Accuse Patty Of Betrayal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Patricia Hearst was accused by a radical group of returning to the "ruling class vipers" as authorities sought Saturday to link the rebel newspaper heiress with a series of unsolved crimes.

The New World Liberation Front, which some authorities believe is an outgrowth of the Symbionese Liberation Army, made the charge in a communique in which it castigated the 21-year-old Miss Hearst for rejecting the SLA in an affidavit filed in federal court.

NEST OF VIPERS
"Patty Hearst's actions indicate that she has jumped back into her nest of ruling class vipers," said the communique, which was received by San Francisco radio station KPFO.

But the communique also contained a handwritten note saying: "Patty — stay strong to stay alive."

The communique claimed responsibility for the bombing Friday of a water tank at the Shell Oil Co. refinery in Coalinga, southwest of Fresno, "in response to the capture of our SLA comrades."

HEARST CHARGED
KPFO refused to say how it received the communique.

Miss Hearst already charged with bank robbery and federal firearms violations, is under investigation for possible involvement in a bank holdup-murder that could carry a death sentence.

Though she has remained virtually silent in public during her first 10 days in captivity, words have flowed from Patty in a variety of forms — most strikingly in her signed affidavit swearing she was tortured and driven to madness by her SLA captors.

MENTAL EXAM
She is due back in court Tuesday when a team of psychiatrists will give U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter a preliminary report on their estimate of her mental competency.

The charges against her include federal bank robbery in connection with the SLA's April 15, 1974, Hibernia Bank holdup here, and 19 state charges related to a series of crimes in Los Angeles.

MAY BE INVOLVED
Sacramento County Deputy Dist. Atty. Geoffrey Burroughs said Friday his office was investigating the possibility Miss Hearst was involved in the April 21, 1975, holdup at a Crocker Bank branch in suburban Carmichael, in which customer Myrna Lee Opsahl was killed.

Law enforcement sources have said the investigation of that $15,000 robbery helped lead them to two San Francisco houses where on Sept. 18 they arrested Patty, SLA members William and Emily Harris and Berkeley fugitive Wendy Yoshimura.

Five Spanish Terrorists Die By Firing Squads

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Five young terrorists, including two Basques, were executed by firing squads at dawn Saturday amid hysterical outbursts from relatives and bitter and sometimes violent protests throughout Western Europe.

Basque separatists in southern France vowed "implacable vengeance" for the executions and the Basque Nationalist party called for a general strike throughout the Basque region of northern Spain.

Thirty thousand Basque workers around San Sebastian, stronghold of separatist Basque guerrillas left their jobs and roamed angrily through the streets.

Another 1,500 workers laid down their tools in Algorta, Vizcaya Province, and poured into the streets shouting "Assassins! Assassins!" Police reinforcements rushed to the town to disperse them.

The five terrorists — two Basques and three Spanish radicals all convicted of killing policemen — were shot after Gen. Francisco Franco, Spain's 82-year-old head of state, refused to heed either international calls for clemency or the condemned men's last-minute appeals.

The brother of Basque separatist Juan Paredes Manotas said the 23-year-old man walked to his death near a cemetery outside Barcelona smiling and singing the ancient Basque hymn "Eusko Gudariak" — Soldiers of the Basque Country. The mother of one condemned man claimed police beat her as she bid her son goodby in Madrid's Carabanchel jail, witnesses said.

She and relatives of two other terrorists shot at Manzanera Barracks, 15 miles south of Madrid, fought hysterically with police at the village cemetery after being refused access to the freshly dug common grave awaiting their sons.

The three executed outside Madrid were all members of the radical Patriotic Revolutionary Anti-Fascist Front (FRAP) — Jose Humberto Baena, 23, Ramon Garcia Sanz, 27, and Jose Sanchez-Bravo Sollas, 21. The fifth man, Angel Otaegui, a 33-year-old Basque mechanic, was executed outside Burgos in north-central Spain.

The executions brought to 13 the number of men executed in Spain in the past 15 years, 12 for attacks on security forces. In France, the only other West European country still using the death penalty, 10 persons have been guillotined, all convicted murderers.

Pope Paul VI expressed "torment" at the executions and disclosed that he had made three appeals for mercy to Franco, the last on the eve of the executions. But "unfortunately we were not listened to," the pontiff said.

EXECUTED — These five Spanish terrorists were executed early Saturday despite worldwide appeals for mercy. Six other terrorists, including two women and a brain-injured man, were given clemency. Three of the five died at a military barracks 15 miles south of Madrid. The others were executed in Burgos in north-central Spain and in Barcelona. The dead are, from left, Jose Humberto Baena Alonso, Angel Otaegui, Juan Paredes Manotas, Ramon Garcia Sanz, and Jose Sanchez-Bravo Sollas. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Rock-Throwing Incident Hospitalizes 2 Coaches

An incident an hour after the Coahoma-McCamey football game Friday night sent two McCamey coaches to Malone-Hogan Hospital for treatment and saw a fifth-year Coahoma High School student go to jail on charges of assault. Five other students were turned over to their parents, with malicious mischief charges looming against each Monday.

Steve Pherigo, 19, was bonded out of Howard County jail Saturday morning on a $2,000 bond set by Justice of the Peace Gus Ochotorena.

Two McCamey coaches, Bobby Gray and Mike Billingsley, were hospitalized. They had glass fragments removed from their eyes. Their injuries, police said, were caused when a rock shattered a window on the school bus.

The bus, containing McCamey players and coaches, was traveling west on IS 20 3/4 miles west of Coahoma, when the incident occurred. A pickup truck loaded with youths drove around the bus, witnesses said. Pherigo is alleged to have hurled the rock that shattered the window of the bus.

A deputy was traveling in front of the school bus in his vehicle. He arrested the youths at the scene. An hour earlier, two patrol cars were escorting three other McCamey buses out of town and a group of Coahoma students drove by them and hurled mud on the buses. Sheriff A. N. Standard said these students were escorted to their homes and turned over to the parents.

A deputy stayed with the team bus at the cafe to see that nothing would happen to the McCamey bus. There were no incidents on the field or at the game, which was well patrolled by law officials.

Sheriff Standard said, "We will be conferring with all of the youths involved through their parents and school officials."

A Coahoma school official was moved to remark, after the tension had eased: "Some of our people haven't yet learned how to conduct themselves under such circumstances. A whole community suffers because of the acts of a few rash individuals. True, it did happen away from our campus but absolutely nothing good came out of the trouble. It's a shame it happened."

Heavy Floods Kill Eight In Northeast

Clear skies returned to the Northeast for the first time in five days Saturday after torrential rains unleashed in the aftermath of Tropical Storm Eloise left at least eight persons dead.

The storm left five dead in Pennsylvania, two more in New York and one in Connecticut. In addition, a Connecticut teenager was missing and presumed drowned.

President Ford declared all or parts of 21 Pennsylvania counties eligible for federal disaster relief as floodwaters from the rain-swollen Susquehanna River continued to pour into the state's agricultural and industrial heartland.

Damage to crops, farms and livestock was estimated at $85 million by Saturday. The muddy, debris-filled waters also damaged 345 roads, washed out 22 bridges and closed 31 others, leaving the Pennsylvania Department of Transportation a repair bill of at least $18.5

million. Water filtration systems in 18 communities were flooded, and 10 sewage treatment plants were knocked out. However, no immediate health problems were reported.

Federal flood forecasters said they expected the river to crest a few feet below the tops of dikes and retaining walls protecting Wilkes-Barre and Harrisburg, both heavily damaged in 1972 by Tropical Storm Agnes.

The U.S. Geological Survey rated it a 60-year flood, the kind that can be expected, statistically, once in 60 years. The floods spawned by Agnes in 1972 had a 200-year rating.

The crest was expected by 6 p.m. Saturday at Wilkes-Barre and by 6 a.m. Sunday at Harrisburg.

Northeastern Maryland near the Susquehanna's mouth and parts of six southern New York counties along the Pennsylvania border also remained flooded.

Plane Crash Kills Six

MIAMI (AP) — An Argentine cargo plane blew a tire on take off, slammed into an embankment and burst into flames at Miami International Airport Saturday, killing six persons and injuring seven others.

Three of the injured watched the four-engine C-44 turboprop's fatal run from a van parked nearby, and barely escaped death as the plane's flaming debris turned the van into an inferno.

"We saw the plane coming toward us," said 21-year-old Jeffrey Schampman, one of those who scrambled out of the plane's path.

"I looked back to see if anybody was there but I didn't see anyone. It was all flames," he said.

Schampman received minor scrapes. Two companions were treated for cuts and bruises at a local hospital.

The Aero Transportes Entre Rios aircraft, bound for Balboa, Panama, with a load of auto parts and television sets, blew a tire while taking off, airport authorities said.

Target Hit At Webb

The Combined Federal Campaign (CFC) at Webb AFB topped the 1975 target of $29,300 as the annual six-week fund raising drive hit the halfway mark.

The Webb goal was reached at 12:15 p.m. Monday when contributions totaled $29,498.58 or 100.7 per cent of the goal.

The area drive, which includes donations by the local Veterans' Hospital, Post Office, Social Security Administration Office and Department of Agriculture workers, has reached 95.1 per cent of the $34,500 target.

In his comments at the wing staff meeting this week, Col. Robert A. Owens, wing commander, said that he was pleased with the turn-ins to date. He stated "even though the base had reached its monetary goal, we should strive for 100 per cent participation of our people."

Hunts Found Not Guilty

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Bunker Hunt says he and his brother, Herbert, felt all along they would be found innocent on federal wiretapping charges by a jury that "had all the facts."

The jury deliberated less than three hours Friday before finding the brothers innocent. The millionaire Hunts were named in a six-count indictment in 1972 and faced a maximum penalty of 30 years in prison and a $60,000 fine. Both Hunts admitted ordering the wiretaps.

Oil Nations Agree On 10 Per Cent Hike

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Members of the 13-nation oil cartel decided Saturday to hike their petroleum price by 10 per cent on Oct. 1 and freeze it for at least nine months, high officials of Saudi Arabia and Venezuela said. President Ford said it would "worsen inflation throughout the world."

The increase was not formally announced by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries — OPEC — but the conferring oil ministers reportedly had moved on to discuss other issues.

If the oil companies pass on the increase to consumers, the decision will add about a cent a gallon to the cost of gasoline and other fuel in the United States, which imports about one-third of its oil.

Expressing strong regret in Washington at the OPEC move, Ford urged the U.S. Congress to enact a national energy policy and reduce American dependence on foreign oil.

U.S. Energy Administrator Frank Zarb said in Washington the increase was "outrageous." But Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said it was "better than it could have been." He said the decision "seems to be a middle line between those who wanted to do nothing and those who wanted to do very much."

Venezuela's chief delegate, Valentin Hernandez Acosta, said the OPEC ministers had decided to increase the benchmark price for light Arabian crude from the current $10.46 a barrel to $11.51.

This was a compromise between a faction led by Iran, seeking a larger increase, and Saudi Arabia, which began the session Wednesday wanting to retain the present price or raise prices no more than 5 per cent.

Even if the freeze continues through all of 1976, the 10 per cent increase would add an estimated $15 billion to the non-Communist world's oil bill over the next 15 months.

Secret Service Eyed By Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Entangled in a confusing web of coincidences, the Secret Service is coming under public scrutiny for the first time in nearly 12 years.

The agency, best known for its assignment of protecting the life of the President of the United States, has never come under stringent congressional investigation.

And since the Warren Commission looked at the work of the Secret Service when it investigated the 1963 assassination of President John F. Kennedy, no government body has taken a careful look at the agency.

But on Tuesday, a Senate subcommittee whose duties include appropriating funds for the Postal Service, the Treasury and "general government," will begin an investigation to find out how the Secret Service can be made more effective.

Propelled by two attempts to assassinate President Ford within 17 days, the subcommittee members plan to hear from former presidential candidates, Secret Service officials, and agents involved in preparing for President Ford's trip to San Francisco, where the most recent assassination attempt took place.

Each year when the Secret Service appropriation is discussed by the Senate Subcommittee on Treasury, Postal Service and General Government, little debate is heard on how the agency should do its job, or whether it is doing its job properly.

Lynch explained that details of the protective procedure are classified. The Secret Service is the third government agency whose operations are often kept under wraps by a cloak of "national security" that has come into the public spotlight since the Watergate investigation.

Webb AFB and the community surrounding it got some good news the past week.

An appropriations bill for $4,382,000 for bachelor officer quarters and fuel maintenance shops at the military facility went sailing through the House of Representatives and is now in the Senate. (It cleared despite an erroneous report originating within the state that it didn't).

Earlier, the new vice-commander of the Air Training Command, Maj. Gen. Larry Killpack, visited here and let it be known that the Pentagon has never entertained the thought of closing Webb.

Killpack also said that the Air Force is seeking a lighter engine to replace the J69 now used on the T-37 aircraft, one which would be quieter and use less fuel. (The Armed Forces have become very energy conscious).

As for changing Webb's mission, Killpack reassured Col. Robert Owens, the wing commander, nothing had yet been decided.

RECOVERED GOODS — Don Christopher, director of campus police at Howard College, takes an inventory on some of the television gear reportedly taken from the Electronics, Speech, Journalism and Drama departments of the school. A former student is being questioned in connection with the disappearance of the equipment, said to be valued at several thousand dollars.

One Way: Disclosure

Faith in the honesty of those they elect to public office in the United States has by no means been a universal trait of the American people. But the general assumption has been that office holders are honest unless proved otherwise.

This assumption is now in question. For a number of years the tendency of Americans has been to suspect the motives of all politicians. The Watergate affair and related disclosures served to strengthen that suspicion.

Today, according to a Harris poll, more than 60 per cent of the people believe that the chief objective of politicians is to make money.

How then can we be sure that our political leaders are honest? The simplest answer is, of course, that we cannot be sure. The best practical reassurance seems to be full disclosure of outside income of office-holders, especially in Congress.

But the idea of full disclosure has yet to be accepted. It operates to a limited degree in the House of Representatives, but the Senate refuses to accept it. Only Sens. Clifford Case of New Jersey, Charles Mathias of Maryland and Adlai Stevenson III of Illinois have reported the sources of outside income and urged other senators to follow their example. The ideal might be a requirement for senators and representatives to cut themselves off entirely from outside income. But the ideal was discarded as impracticable. Full disclosure was substituted.

The argument for full disclosure is really unanswerable. No man who has been elected to public office should be unwilling to disclose the sources of his income, lest he be accused of hiding something. To disclose that income permits voters to draw an informed conclusion as to his ethical standards and his fitness for office. It may not eliminate dishonesty, but it will discourage it, and best of all, help restore the confidence of the public in their elected officials.

Very-ry Interesting

Along with the four-day work week, the innovation of flexible working hours was one of those ideas whose time seemed to have come a few years ago but has since been indefinitely postponed. The recession has left millions of Americans with zero work days and 100 per cent "flexibility."

One company, however, launched an experimental flexible working hours was one of those ideas whose time seemed to have come a few years ago but has since been indefinitely postponed.

Under the program at Pitney-Bowes, in Stamford, Conn., employees are permitted to set their own starting and stopping times within certain established guidelines. They may start work anytime after 7 a.m. and may work up to 6 p.m. They must, however, be on the job at critical times (called core hours), accumulate the necessary number of work hours for the week and work as much time as possible to earn a full week's pay if early-week absences prevent attendance.

The program was tried with about 250 employees at the beginning; it now covers more than 800. Employees are now responsible for manually reporting the hours they work on time registers.

As the comic says—very-ry interesting.

WITCHING FOR WATER

The most vital thing in settling any area of land was a good water supply. Springs were available in many areas as well as streams and natural ponds. But where water was not so plentiful, wells had to be dug or drilled. Well location was pretty much a hit-or-miss proposition with dry holes being as numerous as rocks or rabbit tracks. Digging wells was hard work and very discouraging if water was not found.

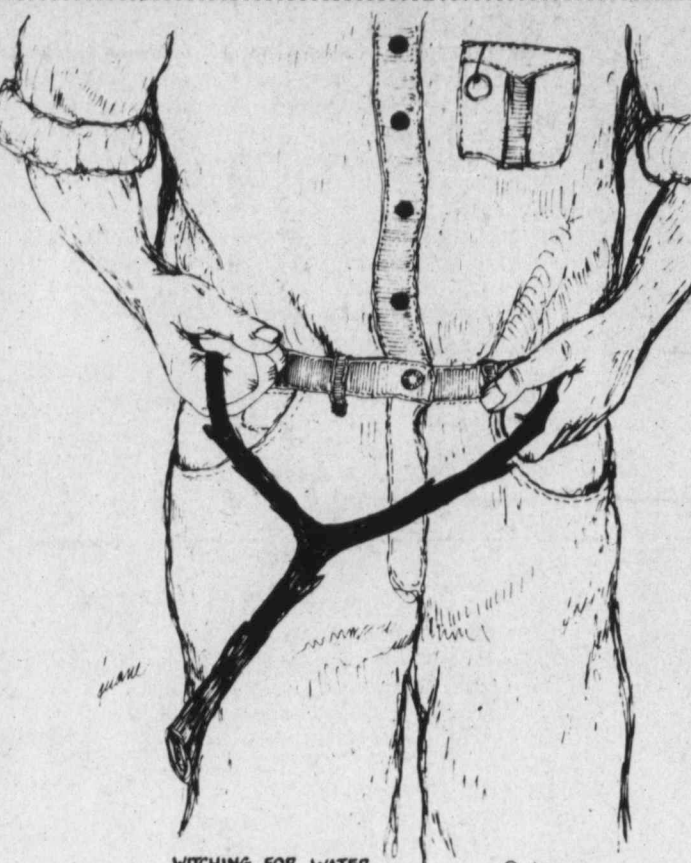

Water witching came to be relied upon by many as a sure fire way of getting a good well. Witching was done in several different ways because each witcher had his own belief as to what the correct way was.

Generally, a forked limb from a willow or peach tree was used. It had to be a green limb, freshly cut. The main branch was about two feet long and each of the smaller ones about a foot in length. The limb was held out in front of the witcher by the forked end. It was held horizontally about waist high. The witcher would walk over the area where the well was needed and, if water was there, the front of the limb would dip downward toward the ground. The better the water supply, the more vigorously the limb would bend. No matter how much the witcher tried to control the stick, it bent itself toward the water below the ground.

Does that make sense? It does to some. It doesn't to most. A geologist was once asked if there was any scientific basis for witching to work. His reply was "Absolutely not! But if I were going to drill a well, I'd have it witched." People believe in witching because they have seen it work many times or maybe only once. Others are certain it doesn't work because they have seen it fail. Witchers say that in witching for water you have to have a feeling for it and a lot of faith. Those who don't have faith cannot be convinced even if they observe a successful witching. "Just a coincidence," is their reaction.

A more modern technique for witching makes use of two metal rods bent in an "L" shape. The rods are held loosely in front of the witcher in a sort of pistol fashion. They are held parallel to each other about a foot apart in a horizontal position. The witcher walks around as with the old limb method. Supposedly, when underground water is present the rods swing together, crossing over each other at the best water location. I have used this method to find underground water lines, sewer lines, large metal objects, etc. But cannot vouch for it for locating a good well.

Witching for water may or may not work. I know of no way to prove it and consequently I respect both views. The thing is, if you employ a witcher to find you a good spot for a well and it turns out to be a dry hole, you have him to blame for your failure. If you do not employ a witcher, and it turns out to be a dry hole, you can only blame yourself.

A Rocky Problem

William F. Buckley, Jr.

Gadding about the country and listening to talk among my blood brothers on the right, I hear again and again one tactical conclusion, at the expense of Ronald Reagan, and one strategic resolution, at the expense of Nelson Rockefeller. It is the majority opinion among those I have met (I disagree with it) that Ronald Reagan's delay has proved at best a huge obstacle on the way to his hopes for nomination by the Republicans, at worst an unbridgeable obstacle.

ONE QUIP going the rounds is a scene in the future when Mr. Reagan ends his speech by announcing that enough is enough he will oppose the renomination of Gerald Ford. The partisan crowd cheers lustily, but the toastmaster reminds them that Mr. Ford ended his term of office 34 years ago.

As to Mr. Rockefeller, it can only be said that the opposition to him is implacable. In the next few weeks Mr. Richard Reeves' apocryptic and ugly readable book against Gerald Ford is scheduled to be released, and he tells us in it something about Mr. Rockefeller that gets to the problem. "He most likely would have been President if he could have won a Republican party nomination in the 1960s," Reeves writes, but that never happened because unlike Gerald Ford, he was an alien in the party. More than anything else, the Republican party is the institutionalization of America's small towns and corporate ethic and Republicans never really trusted him; he was too cosmopolitan, too securely rich, too New York. "The biggest mistake I ever made was not becoming a Democrat," he once told a friend. "You can buy the Democratic nomination—the Kennedy did. You can't buy the Republican one, they really believe it."

There is the usual difficulty in treating quotations like this one: one never knows for sure that they are accurate, though of course one safely assumes that Mr. Reeves believes it to be accurate. Yet in a way they transcend the narrow question of whether they were uttered. Because the analysis is almost certainly true: Rockefeller, as Democrat, would probably have been nominated by the Democrats years ago, and most probably would have succeeded to the presidency.

This does not affect the balance of Mr. Reeves' analysis. There is a staying power in the opposition to Rockefeller which is a political factor of undeniable importance. I doubt that Mr. Reeves believes that his list of Rockefeller's qualifications is comprehensive. Rich and cosmopolitan Republican easterners have made it to the White House, Teddy Roosevelt most spectacularly. Rockefeller's crowning sins were psychological: a) his abrasive indictment of the Republican right in the summer of 1963; and b) his refusal to campaign for Goldwater in 1964.

HOWEVER, the opposition to Rockefeller is usually voiced in ideological terms—he is blamed by many Republicans as the man who elevated welfare spending into a national compulsion by the example he set in New York. My own weakness as an anti-Rockefellerite lies in my experience with converts.

Direction Of Fuel Prices

By JOSH FITZHUGH

AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The price of oil was the subject of debate among government leaders on both sides of the Atlantic during the past week.

In Vienna, oil ministers of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries met to decide how much more to charge for their oil. They had earlier said they would increase rates effective Oct. 1 to offset inflation and higher import costs.

And in Washington the administration and Congress continued to search for an answer — if only interim — on the direction of domestic fuel prices.

By week's end the Congressional leaders and President Ford had agreed on a plan to reimpose oil price controls for 55 days or until Nov. 15, time enough perhaps to reach agreement on long-term energy policies.

Domestic oil controls expired Aug. 31 but Ford has said he would accept a gradual phaseout to avoid inflationary consequences of immediate decontrol.

The OPEC meeting revealed the cartel's greatest divisions since its concerted drive for higher prices began in 1973.

The largest producer, Saudi Arabia, apparently sought an increase of no more than 5 per cent, while price hawks like Iran wanted more.

At one point Sheik Ahmed Zaki Yamani, the Saudi oil minister, walked out of the meeting to note "complete differences of opinion" among the participants.

OPEC's problem, according to analysts here, is both economic and political. Slack demand for oil caused by the recession has raised questions whether higher prices will weaken sales and drastically hurt the Western industrialized nations.

On the other hand the more aggressive OPEC nations feel sharper price gains are necessary to offset their import costs and to preserve

OPEC power.

Questions of supply and demand were also being raised in the United States, where the aluminum industry's previously united price front was eroded by some companies' discounts.

Aluminum companies, like steel firms, have been able to maintain or increase prices despite slack demand this year. The discounts raised the question whether they can continue to do so.

In Detroit American Motors Corp. said it was raising prices of 1976 model cars an average 4.4 per cent or $154, but keeping the $2,889 Gremlin as the lowest priced auto produced here.

Car sales in mid-September meanwhile nearly matched the previous year's relatively strong level, giving auto executives and workers further reason for optimism.

"Flushes" Not Sure Symptom

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Are there any conditions other than menopause which can cause a woman to have severe and frequent hot flushes and night sweats?

I am 62, and I had a partial hysterectomy three years ago. I have been on estrogen for six years or more. I have yearly physicals, and all the results are normal. Do you have any suggestions? — Mrs. S.T.

The flushes and sweating of menopause are a vasomotor phenomenon, controlled by your nervous system that regulates such things as the size of blood capillaries. The same mechanism can cause ordinary blushing, or the goose flesh some folks experience under certain circumstances.

This control mechanism can create other unpleasant symptoms, such as cold hands and feet. So menopause is not always a factor in these disturbances. Night sweats, as an example, can occur with certain infections.

At 62, one would have expected an end to your menopausal symptoms.

Since you indicate that estrogen therapy has not ended them after all this time, other causes should be investigated.

Perhaps a mild sedative or a tranquilizer would be effective as an alternative to the hormones. You should discuss this possibility with your physician. Menopausal symptoms can remain for long periods in some women, but I have always advised the search for other causes if they remain many years, as in your case.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My two small boys, ages 4 and 5, had a medical examination and their urine showed sugar. The clinic that did the test told me to take them to a doctor.

I did four days later, and the sugar didn't show up. The doctor is a kidney specialist. Do you think he could be wrong? He said it was from something they had been eating. They did each have a piece of candy before going into the clinic.

My mother died of diabetes. I don't have it. If someone in the family has had diabetes, is there a chance that some other close relative will have it? — Mrs. C.H.

The bars of candy could have been sufficient to produce the positive sugar readings. In young persons, sugar can appear normally after a heavy sugar load without being indicative of diabetes. A blood test taken two hours after such a load is more significant. In this, an elevated blood sugar reading would indicate an insufficient quantity of insulin being produced to "burn the sugar" in the blood.

There is a tendency for diabetes to reappear in families. Occurrence in young children would produce dramatic symptoms — insatiable thirst, frequency of urination, bedwetting, listlessness, and a continuing heavy sugar reading in the urine. Parents with diabetes in their family background should inform pediatricians of this fact. As for yourself, you might find my booklet, "Diabetes, The Sneaky Disease," helpful. Feeding Violence

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — As he was led away by police after having pumped five bullets into Gov. George Wallace, Andrew Bremer is said to have turned to one of the officers to ask, "How much do you think they will pay me for my story?"

Whether accurate or not, this illustrates the yearning for publicity of those who, like Bremer, see a way to instant fame and money in criminality directed at a prominent figure.

PARALYZED from the waist down with repeated operations since the attack, Wallace has shown extraordinary pluck and persistence in pushing his campaign for President.

The flood of public attention given Lynette Fromme after her unsuccessful attempt to shoot President Ford feeds this same appetite. That she should be on the cover of both the national news magazines will surely be an incentive to other sick, depraved minds to break through the anonymity barrier and prove that they, too, can vent their hatred on a President or a political candidate.

Fromme's roommate, Sandra Good, is interviewed as though she were a reputable citizen and she complies by giving out a "death list" with the names of corporate executives to be struck down because they have polluted the atmosphere. Time magazine ran a picture of the two women nude that apparently had been sent to members of the Manson "family" held in prison.

Charles Manson, the demon worshipped by these dehumanized minds, was interviewed in his prison cell by Stan Atkinson of the Oakland, Calif., station KTUV. With this remarkable latitude in the accepted code of penal confinement for a convicted murderer, it is hardly surprising that the outcry grows for restoration of the death penalty.

In this atmosphere, with the sickness of criminality spreading like a plague, President Ford plunges into crowds in a halfdozen states. The wisdom of starting a campaign so early with the nominating convention still nearly a year off to one side is questionable.

The President owes it to the Secret Service and, more important, to all of us, to take reasonable precautions in the aftermath of the Sacramento assassination attempt.

To do less may prove he is a courageous fatalist willing to accept the chances of death, but that is a kind of bravery we can ill afford.

Another form the sickness takes is the attempt to reopen the court judgments and the commission finding in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy and his brother Robert. Some who press these inquiries may be genuinely concerned that justice was not done. But the strong suspicion is that the same yearning for publicity has a lot to do with the clamor to rake over the assassinations that were so tragic a part of the '60s.

At the far-out extreme is the charge, getting a headline or two, that the CIA was behind the murder of the Kennedys. This is apparently based on the theory that since the agency is accused of just about every other crime they must have had a hand in that one, too.

It was disturbing to hear that the FBI had suppressed a record of a threatening letter from Lee Harvey Oswald. Whether this was withheld from the commission investigating the President's assassination is presently the subject of an inquiry within the FBI.

THE COMMISSION, headed by the Chief Justice Earl Warren, spent months in a comprehensive examination of all the evidence and came out with the conclusion that there was no plot and that Oswald fired the shots that killed the President and seriously wounded then-Gov. John Connally. The threatening letter could, in retrospect, have meant little.

One can only hope that this is a fever which will pass. But exploiting the sensationalism of the outlaws who boast of their outlawry does not contribute to a return to stability and a moderation of the violence so prevalent.

Television and the movies have a sizable share of responsibility. Try looking at the ad page for current films. Hardy is one but shows a smoking gun. The defenders say that this violence is an outlet for pent-up hostilities and therefore beneficial. The growing proportion of crimes committed by persons under 21 seems to give that the lie.

Life is intolerable on the narrow edge of fear. That is one consequence of the epidemic, and it is hardly less than that, of crime today.

A Devotion For Today

"(Jesus) said to them, 'Come away by yourselves to a lonely place, and rest a while.' For many were coming and going, and they had no leisure even to eat." (Mark 6:31, RSV)

PRAYER: Bless our time of devotion and prayer, our time of play and reading, Father, that we may keep in touch with the pulse of Your world. Amen.

Joe Carter Collects Things Other People Throw Away

By MARJ CARPENTER
Joe Carter, who lives near Garden City, has an eye for history. He saves things that other people throw away and consequently has ended up as a sort of a walking museum of the area.

For instance, who else but Joe Carter would have a newspaper which had the wrong date printed on it in 1940? Joe Carter probably has the only copy out of the original file of a Big Spring Herald datelined 1840.

When people see that paper they say, "I didn't know the Herald was that old." And of course, it's not that old. If you look more closely, the paper has news of the late 1940s. He also kept the old anniversary edition put out on slick back paper as a special. One of the things he kept is an original bill of merchandise from J & W Fisher, pioneer merchandisers. This old building is to be marked soon with a Texas Historical medallion. Carter, whose father came from Ohio to this area in 1883 and whose mother migrated from Kentucky in 1890, has this bill of sale marked Jan. 14, 1896. Among the items listed are 75 cents for a pair of overalls, two pounds of coffee for 50 cents, 25 pounds of potatoes for 50 cents, six pounds of onions for a quarter and a nickel for salt. Horse shoe nails also cost a quarter and a necktie cost 35 cents. Armlets were a quarter. One gallon of machine oil was 75 cents. A blanket was $1.25. Carter's mother taught school years ago in Panther Draw. Joe is a windmill repairman. There aren't too many of those left around. He maintains that the ranchers still depend on windmills for water so he's still necessary. He was born in 1911 on the

COURTHOUSE 'GRANDFATHER' AT GROUND BREAKING — Then County Judge Walter Grice (center) and County Commissioners Court were breaking ground for the present courthouse when this photo was taken. The courthouse was erected in 1952. Grice, who at 78 called himself the grandfather of the courthouse, retires as justice of the peace Tuesday. The only two other living members of this commissioners court, Earl Hull (far left) and Arthur Stallings (second from left), plan to attend. Walter Long and Pete Thomas (far right) have died. The retirement party will be conducted on the second floor of the courthouse 3-5 p.m. Tuesday.

Ex-Resident Is Named To Position With ADA

The American Diabetes Association has opened an office in Midland at 1509 W. Wall, Suite B-15. The office, housed in space donated by the Permian Corporation, will be open daily from 9 to 5. A Big Spring native, Grady Cunningham, has been named Regional Director and will be in charge of the Midland office, which will coordinate the recruiting of volunteers and fund raising in 40 West Texas counties. Cunningham graduated from Big Spring High School in 1971 and attended Howard County Junior College. He is affiliated with the DECA Alumni Association and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

GRADY CUNNINGHAM

Cunningham states that his office will be primarily concerned with furthering the four main purposes of the ADA. Professional education of physicians and allied professions; patient education that will help diabetics to keep well and useful; public education and detection to find unknown diabetics and bring them under proper treatment and research into causes, treatment, prevention, or postponement, of diabetes. Cunningham, from the Midland office, will direct and supervise chapters of ADA already set up in Lubbock and San Angelo and plans to initiate chapters in other West Texas communities. Locally, the Permian Basin Chapter of the American Diabetes Association is now in the process of planning a new series of monthly seminars. These seminars, usually conducted by or under the direction of, physicians will be on various phases of treatment and research in diabetes. They will be held the first Monday evening of each month in the cafeteria of Midland Memorial Hospital. Programs topics will shortly be announced, and all interested persons are invited to attend. Further details on the ADA, including activities of the Permian Basin Chapter, may be obtained by calling 682-0314. The office has a good supply of cookbooks and other useful literature on diabetes and its proper treatment. Dietetic counseling is available by appointment from the ADA office.

Ann Boleyn Play Is Set

MIDLAND — A dramatic hit set in the colorful era of King Henry VIII is the next production scheduled at Midland Community Theatre. Maxwell Anderson's powerful, poetic chronicle of the life and death of Anne Boleyn, will open Friday, Oct. 3, for eight performances.

Anne Boleyn was the second wife of Henry VIII for a brief but turbulent thousand days. Their love affair and marriage produced world-shaking consequences. The English church severed its ties with Rome, international alliances shifted, and executions became a common practice, all predicated by the actions of these two strong-willed, fiercely proud individuals. Rica Thomas and Monty Cottier will portray the royal couple in the MCT production. "Anne of the Thousand Days" is the third of Maxwell Anderson's historical dramas to be set in this period of English history. He had previously written "Elizabeth the Queen" and "Mary of Scotland". Other well known Anderson plays include "Winterset", "What Price Glory?" and "Both Your Houses", the latter winning him the Pulitzer Prize for drama in 1933.

Anne of the Thousand Days will offer a special student ticket price of $1 for the performances scheduled Thursday, Oct. 9, and the matinee Sunday, Oct. 12. Or, students may come in teacher-sponsored groups to any performance at the group rate of $1 a ticket. A study guide for teachers of English and History has been prepared by the Junior League of Midland and has been distributed to area schools. Copies may be obtained from MCT.

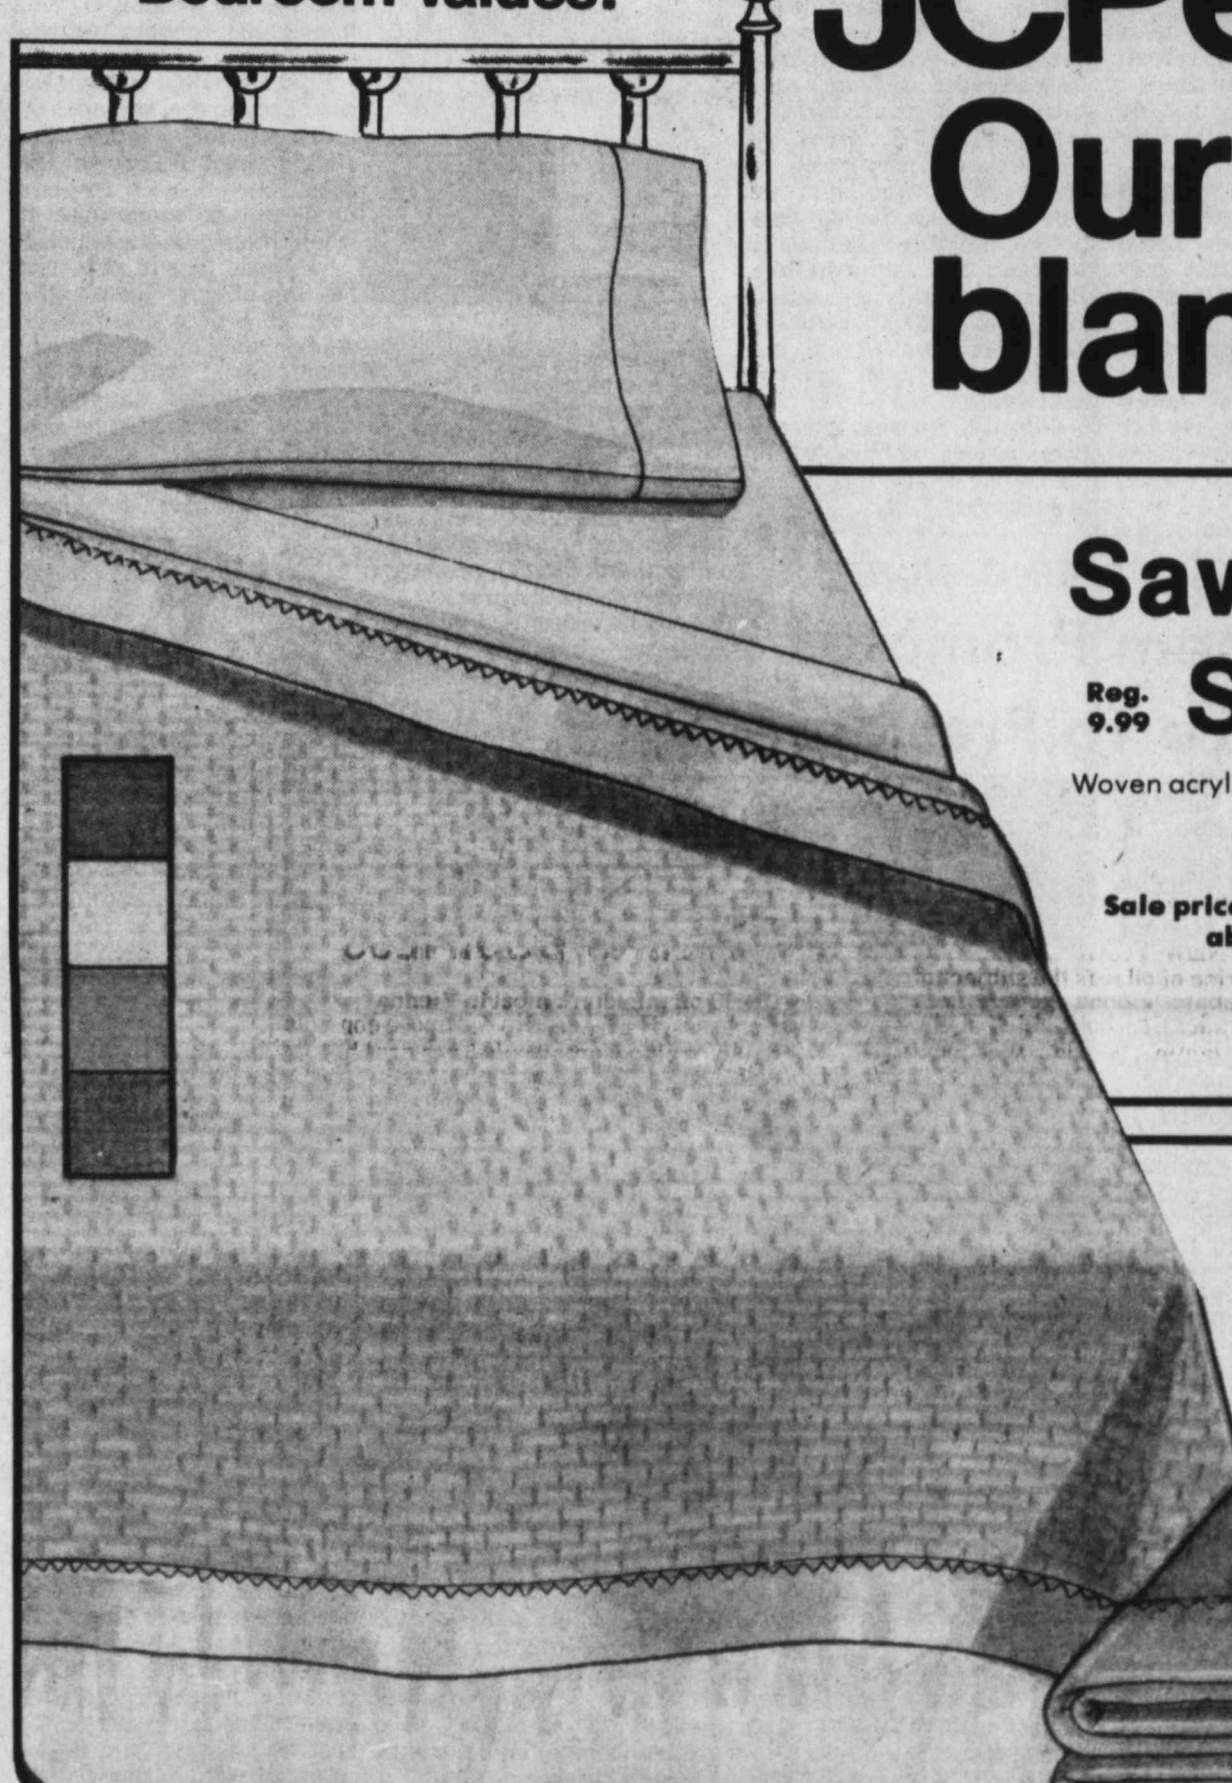

The box office for "Anne of the Thousand Days" is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. each week day. Reservations should be made by calling 682-2544 or by writing MCT at Box 4847, Midland, 79701.

'Goodbye Dolly' Indict Rains County Judge, Commissioners For Abuse

Lesly Mills reported a theft of a dolly belonging to the DKT Company. He reported that the dolly rolled off a truck at Highway 87 and the North Service Road. Another truck stopped, picked up the dolly and drove away.

In other thefts, Jack Berry, 424 Dallas, reported over $1400 worth of guns stolen from his home. Missing were a .38 special, a .22 Colt revolver, a 22-250 Remington with a scope, a 244 custom-made Monte Carlo, a 20 gauge over and under Winchester, and a 44 magnum nickel plated revolver.

Mrs. Oscar Jackson reported a burglary of her home at 910 NW 4th with a tape player and a record player missing.

EMORY, Tex. (AP) — A Rains County grand jury has indicted the county judge, three commissioners and a former commissioner have been indicted on 21 counts alleging "abuse of office."

The grand jury indictments came after an investigation by the grand jury which also openly criticized Dist. Atty. Jack Neal for "failing to work diligently" in finding some of the information requested by the grand jury members.

County Judge Cecil Johnston was charged with one third class felony and four misdemeanors. Others named in the indictment on counts listing from two to six misdemeanors were: commissioners E. L. Daugherty, J. T. Kirkpatrick, K. H. Northcutt, and ex-commissioner E. E. Northcutt.

Each misdemeanor charge. The felony indictment against Johnston alleged that he cashed four vouchers for $87.50 each to himself for expenses the indictment said were not incurred.

Johnston was acting as an ex-officio county school superintendent at the time. The vouchers supposedly were cashed during the first four months of 1975.

Fourteen of the charges against the five were based on the amount they listed their property for tax purposes on county rolls.

The indictments said the defendants listed property at less than actual value, although it was noted commissioners property tax values were equal to values for similar property owned by other residents.

The indictments allege the defendants violated the law by benefiting themselves personally and by filing false affidavits.

The indictments also allege commissioners bought tires for personal vehicles at county expense instead of paying from a $100 monthly expense allowance.

In addition, a sealed envelope was presented to Judge Brim who said he would examine the contents before deciding whether to release the information. Brim also said he is holding results of a county audit by J. R. Hurt of Dallas until the grand jury's term expires next week.

Clifford N. House is the only commissioner not indicted in the county. House took office in January.

ATTENDED BIG SPRING SCHOOLS PolyChem Promotes Lawrence To President

The promotion of Kelly E. Lawrence to president of PolyChem International, Inc. was announced today by Robert Edward Lee, chairman and chief executive officer.

Lawrence was formerly executive vice president of the Houston based chemical marketing and transportation service firm.

"PolyChem's growth in new markets and services called for greater emphasis on administrative operations with top management responsibility," said Robert Lee. "Accordingly, the dual positions of president and chairman, which I previously held, were separated — with Mr. Lawrence stepping up to assume the role of chief operations officer."

KELLY LAWRENCE

Lawrence has devoted more than 16 years to the petrochemical marketing business. Before his association with PolyChem International, he served as chemical sales manager for Cosden Petroleum Corporation (now Cosden Oil & Chemical). He also held the position of chemical sales manager for Tenneco Oil Company, with responsibility for both domestic and international marketing.

PolyChem International is a major chemical trading company, with operations in the U. S., Europe and the Far East. The firm also specializes in the short-term leasing of railroad tank cars to companies in the petrochemical and chemical industry, and is engaged in the management of tank car properties through Bankers Tank Car Management Inc., a wholly-owned subsidiary.

UW Objectives Told To Club

Dub Pearson, Herald publisher, and George Zacharich were guest speakers at the weekly ABC Club meeting Friday at the Settles Hotel.

Both explained the working of the United Way, a volunteer organization which started its drive Sept. 4.

Pearson serves as president of the organization and Zacharich, executive secretary. The United Way goal, to aid the local community, has reached thus far only 16 per cent of the anticipated goal, running a little behind 1974. "We hope to get geared up soon," said Pearson.

United Way was renamed last year. It formerly was known as United Fund. The drive will close out the latter part of November.

Fertilizer Plentiful For Farmers

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — The fertilizer shortage in the nation's wheat and corn country is over and that could boost food production next year if natural gas curtailments don't interfere.

"We're turning away fertilizer now that we couldn't beg, borrow or steal a year ago," said Tom Ostrander, a Wellington, Kan., farmer who heads the Kansas Association of Wheat Growers.

Agriculture officials in Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri, Iowa, Illinois and North Dakota also reported ample fertilizer available, an Associated Press survey showed. Farmers have had to scramble in the past two years to find supplies.

"From our contact with major fertilizer dealers, it looks like there is an oversupply right now and that's why we're seeing some price reduction," said North Dakota Agriculture Commissioner Myron Just.

Just and other farm experts said fertilizer stocks have been built up in recent months by a combination of increased production and reduced usage by farmers. Ample fertilizer, most of it based on natural gas, is a prime reason U.S. farmers produce high yield crops which are the envy of other nations.

In 1973, farmers paid about $90 a ton for anhydrous ammonia, one of the most widely used fertilizers. Last year prices for the nitrogen fertilizer soared to about $250 a ton up to $400 a ton on the "black market" created by the shortage. Prices now are reported at about $190 to $220 a ton in most areas.

Many farm and industry officials predict the current abundance of fertilizer will be short-lived as demand accelerates and shortages of natural gas used to produce nitrogen become worse.

Lower prices and ample supplies already have spurred farmers to begin stocking up on fertilizer, either storing dry mixtures or spreading liquid nitrogen on fields that will produce next year's crops.

Farmers in major winter wheat areas, such as Kansas and Oklahoma, are reported to be using fertilizer heavily in some areas as they prepare the 1976 crop of the nation's top bread grain.

"Farmers are putting fertilizer on pretty heavy since the price of wheat went up," said Elwin Tyson at Plains, Kan. "If crop prices stay up, the farmers will go after the fertilizer to grow as much as they can."

The situation is good news for consumers because it creates potential for back-to-back bumper crops again next year, said Dr. Larry Murphy, a fertilizer expert at Kansas State University.

Gun Collecting Judge Stern On Offenders

BARTOW, Fla. (AP) — Oliver Green Jr. is a judge with a fancy for guns and an intolerance for misuse of them.

An active member of rifle and pistol clubs, he is known for his wide collection of 40-50 firearms and his stiff sentences for armed wrongdoers.

"I am a gun enthusiast. I consider it my prime hobby," Green said. "I am disappointed with what people do with guns and I crack down on it. How to deal with the element of people who misuse it is my problem and I deal with it sternly."

Green, 42, frequently sends armed robbers to jail for life when they appear before him in Polk County Circuit Court. It doesn't matter if the weapon used was only a water pistol.

"That's immaterial," said Green.

"If a person has a gun and commits a felony, that's fine with me. He's treated as such — even if it's plastic."

Under Florida law, a person can be charged with armed robbery if the victim fears for his life, the judge explained. If the victim believes the weapon is real, the armed robbery charge may apply.

First offenders are shown no mercy and a sentence of probation for a gun-toting stickup man is out of the question. A 10-year minimum is more like it when Green is on the bench.

"I would like to preserve for law-abiding people the right to bear arms in their defense and defense of their home," said the crew-cut father of three daughters. "And I would like to preserve the right of sportsmen. To do this, I feel severe penalties should be dealt to those who misuse firearms."

One man convicted of three armed robberies pulled two life sentences and 50 years. The reason he only got half a century on the third charge was because a visiting judge handled it.

Green said he has carried a pistol in his car at times when his life was threatened, but he does not now, adding "there were situations where prudence dictated caution."

Green worries about the growing use of guns in crime.

"The place is going hog-wild. Look at what happened to President Ford," he said. If the two accused assassins of Ford were convicted and brought to him for sentencing, Green said, they would be put away for life in a maximum security prison with no hope of ever being free again.

FIRST TIME — W. S. (Dub) Pearson (left), president of the 1975 Howard County United Way campaign, accepts a $100 check from Bob Talley, exalted ruler of the local Elks Lodge. Although members of the lodge have participated individually in the drive in the past, this is the first time the lodge itself has rallied funds for the campaign.

THE WEEK

When the decision comes to replace the base theater at Webb with a newer, better one, the money will come from non-appropriated funds, which means it won't have to be approved by Congress. The theater now used has to be shut down when the velocity of the wind exceeds 35 knots because the building gives every indication it is going to take off and fly higher than a T-37.

Incidentally, during that now celebrated house fire in Highland South the other day, one observer was moved to wonder aloud: "Why doesn't Webb send a helicopter to help out?"

Webb hasn't had a helicopter in about three years, and chances are there wasn't much one could have done, had it been available. No helicopter ever assigned here, to my knowledge, was ever equipped to fight fires.

When it was announced that Cosden's Ken Perry had become the president of Petrofina Canada Chemicals Ltd., it was assumed by more than a few residents here that Perry would be moving to Canada.

Such is not the case. Ken will continue to make his home here. Ken devotes much of his time working toward the betterment of the community and Big Spring could ill afford to lose him.

Someone in the state of Arkansas has pulled off a nifty one.

Arkansas has become one of the few states to establish an employe's birthday as a recognized legal holiday.

No, not everyone can take a day off when anyone observes a birthday, but there's nothing to prevent a fellow from taking off on his birthday. Come to think of it, there's nothing to keep me from taking a day's leave on my birthday. The trouble is, I might not be able to get back in the door when I return.

A firm which calls itself Curlew Properties Inc., would like to conduct a feasibility study with local interests about building a downtown motor hotel complex, including convention space.

William J. Fry of the Clearwater, Fla., company indicated such a study would cost about $8,000 and says that it is willing to invest half that amount for the undertaking, in order to find out if there is a definite need for such a facility. Fry was a recent visitor here.

In one of the Herald's obituaries last week, I noticed a widow outlived her husband by 48 years. That probably isn't a record for one mate surviving another, but I wonder what's?

I think there are several widows of Civil War veterans still among the living. It's been 110 years since the War Between The States ended but some of the veterans of that war took very young brides while well advanced in years. Those women would still be drawing government pensions because of their husbands' involvement in the great war.

Walter Grice, the retiring justice of peace, says his memory banks betrayed him on this, but I recall the incident.

He once had the well-

State Spends Too Much On Schools

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas needs both redirection in educational goals and a slowing of the growth of the educational budget, says Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

Addressing the Joint Advisory Committee on Government Operation, which was created this year by the legislature and which is headed by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and Speaker Billy Clayton, Briscoe said Friday: "Here is Texas, during the past 10 years—10 short years—our state budget has increased 250 per cent. In the field of higher education, the level of spending is five times the 1966-67 level. I think it is obvious that if this trend continues, higher education is going to break the state."

Not only is Texas spending too much on education, it is spending it on the wrong things, he said.

"What are we buying?" he asked, and then gave his answer: "Among the results of our investment are: A substantial oversupply of certified teachers in many fields; liberal art majors who are sometimes lucky to find employment in a typing pool; a large number of unemployed Ph.D.s; unnecessary duplication of programs and expensive facilities."

Mrs. Kennon baked a hot fudge sundae cake which only took about 12 minutes to bake in the micro-wave oven. If it had been baked in an electric range, it would have taken about 40 minutes. What a difference from 15 minutes to 40 minutes.

The demonstration came to an end with a slide presentation on the micro-wave ovens and a sample of the hot fudge sundae cake and the cobblestone fudge.

The Face of Faith

Sometimes a face is striking. It isn't the sort of face you're accustomed to. It's a face you wouldn't have expected to see. But you have seen it! That's why you call it striking.

The Face of Faith is like that . . . The eyes seem lifted toward the hills, to a source of strength. The lips are firm with a courage that rests neither on prowess nor weapon. The countenance shines with a joyous light . . . a light that seems to reflect some mystic Sun though the world around is cast in shadow and gloom.

I see the Face of Faith each Sunday . . . the face of a child . . . perhaps your child!

I am her Sunday School teacher — and the joyous light of that striking face inspires me to seek more faithfully in the worship and work of my Church the help of God.

You are her parents. How that confident, expectant radiance must inspire you!

Midland Quarterhorse Show Scheduled Oct. 4

MIDLAND — Final plans are being made for the ninth annual Midland County Livestock Association Quarterhorse Show scheduled for Saturday, October 4, at the Midland Livestock Association arena east of Midland on U. S. 80. Judging for halter classes will begin at 9:00 a.m. and performance classes will start at 12:30 p.m.

An electronic timer will be used in the various competitive events.

General Show Manager, Jim Crowder, announced that the show is approved by the American Quarterhorse Association and the Quarterhorse Association of West Texas. Judge for the show will be W. R. (Bill) Thompson of Carlsbad, New Mexico, and ring stewards will be Albert Stewart and Billy Evans. The show will be governed by rules set forth in the American Quarterhorse Association handbook 1975 edition.

Entry fees are $5 for halter classes, $10 for open performance and $3.50 for youth performance events. Half of the entry fees in open performance classes will be paid back to the top four horses in each class.

First place winners in each class will receive horseman's tack, ribbons will be awarded through the first six places. Grand and reserve champion stallions, mares and geldings will be awarded trophies.

A youth all around performance trophy will be awarded to the highest scoring youth contestant who has competed in at least three youth registered classes.

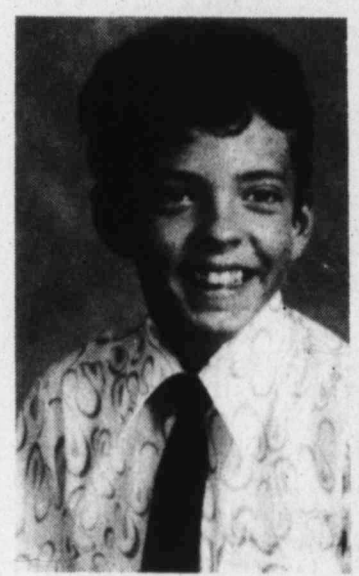

Crowder stated that AQHA registration papers will be checked upon entering and that youth entries must present the original of registration papers showing the horse is owned by contestant or immediate family or guardian. Youth contestants shall not have passed their 19th birthday as of January 1, 1975. Crowder also stated that the health certificates will be required and a certificate must have statement of VEE vaccination. Out of state horses must have VEE papers plus coggins (EIA) test taken in the last six months.

Those wishing information concerning entry applications may contact Mrs. Jo Stewart, MCLA secretary, Box 3166, Midland, Texas 79701

David Bates Is Cadet Leader

The local unit of the Civil Air Patrol is currently meeting at 7 o'clock each Monday evening in the Civil Defense Building. David S. Bates, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. David A. Bates, is the cadet commander at present. He is a freshman at Big Spring High School where he is on the freshman football team.

David has been in the Civil Air Patrol for three years. While with the CAP in Florida he had the opportunity to visit the nation's capital, where he saw the Smithsonian Institute, White House, and other sites of interest. While with the Florida unit he successfully completed the Air Force and American Red Cross Water Survival Course. While with the El Paso composite squadron he was able to attend a C.A.P. encampment at Holloman AFB, N.M. where he received a orientation of the jobs available in the AF. He also was on the ground rescue team.

David is planning a career in the military upon graduation from high school. The Civil Air Patrol is an auxiliary of the U.S. Air Force.

Decision Upheld By Texas Court

AUSTIN, Tex. — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals upheld an appeal of a writ of habeas corpus application ruling, District Judge Ralph W. Caton learned Friday.

The appellate court upheld the decision of Judge Caton not to release William Paul Darrow, 30, from prison.

Darrow is serving a 10-year sentence for sale of marijuana. The appellate action was done without a written order.

Bicentennial Town Crier

Many thanks to president Delores Hull for sending us the Pot Pourri yearbook. The whole cover is a striking replica of Old Glory, and it appears that every monthly program makes use of a Bicentennial Bureau member. This year's Pot Pourri officers include Lazelle Thomas, Sara Tipton, and Bobbie Thomas. Delores has already shown her support of bicentennial with timely advice when we needed it most.

Don't be surprised if your dog gets the bicentennial fever, too. A canine we know is now sporting a red, white and blue hair ribbon after a trip to the Poodle Parlor. Very fetching!

Aaron Welch came to get the Goliad Junior High School bicentennial flag. The Goliad Science Club, sponsored by Mr. Welch, purchased the flag as a gift for the whole school. In many ways, our young people have outdistanced us in enthusiasm for Bicentennial. Go get 'em, Mavericks!

Mrs. Nilah Allen, staff member at Big Spring High School, has been selected from Boy Scout supporters to research the history of Scout Troop No. 1. Anyone who has help to offer should contact Mrs. Allen. The troop is reported to be the oldest continuous troop west of the Mississippi. We will certainly want to make note of such a distinction.

The Howard County Fair Association really gave us a boost with the red, white and blue decor of the exhibit buildings. Numerous mementoes of bicentennial were on display, and many were entered in competition. Margaret Lloyd, Festival Chairman, was proud to present one of our official bicentennial certificates to Arnold Marshall, president of Howard County Fair Association. Thanks to all directors of the fair (and a pat on the back for Terry Hansen and of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce for making sunny weather available most of the week!).

While at the Fair, we visited with Johnnie Gunnels and Gerri Atwell in the Heritage Museum booth. Both reported good sales of the bicentennial commemorative coins. Stop by the Museum at 6th and Scurry before the supply is exhausted. Most of the sets of three (gold, silver, and bronze) have already been spoken for.

Several conferences were held with Beth Kay of the Altrusa Club concerning the red, white and blue afghan made and donated by Jeanette Barnett for bicentennial activities. Kay McDaniel sponsored a booth at the fair so the ladies would have suitable space to display the attractive afghan. The lucky winner is Mrs. I. G. Hudson, 1711 E. 15th. Hats off to Jeanette, Altrusa, and all concerned.

Tootsie Grantham brought a copy of the 1953 Hyperion yearbook, featuring our Capt. Marcy logo in shades of blue on the cover. So many interesting historical programs are listed under the study title "Spirit of '76" that we should all be inspired to do some homework ahead. Isn't it encouraging to see so many groups reinforcing their understanding of our heritage?

NEW SHOPPE — Judy Hinshaw, who helps Mrs. Sherry Wegner at Ye Olde Pottery Shoppe is shown with some of the wide selection of pottery available at the new store.

Ye Olde Pottery Shoppe Draws Attention Galore

Up on Gregg Street, there's a new shop that is drawing a lot of attention. Ye Olde Pottery Shoppe at 504 Gregg is owned and operated by Mrs. Sherry Wegner.

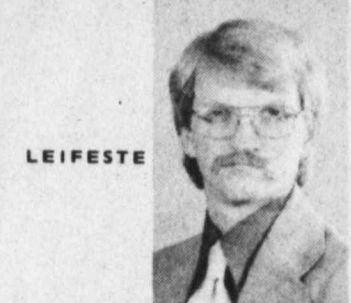

You may have met her the week of the Howard County Fair, because she closed her shop that week and moved to the fairgrounds to meet the people.

Among the items featured at her shoppe are many different selections of pottery. These include some very special handmade equipment for hanging planters.

Mrs. Wegner also has a relative that handprints skirts and other items.

Mrs. Wegner features so many unusual items that they really have to be seen to be appreciated. Drop by her shop at 504 Gregg or call 7-9231 for additional information.

LEIFESTE

Formerly assistant editor of the Texas Parks & Wildlife magazine, Leifeste was promoted to his new position Sept. 1. Since his appointment he has been hard at work setting up the new office, located at San Angelo Fish Hatchery No. 1 and familiarizing himself with his district and with the many programs and projects the department has going in the area.

Actually, we should have said "refamiliarizing" himself with his district since he is certainly no stranger to the Permian Basin and Edwards Plateau regions, having spent much of his life there.

He is a 1970 graduate of Angelo State University with a B.A. degree in journalism and was a sportswriter, sports columnist and wire editor for The San Angelo Standard-Times.

Other positions he has held include managing editor of the Corsicana (Tex.) Daily Sun and city editor for the Killeen (Tex.) Daily Herald. He is an accomplished color photographer and has won several awards for writing and newspaper layout. He joined the Parks and Wildlife Department in 1973.

His newly established district encompasses 36 counties, including Howard, Borden, Martin, Mitchell, Dawson and Sterling. His territory includes seven state parks, two fish hatcheries, regional law enforcement offices and numerous wildlife and fisheries projects.

Stellar Art Will Be On Display

The doors of the Heritage Museum here will reopen Tuesday for perhaps the most impressive display of art the facility has ever had.

The Country Store, a collective of oils and bronzes of some of the most renowned artists in history, will go on display for four days.

Among western artists whose works will be on display are Charles M. Russell, Frederic Remington, Albert Bierstadt, Frank Tenney Johnson, Joseph Henry Sharp, O. E. Berninghaus, B. R. Garvin, Gerald McCann, Melvin C. Warren, Carl Hantmann, Olaf Wieghorst, Nicolai Fechin, E. I. Couse, Joe Rader Roberts, George Phippen, Prezio and Shep Chadhorn.

The great masters will not be overlooked in the exhibition. Renoir, Salvador Dali, Marc Chagall, Degas, Diego Rivera, Picasso and Edouard Cortes will have examples of their work on display here.

The list doesn't stop there. One can view samples of the work of such recognized artists as Porfirio Salinas, C. P. Montague, Jerry Ruthven, Robert Wood, Renne Hughes, Gene Mobley, A. D. Greer, E. M. (Buck) Schiwetz, C. N. Maas, H. Zeegers, J. L. Egenstafer, Scurlock, DeLaRue, Ragan Gennusa, Karin Hollenbeke and Latour.

The show will not be limited to oils. Bronzes by Charles Russell, B. R. Garvin, Frank Hoffman, George Phippen, James E. Fraser and Melvin C. Warren will also be displayed.

The exhibits from 10 a.m. until 7 p.m., daily through Thursday and from 10 a.m. until noon Friday.

Director of the Country Store is Jerry Crawford of Austin, who has assembled the art over a period of years.

Crawford will be working with Mrs. Toots Mansfield, chairman of the show; and Geri Atwell, the museum curator.

The exhibit bids fair to bring in visitors from all over West Texas.

Japanese Emperor Won't Visit Grave Of Gen. MacArthur

WASHINGTON (AP) — Emperor Hirohito of Japan has rejected an invitation to visit the grave of Gen. Douglas MacArthur during his upcoming two-week visit to the United States, according to diplomatic sources said.

The Japanese ambassador to Washington reportedly notified the widow of the rejection several weeks ago.

Invitations from dozens of other Americans around the country also were rejected, mostly because they were not convenient for the monarch's itinerary.

It was 30 years ago this month that Hirohito appeared before MacArthur to take full responsibility for Japanese policies during World War II.

It was a gesture that clearly subjected the emperor to the death penalty but MacArthur later recalled, "He was an emperor by inherent birth but in that instant I knew I faced the First Gentleman of Japan in his own right."

Subsequently, MacArthur played a major role in shaping the post-war Japanese constitution under which the emperor was stripped of his "divinity." His role since then is completely ceremonial.

During his two-week visit, the emperor will visit six major American cities and several smaller ones.

Ronnie Gene Bussey, 31, of a local motel, was being confined in county jail for a parole violation.

Bussey was serving a prison sentence for theft and was on parole out of Ector County.

Caton Signs Bond Orders

District Judge Ralph W. Caton signed orders filed Friday afternoon initiating bond forfeiture proceedings in several cases.

These defendants failed to appear for court Aug. 25: Wesley A. Bailey, 20, Sand Springs, indicted for burglary.

Ernest Gerald Ward, 31, Montalba, Tex., assault with intent to murder and carrying a pistol on licensed premises.

Edna Nelson Stephens, 62, Snyder, second-offense driving while intoxicated. Lynda Lusk, 37, Dallas, embezzlement.

And Dorothy Lynn Hicks, 24, Big Spring, Murder. Sureties for the defendants included Ike Isaacs and L.R. Baxter, the American Bail Bond Co., Free World Bailbond Co., Wayne Basden and Tom Conway and James Ozie Bailey.

The bondsmen must be served with notice and given opportunity to reply before a final judgment dismissing the action or ordering forfeiture may be entered, Judge Caton said.

Improved Radar Facility OKed

The Federal Aviation Administration has announced selection of the Midland Flight Service Station as the first field facility in the U.S. to receive an improved weather radar display for use by general aviation pilots and FAA weather briefing specialists.

When installed, the new system will present an improved, "digitized" radar display of significant weather within 200 miles of the agency's long range air traffic control radar at Andrews, Texas, some 50 miles northwest of Midland. Target date for completion of the project is late fall.

The radar information provided by this new system will be used by Midland Flight Service Station (FSS) specialists in briefing pilots for flights in the west Texas-eastern New Mexico area. In addition, verbal descriptions of the information displayed will be available to inflight aircraft in contact with the FSS by radio.

Houston, moved up from president to the top post at Exxon on Aug. 1. He is a graduate chemical engineer from Virginia Polytechnic Institute and at one time was a refinery operations manager for Exxon in Baton Rouge, La.

Zarb, 39, a former investment banker, advises the President on domestic and foreign policies affecting the production, conservation, use, control, distribution, and allocation of energy. In addition to his FEA post, Zarb also serves as executive director of the cabinet-level Energy Resources Council.

The meeting, scheduled to run a day and a half, is the only Texas gathering which brings together all segments of the petroleum industry.

The organization's membership, which produces in excess of 90 percent of the state's crude oil and natural gas and operates some 95 percent of the state's refining capacity, includes independent oil and gas producers and the leading executives of the major energy companies operating in the nation's No. 1 energy state.

Sherman Hunt, Texas Mid-Continent's outspoken president who is winding up two years as head of the group, will open the general session at 9:30 a.m. with his annual report to the membership on petroleum industry affairs in the state.

The meeting will open Wednesday, Oct. 15, with several of the Association's committees and sub-committees scheduled to meet both morning and afternoon.

The Association's Oil Information Committee meeting, also scheduled for Wednesday morning, will feature special presentations on federal legislative matters and energy economics by two speakers:

Dan Prescott, general counsel of the Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association in Washington, D.C., and Dr. A. H. Masso, a senior economics specialist in Shell Oil Company's energy economics and forecasting department in Houston.

Wednesday evening, President and Mrs. Hunt will be honored at a reception, followed by an informal dinner-dance.

Rates Due To Go Up

AUSTIN — State Insurance Board Chairman Joe Christie Tuesday said 35,000 Texas drivers could forfeit automobile insurance discounts this fall.

Christie said drivers, who completed the National Safety Council's Defensive Driving Course in the Fall of 1972 will lose their eligibility to a 10 per cent discount on insurance premiums unless they re-take the course.

He said the discount program, established by the State Board of Insurance, is valid for a three-year period, but former DDC graduates can renew their eligibility for another 36 months by completing the 8-hour program.

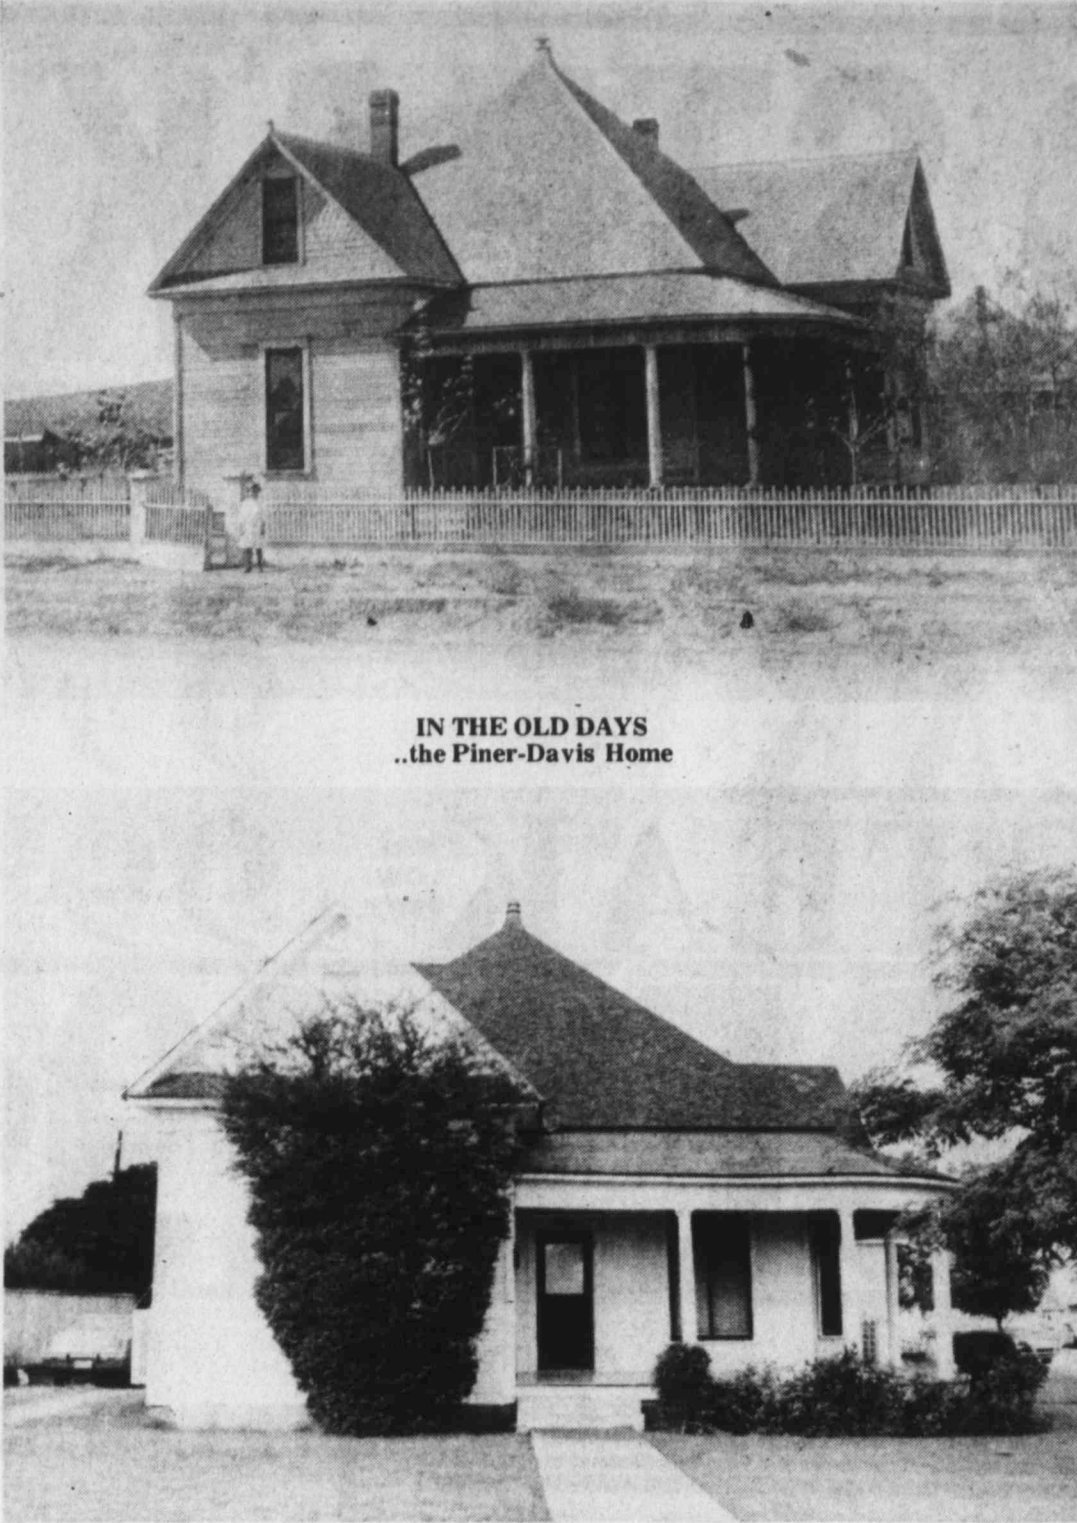

"Over 400,000 Texas motorists have completed the course in the past three years and statistics show that DDC graduates have 32 per cent fewer accidents. Fewer accidents mean lower rates," Christie said.

The Texas Safety Association, which administers the DDC program in Texas, reports that the DDC program has been revised, Christie said. The new program contains many new films and visual aids, as well as new information on traffic laws, driving habits, road design and engineering innovations.

The Defensive Driving Course has also been translated into Spanish and is being offered to Spanish-speaking Texas motorists by a number of training agencies in the state.

Christie said the State Board of Insurance has also extended the 10 per cent premium discount to motorcycle operators who complete the DDC Motorcycle Supplement.

Under the Board's rules, cyclist who finish the regular 8-hour course and the 2-hour motorcycle supplement are eligible for a discount on both automobile and motorcycle insurance premiums.

Scurry Street Still Has Many Pre-1915 Edifices

By MARJ CARPENTER

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third in a series of local homes approved for certification by the bicentennial committee which were constructed here prior to 1915. Those who have homes they wish to nominate call Mrs. Wallace Hunter at 243-8956.

Scurry Street may definitely be the street that still has the most homes still standing that were constructed prior to 1915.

The Piner-Davis House at 1400 Scurry is one of these. The residential area extended all the way out to 1500 Scurry at that time when the R. T. Piners built their house at 1400 Scurry in 1906.

That date is documented on a rafter in the attic of the high pitched roof so there is no question about the date of construction.

By 1911, the house had been sold to the Charles Davis family who owned it until 1942. Two of their four daughters were born in the house.

HOMESTEAD
Mrs. Davis, still a Big Spring resident at the age of 89, homesteaded some land near Pecos in early 1900.

The money from the sale of the homesteaded land paid for the purchase of the six room house. At that time, the house had two trees in the yard and they still stand. The old fence is gone.

The Davis girls liked the large upstairs room where they often slept in the summer and spent many hours playing paper dolls from dolls cut from catalogues.

Mrs. Davis recalls that she usually rode the buggy eleven blocks to the Methodist Church. She also recalls that the girls walked to school. "I could stand in my front yard and watch them walk over two ravines and arrive safely at South

Gunman Nabs $40,000 Cash

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Two gunmen robbed a supermarket of an estimated $40,000 in the southwest section of San Antonio today just after an armored car had dropped off the money.

Authorities said the bandits changed cars after the holdup and were last seen heading south.

DFW Airtrans May Be Halted Monday

DALLAS (AP) — Airtrans, the automated people mover system at the Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport, may screech to a halt Monday evening following a breakdown of negotiations Friday between LTV Aerospace Corp. and the airport board.

LTV and the board announced that negotiations over the system had reached an "impasse" and the interim maintenance contract with LTV would end at 6 p.m. Monday.

J. Erik Jonsson, airport board chairman, said: "For quite a few months we have been working with LTV and LTA (an LTV subsidiary) to see if we could reach a reasonable consensus on the problems associated with Airtrans. It appears now we are at a complete impasse—and this I regret very much. The board has negotiated in good faith, but the matter is now in the hands of the lawyers."

LTV said in an official statement that "the failure of the airport board to accept any of the various settlement proposals offered by the company is extremely disappointing. These proposals, provided the basis for a fair and equitable agreement between the parties and would have assured continued uninterrupted service of Airtrans."

The company said that the failure of the negotiations "means that there will no longer be any contract between the parties after Monday. In the absence of such a contract, there will be no way the company can continue to provide further maintenance service."

LTV shut down the system last March for 10 days after the airport board refused to accept the Airtrans system without further testing and activation of its sub-systems for carrying airline employees, baggage and mail. So far, it has operated only to move passengers and supplies between terminals.

During the negotiations, LTV was reported to have reduced its original $18.5 million in "add-on" contract claims to about $9 million, but the board reportedly asked that the amount be cut in half again.

One of the main points of contention has been the airlines' demand that the original contract specifications for a 30-minute transfer time of baggage be reduced to 15 minutes; and air mail transfer from the original specification of 50 minutes to 30 or 40 minutes.

LTV said the failure of the parties "to reach an agreement has nothing to do with any complaints by the board with the operation of Airtrans or the company's maintenance services. Airtrans has been performing exceptionally well for an extended period and stands as the most successful fully automated transportation system in the world."

Date Changed

The date for the grand jury to convene has been changed from Tuesday, Sept. 30, to Thursday, Oct. 2, at 9 a.m.

Bullock Fires Eight District Managers

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Comptroller Bob Bullock has fired eight of his 36 district office managers the choice of resigning or being fired.

Glen Castlebury, the comptroller's public information director, said there may be a few more firings since evaluations of all 36 field office heads had not been completed.

Castlebury said those who were fired this week "didn't measure up" to Bullock's standards.

Given the choice of resignation or dismissal were Stuart Stoops, Amarillo; Henry Inabnett, Arlington; Sigmund Albert, Bryan; Joel Alfie, Dallas; Joe Bennett, Dallas; Randolph Graham, El Paso; Everett Weaver, Fort Worth; and Jim Taylor, Lubbock.

In each case, Castlebury said, someone from the comptroller's high command here went to the field office, informed the manager of Bullock's decision and then met with the local staff. Castlebury said the only reason the work got done in some offices was "there were some young tax compliance officers who had pride and spunk and just got it done."

He said Bullock had turned his attention to the field offices after organizing his Austin headquarters staff. Sales tax raids on merchants in a number of cities provided a further opportunity to observe the district office managers, Castlebury said.

Lukewarm To Supports

CHICAGO AP — Farmers in Illinois and Indiana show only lukewarm enthusiasm to the idea of bringing back federal farm support programs, according to a poll taken by Prairie Farmer, a rural magazine.

In Illinois, 43 per cent of those polled said the farmer needs federal farm price support protection, but at a level that does not encourage over-production. In Indiana, 39.1 per cent agreed.

To the question of whether farmers can get along without government price support, 35.2 per cent in Illinois and 37.5 per cent in Indiana said yes.

ONE GIANT STEP FOR TEXAS — University of Texas fullback Earl Campbell (20), eluding the last Texas Tech defender (at left) leaps into the end zone to score for Texas near the end of the first period of their game at Austin Saturday night. Campbell took the ball on a handoff from quarterback Marty Akins.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas' jolting duo of quarterback Marty Akins and fullback Earl Campbell keyed a bruising running attack Saturday night as the sixth-ranked Longhorns belted Texas Tech 42-18 in the Southwest Conference opener.

Four fumbles—three leading to Texas touchdowns and the other stopping a Tech drive at the Texas seven—ruined Tech's bid for an upset.

Campbell, a 225-pound sophomore who leads the SWC in rushing, scored on acrobatic runs of 20 and 30 yards and piled up 150 yards rushing on 18 carries.

Akins, a 200-pounder, cruised Tech's flanks for 114 yards on 19 carries and shucked his reputation as a poor passer by completing seven of 10 for 73 yards and Texas' first touchdown pass of the season.

Tech alternated quarterbacks Tommy Duniven, who ridged Texas for three touchdowns passes last year, and Rodney Allison without success until the fourth quarter when Tech drove 67, 77, and 58 yards for touchdowns against Longhorn subs.

A record-tying sellout crowd of 77,809 watched Texas' awesome Wishbone-T offense in mild weather in the 70s.

The victory was Texas' 36th in a row at Memorial Stadium.

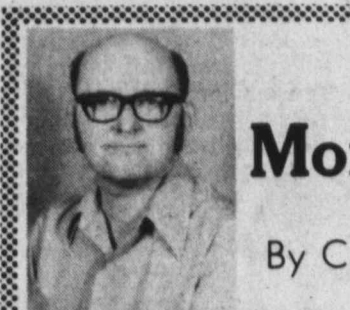

Owl Nest Torn Up By Tigers

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Tailback Terry Robiskie plunged into the end zone twice from two yards away as Louisiana State overcame four first half turnovers to defeat Rice 16-13 in an inter-sectional college football game Saturday night.

Robiskie scored in the first and third quarters for the Tigers but missed a third twoyard touchdown in the fourth quarter when he was stopped on fourth down.

Robiskie's second touchdown gave LSU a 14-6 lead, which was extended to 16-6 when Rice quarterback Claude Reed was tackled in the end zone for a safety by linebacker Terry Hill.

With the week's rest over, Big Spring now looks to fulfilling its "sleeper" 5-4A role, starting Oct. 3 at Abilene High. The Eagles feature six letterman back with the remaining offensive bulk from the junior varsity ranks.

Both the Steers and the Eagles will carry into the game identical 2-1 won-lost records. Both also lost their third tiff of the season. Big Spring fell to Snyder, 21-7 and Abilene was topped by Temple, 17-6.

In points scored, Big Spring leads Abilene, 58 to 52, but trails in points relinquished, 35 to 17. Split-end Ken McMurtrey has sacked the most points, 18, with bulldogging fullback Jesse Doss trailing with 14.

"This is a new team," said Head Coach Tom Landry after his Dallas Cowboys shocked the favored Los Angeles Rams last Sunday, 18-7 on national TV.

Landry sends his "new mix" against a familiar foe today when the St. Louis Cardinals invade Texas Stadium. The Cardinals also own a 1-0 record, opening defense of their NFC Eastern Division crown last Sunday with a 23-20 win over Atlanta.

Kickoff time is 1 p.m., with telecast to be shown regionally and by radio, KRLL (1080 in Dallas), KFJZ (1270 in Fort Worth) and the seven-state Cowboys network.

Increasing popularity of fall and winter camping in state parks has led the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission to decree a fairer apportionment of occupancy time.

At its August meeting, the commission adopted a new regulation making the summer occupancy limit of 14 days applicable the year round.

WHAT'S IT WORTH DEPARTMENT — The National Rifle Association-sponsored 14th Annual Police Combat Championships will be held Monday through Thursday on the grounds of the Mississippi Law Enforcement Officer's Training Academy, Jackson.

Conducted by the Academy with the assistance of the Mississippi Department of Public Safety, the 10 individual and team matches will bring together over 700 law enforcement officers from across the country.

SAHARA GOLF Three Way Tie

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Veteran Dave Hill birdied his last two holes for a four-underpar 67 that left him in a tie for the lead with Rik Massengale and Bobby Mitchell in Saturday's third round of the $135,000 Sahara Invitational Golf Tournament.

The stormy, sometimes controversial Hill, had fallen two strokes off the pace before his late rally provided him with a 54-hole total of 201, 12 under par for three trips, under the Sahara-Nevada Country Club course, a friendly little layout that has yielded some of the lowest scores of the year.

"I finished up playing pretty good," was Hill's laconic comment after he'd thrown a sand wedge shot only four feet from the flag on the 17th, then birdied the 18th from 12 feet.

The quiet, unassuming Mitchell, who calls himself "the invisible man," and Massengale matched Hill's 67 in the 95 degree temperatures and shared the top spot.

Three other players, Bob Wynn, rookie George Cadle and Australian veteran Bruce Crampton were at 202, just one shot back, and another Australian, David Graham, was at 203.

In all, eight players were locked within three shots of each other going into Sunday's final round of the chase for a $27,000 first prize.

"The way things are going, it looks like a man is gonna have to shoot 67, maybe 66 to win it," Hill said.

Top third round scores Saturday in the $135,000 Sahara Invitational Golf Tournament on the 6,800-yard, par-71 Sahara Nevada Country Club course:

Mustangs Trample Fumbling Cougars

HOUSTON (AP) — Third string quarterback Chuck Benefield whipped Southern Methodist to 12 first half points and Arthur Whittington scored two crucial second half touchdowns to lead the Mustangs to a 26-16 victory over fumbling University of Houston Saturday night.

The Cougars rallied to a 19-16 defeat late in the third quarter but a pass interception by SMU's Mickey Earley killed a Houston scoring drive and set up the Mustangs' final touchdown.

Benefield, who started the season as a defensive end, drove SMU to 12 points over a six-minute span of the first half that gave them a 12-9 halftime lead.

After SMU's Gene Williams tackled Houston quarterback Bubba McGallion for a safety Benefield hit split end Freeman Johns for a 31-yard touchdown strike.

Then on the first play of the second quarter Mark Embler kicked a 20-yard field goal.

Lennard Coplin's 31-yard field goal and a 57-yard run pass play from McGallion to tight end Don Bass provided Houston's first half scoring.

Whittington scored on a 31-yard touchdown put Arkansas ahead to stay, 7-6, midway through the second period, but Tulsa kept it interesting. It was a far cry from last year when Tulsa lost seven fumbles and was embarrassed 60-0.

Fuchs' second touchdown, an 11-yard run, and Steve Little's 34-yard field goal in the final four minutes of the first half made it 17-10-6.

But Tulsa came back on its first possession of the second half. Facing third and 18, Jeb Blount dropped back and spotted Steve Largent behind the Razorback secondary. Blount laid the ball over Largent's shoulder at the Arkansas 25 and Largent completed the 75-yard scoring play to make it 17-10-13.

Arkansas stemmed the momentum, driving 78 yards in five plays on its next possession. The big play was Forte's 54 run to the Tulsa 16.

Eckwood scored three plays later on the one.

Hogs Rip Hurricane

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas running backs Jerry Eckwood and Ike Forte rushed for more than 100 yards each, and super sub Rolland Fuchs scored twice as the Razorbacks whipped Tulsa 31-15 in an inter-sectional college football game Saturday.

Fuchs' first touchdown put Arkansas ahead to stay, 7-6, midway through the second period, but Tulsa kept it interesting. It was a far cry from last year when Tulsa lost seven fumbles and was embarrassed 60-0.

Fuchs' second touchdown, an 11-yard run, and Steve Little's 34-yard field goal in the final four minutes of the first half made it 17-10-6.

Rangers Nail Kansas City

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Roy Smalley and Jeff Burroughs each drove in two runs and Gaylord Perry scattered nine hits as the Texas Rangers defeated the Kansas City Royals 5-4 Saturday night.

It was only the Rangers' third victory over the Royals in 17 meetings this season and ruined Kansas City's eightgame winning streak against Texas.

Smalley drove in the first two Texas runs in the second with a double, and Burroughs drove in single runs with sacrifice flies in the fourth and sixth. The other run scored on Roy Howell's single in the third.

Perry struck out seven in raising his record to 18-17. He had a 6-13 mark at one point this season.

Odds Favor Falcons

By The Associated Press

Even in defeat, Steve Bartkowski was impressive. Atlanta's young quarterback, the National Football League's No. 1 college draft choice, is still looking for his first victory—and the oddsmakers say he'll get it today in the Falcons' home opener against the Detroit Lions.

The oddsmakers rate the Falcons a slender favorite to rebound from last Sunday's 23-20 heartbreaker in St. Louis and beat the Lions, 30-

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas running backs Jerry Eckwood and Ike Forte rushed for more than 100 yards each, and super sub Rolland Fuchs scored twice as the Razorbacks whipped Tulsa 31-15 in an inter-sectional college football game Saturday.

Fuchs' first touchdown put Arkansas ahead to stay, 7-6, midway through the second period, but Tulsa kept it interesting. It was a far cry from last year when Tulsa lost seven fumbles and was embarrassed 60-0.

Fuchs' second touchdown, an 11-yard run, and Steve Little's 34-yard field goal in the final four minutes of the first half made it 17-10-6.

But Tulsa came back on its first possession of the second half. Facing third and 18, Jeb Blount dropped back and spotted Steve Largent behind the Razorback secondary. Blount laid the ball over Largent's shoulder at the Arkansas 25 and Largent completed the 75-yard scoring play to make it 17-10-13.

Rangers Nail Kansas City

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Roy Smalley and Jeff Burroughs each drove in two runs and Gaylord Perry scattered nine hits as the Texas Rangers defeated the Kansas City Royals 5-4 Saturday night.

It was only the Rangers' third victory over the Royals in 17 meetings this season and ruined Kansas City's eightgame winning streak against Texas.

Smalley drove in the first two Texas runs in the second with a double, and Burroughs drove in single runs with sacrifice flies in the fourth and sixth. The other run scored on Roy Howell's single in the third.

Perry struck out seven in raising his record to 18-17. He had a 6-13 mark at one point this season.

Badgers Stun 'Dogs, 19-12

By CLARK LESHER
COAHOMA—With only 10 seconds left on the fourth period clock, McCamey found time to slip through a 19-yard TD pass to stun Coahoma, 19-12, here Friday night before a good crowd in attendance.

This was the first time reported since 1972 that Coahoma has been tagged with three losses in a row. But setbacks seemingly spur Coahoma on to a win format. The last time the Bulldogs fell down twice in succession in one season, they went on to cop the district title.

With non-conference play out of the way, Coahoma turns to district battle, hosting Colorado City, Oct. 3.

It was all McCamey's show until the third period rolled around. Coahoma then stole the spotlight by fighting back from a 12-0 deficit to tie up the game only to see all that hard work done go down the drain.

McCamey's senior half-back Clifton Pettis, who had the final say in Coahoma's downfall last year, was again a Bulldog nemesis this year. He poked two of his team's four TD's the latter one decking Coahoma for the full count.

Coahoma's Edwin Dickson and Charles Tindol shared scoring honors, each sacking six points each. Dickson was the Bulldog leading ground gainer, rushing for 75 yards in 12 carries.

With McCamey's senior Greg Hicks calling all the shots, the Badgers leaped onto the scoreboard at 8:18 of the first period. Hicks reached Vicente Alvarado, another senior on a 49-yard aerial. The extra point try failed.

Pettis, contained somewhat in the opening period, chalking up only small yardage, found breathing room at 4:48 of the second, racing for a 39-yard TD. Again McCamey's PAT failed.

In the third, Coahoma got its offensive machine rolling as Charles Tindol ran 31 yards for the TD. The PAT was no good.

Then the "Big Red" pride came into focus in the fourth. Dickson put new life into his team as he scored a TD from the one-yard line. The PAT was no good. Time left: 2:30.

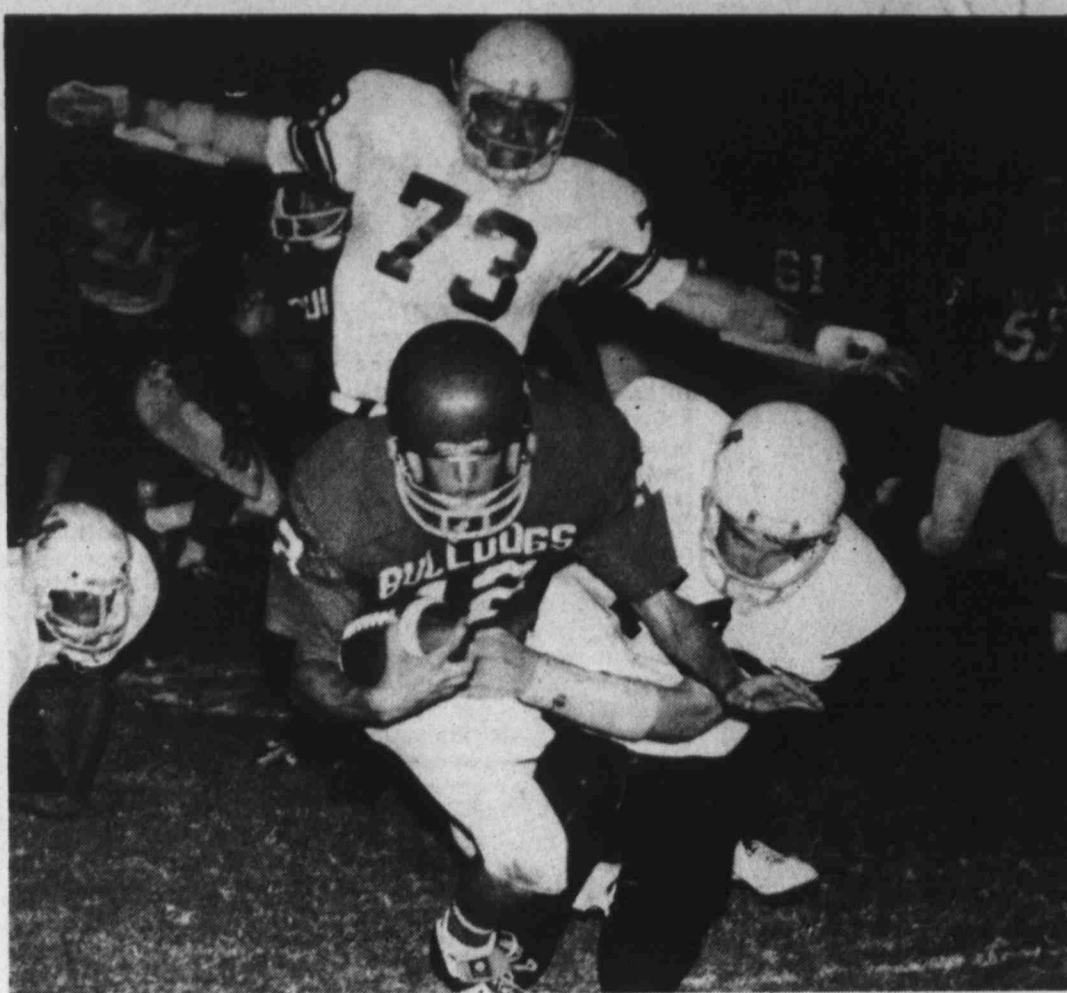

Majority of the fans must have felt the 12-12 tie would remain until the final seconds ticked off. But Hicks uncorked his aerial TD to Johnny-on-the-spot Pettis and the gate was slammed shut on Coahoma. Hicks took it upon himself to kick the extra point, which sailed through the uprights.

McCamey's winning points were set up on a Hicks pass to Alvarado, who had left the game minutes earlier, shaken up on a play.

COAHOMA COMMENTS—Putt Choate, a Coahoma all-star from last year, was present for the game. He is now a freshman member of the SMU team and has been sidelined with a broken wrist.

The Bulldogs dropped the non-conference contest in the closing minutes of the fourth period, 19-12, Friday night at Coahoma.

Western Texas Cops JC Meet

Play started Thursday and was conducted under strict PGA rules.

Howard College's Danny Garvin won the medalist trophy with rounds of 71-72—69 for a 212 total. Loenwald finished second with a 214.

The Hawks next play Oct. 2-3 at Houston's Creek Golf World, site of last year's Southwest Conference Golf Tournament.

Among the 20 teams entered, 15 are four-year schools and five, junior colleges. Juco schools to compete besides HC include Midland, Odessa, McLennan and Wharton. Last year at the national juco tour-

NTSU Decked

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—Running back Terry Miller blazed 81 yards for one touchdown and four yards for another Saturday to spark the 17th-ranked Oklahoma State Cowboys to a 61-7 victory over outmanned North Texas State.

The lopsided win was marred by the loss of starting Cowboy quarterback Charlie Weatherbie, who suffered a broken collarbone and will be out for several weeks.

Miller, a sophomore speed demon from Colorado Springs, Colo., was assured of his third consecutive 100-yard game when he flashed the 81 yards for a score to give the Pokes a 14-0 lead late in the first period.

The Cowboys, operating effectively out of both the wishbone and the I formations, tacked on two more scores en route to a 27-0 lead at the half and completed the rout with three more touchdowns in the third quarter.

Junior Jimmy Derrick took over for Weatherbie, who was felled early in the second period. Derrick directed the Cowboys to five of their touchdowns, accounting for one score himself on a brilliant 35-yard run in the third-quarter explosion. He also hurled an 11-yard scoring toss to split end Sam Lisle.

North Texas started a new quarterback, Ken Smith, for the first time in 14 games.

WOLVERINES NINTH RANKED

Baylor Ties Michigan

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Baylor drove to the Michigan 18-yard line in the closing seconds but Bubba Hicks missed a 39-yard field goal try and the Bears settled for a 14-14 tie Saturday against the ninth-ranked Wolverines in an inter-sectional college football clash.

It was the second consecutive tie for both teams after season opening triumphs. For the second straight week, Michigan's Coach Bo Schembechler was denied his 100th career coaching victory.

A Michigan Stadium crowd of 104,248—third largest in Wolverine history—watched as Baylor's defense continually thwarted Michigan and the Bears offense moved well against the Wolverines.

Michigan gained the tie with a touchdown midway through the final period when tailback Gordo Bell dove over from the one, 11 plays after Wolverines middle guard Rick Koschalk recovered a Bear fumble at the Baylor 37.

Bell also scored the first Michigan touchdown, climaxing a 75-yard, 13-play drive to score on a six-yard run at 5:48 in the first quarter.

Aggies Easily Beat Illinois

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Texas A&M's Bubba Bean bolted five and 74 yards for two touchdowns Saturday and the eighth-ranked Aggies' brawling defense led by linebacker Ed Simonini mangled Illinois in a 43-13 inter-sectional rout.

Aggie quarterback David Shipman passed 14 yards for a touchdown and rambled 59 yards for another score as unbeaten A&M badly bruised the Fighting Illini in a regionally televised game before 45,524 point hungry fans at Kyle Field.

It was the first visit by a Big Ten team to the stadium and the initial meeting between the two schools.

A&M rolled up a 23-0 halftime lead thanks mostly to the heroics of its defense—the number one ranked in the country. Illinois could gain only four yards on the ground.

Chubby Phillips burst 46 yards for an Illinois touchdown early in the third period and the irate Aggies really poured it on.

Shipman scooted 59 yards, later went 74 and 43 seconds later Skip Walker reced 28 yards for touchdowns—all in the third quarter.

The Southwest Conference Aggies intercepted three passes and recovered two fumbles in their merry mayhem as Illinois dropped to a 1-2 season ledger.

Bean rushed or 158 yards on 12 carries as the A&M offensive line shut down the Fighting Illini eight man front.

Steerettes Eliminated

The Big Spring volleyball team was eliminated from the single elimination Denver City Tournament Saturday, downed by Seminole, 15-7, 17-15.

The Steerettes had won their opener Friday, defeating Buena Vista, replacing Wink who withdrew, 13-11, 15-5.

Big Spring's next match is at Permian Tuesday. Two games are set for 6:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Baltimore Scratched

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees knocked Baltimore out of the American League's East Division pennant race when by sweeping a doubleheader from the Orioles Saturday, giving the Boston Red Sox their first division title since 1967.

The Yankees won the opener 3-2 in 10 innings behind the sixth pitching of Catfish Hunter and took the nightcap—and thus knocked Baltimore out of the race—7-3 on two-run singles by Roy White and Thurman Munson in the seventh inning and Bobby Bonds' two-run homer in the eighth.

The Yankees, trailing 3-1 in the second game, loaded the bases in the seventh inning on singles by Rick Blatt and Fred Stanley and Bonds' seventh walk of the doubleheader, which was one short of the American League record.

Frogs Thrashed By Cornhuskers

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Quarterback Terry Luck tossed three touchdown passes to lead fourth-ranked Nebraska to a 56-14 college football victory over the error-plagued Horned Frogs of Texas Christian University Saturday.

Luck's aerial attack took the Frogs by surprise, but TCU's defenders were victimized on the ground as well as in the air.

The Cornhuskers scored on their first two possessions, and the first three Nebraska scores were set up by TCU turnovers.

TCU's first score came in the second quarter, when Jimmy Dan Elzner hit Mike Renfro with a 21-yard TD pass.

Safety Darryl Lowe scored the other Frog touchdown, intercepting a Vince Ferragamo pass in the fourth quarter and returning it 70 yards.

Monte Anthony popped over from the two for the first Husker score with 8:22 left in the first period.

Luck hit fullback Tony Davis with a 5-yard scoring aerial late in the period.

TCU trailed 14-0 at that point, but their first scoring drive made it 14-7.

That score ignited the Huskers who recovered a fumble and intercepted an Elzner pass to score twice in 21 seconds.

Irish Thump Northwestern

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Sophomore quarterback Joe Montana, called in to replace shaken starter Rick Slager, led seventh-ranked Notre Dame to a 31-7 victory over Northwestern in Coach Dan Devine's debut in Notre Dame Stadium.

Montana, called into action in the first quarter with Northwestern leading 7-0, led all of the Notre Dame scoring drives, passed for 13 yards to Mark McLane for one touchdown and ran six yards for another.

Northwestern, after a pass interception that set up their lone score in the first quarter, could manage only 165 yards for the game against a ferocious Irish defense. The Irish, meanwhile, rolled up 455 yards total offense.

St. Louis Visits Wild Wild Dallas

DALLAS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, who have never won a game in Texas Stadium, visit the wild, wild Dallas Cowboys Sunday wondering what surprises Dallas Coach Tom Landry will unwrap in the National Football League game.

According to Landry, what the Cowboys did last week was b"alert everybody we can win a game every once in a while."

Los Angeles Coach Chuck Knox, who watched his team unravel 18-7 before Dallas' wide open offense featuring the spread formation and an impregnable defense, got more to the point: "They kicked our butts."

Cardinal Coach Don Corvelli, who guided his team to the National Conference Eastern Division title in 1974, said, "The way Dallas played against Los Angeles just showed how good they are...We will be playing one of our toughest games of the season."

If you go by the record books, Corvelli is correct. St. Louis has won just one out of its last eight games against the Cowboys and dropped all four contests the clubs have played in new Texas Stadium.

Tigers Sneak By Wisconsin

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Quarterback Steeeemee Pisarkiewicz pryed loose Wisconsin's pass defense with a 66-yard scoring bomb to split end Henry Marshall in the third quarter Saturday to lift fifth-ranked Missouri to a 27-21 come-from-behind victory over Wisconsin.

It was the second touchdown pass of the afternoon for Missouri, which fell behind by 14-3 early in the second quarter and pulled to 14-10 at halftime on a tailback pass from Tony Galbreath to the sure-fingered Marshall.

Mixing infrequent passes with Galbreath's powerful runs, the 6-foot-3 Pisarkiewicz drove Missouri to the four-yard line midway through the third quarter on fullback John Blakeman's 10-yard smash up the middle, and the Tigers went ahead 17-14.

Clinch Title Tie Even With Loss

BOSTON (AP)—Rookie Rick Waits pitched a six-hitter, and Boog Powell and Charlie Spikes hit consecutive home runs in the eighth inning to wrap up Cleveland's 5-2 victory over the Boston Red Sox Saturday.

Despite the loss, the Red Sox clinched a tie for the American League East title when the runnerup Baltimore Orioles lost 3-2 in 10 innings to the New York Yankees in the first game of a doubleheader.

BREAKS AWAY — Wayne McKee (10), Colorado City back, gains seven yards after outrunning Post defenders in fourth quarter action Friday night. McKee helped the Wolves drive down to the Post two-yard line, their deepest penetration of the night. An interception in the end zone halted the scoring opportunity.

Antelopes Bottle Up Wolves, 30-0

By TROY BRYANT
COLORADO CITY — The undefeated Post Antelopes served notice to other Class AA schools that they are to be reckoned with following a 30-0 romp here Friday night over the Colorado City Wolves.

The Antelopes surprised state-ranked Floydada last week after their opening win over Coahoma, putting together a 3-0 record.

Colorado City dropped to a 2-2 record as they go into district 6-AA play against Coahoma Oct. 3 at Coahoma. Post got on the board quickly in the first quarter, after its defense stopped Colorado City cold and forced a punt on its first possession. The Antelopes took over after a punt on Colorado City's 47-yard line and then drove down to the Wolf 13-yard line.

Colorado City's defense held and Post attempted a field goal from 27 yards away from the goal posts. A penalty on the first try set the field goal attempt back to 22 and Garland Dudley put three of his 12 points on the board from 32 yards out.

Colorado City took the kickoff on its own 13-yard line and promptly drove out to its own 41, where Post's George Hester pounced on a fumble.

A 15-yard penalty against Post put the ball back on the Antelope 44-yard line two plays later and with third down and long yardage, Bryan Davis Dudley on the run 15-yards downfield, rode his way into the end zone. Dudley kicked the extra point, and Post led by 10-0 with all its points scored by Dudley.

Neither team could score in the second quarter as each team stopped drives with interceptions. A would-be Post touchdown late in the second quarter was called back after Jimmy Dorland intercepted a Colorado City pass and returned it about 70-yards.

In the third quarter, Post was able to overcome Colorado City's defense and scored three times on Davis' eight-yard run, two yard-run by Edward Price and a 17-yard pass play from second string quarterback Matt Allison to Mike Shepherd. Two of the three extra point attempts were good, to give Post the 30-0 lead at the end of the third quarter.

In the fourth quarter, Colorado City moved down to Post's two yard line, before an interception by the Antelopes ruined the Wolves only scoring chances of the night.

Price was the leading rusher for Post with 87-yards in 15 attempts and Manuel Arellano was the leading rusher for Colorado City with 46-yards in 14 carries.

Quarterback Ray Torrez, Colorado City, finished the night with one completion of 11 passes for 22 yards and had three interceptions. Post quarterbacks Davis and Allison were three of six for 87 yards and two interceptions.

GRANDFALLS — Behind three quarter of play, Grandfalls outmuscled Forsan with five minutes left in the game to win 14-6 here Friday night.

The Buffaloes now switch attention to 3B play, hosting Sands at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 4.

Forsan's touchdown was completed on a 20-yard pass from Ralph Miranda to John Medina. Miranda, recovering from a foot mishap, received a shoulder injury shortly before halftime. The extent of his injury was not immediately known.

Cowboy Dennis Andrews ran across the goal line from four yards out for a TD with 3:30 remaining and Ray Sanchez added another scoring effort from one yard out to trip up the Buffaloes. P.A.T.S. by Johnny Santiago were good both times.

SCHOOLBOY FOOTBALL Schools Who Played Win

By The Associated Press
 Grapeland became the first top-rated team in Texas schoolboy football to meet defeat Friday night, while the rest of the Class A Top Ten also was riddled with losses.

Grapeland was felled 39-12 by Groveton, ranked No. 8 in Class A, while the other two top-ranked teams in action remained undefeated. Cuero of Class 3A stopped San Antonio Clemens 27-7 and Class B's Big Sandy crushed Hawkins 53-7. Bryan of Class 4A and Class 2A's Cameron had open dates.

Ohio State Romps

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Pete Johnson scored a school record five touchdowns and Archie Griffin became the greatest yardage gainer in Ohio State history Saturday, leading the second-ranked Buckeyes to their 500th college football victory, a 32-7 rout of North Carolina. Johnson's inside power and Griffin's fluid runs helped Ohio State post a record 20th straight home triumph. The Buckeyes are 3-0 this season. Griffin's 157 yards, his 24th straight regular season game of over 100 yards, which is a continuing NCAA record, gave him a career total of 4,532 yards, battering Rex Kern's school mark of 4,51 set in 1968-70. Johnson scored on runs of 1, 5, 1, 2 and 3 yards. His performance broke the Buckeyes' record of four touchdowns in one game shared by eight players. The 248-pound junior fullback rambled for 148 yards. More than 87,000 watched Ohio State run its record to 500-27-46 in its 86th season. North Carolina, now 1-2, played the game without its leading rusher, Mike Voight, who had 131 yards rushing going into this week, was suspended for what Coach Bill Dooley called personal reasons. The Tar Heels, however, became the first opponent this season to score a touchdown against the Buckeyes. Quarterback Jimmy Paschall rifled a seven-yard scoring pass to flanker Brian Smith early in the second quarter. DEFENSE AT WORK — The Garden City Bearkats had their work cut out for them Friday night trying to contain the strong running of Loraine's Ricky Moreno. Apolonio Ramirez, Ronnie Henrichs and Stuart Wooten nail him down for a moment.

GARDEN CITY DEFENSE STOUT Bearkats Try Hard But Drop Contest

By MARJ CARPENTER
GARDEN CITY — A stout Garden City defense fought hard to contain the explosive Loraine Bulldogs in a Homecoming game Friday night, but went down in defeat during the last four minutes of the ball game, 12-0.

Loraine scored on a pass from Quarterback Ricky Moreno to Richard Garcia with 4-13 left in the ballgame. The 12-yard toss collected the Bulldogs six points, but the extra point kick try failed.

With still time enough left to score, the Bearkats took the ball on their own 22 and fought to get up field, but failed and the punt was short. Loraine took over on the Garden City 36 in excellent field position for another shot at the goal line.

The Bearkats rallied and pushed them back to the 45 where they had 19 seconds left on fourth down.

The Bulldogs fell back to punt, faked it, with Moreno dashing off to the left and hurling a long 40-yard bomb to Jeff Merket, standing on the five, who scampered on in for the score. The kick again failed.

It was a sad ending for a hard-fought ballgame for the Bearkats, who penetrated inside the 20 five times and were twice inside the five, but failed to score.

One drive ended with an overshot pass in the end zone, and one terrific effort on the part of the Garden City defense ended when they pushed the Bulldogs back and got the ball on the Dogs' own four, and in four downs still failed to produce a score.

Garden City collected more yardage on the ground than the Bulldogs on short scampers by Alex Medrano and Norwin Bingham. A number of long Bulldog gains were returned on penalties.

Bobby Doe punted out of many a tight spot and defensive players such as Barry Hirt, Mark Halfmann, Ramiro Garza, Greg Schraeder, Jose Garza, and Steve Smith kept the score from piling up on the Bearkats.

The Bearkats are 0-4 for the season and the Bulldogs are 2-1.

Coach Roy Flournoy, coaching his first game for Garden City, is probably eying defense in the secondary and a need for a

Bearkats Switch Coaches

GARDEN CITY — Gregg Henderson, coaching his fourth season at Garden City High School, checked it in after the game last Friday night.

He had requested the school board in a meeting on Sept. 18 to let him resign as coach and continue teaching duties.

Henderson told the board that he did not feel like he was getting full response from the players, according to a school administrator.

Roy Flournoy, an elementary principal, was named head coach and led the team Friday night at Homecoming against Loraine.

Homers Uplift Athletics, 6-3

OAKLAND (AP) — Bill North, Joe Rudi and Gene Tenace hit home runs Saturday, lifting the Oakland A's to a 6-3 victory over the California Angels.

North's first homer of the year, in his 520th at-bat, broke a 2-2 tie before the A's added two runs on Rudi's 21st of the year.

Head to Head Tackling Common Occurrence

Oklahoma Holds Off Hurricane Challenge

MIAMI (AP) — Mighty Oklahoma turned to its defense to set up touchdown runs by Joe Washington and Elvis Peacock and had to hold off the University of Miami in the fourth quarter Friday night to salvage a 20-17 football victory.

The top-ranked Sooners, unbeaten in their last 32 games, fell behind 7-0 in the first quarter, but struck for all 20 of their points in the second period. Then Oklahoma barely survived Miami's inspired fourth-quarter rally, which included a 72-yard pass play. The Hurricanes, rated underdogs by as much as 33 points, saw their last hope die with three minutes to play when quarterback Kary Baker fumbled on his own 45, surrendering the ball to the Sooners.

Oklahoma was stunned 7-0 in the first period when Miami marched seemingly without effort 74 yards for a touchdown on its first possession.

Baker ran 22 yards and passed 19 yards to tight end Charlie Claud to set up Larry Cain's 19-yard scoring scamper around right end.

Eagles Beaten

IMPERIAL — Sterling City concluded non-district play here Friday night, losing to Buena Vista, 33-12. The Eagles are now 1-3 for the year and Buena Vista, 3-1.

Sterling City opens 3-B play, Oct. 3, hosting Jayton. The Eagles opened scoring in the first period on a 19-yard TD pass from Jeff Copeland to Lee Fleming. The PAT attempt failed.

Immediately following the Eagle TD, Buena Vista hit paydirt on a 25-yard pass from Rodney Powell to Herb Heflin. Powell kicked the PAT.

Powell scored again in the second period as he ran 35-yards for the TD. The PAT attempt failed. Powell's teammate Kenneth Calvert added a TD also in the second on a four-yard run. The extra point try was no good.

Sterling City drove to the end zone on a three-yard run by Copeland in the second quarter. The extra point try was no good.

Buena Vista scored on a 14-yard run by Powell in the third period but the PAT was no good. In the final quarter, Mike York scored on a 42-yard run for the Longhorns. Calvert passed to Junior Montoya for two extra points to end scoring.

JONES TOP RUSHER Buffaloes Rock Roscoe

By JERRY NEILL
ROSCOE — Stanton took advantage of three Roscoe fumbles in the first period to rack up 20 points and then hung on as the hosts came fighting back Friday night.

Stanton won the contest, 34-13.

The final score was not indicative of the type of game it was, however, with Roscoe tallying in the opening seconds of the fourth period to make it, 20-13.

That was as close as a slumbering Buffalo offense would let Roscoe get, however, taking the ensuing kickoff and driving for a score.

Roscoe lined up in a seven-man line, determined to take away the awesome red team's rushing attack. By doing so, the Plowboys limited Stanton to less than 200-yards rushing, but opened the gates for several long scoring runs for the Buffaloes.

Halfback Marvin "Lemon Juice" Jones, who was Stanton's top rusher with 82 steps, scored the first Buff touchdown, zooming from the 24-yard line early in the first period after the Buffs had recovered a Roscoe fumble. The PAT was no good and Stanton led, 6-0.

Only moments later the red team recovered another fumble, and fullback Elvin Brown got the first of four touchdowns, gaining paydirt from the six-yard line after quarterback Keyv Allred speared end Ronnie Mims with a crucial third down pass at that point. The kick was good and Stanton led, 13-0.

Roscoe fumbled again on its next series and Stanton took advantage of the miscue for six points on a 34-yard run by Brown. Bobby Richardson booted the PAT and Stanton was in front to stay, 20-0.

The Plowboys came roaring back in the next series, starting from deep in their own territory and driving for a score. Mark Box scored from six yards out and the kick was good, leaving the score, 20-7.

The second period was scoreless with the Buff

Wildcats Post 10 - 0 Victory

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Dave Bauer's 20-yard interception return set up Bill Bell's short touchdown plunge in the third period and underdog Villanova shackled the nation's second-ranked offense as the Wildcats posted a 10-0 victory over Army Saturday.

Bauer stole a pass by Leamon Hall, the nation's leading percentage passer, to set up the game's first points and Bill O'Connell's 44-yard gallop with another interception of Hall led to a 26-yard field goal by Gus Fernandez with 5:25 left in the game.

defense stopping a Roscoe drive at the one-yard line as the first half ended. In the third period, neither team could score, but Roscoe opened up the final stanza with a four-yard run by David McDaniel. The PAT failed and Stanton led, 20-13.

The Buffaloes came back then, with a time-consuming drive that produced a four-yard touchdown run by Brown. The PAT was good and Stanton led, 27-13. Brown scored one more time for the Buffs, this time from 15 yards out and Richardson tacked on the extra point for the final margin of victory.

The Stanton defense stopped two Roscoe drives in the fourth period with interceptions, one by middle linebacker Alan Douglas and the other by Kenny McCallister.

White Sox Shut Out Twins, 1-0

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Jerry Hairston's eighth-inning sacrifice fly broke a scoreless tie and gave the Chicago White Sox a 1-0 victory over the Minnesota Twins Saturday.

Brian Downing's single to left and a walk to Pat Kelly started the decisive eighth against Bert Blyleven, 15-10. After Downing took third on Nyls Nyman's fly ball, Hairston sent a drive to deep right-center field.

Right fielder Dan Ford made a full-speed, over-the-shoulder catch and Downing scored on the play. Kelly, who had taken off on the hit, was thrown out before he could get back to first. But the run counted because it scored before the completion of the double play.

Longer, Softer Skirts Worn This Season

Skirts, skirt lengths and proportion, two-piece dresses and the return of the "easy dress" make up the big news for Fashion, according to Rita Perna, fashion coordinator and assistant vice president of Montgomery Ward.

Strongest skirt to date is the printed, gored style in cotton or crepe — the softer the better. Length is a secondary consideration, but most women are leaning to a longer, softer, swinging silhouette. Tank tops, T-shirts and skinny sweaters, narrow belts and strappy high-heel sandals complete the look.

Emphasis on softness also prevails throughout the dress stores, with unbelted shapes, dropped or rounded shoulders, and smock yokes highlighted in both one- and two-piece dresses.

New attention is being paid to the matter of selecting the right shoe to go with the chosen skirt length. A good rule for this selection, according to Ms. Perna, is that the longer the skirt length, the lighter the shoe should appear. Big news in shoes is sole emphasis — shaped, creped, colored or stacked. Wedges and sandals are winners, as are sling back pumps and strapped, open styles.

Miss Rollins Marries In Westbrook Baptist Church

Miss Gayle Rollins became the bride of Joel White in a wedding ceremony held Friday evening in the Westbrook Baptist Church with the Rev. Lee Jones of Tahoka officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Rollins of Westbrook. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Jessie White of Colorado City.

The bride is a graduate of Westbrook High School and the bridegroom is a graduate of Colorado City High School. White is employed by Fuller Food in Colorado City where the newlyweds will reside.

The altar was enhanced with a column arch adorned with boxwood accented with gypsophila, blue and white carnations, satin bows and doves. Arrangements of white mums and salal foliage in white urns, spiral candelabra and baskets of white carnations and gladioli flanked the arch.

Wedding selections were furnished by Mrs. W. D. Whitesides, organist, and Mrs. Johnny Shackelford, vocalist.

The bride was attired in a formal-length gown of white lace over bridal satin. The dress was styled with a fitted bodice and princess skirt with a lace train attached to the back. The lace sleeves ended in points at the wrists. Her veil of illusion drifted from a lace colonial cap accented with seed pearls. She carried a colonial Yorktown bouquet of blue carnations and white pom mums accented with gypsophila and lily of the valley arranged on a white Bible and tied with white satin streamers.

Mrs. Jimmy Griffith of Colorado City served as matron of honor. She wore a formal-length dress of light blue knit styled with butterfly sleeves and an empire waist trimmed with lace and seed pearls. She carried long-stemmed blue carnations tied with satin streamers.

Bridal attendants were Miss Sharla Rollins, sister of the bride, Miss Rhea Neil

MRS. JOEL WHITE

Johnson of Sweetwater and Miss Teresa Welborn of Midland. Their dresses were identical to the matron of honor's dress.

Jimmy Griffith served as best man with Steve Rollins, brother of the bride; Kenneth Lambert of Odessa; and Richard Gilbert of Abilene acting as groomsmen.

Planned Parenthood Reports Area Study

In the Howard County area there are 2,529 women of childbearing age in need of subsidized family planning services. Permian Basin Planned Parenthood's Big Spring Clinic reports that as of August 30, its total patient load was 444. All of these patients are below the poverty level.

These are the local findings of a study and family planning needs and services in Texas, prepared under a research grant from the W. K. Kellogg Foundation as part of a nationwide series by The Alan Guttmacher Institute, research and development division of the Planned Parenthood Federation of America.

The results were announced this month in Houston at a news conference by Jack Hood Vaughn, the Federations' national president, and B. T. Hollins, M.D., a Houston Gynecologist and chairman of the board of Planned Parenthood of Houston.

Some 703,700 poor and near-poor women in Texas are estimated to need family planning help, but 338,100 of them, almost half the total, remain without access to services. In 106 counties (more than two in five), no organized family planning programs exist, and only 22 of the state's 497 general hospitals (four per cent) offer family planning services.

For the state as a whole, meeting the needs of all poor and near-poor women would require total public spending on family planning of $42.2 million per year — more than two and one-half times current expenditures.

Some $16.4 million is currently being spent by public and voluntary agencies on family planning in the state. An additional $25.8 million will be required if all individuals in need of services are to receive them.

Commenting on the study in advance of the news conference, Mrs. Vaughn and Dr. Hollins said that "discloses stark and sobering discrimination in the family planning opportunities available to various groups in our society. We hope that it will be widely used as a practical blueprint for program expansion by state planners, local health officials and all who are interested in making the goal of reproductive freedom a reality to all persons, whatever their economic status, place of residence, or age."

Services of Planned Parenthood are primarily aimed toward those persons on a low income (poverty) level, but no one is turned away regardless of race, color, sex, or financial status.

Permian Basin Planned Parenthood is one of the 187 affiliates in 44 states and the District of Columbia, of Planned Parenthood Federation of America — the national, voluntary family planning agency — which provided medical services and education to almost one million persons in 1974.

How to select the right nursing home.

We Americans are not just living longer, we're living more useful, productive lives.

But an increasing number of the chronically ill, the old, the convalescent, need some place other than the hospital and their home where they can receive personal health care, round-the-clock attention and the opportunity to continue to live their lives with meaning.

As your community extended health care facility we want to help you make the right decision. Here are some guidelines: see your family physician to determine the kind of care needed; feel free to visit our facility; ask us for our costs in writing and financial advice about Medicaid; examine all of our facilities; check our food quality; verify our safety features; and finally, observe how our residents spend their time.

There's a lot more to selecting the right nursing home. We want to help. If you have any questions, please call or visit us.

A LOVELIER YOU Good Looks Start With Complexion

By MARY SUE MILLER

A teen Lovely writes: I am miserable. Blemishes pop up on my face, one right after another. I am washing like crazy and applying a medication prescribed by a doctor. Is there any kind of cover-up cosmetic that would be safe to use? It sure would help my morale.

The Answer: During a siege of blemishes there is no gainsaying that a proper powder base would partially camouflage the trouble. It should be emphatically pigmented to match your skin tones so that it has the power to hide. And it must be formulated, as far as possible, with non-irritating ingredients.

Hypo-allergenic products, therefore, are the most likely candidates. Oil-free products run a close second. But you really must seek your doctor's advice. Call him up and ask him. Should you have to stop wearing makeup for a little while, don't be downcast. Put on a cheery face. That's what people like you for. Not for your powder base.

Once given a go-ahead signal for using foundation, be sure to apply it to cleansed skin with clean hands. Avoid any sort of applicator, including your washcloth, unless it is hospital clean. And always remove makeup before retiring.

For a final note: be sure you do not confuse periodic blemishes with acne. Very special treatment must be given acne to come through without scarring.

FACTS ON ACNE
Is acne your problem? If so write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, requesting her leaflet, facts about acne. Advice covers medical and home care; use of cosmetics; diet and tension control. Please enclose long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin.

Shed Light, Air

Growing a terrarium indoors to add greenery to your autumn and winter decor? Be sure to give it some supplemental light from lamps in the evening if it isn't getting enough natural daylight, says veteran horticulturist Bill Meachem.

"Terrariums often will fare better if they're given a little air during the day," advises Meachem, a gardening consultant to Johnson Wax. "This means lifting the cover a little or perhaps removing it completely for brief periods."

While circulating air in your terrarium may prevent fungus growth on the soil and plants, you still have to watch closely for bugs. Use of a spray such as Raid House & Garden every other week will prevent infestations, Meachem adds.

"And be careful not to overwater your terrarium. Most of the water taken in by a plant's roots is given off through the leaves, and is 'recycled' back into the soil in a closed terrarium. When you do water, add it by the teaspoonsful."

Sewing Hints Given To Save Money

COLLEGE STATION — Homesewing of clothing is definitely a savings — it saves an average of two-thirds the cost of comparable ready-to-wear items, according to Mrs. Becky Culp, area clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

She suggested some money saving ideas to help homesewers reap additional benefits.

Take time to study fashion trends for fabrics, designs and trims.

"If in doubt concerning whether a certain design or fabric will be becoming, try on similar ready-to-wear items before investing."

Use as much accumulated fabric and notions as possible before buying more.

"Hoarding or stockpiling costs extra since fashion and fabric trends change often, rapidly dating past years' purchases. Add currently fashionable trims and companion fabrics in current design lines to update what is on hand," the specialist advised.

Buy multi-design patterns. Patterns that contain several garment pieces and variations are often the same price as those with only one.

Modify well-fitting and fashionable patterns already on hand by varying with unique fabric or trim selections. Pattern pieces may be switched in the same size, brand and basic shape.

"For example, switch sleeve pattern pieces that are stitched into the same basic armseye seam. If in doubt, compare pattern pieces for similarities by lining up one on the other."

Make maximum use of the sewing machine by regularly following manufacturer's instructions for cleaning and oiling. Machine life will be prolonged and repair bills reduced.

Know your sewing abilities. Abandoned projects due to selecting too difficult to sew patterns or fabric cost money.

Plan ahead. Be flexible. Think before acting.

Fall Leisure Suits Lead Men's Fashion

Men will do a "doubletake" when they see the fabrics and fashion detail being shown this fall in menswear. The clothes will enable them to look and feel comfortable in any situation.

"We think our fall leisurewear collection offers the right look for any setting," noted Burton B. Ruby, president of Jaymar-Ruby, a trendsetter in the sportswear field. "Through the right selection of fabric, color, detail and style, a leisure suit or trio of jacket, slack and coordinate shirt can be at home in any situation... whether it's at the office, a football game or a fine restaurant." Ruby believes, in essence, that the contemporary man will be able to mix and match colors and styles for tailored — or leisurewear looks appropriate to any time or place.

Man can picture himself this fall being cool and collected in leisure suit at the office... or at his annual homecoming game. His jackets will have the look of quality yet comfort — they'll be lined in the fabric used in the coordinate shirts, have padded shoulders, offer quality features, fine detail and excellent construction. His matching or coordinate slacks will have interesting pocket treatments and detail work. The coordinate shirt will be a new 100 per cent polyester "interlock" double knit fabric which wears well and feels comfortable. The shirt has an open collar... the right look for leisurewear. People will do a

Bugs Attract Mice To Plants

Get rid of the bugs under your new plants if you want to keep the mice away from your garden, says Bill Meachem, gardening consultant for Johnson Wax. It's probably the moles runs that the mice are using to get to your plants.

Honey Makes A Good Sugar Alternative

COLLEGE STATION — In these days of high sugar prices, many people are turning to honey — one of the oldest known sweets, one authority reported this week.

"It is easily digested because it consists chiefly of simple sugar — dextrose and levulose, which the body readily absorbs," Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said.

Honey is unique because it is the only unmanufactured sweet available in commercial quantities, she pointed out.

"The main commercial brands of honey come mostly from alfalfa and clover blends. Blending makes a product with uniform color and flavor," the specialist explained.

She noted that there are several forms of honey made.

- Liquid, or extracted, honey is that removed from the comb.
- Comb honey is honey just as it is stored by the bees.
- Chunk honey is a combination of comb and liquid honey. It consists of pieces of comb with extracted honey poured over them.
- Creamed, or granulated, honey is extracted honey that has been formed into minute crystals, giving a creamy texture. It makes an excellent spread, according to Mrs. Clyatt.
- Honey butter is a mixture of honey and butter.

"Honey will keep indefinitely stored tightly covered in a dry place at room temperature. If it becomes granulated, place the container in warm water to reliquify."

WATCHING GROWTH — By letting your child plant bulbs in the fall, he or she can enjoy the project now and watch the progress of growth throughout the winter and early spring. Besides producing colorful spring flowers, this project can help children begin to understand the reproduction cycle.

Let Children Plant Bulbs In Fall To Learn Life Cycle

When your children get around to asking questions — and they always do — about birth and growth — what will be your answer? You needn't worry, because you have a great deal of help in preparing a response. Child psychiatrists report that by watching nature perform, a youngster can learn much about the wonders of growth and development.

By observing and understanding plant growth, children can see first hand the basic patterns of nature's miracles. They can also develop an appreciation of the life around us that is too often taken for granted in our concrete and plastic world. And, by sharing some kind of gardening activity with the family and other youngsters, vital nonverbal communication takes place.

Introducing children to these lessons through gardening is usually very easy, since they are inherently fond of digging and planting and playing in the dirt. It is also a lot more interesting for young people, if they can learn by touching and investigating for themselves. They can hold a bulb in their hands, for example, and feel it; they can examine it and cut it open to see exactly what's going on; and they can plant it themselves and watch it grow.

Bulbs, ideal in illustrating the plant development cycle, are particularly easy to grow, even for a child. To demonstrate flower "birth," simply dig a hole — drop in the bulb and cover it with soil — let your child water the bulb immediately after planting and during dry spells — and wait for spring. Just remember that in order for bulbs to bloom in the spring, you must plant them this fall.

Explain to your youngster that a bulb already contains the new flower and stem, and has its own food supply to sustain the "baby plant" over the winter and during the spring-flowering season. You can also define what's inside the bulb, and how the "baby plant" grows.

To illustrate precisely what you mean, slice a bulb from the pointed top to the flat bottom. Observe the plant tucked snugly inside the layers of food, and with a needle, lift the "baby plant" out and look at the embryo's flower and leaves. Examine different kinds of bulbs to show how they are the same and different.

You can choose from a wide selection of bulbs: Tulips, with their long, slender stems, glorious colors and graceful shapes, bloom at various times over the two-and-a-half months of the Spring-flowering season. Daffodils, which bloom in the first half of Spring, provide the child with an unending list of yellows. Hyacinths, renowned for their fragrance and delicate shape, are shorter and should be planted in clusters of a dozen or more, near the front of your child's garden. And try some of the smaller bulbs as well, like crocus, glory of the snow, scilla and muscari — all are easy to grow and all are inexpensive.

In addition, plant extra bulbs so that you can open them during the different stages of growth to see what occurs at various times. You will be able to show how the plant grows bigger and how it begins to push out of the bulb and prepares to blossom.

This is also a good time to teach your child respect for all forms of life, by explaining how he must be affectionate to the plant by giving it protection and food (water).

Finally, when the bulb blossoms into a lovely and glorious flower, separate the different parts and explain their function.

Perhaps the best way to introduce all this to your child is to reserve a little plot in your garden that your youngster can call his own. If you don't have too much area, it may hurt to give up some, but the sacrifice is well worth it. And don't relegate the heavily shaded and most hopeless corner of the garden to your child, or you'll only frustrate his efforts, and sabotage your whole plan of showing nature's wonders of growth and development.

Getting children to dig up their plot should be particularly easy; just hand them a shovel and turn them loose. It won't matter if they pretend it's buried treasure they're after, for in the end, they'll probably do a better job than you, in preparing the soil.

The ideal time to start your children planting is during the Fall, before the ground hardens, and when the garden is relatively bare, spring-flowering bulbs are probably the best plants to demonstrate growth and development. Your child will marvel in wonder as the bulbs that he has planted himself, turn magically into proud tulips, fragrant hyacinths or trumpet-like daffodils in just five or six months. Your youngster will be able to see for himself this "miracle of growth."

Since bulbs must be planted in the fall, in order to have rich spring blooms — now is the time for a shopping spree — child in hand — so he can enjoy the experience of selecting his own private garden. But, don't worry, you can "afford" to indulge him, since Holland bulbs cost so little. Another lesson can also be taught at this time, in the fact that a bulb is a "breathing" plant, that should be placed in the soil as soon as possible.

Our People Make Us Number One EIGHT CONVENIENT WAYS TO BUY

Create Project For Young, Old

The bicentennial affords the young and the old a perfect topic for communication. Have you thought of asking these two groups to create a mural on abiding issues which have characterized Texas society and life from its beginnings — issues which will just as surely affect our lives for the next century?

A spot in the community which needs sprucing might be the exact place for this creation, and one that is visible to the general community. Such an endeavor could be the catalyst to bring about improvements for the total community and a conversation piece that might create an awareness for the part each person plays in shaping heritage.

Further involvement by the community might be accomplished by asking for donated supplies from the local stores. Maybe the garden club could extend the one-dimensional mural into a three-dimensional masterpiece by including the landscape. Whoever works on this project needs to be acknowledged... ask the local high school art club to create a who-did-it sign.

This project could not only be fun, but educational too!

Ceiling Care

Acoustical ceilings present no special maintenance problems. According to the Armstrong Cork Company, ceiling tiles are fully washable and an occasional sponging with mild soapy water will remove any stains that may accumulate. What's more an acoustical ceiling can be repainted as color preferences change without appreciably affecting its acoustical efficiency.

Ruby Bruns Speaks To Show Judges

FRIENDLY STAFF FOR SHOPPING — Helen Hembree, consultant at J & K Shoe Store in Highland Shopping Center, is showing one of the shoes that make them so popular to the ladies and men who want the latest in styles and colors, and the friendly staff make it a pleasure to be waited on in J & K.

The Southern Unit, District 1, of the Nationally Accredited Amateur Flower Show Judges met Monday afternoon at the Lancaster Garden Center in Midland.

Mrs. D. O. Gray, president, called the meeting to order.

Mrs. Ruby Bruns, co-owner of D&M Garden Center in Big Spring, gave the program. Mrs. Bruns is a member of Texas Association of Nurserymen, and is a landscape design critic in the nursery business. Her hobby is growing African violets. Mrs. Bruns gave a very informative program on hanging baskets, naming the different type containers to use; the type plants that do well in hanging baskets; the type hangers to use, such as rope, plastic and wire; the types of soils to use; where to place hanging baskets in them; and how to fertilize, water, feed them, and when.

Hanging baskets may be used inside, on the porch, patio or office, etc. Terrisand is a new medium for hanging baskets.

Mrs. Gray asked the Judges Council to vote and nominate a person from District 1 to represent Texas at the International Flower Show to be held in Miami Beach, Fla., on May 20-24.

Dear Abby

Too Much Information Given In Phone Greeting

DEAR ABBY: Will you please remind your readers that when they, or their children answer the telephone, to say only, "Hello"?

Some children are instructed to answer with, "Smith's residence, Mary speaking." Or if they have a housekeeper, she is told to answer with, "Smith's residence." Some even answer with their telephone number.

Without realizing it, they give too much information to a stranger who could use it for potentially dangerous purposes.

When you answer the telephone, and the party on the other end asks, "What number is this?" DO NOT disclose your number. Instead ask, "What number did you call, please?"

It is best when answering a telephone to simply say, "Hello," and if the caller does not identify himself immediately — hang up.

By crosschecking numbers, addresses and the names of children, criminals can gain valuable access to the family's comings and goings, with possible harm to their children while they are away from home.

Never tell a stranger that a member of the family is "out of town," away from the house or when he or she will return.

MRS. H.E.I.

DEAR MRS. I.: Thank you for some excellent suggestions.

DEAR ABBY: Isn't it true that the original sin was sexual intercourse? And doesn't it say in the Bible that Jesus was conceived "immaculately," meaning that he was conceived without sexual intercourse?

H.J. INN.C.
DEAR H.J.: The original sin was eating the forbidden fruit in the Garden of Eden.

The terms, "Virgin Birth" and "Immaculate Conception" are commonly confused. The Virgin Birth refers to the miraculous conception of Jesus.

The Immaculate Conception applies to MARY, the mother of Jesus, because she was conceived without the original sin on her soul. It is NOT the same as the Virgin Birth.

DEAR ABBY: This may sound silly to you, but my problem is my name. My mother can't seem to remember it.

My name is Elaine and I am 13-years-old. I have two older sisters, Judy who is 16 and lives at home, and Shelly, who is 20 and away at college.

First my mother calls me "Shelly," then she calls me "Judy," and finally she gets around to calling me by my right name. This makes me feel like nothing.

It really bugs me.

ELAINE

DEAR ELAINE: If it's any comfort to you, you are not alone. Mothers get into the habit of calling off the names of their children (usually starting with the eldest) before they hit the right one. Don't feel slighted. It's not intentional.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this for those waitresses who don't seem to know which side their bread is buttered on.

I have never seen it fail. Every time my husband and I sit down to order in a restaurant, the waitress looks only at my husband and asks him what he wants. She ignores me completely.

He is the only one who is asked if he wants more coffee.

I know that is where the tip comes from, but if the waitress was smart, she would pay a little attention to the woman, because she's usually the one who decides where they dine.

LEFT OUT

DEAR LEFT: Don't blame the waitress for turning to the gentleman for the order. It's customary for him to order for both the lady and himself. However, she should ask the lady (first) if she wants more coffee.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Chinese Mark Is On Year's Fashions

"The Chinese influence is just that — an influence," says Rita Perna, national fashion coordinator for Montgomery Ward. "When we talk about the so-called 'Chinese Connection' in this year's fashion drama, we are talking about character — not caricature. We're talking about the ingredients on an easy, classic style as it is being adapted to the requirements of our Western life style."

Various Chinese and other Oriental themes are showing up this season throughout the fashion world, says Ms. Perna, reviewing the lines she selects from the giant retail-catalog chain. "The Chinese influence translates readily for evening and loungewear," says Ms. Perna, "but the real creativity in this season comes into play in sportswear. Here the look is that of Chinese work clothes with their combination of trim line and easy fit in fabrics as forthright as the good earth, used with a new exciting accent."

Quilting appears everywhere from sportswear to evening attire, along with dropped kimono shoulders and the wide kimono sleeve; stand-up neckband collars on everything from daywear to evening dresses and loungewear; asymmetric neckline closings with frogs and bamboo toggles or ball buttons; pipings and corded edgings to delineate yokes, cuffs and slit-side skirts; wide obi sashes and Eastern flavored prints in traditional Chinese colors such as lacquer red, jade, green, black and Ming gold in sweet-and-sour combinations.

Silhouettes vary from simple, tubular shapes to full smocks in the Big Top category, free flowing or cinched in with wide sashes or rope-like belts. Tunics, tabards, gilets and vests are variations on the theme, layered and topped with this season's scarves and shawls to the wearer's taste.

Plant Bulbs In Clumps

For a dramatic color effect in next spring's garden, plant tulips, hyacinths and daffodils in clumps of a dozen or more and do it now, says Bill Meachem.

"They've got to be planted in the fall because nature demands that they have a cold period before they bloom in the spring," adds Meachem, a gardening consultant for Johnson Wax. "But don't put them in straight rows unless you want them looking like a row of tin soldiers."

His advice is to dig out an area two feet in diameter and eight inches deep. Place a dozen bulbs in the bottom, pointed end up.

Mr. and Mrs. Evaristo Trevino, 608 N.W. 4th, and Mr. and Mrs. Santos Duron, 102 N.W. 8th are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their children, Leticia and Cris. The ceremony will be held at Sacred Heart Catholic Church on November 22, 1975 with Reverend G. P. Delaney officiating.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Folks:
Please, for heaven's sake (and your sake and my sake), listen to me while I talk with you over that backyard fence.

And today, I'm gonna talk about those garden chairs we all buy at the chain markets, etc.

Most are aluminum with plastic webbing for the back and seats.

Aren't they awful when they get soiled? I call it plain dirty!

Then whatcha gonna do? Just try scrubbing them. Takes hours. Natchrally, we can take them to a car wash (and if you've gone that long, try it, it's good too, angels), and use that spray hose and clean 'em at least every year.

But I got to thinking when the Willie Worm (the grey matter in the brain) in my silly, silly head got to squirming, and squaddled down last week. "Just why does Heloise have to do this year after year? Surely there must be a Simple Simon way somewhere" and he was right there all along. Bless ol' Simon!

And you know what help from heaven came to Heloise? Just you guess what the answer was!

Plastic garbage bags! Can you imagine anything so simple as Simon and HIS pimples? (Gee, teenagers hate those things). Well, I hated dirty chairs... so after I cleaned the chairs, I went into my kitchen and picked up some garbage bags and actually smothered each chair with a garbage bag.

Guess what! It's BEAUTEOUS. All right now — and listen, pals — sometimes you just won't have bought the proper size big garbage bag. So what do you do then?

Just take a knife or a pair of scissors and slit the side of the bag about halfway up each side and put the bag over the back of the chair.

Now you got two hanging pieces of the plastic left. This covers the seat (the chair, not yours), and all those little rubbly ripples of the pretty plastic chair that you bought the year or so before. It will NOT become grimy, gritty, and grossy — simply, soiled — as long as it is bagged in what they made for garbage.

It's a honey pie. Don'tcha think so? Now, if you can find a Simple Simon running through your house someday, do pick up a pencil, spit on the end of it, and drop me a card with your hint!

love and kisses,
Heloise

Dear Heloise:
Here is a tip for people who do embroidery and make their own patterns.

Use empty bleach bottles to trace the design onto whatever you are making. This plastic pattern lasts indefinitely and will make the flowers, etc., the same uniform size.

J. Kindred
Plastic lids work great, too.

MRS. WILLIAM WRIGHT GAFFNEY JR.

Professional Women Spotlited

AUSTIN — Women in public life will be spotlighted Nov. 10-11 at The University of Texas at a conference sponsored by the Lyndon Baines Johnson Library and the University's LBJ School of Public Affairs.

Liz Carpenter, former press secretary to Mrs. Johnson, is coordinator of the event, which she said will feature "a feast of internationally and nationally known speakers," including Jill Ruckelshaus, presiding officer of the President's Commission on International Women's Year; Anne Armstrong, a former adviser to President Richard Nixon, and Congresswoman Barbara Jordan of Texas.

Mrs. Carpenter said 1,000 women are expected to attend the sessions in the LBJ Auditorium.

"Texas is fortunate in having 780 women who hold public office, from justice of the peace to federal judge," she pointed out. "There has been a tremendous increase recently, especially on city councils."

A letter of invitation from Mrs. Johnson has gone to women office holders in Texas, but the conference is open to all interested persons, without charge, Mrs. Carpenter emphasized.

Mrs. Carpenter has had several meetings with Dean William B. Cannon and a faculty-student group from the LBJ School, in both Washington and Austin.

The conference is being held in observance of International Women's Year, and the Nov. 10 sessions will concentrate on women in international life.

On Nov. 11, the focus will be on women in national, state and local affairs. State Rep. Sarah Weddington of Austin will moderate a series of presentations on women's entrance into legislative, judicial and appointed positions in Texas. Federal Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas will be one of the speakers.

Among other prominent women expected for the conference are Mayor Lila Cockrell of San Antonio, president of the Texas Municipal League; Governor Ella Grasso of Connecticut; former Congresswoman Martha Griffiths of Michigan, and Hanna H. Gray, provost of Yale University.

Most conference participants are expected to arrive in Austin Nov. 9 for a reception and a showing of films about women around the world. A reception at the State Capitol is planned for the morning of Nov. 10, Mrs. Carpenter said.

Further information is available from Mrs. Betty Tilson, Executive Secretary, Conference on Women in Public Life, Lyndon B. Johnson Library (712) 474-6464.

FOCUS ON FAMILY LIVING Older Adults Can Preserve Traditions

By SHERRY MULLIN
County HD Agent

Older Americans are a valuable untapped resource in every community. They are the family's and community's link with the historical past. This generation of pioneers has witnessed a phenomenal amount of change in our nation during their lifetimes. Many older adults have weathered the crisis and pressures of daily living and through their experiences have gained patience and wisdom. They possess a pride in our country and its traditions which can be shared and passed on to future generations.

Families and individuals can learn much about their own heritage from older adults. When older Americans have an opportunity, they can make valuable contributions of time, energy, talents, and information to community and family projects. Such an undertaking can benefit all who participate. The key is personal contact and involvement. With 1976 and the bicentennial celebration only months away, consider the value of one of these projects for your family or community.

Complete a family or community history. A history can be compiled into a book, incorporated into an exhibit, preserved in a museum, or presented audiovisually. Older adults can serve as resources in identifying old photographs, recalling events, collecting items for display and sharing experiences. Organize and hold a regular family reunion. Family members of all ages benefit from participation in a reunion. Traditions can be continued through the sharing of favorite recipes, songs, stories, dances and skills.

Make a study of your family name. Ask older relatives for help in tracing family lineage. Perhaps your family name originated from a description of a special location or geographical feature, an explanation of relationships, a reference to nicknames, colors, or attributes or a description of an occupation. Learn about the family life and occupations of your ancestors and compare your findings to life today.

Share a craft or skill. Ask older family members what crafts they can do and how adept they are. Make a file of skills older adults in the family or community know and will teach to others. You might also compile a list of young people who will share their knowledge of contemporary crafts with adults. The opportunity to work together can foster respect and appreciation of individual interests.

Keep family records of special events or the growth of family members. A photo album, journal, or tape recording are some methods of keeping family records. The observations and reactions of older family members can supplement your records. Preserve items that have a special meaning for family members with a brief explanation in a special location.

Bouquet Violet Club Meets

Mrs. Charles Sweeny was welcomed as a member during the Wednesday afternoon meeting of the Texas Bouquet African Violet Club. The group met in the home of Mrs. L. B. Edwards.

Mrs. Larry Willard, Mrs. B. R. Owen and Mrs. John Davis were greeted as guests.

A program on the various methods of wick watering was given by Mrs. J. F. Sanders.

Members were encouraged to attend the Southern Zone meeting to be held Nov. 5 in the Dora Roberts Community Center. The next meeting will be at 2 p.m. Oct. 15.

MRS. MICHAEL JAMES CHESWORTH

Couple Weds In Church Ceremony

Miss Anita Kay Bell and Michael James Chesworth exchanged marriage vows in a candlelight ceremony held Saturday evening in the East Fourth Street Baptist Church.

The Rev. James H. Cary, pastor of the Beverly Hills Baptist Church in Oklahoma City, and uncle of the bride, officiated along with the Rev. Ed Thibodeaux, pastor of East Fourth Baptist Church. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Shirley Bell of Big Spring and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Chesworth of Riverside, California.

The bride chose to wear a formal-length gown of white satin with a tiered skirt of lace over satin. Miss Roanne Riley of Big Spring served as maid of honor. She wore a formal-length, yellow knit dress.

Miss Vickie Lynn Bell and Miss Sondra Jean Bell, both sisters of the bride, were bridesmaids. They wore dresses identical to the maid of honor's dress.

Jeff Chesworth, brother of the groom, served as best man with Pat and Kelly Chesworth, also brothers, as groomsmen.

The couple was honored at a reception held at the church. Miss Brenda Riggan registered guests at the reception and before the wedding and Miss Linda Cook and Miss Roanne Riley served at the reception.

Out-of-town relatives, attending the wedding were great-grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Todd of Wichita Falls, Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Cary of Oklahoma City and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Cary of Oklahoma City.

'Drag Duval County Into 20th Century'

SAN DIEGO, Tex. (AP) — "We are going to drag Duval County kicking and screaming into the 20th Century."

The speaker was one of the "Hillitos"—Spanish for "Little John Hills". The "Hillitos" is the name local citizens have stamped on investigators from Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill's office who are making Duval County their temporary home and whose scrutiny of political customs here may change the face of the county forever.

The "Hillitos" have their work cut out for them. Their kind of enterprise has been attempted before. Specifically, Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepherd's investigations in the 1950s resulted in scores of indictments to be dismissed later, and little else.

George Parr, the second man to be called "Duke of Duval", was alive then.

Now, so the story goes, a man who recently cooperated with Hill's men said, "If George were alive, I wouldn't talk to you."

The "Hillitos" investigations did not begin in earnest until after several years of federal investigations which concluded in the convictions of Parr and his nephew, Duval County Judge Archer Parr. George Parr, in his seventies, killed himself earlier this year and Archer Parr is in federal prison.

Hill says Duval County is a hotbed of political corruption and a black eye on the state of Texas. Federal convictions of the Parrs are only the beginning, say Hill's investigators.

The "Hillitos" came to Duval County at the request of Dist. Atty. Arnulfo Guerra of Rio Grande City last April. Ironically, the judge who had to grant Hill's request to intervene, District Judge O.P. Carrillo, will be tried by the Texas Senate to be removed from office. Carrillo and a brother are being tried on federal criminal charges in Corpus Christi.

Since the arrival of Hill's task force, at least 12 county and school district officials have been indicted on such state charges as misuse of public funds or official misconduct.

Investigators say the county ran on a system that thrived on political patronage, misuse of public funds and absolute political control.

A Parr friend describes the Parr era, which dates to the beginning of the century, as "a frankly corrupt but fully benevolent" political regime.

Even though indictments name individuals, the coordinator of Hill's task force, John Blanton, says persons are not the real target of the current investigation. Blanton's declaration is disputed by some individuals who have been indicted.

Blanton, known to his colleagues as "Porky", says: "We are not looking at people. We are looking at violations of state law."

"We are concerned with acts of misconduct by elected officials while in office, particularly misapplications of public funds. We are not interested in criminal acts by employees of officials unless it is an aggravated offense."

An investigative source calls the alleged widespread misuse of public funds "unbelievable."

Blanton's headquarters are in two rooms originally furnished to serve as Archer Parr's office.

Next door, in the county library, investigators including agents of the Department of Public Safety, the Texas Education Agency and the federal Internal Revenue Service and at least two Texas Rangers are in business.

"We go over records and check them, we find something and we trace it," says Ray Bravencoe, an account analyst with the Department of Public Safety.

telephone would be appreciated by the task force. The phone has been ringing.

"I think people are beginning to realize this is for real," said Ranger Cay Martinez.

Two anonymous tips led Rangers to the hidden locations of two large batches of Benavides School District records, which previously were said to have been destroyed.

The man who testified about the "destruction" of the records, former Benavides School District tax assessor Rodolfo Couling, has agreed to be a witness for the prosecution in the Carrillos' cases in exchange for reduction of charges against him.

"It is beginning to snowball," said one investigator.

The investigation, however, is not without problems. Perhaps in this land of strong Mexican heritage, old allegiances don't die easily.

Sources say the Hill task force has problems obtaining indictments from the Duval County grand jury empaneled by Judge Carrillo. Most of the indictments have been returned by grand juries in neighboring Jim Wells County where some of the public money allegedly was disbursed or in Austin where state funds were involved.

The grand jury's term expires in February. The "Hillitos" may wait until then to take more evidence to another grand jury, perhaps empaneled by another district judge.

One investigator says Duval political custom "was at the expense of the people who did not know they were getting ripped off. The corruption was wide open. They even kept records of the misuse of funds, vouchers, bills, records of illegal payments."

"People did not realize that the favors they were getting from the county officials were being paid with their money."

The county is the largest employer here with 232 employees. Investigators call it a patronage system.

County grand jury empaneled by Judge Carrillo. Most of the indictments have been returned by grand juries in neighboring Jim Wells County where some of the public money allegedly was disbursed or in Austin where state funds were involved.

The system, it appears, affected state and national elections. Bloc votes were not uncommon in Duval County for Democratic Parr-backed candidates.

County Auditor Walter Meeks, 72, who says he grew up with George Parr, philosophizes, "We buried the system when we buried George. It was a special system that was corrupt, but served a purpose and served it well."

And, according to a young high school teacher, "You cannot use good or bad to define the situation here. It was good and it was bad. It maintained the unity of Mexican-Americans and it helped. Nearly 99 per cent of our high school kids graduate and about 70 per cent go to college. It was bad rambling home. "It was a political custom. Most people benefitted from it..."

"There were times when I personally felt that something was wrong, but then George would come in and talk to us and everything was okay."

"No, you don't feel any sense of guilt. I felt a few years ago that maybe things were getting too strong for me," says Tobin, "but, you see, there was nothing anyone could do."

Tobin says, "I was born into the system. If George said it was OK, then it was OK. George understood people. He thought in 'Tex-Mex'; he was more comfortable in Spanish than in English. He said he did what people wanted him to."

Spanish virtually is the language of Duval County.

San Diego, a community of 5,000, resembles a Mexican town with a plaza and kiosk shadowed by a Roman Catholic church. There are few Anglo families and some of them have married into Mexican-American families and adopted Mexican custom, as the Parrs did.

From a member of one of the Mexican-American families which once was aligned with the Parrs comes the charge that the "Hillitos" are "using Mexican-Americans to destroy us" and that the investigation is aimed at Mexican-Americans in public office.

Oscar Carrillo, a former state representative and brother of Judge O.P. Carrillo, says, "They got Archer Parr on a perjury case and they are making up cases against us. If there was any corruption, it was Parr's..."

"Why should we steal? We are not hurting," says Carrillo, pointing out the Carrillos own 25,000 acres of ranch land and oil and gas property.

Since Parr's death, there has been a leadership vacuum in Duval County "but we will get together again," says Oscar Carrillo. And, he claims, the Carrillos will have "a lot to say about who the leader is."

Ice Capades Dolls Not For Children

At the Ice Capades, you will find adults playing with dolls for a variety of reasons. Long before each new show goes on the road, the wardrobe staff painstakingly fits specially constructed figures in genuine replicas of costumes worn by Ice Capades performers.

The Ice Capades are appearing in Ector County Coliseum in Odessa Oct. 2-7. Shows will be held at 8 p.m. daily with matinees at 2 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

For more information, call long distance 362-5022. Insured for more than $500 each, the 22-inch dolls accompany the Ice Capades' advance representative to each of the 25 cities on tour. They make television appearances, visit school children and occasionally go on display in windows of exclusive shops.

The lady "behind the seams" at Ice Capades, Faye Buckley, director of costumes, finds the dolls an indispensable time-saver. "With these miniature reproductions," she explained, "we can anticipate problems and avoid costly errors. We use them to test colors, fabrics and workmanship."

"This small corps of inanimate 'stars' is invaluable in the preplanning stage of each new Ice Capades production," said Ms. Buckley, who is responsible for the development of the final costumes. "They are put to a multitude of uses by practically every department of the Ice Capades company, from the seamstresses, who use them as visual patterns, to the set designers and various technicians who utilize them to coordinate color, design and lighting."

Skating Tested For Ice Capades

Auditions for the Ice Capades will be given Friday, Oct. 3, at the Ector County Coliseum.

Skaters 17 years of age and older with a knowledge of basic jumps and spins of figure skating are invited to try. They should bring their own skates.

Following the performance Oct. 3, at 10:30 p.m., auditions will be given.

BREAKS ICE WITH DOLLS — Susan Douglas, advance representative for the Ice Capades, shows dolls used in preparing for productions. Susan visited Big Spring to make publicity arrangements for the shows slated in Odessa Oct. 2-7.

AP Newsfeatures Writer

Roger Daltry has, in the last two years, made two solo albums, started in two movies and had a baby who, if she'd been a boy, he'd have named Tommy. But his main thing, professionally, still is being lead singer of the Who.

The two movies, both Ken Russell films, are "Tommy" and "Lisztomania," the latter not released yet. Daltry plays Franz Liszt. Russell has said that Daltry is one of the best natural actors he ever has found.

Daltry wants to learn more about acting but he does think that some people do naturally project better in movies than others.

"The camera either makes love to you or it hates you. I don't think it makes love to Mick Jagger. Now, Michael Caine is a straight, normal-looking guy with a strange Cockney accent. But you can't ignore him when he's on screen. I think David Bowie will be big in movies. I think Keith Moon would be incredible if you could control him. He's out of control most of the time."

ROCK TO FILM

"I think it's great that rock performers are trying to get into films. It's going to make film more interesting and it's going to make rock more interesting."

His own next role, if any, he says, will have to wait until the Who decides to have another holiday. His two solo albums were done during hula in the quartet's activity.

"It's the Who that deserves most of my time, that has the first option on anything I'm doing. That's because I want it that way. The Who has a very unusual format for a creative experience, you know, and it is the kind of thing that doesn't happen to many people in their lifetime. To me it is a precious situation and should be preserved as long as it creates, at all costs. Pete Townsend's songs would never be the same if they were done by somebody else."

'ROCK HORSE RIDES'

"We're there because we love to be the Who. We feel we're one of the best rock 'n' roll bands in the world. I think so, anyway."

"Pete is so far in advance of writing for four people. He obviously has an incredible amount of frustrations. I feel he should make a solo album and get these other ideas of his out in the open; then he could feel more satisfied with the Who than he does at the moment."

Daltry's new album, "Ride a Rock Horse," on MCA, except for one song presents new songs by unknown song writers. It was No. 26 and climbing on the top-selling LP chart of Sept. 20.

The Who's most recent album is "Odds and Sods," songs the group has recorded over the years that haven't been in albums, usually because they recorded one more song than an album needed. Its next will be "Who by Numbers," out this fall.

Daltry's favorites by the group are "The Who Sell Out" and "Who's Next." However one song on "Who's Next" bothered him — "Bargain."

"It was the first period in our career when Pete Townsend had gotten into synthesizer. My vision of what the Who is suffered. I felt things like the synthesizer should be extra, like icing on the cake. On that one, the synthesizer became the cake. I was worried about the direction it was putting the Who in. We didn't go in that direction; the new album has no synthesizer."

"We were having lots of conflicts at the time and going through a lot of changes we didn't like and we blamed a lot of it on our producer, Glyn Johns."

NOT FRIENDS

"I'm ready to swallow all the words I said about him. We were wrong. He is the best producer the Who ever had. If I ever get to make another solo album it will be Glyn Johns who produces it."

Daltry would like the Who to make an album sometime just at the close of a tour, when their performing is at its best. But that puts a strain on Townsend for material.

Personally, group members aren't friends.

Daltry has said, "If I had to choose three people to live with, they'd be the last three I'd choose and I'm sure they'd say the same about me."

But he speaks warmly of them professionally. The interview is being conducted in a hotel room where the maid is running a vacuum cleaner and responds to a suggestion that she do it later that she's scheduled to do this room now. Also, somebody is operating what sounds like a jack hammer in the room next door; the hotel says it's rebuilding.

"The only thing that makes it bearable is that I pretend like it's Moony destroying another hotel room."

"Even though Townshend gets a lot of respect," Daltry says, "I still think he's underrated. He and Boy Dylan, more than anyone in rock, have a kind of insight — you can't say it is predicting — but they do come up with things before they happen. They're the only two who have done that."

FARMER

Daltry lives on a farm in Sussex, England, with his wife Heather and daughters Rosie Lee and Willow Amber. He has a former wife, also remarried, and son, 11, who goes to a neighborhood school. "What is the point of paying a lot of tuition and putting him in a school that shields him from the realities of life? I don't care if my wealth doesn't go to my kids. Most kids who have it handed to them on a plate haven't done much good with it."

NEW TERM

Court To Review Capital Punishment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court returns from its summer recess Monday facing an accelerated schedule, a mounting caseload and a broad range of issues including another look at the death penalty.

Among other cases are ones involving laws on courtroom use of illegally obtained evidence, due process and obscenity.

In an unprecedented move prompted by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger's concern over caseloads, the justices are meeting a week early.

The court's rules call for it to convene on the first Monday in October and begin hearing cases the following Monday "unless otherwise ordered."

In the past, the justices have met briefly on opening day and then spent the rest of the first week in a closed-door conference deciding which cases to accept for argument.

This year, the week-long conference will precede the formal opening. When the court convenes on the bench on Oct. 6, it will begin hearing arguments immediately.

Although the total of cases on the court's docket last term was down slightly from the preceding term, Burger says that the workload is steadily increasing over the long range.

The death penalty case is one which the court failed to decide last term. It asked lawyers to come back and argue again.

The court ruled in 1972 that the death penalty laws then on the books were unconstitutional. The case now before it arises out of a North Carolina court decision permitting capital punishment to continue in that state.

The justices have also been asked to consider more than a score of cases arising under death penalty laws which have been passed since their 1972 ruling. They may accept one or more of these for hearing along with the North Carolina case.

Lawyers of the NAACP Legal Defense Fund seek a ruling that capital punishment is unconstitutional under any circumstances.

On another criminal law question, the court will give renewed scrutiny to the exclusionary rule, barring illegally obtained evidence from courtroom use.

In a decision last June, the court said that at least in some cases this rule should be applied "only if it can be said that the law enforcement officer had knowledge, or may properly be charged with knowledge that the search was unconstitutional."

Officers' Open Mess Books Comedy Play

"Heros and Hard Cases," a Bicentennial comedy is coming to the Officers' Open Mess at Webb Air Force Base Saturday, Oct. 4. It will be another supper club presentation with the dinner beginning at 7 and the drama at 9 p.m.

More than a catalogue of famous wits, the comedy is a complete Bicentennial celebration, with Uncle Sam himself as the master of ceremonies. Along with the original music, the play features sketches, great and small, the winners, losers, and rip-off artists that made this nation what it is today.

Appearing in the production are the Alpha-Omega Players, a national touring company from Rockport, Tex. Tickets went on sale Wednesday to members and associate members. Price for both buffet and play is $6 per person.

On the dinner will be leg of beef round, seafood Newburg and fried chicken. Ticket information is available by phoning the club officer at 263-8381.

Tax Statements Will Be Mailed Late This Year

County, state and Howard College tax statements will be mailed late this year because of time spent converting to data processing, Mrs. Zirah L. Bednar, county tax assessor-collector, said.

Mrs. Bednar, who said she has "never been late before" mailing statements, hopes the tax bills will be going out Oct. 8-10.

This term the court will review at least two lower court rulings applying the rule. One barred the use of a pistol as evidence in a Los Angeles murder case because it was seized under a vagrancy ordinance found to be unconstitutional. The other held that explosives paraphernalia found by Omaha, Neb., police in the home of a murder suspect were improperly used as evidence in his trial because the police lacked legal grounds to search the home.

The scope of the Constitution's guarantee of due process of law, which Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr., suggested last term is getting out of hand, will also be up for review again.

The Constitution prohibits any state action which deprives a person of his life, liberty or property without due process. In recent years, the court has said that the application of this clause depends on how significant the interest involved is and how substantial the deprivation.

Last January, however, it ruled 5-4 that due process requires at least an informal hearing before a public school student can be suspended for even one day.

This term, the court will consider whether due process requires a hearing before disability benefits can be discontinued because the recipient has recovered and whether a state may require persons who quit work to wait 75 days before applying for welfare.

Another question of due process will be presented in a case confronting the court again with the long-standing controversy over the power of states to control obscenity.

In recent years, many states have required that a work be found obscene in a civil trial before a person can be charged with breaking the law by selling or exhibiting it. This is an approach suggested, although not demanded, by recent Supreme Court decisions.

A Birmingham, Ala., bookstore operator — backed by organizations of publishers, magazine distributors and moviemakers — says the procedure violates due process, at least the way it is applied in Alabama.

The bookseller, Chester McKinney, complains that he was convicted in the criminal trial without being able to challenge the evidence presented in the civil trial. The state replies that the procedure merely "eliminates the guesswork on the part of dealers in obscene publications" by putting them on notice what they may not sell.

Other cases to be heard present challenges to mandatory retirement laws, state aid to church-related colleges, hair length restrictions for policemen and exclusion of pregnant women from private disability insurance programs.

The school desegregation issue is before the court again in an appeal from a lower court order which could lead to busing of pupils across district lines in the Wilmington, Del., area. The court has not announced whether it will hear this case.

The court has the same membership it has had since December 1971, when Powell and Justice William H. Rehnquist were sworn in. Justice William O. Douglas, 76, suffered a stroke and missed part of last term, but is expected to be back when the court assembles.

Hari Patients Just May Be Pincushions

MILWAUKEE AP — Because of a certain unusual type of acupuncture where the needles are left in the body for life, physicians are once in a while encountering patients who are walking pincushions. Radiologists here and in Japan report that X-ray studies reveal the needles can roam throughout the body and may be found literally anywhere.

Dr. Thomas J. Imray, of the Medical College of Wisconsin, and Dr. Yoshihiro Hiramatsu, of Teikyo University School in Tokyo, warn their radiologist colleagues that when the needles are seen in X-ray studies performed for reasons unrelated to acupuncture, they can be confusing because their appearance mimics that of parasitic infections.

This uncommon acupuncture is known as Hari and is still occasionally practiced in Japan. It consists of inserting many fine gold needles through the skin into the tissue underneath.
