White Says Food 'More Important'

By MARJ CARPENTER

COLORADO CITY — "We worry about losing our status in the world. America will always be a power as long as they produce the most food in the world. The ability to produce food is more important than munitions and manufactured goods," Texas Agriculture Commissioner John White told a large crowd at a farm tour in Mitchell County Thursday.

Some 350 persons who had just completed a tour of area farms or come from local businesses for the noon barbecue heard White say that AFL-CIO President George Meany deserves the "Cowpile-of-the-Month Award" for his opposition to sale of American wheat to the Russians.

White told the group of laughing farmers that he really hated to take the award away from U. S. Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz, "grand advocate of fuzzy-headed national economic policy," but that "Meany is now champion contender because of his opposition to the shipment of foreign grain sales."

MUST SELL IT
"Our farmers have produced two-thirds more grain than we can possibly use at home. And we'll have 1.4 billion bushels more wheat this year than we can possibly eat our way out of. We must sell this surplus production or our farmers face economic ruin," White continued.

He predicted that farmers would curtail their production next year, with an accompanying rise in bread prices, if they are buried under a huge surplus of grain.

He also pointed out that labor gets 17 cents for the work that goes into preparing a 37-cent loaf of bread, while the farmer gets four cents.

CROPS LOOK GOOD
He told the group that "crops look better in Texas this year than I have seen them in a long time. Our farmers can produce. We get a lot of satisfaction out of making a good crop. But we're not just growing it, we also have to sell it," he told the farmers and their wives in the audience.

In an interview prior to the speech, he also discussed the plight of the Texas rancher. "They are still hurting," White said. "They've quit demonstrating and killing cattle because they did that to get the attention of Washington. They got their attention, but it didn't do them any good. Nobody has been listening to them."

TAX PROBLEMS
White also discussed the "tax problems of the Texas rancher. Some of them are going to be taxed out of business in this new tax evaluation process imposed on the schools. There may be some tax relief in the coming new constitution. But I can't say I'm altogether for that constitution. The same clause that helps farmers and ranchers also bales out the big timber companies," White added.

G. B. Hardee, president of the chamber, welcomed guests to the luncheon and Woody Anderson, agriculture chairman for the chamber, introduced the commissioner.

Head table guests also included State Rep. and Mrs. Elmer Martin, Rev. and Mrs. Bob Ford, David Marion, FHA county supervisor; Van Mills, district conservationist for the SCS, Don Stewart with the ASCS and Bob Benson, county agent.

SPECIAL GUESTS
Other special guests introduced included Dist. Judge Weldon Kirk, County Judge Bill Carter, James Campbell, city manager; Mayor Larry Hammon, County Commissioners Paul Hunter and Mark Vest, T. L. Finely, Sweetwater Production, and Merle Blasingame.

White brought down the house with his comparison of himself as a child with a lunch bucket at school to today's farmers.

He told of how they used to trade their sandwiches of homemade bread, sausage and ham, along with a fried pie to the city kids for store-bought bread with a thin slice ofologna and two store-bought cookies.

"The town folks were getting the best of us then and they're still doing it," he laughed.

The crowd each guessed a predicted number of bales of cotton for the county this year on the back of their barbecue tickets.

The guesses ranged from a low of 25,000 to 65,000. Last year's total was a disappointing 15,000 and the previous year was 51,000. The county agent said he did not think that the cotton would reach 50,000 bales due to cotton wilt and root rot, along with insect problems that plagued them in a wet July, but "we do look like we will have a good year."

It's Game Of Numbers

No longer are students registered by name or alphabetically. Nowadays they register by the last number on their social security number.

Howard College registrations begin Tuesday for sophomore students, with all whose SS numbers end in 67-99 registering between 1 and 2 p.m. Those with numbers 33-66 register between 2:00 and 3:00 p.m. and those from 0-32 register from 3:00 to 4 p.m.

Evening students register from 6:00 to 8:30 p.m.

On Wednesday, freshmen are even more closely regulated in their registration. Those with Social Security numbers ending in 90-99 register from 8-9 a.m., followed by 75-89 at 9-10 a.m.; 60-74 from 10-11 a.m., and 45-59 until noon.

After lunch, 30-44 register between 1 and 2 p.m., 15-29 between 2 and 3 and 0-14 between 3 and 4. Again evening students register from 6-8:30 p.m.

Hurricane Caroline Zips Toward Texas Coast

By the Associated Press

Hurricane Caroline churned through the southwest Gulf of Mexico today toward the Mexican coast.

The storm was about 275 miles east-southeast of Brownsville, Tex., and moving in a westerly direction.

Caroline was upgraded from a tropical storm to a hurricane late this morning. Warnings were issued for campers and fishermen along the Coastal Bend, the Lower Texas coast, and shores of Northeast Mexico.

The storm took shape Thursday off the Yucatan Peninsula and headed toward the Texas coast. By late this morning its course shifted more to the west and was aimed at the area near Tampico, Mexico.

At 11 a.m. an advisory from the National Hurricane Center in Miami, Fla., placed the storm's center at latitude 23.5 north, longitude 94 west.

Counseling preparations by persons from Aransas Pass to Brownsville, the National Weather Service advised those on beaches to withdraw to areas with paved roads. Rising tides and waves were expected to put the water level back to the sand dunes.

Official forecasters

CLOUDY

Clear to partly cloudy through Saturday. Highs today and Saturday, low 90s. Low tonight, upper 60s. Southerly to southwesterly wind 14-24 miles per hour this afternoon. Southerly and 5-15 m.p.h. tonight.

warned small craft not to venture into the open Gulf. They said warnings might be issued during the day for the Middle and Lower Texas Coast.

At the Miami hurricane center, director Neil Frank said Caroline "could strengthen and it wouldn't be a major surprise if it did—but we don't see any reason for it to explode."

DALLAS GOP CONVENTION Ford, Rockefeller Death Threat Probed

DALLAS (AP) — The Secret Service said today it is investigating reports of a death threat against President Ford and Vice President Nelson Rockefeller who are scheduled to appear here next month.

"Yes, we are continuing our investigation. We have spoken so far to one man," said J. Walter Coughlin, agent in charge of the Dallas Secret Service field office.

An anonymous telephone caller told The Associated Press a plot was conceived against Ford and Rockefeller primarily as the outgrowth of the police slaying Monday night of a Bishop College student from Nigeria.

The caller said a group of 20 to 25 persons is involved in a plot to kill Ford and Rockefeller when they appear before the National GOP Woman's convention. Rockefeller is to appear here Sept. 12 with Ford to address the convention the next day.

Coughlin said he would relay his information to Washington later in the day. "We don't know that much Expressing concern that the holiday would send persons to the beaches without due caution for the storm, Frank added, "We're concerned that people don't just charge off down to the coast. A lot of people like to go to Padre Island that parallels the Texas coast south of Corpus Christi. They get away from the world and fish. They should weigh this storm heavily in their plans."

Aside from prospects raised by the tropical storm there was little change in the Texas weather outlook. Thursday night's thundershowers—limited largely to parts of the Panhandle and areas near the Louisiana border—dried up by early morning. Although skies were clear in many areas, there were patches of high clouds near the coast and some early morning fog here and there.

MERELY PROTECTING HER

Tarzan And Jane Were Not Lovers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When four former screen Tarzans get together to celebrate the birthday centennial of creator Edgar Rice Burroughs, you can expect a lot of yelling.

Johnny Weissmuller, now 71, threw back his head, cupped a hand to his mouth and bellowed. The "Aaaaleeoo!" that came forth was not quite up to the ape man yell he made famous in 12 Tarzan movies.

Nor were the yells attempted by Buster Crabbe, James Pierce and Jock Mahoney, who participated in a Burroughs centennial luncheon Thursday at the opening of the North American Science Fiction Convention.

Joining them were three former Janes — Eve Brent, Joyce McKenzie and Louise Lorraine. Crabbe and Weissmuller said Tarzan and Jane were not lovers — he was merely protecting her.

Weissmuller disputes claims that his Tarzan yell was a blend of various voices and sounds.

"My parents came from Austria and I used to yodel with them when I was a kid," he said. "When it came time to do the yell I just yodeled."

The former Olympic swimmer was the sixth movie — and first talking — Tarzan. Pierce, 71, was the last silent Tarzan.

Weissmuller contends the fictional hero will go on forever. And from the look of things, he may be right. Burroughs created Tarzan in 1911 and there is no end in sight.

Besides the 26 Tarzan books, which are back in print, the ape man is being exploited in hundreds of products on the market, from Frisbees to clothing to toys to jewelry to a limited edition $3,000 statue of Tarzan and the Golden Lion.

The old Tarzan radio series, starring Pierce and his wife, Joan Burroughs Pierce, the creator's daughter, is being reissued. It is estimated that one of the 40 Tarzan movies or 51 television shows is shown somewhere in the world every day.

Robert Towne, who won an Academy Award for writing "Chinatown," is working on a screenplay for a new $5 million epic of Tarzan.

"It didn't just happen," said Robert M. Hodes, president of the Burroughs family business, located in Tarzana, the section of Los Angeles named after the ape man. "We engineered it. It's the kind of thing that feeds on itself."

In the new movie, Tarzan will be the articulate, erudite Ford Greystoke, who sat in the British House of Lords. Burroughs, who died in 1950, could never tolerate the inarticulate "Me Tarzan, You Jane" screen versions.

Sadat Says He's Ready To Sign

JERUSALEM (AP) — With the new Israeli-Egyptian agreement expected to be ready for initialing Sunday or Monday, aides say Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger will delay his speech to the United Nations next week so he can wrap up the agreement before leaving.

When he began his mission nine days ago, Kissinger said he intended to address the special U.N. General Assembly session on Sept. 1 or 2 and, if necessary, return to the Middle East to complete the pact.

But aides said that now that an agreement is in sight and no setbacks are anticipated, Kissinger has decided to delay his U.N. speech until next Wednesday, Sept. 3.

Kissinger held another round of talks today with the Israeli negotiating team. Informed sources said he would remain overnight before shuttling back to Alexandria for his fifth meeting with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat during his current mission.

"We are getting down to the wire," Kissinger said Thursday in Alexandria.

The Egyptian president told newsmen he is ready to initial the pact providing for an Israeli withdrawal behind the strategic Mitla and Gidi passes in the Sinai Desert, the return of the Abu Rudeis oilfields to Egypt and electronic surveillance posts manned by American civilians along the new buffer zone between the two armies.

Although Tahseen Bashir, Sadat's spokesman, cautioned that "there are still one or two problems that await resolution," Sadat said he saw nothing that could block the agreement.

Mail Going

Early Monday

Mail delivery will be suspended Monday in observance of the Labor Day holiday, the Postal Service says.

Postmaster Frank Hardesty said the only mail picked up will be at the boxes out front of the Post Office, with only one dispatch time at 2 p.m. Mail will be put up in the postal boxes at the Post Office and special delivery will be delivered.

Schools and most businesses will be closed Monday as will all banks, federal, state, county and city offices.

The World At-A-Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration, predicting that natural gas shortages could be 30 per cent greater this winter than last, says the nation can squeeze through without major economic damage if there is strong cooperation from Congress and the public.

Federal Energy Administration officials told President Ford and 16 governors who met him on Thursday that natural gas supplies may fall 15 or 16 per cent short of demand this winter on the average, with much worse shortages concentrated in some eastern states.

DETROIT (AP) — A court fight has begun over the custody of a car driven on the day Jimmy Hoffa disappeared. There were reports that trained dogs detected scents of the ex-Teamsters boss in the auto.

The car's owner, Joseph Giacalone, 22, son of reputed Detroit Mafia figure Anthony "Tony Jack" Giacalone, filed a request in U.S. District Court Thursday seeking the return of his car. The auto was seized by the FBI on Aug. 9 and remains in federal custody.

However, a federal prosecutor said investigators have refused to release the car because it may hold a clue to the fate of the 62-year-old Hoffa, who dropped from sight on July 30.

Article VIII Said Vital

State Sen. Grant Jones of Abilene told a Waco group recently that Article VIII of the proposed new state constitution must pass if ad valorem tax burdens are to be equalized.

Texas voters go to the polls Nov. 5 to decide on the proposed constitution in eight parts. Each of the eight sections will stand or fall on its own merits.

Basically, Article VIII deals with state finance, a matter that should be close to every tax payer's heart. The article proposes a new system for collecting and state taxes.

Jones warned that if things continue on their present course, farmers could be in serious trouble. He said the accepted form of assessing ad valorem taxes is by establishing values on property based on the fair market price. Jones is of the opinion that if farmers are forced to pay taxes on their property based on the fair market value, they will go broke.

"And if the farmers go busted, then the whole state will go to the dogs," Jones said.

Jones points the accusing finger at organized labor for the defeat of the document that was considered by the recent constitutional convention. He recalled the document failed by only three votes to get the necessary two-thirds majority.

Jones insists organized labor was against the document prepared by the constitutional convention because of the "watered-down" right-to-work provision.

Jones contended that at that time organized labor controlled about 33 votes in the legislature. That was ample, he insisted, to defeat the constitution.

Jones says he's been told ever since he was in high school civics class that the state needs a new constitution. At the same time, he adds, no one was specific about the desired changes. (The constitution now being used was adopted 99 years ago).

The Abilene solon says he disagrees with those who argue that the new constitution should follow the same lines of the U.S. Constitution.

The U.S. document, according to Jones, is a broad and all-encompassing document, where a state constitution must be more specific. At the same time, according to Jones, it must remain flexible enough to be altered when necessary.

The senator compared a state constitution with a contract — a contract between the people and government spelling out what government will and will not do, and what the people will do.

Citizenry Lashes Back

The Communists intent on taking over Portugal, are having a hard time, as every newspaper reader knows by now. The people of Portugal surprised outsiders by lashing back violently at their fellow-citizens who espoused the Red program to turn Portugal into a carbon copy of Castro's Cuba.

True to form the Soviet Union new blames the uproar on the United States. The official Russian propaganda mills began concentrating on this line of thought 10 days ago. Not one mention has appeared, however, in the made-in-Moscow pronouncements about the popular referendum held last spring in Portugal. When Portuguese voted, the Communist Party received approval from only 12 per cent of the voters. All of a sudden, Moscow is trying to paint the majority parties as dupes of the United States. It is George Orwell, author of "1984", come to life.

Campaign Loophole

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — President Ford intends to campaign this year without obeying stringent financial regulations imposed on all other presidential candidates by the new election law — an exercise in loophole-seeking which could land him in political and legal trouble.

The President's intentions became clear Aug. 18 and 19 when his six purely political speaking stops were paid for by the Republican National Committee (including an approximate $3,000-an-hour rental for Air Force One). What's more, the national committee will pick up the tab for the rest of the President's 1975 political travels.

That relieves his specially created campaign organization, called the President Ford Committee, from spending its own money. Much more important, none of Mr. Ford's expensive and extensive political travels this year will be charged against the new law's $10 million overall pre-convention spending limit. Finally, the law's limit of $5,000 — less than two hours of Air Force One flying time — for Republican National Committee contributions to a single candidate will become a laugher.

The rationale: Although Mr. Ford is an announced candidate for President, his lawyers claim he is traveling politically this year as leader of the Republican party, not as a candidate. Those travels will be financed by local party funds passed through the national committee when he is engaged in fund-raising and directly from the national committee when he is not.

This outrages supporters of Ronald Reagan, who is legally a candidate for President opposing Mr. Ford, as defined by the election law. Even if Reagan announces his formal candidacy as expected, the Republican National Committee still plans to finance Mr. Ford's political travels. Protests from Reaganite national committee members would follow.

Mr. Ford's legal problems are more acute. "I see nothing in the law that draws a distinction between political trips by a candidate who is a party leader and one who is not," a Federal Election Commission source told us.

A Republican National Committee spokesman told us the President Ford Committee had asked the FEC for an advisory opinion. An aide at the President Ford Committee told us the request was being drafted at the White House. White House counsel Philip Buchen told us his staff was preparing a study drawing the distinction between Ford-the-candidate and Ford-the-party-leader but might not ask the FEC for an opinion.

The upshot: The White House is interpreting the law as it sees fit and in a way possible for no other candidate.

SOVIET BRASS
The Kremlin's audacious attempts to manipulate the U.S. Congress reached new heights Aug. 13 when a senior Soviet official harangued 19 visiting House members to cut President Ford's defense budget.

A U.S. embassy cablegram reports Boris Ponomarev, a candidate member of the Politburo, telling the Congressmen that the Jackson amendment on Jewish emigration "is an open interference in the internal affairs of the U.S.S.R."

The Ponomarev promptly leaped into U.S. internal affairs by suggesting the Congressmen could "make use of the growing role of the House to promote disarmament, particularly cuts in the defense budgets. The Congress is now discussing the 1976 budget providing for an increase in the military spending which would reach a fantastic sum of $100 billion."

Ignoring immense Soviet arms expenditures and contending "our policy is firmly aimed at reducing military spending," he admonished the Congressmen: "If your voice is heard in Congress...let us hope that this will lead to positive results."

A footnote: The embassy cable does not show the response from Congressmen. After we reported last month's exchanges between Senators and the Russians which the State Department ordered the Moscow embassy to stop cabling detailed accounts of such meetings.

WHIZZER FOR PRESIDENT?

Two Western governors, unimpressed by the present field for the Democratic presidential nomination, have quietly turned to the high court for a new face: Associate Justice Byron (Whizzer) White. Despite lack of encouragement from White, they are still trying.

Govs. J. J. Exon of Nebraska and Ed Herschler of Wyoming agreed earlier this year to sound out White. Exon conferred with White for 1 1/2 hours in Washington two weeks ago. Meeting the Justice for the first time, Exon was impressed but not encouraged. White, 58, told him he had never run for public office and had no intentions of leaving the bench.

Exon reported the bad news in a letter to Herschler. But Herschler, who knew White personally as a schoolmate at the University of Colorado, has not given up and plans to see the Justice on his next trip to Washington.

Security blanket

Wall Street Folklore

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Over the long Labor Day weekend, perhaps while gazing idly at some distant mountain peaks that remind him of a Dow Jones chart, some analyst or another might find a positive trend for the stock market.

You can't find it in the news. True, the government's index of leading indicators continues to rise, but it isn't all good news. Interest rates, for instance, remain high, and that's bad for stocks.

You really can't establish a trend forecast by listening to what comes out of Washington either, because Washington isn't even agreed on what's wrong with the economy or on what steps are needed to bring an improvement.

There are few clues to be found in commentaries of Wall Street analysts, whose views range from a forecast of less than 400 points for the Dow Jones to well over 1,000 points during the next few years.

If you seek the advice of individual investors you will probably find they prefer to put their money into fixed-income savings or government securities. They want to see a trend before they commit themselves.

Seeking a guide, one is forced to look into the history of the market, to study a mountain of statistics in the manner of the ancient seers who thought they could find a pattern, a forecast, in a study of entrails.

A study of market statistics never fails to be effective in supporting your views. You can find almost anything there if you look long enough and if your imagination is attuned to the task. Sure enough, the trend is found.

Nature Works Balances

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My daughter is 18 years old. She is considered to have an extremely pretty face. But she has the body of a 12-year-old child. She began menstruating at an early age (11), but she has not had any development of her breasts whatsoever.

I have taken her to several doctors for complete examinations and they have all found her to be in perfect health. Lately, I have noticed that she seems depressed and self-conscious about her lack of development.

Can she be given hormones, or is there any other course of action she could try? I am very concerned. — L. A. F.

When you say she has the body of a 12-year-old, just what do you mean? It could be a clue to your problem. You give no height or weight data. Do you mean that she is of small frame? Let me explain what I am trying to get at.

The fact that she is menstruating implies that her sex hormones are being supplied normally. No problem there. Now about the development.

Breast tissue is made up mainly of fat, no matter how we choose to otherwise romanticize this portion of the female anatomy. If your daughter does not have much of a fat layer on a small frame, there just wouldn't be much breast development. As a matter of fact, she might look disproportioned if there were.

You say she has "no development." I suspect there is some, however small. Incidentally, as her mother, what is your build? Or more important, what was it when you were 18? If it was pretty much what your daughter's is now, drag out an old bathing suit picture and show it to her.

Both of you should accept the fact and not monkey with hormones or creams. Since several doctors have found her to be in good health, that should satisfy you both.

Nature may have decreed a less than voluminous breast for your daughter, but it has compensated with a pretty face — a fair exchange in my book.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I've been told that scrubbing the tongue will help rid one of bad breath. I've tried this, but still have it. I'm wondering if my condition can be caused by stomach condition? My breath seems to be worse when I eat high-spiced foods or tomatoes. Can you help me? Should I see my doctor? P. S. I have a lot of canker sores in my mouth. I've had them all my life. — C. B.

Scrubbing may help, but it's no cure. Use of dental floss to clean between the teeth would be much more effective if the cause is in the mouth itself.

The canker sores could be the cause. These are often due to allergies, especially to citrus juices including tomatoe and sour foods as vinegar. The stomach is not a source of bad breath, although some bad breath can be produced via the blood stream, a fact most folks find difficult to believe.

'Cruel, Unusual ...'

Around The Rim

John Edwards

"I think it's cruel and unusual punishment, in my opinion, to confine a woman in Howard County Jail for a year or two," Sheriff A. N. Standard said.

CELLS FOR both women and juveniles here are "real tiny places," Standard said. Juveniles are not usually detained long, though.

"It's not quite as confining for a man, because he does have a day room to go to," Standard elaborated.

Jailed for a year or two in county jail, "I think her physical condition could break down." Lack of sunshine and room for exercise are why.

County jails are not designed for rehabilitation. "Most of them have no rehabilitation programs going," Standard said.

Instead, the sheriff said local jails were built as "temporary holding places until our courts could make a disposition."

"Punishment is rarely rehabilitation in my opinion," Standard said.

While the county jail meets federal and state standards, the sheriff saw two areas needing improvement: space and staffing.

Of these two generally universal jail problems, Standard considered employing a large trained staff most important.

"If YOU staff as many people as probably would be needed, it would be a tremendous tax burden," Standard said. He added that he was not criticizing County Commissioners Court, which has been cooperative.

D. M. Cross, the jailer, and his wife, the cook, live on the fourth floor of the county courthouse in the jail. Male and female deputy sheriffs help with jail supervision.

A staff of jailers working eight-hour shifts, rotating 24-hours daily is needed, Standard observed. A matron should be available.

"Personally, I'd like to see one building somewhere that could accommodate both city and county prisoners," Standard said. He favors a separate building with direct access to courtrooms, possibly by corridor.

Merge both city and county jail staffs and you still would not have an adequate staff, though, he noted.

Regional jails which were proposed a couple of years ago, have not been discussed recently.

IN THE county jail, Standard mentioned several specific areas needing improvement.

No closed-circuit television monitoring equipment is being used. "Most of your jails are going to these, and they're not expensive." Federal funds are available.

Pillar beams create blind spots. There is no recreation room large enough for exercise and for security control.

More cells are needed in the female and juvenile wards.

And, if a new facility was to be built, it should not be so drab. "I don't mean make it like hotel accommodations." Cells could be designed with fewer bars. In halls, tile instead of plaster could be installed for easier maintenance.

"We ought to get into it (the business of jailing) all the way or out of it all the way," Standard said. "If you want to just barely stay open for business, it's going to be a problem area."

My Answer

Billy Graham

From what I've been reading it seems that the institution of the family is being phased out. What I'm concerned about is the place of children. What is your opinion of this?

S.C.
It's interesting to me that in the Genesis account of creation, the husband and wife were supernaturally created at a mature age. The child in the first family unit, however, was conceived and grew up in the environment of a home. God's order from the beginning has been the family structure, and we tamper with it at great peril to all society.

Recently, in a popular magazine article, appeared this statement: "There is no institution like the family to turn children into civilized human beings." We can experiment with communal living, group parenthood, solo parents, and governmental rearing of infants, but all such plans can never be equated with the norm of a father and a mother in a loving and intimate home relationship.

Chapter 68 of Psalms has this statement, "God setteth the solitary in families." It's another indication of the divine origin of the family.

Some of the arguments for phasing out the family are made to sound plausible and even advisable. Tragic, however, are the consequences to a child, when this is done. If we think there is already a high rate of emotional disease in our country, phasing out the family unit will only trigger even more monumental disorders.

The Bible has no alternative to the family to turn children into civilized human beings. We can experiment with communal living, group

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I take this means of saying a most humble thank you for the many kindnesses from the people of Big Spring, the doctor and nurses aides and all ladies who helped me (during my recent illness). I also say to my Spanish American friends and I feel I have many "vaya con dios;" to my many black friends — keep the faith, baby. Finally, to my Anglo brothers and sisters, I say "May God bless you." I must include someone very important to me: "God bless you, George and Gladys Archer."

All this from the fat man who committed the great sin of being a glutton. You are all the salt of the earth.

Dear Mr. Hart:
I enjoyed reading your editorial in Monday's Herald about the immortal Casey Jones; his story is a part of our heritage that all should know.

However, you stated that "nothing but freight trains ply their way through Casey's hometown, Jackson, Miss." Not true! The well-known "Panama Limited" operates through Jackson daily en route from Chicago to New Orleans (one train in each direction).

I had the occasion to see the "Panama" passing through Kankakee, Ill., last month with 12 cars which included several sleeping cars, a full-length diner and many coaches.

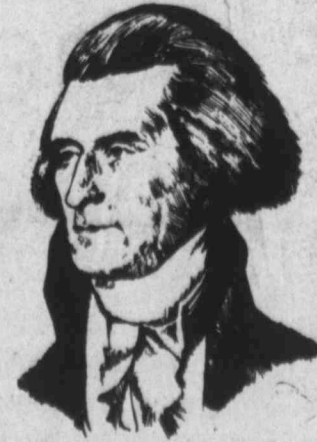

There is a slight change — instead of the orange and brown colors worn as the flagship of the Illinois Central, it now wears the stainless steel coat of Amtrak (trimmed with red, white and blue).

We Hold These Truths... A Chronicle of America

'Just Rights':

Thomas Jefferson of Virginia: "My first wish is a restoration of our just rights; my second, a return of the happy period, when... I may withdraw myself totally from the public stage, and pass the rest of my days in domestic ease and tranquility, banishing every desire of ever hearing what passes in the world."

MEANY GIGS ADMINISTRATION 'Places Dollar Signs Ahead Of People'

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany says a generation of gains in America's standard of living is being wiped out by an administration that "places dollar signs ahead of people."

In his annual Labor Day message released today, Meany warned of "a deeper, more serious recession" unless the Ford administration revamps its economic policies and promotes the restoration of full employment and full production.

But organized labor's chief spokesman said the administration seems to have its priorities upside down.

"The administration's answer to the American people is that they will just have to accept a lower standard of living," he said. "All that they have worked for — the better life they have sought for their children — is being taken away from them by deliberate government policies" which have reduced consumer buying power, increased unemployment and priced the majority of families out of decent housing and higher education.

Meany again called for the ouster of President Ford's economic advisers and of Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur F. Burns. He blamed them for 6½ years of economic turbulence and asserted they have "recreated precisely the same set of conditions" that triggered the current recession.

He said Burns has reimposed a tight money policy which will push up interest rates and "could turn a possible recovery into disaster."

Meany called this policy "sheer nonsense," saying it will slow down the recovery even before it builds up enough steam to reduce the nation's unemployment rate.

Joblessness reached a 34-year high of 9.2 per cent of the work force in May and has since dropped to 8.2 per cent.

The 81-year-old labor chief again called continued high unemployment "a time bomb ticking in the foundation of this society." He again suggested that the administration adopt the 12-point program sought by the AFL-CIO for creating more jobs, lowering interest rates and extending the tax cut another year.

The administration contends, however, that such a program would overstimulate the economy and lead to even higher inflation and unemployment.

Dallas Man Sentenced

LAMESA — A Dallas man Thursday was adjudged guilty of felony possession of marijuana and sentenced to eight years in the penitentiary and a $5,000 fine.

Jackie Eugene Hinson, 40, was convicted in 106th District Court here in connection with the largest marijuana haul in Lamesa history Jan. 18.

The jury's decision came on the heels of Wednesday's five-year probated sentence of two men convicted in the same arrests. Jay C. Emerson, 21, of Dallas and Barry B. Phillips, 24, of Duncanville each were given five-year probated sentences by a different jury in 106th District Court.

The marijuana haul netted 1,400 pounds of the illegal drug. The three men were arrested at Lamesa airport as they attempted to smuggle the marijuana away from the airstrip, testimony revealed.

The cargo had been loaded on a plane, but when the aircraft encountered mechanical difficulties, the group was forced to land at Lamesa.

Hinson also was charged with bribery in connection with comments made to a police officer after arrest. The court did not hear testimony on that charge Thursday.

Mail Rates Boost Shapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the Postal Service looking forward to raising mail rates to 13 cents a letter, Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar says the service "cannot continue to operate" if it is kept from raising rates for long periods.

Bailar spoke after the Postal Rate Commission concluded action Thursday on a two-year-old request by the Postal Service to make the present "temporary" 10-cent letter rate permanent. While the commission has been considering the case, mail rates have been frozen despite postal deficits that have reached $8 million per day.

The commission's recommendation to make the present letter rate permanent was necessary under the law before the Postal Service can increase rates on a temporary basis to 13 cents. Bailar said in advance of the decision that the rate would be increased to 13 cents after the commission action.

Bailar, who has been saying since he took office in February that the Postal Service needs higher rates, renewed his criticism of the commission in a statement. "I am pleased that the process of this rate case is finally over after nearly two years of discussion and deliberation," he said. "The Postal Service cannot continue to operate if necessary rate adjustments cannot be made until long after they are needed."

"In this case, the rates that the commission at last has recommended are for a (fiscal) year that ended two months ago. In an inflationary period, more responsive rate-making is imperative."

Meanwhile, the chairman of the commission, Clyde S. DuPont, said, "I feel the criticism has been deserved somewhat, although the commission isn't fully to blame for this."

Noting that its decisions are subject to review by the courts, DuPont said the commission must be careful to give all parties to the case every legal safeguard.

The commission, established in 1971 to review all postal rates before they become permanent, had heard one previous rate case.

DuPont said, "We are now in the formative stages. Other regulatory agencies have years and years of precedents to go by but we must set our own. After there is a body of precedents we should be able to decide cases faster."

MR. AND MRS. REX BAGGETT

Baggetts Plan To Stay Busy

When Rex Baggett retires this weekend after 37 years with Cosden and Fina, his wife, Dean, will understand the tumult of emotions confronting him.

Retiring also in August after ten years at Howard College as secretary first to the president and more recently to the academic dean, she was feted by her associates there Aug. 15. Baggett's associates will stage a little retirement tea for the two of them in the Petroleum building this afternoon, at which time coffee and cookies will be served.

The couple have been planning toward this milestone. Their future promises to be full of family and friends, camper outings and do-it-yourself projects which they tackle as a team, and much contentment in Big Spring which they have come to love in their 22 years here. Their home at 1507 Aylford can comfortably accommodate all five of the grandchildren. As a matter of fact, four of them have been there this month, just ahead of the opening of school.

Walter Rexford Baggett's association with Cosden stretches back to Aug. 1, 1938, when he accepted a job at company headquarters, then located in Fort Worth. He was offered the position by Henry Zweifel, president at the time. While riding the bus one morning with R. L. Tollett (who was to become the second president), he learned there was need for someone to supervise the pipeline system at the company's new Graham refinery. He took that job in 1939.

AT GRAHAM

The system consisted of gathering lines from leases, and Baggett covered the miles in a Model A Ford. He remained in Graham until after the plant was dismantled, then transferred to Abilene in 1947 to work a branded sales territory. He has been in sales ever since and is retiring as area manager — lubricants and TBA, with a territory reaching into the Albuquerque, N. M., and Lubbock districts.

Since he has spent so much time on the road, Mrs. Baggett wonders if he won't miss that travel. Not long ago, however, Baggett acquired a used camper. The pickup model sleeps two. The couple had fun carpeting it and applying their own finishing touches to the vehicle. When the mood strikes, they can climb into the camper and take off for the fishing holes he has spotted. One of the sure destinations will be Possum Kingdom, where Baggett and other employees at Graham figured in building the company's cabin prior to WW II.

That camper is already getting a workout. The Baggetts' daughter, Jan, and her husband, Dr. Richard Deats, live in Spring Valley, N. Y. Jan, who attended Oberlin Conservatory and earned her master's degree in piano from Southern Methodist University, teaches piano to private pupils. Dr. Deats, whose doctorate in philosophy was earned at Boston University, is with the Fellowship of Reconciliation.

KIN VISITS

In Texas this month to fulfill speaking engagements, he brought along three of their children leaving behind 17-year-old Mark, Stephen, 15, Lisa, 12 and Kathy, 9, planned to join their father in driving home in the Baggett's camper. In October, the Baggetts will fly to New York for a visit with the family, then will return in their camper along scenic routes.

The Baggetts' son Mike, a graduate of East Texas State University, is employed by Timberlawn Hospital in Dallas. His wife Jane, a graduate nurse, is with Children's Hospital. While they were vacationing for a few days this month, their daughter, Claire, has been in the Baggett's care.

First United Methodist Church plays a big part in Mr. and Mrs. Baggett's lives. He has served on the official board and she is a life member of WSCS. Baggett is also a member of Staked Plains Masonic Lodge and the Suez Shrine Temple.

Undoubtedly for Dean Belew Baggett, more free time will mean more happy hours at her sewing machine. All the family benefits from her sewing wizardry. In a flash she can build a wardrobe, whether for youngsters, men or women.

From the master bedroom the couple can enjoy a gem of a back yard, where cardinals and hummingbirds come from the nearby canyon to feed. There is a patio equipped with gas cooking unit for outdoor parties. For entertainment there, a recent gift from Baggett's associates gathered in Dallas for a bill. It's a portable color TV of which he is quite proud.

Welfare Fraud

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A record number of 167 alleged welfare fraud cases have been passed on to Central Texas county and district attorneys for prosecution, says senior investigator Bryan Chenault of the Texas Department of Public Welfare.

Chenault said in a release Thursday that the alleged fraud involves $135,493.

Seventy-seven cases are in Travis (Austin) County and 58 in McLennan (Waco) County, he said, with other cases filed in most other Central Texas counties.

Of the 167 cases, Chenault said, 101 involve Aid to Families with Dependent Children and 66 cases involve food stamps.

The record number of cases do not indicate rising incidences of welfare fraud, he added, but reflect the fact that state welfare commissioner Raymond Vowell assigned 10 extra food stamp workers in July to reduce the backlog of cases.

No SR Classes

Extension classes offered by Sul Ross University will not be offered at Webb AFB Monday, due to the fact that the base will be observing a full holiday.

Doris Henry Is Sentenced

Doris Jean Henry, 29, 409 N. Bell St., drew a five-year prison sentence Thursday afternoon when 118th District Court Judge Ralph Caton revoked her probation.

Mrs. Henry was given credit for 25 days in jail. She pleaded guilty on July 14 to forging and passing a check and was given 10 years of probation.

Mrs. Henry later was arrested for theft of $5 in meat from a grocery store here. Judge Caton reduced the original sentence in revoking probation.

Enrollment Up

SNYDER — Enrollment in the Snyder public schools has increased by 52 this year over 1974, with a total of 3,483 students on the rolls. In high school, the head count is 1,026.

LEGAL SEMINAR — Ben Bancroft, local attorney, taught a legal seminar this week to five of the seven x-ray technician students at Malone-Hogan Hospital. They include Rosemary Hansen, second year student from New Iberia, LA., and Susan Weaver, Dale Griffith, Joe Rocha and Leland Porter, all from the Big Spring area.

Ex-Resident Is Visitor

Mrs. Bess Hull Miles, formerly of Big Spring and now a resident of Plano (near Dallas), is visiting relatives and friends in this area. She is the grandmother of Dr. Jan Loudermilk, an all-time Big Spring High School basketball great who was inducted into the Texas High School Basketball Hall of Fame at Athens, Tex., last April. Mrs. Miles was present for the ceremony.

Dr. Loudermilk is now a cardiologist practicing in Dallas.

WEATHER FORECAST — Showers are forecast today for the Gulf and southern Atlantic coasts, the Northeast and Northwest and with bands of showers from the Plains and Midwest to the Great Lakes. Cool weather is forecast for the Northwest but most of the nation will be warm.

McDonald Is Jailed Here

Martin M. McDonald, 20, is in county jail in lieu of a $3,000 bond, charged with auto theft.

McDonald was arrested by city police in a car stolen from Jimmy Hopper's Toyota around 4 a.m. Sunday. The 1972 station wagon has been returned to Hopper's.

Wanted Man Is Arrested

A man wanted in Big Spring for felony theft was arrested in Houston on a warrant from here this week.

William Ira Reed, charged with theft of $1600 from Fast Gas Station here on July 14, was arrested in Houston Wednesday.

However, several law agencies had been seeking the man including Pasadena, Tex. and a federal parole officer.

City Det. Avery Henry was contacting law officers in Houston today.

Dallas Bath House Busts

DALLAS (AP) — Undercover police arrested 14 men Thursday night at a bath house where officers said they observed homosexual acts.

Among those taken into custody were a Dallas lawyer, a college professor, a school counselor, a hair dresser and a building contractor, police said.

Officers said the men will be charged with indecent exposure and public lewdness.

Kickoff At Hand For UW Campaign

The CFC phase of the 1975 Howard County United Way campaign will kick off at Webb AFB Tuesday, two days in advance of the general drive.

The UW committee met earlier this week with its top officers. W. S. (Dub) Pearson, president, and Ron McNeil, chairman, and over final plans and decide on minor adjustments in the proposed budget. A total of $131,995 will be sought by the various divisions participating in the drive.

Last year, the campaign went over the top and Pearson and McNeil said they were confident the objective would be reached in this year's campaign.

Both Pearson and McNeil also said they hoped to have the drive completed by the early weeks of November.

Division chairmen and their captains will gather at the Reddy Room of the TESCO Building at 5:15 p.m., next Thursday to pick up cards which spell out the areas in which they will work and suggested pledges.

Here are the sums each division is going for this year:

Out-of-Town division, $9,015; Advance Gifts, $31,198; Special Gifts, $3,275; Metropolitan, $3,918; Employees (general), $29,665; CFC, $24,771; Employees (city), $7,112; Employees (County-state), $2,005; Women's, $8,508; Professional, $10,568; and Area, $1,940.

Gay Hurt In Rodeo

DENVER, Colo. — Brian Claypool said it. The plucky little Canadian bronc and bull rider limped out of the arena at a reporter, "rodeo rewards you if you succeed and punishes you if you fail; that's the way it's supposed to be. If a guy bucks off, he's supposed to get hurt."

Maybe he should have said simply that "rodeo punishes you, and if you do it, you get hurt."

It happened to Don Gay Sunday at the Will Rogers Memorial rodeo in Vinita, Okla. Don drew a bull named Cross Roads, and when the ride had ended the reigning world champion bull rider from Mesquite, Texas, clung to the chutes with badly torn groin muscles, a malady that plagues bull riders.

Gay leads for the 1975 bull riding championship in the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association with better than $23,000 in earnings, but he's out of competition and it's hard to say for how long. Bull riders say torn groin muscles never really heal. Ironically, the bull that hurt Gay carried Bob Berger of Norman, Okla., to first place at Cedar Crest school Thursday night.

Some 35 persons attended, reviewing many of the goals which already had been brought up at four earlier meetings this week.

The traffic problems at these two intersections were discussed at length. Another new item was a request for more cultural activities for Mexican-Americans such as the Fiesta Night in the Starlight Specials.

A need for more good dance centers was brought up by the group. They also hammered away at the mosquito problem on the northwest side of town.

Weedy lots and abandoned homes again came in for their share of discussion.

Those serving on the final panel included Tom Locke, moderator, Adolph Swartz, Ellis Britton, Jeff Brown, Winston Winkle, Mrs. Johnnie Lou Avery, Dr. Charles Hays and Lee Porter. Mrs. Tommy Bryan acted as secretary.

WEST GERMANY'S RECESSION

Walking Tightrope Between Unemployment, Budget Gap

BONN, West Germany (AP) — West Germany's worst postwar recession has put the Bonn government on a tightrope between the devil of unemployment and the deep blue sea of a record budget deficit. In a move coordinated with French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing, Chancellor Helmut Schmidt's cabinet this week approved a $2.3 billion stopgap spending program to provide jobs for hard-hit construction workers this winter. The French government also announced a heavy spending program, especially in public works, that is expected to pump an extra $6 billion into the economy. The Danish government, a third member of the European Economic Community, announced Thursday that it planned to spend $240 million on public works and job training, cut retail prices 5 per cent by reducing the value added tax and repay almost $175 million in compulsory savings. Schmidt and Giscard coordinated their programs at a meeting last month after German unemployment hit over one million, or 4.5 per cent of the work force, and French jobless totaled nearly 900,000, or 4 per cent. Schmidt's government does not pretend it can do more than help the hard-hit construction industry through the winter season, when some experts believe unemployment could hit a record 1.5 million. Officials say government spending cannot hope to plug the estimated $11 billion export slump this year caused by the world trade recession. This is regarded as the chief cause of West Ger-

Gypsies Give Pope Artifacts

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP) — Pope Paul VI has told thousands of gypsies that he sees a parallel between their nomadic lives and the travels of Christ. "See how Jesus resembles you, how close to you he is..." the pontiff told the gypsies Thursday. The gypsies greeted the Pope with a concert of violins, guitars and singing at his summer retreat. They came from Rome where they had attended Holy Year festivities. The gypsies gave the Pope a variety of their ornate artifacts and he distributed handfuls of medals.

10,000 Black Angolans Killed In Control Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — An estimated 10,000 black Angolans, mostly civilians, have been killed over the past year in fighting among three political groups for control of the oil-rich Portuguese colony. While most international attention has focused on the plight of white refugees, Western diplomats say the brunt of the suffering has been borne by blacks caught in the cross-fire of the warring factions. Informants say that between 7,000 and 8,000 black noncombatants have died in the fighting. There have been reports of atrocities, including cannibalism. At stake is control of the West African country after it becomes independent three months from now. Angola is blessed with oil, coffee, diamonds and iron ore but plagued with centuries-old tribal hostilities. The situation has been aggravated by another rivalry far removed from Angola. Angola, with a population of six million, has become the object of a Soviet quest for influence in southern Africa, and Chinese efforts to frustrate the Soviet designs. Competent sources say Moscow has sent enough arms to equip the 30,000-member Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola (MPLA), and the 10,000 to 15,000 MPLA sympathizers. China is providing arms to the National Front for the Liberation of Angola (FNLA), whose strength is about half that of the MPLA. Zaire, which has a 1,500-mile border with Angola, also is aiding the National Front. A National Front leader is Holden Roberto, brother-in-

KILLED MISSIONARIES? Judge Sends Kleasen Back To Death Row

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — It was back to death row today for Robert Kleasen after his failure Thursday to win a new trial, based on new evidence, in the slayings of two Mormon missionaries whose bodies allegedly were dismembered with a taxidermist's bandsaw. Kleasen took State District Court Judge Tom Blackwell's denial of his new trial motion calmly. He had said earlier in the day he "thanked God" upon learning of the story to be told in court by E. M. Albrecht of Dripping Springs. Albrecht, 69, said he saw the missionaries alive on Oct. 28, the day Kleasen allegedly killed them, and on Oct. 29. "I know that was the date, and I'll die believing that," said Albrecht, a heavy-set, ruddy-faced man who walks with a cane. Dist. Atty. Bob Smith presented 22 witnesses who said Albrecht was not regarded as truthful by those who know him and often weaves incredible tales of being an undercover man for the CIA. "I find that the testimony of the witness Albrecht is probably not true," Blackwell said in denying the motion for a new trial. Kleasen was accused of killing Gary Darley, 20, of Simi Valley, Calif., and Mark Fischer, 19, of Milwaukee, Wis. He was tried only in Fischer's death and was convicted on June 2. He was brought from Huntsville State Prison's death row, about 150 miles away, for the hearing, to which he wore a black suit. Albrecht, who is retired, said that on Oct. 28, the missionaries stopped to chat with him and obtained his permission to use a private fishing lake as his guest. They spent the entire day there, he said. He said that on Oct. 29, the day after they supposedly had been murdered, he passed them as they bought gasoline at a service station west of Austin. He said he remembered the dates because he keeps notes on everything. "I waved at the boys and they waved back," he said.

'FATAL CURSE'

SAUSALITO, Calif. (AP) — The burglar who stole a relic box from the home of the widow of Zen philosopher Alan Watts may have gotten more than he bargained for — a fatal curse, Jane Watts says. Mrs. Watts said Thursday that the thief made off with a turquoise-studded brass relic box from Tibet, in addition to a color television set and other assorted loot. The box contained three bits of the late philosopher's bones, and, according to ancient Tibetan legend, the fatal curse. Mrs. Watts said she was more concerned about what may befall the unsuspecting burglar than recovering the stolen items. Watts, author of "The Way of Zen," "The Way of Zen," and other works, was cremated in the tradition of Zen Buddhist beliefs after he died in 1957. Except for the bones in the box, his remains were at the Zen Center in nearby Mill Valley.

Reagan Nixes Third-Party Bid

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Former California Gov. Ronald Reagan today rejected a third-party bid for the presidency and said he will decide in the next few months if he will challenge President Ford for the Republican nomination. Reagan had indicated earlier this year that he was giving some thought to running as a third-party candidate. But in an interview here, broadcast on the NBC "Today" show, Reagan said, "I don't have much faith in the third-party movement. I think a third-party usually succeeds in electing the people they set out to oppose. I don't think that's the way to go." The former Republican governor said he will decide before the first of the year "or sooner" whether to challenge President Ford for the GOP nomination. Reagan said earlier that he did not think a challenge to Ford would be harmful to GOP unity.

Tennessee Backs His Brother

CHICAGO (AP) — Only one political candidate anywhere has the endorsement of playwright Tennessee Williams: his brother, Dakin.

"There's a certain familiarity," the author of "Streetcar Named Desire" and other plays told a news conference Thursday. Why is Dakin, a loser in two previous political outings, qualified to be governor of Illinois, the post he now seeks? "I like his attitude toward people, toward life."

Steers, Cavemen In Scrimmage

Steer fans and the Steer coaching staff will get a preview of how the Big Spring High School griders fare against outside competition when they square off against the Carlsbad, N.M. Cavemen tonight at 7 p.m. at Memorial Stadium.

The controlled scrimmage will be the only one before the team kicks off its 1975 football campaign next Friday as it hosts Andrews.

Coach Bob Burris said that everyone is invited to attend the scrimmage and get a look at the Steers.

There is no admission charge and members of the Quarterback Club will man the concession stand.

Area fans will also get a good look at their favorite teams as a full slate of scrimmages are scheduled.

Coahoma and Stanton will tuneup in Coahoma beginning at 6 p.m. with the junior varsity. The varsity squads will take the field beginning at about 7 p.m.

Bonds Fools A's, Paces Yank Win

It's a funny thing, this relationship between fastballs and Bobby Bonds.

On Wednesday night, with New York trailing Oakland by a run in the ninth inning and two Yankees on base, Rolie Fingers slipped a pair of fastballs past Bonds for a critical strikeout and the A's won 3-2.

Clearly the way to beat Bonds is to fastball him, right?

Wrong. In the sixth inning Thursday night, with Chris Chambliss aboard with a walk, Ken Holtzman tried to slip a fast one past Bonds. It wound up bouncing off the right-center field fence for a run-scoring double.

Okay, so the way to beat Bonds is not to fastball him, right?

Wrong again. With two outs in the eighth inning, Holtzman hit Ed Brinkman with a pitch. Up came Bonds, and out to the mound went Oakland Manager Alvin Dark. "Don't throw him any fastballs," he told Holtzman.

So Holtzman wound up and threw him a change-up. It wound up far beyond the left-center field wall, Bonds' 25th homer, a two-run shot that catapulted the Yankees to a 3-2 victory.

In the only other American League game Thursday night, Baltimore beat Chicago 2-1. In the National League, Cincinnati blanked St. Louis 4-0, Philadelphia downed San Francisco 8-5, New York defeated Los Angeles 4-1 and Montreal outlasted San Diego 10-8.

Orioles 2, White Sox 1. Baltimore's Mike Cuellar, usually a "junkman" on the mound, discovered his blazer and used it to stymie the White Sox on five hits.

"I found out during my warmups that my fastball was working so I decided to see how far that would take me," said Cuellar, who usually relies on slow-speed and breaking pitches.

Run-scoring singles by Ellie Hendricks in the second inning and Don Baylor in the fifth gave him the runs Baltimore needed to trim Boston's lead in the AL East to 5 1/2 games.

Reds 4, Cardinals 0. Don Gullett's notched his seventh straight victory with a five-hitter and Darrel Chaney cracked a homer to boost Cincinnati past St. Louis, which fell 3 1/2 games behind idle Pittsburgh in the NL East.

Phillies 8, Giants 5. Philadelphia moved into a tie with the Cards by battering four San Francisco pitchers for 17 hits. Garry Maddox' triple and doubles by Mike Schmidt and Johnny Oates were the key hits in the Phils' three-run sixth.

More or Lesh

By CLARK LESHER

Labor Day is traditionally the last, long family recreational weekend and many Texans, including More than Lesh, will be outdoors to enjoy it.

Also Monday is the first day of the season for mourning doves in the North Zone. Texas Parks and Wildlife Department park superintendents and game wardens are bracing themselves for a long weekend.

P&W law enforcement officials said that all available personnel will be on duty to enforce the Texas Water Safety Act on public waters and in the field to enforce game laws.

John Wilkins, Permian head football coach, let it be known in a TV interview earlier this week, that his Mojo squad is not ranked the pre-season 5-4A favorite.

After a so-called slumping 8-2 record last year, Permian has 16 returning lettermen. Starters include five on defense and three on offense.

The poll will be officially released Sunday.

In another poll already made known, District 3-B, Forsan is spotted behind Jayton, Bronte and Sterling City with Sands seventh.

The Buffaloes must be considered a challenger based on 11 players back from an 8-2 record.

Steer season ticket football sales have shot up from the last 416 count to 502 with a week left before the seasonal opener here Sept. 5 against Andrews.

Don Green, assistant business manager of the Big Spring school district, said individuals are buying tickets at a steady pace.

Green feels last year's final total of 684 will be surpassed. Tickets went on sale to the public Monday and can be purchased up until the second home contest, Sept. 19.

Dallas (0-3) visits the Houston Oilers (2-1) Saturday night at 8 o'clock in the Astrodome. The Cowboys suffered their second straight last-minute defeat last Saturday night, 16-13 to the Minnesota Vikings. Houston lost for the first time, 27-21 at Denver, also the same day.

The Cowboys hadn't lost their first three pre-season games since 1962. Both teams have met for the Governor's Cup in the pre-season each summer beginning with the 1967 season.

Dallas owns a 6-2 edge in the series, including a 19-13 overtime win in Texas Stadium last year. The game will be aired by KRLL (1080 in Dallas), KFJZ (1270 in Fort Worth) and the seven-state Cowboy network.

WHAT'S IT WORTH DEPARTMENT — Southern Methodist University freshman linebacker Putt Choate of Coahoma suffered a broken wrist in practice last week and will be sidelined for two weeks.

Fullback Butch Jones from Midland Lee has a chance of becoming the Mustang No. 1 fullback.

Chrissy Thinks Her Title Chances Good

NEW YORK (AP) — Chris Evert's credentials as a clay court player are so convincing after only one match at Forest Hills that even she is confident of capturing her first U.S. Open crown.

"I feel eager," Miss Evert said. "This is the only title I haven't won outside of the Australian Open. I have a pretty good chance."

She won her 76th straight match on clay by a 6-1, 6-0 count at the expense of Australian Lesley Hunt Thursday night. The string, which covers 15 tournaments, stretches back to 1973.

"I'm at home on clay," said the top-seeded Miss Evert, who grew up in the powdery stuff in Florida. "I'm confident on clay. It's easier to run. I'm still not that confident on grass. I'm afraid I'll fall on my face."

She has done well on grass. She won Wimbledon last year after battling Miss Hunt through 46 games in the second round. On the grass that was here last year, and on the lush lawn of Wimbledon this year, she lasted until the semifinals.

Miss Evert and Jimmy Connors led 14 seeded players into the second round after Thursday's day-night action, which drew a total crowd of 20,310.

Connors began defense of his title with a 6-3, 6-3 triumph over Geoff Masters although he blew 3-0 leads in each set.

"The first three games I never played better," Connors said. "Then Geoff started keeping the balls in play."

Shreveport's Captains, who edged back in front by a single point although trailing in games, dropped a 4-3 decision to San Antonio and lost ground last night as Midland bested El Paso 6-1.

Jackson nipped Lafayette, the East Division leader, 3-2 in the first half of a doubleheader, but then suffered an 8-0 whitewashing in the nightcap. Arkansas defeated Alexandria 8-5 in the night's other game.

Pitcher Mike Krukow posted his 11th straight victory for the Midland Cubs, allowing 11 hits by the El Paso Diablos but shutting them out for eight innings. He struck out eight batters and walked two. A two-run single by Al Montreuil was the key blow as Midland scored all its runs in the third inning.

Trailing 3-1, the San Antonio Brewers scored once in the eighth inning and twice in the ninth to down Shreveport. An infield single by Wil Aaron drove in the tying run and Rich Guerra singled home the one deciding the issue with two out in the ninth. Wayne Cage hit a solo homer for the Brewers and Mitchell Page socked one for the Captains.

Jack Clark belted a two-run homer for the Lafayette Drillers in the first inning of their opener with Jackson, but the Mets managed to score once in that frame and pulled the game out with two more in the fifth. Luis Lora singled home the go-ahead tally.

Four-hit pitching by Lafayette's Jay Dillard shut out Jackson in the nightcap, and the Drillers' Gary Alexander went three-for-three at the plate. Alexander poked a two-run homer in the first inning and a three-run clout in the third. Craig Barnes contributed a solo homer for Lafayette.

Final Hunter Course Slated

The final hunter's safety course of the year will be conducted Sept. 3, 4 and 10 from 7 to 9 p.m., at the city police building.

Stanley Phillips will serve as instructor. The six to eight-hour course is slated to cover a period of two weeks.

Youthful hunters who plan to go to New Mexico and Colorado are required to complete the course in order to obtain a license there.

Certification includes: New Mexico, those with birthdates after Jan. 1, 1958; and Colorado, those born after Jan. 1, 1959.

PUETT DOWNS HYNDMAN — William Hyndman (right), of Philadelphia, keeps his eyes on the ball after missing a putt as he offers a hand to Roane Puett, of Austin, Texas, Thursday at the United States Amateur Championship. Puett won the match one up on extra hole.

Field Narrows In US Amateur Golf Tourney

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The 75th U.S. Amateur Golf Championship, now closely resembling an NCAA tournament, will be trimmed to eight quarter-finalists after two rounds of match play today at the Country Club of Virginia's James River Course.

Two-thirds of the 32 survivors from Thursday's third round are collegians, and a couple other competitors are just out of high school. Only four of those still shooting for Sunday's 36-hole title round are 30 years of age or more.

Curtis Strange and Bob Byman of Wake Forest, Andy Bean of Florida, Arizona State's Phil Kenny and Keith Fergus of Houston were among the better-known college stars who advanced through the third round.

So did Stan Price of Pittsburgh and Barton Goodwin of Rice, both of whom had gained notoriety Wednesday with major upsets.

Other winners included Roane Puett of Austin, Tex., at 42 now the oldest survivor after he disposed of 59-year-old Bill Hyndman 1 up in 19 holes, and 18-year-old Wayne DeFrancesco of McLean, Va.

In addition to Hyndman, the 1955 runner-up on the same course, the only other former runner-up, John Grace of Fort Worth, Tex., and Downing Gray of Pensacola, Fla., also were eliminated.

With the only two former champions, Vinny Giles of Richmond and Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., knocked out earlier, the way has been cleared for new faces in the title round.

Strange, 20, from Virginia Beach, Va., who won the NCAA crown as a freshman, remained unsatisfied with his play after ousting John Jacobs IV of Riverside, Calif., 4 and 2.

But Strange, who broke the Eastern Amateur record by four strokes two weeks ago, won five consecutive holes on the back side, aided by a 120-foot eagle on the 13th green.

Byman, also 20, from Raleigh, N.C., routed Brian Shanks of Phoenix with his second straight 8 and 6 score.

Bean, a rugged 22-year-old L'il Abner type from Lakeland, Fla., showed his strength by whacking a seven-iron shot 200 yards to the first green, and went on to whip Gary Jacobson of Minnetonka, Minn., 3 and 2.

Kenny, 22, from Northbrook, Ill., said he "put pressure on when I felt it was needed," and bumped Grace, 2 and 1.

Fergus, 21, who lives in Houston, was eliminated in the fifth round last year by Jerry Pate, the eventual champion.

Attendance that year was sub-par. But in 1974, 40,000 turned out for the four-day event.

This year, everyone will be looking to see whether the hometown favorite can repeat and give the more famous pros something to remember.

BC OPEN Little-Known Tries For Repeat Of Win

ENDICOTT, N.Y. — Anonymity has returned to Richie Karl.

Last year, Karl walked across the street from where he grew up and beat some of the best golfers in the world in the second annual B.C. Open.

This year, he'll try to remind them who he is.

Karl, a little-known 30-year-old, surprised everyone last year when he carded an 11-under-par 273 to tie with Bruce Crampton after 72 holes. Then he went out and holed a 35-foot putt on the first extra hole to win.

Just as a reminder, Karl carded a four-under-par 67 in Thursday's pro-am tuneup to the $175,000 tournament which is being played over the 6,815-yard En-Joie Golf Course.

But his task won't be that easy.

The field — though lacking such big names as Jack Nicklaus, Hale Irwin and Tom Weiskopf — includes 1973 winner Hubert Green and Dave Stockton, runner-up in last week's Tournament Players Championship.

Also on hand are former Masters champion Tommy Aaron, J. George Archer, Frank Beard, Homero Blancas, Sam Snead and brothers Dave and Mike Hill.

The tournament, which began as a satellite event to the Cleveland Open in 1971, is named for the comic strip "B.C.," created by local resident Johnny Hart. It became a regular tour stop in 1973.

Attendance that year was sub-par. But in 1974, 40,000 turned out for the four-day event.

This year, everyone will be looking to see whether the hometown favorite can repeat and give the more famous pros something to remember.

But the fast horses and their owners are still here. Some 15,000 people—the village has a population of less than 3,000—are expected to bet $1,000,000 on the Labor Day spectacular.

It's an outgrowth of a barroom conversation between five or six horsemen in Albuquerque back in the early 1950s. All had top mares in foal. They got to talking about breeding lines, comparing breeding lines. The inevitable difference of opinion resulted.

So a race was arranged between the unborn foals for two years later. The owners put up $15,000, winner-take-all. Ruidoso Downs agreed to be the site and put up a token purse.

Their idea caught on among the breeders.

They contribute most of the purse themselves through a lengthy series of nomination fees. These fees start some 18-20 months before the 2-year-olds hit the track. The owners are betting on the breeding lines.

The bets come due on Labor Day. Ten survivors from an original nomination of 1,244 will flash over 440 yards in about 21 seconds. And $1,000,000 is at stake.

It's the richest race in the world.

After the second charge, NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle suspended him for 10 months, saying Rentzel's conduct had been detrimental to pro football.

Rentzel resumed his career with the Rams last year but never reached his earlier peak as a pass-catcher.

Rentzel was arrested in 1971 while with the Dallas Cowboys on a charge of indecent exposure to a juvenile in a case involving a 10-year old girl. He pleaded guilty and received a five-year probation sentence. He was then traded to the Rams and in 1973 was sentenced to 90 days in jail, fined $2,000 and given three years' probation for possession of marijuana.

ABA Club Moves To Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — The message on the marquee outside the Civic Center said it all: "Baltimore Welcomes ABA Basketball."

After weeks of sometimes bewildering negotiations, the American Basketball Association Thursday awarded a group of Baltimore investors the franchise to the bankrupt Memphis Sounds.

ABA Commissioner Dave DeBusschere made the announcement during a press conference at the Civic Center with local officials and the owners of the team, who paid an estimated purchase price of $1.5 million.

The Baltimore Hustlers will not make their home debut until Oct. 25, but the Civic Center basketball court was already set up for their use with the lines painted on the floor for the three-point shot unique to the league.

Lee Finkelstein, one of the investors who was named by club president David R. Cohan as a vice president, said the nickname Hustlers "because that's the brand of basketball we want to bring here."

Finkelstein said the location of the Hustlers' new home just down Baltimore St. from "The Block," Baltimore's honky-tonk district, was definitely not a factor.

But now that they have a new name, the new owners must resolve such issues as selecting a head coach and players.

Joe Mullaney, who coached the club in Memphis last season and still has two years remaining on his $50,000-a-year contract, was being called the front-runner for the job by Cohan, but he was not in Baltimore Thursday for the official transfer announcement.

"If the switch to Baltimore had been made last Friday, I'd be the coach today," Mullaney said from his home in Memphis. "They all assured me the job when I met with them last week. But I haven't heard a thing from the owners since Friday. I'm just sitting and waiting."

Rams Waive Rentzel

FULLERTON, Calif. (AP) — Los Angeles Rams wide receiver Lance Rentzel, once the husband of entertainer Joey Heatherton and twice arrested in widely publicized cases, has been placed on waivers.

The Rams said Rentzel, 31, was waived because the team has four other veterans playing his position.

Rentzel was arrested in 1971 while with the Dallas Cowboys on a charge of indecent exposure to a juvenile in a case involving a 10-year old girl. He pleaded guilty and received a five-year probation sentence. Barrows Leads Crusade Singing

"The Christian faith is a singing faith, and a good way to express it and share it with others is in community singing."

SEMINAR SET — The Rev. Dr. John R. Claypool, pastor of Broadway Baptist Church, Fort Worth, will lead a three-hour seminar on Preaching from a Pastoral Perspective. He will deliver a series of three lectures in Midland giving area ministers helpful resources for preaching. He will be at First Christian Church, 1301 W. Louisiana from 8:30 a.m. until noon when luncheon will be served at the First Baptist Church, 2104 W. Louisiana.

These are the words of Cliff Barrows, music director for the Billy Graham Team. Not only has he sung about the Christian faith, but he has led in its being sung around the world. The Crusade will be at 8 p.m. nightly in Texas Tech's Jones Stadium on Aug. 31-Sept. 7.

His familiar and friendly voice has been heard on "The Hour of Decision" for the past 25 years. He also serves as program director for that broadcast.

Cliff Barrows has been the man responsible for the music in Billy Graham Crusades since the beginning — in the mid Forties. They have been together sharing the Gospel in almost every country in the Western world.

Barrows is a former Californian, being reared in Ceres, but now makes his home in Greenville, South Carolina, with his wife and five B's — Bonnie, Bobby, Betty, Buddy and Billy. His wife also is named Billie!

SHARON HOBBS

Christ's Fellowship Luncheon Scheduled

"Christ's Fellowship Center" ladies are hosting their Fourth Ladies Luncheon, which will be held at La Posada Restaurant, 206 Northwest 4th Street, on Saturday, September 6, registration beginning at 10:30 a.m.

The speaker this month will be Mrs. Sharon Hobbs. She is married to 2nd Lt. Warren Hobbs, a student pilot stationed at Webb Air Force Base.

Mrs. Hobbs attended Oral Roberts University for three years and was graduated from Trinity Bible College in Tulsa, Oklahoma. After her graduation she became a member of the Johnny Trout Evangelistic Youth Team. She, with a group of other young people, held meetings in churches of various denomination, spoke to civic clubs, appeared on radio and television, and spoke at Full Gospel Businessmen's Chapter Meetings.

In 1971 she left as a missionary to the Philippine Islands. She taught in Davao Bible College for two semesters. She also conducted child evangelism training sessions for the Assemblies of God, the Church of God, and the Southern Baptists. The most thrilling of all her experiences in the Philippines was doing evangelism among remote tribes on Mindanao and Pany Islands. Her main ministry was to encourage local pastors and to assist them in open air meetings.

Write or call in your reservation by Friday, September 5. Write to P.O. Box 2112, Big Spring, or call 915-263-4382. The luncheon buffet is $3 per person. Men are welcome.

The church moved to its present location in 1965 as Goliad Assembly of God from the building which now houses the D&M Garden Center.

The Rev. J. D. Ragan was pastor at the time. Their present auditorium was dedicated in November 1968 while the Rev. Melvin McKnight was pastor.

Special guest for the this weekend will be the Rev. Phil Sanders, Monahans. The Rev. Sanders and his wife will be singing and preaching in tonight's service at 7 p.m.

The Rev. Haskel H. Rogers will be guest speaker on Sunday. He is the West Texas district superintendent of the Assemblies of God.

The Rev. Terry Wilson, pastor, extends a warm invitation to everyone to join the congregation in these special activities. Each night service begins at 7 p.m. with Sunday services at 9:45 a.m., 2 p.m. and 7 p.m.

Westside Sets Special Sunday

Westside Baptist Church is holding a special Sunday, August 31.

It has been designated "Back-to-Westside" Sunday. Special services and activities will be held at each service.

Idea of the special event is not only to encourage persons to return from their summer vacations to active service in the church, but also to encourage those who have drifted away from regular attendance to return.

The church is located at 1200 W. 4th and the general public is invited to their special morning service at 11 a.m. Sunday.

"If you are new in Big Spring or have not yet selected a church home, Westside would especially like to invite you to take part in this service," the Rev. Gene Kirkpatrick stated here this week.

The Sunday School program also begins a new year at this time as a special effort is being made by the entire congregation for large attendance at "Back-to-Westside" Sunday.

Baptists Note Change

GLORIETA, N.M. — About 800 Southern Baptist pastors and lay persons meeting here have been told that current trends in church management are beginning to show results in achieving the modern-day mission of SBC churches.

Church management means directing the effort of the church program to attain the church's mission to its membership and community, said Reginald McDonough, SBC management expert. Management methods adopted in recent years are allowing churches to realize accomplishments in their mission.

McDonough pointed out that pastors, staff members, deacons, committee members and program leaders are beginning to strive together as a unit through new concepts in church management.

"Many Southern Baptist ministers feel the church's mission is not being accomplished," he added. "They say the church is not getting the job done in our communities; that it is virtually ineffective. They see the church as a large, unwieldy apathetic organization, whereas a more flexible approach to ministry is wanted."

'HIT MEN' RUMORS

Eight Accused In Oil Thefts

HOUSTON (AP) — Authorities have arrested one man and two others have turned themselves in, bringing to eight the number of persons in custody or free on bond in connection with the investigation of an alleged oil theft ring in Texas and Louisiana.

Five men earlier had been arrested or surrendered in Ballinger since charges were filed there last week for the first public disclosure of the twomonth probe.

H.K. Elrod, 31, of Houston, was arrested by Texas Rangers here Thursday. Elrod, listed by Rangers as an employee of H&R Oil of Lafayette, La., was arrested by Ranger Sid Merchant at the office of a Houston oil company.

Elrod, charged with felony theft of crude oil in identical warrants issued in Haskell and Runnels Counties, was released on bonds totaling $45,000.

Leroy Long of Houston, charged on felony theft warrants in Runnels and Haskell counties, and Richard L. White of Houston charged with felony theft in a Runnels County warrant, surrendered at the Harris County Sheriff's office later Thursday. Long was released on bonds totaling $45,000 and White posted a $10,000 bond.

The sheriff's office here said Ray Lovenburg of Houston was being sought on a Runnels County felony theft warrant.

Boyce Cox, an Abilene dealer in oil and gas leases, had been charged with felony theft and surrendered Wednesday in Ballinger, the Runnels County seat. He was released on $25,000 bond.

Dist. Atty. Royal Hart of San Angelo has described the alleged theft ring's method of operation as locating full oil storage tanks in the West Central Texas area and removing the oil into tank trucks for movement to other areas for sale.

The Houston Post quoted both Runnels County Sheriff Don Atkins and Ranger Merchant as saying they have found no trace of H&R Oil. The Post said it learned that an address listed on an H&R letterhead is a vacant lot in Lafayette.

The Post also said authorities have found no trace of a firm known as Fleets Petroleum Co., a name which investigators said was on one of the trucks hauling stolen crude.

Texas Railroad Commission investigators were checking records at Texas City Refining Co. to determine if about 1,100 barrels of illegal oil were received there.

It also has been revealed that the Railroad Commission is checking on the sale of 3,068 barrels of crude to a Sun Oil subsidiary, Sun Pipe Line Co., of Liberty.

"During the month of June, Sun received 3,068 barrels of crude from Eastern Petroleum Co. at the Sun terminal in Liberty, Walter Irwin, a Sun spokesman in Houston said.

"A portion of it was not up to specifications. Otherwise, we had no reason to suspect any irregularities."

Ronald Koenekamp, Eastern Petroleum president, said his office is cooperating with the investigation. The Casper, Wyo., marketing firm has a Houston office.

Koenekamp told the Post the crude was delivered to Sun's Liberty terminal in several shipments in June.

"We had a lot of problems getting documentation then as to what lease this crude had come from," he said. Koenekamp said the acceptance and delivery of the crude was terminated after two of the truck drivers were discovered trying to bypass an automatic analyzer on the pipe line.

"The pipe line will not accept sub-par crude and those fellows were trying to bypass it," Koenekamp said. "That's when we approached the Texas Railroad Commission and told them what was happening. We told them about the difficulty we had trying to get paperwork and asked them to take action."

The Post quoted Atkins as saying he has tightened security at his jail in Ballinger where four men were still in custody.

"We've heard talk about some hit men being on somebody's payroll," the newspaper quoted him as saying.

Burns To Write Bell Phone Customers Ted's Biography Must Request Refunds

BOSTON (AP) — James MacGregor Burns, the Pulitzer Prize-winning biographer of Franklin D. Roosevelt and John F. Kennedy, has contracted to write an "analytical biography" of Kennedy's brother, Edward, the Christian Science Monitor reported today.

The newspaper said Burns had agreed with the New York-based publishing house, W.W. Norton & Co., to write the work.

Burns won the Pulitzer in 1971 for his FDR book, "Roosevelt, the Soldier of Freedom." His book, "John F. Kennedy, a Political Profile," appeared in 1960.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Telephone customers who want a refund on intrastate long distance calls between May 15 and July 9 must request such refunds from Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., says Atty. Gen. John Hill.

Hill said in a statement Thursday that the refunds are part of an Aug. 11 court judgment in his suit to block Bell's proposed $45 million a year rate increase.

Bell reluctantly agreed to increase the long distance rates by $40 million over the next 19 months, rather than $90 million as it had proposed.

Hill said refunds would total about $2 million in general intrastate charges, with an additional $1 million in refunds going to WATS (wide area telephone service) customers.

On the WATS refunds, Hill said, Bell will automatically credit the bills of the customers, so they do not need to ask for a refund.

"We will examine Bell's progress on refunds again in 90 days," Hill said.

Museum Slides Shown

Two days this week Gerri Atwell, curator, showed slides depicting early Big Spring, with sound projected, to 951 students from Goliad Junior High School and Runnels Junior High. There were five teachers who accompanied the students from Goliad and six teachers with the Runnels groups.

New and renewal memberships received by the museum include Mr. and Mrs. Truman Jones, Helen Hurt, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Prichard, Stamford; Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Porter, Mrs. Brent Melton, San Jose, Calif.; Dr. & Mrs. O. P. Constantine, Waco; Mrs. Johnnie Lou Avery, Nell Brown, Mrs. Leora Flanagan, Mrs. Winfred Campbell and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Tanner.

The Texas Ranger Exhibit will close out Sunday, Sept. 21. Those who have not seen this traveling exhibit are missing a treat.

Tourist and local traffic through the museum has been heavy recently.

The museum's bicentennial coins are drawing strong response. The curator says many of the bronze and silver coins have been sold. Expected soon are bronze, silver and gold coins. Mrs. Atwell is hopeful they will arrive no later than Sept. 8.

MARK OPENING OF SCHOOL IN MANY CITIES

Fresh Wave Of Teachers' Strikes

By the Associated Press
A fresh wave of teacher strikes will mark the opening of school this year in cities and towns across the country.

New York, Los Angeles and Chicago, the nation's three largest cities, all face possible strikes and a nationwide survey by The Associated Press found contract negotiations stalled in hundreds of smaller school districts. Teachers have scheduled strike votes, printed picket signs and are already marching in some communities.

The National Education Association says that 19 teachers strikes are already in progress, most in small communities. Strikes are considered a possibility in 130 other districts, and the total will probably equal the 40 to 50 strikes that greeted the opening of school last year, NEA officials said.

Teacher salaries remain the main issue in most disputes, AP reporters found. Job security and class size run a close second as school boards fight to trim budgets. Teachers are also fighting to hang on to preparation periods, sabbatical leaves and other fringe benefits won in recent years.

The teacher surplus — unimagined a few years ago — has had a major impact on negotiations.

About 2.1 million teachers will be on hand as an estimated 44.7 million pupils return to public schools this fall. But another 200,000 qualified teachers could not find teaching jobs, including 115,000 of the 220,000 persons who graduated from college last June with teaching degrees, according to federal statistics.

"Job security has become a principal issue in negotiations, especially with the glut of teachers on the market," said Ralph Vatalaro, executive director of the Public Employment Relations Board in New York State. "With the economy bad and school enrollment down, especially in large cities, school boards are trying to cut back on staffs."

Strike threats have been voiced by teachers from New York to San Francisco.

"No contract, no work" say representatives of New York City's 60,000 teachers, and school board and union spokesmen said Thursday they were far apart on a new agreement. A cost-of-living increase is the main issue, and neither side will say what has been offered.

Los Angeles school officials offered teachers a 4.5 per cent pay boost. "The offer was ridiculous and was rejected out of hand," says the teachers' union chief.

The contract of Chicago's 33,000 teachers expires

Sunday and leaders of the Chicago Teachers Union have recommended a strike if there is no new agreement before school opens next Wednesday. School officials say 1,500 teaching positions have to go because of reduced state aid and the union isn't happy with what that will do to class size.

Picketing is underway in Nampa, Idaho and Great Falls, Mont., and strikes are underway in five Illinois communities — Belvidere, Harlem, Mattoon, Spring Valley and Urbana.

HOME

What is home? A blend of memories and mortar . . . walls and roof and smells of breakfast cooking . . . a place of rest at the end of the day . . . a feeling of possession, of belonging . . . a place of hates, loves, anger . . . center of things living.

Home may be a mansion on a hill, a cramped apartment, a farmhouse, a hovel, a new suburban split-level, the house Father built . . . but only to you and your family is it home. No one else may call it that. For home is a part of you!

Centuries ago a shepherd-poet felt this. Lonely seasons on the grazing slopes had taught him to love . . . to long for . . . HOME.

But he realized that, through this life and beyond, the nearness of God is part of the sense of home. Goodness and mercy would follow him all the days of his life. And he would dwell in the house of the Lord forever!

Court Orders Immediate Steps To Integrate Midland Schools

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — The Midland school district has been told by the 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans to take "immediate steps to dismantle the dual system in the elementary schools of the city and integrate them."

Midland school officials declined to make any comments on the court's ruling, saying they wanted to wait until they examined the order.

"It looks like we are back in district court," superintendent James Mailey said Thursday night shortly after the ruling was announced.

Thornton Harde, attorney for the school district, was not available for comment.

"The record clearly demonstrates that the Midland school district deliberately segregated Mexican-Americans from Anglo," said Judge John Minor Wisdom.

The six-page opinion cited five elementary schools in the 19-school system which, he said, have virtually all-minority enrollment.

The schools are:
—Lorenzo De Zavala, with five Anglos, 308 Mexican-Americans and 31 blacks.
—Washington, with no

Anglos, 13 Mexican-Americans and 299 blacks.
—Crockett, with 12 Anglos, 293 Mexican-Americans and 167 blacks.
—Milam with 31 Anglos, 224 Mexican-Americans and 187 blacks.

—Pease, with 10 Anglos, 78 Mexican-Americans and 388 blacks.

The court said the De Zavala school "which came to be known as the Mexican-American school ... has historically been an all-Mexican-American facility."

Judge Wisdom said that "Mexican-American students were bused into the school; Anglo students living near the school attended school elsewhere."

Mailey denied this, saying it was no longer the case.

The court noted that there was an old transfer policy which allowed a student to attend the school "in which his racial group predominated."

This was changed in 1968 so that transfers could be made without regard to race, "but by that time, the policy had become too established to be affected," the court said.

Midland was one of 26 Texas school districts challenged in 1968 by the Department of Justice and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The schools were ordered to set up a pupil assignment plan, but in September 1970 U.S. District Court Judge Ernest Quinn ruled that there was "no racial segregation or discrimination in the Midland Independent School District" and that there was a "unitary school system in full compliance with the law."

The two high schools in the city are integrated.

The ruling was appealed by the federal government.

GET ACCOUNTS IN ORDER 30-Day Limit Set For Texas Lawmakers

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The House Administration Committee voted Thursday to set a 30-day limit for House members to get their expense accounts in order before they are declared delinquent.

Atty. Gen. John Hill held a hearing Thursday before the House members who spend more than the $3,000 monthly allowed them for official expenses are in violation of state law.

The committee was told that it often takes 15 to 20 days after the end of each month before computer tapes are available so that each member's monthly spending total can be figured. Thirty days from the end of the month would allow the House staff time to find out the total and notify a House member if he is in arrears.

"We have only one House member who is behind now," said Jim Reynolds, who handles the House accounts. "I talked with him today and a check is in the mail."

Reynolds said, in answering a question, that the delinquent member was Rep. Sam Hydson, D-Dallas, who was overdue $1,700 for the month of July.

The controllers of the House purse strings balked at saving an estimated $180,000 annually on janitorial services when they found they might have to fire 20 porters.

"I think we should look this over and get some other bids," said Rep. Charles Evans, D-Arlington, to other members of the House Administration Committee, after hearing Henry Hill of Austin propose that he could take over House janitorial services on a contract basis for about $18,000 to $20,000 a year, including supplies.

House Sergeant-at-Arms Russell Kelley told the committee that the estimated cost in 1976 of cleaning the House chamber.

committee rooms, and representatives private offices would cost a total of about $196,287 — "make it an even $200,000" — with the present House staff of porters and janitors.

Kelley also estimated a janitorial contract would mean about 20 employees of the present House janitorial service would lose their jobs.

"What's costing you a lot of money now is that you keep a full staff here all day," Hill said. "My crews would clean up at night and be gone by the time you come to work."

The committee decided to solicit other bids from other janitorial services and consider them, along with Hill's offer, at the next meeting.

In other action the House committee voted:
—To approve spending $63,000 for 100 new electric typewriters, a saving of $4,000 before prices go up Sept. 1.

Dear Abby

Boy's Hair Is Unwelcome So Daughter May Split

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 21, and she's a very good girl who's never given us a moment's worry.

The trouble is her steady boyfriend, who is 23. I don't doubt that he is a very nice person, but he looks like a wild man from prehistoric times. He has a big bushy afro and a beard to match. Only his eyes and nose show.

I asked my daughter once, "How do you kiss him goodnight? Isn't it hard to find his lips?"

Abby, I'm just about ready to tell her that either her boyfriend has to get rid of all that hair, or I don't want her to bring him around me.

She is our only child and we don't want to lose her love. Please advise.

ALLENTOWN, PA.
DEAR ALLENTOWN: Accept the young man as he is. And if you don't quit hassling your daughter about her boyfriend's hair, you won't see hide nor hair of either of 'em.

DEAR ABBY: I am an astrology consultant, and my field seems to be most interesting to a lot of people. From day to day I get numerous letters and cards containing questions about astrology.

I am always willing to provide what information I can, gratis, even though it takes time from my work to do so. But the least these people can do is to send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope, since it is to their advantage to receive this information.

Postage is quite an item these days, and it is a shame that these requests land in the waste basket for lack of a stamped envelope.

ARKANSAS STAR-GAZER
DEAR GAZER: Believe me, I understand your problem. Multiply it by a thousand, and you'll have a fairly accurate picture of mine.

BODY SNATCHING, BAIT-AND-SWITCH TACTICS

Undertakers Exploiting, Deceiving Bereaved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission today accused the $2-billion-per-year funeral home industry of practices ranging from bodysnatching to bait-and-switch sales tactics. The commission proposed rules to stop undertakers from exploiting and deceiving the bereaved.

Announcing results of a two-year probe, the FTC said it found widespread abuses among the nation's 22,000 funeral homes.

In addition to the body-snatching and bait-and-switch tactics, the FTC said it found requirements for the purchase of expensive coffins for cremations, false claims for waterproof burial vaults and profiting on flowers, clergymen and pallbearers.

Edward J. Fitzgerald, president of the National Funeral Directors Association, said in a statement that the trade rules proposed by the FTC would appear to "cause considerable confusion both to the public and to funeral directors and might have an opposite economic effect on consumers than intended."

Fitzgerald accused the commission of leaking information about its investigation and proposed rules to the media before giving it to the association.

The proposed industry guidelines, supported by the National Selected Morticians, were submitted to the FTC by the association in April 1974, Fitzgerald said. To the association's knowledge, the guidelines never were submitted by the FTC staff to the full commission, he said, nor was either industry group given a chance to explain to the full commission why the guidelines would be preferable to trade rules.

The funeral directors association also questioned the commission's jurisdiction in proposing the trade rules. If some funeral firms are violating federal laws or regulations, Fitzgerald said, then charges should be filed against them.

At the same time, the FTC announced acceptance of a consent order requiring Service Corporation International — SCI — of Houston, Tex., the nation's largest funeral home chain, to refund overcharges for cremations performed during the past 4½ years.

The proposed funeral rules, if adopted, would override any state and local laws that prohibit price advertising and that require caskets for cremation.

An accompanying FTC staff document said state regulatory boards are often under the control of the industry, and that the general counsel of the National Funeral Directors Association, the industry's largest trade association, also is general counsel to the conference of state regulatory boards.

"The industry is well organized in terms of state boards of regulation and trade associations and uses its advantages to limit price disclosure, low-cost disposition, pre-need arrangements, and price advertising, all in the name, of course, of professional ethics and good practice," the Bureau of Competition paper said.

The proposed trade regulation would prohibit undertakers from:

- Picking up or embalming corpses without the family's permission, known as bodysnatching.
- Refusing to release remains upon request of surviving relatives.
- Suggesting that a customer's concern about price indicates lack of respect or affection for the deceased.
- Profiting on arrangements for flowers, pallbearers, crematory charges, clergy honoraria, musicians and obituaries.
- Requiring the purchase of a costly casket for immediate cremation, and refusing to sell inexpensive cardboard boxes or canvas or plastic pouches for the ashes.
- Misrepresenting the public health necessity for embalming, caskets and burial vaults.

—Bait-and-switch selling tactics, which display cheaper caskets in battered condition or unattractive colors.

The FTC staff said the average cost for a funeral and burial is about $2,000 and, based upon some two million deaths a year, raises the total outlay to $2 billion with projections of up to $2.8 billion by 1980.

Counting extras such as flowers, cemetery plots, grave markers and burial vaults, the total bill for funeral-related items is about $4.2 billion annually, the FTC said.

The federal government's share of the expense approaches $500 million, through Social Security and veteran's burial programs.

The FTC said the proposed trade rule was necessary because "funeral arrangements typically must be made under extreme time pressures by buyers whose bereaved condition may render them unable to protect themselves by careful inquiry or to exercise their normal care and business judgment."

In contrast with the inexperienced customer, the FTC said, "The funeral director is in the business of arranging disposition of the dead for profit . . ."

The FTC's consent agreement would require Service Corporation International to refund overcharges to customers of its 139 funeral homes in 16 states and Washington, D.C., since Jan. 1, 1971.

SCI would be required to refund actual overcharges to customers for crematory services plus a share of the mark-up paid by any customers who can not be located.

'Jack-The-Ripper' Kills 30 Look-Alike Girls?

MIAMI (AP) — A "Jack-the-Ripper" is responsible for at least 2 of 12 recent slayings of young women in the Miami area, and detectives theorize he may have left a trail of up to 30 bodies in five states.

Police say they have no firm links but similar slayings have occurred in California, Washington, Oregon, Utah and Idaho. Investigators speculate that the killer is a loner, a drifter and a sexual deviate.

In several of the Miami deaths and in most of the Western slayings the victims were white, under 30, had similar features and were drowned or strangled, officials said.

Each had long hair and pierced ears, was sexually molested and was dumped either down an embankment or in creeks or canals.

In most cases, the bodies were nude except for a single item, such as a necklace. None of the clothing or jewelry has been recovered, leading police to speculate that the killer may be a fetishist.

"When you go back into the dates of the killings, it's possible the guy started making his way east, leaving a trail of bodies behind him," said homicide detective Charles Mussoline of Dade County (Miami.) "But we have nothing concrete, except the consistencies, to link the deaths."

Detective Sgt. Erwin O. Carlstedt of Sonoma County, Calif., agreed about the lack of concrete links. "We don't have any physical evidence, not a scrap," he said.

But he agreed the slayings were similar.

"All of our girls looked alike," he said. "And Washington's looked like ours."

Dr. Ronald Wright, a medical examiner who performed autopsies on several of the eight Miami-area women killed this year, said he believes at least five were slain by the same man.

He said the other three as well as four killed last year may have been victims of the man.

Dade County police said they could establish firm links only in the slayings of Ronnie Gorlin, 27, and Elyse Rapp, 21, both found in the same canal last month after disappearing from a shopping center.

Carlstedt said when the California killings stopped in December 1973, a new series started in Washington. When those ended in November 1974, other slayings were recorded in Utah and Colorado, he said.

Like wine, 100 honors can go to a rubber bridge player's head and result in action that is later regretted. West's diamond honors lured him into taking one bid too many on this hand.

We are not thrilled by East's raise to three diamonds. The hand surely does not belong to his side, and a vulnerable sacrifice against non-vulnerable opponents is not the wisest course when playing for a stake. We have even less sympathy for West's raise to four diamonds. Even though the cards are favorably placed, he would only have been down two at that contract, and a double would have cost 500 points and left North-South in position to win a substantial rubber. As it was, West's determination to score his honors drove his opponents to a lucky game that South had the skill to bring home.

West led the king of diamonds, won by dummy's ace. Declarer now made the key play of a low heart from dummy. If East rose with the ace of hearts to lead a trump, the defenders would be able to clear three rounds of trumps, which would prevent South from ruffing a heart in dummy. But then the heart suit could set up without a ruff! So East played low, and the queen of hearts lost to the king.

West made a good shift to a trump, but declarer was in command. He won the jack, led a heart to the jack and king, and won the trump return with the ace. A heart was ruffed in dummy, establishing the rest of the suit, and declarer's only other loser was the king of trumps.

Observe that if declarer carelessly leads the jack of hearts from dummy at trick two, he can be defeated. East rises with the ace and returns a trump. Whether or not declarer plays the ace is immaterial. West will win the second heart lead and clear dummy's trumps while declarer still has a heart loser in his hand. In all, the defenders will take three heart tricks and a trump.
