

DROPOUTS, KICKOUTS, NO-SHOWS NO LONGER UNDER MILITARY CONTROL

Deserters To Escape Punishment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two-thirds of the deserters who joined President Ford's clemency job program have dropped out, been kicked out, or processed out by the military without reporting for jobs, and will escape punishment without completing their assigned work.

Of the 4,503 deserters who joined the program, 2,035 have either dropped out or been kicked out, the Selective Service says. Another 1,000 men processed out by the military never reported for jobs at all, the Defense Department says.

The 2,035 dropouts and kickouts and the 1,000 no-shows are no longer under military control because they were given discharges, and this will enable them to escape punishment for desertion without completing the work they were assigned under the program.

Another 7,000 deserters never tried to get into the program. These constitute many of those who fled the country and still could be punished if apprehended.

In addition to unpunished deserters, the clemency program is for men convicted of draft dodging or being punished for desertion, and for unconvicted draft dodgers as well. Of the 5,355 men processed so far in the agreements in many cases." Some with families dropped out because they couldn't make a go of it on the low pay.

"Even though we didn't get the numbers we anticipated, President Ford has attained more of his initial goal than lots of people give him credit for," says draft Director Byron V. Popitone.

Of all three parts of the program, the Clemency Board has had the most applicants — 21,000 in all. It has until Sept. 15 to complete its work. So far it has found three-part program, 2,879 have taken jobs.

Unpunished deserters were handled by the Defense Department; unpunished draft dodgers by the Justice Department. Both of these parts of the program have been completed. But men convicted of draft dodging or being punished for desertion are handled by the Presidential Clemency Board, and its part of the program is still unfinished.

Only 130 processed by the board have reported for jobs, because most of the 6,000 so designated by the board are still awaiting concurrence by the President or are still within the 30-day deadline for reporting after Ford acts. Seven have completed their job assignments.

Board Chairman Charles E. Goodell says "it is too early to tell" how many who signed up with the board intend to perform jobs, although all agreed to do so when they applied.

The Justice Department portion of the program for draft dodgers has a low dropout rate, only 19 of the 722 who signed up. Those who don't complete their jobs still can be prosecuted for draft evasion. Some of the dropouts have fled the country to avoid this.

So far 52 of those in the Department of Defense portion of the program have completed job assignments, and 10 under the Department of Justice portion. The work periods averaged 20 months for these, but the Clemency Board has given only a few more than 12 months.

The Selective Service, in giving examples of men who have benefited from a special way from the program, said it could not give names in order to protect the privacy it promised. Most are decorated, wounded Vietnam veterans.

One is a former Marine in a southern state who started the program as a jailer's assistant and fit in so well he was sent to school on his own time and is now a sheriff's deputy.

A two-tour Vietnam veteran is keeping his regular job to support his four dependents and works 40 hours a week as a volunteer with Goodwill Industries to complete his assigned term.

"He started with Goodwill as a truck driver and was soon promoted to maintenance of equipment and repair of recovered electrical apparatus," the Selective Service said.

RALLY AIDS FUND DRIVE

Another vigorous rally of friends pushed the high school Bible Class Fund near the two-thirds mark Saturday.

There were gifts from Uvalde and Buchanan Dam, along with those from many staunch supporters over the years, including an anonymous, faithful friend.

Traditionally, the appeal ends after Labor Day, so that leaves a lot of ground to be covered this week. If you can make the current appeal a success, mail or bring your gift to the Herald. Latest donors are:

Kissinger Attempting To Button Down Pact

TEL AVIV (AP) — Prospects of a Sinai settlement rose Saturday with assurances to Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger that Syria is unlikely to try to torpedo an interim accord between Israel and Egypt. But Israeli opponents continued to demonstrate against the expected agreement.

Kissinger also told Syrian President Hafez Assad before returning here from Damascus that Israel seems ready to negotiate a second stage withdrawal on Syria's Golan Heights — and that he is a willing mediator.

As a result, a senior U.S. official said, Syria will probably remain "reasonably quiet" while Kissinger attempts to button down the accord during the Ex-Dictator, Pals Dodge Death By Firing Squad?

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Former dictator George Papadopoulos and two officers who helped him engineer the 1967 coup were sentenced Saturday to death by firing squad for insurrection and high treason. But within hours of the verdict the government indicated it might commute the sentences, touching off a political furor.

A government statement said "a sense of political responsibility must prevail" and that a cabinet meeting Monday would discuss the verdict. "In the fair state, the work of justice is completed by the final procedure, also constitutionally safeguarded, which permits the reduction of sentences," it said.

But George Mavros, head of the leading opposition party, the Center Union, said "the government act comprises outright intervention in the cause of justice and holds heavy responsibility ... We ask for an extraordinary meeting of parliament to decide without hesitation on the enormous constitutional and political issue which has arisen."

Andreas Papandreou, leader of the Panhellenic Socialist Movement, called on President Constantine Tsatsios to dissolve parliament and announce elections. He said a "serious political crisis ... which can only be settled through popular will ... has arisen because the government had rushed to assure those sentenced that the penalties decided upon would not be executed."

In addition to Papadopoulos, those sentenced to death were Stylianos Patakos and Nicholas Makarezos. None showed emotion at the verdict.

Papadopoulos and Makarezos held the rank of brigadier and Patakos the rank of major general when they retired. The court stripped all three of their ranks and deprived them of retirement pay.

Two of the 20 former ranking army officers on trial were acquitted and eight defendants including four generals got life imprisonment. Seven others received prison terms ranging from five to 20 years.

The defendants have the right to petition the Supreme Court for a retrial within five days.

Patakos, who served as deputy premier in Papadopoulos' authoritarian regime, said after the ver-

'I LOVE'EM ALL' Operates Old Nags' Home

PALATINE, Ill. (AP) — Art Thompson is dedicated to saving horses from the glue factory. He operates an old nags' home.

His love for horses started 45 years ago at age 12 in the English hamlet of Preston. An Irish priest noticed how small he was and suggested he would make a good jockey.

Thompson became one, also a trainer and riding academy master, and now he is stall superintendent at Arlington Park racetrack.

But all his spare time is spent on a farm he has rented for the last 16 years in this suburb northwest of Chicago. He has 15 aged and broken down horses, including old stable ponies, that he feeds, coddles and lets roam over a dozen cozy acres of horse heaven.

Several are thoroughbreds. "Trainer Joey Dorigan claimed Prince Ganzer for $4,000 and Law Pic for $5,000 last summer at Arlington but they later broke down and were to be destroyed," said Thompson. "I just can't stand to see a horse die so I offered to buy them. I got Prince Ganzer for $50 and Law Pic for $100."

Thompson said veterinarian and feed bills keep him stretching to make ends meet but "horses are most of my life and I love 'em all." He and his wife of 30 years, Monica, live in a little home down the road. "Monica is scared to death of horses," he laughed.

Cherokee is Thompson's favorite — a 36-year-old brown and white stable pony who worked at Arlington as a lead pony in the 1940s. He is now blind in one eye and a bit stiff.

"He'd given rides to hundreds of kids before I retired him eight years ago," said Thompson, leader of a 4-H Club. "Grownups in their 30s who used to ride him now bring their children over to look at old Cherokee. They feed him carrots and apples. He is living out his life in a beautiful way."

Thompson also has a 31-year-old mare named Modernistic who raced and won at Arlington in 1948. He says youngsters in the neighborhood help keep his old horses groomed and fed and see that they get to their stalls at night.

"I let them have free riding privileges around the pasture," said Thompson. "About all I have to do is make a bed check."

Drug Deaths Body Of Missing Clue Hunted Girl Discovered

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — FBI agents and the chief medical director of the Veterans Administration sifted through medical records Saturday hoping to find a clue in the drug deaths of several VA hospital patients.

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The body of a 2-year-old Fort Worth girl missing since Thursday was found Saturday evening in a vacant lot in eastern Fort Worth, police said.

A police spokesman said the body of Shirley Kelly

Beam was found by a group of citizens who had volunteered to look for the girl.

The spokesman said there was no indication as to how the blonde, blue-eyed girl had died.

One man has been in custody since Thursday night. He was arrested for drunkenness after he told a bartender not to call police because he had his baby outside in a car.

The bartender went out to the car with him, but the baby was not in the vehicle and the bartender then flagged down a passing police car.

The arrested man told police he had gone to another bar earlier leaving the child at home, but later returned home, picked up the girl and then went to another bar.

The child's mother, Mrs. Mary Beam, who moved here from New Jersey, about three months ago, was at work when the incident occurred. She told police she had left her daughter in the man's care while she went to work about 3:30 p.m.

Reviewing the Big Spring Week with Joe Pickle

There is a good possibility that the Howard College PE-Coliseum will be enlarged from 3,300 to 4,000 permanent seats. If so, it will mean boosting the square footage to 18,900 (about 50 per cent), and of course the cost will be the controlling factor. Private funds would be used to bridge the gap. The college also received some good news in connection with this project — the coliseum bonds sold for 6.316 per cent.

Also in the news was the new college budget of $2,227,307, which was up from the revised current budget of $2,066,813 and the original current budget of $1,810,870. Word came from Lamesa that a building has been obtained there for the Lamesa Education Center, which will be serviced by Howard College.

Big Spring, Coahoma and Forsan schools are back in the swing. Big Spring enrollment of 6,226 was 50 off the pace of last year. High school was up 96 and junior high down 91 — figure that out if you can. Forsan has about 430, down about 25 mostly on account of transfers being blocked by a federal court order.

The week was an ideal one for farmers and ranchers — hot and still and dry. Cotton continued to fruit, and unless there should be a belated insect infestation, the crop now appears to face one major obstacle — frost. If it's late, another bumper crop will rival historic 1973.

INVESTIGATION SPREADS FROM TEXAS TO NEW JERSEY

'High Rollers' Connected With Hot Oil Gang?

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The possibility that a hot oil ring preying on independent drillers in West Central and East Texas might involve "high rollers" from several states was raised Saturday by Dist. Atty. Royal Hart of San Angelo.

Authorities, meanwhile, sought three men for whom arrest warrants were sent to Houston. Four others have been arrested.

Louisiana officials confirmed that they, too, are involved in the investigation, along with the FBI.

"We have some evidence that some of these people involved live in New Jersey and Illinois. That's not to say that they are operating up there but just that they live there," Hart said in a telephone interview.

Hart said four or five men were being investigated for a possible connection with the hot oil gang.

These, he said, are "high rollers—big spenders, you know, who'd have to have quite a bit to keep them going."

He said the outlines of the scheme might become clearer when the Texas Railroad Commission finishes its audit of one firm which bought oil — presumably without knowing that it was stolen — from the ring. Texas City Refining Co. bought at least seven tanker trucksful, investigators say, and company officials said all the paperwork accompanying the deliveries seemed to be in perfect order.

"This thing is pretty cloudy right now. Until the railroad commission finishes its audit of Texas City Refining, we're not going to know what we've got. There are a few suspicious oil companies we're going to check out, see where they've been getting their oil. Then we'll have some frame, an index to see how big this thing is," Hart said.

Among the possibilities, he said, is an exchange of "old" oil that sells for $5.25 a barrel for "new" oil worth about twice that much.

"I think at this point that this is a Texas and Louisiana operation, but we've got a lot of checking to do," he said.

Meanwhile, the possibility of a "Louisiana connection" is being explored by Louisiana Atty. Gen. William Guste's Organized Crime and Racketeering Unit.

Guste ordered the unit to enter the case after Texas authorities provided him "certain leads."

Just what the leads are wasn't learned.

"We're not at liberty to discuss that point," Guste said. "We're going to pursue the information which they requested — we pursue and determine whether or not there's any validity or whether there's any need for a more intensive investigation of the matter. We'll have more to say about it later," Guste said Saturday.

Guste said reports from Texas authorities was the first indication he had of any such operation.

"This is the first we've heard about it. I just, personally, simply don't know if there's anything to it," Guste said.

Commissioner Rau Sutton of the Louisiana State Department of Conservation said he had been working with the railroad commission for about a month in the investigation.

"We suspect stolen oil may be moving in Louisiana," he said, but added that it had not been determined whether the traffic has crossed into Texas.

Named in the arrest warrants teleyped to Houston by Rannels (Ballinger) County Sheriff Don Atkins were: Richard L. White, Ray Lovenburg and Loyce Cox. White and Lovenburg were charged with one count each of felony theft and Cox with four counts.

A source in the Harris County sheriff's office said none of the addresses supplied for the three men were any good.

Rannels County authorities have arrested four others.

Here To Stay

The Colorado River Municipal Water District is observing open house for its new headquarters building — the first it has owned in its 26 years of history. As someone observed, this is appropriate for it appears that the District is here to stay.

Indeed it is, and indeed it is a good thing it has been around for the crucial past quarter-century. Its record of providing around 20 billion gallons a year to many cities and oil companies is something often taken for granted, but never unfelt. That cities along the Snyder-Spring, an Angelo-Midland-Odessa triangle have been able to grow as fast as they were able without any worry about whether there would be water in the faucet is a tribute to the district's performance.

And this really gets to the core of the district's mission — to provide ample water not only for now, but for whatever development lies ahead. Obviously, this is not an easy task, for the economics of it dictate prudence as well as vision. It's like a young couple starting a home and building a house they can afford now and yet which will be adaptable for tomorrow when the family increases.

But the district has undertaken this, and has succeeded admirably, although at times it has called for innovation, ingenuity, faith and a measure of good fortune. It has done all this on its own, not asking or receiving aid in construction or operation from any other governmental body. Consequently, it has been able to move with dispatch and to meet a need when it arises and before it becomes a crisis. Had the district system depended upon federal or state financing, much of it would still be in committee between boards and agencies.

Now that the district is a vigorous, healthy business and destined to expand its role in the further growth of West Texas, it will be easy to look upon it as something of the cities. Actually, it is an extension of the arm of the cities that it serves. It was observed Friday when city councils joined with the district board members in a prelude of the headquarters building that this was the first time in 26 years that the councils and board were all together at one place. This evidences not only the calibre and confidence in the men that city councils have named to the district board, but that the councils have done it out of a realization that the district is not "they" but "we." In that spirit, there is no limit on potential.

No Idea Is Too Small

Ever have an idea about what would be good for the town? Do you ever ask "why don't they do this?" Well, this is exactly what is needed from you this week.

There will be a series of meetings in elementary schools to help shape a "Goals for Big Spring" program. These are being held so that you can attend the elementary school in your neighborhood where you can speak out among friends and the people you know.

What you have to say is important, because any plan that does not come basically from the people it will cover is nothing but words and paper.

But when it reflects the concerns and the spirit of the people, it begins to breathe. So please, when the meeting is held in your neighborhood, attend and express yourself. There is no such thing as an idea too small or too far out but what it can stimulate the final shape of our goals.

REMEMBERING...

By BILL D. BROOKS
LEMONADE STANDS

One hot summer day we were sitting around enjoying a cool glass of lemonade when the thought suddenly occurred to us that other people would like to have some too and people should be willing to pay for something they want. A business was born. The boys set to work building the stand under the shade tree in the front yard near the street. Boxes, blocks and boards were arranged to serve as a counter. Crayons and paste board were used for signs.

The girls worked with their mothers to make a good deal of lemonade and collect the necessary cups, pitchers, napkins, ice and last, but most important, a cigar box for our money. A nickel per serving was to be our price. All the preparations done, we seated ourselves behind the stand and peered anxiously up and down the street for our first customers.

The first customers didn't arrive as quickly as we thought they might and we decided it wouldn't cut into our profits too much if we each had just one small glass. It was very enjoyable and as we were finishing our drinks a car pulled up to the curb.

Mrs. Jethro from down the street got out of the car and smiled as she came toward our stand. She exclaimed that she would be delighted to buy a glass of lemonade from us, that she had been looking for just such a place of business all day. Just as we were going to pour her some, an unexpected whirlwind came and scattered napkins, paper cups, dish clothes and signs in all directions. Mrs. Jethro was left standing while we ran all over the place trying to retrieve our things. As we were just finishing gathering up the scattered articles (we brushed the dirt off of them as best we could), a big dog came up to our stand. I didn't know dogs liked lemonade but I guess he did because he drank quite a bit. We shoed him away and poured Mrs. Jethro a cup. She thanked us, paid us a whole quarter and said keep the change. She stood there for a while chatting with us and then set her cup down, excused herself and left. I don't think she even drank any of the lemonade. One of our group said we ought to pour it back in the pitcher, but we decided that wouldn't be very sanitary.

The lemonade stand idea caught on and some kids put one up across the street with reduced prices. We figured if we were going to compete, we'd have to cut ours to the bone — 25¢ a cup! Business was good after that and late in the afternoon we were sold out. We were tired but happy to find when we divided our money we each had 18¢. That was enough to go to the movie and buy a bag of popcorn and three pieces of bubble gum to boot.

in an audience. In fact, the number who have thus sealed their doom is probably extremely small. But it does warn all of us to guard against any trifling with God's Spirit.

Recovery Or Rapid Inflation?

NEW YORK (AP) — A conflicting array of economic indicators this past week left unsettled the nagging question whether the nation is on the road to recovery or sliding back into rapid inflation.

On the optimistic side, the "real" Gross National Product, which deducts the effects of inflation from the value of goods and services, climbed 1.6 per cent in the second quarter, ending a six-quarter slide, the government reported Thursday.

Also in the June quarter, corporate profits ended a six-month decline by rising 8.2 per cent. Even more significantly, orders for durable goods were up 5.3 per cent in July, the fourth gain in a row and a key sign that industrial activity and consumer demand are finally on the rise.

Even the housing industry, still suffering from a two-year slump, had some good news last week, as the government reported housing starts were up 14 per cent in July, the best gain in a year.

But there were just as many signs that showed inflation remains a serious long-term problem — to the point where some economists and investors concerned. Last week, the Dow Jones industrial average, the closely followed indicator on the New York Stock Exchange, fell 20.88 to 804.76.

The low volume of trade on Wall Street this summer was one factor cited by the brokerage firm Edwards & Hanly which last week decided to sell 24 of its 25 branch offices to the larger firm Loeb, Rhoades & Co., Inc. An Edwards & Hanly spokesman said the firm would continue to operate as a bond and institutional brokerage, while abandoning most of its dealings with smaller stock traders.

In a rare occurrence on Wall Street, American Telephone & Telegraph Co. announced a new 12 million share offering of common stock aimed at raising more the $500 million in fresh capital for the communications giant.

Concern over the inflation threat overshadowed signs of an economic rebound as far as stock investors were concerned. Last week, the Dow Jones industrial average, the closely followed indicator on the New York Stock Exchange, fell 20.88 to 804.76.

Stagnant Water Spores

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: How dangerous are stagnant water spores? I've been told they can occur if a humidifier is not cleaned periodically. Now I'm afraid to get one.

Is it dangerous to keep a pan of water by the register? Does it become stagnant and produce spores? I refill the pan as needed and wash it once a week.

Nervous element of very primitive organisms such as fungi.

A recent report on this subject emphasizes that a lung disorder, an inflammation of the alveoli (tiny air sacs of the lung surface) can result from spores found in cooling as well as heating systems. The disorder is featured by fever, a hacking cough and fatigue.

The culprit spores and dust particles that carry them can be trapped in such units and be ejected into the room along with the air forced out of them. The same applies to humidifiers.

It is advisable to have such units checked and cleaned professionally, at least seasonally. Filters should be changed regularly, the of-tenor the better. It is also wise, incidentally, to clean devices such as vaporizers after each use, and for the same reasons. A couple of teaspoons of vinegar to a cup of water can make an adequate cleaning solution.

It is also important to clean the pan, since spores can collect if it is left unattended. You needn't be nervous about your humidifier as long as you take reasonable precautions.

If your family encounters bouts of hacking coughs or the other symptoms I've mentioned, the spore problem might be considered and appropriate preventive action taken.

There's enough to worry about without spraying spores and other germs about your house.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I've heard that we should not drink water or other liquids during meals, because the food taken in would just swim around in the stomach.

Do liquids help or hinder digestion? I would like your medical opinion.

Mrs. N. L. Fluids with meals may help make food more palatable, but they will neither help nor hinder digestion.

It is important that you get sufficient liquid over each 24-hour period, but it makes no difference in the digestive process when you get it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 69 and am bothered with high blood pressure. Is there a test that will tell what causes it?

A. L. B. We wish there were such a test.

There are several possible causes and combinations of causes of hypertension — arterial, valvular, glandular, those related to organ disorders (the kidneys, etc) and even to the emotions. Overweight is one of the more obvious causes.

When hypertension is diagnosed, the physician must then turn detective to sift through the possible causes in order to turn up specific clues as to the underlying problem.

This involves a wide variety of tests. The best way to avoid high blood pressure? Reduce, if you are overweight, and quit or cut down on smoking.

No Love Game

Around The Rim

Walt Finley

Chris Evert is so unbelievably well-behaved in public and Jimmy Connors so unbelievably gross, at times, it is very unlikely they could play a love game successfully.

And speaking of tennis, Jim and Fred, there ain't no uh in athletic although a lot of athletic directors and radio "stars" pronounce it that way.

I GUESS YOU still can't quite say of college athletics that the tail is wagging the dog, but you could say the team is wagging the university.

Two of the nation's premier football coaches — Darrell Royal of Texas and Barry Switzer of Oklahoma — were squabbling last week.

It's a sort of "Yes, you did." "No, I didn't!" type of argument which should never have reached the sports pages because it is short on sportsmanship.

It make me wonder if the bigtime college teams are worth the time and money, since the character building seems to be disappearing. As a longtime admirer of both coaches, I'd like to see them set good examples as they have in the past — instead of bad.

One more point: If lie detector tests have become a part of the athletic program, sports has fled the scene. So I humbly ask: Fred, when are you and Jim going to "bite the bullet" (bullit?) and be trounced in ping pong, pool and tennis by yours truly and curvaceous Carla?

What is the world coming to? First Ann Landers hauls off and files for divorce, and a short while later Mrs. Bud Wilkinson files a divorce suit.

Those two couples, the Billy Grahams and the Pope were the last ones in the world I ever expected to seek divorces.

I haven't heard of the grounds for Mrs. Wilkinson's suit, but I was among those fans who thought Bud could walk on water and chew gum at the same time — until he tried to out-politic ex-U.S. Senator Fred Harris.

WHAT'S APLOMB? A man walked into a room and was startled to find a hussious blonde — nude. "My wife has an outfit just like yours," he said, "only yours fits better." Now, don't blame me for the above story. All the shining glory (?) goes to my drinking cousin, Bobby Harris.

I saw an ad for Haller tops $3. Shouldn't there be another part? Not for my sake, of course — I'm a groan man — just like Phil (Doc) Irwin, Big Spring High's athletic trainer.

That travelin' man, Kenneth Hart, sends a message from Durango, Colo. "I'm not sure Helen is Reddy."

Fast fingers Sandra Green, who celebrated her 26th birthday Friday, says the other day she saw a bunch of long hairs — stretch pants, boots, fancy jackets.

They were signing the Declaration of Independence.

ONE OF MY LEADERS, Tommy Hart, back from vacationing in Colorado, was the first to wonder who will be the first astronaut after a link-up to claim he suffered whiplash.

He could sue two wealthy countries.

Attention Pat Miller, daughter of my publisher, Dub What's-His-Name? "I've called 'Love me or leave me' " You say you love me but sometimes you don't show it. In the beginning, you couldn't do enough for me.

Now you seem to take me for granted... some days I even wonder if I mean anything to you at all.

Maybe when I'm gone you'll appreciate me and all the things I do for you. I'm responsible for getting food on your table, for your clean dress, for the welfare of your relatives... a thousand and one things you want and need.

Why, if it weren't for me, you wouldn't even have a car. I've kept quiet and waited to see how long it would take for you to realize how much you really need me.

Cherish me... take care of me, and I'll continue to take good care of you.

Who am I? I am your job. This is just a kind, sorta sneaky way of saying Pat is taking a vacation from the newspaper "game" to resume her study of journalism at UTPB.

Ford's Pre-Emption

William F. Buckley, Jr.

Political talk about 1976 never fails to record, with considerable professional admiration, the success of Mr. Ford and his lieutenants in corralling the support of prominent Republican conservatives as insurance against a challenge by Ronald Reagan. They have got themselves Dean Burch, and Bo Callaway, and John Tower, and (allegedly, though my information is otherwise) Clif White. They have not yet landed Barry Goldwater. One would hope that Sen. Goldwater would resist any premature cooption by Mr. Ford.

MR. FORD and his supporters proceed on the increasingly unchallenged assumption that he is the legitimate heir of the validated Republican leader. There has, of course, been no precedent. On the one hand Mr. Ford is the statutorily authorized President; on the other hand, he is, as the first official unselected in a national contest in American history to achieve the White House, in a vague sort of way illegitimate.

I do not begin to suggest that Richard Nixon, as a final gesture of spite, named as Vice President someone manifestly ill equipped to conduct the responsibilities of that office. I do mean to say this, that if Richard Nixon were President today, a considerable challenge would have already been mounted on the question of whether a Nixonite with the current prescriptions, or a challenger with other prescriptions, should be nominated by the Republican Party for President in 1976.

NO ONE WOULD have considered such opposition as an act of disloyalty. On the contrary, the national parties have as their principal function the ventilation of differences between their constituents, leading to a resolution of sorts: which man, advocating which policies, should be presented to the American people in a general election.

So is it with many Republicans, who do not pause to reflect that however we applaud this or the other instance of Mr. Ford's resistance to the organized left, in fact he presides over policies which if they had been championed by any of his Democratic predecessors in office, would have been roundly denounced by the entire Republican membership of the United States Congress.

ON THE OTHER hand, the lure of the Presidency is very strong, and, typically, an incumbent finds himself yielding to the extravagant attentions of his courtiers; and this, I fear, is the temptation Mr. Ford is yielding to, notwithstanding his genuine devotion to the democratic process.

A Devotion For Today

"God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth." (Genesis 1:26)

PRAYER: O Lord, help us this day to be the kind of caretakers of Your blessings that will reflect gains for the Kingdom. Amen

My Answer

Billy Graham

Why don't we hear more about the one sin the Bible says cannot be forgiven? P. L.

You probably have reference to the statement in Luke 12:10 (also recorded in Matthew and Mark). It says: "Those who speak against the Holy Spirit shall never be forgiven." As with all Scripture, you need to see the situation in which Christ made this remark. The Pharisees, those enemies of His, had just attributed His good works to the powers of darkness and evil. Now, this accusation was no chance one, such as might be the result of impulse or compassion. Those who accused Him knew better. It came from a super love of self. The Pharisees had seen Christ teach, not once but often. They knew that every word and work of Christ was holy and pure. In order to accomplish their selfish ends, however, they denied what their own hearts told them was the truth. They "quenched" God's Spirit.

It is then this kind of total and violent denunciation of God's Son that blocks out any possibility of personal salvation. Obviously, if you deny the Forgiver, there is no forgiveness.

In the work of evangelism, you seldom mention this because the "unpardonable sin," as it is called, is not characteristic of most people

The CIA Diversion

Art Buchwald

(Many years ago, Mr. Buchwald broke a story revealing the true role of the CIA. People laughed at the time — but they aren't laughing any more — Ed.)

WASHINGTON — The CIA has been setting so much publicity that one starts to wonder how secret our secret service really is. Esquire magazine devoted an entire issue to the CIA, the New York Times had a five-part series on it, and the CIA is defending an Estonian in a slander suit in Baltimore. In another case coming to court soon, a man who says he worked for the CIA is being tried for smuggling arms destined for Angola and Mozambique. You can't pick up a newspaper or magazine these days without reading about the organization.

MANY PEOPLE are bewildered over the amount of publicity the CIA is getting, but I can put their minds at ease. The reason the CIA is getting all the publicity is that it is not our major secret service organization. It is, in fact, a cover to distract from our real central intelligence agency which is the Department of Agriculture.

YES, THE DEPARTMENT of Agriculture is the real intelligence organization, operating without fanfare, rarely getting its name in the papers and maintaining a discreet silence worthy of the greatest intelligence operation in the Free World.

It can now be revealed that the CIA was set up for no other reason than to keep people from prying into the affairs of the Agriculture Department. The $46 million CIA headquarters, with its 16,000 employees, the far-flung spy network, the gathering of information from around the world are all a ruse that, up until now, has worked beyond the Department of Agriculture's wildest dreams.

THE CIA HAS BEEN blamed for the U-2 incident, the foul-up in the Dominican Republic and the setting up of the Diem government in South Vietnam. What few people realize is that this is exactly the way the secretary of agriculture wants it, because the more things the CIA gets blamed for, the less chance there is of discovering who was really behind these operations.

Whenever someone starts getting inquisitive about what the Department of Agriculture is up to, the CIA immediately leaks a story to the press of some momentous blunder the CIA committed and everyone, including the Russians, thinks we goofed again.

THE REASON the Department of Agriculture was chosen to be our intelligence arm is that no one really cares what the Agriculture people do. They have an inexhaustible supply of funds that they are supposed to pay out to the farmers for not growing crops.

Using this as a pretext, the department can siphon off large amounts of money to its agents in the form of farm subsidies and no one is the wiser.

Mobile Home Industry Faces New Law Crisis

An industry, which accounts for a considerable sales and manufacturing volume here, is fighting for its life prior to the Sept. 1 effective date of new state laws.

The mobile home business has its back to the wall. In Big Spring that means two manufacturers and seven dealers, as well as a couple of mobile home-related businesses.

The law prohibits dealers and manufacturers from selling mobile homes if they do not obtain a bond by Sept. 1. Ninety percent can't qualify through regular sources.

The same law, pushed by Texas Attorney General John Hill, requires a $25,000 bond from dealers and a $100,000 bond from manufacturers. In addition, salesmen must be bonded for $2,000.

INTERIM PROBLEM
"I don't think this law is even constitutional," said one dealer. "Some big manufacturer with a heavy investment will probably take it to court and win out. But in the meantime, what are we going to do?"

One of the big objections, according to another local dealer is that there is no statute of limitations involved in the bonding. "Somebody's great-granddaughter three generations from now could complain about something wrong in her trailer," he added.

Mobile Home Bond Decision Returned

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Mobile home bonding requirements are not intended to replace liability insurance, the Texas attorney general held Friday.

The ruling, which was hoped to clarify a last minute controversy before the new law becomes effective Sept. 1, was asked by Jackie W. St. Clair, commissioner of the Texas Department of Labor and Standards, which administers the mobile home requirements law. Among other things the law requires a mobile home manufacturer to be bonded for $100,000, a dealer for $25,000 and a sales person for $2,000.

One of St. Clair's questions concerned the transfer of liability of a dealer or manufacturer when the original purchaser of a mobile home sells it to another.

"In answering these questions, we have done so based upon our construction that the bond called for is not intended to replace or fulfill

Still a third dealer pointed out that conventional home builders and real estate people do not have to be bonded, adding: "It's not fair."

"There has been more and more demand for mobile homes because the price of conventional home construction has gone out of sight," said a Berkley Homes plant official. "The mobile home industry was filling in the gap, and somebody is trying to put a stop to us."

The Berkley firm has managed to obtain bond. "However, if we don't have any dealers through which we can sell our trailers, the unemployment agency will have to send a mobile unit out here to list all of the unemployment that is going to happen," said a spokesman.

One local dealer, who has received trailers from Hobbs, N.M., noted, "They tell them in Hobbs that the only port of entry will be north of Dallas. They're not going to take trailers up through New Mexico, around the Panhandle and into Dallas. How silly can you get?"

SLATE MEET
A group of West Texas manufacturers and dealers will meet Tuesday in Lubbock to discuss how to combat or solve the problem. Some dealers are seeking relief through a bonding pool for dealers who cannot obtain bonding through regular channels.

The meeting in Lubbock will be one of six in the state, according to Frank Hopkins, chairman of the Texas Mobile Home Association's board. Other meetings will be in Arlington, Harlingen, Houston, Longview and San Antonio.

Hopkins said they will attempt to get a court order to give dealers time to get their bonds and to form a bond pool program. The association said there are about 700 mobile home dealers and about 65 manufacturing plants in Texas with an estimated $700 million impact on the state's economy.

The Texas Mobile Home Association is discussing the possibility of obtaining an injunction to temporarily halt the new requirements.

Atty. Gen. Hill took personal interest in the bill, according to "The Mobile Home Reporter." He is reported to have urged enactment of the law during the legislature, stating that the largest number of consumer complaints received by his office are related to mobile homes.

The TMHA president said the prospects for the industry are "terrible." One Mobile Home newsletter headlined: "John Hill shuts down Texas Mobile Home Industry."

If worst fears are borne out and the industry comes to a standstill for makers and dealers, scores of jobs and several million dollars of volume in business could be threatened, dealers and manufacturers agreed.

Hollis Webb Manager Of Big Spring Country Club

Hollis Webb is "back home" and managing the Big Spring Country Club. His first touch with Big Spring dates back more than four score years ago, and much of the intervening time was spent here in the automotive business.

For the past five years, however, Webb has been in the business of opening and managing motels, as well as their food services. He and Mrs. Webb, the former Lois Howie of Big Spring, came here from Waco where he managed the La Quinta Motel just off the Baylor campus. He also had directed operations at motels in Temple, Odessa, San Antonio.

Since arriving here, he has directed the refurbishing of the Big Spring Country Club and, with the blessings of the directors, instituted policies which are directed to broadening the base and participation of membership. He hopes to make the club increasingly the center of community social and recreational affairs.

Webb came here initially in 1928 and a few years later became sales manager for McEwen Motor Company before buying the Buick-

HOLLIS WEBB

Cadillac agency at Colorado City. When he sold this, he bought half interest in McEwen Motor and returned to Big Spring until it was sold subsequently. At that time he accepted an offer to enter the motel business.

He and Mrs. Webb have two children, Hollis Jr., who is an attorney in Lubbock, and a daughter, Mrs. Jerry Foresythe, Big Spring. They are members at First United Methodist.

READY TO GO — Junior high twirlers at Coahoma Junior High got the jump on the football season and are ready to go. They attended the 16th annual workshop at Cisco Junior College with more than 300 twirlers participating. Rhonda Griffin, center, who had superior rating, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Griffin, is in 8th grade and head twirler; Terri Cook, left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Cook, and Kim Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thompson, are 7th graders and achieved excellent ratings. They were chosen for the concluding stunt night program.

Explorer Staked Near Coahoma

C. & K. Petroleum, Inc. No. 1 Garrett well will be an 8,000-ft. wildcat two miles west and slightly north of Coahoma. This puts it three-fourths of a mile east of a depleted Clearfork well and a mile and three-fourths east of Wolfcamp production in the Hutto South field. It also is a mile south of the one-well Sand Springs (depleted) Fusselman area. Exact location is 660 from the north and east lines of section 40-31-1N, T&P.

Lovelady No. 1 Guillam, Borden County venture, acidized straw perforations, 8,042-50 with 500 gallons, swabbed 32 barrels of load water and 68 barrels of formation water with trade of oil in 10 hours.

Amoco Nol-A Dean Ranch fractured with 10,000 gallons and 15,000 pounds through perforations at 7,620-34 and shut in for pressure building up in eastern Dawson County.

HMH No. 1 Barber, Mitchell County wildcat, waited for electric power after fracturing with 30,000 gallons and 60,000 pounds through perforations 2,976-5,190.

Minjhan Thompson, another Mitchell explorer, waited on a completion unit after getting 4½-in string at 3,330, total depth.

I.W. Lovelady No. 1-A Mahaffey, a re-entry operation in southwest Sterling, completed for 48 barrels of oil and a gas-oil ratio of 9,146 from perforations 7,928-48. The choke was ¼-in. Originally drilled by Pickens Co. in June 1974, it is 660 from the south and 1,320 from the west lines section 24-2, T&P, a northeast step-out to the Deck (Cisco) field.

HNG Oil will re-enter and clean out to 8,000 in an attempt to complete the former Brooks No. 1 Wilkin Estate, and 8,756-foot wildcat failure 10 miles northwest of Sterling City.

Concert Today

A free public concert will be presented by Van Johnson today 4 p.m. in the First Baptist Church sanctuary. Van, at the console of the Allen digital computer organ, will play a selection that includes passages from Bach, Mendelssohn, Purcell and other composers. He will be joined in the opening and closing selections by a brass ensemble from the Big Spring High School Band.

Burial will follow in Fairview Cemetery at Pampa.

Thugs Busy Stealing CB Radios

Thefts of citizens band radios, which account for more than $23,000 of losses so far this year according to police, continue to plague Big Spring.

In the last two days, police records show:

A unit belonging to Kenneth Howell, 2503 Carol Drive, stolen from a car parked by his home.

Joy Neefe, 2701 Rebecca Drive, reporting a radio stolen from a car while it was parked at home.

A transmitter-receiver taken from the car of Marie Miller, 2606 Carol Drive, while it was parked at home.

Another stolen along with an eight-track tape player from a vehicle belonging to Steven Wilson, 2406 Merrily Drive. The vehicle again was parked at home at the time.

Rich Purser, no address given, losing a unit when his vehicle was burglarized at Farm Road 700 and Goliad Street.

Donnie Shanks, 1606-B Lincoln Ave., reporting a radio theft.

LDS Will Host Stake Meeting

The Church of Jesus Christ Latter Day Saints on Wasson Road will be the site one week from today for a Stake meeting. This will involve congregations from San Angelo, Alpine, Abilene and Odessa.

Here for the services from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. will be Roland Hamlin, Odessa, Stake president; assisted by Jack Jordan, Odessa, first counselor, and Elton Wallace, Big Spring, second counselor. Top officials from half a dozen other congregations are expected.

Later in the Autumn, there will be another Stake meeting here with a general authority from Salt Lake City, Utah present.

YOUR THINKING NEEDED Big Springers Get Chance To Speak Out

For months now, sub-committees of the Goals for Big Spring program have been making surveys and analyses of what they discovered about community life under weight broad categories.

These have been summarized in informal essays (and digested further in a series of articles carried in the Herald).

But these are not goals. They are only observations.

The real goal-making process begins this week when the public is asked to have its initial say about what individuals think the city needs and what could or should be attempted.

These are set up in five neighborhood meetings this week 'so that participants will be in surroundings and among people with whom they are familiar.

By gleaming ideas and suggestions from these meetings and putting in the broad categories of community life. Tom Locke, chairman, and others on the Goals committee, hope to come up with a comprehensive semi-final draft which will be presented in a big town hall meeting a little later.

At each of the meetings, there will be on hand some sub-committee member who is familiar with a specific subject and will present a terse digest as the basis of starting discussion. Locke stressed that the value of the meetings — indeed the entire Goals program — depends upon the combined thinking and concern of all the citizens. Therefore, good attendance is urged for all the meetings. The schedule:

MONDAY — Washington School and Lakeview School, 7:30 p.m.

TUESDAY — College Heights School and Bauer School, 7:30 p.m.

THURSDAY — Cedar Crest School, 7:30 p.m.

GOOD ATTENDANCE URGED BY MAYOR WADE CHOATE

As Mayor of the City of Big Spring and a concerned citizen, I would like to urge the people of Big Spring and Howard County to attend one or more of the five town hall meetings scheduled this week.

Other communities have held similar meetings and have used the input received from these open discussions to solve problem areas and work on long-range community improvements.

In a city the size of Big Spring, I feel you are being provided with a rare opportunity to voice your opinion and concern over the future progress and development of your community. And every consideration will be given to your suggestions by the Goals for Progress Committee as they formulate the future goals for this area.

However, in order for this committee to effectively represent you, they need to hear your opinions and ideas. So, please make every effort to participate in this worthwhile project that will be instrumental in shaping the future of our city and county.

COUNTY TAX RATE Budget Lists Salary Hike For All Employees

Setting the tax rate and approving the 1976 budget are on the agenda for County Commissioners Court Monday.

The court has committed itself to reducing 9 cents from the $1.04 tax rate, because a sufficient sum has been accumulated for paying Farm Road 700 bonds.

In the proposed budget, a 10-per-cent salary increase for all employees is provided at a cost of $60,334, County Auditor Virginia Black said.

This $60,000 does not include increased costs for the county through the retirement program contributions or Social Security. Also, some but not all car allowances have been increased at an additional cost of around $2,000, Mrs. Black said.

To be budgeted is $1,773,467 for spending, revenue sharing funds excluded. This is up $194,093 from the estimated total spending for 1975, according to the proposed budget.

Out of federal revenue sharing, the county plans to spend $249,404, the projected current receipt total in this fund.

Revenue sharing receipts and expenditures are to reach about the same level in 1975. Both are shown as $251,405.

Other business includes: Opening bids on remodeling the tax collection and tax appraisal offices.

Considering the type of key punch machine to purchase for the computer, which is to be installed later.

Talking with R. E. McClure, manager of TransRegional Airlines, about the firm's gasoline contract with the county.

Considering $1,467 in Office of Economic Opportunity funds available for youth program equipment.

Employing Susan Conley as librarian.

Discussing rent for the fair barns with Rosa Mancha.

VANDALISM

Rocks were found inside the Baptist Temple, 400-Eleventh Place, where five windows had been broken Friday. Police estimated damages totaling $100.

Bobby Moore, 10, 1212 Madison St., told police a 12-year-old boy who threw rocks at him on his way home from school also broke a window in his mobile home.

CHARGED WITH BURNING SEVEN INMATES AT SCHOOL

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A 20-year-old ward attendant at Travis State School has been arrested and charged with deliberately burning seven male inmates at the school.

Officials said the inmates were painfully but not seriously burned, apparently by a cigarette lighter.

Charged Friday before Justice of Peace Jim McMurtry was Michael Kaatz on seven separate counts of aggravated assault with intent to commit serious bodily injury. The allegations were made by Texas Rangers who investigated.

McMurtry set $10,000 bond on each of the seven counts. The Department of Public Safety said the incidents occurred on Aug. 19 and were reported to officers on Aug. 20, who began an immediate investigation. Another attendant who was questioned was released without charge.

NEW BUSINESS — A new business was opened formally Saturday when Mary Brackeen cut the ribbon to M & E Lighting Center, West Fourth and Galveston. She was flanked by her husband, Richard, to her left, manager, and the owner, Travis Brackeen, to her right. The Big Spring Ambassadors gave the opening the red carpet treatment.

THEFTS A bicycle belonging to Kenneth Robinson, 13, 1511 Avion St., was stolen from the residence, police said.

A bag of golf clubs and balls were stolen from a pickup parked at 300 N. Bell St. Friday afternoon, police reported. The victim was Guy Burroughs, 3702 Pleasant St.

Jones & Laughlin Supply Division, 201 Bell St., lost two plastic pipes and one steel pipe in a theft, police were told Friday afternoon. The total loss was estimated at $43.

Edward Flores, whose address was not specified, Saturday told police a spare tire was taken from the rear of a vehicle parked in the 2300 block of Scurry Street.

Randy Chapman, 204 E. 6th St., Saturday reported clothes stolen from his home.

MISHAPS

100 block of West Sixth Street: Fern Cauthen Durham, 1503-B Lincoln Ave., and Gary Leon Jetton, 511 Goliad St., at 10:50 p.m. Friday.

100 block of North Gregg Street: Joseph August Wines, 1507-B Lexington Ave., and Jay Holiday, 434 Dallas St., at 1:42 p.m. Friday.

4200 block of Muir Street: Maggie Daniels, 4217 Muir St., and Janice Johnson Starling, 4216 Muir St., at 8:25 a.m. Friday.

1200 block of South Gregg Street: Celia Everett Pierrro, 106 E. 24th St., and Carol Joan Lansperry, 4217 Dixon St., at 7:55 a.m. Friday.

At 8 p.m. Howard County deputy sheriff Buster McCartney told the Webb fire department that Ray Worsham of Gulf Oil needed help in fighting a fire at the China Grove pump station.

Lightning had apparently ignited a 100,000 barrel holding tank.

At 8:31 p.m., base fire chief William W. Thomas dispatched Robert Sayger, crew chief at the auxiliary field, to the scene of the fire.

In a 1,500 gallon Unit Nine water tanker loaded with AFFF foam (light water).

Sayger, aided by three members of the Colorado City Volunteer Fire Department, had the fire under control in about 10 minutes.

Barbecue Contest

BRADY — The second annual world's championship barbecue goat cookoff and McCulloch County Fair will get underway here Aug. 29.

The big day, however, is on Aug. 30 when fires are started at daybreak to prepare coals for cooking goat, plus beans in old-fashioned iron pots.

Herb Stoecker, Abilene, will be back to defend his title, but already he has competition from 50 contestants who have entered.

There will be many other events, besides the traditional ones at the fair, such as cow chip throwing, egg throwing, tobacco spitting, and all those other good things. Jaycees and their wives are sponsoring.

'Hot' Checks

Dennis Wells, 3306 Auburn Ave., told police he was expecting a $300 payroll check in the mail Friday.

But Wells said he didn't find the check. He found his mail under a tree in the yard and a package opened.

In another case, a $75 check with a forgery of Pete Jones' signature was cashed at Furr's Supermarket, 900-Eleventh Place, police learned Friday afternoon.

UTPB To Begin Signup All Levels Next Week

Registration for the fall semester at the University of Texas at the Permian Basin will be Aug. 28-29, marking the beginning of the third year of operation of the upper level graduate university.

Classes begin the following Tuesday, Sept. 2. Students may register for approximately 250 individual course offerings, the largest yet for the young university.

The courses apply for 29 bachelor's and 15 master's degree programs, increased this fall with the addition of seven new master's programs.

Registration will be from 9-11:30 a.m. and 2-6:45 p.m.

Base Aids In Dousing Fire

The Webb Air Force Base fire crew at the Colorado City Auxiliary Field responded to a call last Wednesday and helped douse an oilfield fire 14 miles north of Colorado City.

At 8 p.m. Howard County deputy sheriff Buster McCartney told the Webb fire department that Ray Worsham of Gulf Oil needed help in fighting a fire at the China Grove pump station.

Lightning had apparently ignited a 100,000 barrel holding tank.

At 8:31 p.m., base fire chief William W. Thomas dispatched Robert Sayger, crew chief at the auxiliary field, to the scene of the fire.

In a 1,500 gallon Unit Nine water tanker loaded with AFFF foam (light water).

Sayger, aided by three members of the Colorado City Volunteer Fire Department, had the fire under control in about 10 minutes.

Applications For Scholarship

Students interested in majoring in business at Howard College may apply for the $50 Dean Box Memorial Scholarship, according to Reva Adams, division head of the Howard College business department.

The award is funded by contributions to the Dean Box Memorial Scholarship fund.

The scholarship is awarded each semester to a student majoring in business and who has completed at least one semester at Howard College. The student selected for the scholarship must enroll in Howard College as a full-time business student and must have a minimum grade point average of 2.5.

Students interested in applying for the scholarship should contact Reva Adams, Howard College, 267-6311, ext. 69.

Area Riders Share In Lead

Three area women continue in the top listings of the Girls' Rodeo Association Barrel Racing.

Latest tabulations show that Kay Proctor, Odessa, former Howard College co-ed, is in seventh place with $4,748, only $37 out of sixth.

Patti Prather, Snyder, is in 11th place with $3,695, just ahead of Thy Lewis, Big Spring with $3,363. Jimmie Gibbs, Valley Mills, Tx, leads with $12,533.

ASU Signup

Registration for fall semester classes at Angelo State University will be conducted Aug. 27, 28 and 29 with classes for the fall term scheduled to begin Tuesday, Sept. 2. Students who will be signing up for graduate courses and night courses will register between 6 and 7 p.m. on Aug. 27 in the ASU Physical Education Building.

Positions Open On Publications

Applications for staff positions on the Howard College yearbook and newspaper are now being accepted, according to Ann Ward, publications sponsor.

Yearbook positions to be filled include editor, business manager, section editors, and chief photographer.

Reporters, photographers, and advertising salespersons are needed to work on the newspaper staff. An editor and a business manager also will be named.

Application forms will be available in the Practical Arts building, Room 106, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday through Wednesday. Telephone 267-6311, Ext. 56, for further information.

THE WEEK

U.S. Census Bureau representatives are taking a head count in Borden, Glasscock and Sterling Counties in this area, part of an effort to cross-check estimates on small counties. If folks in those areas aren't counted in the next couple of weeks, they should write the postmaster in their county seat.

We've gone a week now without rain, which normally would be old stuff, but in this unprecedented August, it's new. Showers ending a week ago Saturday resulted in Lake J. B. Thomas coming up 1.30 feet for 3,590 acre feet; Lake Thomas coming up 1.02 feet for 7,400 acre feet, or 10,900 acre feet together. Lake Colorado City was up to elevation 2966.80 (only 3½ ft. below spillway) for a gain of 2.40 feet or 2,270 acre feet.

Representatives from half a dozen cities in this area gathered here last Monday to make medicine toward obtaining an extension of Amtrak passenger service through this area. There has been one proposal to come west out of Dallas to Sweetwater to Clovis, N.M., but partisans on this end want it to continue on down the T&P through Big Spring, Midland and Odessa to El Paso.

Big Spring City Council will take up second reading of an annexation proposal for a strip of land between IS-20 and Eleventh Place from the city limits eastward to the Midway road. Coahoma's council has set Sept. 2 for a hearing on annexing nearly 77 acres in a strip paralleling IS 20 on the north, westward from Coahoma to Sand Springs.

Hal Boyd, whose regiment in the Texas National Guard was chosen as the exemplary one for the entire nation, has been promoted from lieutenant-colonel to colonel.

He also received two important decorations.

A former Big Springer has stepped up into an important position, too. He is Kenneth Huff, who once was with Reeder Insurance here, and who now heads the Texas Public Employees Association.

Got those season football tickets for the Steer games? Believe it or not, the season opener is less than two weeks away. Coach Bob Burris got his boys in pads Friday and they got down to the nitty gritty of whipping into real shape.

At Stanton, Cong. George Mahon said it was time for the American public to bite the bullet (even if we spelled it with two Ts). The time to do a little sacrificing is now, not keep on postponing, he said.

Two new businesses joined the local scene last week, further documenting the rosy outlook. One is the Rag Doll on South Gregg, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Cuin Grigsby Jr., Big Spring products who now headquarter in Abilene; the other M&E Lighting on W. 4th and Galveston.

COAHOME — A public hearing on a petition to annex land between the west edge of Coahoma and the Meadowbrook section of Sand Springs has been set for Sept. 2.

Mayor Joe T. Swinney said that the hearing will be held in the City Hall from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m.

CONSUMER SCOREBOARD

Petrochemical Costs Rise

By the Associated Press
The higher energy costs that are making it more expensive to drive your car also are boosting prices of everything from the clothes you wear to the detergent you wash them in.
About 5 per cent of the approximately 16 million barrels of crude oil used in the United States every day goes into making chemicals and more than 60 per cent of those chemicals wind up in consumer products.
Roy Glauz of the Chemical Industry Center of the Stanford Research Institute in Menlo Park, Calif., said that petrochemicals, accounting for about 30 per cent of all the chemicals produced in the United States, represent a $17-billion to $18-billion-a-year business.
More than half the petrochemicals go into plastics, Glauz said. Another 10 per cent go into elastic products, 11 or 12 per cent become synthetic fibers and the remainder are used for a variety of items, ranging from detergent to antifreeze. How many of these products do Americans have in and around their homes? "Thousands," said Glauz, ticking off the plastic parts on dozens of appliances. There are synthetic fibers for clothes, polyester sheets and vinyl floor coverings. The average automobile has anywhere from 150 to 175 pounds of plastic. The list is almost endless.

Many of the products are used once and thrown away, prompting some consumer groups and environmentalists to charge that Americans are wasting energy.
"We don't need plastic bags for carrots and other things," said one member of a conservation group. "And most restaurants and homes don't need plastic and paper disposable cups — why can't we just go back to washing dishes?"

"There's a certain amount of waste," said Glauz, but he claimed the amount of energy that could be saved by eliminating petrochemical products is negligible compared to what could be saved by conserving gasoline since a little less than half of every barrel of oil is turned into automobile fuel.
No matter what we do with the petrochemicals, prices are going up. The expected decontrol of petroleum prices probably will mean an increase of anywhere from three to eight cents a gallon in the price of gasoline, depending on who you talk to. Several major oil companies announced one-cent-a-gallon increase in gasoline prices earlier this week, blaming the boost on higher operating costs.

Glauz said he expects a similar increase in the price of petroleum-based chemicals, but specific figures are difficult to come by.

Nepotism Complaints

CRYSTAL CITY, Tex. (AP) — Three school board members face nepotism charges after the school superintendent they fired earlier this week filed a complaint against them.
Amancio Cantu, fired a superintendent Monday, charged nepotism against school board president Raul T. Flores and trustees Ramon Garza and Mrs. Mercedes Casarez.
The complaints alleged that the three voted for the appointment of persons to school district positions who were related either to the board members or other board members, a misdemeanor.
Justice of the Peace Frank Moreno Sr. set bond at $1,000 each for Flores and Mrs. Casarez and $200 for Garza.
Garza became police chief at Crystal City on Aug. 14.

Boys Held In Home Burglary

A 13-year-old and an 8-year-old boy have been connected with the burglary of the Mrs. Hillard Daniel mobile home, which happened about two weeks ago.
Hand-blown glass figurines said worth about $60 altogether, and two old silver dollars were stolen, Bill Whitton, chief deputy sheriff, said.
Grease stains were left on the carpet and couch at Midway Trailer Park 4C. By cutting off electricity, the intruders also spoiled food.
The boys have been released to their parents, and the parents have agreed to make restitution.

Patron Suggestions Are Sought In Forsan School

FORSAN — Forsan seniors will be knocking on doors within their school district for the next couple of weeks.
The class of '76 will be taking a community survey as part of a needs assessment program for their school district. They hope to contact every resident.
This year, the Forsan and Elbow faculties, administrators and school board members will be involved in a complete evaluation in an attempt to measure the effectiveness of their schools.
After the school and community survey, the philosophy and objectives of the school will be established. In October, an evaluation of the curriculum will be developed.
The main thrust of the total evaluation will be to improve the overall school system by stimulating the school and community to adopt a program for continuous growth.

FDA, Baby Food Firms Rap Union

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The H.J. Heinz Co. has defended its methods of processing baby food, in response to a report by Consumers Union that much of the baby food used in this country is contaminated.
"Our sanitation standards match the highest in the food processing industry and our performance is audited by our factory and headquarter's quality assurance organization," Heinz said Wednesday.
"We are also inspected and regulated by the FDA and USDA. Our standards today are more stringent than in any time in our 106-year history."

The latest issue of Consumer Reports says insect parts, rodent hairs and paint chips were found in about 25 per cent of the 39 baby foods it tested recently, compared with a 10 per cent contamination rate in samples tested three years ago.
Heinz, Gerber and Beech-Nut, three major baby food manufacturers, were singled out in the report.
Consumers Union said the contamination did not represent a health hazard. Nevertheless, it called on the FDA to take action to correct the situation.
The FDA said it found "no reason for special concern about the manufacture of baby foods" based on its own recent inspections. The FDA said it had not yet received the Consumers Union data.

Inks $92,000 Check To Buy Fire Truck

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — An unexpected donation check for $92,000 was deposited in Fort Worth this week.
City Secretary Roy Bateman said the money is earmarked for a new fire truck.
The check, written by Mrs. R.L. Slaughter, was an unexpected bonus as fire officials dedicated a new $191,623 fire station.
It all happened when Mrs. Slaughter, who was attending the dedication ceremony, noticed that there were only two fire trucks in the three-bay station.
Mrs. Slaughter asked, "do they need another truck?"
"Sure thing," was the reply.
When she found out how much a truck would cost, Mrs. Slaughter signed the check and let a city official fill in the amount — $92,000.

Oil Industry Feeling Tight Money Squeeze

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — The oil industry faces a severe shortage of capital for drilling unless the government allows restoration and improvement of profits, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.
The trade magazine said some companies already are short of capital and are either passing up energy developments or are borrowing to meet obligations on present projects.
"The tight money situation comes at a time when the industry faces its greatest demand for capital," the Journal said in its issue released today. "At the same time, costs are climbing rapidly and profits are being eroded by higher taxes and government regulations."
The magazine said estimates by the Federal Energy Administration and several large banks and oil companies place required capital spending needs at $20-$31 billion a year from 1975 to 1985.
Many large companies blame the problem on loss of depletion allowances earlier this year, the Journal said.

Police Brutality

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — "I've been kicked, hit, spit at and shoved," said Patrolman Cole Kern as he resigned from the police force. "It's just not worth it."
Kern, 25, handed in his badge after a judge fined a defendant $100 on a charge of assaulting another police officer.
"As a policeman you're always putting your life on the line and for what — a $100 fine," Kern said. "I've had enough."
Kern was angered after Elijah O'Neal Jr., convicted of resisting arrest and assaulting a police officer, was fined by Polk County Judge Thomas Renda.
Police Chief Wendell Nichols said the officer's resignation could be blamed on the lack of strong prosecution in cases where policemen are attacked.
"If a policeman fights back, he can be prosecuted and sued and it can be the end of his career," Nichols said. "It's getting to a point where some guys try to see if they can whip policemen and if they can't, they say the police mistreated them."
Kern earned $12,000 a year as a patrolman. He had been on the police force since 1972.
He said he plans to return to college to finish work on a degree.
"I enjoyed police work," Kern said. "I knew when I joined the force there would be days like this — but not this many."

Next Alcoholism Seminar Sept. 12

The Big Spring State Hospital Alcoholism Program will conduct the fifth seminar, in a series of monthly seminars, on Sept. 12, in the Allred Auditorium at the hospital.
These seminars have been made possible through a contract with the Texas Commission on Alcoholism, and are held in conjunction with the Big Spring Veteran's Administration Hospital and Howard College.
This seminar will be directed to four topics:
1) "The Need for Alcoholics to Do Grief Work"; 2) "The Difference Between Psychological Types of Drug Abusers Compared to Alcoholics"; 3) "The Psychodynamics of Spiritual and Alcoholics Anonymous Approaches to Treatment Compared to Psychotherapy"; and 4) "Transference and Countertransference Phenomena in the Treatment of Alcoholics."
Lester R. Bellwood, Th.D., Ph.D., will be the consultant for this seminar. Dr. Bellwood is chief of the alcoholism division, Ft. Logan Mental Health Center, Denver, Col. He is an active member of numerous professional groups in the field of alcoholism and religion.
He has organized and developed the Alcoholism Treatment Program at Ft. Logan Mental Health Center in 1961, and has served as a consultant in many states throughout the nation. He is the author of the book, "Alcoholism, the Common Neurosis of Our Time." In addition, Dr. Bellwood has written many articles and papers on alcoholism treatment.
This seminar is open to all persons interested in the field of alcoholism and those working in this field. It should be of particular interest to clergy and educators. Registration will begin at 8 a.m. and the general session commences at 9 a.m., adjournment is at 4 p.m. There is a registrator fee of $1 and an additional fee of $1 for those who wish to receive Continuing Education Units (C.E.U.'s) for attendance. For additional information, contact Clyde J. Alsop, training officer, Alcoholism Unit, Big Spring State Hospital.

Quickie Divorce

LONDON (AP) — Great Britain has a special quickie divorce procedure for dissolving marriages of separated couples with no small children, and Scottish singer Lulu didn't waste time in divorcing herself from her husband of six years, British pop guitarist Maurice Gibb of the Bee Gees. It took her just ten seconds Thursday.

How to select the right nursing home.

We Americans are not just living longer, we're living more useful, productive lives. But an increasing number of the chronically ill, the old, the convalescent, need some place other than the hospital and their home where they can receive personal health care, round-the-clock attention and the opportunity to continue to live their lives with meaning. As your community extended health care facility we want to help you make the right decision. Here are some guidelines: see your family physician to determine the kind of care needed; feel free to visit our facility; ask us for our costs in writing and financial advice about Medicaid; examine all of our facilities; check our food quality; verify our safety features; and finally, observe how our residents spend their time. There's a lot more to selecting the right nursing home. We want to help. If you have any questions, please call or visit us.

Caplan Now Top Counsel

David F. Caplan was recently named chief counsel of NASA's Langley Research Center and Wallops Flight Center. He is the son-in-law of Mrs. Mabel Norrell, Big Spring.

In his new position, he will provide advice, counsel and representation to all elements on all legal matters (except patents) affecting center operations.

Caplan began working for NASA in 1966 as an attorney-advisor to the Lewis Research Center in Cleveland, Ohio. He transferred to Langley at Hampton, Va. in 1968 as an associate counsel.

Prior to coming to NASA, he served as attorney-advisor to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers from 1964-65 and to the U.S. Army Tank-Automotive Command from 1965-66. He engaged in the private practice of law in Detroit from 1960-64.

Caplan earned his bachelor degree in business administration in 1956 and his J.D. degree in 1959 from the University of Michigan. He is a member of the State Bar of Michigan and the American Bar Association. He is married to the former Alma Louise Collins, Mrs. Norrell's daughter. They live in Newport News, Va., with their two sons.

Legion Members Find Beer, Embalmed Man In 'Cool' Truck

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — American Legion support for a "constitutional, democratic form of government, law and order, Americanism and patriotism" is as important now as ever, says Harry G. Wiles, the organization's new president.

But Wiles, a 29-year legionnaire and former national vice commander, said Thursday the belief that legion members only get together for bingo, pancake breakfasts and other good times is "entirely a thing of the past."

Legion members have shed that stereotype and are developing a new image, he said.

"One of our major goals this year is the cancer research fund drive," he said. "We hope to raise up to $5 million."

Wiles, a 59-year-old attorney and one-time candidate for governor of Kansas, was elected without opposition Thursday by delegates to the legion's 57th annual convention. He will lead an organization of 2.7 million legionnaires and more than 900,000 auxiliary members.

WASHINGTON (AP) — District of Columbia police have arrested three men and seized a refrigerated tractor-trailer rig carrying 613 cases of beer and the embalmed body of an Alexandria, Va., man.

The dead man was identified as Robert Hamilton, 32, who police say may have died in Claremont, Calif., of a drug overdose Aug. 8.

Police identified the three men arrested near the truck Thursday as Walter F. Riffin of Washington, D.C., described as Hamilton's uncle; Claude J. Hill, 53, of Clinton, Md., said to be Hamilton's stepfather, and Nicholas C. Scandone, 32, of Forestville, Md.

They were charged with conducting an interstate wholesale beer business without proper tax stamps. They were to appear in court Sept. 10.

The truck was loaded with Coors beer, bought in California where it is relatively inexpensive, and apparently brought to the District of Columbia for resale at higher prices, police said.

Police said Hamilton apparently had been assigned to drive the truckload of beer to Washington, but had died before leaving California. The other three men then went to California to bring back the body — and the beer, police said.

Police said they had been tipped that the shipment of beer was to enter the District of Columbia and that they had the truck under surveillance as it arrived to drop off Hamilton's body at a local funeral home.

Recapture

Jail Escapees

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Deputies recaptured today the remaining two of seven prisoners who escaped the Kerr County jail Thursday night.

The pair, Bruce D. Burell, 19, of Center Point, near Kerrville, and Michael J. Harris, 17, of Durant, Okla., were captured near Center Point without incident, officers said.

Liz, Burton More In Love Than Ever?

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton "are more in love than ever" but there are no present plans for an early remarriage, a friend of the couple said today.

Maurice Solowicz said Burton and Miss Taylor, whose "permanent reconciliation" was announced Wednesday 14 months after their Swiss divorce on grounds of incompatibility, were continuing their motor tour of Switzerland as a "second honeymoon."

Solowicz, a Geneva lawyer, said the couple might meet the press next week either in Switzerland or Israel where Burton has to work on his new film, "Abakarov."

The Zurich mass circulation newspaper Blick reported meanwhile that Burton's latest girl friend, Jean Bell, moved out of the actor's villa near Geneva on Wednesday and took a New York-bound plane with her 13-year-old son.

Also on Wednesday, the newspaper said, Miss Taylor had a farewell dinner with long-time friend Henry Wynberg at a hotel in Gruyeres, some 60 miles from Vstaad where she has a luxury chalet. Wynberg left Switzerland on Thursday for London, the report said.

Convict Ex-Model In Coin Dealer Slaying

SAN DIEGO Calif. (AP) — A one-time professional model who wanted to be a movie star will be sentenced Sept. 11 for the January slaying of a San Diego coin dealer.

After four days of deliberation, a Superior Court jury convicted Kimberly Carol Conner, 30, of Dallas in the shooting death of John Stillman, 70.

Miss Conner, a bit-part actress, broke into sobs Thursday as the verdict was read.

She was also convicted of first-degree robbery, grand theft and burglary. Stillman was found dead in his apartment Jan. 6 after being shot through the head at close range. Police said gold coins worth an estimated $130,000 were stolen.

Miss Conner's second cousin, Mattie Elizabeth Young, was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment in the slaying. She was brought from state prison to testify against Miss Conner.

About $80,000 worth of the stolen coins were later recovered. Two Nevada men were arrested for possessing them after they crossed the U.S.-Mexican border at Lukeville, Ariz.

Landscape Stresses

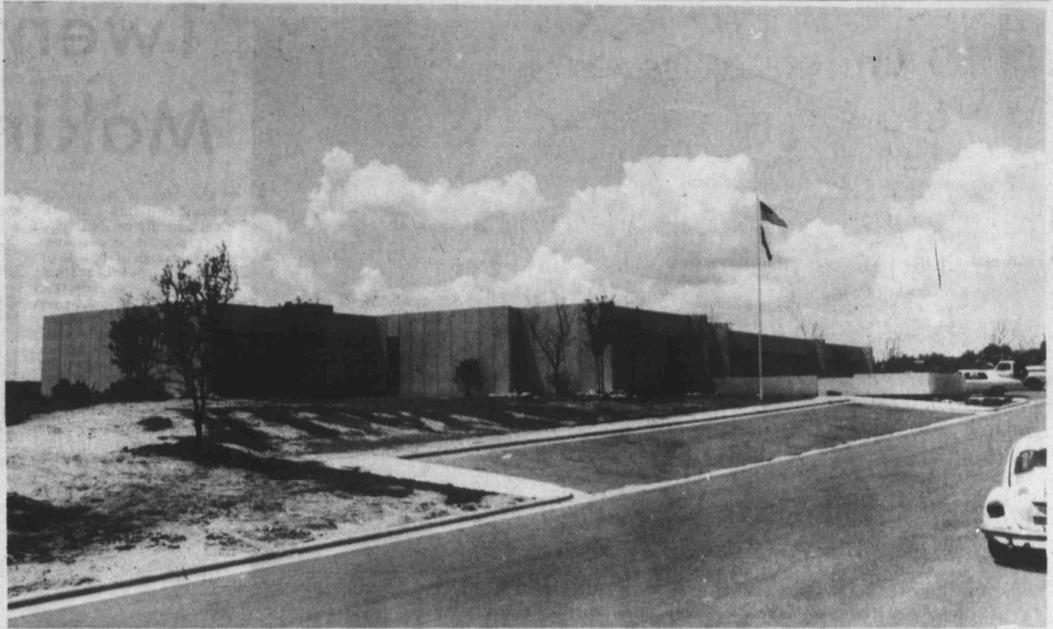

When the building committee selected a site at FM 700 and Goliad for the new CRMWD building, it settled on a plan that made it appear that the structure is rising unobtrusively from the brow of the hill.

The conception of a master landscape plan seeks to enlarge upon this natural setting. The building has been surrounded, but not cluttered, by 43 live oaks, several red oaks and pinon pine. Ground cover in highlighted areas is ivy with low-lying junipers around native rock which has been strategically placed. The bedded area around the building is delineated with a 12-inch wide walkway with exposed aggregate to match the main entrance and other sidewalks.

The lawn areas have been seeded in Bermuda grass. Elsewhere, the natural shrubs and plants have been preserved, and there will be some transplanting of native vegetation in the lower areas where there will be development of a casual park area.

Plans call for the development of a water display on the east to involve a series of waterfalls over a 170-ft. course. At the east end also, on the Goliad Street side, will be an attractive sign with the district's name spelled out.

The west or upper end contains the off-street parking areas.

AFTER 26 YEARS, COLORADO RIVER MUNICIPAL WATER DISTRICT HAS FIRST HOME
New plant, rising from brow of hill at FM-700 and Goliad, has open house this afternoon

Public Invited To See First District-owned Headquarters

Ample Parking Is Provided

Ample parking for patrons and other visitors as well as for employees is provided in the new CRMWD headquarters at 400 East 24th Street.

There are 20 paved parking spaces that front the building on 24th Street, then there are spaces for 24 more cars in an off street employee-staff paved parking lot on the upper end at 24th and Johnson.

Also, the district paved the 300 and 400 blocks on East 24th to connect with Goliad, and the 2400 block on Johnson that provides an outlet to the north access road that parallels FM 700.

The city and property owners also paved a block north on Nolan to further improve access.

People in this area are invited today to see the new headquarters building from whence the sprawling water system of the Colorado River Municipal Water District will be operated for years to come.

It has been designed and built with that in mind, but it also is an outstandingly attractive plant in a natural setting.

Hours for the open house are from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

The 8,320-sq-ft. building is first of all functional. It is of steel frame with precast, white aggregate concrete exterior siding and non-glare plate glass. The building is electrically heated and cooled with five zones for most efficient, comfortable, and economical operation.

A spacious lobby, which looks out in a sweeping view of the freeway on FM 700 and South Mountain, is the core for nine administrative offices. General administration is on the east end of the building, anchored by a spacious and striking meeting room for the board of directors. The south side of this is glass panel, again providing for a panoramic view of the mountain and its steps. Solid wall panels on the remainder except for glass panels on one section of the north side to let in the soft light. Adorning the front walk is an actual windmill wheel with several gears and sucker rods — the symbol of most water in the early days.

Adjacent to this is the general manager's office, which also looks out to the south, and his secretary's office between him and the reception area. All are finished with birch panel in walnut stain. Also adjoining on the north side are the offices for the assistant general manager, the administrative assistant, and an auxiliary office, plus storage.

OPERATIONS AREA

Administrative offices for operations and maintenance are located in the west part of the building, but this part also includes lounge, library, conference room (to accommodate approximately 10 persons), mechanical and restrooms, reproduction room, storage room and janitor storage.

The building is carpeted throughout in three basic shades of browns, and except for the general administrative offices and board room, walks are vinyl covered. Illumination is recessed, as are file cabinets.

There are new furnishings in many of the areas, and the appointments and decor were expressly done for the building.

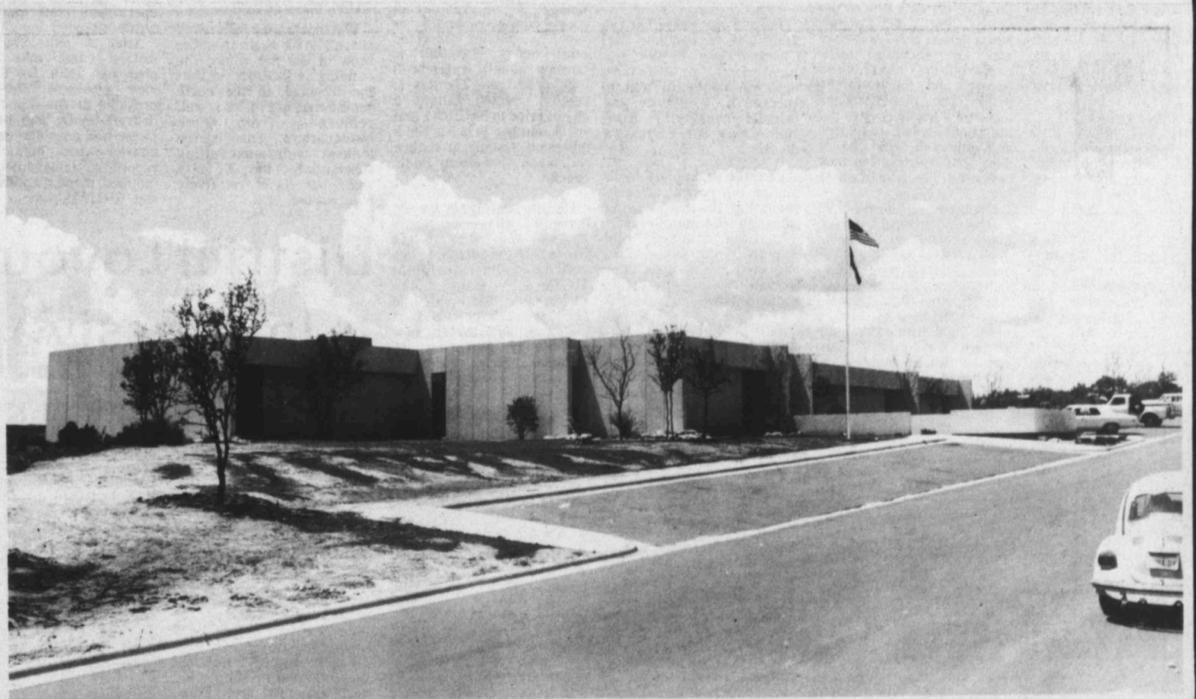

DISTRICT SEAL

Entrance to the building is as impressive as the interior. The letters CRMWD are deeply cast in concrete in a panel at the sidewalk entrance, flanked by low panels to the entry way. Here is set in bronze a large reproduction of the district's official seal. Just inside the vestibule, is the bronze nameplate. Heavy glass doors, with massive hardware, provide a clear view through the building toward the mountain. The receptionist and secretary have desks to the east, while in the south and southwest parts of the lobby are comfortable seating accommodations. The building was designed by Gary & Hohertz, Big Spring. J. W. Little Construction Company is the general contractor.

The Board of Directors and the Employees of the Colorado River Municipal Water District invite you to the open house for the new District Headquarters.

Sunday, Aug. 24, 2 P.M. — 4 P.M.
400 E. 24th.

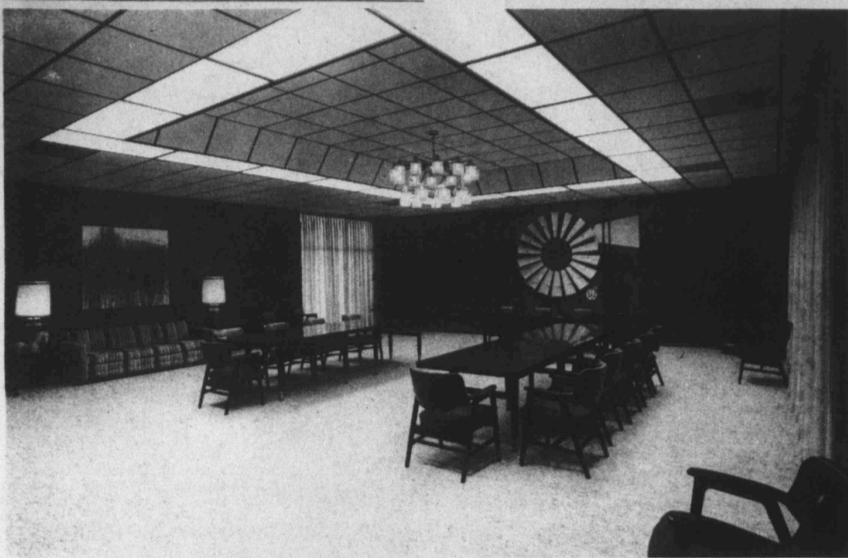

After 25 years of working, planning and building to meet the water demands of this area today and for years to come, the District now has paused to build its own headquarters. While this primarily is to equip its personnel to serve more effectively, this handsome building, we hope, will be as bright and as attractive to all as is the future of this vast, pulsating section of West Texas between the Colorado and the Pecos.

Background Of Service Achieved By District

It is axiomatic that no city or area can outstrip its water supply.

It is equally true that no one city can muster the credit and resources sufficient to supply an entire area.

J. B. Thomas, then president of Texas Electric Service Company, had these two things in mind when he persuaded five cities — Snyder, Colorado City, Big Spring, Midland and Odessa — to come to Big Spring June 20, 1946, to talk about an urgent and common problem.

He also took away the breath of assembled civic leaders when he talked about a project that might cost as much as $10,000,000, yet supply 26,000,000 gallons of water a day. Challenged, the groups formed the Colorado River Municipal Water Association, and applied for a permit to impound a lake (later named J. B. Thomas honoring the genius of the man who conceived the plan) on the upper Colorado River.

TOOK IT ON FAITH
Freeze and Nichols, Fort Worth hydraulic engineers, took the preliminary studies purely on faith, and came up with a plan that it felt was entirely feasible. There had to be a legal vehicle, however, but by the time a bill creating the Colorado River Municipal Water District was introduced in 1949, the association had dwindled to Big Spring and Odessa. Miraculously, the bill was passed and signed into law by Gov. Buford Jester. The first board meeting was held in August 1949, and immediately directors were confronted with looking at a proposal by the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation to build a bigger dam lower on the river. A year later when its report showed that it would cost two and a half times as much over the life of the project (and the bureau would not promise to give way to local ownership, nor could it guarantee any timetable), the board decided to go it alone.

SNYDER COMES BACK
Before bids were to be opened, Snyder petitioned for (and was accepted) membership in December 1950 and thus was in the beginning of the actual construction of district facilities. Another miracle was that Union Securities Co. had guaranteed to underwrite the cost of the project (which had not one day of operating history) at an effective rate of 2.48 percent for $11,750,000. Nevertheless this bond offer was not accepted until construction bids were opened and found to be within the money. Then followed a hectic race to get the bonds issued, validated and delivered with the 30 days that construction bids held good. The district made it.

Meantime, a severe and historic drought had fastened itself on the area, and Odessa — bursting at the seams from oil development — was about out of water. Big Spring was hardly better. The district, after a bitter fight with some landowners and others, purchased water rights and developed a well field in central Martin County. The pipeline was started at Odessa and built eastward, so that in 1951 both Odessa and Big Spring began to obtain adequate water. Snyder came on two years later when it was the first to draw from Lake J. B. Thomas.

REPRESSURING
A significant development came in 1952 when the newly formed SACROC producing unit in southwestern Scurry County contracted to purchase surplus water from Lake J. B. Thomas for repressuring purposes. This turned out to have a modifying effect on cost of water to cities. In 1955 the Sharon ridge unit was added. Sun Oil (in Coke County), Atlantic-Richfield in 1963, Standard Oil, the northeast IAB fields in 1966, and Walsh and Watts units in 1969. Only this year, the Mabee unit has been added to the list.

In 1952, the year that the lake was named for Mr. Thomas, Owen H. Ivie was named production superintendent. He was to succeed E. V. Spence, the original manager, in April 1955 upon Mr. Spence's death.

The district applied for a mining use permit (clearly permitting the repressuring sales) in 1954 and was permitted to transport and dispose of salt water. This had vital implications later in salt-water pollution control efforts.

NEW LAKE
For the outset in 1949 Mr. Spence had asked about diverting 300 miles of Deep Creek drainage (in Scurry County) into Lake Thomas. The eventual outcome was the granting of a permit in 1958 to construct a second lake on the Colorado River, provided the district could find a way to keep too much salt water from getting into the lake. But by the time a plan for this was accepted, the dam location had to be changed and this opened the way for downstream users to protest the permit. By paying $400,000 to the Lower Colorado River Authority, way was opened for the lake, financed by a $30 million bond issue (later supplemented with $4,500,000 to complete the job).

But before Lake Spence could catch water, booming demands for more water on the west end induced the board to float $6,750,000 to finance a 50-mile pipeline system and 17 wells in Ward County to secure anchor supply on the west end. Since then, the district has voted other bonds ($800,000) to develop a salt water well field near Lake Thomas to supply 4,500,000 gallons a day of brine to SACROC, and spent another $175,000 for a diversion system to reduce salt water flow from Beals Creek.

Despite floating $61,150,000 in bonds — all revenue bonds and not one penny of tax bonds — the district has retired the original $11,750,000 issue, the $4,600,000 in 1958 bonds and $2,500,000 in 1963 bonds. Best of all, it has a system now capable of delivering 120 million gallons a day of water to its customers.

Twenty-Six Years In Making, Idea Not New

The idea of a specially designed home for the Colorado River Municipal Water District is not a new one, although it has taken nearly 26 years to bear fruit.

Initially the district opened with a one-room office in the Petroleum (now Cosden) building with Col. E. V. Spence the only employee. Soon a secretary was added, and this sufficed during the original construction period in 1951-52. When the Permian Building was completed, the district was one of the first tenants with a second-floor suite, but in time this became too cramped. In 1962 the building vacated by the Conoco district offices at 1318 East Fourth was leased, and this continued until July 1 to be the CRMWD home.

At one time in the late 1950's the district purchased half a block of land at West Third and Lancaster streets, but later abandoned the idea of a home at that time and sold the site at cost for the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

More than a year ago, with space (that building had been enlarged) still a problem, serious talk of a new home was revived. There was a sufficient balance in the Improvement and Extension Fund to do the job without affecting other operations or water rates to cities or customers.

So in July 1974, the board authorized a site committee

Ample Space For New Plant

When the building committee obtained a site for the new headquarters of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, it had ample space in mind.

The new plant was built with an eye to the future, and while enlargement is not contemplated, at least for a long time, the ground is there for this purpose if needed.

The tract fronts 665 feet on East 24th Street, has a 152-foot front on Goliad on the east, and Johnson street side on the west is 330 feet.

The topography falls away sharply to the south from the brow of the hill where the building is located, so that the frontage on the north access road of FM 700 is well removed from the headquarters. This is the longest side, exceeding substantially the E. 24th side, but it is relatively inaccessible.

District Layout Is Impressive

There are some staggering facts connected with the CRMWD system.

It has almost 400 miles (399 to be exact) of pipelines ranging from 10-inch cast iron gathering lines in a well field up to 42-inch concrete cylinder (which is the type that constitutes most of the system). The District stretches from Snyder to Odessa, a distance of 110 miles, or from Robert Lee (via Big Spring) a distance of 1165 miles. Another 50 miles carries to the Ward County well field.

From Robert Lee to Odessa, water must be lofted vertically 1,000 feet. Thus, the operation of the system requires the services of 87 pumps of varying size with a combined 38,730 horsepower. The district budgets for something like 50 KWH of power to operate the system.

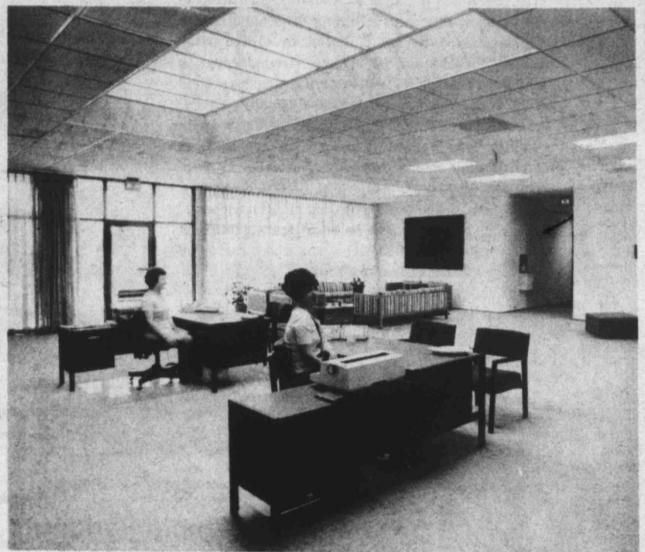

Included are two major lakes with combined storage of 692,000 acre feet. Moss Creek Lake (built by Big Spring) is utilized as terminal storage. The district raised its dam level by four feet (eventually will raise it 10 feet) and installed a concrete spillway. It also constructed 250,000 acre foot to be named. With its report, the decision was made to proceed and plans were drawn for bids let in October.

On the building committee were Clyde McMahon, Big Spring, chairman H. S. Sampson, Odessa, W. A. McClain, Snyder, and John L. Taylor, Big Spring. Since the project came within the $400,000 estimates, the committee recommended up to another $10,000 to round out landscaping, signs, and other appointments, possibly including a mural on the west lobby wall.

Officials Get Prevue Of New CRMWD Home

City councilmen from the three member cities, along with other top officials and several of others closely identified with the project for 26 years, had a prevue of the new Colorado River District Headquarters here Friday evening.

Later they were honored at a reception and a dinner at the Big Spring Country Club. Approximately 100 individuals, including members of the district's operational staff and their wives, attended.

After 26 years since the district came into being, observed John L. Taylor, vice president and who presided at the dinner, the district finally had time to pause and consider its first district-owned home. The record of achievement, he quipped, made it appear that the CRMWD was a going institution, was here to stay, and worthy of a permanent home.

THOMAS MISSING
Missing from the gathering only for the reason that he was being honored with a doctor of letters degree by Texas Christian University, was J. B. Thomas, Fort Worth, whose idea and initiative led to the formation of a multi-city organization to serve the West Texas areas between the Pecos and Colorado Rivers.

But Mrs. Elizabeth Spence, widow of E. V. Spence, the district's first general manager, came from Corpus Christi for the occasion. So did Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Freese, Fort Worth. Freese's firm of Freese & Nichols worked several years for nothing on the idea because he considered it imperative for the area.

Also present were State Sen. Pete Snelson, Midland; Rep. and Mrs. Mike Ezzell, Snyder, and Rep. and Mrs. Elmer Martin, Colorado City.

STATE OFFICIALS
Joe Carroll, formerly of Snyder and now a member of the Texas Water Rights Commission, headed a list of state officials, which also included Otha F. Dent, former Texas Water Rights Board member and now on the Red River Interstate Water Compact Commission.

Only two of the original board members, P. C. Harbour, now president of the district, and J. L. Rhoades, both of Odessa, are still on the board, and both were present with their wives. Lyle Deffebach, Snyder, who came on a year after the district was created when Snyder was annexed, and R. A. Schooling, now administrative assistant for the district, with Mrs. Schooling, were present from the first three-city board.

Taylor also introduced General Manager O. H. Ivie, who joined the district in 1952 during the construction phase, and Mrs. Ivie; and Joe Pickle, secretary since inception of the district; and Walter Ross, auditor since 1954. He presented John Gary and Daryle Hohertz, architects, and J. W. Little, who built the new plant.

FIRST TIME
Mayors Dan Hemphill, Odessa, Bill Vestal, Snyder, and Wade Choate, headed a list of city officials and wives here for the occasion. Several former board members also were present. This was, Taylor pointed out, the first time that the three member city councils and the CRMWD directors had been together in one meeting in the 26 years of the district.

District Has Record Of Water Pioneering

The CRMWD came along four score years after the demise of the Indians and buffaloes, but it had earned the tag of pioneer nevertheless.

From its inception it fulfilled that role, for it was the first major multi-city cooperative effort at solving a joint water supply problem. No one city could muster the credit to do the job, so several cities undertook it jointly.

Oil was discovered right in the middle of the basin of the first main reservoir, Lake J. B. Thomas. Acquiring mineral rights was out of the question, so the district pioneered in constructing islands (oil well mounds) which would put the wellhead in the dry. It then bought a sea-type barge to float rigs and other equipment to the mounds for servicing the wells. (Incidentally, operators have never had an oil spill, etc., in 25 years of producing.) When Lake E. V. Spence was constructed, the same problem cropped up, so the district again duplicated with rock rip-rap protected mounds.

DIVERTING WATER SHED

Another pioneering effort was in avoiding a salt problem for Lake Thomas by plugging Bull Creek above a point of salt flow in the river, and cutting through a hill to divert the good flow into Lake Thomas. Later a diversion works, using basically the same pattern, was installed at Colorado City to divert the salty normal low flow from the river and much of this was later disposed of in oil field repressuring activity. Two years ago, another scheme was completed to block the entry of salty water above Big Spring into Beal's Creek, a main tributary.

Another venture in which the district scored a first for main supply line operation was in recapturing lost pipeline capacity. On the assumption that algae in the line had reduced pipeline flow from Lake Thomas by two million gallons a day. The district pre-chlorinated the water, and presto, the full flow began to course through the pipes.

Another area of pioneering was in recharging wells in Martin County (nearer point of heavier demand) during the winter with water from Lake J. B. Thomas. Some termed this "putting water in the bank" to meet summer peak loads.

IMPROVED TASTE

When lakes got low many years ago, the district

The windmill wheel, painted a vivid yellow against a walnut stained paneled wall, may be one of the most striking things about the directors room at the CRMWD headquarters, but there are a number of more functional features.

One is the recessed chalk board at the opposite end of the room, which is used for illustrations and information during meetings. Also, this contains a screen, which may be pulled down for projection of movies or slides as the occasion warrants. The room contains a total of five tables which not only will accommodate the directors, but if the need arises, a total of some 35 persons with work space.

pioneered in "sowing" the area surrounding the intake at Lake Thomas with copersulfate to reduce the algae, and it appeared to improve taste of the water perceptibly.

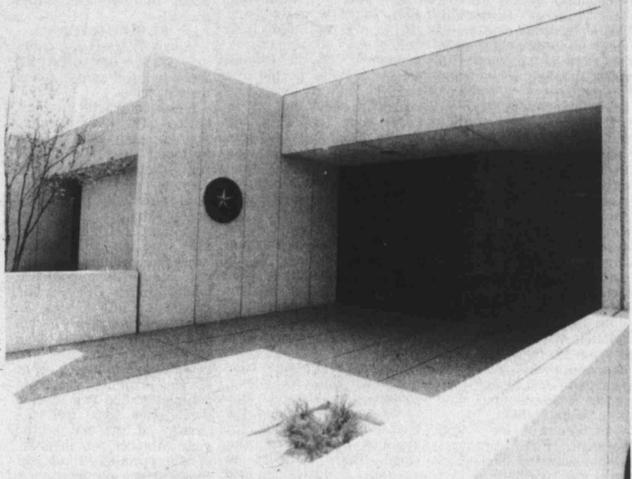

The latest pioneering has been done on the weather front.

Spurred by drought, the district five years ago began attempts at modifying the weather by seeding certain cumulus cloud cells in a target area above Lake Thomas and Lake Spence. None can say whether this had resulted in increased precipitation, but records do show five years of successive above-normal rainfall, something that never happened before.

What can be said is that it resulted in the State of Texas and the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation getting interested in the experiment. The state has engaged an independent concern to make a scientific analysis of the district's seeding operations. Last year, the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation picked Big Spring as the southern anchor for its extensive Hoplex modification project, which will get into the potential of "warm" clouds as opposed to the "cold" cumulus types.

Anti-Pollution Efforts Preceded Era Of Ecology

Long before the voices of ecologists were raised, the Colorado River Municipal Water District was fighting the battle against pollution.

Had it not done so, the mainstay of its reserves — Lake E. V. Spence — might contain such a concentration of chlorides as to make it unpotable.

The Texas Water Rights Commission had this in mind when it first granted the district a permit in 1958 for a second lake with the provision that the district first demonstrate an ability to mitigate the salt pollution on the Colorado River.

The district had had some experience in getting around the problem when Lake J. B. Thomas was impounded. Engineers moved the dam upstream from an original location, then recaptured most of the Bull Creek drainage area by means of a diversion canal, thus avoiding salt intrusion. But when the new lake (E. V. Spence) was proposed, this proved to have been only a delaying action.

Several studies and efforts were made to reduce the salt problem, and a meeting of oil operators was called here Feb. 11, 1961 with the result they promised to handle the situation. Ultimately, however, the Texas Railroad Commission forced the issue by banning disposal of oilwell brines in open pits.

This brine was ordered collected and disposed of in injection wells.

This, however, did not remove saltwater already in the ground formations leeching into the river, nor natural sources of salt.

But not all of the salt, problem was on the Colorado. Another serious one was on Beals Creek, which catches the overflow (and to some extent the underflow) of a chain of playa lakes west of Big Spring. These had contents with chlorides of 20,000 ppm. or more.

The District two years ago spent another $175,000 to install two pumps at Three-Mile and Four-Mile Lakes, pump their contents back through six miles of pipeline to the Natural Dam salt lake 10 miles west of Big Spring. In time, officials believe the accumulated concentration will be cleared out and flood flow will be good water when it courses down Beals Creek.

Directors Come From Three Cities

Affairs of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, which serves the water needs of a large section of country between the Colorado and Pecos Rivers, are directed by a board of directors drawn from three member cities.

These are: Big Spring — Dr. Lee O. Rogers, John L. Taylor, Clyde McMahon Sr., and John Currie.

Snyder — Dr. John Blum, Rex D. Fields, W. A. McGlaun and Russell Yorgesen.

Odessa — P. C. (Cody) Harbour, J. L. (Dusty) Rhoades, H. S. (Duke) Sampson and James Perry.

Remarkably, two of the original members are still on the board. Harbour is its president, and Rhoades is still head of the key water rates committee. Dr. Blum is a vice president from Snyder and Taylor a vice president from Big Spring. Secretary to the board, although not a director, is Joe Pickle, Big Spring, who has held that post since the beginning of the district.

Aside from Harbour and Rhoades, original board members were from Odessa, Charles Perry and W. E. Bruce; from Big Spring, R. T. Piner, R. L. Cook, George White and George Mims. When Snyder was accepted as a member in 1951, its members were Lyle Defebach (the only member ever to serve at two separated intervals), R. A. Schooling (now an administrative assistant for the district), W. J. Ely, and James Rosser.

Others who have served on the board include, from Big Spring, Ward R. Hall, Willard Sullivan, Curtis Driver, R. W. Currie, H. W. Wright; from Snyder, Forrest Sears, William H. Wilson Jr., Lamven Stevenson and Gene Dulaney.

Over Dozen Cities Served

More than a dozen cities in this area depend upon the CRMWD in whole or in part for their water supplies.

Member cities, which contracted originally for all their supplies from the district, are Snyder, Big Spring and Odessa. Cities contracting for purchase of water are Midland, Stanton, San Angelo and Robert Lee. Satellite users being supplied by other municipal systems are Ira, Dunn, and Ft. Yvanna from Snyder; Coahoma and Sand Springs from Big Spring.

Staff Led By O.H. Ivie Helped Build System

A man who helped build the original CRMWD system today is its general manager.

He is Owen H. Ivie, who came here in 1951 with Freese & Nichols as a supervising engineer, and joined the district a year later. In 1959 he became assistant general manager and was made manager in April 1965 upon the death of Col. E. V. Spence, the first manager.

A native of Corsicana, Ivie grew up in Arlington, attended Southwestern University under the Navy V-2 program, majoring in math and physics. After the war he worked for the Texas Highway Department as surveyor, bridge superintendent, and on the district staff. From there he went with Freese and Nichols in 1949.

He earned his certification as a professional engineer while on the job, later headed the Permian Basin section of TSPE and was named the Basins "engineer of the year" in 1964. Not only did he watch over the initial construction, but he supervised the 1958 extensions and accomplished the "six months miracle" of getting water from Lake Thomas to Sun Oil 55 miles away. Similarly, he stepped into the harness, upon the death of Col. Spence, and worked out a compromise which opened the way to building of Lake E. V. Spence, then immediately pushed a west-end extension from Odessa to a wellfield beyond Monahans in Ward County. He also was obliged to master accounting and finance skills, which he applied in renegotiating major contract extensions of vastly more favorable terms for the district.

He has been on the water supply panels of Texas Water Conservation Association and TSPE and is a member of the Governor's Water Task Force.

He is supported in direction of the CRMWD operations by Paschall Odum, a Big Spring native and Texas A & M engineering graduate, as assistant general manager; R. A. Schooling, administrative assistant with special duties in recreation, parks and weather modification.

Others working out of the headquarters are Loy (Bo) Anderson, general superintendent operations; Melvin Thompson, superintendent maintenance; Kenneth Stephens, electrical superintendent; Humberto Padillo, electronics superintendent; Kenneth Huddleston, electrical assistant; Lee Herndon, general office assistant; W. H. Ross, auditor. The secretarial staff consists of Mrs. Sue Baker, secretary to the manager; Mrs. Stella Arnold, secretary; and Mrs. Pamela Manning, receptionist.

Deliveries Add To 256 Billion

In the first year that it delivered water to member cities, the Colorado River Municipal Water District produced 1.108 billion gallons of water.

For the next 20 years this was to climb steadily until in 1974 it crossed the 20-billion-gallon mark.

This will stand as a peak for at least a year or so, for unusually wet weather in 1975 reduced the draw to 8,855,000 gallons for the first half.

From the beginning through June 30, 1975, the district produced 256,052,083,000 (billion) gallons, or about 853,000 acre feet of water. This would be the equivalent of Lake E. V. Spence completely filled and Lake J. B. Thomas almost filled twice. Part of this total, however, came from wells used for peaking purposes.

Water sales naturally are the backbone of financial life for the district. From 1952 through the first half of this year, gross sales by the district amounted to $58,992,435. For the past three years sales have topped the $5,000,000 mark annually, and this year bids to repeat. Half of the water sales revenue has come within the past seven years.

Night Lighting For Building

While landscaping has been undertaken to make the new CRMWD headquarters building as attractive as possible by day, steps are under way to make it equally attractive by night.

Floodlights have arrived and soon will be installed to highlight the building after dark. These will accentuate the building from the FM 700 (south) side as well as the building front on East 24th. These will be operated by time clocks, and all wires for this and other purposes will be underground so as not to mar the beauty of the area.

HC Faculty To Convene

Howard County faculty members will gear up the latter part of this week for the beginning of the Autumn Semester.

Dr. Charles Hays, president, will meet with the faculty at 10 a.m. Thursday, outlining the goals and objectives for this year.

At 1 p.m. he meets with division heads, who in turn will work Friday with all faculty members in their divisions.

Orientation and registration will begin Sept. 2.

The second six-week term of the summer session concluded Friday.

Single Member Districts Fail To Solve Aims

AUSTIN (AP) — State Republican Chairman Ray Hutchison said Friday that the single member legislative districts carved by the last legislature eliminated the need of a federal court suit but did not solve the Texas Republican Party's ultimate aims for elected officials.

Hutchison announced that the party was withdrawing as a plaintiff in a federal court suit challenging multi-member legislative districts in nine urban counties. He said the new single-member districts for the nine counties "resolves the basic constitutional question."

"We feel that we have attained our basic goal of breaking up the state's urban counties into smaller districts whose elected representatives will truly reflect the citizenship of that district," Hutchison said in a statement. "The Republican Party participated in this legal action because the system of electing representatives 'at large' in complex urban centers was a blatant dilution of the voting rights of all citizens."

Hutchison said his statement did not imply that the GOP felt the district lines drawn by the legislature were fair or that they truly reflected community interests. "Truly equitable redistricting will not be achieved until Republicans and others who consider the public interest as paramount can ban together to block the 'gerrymandering' to which the people of Texas have been subjected for the last 100 years," he said.

Some Move Into Forsan

Between five and ten families moved into the Forsan school district, last week to keep their children enrolled in the Forsan schools.

A federal district court ruling, which the school district learned about nine days before registration day, stated that no students could transfer into the district on a high school level if it upset the racial balance more than one per cent.

Of the 24 families wanting to transfer into the district, the racial balance would have been upset by 2.1 per cent, according to J. F. Poyner, superintendent.

At the present time, Forsan has 90.7 Anglo students and 9.3 Mexican-American.

One family that lived out on the Garden City highway quickly moved its mobile home to this side of the line. A family that lived in Midway moved into the school district as did two families from the Silver Heels addition.

Others have been in the process of moving in either mobile homes or houses to Forsan, Poyner reported.

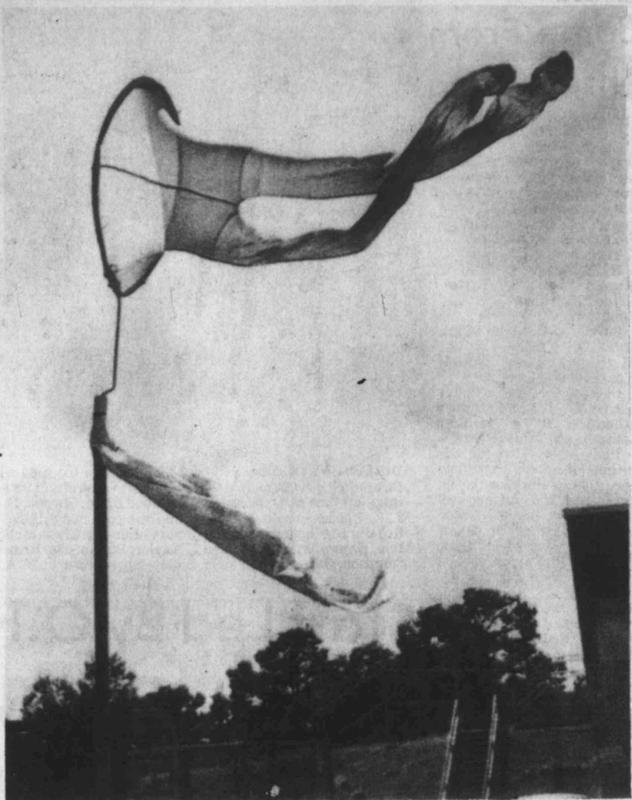

Dawson Budget Hearing Monday

LAMESA — A public hearing on the Dawson County budget will be held at the special meeting of Dawson County commissioners at 2 p.m. Monday.

Items on the Monday morning agenda include considering approval of grant for senior citizens; approval of the 1975 tax roll; hearing Jim Rapier on renewal of tax valuation contract; discussing repairing or replacing the courthouse roof; and acting on making a no-parking zone on the road east of the Sky View Drive Inn.

Good Report

Test reports following surgery on Dr. Emmitt McKenzie, Big Spring, school superintendent, were good Friday. Dr. McKenzie is recovering from kidney surgery at Malone-Hogan Hospital.

Webb AFB $44 Million Industry During Year

Webb Air Force Base's total cost of operating last fiscal year was $44,009,726, according to a Resource Statement just released.

Operating costs for Webb increased by $3.5 million over the previous fiscal year, largely due to the soaring cost of aviation fuel.

Commanded by Col. Robert A. Owens, the 78th Flying Training Wing is the primary unit at Webb. The base is one of 15 bases belonging to the Air Force's Air Training Command. Webb could be considered one of the major industries in the Permian Basin, with assets totaling more than $128 million.

HOLDS LINE
The combined payroll for the base's military, Civil Service, non-appropriated fund and Base Exchange employees was $32,357,266, up nearly $1.5 million from the previous fiscal year. Locally budgeted operations and maintenance costs remarkably did not go up, but actually were $10 thousand less than during FY 1974. Despite significant price increases and dollar inflation, Webb held the line at $4,941,599 by better fiscal awareness by resource managers, instituting cost-saving methods and just plain "doing without."

Petroleum, oil and lubricant (POL) products are not budgeted locally and were not reported in last year's resource statement. But, POL expenses are a part of Webb's operating costs and are included in this year's total. During FY 1975, petroleum products used at Webb amounted to $6,700,861, a drastic jump of more than $2 million over FY 1974.

As of June 30, there were 6,673 people directly associated with the base, including 2,151 military, 694 Civil Service employees, 3,575 military dependents, 197 nonappropriated fund employees, 83 contractor personnel and 73 foreign students. These people live both on and off base and represent about one out of every four people in Big Spring. The total is 427 less than at that time a year ago, but due to normal fluctuations and not because of any significant reductions in authorizations. Actually, the base was overmanned at the closeout date a year ago, and was merely closer to its authorized strength on June 30 this year. The student pilot load was abnormally low as of the report's ending date, but this is increasing at the present time.

During the year, the base graduated 337 jet pilots, compared to 240 a year ago. Of these, 179 finished the Undergraduate Pilot Training (UPT) Program, which trains officers to assume duties and responsibilities as U. S. Air Force pilots. The remainder completed the Security Assistance Training Program which is a specially developed course for students from allied nations and takes approximately nine months to complete, compared to one year for the UPT Program. There were proportionately more foreign students trained in FY 1975 than in 1974, accounting for the greater total number of pilots trained.

FLYING HOURS
It took 71,629 flying hours in 55,923 aircraft sorties for Webb to fulfill its mission of training pilots.

Local contracts awarded during FY 1975 included approximately $3.8 million for food, $1.2 for supplies and equipment, $550 thousand for services and $1.4 million for construction, totalling nearly $7 million.

In the Construction area, $683 thousand in contracts were awarded for operations and maintenance projects, while Military Construction Program (MCP) items in progress totalled more than $4.3 million. The new Steven L. Bennett Dining Hall and cold storage buildings were MCP projects nearing completion and two airman dormitories were well underway at the end of the year. Another job involved nonappropriated funds of $40,400 for alteration and addition to the youth center. In the maintenance area, it took 1,239 engine changes during the year to keep the 83 Cessna T-37 and 74 Northrop T-38 aircraft flying. In addition, 584 modifications were done on the aircraft wings, flaps and spars by civilian contractors under Air Force supervision.

Other training on base saw 2,593 personnel attending traffic safety courses, 1,743 in race relations education and 2,039 in drug and alcohol abuse education.

OTHER ACTIVITIES
The base hospital had 684 admissions and 58,291 outpatient visits.

Paperwork to administer the various activities involved 4.6 million reproductions on 7,655 reams of paper published locally, and an additional 10 thousand forms distributed. Job and work orders for base civil engineers totalled more than 19 thousand, while there were an additional 19 thousand plus purchase requests handled by the Procurement division.

Among other statistics in the summary, Security Police reported a total of 4,177 private motor vehicles registered, plus 235 motorcycles.

The billing office accommodated 3,084 people, while the dining hall served 205,440 meals.

Astros Win Wild Contest

CHICAGO (AP) — Jose Cruz drove in five runs Saturday, three of them with a homer that capped a five-run eighth inning and carried the Houston Astros to a wild 14-12 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

The Astros, who battered five Chicago pitchers for 21 hits, jumped on Bill Bonham, 11-11, for five runs in the third inning. Rob Andrews' single, a walk and RBI singles by Bob Watson and Cruz preceded Doug Rader's two-run triple. Rader then scored on Jerry Davanon's single.

Andrews' double, Cesar Cedeno's single and Cruz' double gave the Astros two more runs in the fourth, they scored once in the fifth on singles by Davanon, Andrews and Wilbur Howard, then they made it 9-0 in the sixth on Cliff Johnson's 14th home run.

The Cubs erupted for six runs in the seventh inning, four of them on a grand-slam by John Summers, his first major league homer. The shot chased winner Jim York, 1-2.

The Astros came back with five runs in the eighth, one on Johnson's double and three on Cruz' fifth homer. The Cubs put together another six-run burst in the bottom of the eighth, two scoring on Don Kessinger's double, two more on Bill Madlock's triple and one on Rick Monday's 17th homer.

Red Sox Thumped

BOSTON (AP) — Bill Melton drove in three runs and Nyls Nyman hit his first major league homer Saturday to lead the Chicago White Sox to a 6-4 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Melton drew a bases-loaded walk from Rick Wise, 16-8, to force in a first-inning run, then he followed Ken Henderson's walk in the sixth inning with his 11th home run of the season. Nyman homered in the eighth inning.

Boston's injury-plagued catcher, Carlton Fisk, was sidelined for at least a week when he suffered a split knuckle on the ring finger of his right hand in the first inning, the result of a foul tip off Henderson's bat.

Lakewood Crowned

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Lakewood, N.J., bunched four hits for four runs in the second-inning and beat Tampa, Fla., 4-3 to win the first Little League championship tournament closed to foreign teams since 1956.

The victory was assured when Lakewood pitcher Robert DeConte, who had four strikeouts and allowed just one hit, fanned the final Tampa batter.

Lakewood had defeated Northridge, Calif., to qualify for the championship game. Tampa had defeated Davenport, Iowa.

Taiwan's domination of the Little League World Series in recent years was a main reason for the rule limiting this year's tournament to U.S. teams.

Foreign teams had won the series in seven of the past eight years, including five teams from Taiwan and two from Japan. The last time an American team won the series was in 1970 when another New Jersey team, the Wayne Little Leaguers, took the title.

Another Little League rule change allowed girls to participate but there were no girls in the baseball competition this year.

Teaff Pleased With Showing

WACO, Tex. (AP) — The Baylor Bears held a controlled scrimmage Saturday afternoon and Coach Grant Teaff said the defending Southwest Conference champions "are beginning to get the picture."

Teaff said he was pleased with the showing of his squad, but that there were "some rough edges that need to be worked off."

Wingback Aley Jackson of Dallas, moved from split receiver where he was an alternate starter last season, broke for one long run and quarterback Mark Jackson threw the ball well.

The Bears open the season Sept. 6 here against Mississippi.

SERIES OF MOVEMENTS New Gym Idea Is Spreading

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The way the schools teach physical education quickly converts most Americans into spectators, says a University of Texas PE expert.

Dr. Garland O'Quinn, professor of physical education and former Olympic gymnast, is experimenting with a new approach to change us into a nation of participants. He calls it "Developmental Gymnastics," and almost 1,000 children have enthusiastically somersaulted, balanced, cartwheeled and flipped under O'Quinn's guidance in university and city recreation programs.

In addition, hundreds of his former students and more than 3,000 teachers who have attended his workshops in several states are spreading his method into public schools.

As O'Quinn sees it, American schools have made sports less a way to educate the body's muscles than a sifting process "to find out who can reach the top." This, he believes, quickly eliminates 90 per cent of the population and has made the rest a nation of watchers, not doers.

"Oh, we want to participate—if it's easy," he said.

His approach, he says, is designed to let a person find out what his or her body can do, not what it cannot do, then add new abilities a step at a time.

"You begin with 100 per cent success—start with a movement everyone can do, such as jumping up and down. Then you work on a series of movements that relate to that particular pattern.

TRAINING CONVENIENCE — Phil (Doc) Irwin, Big Spring athletic trainer, shows one of the modalities offered to a Steer athlete, ultra-sound heat.

STEER FOOTBALL

Emphasis Placed On Safety First

By CLARK LESHER

Placing emphasis on safety, Phil (Doc) Irwin steps into his fifth season as Big Spring High's full-time athletic trainer.

A graduate of UTEP with a degree in physical education and biology, Irwin is a member of both the National Athletic and Southwest Trainer Association.

Doc, as he is called, rates Big Spring's training facilities as good if not better than some district schools. The Steer room, located in the school's gym, is equipped with such modalities as an ultra-sound machine, whirlpool, training and taping tables.

Doc is assisted by six student trainers. They include: Gene Froman, Jeff Courington, Terry Welch, Scott Lawlis, Steve Hodges and Jack Young. Froman is a senior, Courington, Welch, Lawlis and Hodges, juniors and Young, a sophomore.

Since Doc has come on the Steer scene, three students have graduated and three received trainer scholarships. One of the graduates, Pete Rhymes, will serve as student trainer at Howard College this fall.

Doc's prime responsibility is to take care of the needs of the individual athlete and rates this year's squad as one of the healthiest he has observed.

The conditioning program at Big Spring must rate an A-plus as only 1.5 per cent of major operative injuries occur annually.

"No injury is neglected," said Doc. Normal first-aid treatment is administered by Doc and his staff. Should a possible serious injury occur, Dr. J. W. Cowan, team physician, is consulted immediately.

Training rules are observed by Head Coach Bob Burris as he schedules as many night practices as possible in order to beat the summer heat.

The trainer staff attends all football practices, regular games, home and away. Out-of-town games are attended by Doc and senior-ranking assistants.

Doc keeps a training kit packed and ready for travel at all times. He takes inventory periodically and replaces items as needed.

Through a football season, Doc figures 50 cases of tape are used. On a normal practice day 10 Steer ankles and four knees are usually wrapped. "But we don't turn any athlete down that want to be taped," he added.

In regard to the published statement regarding pep pills given athletes, Doc said, "I believe it's an overrated fact, and strictly taboo for high school trainers."

Doc emphasized he would not even give a Steer athlete an aspirin if he thought it would psych him up for a game.

Besides watching over football, Doc and his staff cover home and away basketball contests and all other home UIL-sanctioned sports. Assistant trainers are assigned to JV home and away contests as well as other road athletic varsity contests.

Brad Stevens, Mike Storen, Billy Banks and Rusty Henderson.

Forsan will encounter his second and last scrimmage Friday against host New Home. Game time is 4 p.m. The Buffs open the season at home with Klondike, Sept. 12.

Giants Nip Mets, 2-1

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Tom Hall walked Mike Sadek with the bases loaded in the bottom of the ninth inning Saturday, giving the San Francisco Giants a 2-1 victory over the New York Mets.

Jerry Kosman took a two-hit shutout into the bottom of the ninth and led 1-0 on Del Unser's fourth-inning home run.

But Gary Thomasson's leadoff ground-rule double that bounced over the right field fence chased Kosman.

Pirates Routed

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Cincinnati erupted for eight runs in the fifth inning, seven of them unearned because of a two-out error by second baseman Rennie Stennett, and Johnny Bench hit a three-run homer in a four-run eighth as the Reds routed the Pittsburgh Pirates 12-7 Saturday.

Cincinnati sent a dozen batters to the plate in their halfhour top of the fifth. Cesar Geronimo, Darrel

Chaney and pinch-hitter Terry Crowley hit successive singles for the first run of the chaotic inning. Pete Rose flied out and Ken Griffey grounded out to put runners at second and third. Joe Morgan followed with a routine grounder that bounced between Stennett's legs, scoring Chaney and Crowley to trim the Pirates lead to 4-3.

Reliever Kent Tekulve walked Geronimo to force in another run, Ken Brett took over and uncorked a wild pitch that scored Perez and Doug Flynn capped the burst with a two-run single off first baseman Bob Robertson's glove.

Margin Sliced

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ted Simmons' walloped a tie-breaking grand slam home run in the fifth inning and the St. Louis Cardinals went on to defeat the Atlanta Braves 7-2 Saturday night.

The homer was Simmons' 15th of the season and second grand slam, fifth of his career. The blow enabled the third-place Cardinals to reduce their margin to three games behind Pittsburgh.

Yankees Power By California

NEW YORK (AP) — Graig Nettles and Bobby Bonds slammed three-run homers in the first two innings and Ed Herrmann and Rick Bladt added solo shots, powering the New York Yankees to a 12-4 victory over the California Angels Saturday.

Nettles hit his 17th home run of the season off loser Bill Singer, 7-12, with two out in the opening inning following a walk to Sandy Alomar and Thurman Munson's single.

Bonds walloped his 24th homer in the second inning after a walk to Rich Coggins and a single by Fred Stanley. Herrman belted his fourth of the season in the fourth inning and Bladt delivered his first major league homer in the sixth off Andy Hassler.

DEFENDING CHAMPS HIGH ON LIST

Aggies Picked To Bruise Way To Title

DALLAS (AP) — Let's get down to some cold, hard logic in deciphering the code to this year's Southwest Conference football champion.

In 1973, the Baylor Bears didn't win a SWC game and charged back to win their first title in 50 years last season in the celebrated "Miracle on the Brazos."

Using that formula, our conference champion detector goes "buzz" when we point it in the direction of Fort Worth, Tex. home of the Texas Christian Horned Frogs. TCU didn't win a SWC game either in 1974. In fact, Texas set a modern day record with an 81-16 rout of the Frogs.

Doesn't logic give us TCU as our 1975 champion? Nope! Luckily, the SWC is back to the age when you don't use logic anymore to pick a champion. It's been logical the last seven years or so to pick Texas because the conference wasn't particularly balanced.

This year it appears one of five teams could win it. However, TCU isn't one of them. A realistic goal for the Horned Frogs would be to have a .300 season.

The Texas Aggies, brimming with muscle, speed and experience, are the universal choices to bruise their way to the title.

They are going to get enough television exposure (Illinois, Texas, Arkansas) to get gamma ray burns.

But the truth is Texas, Arkansas, Baylor and perhaps Texas Tech could jolt the Aggies who took the gas when the conference title was on the line against the Longhorns last November.

Texas will be potent offensively, Arkansas has size and determination, Baylor will have its best defense under Grant Teaff, and Texas Tech should unveil some offensive fireworks under new Coach Steve Sloan.

Southern Methodist with a fine offense but a green defense doesn't figure.

The Aggie defense is already rated rougher than Russia in winter. It was second nationally last year and most of the headhunters return like All-Americans Ed Simonini at linebacker and Pat Thomas at cornerback.

Here are the 1975 selections (Un-guaranteed):

1. Texas A&M (If the Aggies can quit fumbling the football)
2. Texas (Should a suspect defense jell watch out for a Darrell Royal surprise party)
3. Baylor (The talent is there but so is a schedule including Auburn, Michigan, Texas, Tech, and Arkansas on the road)
4. Arkansas (The Razorbacks have been overdue since 1965)
5. Texas Tech (Somebody will have to make tackles on defense besides noseguard Ecomet Burley)
6. SMU (High octane offense and a Swiss cheese defense)
7. Rice (Throwing chairs through windows only can work X number of times)
8. TCU (Play soft violin music for the Purples one more time)

Here are the 1975 selections (Un-guaranteed):

SUNUP TO SUNDOWN Fish-A-Rama Docks Monday

A Fish-A-Rama will come to Howard County Monday at a location approximately one-half mile north of the Hi-Noon Moto-Cross entrance on IS 20 and Farm Road 700.

Proprietors are Robbie D. Fuga and family.

Open from sunup to sundown, the individual pays a nominal fee to fish plus so much per pound upon reeling in the catch.

The 110x65 foot dirt tank was stocked with 2,000 pounds of channel catfish Friday morning. The fish were transported by a special water-equipped truck from Water Resources of Dequeen, Ark.

Ice-cold natural water from an underground spring is piped to the tank which is some five feet in depth. The tank contains approximately 1,500 fish.

If the weather becomes too chilly for channel cat surroundings, trout will then take its place. The Fish-A-Rama will be open to the public the year around.

Fuga plans in the near future to landscape the area.

MORE SIGNUP NEEDED FOR FOOTBALL LITTLE LEAGUE

The Football Little League program is about halfway home on its target for an eight-team league.

With 100 or more lads already signed, a second sign-up period is set for 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. Monday in Steer gym. Boys in the fifth and sixth grades are invited to come and hear about the program, and if they like it, sign up to play.

A schedule will be set up for play at Blankenship Field Monday and Tuesday from 6 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. This is a tackle football program for younger boys before going into junior high programs.

Sponsor of the Football Little League is the City Parks and Recreation Department. Those who want more information should call Bob Burris, Big Spring High athletic director, Jerry Foresythe, parks and recreation director for the city, or Marvin Wise.

Iranians Tackle BSHS With Little English, Big Smiles

By MARJ CARPENTER
Soraya and Sohayla Salehbirjandi laughed a lot about the entire procedure.

They were good natured about an interpreter who understood them a little bit, a reporter who understood them not at all, and a Cuban photographer wanting them to smile.

Soraya is 14 and Sohayla is 13, and they are the daughters of Major and Mrs. Salehbirjandi at Webb Air Force Base. Major Saleh, as they call him at the base, is the liaison officer for Iranian pilot trainees at Webb.

The family is from Meshad, Iran, and the members have never before been away from home.

West Texas is not so different in climate from the hot, dry area from which they come.

Iran is a fairly cosmopolitan country for the East, with movies and Cokes. However, the customs, religion, language and every day living are entirely different, they explained.

The two girls were good students in an Iranian girl's school, where they wore official school uniforms. Now they are thrust suddenly into the world of Big Spring High School without even the advantage of knowing what is being said.

NEW SOPHS

They have been assigned at a sophomore level by the administrators, due to their abilities in mathematics and other subjects. They had even learned to type in Iran, but face an entirely new keyboard in typing here. Yet typing is one of the courses for which they are registered.

Their sisters, Homera, 10, and Ramona, 6, are in the sixth grade and first grade at Marcy, and the youngest one may learn English the fastest.

Assima Syed, whose father is from Iran and her mother from the United States, graduated from Big Spring High last year. She can interpret some for the girls although she does not speak Farsi like they do. She at least understands their customs and can communicate. But she is leaving soon for Texas Tech.

SPECIAL PROJECT

The home economics department plans to help the girls (they may join FHA) as a special project. The girls are taking course in sewing and food preparation. However, even the foods are strange.

Assima said the sisters had tried hamburgers and chicken fried steak but did not like the steak. When taken over to a world globe to pose for a picture they happily found their homeland on the map. The photographer asked them to smile.

They looked at him blankly, but when he grinned and pointed to his mouth, they comprehended and laughed.

LIKE SPORTS

In their country, they were active in sports, such as volleyball so they will probably enjoy P.E. At least they can work off a little steam and frustration without having to use English.

They read English at a sixth grade level, which is as good as many other high school students read. However, reading and comprehending are two different things.

But the two girls were pleased, happy and enthused about the project.

They are trying to adjust to Big Spring High and the chances are that most of Big Spring High students will go out of their way to learn to communicate as new friends.

LEARNING TO COMMUNICATE — Sohayla Salehbirjandi, on the left, and her sister, Soraya, on the right, were being helped by Assima Syed who graduated from Big Spring High School last year when they entered school here. The sisters speak no English and Assima leaves soon for Texas Tech so they will face some extra problems in their studies at school.

BICENTENNIAL PLAQUE — Holding the Big Spring bicentennial plaque created by Louis Chamberlin is Ms. Ruby Bruns of D & M Garden Center. The garden center, along with other Big Spring businesses, will stock the plaques for purchase by the public. Ms. Bruns is standing by two wall hangings crafted by Chamberlin.

Girl Pilot Likes Battling Fires

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A teen-aged woman has been in the cockpit of aircraft used this summer in battling some of the West's largest forest fires.

It takes strength and lots of concentration, says 19-year-old Megann Streeter, but she says she likes flying the four-engine, DC6 "slurry bombers" better than driving on a highway.

"You've got a job to do just like the men do, and if you can do the job, they don't say much," said the Salt Lake City woman, who flies with a charter airline operated by her father, John Streeter.

"It just takes time and age. I started flying when I was 13, and you can't solo until you're 16, can't get a private license until you're 17, or a commercial until you're 18."

She was a copilot on a DC6 used to drop fire retardants on a 13,000-acre fire in the Tonto National Forest of central Arizona and smaller blazes around the state.

Later, she was sent to Southern California when two major fires and a host of smaller ones broke out.

Miss Streeter, who has logged 1,200 air hours and holds a commercial multi-engine pilot's license, says there aren't as many crashes as is popularly believed. She adds, "There aren't as many maniacs in the air as there are on the ground...."

"Flying forest fires tends to be a little more hazardous. You're flying low to the ground, and up canyons."

In a strong wind or an emergency, Miss Streeter said she uses both arms and legs to operate the copilot's controls.

When she's not flying, Miss Streeter often is on one-hour flight standby.

"It's a little hard on dating," she said. "Every time you go out, they call. It's almost guaranteed."

The job has long hours and lots of travel, Miss Streeter said.

"I don't think too many would like it — man or woman," she added.

But there's a special feeling about being airborne.

"It's just kind of a feeling that you're more alone than on the ground," Miss Streeter said. "And you're working with people that know what's going on."

MASTER WOOD CARVER — Louis Chamberlin must hand stain and highlight the molded plaques he receives from the California-based plastic company that produces them. He is seated at his working area located behind his home at 2908 Cherokee.

Wood Carver Creates Art From West Texas History

Louis Chamberlin is concentrating his wood carving talent on creating art pieces for the bicentennial year. He has designed and marketed a Texas-shaped plaque commemorating Big Spring's natural history, picturing the front view of the big spring and other representations of important influences on the history of Big Spring.

Chamberlin carved the original bicentennial plaque from wood and a mold was made from it by a California-based plastic company. The company sends the plastic plaques to the artist for staining and highlighting. The finished plaques are available to the public for $7.50 at Big Spring Hardware, the Phillips Truck Stop, Ramada Inn, Airport Grocery, the 87 South Grocery and D & M Garden Center.

Plaques commemorating other cities' history are planned as soon as Chamberlin gets the Big Spring momentos completed. The artist has sketched a rough plan for a large wooden wall hanging picturing the big spring and a train of the type that came through Big Spring in the 1880s. The smoke billowing from the train's stack extends across the top of the drawing forming the words "Big Spring, Tex." The artist hopes to be commissioned by the city to carve this wall hanging. Since leaving Dow Chemical Co. in Midland in 1969, Chamberlin has made his wood carving hobby into a profession. The Chamberlins moved to Big Spring in 1972 and live at 2908 Cherokee.

Chamberlin has been carving and working with his hands since he was eight years old. He also likes to paint and build furniture. Most of his paintings are in oil, and in the 1967 Midland Art Show a painting of ducks on a pond with a dead tree stump in the background took a third place award. He built his own gun cabinet from solid mahogany and adorned it with carving. In it he keeps his guns that have decorated stocks.

Much of his carving has been done on gun stocks and pistol grips. He starts with blank rifle stocks or pistol grips and carves whatever design his customer wants on it. Usually a hunting or outdoor scene is carved, but Chamberlin said he would put anything on them that his customers want.

Chamberlin has also made hand-carved wooden knife scabbards. He owns two, one holding a 125-year-old knife with an ivory grip and the other holding a wooden knife he designed.

He has also produced candle holders, decorative wall plaques, western figurines, furniture, a grouse statue and picture frames. Among his most unusual frames are a large wooden family tree and a fire hydrant — shaped frame for a pet's picture.

An interesting outgrowth of his wood carving talent has been the design and making of ventriloquist dummies. He has made three, and has designed a spring and steel trigger system for moving the jaws and eyes.

Chamberlin's creativity also sparks ideas for practical inventions. He has designed a toilet tissue holder featuring an outhouse front. It also has a slide-in loading rod decorated on the sides with corn cobs. Chamberlin has also made a toilet tissue storage unit shaped like an outhouse.

The ideas for most of Chamberlin's art work comes from a vast knowledge of the history of the United States and especially West Texas. He said that when he gazes at the West Texas countryside visions of the past fill his mind. Carving those visions out of wood is his hobby, his profession and his art.

MRS. KENNETH CAMPBELL III

Couple Marry In Home Service

Miss Mary Alice Terrazas was wed to Kenneth Campbell III in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Terrazas, 1001 South Bell, Saturday evening. The Rev. Darrell Baldwin of Canyon First Baptist Church conducted the ceremony with Mrs. Gail Suttner, organist. Arch candelabra and pedestal arrangements of blue and white carnations enhanced the setting. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth J. Campbell II of Aspermont. The bride was attired in a formal gown of white silk organza over peau de soie enhanced with imported Venise lace motifs overlaying the fitted bodice and outlining the low portrait neckline. The lace extends over a white satin ribbon at the waistline. The full skirt flows into a wide chapel-length train embellished at the hemline with two deep ruffle flourishes trimmed with rows of the floral lace. The long sheer lantern sleeves have lace motifs banding the sleeve caps and adorning the sheer full sleeves gathered onto deep cuffs. The cathedral-length layered veil, bordered with lace flowers, was attached to a matching Camelot cap holding the lace trimmed fingertip veil. Mrs. S. E. Cone Jr. served as her sister's matron of honor. She wore a floor-length blue dress of peau de soie designed with a waist band and full skirt. The bodice featured a V-neckline and long full sleeves ending in a cuff. Attending the bridegroom was Lynn Patterson of Lubbock. The bride is a senior student at Texas Tech University majoring in business administration. Campbell is an orthopedic surgical technician employed by Dr. Ray E. Santos in Lubbock. Upon returning from a trip to Austin, the couple will reside at 3510 43rd St. in Lubbock. Following the ceremony, the couple was given a reception in the home of the bride's parents. Crystal and silver appointments were used on a table laid with a blue silk underlay and crocheted cloth. An arrangement of blue and white carnations and candles centered the table. Mrs. Clara Ferrel, a grandmother, attended from out-of-town.

Couple Wed In Lubbock

Miss Barbara Joann Perkins became the bride of Milton Lee Jones in a candlelight ceremony Saturday morning in the Broadway Church of Christ Chapel in Lubbock. Charles Mickey officiated with vocalists, Miss Mary Leslie Degg and Miss Laura Pierce. The altar was enhanced with candelabra entwined with greenery and orchids. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Perkins, Cypress, and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Jones, 3000 Parkway. The bride is a graduate of Cypress Fair High School, Houston, and is a music education major at Texas Tech University. Jones is a graduate of Big Spring High School and TTU with a bachelor of general business. He is employed as an associate college minister of Broadway Church of Christ Bible Chair in Lubbock. Upon their return from a trip to Colorado, the couple will make their home in Lubbock.

MRS. MILTON LEE JONES

The bride was attired in a gown of Victorian design in lace over chiffon. The bodice was fashioned with a high neckline and double layers of chiffon on leg o' mutton sleeves ending in lace cuffs. Her veil of illusion was embellished in lace and fell from a ribbon accented headpiece. She carried a bouquet of white daisies, baby mums, pink sweetheart roses and gypsophila. Mrs. Marilyn Hultquist attended her sister as matron of honor, and wore a dress of violet crepe in A-line design. The bodice was overlaid in lace and featured leg o' mutton sleeves and a V-neckline. The bridemaids were Miss Nancy Irvine, Houston, and Miss Lynne Dowell, College Station. They were attired in dresses identical to the matron of honor's in aqua and pink, respectively. Kent Fish of Big Spring, served as the best man and groomsmen were Dennis Dodson of Post and Clifford Cone of Lovington, N.M. After the ceremony, the couple was honored with a reception in the fellowship hall of the church. Silver candelabra were used on the table with the bouquets of the bride and attendants adorning the table. Serving were Miss Stephanie Davis, Mrs. Arlene Alexander, Miss Joni Handley, Miss Stacy Caudle, Miss Patti Bauman, Miss Brenda Johnson and Miss Jan Green. Relatives attending from out-of-town included Mrs. Ray Perkins Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tilley Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Jarrell Jones, Gainesville; and Mr. and Mrs. Doc Lott, Kermit. The bridegroom's parents, hosted a rehearsal dinner Friday evening at K-Bob's Steak House in Lubbock.

Little Sugar In Old-Timer

An old-time dessert that needs little sugar.

TAPIOCA

1 cup water
 Juice of 1/4 of a large lemon (1 tablespoon)
 2 medium apples or 1 very large apple
 2 tbsps. quick-cooking tapioca
 1/4 cup sugar
 Dash of salt
 1 tsp. butter or margarine
 1/4 tsp. vanilla
 Into a medium saucepan pour the water and lemon juice. Pare apple, core and slice thin — there should be 1 1/2 cups; add to lemon-water. Add remaining ingredients except vanilla; bring to a boil stirring gently several times. Simmer uncovered until tapioca looks clear and apples are cooked. Gently fold in vanilla. Nice served warm sprinkled with freshly ground nutmeg. Makes 3 or 4 servings.

Credit Women Met Thursday

The local branch of the Big Spring Credit Women International met Thursday noon at the Settles Hotel with Mrs. Bill Draper presiding. Charles Wegg, administrator of the Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital spoke to the group about the hospital's desire to give patients the best care possible for the lowest fee. The next meeting will be at noon Sept. 4 at the Settles Hotel.

Be Miserly With Wax

Be miserly with floor wax. If you have wood floors that require a buffing wax, apply on a thin coat. Depending on traffic, two or three waxings a year with frequent buffings in between should keep a floor shiny. Learn the patch technique, says Dorothy Humphrey, a consumer information specialist for Johnson Wax. Where traffic is extra heavy and dulls the shine, apply a patch of wax.

 Coahoma High

Dian Stallings
 Texas Tech

My name is Kim Read. I attend Coahoma High School where I am a Senior. This year the fashion at Coahoma will be the layered look with pullover sweaters and long-sleeved blouses. The dress length has dropped below the knee and skirts and overall-type jumpers will be worn frequently. The long coats will be very popular when the weather gets cold not only because of looks, but because of warmth. To summarize the new look, it's a softer, more feminine approach to dress.

Hi, I'm Karen Shirley. The style at Coahoma this fall is the below-the-knee length. Both skirts and dresses will be worn more this year because of the new length. The Big Shirt look coupled with the Washed Out jeans, gives a casual and comfortable appearance. Platform shoes, with the open toe and heel, will also be very popular this year.

I'm Dian Stallings and I'll be a senior at Texas Tech this fall. I think the soft feminine look will be much more prevalent on campus, even the blouses to wear with jeans are softer.

The knee length skirt with a soft blouse and scarf will be just right for class, club meetings and dates.

For parties, the long dress is lacy and ultra feminine.

MRS. KELLY NEIL TATE

Newell-Tate Wed In Dallas Church

The Ferguson Road Baptist Church of Dallas was the setting for the Saturday evening wedding of Miss Gail Ann Shields and Kelly Neil Tate. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Wanda Boomhower 2345 Kingswood in Dallas. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Newell Tate of Tarzan.

The Rev. Ross Blasingame of an Abilene Church of Christ officiated at the ceremony. Nuptial music was furnished by Ms. Pam Ross, organist, and Ms. Debbie Munn and John Dickson, vocalists.

The bride was attired in a dress of voile over white styled with an empire bodice and princess skirt with a long train. The gown featured a high collar with an insert of old fashioned lace at the neckline. Her veil of illusion was attached to a Juliet cap accented with lace and seed pearls. She carried an arrangement of blue and white carnations.

Maid of honor was Miss Karen Boomhower, sister of the bride. Miss Laurie Tate, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Carol Dickson were bridesmaids. They wore floor-length gowns of powder blue crepe fashioned with empire waists and princess skirts. The dresses featured lace yokes and full lace sleeves gathered into a ruffle at the wrist.

Terry Tate served his brother as best man with Mark Tate, Tarzan, also a brother of the bridegroom, and Chipper Coggin, Stanton, acting as groomsmen. Ushers were Tim Tate, brother of the bridegroom, and Jimmy Rogers.

The bride graduated from Skyline High School in Dallas and attended Gallaudet College in Washington D.C. She is presently attending Dallas Baptist College. The bridegroom graduated from Big Spring High School and also attended Gallaudet College. He is employed at Ziegler Photography laboratory in Dallas. The couple will reside in Dallas.

Before leaving on a wedding trip to Red River, N.M. the couple was honored at a reception in the church. A blue cloth with a white net overlay covered the refreshment table. Centering the table was an arrangement of yellow, blue and white carnations. Serving were Ms. Debbie Miller, Ms. Mary Alice Zabolosky and Ms. Joyce Albee.

Relatives from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Carr, Sherwood; Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Tate, Tarzan; Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Shanks and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Pinner, both of Big Spring; and Mr. and Mrs. David Hobbs and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Nieland, Abilene.

Nuptials—Mr. and Mrs. Raphael Harris, Hurst, formerly of Coahoma, announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda Annette, to James Royce Rumpy, son of Jerry Rumpy and Ms. Virgie Rumpy, both of Dallas. The couple will be married Oct. 24 in the home of the bride-elect's aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Huskey, Arlington.

Style Hint

It's not necessary to change hem length every time fashion writers predict a change. An important rule to remember is that what looks best on the body is the proper length.

Focus On Family Living Clarify Beef Names

By SHERRY MULLIN
Have you ever gone to the supermarket and found yourself confused by the many different names of ground beef products? Or maybe you've wondered why hamburger has so many different names.

Each of these names on the label of a package of ground meat has a distinct and different meaning. Knowing the right meat to buy for the dish you plan to serve will save you aggravation and money. It will also result in more delicious and satisfying family meals.

For example, hamburger can contain up to 30 per cent fat. (This may include the addition of fat over and above the fat which is attached to the meat being ground.) Extenders such as non-fat milk, soybean products, cereals and water may not be used if the product is labeled as hamburger.

Although ground beef may also contain up to 30 per cent fat, it will frequently contain less than this amount of fat. This is because only the fat which is on the beef being ground may be used for ground beef.

Because of the higher fat content, hamburger of the higher content may tend to shrink more in cooking than ground beef. Both hamburger and ground beef are made from boneless chunks of less tender beef, along with less popular cuts as neck meat, flank, shank and trimmings from boned roasts. While hamburger or ground beef may be used as meat patties, they're best when served in combination with other items such as meat loaves, casseroles, meat sauces or Mexican dishes.

Ground chuck is meat that comes from an animal's shoulder. Chuck is more popular as a cut of meat than cuts used in hamburger or ground beef. So it's usually more expensive. It also contains less fat than hamburger or ground beef (15 to 25 per cent fat) and so shrinks less in cooking. Because of this, it's especially good for use in ground meat patties.

Ground round is simply round steak that has been ground. Because ground round contains less fat than hamburger, it may not be desirable for use in patties. However, those on low-fat diets might find the ground round to be a wise choice. Ground round is usually best used with other ingredients that add moisture to the meat. Again, meat loaves, casseroles and meat sauces would be good uses for ground round.

Ground sirloin comes from the popular sirloin steak. Because of this, it has the rich, fine flavor of steak and costs more than other ground meats. Ground sirloin makes a truly delicious meat patty.

Collins-Dillingham Wedding Held In Methodist Church

The Wesley United Methodist Church was the setting Saturday evening for the wedding of Miss Paula Darlene Collins and William Henry Dillingham. The Rev. Jene Greer, pastor, officiated as nuptial selections were performed by Miss Annabeth Deats, organist and pianist, and Miss Carrie Wheeler, vocalist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Collins, 1728 Purdue, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Dillingham, 1905 Wasson Rd., No. 408. The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and Howard County College School of Vocational Nursing. She is employed at Abilene State School. Dillingham is a graduate of Andrews High School and attending Abilene Christian College in Abilene, where the couple will make their home.

For the wedding, the bride chose to wear a gown of taffeta and silk organza in empire design. The bodice and sleeves were of embroidered lace and featured a scooped neckline. Her three-tiered lace veil of white silk illusion fell from a lace pearl accented headpiece. She carried a cascade bouquet of white glameillas and angel feathers centered with yellow roses tied with pirot ribbon.

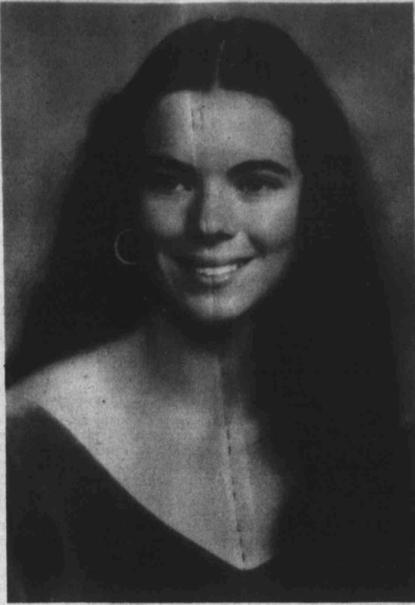

Mrs. Charles Campbell of Lovington, Ill., attended her sister as matron of honor, and Miss Terri Sledge was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Darla Kington and Miss Tracy Prewit, both of Pecos. They were attired in floor-length dresses of green and white knit. The empire bodice was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline. They carried yellow and lime green camellias on white fans tied with matching streamers.

Attending the bridegroom were Don Dillingham, brother of the bridegroom, as best man, and the groomsmen-ushers were Roy Prewit of Pecos and Buddy Collins, brother of the bride. Larry Kington of Pecos also served as an usher. Ring bearer was David Kington.

Prior to leaving on a trip to Sweetwater, the couple was honored with a reception in the fellowship hall. The table was laid with a tulle skirt over yellow trimmed in greenery and white bells. An arrangement of yellow and white daisies with a candle centered the table. Serving were Mrs. S. B. Perry Albuquerque; Miss Janet Wagner, San Antonio; Miss DeLynnnda McMillian; Mrs. Roy Prewit and Mrs. Larry Kington, both of Pecos.

Guests attending from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Allman, Abilene, grandparents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Prewit Jr., Pecos, grandparents of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Ake, Abilene; Roy Payne, Austin; Mr. and Mrs. H. Doty, and Tommy Payne, all of Pecos; Mr. and Mrs. Don Payne, Houston.

MRS. TERRY DEAN JONES

Miss Spraberry Wed Friday

Miss Sherre Jean Spraberry and Terry Dean Jones exchanged wedding vows in a Friday evening ceremony held in the Church of God. The Rev. O. D. Robertson officiated.

Miss Spraberry is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Spraberry, 1304 Colby. Jones is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Jones, Rt. 1.

Wedding selections were provided by Mrs. June Robertson, organist, and Miss Jeanna Robertson, vocalist.

The bride chose to wear a full-length empire-styled gown of sherbet green doubleknit. Matching buttons extended down the bodice of the dress which was designed with a standup collar and long, full sleeves gathered into wide cuffs. She wore a garden hat trimmed with green ribbon streamers. She carried a nosegay of feathered carnations, daisies and gypsophila.

Mrs. Ann Johnston was matron of honor and wore a pale green dress of checked doubleknit styled identically to the bride's gown. She carried a daisy nosegay.

Gary Daniels served the bridegroom as best man.

The couple was honored at a reception in the church where Miss Rhonda Carr, Mrs. Terrie Jones and Miss Dianna Jones served refreshments from a table covered with a green cloth and a white lace overlay, and centered with the bride's bouquet.

Mrs. Jones will be a senior at Big Spring High School this fall. The bridegroom attended Coahoma High School and is employed at Sand Springs Sand and Gravel. They will reside in Sand Springs.

La Gallina Bridge Tally

The La Gallina Bridge Club met Friday at the Big Spring Country Club. First place went to Mrs. Diane Gelatka and Mrs. Sharon Sinica, and second went to Mrs. Paschal Odom and Mrs. Sid Hanslik.

The next meeting will be at 10 a.m. Sept. 5 at the BSCC with championship games in play. Due to the Labor Day holiday, there will not be a meeting Aug. 29.

Couple Wed In San Angelo

Mr. and Mrs. Greg Gossett are on a trip to Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, following their wedding Saturday evening in the chapel of First United Methodist Church, San Angelo. The Rev. Merle Waters, pastor, officiated.

The bride, nee Leslie Ann Bass, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bass, San Angelo, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gossett, 545 Hillside Drive.

Mrs. Greg Holt of Austin was her sister's matron of honor, and Robert Gossett of Dallas was his brother's best man. John Bass, brother of the bride, and George Harrison were ushers. Both of San Angelo.

The bride is presently attending Angelo State University and is employed by San Angelo National Bank. Gossett, a graduate of Big Spring High School, Southern Methodist University and the University of Texas. He is an attorney in San Angelo, where the couple will make their home.

Following the ceremony, the couple was honored with a reception in the home of the bride's parents.

Relatives attending from out-of-town included Greg Holt and Miss Sarah Smith, both of Austin; Mrs. Robert Gossett, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gossett, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Gossett, Mr. and Mrs. J. W.

Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. James Bass, all of Dallas; Miss Ellen Gossett and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Johnston, all of Houston; Mr. and Mrs. Delaine Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Tarbox, and Bill Tarbox, all of Lubbock; Dr. and Mrs. James Gossett, Rankin; Miss Enid Gossett, Canyon; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Webb, Post; and Scott Smith, Dennison.

Hazlewood-McCampbell Wed In Candlelight Ceremony

Nuptial vows were exchanged in a Saturday evening candlelight ceremony by Miss Pamela Hazlewood and Dennis Ray McCampbell in the Belvue Church of Christ in Stanton. The Rev. Glen Sargent officiated, with vocalist Mrs. Glen Brown.

Candelabra entwined with pink gladioli, carnations, roses and gypsophila enhanced the altar.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Hazlewood, Rt. 1, Stanton, and Mr. and Mrs. Chester C. McCampbell, Midland.

The bride was attired in a gown featuring a sweetheart neckline fashioned with merrimist and a standup collar. The leg o' lamb sleeves ended in a point over the wrist with cuffs embellished with seed pearls. The empire skirt was accented with appliques and seed pearls, which extended down the front. Chantilly lace ruffles formed a chapel-length train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held by a cap enhanced with Chantilly lace and seed pearls. She carried a cascade arrangement of white sweetheart roses, pink carnations and gypsophila.

Mrs. Mike Curry served as her sister's matron of honor, and was attired in a floor-length dress of Quiana knit. The halter style dress was designed with a flowing skirt and a matching ruffled cape.

Bridesmaids were Miss Lois Howard, Stanton, and Miss Lanetta McCampbell, Midland, sister of the bridegroom. They were attired in dresses of white with pink floral, identical to the matron of honor's and carried long stemmed roses.

The best man was Mike Folger, Canyon, and groomsmen were Mike Curry, Midland, brother-in-law to the bride, and Richard Barnes, Houston, brother-in-law to the bridegroom. Ushers were Dale Bohanon, Stanton; Curtis Duncan and Gary Midkiff, both of Midland.

Robert Curry of Midland served as the ring bearer, and altar taper lighters were Terri Graves and Stacy Payne, both of Stanton.

MRS. DENNIS RAY McCAMPBELL

The bride is a graduate of Stanton High School and is employed as a nurse's aid at Martin County Hospital. McCampbell is a graduate of Midland High School and is assistant manager of Wolfe's Nursery in Midland. Upon returning from a trip to San Angelo and San Antonio, the couple will reside in Stanton. A reception honoring the couple in the Caprock Auditorium followed the ceremony. The table was laid with a lace cloth and centered with candelabra.

Serving were Miss McCampbell, Mrs. Richard Barnes, both sisters of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Mike Smith.

A dinner Friday evening was hosted by the bridegroom's parents in their home.

Dear Abby

Private Eye Is Nice, But Will Not Marry One

DEAR ABBY: I just met a very attractive man. (I'm divorced, and he has never been married.)

My problem is that he is a private detective, and I just can't see myself married to a man who makes his living snooping around, spying on people, following them and eavesdropping on their conversations.

He told me a little about his line of work, and at first I was fascinated, but after a while I started to wonder what kind of a man would do that for a living.

I like his personality, and he treats me like a queen, but his profession bothers me. Am I wrong to feel the way I do?

FUSSY
DEAR FUSSY: I imagine there are many women who would think a private detective's work is very glamorous and exciting. But if it bothers you, turn him loose.

Miss Grant Marries Saturday

Miss Peggy Sue Grant became the bride of Bill Brian Billingsley in a candlelight ceremony Saturday evening in the First United Methodist Church with the Rev. William R. Fleming officiating.

Miss Grant is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Grant, 1803 Morrison. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Wilma Billingsley of Houston and the late E. A. Billingsley.

The couple stood before an arrangement of a cross and two candles flanked by tiered candelabra and baskets of yellow gladioli and blue daisies. Nuptial selections were provided by Charles B. Parham, organist.

The bride was attired in a floor-length princess-styled gown of satinessa and Chantilly lace. The dress featured a high collar and long tapered sleeves ending in petal points over the hands. A panel of Chantilly lace extended down the front of the dress. Her elbow-length veil was of Chantilly lace. The bride carried an arrangement of gardenias, stephanotis, gypsophila and bridal lace.

Serving as maid of honor was Miss Jodi Kate Grant, sister of the bride. The bridal attendant was Mrs. S. D. Halket, Houston, and Miss Joy Lynn Painter, College Station, was junior bridesmaid. The honor attendant's floor-length gown was of blue flopped dacron batiste and featured a sweetheart neckline and puffed sleeves. She carried a bouquet of yellow daisies and gypsophila with yellow streamers. The bridal attendants' dresses were similarly styled to the maid of honor's dress, except in yellow. They carried bouquets of blue daisies and gypsophila with blue streamers.

Dean T. Eshelman, Houston, was best man with Dr. Mark A. Jamison, Houston, serving as groomsmen and William Painter, College Station, acting as junior groomsmen. Ushers were Jerry D. McWilliams, Conroe; Derwood McWilliams, Jal, N.M. Sherwood McWilliams, Big Lake; and Charles Vernon.

Derwood and Sherwood McWilliams, twin uncles of the bride, were altar taper lighters.

Prior to leaving on a trip to the bridegroom's home in

MRS. BILL BRIAN BILLINGSLEY

Pittsfield, Mass., the couple was honored at a reception in the church. The reception table was covered with a blue lace cloth and centered with a silver candelabrum and the bride's bouquet. Silver and crystal appointments were used. Serving at the table were Miss Debbie Vernon, Miss Jeri Booth, Miss Sandra Dickenson and Miss Susan Smith, who also registered guests.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and Texas Woman's University School of Nursing in Houston. She will be stationed at Ft. Devens, Mass., as a 1st Lieutenant in the United States Army. The bridegroom is a graduate of Bellaire High School in Houston and Texas A&M. He served as Navy Explosive Ordinance Disposal and Diving Officer for three years during the Vietnam conflict. He is presently a computer design engineer for General Electric Ordnance Systems in Pittsfield, Mass., and is a lieutenant in the United States Naval Reserve. The couple will reside in Turner Falls, Mass. Relatives attending from out of town were Mrs. J. A. McWilliams, Merkel, grandmother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. E. S. McWilliams, Big Lake; Mrs. E. D. McWilliams, Jal, N.M.; Mrs. J. D. McWilliams, Conroe; Mrs. W. P. Vaughan, grandmother of groom, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Vaughan Sr., Mr. Paul Vaughan, all of Katy; Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Mitchell, Mr. Steve Halket, all of Houston; Mr. and Mrs. John Painter, College Station; Mrs. Mona Cordell, Ms. Ruby Grant, Terry Rematore, all of El Paso; and Mr. and Mrs. Gaylon Hobbs, Chula Vista, Cal.

Can Thawed Food Be Refrozen?

COLLEGE STATION — Whether or not to refreeze defrosted food is a problem plaguing many homemakers — especially during hot summer months, Mrs. Mary Sweeten, foods and nutrition specialist, noted this week.

"Under certain conditions, frozen foods thawed before they're needed may be safely refrozen to prevent loss," the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said. "Fruits, vegetables and meats may be refrozen if they have not completely thawed, or if they were thawed for a short time and remained in a household refrigerator."

"However, thawing and refreezing usually results in loss of quality and flavor." Refrozen vegetables may become soft and mushy. Such fruits still may be satisfactory for cooking, although they've lost their raw fruit appeal.

"The process of thawing and refreezing in itself does not make fruit, vegetables or meats unsafe — but thawed foods spoil more rapidly than fresh foods and may become unsafe to eat."

"Foods probably not worth refreezing are those that reached temperatures of 40-45 degrees F. after passing through the slow temperature changes that occur in a home freezer when operation has stopped."

She explained that because low-acid foods, such as vegetables and meats, spoil rapidly after they have thawed and reached a temperature above 45 degrees F. it isn't advisable to refreeze them.

ENGAGED — Leonard H. Kunkel, Lamesa, announces the engagement and approaching marriage of his daughter, Beverly Diane, to Boyce A. Gatewood Jr., son of Boyce A. Gatewood Sr., Cleburne. The future bride is a graduate of Lamesa High School and attended East Field Jr. College. She is employed as an admitting clerk in East Town Osteopathic Hospital, Dallas. The future bridegroom is a graduate of Cleburne High School and attended North Texas State University. He is the business manager of East Town Osteopathic Hospital. The couple will be married Oct. 4 in the Grace Lutheran Church in Lamesa.

Benham-Hyatt Rites Held In Afternoon Garden Ceremony

Sgt. and Mrs. Rick Lee Hyatt are on a wedding trip to Kentucky and Indiana following their Saturday afternoon wedding in the home of Sgt. and Mrs. Don Riley, 406 State. The Rev. Joe Riley of Mesilla Park Baptist Church, Las Cruces, N.M., united the couple in a garden ceremony before a golden arch flanked by baskets of white and yellow gladioli.

The bride graduated from Big Spring High School and will attend Howard College in the fall. Sgt. Hyatt graduated from Connersville Senior High School and will attend HC.

Mrs. Leland Hyatt, mother of the bridegroom, attended from out of town. The couple will make their home at 204 Washington Blvd.

Poultry, Good Summer Buy

COLLEGE STATION — Turkeys are sporting good values this week with frozen turkeys available in most markets at reasonable prices, one market observer reports.

However, fryer chicken supplies are less plentiful due to a heavy demand, resulting in slightly higher prices.

In spite of that, Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist, termed fryer chicken "a good protein food choice" and said consumers can find a few special values on whole fryers and mixed parts.

"Although eggs remain an economical protein choice, their prices are higher," she added.

Nectarines are a fruit counter highlight — with a greater supply, lower prices and excellent quality, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, specialist said.

She also recommended early crop apples now on the market — for pies and applesauce.

"Several different plum varieties are at their peak, and prices are moderate."

"Other fruit choices are peaches, cherries, watermelons, grapes, bananas and oranges — and Hawaiian pineapple which excels in sweetness."

Vegetable buys this week include broccoli, purplehull, cream and blackeye peas.

Also, carrots, yellow and zucchini squash, corn, cucumbers, green peppers and cabbage.

Dairy features concentrate on low-fat milk, sour cream and cheese slices.

Miss Perry Given Bridal Shower

Miss Lana Jean Perry, bride-elect of Lynn Dickey, was honored at a shower held Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Jimmy Morehead, 704 Highland Drive. The couple will be married Sept. 19 at the 14th and Main Church of Christ.

Hostesses gave the bride-elect an electric skillet. Hostesses were Mrs. Morehead, Mrs. Hank McDaniel, Mrs. Owen Ivie, Mrs. Walter Stroup, Mrs. Jimmy Jones, Mrs. Bob Carlite, Mrs. Jay Cunningham, Mrs. J. B. Cushing, Mrs. David Haight, Mrs. Duke Pierce, Mrs. Alan Kernodle, Mrs. Judy Willett, Mrs. Tom Harris, Mrs. Jim McWhorter and Mrs. Norman English.

Corsages of yellow roses and copper daisies were presented to the honoree, her mother, Mrs. H. B. Perry, and her future mother-in-law, Mrs. Roy Lertman.

Refreshments were served from a table laid with a champagne-colored cloth enhanced with embroidery. An arrangement of yellow spider mums, yellow roses, copper daisies and gypsophila centered the table. The out-of-town guest was Ms. Donna Tonn, Midland.

MR. AND MRS. VIRGIL CLARK

Clarks Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Clark will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary at a reception from 2 to 5 p.m. Aug. 31 in the community room of First Federal Savings and Loan. All friends are invited to attend.

Hosting the reception will be the couple's two sons and their families, the Norman Clarks of Stafford and the Weldon Clarks of Kansas City, Mo. Also hosting will be Richard Clark and his family of Houston, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Clark's son.

The former Miss Edith Bennett and Virgil Clark were married Sept. 9, 1925 at Gail, where they made their home until 1937. Mr. Clark was engaged in farming and ranching. In 1937 Clark joined the United States Border Patrol, serving 31 years at a Patrol Inspector and two years as Immigrant Inspector. He was stationed in San Benito, McAllen, Edinburg, Kingsville, Harlingen, El Centro, Cal., Wilcox, Ariz. and Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

While in the Border Patrol, Clark was interested in target shooting with a pistol. He participated in matches in Texas, California, Arizona, Florida, Pennsylvania and the Republic of Mexico. He was the pistol and rifle instructor while in California and Del Rio, Texas.

Retiring Oct. 31, 1969, the Clarks moved to Big Spring from Del Rio in January 1970.

The Clarks attend Wesley United Methodist Church. They are members of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees and are active in other senior citizen groups and various hobby clubs. Mrs. Clark actively participates in arts and crafts and belongs to the Busy Bee Hobby Club.

Volunteers are needed from 3:30 to 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday to answer the phone and take care of other business at the center office while programs are in progress.

Anyone wishing to assist in any of the programs or office, may contact Mrs. Boadle at 7-2203 or Mrs. Clyde Thomas at 7-6272, or call the Westside Com-

Smith-Darden Vows Solemnized

The wedding of Miss Shirley Elaine Smith and Johnny Dean Darden was held in the Coahoma Church of Christ at 8 p.m. Friday with the Rev. Ralph Beistle, pastor, officiating.

The wedding party stood before an arch covered in greenery centered with a sunburst arrangement of white and pink gladioli flanked by candelabra.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith, 104 N. 4th St., Coahoma, and Joe Darden, Culp St., Coahoma, and Mrs. Johnie Roberts, Tucson, Ariz.

Carrying a cascade bouquet of white camellias, stephanotis and lily of the valley centered with pink rosebuds tied with long streamers, the bride was attired in a formal gown of white satin. The empire bodice was styled with white layered chiffon long sleeves cuffed with seed pearls. Her veil of illusion flowed from a headpiece accented with seed pearls.

Miss Rita Ann Smith of Coahoma, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a floor-length pink knit dress fashioned with a fitted bolero jacket with puff sleeves. She carried pink camellias on a white fan, which was tied with satin streamers.

Steve Foster, Coahoma, served as the best man, and ushers were Larry Don Darden, brother of the bridegroom, and Kenneth Cashier, Coahoma.

Both the bride and the bridegroom are graduates of Coahoma High School. The bride is employed by the City of Coahoma, and Darden is employed by Bill's Engine Service of Odessa. The couple will make their home at West University St. in Odessa.

Prior to leaving on a trip to Ruidoso, the couple was honored with a reception at the church. The table was laid with floor-length lace over white cloth and was centered with brass candelabra and the bride's bouquet. Serving were Miss Diana Darden, sister of the bridegroom, Julie King, Miss Sherry McCutchan and Miss Paula Dodson, all of Coahoma.

Attending from out-of-town were Paul Smith and Mrs. Zora Lea Hughes, both of Ranger; Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Carmichael, Ackerly; and Bill Schoggins, Odessa.

Railmen Met

The Retired and Veteran Railway Employees met Thursday evening at the Kentwood Center for a salad supper and business meeting. An interlude of music was provided by Smokey Burgess and his Ramblers.

A. J. Allen, Jr., vice, presided over the business. New members are Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Culpepper and Mrs. Albert Davis. Visiting were Mrs. Billie Edmiston and Alvin Smith.

Hostesses for the Sept. 18 meeting will be Mrs. P. L. Bradford and Mrs. W. C. Bell.

CHILDREN'S CORNER Peanut Butter, Worm Make Tasty Reading

BY SUSAN CONLEY
CHILDREN'S LIBRARIAN

Along with school comes reading those dull math and science books.

Why not spice up your back-to-school reading with some of these exciting books?

Katie is beginning sixth grade. The other girls in her class have suddenly become boy crazy but not Katie John. She refuses to wear lipstick and swoon over pictures.

Katie starts a Boys-Haters of America club. Soon she is the only member. Read "Honestly, Katie John" by Mary Calhoun to find out what happens.

Have you ever wondered "How to Eat Fried Worms"? This book by Thomas Rockwell will tell you everything. Billy has accepted a dare that he can't eat 15 worms in 15 days. Fifty dollars is at stake.

Alan and Joe try every trick to keep Billy from eating the giant night crawlers they catch. Billy thinks up hundreds of ways to eat them. He puts ketchup and mustard on them and smothers them in peanut butter sandwiches.

Be sure to read this book to find out who wins. (Not recommended reading before dinner!)

"Taking Sides" by Norma Klein is about 12-year-old Nel. Her parents have just divorced. She and her little brother Huey are going to live with Dad.

This means giving up a bedroom to herself and adjusting to Dad dating another woman. "Taking Sides" is a very realistic look of how children view divorce.

Narc Acts In Movies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When Eddie Egan was a policeman, he spent a good deal of his time trying to look like something else.

Now he isn't a policeman, but he is spending a lot of time acting like one.

Egan, the former New York City detective whom Gene Hackman portrayed in "The French Connection," is costarring in a new NBC-TV cop series, "Joe Forrester."

It is another in a string of police roles he has played in films and television since winding up 20 years on the force in December 1971.

Besides "The French Connection" and "Badge 373," about his own career, Egan has appeared in "Mannix," "Police Woman," "Metro Man" and "Night of Terror."

As an undercover agent he adopted identities to hide the fact that he was a policeman. He took to role-playing in his social life, too, so that he would not put off people who might get uptight if they knew an officer was in their midst.

Now he is playing the part of a uniformed cop, and it sometimes makes him feel like he never left the police force.

WEARS SUNDRESS UNDER A SHADE TREE — Sally Jones finds respite from the August heat by wearing a sundress under a shade tree. She is a sophomore at Howard College where she is majoring in business.

Caan Plays Veteran In Rollerball Sport

James Caan, who won an academy nomination for his performance in "The Godfather," was the only choice for the veteran in the future sport of "Rollerball" (R).

"In addition to being one of the industry's most exciting young stars, Jimmy is the only actor I know with the natural athletic ability our story demands," the producer-director said.

Caan was born across the East River from Manhattan in Sunnyside, Queens, a neighborhood he describes as "not very conducive to the arts."

After attending Michigan State University and Hofstra College, he decided on acting.

His professional debut was launched in 1961 with a nine-month run of an off-Broadway production of "La Ronde," augmented by several television parts on New York series such as "Naked City."

Cake Jumping Birthday Suit-Able For Birthday Party

DALLAS (AP) — Pssst! Want a buy a bachelor party cake? Raise $2,000 and go see Joe.

"Of course, that price doesn't include the girl," explains specialty baker Joe Frank, "but when I make a cake like that, I caution them to be careful about the kind of girl they use."

There's more to cake jumping than meets the eye, says Joe.

"You get an amateur and she ends up submerged in $2,000 worth of icing."

It's happened, says Joe, recalling a July sales convention.

"The men came to me and said it was a surprise for the boss. We built a cake that when put together around a cylinder stood about six feet high," he said.

"We had a hollow place in the cylinder that was big enough for a woman to crouch down. It ended up costing them over $2,000. We put in a fake part on one side that would enable the woman to walk down."

The occasion was the boss' birthday. He expected a woman to pop out. But he didn't expect it to be his wife. And she didn't expect the reaction from the audience.

Unnerved, she forgot which side had the fake stairs and sank down in three layers of pure cake.

Baking such cakes is not uncommon, said Frank. He said he does about 50 or 60 a year and customers don't bat an eyelash at prices up to $2,000.

What is surprising, he said, is that so many women will order the "convention" cake for their husbands.

"But one woman called me later, furious when the night of the party the girl jumped out of the cake and did a strip tease," he said.

"I asked her what she thought she was paying $800 for, a ballet number? Rich people are funny."

Frank says perhaps the most popular girl to jump out of one of his cakes was exotic dancer Marty Kim, who once commanded $2,500 for a local country club caper.

MORE ON PENSION ROLLS, REQUIRING MEDICAL AND NURSING HOME CARE

How World War II Veterans Fared Past 30 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was 30 years ago this Labor Day that Gen. Douglas A. MacArthur stood on the deck of the battleship Missouri in Tokyo Bay and ended the 18-minute Japanese surrender ceremony by proclaiming: "These proceedings are now closed."

As he turned his back on the cluster of 11 Japanese, who were dressed in military uniforms and formal cutaway attire, and walked away the sun dramatically burst through the heavy overcast that had shrouded the scene.

Those jammed around the veranda deck, where the signing took place, suddenly became aware of the steady drone of many aircraft. As the drone grew into a deafening roar we watched an armada of 400 B29s and 1,500 carrier planes parade into sight, sweeping over the 383 American and 18 British ships in the bay.

So ended World War II, 1,365 days after Pearl Harbor.

The anniversary of the surrender on Sept. 1 U.S. time, and Sept. 2 Tokyo Bay time, will be observed Labor Day at the MacArthur Memorial in Norfolk, Va.

MacArthur's widow, Jean, will be on hand for the reception the night before. She will also attend the ceremony on Labor Day featuring a speech by Gov. Meldrin Thomson Jr. of New Hampshire, a parade of Army and Marine troops, veterans organizations and other patriotic groups.

As we stood on the Missouri's deck that Sunday 30 years ago, it had been a long road to Tokyo Bay for those of us who joined MacArthur in Melbourne, Australia, back in March and April of 1942 to help him fulfill his promise of "I shall return."

For others of the 16,535,000 men and women who served in the U.S. armed forces in World War II there had been other hard, long roads — in Africa, Europe and other parts of the Pacific and Asia.

The veterans of World War II are greying, with only a few listed by the Veterans Administration in their 40s, with most in the mid-50s. Over 1,000 are 85 or older.

They are dying faster too, down to 13,654,000 last Dec. 31, which was 206,000 less than the previous year.

But a surprising number of World War II veterans are still on active military duty, despite the fact that most career military people retire by the time they have 30 years service.

This would indicate that most now in uniform joined late in the war. However, the current top military leader, Gen. George S. Brown, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, had already become a colonel serving at a training command near Fort Worth, Tex., Sept. 1, 1945, after duty with a bomber command in England.

Almost all the other three and four star generals and admirals now on active duty saw World War II service.

The Army couldn't come up with an exact figure of how many World War II veterans are still in uniform, but the Air Force estimated that as of June 30 it had 265 officers and 870 enlisted men, with possibly 300 more for a total of between 1,110 and 1,400.

The Navy figured it has 3,400 still on duty past the 30-year period, but its records didn't break this down between enlisted men and officers.

The Marines have the most complete picture of their 681 World War II veterans as of

Jan. 1: 50 generals, including all major generals or higher and 15 of the 34 brigadier generals; 189 colonels, lieutenant colonels and majors, 9 captains, 33 warrant officers.

The biggest concern of the Veterans Administration is that the World War II veterans are beginning to move in increasing numbers onto the pension rolls and requiring medical and nursing home care.

The VA budget has climbed steadily the past seven years to $16 billion this year.

Figures compiled by the VA show that of $239 billion spent on all veterans for all purposes by the agency or its predecessors $113 billion — almost half — was spent for World War II veterans.

Dr. Robert H. Felix, one of the VA's chief outside advisers on aging, has projected that by 1990, the number of veterans 65 years and over will increase to about seven million, a 350 per cent increase. This would include some veterans of the Korean war who were not in World War II.

Dr. Paul Haber this month was appointed head of an expanding VA program for the aging veterans that includes medical, nursing and rehabilitation services as well as extensive geriatric research. He predicts that by 1990, every other American male over 65 years of age will be a veteran.

Most of the millions of veterans, however, probably will not need to call on the VA for care because their work careers will provide for their needs in retirement years.

But 30 years ago about half of the veterans were turning to the VA for help in returning to civilian life with GI education benefits and home loan guarantees.

By the time the World War II education program ended 7.8 million veterans had gone to school under the GI bill, a 50.5 per cent participation. This, however, is not up to the 59.3 per cent of Vietnam era veterans.

Home loan guarantees to World War II veterans total 5.7 million. And they are still taking such loans out since the program reopened for them in 1970.

There are now 1.3 million World War II veterans drawing compensation for service-connected disabilities. This total is the total of survivors receiving dependency and indemnity compensation for service-connected deaths is 223,318 and climbing.

But World War II veterans are coming onto the pension rolls faster than any other veterans, with their total now 576,898. Survivors on the pension rolls total 825,904 and are increasing rapidly. This is paid in relation to other income.

The VA is opening several new cemeteries to help handle more of the veterans as the older cemeteries reach capacity. And the burial payments for veterans also will climb.

In addition to the World War II veterans eligible for benefits there are 1,000 from the Spanish American War, 963,000 from World War I, 5.9 million from the Korean conflict, 3 million from the post-Korea era and 7.5 million from the Vietnam era.

Oil Tanker Crewman Dies

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — One of two crewmen hospitalized after a British oil tanker struck an oil drilling platform in the Gulf of Mexico and burned last week died Friday.

Spokesmen at John Seeley Hospital here said Gudmund Veting, a Norwegian whose age and address were not known, died of burns without regaining consciousness.

Still hospitalized in fair condition was Francisco Dageman, 25.

Forty crewmen were rescued from the Globtik Sun after the collision Aug. 15 and six were reported missing. Searchers found three unidentified bodies aboard the burned-out ship Sunday.

Coast Guard planes have searched the Gulf of Mexico for signs of other survivors.

The ship, which had been carrying 350,000 barrels of crude oil from the West Indies to Baytown, Tex., was towed to a point 25 miles south of here where a search party boarded it Sunday.
