

Democrat Wins Senate Runoff

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Democrat John A. Durkin says his smashing victory in New Hampshire's Senate runoff is a rejection of President Ford's economic policies and a warning to Congress to get to work.

"We have sent a message to Washington and I hope they listen," the 39-year-old Durkin told jubilant supporters in Manchester Tuesday night as his margin over Republican Louis C. Wyman swelled past the 20,000-vote mark.

The combative, wisecracking former state insurance commissioner, who will become the Senate's 62nd Democrat, pledged, "I am going to stand up, I am going to speak out and I am going to rock the boat in a responsible manner until Washington starts listening to the people again."

The decisive Durkin victory came in the unprecedented rerun of the closest Senate election in the nation's history and gave this once solidly Republican state two Democratic senators for the first time since 1855.

Both the turnout, more than 240,000, and the margin of Durkin's victory exceeded the pre-election forecasts of both parties.

Unofficial returns from all of the state's 299 precincts gave Durkin 140,273 votes, or 54 per cent; Wyman 113,044, or 43 per cent; and Carmen Chimento of the American party 8,853, or 3 per cent.

In the original election last November, three different tallies produced three different outcomes, with Durkin and Wyman each polling more than 110,000 votes and Chimento just 1,372.

Feuding New Hampshire Republicans had united behind the 58-year-old Wyman, who noted that in addition President Ford had "put his name on the line" by staging an 11-hour, 118-mile motorcade through the southern part of the state in his behalf last Thursday.

When the votes were tallied, however, Durkin had improved his showing just about everywhere, doubling his earlier margins in the cities of Manchester and Portsmouth and demonstrating increased strength in normally Republican towns.

"The people have spoken," said the disappointed Wyman. "I accept it in the spirit of the majority way."

He said he didn't think New Hampshire voters "would elect an organized labor candidate," added he didn't know why he had lost and declared the outcome "indicates that next year's general thrust of politics is going to be to the left of center."

His campaign manager, California political consultant George Young, said the controversy over Wyman's role in arranging a 1972 Nixon campaign contribution by Ruth Farkas, now U.S. Ambassador to Luxembourg, "had a chilling effect on Wyman's campaign."

NY City Classes Resume

By The Associated Press

As New York's teachers were ending a week-long walkout in financially strapped New York City and preparing to resume classes Thursday in the 1.1 million-pupil system, their Fort Wayne, Ind., colleagues voted to strike this morning.

The Indiana city school administrators immediately announced the schools would be closed.

The executive board of the 1,500-member Fort Wayne Teachers Association ordered a strike today against the system which has about 30,000 pupils.

An all-night negotiating session ended about 4:30 a.m. when Indiana state mediator William Leahy said negotiators had reached an impasse. He said the negotiators had met for about seven hours.

Association leaders said the dispute centered on teacher demands for a 10 per cent salary increase and binding arbitration.

The New York pact which cuts class time 90 minutes a week was grudgingly accepted by the teachers and already is the subject of parent protests.

Teachers voted 10,651 to 6,695 to accept a compromise settlement Tuesday, but some of the city's 65,000 teachers accused United Federation of Teachers president Albert Shanker of "selling out." Shanker called the new two-year contract one which "nobody likes," but he added, "We have gotten the most we can, given the fiscal situation in the city."

Eloise Leaves 25 Dead, Heads For Dominican

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — Hurricane Eloise hit the north coast of the Dominican Republic today with 80-mile winds and heavy rains after killing at least 25 people and causing extensive damage in Puerto Rico.

Puerto Rican officials said the death toll could rise because of a large number of persons still reported missing. They said damage amounted to at least $40 million.

The National Hurricane Center in Miami said the storm was expected to strengthen. But "it's too far away to know whether or not it's going to hit the United States," forecaster Paul Hebert said. "Torrential rain will occur over the Dominican Republic today and tonight, causing extensive flooding in many streams and rivers," the Miami center's 3 a.m. advisory said. "Heavy rain will begin today over Haiti (which adjoins the Dominican Republic on the island of Hispaniola), creating a substantial threat of flooding."

The storm center was located early today about 80 miles north of Santo Domingo, the Dominican capital, and was moving west-northwest at about eight miles per hour. More than 6,000 persons were reported driven from their homes in Puerto Rico. The dead included two persons crushed in the collapse of a building, two electrocuted, two drowned and an oil refinery worker burned to death when flood waters caused an electrical fire.

Bandits Captured

CADDO MILLS, Tex. (AP) — A Dallas County sheriff's department employee and the former chief of the Webster Police Department were charged with robbery and kidnaping today following robbery of the Caddo Mills State Bank.

The two men were captured after witnesses chased them down with rifles, Justice of the Peace Merrick Money said.

Charged with aggravated robbery and kidnaping were Tommy Lee Deal, 28, of Houston and George Patton Marshall, 30, of Garland, Tex., a Dallas suburb. Each was held in lieu of $50,000 bond.

Deal said he was police chief at Webster, just south of Houston, until January of this year when he resigned, officers here said. The Department of Public Safety confirmed Deal had been a Texas highway patrolman in the Houston area until he resigned in 1972.

The Dallas County sheriff's office confirmed Marshall is employed in its identification section.

Judge Money said the two men robbed the bank at midmorning and fled with an undisclosed amount of money, using Sherry Johnson, the bank president's daughter, as a hostage.

Several armed witnesses chased the men in their pickup trucks, fired at the bandits and ordered them to stop.

"And they did," Judge Money said. "I understand those robbers stopped, threw their guns down and their hands up and that's all there was to it."

FREE RIDE TO CELL

Danny Lee Thornton, 22, is in the city jail this morning charged with possession of marijuana.

Thornton hitched a ride with two fellows at the 7-11 Store at 18th and Gregg at 12:25 a.m. today.

The two obligingly took him to the bus station. He offered them a joint and proceeded to roll it for them.

The two men that gave him a ride were City Patrolmen H. W. Kloss and J. D. Hensley, who were off duty.

They decided to give him a ride on to the police station.

STUDY TWO SETS OF PLANS Vote To Build HC Coliseum Larger If . . .

The board of trustees of Howard College in its monthly board meeting Tuesday, voted to build the coliseum larger than originally planned only if the money is available.

An anonymous donor had offered funds to enlarge the facility and meetings were to be held this week to determine if the funds were still available. The difference in cost of the two sets of plans was $239,000, according to one board member at the meeting Tuesday.

Earlier in the year, it was announced that the Dora Roberts Foundation was prepared to contribute to the coliseum fund. The facility was authorized by voters in a bond issue voted earlier this year.

The second set of plans would add an additional 400 seats, fold-out seats and a larger floor, which would be utilized for more activities.

It was mentioned during the board meeting that "There are not many occasions when we would need more seats." However, the consensus was that "If we don't build it larger now, we can't go back."

PURCHASE BUS
In other action, the board approved the resolution to purchase a bus from Big Spring Independent School District at a $1,550 price.

Trustees approved the bid of John Sullivan Resco Inc. for $5,614 for air conditioning the adult education building.

Dr. Charles Hays, college president, told the board that the system designed for the building by the bidder "will in my judgment, be more efficient and quieter." He was careful to point out that in the future, partitions could be changed in the building without changing the duct work.

Vietnams Appeal To Assembly

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — North and South Vietnam, vetoed from U.N. membership by the United States, are appealing their cases to the General Assembly.

Their bid comes up first in the assembly's 25-nation steering committee, which holds its first meeting tonight.

To become a U.N. member, a country must first get the recommendation of the Security Council and then the approval of the General Assembly. Because the council on Aug. 6 refused to consider South Korea's membership application, the United States on Aug. 11 vetoed the applications from both Vietnams.

In a statement at the time, U.N. observers Dinh Ba Thi of South Vietnam and Nguyen Van Luu of North Vietnam said they were sure the General Assembly would "demonstrate the strong support of the great majority" of U.N. members for their admission and refer the question back to the council.

McGovern Won't Run In 1976

PARIS (AP) — Sen. George McGovern says he will not be a candidate for the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination.

The South Dakota Democrat, answering questions during a French television interview, made the comment near the end of the program.

He was interviewed along with former French foreign minister Michel Jobert, Egyptian editor Mohamed Heykal and Pierre Salinger, who was President John F. Kennedy's press secretary.

FAIR ENOUGH

More fair weather for the fair. High today and Thursday, mid 90s. Southerly to south-westerly wind 10-20 miles per hour this afternoon and 5-15 m.p.h. tonight.

Commissioners Can't Agree On JP Choice

After about seven hours of private deliberation, County Commissioners Court adjourned at 9:20 p.m. Tuesday.

No one has been named justice of the peace for precinct one, place one. Monday, the court will reconsider applicants but some officials seem unsure about the possibility of a unanimous decision.

Applications from nine men have been considered for the position from which Peace Justice Walter Grice, 78, retires Oct. 1.

"I don't know what tomorrow will bring," Commissioner Simon (Cy) work. Low bid was Roy Hester with $4,925.

SET FEES
The board reviewed the final financial report for the year. They also passed a resolution in connection with the fee set for tuition for low-income students from foreign countries at $14 per credit hour or $200 per semester, whichever is larger.

Members approved purchasing three key punchers, which had been leased, with the lease to be included as part of the payment. Total cost for the three was $6,862.

Dr. Hays reported that the dormitories were 75 per cent filled, which was much higher than the 52 per cent last year. He reported on the success of the Community College in Lamesa and expressed a hope to expand the one in San Angelo.

ADD PRESTIGE
The college president also told the board of his activities in the Texas Junior College Association. He has been invited to serve as an officer and wanted the board's permission because of the time involved.

Dr. P. W. Malone said, "I think it is an honor for Howard College for our president to be selected." K. H. McGibbon added, "I think it adds prestige to our college."

Daryle Hohertz, architect, then displayed two sets of coliseum plans for the board to consider. Dr. Charles Warren, board president, moved the meeting from the board table to the adjoining room to study the plans.

Board members present included Jimmie Taylor, Harold Davis, Donald McKinney, James Barr, Dr. Malone, McGibbon and Warren.

Dr. Hays, Mrs. Johnnie Lou Avery, Dean Ben F. Johnson, Dean Larry Key and Mike Bruner represented the college.

There will be classes for dogs, cats, farm animals, exotic animals; with subdivisions for largest, smallest, cutest, best-dressed, best behaved and best groomed. There will also be a special bicentennial dress class.

Domestic animals should have been protected against rabies by proper inoculation and all exotic animal entries should be caged or leashed in order to maintain control.

Thursday night will feature the Stanton High School band concert at 6:30 p.m. and a donkey baseball game at 8 p.m. in the rodeo arena. Tooter Whitmire and Mike Cathey were riders of the first and second place donkeys in the donkey race Tuesday night.

No Agreement On Answer

The hearts of many Americans (especially conservative Republicans) must have skipped a beat or two when Lynette Fromme pointed a .45 automatic at President Gerald R. Ford. What was in their minds was not just the possible loss of a President, but the thought of a successor.

President Nelson A. Rockefeller! A household word in a new context! But it does not roll off the tongue with ease or with pleasure.

Few Americans probably thought seriously of Rockefeller as a successor to Ford until that assassination attempt. The question is, what is Rockefeller?

There isn't much agreement on an answer. At one time as governor of New York, he was considered a liberal — in retrospect a liberal who had the good sense to get out of New York City and state politics while the getting was good. But in his last years as governor his philosophy seemed to have changed somewhat.

From the Attica prison riots on he was associated in the public mind with a stern approach to crime — reinforced by his advocacy of some of the most severe drug control laws in the nation.

Yet of late Rockefeller has adopted the raiment of the conservative. He wants the budget to be balanced. He went to Alabama to consort with the likes of George

C. Wallace. Whether he has been converted from liberalism to conservatism remains an open question. If he ever was a true liberal, though, he doesn't appear to be one now.

Ronald Reagan of California, for one, must have felt something like a heart attack approaching as he contemplated the possible assassination of Ford and the succession of Rockefeller. It would have been just about the last straw for Reagan, who is hungry for the presidency but hesitates to enter the contest. As an incumbent, Rockefeller probably would have been unbeatable as his party's candidate.

The crisis is over. But a lot of people were jarred. From here on they may look at Rockefeller in a new light. Perhaps they'll even be a bit kinder to him, recognizing the potentials.

Literary Harvest

Annabel Battistella, also known as Fanne Fox, the Argentine Firecracker and the Tidal Basin Bombshell, has added another title to her act. Now she's an author, telling all about her relationship with Rep. Wilbur Mills in as spicy a fashion as possible.

She's trying hard to see that her book, "Fanne Foxe," will make almost as big a splash as she herself did when she jumped into Washington's Tidal Basin last October. Her publishers claim 750,000 paperback copies already have been sold, and a second 750,000 printing has been ordered.

If it all pans out, she'll join a growing list of instant writers (her book is ghosted) who have profited from falling on evil times or into questionable situations. There's the Watergate crew, of course, plus assorted other miscreants from "Happy Hooker" Xaviera Hollander to Spiro Agnew who've found wrongdoing or moral turpitude the key to literary success.

Maybe all this will change college writing courses. Instead of learning parallel construction, stream of consciousness or the omnipotent narrative, aspiring young Hemingways might concentrate on drinking, lying, cheating, stealing and sleeping around. It might not make for better books, but it ought to make for fascinating classes.

My Answer

Billy Graham

I will soon be 88 years old. Obviously, I'm nearing the end. Can you give me any idea of what happens when a person dies? S. M. W.

The Bible has so many wonderful promises for senior citizens. Take the reference in Isaiah 46:4: "I will be your God through all your lifetime, yes, even when your hair is white with age. I made you and I will care for you. I will carry you along and be your Savior."

Now while the Christian has no immunity from death, yet it can be faced differently from others. The experience comes more as a friend than a foe — it is more a beginning rather than an end. When a believer in Christ dies, he goes straight into the presence of Christ — there to spend eternity with God. No such assurance is given the unbeliever.

From Paul's statement in Phil. 1:23, we infer there is no lapse between departing this life and arriving in heaven's glory. God has not given us as many details as we might like, but we know enough to have quiet assurance. The Bible says, "Death is swallowed up in victory..." through our Lord Jesus Christ.

Other Detente

Robert Novak

PARIS — A mood of "detente," unimaginable a year ago, between the U. S. and French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing is producing political dividends despite major underlying tensions, most particularly the sharp contradiction between Paris and Washington over the future of Europe.

"WE HAVE a detente now with President Ford," French Foreign Minister Jean Sauvagnargues told us at the Quai d'Orsay. "We both need it even though our interests cannot be identical."

A career diplomat and intimate of the French president, Sauvagnargues has helped end the rancid mood of suspicion and mutual recrimination which poisoned relations between his predecessor, Michel Jobert, and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. Early returns from this new civility show visible gains, of which an important part is increasing French cooperation with the military structure of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), which France deserted nine years ago, although staying in the alliance.

AT NATO's Brussels headquarters, French liaison officers are more closely involved in all aspects of NATO planning, a change that Gen. Alexander Haig, the NATO commander, is carefully cultivating.

One example: with the full backing of Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger, Haig now provides France and other NATO allies with superior American intelligence, thus voiding — or trying to void — the dangerous knowledge-and-consultation gap which split the U.S. from Europe during the 1973 Middle East war.

MORE TANGIBLE evidence of France's new cooperation with NATO were the U.S. maneuvers on the coast of France near Toulon several months ago. "This would not have been permitted in the bad old days," a U.S. diplomat told us.

There are other examples: growing French contribution to NATO in the form of essential communications across Europe and complete cooperation of France as vital storehouse for NATO's logistics back-up.

There was much satisfaction here over the U.S. decision to buy the Roland II, developed by the French with West German help, as the new, low-level anti-aircraft missile for the U.S. Army in forward battle zones.

NONE OF this means Giscard is thinking of rejoining NATO's military organization. His political base is firmly anchored to Prime Minister Jacques Chirac's powerfully-revived Gaullist party, which would regard any such change as heretical.

Thus, despite the warming trend, the fundamental conflict between Washington and Paris is far from solution. That conflict is over U.S. policy toward Western Europe and what one official here calls America's "insistence," led by Kissinger, "that Europe's role must be as a satellite revolving around the American sun."

WITH ITS own modest "force de frappe" (now being redesigned for MIRVable warheads at a huge future cost), France's vision of the middle-distant future perceives a far more independent Europe

Do You Need Cash?

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — There's an old chestnut, slightly marinated in cynicism, that banks are eager to lend money only to those who don't need it. A lot of struggling entrepreneurs believe this to be so.

Seattle-First National Bank didn't set out to disprove the notion when it began a course in financial management and controls for small businesses, but that's been the effect. It won some customers for itself.

It also earned respect and business from other banks around the country which seek to duplicate the goal of aiding small businesses run their affairs properly, at least insofar as bankers are concerned, and that's very, very important.

"We were teaching at a community college in the Greater Seattle area," said David Duryee, vice president, referring to himself and associate David Enger. "As the course became more popular the college became less enthusiastic."

Since both men worked for the bank, they moved the course — 10 classroom meetings one night a week, 7 to 9:30 and often beyond — to the bank's headquarters.

"We had room for 30 people, but 120 signed up," said Duryee.

Demand has been that way ever since, and many students have been turned away. The bank is now preparing to offer the $95 course statewide, and for $5,000 it is offering banks throughout the country the rights to certain geographical areas.

What they had done was to discover what apparently few other banks realized — that small businesses are eager for practical, immediately useable financial information straight from the banker's mouth.

"We don't have anything to do with theory or implications," said Duryee. "We say, 'Here it is, use it, and don't worry about where it came from.'" Case studies are used. Students contribute their own experiences to discussions.

The biggest single weakness of the small businessman, Duryee finds, is a lack of detailed and sophisticated planning, even prior to beginning the business, and then right on through — "Literally, they don't know what is happening."

The minimum planning of any business should include a pro forma income statement — sales, expenses and net income — and a cash budget for the next 12 months, he maintains.

The importance of the budget forecast is especially important to the small businessman in dealing with his bank.

"Sometimes during the year you're going to need cash," Duryee tells the students. "It can be very critical."

Bankers, who sometimes are considered enemies by small businessmen who keep poor records, like to be able to look a year ahead and anticipate the business' needs and plan on credit. They don't like to be surprised and mystified.

The Pill And Endometriosis

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you explain for me just what endometriosis is? I am confused about it. My doctor says it means that a woman menstruates outside of the vagina, thereby necessitating birth control pills.

What causes this? What do the pills do? A simple explanation would be appreciated. — Mrs. P.H.

Simple explanations are seldom found in medicine, but I'll give it a try. Begin by forgetting about the vagina. Consider the uterus and, more specifically, the uterine lining — the "endometrium." The "osis" ending of that word refers to a disease process — in this case to an abnormal growth of the tissue involved. How does this happen? The uterine lining undergoes changes throughout the month, beginning with ovulation. The cycle ends either with implantation of the fertilized egg (pregnancy) or with the sloughing off of tissue cells (menstruation).

Flecks of endometrial tissue can migrate from the uterus and be implanted elsewhere in the lower abdomen, which is a pretty fair description of endometriosis. It occurs in about 5 per cent of all women. The problem arises because the misplaced tissue behaves very much like the corresponding tissue in the uterus.

Thus, with the hormonal changes occurring at ovulation, the misplaced tissue responds appropriately, and the result is pain in its "strange surroundings." It is why a woman experiencing increasing pain during her periods is examined as a possible endometriosis patient.

Birth control pills prevent ovulation and certain changes in the endometrium, thus relieving pain. In endometriosis, the woman continues to menstruate via the vagina, as she would normally. I hope I've cleared up some of your confusion.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could you explain to me what a cornea transplant is? What is done to the eyes? How long is the recovery period?

If a person needed this operation and didn't have it done, would he lose his eyesight? Also, when a person is past 50, how often should he have an eye examination? — Mrs. V. G.

The cornea is the transparent portion of the front covering of the eyeball. It lies over the pupil. If it becomes clouded from injury or as a result of some eye disorder, the transparency is, of course, lessened, and eyesight is reduced. Progressive clouding would lead to total blindness in the affected eye.

In a corneal transplant, a donated healthy cornea from a deceased person is used to replace the damaged one. It has become a rather commonly performed procedure, and the success rate for suitable patients is quite good.

Top Performance

Around The Rim

Julie Simmons

I think everyone attending the Suez Shrine Circus Monday evening will agree with me that the star attraction was not a circus regular. The children of Howard County put on the best performance of any of the entertainers.

A CIRCUS just isn't the same after you grow up. Adults tend to be critical of the acts, comparing them with other circus acts they have seen. But to children, every circus is the "scariest, funniest or neatest circus ever!"

At Monday's performance, the children were the ones who sparked applause, clapping each time the performers gave a bow for the feat of skill and wonder they had just completed.

The clown acts moved the children to voice mass warnings of impending attack by the bad clown and to judge which flower had grown the most. The kids were as funny as the clowns when they issued their serious warnings, and some of them got "splashed" with a bucket-full of confetti for their efforts.

Those clowns were not the traditional red-nosed and orange-wigged clowns. I'm sure the kids didn't notice it, but the clowns were long-haired young men, more typical of your local rock guitarists than crazy clowns devoted to making children laugh.

RUNNING A close second to the children as best performers were the hawkers selling their wares throughout the two-hour circus. Two of the souvenir-sellers looked like genuine West Texas cowboys from ages past. The sheriff salesman wore a star on his plaid shirt, looked more like a chuck-wagon cook. He had a short gray beard and straggly hair topped with a flat cowboy hat with the front brim turned up. The other hawkers were the picture of the western movie's "Old-Timer on the roundup." His gray hair and beard were longer. I could just see him punching cattle and riding trails with the "Rawhide" crew.

Another salesman handles the Shriners' fez souvenirs, complete with one of the red hats perched atop his head. He returned to the crowd late in the second half with my favorite, the tweedy birds. He must have been from somewhere besides West Texas, because his call came out "Tweedy buhrrds, gecha tweedy buhrrds."

The children I could observe faithfully patterned these hawkers. Each time a new gadget was brought around, they turned to their parents or grandparents with pleas of "I want that." They soon appeared with flashlight derringers, circus coloring books, toys on a stick, balloons, cotton candy and inflatable animals.

If you didn't go this year because you felt you would not enjoy the circus, be sure to make it next time the circus comes to Big Spring — if not for the circus, go for the children; they will entertain you for an evening.

Indira Hits Back

William F. Buckley, Jr.

The news from India is that "the people" are not particularly distressed by Mrs. Gandhi's abolition of constitutional government. Indeed, if the report from Mr. Borders of the New York Times is correct, there is something in the air perilously like euphoria. One thinks of the glee that united Italy after Mussolini marched into Rome and put an end to the chaos; or, indeed, of the enthusiasm that greeted Salazar's headmasterly corrections of democratic and fiscal excesses when, under General Carmona, he took effective power in Portugal in 1928.

THE REASONS advanced for the tranquility in India are that the economy is doing well (in Indian terms, this means that the rate of starvation is not rising); the opposition leaders are unable to attract popular support — on the scale, say, of the Portuguese; there is the continuing tradition against violent action; and finally, there is a philosophical skepticism about democracy's capacity to solve major problems.

It pains one infinitely more to state the case for Mrs. Gandhi than, say, for Salazar, a deeply religious ascetic whose religion was not of this world, and who was therefore able to judge democracy exclusively by its works — and democracy had failed in Portugal. Mrs. Gandhi, whose father refused to condemn Krushchev's bloody suppressions in Budapest in 1956, early this year congratulated the Viet Cong on their victory in Indochina. It cannot, therefore, be safely assumed that the lady, any more than her distinguished father, winces at totalitarian excess. Still, having spotlighted her hypocrisy, one should be prepared to listen to her countercharges.

IN JULY, she wrote to an American woman who had sent her an editorial from the Miami Herald, entitled "Mrs. Gandhi, Your Slip is Showing." Mrs. Gandhi began by pointing out that the Indian Court that censured her for "corrupt practice" was insisting on a distinction never before observed: the equivalent, in American terms, of a Court of Appeals telling Ford that he was no longer president because he had used Air Force One for political business. Mrs. Gandhi went on, not very convincingly, to give the reason for her objection to the U.S. Naval base in Diego Garcia, ("The Indian Ocean is around India. That is why it is so called.") The Indian Ocean is also "around" Africa and Asia; and to suggest that her imprisonment of the opposition is akin to our imprisonment of terrorists, ho hum.

Letter To The Editor

Several weeks ago, I received an article from the Big Spring Daily Herald relating to the retirement of Rita Weeg. As a former student, I am saddened by the stepping down of such a gifted teacher.

All of us fortunate enough to attend her classes, carry many memories of her red pencil. Dr. Vincent Friedwald Jr., now a cardiologist in Arizona, once told me, "Never in all my years at Notre Dame did I have a teacher so demanding and gifted as Mrs. Weeg." I can truly say the same for my seven years at the University of Texas at Austin. I have never known anyone, who not only demanded but obtained the excellence she expected. She could scorn her students in a manner unsurpassed by none; yet we all worked harder to reach and obtain the degree of excellence she not only taught but practiced.

In the years to come, most of us will forget how to conjugate most Latin verbs and some rules of Latin grammar; however, we will never forget the high standards Mrs. Weeg taught us. Big Spring High has lost a great teacher and wonderful person. There are not enough words in the English or Latin languages to express our appreciation and thanks; however, I know just being Magnus Cum Laude for 34 years, in the minds of her students, is enough appreciation for her.

Robber Claims He Was Butterfly

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — A Philadelphia shoemaker who allegedly took his young son on a three-state crime rampage has testified that he's 1,000 years old and that he was once a butterfly.

Joseph Kallinger, 38, testified in his own defense Tuesday during his second trial on robbery charges. A mistrial was declared in the first trial last June.

Two other defense witnesses, a psychologist and a psychiatrist, testified in Dauphin County court Tuesday that Kallinger has mental problems, but they declined to classify him as legally insane.

There was no comic flavor to Kallinger's testimony, much of which he seemed extremely reluctant to give.

He is charged here with a Dec. 3, 1974, robbery he and his 12-year-old son, Michael, allegedly pulled at a suburban Harrisburg home. Michael, 13, is in a juvenile facility near Pittsburgh.

The father is also charged with one murder and other crimes in New Jersey and with assault and robbery in Baltimore. Authorities say most of the crimes, including sexual assaults, were committed by a man-and-boy team.

"I couldn't hurt anybody... I have never hurt anybody," Kallinger said during his articulate testimony.

"There have been evil forces trying to prevent me from doing my work. I could no longer block them out."

Kallinger said the devil was the evil force and that his job of repairing shoes was directly assigned to him by God.

He gave details of a troubled life — a disastrous first marriage at the age of 16, the prolonged and fatal illness of his mother, a daughter born with a rare and severe skin malady, and other problems.

"How long have you been alive?" defense attorney Malcolm Berkowitz asked him.

"My body's been alive 39 years," Kallinger said. He said he was 39, although his birthdate was Dec. 11, 1936.

"And your soul?" Berkowitz asked.

"A thousand years," Kallinger answered.

Q. What were you before your present body came into being?

A. The son of God.

Q. Did you have a prior physical form?

A. Yes... I don't see what that has to do with this.

Q. You must answer the question.

A. It was in the form of a butterfly.

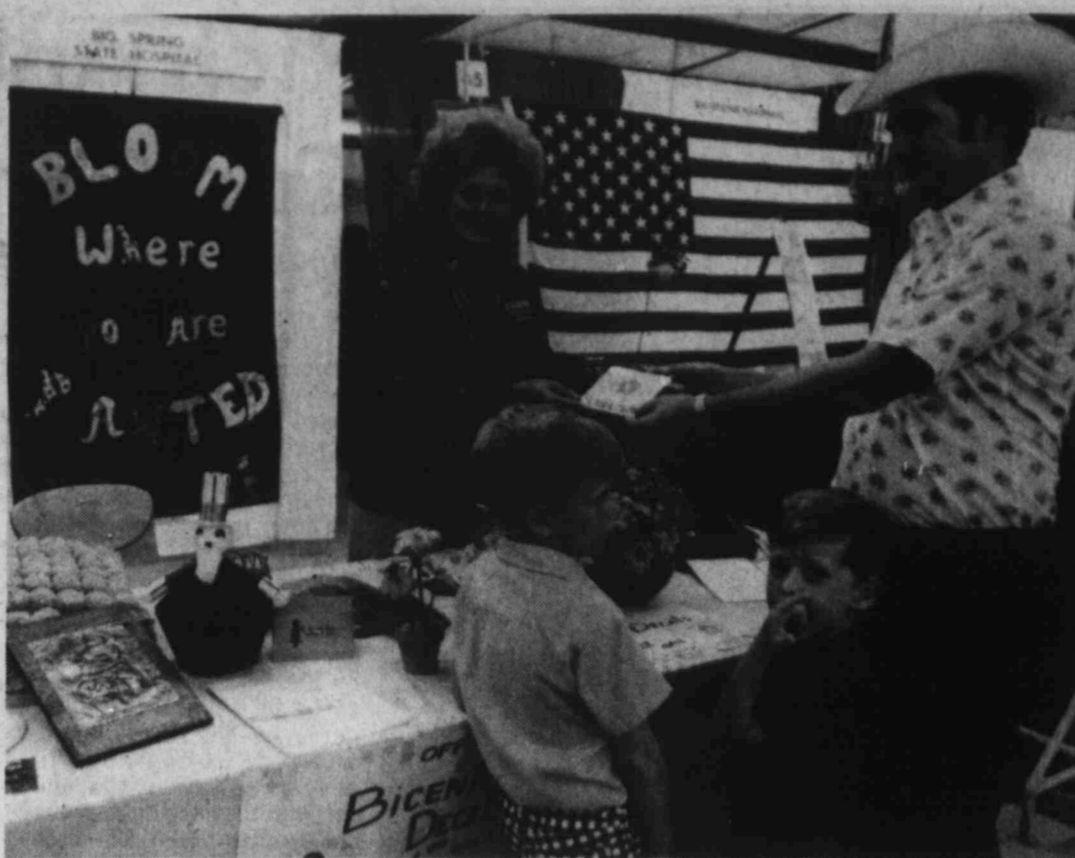

Q. Who decided to place you on earth in your present form?

A. My father.

Q. Who is your father?

A. God.

Kallinger said it was his mission "to get people's feet under control before 1978." He said God will return to earth that year.

Six Jurors Selected In Hunt Wiretap Trial

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Government and defense lawyers resumed meticulous examination of prospective jurors today in the federal wiretap trial of Dallas millionaires Nelson Bunker Hunt and W. Herbert Hunt.

Lawyers Tuesday qualified six of the required 32-member panel from which a jury of 12 will be selected to hear the case.

U.S. District Court Judge Halbert O. Woodward indicated the jury would not be seated and testimony will not begin until sometime Friday.

The defendants, sons of the late Dallas oil baron H.L. Hunt, are accused of hiring private detectives to illegally tap the telephones of several of their father's senior employees late in 1969 and early 1970.

Convicted on all six counts of the indictment would carry maximum punishment of 30 years in prison and $50,000 fine for each of the Dallas businessmen.

As the questioning of prospective jurors unfolded, it became clear the defense will attempt to show that the charges stem from legitimate efforts to uncover a multimillion dollar embezzlement scheme within the Hunt business empire.

Likewise, government attorneys indicated they will attempt to establish that despite the reasons such a crime is committed, it is nonetheless a crime under the law.

The prosecution also indicated it tends to introduce tape recordings of alleged conversations between three convicted wiretappers and the two Hunt brothers.

Since the Hunts were unaware of the conversations were being recorded, chief prosecutor Frank McCown asked potential jurors, "Would you reject that evidence because of the circumstances under which it was taken?"

None said he would, although some confusion by one prospective juror prompted a government attorney to ask that the person be dismissed for cause.

Judge Woodward overruled the challenge.

The Hunt brothers, Bunker, 49, and Herbert, 46, sat behind their battery of four lawyers Tuesday, scribbling notes and frequently conferring with attorney Philip Hirschkop, a flamboyant, mustachioed New Yorker normally identified with liberal clients and causes.

The Hunt family, particularly patriarch H.L. Hunt, has been considered ultraconservative.

The wives of the two defendants were in the courtroom all day Tuesday as was a third brother, Dallas sports entrepreneur Lamar Hunt.

Freedom In Danger, Warns Connally

HOUSTON (AP) — Former Texas Gov. John Connally says those who believe in the U.S. system of democracy "had better start defending it."

"Never before has our system been so in danger," he told a group of engineers, scientists and executives. "It's up to you and to me to defend our system."

"Show me a country that has no economic freedom and I'll show you a country that has no personal freedom," he said.

The former governor criticized Third World countries who have in recent days called on the United States to share its wealth with them.

Connally, speaking to some 800 members of the Gulf Coast section of the Society of Petroleum Engineers Tuesday, said he was alarmed that "the democracies which we helped to promote... have fallen slowly by the wayside."

To those countries who have been saying to the U.S., "You've got to deplete your strength," Connally declared, "I say nonsense."

He said the United States has "helped countries large and small" in the generation since World War II, giving away money, technology and exploring for natural resources.

He said the Third World countries now are "calling us exploiters because we helped, because we found the resources."

Connally said that oil companies have explored the outer reaches of the world and discovered oil "not just for us but for the world."

In return, he said, the oil-rich nations have boosted oil prices 400 per cent "not because of economics but because of political decisions."

He said this country needs a new generation of traders in its relations with other nations instead of generation of givers.

Connally said it may take a severe energy shortage this winter before Congress will deregulate the production of natural gas.

Hill Rules File Closed

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — An unsuccessful job applicant has no special right to look at two letters regarding his application, Atty. Gen. John Hill ruled Tuesday.

Hill's response to W. O. Shultz II of the University of Texas System law office was the attorney general's 110th decision on the Texas Open Records law.

Hill said an employe of a governmental body has a "special right of access" to information "in his or her personnel file," but an unsuccessful job applicant does not.

LACK OF COMMUNICATIONS BIG REASON FOR FAMILY WOES

A progress report on the Family Services of Howard County was given to members of the Rotary club at their meeting Tuesday.

Speakers were Ron Cohorn and Cal Calnan. Both men stressed lack of communications as a basic reason for most family problems. However, when underlying reasons for hostilities can be brought to the surface, improvement can be noted.

Bob Talley was program chairman.

Three new members were introduced. They are Dan Allen, Ray Williams and Rev. William Fleming.

President Frank Hardesty reminded members that the District Governor, Ralph McLaughlin, has scheduled his official visit for Sept. 29.

Ray Tatum and Jimmy Taylor are program leaders for next week.

Use Key Control To Slice Crime

"No lock will protect a place if a burglar gets hold of the keys. Many burglaries result from current or ex-employees having keys. Employers can greatly reduce this problem by implementing a sensible program of key control."

So said Sgt. Ed Kissinger of the Big Spring police crime prevention unit.

Kissinger recommended that businessmen monitor their employees' access to keys. When someone leaves the company, all locks should be rekeyed. (It's not necessary to have them replaced.) Also, when an establishment moves to a new location, a locksmith should rekey all the locks so that former occupants cannot use their keys.

"A manager or proprietor should be extremely careful about who has access to keys, to any part of his operation, even for short periods of time," Kissinger continued. "Particular attention should be paid to possession of keys by persons providing the company with maintenance contract services. If keys get lost, tumbler keys should be reset immediately."

Suggesting that business people always separate their home and office keys from their ignition keys when they leave their cars in parking lots or garages, Kissinger added that cars should always be locked and the keys removed whenever they're left unattended. He went on to caution against letting anyone "hide" keys above visors, under floor mats and so forth, because burglars know where to look for hidden keys, too.

"Identification tags on keys should be avoided," Kissinger said. "Tags tell burglars which lock they fit. Locks that open with skeleton keys are bad news, because anyone can buy a skeleton key in a hardware store."

In closing, Kissinger urged managers and proprietors to assign key control to one reliable employe, making keys available for legitimate purposes but easily monitored.

The commercial crime prevention program conducted by Big Spring Police Dept. is partially funded by the Criminal Justice Division of the Governor's Office.

For further information on key control and other aspects of the crime prevention programs sponsored by Big Spring Police Dept., members of the Big Spring business community should contact Sgt. Ed Kissinger at 263-8311, Ext. 45.

Man Gets New Trial In Murder

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A man who was sentenced to 10 years for the murder of his wife won the right to a new trial today because a state hospital psychiatrist was allowed to give testimony that implied other experts agreed that the defendant was sane.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals reversed the conviction of Carl Everett Hostetter, whom an Odessa jury convicted of the fatal shooting of Thelma Christine Hostetter.

Mrs. Hostetter was shot on Aug. 27, 1970, and died two days later. Her husband's only defense was insanity, backed up by testimony from a clinical psychologist and relatives.

Dr. James H. Kreimeyer of Big Spring State Hospital testified that Hostetter was legally sane. He added that the hospital staff and its consultants agreed with his diagnosis of passive-aggressive personality disorder and "episodic excessive drinking."

The court said this hearsay testimony "clearly bolstered the doctor's testimony relative to his diagnosis and was so harmful to appellant (Hostetter) as to require reversal of the conviction."

Duval School Official Wrote Phony Invoices

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — A former Benavides school official testified today that he prepared phony invoices, wrote school district checks for them, cashed them and gave most of the money to suspended District Court Judge O. P. Carrillo.

The former business manager and tax collector for the school district, Rodolfo Couling, gave the testimony in the income tax trial of judge Carrillo and his brother, Duval County Commissioner Ramiro Carrillo.

Couling testified that the Carrillo brothers brought him invoice forms from Zertuche's General Store. He said he also had some invoice forms from Olivera Implement Co., a firm that once had been operated by his father-in-law.

Couling testified that on April 10, 1968 he prepared a check for $3,017.75 to the Olivera Implement Co. because "O.P. Carrillo wanted some money and I made the check." Couling said he endorsed the check by signing Mrs. Elvira Olivera, his mother-in-law's name, and then endorsed it with his signature.

Couling testified that he prepared a phony invoice and issued a check for $334.26 to Olivera and noted the check was for building repairs. Couling said he endorsed the check himself, cashed it and brought it back to Benavides. He said he kept about $200 and gave the rest to Carrillo.

Asked what he did with the check, Couling told Asst. U.S. Atty. George Kelt he cashed it in a San Diego, Tex. bank. He said "I brought it (the money) back to Benavides and I gave it to O.P. Carrillo."

He also said he issued a check later in 1968 to Benavides General Store for $495.40. He said the check was marked "for school bus tire" but he said there was no actual sale involved. Couling said he signed the check "Benavides General Store" then also signed the signature of Arturo Zertuche and put his own signature on the back and cashed it.

Kelt asked where the money went and Couling said, "It went to O.P. Carrillo."

Troublemakers Keeping Busy

The troublemakers were out Tuesday night. A resident at 1315 Princeton reported their dog was shot while in its own back yard.

Two persons driving on FM 700 reported kids throwing rocks at their windshields and breaking them. One car belonged to Harold Abernethy and one to William W. Young.

Mrs. Hazel Trent at 538 Westover, Apt. 244, said someone came up on her porch and stole her hanging flower pot.

A burglar entered the rear door of Ideal Laundry and stole an undetermined amount of cash. Mrs. Ruth Studert at 1506

Oriole reported someone poured a bucket of pink paint on the back of their orange car and the paint did not match.

Another culprit hightailed it out of town with an H&H Roofing Truck which was found stuck in the mud nine miles out on the Andrews Highway.

Postpone Montoya Theft Trial

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The theft trial of state Rep. Greg Montoya was postponed today until Dec. 1 because of the absence of a material witness who had joined the Marines.

The witness, Joel Garcia, is stationed in South Carolina and cannot be compelled to respond to a Texas subpoena.

In dismissing the jury, which had not received a word of testimony, state District Court Judge Mace Thurman said, "It is going to take some time to obtain the permission of the Marine Corps for him to come back here as a witness."

One of Montoya's lawyers, Rep. Craig Washington, D-Houston, said if Garcia declines to return to Texas a deposition will be taken from him.

Montoya is accused of stealing the services of persons on his legislative payroll.

Rich And Poor Nations Can Conciliate, Says UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Western delegates to the special economic session of the United Nations General Assembly say they are convinced conciliation based on give-and-take is replacing the mood of confrontation between the rich and the poor nations.

They believe the final declaration the assembly adopted unanimously on Tuesday to narrow the chasm between the two groups reflects recognition by the industrialized nations of the Third World's demands for more power and realization by the developing nations that only through bargaining can they obtain the technical know-how and capital they need.

Jan Pronk, a Dutch cabinet minister who helped draft the declaration, said the lengthy document was "a commitment to commit something real and substantial in the very near future."

He said it was the first time in U.N. history that "serious, genuine negotiations" took place on economic issues. This is "a clear signal that we are entering an era of a new international economic order," he declared.

Pronk's assessment was endorsed by Thomas O. Enders, U.S. assistant secretary of state for economic affairs, who said the special session "put the rich and poor nations squarely on the path toward negotiations."

The session dealt with a wide range of economic issues including financing of Third World development, restructuring of investment and aid systems, food and agriculture, streamlining of the U.N. economic and trade agencies for greater efficiency and the creation of cartels among poorer nations to fix commodity prices.

Two weeks of marathon negotiations produced a 16-page declaration of intent on development and international cooperation, devoid of the inflammatory language some radical countries of the Third World group insisted on until the last minute.

Pronk paid tribute to the Third World group for "giving away" some of their "major" demands. Among these was the proposal to link the prices of the raw materials they export to the prices they pay for manufactured imports.

The United States in turn offered to work for financial machinery that would compensate developing countries for losses they suffer whenever international prices for their major exports drop seriously. The document also directs U.N. agencies to consider a Third World proposal for a system of buffer stocks, funded by the industrial powers, to stabilize prices.

The final report includes reservations by a number of nations, among them the United States, the members of the European Common Market, the Soviet Bloc countries, Austria, Japan and Spain.

Suits Could Ruin Gas Producing Co.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Houston lawyer Joseph Jaworski told the Texas Supreme Court today it would ruin Coastal States Gas Producing Co. if it is forced to fight seven lawsuits separately.

Coastal States appealed to the court to permit the company to dispose of the suits in one single court action.

Jaworski said it cost Coastal States $500,000 in legal fees to defend a suit in which a Bryan judge awarded the Lower Colorado River Authority $26 million in damages against Coastal States.

Jaworski said all the cases "derive from a common cause. What is that common cause? The gas shortage... the under-delivery or overpricing prevades all of them."

He insisted that Judge Robert Hamilton's court in Houston had the "dominant jurisdiction."

"The piecemeal adjudication" of the cases "doesn't make any judicial sense at all."

James Woolsey, representing Central Power & Light Co., disagreed that the issues were the same in all cases. He said that CP&L's nine allegations included seven that "have nothing to do whatsoever" with the pending United Texas Transmission Co. suit in Houston.

"You would merely have a bundle of cases under one cause number, and the judge (Hamilton) would have to sever" the other cases from the United Texas case, Woolsey said.

Chief Justice Joe Greenhill excused himself from the supreme court hearing because, he said, he and his wife owned stock in Central and Southwest Corp. of Chicago, the parent firm of CP&L. Earlier, he told a reporter he thought they owned about 100 shares.

The hearing was on five separate petitions against judges involved in suits against Coastal States.

Whitmire Wins Race On Blue

Tooter Whitmire's animals won first in the mule race and second in the team pull at the Howard County Fair Tuesday night.

Whitmire won the mule race on Blue, Mike Cathey, riding a mule belonging to Larry Greenfield, came in second.

And Red Man, a mule belonging to A. G. Mitchell, placed third. J. W. Fields, an Odessa Baptist minister, rode Red Man.

Fields was holding the reins on Red Man and Judy when the pair took first in the team pull. Mitchell's mules weighed a total of 1,100 pounds and dragged 1,770 pounds.

This was a larger percentage of their weight than that pulled by two animals belonging to Whitmire.

Whitmire's team weighed 650 pounds together and pulled about 1,000 pounds.

Witness' Blurt Indicates Important Testimony Today

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — A key government witness blurted a remark in the income tax trial of suspended District Court Judge O. P. Carrillo and Duval County Commissioner Ramiro Carrillo indicated the witness may give important testimony today.

Rodolfo Couling, former business manager and tax collector for the Benavides Independent School District, was called as the seventh witness Tuesday for Asst. U.S. Atty. George Kelt of Houston.

AFRONT
Kelt is attempting to prove the Carrillo brothers conspired with Arturo Zertuche, a cousin, to file false income tax returns.

The government claims the Zertuche General Store of Benavides was nonexistent and that the Carrillo brothers used it as a front to sell the county supplies from their own farm and ranch supply store in Benavides. It would have been a conflict of interest to sell from their own store.

Defense lawyers objected to Couling's testimony on grounds he had been promised immunity or some special favor for testifying. Couling, testifying outside the presence of the jury, said he has been indicted by a Duval County grand jury on five charges involving alleged thefts from the school district.

PROMISES

The former school official said he has agreed to testify in state and federal court because state prosecutors agreed to dismiss four of the charges against him and said they would recommend a probation term on the fifth charge if he pleads guilty.

Couling testified that the federal prosecutors had not promised him anything in return for his testimony. After a lengthy hearing, U.S. Dist. court Judge Owen Cox ruled Couling would be allowed to testify.

Couling, who appeared nervous, spoke rapidly and seldom looked at the defense table where the Carrillo brothers were seated.

He testified that Judge Carrillo endorsed a check for $1,321.46 issued to Zertuche's General Store Dec. 14, 1970 by the school district.

'CASHED IT'

Couling said the check was endorsed "Zertuche's General Store by O. P. Carrillo."

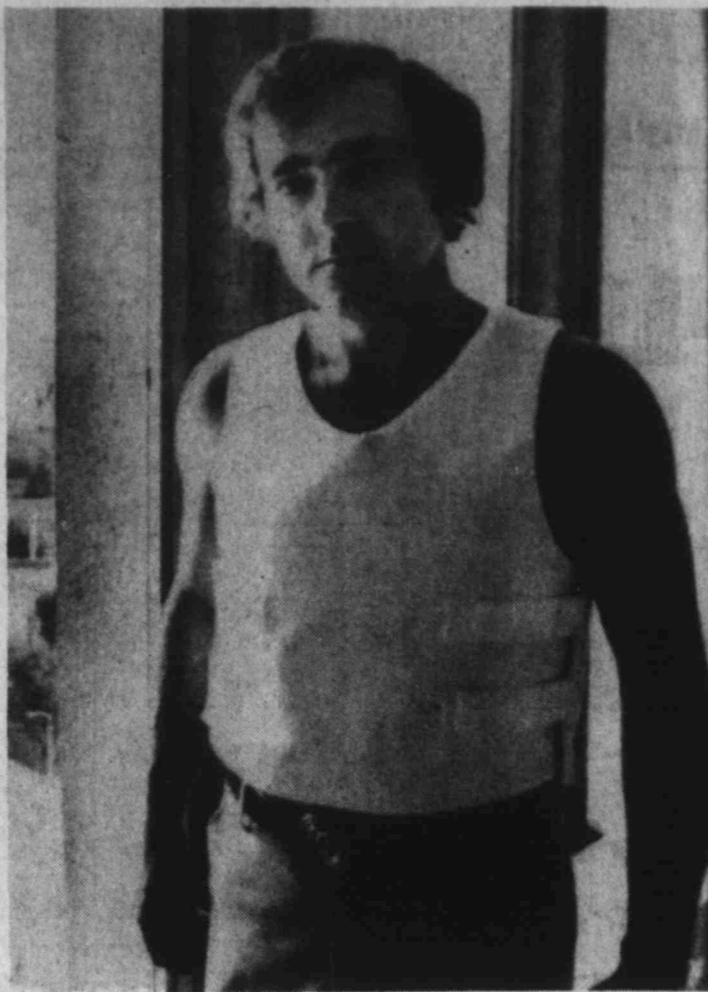

The former school official also testified that a $2,600 check issued to Zertuche's General Store in 1968 was endorsed by Zertuche and then initialed by Couling.

"I cashed it and I brought it," Couling said before defense lawyer Richard Haynes of Houston jumped to his feet to object.

"I didn't think we were going to get to that stuff today," Haynes told Judge Cox.

Kelt then began questioning Couling about other matters.

Hoover May Have Ordered Oswald Letter Destroyed

NEW YORK (AP) — Top FBI officials, "probably including former Director J. Edgar Hoover," ordered the destruction of a letter in which Lee Harvey Oswald made violent threats 10 days before he killed President John F. Kennedy, the New York Times says in today's editions.

The report said the letter made the threats against the Dallas police department. The decision to destroy it was made in Washington on the weekend following the assassination in Dallas on Friday, Nov. 22, 1963, the Times said.

The Times attributed the Washington-dated report to a source it described as familiar with the meeting at which the decision to destroy the letter was made.

According to The Times, the source said the decision to destroy the letter was made because of potential embarrassment to the FBI. And the FBI did not want to hinder the investigation of the assassination, the report said.

The FBI has maintained that it had no reason to believe Oswald was capable of violence and had not filed reports on him with the Secret Service.

The Dallas Times-Herald first reported the existence and destruction of the letter two weeks ago.

UT Students Plan Protest Rally

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Students protesting the selection of Dr. Lorene Rogers as the new president of the University of Texas scheduled a noon rally today on what Dr. Rogers admits is a "troubled campus." The faculty said it felt an obligation to hold classes, but added, "We pledge to inflict no reprisal of any kind upon students whose duties cause their absence from class."

An overwhelming majority of 650 faculty members voted at a special meeting Tuesday to demand Dr. Rogers resignation, even though she said she thought she had done what was best for the school.

"I had to choose between these two situations," she said. "Start the search process over again, because the (faculty-student) advisory committee and (regent) selection committees could not arrive at a consensus, or accept the nomination of the selection committee without the approval of the advisory committee."

"The need for long-range direction was weighed against the knowledge of the dissension that would arise from choosing the second alternative. . . I believe I made my decision in the best interests of the university," Dr. Rogers said.

The three regents who had opposed Dr. Rogers on a 5-3 vote last Friday appealed to the faculty to give her a chance.

"To deny her this opportunity would not serve the cause for which we have labored but would encourage trial by combat and breed chaos whenever there is a temporary loss," said a statement by Mrs. Lyndon Johnson, Dr. James Bauerle and Thomas Law.

The resolution adopted by the faculty said the advisory committee had unanimously rejected Dr. Rogers as a possible president on four separate occasions.

This "extraordinary cynicism" and "blatant disregard of the processes of orderly university government" will make it "well nigh impossible" to attract qualified candidates in the future, the resolution said.

Can't Meet

Uranium

Requirements

DALLAS (AP) — Westinghouse Electric Corp. has told the Dallas Power & Light Co. that it cannot meet contracts to supply uranium ore to fuel the Commanche Peak nuclear power plant being built in Glen Rose.

The contract covered the first three years of the plant's operation, from 1980 to 1983.

A Westinghouse spokesman said the company considers the full portion of the contract with DP&L void.

A DP&L spokesman said the price of uranium under the original Westinghouse contract is about $8 to $9 per pound.

Westinghouse spokesman said that the price for uranium to be delivered in 1980 is now about $30 per pound.

The Westinghouse announcement apparently came after the company realized it did not have enough ore on hand or under contract to meet promises to deliver 70 million tons of uranium.

To make up the shortage, Westinghouse would have to buy ore at the current $26 per pound price.

The company says that the "commercial impracticability" of delivering at the low contract price excuses them from the contractual obligation to deliver.

DP&L has contracted with Exxon to provide uranium fuel from 1983-1999. That contract has a fuel escalation clause.

ACLU Says Jail Conditions Bad

HOUSTON (AP) — An attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union says the population of the Harris County jails has increased by 500 since county commissioners agreed in February to improve the overcrowded conditions.

Gerald Birnberg also told a federal court hearing Tuesday that the number of inmates released on bond in the pre-trial release program has decreased by 80 per cent since December.

"Animals in the city dog pound enjoy more humane conditions than the inmates of the county jails," Birnberg told U.S. District Court Judge Carol O. Bue.

The hearing was convened to enable Bue to determine if a $15 million proposal by the county would sufficiently improve the jail system to satisfy the requirements of an out-of-court settlement of a 1972 federal court suit filed by six jail inmates. The inmates had alleged that conditions in the jail violated their constitutional rights.

Birnberg told the hearing that prisoners go without water because there are not enough faucets; prisoners sleep on floors and benches because no beds are available; and prisoners have only 20 square feet of

Oil Nominations Down From September Total

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — October requests for Texas crude oil have fallen far below September nominations because Exxon did not submit a complete total, the Railroad Commission announced Tuesday.

"This unusually large decrease in nominations is due to the fact that Exxon

Four New Shows Get Good Ratings

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Last week, 18 new shows began their fall season runs. Now, the national Nielsen are in, bringing the new folks the traditional good and bad news of "premiere week" on the networks.

Only four newcomers — CBS' "Phyllis" and "Switch" and ABC's "Starsky and Hutch" and "When Things Were Rotten" — wound up among the 20 top-rated shows in the week ending Sept. 14.

"Phyllis" got off to a nice third-place start, while "Switch" copped seventh place, "Starsky and Hutch" took 10th place and "When Things Were Rotten" was rated 20th in viewer popularity.

Four other new shows — NBC's "Joe Forrester," ABC's "On the Rocks," CBS' "Joe and Sons" and ABC's "Welcome Back, Kotter" — got good, fairly good and passing marks in the Nielsen audience samples.

They were ranked 23rd, 28th, 36th and 37th, respectively, in viewer popularity out of 66 network shows rated last week.

But 10 other new shows got sub-marginal to disaster grades in the ratings, most notably CBS' "Three for the Road" on Sunday. It was the lowest-rated of all network prime-time shows last week.

The nine other slow-starting newcomers, in order of their descending ratings, were NBC's "Invisible Man," "Ellery Queen" and "Doctor's Hospital," CBS' "Doc," ABC's "Swiss Family Robinson," CBS' "Kate McShane," NBC's "Medical Story" and ABC's "Barbary Coast" and "Mobile One."

Keep in mind that the estimated "premiere week" ratings for new and returning shows — and more importantly, how they did against the competition in their time periods — may change markedly in coming weeks.

Viewers now only are sampling the new-season wares, and it may be a month until any real viewing patterns emerge.

Consider CBS' highly-publicized "Beacon Hill." It premiered on a Monday three weeks ago against a "Lizzie Borden" rerun on ABC and baseball on NBC. It won its time period and was the week's top-rated show.

The next week, it again won its time period, starting in its regular Tuesday time period against TV movie reruns on ABC and NBC.

Last Tuesday, facing its first real test against NBC's new "Joe Forrester" and ABC's returning "Marcus Welby," it was third in its time period, getting a 27 per cent share of the estimated national audience against the winning 36 per cent share copped by NBC's entry.

Whether this will continue probably won't be known until mid-October. But even if such is the case, CBS may stick with it to see what happens, as it did with "The Waltons," which now is in its fourth season.

For the record, CBS' "All in the Family," an instant hit when it premiered, is back at it again, despite its shift from Saturday to Monday nights this season.

It reopened last week as the nation's top-rated show.

TOP GOBBLER FOR '76 — In the "Spirit of '76" for the bicentennial, Jason Loughmiller outfitted his turkey in red, white and blue bunting with a flag headdress during the fourth annual Daviess County Turkey Trot Festival in Montgomery, Ind., recently. In addition to the costume competition, four days of live turkey racing attracted more than 35,000 to the small southwestern Indiana town.

Marshal Jailed, Victim Found

HONDO, Tex. (AP) — Castroville town marshal Frank Hayes remained jailed in this South Texas city today while a funeral home 400 miles away arranged to return the body of the man Hayes is charged with slaying.

The body of Richard Morales, 26, of Castroville, just west of San Antonio, was recovered Tuesday night from a three-foot grave near Carthage in Panola County, deep in the Piney Woods of East Texas.

It was taken to the Hawthorne Funeral Home in Carthage pending arrangements to return it to Hondo.

A Panola County Sheriff's office spokeswoman said the body was buried near the Midyett community, about six miles from the Louisiana border. It was in a pasture about two miles from a road and was recovered by two Texas Rangers from South Texas and Panola County Sheriff Johnnie Bradley.

Hayes' wife, Dorothy, accompanied the Rangers to Carthage Tuesday. She led officers to the gravesite, which the spokeswoman said was on "Mrs. Hayes old homestead," a farm now run by her brother.

The Rangers and Mrs. Hayes returned to South Texas Tuesday night.

Hayes is being held in the Medina County Jail under $50,000 bond.

Also charged in the shotgun slaying is Dennis Dunford, 17, of Geronimo Village. He was to marry Hayes' daughter Oct. 6.

Medina County Sheriff Charles Hitzfelder gave this account:

Castroville deputy marshal Donald McCall told Hitzfelder he had arrested Morales Sunday for questioning in connection with a burglary.

McCall said he was ordered by Hayes to take Morales to a gravel road seven miles from Castroville.

Hayes then ordered Morales out of the deputy's car and that his handcuffs be removed.

McCall then told Hitzfelder that Hayes took a 12 gauge shotgun from his vehicle and ordered McCall to leave.

McCall said he heard a muffled shot after he had driven about 200 yards down the road.

Hitzfelder said Dunford told him that he helped Hayes put the body in the trunk of the marshal's car.

Rangers found a 12-gauge shotgun at Hayes' home.

Hitzfelder said a car was stopped Tuesday near Llano and two shovels and a pick axe were found in the blood-stained trunk. In the car were Mrs. Hayes, 49, and her sister, Mrs. Alice Baldwin of San Antonio. The Hayes' 18-year-old daughter was located at a home on Lake Lyndon B. Johnson.

DESEGREGATION PLAN Judge Orders Dallas Schools Back To The Drawing Board

DALLAS (AP) — A federal judge has ordered the Dallas school board to take its desegregation plan back to the drawing board and to meet behind closed doors until it comes up with a constitutional plan.

U.S. District Court Judge William M. Taylor Jr. ruled Tuesday the plan proposed by the board only six days earlier was "patently unconstitutional" because it left at least 46 one-race schools.

The plan had called for desegregating 73 mostly white schools by pairing, clustering and the busing of about 18,000 pupils, mostly black. The district has about 142,000 pupils — 46.28 per cent Anglo, 41.39 per cent black and 11.53 per cent Mexican-American.

BOARD FAILED The judge said in his ruling the board failed to "address itself to providing for a quality education" and said it "did not uphold its end of the bargain."

Taylor emphasized that he wanted negotiations on a new plan to take place out of the public eye, saying, "I want the participants in these conferences to be left alone for information and leaks. The reasons are simple — it's not to procure secrecy alone."

He appointed a desegregation expert, Dr. John Finger of Rhode Island University, to aid in drawing up a new plan.

The board members, who had agreed on the plan by a narrow 5-4 vote, expressed varying reactions to Taylor's decision.

NOT SURPRISED Charles Fletcher, who voted for the plan, said, "I'm disappointed but I'm not surprised. We're still at that giveaway stage. Nobody knows what is constitutional any more. We worked hard coming up with the plan, harder than he (Judge Taylor) worked rejecting it."

One of those who opposed the plan, Kathryn Gilliam, said, "I'm not surprised. I don't see that Judge Taylor had any alternative."

Board President Bill Hunter, who also voted against the plan, would only say, "I have no comment — either as an individual or for the board."

Odessa Porter, president of the United Council of Black Parents and Citizens, said she was "elated" at Taylor's rejection of the plan. "He had no choice," she said.

DISD CAN "There's no doubt in my mind that the Dallas Independent School District has the resources to come up with a plan," said Mrs. Porter, who has four children, including three now being bused, in the Dallas schools.

The Rev. H. Rhett James, chairman of the metropolitan branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), said Taylor's ruling was "great justice to the judiciary in branding the school board plan as blatantly unconstitutional."

Taylor also rejected an alternative plan submitted by the NAACP, a move James admitted he expected because the plan "bused everybody."

In his ruling, Taylor criticized the Dallas business community for what he called its lack of support for the school board.

"I think the business leaders of Dallas have defaulted," he said. "They have left the district to face their problems alone. This is the height of shortsightedness."

Some business and civic leaders disagreed with the judge.

"I'm surprised at his making that remark," said merchant Charles Cullum. "I have been under the impression that the business community has been continuously working with the school district and minority groups in attempting to bring progress in this area."

Banker R.L. Thornton Jr. said he felt business should not interfere, adding, "When a group of people is elected to be the school board they are charged with that responsibility. To me, when others get involved it is interference and not help."

Taylor also had words for the foes of busing.

"I wish the antibusing advocates would direct their energies to a positive and constructive end — quality education for our children," he said.

The judge turned down a motion by seven suburban school districts that they be excluded from a consolidation suit filed by the plaintiffs in the desegregation action.

Taylor scheduled an Oct. 6 hearing for evidence on the consolidation matter. He must report progress on the desegregation plan to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans by Oct. 15, and the hearing set for Oct. 6 will continue uninterrupted until a new plan is ready.

Indians Offer $24 For Manhattan Isle

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Smoke signals on the horizon here spell heap good news for financially-strapped New York.

Message say Tigua Indians will pay $24 and some beads for New York City, then get hell off island and take buildings with you.

"Yes, it's all tongue in cheek," admits Bill Newkirk, tourist coordinator for the Tiguas. "But he adds the Tiguas will be happy to live up to their offer should New York Mayor Abraham Beame accept."

The Tiguas are a band of 650 Indians nestled among the foothills and sand along the Rio Grande. It is unlikely one has ever been to any of Texas' major cities, much less metropolitan New York.

"The Tiguas couldn't afford a pouch of tobacco," said Alton Griffin, consultant to the Texas Indian Commission.

"That's true," Newkirk said. "They are very poor. But the tribal council voted and decided they'd buy New York for the same price the Mohicans got for it. They figure that if New York is in such financial straits people up there would be happy to sell out and leave."

Newkirk quoted Jose Garmillo, the ciccio, or tribal chief who speaks no English.

Manhattanites who might decide to stay behind after the sale should have no fear of the Tiguas.

The tribe moved into this area with the Spaniards in 1680 and maintained a pastoral lifestyle of farming and crafts.

"But many of them served as scouts with the 10th Cavalry in West Texas during the old days," Newkirk said. "And they served bravely."

Newkirk said the Tiguas, who earn a modest living through various handicrafts, do not want New York City as it now exists. "The people who live there can take all the buildings and other improvements with them. The Indians want to return it to its pristine, native state," he said.

The Tiguas are governed by the TIC, not the federal Bureau of Indian Affairs as are most Indian tribes therefore they receive no federal money, Newkirk said.

"They are very poor. They live in adobe houses and their income comes from jewelry, leather, silver, and pottery goods they make," he said.

Should the Tiguas succeed in buying Manhattan, dude ranch owner Dieter Gerzysch wants to buy the Statue of Liberty to place as a tourist attraction at his ranch 35 miles from here.

"Unfortunately, it belongs to the U.S. government and I don't think they will sell," said Gerzysch.

"If they should, however, I also own a moving company."

Crystal Clear Changes OF CB Rules Revealed

Howard County area CB Radio operators have good news in the form of new, more relaxed operating rules from the Federal Communications Commission. According to Big Spring 5-Watter Radio Club REACT Team, the changes, effective Sept. 15 are intended to simplify operating procedures and make it easier for every CBER to operate in full compliance of FCC rules.

The Howard County REACT Team is an organization of dedicated volunteers providing emergency communications using Citizens Two-Way Radio. It is affiliated with REACT International, Inc., an independent, non-profit public service organization, headquartered in Chicago, Illinois.

REACT Team President J. D. Campbell pointed out, "The major objective of the changes is to encourage operators to identify themselves by using the FCC assigned call sign." The following summarizes the most significant changes, and interpreted by REACT International Headquarters:

Restrictions on the contents of transmissions are greatly reduced. Prohibitions of "hobby" communications are removed. What this means is that the Commission will not be enforcing rules regarding what a person says on CB except profanity, playing music, selling merchandise, etc. This is a highly significant change designed to eliminate the fear of identification. No longer will discussion of equipment, radio checks or "chit-chat" result in violation notices. Transmissions in excess of 150-miles ("skip") continue to be illegal.

Now any licensee can call any other licensee on any channel.

Channel 11 becomes an official call channel. This is for calling and contact only.

Station identification is now required only for your own call letters and you do not have to state the call letters of the party to whom you are speaking. This is to encourage all operators to identify properly using call letters. "Handles" may be used in addition to call letters.

Length of transmission time is retained at five minutes, but the interval between transmission is reduced from five minutes to one minute.

Relaying communications for others is now permitted. The length of the relay is limited to no more than the 150 mile distance from the origin of communications.

Antenna height restrictions now apply equally to receiving antennas as well as transmitting antennas.

Channel 9 continues to be reserved for motorist assistance and emergency communications. With Channels 9 and 11 reserved for emergency and calling purposes, respectively, the wide spread use of Channel 10 by truckers and other moving vehicles is inadvertently interfering with operations on Channel 9 and will interfere with the calling procedures on Channel 11. The FCC specifically "recommends that Citizens Radio users or members of the traveling public volunteer a good faith effort to prevent unintentional 'bleed over' interference by reducing operations on channels adjacent to Channel 9 on the Citizens Radio Service. We recommend that all highway travelers communicate on a permissible channel other than Channel 10, preferably on several channels removed from Channels 9 and 11."

This suggests the possibility of extending the present use of Channel 19 by Western truckers for use by all moving vehicles in the U.S. and Canada.

J. D. Campbell, REACT Team President, pointed out that additional proposed changes are still pending which would increase the number of channels in the Citizens Radio Service from 23 to 70. He also reminded local residents, that the Howard County REACT Team maintains a monitoring system on Channel 9 to provide them with motorists assistance and to handle all CB emergency calls.

FREE AT LAST — Wilbert Lee (L) and Freddie Pitts will leave the Florida State Prison at Raiford this Friday after receiving a full pardon by Gov. Reubin Askew and the Florida Cabinet. They've been behind bars since 1963 for the murders of two white men in Port St. Joe, Fla. A white convict has said he, not Pitts and Lee, killed the two men. The pardon was granted Tuesday. Free After Man Admits Murder

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Two more nights in a cell and Freddie Lee Pitts and Wilbert Lee will be free at last after 12 years and 48 days in prison for murders another man confessed to nine years ago.

"I want to head out of here, crawl off by myself and unwind," the 31-year-old Pitts said Tuesday after he learned that final action had been completed on a pardon.

"I just want to see that pardon," said Lee, 40.

The two black men will walk out of the Florida State Prison at Raiford as free men on Friday, then they will be whisked into seclusion by supporters who fought for 10 years to free them.

"I feel a bittersweet sense of great joy and yet underlying sorrow," said Public Defender Phillip Hubbert of Miami. "Joy at this incredible victory after long, hard years and sorrow that it didn't come sooner."

Pitts and Lee were convicted by an all-white jury of the July 1963 execution-style murders of service station attendants Jesse Burkett and Grover Floyd Jr. at Port St. Joe.

They had confessed to the murders, but later claimed that they were coerced and beaten into confessing.

Sentenced to death in the electric chair, they spent most of their first nine years in prison confined to 6-by-9 foot Death Row cells.

Man Asks Daughter Be Allowed To Die

MORRISTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Joseph T. Quinlan says he is convinced after many prayers it is "our Lord's will" that his adopted daughter Karen be allowed to die.

Karen Ann Quinlan, 21, has been in a coma since April 15 and only a hospital's respirator stands between her and death. Her father has filed suit in Superior Court here asking permission to disconnect the machine.

(AP WIREPHOTO)
NO HOPE — Karen Ann Quinlan, 21, who has been in a coma since April 14, is the subject of a suit that seeks to have doctors disconnect a respirator that has been keeping her alive. Doctors say she has suffered "irreparable" brain damage with no hope of recovery.

Quinlan, his wife Julia and two younger children, all devout Roman Catholics, disapprove of euthanasia — mercy killing — and believe Karen already is dead except for the functions provided by the machine.

The 50-year-old Quinlan said of his decision Tuesday, "I was the last to hold out because both my wife and my other daughter were critically ill in the past and the Lord always answered my prayers before. But after a lot of prayers I became convinced this is what God's will was, that Karen was being called by Him."

Mrs. Quinlan said, "She is just a vegetable. She is not alive."

The Quinlans, who live in Roxbury Township, sought the counsel of Catholic priests at their parish, Our Lady of the Lake, in nearby Mount Arlington. Paul W. Armstrong, Quinlan's attorney, said priests concurred in their decision. Armstrong said his research showed Catholic doctrine differentiates between acting to take a life and removing devices that "artificially" sustain life in a hopeless case.

Government Control Not Needed For Oil

HOUSTON (AP) — The director of the U.S. Geological Survey said today a government monopoly does not include qualities that are required for successful petroleum explorations.

Dr. W. E. McKelvey said some proposals now before Congress would put the government squarely in the business of oil exploration. He said a matter of such immense significance deserves much more analysis than it has so far received.

McKelvey, in remarks prepared for an energy policy seminar, said he has no position on the matter but that successful petroleum exploration "demands the widely varied experience, the differing insights, the intuitive hunches, and the outright heresy that are available in a large group of participants."

"These qualities are not to be found in a government monopoly committed to its own programs and its own singular point of view," he said.

Name Snelson Vice-Chairman Of SREB Unit

State Sen. W. E. "Pete" Snelson, Midland is the new vice chairman of the Legislative Advisory Council of the Southern Regional Education Board (SREB) — the compact of 14 Southern states for the advancement of higher education.

His election came during the 24th SREB Legislative Work Conference held late last month in Biloxi, Miss. He succeeds State Rep. Chappelle Matthews of Athens, Ga., who was elected chairman of the council, which advises the board of interstate cooperative programs in higher education and serves as a steering committee for the annual conference for legislators.

Sen. Snelson was also re-elected in June as the Secretary-Treasurer of the Southern Regional Education Board, which includes governors, legislators and educational leaders from 14 Southern states. The senator is a native West Texan who has been active in state politics since 1960, when he was elected to the Texas House of Representatives. He was first elected to the Texas Senate in 1964 and was re-elected in 1968 and 1972 to the upper chamber where he serves on both the education and the finance committees.

A member of the board's executive committee for the past three years, Sen. Snelson is one of Texas' five members on the full board. The other Texas members are Gov. Dolph Briscoe, Texas Woman's University President John A. Guinn, State Rep. Tom C. Massey of San Angelo, and John H. Poerner, executive director of the Governor's Committee on Aging.

Hollings said many are waiting in the wings to nationalize the petroleum industry.

"I think this would be a terrible mistake but what could be even worse is for us to become unrealistic and intransigent, resisting all change in policy even though the world itself is drastically changed," he said. "We have a good chance to work together now but if we don't take it, nationalization will result because America is getting mad."

McKelvey said the role of the private sector is not quite clear under some of the proposals now before Congress.

"But it obviously would be dramatically less significant than the dominant part it plays today, and has played over the lifetime of the petroleum industry," he said.

McKelvey said bright prospects have prompted an accelerated leasing program for federally owned offshore areas.

"We expect this program to be one of the major contributors to our energy supply over the critical years between now and the time when sources other than oil and gas can assume a larger role in the energy economy," he said.

McKelvey said formidable problems complicate the task of developing the off-shore resources.

"These problems run the gamut of politics, economics, technology, and the slowly metamorphosing attitude of a society which increasingly views itself as emerging upon the post-industrial stage of its development," he said.

MONTGOMERY WARD

Eyebrows Raised

By The Associated Press
The Pittsburgh Pirates took some extra batting practice at Wrigley Field. Wasn't it nice of the Chicago Cubs to supply the pitchers?

With the aid of the Chicago staff, the Pirates raised their batting averages — and plenty of eyebrows — with 24 hits en route to a record-making 22-0 victory Tuesday.

Rennie Stennett was the most ferocious of the Pirate bombers — blasting out seven straight hits for a modern major league record. In addition, the Pirate second baseman tied a major league mark by getting two hits in two separate innings.

The Pirates as well set a record for the most lopsided shutout margin in modern baseball history.

Stennett called his extraordinary performance "lucky" and thought that his record hit — a triple in the eighth — might have been an out.

"I thought that last one might be caught," said the second baseman who raised his batting average 11 points to .287. "I hit it real good, but I was afraid it was starting to float."

Elsewhere in the National League, the Houston Astros beat the Cincinnati Reds 5-1, the New York Mets nudged the Montreal Expos 4-3 in 18 innings, the Los Angeles Dodgers trimmed the San Diego Padres 5-2 and the San Francisco Giants topped the Atlanta Braves 7-6.

Phillies 4, Cardinals 3
Mike Anderson's 13th-inning sacrifice fly sent home pinchrunner Alan Bannister with the winning run as Philadelphia beat St. Louis. Greg Luzinski drew a leadoff walk from Mike Garman, 3-7, and went to second on Dick Allen's single, chasing Garman for Harry Parker, who walked Mike Schmidt before Anderson lifted his long flyball to center.

Reggie Smith's slow roller brought home Lou Brock and tied the game at 3-3 in the sixth. Brock had doubled and

NFL STRIKE
Players Angry
By The Associated Press
The National Football League, five days away from opening its 1975 season, is in a state of chaos.

The players are angry and disorganized. The owners are indignant, more or less unified, and feel they have a sacred trust to uphold the integrity of the game.

And the fans — remember them? — are confused, unhappy and tired of having their sports pages taken up with endless tales of strikes, lockouts and collective bargaining when they should be reading about flashy rookies and shrewd game plans.

The New England Patriots lit the spark in this latest dispute when they went on strike and skipped last Sunday's exhibition game with the New York Jets in an attempt to force a new contract. New England officials responded by locking the players out of training camp. The fire spread Tuesday with the Jets and the Washington Redskins joining the Pats on strike, and sources close to the New York Giants and Detroit Lions said those clubs may join the strike today.

Unity, however, is not the players' strong point. Houston, Cincinnati, Minnesota and Miami, among others, have come out firmly against the strike.

"We'll play this week whether it's against the Shreveport Steamer, New Orleans or New England," said Oilers' player representative Skip Butler. "We voted 43-0 not to strike at this time. The Oilers will continue to practice and will play football Sunday."

"We're just going to sit here and see what happens when the smoke clears," said the Bengals' Bob Johnson. "The mainstream of the league isn't even behind it."

The latest bid by the NFL Management Council, bargaining agent for the owners, was a six-point proposal that, in essence, called for the Patriots to return to camp and management to present a new contract offer by Sept. 25.

taken third on a groundout. Astros 5, Reds 1
Larry Dierker pitched a fivehitter and Milt May knocked in three runs, leading Houston over Cincinnati. The Astros scored early off slump-ridden Jack Billingham, 15-9. Billingham has won only one of his last six starts during the tailspin, with an earned run average of 7.12.

Foothold Problem
Although it has experienced nothing but success in its two starts, Big Spring has trouble gaining a foothold in the Harris Grid Rating System.

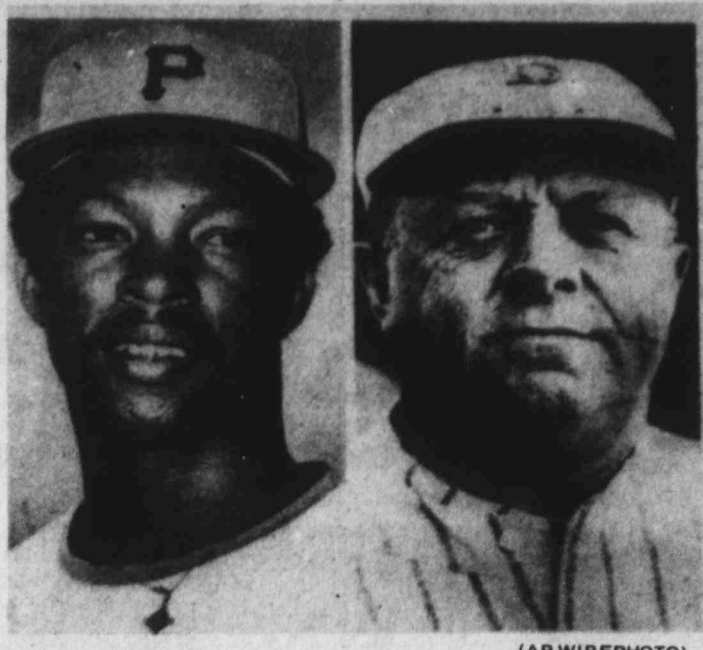

The Steers are ranked no better than 110th statewide in Class AAAA listings this week. No other 5-AAA club fared as poorly.

Odessa Perman climbed to fourth in the ratings. Abilene Cooper is seventh, San Angelo Central eighth, Midland Lee 21st, Abilene 25th, Odessa 50th and Midland High 79th.

Snyder, which visits Big Spring this week, is ranked 21st among state AAA teams. Lamesa is 69th and Andrews, (victim of Big Spring the first week), 76th.

In AA listings, Cisco, (which hosts Coahoma Friday), is 19th, Coahoma, 63rd; and Colorado City, 69th.

Among Class A jobs, Stanton is 36th. In Class B, Sterling City ranks 36th, Sands 84th and Forsan 109th.

TIES MAJOR LEAGUE RECORD — Pittsburgh second baseman Rennie Stennett, left, collected seven consecutive hits Tuesday during a 22-0 rout of the Chicago Cubs. Stennett's achievement in the Cubs-Pirates regulation game was equaled only one other time in major league history by Wilbert Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles in 1892.

MODERN DAY FEAT Stennett Hits Ball 7 Times

CHICAGO (AP) — "It's tough enough to get to the plate seven times in a game let alone get seven hits," mused Pittsburgh Pirate Manager Danny Murtaugh about Rennie Stennett's modern major league record set against the Chicago Cubs.

"Unreal, just unreal," echoed Pittsburgh batting coach Don Leppert. "You know, I could throw batting practice forever and not have a guy get seven straight base hits. Imagine doing it in a game."

Yet, the 24-year-old Panamanian's feat — not achieved since Wilbert Robinson of the old Baltimore Orioles did it in 1892 — did not particularly stir the dressing room of the Pirates who are notorious for their batting prowess and dominance of the National League Eastern Division.

Neither were the Pirates especially excited about the 22-0 margin of their victory over the Cubs, the most lopsided shutout in the modern major league baseball history.

Stennett was happy about the four singles, two doubles and skipping triple he lashed against the Cubs, but the lithe young infielder recalled wryly his last visit to Wrigley Field for a July 4 doubleheader.

"I got hit in the head and didn't play," he said. "You gotta be a good hitter to get seven hits in a game, but you gotta be lucky too, said Stennett, whom Murtaugh calls, "the best defensive second baseman in the game, bar none."

Brune Earns Loop Honor

HOUSTON (AP) — Rice defensive back Larry Brune was a bit out of position and then bobbed the football momentarily but to the Owls his 86-yard interception return for a touchdown against Houston last week was picture perfect.

Brune's touchdown run came in the second quarter of the game between the crosstown rivals and ballooned Rice's lead to 21-0. Brune's TD run, along with his play during the rest of the game earned him The Associated Press Defensive Player of the Week honor.

"Actually, I was a little out of position, I came up a little too quick," said Brune, who also threw a key block in the first quarter when Gary Cox ran 70 yards with a punt for Rice's first touchdown.

"I guess it was just instinct. Rodney (Norton) tipped the ball and I was just in the right place. I ran about five yards and then started bobbling the ball when I looked back to see if anybody was close to me."

Noone was close and after Brune got control of the slippery football, he ran untouched into Houston's end zone.

"I missed an interception similar to that against Texas last year and I was thinking about that," said Brune. "The one against Texas would have been six points too."

In addition to his TD run, Rice defensive coordinator Jack Westbrook credited Brune with seven tackles, including a touchdown saving hit on Houston quarterback Bubba McGallion.

Rice Coach Al Conover is glad he finally found a place for the versatile Brune to play.

"It took Larry three years to convince me he could play," Conover said. "He played just about every position and I had him on the scout team but he wouldn't stay there. He kind of typifies this team. They just won't give up."

Brune wasn't the only Owl

A's Trample Texas Twice

By The Associated Press
Luis Tiant picked the perfect time to be perfect. "I've thrown faster than I did tonight," said Tiant, "but my control was at its best. When you have your control it doesn't matter who's hitting."

Cheered by a pennant-hungry Boston crowd that included his proud father who is visiting from Cuba, Tiant was nearly unhittable as he pitched the Red Sox over the Baltimore Orioles 2-0.

Tiant, 17-13, limited the Orioles to five hits, two of them infield singles, and closed the lid halfway over Baltimore's bid for its sixth American League East title in seven years.

A victory over Baltimore tonight, which would give Boston a 6 1/2 game lead with 10 games left, would just about hammer the lid shut. "When the big game comes he's unbelievable," said Carlton Fisk, who stroked one of the two homers off Baltimore ace Jim Palmer. "His pitching completely dominated the game."

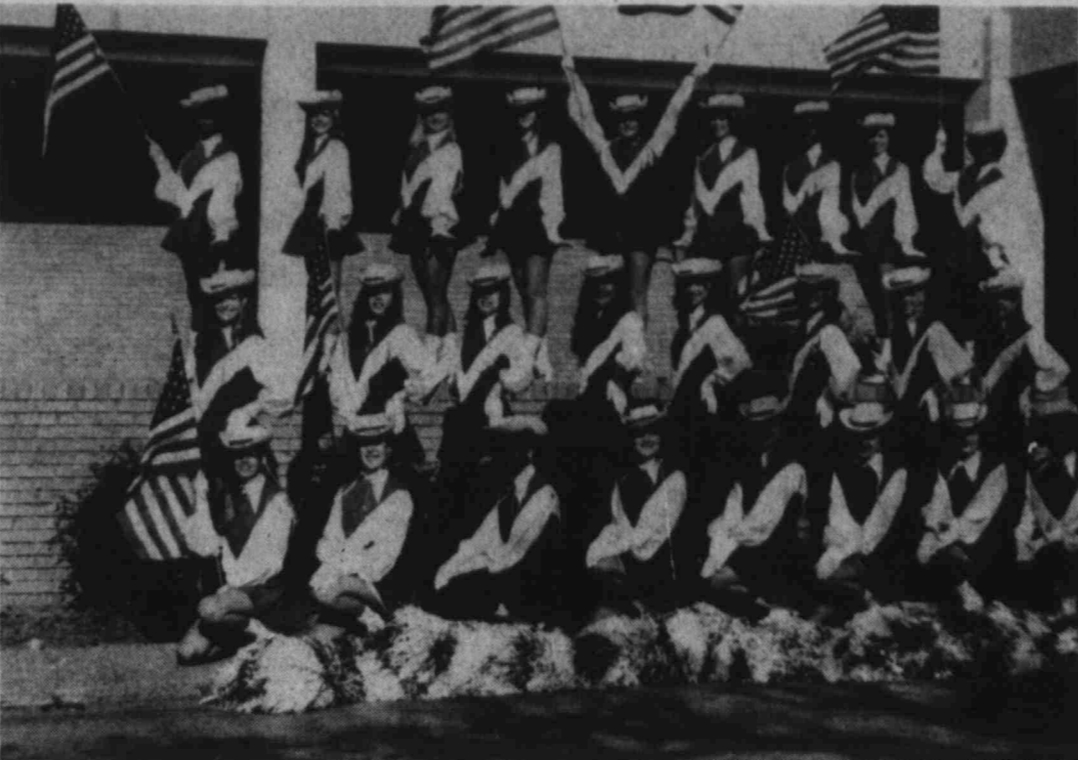

Elsewhere in the AL, Oakland took a pair from Texas 11-5 and 6-4; Cleveland crushed Detroit 9-2; Chicago nipped Kansas City 6-5; Milwaukee downed the New York Yankees 5-2 and Minnesota shaded California 4-3.

HALFTIME ACTIVITIES - The Cisco Junior College Wrangler Belles Dance-Drill Team, along with the CJC Band, will perform at halftime at the CJC-New Mexico Military Academy football game here Saturday night at Memorial Stadium. The Belles have become nationally-known since making three appearances on national television during the past five years, the last of which was NBC-TV's "Stars and Stripes Show" July 3 of this year.

ADDED COLOR FEATURED Cisco Vs. NMMI Billed As Bowl

The Cisco Junior College Wranglers, riding the impetus of a season-opening victory, will travel to Big Spring Saturday to meet New Mexico Military Academy's gridiron squad. The game is being billed as a bowl game, perhaps to become an annual affair in our West Texas city and the contest will bring college football to Big Spring for the first time.

The Cisco Junior College cheerleaders will likewise accompany the team to the Big Spring game. The military marching band from New Mexico Military is also expected for the contest, to perform at halftime as well as boost the team, and a large contingent of fans from New Mexico will likely travel to the game, according to Big Spring sources.

The tilt is being sponsored by the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce. Chamber officials are hopeful of drawing a large number of spectators to the contest, and are projecting the interstate matchup to become an annual bowl game here. Big Spring has traditionally been strong in the support of sports, and the Chamber of Commerce is now adding college football to the area sports scene.

3 Local Contests Thursday

The season isn't over soon enough for Ferguson Jenkins and Gaylord Perry. Two of the best right-handers in baseball, Jenkins and Perry each lost to the A's Tuesday night, lowering their records to 16-17.

SOONERS RATED LSU Receives Nod

NEW YORK (AP) - For years, the so-called experts have been saying Ohio State plays a patsy schedule. For years, the so-called experts have been saying Penn State plays a patsy schedule.

So what happens when the twin shall meet? The answer is due Saturday when third-ranked Ohio State entertains tenth-ranked Penn State at Columbus in what promises to be one of the top college football games of the season.

This is the first meeting between Woody Hayes and Joe Paterno, two of the nation's winningest coaches, although Hayes went up against Penn State three times when Rip Engle was at the helm of the Nittany Lions and Paterno was an assistant coach.

The results may surprise you. Penn State won 7-6 in 1955, 10-7 in 1963 and 27-0 in 1964. And way back in 1912, Penn State beat Ohio State 37-0. Time for a change ...

Hit, Killed By Passing Car

MIDLAND - Luis Gallardo Briones, 16, was struck and killed by a passing car as he walked along a street in Midland about 1 a.m., Tuesday. Cecilia Castellon, 13, who was with Briones, suffered minor injuries in the incident. She was treated and released from a local hospital. Police later arrested Filomeno Chavez Cardosa, 75, of Midland and charged him with involuntary manslaughter in connection with the case. He was held in the Midland county jail under $3,500 bond. Briones was the ninth person in Midland to die in traffic-related accidents this year.

Break Ground For Hospital

ODESSA - Ground was broken for the $2 million addition to Medical Center Hospital here Tuesday. Among guest speakers for the occasion was Ben Barnes of Brownwood, former state lieutenant governor, now president of one of the subcontractors on the hospital project. Construction on the 200-bed addition to the facility is due to be completed by March, 1977.

Casting Votes In Midland

MIDLAND - Midland voters went to the polls today to decide the fate of a proposed $4.2 million bond issue, money from which would be used to air condition the Midland public schools. The district has 17 elementary schools, two junior highs and a freshman school which are not air conditioned. Voters have beaten two previous proposals to air condition the schools. The margin was narrow, however, the second time, when it failed by a mere 96 votes out of more than 5,400 cast. More than 4,000 parents signed petitions protesting the air conditioning.

Stolen Tools Recovered

LAMESA - Approximately $600 in stolen tools taken in weekend burglaries were recovered by Lamesa police investigator Fred Vera and sheriff's deputy Jim Nance in Andrews last weekend. Nance said the tools were taken at burglaries at Sam Stevens Manufacturing Company and Nick's Implement Company Thursday and Friday. Charged with the burglaries was Westy Gene Sims, 23, of Seminole, who is being held in Andrews on other charges.

Refugee Program Is Topic At Meeting

Members of the Cactus Chapter, American Business Women's Association and their guests met for a luncheon and business meeting Monday at the First Christian Church.

The Rev. Herb Shipp, minister of activities of the First Baptist Church, spoke on local projects to aid the Vietnamese refugees.

Rev. Shipp received his B.A. degree from Baylor University and his D.D. from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth. He has worked with the Billy Graham and Billie Hanks evangelist teams. He was formerly pastor of Prairie View Baptist Church.

Rev. Shipp explained the local concern for the refugees after the fall of Saigon was due to Webb Air Force Base personnel who had trained Vietnamese men in their program. A project was organized by the United Catholic Conference to aid the refugees and the Big Spring First Baptist Church agreed to sponsor the program. The church workers have presently located 100 refugees in Big Spring with the goal of enabling the refugees to become assets to the city and not responsibilities.

Howard College is offering the Vietnamese special courses in marketing and finance.

"Their reaction is one of pure joy to be here where people speak to them and accept them. They deeply appreciate the help and love extended them by the community. Big Spring residents have been commended by the United Catholic Convention for the way they accepted the refugees," Rev. Shipp said.

Ms. Elizabeth Anguiano presented the vocational talk. She explained her work as assistant in the business office of Big Spring Hardware.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Cheryl Walker reported a profit of $230 on the garage sale.

Mrs. Wandy Petty, employed by Montgomery Ward, was initiated as a new member.

Guests were Mrs. Hazel Mixon, Mrs. Joyce Moore, both of the Scenic Chapter, ABWA, and Ms. Leoma Willis.

A love offering was taken for Vickie Daugherty who is critically ill in Methodist Hospital, Lubbock.

The next meeting will be at 7 p.m. Oct. 20.

Don't Play Shrink To Spouse's Sleep-Talking

DEAR ABBY: Do you know anything about dreams? My husband calls out his ex-wife's name in his sleep, so he must be dreaming about her, right?

When I tell him that he was calling her name in his sleep, he says he must have been dreaming — but he never can remember what he has dreamed. (Is this possible?)

Abby, if a person dreams about someone, doesn't it mean that that someone is on that person's subconscious mind?

My husband swears that he loves me and that he never even thinks about his ex-wife, but if that's true, why is he dreaming about her? And if he's not dreaming about her, why is he calling her name? He says he can't help what he dreams or what he says in his sleep. I can't believe that, can you?

WORRIED DEAR WORRIED: Yes. And if you're wise, you'll lay off and quit reminding him of his ex-wife while he's awake.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to tell "Philadelphia," whose Jewish cousin passed away, not to worry about whether she goes to heaven or not. As a good person, her goodness will precede her no matter where she goes.

I came across an article by a reverend in which he said: "Adolph Eichmann had a better chance of going to heaven than his millions of victims because he believed in Jesus."

I cannot imagine myself being in heaven with Eichmann and his co-murderers. If believing in Jesus is the only condition to getting into heaven, I refuse to go there!

CONNECTICUT CHRISTIAN DEAR CHRISTIAN: I wonder where that reverend thinks the millions of Buddhists and Muslims go?

Exes Attend Homecoming

Approximately 160 Center Point exes attended the Sunday homecoming held at the old Center Point school. The group spent the day visiting, reminiscing, and viewing old pictures.

The Rev. Delbert Davidson of the Rolling Hills Boys Ranch spoke at the morning worship service.

Walker Bailey and other former teachers of the Center Point school system entertained the group with tales of their teaching experiences.

The oldest pupils present were Doisy Kinard and Mrs. Walter Davidson. They were given corsages from Anderson Flowers.

The planning committee wishes to thank all those in attendance for making the homecoming a success.
