National Unemployment Declines To 8.3 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate declined from 8.4 per cent to 8.3 per cent of the labor force in September, although the jobless rate increased for adult men and heads of households, the government reported today.

The September report indicated there was no significant change in the over-all employment situation in the country.

The Labor Department said the number of unemployed in September totaled nearly 7.3 million, down only a few thousand from the August jobless total. The number of employed persons was slightly more than 85.4 million, also just a few thousand more since August, the department said.

The size of the nation's labor force also increased only slightly, to just under 93.2 million in September.

The rate of unemployment has shown little change during the last three months. The Labor Department said the rate was below the recession jobless peak of 8.9 per cent during the second quarter of the year.

Economists often pay more attention to what is happening to employment in different categories of the population, and the Labor Department gave this September unemployment breakdown for various groups:

- Adult men, 7 per cent, up from 6.6 per cent in August.
- Adult women, 7.5 per cent, down from 7.7 per cent in August.
- Teen-agers, 19.3 per cent, down from 21.1 per cent in August.
- Whites, 7.6 per cent, unchanged from August.
- Black and other races, 14.3 per cent, up from 14 per cent in August.
- Married men, 5.3 per cent, up from 5 per cent in August.
- Full time workers, 8.2 per cent, unchanged from August.
- Household heads, 5.7 per cent, up from 5.5 per cent in August.
- White-collar workers, 4.7 per cent, up from 4.6 per cent in August.
- Blue-collar workers, 11.5 per cent, unchanged from August.

The Labor Department's figures are adjusted for seasonal variations, meaning that seasonal developments such as the reopening of schools were offset in the computations.

The unemployment figures were released one day after the government issued another unfavorable inflation report. However, administration economists said consumer prices are unlikely to go through the roof again.

"Clearly we've got a problem. On the other hand, it's not a double-digit problem," said Burton G. Malkiel of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, referring to 1974's inflation rate that exceeded the 10 per cent level.

A MOMENT OF SILENCE — Japanese Emperor Hirohito bows as he pauses for a moment in front of the Tomb of the Unknown in Arlington National Cemetery. The Emperor participated in ceremonies honoring war dead as part of his second day in the nation's capital.

Hirohito Honors Unknown Soldier

WASHINGTON (AP) — To a 21-gun salute, Japan's Emperor Hirohito placed a wreath today at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, where the body of a U.S. serviceman rests from the war that pitted Hirohito's forces against the Americans.

The 74-year-old emperor walked slowly up a long slope to the large, marble tomb. He bent, placed a circular wreath of white carnations on the grave and then walked behind the tombstone and paused for a moment to read its inscription.

Etched in the white marble, the inscription says: "Here Rests in Honored Glory an American Soldier — Known but to God."

The main tombstone is flanked by two smaller ones. The graves contain the bodies of servicemen from World War I, World War II and the Korean war. The monuments glistened under cloudless skies on their hilltop in Arlington Cemetery.

The cemetery, overlooking the nation's capital, is the final resting place of thousands of Americans who died in battle against the Japanese Imperial Forces 30 years ago.

'I TOLD YOU IT WAS COLD'

In case you hadn't noticed, autumn has started out to be cooler than usual in Texas. The current cool spell brought a record low temperature to Big Spring of 37 degrees today. The previous record was 44 degrees, set on Oct. 3, 1961.

Statements issued by Howard County's four banks showed deposits hit an all-time record for the period ending Sept. 30, with the aggregate reaching $93,614,217.01. The gain over the comparable period of a year ago was 2.3 per cent or $2,100,307.70.

When the last bank call was issued for the period ending June 30, deposits amounted to $91,898,844.52. Loans and discounts also reached an all-time peak of $48,598,078.70, up a whopping 21.8 per cent over a year ago.

Cash decreased by 30 per cent to $15,852,732.02 while total resources of $105,357,269.53 were up over the comparable period in 1974 by 3.9 per cent.

The all-time record for deposits had been set in the Dec. 31, 1974, call when the four banks had $93,165,740.52.

The banks also held $5,126,318.88 in U.S. bonds and $27,392,211.46 in other bonds and had sold $5,800,000.00 in federal funds.

The World At-A-Glance

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two Symbionese Liberation Army members, indicted with newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst on 11 counts stemming from a May 1974 crime spree involving kidnaping and robbery, face arraignment today. The most serious of the counts in the Los Angeles County Grand Jury indictment returned Thursday against Miss Hearst and William and Emily Harris carries a maximum life sentence. Trial for the Harris could begin within 60 days. Miss Hearst is in the San Mateo County Jail near San Francisco awaiting trial on federal bank robbery charges and could not be arraigned today.

NEW YORK (AP) — Electric companies trying to encourage conservation and ease the brunt of rate increases re experimenting with new ways of computing customers' bills. They are charging more for power in peak demand periods and are offering minimum service at a minimum price for low-income consumers. An Associated Press spot check also showed some officials are urging an "energy stamp" program for the poor similar to the federal food stamp project.

NEW YORK (AP) — After three years of heavy losses, W.T. Grant Co. has become the largest retailing bankruptcy case in U.S. history. The firm has 1,070 stores in 40 states. Grant, which filed for reorganization under Chapter 11 of the federal bankruptcy laws here Thursday, asked a federal court for protection from its creditors while it tried to return to profitability.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate approved today and sent to the White House legislation lifting the U.S. arms embargo against Turkey and permitting the sale of $18 million worth of American weapons to that country.

By a voice vote, the Senate accepted House approval of the sale. It was a victory for President Ford, who had sought for months to end the embargo. The House gave 237 to 176 approval Thursday night to a bill allowing Turkey to buy the arms.

The approval marked the ninth time the House had voted on the issue since the embargo was imposed in February.

The $185 million in weaponry had been contracted for by the Turkish government before Congress, irate over the use of American arms in Turkey's invasion of Cyprus, stopped the sale.

The House bill also will allow Ford to recommend credit sales to help Turkey buy arms needed to meet North Atlantic Treaty Organization obligations.

Turkey suspended operations at U.S. bases in that country after the House rejected an identical bill in July. Ford said last month he feared another House rejection would lead to a complete close-down of bases.

Ford's supporters said the U.S. bases are needed in Turkey to keep watch on Soviet missiles and they contended Congress' embargo failed to force Turkey to negotiate a Cyprus peace.

The House rejected 229 to 187 an amendment by the bill's major opponents to approve the $185 million only if Ford can certify "significant progress" in resettling some 180,000 refugees on Cyprus.

Opponents, including Democratic Reps. John Brademas of Indiana, Benjamin S. Rosenthal of New York and Paul S. Sarbanes of Maryland, said the amendment would break the impasse between the two countries but maintain Congress' pressure on Turkey to settle the Cyprus issue.

Led by overwhelming House votes, Congress cut off all U.S. military aid to Turkey as of Feb. 5 because the use of American arms in the invasion of Cyprus violated U.S. aid law.

But Ford said Congress' embargo, instead of forcing Turkey to negotiate, had become a block.

Gift Will Help Enlarge Howard College Coliseum

Tentative approval of expanded plans for the coliseum to be constructed on Howard College campus was given to the board Thursday afternoon in a called session at the architect's office.

The college president announced that HC received a $400,000 gift making it possible to expand the $1.5 million dollar facility to include a 90 by 190 foot floor space, armed chair permanent seating area for 4,200 and 216 rollouts.

Last year, the board announced a $300,000 gift from the Dora Roberts Foundation with $60,000 coming each year over a period of five years. The new gift will be presented at one time, according to Dr. Charles Hays, college president.

The president also acknowledged a recent gift of a large sign to be installed at the college. Dr. P. W. Malone, longtime board member, is the donor. Plans are also under way to set up a committee to plan landscaping at the facility.

The board tentatively approved the expanded plans to enable Daryle Hohertz, architect, to continue setting up specifications.

Among the points stressed by the board members as they went over the plans were that the coliseum could have meeting rooms and handball courts and classrooms, locked off from the main facility when necessary. Another stipulation was that heating and cooling facilities would be installed in such a manner that the entire facility would not have to be heated or cooled at the same time.

The board also approved taking bids on lighting equipment and a control board at the Howard College auditorium.

Dr. Hays told the board that he had looked over the present installation and found it to be both antiquated and possibly unsafe.

Board members present at the meeting included Dr. Charles Warren, chairman, Harold Davis, Jimmie Taylor, K. H. McGibbon and James (Buddy) Barr. Dr. Hays and Hohertz also attended the session.

House Okays U.S. Monitors

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House International Relations Committee today approved a resolution to send 200 Americans to the Sinai to monitor the Israeli-Egyptian peace accord.

But the resolution contained a proviso requiring the Americans to be withdrawn immediately if another Mideast war erupts.

The vote came as Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger testified before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and sought quick approval to deploy American monitors.

The House panel's action marked the first congressional vote on the plan worked out by Kissinger to achieve peace in the Mideast.

House Speaker Carl Albert said he hopes to bring the resolution to a full House vote next Thursday.

Other restrictions placed in the House resolution would:

- Permit Congress to order the technicians out if Congress "determines that the safety of such personnel is jeopardized or that continuation of their role is no longer necessary."
- Require President Ford to report at least every six months on the scope of the U.S. technicians' participation and the feasibility of reducing their participation by substituting technicians from other countries to man early warning stations between Egypt and Israel.
- Require all technicians to be volunteers and stipulate that Congress' approval of the technicians "does not signify approval" of any other agreement that Kissinger made with Egypt or Israel during the peace negotiations.

In the Senate, informed sources said President Ford's formal assurance that there are no hidden agreements in the peace pact may clear the way for approval of stationing the Americans in the Sinai.

BAYLOR BEAR MAULS BOSS

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Charles McBride, 22, who handles the Baylor University bear mascots, was hospitalized today after being attacked by an old retired bear.

University officials said McBride, one of several student bear keepers, was cleaning a drain in a moat surrounding the bears' den when Andrew, a large black bear, clawed and bit McBride, who was placed in the intensive care unit of a Waco hospital.

Younger, smaller bears are used for campus and football game appearances. When the bears grow too large to handle they are retired.

Officials said Andrew has been in retirement for a number of years.

School Fee Decision Is 'Step Backward'

By MARJ CARPENTER

The start of school usually has meant a number of expenses for most families. Five dollars for a workbook or a towel fee for physical education or a $6 lab fee or a $35 driver education fee are among the items faced by parents.

Attorney General John Hill issued a revolutionary legal opinion Thursday declaring that such fees charged by the schools are illegal.

The provision in the Texas Constitution setting up "public free schools" means that only fees authorized by the legislature may be charged, Hill said. And none of the common fees from workbooks to driver education fall in that category.

Dr. Emmett McKenzie, superintendent of schools here, said this morning, "It looks as though the Attorney General and his ruling may take Texas schools backward instead of forward."

"Certainly, local school districts are not going to be able to afford the fees. The legislature cut in half the state support of driver education per pupil and if they are going to require the course and not allow a fee, they will need a lot more money to the local districts."

"We can do away with workbooks and require students to buy more paper and pencils at local stores and have them write down everything that is now in workbooks, requiring a lot of tedious time and work and do away with any convenience or progress."

"We can do away with having a clean towel on hand for students to shower after physical education and return to bringing a clean towel from home. Some of them may use that one towel for a week, and as one area superintendent said this morning, some of them may use it for a year without bringing another."

"I don't see that a special session of the legislature will help. Gov. Dolph Briscoe has already indicated, he will spend no more funds on state education."

"I would be especially interested in the timing on just when this regulation is to become effective," Dr. McKenzie concluded.

Hill's opinion was requested by Texas Education Commissioner Marion Brockette.

Lawmakers will meet in January if Article III of the proposed new state constitution mandating annual legislative sessions, passes on Nov. 4. Otherwise, there probably will be demands on the governor to call a special session to help school districts cope with the new educational costs.

"I think definitely we will have to challenge this," said Northeast Bexar County District Supt. Ivan Fitzwater. "Right off the top of my head, I think the Texas Education Agency ought to go to court."

Dr. Kenneth Mueller of Victoria said that programs effected could especially include electives such as art, typing, choir, band, dance, drafting and others.

Brockette said he would not recommend legislation authorizing such fees.

"We've said 'free public schools' (in the Texas Constitution), grades kindergarten through 12, and it would be an inconsistency," Brockette said. "We've been contending all along that driver education ought to be paid for entirely by the state or eliminated from the curriculum."

He acknowledged that the decision confronts school districts "with a reduction of some programs or amending their budgets."

The attorney general did not say whether fees collected at the start of this school year should be refunded, and Brockette said he might ask Hill that question later.

Hill said that while the legislature had authorized such charges as tuition for a fourth quarter of schooling and fees for vocational training, it had not approved any of the fees mentioned by Brockette.

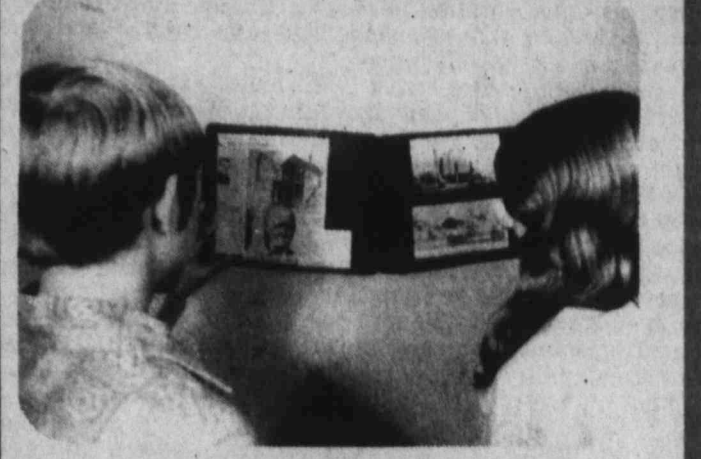

A 1931 Texas Supreme Court decision, he said, held that the only permissible deviations from the constitutional standard of free public education are those approved by the legislature.

"The legislature not having authorized charges in the area of your inquiries, and having specifically permitted charges in other areas, would argue for the conclusion that the legislature did not intend to authorize charges for those activities about which you inquire," Hill told Brockette.

In 1968, he noted, former commissioner J. W. Edgar ruled that a school district violated the constitution when it withheld a pupil's report card to force his family to pay a "supply fee."

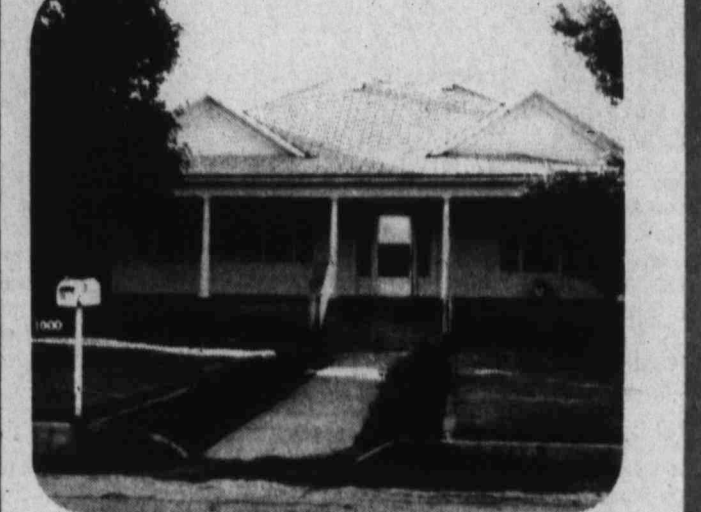

Hill declined to go into what kind of fees the legislature could constitutionally authorize and noted that there is "a significant difference of opinion among the appellate courts of other states as to what is required by a constitutional provision establishing a system of 'free public schools.'"

Back To Where It All Began

The statistics on education are impressive. Twenty-five years ago, 59 per cent of all our children finished high school. Today, four out of every five qualify for a diploma. A mere 12 per cent made it through college in 1950. This year, it was 24 per cent.

A quarter of a century ago, only 17 per cent of our non-white youth completed 12 years of schooling and only four per cent enrolled in college. Today, more than half (57 per cent) are finishing high school and 14 per cent seek additional education.

Are we accomplishing what we would like to, however? One who is dubious about that is Rep. Jim Wright, and he makes a case about our failure.

Wright concedes the picture has brightened but not enough. He says that the sad truth is that, measured in the most necessary and fundamental skills, most of our kids are learning less. That fact emerges from the College Entrance Examination Board, whose tests are taken each year by college-bound students. Nearly one million high school seniors participated in this year's testing. The extensive exam measures verbal and mathematical ability to provide the nation's best total accounting of just how much real learning is taking place.

Yet, Wright points out, this year's average scores are the lowest since the college board began computing averages in the mid-1950s. They cap a continuous 12-year decline that began in 1963. And the drop registered by the 1975 class is the biggest downward plunge of any year this far.

The reason isn't just the result of more minority children taking the test. It isn't just the averages that are sliding. There are fewer top scorers. The number who earned superior grades fell by a full 20 per cent in the past year, while those flubbing at least half the questions rose by eight per cent.

What is the answer? Wright believes we need to end the busing squabble, which takes time and money. He believes we need to quit spending as much on bricks and mortar, on computers and consumerism, on physical equipment and electives.

In brief, he believes the country needs to go back where it all began—to the teacher.

"Teachers make schools. It is they alone who can inspire, or bore. It is teachers who turn young minds on, or off, to knowledge. While aggrandizing our educational factories, we have permitted the average classroom numbers to exceed the levels which even a good teacher can handle well.

"If half the money spent on physical equipment in the past two decades had been spent instead of hiring enough qualified teachers to reduce the classroom numbers by one-third, we'd be turning out a much better product. Young Americans would be learning more.

Wright argues impressively. We adult Americans had better learn the lesson fast.

Exercise Caution At Wheel

Perhaps the best way is to block off all streets bordering schools during those times when students are arriving or leaving school grounds.

Parents who drive their children to school often are in a hurry to deposit or pick up their kids, fearful that they may be caught in a traffic jam.

Because they are often prone to move too swiftly and too recklessly, the lives of several ambulatory children may be jeopardized.

One mother with a student at Marcy Elementary complained her child came close to getting killed or maimed earlier this week by a motorist not observing all the safety rules.

Most motorists are aware that they must stop when a school bus ahead of them has its lights blinking and is unloading or loading children. Many are not cognizant of the fact, however, that the pedestrian has the right of way at school crossings.

The Police Department probably doesn't have enough personnel to assign a traffic officer at each of the schools, but motorists should follow the signals of the children assigned to the job of getting students safely across the street.

Drive carefully and with respect to your fellow human being. The life of one child is worth far more than those few seconds you might save in trying to exit the school area in the shortest time possible.

Why So Few?

Around The Rim

John Edwards

Why are so few Howard County residents indicted for second-offense driving while intoxicated?

BEFORE THE grand jury convened this week, seven persons had been indicted here this year for subsequent or felony driving while intoxicated. Of the six felony, drunk-driving cases submitted to the grand jury Thursday, all but two involved defendants from outside the county.

"Most all of my D. W. I. cases up here come from the Highway Patrol," District Attorney Robert H. (Bob) Moore III said.

Inside city limits, the Texas Highway Patrol usually leaves traffic law enforcement to police, Moore reasoned. Thus, most defendants are motorists just "passing through."

All those indicted for D. W. I. this year and all those whose cases were presented to the grand jury this week were cited for previous D. W. I. offenses in other counties. The prosecution did not use a final Howard County D. W. I. conviction for any felony cases.

Why? Only unprobated judgments may be counted as first D. W. I. offenses in prosecuting for the second offense, officials explained. A probated judgment, if the probation is not revoked, is not "final."

A search through the records in the county clerk's office failed to uncover a revocation of any county court criminal cases this year.

How many times will county court allow a defendant to plead guilty to D. W. I. for probation?

"That depends on the circumstances," County Attorney W. H. (Bill) Eysen Jr. said.

"An unprobated jail sentence for drunk driving is not the normal punishment," Eysen said, "because our juries don't believe in that kind of thing."

In county court this year, two jury verdicts were entered. Both times, the jury found the defendant innocent of the offense.

Eysen negotiated guilty pleas for probation and fines in 36 D. W. I. cases during the first eight months of 1975. The usual punishment is a $50 fine, $56 in court costs and a 30-day jail sentence probated for six months, the county attorney said.

WITH AN UNPROBATED D. W. I. jail sentence goes an automatic one-year suspension of the defendant's driver's license. If driving is part of his job, he may apply for an occupational driver's license, District Judge Ralph W. Caton said.

During the first eight months of 1975, Tule's first as county judge, there were 19 drunk driving cases dismissed in county court.

In 118th District Court, two pleaded guilty for five years of probation and one was sentenced to two years in prison. This does not count those found guilty on indictments returned before 1975 or those who waived grand jury consideration. The remaining indictments returned this year for D. W. I. are pending.

Court cost assessments in county court criminal, civil and probate action, and criminal case fines total more for the first nine months of 1975 than they did for the same period of 1974.

Judge Tule has levied fines and court cost fees totaling $15,987 during the past nine months, County Clerk Margaret Ray said. Then County Judge A. G. Mitchell assessed a total of $8,882 during the comparable 1974 period, Mrs. Ray said.

Fees of office collected by the county clerk for various duties are up this year, too. Mrs. Ray reported a $41,158 total. This is compared to the same period of 1974 when business brought then County Clerk Pauline Petty's office $35,611.

Sadat On Limb

Rowland Evans

WASHINGTON — The dangerous deadlock between Secretary of State Kissinger and the Democratic Congress now threatens to undermine not only the Egyptian-Israeli Sinai agreement itself and the U.S.-Egyptian entente, but more important, Egyptian President Sadat's courageous conciliation policy.

Each day that passes without Israeli withdrawals to its new lines in the Sinai Desert makes Sadat more vulnerable to Arab political charges that he sold out the Arab cause for nothing.

INDEED, CONTINUATION of stubborn congressional delay in approving 200 U.S. technicians for radar duty in the new no-man's land could force Sadat to postpone or even cancel his first-ever visit here, now scheduled for Oct. 26. Sadat was originally due in Washington last December, but canceled because of lack of diplomatic progress on Israeli withdrawal from the Sinai.

Sadat's alarming political problems stem from the fact that while his country has signed the new Sinai agreement, Israel has not—and will not until Congress approves the dispatch of the American technicians.

This is raising questions at informed levels in Congress about how much Israel really wants the new agreement, now that President Ford has ended the Israeli arms embargo and new weapons are flowing to Israel.

"Israel's strategy seems to be changing," a congressional insider told us. "They seem to be doing exactly nothing to lobby Congress on the technicians. Considering Israel's real power up here, it's funny nothing is happening."

THAT POINTS up an indisputable fact: the 200 technicians, together with the multiple arms, energy and money deals Kissinger had to pay for Israel's consent to the Sinai agreement, are now being used to prevent that agreement from being carried out. The loser is not Israel, whose public virtue is spotless since it expressly conditioned its withdrawal on the 200 technicians. The losers are Egypt—and Sadat.

Moreover, some pro-Israeli Congressmen are now insisting that Congress approve not only the 200 technicians but virtually the entire package of agreements in one document. Such a one-package congressional resolution would not be binding, because the arms, economic aid and oil money would have to be voted in separate legislation.

BUT SUCH a one-package deal, being pushed by Republican Sen. Clifford P. Case of New Jersey among others, would constitute congressional sanction for subsequent approval of the whole package.

The House International Relations Committee is moving in a diametrically opposite course. Key members of that panel are quietly insisting on complete separation of the issue of the early-warning technicians from the rest of the Kissinger-Israeli bundle. They want the resolution authorizing the technicians to stand alone.

Rep. Thomas E. (Doc) Morgan of Pennsylvania, committee chairman, has summoned Pentagon witnesses to testify on the Kissinger package later this week. The Defense Department has already made known its reservations about some of the inducements of American arms which Kissinger offered Israel and wrote into various memoranda of understanding.

Finally, the Sinai agreement comes before Congress at a time when the congressional grab for power over foreign policy is reaching white-hot intensity. Never before has the Senate Foreign Relations Committee demanded that an administration make full public disclosure of confidential agreements in a situation where, as one congressional source told us, "there is maximum pressure of time."

Fewer Gas Stations

John Cunniff

By JULIE DUNLAP (Substituting for John Cunniff) PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pump your own gas, eat a taco, repair your bicycle or wash your car.

Where? At the corner filling station, once bedecked with pennants and giveaways and now beset with drooping sales and lack of that old customer loyalty.

Delegates at the recent convention of the American Automobile Association heard two officers of major oil companies, an independent oil company representative and the head of a group of gas station dealers tell how they are dealing with changes in how the motoring public buys gas.

The push is to attract the motorist with cheaper gas or faster service and to turn idle repair space into paying propositions.

However, the word is not transition but survival for independent gasoline companies, according to M. B. Holdgraf, executive vice president of the Hudson Oil Co., a 43-year-old independent.

"We've tussled with the giants and done reasonably well because competition has been allowed to live," Holdgraf said.

But he said Federal Energy Administration tactics and the current muddle over oil allocations and price controls could snuff out competition, endanger the independents and change the way AAA customers will have to buy gas and get their cars serviced.

"We (the independent companies) are alive only in spite of the petroleum allocation act," he said. He said the FEA "did whatever was necessary to comply with the smallest way with the meaning of Congress."

Holdgraf said when oil price and allocation controls expired Sept. 1, Hudson was informed its supplies from two dealers would be cut 33 per cent and the price of gas raised.

He predicted that if the allocation act is not extended, stations will have few options for continued operation.

My Answer

Billy Graham

It seems to me that you ought to acknowledge other religions more than you do. After all, they foster the religious spirit on which your crusades are built. B. C.

A compass is narrow-minded; it always points to the magnetic north. Now that's a very narrow view, but a compass can't afford to be broad-minded. If it were, all the ships at sea and the planes in the air would be in danger.

We just have to discipline ourselves to reject any deviation from the course Jesus set for us. I'm not saying other religions don't have moral value. They do, but the issue is the eternal destiny of one's soul. An evangelist has to provide the step of faith that really works.

The inescapable implication of a counterfeit is that the real thing exists. Nobody ever counterfeited a $75 bill. Every counterfeit bears witness to the reality of what it copies. So in the midst of all the plans and programs men have devised to satisfy their religious urge true religion does exist. The Bible makes it quite plain, and my job is simply to announce the terms by which we can get forgiveness and peace with God.

True Case Of Constipation

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a severe constipation. You say not to use laxatives frequently, but this is the only method I can use to get relief. Suppositories never work, enemas fail. I exercise lots and eat a fairly well-balanced diet.

Prune juice just gives me gas. After a lot of gas, I do get some relief. I tried waiting eight days, still no action without a laxative. I am 22 years old, 5 feet 2 inches, weighing 110 pounds. I've had to go to the hospital for impaction.

My husband gives me brewer's yeast. I tried drinking a lot of water. This has been going on for most of my life. —Mrs. D. M.

Yours is what I would classify as a "true constipation," one requiring some careful attention. If you are not already under a physician's care for your problem, you should be. I would have to assume, since you have had to be hospitalized for impaction, that you are getting attention for it.

You should have a complete examination of your digestive tract, including x-rays of your colon to determine if there is any structural defect, such as "kinking." Yeast can encourage the defecation reflex.

Nerves can be involved. After nearly a lifetime of constipation, this might well be a factor now if it wasn't in the beginning.

Nervous persons often do not allow sufficient time for natural bowel action. They may, for example, arise in the morning, eat a breakfast, then launch into activity without allowing a natural defecation urge to assert itself. A morning bowel movement can be an important first step toward regularity.

A stool softening medication might help you. You don't mention having used one. A new drug is available for this, dioctyl sodium sulfosuccinate. It is marketed under several brand names.

I suggest too, that you read my booklet, "The Way To Stop Constipation." An understanding of how the bowel works can be psychologically helpful in coming to grips with such problems as yours. Cowtown To Host Convention Of CowBelles

The Texas CowBelles annual convention will be held Oct. 20-21 at the Sheraton-Fort Worth Hotel in Fort Worth. "The CowBelles will meet in conjunction with the Texas Cattle Feeders," says Mrs. Wayne Owen, CowBelle president.

The CowBelles will begin with a board meeting Monday at 1:00 p.m. where they will hear the Beef Development Taskforce program explained by National Chairman, O. J. Barron, Jr.

Tuesday morning, Jerry Clower, well-known humorist from Yazoo City, Miss. will begin the days activities as the CowBelles meet jointly with the Cattle Feeders at a prayer breakfast. Speakers for the Tuesday morning session will include, Ellen Zewel, president of the National Consumer Congress, George Schott, manager of public relations, Merck Chemical Division and Draper Daniels of Draper Daniels, Inc.

The CowBelles luncheon Tuesday will be followed by the general session with Mrs. Don Ater, National President, of Ferriday, La. as guest speaker. During the afternoon session, officers for the coming year will be elected, CowBelle of the year for 1975, and Outstanding Chapter of the year for 1975 will be announced. The convention will close with a dinner-dance Tuesday evening.

fronts of automobiles will vanish.

With the absence of the insects, Gulf Coast motorists will be able to smile without fear of bug-stained teeth for the first time since May.

Plecia bicolor is the formal name of the insect that annually peppers moving automobiles and motorists alike. The insect is better known as the love bug, March fly and May bug as well as several unprintable names.

Dr. T.E. Pulley, director of the Houston Museum of Natural Science, said this year's love bug crop has been exceptionally large because of a well-distributed large amount of rain during the warm months.

"The first hatch of the year generally occurs in May," Pulley said, "but there may be subsequent hatches all summer depending on temperature, ground moisture and rainfall."

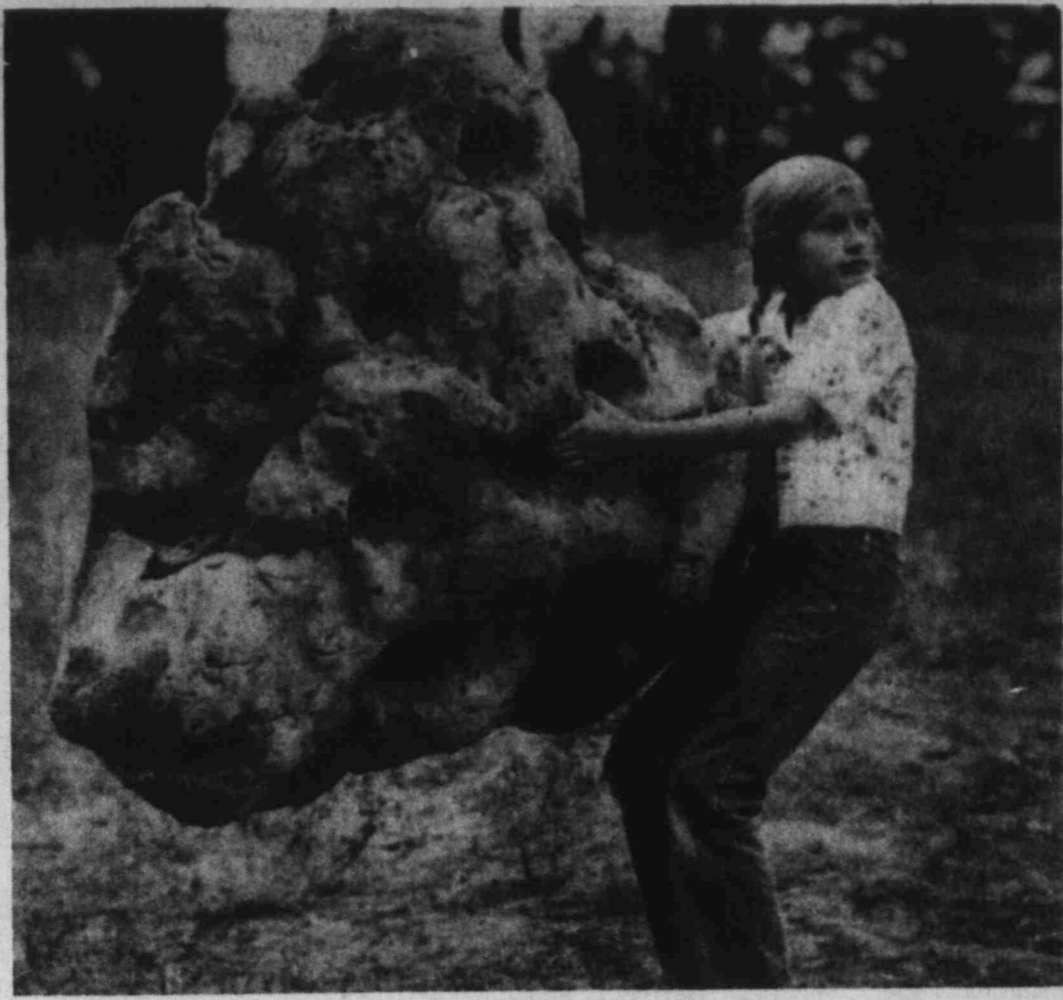

"As everyone knows, they can come out in hordes," he said.

When the bugs are out, drivers are often forced to scrape off their windshields. Windshields are just part of the problem because the insects' remains can eat away a car's paint.

Pulley said automobile aerodynamics force many love bugs over and around a moving car. But, he added, since no car's aerodynamics are perfect, the number of bugs on the front of an automobile is proportionate to its speed.

"Naturally, the faster you go, the more you'll mash flat," Pulley said.

And for next spring when the bugs descend along the highways again, most automobile dealers recommend mild soap and water, applied as soon as possible, as the best method for removing the insect remains.

Judge To Decide About New Trial

BRYAN, Tex. (AP) — A district judge says he will announce Monday his decision on whether Coastal States Gas Producing Co. should get a new trial in a suit judgment favoring the Lower Colorado River Authority.

Coastal States concluded a three-day hearing on its motion for a new trial Thursday by arguing that there was "jury misconduct" last July when the jury issued a $26.2 million judgment against it.

District Court Judge W.C. Davis heard testimony from several members of the jury that issued the verdict against Coastal States. Closing arguments were made by lawyers for both parties.

Hume Cofer, chief attorney for LCRA, argued that Coastal States could not support its contention of jury misconduct during the deliberations that led to the judgment against Coastal States.

Cofer said none of the jurors who testified verified the claim of Mrs. Ozie Walker that any misconduct on the part of the jury took place after the jurors were warned against it by the judge during deliberations.

He said that testimony by jury member Mrs. Helen Bowman, an accountant by profession, did not indicate that she held herself out as an expert to the jury during a discussion of a financial statement.

Mrs. Bowman allegedly told other jurors that a $26.2 million deferred credit line on the March 31, 1975 balance sheet of Lovaca Gathering Co., a Coastal States subsidiary, indicated that the company could pay the judgment without its operations being impaired.

John Lawrence, attorney for Coastal States, said that Mrs. Bowman told him that her influence changed the jury's vote from 10-2 in favor of Coastal to 10-2 in favor of the River Authority.

Tracy DuBose, chief attorney for Coastal States, argued the fact that Mrs. Bowman held out as an expert to the jury was enough to constitute jury misconduct and to warrant a mistrial. He said this was true even if her interpretation of the credit line were correct.

Abilene Backs Bother Burris

Coach Bob Burris of Big Spring High School spoke of tonight's challenge facing his Steers when he appeared before members of the Kiwanis Club at their regular luncheon at the Settles Hotel Thursday.

Burris said Abilene High not only had experience but speed as well, focusing attention on the fact that the four Abilene backs were members of a state championship relay team last year.

The Eagles also had more starters returning this year than any other District 5-AAAA team. Abilene runs off the Veer offense, Burris said.

Alan Timmerstet, pastor of the First Church of God, was installed as a new member. Al Stephens was introduced as a guest.

Leaky Dam Prompts Evacuation

VERNON, Tex. (AP) — A leak in a dam on Santa Rosa Lake in southeast Wilbarger County today forced evacuation of about 75 persons.

A flash flood warning was issued after authorities said it appeared the dam would burst despite efforts to shore up the dam.

The 1,800-acre lake is on the vast Waggoner Ranch near the Kadane Corner and Kamay communities. Water at the dam is 30 feet deep. Officials said should the dam break, it would take two to three hours for the water to reach Kadane Corner by which time the level of water would have leveled off, probably causing only minor flooding. The area is sparsely populated and the nearest communities are on high ground.

Fuel Adjustments Are Said Unfair

WASHINGTON (AP) — Provisions which permit electric utilities to pass fuel cost increases along to consumers automatically are unfair and unnecessary, a House subcommittee said Thursday.

"Automatic fuel adjustment clauses have accounted for nearly two thirds of the $8 billion increase in the price of electricity in 1974," said the House Commerce oversight and investigations panel.

Chairman Rep. John Moss, D-Calif., said consumers "have been overcharged significant sums" through a combination of "flaccid regulation and utility fast-dealing practice."

The committee recommended automatic increase clauses be abolished in the 43 states where they are in effect.

The committee report said the fuel adjustment clauses are ineffective because they remove incentive for utilities to reduce fuel costs and increase fuel efficiencies.

A fuel adjustment clause allows a utility to bill its customers for actual increases or projected fuel cost increases without filing for a rate increase or justifying the increase at a public hearing.

Moss said a number of utilities are using the provision to overcharge customers "under the guise of collecting for increased fuel costs."

The committee report said Boston Edison "double collected" on some of its fuel costs, and that Appalachian Power Co. and South Carolina Electric and Gas Co. charged ratepayers coal and oil prices for the water used to generate hydroelectricity.

Only seven states do not have fuel adjustment clauses: Washington, Utah, Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, North Carolina and West Virginia.

Blithe Spirit Rescheduled For Oct. 24-25

The Howard College Fine Arts Department production of Blithe Spirit, one of Noel Coward's funniest and most popular plays, has been rescheduled for Oct. 24 and 25.

The play had been previously scheduled for Oct. 17 and 18 but these dates conflict with the bicentennial homecoming celebration to be held at Big Spring High School.

Lee Gordon has been chosen to play the part of "Charles," a role that was originally played in London by the multi-talented Coward, himself.

In addition to "Charles", other parts will be filled by Cindy McDonald as "Edith"; Debbie Martin, "Ruth"; David Zant, "Dr. Bradman"; Robin Von Rosenberg "Violet Arcati"; and Jan Cass as "Elvira".

The production will be directed by John S. Gordon. Kathy Spannaus is assistant director, and Mark Sheedy is stage manager.

Bears Cast As Favorite

By The Associated Press
The countdown for Texas' "Holy War" with Oklahoma Oct. 11 has begun but Longhorn Coach Darrell Royal would prefer his team not get all beady eyed and leave the launching pad prematurely.
There is the matter of Utah State on the agenda Saturday in Memorial Stadium and the last two times the clubs tangled Texas had to struggle before prevailing 27-12 in 1972.
"I think it is a logical concern to fear that we would look past them (Utah State)," says Royal. "I have said that the biggest error you can make is to underestimate your opponent."
"I think it is pretty obvious that we should win the football game, but I think it is also obvious that the best team doesn't always win. And I have seen countless times that big favorites have been extended so that they had to keep their first-line players in all the way."

Rebels Dumped

Big Spring High's volleyball teams showed finesse here Thursday night at the Steer gym, winning both the varsity and junior varsity games from Midland Lee.
The host varsity increased its district record to 3-1 and over-all 9-4 by dumping the Rebels, 9-15, 15-5, 15-4. Big Spring's Tammy Newsom was the over-all high point server with 17 points. Newsom's teammate, Jodi Grant, picked up four points in the first game.
Rose Magers, Lana Williams, Denise Burchell and Grant made outstanding Steerette plays at the net with Newsom and Eva Rich superb on defense.
In the JV contest, Big Spring won, 15-6, 15-13. High point server for the host team was Tracy McLain with eight points followed by Cassandra Grant's six. The Big Spring JV's now stand 4-0 in district and 5-4 for the season.

AL PLAYOFFS Brand New Ball Game

BOSTON (AP) — The chalked message on the board in the Boston Red Sox clubhouse says it all: "7 Wins in October."
That, of course, would mean the American League pennant and the World Series championship.

"Sure, I predicted we'd win in 1967, but that was when no one gave us a chance. It was one of those things. Now? I've been in this game too long and have seen too many things happen."
"The main thing now is to go on the field and win a pennant. Then we can think about the World Series."

Uranga then exploded for a pair of TD's on runs of 12 and 10-yards in the second and third period, respectively. Both extra points were no good.
Outstanding players for Coahoma were Jerry Roever, Keith Kohanek, Spot Page, Mike Hale, Johnny Frazier and Davidson.
Coahoma has an open date next week.

Runnels Nudged

SNYDER — With all the scoring produced in the first half, Runnels, though, had the misfortune of being handed its first defeat of the season by Snyder-Travis, 20-6, here Thursday night.
Taking advantage of a fumble lost by Runnels, Snyder scored the opening points of the game on a three-yard run with 10 seconds left in the first period. The TD drive took five plays to complete and covered 20-yards aided by a 13-yard pass interference.
Runnels tied up the contest with six minutes left before halftime as Gerald Adams rambled over from 10-yards out. This covered 68-yards in seven plays.
With only 1:17 left in the second period, Snyder forged ahead for good, plunging over from the 10-yard line. This drive covered 60-yards in eight plays.
As second quarter time ran out, Snyder collected insurance protection, completing a TD screen pass play, netting 67-yards. The host team ran over the PAT.
Runnels played hard-nosed ball in the second half, limiting Snyder to only 15-yards rushing.
The Yearlings received a severe blow as quarterback Gilbert Rubio turned his ankle after the opening series of plays. Joe Willie Jones filled in for Rubio.
Runnels next plays Snyder-Lamar in Big Spring at 5:30 p.m., Thursday at Blankenship Field.

Cowboys Chosen To Win Another

NEW YORK (AP) — There's really nothing to this business of picking pro football's winners. All you have to do is wait until Monday morning, and you'll be perfect.
But if you really insist on knowing the winners before the games are played, well, you might get a hint from the past performance charts.
That's how you figure out this week's Upset Special. And that's why we know that ... hold on now ... the New York Giants will surprise the St. Louis Cardinals this Sunday.
One tip-off is that even in their sorriest seasons — and those have been numerous in the last decade or so — the Giants have always played the Cardinals tough. Since their last NFL title in 1963, the Giants have a sorry 55-95-4 record. Yet, against the Cardinals over that period, the Giants are a perfectly respectable 13-8.
The picks:
N.Y. Giants 20, St. Louis 17
If they can forget last week's debacle in Washington and get their offensive line back together, the Giants can win this game.
Buffalo 27, Denver 20
This is a clash of unbeatens, so the smart picker uses the coin-flip technique. If it comes up Denver, he remembers that the Bills' O.J. Simpson has gained 400 yards in two games and the picker keeps flipping the nickel until the Buffalo comes out on top.
Cincinnati 30, Houston 10
The picnic's over for the Oilers, who won their first two games mostly because their opponents were New England and San Diego.
Los Angeles 24, Baltimore 10
If Los Angeles isn't together for this one, the Colts could spring an upset.
Minnesota 27, Chicago 14

The National Council of State High School Coaches' Association and the National Federation of Athletic Associations along with the National Sporting Goods Association proclaim today as NATIONAL COACHES DAY.
Honors go to all coaches — football, basketball, baseball, track, tennis, golf and yes, even — volleyball.
It would be a nice tribute to Steer Bob Burris and his staff to come home from Abilene tonight with smiling faces.

Big Spring's Lisa Pipes and Mary Alice Campbell are members of Texas Tech's volleyball team.

The road isn't going to get any smoother for Steve Sloan and the Red Raiders following the 42-18 loss to Texas last Saturday. Their next three opponents, Oklahoma State, Texas A&M and Arizona are all ranked in the Top 20, that includes Texas.
Tech will meet one of the nation's most explosive offensive teams and stingiest defensive teams — both in the same game — when they square off against OSU at 1:30 p.m., Saturday in Stillwater.
The Cowboys are averaging 38.3 points per game on offense while giving up only 6.7 points per game defensively.
Although Tech has won the last two meetings with OSU, things have been close over the years. Tech owns a 11-6-3 edge in the series but the 20 games have only a 26 point spread, just a little more than a point per game.
Tech has outscored the Cowboys 256 to 230 in the series. Last week, OSU whipped North Texas State, 61-7.

The 1974-75 season was another record-breaker for the American Junior Bowling Congress as membership reached 763, 988. The previous high was 751, 748 in 1973-74.

COLLEGE ROUNDUP Iowa Chances Slim

By The Associated Press
For a suicide schedule, Iowa's has to be right up there among the Top Ten.
That's exactly where it is — Penn State, Southern Cal and Ohio State on three successive weekends.
As if things weren't tough enough for the poor relatives of the Big Ten, Iowa takes on No. 3 Southern Cal Saturday after spending a futile afternoon with No. 10 Penn State last week. Next week, it's No. 2 Ohio State as a playmate.
"They are out of sight," says Iowa Coach Bob Comings in referring to his next opponent, although it might be any of the three powerhouse.
The Nittany Lions took care of Iowa 30-10 last week for the winless Hawkeyes' third loss of the year. Southern Cal won its third straight game with a 19-6 victory over Purdue, Iowa's Big Ten colleague.
Iowa's slim mathematical chance will be compounded by Southern Cal's blinding quickness.
"No one in the country possesses the overall team speed these people have," Comings said.
How to stop the Trojans? "We've got to hold the whole offense," pointed out Comings, who expects to have his hands full mostly with Ricky Bell, the nation's leading rusher with 560 yards. "Bell is as good as McKay has had — with the exception of O.J. Simpson. "And McKay says we're going to get a steady diet of him."
While Iowa reads its weak fortress for Southern Cal's assault, there promises to be more competitive games on Saturday's schedule involving Top Ten teams.
Top-ranked Oklahoma faces No. 19 Colorado in a tough test for the "Boomer Soomers." Ohio State plays in UCLA against the 13th-ranked Bruins in what shapes up as another bone-buster. Fourth-ranked Nebraska meets Miami (Fla.), a team that lost to muscular Oklahoma by only three points last weekend. And No. 5 Missouri, the surprise team of the year, plays 12th-ranked Michigan in what should be another fiercely contested game.
Elsewhere among the Top Ten, it's No. 6 Texas A&M against Kansas State; No. 7 Texas vs. Utah State; No. 8 Notre Dame meeting Michigan State; ninth-ranked Alabama against Mississippi State and No. 10 Penn State vs. Kentucky.
In other games, it's No. 11 West Virginia against SMU; No. 14 Arizona State against Idaho; 15th-ranked Oklahoma State vs. Texas Tech; No. 17 Arizona playing Northwestern; 18th-rated Baylor against South Carolina and 20th-ranked Florida vs. LSU. Tennessee, the nation's No. 16 team, is idle this weekend.

NL PLAYOFFS Bucs Receive Cool Respect

CINCINNATI (AP) — Joe Morgan, chief generator of excitement for Cincinnati's onrushing Reds, shivered in the chill of wind-whipped Riverfront Stadium Thursday and paid cool respect to the Pittsburgh Pirates.
"Pittsburgh will hit you to death if they can," said Morgan as the Reds rehearsed for Saturday's opening game of the National League playoffs, adding that whenever you give the Pirates an opening "the next thing you know they have seven straight hits."
"We have to guard against getting one or two outs and then letting down, he said.
Morgan agrees that power will play a more dominant role than pitching, but he thinks Cincinnati's speed could prove a pivotal factor.
"Close games favor the Reds because we can steal on them," said Morgan, who has been the hub of the Big Red Machine attack since his arrival from Houston four years ago.
The Reds, who finished the season with a flourish by winning 10 of their last 11 games, have stolen 168 bases in 204 attempts during the season, a percentage of .800. Pittsburgh had 49 in 77 tries.
"People say these two teams are so similar on offense," said Morgan, a leading candidate for the league's Most Valuable Player Award. "I don't agree. We both do things different ways. The Reds get a lot of people on base with walks and steal more. We can beat people in so many ways."

Teacher Strikes Keep Thousands From School

Negotiations resume today in Billings, Mont., the latest community to be hit by a teachers' strike. Meanwhile, pupils in Wilmington, Del., demonstrated for an end to a strike and 19 Massachusetts teachers settled down for jail terms that could last six months.

Pickets walked outside public schools in Billings Thursday as teachers struck in support of contract demands.

William Serrette, assistant superintendent of schools, said all schools for the 17,000 pupils were open and manned by substitutes or regular teachers who crossed lines. Pat Kerns of the Billings Education Association estimated that 75 per cent of the system's 925 teachers were off the job.

Both sides agreed to resume negotiations today. The teachers have accepted a $1,000 across-the-board increase proposal that represents a 5.6 per cent to 12.5 per cent jump, but the school board has not.

In Massachusetts, 13 members of the New Bedford Educators Association, which has been striking since Sept. 8, were held in contempt of court Thursday and jailed, joining six union officers jailed Wednesday. Three additional teachers, who showed up in court with the 13 avoided jail by agreeing to teach school.

Bristol County Superior Court Judge Francis W. Keating threatened to increase fines against the association and teachers if they are not back in school Monday. Union officials estimate that current fines of $5,000 a day against the association and two days' pay for each day of the strike against each teacher amount to almost $1 million.

Schools are closed in the strike by about 900 teachers. About 17,000 pupils are affected. The teachers have rejected an offer of an average annual 3.9 per cent pay increase and a 28-month contract. Teachers are seeking a $600 raise this year and 9 per cent next year.

An estimated 150 to 200 pupils participated in a protest at Wilmington High School, chanting, "We want our teachers back," and "We want our schools open."

A school spokesman said a survey of other schools on Thursday, the first day classes have been held on a full day schedule, indicated no problems. The strike is going into its 24th day.

Until Thursday classes had been held only on a half-day schedule using substitutes and administrators. The school district said about 224 of the 767 regular teachers reported Thursday and nearly 8,300 of the 14,200 pupils attended.

Negotiations continued. Before the talks resumed this week, both sides were reported far apart on key issues of a pay raise.

NEW CROP — Jimmy Mathis, Stanton's city manager and Jess Burns, look at one of the sunflowers currently being harvested as a new crop in Martin County. They were guests on the farm tour Thursday.

LINNEY ELECTED Martin Farm Tour 'Success'

By MARJ CARPENTER

Leroy Linney was elected a new director of the Mustang Soil and Water Conservation District in a meeting prior to the Martin County farm tour Thursday in Stanton.

Linney replaces Bob Cox, who is retiring from the board and who nominated Linney as his successor.

Following the business session and introductions of Preston Faris, Martin County agent; Ken Schrank and Monte Edwards with the water conservation district, Gerald Hansen, chairman of the tour and Corky Blocker, chamber of commerce president, a busload left for a tour of crops and rangeland.

First stop was to look over Juil Reid's cotton. The tour then moved to the Doug Church farm where they looked over his sunflowers that had been harvested and those yet to be harvested.

They also passed the Roy Koonce sunflower farm. Harvests have produced from 800 to 1,300 pounds per acre on county farms.

Among the parallel terracing observed on the tour was that of Jimmy Sawyer and Bruce Key. Some of the terraces which held in the recent heavy rains in Martin County were observed by the group and discussed by the representatives from the Soil Conservation Service.

The group stopped at the J. C. Epley farm and observed results of a recent cutting demonstration on mesquite brush.

They traveled to the Sam Yates farm where the county agent discussed exotic cattle. Some of the exotic breeds crossed with Herefords and Angus on this farm were the Simental, the Chianini, Limousin, and Maine-Au-Jou.

The county agent also told the group that his 4-H club members will be taking 25 steers, five heifers, 30 pigs and eight lambs to the State Fair in Dallas this week. One of the Hereford heifers to go to the fair was on the Yates farm.

At Campbell's the group enjoyed a barbecue lunch and then toured his ranch to see a field of broadcast cotton, grain sorghum planted after the early summer hail, and kleingrass.

The tour then moved to the Newell Tate farm where they saw cotton, oats, and alfalfa crops and on to the Barry Johnson farm for another field of kleingrass.

The results of the 19 cotton varieties on the Lee Graves farm were said to not be final with results of the yield to be mailed to interested farmers at a later date.

The tour was interspersed with Martin County history from I. G. Peters, who has resided in the county since 1894.

He commented about Ranger Hill, the old Lenora highway and an area where his brother came out several miles from Stanton to run down a horse that had thrown him "and shot the horse."

The farm tour was judged a big success by soil conservation and chamber officials who plan to make it an annual event. Special editions of the Station Reporter emphasizing soil conservation were distributed on the tour.

Big Spring Postmaster Attends Miami Meeting

Big Spring Postmaster Frank Hardesty, accompanied by his wife, has been attending the 71st annual national convention of the National Association of Postmasters of the United States as a delegate from Texas. The convention was held in Miami, Fla.

Nearly 3,500 Postmasters from the 50 states, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands attended this annual event, according to the Host Postmaster E. Herbert Daws.

Postmaster General Benjamin F. Ballar, the featured speaker at the Miami Beach gathering, was joined by several of his top aides to discuss policy and operational matters with the field managers of the Postal Service — the postmasters of the country.

Often termed the nation's largest business, the Postal Service employs nearly 750,000 people, with a Postmaster in charge at each of the nation's 31,000 post offices. The offices vary in size from the largest at New York City, with more than 42,000 employees to the small rural offices where the Postmaster often handles the entire business alone.

The National Association of Postmasters of the United States, with nearly 30,000 members, is headed by the Postmaster at Glendale, Calif., Hal L. Hemmingsen, O'Fallon, Illinois Postmaster John C. Goodman is the national Secretary-Treasurer.

The Association has a chapter in each state in the nation and maintains a national office at Washington, D.C.

Headquarters for this year's convention was the Hotel Fontainebleau. Delegates are staying in six hotels throughout the city for the convention which will continue through today.

Picket Line At Furr's

A token picket line was formed in the hallway immediately in front of Furr's Cafeteria in the Highland Shopping Center Thursday.

The employe strike involves personnel from Furr's Quality Control Kitchens in Lubbock and is based primarily on employe claims that the company has failed to observe seniority in its hiring and promotion of workers. No local personnel were involved when the picket line was set up here.

The strike originated in Lubbock with a local chapter of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters Union and negotiations between the union and company officials are now stalled.

The manager of Furr's Cafeteria here had no comment on the strike. The three men involved in setting up the picket line here said they would not be back today.

TALL COTTON — J. C. Mott, John Campbell and Gerald Hansen look over some of the tall cotton in Martin County during Thursday's farm tour. Hanson was general chairman of the tour and a barbecue was held at noon on Campbell's farm.

The Homecoming Queen will be crowned at the half. Candidates include Letha Strickland, senior; Beverly Strickland, junior; Alice Moreno, sophomore and Belinda Bradley, freshman.

The picture was taken by a Goodfellow AFB photographer and the tagline for the picture was written there.

Dancing Girl Caption Wrong

The caption under a Big Spring Herald picture, originating at the second annual West Texas Air Force Chili Cookoff, incorrectly identified the dancing girl as Diana Karnes of Big Spring. In reality, the girl was Dottie Dockter of Big Spring. The photo appeared in Thursday's edition of The Herald.

Ice Capades Exciting Event

The Ice Capades newest show appeals to all ages with performances of the immortal Freddie Trenkler, the ice-comedian who has been seen by three generations, as well as the artistic skating of Anna Galmarini, World Professional champion.

A monkey act and a children's act for the young folks are offset with two showgirl numbers that smack of Las Vegas.

A Spanish number by Melissa Militano and Johnny Johns, 1975 U. S. pair champions, also received heavy applause as did a number in memory of the great Duke Ellington.

Opening night was a definite success in Odessa for the 16th year. The show has been on the road for a total of 35 years with the cast, costumes and settings becoming more and more elaborate each season.

Klondike Consolidated School District homecoming will be held today when the Klondike Cougars play the Loop Longhorns. Game time is 8 p.m.

The Klondike junior class is sponsoring a barbecue supper to be held from 5:30 until 8:00 p.m. Everyone is invited to attend the supper to be held in the Klondike cafeteria. Adult tickets are $3 and student tickets are $2.

Following the game a reception for all exes and friends will be held in the old gymnasium. All new teachers will be introduced. Also, a local band will play for entertainment.

All exes of Klondike, Sparenberg, Union and Flower Grove, which make up the Klondike Consolidated School District, are urged to attend.

Shackelford Forms New Company In Odessa

ODESSA — Vic Shackelford, former president, The Wells Companies, Odessa, has announced formation of Vic Shackelford and Associates, Inc., business merger and acquisition consultants.

After parlaying ownership of Wells Machine into a group including Wells Technical Services, Weigh Systems, Inc., and Manufactured Construction Products, two years ago, Shackelford merged his interests with those of Chromalloy American, a world-wide consortium involved in oil and gas equipment construction, transportation equipment, agricultural equipment, shipping, petrochemicals and a variety of other enterprises.

"The new company," he states, "is based on a wealth of personal experience. It offers a unique service concept to those who need assistance either in buying or selling. Through afliation with the National Association of Business Merger and Acquisition Consultants, it is a member of the only organization of its kind in existence."

Shackelford and Associates opened its doors Oct. 1 in offices in the First National Bank Building, Odessa.

Cap Rock Will Honor Cantrell

The event will be held at First Federal Savings and Loan Building from 3-5 p.m. Cantrell served the board of Cap Rock for 36 years. All of his friends are invited to the reception.

Hunt For Conspirators

HOUSTON (AP) — An assistant Texas attorney general says criminal conspiracy investigations are continuing on people who believe they have eluded investigators probing a complicated network of oil fraud schemes in at least three states.

Six weeks after nine men were charged with felony theft in rural Runnels County, authorities are pursuing leads taking them to Houston, Shreveport, Lafayette, La., Phoenix, Ariz., Oklahoma City, and New York.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Jerry Carruth said some of the leads have taken investigators in circles but others lead Carruth to believe conspiracy indictments will be brought against "people who think they're going to get off."

The leads have shown, Carruth said, that those involved with the oil fraud schemes were more interested in generating paperwork to buy negotiating power in the marketplace than simply turning a quick profit from stolen oil.

Texas Railroad commission investigator James Smith says the search for the guilty is being complicated by a long string of middlemen, persons using aliases, the informal way crude oil is bought and sold and a "dangerous lack of curiosity" on the part of some.

Henry Thames, an 11-year member of the local Kiwanis Club, is serving Division 22 of Kiwanis International as its lieutenant governor. The division extends from Sweetwater to El Paso.

As lieutenant governor, Thames is committed to visiting each of the 11 clubs at least three times annually. He will serve through next August.

Thames was named to the position in the district convention at Brownwood in August. At the convention, he was awarded the Distinguished President's Award.

Thames was president of the local club in 1973-74, the year the Kiwanians organized the Circle K Club at Howard College.

Thames will represent the local club and District 22 at the National Convention in San Diego, Calif., next June and will also attend the district convention in San Antonio in August.

Dear Abby

Daughter Lured Into May-Dec. Romance

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow who is trying to pave the road smoothly for my 19-year-old daughter.

She is very pretty, and I have never had any trouble with her until now. It seems that she has a crush on a tall, handsome, 44-year-old salesman who drinks rather heavily, lives an hour's drive from here and has stood her up on five dates already. He always had an excuse the day after, but never let her know while she sat all dressed up waiting for him.

I feel that he is wrong for her, but she waits faithfully for this long distance Romeo. Can you help me?

PUZZLED MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Seldom does a 19-year-old girl listen to her mother in such matters. If it hasn't occurred to your daughter that this man is married — it should.

If she's wise she'll find out more about him. He sounds like a bad apple, but don't knock him. It will only cause her to come to his defense.

 Republic.
 She said there is a need for a stringent state audit of Blue Cross' administrative costs for Medicaid.
 "Information gathered from Social Security Administration auditors who rub elbows with Department of Public Welfare auditors inside Blue Cross indicates that the state policy is not to bother Blue Cross for too much detail," Ms. Cox said.
 The information obtained by the state does not give a clear picture of the actual administrative costs, she said.

Blue Cross Costs 'Private Business'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Welfare Commissioner Raymond Vowell says Blue Cross has told the state it is "private business" how much it costs the insurance company to administer the Medicaid program for welfare recipients.
 He testified before the House Health and Welfare Committee on Thursday. The panel is investigating the contract under which Blue Cross administers the $202 million a year Medicaid program.
 Medicaid is financed by a combination of state and federal funds. The state pays the money to Blue Cross as a premium on policies for the recipients, and adds funds for administration.
 The insurance arrangement was chosen over a straight payout in 1967 because it is more efficient, Vowell said.
 Rep. Chris Miller, D-Fort Worth, asked him how much Blue Cross charges for its cost of administering Medicaid.
 Vowell said $60,000 a month.
 "What is their actual administrative cost?" she asked.
 "I don't know that," Vowell said.
 "Have you asked for it?" Ms. Miller pursued.
 "We have discussed it from time to time, and they say this is their private business," Vowell said.
 He said Blue Cross contends it would be harmed competitively—although it is a nonprofit corporation—to let out the amount of its administrative costs.
 The welfare board recently extended the Blue Cross contract, but only for 90 days while it is reviewed for potential cost-cutting areas. The legislature did not appropriate enough money to fund Medicaid services at existing levels, he explained.
 Ms. Miller also asked Vowell about the reserve for unpaid Medicaid claims that Blue Cross maintains.
 Vowell said Blue Cross was voluntarily reducing the reserve, which stood at $34 million on Aug. 31. He said it now is down to $18 million.
 "They always have paid interest (to the state) on it, at the same rate of interest as U.S. Treasury 18-week notes," Vowell said.
 Jackie Cox, an Austin freelance researcher and writer who has sued Blue Cross for access to its books under the Texas Open Records Act, criticized both Blue Cross and the welfare department in her testimony.
 She contended there are interlocking directorships between Blue Cross and Republic National Bank of Dallas. Blue Cross' investments—including those made from the Medicaid claims reserve—have "an interesting way of flowing into the stocks, bonds and accounts of entities sharing officers and directors with Republic National," she said.
 At one time, she said, federal examiners found large quantities of federal funds had been deposited by Blue Cross in noninterest

Sex Discrimination Complaint Lodged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The University of Texas at Austin has been cited by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare for allegedly discriminating against a female professor who had filed a civil rights complaint against the school.

HEW also charged the university with directing "retaliatory actions" against the professor after she filed her complaint.

The citation was the first against a college or university for a violation of 1965 and 1967 presidential orders prohibiting sex discrimination.

If HEW's allegations are upheld before a federal hearing examiner and an appeals board, UT could be barred from the award of new federal contracts. The university has 14 days to answer the HEW complaint and request the hearing.

HEW says the university has refused to cooperate with the U.S. Office for Civil Rights in the case of Janet Rollings Berry, an assistant professor of art history, who filed a discrimination complaint against the school. The university also responded to the complaint by refusing to promote her or increase her salary, HEW said.

Mrs. Berry first filed the complaint charging sex discrimination in August 1971. The civil rights office notified the university two months later that it was in violation of the presidential order.

HEW said that in 1964 Mrs. Berry was paid about 36 per cent less than male faculty members hired at about the same time and had approximately the same qualifications.

In 1968, HEW said, the art history department paid a male faculty member without a doctoral degree about $1,000 more per year than it paid Mrs. Berry. In addition, a male faculty member was hired in 1970 who had no doctoral degree nor prior teaching experience and he was paid approximately the same salary as Mrs. Berry, who had six years' experience.

HEW also alleged that after Mrs. Berry filed her complaint, the university "directed numerous retaliatory actions" against her and her husband, also a UT employee.

Both their salaries were frozen by the university with the exception of across-the-board raises, HEW said. Meanwhile, other faculty members received salary hikes.

"Mr. Berry was the only assistant professor within the respondent's art history department who had not been granted a salary increment for three consecutive years. No assistant professor was paid a lower salary and, of all those receiving equivalent salary, none had as much teaching experience as Mr. Berry," HEW said.

REAL LIFT — Cynthia Slade, 21, a second year carpenter's apprentice, says her work atop a 160 foot tall bank building "gives me a real lift."

Fair Salutes Bicentennial

DALLAS (AP) — A salute to the U.S. Bicentennial is the theme of the 90th annual State Fair of Texas, which opened today with patriotic American history exhibits competing with Big Tex for visitors' attention.

Big Tex, a giant papier mache cowboy, as usual presides over the grounds but fife and drummer images abound in the official "Yankee Doodle Dandy" salute.

Before the fair closes Oct. 19, officials estimate three million persons will see the exhibits stressing panoramas of American and Texan heritage.

Today was designated Dallas Preview Day, with a relatively short list of activities including the Juliet Prowse Show at 8:30 p.m. in the Music Hall.

The exposition will get going full blast Saturday with a downtown parade at 10 a.m. and opening ceremonies at the Hall of State at noon.

Southern Methodist University and West Virginia teams meet at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in the first of a series of football games at the Cotton Bowl on the fair grounds. Texas and Oklahoma will play there Oct. 11.

The opening performance of the State Fair Championship Rodeo is scheduled for 8 p.m. in the State Fair Coliseum.

LTV Corp. Response To Suit

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — LTV Corp. planned to disclose today its response to a $190 million suit brought against the company Tuesday by the cities of Dallas and Fort Worth, the D-FW airport board and eight airlines.

The company has approximately 20 days to file an answer in district court here to the suit alleging it failed to fulfill the terms of a $34 million contract for designing and building Airtrans, the airport's automated "people mover" system.

Airport board members turned down Thursday a proposal by LTV President Sol Love that it keep the Airtrans system running during the resolution of legal battles. The board members said they believed the offer proposed that they negotiate a new contract under which LTV would resume Airtrans operations.

"We are ready to resume operation of Airtrans and pay LTV anything we owe them under the original contract just as soon as they are willing to say they are operating under the original contract," said board chairman Erik Jonsson.

The Airtrans system can now carry only passengers and baggage between terminals at the D-FW airport. According to the original contract, it is supposed to also carry employees, mail and garbage.

The suit was filed after an agreement ran out Monday under which the Airtrans system had operated. Since Monday, buses have transferred passengers, and baggage between terminals.

Band To Stress Jazz Tonight

The Big Spring High School band will include a touch of New Orleans and the Creole Country in their halftime presentation tonight at Abilene High School football game.

The band will stress a jazz arrangement of "When the Saints Go Marching In" at the halftime show tonight.

They will end the show with the traditional "76" which they are using during this bicentennial season of football.

'Soundstage' Best Show For Pop And Jazz Fans

By JAY SHARBUTT

NEW YORK (AP) — This Saturday night, a great music series called "Soundstage" starts its second season on public TV with a rousing, occasionally poignant hour featuring singer Barry Manilow & Co.

Some stations may air it another night (check your newspaper listings to be certain), but regardless of when it appears, be sure to catch this show and the rest of the series.

For my dough, "Soundstage," by station WTTW in Chicago, is the best weekly pop-and-jazz music show anywhere in television, both in extent of featured talent and in manner of production.

In its 14 new shows this season — 13 are first-season repeats — the artists range from Blood, Sweat & Tears to Benny Goodman, from Three Dog Night to the Four Freshmen, with Martin Mull in for comedy relief.

Judging from a pre-season look at several new segments, the "Soundstage" camera work is as excellent as last year. And the sound engineering remains so good — and that of TV sets so bad — that we again suggest you rig a hi-fi set to your TV for maximum enjoyment of the series.

By starting with Manilow, the show opts for a high-energy musical opener, even though the star is best known for such easy-listening hits as "Mandy" and "Could It Be Magic," both sung in Saturday's show.

A lanky, puckish man who toiled as a commercial jingle singer and writer before gaining note as Bette Midler's musical director, Manilow, like Miss Midler, is what you'd call a glitter-performer.

His bag is lots of flash. Backed by three singers called "The Flashy Ladies," he bounds through a variety of tunes, many with the disco beat that is all the rage in four Fun City bars this year.

You may be tempted to dismiss him as just another disco hizz as he lip-synchs "Dancing in the Streets" while cavorting in a discotheque and then a street during a filmed segment at the start of the show.

But stick around for his work before the WTTW studio audience.

The efforts range from his "greatest hits" — singing commercials for Dr. Pepper and the like — to a hip, good-humored vocal version of the familiar "American Bandstand" theme.

Cabell Praised In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seven Texas congressmen eulogized former Rep. Earl Cabell on the House floor Wednesday, praising his independence, outspokenness and thorough business experience.

Rep. J.J. Pickle, an Austin Democrat, said Cabell was often said to be willing to "fight a buzzsaw" for someone or something he believed in. Cabell, former Dallas mayor and congressman, died Sept. 24 in a Dallas hospital.

Other Texans eulogizing Cabell on the House floor were Democratic Reps. Ray Roberts, W. R. Poage, Jack Brooks, George Mahon and Richard White and Republican James Collins.

North Birdwell Lane Church History Includes Four Units

The story of North Birdwell Lane Methodist Church begins in 1945 when Mrs. W. D. McDonald, Mrs. B. E. Winteroad, Mrs. G. C. Groves, Mrs. W. A. Laswell and Mrs. Gould Wien — all members of the Susanna Wesley Class of First Methodist Church — with the blessing of the church and the class, established a mission at the West Side Community Center in the ABC Park on West 5th Street.

Thirteen others, in addition to the above mentioned, were present at the first meeting. Nine were children, the others, women, including Mrs. Dora Moore, Mrs. Tatham and Mrs. Joe Dorton with her family. Mrs. Laswell led in singing "Help Somebody Today" and "Jesus is All the World to Me." Lt. Wade, from Webb Air Force Base, gave an interesting talk, and his wife played for the service. Mrs. Abbie Anderson, Mrs. Mabel Cloud, Mrs. Avant and Mrs. Joe Faucett, who served as pianist, joined soon.

Henry Norris, Boy Scout director for this area, gave inspiring talks at the 11 o'clock services for some time. Mrs. Winn began afternoon programs for the youth, a study club, and prayer meetings were soon begun. Mrs. S. T. Franklin and Mrs. G. L. Bryant were reported to be of much help at this time.

Evening services were begun in 1946 after a house and two lots had been bought, with aid from the First Church. James Boswell, who had just returned from overseas, preached his first sermon in a building filled to capacity.

The church was officially organized in June 1948 and, with the aid of the conference, the First Church and others, a building was built, occupied and paid for by July 17, 1949. Rev. C. I. Smith, a retired minister, was sent as pastor for the first two years.

Mrs. Laswell tells interestingly, "A mother had been attending Sunday School with her children, but decided to go to another church. One of her children said, 'I want to go to church in the Park.'" Thus the name Park Place Methodist Church.

Members of the first official board were Mrs. W. J.

McDonald, Mrs. Abbie Anderson, Mrs. Jessie Groves, Denver Pettit, Elmer Hensley, Elvin Bearden, and Dan Greenwood. Some of the remembered lay members were R. Z. Cozart, Brent Hollis, J. Hoover, Harry Sanders and Noble Zelch.

Pastors who served Park Place Church were Cloy Lyles, E. C. Armstrong, Jesse Young, H. W. Gaston, D. Joe McCarthy, R. C. Browder, R. L. Bowman and E. B. (Jack) Thompson.

In 1952 the Methodist Church at Center Point, a community northeast of Big Spring, disbanded from the location where they had been meeting since pioneer days and some of their remaining members came to Park Place Church.

By the spring of 1965, Park Place Church had become crowded by commercial buildings and a new location was needed. Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Edens offered acreage on North Birdwell Lane, in the William Green Addition in northeast Big Spring. The offer was accepted, the old property sold and a new church and parsonage built at the new location. Mr. Denver made a small model of the proposed building before the construction began. Mr. Edens was builder of both church and parsonage. The parsonage was completed first and a few services were held in it. The first service in the new sanctuary was held Thanksgiving Sunday, 1965.

An additional extension was completed in 1967. The most recent forward movement in the story was the merger of Kentwood Methodist and North Birdwell Lane Church, thereby bringing the worship and teaching ministry of the united congregations to the North Birdwell Lane location in March 1974. An older adult center has been established in the Kentwood Church building.

Rev. I. A. Smith, a charter pastor of Park Place Church, listed all the members who came into the church there while he was there, as charter members. His list is kept as the charter membership of the now-combined Park Place, Center Point, Kentwood and now North Birdwell Lane Methodist Church. They are listed as follows: Abbie Anderson, Mrs. A. W. Avant, Mrs. Mary

Bible Conference Slated Sunday

The sixth annual Bible Conference will be held at Crestview Baptist Church in Big Spring starting Sunday.

They are the only local church to hold a Bible conference as such, rather than a revival meeting. The Crestview Baptist Church, which is located on Gatesville Street in Big Spring, announces that the conference this year will extend from Sunday, October 5 through October 10.

Morning services for the event are slated at 10 a.m. with evening services daily at 7 p.m.

It is with a great deal of pride that the church announces their speakers for the conference. Both are men with many years of familiarity and study of the scriptures and are considered experts in their field. Dr. Avery Rogers is a native of Texas educated at Baylor University and Southwestern Theological Seminary. He has pastored for over 40 years and has taught Bible at the Texas College of Theology. For the past six years, he has preached in hundreds of conferences, revivals and camp meetings.

The Rev. Jack Clinkscale, born in London, England, served as a Spitfire pilot during World War II. He was educated in England and has preached crusades in England, Scotland, Holland, Canada and the United States.

Tea Slated At Methodist

The Philathea Women's Class of the First Methodist Church is hosting a bi-centennial tea from 3-4:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 5.

The event will be held in the Fellowship Hall and all members and visitors of the church are invited to attend.

Traveling Evangelists Come In Many Varieties

NEW YORK (AP) — Most of the time, they're on the road. They go from town to town for a stand of a weekend to a few weeks, and then move on. They preach to big crowds and small, in tents, churches or auditoriums. They're traveling evangelists, a growing company in this country.

They're of many types, of varied methods, the objects both of praise and denunciation in the churches and out. But under influence of some of their abler professionals, their general image seems to have brightened, and their ranks increase.

Baptists list the biggest number of them, 900 evangelists, both preachers and musicians, up 200 per cent in 10 years, of whom an estimated 500 are in the business full time.

Ordinarily the evangelists function independently, without direct institutional oversight or backing, although many of the educated "new breed" have incorporated boards overseeing administration of their activities. Others, including many old-timers, operate on their own, financially and in booking schedules.

They run the gamut from highly trained, theologically astute preachers such as Presbyterian Leighton Ford and black Baptist Tom Skinner to little-educated "pulpit thumpers," with an eye on the collection plate.

They include showy spellbinders and also sensitive preachers, the high-paid and those who earn little. They depend mostly on the crowds they draw and number of conversions — their "track record" — for bookings by churches to conduct revivals.

"The First in all Banking Service"

Our town philosopher calls our church "God's branch office." He means no sacrilege because he is a very religious man. He puts into words the feelings that unite all Christians. Rituals may differ . . . doctrines may not always agree . . . denominational labels may seem to keep us apart. Still we share the wondrous knowledge that One Lord is the Savior of us all. There is no time when this bond of faith is expressed more vividly than on Worldwide Communion Sunday. In our little church about sixty of us will gather. Around the world there will be millions. Together we'll join in an experience that began on the eve of Christ's crucifixion. Be with us. BE WITH HIM.

$33,000 TEXAS STING
MONEY-MAKING MACHINE
MILKS WRECKING MAN
FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — It looked like a sweet deal.
"Then he rolled a $5 bill through these smelly chemicals and then he hit the bill on a short stick like a broomstick," recalled Wayne
Williams of suburban Kennedale.
"Then he dipped it in the chemicals again and when he takes the paper off the stick, then he's got another $5 bill. I actually saw that happen."
That was last week.
Then Tuesday night, Williams said, the three men returned.
"They came back with their homemade press and the white paper they had," he said. "I saw the $100 bills in his paper press and when he runs it, he's turning out $100 bills."
Properly impressed, Williams, 30-year-old wrecking yard operator, said he agreed to purchase the money-making device, and subsequently did so with $33,000 plucked from his bank box.
Men and money quickly vanished.
Some time later, Williams said, he realized he'd been duped. He noticed police. But he told them he'd been robbed at gunpoint by three men who threatened his life.
"The reason I told them it was an armed robbery was because I thought they wouldn't do anything about something like this," Williams told a reporter when the story came to light Wednesday.

SCHOOLS HAVE NO BLACK
TEACHERS
DALLAS (AP) — Three of the seven suburban school districts being considered for inclusion in a desegregation plan for Dallas public schools have reported they have no black teachers or school administrators.
Spokesmen for Highland Park, DeSoto and Duncanville schools made that statement Wednesday in joining Carrollton-Farmers Branch, Lancaster and Irving districts in submitting answers to questions presented by the plaintiffs in the Dallas school case. The seventh suburban district,
Wilmer-Hutchins, submitted its answers Tuesday.
The plaintiffs asked for information from the districts regarding their minority enrollment, number of minority teachers and pupil transfer policies.
The questions were asked after the plaintiffs raised the possibility of including the districts in the Dallas school desegregation suit.
U.S. District Court Judge
William Taylor ruled last month that the districts had to have answers filed by Oct.
1 so the plaintiffs could have evidence ready for Nov. 3 hearings.
In answer to a question about efforts made to recruit minority teachers, Highland Park said:
"The Highland Park School District attempts to recruit and secure the services of the best qualified personnel available without regard to their race, creed, sex or national origin."

Sun City?

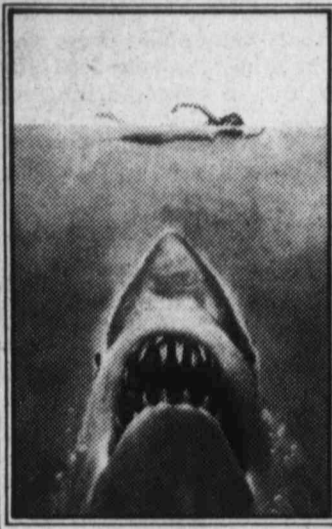

NEW YORK AP — Despite the fact that there are three cloudy days and two partly cloudy days here for every clear one, New York is one of the first cities where solar energy may be economically feasible. The price of oil and coal in New York City, according to Honeywell scientists, already makes it one of the few areas in the nation where solar energy — even at its current high cost — is competitive with fossil fuels.

Farah Reopens Its San Antonio Plant

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Farah Manufacturing Co. says it will re-open this month its slacks plant closed last February after a long, bitter fight with Amalgamated Clothing Workers over unionization. "At first we will re-hire several hundred, but we do not yet know the exact number," a Farah spokesman said. "We do not know when the plant will be in full operation. It depends on economic conditions." Farah had employed 1,000 at its San Antonio plant. There were no plans to reopen a second Farah plant here. Farah closed several of its plants during the dispute with the union during the early 1970s after a union-called nationwide boycott of Farah products cut into the companies operations. The company said the plant re-opening was prompted by "continuing demand for products and favorable financial results for current months." Farah, headquartered in El Paso, Tex., maintains five plants there and employs nearly 7,000. Farah began trying to reopen some of its plants after the union lifted its boycott when Farah acquiesced to union representation. Joe Saurez, manager of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, said his union is "very happy" about the reopening. "We will comment more in the future when we learn more details," he said.

Nuclear Power Plant Opposed

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The Department of Interior will decide soon whether a giant power plant for Arizona and California customers should be built in Southern Utah's picturesque desert country. The decision, expected within the next few months, will center on a plateau north of Lake Powell called Kaiparowits, a Paiute Indian word meaning "Mountain of the People." Three utilities — Southern California Edison Co., Arizona Public Service and San Diego Gas and Electric Co. — want to build an electrical generating plant that could produce enough power for a city of 1.6 million persons. The site is on federal land near the plateau's coal deposits. The companies say growing urban areas of Arizona and Southern California need the electricity to run their air conditioners, light their streets and homes and turn the wheels of their industries.

They say the Kaiparowits Plateau provides the right combination of coal to burn — some three billion tons — and nearby water for steam to turn the turbines. Opponents say the 3,000-megawatt plant would despoil wild areas with its stack plume, truckloads of supplies rumbling across Bryce Canyon National Park and 10,000-to-15,000 new residents. The region, with six national parks and a national recreation area within a few hundred miles, is accustomed to environmental controversy. Conflict arose before construction of Glen Canyon Dam created Lake Powell and, more recently, when the lake began flooding Rainbow Bridge National Monument, site of the world's largest natural bridge.

Other environmental complaints have settled on the triple stacks of the Navajo power project at Page, Ariz., which can be seen for miles approaching the dam at Lake Powell's southwest end. Utah officials and commissioners of the two rural counties that would be affected directly by the Kaiparowits plant are almost unanimous in supporting it. "All the economic factors are in the project's favor," says Gov. Calvin L. Rampton, who has championed the proposal on grounds it would provide some 3,000 jobs, with 5,800 more jobs in associated commerce. Rampton said at one of a series of hearings held in September in Utah, California, Nevada and Arizona that he believes a "great majority" of Utah residents want it built. He said a recent poll showed local acceptance of the project at above 90 per cent. Sponsors say the project would mean $28.9 million a year in additional property taxes and increase Kane County's payroll $103.4 million by 1986. But John McComb, Southwest field representative of the Sierra Club, says residents of Utah "are being taken."

"These power plants are being located in Southern Utah by default because the surrounding states have tougher regulation and because Utah is literally anxious to give away its resources," McComb said.

Road Rally For Scouts

Explorers from the Buffalo Trail Council, BSA, will be participating in a day-long Safe Driving Road Rally, Saturday, starting at 10 a.m. and concluding after a fish fry. The rally headquarters will be at the American Legion building in Odessa with the West Texas Sports Car Club conducting the rally for the Explorers, Dale Gorsuch, rally master. The rally starts with a rally school which is required of all participants even though they may have previously participated in another school. Also part of the preliminary procedure is a technical check of the vehicles which covers everything from the brakes to the correct operation of the windshield wipers. The check will be made by members of the Odessa Police Dept. Law Enforcement Explorer Post No. 55. The Permian Bass Club will host a fish fry at the conclusion of the rally, at the American Legion Hall, starting at 7 p.m. and the rally will conclude with the presentation of team trophies for first, second and third place winners.

Explorers Post 83 under the leadership of R. G. Hungerford of Odessa and sponsored by the Odessa American Legion is the host post for the rally.
