SPINNING WITH THE WIND

CONDITIONING COYOTES

ENCOURAGING NEWS — A researcher is working on techniques to condition coyotes to avoid sheep. Wild coyotes, one shown above in the drawing by Velma Finley, will take the bait, says Dr. Carl R. Gustavson, a professor of psychology.

Civil War Fears Mount In Portugal

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Pro-Communist Premier Vasco Goncalves formed a temporary government in riot-torn Portugal today and announced it would use "severity and repression" against those who oppose it. Acknowledging that he had difficulty putting together even a stopgap Cabinet in the midst of the worst political and military crisis of the 15-month-old Portuguese revolution, Goncalves also warned the nation it faced more austerity measures. Four persons have been killed and scores injured in anti-Communist violence in northern Portugal in the past week. The demonstrators are enraged at the radical leftward turn of the Portuguese revolution despite the clear mandate given to Socialists, Popular Democrats and other moderate leftists in last April's constituent elections. The Socialists and the Popular Democrats, frustrated with the country's extremist leadership, quit the government last month, provoking the latest crisis. There were fears that the confrontations, which have forced the government to send marines into northern towns, could reach into the Portuguese capital and turn into full-fledged civil war.

Saying the country was "in the most difficult moment of the revolution," the premier warned:

"In the fight against the neo-Fascist phenomenon that lately has been multiplying in our country, severity and repression will be used." President Francisco de Costa Gomes, pleading for moderation in the face of civil strife and military dissent, said the new cabinet was "a transitory solution." The cabinet was divided between military men and civilians but contained no members of the nation's two biggest political parties, the Socialists and Popular Democrats, or dissident military officers opposed to the premier's Communist-line policies.

Sniper Hits Man In Head

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — An old man driving along a city street was shot to death Thursday night by a sniper, police said.

The victim was identified as Manuel Mendez, 70, hit once in the head. Police arrested and charged with murder David Child, 27, a Vietnam war veteran.

"I was driving east behind his station wagon when I heard a shot," said Linda Trejo, 21. "I saw the man slump to the right and the car veered into a front yard."

Police said they arrested Child a short while later and recovered a .22-caliber rifle.

BULLETIN

AUSTIN (AP) — Atty. Gen. John Hill said today Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. had withdrawn its proposed $45 million rate increase on intrastate calls and agreed to accept an average of $20 million over each of the next two years.

Hill said the agreement between his office and Bell, after two negotiating sessions, would be filed Monday with District Court Judge Tom Blackwell.

Letter OKing Funds Arrives

Don Earney, Director of HUD-FHA in Lubbock, presented Big Spring Mayor Wade Choate a formal letter approving the city's application for $300,000 in federal funds under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974.

The formal presentation of the letter enables the city to begin with plans to spend around $272,000 of the money on sewer improvements and the remainder on razing of old houses. Both projects will be mostly in low-income areas of the city.

The city will now make formal requests to the Treasury Department for the money as it is needed on a month-to-month basis.

'IT WAS LIKE TRYING TO GET OUT OF SARDINE CAN'

Jet Crashes On Takeoff

DENVER (AP) — "It was like trying to get out of a sardine can," said one of the passengers after a Continental Airlines 727 jetliner plummeted from an altitude of 100 feet on takeoff and skidded across a grassy field. All 131 persons aboard survived the belly-down crash.

Hospitals reported that 38 persons were treated, 15 were admitted.

A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) said it would be premature to speculate on the cause of Thursday's crash. But he added that wind turbulence had been reported in the area.

Passengers and airport officials said an engine burned briefly, apparently before the crash, but there were no flames inside the plane.

The FAA spokesman said the plane, on a flight from Denver to Wichita, Kan., took off from Stapleton International Airport about 4:20 p.m. with 124 passengers and 7 crew members aboard. He said it ascended about 100 feet, then dropped on its belly in a grassy field just beyond the runway and skidded for a quarter of a mile. The landing gear had been retracted before the plane hit, he said. The impact cracked the plane's front and tail sections.

Ed Suddarth of Los Angeles, a passenger, said he noticed the jet was not making an ascent as steep as required. He recalled telling a companion, "This plane is not going to make it." Then the jet hit the ground. "There wasn't any warning, there was nothing," Suddarth said.

He said several passengers began screaming but there was no fire in the passenger area "and that's what saved our lives."

The passengers rushed to escape and "it was like trying to get out of a sardine can," he added.

Lois Anderson of Wichita said she had no time to worry as the plane descended. "These things happen so fast," she said.

Bert Walther of Ponca City, Okla., said, "I heard some screams, but, in general, people behaved very well."

Suddarth said that as the plane crashed, he thought of the June 24 crash of an Eastern Airlines 727 at New York. That crash claimed 114 lives and was the worst single plane disaster in U.S. aviation history.

CRASHED PLANE — A Continental Airlines 727 crashed on its belly Thursday at Stapleton International Airport in Denver. The crash impact cracked the nose and tail sections of the plane. There were no fatalities from the crash on takeoff.

Hunt For Ex-Teamsters 'Boss' Hoffa Continues

DETROIT (AP) — As the search for ex-Teamsters boss Jimmy Hoffa continued today, his family said "the case could lead back to some individuals in the international union."

Official suspicion settled around Hoffa's foster son Charles "Chuckie" O'Brien, who was questioned by the FBI earlier this week and who reportedly had been asked by the FBI to submit to a lie detector examination.

O'Brien is a Teamsters organizer who in recent months reportedly fell out with Hoffa and aligned himself with Hoffa's rival, Teamsters President Frank E. Fitzsimmons, according to sources familiar with the investigation.

The Washington Star said today O'Brien was in the capital city, site of the union's headquarters, early this week.

The paper quoted an unnamed airline employe at National Airport as saying he talked to O'Brien for about 45 minutes Monday afternoon — five days after Hoffa disappeared — as he was waiting for a flight to Memphis. The employe told the Star that O'Brien had said he was on union business and also expressed some unhappiness with Hoffa's natural son and daughter.

At that time, O'Brien was reported to have dropped from sight himself. O'Brien had declared, said the employe, that "I was really upset because they waited until 5 o'clock the next afternoon (Thursday, the day after Hoffa disappeared) to tell me ... It was handled very, very poorly."

According to the Star, FBI and Justice Department officials were surprised to learn of O'Brien's visit to Washington.

Teamster officials could not be reached immediately for comment as to whether O'Brien had met with Fitzsimmons or other union leaders.

Hoffa's son, James P. Hoffa, a Detroit attorney, told reporters late Thursday night the FBI would interview more persons today, and he said he still clings to hope that his father will be found alive.

The senior Hoffa vanished after leaving home for a luncheon engagement July 30. His car was found in the restaurant parking lot the next morning.

"We are convinced that we will hit the jackpot in this case," said young Hoffa. "We hope we will find some information that will lead to his coming back home."

Hoffa said he suspects some Teamsters officials may have been involved in the disappearance. "There are some relationships and elements in the union that may have done something like this sick abduction," he said.

BSSH Superintendent, Dr. Harrison, Dies

Dr. Preston E. Harrison, affiliated with the Big Spring State Hospital since 1953 and its superintendent for the past score of years, died Thursday 10 p.m. in a hospital here of a heart involvement.

Services will be 4 p.m., Saturday in the First Presbyterian Church with the pastor, the Rev. R. Earl Price, officiating, assisted by Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor emeritus, and Chaplain Lee Butler of the state hospital staff. Burial will be in the Trinity Memorial Park under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Dr. Harrison is survived by his wife, Elizabeth Badgett Harrison; two sons, Dr. Preston E. Harrison Jr., Dallas, and Robert L. Harrison, a senior student in Texas Medical College at Galveston; his mother, Mrs. Alonzo Harrison, Naples, Tex.; and a brother, W. H. (Dub) Harrison, Lubbock.

During his tenure here, the hospital had pioneered in numerous methods of treating and rehabilitating the mentally ill. He also encouraged research and continuing study by the staff.

EXPANDED

Although volunteers had begun to play an increasing role when he assumed his duties here, Dr. Harrison vastly expanded this work. He also encouraged community participation and pushed for mental health centers in home communities served by the hospital as a resource center.

Born Aug. 26, 1911 in Bryan Mills, Tex., he was graduated from high school there and earned his bachelor of science degree at East Texas State University. While earning his masters at the University of Texas, his research caught the attention of a Baylor Medical College professor, who offered him an assistantship. This led to his doctor of medicine degree in 1941.

During World War II he was assigned to the University of Chicago and researched in vaccines, and discovered that neurotics were not protected by the medicine.

DR. PRESTON HARRISON

Later he encountered this phenomenon in ulcerative colitis, and this formed his interest in medical-psychiatric research.

In 1946, he received his PhD from the University of Chicago and returned to Baylor as an assistant, and soon as a full professor. He served as consultant of three hospitals.

WEARY

Weary of teaching, he entered private practice at Clovis, N.M., and then moved to Mad, near his home town, and practiced until 1953 when he decided he was not cut out for this type of medicine. He became clinical director of the hospital here, also served as instructor on the Howard College faculty for two years. Named acting superintendent, he was elected in September 1957 to attend the Menninger Foundation School of Mental Hospital Administrators, and this jelled a philosophy of treatment that had been in his mind for more than five years.

In 1955 the first tranquilizers came, and patients became more susceptible to treatment. Encouraged by halting the one-way flow into the hospital, Dr. Harrison

Jailer Made Sexually Suggestive Remarks?

RALEIGH (AP) — The sexual behavior of a slain North Carolina jailer has for the first time been made the focal point of the Joan Little murder trial as three former inmates testified he had made sexual advances to them or to Miss Little.

The three women, all black like Miss Little, testified Thursday that the white Beaufort County jailer, Clarence Alligood, had made sexually suggestive remarks.

A New York criminologist was to take the stand today as the defense sought to show that Alligood was stabbed during a struggle. Defense lawyers said the testimony would center around the pattern of blood stains found in the cell.

Alligood was found stabbed to death in the jail cell from which Miss Little had fled last Aug. 27. He was naked from the waist down and there was semen on his thigh.

Miss Little, 21, said she stabbed Alligood with an ice pick to stop a sexual attack. The prosecution claims she killed him to escape.

Phyllis Ann Moore, 19, who was confined with Miss Little, testified that Alligood twice made sexually suggestive remarks to Miss Little within a five-day period when he came to the cell block to serve breakfast.

Annie Marie Gardner, 26, testified that Alligood, 62, fondled her breast in the jail during her 44-day sentence. Rosa Ida Mae Roberson, in the jail 21 days, said the Alligood "bothered her so much about sex" that she tried to slash her wrists.

Both Mrs. Roberson and Miss Gardner were released before Miss Little was an inmate.

Mrs. Moore said Alligood talked to Miss Little when he came to the women's section of the jail. "I heard him ask her if she missed her man," she said. Miss Little only turned away, Mrs. Moore testified.

The next time Alligood made the comment Miss Little sounded disgusted and threatened to report him, Mrs. Moore said.

Five Gunmen, Hostages Arrive Safely In Tripoli

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — Japanese Red Army terrorists freed their final four hostages early today and handed themselves over to Libyan authorities after a four-day drama that began with the seizure of the U.S. Embassy in Kuala Lumpur.

Tight security measures were in force at Tripoli airport as the Japan Air Lines DC8 landed after a 6,900-mile flight from the Malaysian capital, Libya's Arab Revolutionary News Agency reported.

The agency said all aboard the aircraft were safe. The flight took 15 hours, including a two-hour refueling stop in Colombo, Sri Lanka. The plane, flown by a nine-man Japanese crew, left Kuala Lumpur on Thursday with the five terrorists, another five radicals freed from Japanese prisons and the four hostages — two Japanese and two Malaysian government officials.

A Japanese Foreign Ministry spokesman in Tokyo, quoting a report from Tripoli, said ambulances and four or five cars pulled alongside the plane after it landed and the four hostages stepped out unharmed.

The spokesman said the terrorists and the freed radicals left the airport in three cars, but he could not say whether they were in custody or where they had been taken.

'Pigeon Drop' Game Costs Man $3,000

A Big Spring man is $3,000 poorer today after two men used the "pigeon drop" swindle to get his money, according to Det. Avery Falkner.

He reportedly picked up a black male hitchhiker who said he was trying to find an address in Big Spring. He said that he had just inherited a big roll of bills.

Down the road a bit, they came upon a white man beside the road and the first hitchhiker said that he may be able to help.

He was picked up also and they drove around trying to find the address.

After a while, they got into a three-card poker game, with the second hitchhiker "scheming" with the Big Spring man to cheat the black man out of his money.

They let the Big Spring man win some money, but the black man protested, saying that the Big Spring man didn't have any money and posed a question. "What would happen if he lost?" the Negro man asked.

They convinced the victim into withdrawing $3,000 from a local bank and put his money, plus their money into an envelope for safe-keeping. They were going to stash it under the hood of the pickup while the two hitchhikers went to find the address.

While the three were placing the money under the hood, the envelope was replaced with one containing paper napkins. The two hitchhikers beat a speedy retreat.

The Big Spring man waited, then discovered the switch and called police.

Detective Falkner is investigating the incident.

Changing National Scene

Before we come down too hard on young people, before we too confidently say that what this country needs is such and such, we should take a look around us. This America we live in is like no other America before it; the experiences of our even recent past may be highly unreliable guides to our present, much less our future.

Just how much America is changing is illustrated by figures compiled by the Census Bureau. In fundamental ways, this is a land now in which the American of a few decades ago would find himself a stranger.

Today, more than 30 per cent of our children do not live with both their parents.

Today, 11 per cent of all births are illegitimate — more than double the rate just 20 years ago.

Today, the size of the average household is below three persons for the first time in our history.

Marriages have declined in number by 3 per cent since August, the first significant decline since World War II. The divorce rate is a record 4 per 1,000 persons. The birth rate is only slightly above 1973's record low of 15 per 1,000.

Our families are getting smaller and more fragmented. More people are choosing the single life — or cohabitation without marriage (up 800 per cent since 1960.) Old values of the most basic sort have been rejected, to be replaced by . . . what?

Appeals to a sense of family, to a set of moral values once recognized by virtually everyone, seem to fall on uncomprehending ears. We are a new nation, with a disproportionate number of us young and restless. But in only a few years, the pendulum will swing. The dropping birthrate and increasing life span will make us in short order a nation disproportionately old — and without the strong familial ties with which our past society was moored.

What we must have is leadership aware of these changes taking place, and to enunciate values that are lasting and challenging.

A Fact Of Hemisphere

The Organization of American States trade embargo against Cuba has been lifted. Even the United States has voted to remove the sanctions. The state department issued a statement saying the United States will not unilaterally remove its own restrictions against diplomatic and trade relations with Cuba as a result of the vote. But it is only a matter of time before precisely this will happen. Cuba and Castro are facts of life and facts of the hemisphere. The action of OAS removes a point of friction between the U.S. and several of its southern neighbors. In time, it may normalize our relations, producing the corollary of diminishing Soviet influence.

My Answer

Billy Graham

I am 39 years old, am married and have four children. Last Sunday our minister preached on how hard it is to be a Christian. I have heard people say it is difficult to be a Christian, but I have found the Christian life much superior to any other lifestyle. I have had my troubles, and serious ones, but Christ has been with me through it all. When I have trouble I don't run from God, I run to Him. I love Jesus and tell him so at least fifty times a day. I thank God for everything, and the best part of my days is my quiet time of prayer and Bible reading. My question is: What is so hard about being a Christian? What do I need to do that I am not doing? I know I'm a Christian, but so far nothing has been hard. I give my life to God every day and that's not hard. I will look for your answer in the newspaper.

S.C.Y. Your letter is unusual. I have made the statement many times, "It's not easy to be a Christian." The basis of that statement is implied in the Scriptures where Jesus said, "Straight is the gate and narrow is the way, that leads to life, and few there be that find it." Matthew 7:14. He also said, "If any man would come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross and follow me." Matthew 16:24. But, there is also a joyful, blessed aspect to following Christ, which obviously you have found, and I am happy for you. Too many Christians, being human, focus upon adversity, afflictions, and the rigors of the Christian life, and lose sight of the joy and peace which are the consequences of following Christ.

One of my favorite verses is in Psalms 16:11: "Thou wilt show me the path of life: in thy presence is fulness of joy; at thy right hand there are pleasures for evermore." What do you need to do? Just be grateful that you have found the secret of victorious living in Christ, and share it with others.

Bombs Unlimited

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — As Congress fades into the August smog for a respite of a month, no failure of confusion and cross purposes is more conspicuous than that over energy. The final outcome is certain to mean higher gasoline prices, how much and how soon being the only uncertainty.

THE CONFLICT of purpose in the capital reflects deep divisions in the country. One of the answers to the looming power shortage in the years ahead is nuclear energy. The know-how, the resources, the capacity are all available.

Yet environmentalists have taken a dead set against nuclear power development on the leakage of alleged dangers from the storage of radioactive materials. In state after state, they are lobbying the legislatures to stop any further nuclear power plants, and since state regulatory commissions must grant a permit before federal action, this is an effective block.

THE MOST POTENT case against the alleged dangers was made by a group of America's most renowned scientists with Hans Bethe as organizing chairman. In their statement the scientists pointed out that the separation of the Atomic Energy Commission into the Energy Research and Development Administration and the Nuclear Regulatory Commission provided added reassurance for realistic management of potential risks. "On any scale," they said, "the benefits of a clean, inexpensive and inexhaustible domestic fuel far outweigh the possible risks." Bethe is now working actively to persuade opinion of the practical and safe use of the force that he as a coworker on the atomic bomb helped to unleash.

THE FEAR growing out of the mushroom cloud and the incredible destructiveness of the nuclear weapon dwarfs rational consideration of the peacetime uses of nuclear energy. The tragic paradox is that, as the environmentalists battle any development here at home, on the world scene the traffic in nuclear power is assuming extraordinary proportions.

West Germany has just concluded with Brazil a deal for a nuclear reactor worth $4 billion to $8 billion. The deal is unique since for the first time a nation with nuclear capabilities sold a complete nuclear fuel cycle. This means that the entire process, including the separation of plutonium, the stuff of nuclear weapons, will be in Brazilian hands.

THE DECISION of the West German government will enable Brazil to produce nuclear weapons for its own possible use as well as for sale to other countries, including Germany, Sen. Stuart Symington, chairman of the foreign relations subcommittee on arms control, said in a statement on the Senate floor.

Mistrusting Municipals

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — The big banks and insurance companies that ordinarily buy vast volumes of tax-exempt bonds, which finance state and municipal governments, have been withdrawing from the market in recent years.

Whether they return as buyers over the next few months will probably determine how successful some cities and states are in raising much needed funds. Expectations are that they will return.

However, commercial banks and fire and casualty insurance companies have sharply curtailed their purchases the past five years.

Householders, meanwhile, have replaced them as the major factor in the market, accounting for 69.2 per cent of net purchases in 1974, and remaining an important factor this year.

The householders' big entry into the market is causing some worry in financial circles. Already it is probably a big factor in forcing some municipal borrowing costs to record high levels and in reducing the liquidity—or buy-sell activity—of the market.

Comments: Business Week's Magazine: "That is an unenviable prospect at a time when the market is already frantic over the possibility of a New York City default on $741 million of short-term notes maturing Aug. 22."

Many reasons are given for the reduction of activity by the big banks and insurers. Municipal financial troubles are, of course, high on the list. Institutional researchers were aware of the declining financial stability of some cities long before the full extent of the New York City crisis became known.

Both banks and insurers had their own internal problems, too.

The banks have suffered a deterioration of their investment portfolios both in 1974 and this year and thus have been cautious investors. Added to this problem are substantial loan losses.

One consequence of this is to reduce the need by banks for ways to cut taxes. Tax-exempts serve that function, but losses cut taxes just as well.

The fire and casualty insurance companies have been taking their licks too, suffering from what they consider to be depressed earnings and investment losses. As with individuals, this depresses their willingness and ability to be active in municipal markets.

Despite their reduced activity in municipal markets over the past few years, both insurers and bankers are expected to return soon if they get their internal problems corrected.

Will householders remain big buyers? That cannot be foretold. They recognize that yields on municipals are much better than bank interest. And they have newly formed municipal bond funds to facilitate their investments.

At the same time some investment advisory services have been warning them to avoid the municipal market. As one put it this week: "Mistrust of all municipal dept obligations is spreading rapidly..."

Stomach Rumble

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What causes noise in my stomach? All of a sudden my stomach makes terrible rumbling noises. Nothing seems to stop it, and its driving me crazy. My doctor has no idea, and he wants me to get X-rays.

I hate to go to that expense for such a stupid reason. It feels like I'm full of liquid. I haven't changed my eating habits recently, and I really don't know how to cope with this. It is embarrassing and driving me up a wall. — Mrs. S. J.

The racket is caused by air and liquid bowel contents gushing through.

The stomach lining secretes gastric juices, and this along with the muscular waves that grind ingested food creates a liquid-like content called "chyme." The waves occur at a rate of about three a minute, thus forcing the chyme through an opening into the duodenum.

An irregularity in this process, an obstructed opening, for example, can result in abnormal passage of the chyme. And if air is in the stomach, the result can be the audible rumble. Hyperactivity of the stomach can be a factor.

Barium X-rays will show the progress of the chyme and will reveal such things as an abnormally small opening. Often a kink in the digestive tract will cause this also. Sometimes, in nervous persons, there can be reverse waves which disturb normal stomach rhythm and produce stomach noises.

The reason your doctor wants the X-rays is because, as you say, "he has no idea" what's causing this, and he wants to find out. Your problem isn't stupid, and by your own admission it bothers you considerably.

An overactive stomach, if that is your problem, can be tamed by a mild sedation. Occasional rumblings have little significance, but continuous occurrence, as in your case, should receive attention.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Several years ago we heard about good results from breathing a high-pressure, high-oxygen atmosphere in cases of senile memory loss. This was supposed to be quite effective in advanced cases.

Is this no longer recommended? — S. B.

The procedure is called "hyperbaric oxygen therapy," and it did enjoy a flurry of enthusiasm about ten years ago. But enthusiasm has waned somewhat since the patients who used it did not hold their gains when they returned to ordinary breathing conditions.

Hyperbaric oxygen has some advantages, especially in treating burns and certain infections in which germs thrive in an oxygen-poor medium (anaerobic infections).

The memory loss in senile patients is often due to poor circulation in the brain arteries. They are narrowed and the oxygen essential in brain tissue health does not get to the diseased parts, nor are sufficient nutrient materials delivered and waste removed. Reports on the oxygen therapy indicated better results in mild or early cases.

Prefers A Nap

Around The Rim

Troy Bryant

What does a person do on his day off, when he has to ride herd on a two-year-old daughter?

One of the things I've discovered is that a good part of the day is spent watching Sesame Street or some other educational show.

BETWEEN SCENES WHERE a big yellow feathery bird emcees a gala Sesame Street Four Show, including entertainment from some of the regulars.

Bert, a pointy-headed muppet person, delights the audience by giving his impression of four pigeons he met on the way to the show. One was happy, one was sad, one was angry and one was surprised.

Grover the Grouch, with much coaching by Big Bird, bends and contorts his limbs until he looks like the letter four. He faints when Big Bird suggests he do an encore by impersonating the number 38.

Cutting away, Kermit the Frog, who is a TV reporter, goes to the Royal Ball to interview Cinderella. When he gets there, the narcissistic Prince interrupts and begins telling the audience about his outfit. At midnight, Cinderella rushes away unnoticed, leaving her slipper.

The prince finds the slipper and says, "I wish I could find the other shoe."

"Why? So you can find Cinderella," Frog asked.

"No, because they would go so good my sky-blue suit," he answers.

Meanwhile the Four Show continues and Count Von Count appears on stage to do his thing, count. Big Bird won't let him count to ten, because it is a four show, so he counts four kids.

THEN HE COUNTS the four kids in Spanish, French, Swahili, Italian and German.

The Fabulous Flea Circus is the next scene, where Fats Flea, Floyd Flea, Fanny Flea, Freddie Flea, and Filbert Flea perform.

"Fats has the flu," says Freddie. "Filbert, you fill in for Fats," the ringmaster says.

So Fanny and Floyd play the fanfare and fly the flag while Filbert prepares to fire Freddie from a fat cannon.

A whole hour of this twice a day, along with such kid shows as Zoom, Electric Company, and Villa Allegre must be good for the kids. Mine can already count to eleven and recognize most of the alphabet.

But for me, I'm supposed to already know all that stuff, so I believe I will take another nap.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Lately a new contraction has been working its way into everyday parlance: the word "nuke." The noun "nuke" is a convenient short version of "nuclear bomb." The verb "nuke" compresses still larger phrases: "Hit them with nuclear weapons" telescopes to "Nuke 'em."

The trend makes us uneasy. Accepting the atomic age as here to stay, we still prefer not to get too familiar with this monster we have brought into our parlor. Over-familiarity, besides breeding contempt, can induce a false sense of security. Let's at least call this creature by its real name and try to remember that if we relax our vigilance for an instant it can hurl us from here to eternity. — Chicago Daily News.

EDITORIALS / OPINIONS

Rocky Won't Budge

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — A long, exceedingly cordial visit with President Ford last week by Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller resulted in backfiring the bumptious anti-Rockefeller campaign of Howard H. (Bo) Callaway, intended to appease the Republican right wing.

Rockefeller emerged from his regular weekly appointment in the Oval Office confident of forthcoming presidential demonstrations to prove there is no rift between them. He had never felt closer to Mr. Ford, the Vice President told friends that evening. Indeed, the Rockefeller camp believes Callaway's tactics probably resulted from inexperience, possibly reflected an internal White House conspiracy but definitely did not represent the President's wishes.

Whatever his inspiration, Callaway has thoroughly botched the White House strategy for solving Mr. Ford's vice presidential problem: keep Rockefeller in limbo until 1976 convention time so that the President would not be carrying his liberal Vice President in a contest against Ronald Reagan for the Presidential nomination. By going too far in disassociating the President from Rockefeller, Callaway has unwittingly brought the two men publicly together. "It couldn't be better if we planned it ourselves," a beaming Reagan operative told us.

The Ford nomination strategy has been enunciated repeatedly by his old political partner, Melvin R. Laird: We are interested only in Jerry Ford's nomination, not Rockefeller's; the vice presidency will be up to the convention. When Callaway resigned as Secretary of the Army to become Mr. Ford's campaign manager, he sounded the same theme with slightly heavier anti-Rockefeller overtones.

But the theme itself changed Wednesday night when Callaway, dining with political correspondents, took an overt anti-Rockefeller line. Callaway publicly expressed his previous private views that Rockefeller is the President's major political problem today and may be too old for the office. Those present felt Callaway was preoccupied with the Rockefeller problem, determined to force him from the ticket.

That change has been explained by two conflicting theories, one malignant, the other benign.

The benign theory goes to the fact that Callaway, nearly elected governor of Georgia in 1966, is over-influenced by conservative southern Republicans who refuse to endorse Mr. Ford against Reagan while Rockefeller remains the President's preference. Making his debut as a national political manager, Callaway tilted too far toward his native South.

But advocates of the malignant theory cannot believe Bo Callaway would embark on such a course without higher authority. "He's taking orders from somebody," one Rockefeller aide told us. The somebody, he contended, is White House chief of staff Donald Rumsfeld, skillful in surreptitious torpedo-firing — sometimes in the Vice President's direction.

Rumsfeld on Thursday vigorously denied to Rockefeller agents any responsibility for Callaway's remarks, but suspicion lingers. Callaway was selected by Rumsfeld to be campaign manager, and Callaway recommended Rumsfeld as White House liaison with the campaign. At dinner Wednesday night, Callaway listed Don Rumsfeld as a good younger man to replace Rockefeller. Callaway was generally supported in the Thursday morning press briefing by Ron Nessen, allied with Rumsfeld in the White House power alignments.

Nevertheless, Rockefeller is taking Rumsfeld's denials at face value.

pressed his staff with the thesis that with "lots of tender, loving care, anyone can get well." This expanded horizons of volunteer work led to his open campus policy. The state adopted his program in 1969.

As appropriations increased, he began to assemble a staff which he encouraged to be innovative, staying out of discussions as much as possible, preferring to function as a catalyst. He instituted a team approach to treatment, encouraging a flowing of information from the nurse-doctor-patient level to the staff level.

He set attendant code and care standards. Patients were grouped according to localities from whence they came. Patient government units were installed. He also worked with the Texas Rehabilitation Commission and established one of the first Halfway Houses, as stepping stones back to society. This led to the Community House (for the discharged but dependent upon institutional ties), then the Work Village concept.

He also inspired the Circuit Rider concept of volunteers and staff from the hospital going into surrounding communities, then the community mental health centers which were serviced by the hospital. Eventually, the hospital had reversed the flow and more patients were being discharged than admitted. He was a staunch believer that more for the mentally ill can be done at home. He also insisted on regular recognition of volunteers and staff.

Dr. Harrison held numerous honors, including the Sigma Xi (scientific) award 1946, Alpha Omega Alpha (medical) 1960, was a fellow in the American Association for Advance of Sciences since 1946, and the American Psychiatric Association since 1964; a Ricketts Fellow at University of Chicago, and Mary Strong Sheldon Fellow, University of Chicago. He was a member of a dozen professional organizations and was chairman of the American Psychiatric Association award committee in 1971-74 in selecting three outstanding programs nationwide. He was a member of the American Society of Clinical Hypnosis.

He also had research papers published and was in demand as a clinician. Dr. Harrison was named to the State Advisory Committee on Alcoholism.

He was a member of the First Presbyterian Church, in which he was an elder, and of the Big Spring Rotary Club, Chamber of Commerce and other local organizations. His first wife, the former Melba Tipton, died in 1969.

Police Sergeant Kills Suspended Patrolman

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A fellow officer shot and killed suspended police Sgt. Fay Dorrrough, 42, Thursday night at a bar where Dorrrough held five hostages at gunpoint for nine hours.

The hostages included Dorrrough's estranged wife. Inspector Elroy Creweige said Dorrrough entered the tavern where his wife worked at about 2 p.m. Friday and forced her and four others into a back office.

Three hostages managed to slip out and summon police, officers said. When police arrived, Dorrrough had one hostage, Johnny Thomas, 33, of San Antonio, backed up in a corner at gunpoint.

authorities said. "We pleaded with him to give up. We had his lawyer talk with him; we had his mother talk with him on the phone; and I even talked with him," Creweige said.

"But he kept insisting for us to leave and he said that he and his wife were going to his mother's house together," the inspector added.

Moments before Dorrrough was shot to death by Sgt. Johnny Sanders, Dorrrough allowed his wife to go to the door of the tavern, where she warned police that Thomas would be shot if officers waited much longer.

"When Dorrrough stuck his head around the corner to look at the officers around him, Sanders shot him in the head with the rifle to keep him from harming Thomas," Creweige said.

Dorrrough was found with the pistol inside the waistband of his trousers, officers said. On July 25 Dorrrough was arrested at his estranged wife's house after a similar hours-long standoff with police. He was charged with attempted murder of his wife and attempted murder of a police officer but released on $20,000 bond.

Dorrrough's wife had filed for divorce.

MIDLAND EPISODE

are working hard to that end. As soon as Manges told U.S. District Court Judge D. W. Suttle here that he wanted the bond money back, Parr's lawyer presented a $121,500 check as a substitute bond.

Judge Suttle, however, took no action Thursday on the proposed substitute bond and the hearing continued in federal court here today.

The new bond money comes from Praxedes Canales, a Duval County rancher and the father of state Rep. Terry Canales of Premont. It was Rep. Canales who initiated impeachment proceedings in Austin against Duval County District Judge O. P. Carrillo.

And it was Judge Carrillo who suspended Parr from his judgeship following a trial at Rio Grande City earlier this summer. That trial had an abortive beginning at Hebronville.

Carrillo faces an impeachment trial in the Texas Senate beginning Sept. 3. Carrillo's brother, Duval County Commissioner Ramiro Carrillo, and Judge Dan Tobin Jr., who Judge Carrillo picked as Parr's successor, are under indictment in Alice by the Jim Wells County grand jury on charges of official misconduct.

Still, Parr himself was in jail today Judge Suttle pondered whether to release him on bond, increase the bond, or refuse bond altogether.

U.S. attorneys contend that Parr, who was born in Mexico City of American parents, has dual citizenship and might flee to Mexico if released on bond.

Marvin Foster, a San Diego lawyer who said he is a longtime Parr confidant, told the hearing Thursday he doesn't believe Parr would jump bond.

"He's got too much at stake to leave...and he's not going anywhere but where the court wants him to go," Foster said. He pointed to Parr's land holdings in Duval County, his family ties and a pending inheritance.

And, Foster said his understanding of the law is that no one can hold dual citizenship. He said Parr is a declared American citizen, by the fact he has elected office in this country.

in Odessa and tie into the UTPB irrigation system. The City of Odessa, which will draw its fund from the University system, will reimburse the district for the work.

Unusually wet weather in the late Spring and early Summer have cut water demands sharply, Paschal Odom, assistant general manager, told the board. July totals ran 29 per cent under the same month a year ago. Storage reservoirs are all full, and pumping patterns now are being designed to conserve energy, he said.

O.H. Ivie, general manager, was instructed to continue studies of possible ways to modify debt service requirements which "hump out" in the next seven years so that effect on rates to cities can be minimized.

Pick Standout

White scarf awards for outstanding instructor pilots and support officers were presented by Col. Robert A. Owens, wing commander at Webb Air Force Base to the following: 1st Lt. Nollie A. Wilson of field maintenance, 2nd Lt. Billie Cox of Civil Engineering, Capt. Kenneth R. Bassett of Standardization and Evaluation, and 1st Lt. Teed M. Mosley of 3389th Flying Training Squadron.

Top Crew Chief Is Selected

Airman First Class Thomas G. Lennox of Alpha Row was picked Crew Chief of the Month for July by instructor and student pilots of the 82nd and 3389th Flying Training Squadrons.

Airman Lennox has won the honor several times and pilots continue to "appreciate his hard work." At his Commander's Call this month, he will receive a plaque signifying the honor.

The Austin lawyer was arrested following indictment by a Tom Green Grand Jury here charging him with four counts of felony theft stemming from an $825,000 loan he authorized while he was an officer at the San Angelo First Savings and Loan Association.

Jacobsen is already under federal indictment in connection with the same case. The former lobbyist for the Associated Milk Producers Inc. was the main government witness this spring against former Texas Gov. John Connally, who was accused of accepting two $5,000 payments to help the milk industry get higher government price supports.

A Washington jury April 17 acquitted Connally of all charges.

Jacobsen, in a plea-bargaining arrangement with federal prosecutors, had agreed to testify against Connally in return for a promised dismissal of the federal charges arising from the savings and loan case against himself.

A federal judge in Dallas later appointed special prosecutors to press the case, and state authorities said they would take action against Jacobsen if federal authorities failed to do so.

Surety Bond Posted For Former Lobbyist

SAN ANGELO (AP) — District Court Judge Curt Steib said today a surety bond has been posted for former milk industry lobbyist Jake Jacobsen, making it unnecessary to hold a bond hearing for Jacobsen.

Steib had required that Jacobsen's bond be changed from a personal recognizance bond to a surety bond, which the judge said had been mailed by Austin lawyer Joe Long.

Jacobsen, himself a lawyer, was freed from jail Wednesday night.

Mark Who? PGA Field Is Chasing Unknown

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — "Are you aware," a reporter asked Jack Nicklaus as the world's greatest golfer savored his even par 70 in the opening round of the PGA Tournament, "that you are trailing such household names as Benson, Wampler and Dougherty?"

"Who?" Jack asked. "I know Wampler, but the others—how do you spell that last name?"

Nicklaus' consternation was generally shared as the pros' big family championship—one of the game's Big Four—moved into the second round behind a phalanx of the most implausible pace-setters imaginable.

Oldsters and rookies, the infirm and the insecure, the downtrodden and the down-and-out are on top, kicking divots in the faces of golf's aristocrats—Nicklaus, Weiskopf, Trevino, Palmer and Player.

The first-round leader is a slim Oklahoman, one Mark Hayes, 26, playing his second year on the tour and in his first PGA, his bags carried by a man with a broken arm and a Masters degree in business.

Hayes shot 67, three under par over the back-breaking, 7,180-yard Firestone course. "It's too soon to get excited about leading this tournament," he said nervously.

Tied for second with 68 were Bob Benson, 35, a club pro from Easton, Conn., who operates a couple of bowling alleys on the side, and Larry Hinson, a gaunt young man with a withered left arm whose fortunes of late have been so depressing he was considering a different career.

Benson's main claim to fame is that as a teen-age assistant pro in Palm Beach, Fla., he gave lessons to the Kennedys, correcting a hook of the late President John Kennedy.

Only four other players managed to break par. They included a pair of grizzled veterans, Fred Wampler, 51, who hasn't played the tour in 15 years, and Bill Casper, 44, a two-time Open champion who has been devoting more time to his 7,000 fruit trees in Utah than to golf.

Wampler and Casper were tied at 69 with Bob Wynn of Santa Clara, Calif., a free-wheeling, 35-year-old tour veteran, and Ed Dougherty, a mustachioed Pennsylvanian.

It was not until the first day standings got down to the par 70s that names of the advance favorites began to show up.

Nicklaus was tied at that figure with eight others, among them Tom Weiskopf and British Open champion Tom Watson. The others were Al Geiberger, who won the PGA on this same course in 1966; former champion Ray Floyd; 51-year-old Art Wall, Bruce Devlin, long-hitting Jim Dent and Mike Morley, one of the plugging tour brigade.

Gary Player, seeking his third PGA crown, shot 72. Lee Trevino and Arnold Palmer had 73. Johnny Miller, pro golfer's Player of the Year in 1974, skied to a 78 and was so disgruntled that he hinted he might take the exit plane home to San Francisco.

IN TEEN-AGE TOURNEY Favored Haskell Reached Finals

Favored Haskell has reached the finals in the State Junior Teen-Age Baseball Tournament, in progress on two diamonds here.

Haskell, first round winner over the defending titlist, Port Lavaca, edged Conroe, 10-7, Thursday night in a battle of unbeaten.

Port Lavaca unbeaten in contention by Kayoting the Big Spring Angels, 9-8, in a losers' bracket contests.

In other games Thursday evening, Palestine humbled Mexia, 7-5, only to get knocked side-saddle at Port Lavaca later in the evening, 2-0.

Action will be resumed at 6 o'clock this evening on the Junior diamond of the Johnny Stone Baseball Complex when Port Lavaca tangles with Conroe.

The winner of that game then doubles back to oppose Haskell at 8 o'clock on the Junior diamond. If a third game is needed to determine the champion, it will be played around 10 p.m., also on the Junior diamond.

Big Spring fell behind early in its contest but fought back and had too far to go.

Baylor A Tiger In Tiger Park

There's something about Detroit's Tiger Stadium that turns Baltimore's Don Baylor into—what else?—a tiger.

After going 6-for-7 in Wednesday's doubleheader sweep, the Tigers cooled Baylor off somewhat Thursday night, holding him to a single and double in five at-bats. However, the single drove in one of six runs in the sixth inning and the double delivered the winning run in the 10th as the Orioles nipped Detroit 7-6, extending the Tigers' losing streak to 12 games, one short of the all-time club record.

Elswhere in the American League, the Boston Red Sox browed the Milwaukee Brewers 4-2, the Oakland A's trounced the Texas Rangers 10-1, the Kansas Royals routed the Minnesota Twins 10-2 and the Chicago White Sox defeated the California Angels 8-4.

Baylor's latest performance gave him 15 hits in his last 20 at-bats, raising his average from .259 to .287. Against the Tigers this year he is 21 for 44, including 15-for-25 in six games at Tiger Stadium.

Singles by Bobby Grich and Tommy Davis preceded Baylor's decisive double off ex-Oriole Bob Reynolds. Trailing 3-0, the Orioles scored six times with two out in the sixth, including two-run singles by Brooks Robinson and Mark Belanger. The Tigers tied it with two in the ninth on Gates Brown's pinch homer and singles by Ron LeFlore, Dan Meyer and Bill Freehan.

Despite the triumph—their fifth in a row and 19th in 25 games—the Orioles remained seven games behind Boston in the AL East.

Rookies Super, Landry Says

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Dallas Cowboy Coach Tom Landry says he can't remember a better training camp. Landry, outgoing to know, he has been the only coach in the 15-year history of the National Football League club.

"The rookie crop is just super and the veterans reported in the best condition of any group we've ever had," said Landry as Dallas practiced for Saturday night's exhibition opener in Los Angeles.

Landry added, "We have a very difficult pre-season schedule. While it's important that we get a look at our young players under fire, it's also important that we win as many games as possible."

"You don't want to develop a losing habit, especially with a young team like ours."

Woman Driver In Command

VERNON CENTER, N.Y. (AP) — The 2-8 daily double of $269.60 at Vernon Downs on Thursday was a first here — because a woman driver guided both horses to victory.

It was a first in the 23-year history of harness action at Vernon Downs and Anne Wheeler made a few bettors very happy.

She drove Boo Nahhis to victory in the first race and a payoff of $31. In the second, she guided Banff to a $27.60 payoff.

"This is her third year as a professional harness driver," Miss Wheeler, 35, owns both winning horses with Robert Keller of nearby Vernon.

Texan Breaks Course Record

REGINA, Sask. (AP) — A 26-year-old Texan ripped through the site of the Saskatchewan Open Thursday with a nine-under-par 62, breaking the former course record by three strokes.

But unfortunately for Guy Cullins of Denton, Tex., the round—best of his career as a professional golfer—came one day too early.

He and more than 100 other contenders teed off today in the first round of the 54-hole tournament and all Thursday's record-shattering performance earned him was $100 for first place in a pre-tournament, pro-amateur event.

"I'll take it all right," Cullins said, "but I wish I could have saved it for a day."

Fast-Pitch Tournament Under Way

Four teams invaded Webb Air Force Base today to vie for the Air Training Command Central Division fast-pitch softball title.

Play in the double elimination tournament began this morning with a doubleheader and another twinbill is on tap for tonight at 7 and 8:30 p.m. on the Webb diamond.

Tomorrow, games will be contested at 10:00 a.m., 11:30 a.m., and 8:00 p.m. The finals are slated for 1:30 p.m. Sunday with a 3:00 p.m. tilt to follow, if necessary.

The Randolph Ramblers and the Lackland Warhawks rate the favorites' role in the five team scramble with the Webb Dusters given an outside shot at the crown. The Laughlin Raiders and the Reese Rattlers are fielding untested squads and are considered longshots.

Player-coach Harry King and the Randolph Ramblers enter play confident of victory. The 52-19 Ramblers are so confident that only five regular members of the team made the trip from San Antonio. The rest stayed behind to compete in the city league playoffs. However, those five led by Dave Erb and James Joyner will field a hard hitting nine that will be tough to derail. Slugger Erb sports a .390 average while Joyner is hitting at a .450 clip. Fireballing Sammy Graziano will handle most of the pitching for the team.

Cubs Making Schmidt Eat His '74 Remarks Under Way

By the Associated Press
If Mike Schmidt had his way, he'd probably take back what he said last winter about the Chicago Cubs.

But it's too late now.

Philadelphia's third baseman classified the Cubs as second-class citizens in the National League East — and Chicago has made the Phillies pay for it this summer.

"Schmidt's remark rubbed us the wrong way," said Rick Reuschel after pitching the Cubs to a 5-3 victory over the Phillies Thursday night. "Last winter Schmidt said that for the Phillies to win the division, they had to beat teams like the Cubs."

"I don't think Philadelphia is that much better that they can classify us that way. It gave us a little extra incentive against these guys."

The victory was Chicago's eighth in 12 games with the Phillies and prevented them from gaining ground on the East-leading Pittsburgh Pirates. The Pirates were beaten 6-1 by the Houston Astros and maintained a four-game edge in baseball's most competitive race.

In the only other National League game, the New York Mets blanked the Montreal Expos 7-0.

Andre Thornton's three-run homer in the eighth inning helped the Cubs beat the Phillies. Jose Cardenal triggered Chicago's winning rally with a two-out double and Jerry Morales went intentionally walked before Thornton ripped the left field foul pole off Larry Christenson, 6-3, giving the Cubs a 4-1 lead.

Reuschel, 8-12, then gave up a two-run homer to Dick

Allen in the bottom of the inning and a double to Jay Johnstone before shutting the door on the Phillies.

Astros 6, Pirates 1
Greg Gross cracked two doubles and knocked in two runs and Dave Roberts fired a threehitler to lead Houston past Pittsburgh. Gross doubled and scored in the first inning and then smashed a two-bagger for two runs off reliever Ramon Hernandez in the Astros' threerun sixth. The Astros supported Roberts, 7-12, with a nine-hit attack against loser Bruce Kison, 9-8.

MICHELLE CHABOT
Wins by 23 strokes

Webb Woman Finishes All Alone In Tourney

While the base men's team was struggling to break out of the pack at the ATC Golf Tournament, Webb's Michelle Chabot was waiting to a 23 stroke victory in the women's division.

Chabot put together a three round scratch total of 85-87-86—258 on a tough and demanding Lackland course to add another title to her growing list of tourney wins.

Her other victories include the championship of last year's Interservice Golf Tournament at the U.S. Naval Station in Long Beach, Calif. In 1973, she was the runnerup in the same tourney. Although she has been playing for only 11 years, Chabot has also won the championship of Clark AB, Philippines and the country club championship of Bangor, Maine.

"I really enjoyed playing the Lackland course," says the Montreal native. "It was a lot more challenging than the course here. The greens were a little tricky, but I managed to do all right."

"I won't be defending my Interservice title since the Air Force is not participating this year," adds Chabot. "As for other tournaments, I haven't made any definite plans yet."

The men's team had trouble with the Lackland layout. The team, captained by Tom Pettegrew, finished eighth out of 15 teams in both the open and senior divisions.

The highest finish by the team was by Pettegrew who put together a 77-79-80-74-310, good enough for 11th place. A double and triple bogey on the front nine during the second round of play hampered Pettegrew from finishing higher.

A bright spot for the team was Chuck Rizzo. He belted a 335 yard drive to take down the ATC driving contest.

Tickets On Sale

Last year's season ticket holders, if they desire the same seats for home football games of the Big Spring Steers, must return order blanks forwarded to them within the next few days.

After Aug. 22, the tickets will be made available to the general public on a first-come, first-served basis.

The tickets, good for five home games, are priced at $10, which figures out to $2 a game.

The pre-game sales price of tickets will be $2.50. If buyers wait until game time to purchase them, they will pay $3.

The School Business Office at 708 11th Place is accepting the orders. Last year, a total of 684 season tickets were sold locally. Only those orders received prior to 5 p.m., Aug. 22, will be filled.

The Steers open at home Sept. 5 against Andrews. They also play home games with Snyder, Odessa Permian, Abilene Cooper, Odessa High and San Angelo.

Club Titles Go On Line

Men and women's club championships will be determined in golf tournaments starting at the Big Spring Country Club Friday, Aug. 29, and extending through Labor Day (Sept. 1).

Entry fee will be $20 and merchandise awards will go to the winners. Mike Hall is the defending title in the men's division.

A domino tournament and gin tournaments for both men and women will be held in conjunction with the golf play. There will also be a cocktail party Friday night.

The golf winners will be determined in match play.

Club Titles Go On Line

Jim Lister Is Extended Pact

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The New Orleans Jazz signed a contract Thursday with Jim Lister, a free agent center from Sam Houston State.

Lister, who became the fifth center on the roster of the National Basketball Association club, averaged 22.8 points per game in four seasons at Sam Houston.

THUD OF TALL TREES Big Thicket Destruction

DALLARDSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Environmentalists say the Big Thicket National Preserve, 84,550 acres of Deep East Texas forest, is being desecrated by the buzz saws and bulldozers of small lumber companies.

The National Park Service, which plans to buy the area in the next one to three years, says there is nothing it can do about destruction of the woods.

One environmentalist says landowners in the Big Thicket do not realize what they are doing to the federally recognized land.

The Big Thicket, 12 separate pockets of quiet wilderness, was designated a national biological preserve last October. Since then, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and park service has been surveying the land preparatory to acquisition.

No money has been appropriated yet for purchase but park service officials have said they expect some funding within six months to a year.

U.S. Reps. Bob Eckhardt, D-Houston, and Charles Wilson D-Lufkin, have sponsored a bill in the House that would provide for immediate transfer of the land to the federal government, protecting the "Big Piney Woods" from harvesters.

But in the meantime, the cutting continues.

The Big Thicket Association, the organization that spearheaded efforts to save the forest as a public monument, estimates that about 2,000 acres of the woods have been stripped of their marketable timber.

The association first discovered logging operations there in May, and said some of the individuals allowing timber companies to take their trees were doing so in "spite" of the government's expressed purchase proposal.

The landowners at that time were not available for comment.

Maxine Johnston, past president of the association, and now its legislative committee chairman, recently led a Wilson aide and a troop of newsmen to the scene of one logging operation.

Miss Johnston expressed her discontent above the roar of machinery, the crackling of snapping branches and the thud of tall trees slamming into the ground.

"The landowners have got to know that the park service will pay them for their land as well as the timber standing on it. Many of them think they will be paid just a pittance, but that is not true," she said.

Park service spokesmen have confirmed that the landowners will be paid market value for their land and trees when money is appropriated by Congress.

"Until we purchase the land, there is really nothing we can do," said Rinehart Johannsen, local park service acquisition officer. "We do not own the land, and we cannot stop them. It is their property, and they can do what they want with it until we acquire it."

Johannsen said the only possible avenue he can see to stop the cutting would be a lawsuit by individuals asking for an injunction. No such suit has been filed in state or federal court.

But between now and the day the land is finally purchased, association officials and other environmentalists are afraid that if more landowners decide to cut down their big pines, oaks, sycamores and cedars that make the Big Thicket unique, there may be little left of the Deep East Texas forest.

Vandals Damage Airport Lights

MIDLAND — Vandals have inflicted $1,000 damage to runway lighting fixtures at Midland Air Terminal.

Wilson Banks, manager of the airport, said the lights were ripped apart and then thrown into the center of the runway on two of the airport's landing strips.

Several weeks ago, vandals caused damage estimated at upwards to $300 to lights on a single runway at the terminal.

Record Budget Is Approved

ODESSA — A record $27.7 million school budget has been approved by trustees of the Ector County Independent School District.

The figure tops this year's budget by $4.3 million. Most of the increase will be devoted to salary, which will cost a total of $21,901,724.

Jack Crawley, former basketball coach at Permian High School, has been named vice principal for Permian. He has been associated with the school since it opened in 1959. His salary will be $19,490, compared to the $17,490 he made last year as assistant vice principal at Permian.

Shock Of Being Jobless Leaves Permanent Scar

CHICAGO (AP) — The shock of being unemployed leaves a scar that lasts long after the person gets another job, two Connecticut psychologists say.

"The higher one's status and the more sudden one's fall, the greater the impact," add Drs. Dorothea D. Braginsky of Fairfield University and Benjamin M. Braginsky of Wesleyan University, brother and sister.

"Lifestyle, expectations, goals, roles and appearance all change," they write in the August issue of Psychology Today. "The trauma leaves a permanent scar, our research shows, long after the victim moves ... back into the social mainstream."

They said they compared attitudes of 46 unemployed men with those of 53 similar men holding jobs. The jobless were 23 to 59 years old, nearly half were college graduates and many had held managerial or engineering positions.

About 80 per cent were experiencing their first unemployment after 20 years of steady work.

The psychologists said they found the unemployed felt that they were unwanted by society, that society was callous and indifferent toward them; they had done socially worthwhile work and would like to do the same work again someday, and that they were small and insignificant.

They said that after some of the unemployed men studied had found new jobs, they not only remained cynical in their attitudes toward society, but their cynicism had increased.

"This to us appears that the social transformation is not only sudden and total, but its impact can lead to lasting changes in one's conception of society, self, friendships, ethics, family, and even in one's experience of everyday life," the psychologists wrote.

Facets Of Civil War Presented

Little known facets of the Civil War were detailed by Ernie Boyd to the Downtown Lions Club at its Wednesday meeting in the Settles.

Few people realize, he said, that of the 10 major battles in which American men have participated, the first six in scope occurred in the Civil War. No other engagements in history have seen so many men committed in single actions as the Civil War.

Nowhere have casualties been so great! Medical knowledge, particularly as pertaining to combat injuries, was so primitive that "casualties were unearthy and suffering beyond imagination."

No other war has produced so much literature. There have been some 60,000 books written about the Civil War, plus multiplied thousands of newspaper, magazine and other documents. One contemporary publication devoted to unearthing new information has a backlog sufficient for 14 years additional publication.

"Everyone in the Southern forces wanted to 'jine the cav'ry,'" he said. A case in point was the 34th Texas Cavalry, utilizing mostly plow horses (each soldier had to furnish his own mount). When it arrived at the Confederate post at Fort Smith, the commander gaped: "Impossible." Small wonder the unit soon was "dismounted" and the men assigned to infantry with such nondescript weapons as shotguns, American revolution vintage rifles, or none at all.

Traditionally, Southern

plantation families sent their sons to military academy, so that most of the officer talent came down on the side of the Confederacy. One was Robert E. Lee, who was offered command of the Union forces but cast his lot with Virginia and headed Confederate forces instead.

An exception was Nathan Bedford Forrest, the almost illiterate Tennessean who had no equal as a cavalry commander. His instinctive leadership qualities, plus keen insight and anticipation of the enemy, made him so feared that no Union cavalry would leave its supporting infantry if he was known to be near.

Three times Southern commanders appropriated his cavalry units, and each time he recruited and organized another each superior to existing cavalry. On one occasion, he organized, mounted and mobilized a Southern unit behind Union lines.

The program was one in a series of historical programs the club will have each month during the Bicentennial year. The club directors meeting was postponed until the evening of Aug. 14.

Commissioners May Set Vote

SWEETWATER — Nolan County commissioners may shortly set a date for a $3 million bond issue. The money would be used to replace a courthouse that was built here in 1918 — and looks it.

The facility would, in reality, serve as a complex housing several agencies plus a jail. The present jail — located on the top floor of the courthouse — is in a sad state of repair and cannot meet minimum requirements imposed by the state.

Bicentennial Focus Slated

More than 200 Scouting units in this area are preparing this month for the launching of the second year of the Nation's bicentennial observance by the Buffalo Trail Council, Boy Scouts of America.

From September, 1974 through August 1975,

Scouting members built their units' programs around the program emphasis, Be Prepared for Life; Be Safe, Be Fit.

The last two years of the 4-year Scouting bicentennial observance from 1975-77 will be Heritage '76, a look at history; Festival USA, related to a greater knowledge of the country; and Horizons '76, a look to the future.

"The coming years troops' bicentennial program features activities that will stress duty to God, responsibilities of citizenship and Birthday Party USA," Ike McCarroll, Midland, president of the 18-County area, said.

Drive-In Services Effective

OXON HILL, Md. (AP) — The congregation sits in bucket seats instead of pews, and listens to the sermon through window-mounted speakers. But the Rev. G. Gordon Clews says "the singing is always there, and so is the religious effect" at his drive-in church.

Every Sunday morning during the summer, the Rev. Mr. Clews, church organist Nan Burke and songleader Lou Thornhill climb to the top of the concession stand at the ABC Wineland Drive-In Theater in this suburb of the nation's capital and lead about 30 car-loads of worshippers.

Ushers guide the parishioners into the parking spaces for the 7:30 a.m. service. Hymns are sung and a collection is taken, with ushers going from car to car gathering the money in popcorn boxes.

"What hits me is the participation of the people in the cars," said the Rev. Mr. Clews, who also holds services later in the day each Sunday in the more conventional Providence United Methodist Church in nearby Friendly, Md.

The minister said he approached the owners of the theater earlier this year with the idea of using it for a drive-in chapel. They agreed to donate the theater, the clean-up crew and the platform on top of the concession stand.

The drive-in idea, he said, had worked in several churches he headed in western Maryland, where he used them to overcome the traditional summer attendance slump.

"That drop in attendance is partly due to people who want to get an early start on the day and enjoy the last part of the weekend," he said. "This way, they're already in their cars and can leave right from church. They can also dress however they want to."

Foursquare Members Welcome New Pastor

The Rev. Billy Lomax and his wife Joan have arrived in Big Spring, coming from Emory, Texas to pastor the Foursquare Gospel Church at 1210 East 19th Street.

The Lomaxes are accomplished musicians and singers, and are well known throughout East Texas, Alabama, and Mississippi for their ministry in music and preaching the "old time" Pentecostal gospel.

The have two children, Vickie, 4, and Billy Wayne, 7 months.

Services for the Foursquare Gospel Church have been set on Sundays at 10 a.m., Sunday School, and 11 a.m., morning worship, and 7 p.m. evening worship. The mid-week service has been set for Thursday nights at 7:30 p.m. This new date for mid-week services has been made in order for members to have the opportunity to share in fellowship with other churches in the area, and for other area churches to share services with the Foursquare Gospel Church.

Weekend revival services have been set at the church on Saturday night, Aug. 9 at 7:30, and Sunday night at 7

Gospel Music Festival Will Be Repeated

So successful was the recent downtown Gospel music festival that it is being repeated Saturday.

The non-denominational affair, said Sig Rogers, chairman, will see several singing groups and ensembles presenting programs of one hour or less.

The "Gospel Bandwagon," with its electronic hook-ups, will be parked on the east side of the courthouse. Rogers urged church members to turn out for whatever part of the program they can to encourage the singers.

Participants include the Four Square Church group at 11 a.m.; the Tyler Family at 12 noon; the Haynes Family at 1 p.m.; Wesley and Dorothy Pierce at 2 p.m.

One or two other groups are expected to perform, said Rogers.

A new electronic piano has been installed on the wagon and will be featured during the events Saturday.

The church extends a cordial welcome to the public to attend their services.

Director Is Speaker

The director of evangelism for the Baptist General Convention of Texas, Dr. L. L. Morriss, will be the speaker at Evangelism Day at First Baptist Church this Sunday. Dr. Morriss was for a score of years pastor of the First Baptist Church in Midland before accepting his new statewide post.

Sunday, Aug. 24, will mark the fifth anniversary of the coming of the Rev. Kenneth Patrick and his family to the church, morning worship at 10:30 a.m. will be followed at 11:30 a.m. by "dinner on the ground."

Open House Observed

Open house will be observed at the parsonage of the First United Methodist Church, 101 Washington, Sunday 7:15 p.m. as a get-acquainted affair for congregation and the Rev. Bill Fleming, newly assigned pastor, and Mrs. Fleming. Members will bring homemade ice cream and cake.

The gathering will follow the regular Sunday evening Bible study at 6 o'clock at the church.

Representatives Will Journey To Assembly

Nine members of First Christian Church of Big Spring have registered to attend the General Assembly of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in the United States and Canada. Registered participants are Mr. and Mrs. Luther Bean, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Carney, Mr. Gordon Boles, Rev. and Mrs. Bill Smythe, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Johnson. Mr. and Mrs. Bean and Rev. Smythe will be voting delegates, certified by the local congregation.

"We Celebrate with Thanksgiving" — Celebrations will be the theme of the assembly which will be meeting in the Alamo City. Sub-themes for the assembly are: "A oneness enriched by diversity," "A covenant of love for an unloving World," "A God who acts in a world that hesitates," "A future in Christ when futures appear dim," and "A message of good news for the whole world." The assembly offers participants a wide variety of experiences including worship, Bible lectures, study, sessions on the business of the church, learning workshops, and fellowship. The primary sessions of the assembly will be held in San Antonio's convention center. During the business sessions of the assembly Disciples will make key decisions about their future direction and about their leadership for the future. The assembly will convene under the leadership of Dr. Jean Woolfolk, lay moderator of the assembly. Dr. Woolfolk, insurance executive from Little Rock, Arkansas, has brought creative leadership to the church during her two-year tenure as the leading executive of the assembly. The assembly will be addressed by Dr. Kenneth L. Teegarden, General Minister and President of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ). Dr. Teegarden is formerly the Regional Minister of the Christian Church in Texas.

The executive secretary of the All-Africa Conference of Churches, Canon Burgess Carr, will be a major speaker during the biennial event. Other speakers will include Dr. Jorge Lara-Braud, executive director of the Faith and Order Commission of the National Council of Churches; Congressman Andrew Young, Jr., Atlanta, Georgia; Dr. Jean Woolfolk; Dr. Kenneth L. Teegarden; and Dr. Granville Walker, former moderator and retired minister of University Christian Church, Fort Worth.

World hunger will be one of the issues facing the assembly's business sessions. Recommendations will go to the floor of the assembly regarding the church's responsibility to world hunger, to which all assembly participants can speak.

Children coming to the General Assembly will have the opportunity to explore San Antonio during a special "Celebration of the Joy of Life" program, especially designed for them.

Children who have completed grades one through eight will participate in a variety of activities, including visits to Inman Christian Center — a neighborhood project sponsored by the Cultures and San Jose Mission. Older children will study the news media that can be used for communicating the Gospel.

Avery and Marsh, the popular song writing team, will be featured during the six-day event. They will be providing leadership for worship and singing during the assembly.

Highlights of the assembly will be a Celebration procession on the river as a part of the opening session; lectures by Dr. Ronald W. Graham, from the faculty of Lexington Theological Seminary; and address by Dr. Albert C. Outler, Southern Methodist University; and a Mass of the Mariachis at the assembly hall.

Three Issues On Agenda

COLLEGE STANTON — This year's Town and Country Church Conference has packed three timely social issues into its Oct. 9-10 program at Texas A&M University.

Dr. David Ruesink of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service said the overall program is still tentative, but planners have selected such discussion areas as land use planning, programs and services available to the aging, and ways to provide medical services in smaller cities and rural areas. Talks will center around the church's ability to penetrate bureaucracy.

The conference also will honor the Rural Minister of the Year. Nominations can be made for any minister in a community of under 10,000 population, Ruesink said. Progressive Farmer magazine sponsors the award.

Conferences in the past 29 years at Texas A&M have focused on such topics as population growth patterns in Texas, relationships between ministers and existing power structures, motivating lay leadership at the community level, and changing land ownership patterns and their implications for smaller cities.

Ruesink said the meeting is planned with church representatives of all faiths to give clergymen of towns under 10,000 population an insight into issues of the day.

Ministers involved in the planning were the Rev. Laird Engle, Lutheran Church; the Rev. James Hatley, Baptist Church; the Rev. Olen Kennell, Presbyterian Church; the Rev. Gene Lamb, Disciples of Christ Church; the Rev. James Schwarzklose, United Church of Christ; Father George Stueben, Catholic Church; the Rev. Billy F. Tomlin, Episcopal Church; and the Rev. Bill Treude, United Methodist Church.
