Citizens With Petitions Rap Trash Pickup Change

By MARJ CARPENTER
A group of 32 citizens armed with petitions bearing over 3,000 signatures, objected to front yard trash pickup when the city council held a public hearing at 9 a.m. today at City Hall.

As announced Thursday, Mayor Wade Choate recommended that the ordinance be tabled and the staff was requested to make a cost estimate of continuing and improving the present system.

This was the second largest crowd to appear at the council in recent years, with the largest crowd still the record group of irate dog owners who protested last year that their dogs were being treated inhumanely by dog catchers.

The advocates of keeping trash in the alleys had several spokesmen including Kenneth Howell, Mrs. A. L. Cooper, Mrs. Mary Brown, Burr Crocker, D. A. Braswell, Walter Unger, Mrs. Thelma Montgomery, Wayne Bonner, Mrs. J. C. Dunlap, K. L. Click, Jack Watkins, A. O. Nichols and John Burgess, representing the group as an attorney.

NOT OUT FRONT
Objections included claims alleys were for garbage, an assertion that it would be more difficult to take trash to the front than the back, a claim that plastic bags might become extinct due to the fact they are made from petroleum products, a claim that plastic bags would not deteriorate in the landfill, a charge that it would be detrimental to traffic flow, the claim that you couldn't leave your garbage out for four or five days but would have to put it out on a required day, and concern about use of the alleys.

Watkins was the only spokesman who said that "I don't care if they pick it up in the front or back, but am concerned about a raise in rates." Crocker asked if garbage department funds sometimes subsidized other departments.

Harry Nagel, city manager, told Crocker that some departments have no income and must be subsidized by other city funds, "such as the fire department that you were once in." Charles Tompkins pointed out that the fire department, administrative department, and many others have no income at all.

Burgess requested that cost study figures be made available to him at the same time that they go to the council. Mayor Choate assured him they would be available.

EQUIPMENT COST
The cost of packer trucks in comparison to trailer type pickup trucks was discussed briefly.

Councilman Tompkins told the group, "The city council is not against the people of Big Spring. We represent the people. The majority who have spoken up have requested continuing alley pickup and this is what we will do. We were only suggesting a more economical method, trying "Old MacDonald Had a Farm" and the police thought they were gathering it up this morning at three different locations.

A call came to the station that cows were loose on the north edge of Birdwell Lane. While one officer was rounding up cows, another was sent to FM 700 and Baylor to chase horses.

When the third call came in about a man's chickens loose on Princeton and one of the neighbors chasing the chickens with a gun, the dispatcher began to crack a little.

With a moo-moo here and a chick-chick there, the officers were quite busy for half an hour.

Second Turkish Envoy Killed

PARIS (AP) — Gunmen ambushed the Turkish ambassador's limousine and assassinated him and his chauffeur at point-blank range today. The envoy was the second Turkish ambassador slain by unknown assailants in Europe in 48 hours.

An anonymous phone call to the Turkish Embassy said later the building would be blown up this evening, and police immediately began a search.

There was speculation that Greek, Greek Cypriot or Armenian terrorists might have been behind the assassination, but no group immediately claimed responsibility.

A top police official in Vienna, where the Turkish ambassador was gunned down Wednesday, said today's killing in Paris appeared to confirm the theory that an international terror group was at work.

In Ankara, an emergency meeting of the Turkish cabinet was called after news of the Paris slaying was received.

Paris police said Ambassador Ismail Erez, 56, was returning to the Turkish Embassy, where he had his living quarters, after a reception.

His Mercedes limousine had crossed the Seine River over the Bir Hakeim Bridge and was on the ramp leading to the Quai President Kennedy in the fashionable 16th district of the city.

According to information collected by police from witnesses, the car slowed at a slight curve and a man approached from the right side and opened the front door. The man then fired at the ambassador who was sitting on the rear seat. Another man at the left of the car fired through the front window, killing the chauffeur instantly.

The ambassador lay collapsed on the back seat. He died en route to a hospital about a half hour later.

The gunman, described as having dark complexion, ran across a footbridge leading to the Rue Alboni on the right bank of the Seine and disappeared. The car, with bullet holes clearly visible, angled across the roadway.

In Vienna, police have been unable to find the assailants or determine the motives in the slaying of the Turkish ambassador, Danis Tunali.

Conflicting reports at the time of the Vienna shooting indicated the gunmen could be Greeks, Greek Cypriots or Armenians.

Greece and Turkey have long been at odds over the Mediterranean island of Cyprus, which has a minority population of Turkish ancestry and a Greek majority. Turkish forces have occupied the northern part of Cyprus since July 1974.

A man claiming to represent the "Armenian Liberation Organization" telephoned The Associated Press in New York on Wednesday and said, "I wish to inform you that we take credit for the Vienna action." Police and a number of Armenian groups in New York said they had never heard of the organization.

The Armenian region formed a large part of the old Ottoman Empire and is now divided among Turkey, Iran and the Soviet Union. Armenians were subject to widespread persecution at Turkish hands early in this century.

CARRILLO IMPEACHMENT Solon Approached In Bribery Attempt

AUSTIN (AP) — State Rep. Jim Kaster says he may have been approached on a bribe when the Texas House was considering impeachment of suspended District Court Judge O. P. Carrillo of Duval County.

The Austin bureau of the San Antonio Express-News quoted Kaster today as saying he was contacted on the House floor last May by a man who wanted impeachment articles dropped.

"There was an indication that an offer was going to be made," Kaster said.

The El Paso legislator said he reported the conversation last May immediately to House Speaker Bill Clayton and Parliamentarian Bob Johnson.

Kaster has refused to name the man.

Clayton said he remembered hearing Kaster's complaint but did not recall it involving money.

"Good God, I wonder if anybody else was approached like that," Clayton said.

Kaster said he kept quiet about the alleged bribe in hopes of catching the would-be briber. But he said no further contact was made, possibly because it was known he went to Clayton.

Kaster was one of 11 House members appointed to a special impeachment committee to investigate the Carrillo case.

The legislator said he was walking along an aisle on the House floor during a regular work day session when a man approached him and struck up a conversation about Carrillo's impeachment prospects.

"The man was telling me, he said it was going to cost them plenty of money (to stop the impeachment) and he asked me, 'Have you been approached?'" I said, 'No, I haven't,'" Kaster said.

He said, "Well, consider yourself approached," the El Paso legislator added.

Kaster said he suspects others were approached.

"I'm making a list, quite frankly, of senators that I'm watching," he said. The House has impeached Carrillo and it is now up to the Senate to try him.

Jaycees Sponsor Blood Drive In Big Spring

West Texas Blood Services, San Angelo, is losing blood in Big Spring and hopes to offset local demands Oct. 28-30.

During the first six months this year, local hospitals purchased an average of 106 pints monthly from the non-profit organization, Randy Holler, Jaycee chairman of the blood drive here, said.

The average collected here was 15 pints monthly, Holler explained.

"We would like for the community to be at least self-sufficient," Holler said.

Blood donations will be accepted at the Big Spring High School library 10 a.m.-3:30 p.m. Oct. 28.

At the Howard College student union building, blood will be collected 9 a.m.-4 p.m. on Oct. 29 and 30. Also, citizens may give blood here 5-8 p.m. Oct. 29.

Goal for the three days is 200 pints.

If college students and faculty members donate 100 pints, Big Spring Jaycees will sponsor a record dance for college students.

If high school students and other members of the community give 100 pints, Jaycees will give a one-semester scholarship for a licensed-vocational-nurse candidate at the college.

Persons may donate blood in the name of a patient, and a pint will be provided to the patient's hospital free of charge.

Also donating a pint in the name of you and members of your family will be supplied blood, if needed, free of charge for the next six months. Hospital charges for administering blood are not covered.

Franco Fights Back

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Gen. Francisco Franco, Spain's iron-fisted 82-year-old leader, is fighting back after two heart attacks and has improved slightly after suffering a relapse, his doctors said today.

The 11 physicians attending Western Europe's last dictator said signs of heart failure noted 24 hours earlier had been reduced, and that "progress from his coronary illness continues its normal course."

Premier Carlos Arias Navarro canceled a cabinet session today that had been expected to start the legal process to retire Franco and install Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon as chief of state and Spain's first king in 44 years.

Juan Carlos paid a 25-minute visit to Franco's palace just ahead of today's medical bulletin.

A government source said Premier Arias' decision to cancel the scheduled cabinet meeting indicated the ministers had agreed at a marathon session Thursday to be ready for the end of Franco's rule and a transition of power to Juan Carlos, Franco's designated heir.

Earlier reports had said Arias would convene the cabinet meeting in Franco's absence.

A quarterly report for ambulance runs inside Big Spring city limits was the only financial information available Thursday afternoon. Hiltbrunner was not present at the meeting.

"We haven't got anything to go on here," City Councilman Charles Tompkins commented.

NOT SLOW
A second major concern was the quality of service.

Every time Nagel heard complaints of alleged ambulance slowness in responding, Nagel said police department records showed the ambulance arrived within eight minutes of notification.

State-required training for ambulance attendants was mentioned.

television program, "Emergency," where paramedics, many sophisticated ambulances want a similar service here, Nagel said.

"People see these shows," Tompkins added, "and they think we ought to have one right here at no expense."

Both County Judge Bill Tune and Nagel believe a local-government-operated ambulance service will come eventually to Big Spring.

The two officials want to delay this move because of expenses.

Meanwhile, the Midland City Council has voted to discontinue paying a funeral home there $18,000 yearly for ambulance service. The city fire department plans to operate ambulances with paramedics, and Thomas Funeral Home plans to compete despite the loss of subsidy.

Congress Considers Daylight Extension

WASHINGTON (AP) — An effort to retain the current eight-month Daylight Saving Time schedule for two more years is under way in the Senate, just days before regular time resumes on Sunday.

DST is to expire Sunday morning at 2 a.m. Unless Congress passes the bill introduced Thursday, it will resume on the traditional six-month schedule next April.

Daylight time was extended from six months to a full year in early 1974 in an effort to conserve energy, and last October Congress approved an eight-month experiment for 1975.

The Transportation Department has recommended that the eight-month plan be approved again. Sen. Adlai Stevenson III, D-Ill., introduced the bill to retain such a schedule for two more years.

Stevenson said approval of the bill, which would cause

BULLETIN

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Dr. Wallace C. Hunter was named superintendent of Big Spring State Hospital Friday by the Texas Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

Hunter has been acting superintendent since the death last Aug. 7 of Dr. Preston E. Harrison, who had been superintendent of the hospital since 1958.

Hunter joined the staff of the Big Spring hospital in 1974 and in December, 1974, was made clinical director.

Why So Little Interest?

Odds are that few Texans will go to the trouble to cast votes Nov. 4 when the proposed new state constitution comes up for adoption.

Just how few can be gauged by a prediction delivered by Secretary of State Mark White, man in charge of Texas elections. If more than 30 per cent cast ballots, White will be surprised.

That's a shame. The election will be one of the most important and far-reaching ever in Texas. A decision on the constitution will be with us far longer than any individual officeholder selected in an election, and will have far more effect on state government.

Not that proponents and opponents haven't tried to make them so. Press release mills are grinding around the state busily. Probably a media blitz is planned by one or both sides as election day nears.

And that raises an interesting question itself. Where is the money coming from to run these pro and con campaigns?

The pro group has announced receiving contributions of $9,000 from 156 contributors. But the anti-haven't yet said a word about where their financing is coming from.

Texans should have the right to see who's backing and who's fighting the proposed new constitution with their dollars. A list of contributors, keeping in mind the interests they represent, could provide a pretty fair gauge of whether the proposed changes will benefit specific interests or put a cramp in their style. Both sides should willingly and quickly make full disclosures of their contributors, in the interest of an informed electorate.

Savings Can Mount Up

The search for means to conserve energy sometimes proceeds along unexpected byways. The conclusions reached may be so obvious as to escape attention, much as a forest may be overlooked while looking at trees.

In harmony with these thoughts, two consulting engineers have recommended that New York State ban the use of gas pilot lights on appliances after Jan. 1, 1979. The consultants estimated that pilot lights on gas cookstoves and water heaters waste enough gas each year in New York to serve the needs of 220,000 homes annually.

Electronic igniters, which consume much less energy, would replace the pilot lights. Each bit of energy saved can help greatly in the aggregate.

Dangerous Game

WASHINGTON — Vice president Rockefeller's electrifying break with President Ford and the administration's economic high command over federal aid to New York City was calculated political strategy taken with no advance consultation with White House officials and no clearance of any kind from Gerald R. Ford.

ROCKEFELLER INSIDERS say the President has been aware for weeks that his Vice President flatly disagreed with Secretary of the Treasury William Simon and White House staff chief Donald Rumsfeld on federal help for New York. His Saturday night Columbus Day speech in Manhattan was obviously contrived to dramatize this conflict in a spectacular way.

That he succeeded is beyond question. But whether his demand for congressional action (hinged to a credible 1978 New York City budget balance) changes Mr. Ford's mind is very much in doubt. Rockefeller was not even scheduled to talk to the President privately about his speech until yesterday (Wednesday).

That a Vice President should muster the political bravado to challenge his President so frontally reveals much about the present state of Mr. Ford's administration, and particularly the rancid infighting between Rockefeller and Rumsfeld.

ON SUNDAY, when he first read news reports of Rockefeller's free-wheeling speech, Rumsfeld was privately described as "beside himself" with outrage. At the regular senior White House staff meeting Monday morning, Rumsfeld, presiding, repeatedly emphasized that there had been no change whatever in the administration's position.

That position was stated most recently by the President at his Oct. 9 press conference. If New York City submitted a believable plan to balance its budget by 1978, he said, "it hardly seems necessary for the federal government to get involved."

Privately, the President was saying exactly the same thing to top aides early this week, exhibiting a high degree of mystification over Rockefeller's ringing dissent. At stake, then, is an ultimate test of Rockefeller's strongly-held theory that by surfacing a major internal administration conflict — Rockefeller vs. everyone else — he can change the mind of President Ford.

He did just that with his $100 billion long-range energy plan. But throughout the internal battles over that plan, Rockefeller always had the President's sympathetic ear.

In the New York bail-out, precisely the opposite is true: Mr. Ford himself has been the toughest hawk against any federal help, on grounds that it could open floodgates from cities all over the country dumping their financial problems on Washington's doorstep.

THUS, ROCKEFELLER is playing with political dynamite. If the President — often perceived as a constituency of one in picking his 1976 vice presidential running-mate — continues in alliance with Simon and Rumsfeld, Rockefeller's electrifying break and its evidence of deep administration disorder constitutes at least a 50-50 chance of losing that constituency outright. With that would go any chance of Rockefeller staying on the Ford 1976 ticket.

Rockefeller intimates scoff at such an event. They depict his New York speech as a lifesaver for Mr. Ford, reasoning thus: if Simon and Rumsfeld are wrong and a New York City bond default does indeed bring national financial chaos, the President, not the Democratic Congress, will get full blame. Yet, they say, without congressional action the President has no legal recourse.

In the background are hours of unhappy political talks between Rockefeller and leading New York Republicans representing the nation's big-city constituencies. At least one of these has warned Rockefeller that the administration's no-aid posture risks political disaster for 1976. Beyond that, Rockefeller's old New York political pals see grave dangers for the President, quite apart from New York City's imminent bankruptcy, in the miserable condition of Mr. Ford's campaign organization.

My Answer

Billy Graham

I heard you say on one of your telecasts that crime and evil are increasing. That is a negative statement. Why don't you preachers talk about the good that is going on in the world instead of the bad? It seems to me that people need encouragement, not fear and doom.

I agree that people need encouragement, but we must be realistic and not like the ostrich which puts his head in the sand to blind himself to approaching danger.

Facts are facts, and I will give you a few. The new FBI report for 1975 shows that the crime rate soared by 18 per cent this year. The Attorney General, Edward H. Levi, called the increase "one of the terrifying facts of life." The report indicates increases in all seven crime categories. Robbery surged 28 per cent, murder was up 7 per cent, rape 4 per cent, burglary 20 per cent, larceny 19 per cent, and motor vehicle theft 6 per cent.

The statistics for January, February and March of this year showed that crime rose by 21 per cent in rural areas, 19 per cent in the suburbs, and 17 per cent in cities over 25,000 population. There were no declines in any category.

The Attorney General said, "The new statistics again point up the need to improve the nation's criminal justice system."

The good news is: "If any man in Christ, he is a new creature" (II Corinthians 5:17). The way to cope with crime is to change men for the better.

"You must believe that I'm a sweet, innocent, brainwashed victim... or else Tabia will be forced to..."

Are You Ready?

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) —

Nostalgia is hardly a profitable pastime for investment managers, whose job is to look into the future instead, but you can't blame some mutual fund officials when they dream wistfully of the 1960s.

Those were the days. The industry had about 4.3 million customer accounts when the decade began and more than 10 million at the end. It began with assets of about $16 billion; it closed the decade with nearly $50 billion.

The investment atmosphere was electric; there just didn't seem to be enough mutual fund shares to satisfy the demand. From about 150 at the beginning of the 1960s, the number of funds reached around 300.

Performance, or quick profits, was the rate. Investors in some funds saw their money double in a year or more, and instead of being satisfied they demanded more. Nothing, they thought, was impossible for a good portfolio manager.

Had the mutual funds discovered the secret of certain profits? The more responsible, conservative fund managers tried to warn the public to look at the long-term record, but some swinging managers didn't mind if they were mistaken for geniuses.

It's a different atmosphere now. Shareholders in many mutual funds appear to be disillusioned, and many of them are selling, despite some enormous individual gains made in the first half of the year.

Assets, which had peaked at close to $60 billion in 1972, fell to only $35 billion in August 1974, and are still only $10 billion higher than that figure. For six straight months redemptions have exceeded sales.

The view of the future, as seen from the 1960s, was one of almost constant ascent. It was like a great elevator ride. From the perspective of the 1970s, we know it's a roller coaster, not an elevator.

A fund that is on the run — one that has misread the market and is suffering big losses — sometimes finds itself nearly unable to defend itself any better than a bank whose financial stability is suspect.

Staph Common Cause Of Boils

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am hoping you might be able to help me with a serious problem. It seems I contracted staph germ about ten years ago. Since that time I have had approximately 25 boils.

I have been treated with antibiotics and heat application, but my doctor has not been able to come up with a permanent cure.

What causes the boils? Can vitamins help to build up resistance? Once you have staph germ in your body can it be cured? — Mrs. D. M.

Recurrent staphylococcus infections are indeed serious. The germ involved is one of the most stubborn and ornery we encounter, and its effects can be painful and frustrating. You need a better understanding of what it is and how it works.

First of all, you did not contract this germ once and for all ten years ago. It is a recurrent infection you are dealing with. You are unfortunate in that your body is not resistant to the germ, and you have managed to come into contact with it on a regular basis.

It is a rather common germ, but fortunately most of us are resistant to it. The germ is present in the skin. Common sites are the nose and the genital areas. In fact, the commonest cause of boils is the staph germ, although strep germs are also associated with them.

To your specific questions, you should have an adequate diet with sufficient protein for your general health. Your diet should, of course, include adequate vitamins, but no particular vitamin helps against boils.

In treatment, penicillin and other antibiotics have been helpful, but for some reason the germ has become resistant to some drugs that once were specific treatments. There are new antibiotics which can be used, several of the "mycin" drugs among them.

Heat applied to a boil should be dry heat (as with a lamp or a hot water bottle) rather than with wet compresses.

Scrupulous hygiene is essential in avoiding skin "colonies" of the germs. Antiseptic soaps and detergents are helpful. You should be careful about washing your hands, and be extra cautious in handling soiled dressings used for the boils.

The germ can be easily transferred, so you should keep your fingernails short and keep fingers away from your eyes and nose. A nasal antibiotic spray may be necessary if infection occurs in that area.

Why some people are prone to this infection and others are not is unclear. I recall years ago going through a series of styes (from a staph infection). I probably had gotten a little careless in protecting myself in my examination room.

After some agonizing months, the sequence of infection stopped, and I haven't had trouble since. I hope you eventually are able to lick this problem.

Method To Change

Around The Rim

John Edwards

For the first time, Howard County voters will be punching holes in computer cards instead of marking paper ballots Nov. 4 when the state constitutional election is scheduled.

TOM D. ESCHBERGER, of Computer Election Systems, Fort Worth, outlined the system this way: Election officials at the nine consolidated election boxes will check voter registration lists before Punch-card voting booths with legs have books with instructions in both English and Spanish. You insert the card under the book.

"It is impossible for the voter to put the ballot in incorrectly and still vote," Eschberger said. If the ballot is inserted upside down, the holes in the card will not align with the holes in the machine.

Using a metal punch, you make holes in the card indicating approval or rejection of the eight propositions as you turn the pages of the book. After you remove the card, by looking at the numbers you can determine if the card was punched according to your preferences.

YOU DROP the ballot in the ballot can, sign the stub and put it in the stub box.

When the polls close, election judges take the cans to the county clerk's office, the central counting station.

"There will not be any counting in the precincts," Eschberger explained. Joseph R. Turcotte, a local computer expert, will be counting station judge. The counting station manager, not yet named, will be responsible for receipt and inspection of ballots.

A tabulation supervisor, also not yet designated, will operate a "mini-computer" supplied by Computer Election Systems.

"The only thing it won't count is one that's torn," Eschberger said. A pink duplicate card will be punched to duplicate any torn card.

"We can tabulate the largest precinct in this county in four minutes," Eschberger asserted. The machine counts 600 ballots per minute.

Once counted, the ballots are sealed in a metal case.

A public test of the computer is slated 3 p.m. Monday, Nov. 3, in the County Clerk's office.

The punch-card firm will hold a class for precinct judges, clerks and other interested persons at 7:30 p.m. the same day in the county courtroom.

Commissioners Court contracted to pay $2,900 for use of the equipment, election officials pay for most materials. County Judge Bill Tude said. The county has the option to purchase punch-card machines for future elections.

Lever voting machines cost about $2,400 each, and Howard County can buy 10 or more punch-card booths for $247.50 each, Eschberger said.

Paper ballots are used by the majority of Texas counties still, Eschberger said.

Gaining Support

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — For one observer, a quick trip across the country with stops at half a dozen cities gives evidence that President Ford's anti-spending campaign is gaining support. It is close to the primary concern of most Americans, which is inflation and the rising price spiral.

TWO DEMOCRATIC governors, Edmund G. Brown Jr. in California and Michael Dukakis in Massachusetts, are taking the same line. Moving against the traditional liberal welfare-current of their party, they are winning followers in unexpected quarters.

On the international scene the same resistance to big spending is apparent. Frequently questions were raised about the proposed $3.3 billion to go Israel and Egypt as one consequence of the Sinai disengagement. Why should the United States have to pay such a high price for peace?

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's answer is that a new Middle East war would cost many times that amount. If it was accompanied by another oil embargo, or even a partial embargo, the chances for economic recovery in the West would go down the drain.

While that is the logic of the price tag on this new short step toward peace, it does not reassure the doubters who see foreign spending contributing to the huge deficits that lie ahead just as surely as domestic spending. And they question the contradiction of a flat no to New York City's plea for help with the ready compliance with the shopping list submitted by Israel.

What seems likely to come out is for Israel and perhaps $650 million for Egypt. Military aid to Israel was a foregone legislative conclusion even before the Sinai disengagement.

An open-ended amendment to an appropriation bill put in by Sen. Henry M. Jackson was, in effect, a pledge for all that Israeli military planners consider essential. Some provisions in the Sinai agreement, secret until they were leaked, caused deep disquiet in Congress. Particularly the promise to consider supplying Israel with Pershing missiles which have a ground-to-ground range of 400 to 450 miles.

THIS WOULD make every city in the Arab world a target. In a report filed after a Middle East swing by a congressional delegation, Rep. David R. Obey, D-Wis., senior member of the appropriations subcommittee which has jurisdiction over all foreign military and economic aid programs said: "I believe we would be doing Israel and the cause of peace a long-term favor by reducing substantially the amount of aid being requested for Israel by the Administration, limiting it to an amount necessary to keep Israel's economy viable and to maintain its existing military capability. Any additional military assistance should be limited only to an amount necessary to offset any increases in the offensive capabilities of the Arabs." Obey contended that aid in the magnitude proposed by the Administration would encourage the belief in Israel that there is ample time available to work out basic issues and a further disengagement on the West Bank and the Golan Heights. The fear, shared by others, is that the momentum for peace in this first step will be lost.

Blinding Ford's anti-spending drive is that, in the same press conference, he can inveigh against Congress for overriding his veto of the school-lunch bill while denouncing any cuts in the full measure of what the Pentagon wants in military hardware.

The military budget in Pentagon terms is $104 billion. With military assistance to various nations, including Israel, it is $107 billion. Ford takes this as sacrosanct, though it is larded with money for new weapons development that will add to the extraordinary arithmetic of overkill both in nuclear stockpiles and delivery systems.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:

I came here from a place we will call Grand Prairie, where we had front yard trash pickup, the plastic bag kind. There, as here, I yearned for the olden days of smoke and ashes, burned-down fences and flaunting of ecological ideals. Remember bottles popping and paper curling? All that was most definitely preferable to the sheer nastiness of the plastic bag display on trash day. One dare not put out the bags the night before, and if we had neighbors who did now and then, well, there went the whole neighborhood, even with the very strict leash laws, how could cats be controlled? Our trash men even wore white and I'd swear carried slide rules to determine whether some foreign thing like a curtain rod box should be removed or left on the lawn. Yes, it all should fit the plastic bags — or else! And when, God forbid, you fell heir to a wrongly perforated supply of bags, besides the hysteria when the bottom fell out in the kitchen, just try to tie the ends of a bag full of trash. You learn to tie one end before you fill the thing, but it does limit the amount it will then hold.

Then, there was another place we will call Odessa, where we had the large containers that were plunked down here and there in the alleys. Somehow I always had the feeling I was lifting a coffin lid and when I did get it lifted, prayed it would not fall on me whilst I tried to make a resting place for my trash there with the rest.

Now, out here where I live, I see out front the antique-looking trash barrels (antique-looking because they've had it) and the furrow plowed up to them by the trash truck because the street has been broken by the trash truck because we don't have a curb, and because West Texas is becoming a cranberry bog — well — all I can say is, "Right on, Mr. Joseph Dawes!" Let's don't bury the plastic bags. We could put the garbage into the holes in the streets. Then, let the City come cover it up (using the revenue from the increase for trash pickup) thus solving two problems at once!

Dear Abby

Wife Spoils Hubby With Sweet-Talking Routine

DEAR ABBY: My mother used to nag my father all the time, so I made up my mind that no matter what the circumstances were, I would never nag my husband.

Well, Ted and I have been married for seven months, and if ever a wife had reasons to nag her husband, I had plenty, but I kept my mouth shut.

The biggest problem is that Ted doesn't come right home after work. And he never calls to tell me he'll be late.

Even when he comes home at 4:00 in the morning with liquor on his breath, I greet him with a smile and a sexy nightie and say, "Hi, Darling, can I fix you something to eat?"

Last Friday, he went to work and I didn't see him again until Monday evening. I was worried sick, but when he showed up, all I said was, "Gee, hon, I sure missed you."

I'm afraid he's got another girl. I can't understand him. He was so crazy about me when we first met, he made me break my engagement to another guy to marry him.

What am I doing wrong? NEEDS ADVICE

DEAR NEEDS: You are letting Ted get away with murder. I don't recommend nagging a man, but I do think you should cut out the phony sweet talk and substitute some PLAIN talk. Your marriage is headed for the rocks. Get some counseling!

DEAR ABBY: When kids marry and have babies, and their marriages fail, they call on Grandma to look after their children while they work, date and so forth.

All Grandma gets for raising someone else's child is the remark, "My mother spoils my child, but what can I do?"

Most grandmothers, weary from having raised their own children, would appreciate a little peace and quiet in their later years, but they fall into the trap of having to raise their grandchildren, too.

Abby, please try to free the grandmothers!

WEARY AND TRAPPED DEAR W AND T: Sorry, but every grandmother who wants to be "free" will have to free herself. When she is asked to look after her

CFC Sets Mark With $40,392

The Combined Federal Campaign CFC for 1975 was the best in the history of the Big Spring area. The final total of $40,392 exceeded the previous best of two years ago by $4,202.

What makes this year's contributions even more noteworthy, there are about 500 fewer people working in the local federal agencies than there were then.

There was an increase of $5,525 over last year which represents a 15.9 per cent gain.

The per cent of individual participation was also up 12.3 per cent above 1974.

The 'lion's share' of the credit, however, goes to you federal employees who participated," said Col. Robert A. Owens, wing commander at Webb and Big Spring area CFC chairman.

"Special credit goes to the employees in the downtown federal agencies — VA Hospital, Post Office, Social Security Office and Department of Agriculture — whose participation and giving far exceeded their goal.

"Through your participation," Owens added, "you demonstrated that federal employees want to be, and are, involved in their local community. You also demonstrated that you care about the needs of others."

"The over-all campaign far exceeded all expectations," said Major Don W. Box, project officer of the campaign this year. "It was made possible through the support of supervisors, hard work of team chiefs and key men along with the cooperation and generosity of participants."

H. D. Caldwell, who had appeared previously at the public hearing, again gave a strong objection to his property being annexed to the city.

Both areas were approved for annexation with the mayor expressing the opinion of the council "This action is for the best interests of the majority of Big Spring to protect our east boundary."

The council approved an emergency reading of a resolution adopting a minute order as approved by the highway commission for the topping of Scurry Street from 15th to FM 700 service road.

Three Big Springers will be in Colorado City today and Saturday for a Rockwell Bros. & Co. Lumber "Get Together."

Host for the "Get Together" will be Tandy Curlee, manager of the Colorado City lumberyard, the third oldest business in the city, founded in 1906.

The event will be attended by people from cities where the company has lumberyards, including Portales, N.M., Albany, Friona, Hamlin, Hereford, Plainview, Leuders, Rotan, Cisco, Coleman, and Breckenridge, as well as Big Spring.

Today's program includes refreshments at the lumberyard, tours of local historic markers and museum, a shopping tour, and a fish fry that night.

Saturday, there will again be refreshments at the lumberyard and a luncheon later than day.

Seven Civilian Workers Gain Service Emblems

Seven civilian workers at Webb AFB are receiving service emblems and certificates today. The three with longest tenures, Elsie K. Merrell, 30 years; Paul J. Leuschner, and Henry H. Oliver, each with 20 years; will be presented their emblems by Col. Robert A. Owens, wing commander.

Those receiving 10-year service certificates will receive them in their divisions. They are: Normal Kelley of Supply Item Accounting, Maxine R. Myers of Accounting and Finance, William E. Jennings of the Fire Department, and Mackie L. Hays of Civilian Personnel.

Mrs. Merrell works in the Supply Materiel Facilities Branch. Mr. Leuschner is manager of the bowling alley and Mr. Oliver is in the Field Maintenance Aerospace System Branch.

Mrs. Merrill's 30 years were all accumulated in West Texas and New Mexico. During World War II she began her career as a sheet metal worker at the bombardier school at Midland Army Air Field.

Always in the aircraft maintenance or supply fields, Mrs. Merrell was a serviceman and storage mechanic at the Hobbs AAF, N.M. She then went to the Rattlesnake Bomber Base at Pyote, Tex., as an aircraft mechanic and sheet metal worker.

After the Pyote base closed in 1954, Mrs. Merrell came to Webb where she has remained. At first she was an aircraft researcher, then an inspector, a receiving foreman and finally the foreman of inspection for supplies and equipment.

Peanut Butter Cookie Vandals Ransack Rannels

Vandals ripped into Rannels Junior High Thursday night doing extensive damage with little sense to their operation.

Windows on the cafeteria were ripped loose. "It wasn't just one window but almost all of them," according to Tom Henry, principal.

The ceiling of the cafeteria was damaged and peanut butter cookies were scattered and smeared throughout the building.

In the main building, offices were broken into and desks ransacked with papers and other items scattered throughout the building.

'STILL IN THE STREETS' No Solution Found For Truancy Woes

Faced with "mushrooming" numbers of truant students, the juvenile board Thursday afternoon outlined ways of grappling with the problem.

Daily, the city juvenile division receives five to six calls about truancy, Lt. Jim McCain said.

"We pick these kids up time after time," McCain explained. "We sit them down and warn them and let them go," McCain continued. "I know the number of truant students we pick up can't be handled through the courts. We've got to have some kind of discipline."

"I think the school system needs to start filing charges" on parents of truant students, Watkins added.

A state law permitting a justice of the peace or county judge to fine truant's parents was found. Parents may be fined $5-$25 for the first offense, $10-$50 for the second offense and $25-$100 for subsequent offenses.

Also, state law authorizes the juvenile court judge, District Judge Ralph W. Caton here, to send habitual truant youths to state juvenile school or similar institutions.

In aggravated cases, the board favored this approach. "TOO MANY" Sending all offenders to the state school at Pyote would not be possible, Judge Caton said.

"They might have to open a McCain unit out there there'll be so many," Judge Caton said. "They'll stay a while. Whenever they get ready to walk off the lot, they're going to do it."

Most of the truant students come from white, middle class families, McCain said.

A "personality conflict with the teacher or just a flat hard time learning" leads to truancy frequently, McCain said.

Not only is the city juvenile division seeing many of the same truant students repeatedly, some youths who have been picked up eight or nine times for felony offenses are "still on the streets," McCain complained.

The only city representative present at the meeting suggested more emphasis by District Attorney Robert H. Bob Moore III on his juvenile court duties.

"I think if he could show a little more interest in prosecuting these juveniles it would help," McCain said. "I know he's busy."

Moore was in El Paso attending a conference for district attorneys today and Thursday.

ONE JUDGE Judge Caton, who serves both as district and juvenile court judge in Howard, Martin and Glasscock Counties, said there has been only one district judge here for the last 26 years.

When the legislature created the three-county judicial district, Howard County had a population of 17,000.

With minor offenses, McCain said city juvenile officials first warn the youth and talk with his family.

The second time the offender is referred to Ed Cherry, juvenile probation officer, who frequently puts them on voluntary unofficial probation.

"He may live that probation out and then be picked up again," Cherry said.

Next, Judge Caton may order the youth placed on official probation. Confinement by the Texas Youth Council is the last resort.

"It's one of the most hopeless things I've ever heard of," Judge Caton said of juvenile delinquency.

Judge Caton said 80-85 per cent of the adult criminals he tries are 17-21 years of age.

The public thinks of them as men with broken noses and cauliflower ears. "It's a kid barely able to shave sitting out there," the judge said.

WALTER BILLINGS

Who Said Thirteen Unlucky?

Thirteen didn't prove to be unlucky for that total of men who completed Webb AFB's first NCO Leadership School last week. They received certificates at special ceremonies last Friday evening in Withycombe Hall and heard guest speaker, Lt. Col. Arthur W. Burer relate his experiences as a prisoner of war.

Singled out for special honors were: SSGT. Walter L. Billings of the Hospital, honor graduate; Sgt. Thomas R. Bailey of Organization Maintenance, commandant's award; and Sgt. Ronald J. Owens of Supply, academic achievement award.

Other graduates were: SSGT. Douglas K. Brann, Sgts. Gale L. Freese, Ricky L. Johnson and Modesto L. Perez of Field Maintenance; SSGT. Thomas G. Knight and Sgt. Wendall E. O'Brien of Organizational Maintenance.

Also Ssgts. Donald L. Gottshall of Air Base Group and Phillip C. Thomas of Civil Engineering, and Sgts. Thomas R. Knowles of Student Squadron and Harold C. Lopez of Supply.

TSGT. Roy S. Hughes, an instructor in the school, was master of ceremonies for the event. Guests who made the special presentations were: Col. Robert A. Owens, wing commander; Col. Robert F. Brodman, base commander; and Lt. Col. Robert G. Mathews, chief of personnel.

TSGT. Dean C. Barribal, commandant of the school, presented the commandant's award.

Graduates completed 152 hours of academic study and practical application during the four weeks of the school. Among subjects studied were doctrines of Democracy and Communism, Air Force organization, social issues, labor relations, functions of management, resource conservation, human relations, and duties and responsibilities of NCOs.

Check Trash Unit Minutes

The committee which made recommendations to the city staff concerning cleaning up the town and improving the method of trash pickup recommended that all trash and garbage be placed in plastic containers and that the staff investigate the cost estimate.

This is the recommendation in the minutes of the group. Members did not mention in their study whether this should be in the back or the front of the premises.

The group studied containerization in one city and found it to be the most expensive method. They also studied both paper and plastic sack costs.

Texas Baptists Will Convene

THE NICKELLS
...Betty and Billy

Evangelist to Host Two Speakers

Pastor D. Terry Wilson invites the public to attend an Evangelistic Crusade at Evangel Temple Assembly of God Church, beginning Wednesday, Oct. 29 through Sunday, Nov. 2.

Evangelist Billy and Betty Nickell from Andrews, who are becoming more widely known through their evangelism, will be ministering each evening at 7 p.m.

There will be music and singing each night that will "inspire and be a blessing," according to Pastor Wilson.

ATTEND THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE This Sunday

Rev. Nickell will be preaching and teaching from the Bible each night concerning matters of "this hour." "There will be something special each night," Wilson added.

All denominations are welcome.

Garden City Slates Party

Garden City Methodist Church's annual Halloween Party will be held Oct. 29 at 7 p.m. in Fellowship Hall.

There will be prizes for the young ones who come in costume as well as special games and refreshments.

The adults are urged to come in tacky clothes. Adults will also participate in the games.

Residents of Garden City of other denominations are invited to attend.

Texas Baptists will take a peek into the past and a look into the future when they meet in Dallas next week.

"We will be dealing with a bicentennial theme," says Dr. Ralph Smith, pastor of Hyde Park Baptist Church of Austin and president of the 2.2-million member denomination.

"We will be emphasizing how Texas Baptists have been blessed by God," Smith said, noting the convention will also adopt the largest budget in its history and take bold steps into the future.

The $23-million Cooperative Program Budget is the largest ever adopted by a state convention.

Smith has been president of the convention during the years of phenomenal financial growth. He is due to step down and messengers will elect a new president.

Last year, in his presidential address, Smith challenged Texas Baptist to win 100,000 new converts in 1975. How successful the 4,200 churches of the state have been will not be known until the annual church letters are tabulated later.

Messengers likely will again be faced by a controversy over the charismatic movement, which drew attention last year in the annual meeting in Amarillo.

Smith said he believes the movement is dying down, but added there may be a challenge to seating messengers from churches which practice charismatic ministries.

"I would not be surprised if such a challenge comes. I hope it won't though." The likelihood of a fight was virtually assured when the Dallas Baptist Association ousted two of its member churches because they have charismatic ministries.

THE MOODY FAMILY

Trinity Slates Special Music

Trinity Baptist Church is having its annual Fall Round-up Day Sunday, Oct. 26. This is a day for which a special drive is initiated to achieve a large attendance in both Sunday School and church services.

Western clothes will be worn by the congregation to create a "Round-Up Day" atmosphere and special music is planned. The Leonard Moody family will be singing at all services this Sunday.

The Moodys, who are now in full time gospel music, have appeared in numerous church services and civic organization programs. On one occasion they appeared with Roger Staubach, quarterback for the Dallas Cowboys.

Mr. Moody won an award for writing the outstanding gospel song of the year entitled "Use Me." Moody was the music director of Trinity Baptist Church for about six years.

Leonard Moody, his wife Jan and their two daughters, Tonda and Toni, make up the group and the family. The church is looking forward to a great day.

REV. RUTHERFORD

Missionary Due Sunday

The Reverend Irvin E. Rutherford, former missionary to South Vietnam, will be guest speaker Sunday, Oct. 26, 10:45 a.m., at the First Assembly of God Church, 4th and Lancaster, the Reverend W. Randall Ball, pastor, has announced.

The Rev. Rutherford and his wife Linda participated in establishing Teen Challenge, a rehabilitation program for teenage heroin addicts, in Saigon, South Vietnam.

The South Vietnamese government had donated property in the population center of Saigon on which Teen Challenge had built a fifty-bed rehabilitation facility to provide help for the approximately thirty thousand Vietnamese heroin addicts.

In preparation for this work, Rev. Rutherford has served twelve years with the Teen Challenge ministry. Six years in Dallas-Fort Worth, Texas and the past six years as Executive Director in San Antonio Teen Challenge, San Antonio, Texas.

Rev. Rutherford will also discuss his future ministry in Indonesia at this special missions rally. The public is invited to attend.

REV. DICK MILLS

Evangelists Due At Seminar

Rev. Dick Mills, an evangelist, teacher and lecturer, will speak in a teaching seminar at the Dora Roberts Community Center sponsored by the Solid Rock Christian Center.

The seminar will be held Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 29 and 30. He will speak at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday and at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Rev. Mills is affiliated with the Anaheim Christian Center and has traveled in 40 states and eight foreign countries during his 20 years in the field.

SHE NEEDS HELP

Her brother realizes that. And so do my wife and I . . . most of the time. But sometimes Sunday mornings mean a ride in the country . . . sleeping late . . . receiving guests. Something, every Sunday. Then one day, watching her trying to read, I realized that filling her mind and heart and soul is a continuous process. It can't be restricted to days of the week. So Sundays in church have become part of our life style. We all are finding new insights, strengthening our faith, discovering ourselves and God. Our little girl needs help. To this Christian family that's the understatement of the year!

PUTTING HER IN A TRANCE — Kay Hepner (sitting left), who takes the role of Madame Arcati, is about to put Edith, played by Cindy McDonald, in a trance in the play, "Blithe Spirit," which begins a two-night run in the Howard College Auditorium at 8 o'clock this evening. Jan Cass, who takes the role of the ghost, Elvira, watches the deliverance of Edith into a dream state. The Noel Coward comedy is being presented by the Howard College Fine Arts Department and is being directed by John Gordon. Seats are $2.50 for adults and $1 for students, with no seats reserved.

Bentsen Speaks About NYC Financial Woes

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., says he does not feel the nation can ignore the financial problems of New York City, though the city has "lived extravagantly."

"I am not in favor of any bailout, but it would be foolhardy to think that New York's problems do not spill over to other areas," Bentsen said.

"There is no question they have lived extravagantly, but if they present a balanced budget and live within their income then the federal government should buy New York bonds for two years to get the market straightened out and give New York a chance to get back on its feet."

Bentsen made the comments in an interview here Thursday, where he brought his campaign for the presidency. It was his sixth visit since announcing his candidacy last February.

He also said he thinks campaign financing is "critical" to the Democratic presidential nomination.

"Funding is very critical. I think you will see many candidates fall by the wayside in the first few primaries, some early in the year."

The Texas senator said he plans to campaign hard in the Illinois and New York primaries and is undecided about entering the New Hampshire primary.

"I think you will see three or four candidates at the convention and three or four ballots before there is a nominee," he said. "It's anyone's race and my chances are good, better than most."

Bentsen's visit coincided with that of Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., who announced his candidacy earlier in the week, and Stewart L. Udall, who is managing the presidential campaign of his brother, Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz.

Will Mail Production Card To Cotton Farmers

Howard County farmers should read carefully letters from the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) in the next few weeks, Tim Hall, ASCS county executive director, said.

Each cotton producer will be mailed a production card for each farm with cotton.

After the cotton is ginned, farmers should bring completed cards to the ASCS office.

adjustment form should be filed, Hall said. This must be done before or within 15 days after harvest.

Farmers should notify ASCS of any acres of cotton or feed grains destroyed, so these acres may be deleted from "yield production," Hall added.

VOTING, WOOL

Hall also pointed to the coming ASCS election. A new community committee slate will be nominated. Farmers are reminded to submit their petitions by Oct. 28.

Wool producers should present production information for program consideration, Hall noted.

Deregulation Would Harm Airports

DALLAS (AP) — The chairman of the board of Braniff International Airlines says that President Ford's proposed deregulation of airlines would endanger the nation's airport system.

Harding L. Lawrence said here Thursday that the "free entry and free exit provision of the proposed measure could tear down the whole air transportation industry and result in a 'blood bath' which would be the end of many carriers."

He said the result could be the emergence of one or two monopolistic companies with tremendous cash resources, but inefficient.

Moreover, Lawrence predicted that the nation's airport system would be endangered because of the threat to airport financing and airport bond sales during the shakedown period of "blood bath" competition.

"Right here at the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport we have an investment of more than $700 million at stake," he noted.

Map Salute To America

The Steer Band will once again salute America during its halftime performance at the Midland Lee-Big Spring football game tonight. The band will open the show with the "America '76 Fanfare."

Members will then form an outline of the United States and of Texas while playing a medley of "Look Up, America" and "Mother Country."

A medley of "Let There Be Peace on Earth" and "America the Beautiful" will provide the background for the band to spell "SAM" and "USA."

The band will close its performance with "Steers, Fight."

Vote Posts Scheduled To Be Filled Fire Guts Tech Dormitory, Extinguishers 'Inoperative'

Several appointments for the Nov. 4 constitutional election are scheduled for County Commissioners Court Monday.

The court will consider naming County Clerk Margaret Ray as counting station manager, John Hurd as tabulation supervisor and Robert Wheeler election judge of the special canvassing board.

Wheeler will be the only election judge charged with counting ballots, paper ballots being used for absentee voting. A computer will be used to tabulate punch-card ballots election day.

In other business Monday, the court will:

- Discuss rotating lights for Texas Highway Patrol cars and a copying machine for the sheriff's office.
- Open bids on two file cabinets for the district attorney's office.
- Inspect county properties, confer with County Engineer Neel Barnaby and approve bills.

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — A three alarm blaze severely gutted a Texas Tech University coed dormitory Thursday night.

No injuries were reported, either from the fire or from inhalation of smoke which filled the building's upper levels.

Flames from the 8 p.m. fire in Wall Hall were visible across the Tech campus.

Dorm resident Elaine Elmendorff said she returned to her sixth floor room to find a mattress on fire and flames enveloping the room. The room was gutted and flames climbed out the window, damaging the roof.

The fire also spread into a room across the hall in the south wing of the dormitory.

Extinguishers, which had been filled just three days ago, were reportedly inoperative on the top three floors.

Firemen were forced to use a dry "standpipe" system which does not work unless fire department hoses are hooked to it. A "wet system" proved inoperative, Fire Chief Tom Foster said.

He said the wet system, a cabinet containing water, could not be used because the valve "hadn't been activated for a while."

Firemen were driven away from the cabinet because of the heat, he said, so fire officials decided to use the standpipe system.

The fire alarm system did not go off automatically and the entire sixth floor was evacuated before a resident was able to sound the alarm.

It took over an hour for the 27 firemen to control the blaze.

University officials were working today to find beds for the 400 coeds.

One Tech official said it was difficult to get close to the building because students were parked in fire lanes.

Mini-Bus Puzzle

At a meeting of the Dawson County Commissioners' Court, Lamesa, Oct. 27, members will consider the purchase of a mini-bus to provide transportation for senior citizens in Dawson County.

Commissioners will also finalize plans for an open house for the courthouse.

In other business, commissioners will:

- Hear Harvey C. Allen in regard to a Community Building.
- Hear Mrs. Jenkins and Mrs. Cox speak about a day care center.
- Receive a committee from the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTION Education Article Changed Very Little

(Editors Note: This is the sixth in a series of nine articles on the proposed new Texas Constitution that will be placed before the voters at the Nov. 4 election.)

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—For all the time legislators spent debating the education article of the proposed new Texas Constitution, they came up with very little in the way of change.

Possibly the most intense debate of the 1974 Constitutional Convention, whose work was submitted to the voters by this year's legislature, revolved around education.

But what resulted was an apparently innocuous declaration for "equal educational opportunity," addition of instructional materials to the free textbooks provision and expansion of college and university bonds.

The article says the legislature has a duty to provide a public school system that furnishes "each individual an equal educational opportunity"—a gesture toward meeting the problem of financial inequality that was raised by the Rodriguez case. But it follows this guarantee with a provision that allows districts with plenty of taxable property to continue "enriching" their program meaning the rich probably can keep their edge over the poor in educational quality.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock contends the "equal educational opportunity" guaranteed "should increase pressures for more spending for public school education." The $100 million now appropriated for "equalization aid" is only "a minimal example" of what will follow, he predicts.

The Legislative Budget Board, however, contends the state already is implementing a commitment to "equal educational opportunity and any fiscal implications of the item" would have to do with the distribution of state school aid rather than the total amount of state school aid." George Braden, former Yale law professor, said the equal opportunity requirement is "a confused command" that would require many judicial interpretations.

"The compromise between the desire for equal opportunity and the unwillingness to forego the opportunity for local communities to provide themselves with something better than the state average defies logic and altogether satisfies no one," he said. "Nevertheless, the norm of equal opportunity is stated and will undoubtedly have weight with the legislature and the courts."

Under the new document, the cost of instructional materials used in the schools would come out of the Available School Fund, representing a drain of $20 million to $24 million a year before the rest of the fund is distributed to school districts on a per child basis.

Bullock contended the general revenue fund would have to make this up, but the budget board said: "The net result would be a reduction of approximately $10 per pupil in state aid to 'budget balance' districts—comparatively rich districts—offset by the value of instructional materials those districts would receive."

When Gov. Dolph Briscoe declared his opposition to the new constitution on Oct. 14, his sole mention of the education article concerned university bonds.

"I am opposed to increasing the bonding authority of the Permanent University Fund at a time when enrollment in institutions of higher learning is leveling off," Briscoe said.

The permanent fund consists of invested oil and gas royalties and other income from land dedicated to support of the University of Texas and Texas A&M. Dividends from the investments become the Available University Fund, which can be used to pay off construction bonds and finance "extras" for the two systems.

The new constitution would raise the amount of bonds that can be issued from 20 per cent to 30 per cent of the size of the permanent fund. It also would allow the bond proceeds to be spent on all campuses of the two university systems, not just the main ones, and add library books and building repairs to the purposes for which the money could be used.

Bullock said repayment of the additional bonds would reduce the amount of the available fund that could be spent on other things, and general revenue would have to take up the slack.

The budget board agreed, but also said bonds could finance some things that now are paid for out of general taxes. It mentioned construction and repairs at UT and A&M system schools that presently cannot benefit from Permanent University Fund bonds.

Schools not in the two super systems would get a "higher Education Fund," with the 10-cent state property tax backing their bonds. The tax now yields $25.9 million a year, already used to back some college debts.

The legislature could reduce the tax rate if full market value assessment of property sent yield from the property tax soaring beyond needed amounts.

Racial First In South Africa

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP)—The first "colored" man or mulatto has been granted membership in the all-white Eastern Province Surf Lifesaving Club.

"Many mulattos in Port Elizabeth are pleased that I am a member of the lifesaving association," said Volin Vlotman. "It is a foot in the door for mulatto people."

The sky is falling! The sky is falling!

Is it? Some doomsayers say yes... "mankind will not survive the 20th century." God has different ideas, however. History is moving forward, not to be stopped by man's folly, but by God's triumphant intervention. Hear about it!

Commercial Burglary Prevention Tips Offered

"The outside of a building shouldn't offer a burglar or robber a place to hide or an easy escape route," warned Sgt. Ed Kissinger of the local crime prevention unit.

"If a building has fencing or walls, they should be kept in good repair and clear of weeds, boxes, trash cans and so on. They should be difficult for someone to climb over or get through," he added.

Kissinger went on to say that gates to fences should be securely locked with heavy-duty, burglar-resistant chains and padlocks. The most effective fences are the see-through chain-link type. They should be placed away from the building to prevent their being used to gain access to the roof.

"Skylights, ventilation outlets, and fire escapes can all provide entrances for burglars," Kissinger cautioned. "To prevent this, they should be carefully secured with such protective devices as properly installed grating and burglar alarm sensors."

"Of course, security needs vary from one establishment to another," Kissinger concluded. "That's why the police department has a staff of specially trained consultants against crime available to examine businesses free of charge and make sound, economical recommendations."

Four West Texans Lauded By WTCC

AMARILLO - The West Texas Chamber of Commerce honored four West Texans and one community theater for their contributions to and promotion of the culture of West Texas during the two-day WTCC Mid-Year Meeting in Amarillo ending today.

Recipients of the 1975 awards were Mrs. Lou Cooley of Borger, Dr. I. F. Hudson of Stamford, Elmer Kelton of San Angelo, the people of the Fort Griffin Fandangle, and Thomas H. Barnett Jr. of Fort Worth, Chairman of WTCC's Cultural Affairs Committee for the past 10 years.

Presentation of the awards was made during the annual Cultural Achievement Awards Banquet by Barnett who, in return, received his surprise award from President Frank Junell of San Angelo.

Each received an engraved silver vase following an audio-visual presentation highlighting the life and career of each. Robert Green and Marilynne Jacobs accepted the award for the people of the Fort Griffin Fandangle.

In addition to the silver vase, Barnett was presented a bound volume of a collection of letters from past WTCC award recipients during his ten years as chairman of WTCC's Cultural Affairs Committee.

Mrs. Cooley, vice president of The First National Bank of Borger, was honored for her support of the arts by originating and supporting a wide variety of cultural activities in her hometown of Borger and surrounding area.

Dr. Hudson was named one of the 1975 recipients for community enhancement in cultural affairs. He is president and one of the founders of the Stamford Art Foundation, a parent organization for the annual Western Art Exhibit and Sale that benefits the West Texas Rehabilitation Center.

Kelton is a cowboy-writer and author of international fame for his many books on West Texas life.

Army Major Forced Into Retirement

KILLEEN, Tex. AP - Army Secretary Martin R. Hoffmann has ruled that Maj. Jack B. Park will be forced out of the Army six months short of his retirement eligibility.

Park, 49, assigned to nearby Ft. Hood, received notice late Wednesday that he would not be kept on active service despite a temporary reprieve granted two weeks ago.

Park is among 350 Army officers suing the secretary of the Army for allegedly being illegally forced out just prior to becoming eligible for full retirement benefits.

In a statement released Thursday by the Pentagon, the Army said, "The Army secretary accepted the standby board's recommendation not to promote Maj. Park on the basis that he was not among those best qualified for promotion."

Park, a decorated veteran of World War II, Korea and Vietnam, was notified Oct. 9 that he was being reconsidered for promotion by the special standby board and that his severance date was delayed from Oct. 17 until Oct. 30.

IF CHILDREN UNPROTECTED Epidemics Are Still Possibility In Texas

Texas is in an enviable position among the states in the nation. The number of victims of immunizable diseases has been going down steadily since 1970.

But this also can be disheartening to those in the health field, says Dr. John P. Board, Director of Region 2, Texas State Health Resources. Because of past successes, many parents are apathetic about these crippling, life-threatening diseases.

The most vulnerable children today in Texas are the unimmunized infants and preschoolers. Once children enter child care facilities or begin school they must be immunized against certain diseases, said Dr. Board.

But, he added, many Texas parents who do not have their children enrolled in child care facilities feel they can wait until their offspring are of school age to start immunizations. This is sheer fallacy, since diseases are striking these very young Texans.

October is immunization action month, and emphasis is being placed on getting all preschoolers immunized. It's a big job, and officials of state, regional and local health departments are joining with private physicians in a statewide effort during October.

Dr. Fratis L. Duff, new Director of the Department of Health Resources (formerly the State Health Department), emphasizes the need to meet the continuing challenge of preventive immunizations in young children. Approximately a quarter of a million babies are born in Texas each year, and these children must be immunized. Epidemics are still a possibility in Texas if all children aren't protected, said Dr. Duff.

If the percentages of vaccinated children decline in Texas, we will see the quick spread of these diseases once they get started.

Chief U.S. District Court Judge Adrian A. Spears banned Thursday all smoking "in any carpeted public lobby, rotunda, courtroom or elevator." Violators would face a contempt of court citation punishable by a fine, jail term or both. Judge Spears cited the large taxpayer investment in carpets, drapes and furnishings besides health and safety reasons. No one had tested the ban by Judge Spears during the first week the courthouse was open.

Name New State MHMR Counselor

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Edwin Killian, superintendent of Denton State School since 1960, was appointed Thursday as director of a state mental health genetic screening and counseling program, effective Nov. 1.

Killian will supervise clinics and specialists in helping prospective parents, with high chances of having mentally retarded children, make decisions about having children.

The Denton State School started the program four years ago with a grant from the Moody Foundation. A legislative appropriation of $1,162,572 for the next two years will enable the service to reach approximately one-fourth of Texas' population, says the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

Administrative assistant Richard Smith will serve as acting superintendent until a replacement for Killian is appointed.
