PUERTO RICAN GROUP CLAIMS CREDIT

Nine Bombs Rock U.S. Cities

By The Associated Press

Bombs were set off at nine business and government buildings in New York, Washington and Chicago early today. A Puerto Rican separatist group claimed responsibility for the bombings, which occurred a year and a day after five similar blasts the group was blamed for.

The bombs went off almost simultaneously in the three cities at about 2 a.m. EST and caused only minor damage and no injuries. One of the blasts damaged first and second-story windows at Chicago's Sears Tower, the world's tallest building.

The group's communique also said it had planted bombs in Puerto Rico, but there were no immediate reports of explosions there.

reports of explosions there.

'HONOR OF VETS'

In Chicago, a man called a newspaper after the explosions and said two more bombs were set to go off "in honor of the veterans." Police found an unexploded bomb consisting of five sticks of dynamite in a bouquet of roses at the Standard Oil Building. They were checking a suspicious box found in the Federal Reserve Bank.

In New York, Danny Mizesko, 19, a security guard at a West Side branch of the First National City Bank, heard one of the explosions and ran outside. He was standing 30 feet away when a bomb exploded in front of his own building. Shortly after the first blasts, a woman called The Associated Press in New York to say that the FALN was responsible for the blasts. FALN stands in Spanish for the Armed Forces for National Liberation, which seeks independence for Puerto Rico, a U.S. commonwealth.

The FALN had been blamed earlier for at least 10 bombings in the New York area, including one at historic Fraunces Tavern in Manhattan last January that killed four persons and injured 44 others.

25TH ANNIVERSARY

A note found by the New York Post in a phone booth said the bombings were the FALN's way of commemorating what it said was the 25th anniversary of revolution in Puerto Rico. The note said in part:

"Today armed units of the FALN commemorate the 25th anniversary of the October 30, 1950, revolution in Puerto Rico against yanki domination, and marks the first anniversary as an organization, by launching a simultaneously coordinated attack against yanki government and monopoly capitalist institutions in New York, Washington, D.C., Chicago and Puerto Rico.

PUERTO RICO FREEDOM

The note also demanded "the immediate independence of Puerto Rico and the unconditional release" of Oscar Collazo, convicted of trying to assassinate President

Truman in 1950, and four other persons convicted of wounding five congressmen with gunfire in the House in 1954 while shouting "Freedom for Puerto Rico."

The 25th anniversary apparently referred to Collazo's attempt on Truman's life. Five bombs exploded in New York City, with the U.S. Mission to the United Nations and four banks the targets. Two of the banks were in midtown Manhattan and the other two in the Wall Street area.

In Washington, the State Department building suffered minor damage from what a security force spokesman said appeared to be four separate bombs. It was the second bombing at the department this year.

TWO MORE

The bombs in Chicago exploded at the Sears Tower, the Continental Bank and the IBM building.

In Chicago, a man called the Chicago Sun Times and said, "I'm calling to say there will be two more bombings before 7 a.m. in honor of the Veterans." Today is Veterans Day.

Chicago police said they were seeking a suspect in connection with the bombings. He was described as white, about 5 feet 11 with a receding hairline and he was said to walk with a limp.

BANKS BLASTED

And in New York, police said they were looking for three men and a woman who were seen in a maroon colored car at the scene of three of the bombings.

In New York, the bank blasts occurred at two First National City branches at 40 W. 57th St. and 111 Wall St., a Chase Manhattan branch at Madison Avenue and East 57th Street, and the West Minster Bank at 100 Wall St.

The worst damage appeared to have occurred at the First National City branch on East 57th Street. The door and windows were blown out and the force of the explosion had ripped out windows across the street. Glass was strewn over the street.

At the U.S. Mission, windows were broken but damage was otherwise slight.

Franco Still Critically Ill

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Gen. Francisco Franco survived heart attacks and hemorrhaging early today, but developed a fever in the afternoon, his doctors reported.

They said his intestinal hemorrhaging was under control and heart irregularities had ceased for the moment, but that signs of heart failure continued, accompanied by a "light fever."

Spain awaited a new era as the life of its 82-year-old leader and his 36-year dictatorship neared their end.

After heart attacks and subsequent periods of improvement, the 13-man medical team attending Western Europe's last surviving dictator announced late Sunday night that his heart was experiencing "important rhythmic upsets with marked accentuation of the congestive cardiac insufficiency" from which he had been suffering for two days.

The announcement said he had been given a blood transfusion because of a gastric hemorrhage, and sources close to the medical team said the doctors had massaged the heart. The government radio service canceled its regular schedule and played classical music, awaiting the announcement of Franco's death.

Instead the doctors announced at 7 a.m. that their patient had a peaceful night and his condition had improved once more.

"He has reduced almost totally, with the treatment, gastric hemorrhaging and the upsets of cardiac rhythm, improving his cardiorhythm and maintaining a level of consciousness," the medical bulletin said.

WELCOME — Egypt's President Sadat waves to well-wishers as he walks with President Ford during welcoming ceremonies today at the White House.

Egyptian President Begins Arms Plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, the first Egyptian head of state to visit the United States, is here seeking U.S. military and economic aid.

Sadat, who arrived Sunday to begin his 11-day visit, spent the night at Williamsburg, Va., and was to meet President Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger at the White House today. A state dinner at the White House was scheduled for tonight for Sadat and his wife.

In his meetings with U.S. officials, Sadat also is expected to seek a promise that Israel will be pressured into giving up more land to the Arabs. He also reportedly wishes to encourage Congress to deny Israel ultramodern arms, such as the Pershing missile.

In a recorded television interview before he left Cairo, Sadat said he wishes to buy arms to replace weapons lost in the last Middle East war. He indicated he would go to other countries if the United States does not sell arms to Egypt.

Kissinger said recently he did not think "we will be prepared at this moment to make any specific commitments of military aid" to Egypt.

Sadat also stressed his desire for economic help. "Mainly, I want you to help me on the economic side, to have long-term loans because the difficulty in my economy is that we have short-term loans," Sadat said in an interview for ABC's "Issues and Answers."

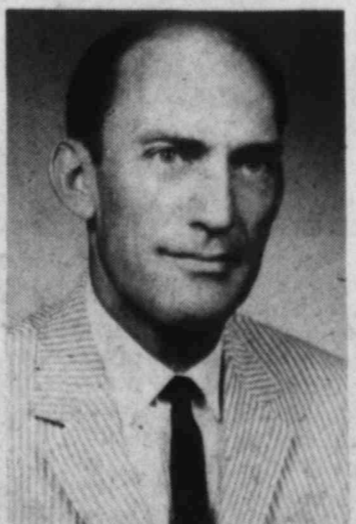

The Ford administration already has decided to ask Congress for at least $500 million in economic aid, but Sadat is expected to ask for more.

During his interview, Sadat said it was a "great possibility" that Israel has nuclear weapons.

Asked if he thought nuclear weapons would be used in another Middle East war, Sadat said he would order their use only in retaliation.

WARMER

Fair. High today and Tuesday in the mid 50s. Low tonight, low 50s. Southwesterly wind 15-25 miles per hour today. Southerly and 5-15 m.p.h. tonight.

Congress To Consider Taxes, Energy, NYC

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress faces more work this week on tax cuts, energy plans and ways to help financially troubled New York City.

The House Ways and Means Committee is turning to various business tax-cutting proposals to go along with its plan for extending some 1975 personal income tax reductions into 1976.

The current $577 billion temporary top on Treasury borrowing is due to expire Nov. 15 when the legal ceiling would drop to its permanent $400 billion level.

Nov. 15 also is the date on which all oil-price controls are due to expire. Energy bill conferees hope to get their compromise to the President before that date and there was speculation there might be an attempt to tie the two measures together to discourage Ford from vetoing the energy package.

Senate-House energy negotiators still face action on a proposal to prohibit use of gasoline diesel fuel to bus or transport pupils beyond the school closest to their homes. Also remaining is the oil-price dispute. While Ford has backed down from his original demand for an immediate end to all federal controls on oil prices, he still favors a gradual phase-out of controls.

The separate House and Senate bills contain features which would keep controls permanently and would reduce crude oil prices from current record high levels.

Elsewhere in Congress, the House intelligence committee is to hear Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger before deciding whether to enforce a subpoena against him.

Women's rights were carried a little too far here this week, according to a taxi driver of the Yellow Cab Company.

A female passenger rode all the way across town, got out of the cab, paused momentarily and then took off in a run down the alley.

The driver gave chase but could not catch the passenger. This occurred at 10:03 p.m. Sunday.

Philippine President's Assistant Murdered

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Presidential assistant Guillermo C. de Vega was shot to death at noon today in his office 200 yards from the presidential palace, members of President Ferdinand E. Marcos' staff said.

Security forces immediately closed off the heavily guarded palace compound in central Manila and streets within half a mile. They refused to make any comment on the killing.

A member of the presidential staff said Marcos was working in his office at the Malacanang Palace at the time of the shooting and continued to work.

Government sources said Nonoy Arceo, a former journalist and promoter, was arrested. Arceo and another man were with De Vega when he was shot, they said.

A member of De Vega's staff said four or five shots were heard about noon, and the 43-year-old official cried out in Tagalog, "Catch that man!"

A member of the presidential press staff said De Vega was hit three times and was reported dead on arrival at a nearby clinic.

De Vega was one of three presidential assistants and was also chairman of the board of motion picture censors. He served the Philippine president in many capacities.

He was sent last February to the United States to meet Privittivo Mijares, a newsman who had been close to Marcos until he announced in San Francisco that he was turning against the president and his martial-law regime.

BIG SPRING TO HOST 1976 JP ASSOCIATION CONCLAVE

After hearing a presentation from Justices of the Peace Bob West and Gus Ochotorena Jr., the West Texas Justice of the Peace Association designated Big Spring for its 1976 convention.

About 60 magistrates attended the 16th annual convention ending Saturday in Hereford. The 17th annual convention will be held in October.

Ochotorena was elected to the board of directors. A. O. Fields, a justice of the peace from Ozona, was named president.

In other business, members of the association unanimously voted to try to purchase and restore the houses of Judge Roy Bean, J. B. Torres and a third former judge in Langtry.

Texas Speaker of the House Bill Clayton, Springlake, State Sen. Max Sherman, Amarillo, and an assistant state attorney general spoke.

Among those attending was Justice of the Peace Richard Nelson, Lamesa.

Baseball Bat Is Used To Persuade Intruders

Armed with a baseball bat, a local man said he kept two men and two women from leaving the site of a burglary Saturday afternoon.

Garner Thixton, Sterling City Route Box 132, said he and his family drove by a rural house he owns and found a man inside.

He used his vehicle to block the road, sent his wife to call law enforcement officers and kept the four from leaving, Thixton said.

Inside a car parked outside the house, Sheriff A. N. Standard said these items were found:

A sewing machine, two car radios, a cassette and a reel-to-reel tape recorder, clothes and ball-point pens, all of which had been removed from the house.

Arrested were a 31-year-old man from San Antonio, a 41-year-old woman and 24-year-old woman and 27-year-old man, the latter three of Big Spring.

The suspects were released on bonds of $1,500 each set by County Judge Bill Tune. The San Antonio man also posted a $200 bond for public drunkenness.

No felony complaints had been filed this morning. In other activity, the sheriff's office reported theft of citizen band radios from two SH 350 (Snyder Highway) dance hall parking lots.

Tommy Harvell, 2201 Alabama St., said a CB radio was stolen from his pickup outside the Stamped.

And Walter Fields, Garden City Route, said a CB radio and 22-caliber pistol were taken from his pickup while it was parked outside the Rendezvous.

Never Enough Good Teachers

Two beautiful educational icons have been scarred, if not destroyed. One portrayed the educational Nirvana to be achieved by small classes and individual instruction. The other held a vision of educational excellence if just enough money was provided.

This picture of disillusionment and frustration was painted recently in a Wall Street Journal survey. It reflected not only dissatisfaction among professional educators but among taxpayers.

It is true that smaller classes in primary and secondary classrooms provide an opportunity for individual instruction. But that opportunity is all too seldom grasped. Instead, too many teachers continue lecturing as usual whether the classes are large or small. Taxpayers are beginning to suspect that the campaign for smaller classes is being pushed by teacher groups because it requires more teachers.

On the subject of smaller classes, James S. Coleman in his famous report, "Equality of Educational Opportunity," reported: "The pupil-teacher ratio in instruction, showed a consistent lack of relation to achievement among all groups under all conditions."

As for money, two things have become apparent. One is that the cost of education has risen steeply in recent years, even while the number of pupils has decreased slightly. The other is that more and more money didn't very often improve individual achievement but produced more and more of the same achievement.

If smaller classes and more and more money are not the answers, what is? The same thing that was needed 200 years ago and will be needed 200 or more years hence: Dedicated, highly motivated teachers. Every college graduate can probably count on less than his 10 fingers the superior teachers he has encountered during the 16 or more years of his educational experience. There will never be enough good teachers, it appears. Certainly there aren't enough of them today, nor have there been enough of them in the past.

A Long Saga Has Ended

With the arrest of Patty Hearst and the Harris, the Federal Bureau of Investigation has written a thankfully nonviolent end to that aberration of society self-dubbed the Symbionese Liberation Army.

And the FBI has also ended one of the most extensive and exhausting searches for a fugitive in its history.

How the FBI accomplished this is yet to be revealed. But it's enough that it has. It redeems for the bureau some of the respect it has lost during the past year or so.

The important questions now pertain to Miss Hearst herself. How was her transformation from kidnap victim to revolutionary guerrilla accomplished? What sort of network exists underground in this country that could keep her and her companions shielded for so many months?

Hopefully, the trials awaiting Miss Hearst and the others will provide us with some answers. And those trials also will give another chance for the system of justice in this country to prove itself equal to severe strains; the publicity which has surrounded the Hearst case and her family position must have no effect on the final outcome of her case.

Why Cheer Underdog?

Around The Rim

One thing and another: If only we could conserve all the hot air emanating in Washington, we wouldn't have to worry about finding new sources of energy to see us through the winter.

EXECUTIVES EARN their pay because they can handle the major problems that arise but it's odd how many of them become upset over petty annoyances.

My children are continually expressing surprise over the fact that conveniences like record players, automobiles and inside plumbing existed (or came into being) when their parents were kids. Teenagers reason anyone over 30 years of age dates back to the antediluvian age.

Multiple taxation is a creeping cancer. Whether you buy cigarettes, cement or groceries, you paid for it out of take-home pay, already taxed, then you're hit with a sales tax in the final billing. And the gasoline you used to get you there is one of the most heavily taxed of all items.

It's disturbing to see more and more of the very young take up cigarette smoking. It's very common now to see many junior high school and more than a few elementary school kids light up cigarettes after leaving campuses. Part of the trouble, no doubt, can be traced to the fact that many of them are not being taught to read. The warnings that the weed can be damaging to one's health are printed on cigarette packages for all to see, yet many people can't or won't read the messages.

PERHAPS WE root too hard for the underdog and are too envious of individual excellence and achievement.

A college president says we will never create a good society, much less a great one, until individual excellence is not only respected but encouraged. He says he is for the "upperdog" — the achiever, the successer.

With the price of petroleum products constantly escalating, it won't be long before mothers start bragging about "my son, the gas station owner."

Time was when they boasted about "my son, the doctor."

Underestimated

William F. Buckley, Jr.

In New York City these days the villain is William Simon. The reason is that in his testimony before the Senate Banking Committee, he recommended that any intervention by the federal government should be on terms "so punitive, that no other city will be tempted to turn down the same road." For saying this, the Secretary of the Treasury earned a headline in the New York Post: "Simon on U.S. Aid — Make City Suffer."

MR. SIMON, although he is charged under oath to put aside parochial concerns and act as a representative of the entire country, was clearly stunned; he is, you see, a New Yorker, and New Yorkers, for all that New York is the most engraving city in America, tend to love it dearly, and for good reasons.

"It is obvious," Mr. Simon has written privately to a friend, "that they (the critics of his statement) don't want to know the differences between establishing criteria to discourage other states and municipalities from going down the same road as New York City, and punishment. While at the same time these punitive criteria, including a very high interest rate, would encourage New Yorkers to do everything they could do to regain access to the capital markets at the earliest possible dates."

It is probably that most people who have taken an earnest stand on the issue of New York have not in fact read Mr. Simon's full testimony. There is in it a quality of intelligent sobriety which is increasing rare in the passionate rhetoric of the day. ("Would the French disown Paris?" Mr. Beams later retorted. Not very long ago, as a result of defective planning, the French ended up giving Paris away to the Germans.)

Here, I think, is a critical passage in Mr. Simon's testimony. After pointing out that New York's cumulative deficit is unique (by the way, it is not true this is because of black migration during the Fifties and Sixties — in proportion, far more blacks went to Chicago); and that during August alone, "four states and 225 municipalities raised nearly $2.6 billion in long term debt . . . at a cost not disproportionate to historical levels," Mr. Simon explored the question of sympathetic detonations all over the land.

ON THE one hand he acknowledged that a determination to despair can breed — despair: nobody who ever worked in Wall Street will underestimate the importance of psychological factors. But there are also objective factors, and these he confronted in part as follows: "If, on the other hand, default were to be avoided by a federal assistance program, the reaction could be more complex. Clearly, there would be no basis for concluding that avoidance of default meant that state and local governments were able to carry out their financial obligations. Just the contrary would be true."

"The inflationary expectations generated by the actual and potential expansion of the federal credit . . . would serve to accelerate some of the adverse trends we have seen in the markets over the recent past. Investors would become even more wary of long term commitments and would demand even higher yields on the commitments which are made. The ability of all sectors of the economy to finance investments in our future growth could be further impaired."

An extension of all this — this is me talking now, not the Secretary of the Treasury — would be the decline of American confidence in all American investments. Right now, you can stay over the border to Mexico and the government there will pay you 12 per cent for your money. Moreover, post-revolutionary Mexico has never defaulted, and never got in the way of exchange convertibility.

CAPITULATION IN New York short of precisely those painful reforms which would discourage profligacy elsewhere (I am not so sure that these could be comprehensively devised) is an invitation to strategic weaknesses that greatly outweigh those we would face if, in an excess of sentimentality, Congress boozily writes out a blank check while orators go on in organ tones about the Statue of Liberty, the Metropolitan Opera House and the Seagrams Building.

I would, however, approve Congressional appropriation for a statue of John Lindsay to be placed in Central Park, for the school children of the future to file by reverently. The legend would appropriately read: "John Lindsay, 1966-1973. He prepared the way for the annexation of New York City by the federal government."

"I'm not a b-b-bit scared of you, R-R-Reagld Rongan!"

Lot Of Questions

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Questions outnumber answers by at least 10 to 1 in today's economy, a frightening ratio for forecasters confronted with the task of telling their clients or employers what next week will bring.

Here are some of the questions to which they are now seeking answers:

—How much of that big spurt in production during the third quarter is going to get to the eventual buyer? How much of it is just going to be stored in inventory?

One factor that delayed the beginning of the rise out of recession was the presence of huge stores of goods on shelves, in warehouses, in parking lots and elsewhere.

Before production could gain its strength, this overhang of goods previously manufactured but still unsold had to be cut back. It was and production resumed.

Since April, production of consumer goods has risen 6.4 per cent, one of the strongest recoveries from any recent recession. But, for the first time since February, business inventories grew in August.

Was this by design? Did businessmen decide that they should have large stores of goods available? Or were they unable to sell their goods?

Economists are watching the situation for clues. If inventory accumulation continues, it will serve to depress future business.

Also being closely watched is the attitude of consumers. Their mood is all important because they are the source of final demand for two-thirds of all goods made.

—Will a default by New York City produce a catastrophe in the municipal bond market, making it almost impossible for school districts, municipalities and states to borrow money?

The majority of forecasts seem to be at the extremes — that it would be catastrophic or have no real impact.

There is no economic precedent and very little economic criteria for making a forecast. The entire matter is more in the nature of mass psychology than high finance — the reaction is as important as the event itself.

Some highly informed municipal bond students maintain that the greatest part of the impact already has been felt throughout the country. The market, they say, has already acted as if a default occurred.

These people feel that the actual legal default — the failure to make payments on the specific day stated in the contract — would only be a formality that the municipal bond market already has taken into account.

Grass-Rooters

SAN DIEGO — Failure of the Ford campaign to scare Ronald Reagan out of running for President by preempting his California base was confirmed at last weekend's convention here of the state's inflexibly conservative Republican regulars.

NOBODY WATCHING Reagan perform at the 1,100-member Republican state central committee's meeting could doubt he will challenge President Ford. Moreover, although Ford operatives have spooled off the cream of the state's Republican establishment, grassroots workers meeting here still love Ronnie. If an underdog Reagan can win early primaries he would pose a lethal threat to Mr. Ford in California's winner-take-all Republican primary in June.

In short, the Ford campaign's concentration on California may be largely wasted. If Reagan is still viable in June, he would be favored in California. Consequently, the new Ford effort must switch to the early primary terrain of snowy New Hampshire and sunny Florida, and out of the boardrooms of San Francisco and Los Angeles.

The battle of those boardrooms has been waged successfully for the President by Leon Parma, an old Ford crony from Washington, now a rich San Diego businessman, and Stu Spencer of Spencer-Roberts Associates in Los Angeles, one of the nation's leading political professionals. Over six months ago, they signed up hundreds of prominent Californians — including Reaganites who found White House incumbency irresistible.

BUT THE purpose of discouraging Reagan's candidacy by preempting California was not achieved. Instead, Reagan's temper was activated by Ford defections — particularly by Republican state chairman Paul Haerle, Reagan's erstwhile aide and hand-tailored protege. Nor was Reagan influenced by coolness toward his candidacy from longtime financial supporters, who had been lobbied furiously by Mr. Ford.

Reagan was particularly incensed when he was not invited to last weekend's convention by Haerle who privately advised Republicans he wanted "new faces." In his Los Angeles office last week, Reagan told us that decision reflected Haerle's record as chairman. In what way? "It was very stupid," Reagan replied. But the women's caucus intervened, asking Reagan to address its meeting Friday night. That meeting, overflowing with both sexes, witnessed a vintage Reagan performance. Casting aside his standard speech, he ad-libbed about Republican choosing whether to practice "politics as usu." in 1976 and declared a contest for the presidential nomination need not be divisive. As usual, he said nothing, good or bad, about Gerald R. Ford. Reagan's reception was tumultuous.

JUST BEFORE the Saturday luncheon, someone carrying a Ford-President placard elicited scattered applause — quickly drowned out when a Reagan placard was hoisted. Widely popular State Atty. Gen. Evelle Younger received a cool reception when he finished his luncheon address by praising the President.

The state central committee is to the right of most Californians and even many California Republicans but pretty accurately reflects Republican precinct workers who win California primary elections. Overwhelming pro-Reagan sentiment inside the committee with Mr. Ford possibly outvoted 2 to 1 and even heavier Reagan superiority among volunteer groups (Young Republicans, Women's Federation, California Republican Assembly) suggests trouble for the President here.

Heart Branch Blocks Complex

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was hospitalized recently for a heart condition diagnosed as bundle branch block. How is the heart affected in this, and what are the chances for recovery? — B.B.B.

We'll need a brief anatomy lesson here.

The heart has four chambers, two upper ones (auricles) and two lower ones (ventricles). Blood comes into the right auricle first, then moves down into the right ventricle and is pumped into the lungs. The blood returns from the lungs to the left auricle from where it is pushed down into the left ventricle. From there it is pumped into the general circulatory system throughout the body.

The neural impulse for the heart beat originates in the wall of the left auricle and travels down specialized fibers, branching out to activate the lower chambers (the ventricles). Any disturbance in this complex nerve network will have an obvious effect on the heart rhythm.

An electrocardiogram is the only method of detection. If the defect is in the bundle of fibers that "branch out" to serve the right chamber, the condition is called a "right bundle branch block." If the defect is in the left, it is called a "left bundle branch block."

While the disturbance on the right side can occur without any apparent disease, an L.B.B.B. (left bundle branch block) is usually associated with a heart disease, particularly arterial hardening. The seriousness as well as recovery depends on the degree of blockage and the progress of the underlying disease. There is no specific treatment for the block itself.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a pain ever time I sit on a hard seat on my tailbone. My doctor tells me to sit on a pillow. I do, but I sit sideways to keep the pressure from it. What do you suggest? — P.W.

This is probably what is called coccydynia. The pain originates in the tailbone (or coccyx).

You should sit on a pillow, but you should be sure that the chair itself has a firm bottom to encourage sitting upright. A semi-slouched position can worsen the problem.

My Answer

I have married into a family of the so-called Christian faith. I am Greek Orthodox, and I have great respect for sincere people of all religions. But, these people are hateful, bitter, and everybody is wrong but themselves. My husband and I had occasion to be hosts to them and although they say they are against liquor, they drank everything we had. One of their nieces had a "shotgun" wedding, and her own father refuses to forgive his daughter for her sin. I can't see what Christianity, so-called, did for this sick group. Can you explain such inconsistent actions? Could this be real Christianity? M. G. W.

Emerson said, "What you are speaks so loud I cannot hear what you say." The people you refer to are like the Pharisees who "made clean the outside of the cup, but inwardly were full of dead men's bones."

Jesus Christ, the author of Christianity, spent more time denouncing religious hypocrites than any religious leader of history. He knew there would be "hangers on," people like Judas, who for one reason or another, elected to be identified with a Christian group, but had no intention of allowing the power of Christ to change their lives, or alter their unseemly behavior.

Unfortunately, the more genuine a faith is, the more it is counterfeited. And Christianity has more than its share, it seems. But do not be unduly shaken by these poor imitations of the real thing. Keep striving to be all a Christian should be. I heard an old man of God say, "You can tell a real Christian by his fruit — not by his tool."

A Devotion For Today

"Now I know in part; then I shall understand fully." (I Corinthians 13:12, RSV)

PRAYER: Gracious God, help us that in seeing we can perceive, that in listening we can understand. We pray as Thy Son has taught us, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

Seminar On Population, Food, Water Is Slated

Responding to predictions of critical shortages in world food supplies, a group of West Texas leaders have planned a one-day seminar for Jan. 30 in Lubbock to take a realistic look at global conditions and the role that the Plains agricultural industry can assume in alleviating that threat.

Purpose of the seminar, according to one of the organizers, Dr. Anson R. Bertrand of Texas Tech, is "to highlight the importance of West Texas in the business of feeding the world."

National and state leaders in agriculture, population control and water use and conservation have been scheduled to speak in sessions at South Park Inn from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Discussion time has been allotted for both morning and afternoon.

Registration fee is $12.50 and the meeting is open to all interested persons.

Groups participating in the planning are the West Texas Water Institute, Texas Tech University's College of Agricultural Sciences, the Texas Department of Agriculture, Planned Parenthood Association, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

Some of the topics to be covered in the morning are progress in controlling world population, world land resources, and the potential of meeting world food needs through genetics.

The afternoon session will include an appraisal of the possibilities of transferring water to arid regions and improved methods of using present water supplies.

This is one of a series of food conferences the Texas Department of Agriculture will participate in during 1975. Several are planned for other regions of the state.

"Because Texas is a large provider of basic food supplies for the export market, our producers need to get through the rhetoric and discover the realities of world conditions. Such conferences will help Texas farmers and ranchers to plan for the future," Agriculture Commissioner John C. White stated.

Key speakers include Dr. John Timmons of Iowa State University, Dr. Glenn Burton of the USDA and the Georgia Agricultural Experiment Station, Dr. Frank G. Viets Jr., Fort Collins, Colorado, and persons yet to be named for population control discussions.

Other participants on the program include Dr. Bertrand; Bob Scott, West Texas Chamber of Commerce; Commissioner White; George W. McClesky, Water, Inc.; Dr. Charles Smallwood, West Texas State University; K. Bert "Tex" Watson, Pioneer Corporation; Russell Bean, West Texas Water Institute; and Dr. Jack Musick, USDA Southwestern Great Plains Research Center.

NOW THAT'S DEVOTION — "Sparky," an eight-year-old mixed breed dog climbs wire fence to be with her master, Clarence Puthoff, on his farm at Sydney, Ohio. "Sparky" has always followed Puthoff wherever his chores take him. "I don't know what I'd do if anything ever happened to that dog," Puthoff mused.

'Incredible Machine' Good As '2001: A Space Odyssey'

NEW YORK (AP) — If you dug "2001: A Space Odyssey," be sure to tune in Tuesday night on "The Incredible Machine," a one-hour public television trip around and inside the human body.

And if you don't have a color TV set, try to find a neighbor who does. Because black and white can't do justice to the photography of this show, as superb a viewing adventure as "2001."

Narrated by E. G. Marshall, "The Incredible Machine" is the first of 12 National Geographic specials which will appear on public TV in this and the next two seasons at the rate of four per season.

All of them are made possible, as the saying goes, by a $3.72 million grant by Pittsburgh-based Gulf Oil Co. to that city's public TV station, WQED.

They're on public TV because there was no room for them on the commercial networks that broadcast them for nine years. A pity, but the networks' loss is public television's gain.

Tuesday's kickoff show, described by Marshall as "a fantastic voyage of discovery," is just that.

Using microphotography, thermal photography and what I guess you'd call X-ray photography, the show's tour of the human body illustrates things in a way no textbook ever could.

The trip is brisk but extensive, showing the workings or functions of muscles, skin and eyes, cell life, the circulatory, digestive and skeletal systems, and the process of human reproduction, from unfertilized egg to the evolution of a fetus.

And the interior film work is incredible. You actually see blood rushing through veins, white blood cells consuming diseased matter, an eardrum pulsating to vibrations from the song, "Yankee Doodle Dandy."

It's a good, consistently interesting show and one that young viewers should be encouraged to watch, particularly if they're struggling through that sometimes-dull course called biology.

The season's three other National Geographic specials, about Britain and the sea, great apes, and animals, those in the West call "varmints," will be televised on Dec. 9, Jan. 13 and Feb. 20, respectively.

The Internal Affairs Ministry said the group would be moved to two farms in the Chipinga district.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They invite you to try the treatment for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this opportunity unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already sick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Hair loss caused by sebum can also run in your family, and many other conditions can cause hair loss. If you wait until you are sick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation.

Burglar-Proof Bars Trap Family In Burning House

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "We can't get out, we can't get out," cried a family trapped in a fire behind steel bars meant to keep out burglars. Instead, they kept out firemen and cost an infant's life.

As the six children and lone adult in the house screamed, firemen and passersby worked frantically to pull the security bars that blocked all doors and windows.

The rescuers finally pulled the grates away with chains and crowbars. But Talisha Lynch, 11 months, was dead of smoke inhalation and burns.

When the firemen arrived Sunday, the six survivors — three unconscious — were huddled at the back door. The key to the security grate was unreachable in the lock on the front door where the fire was hottest, said fire department public service officer Dave Fuller.

He stressed that there is a way to protect a home without erecting barriers that prevent escape from inside.

"If they only had a bolt — something you didn't need a key for. They couldn't open the door from the inside," Fuller said.

He added there are several security systems like the Lynch family's in the south Los Angeles neighborhood, apparently purchased from door-to-door salesmen or magazine mail-order ads.

The father, Willie Lynch, 38, away at work when the fire broke out, returned in time to see the body of his daughter carried out of the smoldering ruins. In the confusion of the flames, firemen said, family members each had assumed someone else was carrying the baby.

In critical condition at the intensive care burn ward at County-USC Medical Center was Warren Lynch, 11, with second- and third-degree burns over 60 per cent of his body.

Also taken to the hospital and reported in good condition were the mother, Wanda Lynch, 33, her daughter, Stephanie Harris, 16, and a cousin, Inez Stanley, 14.

A daughter, Debbie, 15, and a son, Michael, 8, didn't require hospitalization.

Msgr. Fiedler Slates Visit To San Angelo

The Rev. Monsignor Ernest J. Fiedler, executive director of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops' Committee on the Permanent Diaconate, will visit San Angelo Nov. 6 through 9 at the invitation of the Most Reverend Stephen A. Leven, Bishop of San Angelo.

Monsignor Fiedler will conduct a seminar on the permanent diaconate for the priests of the diocese who will be meeting in San Angelo on November 7. On Nov. 8 and 9 he will meet with the 34 candidates who are in training to become deacons for the Diocese of San Angelo and he will assist in ceremonies on Sunday in which many of the candidates will be instituted in the Ministry of Acolyte. Bishop Leven will officiate in these ceremonies at Sacred Heart Cathedral at 4:00 p.m. The Ministry of Acolyte which will be conferred on the men is the last step toward their final ordination as deacon which is expected for most of the men in the fall of next year.

At the present time there are about 800 ordained Catholic deacons in the United States and some 1500 candidates for the diaconate are in training. About half of the deacons of the world are in the United States. The order of Deacon was restored in the Catholic Church by the Second Vatican Council and since then has spread in a number of countries throughout the world.

Msgr. Fiedler was born October 19, 1925, in Springfield, Mo. In 1957 he was named Secretary for Seminarians and Diocesan Director of Vocations, as well as secretary to Bishop John P. Cody of Kansas City-St. Joseph, now Cardinal Cody of Chicago. He has also served as secretary to Bishop Charles H. Helmsting of Kansas City-St. Joseph and as Diocesan Director of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith.

In November 1962, Pope John XXIII appointed Msgr. Fiedler a "peritus" (expert) at the Second Vatican Council. In 1963 he was named pastor of Sacred Heart Church in Warrensburg, Mo., a post he held for six years. In 1965 he was named to the national Consultation on Prayer for Christian Unity and in 1966 the Bishops' Committee on Ecumenical and Interreligious Affairs appointed him to a "working group" composed of Catholics and representatives of the National Council of Churches.

Msgr. Fiedler went to Rome in October 1969, to inaugurate a new program in pastoral theology at the North American College and serve as its first "pastor in residence." He returned to this country the following year to establish the training program for permanent deacons in the Diocese of Kansas City-St. Joseph. In 1970 he was also named Executive Secretary of the Diocesan Ecumenical Commission.

The deacons of this area when ordained, will function in various ministries within the parishes of the diocese of San Angelo. Although most will have faculties to perform the duties of the priest with the exception of consecration at Mass, hearing confessions and administering the Sacrament of the Sick, many will follow specialized ministries in care of the sick and aging, charitable works, administration and religious teaching.

MSGR. E. J. FIEDLER

BEARS FACE ANOTHER MIRACLE Upsets Common Happening In Southwest Conference

By The Associated Press

Drag out the binoculars, fans, it's looking ahead time. And don't forget to mark your calendars ... Nov. 28 and Dec. 6.

Upsets are a common happening in Southwest Conference football history, but it will take a monumental one to take the luster off those dates.

Texas A&M, 7-0 for the season and 3-0 in the SWC, plays its third nationally televised game, against the Texas Longhorns Nov. 28 and Arkansas Dec. 6.

All three teams were impressive Saturday, although the fifth-ranked Aggies had to rely on their tiger claw defense again in a 19-10 victory over defending champion Baylor, which now has two league losses and is virtually eliminated from title consideration. Texas romped over Rice 41-9 and Arkansas blanked Utah State 31-0 in a non-league game.

Baylor, still capable on a given Saturday, had a 7-7 standoff with the Aggies and was driving deep on A&M territory in the third quarter when the Cadet defense turned the tide.

Tank Marshall and linebacker Ed Simonini stripped the ball from the grasp of Baylor quarterback Charlie Parker and the ball was picked off in the air by Lester Hayes. The Aggies' safety runs a 9.4 second 100, so it was an easy 77-yard touchdown for the Aggies.

"No question about it, Hayes' play was the big play of the game," said A&M Coach Emory Bellard. "I can't think of anyone I'd rather see get the ball in that situation than Lester. It's a dead cinch score."

Baylor closed the gap with a field goal after that but A&M finished the scoring with a field goal and a safety, thus ending the Bears' hopes of repeating their 1974 "miracle" title.

"There's no doubt it really would take a miracle for us to win this time," said Baylor Coach Grant Teaff Sunday. "We can still play a part in the league race but as far as the Cotton Bowl we're pretty well out of it."

Texas rolled to 482 yards total offense and held Rice to 48 yards rushing and 158 passing to push its record to 6-1. The rushing yards were spread evenly for the Longhorns, with the highest total just 65 yards, but the scoring was not as halfback Garyn Wyatt tallied three touchdowns.

"The weather, strategy, techniques, throwing or not throwing had nothing to do with it. We just played a superior team," said Rice Coach Al Conover.

Texas Tech broke a four-game losing streak with a 37-20 victory over Southern Methodist, the first SWC victory for new Red Raider

PAN-AM GAMES

Cheers Drown Out Whistles

MEXICO CITY (AP) — America's delegation to the Pan American Games goes home with memories of thousands of candles and dazzling fireworks, while lugging baskets of Mexican gold.

The candles and fireworks were part of an emotional ceremony Sunday night ending the seventh edition of these Olympic-like hemisphere games. The gold came in competition, not from tourist shops.

Americans took with them 116 gold medals in one of their strongest showings ever and some bitter as well as pleasant memories.

Throughout the two weeks of competition in 19 sports, U.S. athletes, and the Stars and Stripes, were subjected to whistling, the Mexican form of booing. It turned up again at the closing ceremony but this time the cheers drowned out the whistles. The Mexicans only had nine months to prepare for the games because Brazil and Chile had previously pulled out. There was confusion, many mixups and mistakes.

The confusion lasted even longer than the games.

Brazil and Mexico both were awarded gold soccer medals because a light failure Saturday night prevented them from finishing the soccer final. Then officials asked for the medals back and told the teams to play again next Wednesday. The Brazilians said no thanks, and booked a flight home Monday morning.

Hours after the closing ceremony Mario Vazquez Rana, president of the Games' Organizing Committee, overruled everybody, said the original decision stands, and promised gold medals to both teams.

Only a few hours before the closing, the American equestrian team captured the games' final gold medal, in the Grand Prix of Nations to raise Uncle Sam's total medal count to 247, including 83 silver and 48 bronze.

At the outset, sports writers, and athletes and coaches themselves, predicted the U.S. would have serious competition from Cuba. That island nation did earn 58 gold medals, 44 silver and 30 bronze, but after the first few days it became clear this would once again become an American runaway.

The fact that the games are an American sweep every four years, and turned out to be even more so this time around, brought renewed demands from some Latin American sectors for a reorganization of the games to exclude the U.S. That does not appear likely to happen.

A&I Moves Closer In

By The Associated Press

Defending NAIA Division I champion Texas A&I took a giant step toward another Lone Ylar Conference title Saturday, clipping Angelo State 14-6 despite a driving rainstorm at Kingsville.

Quarterback Richard Ritchie led the offense with 169 total yards and two touchdown passes and linebacker Larry Grunewald paced the defenders with two key fumble recoveries.

The victory gave A&I a 5-0 league record, one game ahead of Angelo, Southwest Texas and East Texas. The Javelinas meet Tarleton State this week.

In other games Saturday, SWT edged Sam Houston 3-0 as Carl Andrews kicked a 32-yard fourth quarter field goal; East Texas blanked Stephen F. Austin 27-0 as Aundra Thompson ran for 131 yards and a touchdown; Howard Payne edged Tarleton 7-6 as Tarleton missed a late two-point conversion and Abilene Christian manhandled Sul Ross 49-14 on Willie Phea's 200 yards rushing.

Other games Saturday have Howard Payne at Sam Houston, S. F. Austin at Sul Ross, ACC at Angelo and East Texas at Southwest Texas.

QB Meeting Set

Main topics of conversion of the Big Spring Quarterback Club at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday at the high school cafeteria will concern a film of the Big Spring-Midland Lee game plus a scouting report on Abilene Cooper, Steers opponent here Friday night.

Indians Unbeaten

By The Associated Press

Arkansas State will carry the Southland Conference's only unbeaten banner this week when it hosts Tennessee-Chattanooga.

The Indians blanked Lamar 17-0 for their third SLC victory and seventh this season while Louisiana Tech had its regular season winning streak stopped at 24 games, losing a nonleague game 24-14 to Southern Mississippi.

Other games Saturday saw Southwest Louisiana fall to Cincinnati 23-17, McNeese drop a 17-12 decision to Dayton and Texas-Arlington lost 16-0 to New Mexico State.

Winless Lamar held Arkansas State to a scoreless tie until Bobby Watson put the Indians ahead with a 26-yard field goal in the third quarter. Arkansas State scored twice in a 42-second period of the final period on a 39-yard run by Dennis Belden and a one-yard dive by David Hines after a blocked punt.

Southern Miss trailed 14-10 before the Eagles put together a 78-yard TD drive and scored again after an interception to spoil Louisiana Tech's string.

QUARTERBACK LOSS HIGH

Fritsch's Foot Fools Philadelphia, 20-17

By The Associated Press
Some quarterbacks are hurt by others. Then there are those who hurt themselves.

Andy Johnson and seven to Randy Yataha for two touchdowns that powered the Patriots past San Francisco. Bengals 21, Falcons 14 Ken Anderson passed 30 yards to Charlie Joiner for one touchdown, then scored the tiebreaker himself on a three-yard keeper with 2:04 remaining to beat Atlanta and keep the Bengals unbeaten.

Burrough and Billy Johnson's dazzling 52-yard punt return for another score in a 1 1/2-minute span of the third period fired the Oilers past Detroit.

apparent, rookie Mike Thomas, ripped through winless Cleveland for 124 yards, and scored twice in Washington's victory.

down bursts of one and two yards and Ken Stabler's 45-yard scoring pass to Cliff Branch carried the Raiders past San Diego.

THE GOOD-THE BAD — Philadelphia Eagles head coach Mike McCormack had both good and bad times Sunday as his team played the Dallas Cowboys in Philadelphia. McCormack, left, cheered as the Eagles scored early in the game but was not so happy, right, as the Cowboys scored a kicked field goal in the final seconds of the game to win 20-17.

New England's Jim Plunkett got hurt in the first period on a keeper play. When he was hit, he suffered a recurrence of his pre-season left shoulder separation. But it wound up hurting San Francisco more.

Atlanta's Steve Barkowski also got hurt in the first period against Cincinnati when he suffered a dislocated elbow. But it hurt the Falcons, too.

Pittsburgh's Terry Bradshaw got hurt in the fourth period when Green Bay linebacker Fred Carr bashed him and shook him up.

With 3:09 to play and the Bills leading Miami 30-28, Buffalo was on its own 13-yard line. Instead of trying to run out the clock on the ground, Ferguson chose to get out of trouble in a hurry.

The Dolphins took that gift and drove for the winning score, Don Nottingham's third touchdown of the game with just 1:25 to play, beating the Bills 35-30.

In Sunday's other National Football League games, Dallas edged Philadelphia 20-17, Houston blitzed Detroit 24-8, Kansas City whipped Denver 26-13, Baltimore routed the New York Jets 45-28, Washington breezed past Cleveland 23-7, Los Angeles trounced New Orleans 38-14 and Oakland blanked San Diego 25-0.

On Saturday, St. Louis beat the New York Giants 20-13, Minnesota is at Chicago tonight.

Scott said Miami crossed up Ferguson by switching from zone coverage to man-to-man. "Curtis Johnson and I doublecovered J.D. Hill and I had the inside," said Scott, who slipped in front of the Buffalo wide receiver for the interception. "We had gone mostly with a zone all night... I guess they figured we would be in a zone again."

Almost overlooked because of those last few minutes was the job Miami did on O.J. Simpson, holding him to just 88 yards — 38 fewer than his previous low this year against the Giants last Monday night.

Cornhuskers Reaffirm Exalted College Status

By The Associated Press
While King Archie the First of Columbus was becoming major college football's all-time leading ground-gainer, while his Ohio State playmates and the next eight teams in the Associated Press ratings were rolling to victory, while Southern California and Nebraska were reaffirming their exalted status against Second Ten teams, while all this was going on, four clubs that haven't much to cheer about lately were grabbing a share of the limelight.

The Big Four, at least for the weekend, were New Mexico, Illinois, Navy and Louisiana State, all of which knocked off ranking teams.

The Lobos of New Mexico ended 13th-ranked Arizona's perfect mark — as well as the Wildcats' record nine-game winning streak — with a wild 44-34 upset as Steve Myer completed 28 of 36 passes for 351 yards and four touchdowns.

Illinois stormed back from a 13-0 third-period deficit and defeated 16th-ranked Michigan State 21-19 as Kurt Steger threw two touchdown passes to Joe Smalzer and one to Phil Vierniseil.

Navy, 5-2 and one triumph away from its first winning season since 1967, stunned 17th-ranked Pitt 17-0 for what third-year Coach George Welsh called "the best win I've had since coming to Navy."

The Middies scored on short runs by Bob Jackson and Gerry Goodwin and used a swarming defense, led by rover Chet Moeller, to hand the Panthers their first shutout in three years under Coach Johnny Majors. And LSU, under fire from its fair-weather fans, put a big feather in beleaguered Coach Charlie McClendon's cap with a 24-6 decision over South Carolina as Terry Robiskie scored twice in 11 seconds. The first came a one-yard dive and the second after South Carolina's Mike Bolden fumbled the ensuing kickoff at his two.

Not far behind were resurgent Syracuse, 4-3 for the first time since 1970 following a 22-14 come-from-behind victory over Boston College; North Texas State, which tacked a 21-14 stunner over Tennessee onto an earlier rout of Houston; East Carolina, which struck a blow for the unheralded Southern Conference with a 38-17 rout of Atlantic Coast Conference foe North Carolina, and Wake Forest, which swamped Virginia 66-21 for its highest point total in 34 years and the most yielded by Virginia since 1933.

At the top of the heap was No. 1-ranked Ohio State, which trimmed Purdue 35-6 as Archie Griffin gained 130 yards to run his career total to 4,715 set by Cornell's Ed Marinaro. However, it took Griffin 38 regularseason games while Marinaro did it in just 27 games from 1969-71.

Runnerup Oklahoma remained tied for the Big Eight lead with the Nebraska Cornhuskers via a 39-7 triumph over Iowa State as the defense, led by 260-pound tackle Leroy Selmon, pressured the losers into early turnovers while the sputtering offense lost six of a record 13 fumbles. Meanwhile, the fourth-ranked Huskers whopped No. 10 Colorado 63-21 as Vince Ferragamo passed for two touchdowns and John O'Leary ran for two.

Third-ranked Southern Cal continued its recent domination of Notre Dame, beating the 14th-ranked Irish 24-17 as Ricky Bell, the nation's leading rusher, gained 165 yards, the most ever by a Trojan runner in the celebrated 50-year rivalry. Texas A&M, the No. 5 team, used Lester Hayes' tie-breaking 77-yard dash with a mid-air fumble to defeat Baylor's defending Southwest Conference champs 19-10.

Sixth-ranked Alabama took a weekend off from Southeastern Conference play and crushed winless Texas Christian 45-0 as Johnny Davis galloped 66 yards for one TD and Richard Todd tallied twice.

Michigan, rated seventh, kept pace with Ohio State atop the Big Ten by clouting Indiana 55-7 as Jimmy Smith bolted 77 yards to score on the game's second play and Rob Lyle scored four times.

Eighth-ranked Texas is still deadlocked with the Texas Aggies in the SWC after routing Rice 41-9 as Gralyn Wyatt tallied three touchdowns in a steady rain on nifty Wishbone pichtowns from slick Marty Atkins.

No. 9 Penn State allowed Army across midfield three times and blanked the Cadets 31-0 behind Woody Petchel's 139 yards and two touchdowns. Elsewhere in the Second Ten, No. 11 Arizona State, held to a scoreless halftime tie by lowly Texas-El Paso, got short third-period touchdown runs from Fred Mortensen and Mark Lovett and pulled away 24-6.

No. 12 Florida, tied with Alabama for the SEC lead in a race unlikely to be settled to anyone's satisfaction since they don't play each other, defeated Duke 24-16 in a non-league game as birthday boy Jimmy DuBose scored three touchdowns and gained 141 yards for a one-season school record of 906.

Curt Brown, subbing for injured Tony Galbreath, rushed for 141 yards and two touchdowns in 15th-ranked Missouri's 38-3 trouncing of Kansas State. No. 18 Maryland was idle but No. 19 UCLA whipped California 28-14 and tied Southern Cal for the Pacific-8 lead as John Sciarra scored twice and passed for a third TD while Wendell Tyler romped for 143 yards.

Maravich Straight Shooter From Line

By The Associated Press
Pete Maravich is a pistol when he shoots from the outside, but he's even more of a straight shooter from the foul line.

The top gun of the New Orleans Jazz was given the easier shot more than the New York Knicks wanted, and the inevitable resulted Sunday night. The Jazz won the National Basketball Association game 125-114 in double overtime.

"Both teams had plenty of chances to win," said New York Coach Red Holzman. "We just didn't do it. We threw the ball away an awful lot, but then their defense was awfully good."

The best of all was Maravich, who scored 45 points — including five free throws in the waning seconds of the second overtime period that put the game away for New Orleans. In all, Maravich hit 23 of 26 shots from the foul line.

In the night's other NBA game, the Seattle SuperSonics whipped the Phoenix Suns 113-99. In the American Basketball Association, the Spirits of St. Louis downed the San Diego Sails 101-85; the Kentucky Colonels whipped the Virginia Squires 130-112 and the New York Nets stopped the Indiana Pacers 118-111.

SuperSonics 113, Suns 99 Leonard Gray poured in 27 points as Seattle defeated Phoenix. Fred Brown added 21 points to offset the 29-point performance by Phoenix rookie Alvan Adams and the 21 points by Dick Van Arsdale.

Phoenix took a run at the Sonics early in the fourth quarter, cutting Seattle's advantage to 90-87. But Seattle came through with aggressive defense paired with the cold Suns' shooting to outscore the visitors 15-4 over the next six minutes.

Spirits 101, Sails 85 Maurice Lucas had 25 points and Gus Gerard added 21, powering the Spirits of St. Louis over San Diego. The production by Lucas and Gerard overcame a 23-point performance by the Sails' Caldwell Jones, who also led all rebounders with 16.

Colonels 136, Squires 112 Kentucky shook off a brief Virginia rally with a 19-6 second-half surge and Artis Gilmore led seven double-figure scorers with 27 points as the Colonels romped past the Squires.

Nets 118, Pacers 111 Julius Erving scored 30 points and John Williamson struck for 27, powering New York over Indiana. Erving scored 11 of his points in the second period to lead a comeback for New York as the Nets charged into a 57-55 halftime lead.

Hard-Luck Duo Share $40,000

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — "It was time something good happened to us," declared Jim Colbert, speaking for himself and fellow golf pro Dean Refram.

Colbert, who missed the final third of the 1974 PGA tour when his wife was hospitalized for major surgery, struggled through the first half of this year trying to regain the form that had carried him to four tour victories.

Refram, whose tour career hit the skids several years ago when his croquet putting style was outlawed, was burned over 65 per cent of his body 15 months ago by a faulty steam tank.

Those setbacks provided a patented Walt Disney rags-to-riches story Sunday when Colbert and Refram won the $200,000 National Team Championship at Walt Disney World.

The hard-luck duo each pocketed $20,000 after posting a final round 64, good for a tournament record 36-under-par total of 252. Tied for second, three shots back, were the teams of John Schlee-Bobby Cole and Victor Regalado-Curtis Sifford. The four runnersup each collected $10,504.

Entering the final round with a three-shot cushion, Colbert and Refram bolted to four straight birdies on the opening holes, then had to put together another birdie binge — four in five holes — to ward off Sifford and the sizzling Regalado o the back nine.

"We both felt it was really important that we start off well," said Colbert, who lobbed his approach to within eight inches of the first pin.

Refram upstaged him, however, by chipping in from the fringe and the champs were on their way to victory in the PGA tour's final event of the year.

The pair carded 36 birdies and 36 pars over the Disney Magnolia and Palm courses in lowering the previous team championship record 255 set by B. R. McLendon and Hubert Green here a year ago.

Municipal League Discusses Document

HOUSTON (AP) — A discussion of the proposed new constitution for Texas was to figure prominently in today's opening of the 63rd annual meeting of the Texas Municipal League.

Speakers were to include Gov. Dolph Briscoe and Price Daniel Jr., the former Texas House speaker who was president of the 1974 Constitutional Convention.

Representing the City of Big Spring are Mayor Wade Choate, Councilmen Harold Hall and Charles Tompkins and several members of the city staff.

Briscoe's subject was unannounced but he has refused to endorse adoption of the new constitution in the Nov. 4 special election. Daniel was to speak on "Why Support the New Constitution."

In a Saturday session, the League's resolutions committee, by an 18-17 vote, recommended endorsement of the constitution. The resolution will be presented to the league membership on Tuesday.

Before final approval, the resolutions committee had given the resolution a preliminary 19-16 endorsement. The resolution was sponsored by Mayor Lila Cockrell of San Antonio. Mayor Cockrell also is president of the League.

The resolutions committee also approved resolutions opposing federal aid to prevent bankruptcy for state and local governments and calling for more equitable distribution of sales tax revenues by permitting local option elections on proposals to increase locally levied sales tax rates.

Several resolutions were not considered because the committee considered the subject matter inappropriate. One called for mandatory sentences for persons using handguns in the commission of crimes. Another proposed a federal constitutional amendment against forced busing.

About 2,000 city officials are in Houston for the annual meeting of the League and the 18th annual conference of the Association of Mayors, Councilmen and Commissioners.

The association's opening program today included a roundtable discussion of legislative issues. Participants were to include House Speaker Bill Clayton, State Senator John Traeger, and Rep. Lyndon Olson.

LOSS OF QUALITY NOTED — Dr. Jack Gipson, research plant physiologist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, examines cotton plants which were hurt by September weather. Gipson says the unusual weather last month could cause an estimated $35 million loss from reduced cotton micronaire alone. Despite this loss plus an even heavier toll from yield reduction, he figures the 25-county area will produce a near average gross income.

Judge Among Victims

By The Associated Press

Texas counted 11 violent deaths during the weekend, including retired state Judge James Wesley Dice, killed in a traffic accident two miles west of Temple.

Authorities said Dice's car collided with a vehicle containing three Fort Hood soldiers. One of the soldiers, Miles Odell Webb, 20, was killed in the head-on collision.

Dice, 67, joined the state Court of Criminal Appeals in 1967. He also served as commissioner of the appeals court.

The death count, which began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday, listed five traffic victims, three homicides, two fire deaths and one in an airplane crash.

The victims were: Robert H. Harper, 17, of Weatherford, killed in a one-car crash on a farm road south of Weatherford.

Randall C. Hale, 17, of Fort Worth died in an Interstate 35 collision on that city's east side early Sunday. One of his three companions — Sharon Sturm, 16, of Everman — was injured critically. Two others with them and the lone occupant of the other car suffered less serious injuries.

John Thomas Horne Jr., 39, of Milam was killed Sunday morning in a two-car crash on Texas 21 about 3.5 miles west of his home town in East Texas.

An oil field worker, Stephen Patrick Hill, 21, was killed early Sunday in a fire that engulfed his stucco home one mile west of Wheeler in the Panhandle.

Two Dallas men were shot to death Friday night in front of their younger brother during an argument over a pool game debt, police said. The dead were Charles Edward Smith, 29, and James M. Smith, 32. The shooting occurred at a bar.

Houston police reported David Allen Stanton, 25, was stabbed to death in an argument Friday night.

The body of Mellie McIlroy, 91, of Houston was found late Friday night in the fire-gutted bedroom of her southwest Houston residence.

Woman Struck, She Tells Cops

Miss Terry Hibbs filed a complaint with city police on an assault charge after an unknown male came through the bedroom window of her apartment.

He struck her on the head, knocked her unconscious and fled.

Police were investigating the incident which occurred about 10:30 p.m. Saturday. Over the weekend, there was a theft and an attempted burglary reported in the same area of town.

Fems Are Seeking Jobs With Road Department

By JOHN EDWARDS

Women have applied for employment by the county road department, but County Engineer Neel Barnaby today advised against hiring any.

"I am certainly not integrating the road and bridge department with females despite women's lib," Barnaby said.

Several local firms employ women driving heavy equipment, but Barnaby said county road crew workers may be called on for other hard work, unsuited for women.

County Commissioner Simon (Cy) Terrazas disagreed.

Last week, road department workers killed about a dozen large rattlesnakes in the Vincent fire station, Barnaby said.

Commissioners Court planned to review applications for five positions in the road department. Last week, the court approved four additional workers and a man resigned.

In other business, the court:

Authorized purchase of two file cabinets from Big Spring Printing Co. for $556. Stafford-Lowden, Abilene, offered two cabinets for $545. But County Commissioner Ikie Rupard echoed the thoughts of some when he said: "I like to go with the low bid, but I like to go with hometown folks."

Entertained bids on rotating lights and a speaker and additional siren for the patrol car formerly driven by the late Jimmy Parks. Texas Highway Patrolman Ken Joyce "had one real close call," County Judge Bill Tune said. Speakers and additional sirens for other Highway Patrol cars also are sought.

Appointed three election officials — County Clerk Margaret Ray as counting station manager, John Hurd of a computer firm as tabulation supervisor and Robert Wheeler as election judge for absentee votes.

And planned to have a copying machine in the sheriff's office repaired in Lubbock.

Conference On Birth Defects Is Scheduled

"High school students from Big Spring and surrounding communities are urged to attend the March of Dimes youth conference on birth defects Saturday in Odessa," said Rose Teems, executive secretary of the Caprock chapter.

From 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. on the University of Texas Permian Basin campus, the conference is co-sponsored by the 6-county Caprock MOD chapter and by the Permian Basin chapter. It is patterned after a highly successful birth defects symposium attended last year in Lubbock by 180 West Texas students.

Dr. William Blankenship, chairman of the pediatrics department at Texas Tech University, Medical School will speak to students about "Birth Defects — The Cause and Prevention" and "Care about Yourself before You Become a Parent."

"The March of Dimes believes that the teens of today are the best hope for healthier babies in the future," said local pediatrician Ray Owen, a member of the Caprock chapter board.

He said, "We hope that the conference will show youth that birth defects are not all just bad luck — that many birth defects can be prevented now, and that medical research eventually will show ways to prevent still other birth defects."

"The conference has been planned to coordinate with health, homemaking and family living classes," Mrs. Teems said. "We understand that some teachers in the Odessa area are giving extra credit for students who attend and hope other teachers will do likewise."

Adverse Weather Will Cost Plains' Farmers

LUBBOCK — Recent evaluations by agricultural scientists show that adverse weather in September will probably cost cotton producers on the Texas High Plains up to $35 million in loss of quality alone.

Dr. Jack Gipson, research plant physiologist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, last week determined the micronaire on random samples of cotton taken from fields in the heart of this cotton producing area. Based on micronaire readings, he believes the dollar loss definitely is in the millions, and does not take into account the loss to the economy from reduced yields which are associated with reduced micronaire values.

In spite of this setback from the September weather, a relatively good cotton crop can be expected, he says. On the average, cotton pumps about $350 to $450 million into the High Plains economy. This year's crop should not be far from that range, he says.

Gipson, based at the Texas A & M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center north of Lubbock, has been keeping tabs on this year's crop, watching the physiological changes that have taken place as a result of two cold, wet weekends in September which were interspersed with several warm days.

Many fields were partly or almost totally defoliated due to the unusual sequence of weather events. Where most of the leaves were lost, fiber maturation was stopped. In addition to this leaf desiccation, sustained cool periods below 60 degrees Fahrenheit stopped fiber maturation, taking away valuable time for fiber and seed development. This has resulted in low micronaire and low oil content of seed.

"Damage inflicted is so variable from field to field and even within individual fields, that a correct loss assessment is virtually impossible," he says. "Also, the damage is not visually obvious; the number of bolls is not reduced and the appearance of the boll is not changed significantly. But, the reduced weight of fiber and seed in the boll will inevitably lead to lower yields and lower micronaire."

Of the various fiber quality measurements used by the cotton industry in price determination, micronaire is the most critical for area producers, since it invariably is the limiting quality character for this area, Gipson explains. It serves as a measure of fiber and maturity and relates to the weight of per unit length or fiber fineness.

Gipson says that in general, micronaire values will range from a low of 2.4 (very fine) to a high of 5.0 (very coarse) in the 25-county area comprising the cotton producing area of the Texas High Plains. Micronaire values from 1957 through 1974 averaged 3.46. The low (2.91) occurred in 1971 and the high (4.17) in 1973.

Cotton which "mikes" below 3.5 or above 4.9 is "discounted" with the amount of the discount in the current Lubbock spot market varying from 50 to 125 points for high mike and from 70 to 1,225 points for low mike. Thus, a bale of cotton could be penalized more than $50 because of low micronaire.

Gipson figures that based on his samples, an average micronaire value of about 3.0 will be posted for the 25-county area this year. The scientist estimates that the average price reduction due to this lower micronaire will be about 4 cents per pound or almost $20 per bale. Thus, based on the Plains Cotton Growers — Lubbock Cotton Exchange October 1 estimate of 1.7 million bales, the loss from micronaire alone would be about $34 million. This calculation is based on current micronaire discounts.

Mysterious SLA Member Kept Isolated In Jail

Editors Note: Perhaps the most mysterious character in the complex Patty Hearst story has been Wendy Yoshimura — artist, feminist, fugitive and now prisoner. AP writer Linda Deutsch is the first reporter to interview Wendy since she was arrested with Patty Hearst.

PLEASANTON, Calif. (AP) — When she was in school it seemed nobody knew she was there. Things haven't changed much for Wendy Yoshimura even after her arrest with roommate Patty Hearst.

Virtually all the attention has been focused on Miss Hearst and her fellow Symbionese Liberation Army comrades, William and Emily Harris.

Some of Wendy's isolation has been thrust upon her. She is kept in isolation, forbidden to leave her cell even for meals. She laughs lightly when told that Patty has dining room privileges and mingles with other prisoners every day. "I read about that. She gets out for a whole hour!"

Wendy, 32, said in her first jailhouse interview that if someone asks for her on visiting days, she is brought to the general visiting room but kept alone at a corner table while other inmates sit at a communal visiting area.

Arrested with Patty at a San Francisco apartment Sept. 18, she is in the Alameda County Jail, 35 miles southwest of San Francisco, awaiting trial on explosives and weapons charges unrelated to the Hearst case. Patty is at San Mateo County Jail in Redwood City, Calif., awaiting trial on federal bank robbery charges.

Since her arrest, after three years as a fugitive, Wendy says she is receiving warm support from other Japanese-Americans, many from her home town of Fresno, Calif.

She didn't elaborate on her goals for society during the interview.

She was pale but cheerful, smiling and gesturing animatedly as she talked. "I love art," she said, turning to her favorite subject. "I would like to show through art the changes that are happening in society. I would like to show visions of what life really is."

An artist who once aimed to work in graphics and commercial illustration, Wendy said she never stopped drawing — not even during her three years in the underground. "I've been doing water colors and drawings. I don't know where my work is now. The FBI has some of it — my work from school. It was in a portfolio."

The only daughter of Fresno gardeners Frank and Fumiye Yoshimura, Wendy was born in a Japanese detention camp for Japanese during World War II. After their release, the Yoshimura family moved to Hiroshima, Japan.

Document Gives Voters Local Government Option

Editor's note: This is another in a series of nine stories prepared by the Associated Press on the proposed new state constitution that will be voted on Nov. 4. This article discusses the provisions concerning Local Government. Other stories deal with the various phases of the eight propositions on the ballot.

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas voters will say Nov. 4 whether a special separate article on local government should be added to the Texas constitution.

In the current much-amended constitution provisions concerning cities, counties and the hundreds of special governmental districts are scattered throughout the 63,000 word document. The proposed new constitution gathers everything together in one article called "Local Government."

Supporters say the proposed article is perhaps the most far-reaching of the entire constitution. The most important section on local government in the present constitution, on home rule for cities, was added in 1912.

Since then Texas has changed from a primarily agricultural state to a major urban state.

Opponents say leave the constitution the way it is, any move will cost money.

Feelings on the local government article are widely separated, with a number of urban groups favoring adoption while many rural groups want to keep what they have now.

The Texas Municipal League, the statewide organization of city governments, has endorsed the article, along with the rest of the new constitution.

The Texas AFL-CIO says it cannot accept the local government article, along with the judiciary article, but will endorse the rest.

Organizations passing resolutions against the local government article include the Texas Association of Counties, the Panhandle Judges and Commissioners Association, the Gulf Coast Judges and Prosecutors Association and the Dallas County Democratic Executive Committee.

"It removes too much authority from the people and puts it in the hands of the legislature," said the resolution passed by the Panhandle officials.

"The many groups for the local government article are happy and excited because of the limited home rule provisions for counties," said a spokesman for the Citizens for a Texas Constitution. "They like the ordinance making powers for counties, and the idea that voters can restructure the makeup of county officials."

Local government provisions in the new constitution that are not in the 1876 version include:

—Allow county voters to create additional offices, combine the duties and functions of present offices, or eliminate offices.

—Enable county voters to grant ordinance-making power to the county commissioners court or governing body of the county.

—Lower the required population for home-rule cities from 5,000 to 1,500.

—Establishes a $2 maximum property tax rate per $100 assessed valuation for cities, not including taxes for debt service. Counties would have a $1.25 per $100 valuation ceiling. The legislature would be required to fix debt limits for cities, counties and school and community junior college districts.

The new constitution would retain the present elected county officials as set out in the 1876 constitution and provides for four-year terms. It also contains a general statement of authority for the legislature to provide for special districts and authorities by general or local law. Cities and counties also could establish special districts within their boundaries if authorized by the legislature. Political subdivisions would be able to contract with other government units from various services and functions.

San Antonio Mayor Lila Cockrell, president of the Texas Municipal League, said that "cities have much to gain fiscally through passage of the new charter, as a consequence of its repeal of present constitutional limits on municipal debt ... because it removes the "tax-limited bond stigma from general obligations of municipal governments it will save Texas cities $30 to $40 million in unnecessary interest costs."

The Texas AFL-CIO said it opposed the local government article because it would allow continued "proliferation" of special tax districts.

Jim Brigrance, Brazoria County commissioner and incoming president of the Texas County Judge and Commissioners Association, said the document would "give the legislature almost unlimited authority over nearly every phase of our lives not already regulated by the federal government."

Speaker Bill Clayton told the Texas Association of Counties it was making a mistake by opposing county home rule provisions which would allow voters to change the structure of county government.

Dear Abby

Teen Enters Wrong Beauty Queen Contest

DEAR ABBY: I hope you will print my letter to warn other girls against mistaking the Miss U.S. Teen Pageant for the Miss Teenage America Pageant. I made that mistake. I paid an entry fee of $75 and drove 260 miles from my home after being accepted as a Florida entry in the Miss U.S. Teen Pageant. I had to pay all my own expenses for an overnight trip, plus buy a special wardrobe.

The girl who won first prize got a $500 scholarship for a LOCAL college — a far cry from the $10,000, four-year scholarship for the college or her choice, which is what the winner of the Miss Teenage America Pageant gets.

Too late I discovered that I had entered a LOCAL Teen Queen contest, thinking it was the National Miss Teenage America Pageant!

After checking, I learned that any girl can enter the preliminaries of the Miss Teenage America Pageant in her home town, and it doesn't cost her one penny. And she doesn't have to be sponsored. She can enter as a candidate at large.

I have chalked up my mistake to experience, but you could do teenage girls a big favor by advising them to find out exactly what each pageant does or does not offer before they enter.

TAKEN IN FLORIDA DEAR TAKEN: Consider it done! Yours is only one of many such complaints I've received.

Girls, beware! DEAR ABBY: Several months ago a new lady boss came to work in the firm where I am a secretary.

She began asking me to please get her a cup of coffee or a candy bar. (We have dispensing machines.) She is always in a hurry, rushing to another meeting and never has her purse with her.

Of course, I oblige. She is so lady-like and has such lovely manners, I thought she would reimburse me, but she never has.

ABBY, I like my job and don't want to make a big deal out of it, but over the months her coffee and candy bars have put a hole in my budget.

What would be a tactful way of handling this without appearing cheap, embarrassing my boss or getting stuck for more?

STUCK DEAR STUCK: It's not "cheap" to ask for what is owed you. But you will have to make a choice between recouping your losses and sparing the lady boss from embarrassment. As for protection against being stuck again: When she asks for something from the machine, ask her for the change because you're "fresh out."

Mrs. Crane Presents 'Plant Party' Program

The City HD Club met Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. W. Elrod. Guests attending the meeting were Mrs. Bill Fleming and Mrs. Ola Mae Griffin.

Mrs. Elrod gave the thought for the day. The Club voted to sponsor a patient at the State Hospital for the coming year.

Mrs. Doris Crane, D & M Garden Center, gave a "plant party" program. She named the four things a plant must have: light, water, temperature, and soil. She added that the only thing one has complete control over is water.

Amateur gardeners tend to overwater. A test for watering is to insert your finger to the depth of the first knuckle. If the soil is moist there is no need to water.

Mrs. Crane went on to say that any rich soil that has a loose consistency is proper soil.

She said that plants should be placed in rooms according to the lighting system. She listed plants that are suitable to high, medium, and low lights, and suggested that plants should be bathed in soapy water once a month.

Mrs. Crane presented a plant and a plant identification chart to the club. Mrs. Ervin Daniel won the chart and Mrs. T. M. Dunagan received the plant.

The next meeting will be a Thanksgiving luncheon on Nov. 14 in the home of Mr. J. S. Jackson, Vealmoor. Members will meet at 10:30 a.m. at the College Park Shopping center parking lot to leave in a caravan to the Jackson home.

Know The Facts About Food Poisoning

By SHERRY MULLIN County Extension Agent

You don't feel good. Your stomach is upset. You have abdominal pains, diarrhea, perhaps a headache. You may think you are coming down with a cold or the flu. That's possible. But, it's also possible you have fallen victim to one of the "infamous four."

These are four common causes of food poisoning — Salmonella, Clostridium perfringens, Staphylococcus, and Clostridium botulinum. Don't be fooled by the big names. They are simple, little bacteria organisms — one-celled organisms that multiply by dividing. To divide they need food, warmth, and moisture.

These bacteria may be present in all foods because they are everywhere in the environment. It's up to you to protect yourself and your family from them.

Many people from the farmer through the retailer try to protect you from these bacteria. The U.S. Department of Agriculture or a state agency inspects your meat and poultry for wholesomeness. The Food and Drug Administration inspects plants where all other foods are produced.

But, from the supermarket shelf to the dinner table you must be careful. Responsibility begins in the supermarket. Don't buy any food in containers, cans or packages that are outdated, broken, bent or leaky. Especially avoid bulging cans — the food could contain lethal botulism toxin. Let the store manager know there is something wrong so that he can take the package or can off the shelf.

Make the grocery store your last stop so you can go right home. On arriving home, immediately put your meat and poultry in the refrigerator, which should be at 40 degrees F., or in the freezer at 0 degrees F. Put frozen foods in the freezer right away. This prevents any bacteria in the food from growing.

When you take your fresh meat, poultry, or frozen foods out to cook, don't do any favors for the "infamous four." Thaw foods in the refrigerator, or cook them frozen. If you must thaw in a hurry, do so in a water-tight plastic bag submerged in cold water.

Never thaw frozen food uncovered on a kitchen counter at room temperature. Remember, there are bacteria everywhere, and room temperature lets them grow.

Good habits in the kitchen can help prevent food contamination. For example, don't keep main dishes at room temperature for longer than two hours before serving. Bacteria grows rapidly at room temperature.

Put leftovers into the refrigerator as soon as the meal is over. Refrigerate them in small or shallow containers so they will cool quickly.

Pets also are carriers of the "infamous four" bacteria. After handling, wash your hands before working with food. Don't allow pet feeding dishes, toys or bedding in the kitchen. Don't let pets touch food, utensils, or food-working surfaces.

Undercooking is the real culprit in homecanning. In general, high acid foods may be canned by boiling; but all others, including meats and poultry, should be canned in pressure cookers at the appropriate heat level for the required length of time.

DAY CARE VISIT — First Lady Betty Ford was the featured guest Saturday at the Cleveland Congress of the International Women's Year at the Convention Center in downtown Cleveland, Mrs. Ford took a tour of the exhibits and also spent time with the children in the Model Day Care Center.

First Lady Says Cloud Of Fear Must Be Lifted

CLEVELAND (AP) — First Lady Betty Ford said Saturday that the "cloud of fear and confusion" must be lifted from the battle for the Equal Rights Amendment because it is vital to undo laws that lock women out of opportunities.

In remarks prepared for her first major speech on women's rights, the President's wife also advised women to stop undervaluing their own talents, especially in the home.

"We have to take that 'just' out of 'just a housewife' and show our pride in having made the home and family our life's work," Mrs. Ford said. "Downgrading this work has been part of a pattern in our society that has undervalued women's talents in all areas."

Mrs. Ford came to Cleveland on a chilly, rainy day to speak before several thousand women on the opening day of a three-day Greater Cleveland Congress of International Women's Year conference.

Mrs. Ford said the debate over ERA "has become too emotional" because of the fears of both men and women. But she said its ratification — which would go into effect if four more states vote for it — "will not alter the fabric of the Constitution or force women away from their families. It will help knock down those restrictions that have locked women into old stereotypes of behavior and opportunity. It will help open more options for women."

Mrs. Ford expressed hopes that the Equal Rights Amendment can be ratified in 1976 to mark the nation's 200th birthday.

But she pointed out that "changing laws, more opportunities, less financial discrimination and more possibilities for the use of our minds and bodies will only partially change the place of American women."

Mrs. Ford said many barriers continue to block the paths of most women and "this year is not the time to cheer the visible few, but to work for the invisible many, whose lives are still restricted by custom and code."
