

AT BAY IN BEIRUT — Armed bodyguards of Christian Phalange party leader Pierre Gemayel crouch behind his car preparatory to firing back at Moslem gunmen who drove past Tuesday in Beirut during street fighting.

Private Armies Turn Beirut Into Battlefield

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Moslem and Christian gunmen battled in front of Lebanon's Parliament today, and the deputies had to be evacuated by armored cars.

The warring private armies also battled around the major hotels downtown as Christians tried to dislodge Moslem snipers from a unfinished office skyscraper.

The 500-room Holiday Inn was set on fire, but the extent of the damage was not known.

AMERICANS FLEE

Several bullets hit the U.S. Embassy, on the edge of one battle zone. Only a skeleton staff was on duty. American officials and their families fled to a seaside hotel in a safer district. Many were taken by convoy to the airport to join other foreigners waiting to leave the country.

An open car filled with leftist Moslems drove past the Parliament building shouting insults over a loudspeaker. Bodyguards of Pierre Gemayel, the leader of the right-wing Christian Phalange party, opened fire on them, and one gunman on each side was killed.

SESSION CANCELED

The Parliament session was canceled, and the security forces took the deputies home in armored cars.

Premier Rashid Karami announced in a broadcast that he was forming a nine-man group to try to bring about a ceasefire. He said it would represent all political religious factions. But an earlier 20-man "reconciliation" committee of Moslem and Christian leaders has been unable to reduce the fighting.

BATTLE ZONE

The downtown battle also set two buildings ablaze in a seedy quarter of night clubs and strip joints on the beach below the Holiday Inn. Firemen were unable to reach either area because of the heavy fire from heavy machine guns, cannon, mortars and rocket grenades, the government radio said.

Associated Press newsman Aly Mahmoud, who lives about 500 yards from the U.S. Embassy, reported by telephone that left-wing Moslem gunmen and radical Palestinian guerrillas turned the middle-class neighborhood into a battle zone, with street barricades and machinegun nests on street corners.

Today, left-wing street gangs attacked militiamen of the right-wing Christian Phalange party as they advanced on the 40-floor Mour building from which Moslem snipers were firing.

143 DEAD

Security officials estimated that 120 more people were killed Monday and said they knew of 23 more who died during the early part of the night. More than 6,000 have been killed in the past seven months of communal warfare, and property damage is estimated at more than $3.4 billion.

The U.S. Embassy advised all American women and children and men whose business was not essential to leave the city, after the fighting spread Monday to the Qantari quarter in which many foreigners lived. But they had great difficulty getting to the airport and more trouble there.

CHECK POINTS

The army set up checkpoints on the road to the airport and said only persons with plane tickets could get through. But with most of the city a battleground and no airline offices or travel agencies open downtown, most people were unable to buy tickets in advance.

Those who got to the airport found long lines waiting. Only four major airlines — Middle East, Air France, British Airways and the Saudi line — and several smaller lines were still flying in and out.

Parliament tried to meet Monday, but the 50th member needed for a quorum apparently could not get through the shooting.

CLU Files Damage Suit Against CIA

WASHINGTON (AP) — A suit seeking some $500 million in damages was filed in federal court today against present and former officials of the Central Intelligence Agency and National Security Agency for their surveillance of antiwar radicals and other dissidents.

The class action suit was filed by the American Civil Liberties Union on behalf of some 8,200 individuals and organizations who were the subject of files kept by the CIA as part of its Operation CHAOS, an intelligence program begun in 1967.

The suit alleges the CIA and NSA illegally opened the mail and intercepted the overseas phone calls and cables of American dissidents. It seeks damages of $50,000 for each of the 8,200 individuals and organizations. The suit also asks for $10-a-day in damages for each day that their communications were intercepted.

In addition to the intelligence officials, the suit also names as defendants Western Union, RCA World Communications, American Cable and Radio, and ITT World Communications for allegedly supplying NSA with intercepts of overseas phone calls and cables.

Intelligence officials named in the suit include CIA Director William E. Colby; former directors James R. Schlesinger, now secretary of defense, and Richard M. Helms, now ambassador to Iran; along with Lt. Gen. Lew Allen, director of the NSA; and two of his predecessors, Vice Admiral Noel Gayler and Lt. Gen. Samuel C. Phillips.

The suit, filed in U.S. District Court here, is believed to be the first ever filed against the NSA and the first arising from the CIA's surveillance of U.S. dissidents.

According to the Rockefeller Commission, Operation CHAOS was started in 1967 in an effort to uncover a suspected foreign influence behind unrest at home, but became "a repository for large quantities of information on the domestic activities of American citizens," much of which "was not directly related to the question of the existence of foreign connections with domestic dissidence."

Atomic Test Sways Vegas

MERCURY, Nev. (AP) — Tall buildings swayed in Las Vegas and people were shaken from their sleep early today as a high-powered nuclear warhead was detonated 4,150 feet underground here.

The weapons development test, code-named Kasserli, had an announced yield of 200 kilotons to one megaton, the largest variety conducted at the Nevada Test Site.

A rolling earth tremor shook Las Vegas, about 100 miles south of the blast site in the remote Paiute Mesa region. The tremor lasted about 20 seconds.

Dave Miller, spokesman for the Energy Research and Development Administration, said the blast jolted the control offices, swinging microphones and television cameras.

Hearst, FBI Paid Sara

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sara Jane Moore was kept on Randolph Hearst's payroll for several months in 1974 in hopes that she might help him find his then-fugitive daughter, says one of the authors of a Rolling Stone account of Patricia Hearst's underground life.

Mrs. Moore, 45, faced arraignment today on a federal grand jury indictment charging her with trying to assassinate President Ford on Sept. 22.

While on Hearst's payroll in 1974, Mrs. Moore also was being paid by the FBI to report on his dealings with radicals whom the newspaper executive hoped would lead him to his daughter, Howard Kohn said in an interview Monday night.

Mrs. Moore had worked for the $2 million food giveaway program established by Hearst in an unsuccessful attempt to win the return of his daughter after she was kidnapped by the Symbionese Liberation Army on Feb. 4, 1974.

Kohn said that after the program ended, Mrs. Moore "was kept on by Randolph Hearst ostensibly as a bookkeeper but actually to serve as sort of an informant because at the time she was associated with various SLA informers and sympathizers." "And Hearst hoped that she would bring him some clues, some lead to find Patty."

Mrs. Moore was kept on the Hearst retainer from the spring through the fall of 1974, Kohn said.

"At the same time she was being paid by the FBI to spy on both Hearst and his dealings, well, to spy on Hearst's dealings with radicals," Kohn said.

Kohn did not say what source the information came from. But the latest Rolling Stone article he wrote with David Weir and other published reports have mentioned Mrs. Moore's dual role involving the Hearsts.

The copyright Rolling Stone article, which purports to give an inside look at Miss Hearst's life with the SLA, said Mrs. Moore apparently never gave any real information to Hearst.

BULLETIN

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A federal judge entered an innocent plea for Sara Jane Moore today at her arraignment on a grand jury indictment accusing her of trying to kill President Ford.

U.S. District Court Judge Samuel Conti also set Dec. 15 for her trial.

He took the action despite objections from Mrs. Moore's attorney, public defender James Hewitt, who argued that she should not be arraigned until the completion of psychiatric tests to determine whether she is mentally competent to stand trial.

Foreign Oil Erodes Monthly Trade Balance

WASHINGTON (AP) — A surge in imported oil eroded the nation's foreign trade balance in September, but the United States still managed to record its eighth consecutive monthly surplus, the government said today.

At the same time, the government reported that investments by foreigners in the United States are much higher than previously estimated, totaling $106.7 billion in 1974. The report includes government and private investments.

FACES ARRAIGNMENT — Sara Jane Moore walks from the San Mateo County Jail in Redwood City, Calif., on her way to federal court in San Francisco. She faces arraignment on a federal grand jury indictment charging her with trying to assassinate President Ford on Sept. 22.

Sociologist Says Busing Harmful

WASHINGTON (AP) — A leading sociologist who once advocated busing to achieve school desegregation today told Congress that forced busing has had the opposite effect in the nation's large cities.

Dr. James S. Coleman of the University of Chicago told the Senate Judiciary Committee that court-ordered busing "raises a spectre of a country of black cities and white suburbs."

A report by Coleman in 1966 for the U.S. Office of Education provided an underpinning for busing to achieve desegregation. The report found that children from disadvantaged backgrounds performed somewhat better when they attended school with children from more affluent homes.

Coleman said today that although he never believed in compulsory busing, he had once held that busing was the quickest way to achieve school integration in the nation's schools.

However, he said he has now changed his mind after realizing that busing contributed to the flight of whites from the central cities into the suburbs.

However, Coleman refused to endorse proposed constitutional amendments before the committee that would ban compulsory busing as a means of achieving school integration. Massive busing of students should be discontinued,

Coleman testified, but this should come through the courts and through political processes rather than by an amendment to the Constitution.

Before the committee are proposed amendments that would bar court-ordered busing plans like those put into effect this September in Louisville and Boston.

Kentucky Gov. Julian M. Carroll testified that the Louisville busing plan has caused "extensive harm" to Louisville and Jefferson County.

He urged the committee to approve an amendment only as a last resort. First, Congress should enact a moratorium on forced busing and establish a study commission to evaluate the nationwide impact of busing orders, Carroll said.

SHOW ME WAY TO GO HOME

Big Spring State Hospital attendants requested police to rush and remove a drunk from the alcoholic ward at noon Monday.

Police went to the scene and arrested a 50-year-old man for public intoxication in the alcoholic wing of the hospital, where alcoholics are treated.

The man was taken to the city's detoxification center, another location for alcoholic treatment.

Search For Bomb Suspects

By the Associated Press
Police searched for suspects and clues Monday in the bombing of banks, government buildings and corporate towers in New York, Chicago and Washington.

A Puerto Rican separatist group claimed it set the explosions in all three cities to attack "Yanki government" and "capitalist institutions." At the same time, however, an anonymous telephone caller said the Washington, D. C., blast was linked to a U.S. "sell-out of Israel."

The blasts, which occurred almost simultaneously in the three cities and spanned a period of about 45 minutes, from 1:43 a.m. to 2:30 a.m. (EST), caused no injuries.

There were five bombs in New York City — four at banks and one at the U.S. Mission to the United Nations. A bomb also exploded at the State Department in Washington and three bombs damaged four buildings in Chicago.

Authorities in Chicago said as many as six persons might be involved. Police in New York said they were looking for three men and a woman who were seen in a maroon-colored car near three of the bomb sites in mid-Manhattan and the Wall Street area.

Written communiques and telephone messages to news media said the bombings were the work of FALN, a terrorist group seeking independence for Puerto Rico, now a U.S. commonwealth. In Spanish, the initials stand for the Armed Forces for National Liberation.

The World At-A-Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Banking Committee is expected to approve federal aid for New York City this week, but it may not contain the kind of help that New York officials are seeking. Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., and committee Chairman William Proxmire, D-Wis., met Monday night to discuss their differences over proposed aid plans, and Proxmire said he was hopeful a compromise would be reached this week so a bill can be reported to the Senate. But Proxmire, who has been the guiding force behind committee efforts to get an aid bill to the floor, continued to insist that any measure that comes from his panel will contain a provision requiring New York State to levy a special tax to aid the troubled city. State officials have scorned such a proposal.

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Australia's politicians and government employees are beginning to feel the unresolved political crisis in their pocketbooks. Legislators' free newspapers and travel privileges have been curtailed, and Parliament's hours have been shortened to save on overtime pay to staff members. Civil servants and members of the armed forces may not be paid after November. The Senate, which is controlled by the conservative opposition, has refused to approve the 1975-76 budget unless the Labor government of Prime Minister Gough Whitlam calls national elections, which are not due until 1977.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Beginning today, lending institutions will be barred by federal law from refusing credit or loans because of an applicant's sex or marital status. Under provisions of the Equal Credit Opportunity Act, a woman cannot be asked whether she plans to have children, and lenders cannot assume from loan applicants' ages that they are likely to become parents. Lenders cannot use discouraging comments or delays in processing of applications as a subtle form of sex or marital discrimination.

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the Girl Scouts admit boys to their ranks, Be Prepared. There's bound to be an uproar — especially if the 1,800 delegates to the 40th national Girl Scout convention meeting here this week reflect the views of the nation's nearly four million Girl Scouts. At their meeting here Monday, some 4,500 young, middle-aged, old and predominantly white Girl Scouts participated in a discussion of whether membership should include boys and whether a mini-scout program should be started for children under 6. Judging from the clapping and cheering for those who spoke out against proposals to change the green-clad troops, the ideas will be defeated when the delegates vote today.

Sadat Continues Quest For U.S. Weapons, Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Egyptian President Anwar Sadat resumes his quest for American weapons after praising President Ford for moving toward "an even-handed policy in the Middle East."

Sadat calls first today on Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger at the Pentagon, then has a second session with Ford at the White House.

At a state dinner in his honor on Monday night, Sadat said U.S. relations with his country have improved because of "a greater degree of American understanding of our just cause and our legitimate struggle to establish peace in the area."

He urged Ford to boost creation of a Palestinian state — "Are they not entitled to their national rights like all other peoples?"

The Palestinian cause is gaining more international support every day, Sadat said, and "many Arabs are confident that the United States will not dissent from this irreversible trend."

NORTHER

Northerly to northeasterly wind 10-25 miles per hour this afternoon. Decreasing to 5-10 m.p.h. tonight. Fair today and Wednesday with daily highs near 70. Low tonight, low 40s.

His appeal went unanswered. But Ford, speaking first, stressed that "there can be no peace until the legitimate interests of all people in the Middle East are taken fairly into account..."

U.S. policy has been to oppose Palestinian participation in Middle East negotiations until Israel's right to exist is accepted.

Sadat, obviously mindful of that policy, played on the Palestinian theme both at the White House dinner and earlier at an appearance before the National Press Club.

He toasted Ford as showing "a greater degree of American understanding" for the Arab cause and said there are signs Washington "has started to see the realities in their true perspective."

Ford, meanwhile, continued to praise Sadat for a "vigorous pursuit of peace." He called Sadat, the first Egyptian leader to make an official U.S. visit, a man of courage, wisdom, sincerity and moderation.

Once totally dependent on Moscow for arms, Sadat now is turning to the United States and Europe for assistance. Sadat denied bringing a "shopping list" with him, however, and said his 11-day visit is "mainly to meet the American people and let them know our ideas."

He urged the United States to be more forceful in promoting an Israeli withdrawal from the Golan Heights border with Syria. And he called for the internationalization of the entire city of Jerusalem, the capital of Israel.

As Sadat held his first meeting with Ford on Monday, about 300 Arab and Iranian students demonstrated in front of the White House, chanting "Down with Sadat" and "Long Live Palestine." Sadat saw them from his limousine as he left the meeting with Ford.

DOCTORS PICKET CHICAGO'S COUNTY HOSPITAL — Striking interns and resident physicians carry signs as they walk on a picket line outside Chicago's Cook County Hospital. Members of the house staff union, representing about 75 per cent of all doctors at the hospital, walked out Monday and refused to treat any new patients that are not emergency cases.

Information Made Available

It's rather odd that a document which, among other things, would strengthen the powers of the governor has been criticized by the state's chief public officer.

The proposed new state constitution already faced rugged going at the polls Nov. 4 before Gov. Dolph Briscoe expressed a negative view about the document. Now that he has come out against it, the odds are overwhelming that it will go down to defeat.

One can talk to the man on the street about the proposed new constitution and he gets a blank look. The average citizen hasn't taken the time to study the issues at stake. Furthermore, his neighbor hasn't done much studying either.

Advocates of the new constitution argue that we need annual sessions. It would be all right with some opponents of the plan if the legislature met no more than once every five years.

Many voters who have formed an opinion about the new document won't support it. They reason taxes are bound to go up because of it, and they could be right.

The education program of proponents of the new constitution hasn't been very effective, mainly because their organization has been poor and they've been underfinanced.

The series of stories now being carried in The Herald on the proposed document, which originated with the Associated Press, should help a lot of people make up their minds about the document — if only the readers will take the trouble to peruse them.

President Is Consistent

President Ford is at least consistent. He consistently vetoes measures designed to help people, in the interest of his fiscal policy.

His latest example is his veto of the child nutrition bill. That bill provides $2.75 billion for school lunch and breakfast programs. The President said the program would provide subsidies for non-needy children and "is worse than the programs we now have."

George McGovern, commenting on the President's veto, summed the situation up well. He said the veto "reveals once again the misplaced priorities of the Ford administration."

That it does. The President has shown time and again he is immune to caring very much about the needs of people. He has vetoed aid to education. He has vetoed health programs. Now he vetoes a program designed to improve the nutrition of the nation's children. And all the while he castigates Congress for not allowing energy prices to rise as fast as he would like, and for not appropriating enough money to purchase weapons.

Congress did the right thing in overriding.

Henry's Clout

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — President Ford's refusal to name a Pentagon representative on the new government board created by Congress to monitor trade with Communist nations reflects Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's continuing power to avoid policy moves that might offend the Kremlin.

WHEN CONGRESSIONAL demands that Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger be named to the East-West Trade Board were raised at a board meeting, objections were quickly voiced by Kissinger's man in attendance: Deputy Secretary of State Robert Ingersoll. Inserting the Pentagon into non-military matters, Ingersoll asserted, would be inappropriate and could be resented by Soviet leaders at a time of U.S. — Soviet negotiations on many delicate matters.

Kissinger has successfully kept Schlesinger off the board so far, pointing to two power realities: first, though his prestige in Congress has fallen drastically and his national popularity is slipping, Kissinger keeps the upper hand over Schlesinger in their continuous struggle over global strategy; second, Kissinger still dictates international economic policy despite challenges from Treasury Secretary William Simon.

But Kissinger may have to back down on East-West trade thanks to an outside force: Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, the flamboyant chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. Such a retreat on an obscure issue would be seen by Kissinger's rivals as a first step in stripping international economics from his empire.

THE EAST-WEST TRADE Board was created by Congress as an amendment to the 1974 trade act pushed by Long, who feared dangerous Communist gains (especially in transferring technology) resulting from U. S. businessmen being outfoxed by Soviet bureaucrats. A sharp eye for the national interest in these deals would be kept by a board, as outlined by Long, consisting of several cabinet members — definitely including the Secretary of Defense.

On April 8, Mr. Ford named a board including nearly all of Long's nominations — but excluding the Secretary of Defense. On June 5, Long wrote Secretary Simon, the board's chairman, protesting Schlesinger's omission as a violation of congressional intent. In monitoring "transfer of technology vital to the national interest," wrote Long, "... it is extremely important that the Department of Defense advise the East-West Trade Board on the national security aspects of transactions."

LONG GOT no argument from Simon, who would take a much harder international economic policy line than Kissinger. On July 2, Simon wrote Long supporting Schlesinger's membership. But when Simon brought it up at a board meeting, he ran into Ingersoll's objection — strongly seconded by Secretary of Commerce Rogers Morton, also a board member.

That was enough to blackball Schlesinger. Mr. Ford's closest aides cannot remember ever seeing anything about the East-West Trade Board, and it is extremely doubtful the President himself knew about the controversy. On such matters, Dr. Kissinger's writ goes unchallenged within the White House.

But not necessarily on Capitol Hill. Clearly nettled, Sen. Long on Sept. 18 wrote Simon, again insisting Schlesinger be named to the board. "I understand that you agree with this view," said Long, "but that State and Commerce are obdurate in their desire to exclude the Defense Department from participating on the board."

Considering Long's key committee chairmanship and frequent support of administration positions, his wishes may not be defied a third time. For its part, the Pentagon is eager to move deeper into East-West trade questions.

Hey! Reagan says he might accept the number two spot, after all!

Still Don't Believe It

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. economy might be on the road to recovery, as measured by several popular statistical indexes, but getting the American people to believe it seems to be another, probably more formidable, challenge.

The mood of the country seems to be one of "show me." Point out that the Gross National Product soared 11.2 per cent in the third quarter and the response might be, "Let's see what it does in the fourth quarter."

The mood is clearly illustrated in the attitude toward job figures. Who doesn't know that unemployment is at a 8.3 per cent rate? But who does know that since March total employment has risen more than 1.5 million? There are indications that interest rates might drop a bit, although perhaps not smoothly. But what businessmen or consumer borrower doesn't choose to comment on the height instead of the trend?

Polls of businessmen and consumers show they share many attitudes. They appear to be uncertain. They are reluctant to commit themselves to big spending projects. They wonder when their own private economies will join in the general improvement.

Consumer spending, while it has improved since the depths of the recession earlier this year, has a long way to go before it can be counted on to give a sustained push to the economy. The First National City Bank polled consumers on their view of the economy in September. The conclusion: Worse than six months ago, with recovery anywhere from one to three years away.

Businessmen are very slow to commit themselves to capital improvement and expansion, citing the existence of idle capacity even now and difficulties in borrowing at what they feel are fair terms.

Lionel D. Edie & Co., the economic consulting associate of Merrill Lynch, the nation's biggest broker, found in a survey that industry planned to expand capital spending in 1976 by only 3 per cent, an almost insignificant amount.

Coronary Bypasses Becoming Common

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband has angina pectoris and is quite hampered in doing anything like working in the garden or mowing the lawn. Things that require a little exertion and pressure. He wonders if there is a way around it that would allow him to do a little light work again.

What is your opinion of having this operation they call a coronary bypass? Would it help him if he had that done? — Mrs. R. B.

There are thousands of these coronary artery bypass operations done each year, and incapacitating angina pectoris is one of the chief indications for such surgery.

The cause of angina is a starving of the heart muscle brought about by an obstruction in the artery serving it. Thus exertion brings pain that radiates throughout the upper chest and arm area.

The bypass is done by removing a portion of a superficial vein in the leg and using it to bypass the obstructed segment in the coronary artery. Pain is often relieved completely. The procedure has a high success ratio. The risk is considered to be about a half of one per cent.

However, in any such surgery your husband's heart status must be thoroughly investigated, since such procedures are not recommended if the heart muscle itself is in poor condition.

Also, because of your husband's age, the doctor would have to weigh carefully his general health before recommending such surgery. There would probably be an extended period of even less activity.

Except in severe cases, angina need not doom one to a wheelchair, especially with available drugs. My booklet, "How to Handle Angina Pectoris," will instruct you and your husband on important aspects of this disease. If you wish a copy, send 25 cents to me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am

69, and I awaken every morning with a vicious headache. I nap each day after lunch feeling fine. On waking an hour later I have the same kind of headache. Can you explain this? — E. B. G.

One cause of morning headache is high blood pressure. It is not too common, but it should be looked into nevertheless.

Another possible factor at your age is arthritic change in the neck vertebrae. Arthritis of the neck spine is common and the positions of your head during sleep can cause muscle spasm. You might try adjusting your pillow or head rest higher or lower to see if such a change helps.

Another cause is related to food, particularly to that containing the amino acid tyramine. This is present in cheese, certain beans, wine and beer. If you snack on cheese or nip before bedtime or before your nap this could cause your discomfort.

My Answer

Billy Graham

Would you please explain why the Son of God is called the son of David in so many places of the New Testament. This seems like a contradiction since we are told that Jesus was indeed the Son of God. I have listed eleven references where it specifically says He was the son of David. I'm sure there must be a logical explanation, and I would like to know.

Jesus was the God-man, both Son of God and son of man. He enunciated this fact over and over again. "And Jesus answered and said... How say the scribes that Christ is the Son of David? For David himself said, by the Holy Ghost, the Lord said to my Lord, Sit thou on my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footstool. David, therefore, himself calleth him Lord; ... and the common people heard him gladly" (Mark 12:35-37.) The prophecies all said He would be the son of David, and on the human side, this is true. But, being conceived by the Holy Ghost, as the Scriptures say, He is son of David by Mary, and Son of God by the Holy Spirit.

The fact that he was the son of David underlines His kingship because the heirs of David were eligible to the throne of David. The Bible indicates that when Christ returns to earth that He will be "King of kings, and Lord of lords" (Revelation 19:16).

The first time He came to suffer and redeem us. But the next time He returns to earth He will fulfill the prophecy of Isaiah concerning Him: "Of the increase of his government and peace there shall be no end, upon the throne of David, ... to order it ... henceforth even forever" (Isaiah 9:7).

Not Cruelty

Around The Rim

Troy Bryant

DALLAS POLICEMEN'S faces were much redder than the University of Texas' mascot following the Texas-Oklahoma game a couple of weeks ago.

It seems that the man who attempted to drench Bevo with red paint was arrested and carted off downtown following the incident, immediately following Oklahoma's 24-17 win over the Longhorns.

A little later, the man was released when it was found that the "paint" was actually strawberry snow-cone flavoring.

WHILE ON THE subject I'd like to make a special note to the "animal lover" who was "trembling and shaking" while asking a reporter why I had printed that the man with the snow-cone flavoring should have succeeded.

I can only say that I still believe that the man should have succeeded in drenching the steer and that it would not be cruelty, any more than what it was already going through on that hot football field. He probably would have enjoyed the chance to cool off.

If you trembled and shook when you heard about the "sacred cow" almost getting turned into a half-ton snow cone, what do you do when you hear about coyotes slaughtered by the hundreds, financed with tax money or when you hear about Texas Tech's horse getting painted with genuine orange oil-based paint, complete with lead.

And what about when all Bevo's cousins are herded into slaughter houses and are hit in the heads with sledge hammers.

I guess I'm just an "animal chauvinist" because I believe that coyotes should be protected, horses should be ridden, and cattle should be eaten.

CB RADIO OWNERS, along with former CB radio owners, are a growing number all over the country.

That makes for a lot of unique "handles" for operators. Perhaps the best I have heard so far was repeated to me by County Commissioner Ikie Rupard.

He says that a truck driver who comes through Big Spring occasionally from Mississippi with a truck-load of chickens is called the "Mississippi Chicken Choker."

ALTHOUGH I'M no Texas Longhorn fan, as many people around this office can attest, I will be rooting for the team to whip the Aggies Nov. 28. Since newspaper folks are expected to work on the day after Thanksgiving, I guess we'll be obliged to listen to that game on the radio.

EDITORIALS OPINIONS

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir: I hope West Texans will come out en masse to vote in the election concerning a new state constitution.

A large turnout will let our legislators know without a doubt the public's feelings.

For myself, I will vote No. My main reason is different from the usual Texan's. Namely, Joseph, William and Bernard Fisher took a great deal of interest in Texas laws. I feel strongly their influence and wisdom helped shape many of our laws since 1881. And many older West Texans know we Fishers stood for the people as well as many old-fashioned virtues!

The provision concerning salaries and legislature meetings scare me: The people of Texas should approve salary increases. The people of Texas don't need professional politicians; we need legislators! And we need more efficiency in government to get maximum benefits from our tax dollar.

Further, time will inevitably create more changes in the law. Should we set the precedent for our great-grandchildren to throw out the old constitution and make a new one?

The Fishers mentioned above put money and love into West Texas. An interest in Texas is one family tradition I intend to continue.

Whatever YOUR choice, be sure and vote.

Incidentally, San Antonio has had front yard garbage pickup for quite a few years. In its nicer sections, I found no loose pets, clean yards and much larger back yards. I didn't get into the "poor" areas of the city.

To Readers of the Dear Abby Columns:

The Social and Rehabilitation Service of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare in Washington has been unable to help thousands of individuals locate absent parents for the purpose of obtaining child support even though that's what the Service promised in a letter to Dear Abby which was printed in her column Aug. 8.

In his letter, James S. Dwight, Jr., then administrator of the Social and Rehabilitation Service, wrote, "It would be helpful if you published the address of the Parent Locator Service because so few attorneys, and even fewer mothers whose husbands have deserted them, know of its existence."

Dear Abby did publish his letter in full; thousands of deserted wives did write to HEW's Parent Locator Service.

Now HEW says it cannot answer all the mail because Congress failed to appropriate the funds to provide the service called for in a new law that went into effect July 1.

Dear Abby regrets the inconvenience caused thousands of her readers. HEW has switched signals and John A. Svahn, acting administrator of the Social and Rehabilitation Service, now says deserted wives should apply to their state welfare department instead of to HEW for assistance in locating an absent parent.

Sincerely,
ROBERTS REED

Egg Coddler Market Rises

NEW YORK (AP) — Egg coddlers, used in a traditionally English style of preparing eggs, are enjoying growing sales in the United States.

According to Hugh Robinson, president of Royal Worcester Porcelain Co., the market is increasing at a 10 per cent annual rate. Last year, he said, more than a million egg coddlers were purchased in America.

His guess is that many were bought as gifts and that not every recipient knew what he was supposed to do with the coddlers.

Ready For Game?

LOVELOCK, Nev. (AP) — The Lee Olsons found treasure in a coffee can. They discovered a rusty coffee can half filled with $1,400 worth of $25 gaming chips from Harolds Club in Reno.

The Olsons were searching for old bottles near a dry lake when they came upon the frame of an ancient auto. Inside the car relic they found the rusty can and chips.

The game tokens were counted and verified by the club's assistant controller, Mike Mills. Some of the chips were partially burned and are about 15 years old.

A Devotion For Today

"Now I know in part; then I shall understand fully."
(1 Corinthians 13:12, RSV)
PRAYER: Gracious God, help us that in seeing we can perceive, that in listening we can understand. We pray as Thy Son has taught us, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

SA Maintains Transit Lodge For Itinerants

The Salvation Army Men's Club has been meeting every Saturday morning for a game of touch football.

In addition to its regular clubs, the Salvation Army maintains a Transit Lodge for itinerants. In the last 10 months, the Lodge has temporarily housed 2,799 people on the move. Lodging is free until a person moves of finds a job.

The Salvation Army also maintains a permanent, self-supporting thrift store which employs three community members and provides low cost clothing for those in need.

One of the Salvation Army's major projects is its annual Christmas Drive. Bell Ringers collect donations starting Dec. 6 so that every family in the community may have Christmas dinner, and every child may have toys under the tree.

$5,804,274 CRMWD Budget Is Proposed

A budget proposing expenditures of $5,804,274 during 1975 has been forwarded to bondholders by the Colorado River Municipal Water District. If there is no objection, the budget will be in effect.

The fiscal outlay is up by 20.16 per cent for the year, and the increase is spread fairly even between operations and debt service. The effect of principal payments for the Lake Spence project of a decade ago is being felt for the first time and resulted in a debt service increase of $619,292, or 20.69 per cent. The requirement for the year is $3,612,219, and a comparable figure will hold during the next half dozen years until the debt load peaks out.

Operations will come to $2,192,065 during the year, a gain of $354,483, or 19.29 per cent. Here, the big influence is exerted by increased power costs, $315,925, or 39.39 per cent. The total electric power bill will be $1,118,313, most of it the $1,074,026 for the district's lakes, wells and pump stations, which is up 40.55 per cent. The modifying portion is the $44,187 for pumping city wells, up 15.75 per cent.

Most other areas of operation track the current budget closely. One exception is the $20,000 estimated maintenance for the SACROC well system, up 150 per cent. These are brine wells and the longer they operate, generally the greater the maintenance.

The administrative and general portion of the budget comes to $320,284, up $14,891 or 4.88 per cent. Recreational expense is $89,978, up 3.63 per cent. Recreation fees generate most of this revenue. Overall revenues are estimated at $7,068,551, up $1,105,769, or 18.55 per cent.

STRUGGLES IN VAIN — Mary Ross, 44, of Toronto struggles in vain (left) to untangle the lines of her main parachute as she fell more than 2,000 feet while making her 108th jump Sunday over Cameron Airport, near Lindsay, Ont. Only 200 feet above the ground (right) Mrs. Ross cut free of her tangled chute. She apparently tried to open a reserve chute but didn't have time and crashed to the ground.

Woman Starved Her Son, Senate Votes Wants To Keep Others On Promotion Of General

LOWELL, Fla. (AP) — A Miami mother who was convicted of starving her 3-year-old son to death says she will become a minister and try to regain custody of her five other children.

"God will bring me through whatever happens," Lois Nozza Diamond, 32, said shortly before she left the Florida Correctional Institution on parole Monday.

her 1973 trial that she was at the house while Dean was dying but claimed she was helpless with fear that her first husband would beat her if she took the boy to a doctor.

"I look at myself back then and I really hate myself for not being the person I should have been," she said. "But I can't give an excuse. I know now no normal person would have done what I did."

Mrs. Diamond said she plans to become a minister and she and her new husband, Angelo Diamond, will work to help inmates and old people in nursing homes.

She said she will go back to high school and get her diploma. And she said she wants to get her five remaining children back from her former husband, who was acquitted in the boy's death.

Conditions of Mrs. Diamond's parole were that she continue psychiatric treatment and not seek custody of her children until doctors find her mentally fit.

Spokesmen said the parole board decided to release Mrs. Diamond after deciding she is no threat to the public and can better undergo counseling outside prison walls.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is scheduled to decide whether to promote an Air Force general who was involved in the unauthorized bombing of North Vietnam in 1972.

A vote is set for today on the promotion of Maj. Gen. Alton D. Slay to the rank of lieutenant general.

The nomination has been pending on the Senate calendar since July 24 when it was approved routinely without a recorded vote by the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Since then, final action has been held up at the request of Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., on grounds that Slay knowingly accepted and executed orders to conduct the air strikes against North Vietnam, contrary to written rules of engagement. Bayh also says he is concerned that Slay participated in falsification of reports to conceal the bombings.

Slay was deputy for operations to Maj. Gen. John D. Lavelle in Vietnam in early 1972 when Lavelle on his own authority ordered bombing raids on targets in North Vietnam.

Mystery Novelist, Rex Stout, Dies

DANBURY, CONN. (AP) — Novelist Rex Stout is dead at the age of 88. He was the creator of the witty, wide-girthed sleuth, Nero Wolfe, who relied on brain power to triumph over villains.

The goateed novelist, who delighted millions of mystery lovers with 46 Wolfe adventures, died of natural causes at his hillside home here Monday. His last novel, "A Family Affair," was published last month.

Beginning in 1934 with "Ferde-Lance," the tales of the orchid-growing, 286-pound private detective sold more than 45 million copies in 22 languages.

"I write for 39 consecutive days each year," Stout once said. "I figure on six weeks for a book, but I shave it down."

He said he never rewrote or even reread any of them.

Explaining further how he went about his craft, Stout said:

"Before starting I do put down in front of me a handwritten list of characters, but I've never written out a single word of a plot. The plots come when I'm shaving, watering the plants, putting around."

"Sometimes I think of them for three weeks, sometimes for three days. If you keep the main facts firmly in mind, and you don't let anything contradict you, you can move around freely."

Like his agile and intense creator, the sedentary detective owed his victory over villains — who in one novel included the FBI — to logical thinking and brain power. Handsome, scrappy Archie was his legman.

After Wolfe's debut, his pre-World War II fictionalized adventures such as "The League of Frightened Men," "The Rubber Band," and "Too Many Crooks" gave him a place next to E. L. Stanley Gardner's Perry Mason.

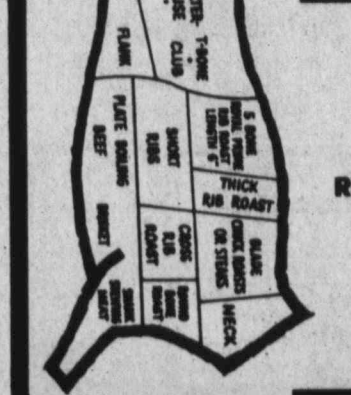

His postwar novels included "The Silent Speaker," "If Death Ever Sleeps," "The Mother Hunt" and "The Golden Spiders."

Stout considered the FBI an "odious, overbearing and unprincipled" organization and in his most controversial novel, "The Doorbell Rang," published in 1965, the federal agency is the villain.

Stout was born in Noblesville, Ind. but grew up near Topeka, Kans. In true novelist tradition, he went through a series of jobs — bookkeeper, sailor, hotel manager among them — before settling down to writing.

He also prided himself on being the inventor of a school

Anderson, Johnson Honored

NEW YORK (AP) — Sparky Anderson, the hard driver of Cincinnati's Big Red Machine, was named the National League Manager of the Year today.

Anderson, who sparked the world champion Reds to their greatest season in history, was a runaway choice in the voting from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

The popular 41-year-old manager won by a landslide 289-61 margin over Danny Murtaugh, manager of the East-winning Pittsburgh Pirates.

John McNamara, who piloted the San Diego Padres to a fourth-place finish in the National League West, finished third with 30 votes while Philadelphia's Danny Ozark was fourth with 18 and St. Louis' Red Schoendienst fifth with seven.

Anderson's well-heeled Reds won the National League pennant with a flair. They swept the West by winning an amazing 108 games, including a record 64 at home, and then polished off the Pirates in three easy games.

The topping to Anderson's sweetest season came in the World Series, where the Reds defeated the Boston Red Sox in seven games to claim their first world title since 1919.

BOSTON (AP) — As a rookie manager in 1974, Darrell Johnson was blamed by critics for the collapse of the Boston Red Sox in the final six weeks of the baseball season.

This year, blessed with young talent, Johnson turned things around, leading the Red Sox to a pennant and to within one victory of the World Series championship.

For his leadership, Johnson was named Monday the American League's Manager of the Year by The Associated Press. In balloting by sports writers and sportscasters throughout the nation, Johnson was a runaway winner with 329 votes.

Alvin Dark of the Oakland A's was runnerup with 39, followed by Frank Robinson of the Cleveland Indians with 20. Earl Weaver of the Baltimore Orioles received six votes and Billy Martin of the New York Yankees two. Martin was The AP's 1974 Manager of the Year while he was with the Texas Rangers.

Johnson, relaxing at home in California with his wife and four children, said he was honored by the landslide vote but "I consider this an award for my players." "Any time that you win an award like this in baseball, it means that your team has done well," said the 48-year-old former journeyman catcher. "I sure have to thank my players."

JOHN NORTH IS FIRED Hefferle At Helm Of Saints' Club

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — John North is fired. Hefferle's reign would be temporary. He is fully aware that he will not be our head coach in 1976 when we will endeavor to obtain the services of the very best head coach who would be available to the Saints," said Mecom after a 90-minute meeting with North.

The firing came after two successive road losses, a 35-21 defeat at the hands of San Francisco and a 38-14 rout by Los Angeles Sunday. The only Saints' victory was a 20-19 decision over Green Bay.

"It is with much regret that I have found it necessary to replace John North as head coach of the New Orleans Saints," said Mecom in a prepared statement.

"Coach North approached his job with tremendous vigor and energy and did succeed in some areas of player development. Unfortunately, these accomplishments aren't reflected in the league standings."

The Saints won 11 but lost 23 regular season games since Aug. 26, 1973, when North was named head coach to replace J.D. Roberts, who was also fired.

North still has one year to run on his contract and could remain with the club in another capacity. However, he was not available for comment Monday night.

Mecom did not indicate who might become permanent coach of the Saints, although published reports have quoted sources as saying Mecom's first choice is Ara Parseghian, who retired as Notre Dame's football coach vowing to remain out of football for one year.

Hank Stram, who guided Kansas City to victory over Minnesota in the 1970 Super Bowl, has also been mentioned as a possibility. Stram was fired by the Chiefs after last season and currently is a pro football TV commentator.

Atlanta Falcons quarterback Steve Bartkowski arrives for a team meeting Monday wearing a cast on his left arm. The rookie quarterback injured his arm during Sunday's NFL game with the Cincinnati Bengals and is expected to be sidelined for three to four weeks.

TO UNDERGO SURGERY — Detroit Lions quarterbacks Greg Landry, left, and Bill Munson have been lost to the National League Football team, perhaps for the season. The Lions said Monday that their top two quarterbacks, both injured in Sunday's 24-8 loss at Houston, would undergo knee surgery Wednesday.

running back Otis Armstrong, and Miami linebacker Nick Buoniconti, defensive tackle Manny Fernandez and safeties Jake Scott and Dick Anderson.

Plunkett of the Patriots, one of the best young quarterbacks in the league, separated his left shoulder in the exhibition season and suffered a recurrence of the injury Sunday when tackled by San Francisco linebacker Dave Washington on a keeper play. He flew to California Monday for an examination at the Palo Alto Medical Clinic by Dr. Fred Behling, who performed the pre-season surgery and was to decide whether another operation would be needed.

Bartkowski, the No. 1 draft choice in the NFL this year, suffered a dislocated left elbow less than 4½ minutes into Atlanta's 21-14 loss to Cincinnati. It happened when Bill Kollar hit Bartkowski just as he tossed a 17-yard touchdown pass to Jim Mitchell.

Bradshaw strained a tendon in his right knee when he tried to scramble during the fourth quarter of Pittsburgh's game against Green Bay.

And that list covers only the latest additions. Before them were such stars as New Orleans quarterback Archie Manning, Atlanta defensive end Claude Humphrey, Kansas City quarterback Mike Livingston, guard Ed Budde and running backs MacArthur Lane and Jeff Kinney. Green Bay place kicker Chester Marcol and cornerback Willie Buchanon, New York Jets running back Emerson Boozer, Denver

Mistake Costly To Bears

CHICAGO (AP) — "I looked up and there was no cornerback," Minnesota Vikings' wide receiver Jim Lash said. "I just kept running."

It was all the edge Fran Tarkenton needed. The scrambling Viking quarterback unloaded a 45-yarder and hit Lash jogging alone into the end zone to defeat the Chicago Bears 13-9 Monday night in a nationally televised National Football League game.

The costly lapse by the Bears at 13:03 of the second quarter allowed the Vikings their only touchdown and preserved their record as one of two teams still undefeated in the NFL.

"I had a sideline pass called to both sides of the field," Tarkenton said. "I saw Lash and saw that he was not covered and he just kept running which is what he should have done."

Although Francis hit on 16 of 30 passes for 234 yards, a newly stiffened Bears defense took away the big play on every Minnesota drive until Chicago suddenly found itself minus a cornerback. The other two Vikings scores came on Fred Cox field goals of 46 and 52 yards.

"It was just another freak accident," Bears' Coach Jack Pardee said. "It seems we get caught in them every week."

Pardee said the Bears were caught a man short because cornerback Allan Ellis was injured on the previous play and neither the officials noticed it immediately.

"I'm not blaming the officials," he added. "We got caught with a man just running on and we weren't lined up right," Pardee said.

Holding the Vikings to 13 points and Mike Hartenstein's sack of Tarkenton for a safety in the third quarter spelled no moral victory, Pardee said.

"Not at all, at one win and five losses we need some real victories, not moral ones," he said.

Actually, the Bears got the first break. On the first series of downs, Chuck Foreman of the Vikings fumbled to Bears safety Craig Clements and three plays later Mike Adamle ran 14 yards for a touchdown.

The Hi-Noon Optimist Club will present another in its series of motocrosses at its track here Sunday.

Wrinkle Fourth In Tech Event

LUBBOCK — Big Spring's Kim Wrinkle placed fourth in the high school division of the Texas Tech Invitation Cross-Country Festival here last Saturday.

Wrinkle was clocked in the four-mile race in 10:22. Caprock's Burt Torrie recorded the best time of 10:13.

The Oklahoma Sooners, 7-0, the defending national champions who haven't lost in their last 36 outings, drew eight first place votes and 1,084 points after beating Iowa State 39-7, despite 13 fumbles.

Oklahoma's chief rival in the Big Eight, Nebraska, 7-0, continued to roll along undefeated, blasting 16th-ranked Colorado 63-21. The Cornhuskers were checked off No. 1 by two voters, Nebraska's first two first-place ballots of the year, and moved up a notch into third place with 939 points.

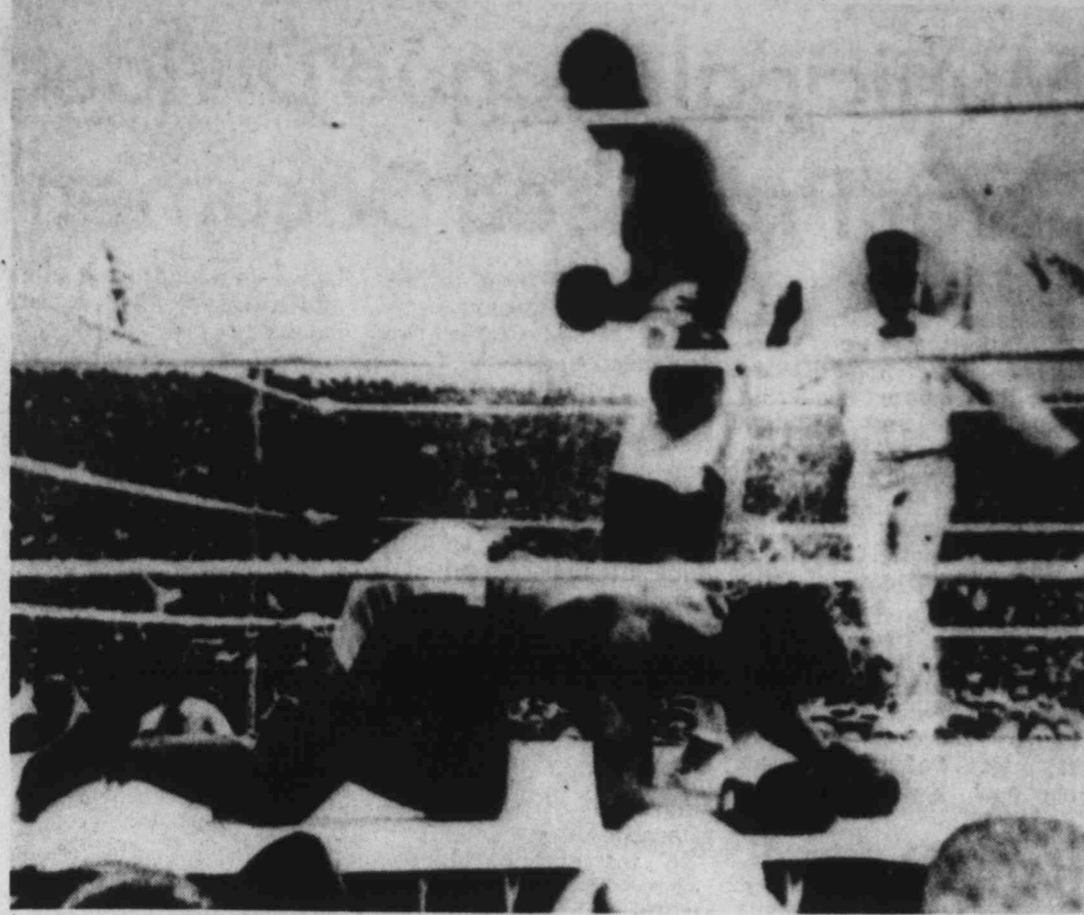

Displaced Southern California, 7-0 and a 24-17 winner over stubborn Notre Dame, dropped into fourth with 890 points.

Also 7-0 is Texas A&M, which survived a scare from Baylor, winning 19-10. The Aggies totaled 632 points.

Texas, 6-1 and 516 points, held its No. 8 position after roughing up Rice 41-9 and ninth-rated Penn State, 7-1, blanked Army 31-0 and collected 459 points.

FRENCH FIGHTER GOES DOWN — Georges Carpentier goes to his knees during heavyweight boxing championship bout with Jack Dempsey in 1921. Carpentier died Tuesday in Paris of a heart attack. He was 81.

Boxing's 'Orchid Man' Belongs To The Ages

PARIS (AP) — Georges Carpentier, 81, who lost to Jack Dempsey in 1921 in boxing's first million-dollar gate, died Monday night after a heart attack, it was learned today.

Carpentier, who started boxing at the age of 14 as a flyweight and moved up through every class to the heavyweight division where he lost in the championship bout against Dempsey, had been in apparent good health.

He died at the home of his daughter, Jacqueline, who said "he has shown no signs of illness. On the contrary, he gave the impression of being in wonderful health. He spent a normal day Monday. His death came with an unbelievable rapidity."

Carpentier had walked his dog Monday evening and returned home when he complained of feeling ill. He died two hours later.

Carpentier lived quietly in recent years. His last big public appearance was on a television program in January 1974 to mark his 80th birthday.

On that program he showed a sparkling eye, a brisk walk and an unflagging memory for his bouts of a half-century ago. He also showed his misshapen right hand which he said he broke in the second round against Dempsey with a blow to the head.

He said that since all his power was in his right hand he knew immediately that he had no more chance against Dempsey. He lost on a fourth-round knockout.

Carpentier lost most of his big ring earnings during the depression. He ran a bar and restaurant in Paris until about 10 years ago, when he retired.

Carpentier, the first Frenchman to win a world boxing crown, began his career as a coal miner in the bleak pits of northern France.

His manager, Francois Deschamps, dubbed him "The Orchid Man" and led him to the first million-dollar gate in boxing history — against Dempsey in 1921.

Carpentier weighed in around 175 pounds, the top limit of the light heavyweight class. He won the world crown in that category from Battling Levinsky on Oct. 12, 1920, in Jersey City, N.J., and lost it in Paris two years later to Loui Phal, an African from then French-ruled Senegal who fought under the name of Battling Siki.

But Carpentier's real day of glory came on July 2, 1921. Still holder of the light heavyweight title, he challenged the prestigious Dempsey for the heavyweight crown. Outweighed by 14 pounds, Carpentier went out for the count in the fourth round.

But the fight, arranged in Jersey City by Dempsey's famed promoter, Tex Rickard, collected a million-dollar gate and made Carpentier a rich man.

Undeclared and untied teams monopolized the premier five spots in The Associated Press college football poll today, with Ohio State still holding a wide margin over second-ranked Oklahoma.

Ohio State, 7-0, had little trouble rolling over Big Ten rival Purdue 35-6, and 50 out of 61 voters were convinced of the Buckeyes' supremacy. Ohio State collected 1,190 of a possible 1,220 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

The Oklahoma Sooners, 7-0, the defending national champions who haven't lost in their last 36 outings, drew eight first place votes and 1,084 points after beating Iowa State 39-7, despite 13 fumbles.

Oklahoma's chief rival in the Big Eight, Nebraska, 7-0, continued to roll along undefeated, blasting 16th-ranked Colorado 63-21. The Cornhuskers were checked off No. 1 by two voters, Nebraska's first two first-place ballots of the year, and moved up a notch into third place with 939 points.

Displaced Southern California, 7-0 and a 24-17 winner over stubborn Notre Dame, dropped into fourth with 890 points.

Also 7-0 is Texas A&M, which survived a scare from Baylor, winning 19-10. The Aggies totaled 632 points.

Texas, 6-1 and 516 points, held its No. 8 position after roughing up Rice 41-9 and ninth-rated Penn State, 7-1, blanked Army 31-0 and collected 459 points.

QUARTERBACK CORNER Take Friend Tonight To Booster Meeting

By PASCHAL ODOM QBC Tri-Captain

The Steers are still having their problems. They played a good defensive game last Friday night but their offensive game was not as effective as it had been in the past. Their entire game they kept coming back and not giving up. The Steers and coaches are reevaluating their program and are working hard to save the remainder of the season.

It is easy to be a player, coach or fan when everything is going right and the team is winning. The show of real character is when you continue coming back after you are knocked down and never giving up. This goes for the fans as well as the players and coaches.

I am sure the team and the coaches have a feeling they are out in the cold by themselves. Let's take a little time to give each of them a little encouragement every time we see them. Even give a player a call and say we are still backing him.

We have had our dissenters at the Quarterback Club meetings. Tonight let's have the silent majority of Steer backers at the meeting and give positive support. There has been ridiculous attendance at some of our meetings. Let's have a drive tonight for everyone to show up and bring a friend. The Runnels eighth and seventh grade teams will be honored tonight. See you tonight with your friends!

Nine Cons Barricade Reformatory

GRANITE, Okla. (AP) — Nine convicts who had held three hostages at Granite Reformatory here since Monday afternoon released one of them this morning because of his heart condition, officials announced.

Correctional Officer Leonard S. Summers, 53, was taken to the reformatory infirmary and was being treated by his personal physician, who had been standing by, said Rob Pyron, press secretary to Gov. David Boren.

Corrections Director Ned Benton and Asst. Atty. Gen. Paul Crowe requested Summers' release after convicts notified officials that Summers was experiencing some discomfort, Pyron said. The convicts allowed medicine to be sent in to the guard, and the request for his release was made at that time.

The other hostages still were not identified.

Benton said just before dawn that negotiations with the convicts had reached a critical stage.

He declined to give details of the negotiations because of their sensitive nature. He again expressed confidence that the situation would be resolved soon.

Earlier, one of the inmates talked by telephone for more than an hour with state Rep. David Riggs of Tulsa, who headed a special legislative committee that investigated the state corrections system last year.

The inmate, from Tulsa, was allowed to leave the rioters' stronghold in the kitchen area of the main building and was granted use of a telephone in the administration building. There was no immediate word about the conversation, which lasted an hour and 15 minutes, or its results.

The nine inmates, armed with knives, seized the hostages—a guard and two cooks—about 2 p.m. Monday.

Dr. Benton said the central issue was the Corrections Department's decision to halt the practice of allowing food to be sent to prisoners as Christmas presents.

ACCIDENT LANE — City police reports indicate accidents on 24th Street are on the increase. This accident occurred this morning at 7:45 a.m. at 24th and Rannels when cars driven by Jacquelyn Kincaid Berry, Rt. 1 and Lee Roy Smith, Lubbock, collided. The unmarked intersections on 24th are among items to be discussed by the traffic commission Friday.

Panel Will Scrutinize Unmarked Intersections

The city traffic commission will eye a lot of intersections, important to Big Spring citizens, when they meet at 10 a.m. Friday at City Hall.

One of the studies is unmarked intersections at 24th including Rannels, Johnson, Nolan and Goliad where there have been increasing traffic and accidents following construction of the new Colorado River Municipal Water District building.

Another study is red lights at Highway 80 and FM 700. There is one request by Ted Griffin to remove the light. This was suggested once before by the traffic engineer.

This signal is the site where 3rd and 4th connect with Highway 80, and there is a street that cuts back to enter Webb Air Force Base and also FM 700 which now goes to Malone-Hogan Hospital. In the past there has been objection to removing this light because it affects four main arteries.

Other items to be discussed include a request by Herbert Shipp to mark the intersection at 16th and Pennsylvania, a request by Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wise to place reduction and caution signs on Wason Road near the Playhouse, a child day care center, a request by Mrs. Melvin Newton for a traffic control sign at Tulsa and Ridgeway and a request for one at Lynn and Merrill.

Big Spring Nursing Inn has requested removal of bushes at their entranceway and a study of traffic problems in that area.

Suspect Posts $15,000 Bail

MIDLAND — Dwight G. Blaylock, 29, Midland, was freed on $15,000 bond here Monday after he had been charged with the Sunday morning shooting death of Radell Johnson, 26, also of Midland.

Police said the shooting, which occurred at 3:20 a.m., climaxed an argument between the two. The shooting occurred outside the home of Blaylock's father. Witnesses said Johnson was struck one time in the back by a bullet. A .38 caliber pistol was confiscated by police.

Johnson had been a lineman for Texas Electric Service Company the past seven years. He was a star running back on a Midland Carver High School football team that won the Class A state championship.

Hospitals Discourage Rape Victims

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many of the nation's hospitals make it difficult, expensive and embarrassing for a rape victim to obtain an examination and treatment, according to a new government-funded survey.

The report prepared for the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration said many private hospitals refuse to examine and treat rape victims.

The private hospitals which provide such services may charge as much as $75, the report said.

The 15-month survey was conducted by the Center for Women Policy Studies in Washington with a $238,437 LEAA grant. LEAA released the report Monday and will distribute a condensed version to state and local law enforcement agencies across the country.

The researchers also concluded that police departments usually don't have the technological capability to identify rapists.

They also reported that prosecutors' offices handle rape cases poorly and provide little assistance to victims.

The report recommended that local officials coordinate their efforts to develop ways of treating rape victims with more dignity and making it easier for them to provide evidence against their attackers.

Discussing medical services, the report said that "most police officers have difficulty finding a hospital that will treat rape victims."

The researchers said, "Hospitals have exhibited both reluctance to provide medical testimony and disparaging attitudes toward rape victims."

Municipal League Divided Over Proposed Document

HOUSTON (AP) — Delegates to the Texas Municipal League conference here are divided over the proposed new state constitution and officials expected closely contented vote today when a resolution supporting the new state document comes before the league for debate.

About 600 mayors, city councilmen and city managers from municipalities all over the state are attending the three-day conference here and heard speeches Monday from Gov. Dolph Briscoe, an opponent of the new constitution, and from former Texas House speaker Price Daniel Jr., who favors the document.

The league's resolution committee passed a resolution favoring the new constitution, but officials said the passage came only after long and heated debate. The final committee vote, by some 40 members resulted in committee approval of the resolution by only one vote.

"They took the vote twice just to make sure," one official said.

The resolution committee will present the resolution to the floor for general consideration about mid-afternoon today.

In his speech Monday Briscoe said the new constitution's provision for annual legislative sessions would cause a substantial increase in state spending and lead eventually to a state income tax.

"There is absolutely no need for annual sessions," said Briscoe. "They would make it difficult to hold the line on spending and would lead us down the road to a state income tax."

He said the current state constitution, passed in 1875, "tends to restrict government more than some people would prefer. That's what is needed — a restriction on state government, not an expansion of state government."

Daniel, who was president of the state constitutional convention, said the annual sessions would "give the legislators and the people a chance to review the state's budget annually."

Pot Found, Two Jailed

More than a pound of marijuana was found in a car with a defective headlight and two men were arrested at 12:40 a.m. today, law enforcement officers said.

Texas Highway Patrolmen Ken Joyce and Bill Jennings arrested the two about one mile east of Big Spring on Birdwell Lane.

The 22-year-old driver and owner of the vehicle is expected to be charged with possession of marijuana. A 30-year-old companion, also of the Big Spring area, will be cited for public drunkenness, officials said.

The driver has been released on a $5,000 bond set by Justice of the Peace Bob West. A felony complaint has not been filed in the case.

Hurricane Kills 25 In Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Hurricane Olivia killed at least 25 persons in the Mazatlan area, 25 are missing and 500 are injured, rescue workers in the Pacific coast port have reported to the Ministry of Natural Resources.

Olivia smashed into the city of 200,000 people at 9:20 p.m. Friday with winds as high as 138 miles an hour. The weather bureau had warned the population of the approaching danger, but thousands of palmfringed shacks made of flimsy materials were destroyed.

More than 30,000 persons in Mazatlan and 14 nearby villages were reported homeless.

Lawyer Insurance May Be Reality

AUSTIN (AP) — Organized lawyers and some insurance companies are burning with eagerness to start selling Texas policies to pay their attorney fees, the State Board of Insurance heard today.

The board set a meeting for around Nov. 10 to put into effect rules and regulations that would allow such marketing to begin.

Spokesmen for the State Bar of Texas, which pushed through the 1975 Legislature the new law allowing prepaid legal services had only minor criticisms of operating rules proposed by the board staff.

Doug Richnow, head of the bar's prepaid legal services project, said the bar itself is ready to start marketing group policies through its own nonprofit legal services corporation.

Insurance Company of North America (INA) and American National Insurance Co. (ANI-CO) of Galveston already have applied to the board for permission to sell lawyer insurance.

Richnow said the bar is "looking at a range of $5 to $7.50 a month, depending on coverage," as the premium for a lawyer insurance policy.

It would cover at least part of the expense of such things as wills, deeds, civil court appearance, advice and counsel, defense of clients against traffic charges and domestic matters, he told reporters.

Board staffer Hector DeLeon called the idea of legal insurance "a bold and innovative experiment" that should "make quality legal services available to a broader segment of the public."

Charles Terrell of the Unimark agency group in Dallas said only California now has such a program.

He asked the board to revise the proposed rules so a presently licensed agent could temporarily sell legal insurance before he has taken the required new licensing examination.

"We have many groups wishing to look into prepaid legal service insurance immediately," Terrell said.

One proposed rule gives the buyer a "10-day free look" during which he could reject his policy and get his money back. Bob Clines of the bar's prepaid legal services committee said this probably was outside the board's power.

All policies and rates would have to be approved by the insurance commissioner before they could be issued.

He Discovers 'The Exorcist' Revolting Film—Both Times

By JAMES WERRELL

This is your last chance to see "The Exorcist," if you are so inclined. The movie, now showing through Friday at Big Spring's College Park Cinema, will be taken out of circulation by Warner Bros. for several years on Oct. 31.

"The Exorcist" is a revolting picture. I was revolted both times I saw it. The special effects are great and the movie provides the same type of gut-wrenching, roller coaster experience that one got at "Jaws," minus "Jaws'" sense of humor.

The film, which deals with the demonic possession of a young girl, and needs little elaboration at this late date, starts rather slowly but builds to an edge of the seat or cover your eyes climax, depending on the strength of your stomach.

There has been some question among critics recently as to the merit of the manipulative, visceral entertainment represented by movies such as "The Exorcist," "Jaws," all the way back to "Psycho." "The Exorcist" is not art. It is, however, one of the most popular movies in recent history and the book on which it is based sold over 6,000,000 copies and was translated into 18 languages.

What is the attraction of such movies? I believe that it is partially explained by the ever-present human desire for cheap thrills, dating back to the days of the gladiators. It is also this desire that accounts, at least partially, for high attendance at hangings, freak shows, spook houses, and Evel

Knievel exhibitions. It is also an affirmation of the fact that "this is no part of my life, but there are some strange things going on in this world."

"The Exorcist" fared poorly at the Academy Awards presentations. It was conjectured soj thereafter that producers nixed any campaigning on the movie's behalf. Any publicity as positive as an Emmy could have proved a detriment to box office draw.

At any rate, for a cheap thrill with adequate acting, great photographic and special effects, and a chilling musical score, "The Exorcist" is worth the money.

The movie is rated R and to take anyone of an impressionable age to see it would be insanity.

Fortson, who was serving time for a theft sentence, was among 331 inmates released Monday. The state parole board lopped a year from the sentences of some 7,000 inmates to relieve the overcrowding.

WATER PLAN INCLUDED Last Article: Take It All Or Leave It

Editor's note: This is the last in a series of nine stories on the proposed new state constitution that will be voted on Nov. 4. This article discusses the General Provisions Article.

AUSTIN (AP) — The last substantive article of the new constitution is a covered-dish supper at which Texans must eat a little of everything, whether it tastes like peach cobbler or rancid butter.

Under one lid, for example, environmentalists find fresh seafood. State beaches and submerged lands are held in perpetual trust by the state for the people.

But under the coffee pot lid they find bitter water. The voter-rejected Texas Water Plan, which calls for importation of Mississippi water at a cost in the billions, could be approved by the legislature.

For this reason, the Texas Committee on Natural Resources, whose board is made up of 32 environmentalists "from Athens to El Paso and Denton to Sinton," opposes Article X, the General Provisions Article.

Ned Fritz of Dallas, committee chairman, says the legislature already has done what the proposed beach provision would do, so it is quite unnecessary.

But this is not quite true. The constitutional provision would prevent subsequent legislatures from making exceptions and selling portions of the public beaches.

Also, the new constitution instructs the legislature to provide access to the beaches. There are stretches of up to 40 miles of public beach today that have no roads leading to them.

West Texans, of course, love the dish that Fritz hates. Their agricultural economy depends heavily on irrigation with water from underground aquifers that are drying up and will never be recharged.

Under the new constitution, water could be taken from the Sabine River in East Texas, for example, and transferred to the Panhandle, so long as it was replaced by water from out of state. The legislature could spend money to do this, something it is prohibited from doing under the present constitution.

Also, the legislature could take water from the Sabine or other rivers on a "temporary, interim basis." But the new charter fails to define those terms, and courts conceivably could hold that "temporary" is whatever the legislature says it is.

Fritz' group also objects to the new policy of the state "to promote the conservation and development of the natural resources of the state."

"Remember that 'and' means to do both, so that 'conservation and development' means they must develop," Fritz said.

The legislature is commanded to provide by law for: "1. the control, storage, preservation and distribution for useful purposes of storm, flood, river and stream waters; 2. the reclamation, irrigation and drainage of land; 3. the abatement of subsidence; 4. the conservation of the atmosphere; 5. the collection and disposal or recycling of wastes; 6. the conservation and development of the energy resources and forests; and 7. the

Record Sales Are Reported

Pizza Hut, Inc. (NYSE:PIZ) announce today record first half sales and earnings. Net sales for the six months ended Sept. 30, 1975 increased 40 per cent to $116,025,000 and net income increased 38 per cent to $7,331,000 as compared to restated net sales and net income for the same period last year of $82,654,000 and $5,309,000 respectively.

Fully diluted earnings per share for the six months increased 28 per cent to $96 a share compared to a restated $75 for the same period last year.

Net sales for the second quarter ended September 30, 1975 increased 40 per cent to $61,882,000 and net income increased 39 per cent to $3,895,000 as compared to restated net sales and net income for the same period last year of $44,301,000 and $2,808,000 respectively.

navigability of the waters." This includes development of forests. And it orders the legislature to provide for irrigation of land.

There are 24 sections in the General Provisions Article, and they deal with all of the odd-sized subjects that fit nowhere else in the constitution.

One of these says "a handicapped person may not be denied a right, benefit or opportunity because of a physical or mental handicap as defined by law." An exception to this is where the handicap prevents performance of the job sought.

Conservative state Republican Sen. Betty Andujar of Fort Worth opposes this provision.

"We are having numerous suits filed now which allege discrimination based on race or sex," she said. "I am very concerned that, if our voters approve this provision, numerous businessmen would find themselves forced to hire lawyers to defend suits alleging discrimination based on handicaps."

Some new provisions in Article X:

— Make it state policy to protect the environment.

— Allow Texans to borrow money on urban homesteads that also are used as businesses. For 200-acre rural homesteads, money could be borrowed on as much as 150 acres that does not include the house. The legislature is authorized to increase the $10,000 limit on the value of the land of an urban homestead at the time of purchase.

— Require the legislature to regulate bank holding companies.

— Allow church or charity bingo games or raffles where the money raised is spent in Texas for the purposes of the church or charity.

— Make it state policy to provide access to adequate health care for all Texans.

Homecoming Is Set At Tech

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech University's Golden Anniversary Homecoming Celebration, Friday and Saturday, will include a pep rally, parade, football game and two full days of business and entertainment activities for the university's ex-students and alumni.

Special recognition will go to the classes of 1925 — Texas Tech's first year of operation — through 1934, the Silver Anniversary Class of 1950, and the 30th anniversary class of 1955, according to Wayne James, executive director of the Texas Tech Ex-Students Association.

A reception for members of those classes will be held from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m., Oct. 31, in the Ex-Students Association Building.

Another special recognition service is planned for former football players who lettered under the late Coach Pete Cawthon. They will be honored at a reception from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m., Nov. 1, following the football game between the Texas Tech Red Raiders and the Rice Owls of Houston.

Extended Coverage

By Jerry E. Mancill, CLU, CPCU

Kitchen fires are common, frightening — and probably inevitable. But if you act fast and don't panic, you may even save dinner.

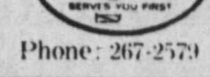

Fire requires heat, air and fuel. You can control it by cutting out one of the three.

First, turn off gas or electricity on your stove, or unplug the appliance. Smother flames (if you can) by covering the burning surface with pan lid or a damp cloth. Bicarbonate of soda, sprinkled liberally, may do the trick for burning fat.

If this doesn't work, use a dry chemical or carbon dioxide extinguisher. Keep it on for a few moments to prevent reflash. Home fire extinguishers should be one- to five-pound capacity; they cost between $6 and $10. Look for a U.L. or F.M. label.

Be ready with a fire extinguisher, but if you can't control the fire within 30 seconds, call the fire department.

We're professional firefighters ourselves at Stripling-Mancill Insurance Agency, 102 Caylor Office Building, 600 Main. We'll help you protect your home and family from fire, and protect you from loss if fire strikes.

Kids See 13,400 Murders

DALLAS (AP) — A Southern Methodist University psychologist says by the time most of the nation's children are 15 years old they have seen 13,400 murders on television.

Virginia Chaney, speaking during a weekend conference on children and television, said 99 per cent of all homes have a TV set and children spend 50 per cent more time watching the tube than they do in school.

"Television is the second largest activity of a child's life, second only to sleep," she said.

The child psychologist said, however, she does not believe television is responsible for creating violence in today's society, "but I think it may be a catalyst bringing out what is already there."

John Dalesio of Los Angeles, a member of the National Association for Better Broadcasting, said he had checked the 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. TV programming recently and saw 10 to 12 murders, an exceptionally brutal kidnapping, and "for what purpose was all this? To sell junk food, coffee, cosmetics, toys and kitchen products."

Dear Abby

To Sell Or Not To Sell When The Kids Leave

DEAR ABBY: I've worked with college students for 15 years, and I would advise parents not to sell their homes until their youngest is through college. Until that time, children desperately need a home to come back to, and it should be there whether or not it's made use of.

SANTA BARBARA

DEAR ABBY: Sell the house and get into something cheaper and easier to care for. If the kids come, put them up in a nearby motel. Even if you have to pay for it, it's still cheaper and they won't stay as long.

CANADIANS

DEAR ABBY: A couple whose youngest child left for college asked your readers to help them decide whether or not to sell their big house. I say, sell while you can still get your price! We didn't. We kept waiting for our kids to come home for a visit. It was always the same story: "Too busy. Maybe next year."

The one in college chose to spend Christmas with her boyfriend's family!

We finally wised up and sold it for what we could get.

POOR TIMING IN WISCONSIN

DEAR ABBY: Sell! Sell! Sell! Store what furniture you want to keep, buy a camper and take off, leaving no forwarding address. Hold hands, sleep late, make love and enjoy each other. Buy some great clothes, go dancing cheek to cheek, then come home if

Club Tours Garden Of Mrs. Womack

Members of the After Five Garden Club toured the garden of Mrs. Odell Womack, 1601 Tucson last Tuesday evening.

The focal points in the landscape were driftwood accents, figurines and a bird bath. An eight-foot wrought iron bread rack in the garden sun room featured a collection of house plants.

The business meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Ed Shive, 604 Bucknell, with Mrs. Hervey Perry as cohostess. They served refreshments to the club members.

Mrs. Charles Porch gave a report on the cookies taken to the patients at the Big Spring State Hospital.

Mrs. Dee Thomas reported that the club had purchased a camera. She also distributed calendars to each member. Proceeds from the calendar sales will be used for club activities and projects.

All members were urged to attend the Southern Zone meeting of District I to be held Nov. 5 at the Dora Roberts Community Center.

Members welcomed two guests, Mrs. Jimmy Morehead and Mrs. Florence D. McCoy, Austin.

The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m., Nov. 18 in the home of Mrs. Dee Thomas, 1907 Mittel. Mrs. John Quigley will be the speaker.
