-2/3 cups water
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon fresh grated lemon peel
- 1/4 cup water
- 3 tablespoons fresh squeezed lemon juice
- 1 egg, beaten

In small saucepan, combine filling mix with sugar and 1/4 cup water; blend in egg and 1 2/3 cups water. Bring to a full boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; stir in grated peel and lemon juice. Cool before spreading between cake layers.

Fresh Lemon Glaze

- 2 tablespoons hot fresh squeezed lemon juice
- Pinch of salt
- 1/4 teaspoon vanilla
- 1-1/2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar

Stir hot lemon juice, vanilla and salt into confectioners' sugar and blend until smooth.

SHIMMERING BAKED GLAZED HAM
Easy makin' for all summer long

GOLDEN BACK RIBS WITH KABOB GARNISH
With a medley of summertime fruits

Orange-Glazed Back Ribs

- 6 pounds pork back ribs
- 1/3 cup brown sugar
- 1 cup barbecue sauce
- 2 tablespoons soy sauce
- 1 cup fresh squeezed orange juice
- 2 tablespoons instant minced onion
- 1/3 cup fresh squeezed lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon fresh grated orange peel

Combine barbecue sauce, orange juice, lemon juice, brown sugar, soy sauce, instant minced onion and salt. Bring to boil, lower heat and simmer, uncovered, 10 to 20 minutes, stirring occasionally until sauce thickens. Stir in orange peel. Place ribs on grill over low to moderate heat and broil 1 hour, turning to brown evenly. Brush ribs with sauce and continue broiling 20 to 30 minutes or until done, turning and brushing with sauce occasionally. 6 servings.

Sparkling Fruit Medley

- 1/2 watermelon, cut lengthwise
- 1/2 cup fresh squeezed orange juice
- 3 to 4 oranges, peeled and cut into cartwheels
- 1 pear, chilled
- 1 grapefruit, peeled and sectioned
- 1 banana, chilled
- 1-1/2 cups ginger ale
- Mint leaves

Remove "meat" from watermelon half; cut "meat" into cubes to provide 2 cups. Using small glass or jar lid, mark scallops around edge of watermelon; cut out with sharp fruit knife. Turn melon upside down to drain. Cut orange cartwheels into quarters. Place melon cubes, orange pieces, grapefruit sections and orange juice in watermelon shell; chill. Just before serving, peel banana and cut into slices and cut pear into bite-size pieces. Combine with other fruits and toss lightly to mix. Pour chilled ginger ale over fruit. Garnish with mint. Serves 6.

Hot Green Bean And Bacon Salad

- 4 to 6 slices bacon
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
- 2 packages (9 ounces each) frozen green beans
- 2 tablespoons fresh squeezed lemon juice

Cut bacon slices in one-inch segments and pan fry until crisp. Add onion and cook in drippings during last two minutes. Cook beans in boiling salted water according to package directions and drain thoroughly. Stir bacon, onion, 1 to 2 tablespoons drippings and lemon juice into beans. Serve hot. Makes six servings.

California Kabobs

- 2 large oranges, each cut in 8 wedges
- 1 large green pepper, cut in 16 pieces
- 16 canned onions

Alternate wedges of orange, pieces of green pepper and onions on metal skewers. Brush with sauce for ribs and place on grill to heat the last 5 to 10 minutes ribs are cooking, turning occasionally.

Irwin Has High Hopes

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Hale Irwin could seize the 1975 golf tour's money-winning lead this week.

But that conquest was not uppermost in the former University of Colorado football star's mind before he teed off today in the 57th PGA National Championship at Firestone Country Club.

"I'd rather win this tournament than have the money lead. If you win enough of the Big Four events, the money title will follow," said the 30-year-old Missourian.

Of course, his first PGA victory would accomplish both feats since a minimum $45,000 first-prize money is at stake. Irwin's second-place total of $189,352 is just $15,000 shy of Jack Nicklaus' leading figure this year.

Irwin, in the midst of his best of eight tour years, isn't even sure he would alter the remainder of his 1975 schedule to pursue the money laurels.

"I will have to see what's happening around me. But I'll probably play only two more times. Possibly three, possibly four," said the 1974 U.S. Open champion Wednesday. There are nine tournaments left.

Even if he should fail to win another dime, his 1975 earnings will be more than $25,000 ahead of his best season — 1974.

Irwin has won twice — Atlantic Classic and Western Open — and finished in the top ten in 12 of his 19 tournaments.

Why such consistency? "First of all, I'm playing better," replied Irwin, flashing a big smile.

"I made a very slight adjustment in my swing. That helped. But a lot of it comes under the heading of experience, maturity, confidence."

Weiskopf Is Confident of Chances At Akron

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Tom Weiskopf shrugged off the galling memory of his $50,000 disappointment at Westchester and put himself high today on the list of half-dozen men — no more — he thinks capable of winning the PGA golf crown.

"I have forgotten the tournament last week. It is over. It is final. You can't let a thing like that bug you," said the temperamental stylist who blew a seven-stroke halfway lead last weekend in one of the world's richest events.

"I don't feel I gave it away. After all, Gene Littler had to sink a hole-in-one to win it. I didn't play a loose shot. Maybe it was for the best. If I had won there, I might not be as keen here.

"This is the PGA, a major. I would really like to win it."

The 6-foot-3 Weiskopf, who only a week earlier had beaten Jack Nicklaus in a playoff for the Canadian Open, is one of the strong advance favorites in the field of 38 touring and teaching pros who tee off in their family event today over the long and tough Firestone course, scene of two previous PGAs as well as the American Golf Classic and World Series. It is a 7,100-yard test of brute strength playing to a par 70.

"There is nothing subtle about this course," Weiskopf said. "It is blast, blast, blast. You just get out there and slug. That's the reason I think you can limit the real contenders to a handful.

"Nicklaus, of course. Lee Trevino because he drives so straight. Johnny Miller, streaky but tremendous. Arnold Palmer, still as good a driver as there is in golf. And Hale Irwin, with those good long irons and playing very confidently."

And, it goes without saying — Tom Weiskopf.

Weiskopf, now 32, turned pro in 1964. Then followed an erratic, unpredictable period — spurts of brilliance and occasional blowups — until 1973 when he won four U.S. tour events, the British Open, South African and became World Series and became Pro Golfer of the Year.

DEFENDING PGA CHAMP GETS SERIOUS — Caught in a moment of concentration, Lee Trevino of El Paso, who won the PGA tournament last year, follows a putt on the 18th green at the Firestone Country Club in Akron during a practice round for the PGA, which got under way today.

Stanton Picked Second In Loop

STANTON — The 1975 Stanton Buffaloes, full of hope and blessed with experience, begin twice-a-day conditioning workouts Monday. Pads will be issued Friday, Aug. 15.

The Stanton athletes were to undergo physical examinations in Big Spring this afternoon. Shoes were issued to the players Wednesday.

The Buffs and Iraan will meet in a controlled scrimmage in Stanton the evening of Aug. 22. The junior varsity squads take the field at 6 p.m. The varsity troops clash about 8:00.

The Bisons will scrimmage Coahoma Aug. 29, with both JVs and the A squad seeing action.

Tahoka is the first regular season opponent of the Buffs. The two teams vie in Tahoka at 8 p.m., Friday, Sept. 5.

Stanton, which has a new head coach in Bob Richardson, has been picked to finish second in District 5-A in two different polls. Seagraves was the choice over Stanton in both instances. Seagraves is the defending titlist.

In their head-to-head struggle last year, Seagraves won a thriller, 30-22. This year, Stanton gets Seagraves at home. O'Donnell will be the only other 5-A opponent the Buffs meet at home. Plains and Shallowater will play host to Stanton in 5-A games.

Abilene Dixie Licks Alice

WACO — Abilene Dixie chilled Alice, previous winner over the Big Spring Texans, in a second-round game of the State Little League playoffs here Wednesday.

The victory puts Abilene in the semifinals against Fort Worth National. The two quarterfinals clash at 8 o'clock.

In other games Wednesday, San Antonio Palm Heights turned back Lumberton, 10-6; and Corpus Christi's Padres measured Galveston Central 3-2.

Abilene collected ten hits in routing Alice.

John Is Still Waiting For Chance To Pitch

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Hey, I've got this great idea. You could hold a great promotion — guess the day Tommy John pitches again."

Then Tommy John laughed and said, "Even I couldn't win that one."

It's been 14 months since the popular left-handed pitcher of the Los Angeles Dodgers suffered a severe injury to his left elbow. His comeback from the resultant surgery has been much slower than had been hoped and he still isn't ready to resume his mound duties.

In a year of Dodger frustrations, of injuries, batting slumps, wasted opportunities and bad luck, John's pitching ability is perhaps the one overlooked yet vital commodity the defending National League champions needed.

John is sure he'll be back before season's end, but by the time he pitches, the Dodgers may already have been mathematically eliminated from the pennant race and his appearance will provoke mere curiosity instead of hopes for a drive to the top.

"I'm throwing 100 per cent of how hard I can throw," said the 32-year-old John. "To what degree it's healed I really can't say; that's for the doctors. But I feel great. I haven't had any pain in the arm since I started throwing in spring training March 10.

"I'm maybe not as sharp as I should be, but when I throw full bore I know the strength is there — that I can get the hitters out."

A numbness in his third and fourth fingers following the delicate operation Sept. 25 caused more problems than pain. He couldn't sense how hard to grip the ball and the muscles weren't working that well. Physical therapy was started and even though the numbness has disappeared, it's still part of John's daily routine.

DODGER TOMMY JOHN.

"His arm is 85 per cent back to where it was," said Manager Walter Alston, "but his control is not good. He's farther away today than he was, say, last week, but his motion is good and he's stayed in good shape."

"I want to pitch in September," said Tommy, a 6-foot-3, 185-pounder who was 13-3 with a 2.59 earned run average last season before the injury. "But I don't know if the opportunity will present itself then. We may be in a race for second place and they may not want to take a chance."

He's been pitching batting practice for the Dodgers in the last month and rarely throws a fastball to teammates because he knows his control is still shaky. "I'd hate to uncork a wild pitch, so I'm not throwing hard at all."

GRADY — Grady's softball playday will get underway at 1 p.m. here Sunday, contrary to previous reports. All residents in the area are eligible to take part.

SAFELY BACK — Big Spring's Kent Rice darts back into first base to escape being tagged out in Wednesday night's State Junior Teen-Age League playoff game with Conroe. Conroe won the game, 11-4, to remain unbeaten in the double-elimination style meet. Both Teen-Age diamonds are being used here for the tournament, which attracted champions from eight districts around the state.

HE'S THE BOSS New Met Manager Lets Them Know

NEW YORK (AP) — Roy McMillan, new manager of the New York Mets, will make his presence felt in the clubhouse, if not in the headlines. McMillan, a nondescript second-stringer in the managerial ranks until he was named to replace the fired Yogi Berra, laid it on the line to his players in a team meeting before Wednesday night's 9-6 victory over the Montreal Expos.

Malaprops No Problem

NEW YORK (AP) — One night in St. Louis they poured into old Busch Stadium to honor one of their own. They came to pay tribute and they came to be entertained. They weren't disappointed. Their man trudged up to the microphone in his shuffling, sad-sack gait and said: "I want to thank all the baseball fans and everyone else who made this night necessary."

Cincinnati's Sunshine Boys Keep Rolling On

The Cincinnati Reds are laughing all the way to the National League West pennant. "We're using all our players these days — it keeps everyone happy," said manager Sparky Anderson after his muscled Reds walloped the San Francisco Giants 12-5 Wednesday.

off at 8 o'clock on the Junior diamond this evening in the only winner's bracket game. Big Spring plays again at 6 o'clock against Port Lavaca, with the losers limping to the sidelines. Port Lavaca hung on by edging Killen, 7-3, Wednesday evening.

Both Killen and Brownwood were eliminated from the title contention, after losing their second straight games. Brownwood was victimized by Mexia, 5-2. Mexia was edged in its first game by Big Spring.

their lead over Baltimore trimmed to seven games. The Orioles jumped all over Detroit, sweeping a two-night doubleheader 4-2 and 8-2, extending the Tigers' losing streak to 11 games.

Today, though, those so-called runaways have been slowed to a crawl and both the Royals and Orioles are putting on charges that could change the rest of the season from play-out-the-schedule games to scramble-all-the-way days.
