

A LIFE BELT IN BEIRUT — A Lebanese civilian falls in middle of a Beirut street, top, after being wounded by sniper fire today and is dragged to safety, bottom, hanging onto another man's belt. "Not a single street in Beirut is safe," the government radio said as street fighting between Moslems and Christians intensified in the Lebanese capital.

'Calm Day' Includes Kidnapings, Deaths

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — An American banker who fled the Beirut street war to Athens called a colleague in the Lebanese capital and asked, "How was it today?" "Pretty calm," the other replied. Among the happenings on that "pretty calm" Wednesday in Beirut: Two American Embassy employees — Charles Gallagher, 44, of Roanoke, Va., and William Dykes Jr., 50, of San Jose, Calif. — were kidnaped. Snipers in the downtown commercial district killed three persons, including an 80-year-old vendor of pocket combs. Five 81mm mortar shells hit the headquarters of the internal security forces, wounding three policemen. A sniper killed a policeman in the Moslem suburb of Chiyah. Three rockets hit the police station in the Christian quarter of Ashrafieh. Bodies were found in several areas, including one near the Gefinor Building where the offices of ABC News, Lockheed and a dozen other large Western corporations are located. Michel Barakat, a Christian, was kidnaped. Christian gunmen in retaliation kidnaped six Moslems riding in a taxi. Barakat was released. A rocket grenade smashed into the fourth floor of the Holiday Inn office tower. On the glassed-in porch of the St. Georges Hotel, Premier Rashid Karami, in a pearl gray suit, lunched with former Premier Abdullah Yafi, another prominent Moslem leader who is on the National Reconciliation Committee, and Christian publisher Ghassan Tuani, a member of Karami's cabinet. At another table, Raymond Edde, front-running Christian candidate for the presidency next year, sipped red wine and water over ice and chatted with Takiyeddin Solh, another former premier sporting a fez. The security forces are no match for the well-armed private Christian and Moslem armies. The government will not order the Lebanese army into action because the Moslems contend that the officer corps is pro-Christian. Moslem and Christian politicians cannot agree on a formula of political and economic reforms that will curtail the power of the Christian minority and enhance that of the Moslem majority.

Kidnapers Still Hold Irish Police At Bay

MONASTEREVIN, Ireland (AP) — Eddie Gallagher, one of two Irish terrorists holding Dutch industrialist Tiede Herrema captive on the second floor of a besieged row house, told police he wanted to give himself up. But the 19-year-old girl with him, Marian Coyle, refused to let him and Herrema go. "It looks like she's the tough one and she wants to see this thing through to the end," said one policeman. Police said they would wait the terrorists out. The siege continued in its third day, with Gallagher, the girl and their hostage barricaded behind mattresses in an upstairs room and police and armed soldiers occupying the ground floor. Gallagher's offer, made to Chief Supt. Lawrence Wren of Dublin's crime squad, was the first crack in his defiance. Wren told him he would make no deals, and Gallagher would have to bring Herrema down with him. But Miss Coyle refused to let them go, the police said.

Londonerry, Northern Ireland, and are militant Irish Republicans. Marian's sister Marlene is wanted for bombings in England, and Scotland Yard has termed her the "most wanted terrorist in Britain." Until today the 28-year-old Gallagher met every overture from the police with obscenities, refusing to surrender and refusing offers of sandwiches and milk despite appeals for food from Herrema. Water was available from a bathroom tap, but the trio apparently were without food. Searchlights illuminated the house through the night, and the besieging forces outside pitched tents for shelter. Occupants of neighboring houses sold tea and sandwiches from front-door counters. Authorities called in a psychologist to study conversations being monitored with a microphone shoved up a radiator pipe to the room where the 53-year-old captive was held.

Absentee Votes Interest in the Nov. 4 constitutional election quickened Wednesday when 18 voted absentee in the office, Mrs. Chloe Newton, chief deputy county clerk, said. This brings the total number of absentee votes to 42, including three mailed back. Yet to be returned are nine ballots mailed by the county clerk's office. Mailed ballots will be counted if they arrive before 1 p.m. election day, Oct. 31 is the last day for absentee voting in the office. Absentee voting is being done on paper ballots, but computer punch cards will be used Nov. 4.

It was the first confirmation of the girl's identity. Previously the police said they believed she was the other terrorist. The Coyle family lives in

Chinese Blast U.S., Russian Detente

TOKYO (AP) — The Chinese attacked Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's Soviet policy publicly during his visit to Peking partly to encourage forces in the United States opposed to detente, a senior American official said today. The official also said the Chinese concern over Soviet-American relations reflects a need of the current leaders in Peking to cement their position by acting firmly toward both Moscow and Washington. The official briefed newsmen on Kissinger's plane as the secretary flew to Japan after a five-day stay in the Chinese capital. Kissinger goes on to Washington Friday after telling Japanese officials about his talks with the Chinese. The official insisted that Kissinger's talks with Chairman Mao Tse-tung and Deputy Premier Teng Hsiao-ping were satisfactory and achieved nothing more nor less than was originally expected. He said the Chinese concern over detente is well known and that Peking's leaders said nothing to Kissinger this time that they hadn't said during his previous seven trips to China. Stressing that the Chinese and U.S. governments have enough in common to maintain a relationship, the official gave this outline of the Chinese attitude: —The Chinese feel they have reason to fear an attack from the Soviet Union. —Detente is a danger to China because it may weaken American resolve to resist Soviet expansionism and thus give Moscow room to work against Peking. —The Chinese also feel that Vietnam, Watergate and other problems of the U.S. government have weakened the United States and its ability to maintain a strong international commitment. The official said the Chinese have decided, therefore, to criticize detente publicly in order to bolster anti-Soviet elements in Congress. Kissinger is not particularly bothered by this attempt to interfere in American politics, the official continued, because it cannot disrupt American policy. The secretary of state reportedly told the Chinese that while his and their tactics toward the Soviet Union differ, their basic perceptions do not: both are determined to resist Soviet expansionism. Before his departure from Peking, Kissinger told reporters that the preparations for President Ford's trip to China next month, one of the chief purposes of his trip, "are proceeding well." The senior official said more exchanges are needed and that the announcement of the dates of Ford's visit will be made in the next few weeks.

The World At-A-Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's political advisory team wants him to cut back on his domestic travels and concentrate on taking advantage of his White House incumbency. That consensus was reached at the advisory panel's first meeting since Ford formally declared his presidential candidacy in July, one of its members said in an interview Wednesday. UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Security Council was expected to adopt a resolution today renewing the mandate of the U.N. Emergency Force in the Sinai buffer zone for a full year. The renewal period would be the longest since the peacekeeping force was established after the October 1973 Arab-Israeli war to separate Egyptian and Israeli forces in the Suez Canal and Sinai areas.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anti-trust lawyers at the Federal Trade Commission say the government lacks reliable information about who controls the nation's energy resources. In a 768-page study on development of coal, oil, natural gas and uranium deposits on public land, an FTC task force said, "At present, it is impossible to determine with any precision, who owns what."

'Gay' Will Fight For Right to Serve

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leonard P. Matlovich, discharged as a career Air Force enlisted man, says his fight for the right of homosexuals to serve in the armed forces will continue in the courts. U.S. District Court Judge Gerhard A. Gesell agreed Wednesday to meet the issue head-on and decide the constitutionality of military regulations that require the automatic discharge of LIFE OR DEATH TRIAL Question 'Beyond Doctors' Competence To Decide'

MORRISTOWN, N.J. (AP) — Calling Karen Anne Quinlan's current state "too grotesque to describe," a leading brain doctor today begged a judge to give doctors guidance in dealing with terminally ill patients. Dr. Sidney Diamond, professor of neurology at New York's Mt. Sinai Hospital, made the plea in testimony at a hearing on a petition by Miss Quinlan's parents for permission to remove the respirator that maintains her breathing. Miss Quinlan, 21, has been in a coma for six months. Diamond testified that Miss Quinlan is emaciated and has a respirator and feeding tubes hooked to her body. He added, "I'm sorry if the description causes any anguish to the family."

considered medically alive. Plum and Diamond testified for Daniel Coburn, a lawyer appointed by the court as Miss Quinlan's temporary guardian. The parents rested their case Wednesday after Julia Quinlan testified that her daughter would not want to be kept alive in her present condition. Meanwhile, the Vatican daily newspaper declared that Miss Quinlan should be kept alive as long as possible. The Quinlans, Roman Catholics, have been supported in their plea by their parish priest and diocese and have said they made the request because they had the church's sanction. Coburn's first witness, neurologist Dr. Eugene Loeser, testified Wednesday before Judge Robert Muir Jr. that Miss Quinlan has no chance of recovery. But he said she reacts subconsciously to noises and light and is alive "by any accepted medical criterion."

PHILADELPHIA PATRIOT SICK OF BICENTENNIAL

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — John Williams has already had his fill of the bicentennial, and it's not even 1976 yet. Williams' frayed nerves are the product of living history. He's a resident of Elfreth's Alley, the oldest continuously occupied residential street in the nation and a Bicentennial tourist's "must" stop. "Tourists will do anything they can get away with," says Williams. "Some will do things they can't get away with." The cobblestone alley and its 31 small brick homes — many dating back to the early 1700s and nearly all restored — is down the street from the Betsy Ross house and five blocks from Independence Hall. "We accept the fact that people will be interested in these 18th century houses and we get used to crowds walking up and down, but sometimes it gets ridiculous," said Williams, who has lived on the Alley four years. Among other things, visitors have peered through Williams' windows, pounded on his front door and demanded entrance. Some simply have walked through doors temporarily left open. The Alley's residents want local Bicentennial planners to institute some kind of crowd control. One home on the Alley has been restored and opened as a museum, but the others are private residences. Local planners have predicted that as many as 10 million tourists will visit the city next year. John Egan, another Alley resident, also has had problems with the crush of tourists. He says the type of visitor has changed. "In the past, they generally were more knowledgeable and less aggressive," explained Egan. "You could even chat with them without feeling used." But now, he said, "They're doing Philadelphia and we're just another stop on the tour." One day, says Williams, one of his neighbors was working outside when a woman walked up and tapped him on the chest, demanding, "Young man, are you trained to dispense information?"

BIG SPRINGERS FACE HIGHER RATES Will Table Plan To Change System Of Trash Collection?

By MARJ CARPENTER Mayor Wade Choate today outlined the procedure by which the council decided to approach a new system of garbage collection, which has apparently caused the ire of many citizens who do not want to change from the present system. Mayor Choate stated in a news release this morning that he had polled the council and that they agree that, at this time, the citizens who have contacted them do not want this change and are willing to pay a higher rate to continue the present alley pick-up system. The mayor said that he now plans to recommend to the council Friday morning that the current ordinance on the agenda proposing curbside pick-up be tabled and that the staff and city manager be asked to prepare a study and cost estimate on improving the present system.

The hearing at 9 a.m. will still be held at City Hall, but the council said they have already heard from many citizens through phone calls and letters and personal contact. This is the reason they will table action at this time. The mayor will also instruct them to come back with an appropriate rate ordinance to pay for these recommended improvements for the next council meeting in November. If there are then those who prefer front yard pickup to a rate increase, they also will have a chance to appear, but at this time council members have not heard from these citizens. NOT ONE PERSON The mayor pointed out that the request to change was not done by the city manager, as so many citizens seem to believe. He said that the council was requested in April by a committee of citizens to find a means of helping keep the city of Big Spring clean, to clean up the alleys, and to come up with better garbage collection service. This committee included Mrs. J. C. Pickle, Mrs. Edna Womack, Mrs. Tommy Hart, Mrs. Myra Robinson, Andrew Swartz, Ben Deanda, Fidel Saldivar, Mrs. Earlene Friarson, Rev. Johnny Mitchell, Leon Howard, Mrs. Polly Mays, Jim Gregg and Mrs. Paul Guy. After the council heard their request for a cleaner Big Spring, the mayor appointed Eddie Acri, Charles Tompkins and members of the city staff to study various garbage collection methods and to make a recommendation to the council for a more economical and reliable method of garbage collection to better serve the city. Both committees reported back to the council recommending the plastic bag curbside trailer system used by many cities successfully throughout the nation. The citizens committee studied three possible methods of improving trash collection including containerization, using paper sacks and using plastic bags. The latter was chosen because it was deemed by the committee as the most economical and most efficient operation, according to studies in other cities. A demonstration of the method was given here and attended by city councilmen interested in the study. If that was, and only then, that the staff was instructed to prepare an ordinance for public hearing to be presented at the next council meeting and that adequate publicity be given the citizens of the city so that they would be informed as to the planned change.

Story Blown Out Of Proportion

Critics of newspapers like to point out that most of the news emanates from the big cities because the wire services concentrate their attentions there and are prone to ignore or play down things happening in other places. They have a legitimate complaint.

A case in point is the Patty Hearst story in California, an adventure that has been sadly overplayed. Maybe I'm wrong but I don't think it ranks with the fall of Rome and Moses parting the Red Sea as news.

An army of reporters on the West Coast, who apparently don't have much to do, have been busy tracing down the most minute bits of information against the heiress and her travail.

There was a story there, true, and it should have been duly reported but it should have been kept in the proper perspective.

Attorneys for the state and attorneys for the defense, some of whom see a chance for personal aggrandizement and benefit, have added fuel to the flames in a matter that hasn't always brought credit to their profession. They seem to be trying to try the case in the news media rather than in a court of law.

The prime example is the government's release of transcripts of tapes of a conversation between Patty and friend Patricia Tobin, which a federal prosecutor said had been taped during a visit by Tobin to Hearst in the Redwood City Jail.

The transcripts purported to show that Patty was really a committed revolutionary and followed defense maneuvers designed to show that she was a victim who did not pose a "risk of flight" if freed on bail.

The proper place for such transcripts and tapes is in the court before the judge who is to decide whether Miss Hearst is to be released on bail. They do not belong in the media before they become a matter of public record in open court.

Not only were the ethics of releasing the tapes questionable, but the government could have added fuel to an almost certain contention by defense attorneys that prejudicial publicity has rendered a fair trial for Miss Hearst an impossibility.

The place for evidence is in court, not on television and radio and in newspapers across the nation. Hopefully, all will come out in Miss Hearst's trial or trials. But the case should not be tried before then.

Emotions Run High

Around The Rim

Marj Carpenter

Emotions run high on such life or death issues as where to put the trash. The hassle about whether to put it out back and pay more, or put it out front, is hot and heavy in the city.

We are forever wanting government to cut costs, but when they come up with an idea to cut costs, but also expect us to do something a little bit different we get kind of indignant. We want them to change their ways—not ours.

NEW YORK CITY has pointed out the fact that cities can go bankrupt. Big Spring like all other cities is struggling to operate in the black. The facts are simple. If the method of garbage collection is not changed, costs are going to go up and up and the increases will be placed on the garbage part of the water bill.

We all hate change. Personally, I am not that upset over whether to drag the trash out front or out back (or whether they stick it in their ear) if the cost just doesn't go up. Continued increases in various utility rates are disastrous to the working class.

They didn't pick my Christmas tree up until Easter anyway and it was out back. Maybe if it's out front, I can stick it in the ground and it will grow in that length of time.

Our whole lives have changed. We used to sit on the front porch and park out back. And now most people sit on the back patio or in the back yard and park out front. So if we change the direction of the trash, so be it.

Facts are that in the morning, the strong "aggrainers" will be at the meeting. But it's human nature that those who are for saving money, if possible, will probably not be there. Very few people come to public meetings and pound on the podium and say, "I agree with you."

Taxes cannot always cover the cost of services. If taxes covered water service, everybody would let their water run and we'd soon be out of water. BUT AWAY from that trashy subject and on to a more pleasant subject. I would like to commend those responsible for Homecoming and start with the football team.

If you missed the game and saw only the score, you are not aware of the effort of the Steers. With that kind of effort, they may move out of the loss column back into the win column while the Midland Lee Rebels are sitting around whistling Dixie and reading last year's press clippings.

The other Homecoming events were tops. The band put on a great splendid show and the class gatherings were fun all over town. The dance was a big success.

The Hall of Fame induction and other ceremonies were well-attended and well planned. The student council and Craig Fischer, the ex-students and Janet Rosson, the band and Bill Bradley and all others responsible conducted a great Homecoming.

But don't forget the team and the coaches. It was a mighty effort for that bunch to get back up and offer the crowd the kind of game they did Homecoming.

Usually I tell old tales in this corner, but indulge me a little further today. I've got so many things I want to comment on and about.

TO THE ANIMAL lover who came up to me trembling and shaking and asking why we ran that the Texas Longhorn should have had paint poured on him, I can only say that at the time I was talking to you, I really didn't think we had run that item.

However, that was an opinion in a column. Personally I would not want paint poured on any animal... not the Texas Tech horse or the Texas Longhorn or the A&M dog or the Baylor bear or any others.

I'm not even sure that animals ought to have to go to games as mascots and sit there and wonder, "What is mankind coming to?"

On Severeid

William F. Buckley, Jr.

The other night, listening to Eric Severeid's commentary on the news, I found myself being instructed on "the true catechism" of the right wing.

Here is what I heard him say: "Mr. Ford is daily reciting the true catechism of the right wing, i.e., disorder is worse than injustice; waste in social programs is worse than waste in the military; government regulations that both business and labor are all right; quick production has priority over saving the environment; inflation is worse than unemployment; street crime must be suppressed; white-collar crime will cure itself, or something; the free market place is sacred but so is the power of great corporations to freeze it by administered prices."

FOR SOME REASON, my mind travelled to an essay I had read a few years ago by Anthony Burgess, published when he was teaching literature at City College in New York. Professor Burgess passed along a student's analysis of Macbeth — so to speak, a student reciting the true catechism of Macbeth. It went:

"Lady Macbeth says she had a kid not in so many words but she says she remembers what it was like when a kid sucked her tit so I reckon she was a mother some time and the kid must have died but we don't hear no more about it which is really careless of Shakespeare because the real reason why Macbeth and his wife are kind of restless and ambitious is because they did not have a baby that lived and perhaps this is all they really want and S. says notin about it."

As between the two, I find the analysis of Macbeth infinitely more revealing. The difference, of course, is that Professor Burgess's student isn't invited on the CBS network to teach fifty million people the true meaning of Macbeth.

Consider the first of Severeid's phony disjunctions. Conservatives, he says, believe that "disorder is worse than injustice." That is like saying that women are better than streetcars. What is the relation between disorder and justice? It is a narrow relation: you cannot have justice and disorder—that is to say, they are incompatible. To say that, is not to prefer order to justice, anymore than to say that women ride on streetcars is to say that women are to be preferred to streetcars.

Conservatives, he says, "believe that waste in the military is worse than waste in the military." What does that mean? What Severeid is trying to say is that conservatives are more indulgent about waste in the military than about waste in social programs.

That's true: conservatives feel that if we finish off the century with one more aircraft carrier than we really needed, we will have erred on the side of safety. But conservatives feel that if we keep on multiplying social programs at the going rate, we will kill off the American ethos. That may be arguable, but it is not compressible in the Severeidian manner. Waste is waste. The problem is defining waste. Conservatives are impartially opposed to waste, even to the kind of wasted time generated by listening to Mr. Severeid maul orderly thought.

HE TELLS US that conservatives believe "government regulations that both business are awful but government regulations that aid business are all right." He is all wrong. I don't know a single American conservative opposed to anti-monopoly laws. Unfortunately, I know a lot of American liberals opposed to anti-monopoly laws for labor unions. I know an American conservative who fought AFTRA, and I know an American liberal who weeps about AFTRA but doesn't fight it. And so on.

One is reminded of a recent essay by Professor Lewis Feuer. "Who has ever heard that analysts of one network take issue with those of another? In politics it is taken for granted that the background of every politician will be scrutinized. The reality is that one class in American society, the newsmen, like the medieval church, still enjoys an immunity despite the fact that it is of all the political elites, the most continuous.

Rocky, The Expert

Nelson Rockefeller, the nation's vice president said something not long ago that should make students of government everywhere sit up and take notice.

The government is "over-promised and undelivered" was, in substance, the way he put it. That it is! Nor is there any point in looking past Rockefeller in the search for an expert in this field. He has quite a background in government, having served for 16 years as governor of the State of New York.

Mr. Rockefeller made a few promises himself he knew he could never deliver.

"We have met the enemy... and he is us."

Redistributing Wealth

John Cunniff

By TERRY KIRK-PATRICK (Substituting for John Cunniff)

NEW YORK (AP) — A 20-year-old plan for redistributing the nation's wealth has suddenly caught the fancy of corporate executives trying to raise cash or sell part of their company.

It's called ESOP — Employee Stock Ownership Plan. It allows employees to acquire free stock in the company they work for, while their employers can use it to borrow money at greatly reduced cost.

Although Louis Kelso, a San Francisco lawyer and economic theorist, has been advocating ESOPs for years, they were given only scant notice until Congress recently adjusted the tax laws to make them more attractive.

"It has caught on to such a degree that the queries have sort of inundated this office," said Wayne Thevenot, executive assistant to Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La. Long became intrigued with ESOPs after meeting Kelso and began promoting them with legislation.

The surge of interest has been accompanied by criticism, however. Some financial experts warn of hidden costs and say ESOPs are not ideally suited for all companies.

Here's how an ESOP works:

A company forms an ESOP trust, a legal set-up under which a person takes care of property for others, in this case the employees. The company gives shares of its stock to the trust, which then allocates them among the employees according to the amount of their wages.

Contributions to the ESOP are tax-deductible. Under a recent tax law amendment, companies can increase the amount of tax credit they receive for investment expense, if the increase goes to the ESOP.

"Anybody looking for an investment tax credit had to find out what it was all about," Thevenot said.

A variation on the basic model, and the purpose Kelso envisioned for ESOPs, works this way:

The ESOP trust borrows money from a bank and uses it to buy stock in the company. The company uses the money to expand its operations or cover current expenses, and periodically pays installment on the amount it received to the trust. The trust uses those payments to pay back its loan.

The bank gets interest on the loan, the employees get stock without charge, and the company gets money to expand. Essentially, the company has borrowed money from the bank, but it passed through the trust first.

The difference is this: a company repays conventional bank loans from after-tax dollars — meaning a company in a 50 per cent tax bracket has to spend $2 million plus interest to repay a $1 million loan. But the installments it pays to an ESOP come from pretax dollars, and thus it needs to raise only $1 million plus interest to repay the loan.

John Cunniff is on vacation.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir: Regarding the proposal of the City Manager and City Commission to force front yard garbage pick-ups upon citizens of Big Spring without any sort of democratic referendum, may I respectfully offer the following proposals for adoption instead:

1. Bring the matter to a fair vote by all householders concerned, either by setting up polling places and time (well publicized in advance), or by mailing ballots to every trash pick-up point in the city with provision for mailing back by a certain date.

OR

2. If City Manager and City Commission elect to adopt their own proposal without at least considering the wishes of the people of Big Spring, then expand that proposal to contain the following condition: "that before implementation of adopted proposal be allowed to begin, first, make it mandatory that neat, sunken, cemented garbage-can wells with heavy lids (impossible for dogs and cats to dislodge) be constructed AT CITY EXPENSE in front of every home concerned."

Expensive? Certainly. Perhaps even prohibitively so. But not so expensive in the long run as allowing even one of our individual rights to become eroded and displaced by means of dictatorial non-democratic practices on a local level.

And in our Bicentennial Year, at that!

But if we sit back and refuse to become involved, even to the extent of letting our sentiments be known to those hired and — or elected to transact our city business — then we deserve whatever we receive and should accept it without further complaint.

Water Essential For Athlete

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Are you supposed to have water just after physical exercise or after sports activities? None of my PE teachers has ever let us have water afterwards. I've noticed the same goes for horses and dogs — J.B.

This is an incorrect notion. A recent article in the Journal of the American Medical Association deals with ways to kill athletes. One is to deny them water.

There can be considerable water loss in great physical exertion, and this must be replaced. Water is important during and after the exertion, and thirst dictates the need in individual cases.

If you have watched professional football games, you undoubtedly have seen the man who has just returned to the bench after a particularly vigorous period of play reach for the water bottle.

I can't speak for horses or dogs, but I assume the same biological rules apply for them.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I'm a 14-year-old girl who gains weight very easily. When it comes to dieting I'm an "extremist." One day I'm eating food that's fattening, and the next day I'm on a crash diet. It seems senseless. I only get dizzy and weak.

Could you suggest a diet that's healthy and can make me lose weight fast? — D.N.

Rule No. 1. Check the weight-height chart to see if you really should be dieting at all. This sounds basic, but I've noticed in the volume of mail I get on this subject from young girls that much of the teen-age dieting going on is essentially unnecessary. And in young growing girls this can be dangerous.

You don't give me any statistics, so I can't tell whether this is so in your case.

If you are fat, you're adopting a pretty poor method of reducing.

Nice Ole Boys

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Coach Bob Strauss of the Democratic Party Football Team met last week with his assistants to discuss strategy for the All Star game in New York City next year which has been advertised as a benefit for the United States of America.

"ALL RIGHT," said Coach Strauss as he stood in front of the blackboard. "We don't have full squad yet, but we should have in a few weeks. Let's see. We have Bentsen of Texas."

"Nobody knows who he is," one of his assistants said.

"He's a nice ole boy," Strauss said. "Besides, I knew his daddy. Now we have Shriver of Maryland."

"Wasn't he McGovern's halfback in '72?" someone asked.

"Yeh," said Strauss. "He's a real nice ole boy. He's been suited up for three years, but he said he wouldn't play if Teddy was on the team."

"Is Teddy going to play or not?" an assistant coach asked.

"He's a nice ole boy," Strauss replied. "But he says he isn't going to play in the All Star game. All he wants to do is run for Massachusetts."

"How can we be sure of that?"

"CAN'T BE. But he's still the No. 1 draft choice for a lot of the fans. I've got a suit for him, a helmet and a locker in case he changes his mind."

"What about Jackson of Washington?"

"He's a nice ole boy and he wants to play in the worst way. He's been practicing every day. Trouble is the fans still don't know who he is. Now there's Jimmy Carter."

"Who's Jimmy Carter?" another assistant asked.

"He's a nice ole boy from Georgia. My wife knows his wife. He wants to play with Terry Sanford, a nice ole boy from North Carolina."

"We seem to have a lot of players from the South."

"They're all nice ole boys and they want to beat out Wallace of Alabama."

"Wallace of Alabama? How can he play in a wheelchair?"

"DON'T WORRY about ole George," Strauss said. "He hopes to make first string. If he doesn't he says he's going to have his own All Star game without us. That could cut into the gate something awful."

"I say he's a troublemaker and we should drop him," one of the coaches said.

"Aw, come on," said Strauss. "He's a nice ole boy if you don't take him seriously. Now let's go down the roster. I've got Harris of Oklahoma."

"Who?"

"Shapp of Pennsylvania."

"Who?"

"Udall of Arizona."

"Who?"

"Baylor of Indiana."

"I thought Birch didn't want to play next year."

"You have to be kidding," Strauss said. "He thinks if he had McGovern's position in '72 we would have won the Super Bowl."

My Answer

Billy Graham

I would like to know if Cain's offering was wrong because it was not a blood sacrifice, or was it the attitude of his spirit? I know that Christ shed His blood for the remission of sin. But I also know that God expects us to come to Him with a humble, submissive spirit. Please tell me which you think it was. M.K.C.

Cain was a "type" of the natural man of the earth. He operated upon the basis of his own reason, and not in obedience to God's command. His religion was of works, and not of grace. He depended upon logical reasoning, and not upon faith. Therefore his sacrifice was not accepted.

Faith, not works, is the basis of our acceptance with God. In Hebrews we read, "By faith Abel offered unto God a more excellent sacrifice than Cain, by which he obtained witness that he was righteous" (Hebrews 11:4).

Cain's sacrifice was not rejected because he brought fruit instead of an animal. Abel, by bringing a lamb, acknowledged that forgiveness of sin was all of grace, and that his own righteousness was inadequate. By faith he saw the Lamb of God dying upon the cross for his sin — and his righteousness was imputed — a gift of God — and not by his own sacrifice or efforts.

It is the cognizance of this great fact of grace which creates the right attitude upon our part. So, it is recognizing the source of grace (the right attitude), plus the recognition of God's sacrifice upon the cross, which brings favor and blessing from God.

A Devotion For Today

UNINJURED IN BOMB BLAST — Caroline Kennedy, 17, daughter of Jacqueline Onassis and the late President John F. Kennedy, appears on balcony of home of Conservative politician Hugh Fraser in London today to view damage after bomb exploded under car outside the home. The car, which was demolished, belonged to Fraser, a former British cabinet minister. Fraser said neither he nor Miss Kennedy was injured.

ONE DIES

Bomb Blast Leaves Caroline Uninjured

LONDON (AP) — Caroline Kennedy escaped injury today in a bomb explosion that killed one of Britain's leading cancer specialists.

The bomb blew up a car outside the house where Miss Kennedy, daughter of the late President John F. Kennedy, was staying. Her host, Conservative politician Hugh Fraser who owned the car, said neither she nor he was injured. Police said the 8:53 a.m. blast killed Prof. Gordon Hamilton Fairley as he was taking his poodle for a morning walk.

Seven other persons, including a Filipino woman who worked as a cook and housemaid for Fraser, suffered minor injuries.

Fraser and the 17-year-old Miss Kennedy had been planning to leave the house at about the time of the blast but a telephone call from a fellow member of Parliament kept them inside, Fraser said.

"Normally I would have been in the car when this happened but I was on the telephone," said Fraser, who in his public speeches has taken a tough stance against terrorism. The bomb had been placed under his car.

"There is no doubt it was meant for me — somebody obviously wants to blow me up," Fraser told newsmen and added: "I'm not surprised. I can think of a lot of people who would want to blow me up."

Miss Kennedy is living at Fraser's home while studying art at Sotheby's auction house. She was due for classes at 10:30 a.m., an hour and a half after the bombing, but a spokesman at Sotheby's said a member of the Fraser household telephoned that she would not attend today.

The bombing occurred in Campden Hill Square, a tree-lined area of elegant old town houses in the fashionable West Kensington residential district.

Police said one theory was that the bombing was in revenge for the life sentences given three Irishmen and an 18-year-old English girl on Wednesday morning at the Old Bailey Criminal Court for the killing of seven persons in the bombing of three pubs last October.

It was not clear, however, why Fraser would be a target for such retaliation. Home Secretary Roy Jenkins, whose ministry is responsible for the police and the maintenance of law and order, would be a more likely target, but he lives in Ladbroke Square, several blocks from Campden Hill Square.

Fraser is the estranged husband of Lady Antonia Fraser, the best-selling biographer of Oliver Cromwell and Mary Queen of Scots. Lady Antonia, the daughter of anti-pornography crusader Lord Longford, has been named correspondent in a divorce suit brought against playwright Harold Pinter by his actress wife, Vivien Merchant.

James Graham, a workman who was unloading scaffolding about 200 yards away, said, "I had my back to it, and suddenly I heard this terrific bang. A 10-inch piece of jagged metal from the car just missed me. Bits flew all over the street."

Chunks of metal from the car were scattered for hundreds of yards around.

The Anglican bishop of Kensington, the Rt. Rev. Ronald Goodchild, said he walked past Fraser's a few minutes before the bomb went off.

"I was at my door after collecting my morning paper," he said. "There was a very large explosion, and I saw a great pall of smoke."

Italian Poet Gains Nobel Literary Honor

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Eugenio Montale, poet of love, solitude and the Mediterranean who drew on the language of Dante in developing a unique style in modern Italian poetry, was awarded the 1975 Nobel Prize for Literature today.

He was cited for "his distinctive poetry which, with great artistic sensitivity, has interpreted human values under the sign of an outlook on life with no illusions."

Although Montale, 79, has not published a major collection of poetry in more than 20 years, he is regarded as the dean of Italian literature. He belongs to the so-called "hermetic" school.

Montale will receive a $143,000 prize beside the traditional gold medal and diploma. The prize will be presented by King Carl XVI Gustaf of Sweden on Dec. 10.

Three Americans had been considered possibilities for the prize. They were Saul Bellow, Russian-born Vladimir Nabokov and Norman Mailer.

With some of Montale's best works written in the 1920s and 30s, many critics thought his winning of the award was long overdue.

Montale's style is short and spare and stresses sounds, often rough and rasping, reflecting the character of his native Ligurian coast.

Although he once said, "they say mine is a poetry of non-belonging," his poems often show a strong sense of morality.

He once gave up an important literary position in Florence, rather than be numbered among Italian Fascists.

Montale was born in Genoa in 1896. His first major work was a Mediterranean collection, composed between 1925 and 1928, whose main poem is one of his most famous, "Ossi di Seppia" or "Cuttlefish Bones."

The awarding of the 1975 literature prize winds up the Nobel awards for this year. The other prizes given were for peace, economy, science, medicine or physiology, chemistry and physics.

UT Study Shows Small Cars Are Really Safer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Cars weighing more than 4,000 pounds were involved in 57 per cent of the accidents studied by a University of Texas team.

Small cars, under 3,000 pounds, were involved in only 13 per cent of the accidents in the study, which was based on a random sample of 1,204 Texas accidents.

Since 31 per cent of all registered cars in Texas are big cars, this means more than half of the accidents involved less than one-third of the cars. Twenty-one per cent of the registered cars are small, but they are involved in only 13 per cent of the accidents.

Intermediate cars, 3,000 to 4,000 pounds, make up 46 per cent of the car registrations and are involved in 26 per cent of the accidents.

Big cars also have a higher frequency of accidents in which fatal or serious injuries result than do small cars, said Professor P.L. Yu, an operations researcher in the General Business Department.

He got his data from the Texas Highway Department and the Department of Public Safety.

The frequency of serious or fatal injuries is slightly higher in small cars that are involved in accidents, the study shows, but the difference is "not statistically significant."

"It is true that when a

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thurs. Oct. 23, 1975 3-A large car collides with a small car, the latter is subject to a higher chance for serious injury or fatal accident," Dr. Yu said.

"However, when a large car collides with a large car, and the statistical probability of such a happening is about 60 per cent, the odds may become even, and the occupants of the large car may be subject to a higher chance for serious or fatal injuries," he said.

Accidents involving drunken drivers occur much more frequently in large cars, the study shows.

Dr. Yu offered some theories on why large cars are involved in a higher percentage of accidents, including having "less room to maneuver in a fixed lane width on highways

Psychiatrists May Suggest Hospitalization For Patty

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The opinion of court-appointed psychiatrists about the mental state of Patricia Hearst won't be made public at least until next month, but one report says they will probably recommend that she be removed from prison and hospitalized.

U. S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter postponed Miss Hearst's competence hearing until Nov. 4 while he awaits final reports from two psychiatrists.

Carter appointed three psychiatrists and a psychologist to examine Miss Hearst on Sept. 23. Since then, her competence hearing has been postponed three times because psychiatric reports were not ready.

Although the psychiatrists' opinions about Miss Hearst remain secret, the Hearst family has been vocal in its opposition to her hospitalization.

owned San Francisco Examiner quoted sources as saying the doctors are "apparently sympathetic" to the 21-year-old prisoner and would probably recommend that she be removed from the jail for psychiatric treatment.

Defense lawyers have suggested that Miss Hearst was "brainwashed" and otherwise mentally impaired after she was kidnaped in February 1974. Miss Hearst later said in tape recordings that she had joined her captors, the Symbionese Liberation Army.

Miss Hearst is being held on federal charges of robbing a bank in San Francisco and state counts of kidnapping, assault and robbery in Los Angeles. A trial date will be set after the competence hearing.

In Harrisburg, Pa., meanwhile, two reluctant witnesses again face jail for refusing to tell a grand jury what they know regarding the harboring of Miss Hearst in a Pennsylvania farmhouse last year. One target of the inquiry is sports activist Jack Scott.

U.S. District Court Judge R. Dixon Herman warned Scott's wife, Micki McGee Scott, 31, and Martin Miller, 28, that "failure to answer will put you in jeopardy of contempt."

In another development, police said guns found in the last hideouts of Miss Hearst and her SLA companions, William and Emily Harris, were not the weapons used to kill a Los Angeles police officer, a Union City police chief or a San Francisco prison reformer. The disclosures came after the FBI's Washington crime laboratory returned negative results of their ballistic tests comparing the seized weapons with evidence in the three murders.

Will Force Opening Beaches

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — A special task force, with instructions to sue if need be, has been created by Atty. Gen. John Hill to end beach obstruction in five parts of Texas.

Hill announced creation of his task force to assure the public right to the state's beaches in an address to the Galveston County Bar Association on Tuesday.

He said an assistant attorney general will be assigned to each of five areas: Jefferson and Chambers counties; Galveston County; Brazoria and Matagorda counties; Calhoun, Aransas, San Patricio and Nueces counties; and Willacy, Cameron, Kleberg and Kenedy counties.

The areas were chosen after two members of his staff flew the entire Texas coast, looking for illegal barriers to free access.

Task force members will locate obstructions, identify the owners and, if necessary, file suits under the Texas Open Beaches Act, Hill said.

CHANGE PATTERN — The no-left turn signs at the intersections of 3rd and 4th streets on Main will change the traffic pattern in downtown Big Spring. The signs were installed at the request of the city traffic commission this morning. It will cause many changes, including halting a practice of driving around the block at the courthouse.

Public Records SCS Providing Water, Soil Resources Data

Soil Conservation Service employees are increasingly called upon to serve environmental education as school site planners and conservationists, and as resource people-furnishers of information about soil and water resources.

This is the gist of an editorial by SCS Administrator R. M. Davis which appeared in the agency's August issue of "Soil Conservation," the official organ of the agency.

"SCS's nationwide conservation education program is leading the way in helping schools plans and use outdoor classrooms," Davis said. "Now, outdoor learning areas, providing such features as animal and plant identification, nature trails and soil and aquatic studies, are established in almost every soil and water conservation district in the United States. Many are designed with SCS and district help."

"The typical citizen today is confronted with a bewildering line-up of controversies over the environment. He receives conflicting information on practically every resource issue, being assured one minute that all is well and the next told that doom is imminent.

"On the basis of all the divergent reports the citizen must make informed decisions about the future of our resources.

"We are learning that helping teachers gain an understanding of conservation is an efficient way of reaching a large audience of future leaders and decision-makers," Davis said.

Facts relating to the environment and gained from years of actual conservation practice are also passed on by SCS district conservationists — to women's clubs, service clubs and scouts.

"Providing this kind of assistance is where districts and SCS can be of increasing service to all Americans. We cannot afford to shrink from our responsibilities in environmental education. There's too much at stake," Davis concluded.

Expert Predicts World Starvation

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A nutrition expert predicts "starvation on a nightmare scale" for the world unless major policy changes are made.

Alan Berg, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, spoke Wednesday at a convention of the American Dietetic Association.

Despite current bumper crops and good harvests over much of the world, the food reserve is no better than it was a year ago, he said. "This means that if there is drought and a poor crop in a year or so, mass starvation will be rampant."

Berg said inadequate world food reserves result from a lack of planning and too few nutrition experts at policy level positions in the U.S. State Department and other top agencies. He said nutrition must be part of broader policies concerning food prices and incomes.

The nutrition expert said the world food crisis was on everyone's mind one year ago and was reported almost daily in the nation's newspapers.

"But people now falsely believe that the problem has been solved," he said.

Board Okays New Bank

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Banking Board said today it has approved a new state bank in Houston, the Commonwealth Bank of Houston.

The bank will assume the deposit liabilities and occupy the premises of the former Astro Bank, Deputy Banking Commissioner Chester A. Baker said.

The bank will have a paid-in capital of $400,000, surplus of $400,000 and reserves of $200,000.

Walter M. Mischer Jr. and Dennis E. Murphree, both of Houston, are projected as co-chairmen of the bank. David R. Tripplehorn, Dallas, is president; Gus H. Comiskey Jr., Houston, as vice president, and James R. Treptow, Houston, as cashier.

Find Fossil

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP) — Three high school boys have discovered the fossilized remains of a lystrosaurus murrayi, a large lizard-like creature which roamed the earth about 150 million years ago.

The boys, Peter McQueen, 16, and Basil and Howard Mills, both 17, found the fossil on a farm owned by Colin Bowker in the Hofmeyr district of the Eastern Cape while on vacation.

Lion Country To Close

GRAND PRAIRIE, Tex. (AP) — The drive-through wildlife park called Lion Country Safari will close Nov. 2 and may never reopen, an official of the project says.

The owner of the park land has terminated the contract with the park's operators and has taken possession of the land for non-payment of rent and state property taxes.

The owner, GIFCO Properties, said it is cooperating with the city of Grand Prairie to find a new operator for the park by March 1.

If that fails, the company said, the animals will be sold and the park closed permanently.

Lion Country Safari, which opened in May 1972, is the third amusement attraction in the "Mid-Cities" complex between Dallas and Fort Worth to experience financial problems.

Senate Okays, House Delays Gas Price Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although the Senate voted to remove federal price controls on natural gas, the plan appears headed for the back-burner in the House.

The bill, passed by the Senate 58 to 32 Wednesday, would mean higher prices for natural gas, despite amendments aimed at softening and delaying the impact on homeowners. The administration backs the bill.

In addition to phasing out price controls over a 10-to-12-year period, the bill includes emergency provisions designed to avert a predicted shortage of gas this winter, which federal officials say could cost 500,000 Americans their jobs.

Reps. Harley Staggers, D-W. Va., and John B. Dingell, D-Mich., who handle most energy legislation in the House, have said they see no way the House will consider repealing price controls on gas this year.

However, House leaders have indicated they will seek approval of provisions to avoid an immediate shortage.

The House insistence on separate handling of the immediate shortage and long-term pricing policy would force the Senate and the Ford administration to back down and settle the pricing question later.

Four Eastern Republicans joined 28 Senate Democratic liberals in unsuccessfully opposing the natural gas bill. Only minutes before, on a 50 to 41 vote, the Senate chose the Republican approach over a Democratic proposal that would have treated the winter shortage but left federal price controls untouched.

Under the Senate bill, all controls on the price of "new" gas pumped from onshore wells would expire next April 4. Controls on "new" offshore gas would end on Jan. 1, 1981.

But as a result of an amendment approved Wednesday, the price of "old" gas would remain under federal controls forever.

That amendment has the effect of delaying for several years the price increases that otherwise would result if "old" gas were freed from controls as current sales contracts expire.

But even with that softening amendment, the Senate-passed bill would assure that within 10 to 12 years, there would be no federal controls on the price of any U.S. gas.

The Senate's proposal to avert a gas shortage this winter would allow gas-short pipelines serving non-producing states to buy surplus intrastate gas at prices not to exceed the highest price paid in the producing states this summer.

That price would range from $1.30 to $2 per thousand cubic feet — which is up to seven times what some pipelines now pay for gas. All this expensive gas would go to industries and other large users, leaving the 32-cent gas for homeowners, farmers and other small users.

Before passing the gas bill, the Senate rejected two efforts to break up the giant oil and gas companies.

By a 50 to 40 vote, the Senate defeated an amendment by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., that would have forced the largest oil producers to sell off their refineries, pipelines and service stations.

A 53 to 33 vote rejected a proposal by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., to force the 20 largest oil and gas firms to dispose of their holdings in other energy sources.

THEY KNOW THE ROPES — Two men try to lash the capsized No. 1 Shokoku Maru with ropes Thursday as crewmen of other fishing boats watch in waters off Pacific coast of Japan. The 14-ton fishing boat was overturned while working on a large fishing net. Seven of the 13-member crew were rescued but two others died and four are missing.

Trying to Hide? Congressmen Not Too Enthusiased Over Campaign Control Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress established the Federal Election Commission to monitor campaign practices, but lawmakers aren't showing much enthusiasm for some of the panel's suggestions.

Congress toppled the second consecutive FEC proposal on Wednesday as the House voted 257 to 148 to reject a rule that would have required all candidates for federal office to file their initial finance reports with the commission.

The vote dooms the regulation, as either house of Congress may veto a commission proposal. Last month the Senate rejected a proposed regulation that would have required members of Congress to count certain office funds against campaign spending limits.

In both instances, congressional critics maintained that the FEC had overstepped its bounds and was trying to impose stiffer controls on federal elections than Congress had intended.

In Wednesday's action, House leaders of both parties denounced the commission's regulation. They argued that the House clerk and Senate secretary should continue receiving original spending and contribution reports of congressional candidates and not give up this right to the election commission.

The proposed rule would have required the FEC to furnish microfilm copies of the campaign documents to the respective congressional officers. But opponents said such a measure would erode the power of Congress to keep originals of its own member's documents.

Democratic Leader Thomas P. O'Neill of Massachusetts and House Administration Committee Chairman Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, suggested that the proposed regulation violated federal election law. "I don't think the Federal Election Commission has any right whatsoever to pass regulations that break the laws of this Congress," O'Neill said in a floor speech.

Election Commission Chairman Thomas Curtis issued a statement denying either the letter or spirit of the 1974 federal campaign financing law which the commission was established to enforce.

He said the House vote could undermine the attempt to have one centralized location where finance records can be promptly made public and audited. "The commission is disappointed," he said.

Offshore Oil Leasing Unchanged At Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department has made no major changes in its policy on leasing offshore oil rights, according to coastal state energy officials.

At the first meeting of a new Outer Continental Shelf Advisory Board, composed of state and federal officials, department planners repeated on Wednesday Interior's intention to offer offshore leasing permits for areas in California and Alaskan coastal waters later this year. Both states had requested more time.

Similarly, there has been no change in Interior policies to accelerate leasing or to continue issuing single leases for both exploration and development. Some states have called for major changes in these areas.

Preble Stoltz, director of planning and research for California, and Guy R. Martin, commissioner of natural resources for Alaska, said they were disappointed by the decision to lease off their states and added that they might seek a court delay of the plan.

Huff Is In Front

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Defending champion George Huff leads the field of convict participants after three performances of the 44th annual Texas Prison Rodeo.

Huff, serving 10 years from Pampa, is scheduled to be discharged from the penitentiary here Oct. 27. His lead through Sunday's performance is based on his prize money winnings.

Huff won first place in Sunday's saddle bronc riding event before a sellout crowd of nearly 28,000 who jammed the prison stadium.

Approximately 64,000 persons have attended the three rodeo performances this year. The final show of 1975 will be held next Sunday when the special attraction will be country-western singer Dolly Parton.

A special visitor Sunday was O'Neal Browning of Dallas, a former seven-time champion of the Texas Prison Rodeo. Browning was paroled earlier this year.

Ivory Daniel of Bunkie, La., serving 10 years, won the opening mass scramble contest Sunday. In this event, 10 riders on bulls enter the arena at the same time. The first to reach the other end of the arena is the winner.

Bill Sheffield, a lifer from Kilgore, won the bareback bronc riding event.

Judges gave the nod to Clemison Luddington, serving 80 years from Bay City, in the bruising bull riding event.

Hughes represented the department at the advisory board meeting. Also in attendance were other federal officials and representatives of environment and energy planning agencies of 17 states.

Hughes said he did favor, in principle, a proposal to increase the flow of information on leasing between the states and the federal government. He also agreed to provide more copies of offshore environmental impact statements following a request by Glenn Paulson, assistant commissioner of environmental protection for New Jersey.

The next meeting of the board was tentatively set for early next year. It will probably be held in New Orleans so state representatives can visit Louisiana's already well-developed offshore petroleum facilities.

States represented at the meeting were Alaska, California, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Maine, Maryland, Mississippi, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Texas and Virginia.

Gov. Boren Plans Divorce

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Gov. David Boren and his wife, Janna, announced "with deep regret" today that Mrs. Boren is filing for a divorce on grounds of incompatibility.

Boren said he will not contest the action, which was filed today in Madill, Mrs. Boren's childhood home.

Boren, at 34 the nation's youngest governor, and his wife, 30-year-old Janna, had been married since 1968. They have two children, a daughter, Carrie, 4, and a son, Dan, 2.

The Borens made the divorce announcement in a joint news release and they declined further comment.

Wins Custody Of Boy, Girl

An 118th District Court jury Wednesday afternoon awarded custody of a boy and girl to Curtis Lee Allen Jr., Silver Heels Addition.

Allen sued his ex-wife, Glynda Mae Allen Kimble, Midland, for child custody.

District Judge Ralph W. Caton today dismissed prospective jurors who appeared for a second civil suit.

The plaintiffs, Mr. and Mrs. Morris C. Sneed, and Monroe and Kenneth Gafford doing business as Universal Body Works, the defendants, settled the claim for personal injuries.

COYOTES CHOMPING TOO MANY LAMB CHOPS? — Coyote is shown caught in trap in California Department of Fish and Game picture. The U.S. Department of Agriculture says a survey of some 9,000 sheep producers in 15 western states has produced results telling against the coyote. Producers said they lost 735,000 lambs and 230,000 mature breeding sheep last year to coyotes.

Coyotes Blamed For High Price Of Lamb Chops

WASHINGTON (AP) — One reason lamb chops are so expensive is that coyotes have been eating their fill before consumers have a chance at them, according to an Agriculture Department survey.

The department said Wednesday that coyotes killed 735,000 lambs last year, about 8 per cent of those born in 15 Western states. In addition, coyotes killed 230,000 mature breeding sheep in Western flocks, 2.5 per cent of the total.

The report, compiled by USDA's Economic Research Service, is preliminary and did not include dollar values of the losses. Richard S. Magleby, who wrote the report, said further details would be included when a final analysis is made next year.

Lamb losses were tabulated on the basis of reports from 9,000 sheep producers surveyed last January. Magleby said it was the first time that USDA has attempted to list specific causes of sheep losses on so large a scale.

The study was authorized by Congress and is related to a controversy over the use of poisons to control coyotes and other predators.

Three years ago, the government began steps which resulted in a total ban on various coyote control measures, including spring-loaded poison guns, bait and other methods used by stockmen for many years. The ban, adopted largely because of pressure from wildlife and conservation groups, caused storms of protests from producers that they were being literally eaten out of business.

The Environmental Protection Agency recently eased restrictions to permit the limited use of the so-called M-44 sodium cyanide gun by qualified people to help control coyotes.

Compared to the 735,000 lambs killed by coyotes, losses from all causes totaled about two million last year in the 15 states. The balance died from weather and disease or were killed by other predators such as foxes, mountain lions, wolves, bears, eagles and stray dogs.

States included in the study were Colorado, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Utah, Arizona, California, Idaho, Kansas, Nebraska, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Texas and Wyoming.

Bullock Didn't Report

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — While Comptroller Bob Bullock was telling Texans about his raids to collect delinquent sales taxes, he failed to inform them of his expenses, according to the man dismissed as manager of the comptroller's department office here.

Stuart Stoops said among Bullock's expenses were $375,000 for a jet plane and $50,000 a year for a publicity staff.

Stoops, manager at the Amarillo field office for 23 years, was one of a number of employees fired recently by Bullock.

An aide to the comptroller said the officer managers were removed because they failed to measure up to new standards set by Bullock.

In a televised interview here Tuesday, Stoops also accused Bullock of unfair hiring and firing practices. He said he had never talked to any members of a team which Bullock said was evaluating the work of field managers. Stoops added that only last June he had been recommended for a promotion.

ETSU FINANCIAL DIRECTOR 'NATURAL' AT SLINGING

COMMERCE, Tex. (AP) — The people who know Ronny Barnes told him he'd be a natural to enter East Texas State University's cow chip chunking contest.

"Everybody said we slung enough of it around the office, so I ought to be able to toss a little of it outside," he explained.

And Wednesday, with a toss of 100 feet, Barnes, assistant director of financial aid at ETSU, won the men's division of the annual National Cow Chip Chunking Championship.

Derylene Crawford, an ETSU staff member, beat out four other contestants to win the women's title with a throw of 75 feet.

For their efforts, Barnes and Mrs. Crawford were presented with plaques encrusted with a gold cow chip and a week-old calf, "which I'm bottle-feeding at the moment," Barnes said.

Mrs. Crawford, whose husband is offensive coordinator for the ETSU football team, isn't sure that her chip chunking title will do anything to advance the cause of women's athletics.

"I don't think they have a hall of fame for that yet," she said, laughing.

Does fame beat a path to the champion cow chip chunker's doors?

"Well, I haven't had any pro offers," confessed Barnes, "and I hope I don't get any, either."

The offers have been slim for Mrs. Crawford, too, not even for a guest appearance to explain her tossing technique to her husband's offense.

"I don't think he'll ask me — I threw underhand," she explained.

Firemen In Midland To Operate Ambulances

MIDLAND — City councilmen here have voted to purchase three ambulances, which henceforth will be operated by the city fire department on an emergency basis.

The ambulances, each costing $19,000, will be modular-type vehicles, van-like trucks each capable of carrying several injured persons at once.

The ambulance service won't begin for approximately six months. The purchase will be made with the cooperation of the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission on a federal grant which will pay 50 per cent of the ambulance costs.

The city is now paying Bill Thomas $18,000 per year for such service. Thomas, a one-time Big Spring resident who now operates Thomas Funeral Home here, says he will continue to operate an ambulance business even though the city "has entered into competition with him." Thomas, who admitted to a turnover problem on his staff, said his company had recently invested $50,000 in three new ambulances.

The city is about to start a program to train full paramedics to man its ambulances.

Thomas has been charging $45 for a transfer run and $50 for emergency runs. He added he had received no complaints about his rates.

Says Briscoe's Objection Stirred New Interest

By The Associated Press

Backers of the proposed state constitution say Gov. Briscoe's opposition to the document has stirred interest in the new charter and people are beginning to realize how good it is.

State Rep. Dick Geiger, co-chairman of the pro-constitution forces in Dallas, said Wednesday that what Briscoe did was "stir up interest in this election. People are beginning to look at it, and people who take time to read the new document recognize it is far superior to what we have now."

Geiger, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, State Rep. Ray Hutchinson and State Sen. Oscar Mauzy were in Dallas to campaign for the new charter.

Hobby said the movement in favor of the new constitution "is the most broadly based political movement I've ever been involved in."

Hobby said the two most important features in the proposed constitution are those that give the governor budget execution power and prohibit creation of any state debt except by vote of the people.

Opponents of the new charter renewed their charges that the proposed constitution would mean more money spent by the state legislature.

Newspaper executive Bill Todd of Austin, an announced candidate for the state legislature in 1976, said that "many legislators have proven that if you give them an inch at the public trough, they will take a mile."

Todd told General Land Office employees that the "latest example" of legislative spending was that of the 11 members of the House group that drew up impeachment charges against Duval County Dist. Judge O. P. Carrillo. He said they received $30-a-day expense allowances since last August.

"This type of fiscal irresponsibility certainly does not warrant our giving the legislature all the vast new powers it would have under the proposed new

BACK TO WORK — President Ford, who has cancelled his appointments since Monday due to a cold and slight fever, wears an open-collared shirt and sport jacket in the White House living quarters Wednesday as he meets with economic advisers. The Chief Executive has two appointments on his agenda for Thursday morning.

Ford Goes Back To Work After Cold

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is stepping up his schedule today as he gradually improved from a bout with a cold and sinus infection.

For the first time in four days, the White House issued a work schedule for the President. It includes Oval Office meetings with his Domestic Council staff and with energy administrator Frank Zarb.

Since Monday, Ford generally has limited his working time to meetings with staff aides in the White House family quarters.

On Wednesday, he started expanding his workload and met with Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller and briefly with economic advisers. He also took a brief stroll in the sunshine as he walked to the Oval Office for the first time since Sunday, to sign a few papers.

Ford also met Wednesday

Attorney General Nixes Settlement In Horizon Land Deception Lawsuit

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Hinting at collusion between attorneys for the plaintiff and the defendant, Asst. State Atty. Gen. Anthony B. Ching has urged a federal judge to reject Horizon Corp.'s proposed settlement of a class action lawsuit by lot buyers allegedly deceived by salesmen.

The settlement, proposed in U.S. District Court in Tucson, would permit dissatisfied customers to exchange their lots for others owned by Horizon. The Tucson-headquartered company also would be required to pay $250,000 in legal fees to the San Francisco attorneys of three lot buyers who initiated the suit.

Ching, chief of the attorney general's Economic Protection Division, wrote U.S. District Court Judge James Walsh Tuesday that the payment to the attorneys was disproportionate to whatever might be gained by lot buyers.

"Indeed, the facts here lead one to the inescapable conclusion that the attorneys, who had authority to negotiate for a settlement on behalf of only three in-

Illegal Alien Problem May Be Beyond Control

By OMAR BURLESON, M.C. 17th District, Texas

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The U.S. Government has a multitude of dilemmas of one kind or another and near the top of them is illegal aliens. No one can accurately estimate the number of illegal aliens in the country at the present time. Retired General Leonard F. Chapman who heads the Immigration and Naturalization Service estimates the number at about ten million and says the problem is "totally out of control."

Each year for the last several, something on the order of one million foreigners enter and remain in this country. The great majority are from Latin America but they come from all over the world in search of jobs and a better life. They are found in the cities working on construction sites and among the ranks of professionals. It is estimated that the payroll of working aliens runs to around $10.5 billion each year.

During 1974 Gen. Chapman reports that over 800 thousand aliens were apprehended but he doubts the surface has been scratched to deal with the problem.

Soon to be considered in the congress is a bill which attempts to treat this situation but it has many objections. The bill would impose penalties on employers who knowingly employ illegal aliens. At first there would be a $500 fine as a warning and then a $1000 fine with an option for the judge to impose a one-year prison sentence. The Attorney General would be empowered under this legislation to seek restraining orders against employers he believes are engaged in the practice of hiring such workers. As critics of this proposed legislation point out, other problems would be created. To begin with, the burden of enforcement to a large extent is put on employers. Law enforcement is a governmental function but this bill would require employers to find out whether those they expect to hire are citizens or illegal aliens. Every person of Latin American descent would be subject to scrutiny and questioning. It would place our own Latin American citizens under suspicion that they may be illegal immigrants. With the ease of forged papers an employer could be constantly under investigation.

Martin County Exposition Date

STANTON — Martin County's fair, an idea which came to fruition early, will be called the Martin County Bicentennial Agricultural Exposition. It is scheduled Saturday, Nov. 8.

Site of the fair will be the Martin County Community Building. It gets under way at 8 a. m., and continues until midnight.

Competitive events will include horseshoe pitching, washer pitching, and old fiddlers. Herb Sorley is in charge of entertainment at the exposition.

Reds Prove Supremacy

(AP WIREPHOTO)

VIKINGS STAR — Bryan High School running back Curtis Dickey gets some pointers from Coach Merrill Green during workouts in Bryan. The premier back has paced the Vikings in 4A competition this year.

WELL-COORDINATED

Bryan's Dickey Rated Faster Than OU Flash

BRYAN, Tex. (AP) — The Curtis Dickey Fan Club includes a loosely knit chapter of high school coaches whose careers have been placed in jeopardy by the sometimes bullish, other times waterbug runs of the Bryan High School senior running back.

Each club member has paid his dues in losses to the Viking football team, currently ranked No. 1 in Class 4A of the Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll.

There are no formal club meetings. Primary functions of the club are to occasionally exchange Dickey Horror stories and to supply superlatives upon request.

Examples:

"He reminds me of a bigger, faster Joe Washington (Oklahoma All-American). If there's a better running back in the nation, I'd like to see film on him. He's the most versatile back I've ever seen." (Coach W. T. Stapler, whose strong Conroe team lost to Bryan 28-15 in the second game of the season.)

"He's the best back I've ever tried to defend and I've been in the business 24 years. Some track men don't make good football players because they're afraid to get out of their lane. Dickey has speed and he can put some moves on you." (Coach Gene Rogers, whose Killen Kangeroos lost to the Vikings, 28-14.)

Dickey, a well-coordinated blend of strength and speed, likely will be the No. 1 plumb college recruiters seek when the recruiting seasons begins.

The 6-2, 180 pounder is averaging 6.4 yards per carry and 115 yards per game through six games this season. He's scored 15 touchdowns, including one on an 80-yard kickoff return in a 62-6 victory over Cleburne last week.

Another segment of Dickey's fan club includes his head coach at Bryan, Merrill Green, and the scores of college recruiters who visit Green's office to watch Dickey on film.

"We coached Dorny Anderson at Texas Tech and Lance Alworth at Arkansas," the well-traveled Green said. "This may sound silly to say, but Curtis Dickey is a combination of both of them." He's got the strength of Anderson and the acceleration of Alworth.

For all the excitement Dickey has created since joining the Bryan varsity mid-way through his sophomore year, Green says Dickey's greatness wasn't immediately recognized.

"He didn't have that great of a junior high career," Green said. "We'd heard a lot more about Mike Davis, the quarterback. When it

BOSTON (AP) — For several years, the Cincinnati Reds have been thinking like world champions... and almost playing that way. Now they've finally got the hardware to prove their supremacy.

After a fistful of agonizing frustrations, the Reds took care of that matter Wednesday night by beating the Boston Red Sox 4-3 in the finale of the exquisite 1975 World Series.

"We went to the Series in 1972 and thought we were the best team and were beaten by the Oakland A's and then we lost in the playoffs to the New York Mets in 1973 and thought we were the best then," said Joe Morgan, who got the game-winning hit with two outs in the ninth inning Wednesday night.

"Until we prove it on the field, we're nothing," Morgan added. "Now I can go home and say, 'We're the best.'"

The dramatic victory, won in Hollywood style on Morgan's single, not only gave the peppery second baseman a flag to wave but did wonders for Manager Sparky Anderson's psyche.

Before winning the tense seventh game in the hostile atmosphere of Boston's colorful old Fenway Park, Anderson had been discredited for not winning big games. His failures went back to the 1970 World Series, when the Big Red Machine was steamrolled by the Baltimore Orioles in five games.

Then, after running away with the National League pennant in 1972, the Reds and their supposed superiority were defeated by the A's in seven games. In 1973, the Reds won the NL's West Division but were taken in the playoffs by the upstart Mets.

For a change, Lady Luck had a kiss rather than a slap in the face for the Reds.

The notorious Cincinnati machine had roared non-stop to the West Division flag, winning an amazing 108 games. The Reds were especially wicked at home, winning a record 64 games. When they won the NL playoffs by beating the East Division's champion Pittsburgh Pirates in three easy games, it was only natural for observers to think "National League superiority" in the World Series.

The Boston Red Sox, in the championship round for the first time since 1967, were truly a Cinderella team. In preseason prognostications, the Red Sox were not even picked by most to win the East Division, let alone the American League pennant.

But at the end, the Red Sox were there, thanks to the best crop of rookies in recent major league seasons. Fred Lynn and Jim Rice led the Boston charge through the East. And the Red Sox raised even more eyebrows when they took three straight games from the three-time defending world champion

As in the AL playoffs. With their awesome record behind them, the Reds had every right to play the favorite's role in this World Series — and accordingly were granted that honor by the odds-makers.

However, Anderson must have been chilled by ghosts of Series past after Luis Tiant, the Cuban superman, beat his team 6-0 in the opener. Tiant had life in his arm that day and the Reds had no life in their bats, manufacturing only five hits while the Fenway Park faithful cheered, "Loo-ee, Loo-ee!"

Coahoma 'Dogs Realize Ballinger Can Be Beat

BALLINGER — Bearing in mind Ballinger can be beaten, Coahoma will be out to achieve that feat against an undefeated eleven which is ranked third in AA circles here at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

The Bulldogs, 4-3, riding the crest of a three-game winning streak, are planted in first place in the 6-AA race with a 3-0 sparkling record, with Ballinger, one step behind at 2-0.

For the season, Ballinger has withstood all challenges thrown up by six opponents. The closest winning margin for Ballinger was with Hamlin last Friday, 20-13.

The Coahoma-Ballinger winner will no doubt hold onto the district driver's seat.

Last year, Coahoma lost a much disputed 12-6 decision to Ballinger based on an official call on the last Bulldog play of the game. A TD which would have given Coahoma the win was ruled a trapped ball and incomplete.

Charles Lynch, Coahoma head coach, believes the Ballinger game will be won on which team receives the most breaks.

Coahoma tacked up its third 6-AA win last Friday, melting Winters, 37-8. The Bulldogs hit the scoreboard in every quarter but the fourth. Ken Kelso led Coahoma point makers with a pair of TDs followed by single efforts by Gary Roberts, Charles Tindol, Tim Higgins and Jim Bob Phillips.

Lynch gave special practice attention this week to extra point kicking featuring Ricky Patterson. The Bulldog director said Ricky has a strong leg, but work has been devoted mainly to getting off quick and accurate kick snaps.

Lynch said Coahoma will have to lower considerably its 100-yard penalties assessed them against Winters in order to stay up with Ballinger. "Ballinger is always tough at home," he added.

Ballinger returns eight seniors on both offense and defense from a 9-1 co-champion record last time around. The home eleven has an explosive backfield with quarterback Jody McQueen calling the shots.

Ballinger delights in using on offense two tight ends made up with a wishbone backfield. The hosts are not considered a throwing team. Lynch feels in order to contain Ballinger, Coahoma will have to throw.

Speedy fullback-linebacker Tim Travis rates heavily in Ballinger's potent point corps. He was all-state on defense last year.

Forsan Sights-In On Sterling City

FORSAN — With its long dry spell over, Forsan will be working on win No. 2 when they shake hands with sturdy Sterling City here at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

The Buffaloes, losing five in a row, crushed Loraine last Friday, 26-0, while Sterling City whitewashed Hawley, 23-0.

Sterling City stands 2-1 in 1-B and 3-3 over-all while Forsan is 1-2 and 1-5.

Against Loraine, Forsan was led by running back John Medlin, who rushed for 176 yards in 19 carries and two touchdowns. His statistics resulted in more than half of his team's total offense.

Angel Miranda and Hank Adams also scored a touchdown apiece for the Buffaloes in their first win of the season.

Jeff Copeland led Sterling City past Hawley as he scored four touchdowns. Eagle extra points were made by Kenneth Gaston and Ross Hord.

Ballinger returns eight seniors on both offense and defense from a 9-1 co-champion record last time around. The home eleven has an explosive backfield with quarterback Jody McQueen calling the shots.

Ballinger delights in using on offense two tight ends made up with a wishbone backfield. The hosts are not considered a throwing team. Lynch feels in order to contain Ballinger, Coahoma will have to throw.

Speedy fullback-linebacker Tim Travis rates heavily in Ballinger's potent point corps. He was all-state on defense last year.

Back Home in Lamesa Tors Desire To End Frustrating Season

LAMESA — In an effort to turn around a frustrating season, and give more players the opportunity to develop, Lamesa Head Coach Tom Koger said he would utilize 22 players in the District 3-3A game against Brownfield here at 7:30 p.m., Friday.

For the season, Lamesa is 0-3 in the district and 0-6-1 over-all and Brownfield, 1-0 and 3-3.

The Tor headmaster, intent on turning the tide of setbacks, said the two-way performance is "out." Both teams are equipped with an explosive offense and a stingy defense.

Brownfield will be led by Randy Rozean at quarterback and Scott Jackson at fullback. The Cubs also feature interesting prospects in tight end Jerry Sullivan and split-end Robert Leopold.

Cub talented linemen include Ishmael Garcia, Chip Law, Matt Jones, Mike Sanders and Mike Murphy.

Lamesa will be without the services, for the third week in a row, of Anthony Manuel. He broke his hand and is not expected to be back in pads for another week and a half.

Riley Nix will be seen in Golden Tor uniform after being forced to the sideline the second half with Dunbar.

UNITED STATES Gold Medal Champs

(AP WIREPHOTO) HUCKLEBY TURNED LOOSE — Harlan Huckleby, 17-year-old freshman tailback at Michigan, is technically a third stringer on Coach Bo Schembechler's Michigan team. But last Saturday Huckleby was turned loose in game with Northwestern. He rushed for 157 yards and scored two fourth quarter touchdowns. At Cass Tech in Detroit the 195-pounder scored 21 touchdowns during the season in 1974.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — "This is the first thing I've ever won besides a league title," said Coach Marv Harshman a little nostalgically. The veteran of 30 years of college coaching, now at the University of Washington, watched proudly Wednesday night as the cinderella group of young U.S. college players he and two assistants had put together rolled over Cuba 94-78, clinching the VII Pan American Games' gold medal in men's basketball. "Our kids wanted to prove they were better than the U.S. had looked in previous international competition," Harshman explained in a happy dressing room. "We were tight in the first of the game because we wanted it so bad. "But we must give Cuba credit. They know the game." The game, though in the hands of the Americans from the beginning, was cleanly officiated, well played and a model of good sportsmanship throughout. "I'm thankful for that," said Harshman, alluding to past violence in U.S.-Cuba encounters at this edition of these quadrennial western hemisphere games. In comparison with Wednesday's action-packed schedule, today's lineup, with finals in a wide assortment of sports, seems a little tame. Headlining the activity should be the United States swimmers, who are methodically wiping out almost every Games record and collecting fistfuls of medals in the process. Less fortunate Wednesday was the United States baseball team, which lost an unpopular 4-3 decision to the Cubans, who can now finish no worse than a tie for first in the sport's round-robin tournament. Bespectacled Rick Clopton, Waco, Tex., was nearly ejected midway through the game when he offered his glasses to plate umpire Efraim Ibarra of Mexico after a strike was called on a low-looking pitch. "That guy was the 10th Cuban player," Clopton snorted later, many of his teammates in apparent agreement. That wasn't the only colorful aspect to Wednesday's schedule. A young Canadian diver, Linda Cuthbert, flushed with red when — as she was describing on live national television a replay of one of her best dives — she noticed the special underwater cameras had explicitly caught her swimsuit slipping to her waist. The strap around her neck had broken as she entered the water. For her efforts, however, she at least wound up with the bronze medal. Her countrywoman, Janet Nutter, meanwhile upset World Champion Janet Ely, Richardson, Tex., in the platform competition. But in the other five aquatic events Wednesday, Americans swept the gold medals and set records in three.

Richard Long scored for five TDs and Joe Zant passed for six and ran one over for the winning Coyotes. Norwin Bingham bounced across the end zone for Garden City's only TD on a 36-yard run. Steers Out To Stop Lee Rebe Charge

By CLARK LESHNER MIDLAND — With the series squared off to a 1-1, Bob Burris would like to go one up on Midland Lee in his tenure at Big Spring when the two 5-A teams collide here at 8 p.m., Friday. Burris' luck with the Rebels has been on their home field, winning two years back, but dropping a 27-7 count in Big Spring last year.

playing both ways, works out of the slot, somewhat strange to Burris this season, though power-sweeps similar to Permian's will be noticeable. The Rebels, who run first then throw second, have a top thrower in David Hobbs. In 5-A statistics, he has attempted 35 passes, completed 15 for 235 yards and two TDs. Moore, though, stands ahead of Hobbs, completing 26 of 77 for 374 yards and four TDs. Lee boasts excellent speed in tailback Clyde Gary and super speed in receiver Robert Johnson. Bobby Humble, 200-pound fullback is quick and can hit the hole hard. Gary and Humble are the Rebels leading ground gainers, rushing for an average of 5.8 and 5.0 yards per carry. Doss is Big Spring's leading bull-dogger, averaging 4.6 per try on the ground. The Cooper win over Lee was contributed to the Cougars fast start, driving for 26 points the first half. Lee had to wait until 3:59 in the third to get on the scoreboard and added 14 more in the last stanza. Cooper hit Lee for seven more points the final period.

LONG SCORING PLAYS

RUSHING — Shapiro, Odessa, 68 yards against Lee; Woodard, San Angelo, 63 yards against Lee; Gary, Lee, 62 yards against Odessa; Ward, Midland, 61 yards against Abilene; Allen, Cooper, 59 yards against San Angelo.

PASSING — Gill to Williams, Cooper, 63 yards against Odessa; Widner to Ward, Midland, 55 yards against Big Spring; Moore to Spears, Big Spring, 50 yards against Midland; Moore to McMurry, Big Spring, 40 yards against Midland; Hobbs to Johnson, Lee, 39 yards against San Angelo; Jones to Felts, Abilene, 36 yards against Permian.

The Rebels, district defending champions, have gone through a drought period along with Big Spring, unable to win in their last two and the Steers, counted out four times in a row.

For the record, Lee is 1-2 in 5-4A and 4-2 over-all and Big Spring, 0-3 and 2-4.

Last Friday, Big Spring fell to state-ranked Permian, 27-0 and Lee had the gate shut on it, 33-20, by Cooper.

Big Spring defended gallantly the first half with Mojo, granting only seven points to cross the scoreboard. But the Steers were outmanned in the last half with Permian picking up 20 more points.

Mark Moore, Steer quarterback, who would like to prove to fans that he is all-state material, could only come up with 86 net yards, eight of 25, from Permian's tightly constructed shield.

Burris will have a healthy team to throw at Lee with Joe Milloway back in uniform after a three-week absence from a broken jaw.

The Steer starting lineup on both sides will remain intact except for Frosty Reynolds replacing Steve Ruiz at right guard. Ruiz, though, will be summoned to the playing field often.

Though kept scoreless with Mojo, split-end Ken McMurry still leads Big Spring in points scored, 24. Lee, listing four starters

Rated 1-B Teams Meet

DAWSON — Again two teams with 'spotless' 1-B records meet here at 8 p.m., Friday, this time Dawson and Klondike.

Both are 2-0 in district standings. Dawson is undefeated for the year 7-0, while Klondike has been defeated up once in seven games.

Last Friday, Klondike clipped Wellman, 32-12 and Garden City dropped a 55-8 decision to Dawson.

Ricky Singleton's four touchdowns and Randy Airhart's two pass interceptions aided Klondike in its victory over Wellman.

Staff Coverage Lists 6 Games

The Herald will increase its staff coverage of area high school football games to six Friday compared to five last week. Three home contests concern six area schools. SECOND SEASON World Football Finally Folds

NEW YORK (AP) — The World Football League became terminally ill in the fall of 1974 as some teams falsified attendance figures, some lied to the public, and most defaulted on player payoffs. A year later the patient died, unable to overcome the image it forged.

The television moguls weren't interested. The Joe Namath couldn't be bought. Respectability and credibility — the WFL's biggest enemies — were distant. And, most important, the people of the WFL's cities demonstrated almost unanimous apathy.

With its revenues weak, with $10 million already lost, with predictions that it might take $40 million and two years more to make any progress, there was really nothing else for the WFL to do.

And so a professional league was folded Wednesday, beginning what many believe will be a trend away from the rampant sports' expansion boom of the late 1960s and early 1970s.

Chris Hemminger, the Hawaiian millionaire who singlehandedly rescued the WFL from the ashes of its first disastrous season, reorganizing with new owners and a new financing concept, made the announcement.

"Our decision not to proceed is due primarily to our collective inability to penetrate markets in WFL franchise cities," he said. Translated, that means the WFL's dismal average crowds of 13,370 — its only

District 5A Powers Collide At Stanton

STANTON — When the Stanton Buffaloes and Seagraves Eagles collide on the gridiron here Friday night at 8 p.m., something will have to give, and the team that comes away with the victory should have the District 5-A title cinched.

Seagraves is ranked as the number one Class A football team in the state and is the defending 5-A champion, halting the Buffaloes 30-22 last year, in a game that decided the district championship even though it was the first loop game for the SHS squad.

The red team is coming off two consecutive losses, dropping games to Wall and McCamey, two of the toughest teams in West Texas. Stanton was in both games, falling to Wall after a long punt return for a touchdown, and missing on a couple of two-point conversion attempts versus the Badgers.

Coach Bob Richardson is confident, however, that his team will be ready for Seagraves. "I think we will play a good game. It will take a super effort from our kids to defeat Seagraves, but I think they're capable of it. All they've talked about is Seagraves since they squeaked by us last year," he said.

According to the scouting report, Seagraves has no weaknesses, featuring a well-balanced offensive attack and a defensive team which has given up only 15 points in seven games to date.

Seagraves is undefeated, but has not played the caliber of teams Stanton has met on the grid field. While the Eagles have been meeting Class A and Class B squads, the Buffs have played Class AA and A teams. "We will need to keep the ball away from Seagraves as much as possible in order to win. They're so quick and their backs are so fast they can score on any given TOGETHERNESS — Kicker Bobby Richardson, holder Gary Hanson and center Alan Douglas will be a part of the Buffalo pack that has high hopes of knocking off number one-ranked AA Seagraves at Stanton Friday night at 8 p.m.

WALLACE TALKS TO THE TROOPS — Gov. George Wallace of Alabama talks with a group of soldiers from Alabama, members of the U.S. Army's Berlin Brigade, during his visit to Berlin Wednesday.

Court May Test Extent Of Governor's Power

AUSTIN, Tex. AP — The Texas Supreme Court has agreed to hear a test case involving a $2,500 state debt that might clarify the extent of Gov. Dolph Briscoe's veto power.

University of Texas regents filed the suit to force State Comptroller Bob Bullock to pay the money to Jessen Associates, Inc., an Austin architectural firm.

The court Wednesday set oral arguments for Nov. 5. Bullock had refused to issue a state check to Jessen based on a UT voucher for preliminary cost studies for a $10 million addition to the law school.

"This might appear to involve only $2,500, but the fact is that millions are at stake," former State Bar president Thomas Phillips of the Houston law firm of Baker & Botts, who represented the regents, told the court.

"The regents need guidance and so does the governor, the comptroller, the state treasurer, other state agencies and the governing bodies of all state universities," said Phillips. The hearing was opened to the public because of "the interest of the press and other people," said Chief Justice Joe Greenhill.

Normally, a hearing on a motion to file a petition for mandamus is considered in the judges' chambers.

"You may ask why we are seeking this extraordinary remedy for a simple debt," said Phillips. "The answer is there is no other remedy."

In rejecting the voucher, Bullock cited Briscoe's veto of a general appropriation bill rider that authorized UT to fund 15 specific projects, including the law school addition.

Bullock also said UT had not complied with another bill approved by the 1975 legislature that requires state-financed colleges to get the approval of the Texas College Coordinating Board for all construction.

Phillips contended that the governor could not veto language in the appropriations bill that merely offered guidelines for the use of state money. Coordinating board approval was not required, he said, because the legislature itself, through the rider, specifically authorized the construction projects.

To veto the 15 projects, Phillips argued, Briscoe would have had to veto the total university appropriation or the entire state budget.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert Heath said the rider was a specific appropriation and could be vetoed under the governor's power to veto specific items.

He said the proper procedure for the university would have been to ask the legislature for permission to sue the state for the $2,500 rather than ask the Supreme Court for a mandamus.

"The law school can be built," Heath said. "All that is necessary is to get coordinating board approval."

The nine justice deliberated only five minutes before Greenhill announced they would hear the suit.

More Than 20 Million Americans 65 Or Older

AUSTIN — In the United States one in 10 persons is 65 or older, totaling more than 20 million. It is estimated that the total will be almost 30 million by the year 2000.

Addressing the situation of an increasing older population, The University of Texas Hogg Foundation for Mental Health recently published a packet of four brochures on aging.

"Aging is Becoming" by Dr. Bernice Milburn Moore stresses the importance of participation in life from birth to death. The author says that "... we who continue to 'become,' we who continue to grow, to change, to adapt, to escape the devastation of senility."

"An American Problem" by Mrs. Bert Kruger Smith speaks to the middle-aged person who has responsibility both for elderly parents and almost grown, but still-to-be-educated, children. The author offers practical advice on how that person in the middle may remain whole by sharing the responsibilities between the three generations.

"Ready for Retirement?" by Dr. Robert H. Felix provides a checklist for persons preparing for retirement. The brochure serves as an aid in thinking through problems which may be encountered on retirement, such as finances, housing, and part-time or volunteer work.

"Mental Health in Nursing Homes" by Mrs. Smith examines the problems and advantages of nursing homes. The goals of involvement, relatedness and hopefulness are emphasized as necessary conditions to providing mental health in and out of nursing homes.

Single copies of the brochures are available on request. For further information, write Publications Division, Hogg Foundation, P.O. Box 7998, University Station, Austin, Texas 78712.

Guy Bell Hospital Fund Plans

Dr. Martha L. Brunson, chairman of Southwest Texas State University's Department of English and Philosophy at San Marcos, has announced the incorporation of the Guy Bell Hospital Fund through the university accounting office.

Bell, an SWT graduate English student from Big Spring, is the victim of a crippling accident which occurred in an area lake last Aug. 31.

He dived onto a boulder, breaking his neck and severing his spinal column. Until Friday Oct. 17, he had been under intensive care at Brackenridge Hospital in Austin.

On Friday, he was moved to the Texas Institute of Research and Rehabilitation in Houston. Bell's student insurance policy had expired at the time of the accident, and subsequent expenses have led to enormous debts.

Although he is paralyzed from the neck down, he recently has been able to breathe without mechanical assistance for a short period of time.

Contributions to the fund may be made at Flowers Hall, room 309. A receipt will be given to those making donations. Checks should be made payable to the Guy Bell Hospital Fund.

Bell would appreciate receiving letters and cards; his mailing address is the Texas Institute of Research and Rehabilitation, P.O. Box 20095, Houston, Texas, 77025. Additional inquiries may be made of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Bell, 512 Washington, in Big Spring. Their phone number is (915) 267-6766.

Manslaughter Count Filed

SNYDER — Gary Lee Free, 20, of Snyder has been charged before Snyder Peace Justice Bobby Goodwin with involuntary manslaughter in connection with the Sunday morning vehicle accident which killed Norma Kay Fraley, 16, a Snyder High School student.

Free was injured in the car-truck crash. The mishap occurred on the northwest side of the courthouse square in downtown Snyder.

Time Changes At Klondike

KLONDIKE — School board members announced classes for junior high and high school would begin at 8:15 a.m. effective Monday and elementary classes would begin at 8:30 a.m. Buses will run 30 minutes earlier than in the past. A change was also made on the school calendar. Nov. 7 was scheduled as an in-service day but will now be a regular school day.

Drug Ring Broken

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — An international ring smuggling illegal aliens into the U.S. from El Salvador has been broken with arrests in San Antonio, Laredo, and Nuevo Laredo, U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service officials said here Wednesday.

The INS said that the smuggling pipeline had apparently been in operation for some time between El Salvador's capital of San Salvador and San Antonio, Tex. By Wednesday a total of 28 persons were in custody and officials in El Salvador had been notified of the names of two persons in San Salvador identified by the INS as the ring leaders.

The pipeline sprang its first leak on Oct. 6 in San Antonio. At that time seven aliens from El Salvador were arrested at International Airport while trying to board commercial flights to Washington, D.C., and New York City, officials said.

Four days later, on Oct. 10, INS border patrol agents arrested two Mexican citizens transporting 17 more aliens from Laredo to San Antonio.

The last arrest provided INS agents with the identity of two other Mexican nationals working for the ring in Mexico. These two were arrested in Nuevo Laredo and are now in custody of Mexican authorities.

Moving Sniper Hurts Two Near Panhandle

PANHANDLE, Tex. (AP) — A motorized sniper swept down a busy interstate highway Wednesday night, firing wildly at passing cars. No one was seriously hurt and the man was in jail here today.

Investigators said the shooting spree ended abruptly when the suspect's car overheated and he pulled into a service station to permit the engine to cool. Carson County deputies seized a Lubbock man, 48, and recovered a .22 caliber rifle from the auto.

No charges were filed at once. Chief Deputy Frank Whitehead said the incident began about 9 p.m. Wednesday night at a rest stop five miles west of Conway on

Boys, Girls Welcome At West Side Center

Big Spring's West Side Community Center is another agency that is supported by donations from the United Way.

Boys and girls of all ages are welcome at the center to participate in a variety of arts and crafts, and recreational activities.

Elementary age children from grades one through six enjoy singing with the Center Choir. The choir gives presentations at various club and civic functions, as well as a special spring concert at Howard College. The choir now has 20-30 regular members.

For younger girls, the center also sponsors a Brownie troop. The center provides a special children's library along with tutoring services for younger students.

For adults, the center puts together a men's softball team in the spring. Women's activities, such as a weekly sewing circle, may also be found at the center.

A full-time, live-in director is employed at the community center to help maintain facilities that are used by over 200 children a week.

The center is also the donor agency for the West Side Community Day Care Center. They provide the much-needed matching funds for the Day Care Center and are now offering support to a new North Side Day Care Center, which is still in the planning stages.

Another hoped-for project for the near future is a senior citizen's lunch program. The program would provide inexpensive lunches and fellowship for the com-

Club Members To View Film

The American Businessman's Club of Big Spring will be guesting a presentation from Grady Sims, district manager of the West Texas Blood Service in San Angelo, and volunteers from hospitals and civic groups in the area, Friday at noon.

Sims will show a film strip about the blood service, and will display educational pamphlets and answer questions of club members. "We hope to recruit some donors for the upcoming Jaycees drive," said Bill Sneed, president of A.B.C. in Big Spring. "There will be some donors within the club and then we will help sell the rest of the community," he added.

Sims and volunteer groups will be taking their program next two weeks. They will be helping to kick off the Community Blood Drive sponsored by the Jaycees which will be held at Big Spring High School and Howard College, Oct. 28-30. They will also explain plans for a permanent community blood bank in Big Spring.

Wants AMPI To Pay His Legal Fees SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Former Associated Milk Producers' Union leader Bob Amadio has asked a state district court to make AMPI pay for his milk fund legal fees.

Lilly gained immunity from prosecution in the milk fund scandals by testifying before a congressional committee probing charges about federal milk price support changes by the Nixon Administration.

In a petition filed in the district clerk's office, Lilly said he hired the law firm of Nicholas and Barrera for the milk cooperative in 1973 and 1974 at the direction of AMPI's board of directors.

Nicholas and Barrera represented Lilly in legal actions the petition filed Wednesday asked $18,000 to pay Nichols and Barrera and another $5,000 for the cost of the suit to collect those fees. Lilly said AMPI paid some of the lawyer's fees, but left the $18,000 outstanding.

Collecting Beverage Cans

SAN ANTONIO — A record high of 100 million used, all-aluminum beverage cans have been processed through the Pearl Brewing Company's Aluminum Can Recycling Center so far this year, according to Lee Birdsong, President and Chief Executive Officer of Pearl. Birdsong reported that this figure exceeds the 81.8 million cans collected in all of 1974. More than 208.4 million cans, approximately one all-aluminum beverage can for every man, woman and child in the nation, have been collected from the Texas environment since Pearl's recycling network was established in March 1973.

Railroad's Net Income

ST. LOUIS — The Missouri Pacific Railroad's consolidated net income for the first nine months of the year was $25,043,000 or $2 per share, on a generally accepted accounting basis, compared with $41,354,000, or $3.31 per share last year, after giving effect to a 5-for-1 stock split, July 5, 1974. Operating revenues were $643,444,000 for the period compared with $658,366,000 in the prior year.

Net income for the first nine months of 1975 was above the $23,648,000 earned in the same period of 1973, which established an all-time record for the railroad at that time when an unprecedented level of export grain was handled.

Election Proposal Said 'Short, Sweet And Clear'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas' new constitutional proposal on voting and elections is as simple as a check mark on a ballot. "Short, sweet and clear," proclaims constitutional expert John Bebout of the University of Houston. "Simplicity itself," says another consultant, former Yale law professor George Braden.

The Texas Civil Liberties Union said, "It is our belief that the reintegration into the community of paroled felons and persons receiving probated sentences is a part of the rehabilitative process and should be of primary concern to the state."

Yazoo Humorist Clower Booked By Century Club

LUBBOCK — Jerry Clower, Yazoo, Miss., humorist, will be the principal speaker for the 15th annual Century Club dinner at the Texas Tech University Center Ballroom at 6:30 p.m., Friday, Oct. 31.

Membership in the Century Club is open to any Texas Tech University student or friend of the university who makes a contribution of $100 or more to the Loyalty Fund, an arm of the Ex-Students Association.

Persons who have been members of the Century Club since its organization will be recognized at the dinner, according to Wayne James, executive director of the Texas Tech Ex-Students Association.

W. K. "Bill" Barnett, president of the First National Bank of Levelland, is the 1975 chairman of the Century Club and will preside.

The organization also will recognize faculty and staff of Texas Tech who have retired during the last 12 months and who have at least 10 years of service to the institution, James said.

The legislature would have so much control over a convention that it could, for example, instruct the convention to revise everything except the section on the constitution on the legislature.

A two-thirds vote would be required in a constitutional convention to submit proposed changes to the voters, and Braden notes that no other state has such a strict requirement. "It is illogical to call for change and then make change difficult," he says.

Another criticism is that the section is simply not needed. If voters rejected the entire article on amending the constitution, the only thing they apparently would lose would be a new provision requiring the legislature to ask the voters at least once every 30 years whether they want a convention to consider more constitutional changes.

On the proposed suffrage article, a liberal-conservative split hardened over the voting rights of convicted criminals. Conservatives generally felt that criminals should be prohibited forever from voting, and liberal argued that allowing criminals to vote after they had served their sentence was important in the rehabilitation process.

"We are fortunate to have secured Jerry Clower as our Century Club speaker," James said. "We believe that his appearance will be a fresh and pleasant departure from many of our previous speakers who have been business and professional leaders and whose messages have been more serious in nature."

MINER-PIANIST — Clifford J. Merchant, 31, of Fairmont, W. Va., is a coal miner by night and a concert pianist by day. He has his hands insured for $125,000 and wears a diamond ring to work valued at $13,000. He says the two careers are compatible because he can practice during the day.

Drilling In Texas

A weekly rotary rig report shows 38.7 per cent of the U.S. rigs actually making holes to be in Texas. Of the national total of 1,726 drilling rigs, 669 are in Texas.

This is up slightly from a week ago when Texas rigs accounted for 38.2 per cent of the national total, or 651 or the 1,703 total rigs.

Texas has been rising steadily from 37.4 per cent last month, and 35.2 per cent a year ago in October. Figures for last month showed 639 Texas rigs out of a U.S. total of 1,706. Last year in October, Texas had 565 rigs making hole out of a total of 1,604 in the U.S.

Record Results For Southland

The Southland Corporation, which operates more than 257-Eleven Stores in the Permian Basin area, reported preliminary revenues and earnings for the third quarter and first nine months of 1975 were the largest ever recorded in the Company's 48-year history.

Net earnings for the quarter just ended increased 17.9 per cent to $11.4 million on a 10.1 per cent increase in revenues. For the nine months, net earnings were $26.4 million, up 15.4 per cent on a 9.6 per cent gain in revenues.

Third quarter revenues rose to $478.5 million from $434.8 million reported last year, while revenues for the first nine months increased to $1.3 billion compared to $1.2 billion for the like period a year ago.

Diluted earnings per share for the third quarter were 63 cents compared to 53 cents for the period last year, an increase of 18.9 per cent. Primary earnings per share were 65 cents, up 14 per cent from 57 cents in 1974.

South Plains Nurses Invited To Meeting

All South Plains area registered nurses with baccalaureate nursing degree preparation are invited to attend a meeting on Oct. 30 to discuss the possibility of master's level nursing courses being offered in Lubbock to help improve nursing care and education in this area.

The University of Texas System School of Nursing has tentatively agreed to offer an extension program which would focus on the medical-surgical and maternal-child health nursing areas leading to a Master of Science in Nursing degree.

10:30 a.m. in Classroom, I, Methodist Hospital, 2002 Miami Street.

According to Mrs. Cox, 76 professional nurses have indicated interest in the master's level program which would be offered by UT during a three-year period.

The program is an attempt to provide higher education for nurses in the Lubbock-Odessa area so that it is not necessary to leave their jobs and families for the normal year and a half master's level program.

The nearest graduate nursing education program is 350 miles away in Austin. The UT System School of Nursing established a similar program for Amarillo area nurses this past summer.

The meeting will begin at

FBI Keeps Secret List Of 'Security Risks'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI maintains a secret list of more than 1,200 Americans targeted for possible investigation as potential security risks in times of national emergency, according to documents disclosed today.

The documents were released by Rep. Robert W. Kastenmeier, D-Wis., chairman of a House Civil Liberties subcommittee, who said the FBI practice "demands thorough congressional scrutiny and public discussion."

The list is the latest in a series of indexes dating back to before U.S. entry into World War II and originally intended to identify persons to be arrested if they were considered a national security threat in wartime.

Authority for detention of Americans considered possible security threats expired in 1971. An FBI spokesman said in August that the list of Americans identified for possible detention had once grown to 15,000 names.

The FBI said the present list, which contained 1,294 names as of Aug. 15, is "an administrative aid... (that) enables the FBI to remain alert to individuals who have exhibited a propensity to conduct acts inimical to the national security and affords the FBI a record of individuals who would merit close investigative attention pending legal steps by the President to take further action."

A memorandum from FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley said the compilation "serves as an extremely valuable list of individuals who pose a threat to the president of the United States, thereby enabling the FBI to provide current data to the U.S. Secret Service."

"Individuals who are included are those who have

Man Told To Arm Himself

AUSTIN (AP) — A man who was sent to prison for three years by a Brownsville jury for carrying a concealed weapon won the right to a new trial today because the judge refused to allow testimony that policemen told him to arm himself.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals reversed the conviction of Virgil Garcia, who was carrying two pistols when arrested in a restaurant.

His punishment was greater than normal because he had the guns in a place licensed to sell alcoholic beverages.

Garcia's lawyers sought to call police officers as witnesses in an attempt to prove that Garcia had been working with them on a murder-conspiracy investigation and had been told to arm himself because of threats on his life.

But the trial judge, after hearing what the proposed testimony was intended to show, declined to allow it. Garcia's appeal said this denied him the right to raise the defense of entrapment.

exhibited a willingness or capability of engaging in treason, rebellion, sedition, sabotage, espionage, assassination of government officials, terrorism, guerrilla warfare, or other acts which would result in interference with or a threat to the survival and effective operation of national, state or local government," the memorandum said.

"During 1972 the operation of this index was evaluated and revised to include only those individuals who pose a realistic, direct and current danger to the national security," the memorandum added.

Names on the list were not disclosed. The FBI also said it would be impossible to reconstruct past lists as Kastenmeier had asked.

In releasing the Kelley memorandum and a file of related documents, Kastenmeier said in a statement that "although the executive branch does not now assert the authority to suspend the Bill of Rights and incarcerate Americans at its discretion, the fact that it continues to actively maintain a list which had its genesis in a plan to systematically imprison thousands of political dissenters in the early days of the 'cold war' is a fact which demands thorough congressional scrutiny and public discussion."

Study Shows Busing Doesn't Post Gains

DALLAS (AP) — A three-year study of Dallas bused students bused to predominantly white schools for desegregation purpose shows there were no noteworthy gains or improved racial attitudes for most of the students involved.

But school officials warned that the report could not be used to draw permanent conclusions because only a small number of students was involved in the sampling and some were not tested before and after they moved to white schools.

The study, dated July 1975, is to be released next month, but the Dallas Times Herald said today it obtained a copy of the report.

The report compared the test scores of 685 minority students over a three-year period who were bused to predominantly white secondary schools. The students were tested prior to being bused and at some other interval after being bused and researchers then compared academic gains with the scores of students who were not bused.

Based on the analysis of the five groups of black students whose reading, language arts and mathematics scores were traced, researchers concluded: "There is little evidence to support the position that one or two years in a desegregated environment for low-scoring black students in the lower grades of secondary school succeeded in motivating them or exposed them to behave academically in such a way as to score on achievement tests differently from their non-bused peers."

The study included the filling out of a questionnaire on racial attitudes.

The study also showed that white students in mostly white classes had a positive attitude toward black students, but white students in mostly black classes had a slightly negative attitude toward black students.

Princess Visits Australia

Great Britain has arrived here to begin a two-week tour of Australia. Princess Margaret of Great Britain and Prince Charles arrived in Sydney on Wednesday and cheered the princesses as they moved from an aircraft that had brought her from Singapore to a black Rolls Royce at Sydney's airport. She flew later to Canberra for a brief meeting with Prime Minister Gough Whitlam, opposition leader Malcolm Fraser and other Australian officials.

Border Areas Fight Juvenile Alien Problem

EL PASO, Tex (AP) — The problem of illegal juvenile aliens along the U.S.-Mexico border is going to "grow and create more problems between the United States and Mexico" unless it is solved soon, says an official of the Texas Department of Community Affairs.

Glenn McAllister made his statements here Tuesday on the eve of the opening of the first interstate Juvenile Alien Borderlands Conference attended by delegates from Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California. It is intended to seek solutions to the problem of juvenile aliens crossing the border to commit crimes in the United States and then returning to Mexico to avoid prosecution.

"I think the result of this conference is going to paint a rather graphic picture of the magnitude of the problem," McAllister said. "Our statistics on land research so far have only uncovered the tip of the iceberg."

McAllister said the problem already is causing economic burdens to communities along the Texas border.

In another part of the city Tuesday a committee from the Texas Youth Council also was holding a meeting to discuss juvenile aliens.

TYC director Forest Smith said that the agency cannot deal with the problem of juvenile aliens and advocated "local solutions" by cities along the border.

"The TYC," he said, "only deals with rejects from El Paso."

He explained that "transporting a handful of Mexican nationals to TYC detention facilities won't remedy local situations."

The meeting here was attended by criminal justice officials from the Texas border area and three representatives from Juarez, the Mexican city across the border.

John Arredondo, director of admission at the TYC's Brownwood facility, expressed doubt about TYC's ability to deal with Juarez juveniles.

"We are in a new area here," he said. "It is extremely difficult for us to provide individualized service for the juvenile alien. It is difficult to find personnel who can relate to them."

He noted that much of the TYC rehabilitation program is based on working with parents of the delinquent. "This is not possible with the aliens," he stated.

The TYC is looking at the juvenile alien problem for the first time. Until recently it was forbidden to accept aliens into its centers. The prohibition has been lifted and the TYC is looking at possible ways to handle the situation.

Jesus P. Laurel, chief juvenile probation officer at Laredo, also suggested local solutions. He said that the Mexican state of Tamaulipas maintains a farm near the border and juvenile delinquents are taken there to work. He said that when a U. S. judge in Laredo handles a juvenile case Mexican officials come and pick up the youth and take him to the state farm.

Members of the committee are Ruben Schaeffer of El Paso, Howard Middleton of Houston and Patricia Ayers of San Antonio.

B&PW Clubs Support Business Women

Business and Professional Women's Clubs throughout the United States are observing National Business Women's Week Oct. 19-25. The week has been designated as a time to recognize the achievements of women in businesses and professions all over the nation.

The Big Spring B&PW Club tries to follow and adhere to the spirit of the Federation's objectives. The club desires to carry out the struggle for women to take their rightful place in society, sharing equal responsibilities for their communities, their state and their nation.

The local B&PW club was organized in 1939. The club devotes its activities to civic participation, legislation, education, world affairs, personal development and women in government. Participation is through monthly programs, individual efforts and financial support.

Among the organizations the local B&PW Club supports is the National Foundation. It was established in 1956, funded by gifts from more than 170,000 B&PW members, plus grants from other sources. Of the 26,000 foundations in the United States, it is among the few that are supported by the membership of voluntary organizations.

The National Foundation provides scholarships and fellowships, a library and a research center organized to conduct and support research regarding employed women, and to administer scholarship and training programs.

The B&PW club is also involved with the Legislative Steering Committee of the State Federation. This committee reviews state legislation regarding equal legal rights for women as well as equal work opportunities. Through this organization members keep in touch with legislators regarding their attitudes toward legislation affecting women.

The Big Spring B&PW Club conducts programs aimed at furthering women's rights and promoting their rightful interest in business and the professions.

The club sponsors a scholarship each year to Howard College for a selected student.

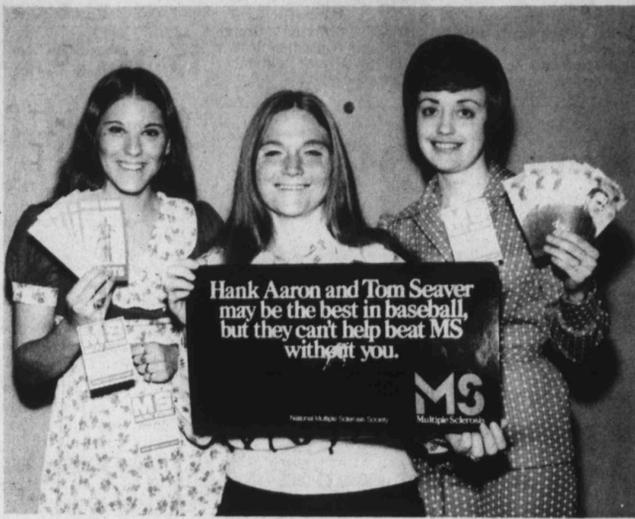

For several years, the club has sponsored a picnic in Comanche Trail Park for approximately 75 Big Spring State Hospital patients and attendants.

Members participate in the BSSH annual Christmas party.

The club also contributes each year to the High School Bible fund.

Members of the club work constantly on fund-raising to provide donations to organizations the B&PW Club helps support, among them the YMCA, Friend of Youth award, world friendship fund, Chinese nursing fund, Minnie L. Maffett fund, young career women fund, and the M. D. Anderson Cancer and Tumor Clinic fund.

The Big Spring B&PW Club invites qualified speakers in business, industry and government to acquaint them with local problems and issues and what action is being taken concerning them.

MS WORKERS — Showing materials to be used in this year's Multiple Sclerosis Drive are local workers dedicated to collecting funds for the MS fight. From left to right are Miss Sophia Dean, who will conduct the drive at Barcelona Apartments along with other members of the VICA Cosmetology Club; Mrs. Lou LaRochelle, coordinator for the Big Spring collection campaign; and Mrs. Jan Keyes, a volunteer worker.

Coach Bob Burris Named As Chairman For MS Drive

Bob Burris, coach of the Big Spring Steers, has been named campaign chairman for the 1975 Multiple Sclerosis fund raising events in the Big Spring community. The appointment was announced by Leila Seal, executive director for the Permian Basin Chapter of MS.

Burris will be heading the appeal on Nov. 3 to seek funds for the support of the Permian Basin Chapter's patient service activities and to advance the society's research program.

Because multiple sclerosis, a crippling neurological disease of the central nervous system, most often attacks young adults between the ages of 20 and 40, this year's campaign is built around an "Athletes vs. MS" theme.

The idea, according to Ara Parseghian, 1975 National Campaign Chairman for the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, is to involve athletes at all levels — professional, collegiate, high school and local — in a comprehensive program designed ultimately to raise millions of dollars for MS research and patient services.

Burris said the response from the sports world so far has been overwhelming with help coming from such stars as Hank Aaron, Lee Trevino, Billie Jean King, Bobby Orr, Muhammad Ali, John Havlicek, Jimmy Connors, Joe DiMaggio and many others. Nevertheless, he pointed out, the bulk of the money raised this year must, as in past years, come from the house-to-house marches in local areas throughout the country.

Burris said: "If we are to extend our local programs, we need the entire community's support. Your help means more hope and more help for our local MS patients, and more research to find the cure of this dread disease."

Club Officers Are Installed

The installation dinner of the Big Spring Credit Women International was held Oct. 16 at the Big Spring Country Club.

"Keep The Promise of The Future," the theme for the coming year, was represented in the decorations. The banquet room was decorated in the colors of the rainbow, with miniature rainbows and pots of gold centering each table.

Mrs. Lillian Steele, credit manager of Dunlap's of Odessa, was the installing officer. She is a past president of the Lone Star Council of Credit Women International. She used the rainbow theme in her installation ceremony.

Officers installed were Mrs. Eva Nall, president; Mrs. Helen Mahoney, vice president; Mrs. Johnnie Weeks, secretary; Mrs. Dorothy Ragan, treasurer; and Mrs. Lynette Brooks, Mrs. Helen Draper and Mrs. Margarette Wooten, directors.

A musical program following the theme of the dinner was presented by Mr. and Mrs. David Norville.

The next business meeting of the club will be at noon Nov. 6 at the Settles Hotel.

Sudden Cool-Off In Affair Confuses Willing Lover

DEAR ABBY: I need a woman's viewpoint, and you're the woman. Last summer I became very much attracted to a middle-aged, married woman. We met socially. (I'm a middle-aged, married man.) She felt the same way as I did, and it soon developed into a most wonderful, loving, intimate relationship. We'd meet twice a week at a motel — very discreetly — and we'd talk on the phone every day. We both admitted we had never known such love and happiness, but being sensible people, we didn't consider breaking up our respective families. (We both have children.) Oddly enough, my wife and I and this woman and her husband were a most compatible foursome. Everything was heavenly, then suddenly for no apparent reason she said it was over — and she refused to meet me again! She gave no reason for her sudden change of heart. She said that she still "felt" the same but that we couldn't continue our affair.

I've called her and begged for some explanation. She cut the conversation short and said, "It's over."

Abby, I really care about this woman. Doesn't she owe me an explanation? What would make a woman terminate an affair in this abrupt manner?

MISSING HER IN ARIZONA

DEAR MISSING: Many things. An accumulation of guilt feelings that became intolerable. Or the fear of disclosure. Possibly she felt her marriage was being threatened.

Anyway, she obviously weighed what she was getting from the affair against what she stood to lose — and she decided to end it. Be wise and kind, and accept the fact that it's over.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "DESPERATELY IN NEED OF YOUR ADVICE IN JERSEY CITY, N.J.": Write to me in care of the newspaper that carries my column, and I will send you a personal reply at once.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 152 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20 cent) envelope.

Costume Contest To Highlight

A costume contest will highlight the activities at the Moss Elementary School Halloween Carnival, sponsored by the Moss PTA. The carnival will be held from 6-9 p.m., Saturday in the school.

Sandwiches, pie and drinks will be sold in the cafeteria.

Booths will be open from 6-8 p.m., with the door prize drawings to be held at 8 p.m. The costume judging will be held after the drawings with prizes going to winners in each grade and in the adult competition. The public is invited to attend.

Hayride Planned By Sorority

A hayride and cook-out for members and rushees of Alpha Beta Omicron and their husbands has been slated for Saturday evening. Couples planning to attend should meet at College Park Shopping Center at 6:30 p.m. from where they will leave for Moss Creek Lake. Members approved the hayride plans at the Tuesday evening meeting of the chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

Club members finalized plans for a preferential tea for rushees to be held from 2-3 p.m. Nov. 2 in the First Federal Community Room. Chapter members planned to serve cake and coffee to patients of the Veteran's Administration Hospital the morning of Oct. 31.

Mrs. Jo Ogle gave a report on the area convention held Oct. 10-12 at the Inn of the Golden West in Odessa. Six members of the chapter attended.

Mrs. Ogle also read a section from the sorority "Gray Book" concerning attendance.

Mrs. Jeananne Gafford presented a program on "What Women Are Heir To."

The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 4 in the home of Mrs. Genie Carroll, 1804 Grafa. She will present the program on "Of House and Home."

Plans Carnival

Homemade chili, Halloween booths, activities and door prizes will be featured at the Parkhill Elementary School Halloween Carnival to be held Saturday, sponsored by the Parkhill PTA.

Chili will be served in the cafeteria at 5:30 p.m. with booths opening at 6:30 p.m. Some of the activities will be a fishing pond, spook house, cake walk, dart throw, gold rush, pumpkin toss and a magician's act.

A sweet shop will be open during the carnival.

Doctors Win, Lose Appeal Decisions

AUSTIN (AP) — Doctors won one medical malpractice suit but lost another today in the Texas Supreme Court. The high court upheld a $205,095 judgment for Hugh Holmes of Jasper, who alleged that doctors at Memorial Hospital there waited too long to consult specialists about his wife's abdominal problems.

Mrs. Holmes, 51, died Sept. 6, 1971, after a physician in Beaumont discovered that her bowel was black with gangrene and removed 80 per cent of it.

She had a hysterectomy July 19, court records show, and had fever and vomited until she was finally transferred to Beaumont July 28. One physician testified that, given the symptoms, her doctors should have sought consultation no later than July 26.

Her suit named Drs. A. J. Richardson Jr., Thomas Jones and W. D. Bailey as defendants. A jury awarded Holmes $222,446, but the Beaumont Court of Civil Appeals reduced that by $17,351.

In the other case, the Supreme Court affirmed lower court rulings rejecting a charity patient's suit for $650,000 against three Houston doctors.

Mary Broussard, 36, contended that she suffered brain damage as a result of cardiac arrest following a sterilization operation after she had given birth to her ninth child at Jefferson Davis Hospital.

She alleged that the cardiac arrest was caused by an overdose of cyclopropane gas used as an anesthetic, which she claimed was administered by an inexperienced physician.

She sued Drs. Phiroze Sabawala, Walter Hull and Manuel DeAnda, who administered the gas.

Sabawala testified he thought Mrs. Broussard had had a stroke, that cyclopropane shock occurs only once in 150,000 cases.

He also said although DeAnda was a resident trainee, he had administered cyclopropane approximately 150 times.

Sabawala, the anesthesiology supervisor, was not present, but the Houston Court of Civil Appeals noted that there was no evidence he would have reacted differently during Mrs. Broussard's post-operative difficulties.

Smallest Country Confers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The foreign minister of San Marino, one of the world's smallest countries, has conferred here with two U.S. officials.

Gian Luigi Berti met on Tuesday with Arthur Hartman, assistant secretary of state for European affairs, and Robert Ingersoll, acting secretary of state.

San Marino is on the slopes of Mount Titano in north central Italy. At 23.5 square miles, it is one-third the size of Washington, D.C., and has a population of 20,000.

It claims to be the oldest state in Europe.

The United States has consular relations with San Marino through an office in Florence, Italy.

Yule Decor Nixed In City

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Chamber of Commerce has decided $25,000 is too much to spend for the Christmas decorations it traditionally has hung on downtown streets. So there won't be any this year.

The chamber's board of trustees agreed Wednesday that there are too many other ways to spend the money. James Crawford, chamber vice president, said he is anticipating a strong public reaction against the decision. "But the Chamber of Commerce has so many vital projects on its list that the decorations were a comparatively low priority."
