

CRIME SURVEY
Teens More Likely To Be Rape Victims

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new government survey shows that teen-agers are more likely to be the victims of rape, robbery, assault and larceny than their elders.

The report, issued Tuesday by the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, also said that black men generally are victimized more often than other groups.

The summary was the first full-year report from the LEAA's $12-million project to measure the crime rate by using polling techniques.

The report was based on a 1973 poll of 60,000 households and 15,000 business establishments across the country. The Census Bureau conducts the poll for LEAA.

It showed that about 236 of every 1,000 persons from ages 12 to 19 were victims of personal crime. The age category with the lowest victimization rate, 31.6 per 1,000, was 65 years and over.

The report said "Blacks were more likely than whites to have been victimized by rape, robbery and assault, whereas whites were more likely to have been victims of personal larceny," defined as the theft of a purse or wallet without a threat of violence.

The report showed that 161 of every 1,000 black men were victims of personal crime, compared with 151.5 for white men. Black and white women were victimized at about the same rate, slightly over 100 per 1,000.

The statistics on rape showed that black women were victimized at a rate of 3.1 per 1,000, compared with 1.7 for white women.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Walter J. Scott, a key figure in the Patricia Hearst investigation, is in protective custody because he fears for his life, the FBI confirmed today.

"I would think he would remain in custody until his appearance" before a federal grand jury in Harrisburg, Pa., said Will McDonald, press spokesman for the Philadelphia office of the FBI.

Scott will remain in protective custody on a short-term emergency basis as long as he feels his life is in danger, said McDonald. He declined to say where Scott is being housed, explaining "it's for obvious reasons."

McDonald said that after the court appearance, if Scott wanted the protection to be continued, he would be turned over to the custody of the U.S. marshal's office. How long the protection would remain in effect is up to the U.S. attorney general's office, he said.

Scott reportedly is the person who told the FBI that Miss Hearst, the fugitive newspaper heiress, had stayed for a time last year at a South Canaan, Pa., farmhouse rented by Scott's brother, Jack, a well known sports activist.

A federal grand jury in Harrisburg, Pa., has been investigating the incident, and Jack Scott and his wife, Micki, have been subpoenaed to testify. They say they will not cooperate.

Missing Plane

AUSTIN (AP) — Pilots for the Civil Air Patrol searched Central Texas today for the missing plane of a student pilot flying solo after only 30 minutes at the controls by himself.

Lt. Col. Max Stone Sr., in charge of CAP in South Texas, said Jim Dick, 36, and his wife have been missing since they left Hearne Saturday morning.

The couple was en route to Alice.

Dick had less than 10 hours student flying time, including only 30 minutes of solo time. It normally takes about 50 hours of flying time to earn a license.

Dick did not file a flight plan, choosing to follow the highways to Alice.

Patrolmen Pay Last Respects To Parks

Jimmy Parks died Sunday morning in the line of duty after 27 years as a highway patrolman.

Tuesday he was laid to rest with all the honors that the Department of Public Safety could provide.

Over 200 lawmen from all over West Texas came to attend the services filling the funeral parlor and lining up along the walls.

They included close to 80 fellow highway patrolmen who stood in a double line as the casket was carried out by the patrolmen who worked alongside of him here in Big Spring.

Lawmen present included Department of Public Safety, Texas Rangers, sheriffs, city police, deputies, border patrolmen, game wardens, county officials, city officials, and every type in West Texas.

They came from as far away as Fort Worth and Austin and many who had worked by his side and transferred to other areas returned.

Their's was a mute tribute as they stood at attention, holding their hats over their heads.

All traffic on Gregg Street was halted following the funeral with a policeman at attention at every intersection all the way to the edge of Big Spring in special tribute to the veteran officer.

Daughter Says Dad Died From Army Tests Of LSD

ELIZABETH BARRETT

NEW YORK (AP) — The daughter of an unwitting victim of the Army's experiments with hallucinogenic drugs says she had been told that he died of an LSD injection administered as medication.

But, she said, Tuesday's announcement of the reason for her father's death was a shock. In a press release, the Army attributed the death of tennis professional Harold Blauer in 1953 not to his treatment as a state mental hospital patient but to the Army's experiment.

"I'm collapsed through the whole experience," said the widowed daughter, Elizabeth Barrett, 35, of Manhattan, who added that three Army officers gave her the news in person.

Blauer is the first known Army-sponsored tests with mind-affecting drugs, daughter, who now wishes to avoid publicity. The elder girl, then 13, elected to live with her father.

She said that because of the separation, Blauer became depressed and a friend got him to admit himself to a hospital for treatment. He ended up in the New York State Psychiatric Institute, and the girl went to live with her grandmother.

The Army said that the institute had a 1951 contract that stipulated "studies, experimental investigations and tests to determine the clinical effect of psychochemical agents on the psychiatric behavior of human subjects."

It said that Blauer had experienced either minor or no effects from four previous injections. The Army reported that the fifth injection was fatal.

"The patient died about 2 1/2 hours after receiving an injection of a mescaline derivative," the Army said.

Mrs. Barrett disputes the Army's account, saying her mother had said that her father had been given LSD and that he had had two earlier bad experiences with the drug the doctors were

West Texas Next Target For Bullock?

HOUSTON (AP) — State Comptroller Bob Bullock says the next target for his sales tax raids will either be cities in West Texas or the Rio Grande Valley.

Bullock returned to Austin Tuesday after raids in the Houston area.

He was presented a $14,460 check for delinquent taxes before departing.

The check was delivered to Bullock by Peter LaValle, a former Galveston County judge who said he was representing a Galveston grocer who had gone out of business owing that amount in state sales taxes.

Bank Bandits Get $10,000

HOUSTON (AP) — Authorities sought today three men who robbed the First National Bank of Stafford and escaped with about $10,000.

Sheriff's detective Jay Evans said the trio wore ski masks and carried a shotgun and pistols.

Tellers at four cash windows were forced to turn over money from cash drawers to the three, who left in a car from a parking lot.

Police said the car, later found about 900 yards from the bank, had been reported stolen Friday.

Ford Will Appeal Oil Tariff Ruling

VAIL, Colo. (AP) — President Ford will appeal to the Supreme Court a U.S. Court of Appeals ruling that overturned his $2-a-barrel tariff on imported oil.

A White House spokesman said today.

"I've assumed all along that the ruling will be appealed by the President," Press Secretary Ron Nessen told reporters.

He was replying to a question about whether the President had made up his mind on the issue.

"There will not be too much speculation about this," Nessen replied. "I think everyone has assumed from the beginning that it would be appealed."

He said the President had received recommendations from his legal counsel and the Federal Energy Administration, and was studying those recommendations today while on vacation at this resort.

Nessen said Ford wants to discuss the matter with energy administrator Frank Zarb before making any announcements. He said such an announcement might be made by the Justice Department in Washington, perhaps later this week.

Nessen said the President also wants to meet with Zarb, who is due in Vail on Thursday, before making any decisions on options he can take to soften the inflationary effect when price controls are removed from domestic oil on Aug. 31.

Ford has said he will veto a six-month extension of price controls. Among the options being considered is a removal of the $2-a-barrel tariff he imposed in two steps earlier this year on imported oil.

Dr. Hunter Is Named

Dr. Kenneth Gaver, commissioner, Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, today announced the appointment of Dr. Wallace C. Hunter as acting superintendent, Big Spring State Hospital.

Dr. Hunter is a native of Salt Lake City, Utah, and attended Stanford University where he did his undergraduate work in the Humanities Honors Program. He received his doctor of medicine degree in 1962 from Baylor University College of Medicine and received his academic appointment as clinical instructor in psychiatry in 1970 from Baylor in Houston. He was in private practice from 1969 until 1974 in Houston.

Prior to his appointment as acting superintendent, Dr. Hunter served at Big Spring State Hospital as director of the Out-Patient Clinic and as clinical director.

Panel Votes To Subpoena Tapes, Papers Of Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate intelligence committee, in its most serious breach with the Ford administration, is subpoenaing tapes and documents bearing on covert activities in Chile during the Nixon administration.

But panel members say they still hope to obtain the materials without a legal battle.

The vote to issue a subpoena was taken Tuesday after the White House rejected the committee's requests for the tapes and documents bearing on covert efforts during the Nixon administration to prevent the 1970 election of President Salvador Allende of Chile.

At the same time, committee Chairman Frank Church, D-Idaho, reported the panel has given up for the moment its attempts to persuade former President Richard M. Nixon to testify on his administration's policy concerning assassination of foreign leaders and covert activities by the Central Intelligence Agency.

Church said Nixon's testimony is not essential to the committee's investigation, but may be sought later when he can be interrogated in a single session about all aspects of the probe.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger told the panel Tuesday that assassination plots were never part of Nixon administration policy or practice.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said the documents requested are "in a position where they cannot be released because of an injunction by (U.S. District Judge William B.) Bryant at the request of the former president."

Church said the White House based its decision on an order sequestering the documents except for "ongoing government business." He added: "We think this committee is engaged in legitimate government business."

Access to the papers was refused by White House Counsel Philip W. Buchen. He and Arthur Sampson, head of the General Services Administration, were served the subpoenas because they have physical custody of the Nixon papers.

The subpoena calls for delivery of the papers by Aug. 25. One section calls for the production of all proposals or reports for a military coup in Chile, the bribery of Chilean politicians and the transfer of machine guns, gas masks and gas canisters.

The subpoena also seeks documents concerning "the use of propaganda including media personnel on the payroll of the Central Intelligence Agency and the use of private business interests."

On another subject, Church disagreed with an assertion by Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., a committee member, that the panel's report on its investigation of alleged CIA responsibility for the assassination of foreign leaders may include a whitewash of former President John F. Kennedy.

Goldwater maintained that the panel's investigation thus far shows that all of the CIA's activities flowed from orders given by presidents or with their knowledge, including Kennedy.

Church said the committee has reached none of the conclusions Goldwater said it has and that he believes evidence will support his own view that the CIA at times operated on its own without presidential authority.

Sentence Gas Station Bandit

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A Texas man who pleaded guilty to robbing a gas station while wearing a hood and towel has been sentenced to five years in prison.

District Court Judge Joseph Pavlikowsky sentenced 23-year-old Geoffrey Warren Seekins of Arlington, Tex., Tuesday.

According to court records, Seekins slipped a hood over his head and a towel over his hand before robbing the service station June 4.

Willie Nelson's Son Arrested

AUSTIN (AP) — Willie Nelson Jr., 17, son of country and western singer Willie Nelson, has been charged with possession of marijuana, a misdemeanor.

Nelson was arrested early Tuesday on Loop 380 after police said they found a small quantity of marijuana in his van. They said they stopped Nelson because he was going too fast.

$4.5 MILLION RANSOM Kidnaped Whisky Heir Reported Buried Alive

YORKTOWN HEIGHTS, N.Y. (AP) — Kidnapers of whisky heir Samuel Bronfman II reportedly are demanding a $4.5 million ransom and have warned his family that he is buried with a 10-day supply of air and water.

Spokesmen for the 21-year-old Bronfman's family have refused to discuss the amount of ransom demanded or other details of a letter received in the mail Monday. But they said Tuesday they had complied with its instruction.

Sources close to the investigation were quoted as saying the ransom figure was $4.5 million, believed to be the highest in U.S. history.

The New York Daily News quoted sources close to the case as reporting that the letter said young Bronfman, missing since Saturday, was buried somewhere in Westchester County. His parents live in Westchester County, 35 miles north of New York City.

In another bizarre kidnapping, Barbara Jane Mackle was buried alive for days in a wooden coffin in 1968 in Georgia. She was released unharmed.

The Bronfman family spokesman confirmed that a "substantial" sum of money had been collected and that the family was awaiting the next move by the kidnapers. He said the family was negotiating with the kidnapers independently of the FBI and local police.

Edgar M. Bronfman, 46, head of the billion-dollar Seagram Co. Ltd., of Montreal, flew by helicopter from his baronial estate in this Westchester County community Monday to New York City, apparently to fulfill some of the kidnapers' demands. He returned about 7 a.m. Tuesday. A family spokesman early today refused to say whether the senior Bronfman was home or what he was doing.

Samuel Bronfman, oldest of the whisky magnate's five children, had dined with his father Friday night in the huge Tudor-style mansion. He left about 11:30 p.m., saying he was going to a party.

Several hours later, he telephoned his father to say he had been abducted by three men while driving to his mother's home in Purchase, N.Y., about 20 miles away.

Samuel's car, a green 1973 BMW sedan, was found parked in his mother's garage, the ignition key in the lock.

Family friends discount the possibility of a hoax, saying Samuel was a smart and likeable person who would not participate in a hoax.

Friends also say the family has held up well, trying to remain calm, and waiting.

They May Do Better

Medical malpractice insurance for doctors has been much in the news of late. Hospitals have the same problem, although their plight has not been as well publicized.

In response to the cancellation of malpractice policies for an estimated 75 hospitals in Texas, and the higher cost of continuing present policies, the Texas Hospital Association will offer insurance in this field within the next two months.

"Texas hospitals can no longer afford the luxury of inadequate and overpriced malpractice insurance markets," said Ray Hurst, president of the association in announcing the formation of the Reciprocal Insurance Exchange. He predicted policy savings of 15 to 20 per cent for hospitals under the new plan.

The move toward self-coverage by hospitals seems inevitable. Most insurance companies write hospital malpractice insurance as a sideline, if at all. Those who specialize in hospital and doctor liability insurance for malpractice have raised premiums drastically in recent years in response to rising claims, usually from court awards of damages.

The tragic death early Sunday morning of State Highway Patrolman Jimmy W. Parks underlines again the hazardous nature of being a peace officer. What the public often does not realize is that every call an officer makes has the potential for harm or death, accidentally or maliciously.

Routine was the word used to describe the traffic check Parks was making when a car, going against traffic on a one-way road, crashed into him and his car.

Yet the cost of insurance for hospitals and doctors has become such a burden that group self-insurance appears to be the only remedy to an inordinate burden. Cooperative effort may prove better than private, outside coverage.

Jimmy Parks: A Good Officer

One second the veteran officer is simply carrying out his duty as a patrolman; the next he is in eternity. It is all so unreal, and yet starkly real and final.

And what the public often does not realize, too, is that the cold statistic of another officer killed in line of duty does not reflect the humanness and dedication of a man like Jimmy Parks. He was a good officer, and because of his devotion each of us has been safer and more secure all these years. We owe his memory much.

Power Of Humility

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

In more than two score years of chronic of the daily scene, it has been my good fortune to be in contact with a countless parade of people. During that time, I have seen only a few individuals whom I would call great.

PRESTON HARRISON ranked among the highest on that small list. He was a superbly educated man whose thirst for knowledge was stimulated by each new lesson. He held four degrees, two of them doctorates, and all his special training were consolidated, he easily could have had a couple more.

If ever there was a man who might be deservedly indulged in flaunting his knowledge, it was Dr. Harrison. Yet arrogance of mind was the furthest thing from him; actually, he was one of the most humble souls I ever knew. It was the sort of humility that issued from the power of deep wisdom and peace of soul.

YOU MIGHT suspect that he would hold education to be important in his professional role, and so he constantly contrived to have his staff — and that included the newest to the most highly placed aides — exposed to stimulating minds and challenging concepts. In-service training was just as important as national seminars. Staff sessions were viable, so that when an idea was shaped, the members had shaped it and were committed to seeing if it would work. Someone shrewdly observed that somehow they came to do it just as the quiet man at the end of the table would have done it.

A BUSY MAN, he found time to speak an encouraging word. I made a practice of saving some of his notes: "I want to tell you what a fine talk you made. . . . I felt compelled to write you of thanks and appreciation for the fine article on our community house. I could not pass the opportunity of congratulating you. . . . Your writings are of a positive nature. . . ." Nor do I flatter myself that mine were exclusive. Indeed, I'm sure he took time to say equal thanks to his many, many friends.

From my experience, he was never too busy to sit down and talk. Once I wanted his views as the basis for a contribution to a panel discussion, and he took out an hour or so on a busy morning to answer unhurriedly and philosophize. When there was trouble at the hospital, he leveled with me, not trying to gloss over, and in return we attempted to handle the matter sympathetically.

IN A WORLD that is quick to criticize, he seemed instead to have a special understanding. Somewhere in the dim recesses of the mind may have been scars that contributed to a certain course of action, so he seemed to make allowances for that possibility. He listened, listened, and listened some more, using questions as one would deftly move a coal with the tongs. He had, also, the knack for being honest without being brutal or offensive. Jerking rugs out from under other positions, or whittling someone down to size was simply not his cup of tea.

ON THE contrary, he was gentleness and gentility personified. This extended not only to those who had business with him, but more especially to the patients. He was the apostle of love in treating the mentally ill. One only had to tag along as he made his way through the wards. Patients brightened like children in the presence of a kindly father, and he stopped to listen and to visit. Everyone of them was important, a human being. Small wonder that as his bier lay in state at the hospital chapel, a constant stream of patients walked, trudged and hobbled by, some softly weeping.

It was the most fitting requiem, an eulogy of the heart that would have flattered him beyond all means. Aye, as Hamlet of his father said: "I shall not see his likes again."

My Answer

Billy Graham

A church in our town ran an ad in classified asking people to work for wages under the minimum wage. In my opinion, the parishioners should volunteer to do this work, and not ask an outsider to work for starvation wages. What do you V.C.

Apart from the legal aspect of the problem, which I am not too familiar with, I would say that even though the wages offered seem too small to you, they may seem adequate for an unemployed person who has not been able to find well-paying employment.

We live in a free enterprise system, where people can accept or reject offers made to them. With a national average of 9 per cent unemployment, it is just possible that there are many people in the vicinity of that church who would be happy to work for the wages mentioned, even though they are indeed under the minimum wage. If the employer and the employee are happy with the contract they have made, far be it from me to complain about it.

While I believe that an honest day's work merits a fair day's pay, I know elderly people who are living on Social Security, and even saving money. So, the amount of wages is sometimes relative. Much is too little for some people, and little is much with others. It all depends upon the lifestyle of those involved.

"I HEARD THE RED TAPE WAS BAD, BUT THIS IS RIDICULOUS..."

Out Of Hibernation

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — Gov. Edmund G. Brown, Jr., of California last week secretly assigned a trusted lieutenant to sing his praises to Democratic politicians throughout the country, thereby injecting a fascinating new element in the torpid struggle for the party's presidential nomination.

ASSIGNING A sub rosa national operative was part of Brown's sudden awakening from a six-month hibernation in Sacramento. While in Los Angeles for a media blitz, Brown also met leftish money-man Max Palevsky and other well-heeled Democrats, who urged him to take his message to the nation. Although he said neither yes or no, the prospects are that Brown's philosophy will no longer be confined to California even if he remains there physically.

BROWN CERTAINLY is not about to join the mob of ambitious Democrats assaulting the presidential primaries. Moreover, chances that a deadlocked national convention would turn to 37-year-old Jerry Brown remain dim. Nevertheless, last week's backstage developments show that Brown, by far the most intriguing new face in a party burdened with showpump challengers, is seriously — though clandestinely — interested in the presidency.

ACTUALLY, BROWN confided in 1974 (and then denied our reports of it) that he would like to run for President in 1976. But there was little national interest in him. What has propelled Brown into presidential consideration is six remarkable months in office.

The former Jesuit seminarian has maintained vows of relative silence and poverty as governor. Never stirring outside California and scarcely leaving Sacramento, he has shunned Democratic party leaders. Abjuring liberal problem-solving, he has contended the government must tighten its belt along with everybody else. Brown has horrified politicians and bureaucrats, but intrigued the anti-politician, anti-government public.

THE RESULT has been national attention in Brown as a Democrat better fitting the public mood than announced presidential candidates. A June 23 editorial in the Washington Star suggesting that Democrats consider Brown for President was closely read by the governor. Shortly thereafter, Brown called in a longtime political associate and gave him this secret assignment:

START QUIETLY moving around the country, with two objectives in mind; first, increase national awareness of Jerry Brown and what he stands for; second, get to know key Democrats all over — for example, those bitter Illinois Democratic antagonists, Mayor Richard J. Daley and Gov. Dan Walker.

While not suggesting an underdog presidential campaign, the governor did note that avowed presidential hopefuls were stumbling. Furthermore, in pinpointing Illinois, he emphasized a state whose delegation might swing a brokered convention.

With Brown finally breaking silence for television and press appearances in Los Angeles last week, his office asked retired computer tycoon Palevsky to arrange a meeting between the governor and prominent supporters. That, in itself, represented major change. Since Brown brusquely refused Palevsky's request to intervene in the state assembly speaker's race last January, they had not spoken. But seven money men, not at Palevsky's home to hear the Governor urged him to speak out on more issues.

Alcoholism Inflationary

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Alcoholism is inflationary. Seldom do you hear the disease discussed in this context, but a realization of its enormous costs is making business take a new look at the problem.

A federal study found that alcohol misuse costs the nation $25.37 billion a year, and that the largest segment of that overall figure, some $9.35 billion, is in the form of lost production.

Absenteeism, wasted time on the job, inefficiency, faulty decision-making, accidents, and rehabilitation costs are the chief ingredients of that $9.35 billion, a sum that inevitably finds its way into the prices of goods.

Dr. Nicholas Pace, corporate medical director of General Motors Corp., told a meeting on alcoholism here last month that a study of its Pontiac operations showed alcoholics averaged no less than 93 days absent a year.

That's only one indicator. The sickness and accident claims, he said, amounted to more than four times those of the "normal" employee. The alcoholic received repeated disciplinary layoffs for drinking on the job.

Even grimmer statistics come from the Labor-Management Committee of the National Council on Alcoholism, which puts the cost to American industry at $12.5 billion a year.

"There are nine million alcoholics in this country," it said in a statement signed by George Meany, AFL-CIO president, and James Roche, GM director and former chairman. "Five million are employed, more than 4 per cent of our work force."

The "rock bottom" average cost of each alcoholic to his employer, the labor leader and the industrialist said, is $2,500 a year. "Alcoholism can strike a board chairman as easily as a blue collar worker," he said.

Nevertheless, companies that in other ways fight to cut costs, to raise productivity, to improve morale, often fail to have programs for alcoholics, despite the obvious human and economic benefits of instituting them.

"A job is a tremendous method of motivating people," Pace said in an interview. "When they recover they work their tail off for the company. The time they used to spend drinking is now donated to the company. They feel responsible."

Despite the belated realization, GM and an increasing number of large companies — Hughes Aircraft, Firestone and Du Pont, to name some of the prominent ones — find it pays to treat rather than fire alcoholics.

"It takes 12 to 14 years to develop this problem, and if you fire the worker, you've lost an employee in which you have an investment," said Pace. "We hold the hand out to the alcoholic. We offer treatment."

The GM program, under which 600,000 workers are covered for up to 45 days of treatment, has involved 8,000 heavy drinkers in the past two years with, said Pace, a recovery rate of 80 per cent.

Isn't the recovered alcoholic a marked person, a worker to be watched closely and even with suspicion, a worker not to be trusted with greater responsibilities? "Not if you have a program of education at the top," said Pace.

While industry does seem to be learning that it can cut costs by treating rather than ignoring alcoholism, a puzzling question that must be answered by researchers is this: Do the strains of industrial society contribute to the problem?

Definitive answers seem to be escaping the scholars, but a legal definition conceivably could emerge from a suit brought by a former Ford Motor Co. executive who contends he became an alcoholic because of job demands.

The executive, John Breanna, filed a $1.3 million suit for compensation he said he would have received if he hadn't been forced into premature retirement. His drinking was job-related, he said.

Regardless of the outcome of that suit, it will probably focus attention on the problem and maybe contribute to the growing belief that it pays to treat the alcoholic, if only to protect the company's investment, if only to keep costs down.

Tietze's Disease and Ribs

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have what they call Tietze Disease, and have been doctoring three years for pain in my chest. A doctor finally told me that was what I had. The pain is terrible, and you would think you were having a heart attack.

The doctor put a shot of medicine into the area (around my right breast) and the pain has eased. Would you please explain this disease, how serious it is, and what can be done for it? I am 47 and in perfect health. I have had pneumonia and pleurisy. — Mrs. P.T.M.

This is a painful swelling of joint cartilage where a rib attaches to the breast bone, usually involving the second or third rib. It is also called costal chondritis, or Tietze's syndrome, after the doctor who described it (Alexander Tietze).

It is a fairly common disorder, yet one that is frequently overlooked since it can mimic other problems. Pain in the front part of the chest is the usual symptom, thus focusing attention on the heart. But it has nothing to do with the heart or the lungs. Certain chest movements, as in coughing or twisting, will aggravate it.

The cause is not known, but it is thought that an injury in the area may be a factor.

The injection you had was most likely hydrocortisone into the joint space. Heat and simple pain killers usually help, and hydrocortisone will give prompt relief. You may require other injections later on if the pain persists.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 68 years old. Three months ago I had a prostate operation and everything went fine. My questions are: Will I be able to perform sexually? How soon after the operation would it be safe to have sex? Does the sperm go back into the bladder, and if so, are there any comlications? — J. W.

Removal of the prostate gland in itself should not affect your sexual potency. A recent study showed that in such surgery seven out of 10 patients resumed normal sexual activity. Desire remains as does ability. In cases where these seem diminished, the problem is usually psychological.

There can be confusing after-effects. For example in some cases the seminal fluid will not be ejaculated through the penis. Since you ask about the bladder, I assume your doctor has told you that your particular prostatectomy would have this result. The seminal fluid can be discharged in the other direction — into the bladder. This does no harm and does not interfere with sex enjoyment.

In all of the above, I make references to prostatectomies alone, and not procedures that involve removal of testicles also.

What Others Say

New guidelines for the purchase of pots and pans are now available from the federal government.

The guidelines were published in a booklet by the General Service Administration's Consumer Information Center. The booklet, aimed at the comparatively new housewife, is one of some 250 titles produced by that arm of the government.

It is possible that not many businessmen or businesswomen have been waiting breathlessly for the issuance of these guidelines, but you might be interested to know that the booklet points out:

"Good pots and pans are an asset in any kitchen. . . . Your family's size and eating habits determine the pots and pans you need for successful cooking."

While you are chewing on this bit of wisdom, take a look at this additional comment: The pot or pan should be "easy and safe to carry and pour from and certain to sit on a level surface without tipping, whether full or empty."

There is more information available to the consumer. Handles should be easy to grip, sturdy (and) fastened so they can neither rotate nor wobble up or down."

The consumer also is told: "Smooth rims, coatings, linings, and finishes without pits, chips, or gaps are marks of good workmanship; they are important to the looks of a pot or pan and its durability."

It is not our purpose to ridicule the government. However, those public employes in charge of these matters appear to have made a fundamental mistake — namely, the assumption that individual Americans lack even the most basic ability to protect themselves against bad judgment in choosing among the many products competing on the basis of price and quality.

A government agency that sees a need to spend tax money to inform consumers that pots and pans are handy in the kitchen — and that they should sit on a level surface without tipping — raises a question as to who needs protection from what.

We Hold These Truths... A Chronicle of America

August 12, 1775:

Declaring that the "inhabitants [of New Jersey] should have frequent opportunities of renewing their choice and approbation of the Representatives in Provincial Congress," that colony's Provincial Congress becomes probably the first to authorize a system of annual elections. As a specific reason for its decision, the Congress — which convened in Trenton on the 5th — cites the heavy tax burden that the incipient war is imposing on the citizenry. For the most part, elections are to be held on the third Thursday of each September in the county courthouses. A qualified voter may choose as many as five representatives from the "substantial freeholders" of the county in which he lives. In addition, the Provincial Congress directs every township in the colony to form a Committee of Observation and a Committee of Correspondence.

A Devotion For Today

"How long will this people despise me? And how long will they not believe in me?" (Numbers 14:11, RSV)

PRAYER: Father, we pray that we shall learn to accept Your will in our lives. Help us, whether we go directly to the goal of becoming Christians or take a path that seems to be a detour. May we know Your purpose and grow to become more Christlike. Amen.

He Did Lot Of Praying, Thinking Before Rescue

HOUSTON (AP) — Jimmy Stanley says he's not a very strong person, so he did a lot of praying.

Stanley, 21, also said he did a lot of thinking and swimming — since he was in the dark waters of Galveston Bay for three hours without a lifejacket or float before he was rescued early Tuesday by a Coast Guard helicopter.

Stanley, a Houston real estate firm employee, was tossed from his father's 32-foot cabin cruiser late Monday night when it hit a large wave off Redfish Island.

"I had just fixed a drink at the back of the boat," he said. "I was headed forward and missed the handrail when the boat hit the wave."

He yelled in vain as the boat moved away.

"My next reaction was to get the hell out of the water, so I headed for shore," he said.

At one point he said he decided to tie his pants together and inflate them, a self-survival aid he had learned in the Army.

"This gave me a few minutes rest but I noticed they were pulling me back out to sea, so I got rid of them," he said.

Opening leading: Ace of ♠.

If there is one thing we have learned in our bridge careers (which, between the two of us, span almost a century), it is never to use the word "never." This applies particularly to the collection of bridge dogma that starts with that word. For example: "Never give an opponent a ruff and discard."

West firmly believed in that adage, and it proved to be his downfall on this hand.

South opened the bidding with a weak two-heart bid. The bid describes a hand of less than opening bid strength with a good six-card suit. North's two no-trump response asked partner to show an outside feature, if he had one, and South dutifully replied by bidding his ace of clubs.

Armed with this extra information, North decided that he had enough to take a shot at game.

West's opening lead of the ace of spades was an excellent and well-reasoned choice. The auction had marked South with a good heart suit and some strength in clubs, so it was most unlikely that he also held the king of spades. Thus, West's queen of spades was a wasted value unless he found the king in his partner's hand.

East signalled with the ten of spades. West continued with a low spade to his partner's king and won the spade return with the queen to complete the defensive book. Now, he shifted to a club, and declarer had no trouble making the rest of the tricks when the queen of hearts appeared on the second round of trumps.

West should have reasoned that it was most unlikely that the defenders could get the setting trick in the minor suits. The only hope, therefore, was to find a trick in the trump suit, and it was doubtful that could be managed without a bit of help.

After winning the queen of spades, West should have led the 13th spade on the grounds that a ruff and discard could not possibly help declarer but just might promote a trump trick via an uppercut. Since East happens to hold two trump honors, he can ruff the 13th spade with either card, and declarer will be unable to prevent West from scoring the setting trick with his nine of hearts.

Bell Rate Hike Failure Might Reduce Service

DALLAS (AP) — The head of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. in Texas says the reduction in the company's proposed intrastate rate hikes will mean a reduction in the quality of service.

Charles Marshall said Tuesday the decrease in service in the coming years will be the result of a readjustment of the company's projects for upgrading its facilities and installations because of the drop of expected revenues.

Marshall said the company had counted heavily on the $45 million annual increase in rates it had proposed last March. The increase was challenged in court by Atty. Gen. John Hill.

Bell announced in Austin last week it had agreed to a reduction of its proposed rate hike that will mean a loss of nearly $50 million in expected revenues through March 1977.

The company said last March that it needed the additional revenue to carry out an annual expansion and improvement program estimated at more than $700 million.

Marshall said some of the reductions in the quality of service could include a slower dial tone and the elimination of additions to basic exchange switching systems for residences and businesses.

"We don't like the thought of cutting back on any of these projects," Marshall said, "and we intend to try our very best to minimize the impact. But it would be impossible to say there won't be some effect. Some of the results inevitably will be service-affecting."

Marshall said the effects will be felt more in the next few years because the loss in revenue will make it hard for the company to prepare for its long-range needs.

Bootleg Grapefruit Inquiry

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Twenty-two citrus growers, some believed to be growing forbidden fruit, have been subpoenaed to appear at a hearing Thursday and Friday in Lakeland, state officials say.

The hearing was called by the Florida Department of Agriculture to determine whether to destroy about 50,000 trees brought into the state in the past four years without the required inspections and approval.

About 25,000 of the bootleg trees, from a strain called Star Ruby grown in Texas, already have been destroyed in what authorities say represents the biggest tree-smuggling operation in Florida.

"This whole thing was done by growers who did not want to go through the proper procedure and wanted to get the jump on everybody else," said Halwin Jones, director of the state's Plant Industry Division.

He said some of the trees in Texas have come down with a rare tree-killing ring virus disease.

chance," Jones said. "Besides, if we let them get away with this one, it opens the door for growers to smuggle in all sorts of other trees."

The state requires inspection and authorization before new citrus breeds can be introduced in order to prevent infiltration of diseases harmful to Florida citrus.

Tests are being run by state scientists to determine if the trees are infected, and no final decision has been made on whether to allow the strain to be grown in Florida.

Ex-Wife Of Actor Seeks To Block Her Deportation

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The former wife of actor Donald Sutherland has filed suit seeking to block her deportation to Canada.

Shirley Jean Sutherland, 41, of Beverly Hills, said in her federal court suit Tuesday she was denied immigrant resident status after being indicted in 1969 on charges of conspiracy and possession of hand grenades.

Federal authorities had alleged that she was a member of a group called "Friends of the Panthers" which officials said planned to distribute hand grenades to the Black Panthers. The charges were later dismissed.

The Sutherlands were divorced in November 1971. Sutherland has had leading roles in several films, including "M-A-S-H" and "Kluge."

PROBE DISAPPEARANCE OF HOFFA Several Witnesses Expected To Take Fifth Amendment

DETROIT (AP) — A federal prosecutor says several witnesses probably will take the Fifth Amendment when he opens a grand jury probe into the disappearance of ex-Teamsters union boss Jimmy Hoffa.

U.S. Atty. Ralph Guy said federal authorities are still exploring all possibilities — including intentional flight — in the disappearance of Hoffa two weeks ago.

"There is no angle we can rule out," he said.

Guy had said he hoped to issue subpoenas as early as today. But Tuesday he said it would take a couple of weeks for his staff to review the results of hundreds of FBI interviews.

those subpoenaed.

Hoffa reportedly had an appointment with Giacalone, former Teamster vice president Anthony "Tony Pro" Provenzano of Union City, N.J., and reputed Detroit mob figure Leonard Schultz at the restaurant the day he vanished. All three denied such a meeting was planned.

Also expected to be called before the grand jury is Charles "Chuckie" O'Brien, Hoffa's former body guard and foster son, who has been identified by sources as a focal point in the investigation.

In Boston Tuesday, O'Brien said he has consulted with attorney F. Lee Bailey and is now willing to take a lie detector test about his actions on the day Hoffa disappeared. But he said he wouldn't take the test until after the grand jury probe is over.

O'Brien's Detroit attorney, James Burdick, said he would probably advise his client against taking a lie detector test.

Burdick again declined to divulge information from O'Brien's 3½-hour interview with the FBI last week but said he expected to be able to do so soon. He said O'Brien was staying mum to avoid interfering with the FBI probe.

He said he believed Hoffa, 62, was last seen July 30 waiting outside a restaurant in suburban Bloomfield Township. The FBI says it has failed to find any trace of him and does not know if he was kidnaped or killed.

James P. Hoffa, Hoffa's son, repeated on Tuesday his belief that an unnamed man witnessed the abduction of his father — "I've talked to the eyewitness. I've seen him and I believe him."

The FBI says the man's story did not hold up under questioning.

Guy declined to say who would be called to testify before the grand jury. He said some witnesses could be expected to decline to testify on the grounds of self-incrimination.

"It wouldn't surprise me if several people take the Fifth Amendment since some of them have already said publicly that they would," he said.

Urged Soviet Union To Let Solzhenitsyn Leave Country

VAIL, Colo. (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger says he urged the Soviet Union to let Alexander Solzhenitsyn leave the country a month before his exile last year. But he denies the deal that prevented President Ford from seeing the author when he first came to this country.

"There was no deal of any kind as to how Solzhenitsyn was to be treated in the West," an angered Kissinger said Tuesday in a telephone call to reporters accompanying Ford on his vacation in Vail.

Speaking from Washington, he denied a report quoting a White House aide as saying the President did not meet with Solzhenitsyn last month because of agreements between the two countries at the time the writer was expelled from Russia.

The White House and the aide, Warren Rustand, appointments secretary to Ford, also said there had been no agreement. Rustand said he was misquoted. But the newspaper, the Scottsdale, Ariz., Progress, said it was standing behind its story.

"This thing has become an absurdity," Kissinger said of the story.

The secretary revealed that he had urged Soviet leaders to let Solzhenitsyn leave Russia rather than imprison him for his critical writings about the USSR. That was about a month before the Nobel Prize winner was exiled, but Kissinger declined to disclose with whom he had talked. Richard M. Nixon was president at the time.

Ford personally stayed out of the controversy as he continued to relax at this Alpine-style mountain village, mainly with golf and socializing. Press Secretary Ron Nessen issued a denial of the story which quoted Rustand and then referred reporters to Kissinger.

Rustand's speech before the Scottsdale Rotary Club on Monday was covered by reporter Mike Petry of the Progress, and news editor Gil Johnson said the paper was standing by the story.

Johnson said Rustand went off the record when he talked about Solzhenitsyn but that the newspaper decided to publish his remarks because they were presented before about 50 persons.

The Progress reported Rustand as saying that Kissinger insisted that agreements made to prevent Solzhenitsyn's imprisonment had to be maintained before the President's recent trip to Europe.

Rustand said Tuesday he had no "persona knowledge" of any agreements relating to the author's exile.

Ford's refusal to meet Solzhenitsyn sparked heated public criticism, especially among opponents of détente.

The President later reversed his stand and said Solzhenitsyn would be welcome at the White House. But the author left Washington without meeting Ford.

Second Charge Lodged In Death Of Officer

Morales is accused of driving the car which hit Texas Highway Patrolman Parks early Sunday morning.

Australian Is Seeking Name Of Local Pair

Rain Dots West Texas

Occasionally severe thunderstorms and a little light rain persisted in parts of West Texas and the Panhandle-Plains sector this morning. Skies were partly cloudy to clear over the rest of the state.

The moisture lingered in the wake of the state's nightly round of thundershowers, which dotted areas from the Coastal Bend to around Abilene, and from the Lower Pecos Valley westward into the Big Bend country and other parts of far West Texas.

With the turbulence there also were reports of tornado funnels which spun close to Rockport on the coast and over Sabine Lake late Tuesday but left no trail of damage.

August heat kept temperatures in the 80s well past midnight at many points. Near dawn the range was from 83 degrees at Galveston on the coast down to 67 at shower-cooled El Paso in extreme West Texas. Top marks Tuesday afternoon went as high as 99 at Wichita Falls.

Although prospects were seen for renewed showers by evening, forecasts promised no letup in the steamy heat.

Basin Chamber Heads To Meet

Chamber of Commerce Manager Terry Hanson said that Big Spring will host the meeting of the Permian Basin Chamber Managers Tuesday, Aug. 19 at noon.

Representatives from at least eight cities will be present at the Amtrak meeting.

Hanson said that the meeting will be held here because most of the area chamber managers will be here for the Amtrak meeting.

Child Screening Is Postponed

The screening clinic for school children, announced for Friday, has been postponed by the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

Conflict in schedules of some of the consultants made it advisable to put off the screening program, said Jack Davis, director. A new date will be announced, probably to coincide with one of the teacher in-service training days so that children will be out of school, he noted.

Alleged Rape In Dormitory Triggers Suit

HOUSTON (AP) — A student who claims she was raped in her dormitory has filed a $1 million damage suit against Lon Morris College of Jacksonville.

The state district court suit filed Monday alleges Lon Morris College officials failed to ensure her security.

The 21-year-old plaintiff, a Houston woman now enrolled in another Texas school, alleged the rape took place in the early morning hours of Jan. 20, 1974 and that school officials secretly transported the alleged rapist out of town the next day after having dropped him from the registrar's rolls.

The suit claims school officials failed to give her medical attention and treated her as if the incident never happened.

The suit named as defendants school president John E. Cellers, the Texas Conference of the United Methodist Church, which operates the school, and Bishop Paul Galloway and 46 other trustees of Lon Morris College.

Lon Morris College officials declined comment. "This is a matter in the hands of our attorneys," said Fellers. They will handle it. I don't think the attorneys will comment at this time.

Steve Can't Drive His Lemon Around Nevada

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Steve Strickland is in a pickle because a judge won't allow his truck on any Nevada road until he removes lemons and signs painted on the vehicle to protest defects.

Strickland says he needs the truck in his carpentry work, but won't remove the painted lemons or stenciled list of 46 alleged flaws until he gets justice.

"As Americans we are so complacent that we trade off a bad vehicle and give up trying to get it fixed. That doesn't help anyone because the manufacturers just keep turning out piles of junk," Strickland said in an interview Tuesday.

Strickland wants his 1973 International truck — his only mode of transportation — replaced with another make of truck, and he wants to overturn the Carson District Court judge's order that bars him from operating the vehicle anywhere in the state.

Judge Frank Gregory ruled last November that Strickland's protest constituted "almost an attempt at extortion" because he vowed to continue his one-man campaign until he got his way, even though the auto dealer's business would be damaged.

"Any consumer should have the right to tell the public of problems with a product, and to let Gregory's order go unchallenged would be unjust," said Strickland, 37, of nearby South Lake Tahoe, Calif.

Strickland has parked his $4,500 truck in front of Al Gasper's auto lot here, displayed it at recreational vehicle shows and run newspaper advertisements that read, "Before you buy a new truck or pickup, come and see my factory-ordered headache."

The dealership has refused to comment on the dispute. Gregory upheld his order Monday saying the protest was "unjustified, totally unwarranted."

"It's utterly ridiculous that that order should come out of our court system," Strickland said. "If I can get some financial help, I'll carry this on to the state Supreme Court."

Strickland ordered the truck from the factory in 1973. "I saved 2½ years for it. It was the first new vehicle I ever bought," he said.

Since delivery, brakes, carburetors, window glass and other parts had to be changed or fixed because of factory defects, he said.

COMMANDER EXCEEDED AUTHORITY Drugged 13 Vietnamese Who Wanted To Go Home

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. Air Force base commander in Thailand was relieved of his position after 13 protesting Vietnamese refugees were drugged and put aboard the last plane for Guam.

Officials said Col. Harold R. Austin exceeded his authority. Austin was reassigned from command of the key Utapao base to 15th Air Force headquarters at March Air Force Base, Calif.

There was no immediate information on how long after the May 1 drugging incident Austin was removed from his Utapao command by Gen. Louis L. Wilson Jr., Air Force chief in the Pacific.

The Air Force confirmed the drugging episode Tuesday, hours after Rep.

Joshua Eilberg, D-Pa., chairman of the House immigration subcommittee, demanded an explanation of what he called "a horrible thing for our country."

But the Air Force denied Eilberg's allegation that the refugees, who wanted to return home, were beaten. "No physical force was used," it said.

The official Air Force explanation strongly suggested the decision to drug the 13 refugees with sodium pentathol, a sedative, and thiazine, a tranquilizer, was made because of pressure from Thai officials to remove South Vietnamese from their country quickly.

"The Thai officials were adamant that they leave Thailand immediately," the Air Force said.

About 3,000 South Vietnamese flew to Thailand on Vietnamese planes as their country was being overrun by Communist forces.

The Air Force recalled that the United States sent C141 transport planes to carry the Vietnamese refugees from Thailand after the Thais asserted that the Vietnamese could not remain.

"On May 1, when South Vietnam had fallen and the last C141 was leaving for Guam, a group of 13 Vietnamese refused to go," the Air Force statement said.

They said that when they boarded the aircraft in Vietnam, their Vietnamese flight crews had told them that their destination was the Delta region of Vietnam.

"Near hysteria, they demanded to be returned to Vietnam and threatened suicide if they were not returned immediately."

As the Air Force told the story, a decision by U.S. and Thai officials on the scene to sedate the Vietnamese and take them to Guam was made after hours of fruitless efforts to persuade the 13 "that there were no means to take them back."

It said the drugs were administered by U.S. medical personnel at Utapao and that an Air Force nurse was aboard the flight.

"No ill effects were noted," the Air Force said.

An Air Force spokesman said the 13 are still on Guam awaiting repatriation, but an aide to Eilberg said one is in the United States.

About 2,000 of the more than 130,000 South Vietnamese who left their country in the dying days of the war have asked to go back.

LAKE NAMED COMANCHE

The name of Comanche Trail Lake will be officially adopted by the City Council at the next regular meeting to replace the name of Cosden Lake, T&P or Hughes.

A committee named to study possible names for the lake recommended that either the name Comanche Trail Lake, Spring Lake or Indian Lake be adopted.

These three were adopted from a list of 17 names submitted to the group.

The name was selected after the suggestion was made that the name of the lake be more in keeping with the park and spring area.

It's Back To School For Local Teachers

School began officially for the teachers here Tuesday.

And right in the middle of what still seems like summer will be the opening day of school for students on Monday.

"The state commissioner of education recently pointed out that one third of the total population is either a student or a teacher," said Dr. E. H. McKenzie, superintendent.

"Another third is pre-kindergarten age or retired. This leaves one-third of the populace paying the bills and they have a right to know what's going on and to receive some feedback," Dr. McKenzie told the faculty.

He was discussing the statewide goal of accountability set by the teaching profession. He also explained to the first general faculty meeting in detail the new system of figuring average daily attendance.

"The recent legislation improved salaries, transportation allocation and operation expense, but it did not improve the personnel allocation like we had hoped," he said.

Guests at the meeting, representing the community with brief welcomes were Col. Robert Owens, wing commander at Webb Air Force Base, Mayor Wade Choate and Ken Perry, Chamber of Commerce president.

BOARD WELCOME
Roy Watkins and Al Valdes were present from the school board with Watkins bringing a brief message.

Lynn Hise, assistant superintendent for instruction and Don Crockett, assistant superintendent for business, gave brief reports.

Following the general meeting, Mrs. Janice Rosson presided at a meeting of the TSTA unit. Discussed was membership under the new unification plan with NEA. Hise and Mrs. Lois Phillips, who is this year's district membership chairman, made pleas for membership.

The executive committee was introduced, including Mrs. Lynn Calvert, Mrs. Rhonda Rothell, Mrs. Betty Birdwell and Mike Cowley, along with Mrs. Rosson.

Gene Gresham presided at the meeting of the Classroom Teachers Association. Their executive officers include John Stiles, Mrs. Nan Howard, Mrs. Jean Warren, Mrs. Mary Eckert, Mrs. Cornelia Gary and Gresham.

The Beta Kappa chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma served refreshments at a coffee following the general meeting. A brief orientation meeting was held for new personnel, conducted by Noel Reed and Harold Bentley.

HAMBURG WEDDING — Houston heart surgeon Dr. Michael DeBakey poses with his wife, actress Katrin Fehlhauer, and Father Wolfgang Weissbach after their wedding in Hamburg Saturday.

Clothes Should Be Flame Retardant

People over 65 represent a high risk group in burn injuries caused by clothing catching on fire, according to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, Beverly Rhoades, clothing specialist, reported this week.

"However, since it's hard to differentiate clothing for this group from other adultwear, no strict standards for flame retardant clothing for older adults have been set yet," the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System, said.

Progress is being made to provide protection from death or injury due to burning clothing. And this high risk group can exercise certain safety precautions to help avoid serious or fatal accidents, she said.

"Close fitting garments are less hazardous. Avoid fullness in clothes such as flaring skirts or pants and flowing robes. Other potential hazards are ties, sashes or tie belts and ruffles."

The specialist advised older adults to exercise extreme caution when open flame heaters are the source of heat in the home. Be careful not to get too close and watch that clothing is not brushed by the flame.

In cooking, avoid loose fitting clothes, particularly long, full sleeves, that can easily be ignited by a surface unit or gas burner.

"When smoking, remember that smoking in bed when sleepy or smoking around medical equipment with oxygen creates serious fire hazards," Miss Rhoades said.

She reminded that some fibers, such as wool and modacrylic, are inherently flame retardant. Other fibers, such as rayon, acetate, polyester and nylon, can be treated to make them flame retardant.

"Also, flame retardant finishes can be applied on fabrics such as cotton to make them flame retardant. Look for flame retardant information on labels. Some manufacturers are voluntarily making flame retardant clothing in adultwear to be available for purchase by fall.

"Flame retardant fabrics, appropriate for children's sleepwear, are currently available in yardage. These fabrics could be used to make sleepwear for older adults," the specialist suggested.

Miss Zane Neal and Jody Nix were honored recently with a dinner in the backyard at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Middleton, 2808 Coronado.

Attending with the couple were their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Neal Jr. and Mrs. Lee Nix and Mr. and Mrs. Hoyle Nix.

Hosting the evening were Miss Candy Middleton, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Wilson, and Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Middleton.

White cloths covered the tables which were centered with arrangements of red and white flowers in red bandana-covered holders.

Guests attending from out-of-town were Miss Deane Mansfield, El Paso and Dr. Bill Sullivan, Saratoga, N.Y.

The couple will be married at 2 p.m., Aug. 31 in the Neal Ranch home.

ENGAGED — SM.Sgt. and Mrs. George S. Benham, 184A Fairchild Drive, announce the engagement of their daughter, Patti Jayne, to Sgt. Rick Lee Hyatt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Hyatt of Connersville, Ind. The couple will be married Aug. 23 in a garden ceremony.

Auxiliary Hears Meeting Report

The Eagles Auxiliary No. 3188 met Monday evening in the Settles Hotel with the installation of two new members, Mrs. Moreen Smith and Mrs. Billie Evans. Mrs. Bill Cochran gave a report on her recent trip to the 77th annual national convention of Eagles Auxiliary in Dallas. Three thousand attended the main banquet during the convention. The Texas Auxiliary won first place for its float in the national parade, Aug. 9. Bob Hope gave a show the last evening of the convention to benefit the Heart Fund.

The local auxiliary is planning a garage sale at 1605 Stadium to raise money to buy curtains for the lodge hall. The sale will be next Thursday through Sunday (Aug. 21-Aug. 24). The next meeting will be Aug. 25.

Herbs-Spices Loose Flavor

It doesn't pay to buy spices and herbs in quantities larger than you expect to use in six months. Ground spices such as paprika and cinnamon are especially prone to lose flavor and color during storage. The loss can be delayed somewhat by refrigeration.

Square Dance Planned

The Big Spring Squares Dance Club will host guest caller Johnny Rogers, Crane, at a dance Saturday. Dancing will be from 8 to 11 p.m. at the Squares Corral, Country Club Road. Visitors are welcome to attend. Square dance lessons will begin at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Squares Corral with instructor James Moore, club caller. Oil Wife Tells Of Culture Differences In Arabia

DUBAI, United Arab Emirates (AP) — Trista Bird still can't get used to hitting her brakes to avoid a herd of camels wandering across the four-lane highway in this Arabian Gulf town.

Trista, her husband Danny and year-old son moved here from Lake Charles, La., three months ago and joined about 2,000 other Americans working in the petroleum industry in this oil-rich federation of seven Arab sheikhdoms.

Trista had never been out of the southern United States before her husband took a drilling supervisor's job with Dubai Petroleum Co., a subsidiary of Continental Oil-Conoco. Now she is planning to go on local leave to Iran and visit the ancient Persian cities of Shiraz and Isfahan.

"I never even heard of these places back home, never dreamed of owning a Persian rug," she says. "Now I got two of them."

The U.S. consul in Abu Dhabi, Richard B. Jackman, says that for most Americans this is a completely new world.

The local Arab women, dressed in long black robes and black beak-shaped masks covering most of their faces, are a mystery to the foreign women.

"I'd love to talk to the local women, but we have no opportunity," said Carol Petterson from Edmonton, Alta. Carol's husband works with the Eastern Bechtel Corp., which is building a liquefied gas plant 120 miles off the Abu Dhabi coast on Das Island.

Carol's husband works onshore and they live in a compound shared by Bechtel and its Japanese partners in the project, Chiyoda Corp.

Shopping and social restrictions are the main problems of oil wives in the Gulf states. Not being able to go to movies on their own, being tied in while their husbands are working late or offshore, having to cover up their arms and legs when going downtown all irk them.

But most find it better than they expected.

Instead of empty desert wastes the women found bustling towns, fast developing into modern cities. Tall buildings line the banks of Dubai Creek and the supermarkets stock some American brands of packaged foods, although erratically.

Virginia Johnston of Sanger, Calif., says of Abu Dhabi:

"Sure you can't go down to the bazaar in halter dresses, mini skirts or shorts but at least women can drive here."

Dear Abby

Three Quickie Weddings Possible In Los Vegas

DEAR ABBY: Joe a guy I bowl with, told me that he just came back from Las Vegas where he had been the best man at three weddings. (I'll call the bridegroom "Paul.")

Joe said that Paul first married a girl who was visibly pregnant just to give her baby a name. Immediately after they were married, Paul divorced her.

Then Paul went back to the chapel and married Girl No. 2 for the same reason. As soon as they were married, Paul divorced her, too.

Paul said the divorces had been set up in advance. Then, they went back to the chapel, and Paul married the girl he was really in love with. (Joe said the third one didn't look pregnant.)

How about blood tests and waiting periods? Personally, I think this so-called "best man" is full of baloney, but he swears this actually happened.

Is this possible? DOUBTING THOMAS DEAR TOM: It's possible. Blood tests and waiting periods are not required in Nevada. I am informed that divorces are final when granted and the parties are free to marry immediately.

DEAR ABBY: I have a neighbor who I like, but his wife can be very obnoxious. This wife asked me to take a urine sample to the hospital lab for her in the morning because she and her husband leave for work earlier than the lab opens up and I go right by the hospital on my way to work later. I said no flat out.

The next morning, this woman's mother was there to pick up the little jar to deliver it to the hospital, which is only six blocks away.

IT'S URINE, NOT MINE DEAR IT'S: I think you were being unduly squeamish. You probably would have taken a blood sample and would not have been shocked by the request — unless, of course, you don't like any part of your neighbor's wife.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20 cents) envelope.

COMMUNIST SUPPORTERS — Peasants and farmhands recruited by Communist party organizers appear at a counter demonstration in Evera, in central Portugal, Tuesday in support of the leftwing military government and as a counter demonstration to protest recent anti-Communist violence.

Lone Star Gas Strike Under Way

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas and Fort Worth members of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers union have struck the Lone Star Gas Co., claiming in part that the company is disciplining its employees in violation of the National Labor Relations Act.

The union had been working under an expired contract.

Dallas union president J.R. Byrd said Tuesday, "Contrary to what the company is putting out, we're not on strike in Dallas because of an economic issue. We're on strike because of an unfair labor dispute."

He said the strike in Fort Worth is "strictly an economic issue."

Lone Star spokesman Warren Fulks would not comment on Byrd's charges but said full service would be offered to customers during the strike.

GETS $750,000 — William DePalma, a 37-year-old catering truck driver, is all smiles at his home in Los Angeles Tuesday after he accepted a $750,000 settlement. DePalma was falsely imprisoned for 2½ years on a bank robbery charge. DePalma accepted the offer just before his $5.3 million wrongful imprisonment suit was to go to trial.

'Ain't Nobody Gonna Come Get Me No More'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Ain't nobody gonna come get me no more," a joyful William DePalma told his tearful daughters as they stood on the steps of the federal courthouse, their ordeal finally over.

His hair is grey and his face is wrinkled after an eight-year legal battle to clear his name of bank robbery charges — a battle that was fought for more than two years from a cell at McNeil Island Federal Prison.

On Tuesday DePalma agreed to an out-of-court settlement in two suits for $750,000, believed to be the largest award ever in a civil rights or wrongful imprisonment suit.

Cemetery Strike In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Deaths never stop, and burials must go on despite a strike by grave workers at the Catholic Archdiocese.

So supervisory personnel will handle burials during the strike, said the Rt. Rev. Raymond A. Wegman, director of archdiocesan cemeteries.

The grave workers, who are members of Teamsters Union Local 270, are asking higher wages, better sick pay and longer vacations.

Top pay now is $2.30 per hour. The workers, who dig graves, cut grass and seal and unseal tombs, want $6. Currently they receive 12 days of sick leave, with half pay for each day off. They are asking six days sick leave at full pay.

Wegman said the current wage rate is comparable to pay for workers doing similar tasks for city departments.

The grave workers also complain their job is often unbearable because of the practice of reusing the unique, above-ground tombs in New Orleans' cemeteries.

"When we go in some places, the bodies aren't completely gone," said Jimmy Brown, one of 19 workers at the archdiocesan cemeteries off the job since last Friday.

"We run into bodies that are still intact and we have to make room for the other person that's in the tomb," Brown said.

Most graves in New Orleans are above ground because of the high water table and many old vaults in the crowded cemeteries contain the remains of several persons.

The city health department allows reuse after a year and a day, said Frank Rome, director of the archdiocesan cemeteries.

The old casket is removed, the remains are placed to the back of the vault and the new casket is inserted, he said.

Power Struggle Within Armed Forces Continues

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Security chief Gen. Otelo Saraiva de Carvalho met today with military commanders following two nights of attacks on Communist political offices in northern Portugal.

A power struggle within the armed forces continued to divide the pro-Communist officers and moderates opposed to the establishment of a Communist dictatorship.

Anti-Communist violence that claimed four lives and injured scores in the north appeared to have let up today.

There were unconfirmed reports that Carvalho, one of three generals on the ruling junta, was preparing his own program for the next steps in Portugal's 15-month-old revolution.

The Carvalho program was described as slightly to the left of the demands of nine moderate officers whose position paper called for turning the revolution from its veer leftward back toward the center.

President Francisco de Costa Gomes' office said it could not comment on a report that the dissident nine, reportedly backed by 85 per cent of the armed forces, had demanded the resignation of pro-Communist Premier Vasco Goncalves.

Meeting at the summons of Carvalho were the nation's regional military commanders, heads of all units and representatives of the Armed Forces Movement — AFM — the organization Goncalves and Carvalho secretly commanded to overthrow the old rightist dictatorship.

Two of the regional commanders were among the nine dissident officers suspended last week from the Revolutionary Council that held supreme authority before the junta of Goncalves, Costa Gomes and Carvalho was created by the AFM assembly.

It seemed evident pressure was building up for a showdown between Goncalves, backed by the Communist party and radical left AFM leaders, and the moderate Melo Antunes group, supported by the Socialist party, the nation's biggest.

The Socialists scheduled a rally in Lisbon on Thursday to demand Goncalves' resignation.

Hathaway Out Of Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Stanley K. Hathaway, who resigned as secretary of interior after serving five weeks, has been released from Bethesda Naval Hospital.

The former Wyoming governor resigned his cabinet post because of ill health. Doctors said he suffered from fatigue, moderate depression and a mild case of diabetes.

Hathaway, who had been under medical and psychiatric care at Bethesda since July 15, flew to Denver last Friday to continue his hospitalization.

Denver To Tour

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John Denver will make his first tour of the South Pacific with concerts in Hawaii, Australia and New Zealand, it was announced Tuesday.

The tour will open with two concerts at the Honolulu International Center on Sept. 30-Oct. 1.

DePalma said he believed he would have received a larger settlement had he pursued the legal action further. "But my wife and children had gone through literally eight years of hell, and I thought money or no money it was time to stop it," he said.

DePalma was sentenced in 1968 to 15 years in prison for the armed robbery of $2,400 from a Buena Park savings and loan office, despite the testimony of more than a dozen witnesses that he was 15 miles away at the time.

The key evidence in the case was a set of fingerprints from the office's counter, purportedly those of DePalma. After appeals went all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court, he entered prison in August 1971.

Finally, two months after his December 1973 parole, it was proved by John Bond, a private investigator hired by DePalma, that the fingerprints had been forged by Buena Park policeman James Bakken.

DePalma said he can't forget the nightmare the last eight years have been.

"There's no way they could pay me back for what I went through," he said outside the U.S. Courthouse. "They could give me this building and McNeil Island subdivided into condominiums and no way will it turn my hair black again or take the wrinkles from my face."

IN EL PASO COUNTY JAIL Reports Of Stabbings, Brawls, Sex Assaults

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Reports of stabbings, racial brawls and sexual assaults in the El Paso County jail have surfaced here in testimony by inmates and former inmates.

The first group of prisoners testified Tuesday and additional testimony was expected today before U.S. District Court Judge William Sessions.

A class action suit against the county was filed a year ago by a group of county jail prisoners who complained of lack of supervision by jail personnel, poor plumbing facilities, segregation of prisoners and lack of discipline.

Two of the men who testified Tuesday said they were stabbed while in jail, and an 18-year-old former prisoner said he was assaulted sexually several times when he spent two weeks in jail on a charge of possessing barbiturates.

William Mark Frey removed his shirt while testifying to show scars he said were from wounds inflicted during a racially motivated fight with a Mexican-American.

"If I wasn't such a big guy, they would have killed me," he said.

Frey said the weapons used in the fights were pointed objects fashioned from wood and metal parts of mops given to inmates to clean their cells.

Another inmate, John David Moore, a black, said he was stabbed in another racially motivated fight.

An 18-year-old former prisoner testified he and another 18-year-old endured repeated homosexual rapes during the time they were in jail.

Frey and other prisoners said that when trouble breaks out in the cells, the prisoners alert the jailers by banging on bars and jailers take as long as one hour to answer the calls.

"A man could bleed to death before a jailer knew what was going on," said inmate Russell Gene Kelly, 30.

Fords Dance Cheek To Cheek At Nightclub

VAIL, Colo. (AP) — President and Mrs. Ford made an unexpected appearance at a nightclub to dance cheek to cheek on a crowded dance floor to the nostalgic music of the Inkspots.

They stayed for more than an hour Monday night, dancing to 11 numbers and shaking hands with the other dancers.

The Fords and several dinner guests decided on the spur of the moment to take in the Inkspots at a popular Vail nightclub run by former Austrian ski champion Pepi Gramshammer and his wife.

The Fords slipped into the darkened nightclub with their Secret Service detail and went unrecognized until they began dancing to such numbers as "You Always Hurt the One You Love," "I Don't Want to Set the World on Fire," "Blueberry Hill" and "Sentimental Journey."

John Dix, one of the Inkspots, told the crowd it was "the greatest moment of my life when I heard this distinguished gentlemen and his wife were here."

Ford laughingly told the audience, "I am a has-been" as he enjoyed the music of yesteryear.

Short Holiday

LONDON (AP) — Gen. Yakubu Gowon, whose regime in Nigeria was toppled by a military coup 14 days ago, has arrived in London. His only comment to reporters was: "I am here for a short holiday to see my family. I don't know how long I will be here."

Large Grain Harvests Can Help Cut Food Costs

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Large grain harvests like the ones predicted in the latest Agriculture Department crop report can help cut food prices. But there are substantial time lags from farm to supermarket, and savings — if any — vary widely from shelf to shelf.

said Tom Hieronymus, agricultural economist with the University of Illinois at Urbana. The small size of last year's weather-damaged corn crop drove up feed prices and many hog producers cut back their herds. That led to decreased supplies and high pork prices this summer.

farmer decides to increase production until the pork winds up in the supermarket. Bread prices, in contrast, have relatively little to do with the cost of wheat. There is only about 5 1/2 cents worth of wheat in a 35-cent, one-pound loaf of bread. It takes one pound of grain to make one pound of bread and there are 60 pounds of wheat in a bushel. A $1 increase in the price of a bushel of wheat, therefore, means less than a two-cent increase in the value of the grain in the bread.

from last year. Why then did recent wheat sales to the Soviet Union prompt some manufacturers to raise flour prices? "Some of those were done with an eye toward the political implication of sales to Russia," Hieronymus said.

Economists and industry spokesmen said Tuesday that the impact of crop size on food prices depends on which item you are talking about because the farm value — the price the farmer gets for the raw material — ranges from 10 to 70 per cent. Beef and pork prices, for example, are closely tied to the cost of producing livestock. The farm value of the animal accounts for about two-thirds of the price of a pound of choice-grade beef, the USDA says. And livestock costs are closely tied to the price of the grain used to feed them. Thus, abundant supplies of corn mean lower feed prices. "There's a lot of raw material cost in livestock,"

Hieronymus said that Monday's USDA prediction of a record corn crop of 5.85 billion bushels—26 per cent higher than last year, but 3 per cent lower than estimated in July—"means relief from current prices, but at a substantial lag." That's because it takes a year from the time the

The USDA also predicted a record wheat crop of 2.14 billion bushels, up 19 per cent

A spokesman for the National Wheat Growers Association said the flour companies "were taking advantage of the public psychology." People had been warned that food prices might go up as a result of the grain sales and were conditioned to expect an increase.

Unit Will Entice More Textile Mills To Texas?

AUSTIN (AP) — A special textile division to entice more textile mills to Texas was set up Tuesday by the Texas Industrial Commission in hopes of keeping more cotton, wool and mohair money in the state.

special projects and textile development for the Texas Industrial Commission, made a special report showing that Texas leads the nation in production of cotton, wool and mohair but weaves only 1.5 per cent of these fabrics produced in the United States.

DON CRAWFORD
PONTIAC-DATSUN
"Where Good Service Is Standard Equipment"
504 E. 3rd 263-8355

The action came after a textile expert told the commission that Texas is losing countless millions of dollars and thousands of jobs annually because it does not process the cotton, wool and mohair it produces. James Heath, manager of these raw fibers but is processing less than a pitance," he said. "What we are doing is letting other states and countries take our raw fibers and manufacture them into expensive finished materials that come back to us at greatly inflated prices."

Heath said that Texas farmers plant, pick, bale or gin the cotton, wool or mohair and store it. It is then usually shipped to the Southeastern United States, parts of Europe, England or Asia where it is processed by their textile mills. Much of this material is then returned to Texas for final cut-and-sew operations by the apparel industry.

Heath and Harris said there are 35 textile mills in Texas, but the state has the potential for 10 times that number.

Isabel Peron Faces Challenge

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — President Isabel Peron faced a fresh challenge today as reliable military sources reported a split in the armed forces over her appointment of an army colonel to the key interior ministry.

The sources said late Tuesday that some army forces leaders are concerned that the appointment of Col. Vicente Damasco might give the appearance of military interference with the executive branch.

Military spokesmen said army commander Gen. Alberto Numa Laplane has convened a meeting of top-level army chiefs for Thursday to review the "general situation" in the country. Sources said Damasco's appointment would be high on the agenda, and there may be a move to press for Damasco's retirement from the army.

Mrs. Peron reshuffled her cabinet Monday after the military, labor and business demanded a stronger administration to cope with Argentina's economic and political crisis. The country is plagued with 17.3 per cent inflation and unemployment nearing 10 per cent.

Damasco is the first military man appointed to the 13-monthhold government of Mrs. Peron, and some local newspapers have already labeled him the president's "prime minister."

OAK RIDGE BOYS

First Gospel Act To Sign Contract With Major Label

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Mark Ellerbee describes the Oak Ridge Boys as "a slick-looking gospel quartet with a rock and roll band."

Ellerbee is the drummer for the eight-member group. His joining the Oaks six years ago at first bewildered traditional gospel fans and then made many of them angry.

No gospel group ever had a drummer before, much less one with a jazz and rock background. And, although the Beatles had been around for a long time, a "what's the world coming to" reaction began greeting the Oak Ridge Boys when they started showing up at church sings with longer hair.

Religion has always been one of the major influences in country music. Johnny Cash, Loretta Lynn, George Jones, and even Elvis, could make the crossover and record a gospel song or even an entire album and be applauded for it.

The opposite was not true. Gospel music limited to the confines of a church, or every now and then the neighborhood school, was the only form of entertainment allowed by straight-laced believers to whom smoking, drinking and dancing were sinful.

But, the Oaks kept stretching the gulf, gradually adopting more mod clothes, letting their hair grow even longer and, in general, becoming more secular.

The group made its biggest break last year. They became the first gospel act to sign a contract with a major label, Columbia, and recorded a love song, "Bringing It Back," containing references to affection like "touch your face" and "feel your warm embrace."

The effect was immediate. After winning a Grammy in 1971 and 12 Dove awards, the gospel equivalent of a Grammy, between 1969 and 1973, the Oaks were virtually ostracized by the Gospel Music Association last year. They received no awards and most of the older gospel promoters began to refuse booking them.

The group has been around, in one form or another, for more than 30 years. It first began during the spawning of the nuclear age in World War II.

The government had set up a vast complex of laboratories in the hills and valleys around Oak Ridge, Tenn. Strict security measures and the secrecy surrounding the activities leading to development of the first atomic bomb prevented thousands of employees from even going into town.

For entertainment, the government shuffled groups in and out of the atomic energy complex on weekends. Among the first was a Georgia country band that adopted the Oak Ridge Quartet as their name. The nuclear workers seemed to like gospel songs best so that's what they began specializing in.

The Oak Ridge experience may have been a harbinger that there was a potential audience for gospel music outside the church. Kris Kristofferson's "Why Me Lord" made it evident that part of the potential was in the youth pop market. The Oak Ridge Boys are headlining at a Las Vegas hotel with casino and all the other glitter that characterizes the gambling town. They usually open their set with an up-tempo song that begins, "Nobody wants to play rhythm guitar behind Jesus; everybody wants to be the lead singer in the band."

"It's the stereotype we're trying to get away from," explains baritone Bill Golden, who has been with the group 11 years and is its senior member. "Some of our old gospel fans don't approve of us now, but we're setting trends and building a bigger audience."

"The people we appeal to now are the same ones that were first hit by television," he says. "They're young, married couples, middle-class." "Most of the gospel groups have reverted back to heavy, morbid songs, the type that say this world is terrible," says tenor Joe Bonsall. "Very few of them are making a good living at it."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Several entertainment figures have offered a $15,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the killers of actress Barbara Colby and actor James Kiernan.

Kiernan and Miss Colby were fatally shot July 24 on a West Los Angeles street.

NOT INVOLVED — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, flanked by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, tells a Capital Hill new conference Tuesday neither the Nixon or Ford administration ever plotted to assassinate any foreign officials. Youths Held On Pot Possession

Two youths, 15 and 16, were arrested Monday night in a home on the west side of town in possession of marijuana. More of the weed was also growing in the yard at the residence, according to Lt. Jim McCain, juvenile officer for the city police.

On Tuesday night, a 15-year-old boy was arrested for possession of alcohol.

Librarian Appointed

Rebecca Taylor, circulation librarian of Howard County Library, has been appointed reference and adult service librarian.

She will fill the position left vacant when Susie Ritz resigned. Mrs. Ritz' husband was assigned by the Air Force to a Michigan base.

Miss Taylor was graduated from San Angelo State University with a bachelor of arts degree in 1973 with majors in government and history. A native of Big Spring, she was graduated from Big Spring High School and attended Howard College. She is the daughter of Mrs. Bessie Taylor.

She has been employed at Howard County Library since December 1969. The position of children's librarian and assistant librarian will become vacant Sept. 1 when Susan Conley becomes librarian. Mrs. Conley replaces Larry Justiss who accepted appointment as librarian for Tom Green County.

Mrs. Conley said she hopes to employ someone with a master's degree in library science.

MYSTERIOUS DELAY Load Grain On Soviet Ship Bound For Japan

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)

Two gangs of longshoremen, sought since Saturday by shipping agents, showed up for work Monday and began loading grain on a Russian cargo ship bound for Japan.

A spokesman for the longshoremen said "there was a misunderstanding" about when the workers were supposed to report for duty.

It was expected to take the longshoremen—with 14 men in each gang—two days to load the ship, Captain Vasily Kulich at the Continental Grain Corp. dock here.

The ship arrived Saturday but no longshoremen showed up as expected by shipping agents.

Last week dock workers balked at loading American wheat onto a Russian-bound freighter. The longshoremen said last week they were following directions from the International Longshoremen's Association's (ILA) New York headquarters. The orders were that U.S. grain recently purchased by the Soviets not be loaded for shipment at East or Gulf Coast docks.

The longshoremen loaded the Soviet-bound grain last week when they learned it was not part of the latest Russian wheat deal.

Sentence Probated

Ben Thomas Rampley, 48, OK Trailer Court lot 72, pleaded guilty in 118th District Court Tuesday afternoon to theft. Rampley was given 10 years of probation for theft of four rifles from Pop's Well Service June 22.

Jackpot Racing Control Tab Slated Saturday Estimated

The Howard County Sheriff's Posse will sponsor a Jackpot Barrel Race in conjunction with its play day Saturday, Aug. 16.

The barrel runs will begin at 8 p.m. Entry fee will be $15 for one run with a pay off of 50-30-20, according to Posse officials.

Following the jackpot, there will be play day events of barrels, flags, poles and rings with a 50 cent entry fee.

The concession stand will be open and the public is invited. The posse arena is located on the Andrews Highway.

Patient Takes Car On 'Trial'

A patient who walked away from the Big Spring State Hospital tried out a $6,000 automobile at Bob Brock and failed to return with the vehicle Tuesday.

The man was picked up in Gal and the car returned to Brock. He is being held for traffic warrants in Lubbock.

at stake. City Manager Harry Nagel will present a report gathered by Rom Crim, city engineer, on what the cost to the city would be if it follows the demands of the TWQB. The report estimates the cost to reclaim backwash water and dispose of silt decanted from Beals Creek. Total cost would be $337,000 according to the engineers report. This would include four clarifiers and six sand filters. The city maintains that the board is requiring it to put the water back into the creek purer and with less silt than it was when it was received as raw water, and that the cost to the city would be excessive.
