FROM EAST TO WEST — Sam Diamond from New Jersey passed through Big Spring today on a trip that will take him from his home to the Pacific shores on horseback. He has been "on the trail" since Sept. 29 a year ago.

U.S. Looking 'Good' After 2,590 Miles On Horseback

By JAMES WERRELL
If a man who looks like a lonesome cowpoke, out of the pages of a Zane Grey novel, is noticed ambulating down the streets of Big Spring on horseback today, don't be fooled. He's from New Jersey.
The adventurous young man is 34-year-old, Sam Diamond, from Hammonton N.J., who has taken on the considerable task of traversing the country on horseback.
He left his home near the wilderness Pine Baron country of New Jersey on Sept. 29, 1974 and by Thanksgiving had made it to Nashville, Tenn. All in all he has traveled 2,590 miles on the backs of two different horses, and hopes to make Los Angeles, Calif. by New Year's Day, where he has been invited to participate in the Rose Bowl Parade.
He took on this challenging trip for a number of reasons. It is partly a Bicentennial project. On the back of his saddlebag he carries a small American flag, wrapped around a World Atlas map, in honor of the country's veterans and a land that he has come to know a lot better. When he reaches Los Angeles he plans to present the flag to President Ford who has agreed to meet him there or send a special emissary in his place.

Diamond has also been compiling a great deal of data on Clay Allison, a notorious fugitive from Dallas, which he hopes to put together for a television script. He has followed Allison's route west from Dallas to Abilene, talking to the fugitive's relatives, and reading about him in books and newspapers.
Diamond hopes that Allison's grave and an end to his story will be found in Pecos.
Diamond has also gathered a wealth of information from "old-timers" across the country. Strapped to his saddle, which he made himself, is a tape recorder, and over 300 hours of tape that he has recorded on the long trail from New Jersey to Big Spring. From all those conversations he has concluded that Texans are the country's best storytellers.
He began the trip on a Palamino show horse that had placed seventh in the state hunting competitions in Maryland. In Pennsylvania he switched to a sorrel quarter horse, King Diablo, from the King Ranch in Texas. According to Diamond, King Diablo is always his first concern. "People ask how the horse has held out so long. He eats before I do and has a stable for the night most of the time," he said.

Diamond has been treated well by people along the whole route. He spent last night in the Coahoma Motel while King Diablo stayed in a nearby riding stable. When it came time to leave, Mrs. Bales, the motel's manager, wouldn't take a penny for the night's lodgings.
"As you may have guessed, I get a lot of time to sit and think," said Diamond. It took 14 riding days to get from Dallas to Big Spring.
"The trip has really changed me. I have a greater understanding about people, and a warm feeling about this country. Not being able to read newspapers on the back of my horse, I miss a lot of the badness that is reported. From the horseback point of view, things look pretty good," he said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford pledged today the federal government will help assure police and fire protection for New York City residents if the city defaults on its debts, but he said he will veto any bill that would bail the city out financially.
"I can tell you now that I'm prepared to veto any bill that has as its purpose a federal bailout of New York City to prevent a default," Ford said in remarks prepared for the National Press Club here.

But in a lengthy speech on the problems of the nation's largest city, Ford said he will submit legislation to Congress empowering federal courts to preside over an orderly reorganization of New York City's financial affairs — should that become necessary.

Ford also said that in the event of default, "the federal government will work with the court to assure that police, fire and other essential services for the protection of life and property in New York are maintained."

The proposed legislation would amend the federal bankruptcy laws and would allow New York City, with approval from New York state, to petition the U.S. District Court in New York when and if it is no longer able to pay its debts.

The petition would be accompanied by proposals for "an adjustment" of the city's debts with its creditors. Once those conditions are met, the federal court then would be authorized to accept jurisdiction of the case and there would be an automatic moratorium on suits by creditors so that the essential functions of New York City would not be disrupted.

Ford said the court would be empowered to authorize issuance of new debt certificates for new loans to the city which would be paid out of future revenues before payment to other creditors on existing debt certificates.

Ford said his proposed legislation will not, by itself, put the New York City's affairs in order. A New York City default on its debts now could come as early as Nov. 14 when the next debt payments are scheduled, city and state officials say.

Ford said he is convinced that New York City and New York State can take actions to avoid financial collapse. "They must either increase revenues or cut expenditures or devise some combination that will bring them to a sound financial position... if they are taken, New York City will, with the assistance of the legislation I am proposing, be able to restore itself as a fully solvent operation," Ford said.

Ford said his plan would not result in the city's creditors, such as banks and pension funds, being "wiped out." "How much they will be hurt will depend upon the future conduct of the city's leaders," Ford said.

He also said that for the millions of residents of New York, "There may be some temporary inconveniences, but that will be true of any solution that is adopted."

The financial community might experience some temporary difficulties from a default by the city, but the difficulties should not be large or long lasting, Ford added.

"Finally, for the people of the United States, this means that they will not be asked to assume a burden that is not of their own making and should not become their responsibility," Ford said. He said no American should derive comfort or pleasure from New York City's problems, but said the problems must be prevented from spreading to the rest of the nation.

"If we go on spending more than we have, providing more benefits and services than we can pay for, then a day of reckoning will come to Washington and the whole country just as it has to New York... when that day of reckoning comes, who will bail out the United States of America?" Ford said.

Some Local Fems Support Cause, But Stay On Jobs

By JULIE SIMMONS
Many Big Spring women agreed with the purpose of "Alice doesn't" day but did not leave their jobs in support of the cause.

"Alice doesn't" day was a nationwide project of the National Organization for Women intended to show the "importance of women as members of the labor force and also as housewives." NOW urged women to stay at home and not do the things they normally do, or go to work wearing "Alice doesn't" buttons, name tags or armbands.

EXCELLENT IDEA
Ms. Sue Drake, local NOW chapter president, was located at her job with Planned Parenthood. Ms. Drake said that she had thought about the NOW proposal and decided to continue to work today without any "Alice doesn't" identification. She is sympathetic with the goal of the day but feels her job at Planned Parenthood is as important as the women's cause she supports.

Ms. Drake said, "I think the 'Alice doesn't' day is an excellent idea. It could possibly make executives aware of the vital jobs done by secretaries, bookkeepers, gophers, file clerks and other underpaid office workers. The national exposure today may make some people conscious of what the labor force would be like without women."

Ms. Drake predicted that no one in Big Spring would be really affected by the project.

"BAREFOOT AND PREGNANT"
She said that several members of the NOW chapter will meet tonight for a rap session to discuss the events of the day and the awarding of two "Barefoot and Pregnant" awards.

Ms. Susan Conley, Howard County Library employee, expressed her views about the project. "I think the idea is good, but frankly, there are better ways to accomplish the purpose."

Ms. Mary Dudley, another NOW supporter located at her job as psychology professor at Howard College, stated that she believed most working women felt that their jobs were much too important to leave in support of the NOW project. "But with national recognition of the day, if people have a thought of what the world would be like without women working and attending to household responsibilities, 'Alice doesn't' day will be a worthwhile project."

"NEVER INTENDED"
Mrs. Avery Falkner, secretary

at the Main Street Church of Christ, remarked, "I'm at work and I'm going to stay at work. Women are very important to the labor force and I don't think staying away from work is a good way to show how vital women's jobs are." She said that although she is in favor of equal pay and equal opportunities for women, she is against the ERA Amendment. "As far as women and men being equal," it was never intended that way.

Mrs. Cecil Feurifoy said that she caught the end of a news report on "Alice doesn't" day but did not really understand the purpose of the project. She said "The purpose of the day is worthwhile, but not the activities of NOW."

FIRST LADY DIDN'T
Spokespeople for women's organizations throughout the country predicted that only small numbers of women would support the NOW strike.

First Lady Betty Ford, New York Lt. Gov. Mary Anne Krupak, Minnesota Secretary of State Joan Grove and the female staff at the International Women's Year Commission in Washington were among women who said they could not stay off their jobs.

Franco Hangs To Life President Will Tell His Side Of Story

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Generalissimo Francisco Franco rallied again today but continued in grave condition, his doctors reported as government leaders prepared for an orderly transfer of his powers to Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon.

The doctors announced late Tuesday that the 82-year-old dictator's condition had deteriorated sharply and was "extraordinarily grave." But a medical bulletin at 7:30 a.m. reported he was again "lucid," internal hemorrhaging was responding slowly to "intense and constant treatment" and the condition of his failing heart was "stabilized."

The bulletin said intestinal paralysis which developed Tuesday was beginning to disappear although the drowsy which accompanied it persisted.

ASSASSINATION ATTEMPT
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — President Ford will give a videotaped statement this week on what he saw and heard when Lynette Fromme allegedly tried to kill him.

U.S. District Court Judge Thomas MacBride refused on Tuesday to throw out his order directing Ford to give the sworn testimony as a defense witness for Miss Fromme.

A Justice Department spokesman in Washington said the subpoena sets "a precedent of some concern" but will not be appealed.

The office of presidential counsel Philip Buchen said Ford would answer questions from attorneys in the case at the White House Friday or Saturday. The office ruled out the possibility that Ford would give the statement while he is in California for political appearances today or Thursday, as MacBride suggested he might.

Earlier Tuesday in San Francisco, another federal judge entered an innocent plea for Sara Jane Moore, who is accused of firing a shot at Ford outside a San Francisco hotel Sept. 22.

Mrs. Moore, 45, whose attorney had sought a further delay for completion of a psychiatric examination, faces trial Dec. 15.

U.S. District Court Judge Samuel Conti also scheduled a mental competence hearing for Mrs. Moore on Nov. 17 and brushed aside a claim by her public defender, James Hewitt, that he couldn't prepare his case in the required 90 days.

At the Fromme hearing, U.S. Atty. Dwayne Keyes, who had conferred with White House lawyers, argued against videotaping the President's testimony but did not oppose the order for a deposition.

"The President has not ever suggested he is above the law and will obey any lawful order," Keyes told MacBride.

Indicates Economic Growth

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's index designed to anticipate future economic trends sustained its first drop in seven months during September, contradicting other signals showing continued economic growth at least into next year, the Commerce Department said today.

The department said its index of leading economic indicators, a composite of a dozen statistics, dropped nine-tenths of 1 per cent in September, in contrast to an eight-tenths of 1 per cent advance in August.

The decline, however, was not a sure signal of a halt in economic recovery. Only 11 of the 12 items in the index were available for the September report, and the index is subject to later revision.

The August increase, for example, was initially reported last month as no change.

The World At-A-Glance

EL AAIUN, Spanish Sahara (AP) — Spain has put its army in the Spanish Sahara on the alert, ordered a dusk-to-dawn curfew and ordered native troops disarmed in an attempt to head off an uprising by Algerian-backed nationalists opposed to Spanish plans to transfer the colony to Morocco and Mauritania. Spanish spokesmen said the government feared "terrorist attacks" by the Marxist Polisario Front, which wants independence for the phosphate-rich, Colorado-size territory on the northwest coast of Africa.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite fears that oil-rich countries would use their new wealth to gobble up U.S. companies, the latest government statistics show that oil cartel nations account for only 3 per cent of foreign investments in the United States. The figures released Tuesday also showed there has been a big increase in foreign investment in the United States in recent years, much more than was estimated previously by the government. But the reports showed that the big overseas investors are the same nations that traditionally have invested here — the United Kingdom, Canada, Switzerland, The Netherlands, France, Germany and Japan.

GRANNIS, Ark. (AP) — A Polk County Sheriff says he'll "play it by ear" today when he seeks to take custody of six children who have failed to attend school. The children live in a house where some 40 persons are awaiting the end of the world and the arrival of Jesus in this community of 177 persons. Sheriff A.L. Hadaway was told by Juvenile Court Judge J.B. Stevenson to take the children away from their parents "by force if necessary." "I plan to play it by ear," the sheriff said. He said he would take the children to a Mena, Ark., couple appointed by the court to care for them and enroll them in school.

MONASTEREVIN, Ireland (AP) — Police officers appeared confident today that the 26-day-old kidnaping of Dutch industrialist Tiede Herrema is nearing a peaceful end. Eddie Gallagher, 28, and Marian Coyle, 19, the Irish Republican Army kidnapers, were believed ready to surrender after negotiating a "no shooting" deal with the police besieging them and their captive for the ninth day. A police source said the two guerrillas were assured they would not be shot if they surrender and Herrema is unharmed.

Hotel Evacuated With Armored Cars

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Security forces in armored cars moved in under fire today and evacuated a dozen foreigners trapped in two tourist hotels engulfed in street fighting between Christian and Moslem gunmen.

People were still believed trapped in two other hotels.

The last dozen guests were removed from the 500-room Holiday Inn and the Phoenicia Hotel next door. Security men also were reported trying to put out a fire at the Holiday Inn, apparently started by numerous rocket hits.

Officials said at least 91 persons were killed and 115 wounded in the civil war during the previous 24 hours. But there were many areas that security forces could not penetrate to recover casualties.

"Nobody is counting any more," said a policeman. Moslem militiamen, using machine guns and rockets, moved to within 100 yards of the Holiday Inn, where Christian Phalange party men were shooting back from positions they took Tuesday on the roof.

"I'm going to be sleeping in the Holiday Inn tonight," one of the Moslem fighters told Associated Press correspondent Edward Cody. "I'm going to have a bath and shave and sleep nice."

Some guests had fled from the Holiday Inn before the fighting intensified Tuesday. Others had holed up in the basement. The switchboard quit answering calls, and the hotel came under attack from rocket grenades and machine-gun fire.

Economic Indicators In Big Spring Glow

September's economic indicators for the city of Big Spring were up from those in August in almost all categories. The rise in totals from September of last year is also significant.

Bank deposits for September came to $89,020,175.81. August totals were $85,090,647.41, while a year ago in September, deposits were $83,799,832.95. Savings and loan assets for September 1975 were $57,385,319.95. August 1975, $56,745,558.00, and $52,061,336.49 for September 1974.

Building permits for September 1975 came to $1,099,788.00, $288,070.00 for August 1975 and $183,970.00 for September 1974. Postal receipts totaled $67,238.85 for September 1975, $64,428.00 for August, and $53,635.00 for September last year.

Electric meters came to 9,962, 9,951 and 9,899, consecutively. Gas meters totaled 9,040, 9,019 with figures unavailable for September, 1974. Water meters came to 9,104, 9,057 and 9,003.

The number of telephones operating in the city were 23,592, 23,464 and 22,831, consecutively. Total school enrollment was 6,377, 6,395 and 6,493 for the three months.

BLOOD DONATED — Darlene Smith (right), a senior at Big Spring High School, gives blood to Silvia Molina of West Texas Blood Services, San Angelo. The non-profit organization, which supplies most of the blood used in local hospitals, is collecting blood at the Howard College student union building 5-8 p.m. today. Blood donations will be accepted there 9 a.m.-4 p.m. Thursday. Big Spring Jaycees are sponsoring the blood drive.

His Silence Is Not Golden

A visitor at this window says the forgotten man in America is not the recipient of welfare or the ultra-rich but the person of middle-class means.

It's the person who couldn't go on very long if he didn't receive a regular pay check. He will eventually own his own home, if he can keep up the payments on it. He depends on credit because he never has the cash to buy the things he and his family think are necessary to sustain them.

He's not any better off than he was last month. In fact, his financial status may be a little more precarious. Still, he strives to pay what he can when he can. He struggles and has every reason to feel he's neglected by his government.

His real crises occur when he has to hire legal help or when he or a member of his family has to go to the doctor or to the hospital for treatment. He knows he's a sitting duck if he has to go into the courts. The insurance he has rarely covers what expenses arise in such instances.

He does not get involved in street rumbles. He's too proud to accept handouts from the government. Everyone lusts for his paycheck. His government makes sure it gets what it wants of his wage by taking it out in advance. Corporate companies fare much better than he when it comes to figuring income after taxes.

His position is squarely between the haves and the have-nots and there seems to be fewer of his kind than ever before. He cannot protect himself from the criminal elements because they shield themselves behind civil rights laws and are treated with greater respect in a court of law than he is.

They say he is the silent majority because his kind outnumbers the others but he doesn't feel like it. Only if he awakens to the fact that through a cohesive effort he can get things done will anyone start listening to him. You can understand why some politicians will continue to sneer at him and ignore his lot until he becomes something more than a voice in the wilderness.

Energy Out Of Trash

Garbage, and the manners for collecting it, have been very much in the news here in recent weeks.

Precious little thought, however, has been lent as to how much energy is represented in the collection of each garbage truck and how so little is being done about it.

Americans are said to generate 140 million tons of garbage annually. In the past three years, a little over 30 cities and towns have tackled the technologies involved in extracting usable energy from their own garbage. The pressures of economics, including the cost and scarcity of oil and natural gas, plus the increasing difficulty of finding places to deposit the garbage, are the principal factors forcing communities to make use of this valuable resource.

Techniques vary with the nature of the experimenting communities. Plans start with the shredding of collected trash, from which metals and glass are salvaged. Some proceed to burn what is left in airtight containers to produce steam for energy. A few turn the shredded garbage into a gas which can be mixed with natural gas or burned by itself. Some are even experimenting with the conversion of garbage into a liquid fuel which eventually helps to generate electricity.

Within ten years it is estimated that the energy salvaged through the regeneration processes will result in a savings of six million barrels of oil a year.

None Far-Out

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — The politics of the bicentennial year promises to be so scrambled, so erratic, as to dismay the moderate men who 200 years ago out of their great political and philosophic wisdom founded this nation. For they were moderate men determined to cast off the harsh yoke of the British crown while keeping the system of private ownership that had begun to develop a vast unknown continent.

IT IS HARDLY an exaggeration to say that the politics of Madison, Jefferson and the other founders has remained the dominant theme down to the present day. This is the politics of the center and what is really remarkable is that, while first in 1964 and then again in 1972, that lesson was written large, it seems to have made no imprint on those who talk as though a radical conservative or a radical liberal could be elected president in 1976.

In 1964, Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican candidate, carried four southern states and his native Arizona. Lyndon Johnson won by the largest popular vote up to that time, 16 million more than his opponent.

Goldwater's campaign was down the line conservative, attacking the social reforms of the three previous decades and denouncing the inhibition on the use of nuclear weapons in no-win wars.

In 1972, George McGovern, the Democratic candidate, ran on a straight liberal, more welfare program. He proposed among other changes a limit on the amount of wealth an individual could inherit. Richard Nixon carried all but Massachusetts and the District of Columbia, with a majority in the popular vote roughly equal to that of Johnson eight years before.

Ronald Reagan's position today is like that of Goldwater. He is an inflexible do-or-die conservative. The difference is his smoothness, his suavity, his mastery of television and crowd appeal. As the Republican candidate, he would carry more than five states, if only for that difference.

But anyone who thinks he could be elected president of the United States is living in a cloud cuckoo land. The time may come with disillusion, distrust and general disgust with the political process as we have known it that a Reagan could make it. That time is now.

President Ford is working hard, and on the whole successfully, preempting the center position; or the center as Republicans understand it. He has made himself attractive, crowd pleasing, a political celebrity as we understand these things in the television era.

If in two or three early primaries, notably New Hampshire, he is topped by Reagan it will be a distortion of the condition of the party. This will be interpreted as perhaps a fatal blow to Ford's chances for reelection.

On the Democratic side, the heirs of the McGovern debacle seem bent on a repeat of that catastrophe. Fred Harris, king of the populists without peer, pursues the McGovern line as though the record of 1972 had been expunged.

AT LEAST it must be said for him that he is frank in expressing his views of the need for a drastic change in the system. If half his claims of grass roots organization are true, he could be a force in the convention next year, a disruptive force, surely.

Hubert Humphrey, on whom many Democrats are beginning to settle in, in the Democratic context, a center candidate. Well to the left of the center as Ford is to the right of the center, he nevertheless fits the prescription of moderation more nearly than any other visible candidate. That may be the very reason the delegates in New York, fragmented and uncertain, will reject him.

The speculation is beginning of a third ticket headed by Reagan or by Gov. George Wallace who has conducted a campaign in Europe to prove he is up to the job.

And our stalwart ally, General Franco, has generously allowed us to continue to support him.

Age Of Drastic Changes

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — A unique self-examination seems to be under way among some of the nation's top corporations as they seek to re-identify their capabilities and goals in an age of drastic change.

To some extent the inner-directedness seems to be a reaction similar to that identified in individuals who seek to recover from traumatic experience before redefining their identities.

The result of the introspection, predicts Eugene Jennings, an authority on business management, will be to make much stronger in the 1980s some of the companies that have suffered the most from, among other things, the shortages, market changes and governmental restraints of the 1970s.

"Corporations as well as individuals have to have faith and the 1970s have dealt a devastating blow to a corporation's sense of what it is and where it is going," said Jennings.

While Jennings is a professor at Michigan State University and the author of many books on management, he became aware of the development in his role as confidential adviser to the chairman of blue chip corporations.

In emerging from previous recessions, he said, "corporations turned their attention outward again to exploit propitious opportunities of an expanding future." No longer is this entirely true, he said.

Corporations have always " tinkered " with some aspect or phase of their systems, but the pattern that seems to be developing today, he said, is for total corporate reassessment.

"The uncertainties and the constraints and the dismal record of the first half of the 1970s have caused corporations to lose sight of their purpose," he said.

Sexual Response Varies

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I'll be brief and to the point. I am 42, married for 18 years. I enjoy sex with my husband, but in all these years have climaxed only a few times. Can you tell me why this is so and how I can change it?

I have never discussed this with a doctor, primarily because of embarrassment. Please advise if you can and if you feel the subject is suitable for your column. — Mrs. H. C.

You felt it was sufficiently important to ask me about it, so I consider it suitable for answering.

You are not alone, and you shouldn't be dismayed. The climax is not the ultimate in sexual relations. In the male, it is the rule, but not for women; or at least in women it can be highly variable. Why this should be so is not clear.

For the woman, factors such as her sexual responsiveness, the adequacy of foreplay, the husband's endurance and her own mental attitude become important. Women, incidentally, seem to have peaks of sexual responsiveness, and these may occur before or during their menstrual cycle.

Negatively, anxiety can play a role. Sometimes the husband has the desire, but the wife may not be tuned in, so to speak, because of other things on her mind. Her general attitude towards sex can be another factor. If it has low priority in her sense of values, her response may be indifferent.

I sense that you have a wholesome attitude toward the act. You enjoy it. This is important, this intimate communication with your husband. A climax is not always necessary for a woman to enjoy sex. You admit that yourself.

A woman's response is normally slower than a man's, so it may take longer for her to achieve climax. Often, in cases where women find they are incapable of climax, it could be that they are trying too hard. If they would relax, the climax would occur. You may be able to recall the occasions when you were successful and learn from that.

Have you discussed the matter with your husband? It may help to do so. Remember, it takes two to tango.

Nor should you be embarrassed to discuss this with your physician. He is used to discussing such problems with his patients. These are very much a part of the practice of medicine.

If nothing else, he may be able to suggest appropriate specialized counseling. This often corrects the problem and enhances the many future years of sexual enjoyment that by right belong to you — and your husband.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Last year you had a letter from a mother who was concerned about her child's lurches going bad for being in a warm room all day at school. I hit upon a solution that might help.

I freeze a container of fruit juice and pack it beside the sandwich. That way my boy has a cold drink for his lunch and his sandwich is kept fresh at the same time. Just thought it might help. — Mrs. D. F. Thanks.

My Answer

Billy Graham

As long as I can remember, I have wanted to be able to play the piano and organ. My teacher in grade school thought I had talent and offered to give me free lessons if my father would get me to and from her home. He refused. After marriage I decided my two children should have music lessons. They have become accomplished musicians and both play organ in different churches. Now I am trying to learn but my musical talent seems to have left me. Did I waste my talent and God took it from me? Should I give up, continue to try, or admit that I can't learn?

G.K.W. Though I am not a musician I would like to bring you some encouragement with your problem. First, it is possible that your grade school teacher might have been mistaken about your being a potential musician. School teachers sometimes get carried away about the talent of their favorite students.

Since your children have become such accomplished musicians, perhaps you should be content to enjoy their success vicariously, and thank God for their talent and usefulness.

I can't believe God "took your talent away" because you didn't use it. According to your statements, it was not your fault you couldn't take lessons. God is not a revengeful deity.

Since you find your talent limited, you should just accept this as one of the facts of life, and thank the Lord that your problems seem limited to musical accomplishment — which is minor compared to most.

Not Always Thus

Around The Rim

James Werrell

In "Around the Rim" a couple of weeks ago, Troy Bryant mentioned the abundance of moustaches in the Herald office, mine included. I have been an observer of moustaches for quite a while, from Mark Twain's (the greatest moustache of all time) to Groucho Marx's (which was often not a moustache at all).

Although I have long been an admirer of the hairy appendage, I have only been able to sport one for the last few years.

MY HIGH school in Cincinnati had a Catch-22-type rule regarding moustaches: "Whereas, the wearer of a moustache, upon entering the hallowed halls on the first day of school, may continue to wear said moustache, the growing of the aforementioned during the course of the school year is strictly verboten."

Several of my comrades came up with ingenious methods of getting around this rule. Bubby Johantes wore his girlfriend's mascara on his lip for weeks until the real article surfaced. Another friend stuck a band-aid to his lip, claiming to have cut himself shaving for 14 straight days. Unfortunately, when the band-aid came off, so did the moustache.

It was not until college, however, that desire and ability were combined to produce some of the best 'staches I have ever seen. Bill Monroe's and Don Cunningham's waxed handlebars were works of art.

Also coming into popularity at that time was a moustache known as the Fu-Manchu, properly identified by experts as an artificially-extended Pancho Villa. This is an especially difficult one, requiring growth further down on the side of the chin. Probably the finest example may be seen on Frank Zappa, leader of the Mothers of Invention. I should state simply that my attempt never met in the middle.

AS A MATTER of fact, my moustache didn't reach full flower until my junior year after several months of careful negligence. Even then, it was difficult to spot in a dimly-lit room (where it was most needed).

I have since tried several popular moustache embellishments. One was the lower-lip underhang. This may be seen on celebrities such as the Tonight Show's Doc Severinson, and Ray Charles (minus the moustache). At its best, mine looked like a combination of John Boy's mole and yesterday's dessert.

Another time I applied QT to my pride and joy due to a warning on the side of the tube: Beware, may darken light hair! The result was a bright orange moustache that induced guffaws from my wife. I thought it helped.

At any rate, my moustache is here to stay for a while. I haven't given up my hope that one day I will awaken with a cigar in my hand and an urge to travel the Mississippi.

Conflict Would Hurt

WASHINGTON — Overshadowed by congressional emasculating of the CIA but perhaps even more damaging to the national interest is the sudden drying up of valuable intelligence through exposure of National Security Agency (NSA) techniques.

FORMERLY super-secret methods used by the NSA in monitoring commercial international phone and teletype circuits became common knowledge soon after they were given to congressional investigations of the intelligence community. Thus forewarned, foreign users of commercial channels for transmitting information of great interest to the U.S. government switched to more secure means.

Losing this information is viewed at the Pentagon as considerably more serious than Defense officials care to admit. While lacking hard proof of who leaked the NSA information, these officials believe it almost surely came from the staff of the House Intelligence Committee headed by Rep. Otis Pike of New York.

"I firmly believe none of this came from our staff," Pike told us. The fact remains, however, that descriptions of NSA monitoring techniques appeared in public print (including a long account in the Sept. 8 Newsweek) soon after the secret material was handed over to Pike's staff.

SEVERAL FOREIGN nations who had been using commercial channels switched to private couriers. One result: the U.S. government has lost valuable information about Arab strategy in international oil price manipulations. But even more important information, directly related to U.S. security, also is gone.

FORD IN N.H.

The Ford-Reagan confrontation in New Hampshire's Republican presidential primary begins on a strident note thanks to confusion over just what President Ford said to former Gov. Hugh Gregg at a picnic lunch in Amherst, N.H., Sept. 11.

Gregg got the distinct impression the President asked him to run his campaign there. Ford campaign sources say the President informed them he made no such offer. Former Sen. Norris Cotton, an old friend of the President who introduced him to Gregg in Amherst, was present for part of the conversation and remembers Mr. Ford talking about Gregg being a good man to "take hold" of his New Hampshire campaign.

There was no follow-up to the picnic conversation, and Gregg ended up as Ronald Reagan's state chairman. Ford sources say Gregg went with Reagan only because he could not run the Ford campaign; Gregg contends the President's men reneged on the President's offer. Thus, another New Hampshire primary begins with the sour tone typifying that state's Republican party.

We Hold These Truths... A Chronicle of America

Summer-Fall, 1775:

France shows its first signs of interest in possibly aiding the colonies. In the summer, Comte de Guines, the French ambassador in London, writes to Comte de Vergennes, the sagacious French foreign minister, "All England is in a position from which she never can extricate herself. Either all rules are false, or the Americans will never again consent to become her subjects." And: "These people [in the British government] appear to me in a delirium; that there can be no conciliation [with their colonies] we have now the certainty." In September, Achard de Bonvouloir, a French secret agent disguised as an Antwerp merchant, is dispatched to the colonies by Vergennes. Bonvouloir reaches Philadelphia in October. By early December, he is discussing covert aid with key members of Congress.

Rangers Probe Weed Theft Will Seek Funds For Master Plan

MERCEDES, Tex. (AP) — Texas Rangers are investigating the theft of almost 900 pounds of marijuana from the Mercedes Police Department, according to Police Chief Bob Park.

Park said some of his officers have taken polygraph (lie detector) tests and said he cannot be sure it was not "an inside job."

The chief said Monday officers confiscated the 894 pounds of marijuana in August at a home near Donna and arrested three Mercedes residents and an Edinburg resident. Officers discovered about two weeks ago that the marijuana was missing, he said.

The marijuana was taken from the police department property room on the second floor of the police station, Park said.

A request from the City of Big Spring will be among three items to be considered today by the government application review committee of the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission.

This committee, in turn, makes recommendations to the board of directors in November. The Big Spring request is a 701 Planning and Management program application to the Texas Department of Community Affairs, Urban-Metro Services.

The application requests $40,000 from the state and includes a local match of $20,000 for a project total of $60,000.

The city is interested in obtaining a new master plan, which will include a land-use plan and housing study. A master plan was completed in 1960 and has not been updated.

Other requests include an Oxford Heights Development request from the Mortgage and Trust, Inc. of Midland. The Trans-Pecos Resource Conservation and Development area is submitting a final application to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Soil Conservation and Development project assistance.

The project area covers the counties of Crane, Loving, Pecos, Reeves, Terrell, Ward, Winkler and Upton.

Charles Tompkins of Big Spring is a member of the government review committee.

Wednesday, a 118th District Court jury is to hear a claim for damages caused by a traffic accident.

D. H. McJunkin Produce Inc. filed suit against Phillips Petroleum Co. Inc. Billy Higgs was driving a tractor-trailer belonging to the McJunkin firm, the petition claims.

ROBERT GARTLAND

Gartland's Art To Be Shown

The art of Robert Gartland will comprise a portion of the works to be shown at the Gala Evening for the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center on Nov. 4 at the Big Spring Country Club.

Gartland's paintings feature Western scenes, animals and other familiar views of life in the western section of the United States.

Gartland was born in Mt. Vernon, N.Y. in 1927. During his university years he studied animal husbandry at New York State University at Cobleskill, N.Y. His early studies in animal painting were under the late George Ford Morris, the noted horse painter. He also studied with Frank Reilly at the Art Students League in New York City.

From 1952 to 1962, Gartland was the staff artist at the American Museum of Natural History in New York City. While in this position, he did many murals in addition to illustrating for "Natural History" magazine. He also did freelance art work for "Life" magazine and many children's books.

Robert Gartland's work is found in more than 100 private collections. He is an active member of the American Watercolor Society, the Yonkers Art Association and the Lawton-Fort Sill Art Council.

Gartland has had several one-man shows in Lawton, where he lives. He has also shown his work in Mexico, Spain, New York, Texas and Oklahoma.

Among the recent awards he has received for his art work was first prize in the Midland Art Association competition for his watercolor.

The Western art of Robert Gartland will be well worth viewing at the Gala Evening art show and auction.

Sweet Tooth Can Ruin Your Health

CHICAGO (AP) — Feeding your sweet tooth may ruin your body as well as your teeth, three nutrition authorities said Sunday.

Dr. Frederic W. Nordsiek of New York said that sugar provides nothing to human nutrition but calories, and he and the others who presented papers at the annual meeting of the American Dental Association said that sugar can be a health hazard.

Nordsiek, recently retired adjunct professor of public health nutrition at Columbia University and vice president of Sloan-Kettering Institute, said the average American consumes more than two pounds of sugar a week.

Two-thirds of that amount is hidden in commercially processed and prepared foods such as jellies, fruits, cakes, candies and beverages, he said.

Around 1830, the average American consumed 15 pounds of sugar a year, compared to more than 100 pounds today, said Nordsiek, adding that even now people in some parts of the world eat no sugar.

Dr. Richard August Ahrens, a nutritionist at the University of Maryland, College Park, reported that high levels of sugar consumption have been shown to raise the blood pressure of both experimental animals and humans.

He said, "High blood pressure affects all of the organs of the body that have to work against it." It is, he added, a major cause of heart disease, stroke, diabetes and kidney disease.

Dear Abby

Pastor Uses Funeral For Tirade, Fund Drive

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday, I attended the third funeral in two months, and I promised myself I would not attend another whose services were conducted by this minister.

Each time I was trapped for over an hour with a preacher who started with the sins of Adam and Eve and worked his way through the New Testament.

He said nothing to comfort the family and made no mention of the deceased. Instead, he launched into a tirade, calling everyone present "sinners" and predicting that the world was going to hell because of its greed and selfishness. Then he wrapped it up with a pitch to raise money for the church's building campaign.

It was revolting! People come to a funeral to pay their last respects to the deceased, not to be bawled out by the preacher or to be solicited for money.

What is your opinion of a minister who would take advantage of a full house in the above manner?

REVOLTED IN ROANOKE
DEAR REVOLTED: I think he's a short-sighted opportunist who believes in shooting the ducks while they're flying.

DEAR ABBY: My husband retired recently and found himself with very few pleasures and interests, so he bought a myna bird. Now he spends all his time teaching the bird dirty words and vulgar phrases.

Needless to say, a foul-talking myna bird is a source of much embarrassment when I have my bridge club meetings here. Also, it's a very bad example for my grandchildren who visit me often.

I have asked my husband to please get rid of that bird, but he refuses.

Please help me before I move in with my daughter and her family.

SERIOUS IN EUGENE, ORE.

DEAR SERIOUS: Don't move. Instead, move the bird to the garage, basement, attic or some out-of-the-way place where its X-rated monologue will not offend tender ears.

DEAR ABBY: I have this very dear friend I'll call "Agnes." She's alone, so I invite her to my home for dinner occasionally.

Agnes is the sweetest, most generous person I know, but she weighs about 400 pounds, and when she plops herself down, she wrecks our furniture.

First she broke the springs in our new sofa. Another

Dentists Should Fix Teeth, Not Faces

CHICAGO (AP) — Two Boston dentists say orthodontists should be more concerned about fixing crooked teeth than creating pretty faces.

The dentists, brothers Sheldon and Harvey Peck, told the American Dental Association at its annual meeting Monday that many orthodontists — dentists who specialize in correcting malocclusions and other dental problems — feel facial aesthetics is one of their primary concerns.

But "the face will usually take care of itself," said Harvey Peck in an interview, and orthodontists should concern themselves primarily with dental problems.

The Pecks, orthodontists on the faculty of the Boston University school of graduate dentistry, said most patients treated by orthodontists are in puberty or adolescence and in the midst of active growth and maturation.

It is not possible to make a dental correction which accurately envisions the contour the face will later have, because the soft tissue of the face is not fully formed in the young patients, they said.

Changes in facial contour continue throughout life as the skin and tissue become thinner with age and the profile takes on a flatter appearance, the Pecks said.

They said orthodontists often try to make dental corrections to achieve a particular type of appearance for patients in later life, but "in our often overzealous desire for aesthetic improvement and profile reduction, we might rightly be accused in many of our cases of placing the young patient in a state of aesthetic jeopardy at the conclusion of treatment.

"Pleasing facial aesthetics must be considered a byproduct of routine orthodontic treatment, rather than an overriding objective. Let the profile be," and correct the dental problems, with or without extractions, as the case may require so that natural growth and aging can take place, the brothers said.

In extreme cases, such as a badly protruding overbite, it is sometimes necessary to extract teeth so that those remaining can be brought into better alignment, they said.

The Pecks studied 52 adult beauty contest winners and performers to determine the type of profile which Americans admire.

Hijackers Face Charges In Houston, Virginia

HOUSTON (AP) — Federal authorities here say three men charged in the 1972 hijacking of an Eastern Airlines jet and the slaying of a ticket agent will be brought here for arraignment.

A spokesman for the U.S. attorney's office here said Tuesday Charles Andres Tuller, 52, and his two sons, Bryce Matthew Tuller, 22, and Jonathan Ross Tuller, 21, will be brought here from Virginia sometime this week.

Both federal and state charges have been filed here against the Tullers. A fourth man charged, William White Graham, is believed to be in Cuba.

The three Tullers were assessed life sentences last week in state court at Virginia Beach, Va., after pleading guilty to the slaying of a bank president and a security guard during a 1972 attempted bank robbery at Arlington, Va. The incident occurred four days before the Houston hijacking.

The three face federal charges here of air piracy and kidnapping in connection with the hijacking that occurred at the Houston Intercontinental Airport.

They also are charged in state court with murder in the slaying of ticket agent Stanley Earl Hubbard, 34, of Humble, Tex.

The plane which was hijacked to Cuba had 35 passengers and a crew of seven. The Tullers were released to the United States earlier this year.

Suspected Carrier Interviewed

LA MARQUE, Tex. (AP) — U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service officials were to interview today a man who health authorities say is under treatment as a carrier of typhoid fever.

Dr. W. W. Kemmerer Jr., director of the Galveston County Health Department, said the man is a former cook at a Texas City cafe and a citizen of Mexico. He said 12 confirmed cases of typhoid and five suspected cases in Galveston and Harris Counties have been traced to this source.

James O'Keefe, deputy district director of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, said the status of the man in this country is not yet determined.

Kemmerer did not identify the man except to say he was employed by the restaurant about 15 months ago.

Defense continues to lead the way as 75 points were scored compared to 27 for the opposition, compared to a blistering 152-71 from Oct. 10 results.

Big Spring would like nothing better than to perfect its two-rotation system against Cooper here Friday night as they initiated it with the same eleven last season, winning 12-7.

The Steer defense is there, now if the offense can blitz.

Big Spring's Ricky McCormick placed 10th among 17 runners in the Texas Tech Invitational Cross-Country Festival last Saturday. He toured the four-mile course in 20:01.5 with the top Red Raider time of 19:51 posted by Mark Freeman.

Most quarterbacks do a little moonlighting as holders when the field goal team comes on the field and Big Spring's Charley Johnson of Denver is no exception as he does the job for Jim Turner.

Red Raider Club Executive Vice President Leete Jackson has announced that the Annual Red Raider Club All-Sports Banquet will be held Tuesday, April 13 at the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum.

Principal speaker for the fete will be Bob Knight, head basketball coach at Indiana University. He was national "Coach of the Year" in 1974 with a 31-1 record.

Better fishing for Texans is on the way, according to Cecil Reid, executive director of Sportsman's Clubs of Texas (SCOT).

Reid made this appraisal during a meeting of the Texas Game Fishing Club in Dallas, at which he praised the work of the Fisheries Division of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The Fisheries Division is the most sophisticated and advanced of any in this country," said Reid. "No other state has made as much progress in so many new workable concepts in fisheries management."

Several varieties already have been introduced to Texas waters, one being the beautifully colored peacock bass from Colombia and Brazil.

Regional competition in the Ford Punt, Pass & Kick program for youngsters ages 8 through 13 continues through Dec. 7. One regional round was held last Saturday in Houston.

Divisional finals are scheduled for AFC competitors at Cincinnati at Pittsburgh game, Dec. 14 and NFC competitors at Minnesota at Detroit game, Dec. 15.

There are 13 players on NFL rosters who participated in the PP&K program.

WHAT'S IT WORTH DEPARTMENT — After being out for several weeks with a broken wrist, Coahoma's Pitt Choate, now at Southern Methodist, played several defensive series against Texas Tech last Saturday night.

Choate besides playing at linebacker also saw duty on the special kicking team.

Permian Edges Up One Notch

By The Associated Press

Perennial playoff contender Odessa Permian is solid proof of what a team can do with an adequate offense and a monster defense.

While Bryan, Cuero, Cameron, Seagraves and Big Sandy retained their No. 1 rankings in The Associated Press Schoolboy Football poll, Permian edged up one notch to No. 4 after beating tough Abilene Cooper by a baseball-like score of 5-0.

The stingy Panthers have scored six shutouts in their seven games this season, holding the opposition to an average of 1.9 points per game.

Bryan and the rest of the ranked 4A teams won their games last week as did Seagraves and the other nine ranked teams in A.

Cuero blasted Pleasanton 46-0 for its 38th straight victory in 3A but No. 5 Gregory-Portland dropped from the top 10 after being tied for the third time.

Silsbee and Gainesville, tied for 10th last week, both disappeared from 3A after losses and were replaced by No. 9 Seminole and No. 10 Jasper.

Freer, which dropped from No. 2 in 2A to 10th, was the highest ranked team to lose. Anna's 22-12 victory over No. 4 Lone Oak in B was the only other ranked team to lose.

Cameron in 2A and Big Sandy in B scored decisive shutouts to easily keep their No. 1 billings.

"No Danger Of Looking Past Missouri"-Osborne

NEW YORK (AP) — "Nebraska is the biggest game on our schedule. It's our next game, and we take them one at a time."

Coach Al Onofrio, Missouri — "Nebraska is the biggest game on our schedule. It's our next game, and we take them one at a time."

Coach Tom Osborne, Nebraska — "There's no danger of us looking past Missouri."

Coach Jim Stanley, Oklahoma State — "I don't think Oklahoma has played to its potential this year, but I expect they'll get it together for us."

Coach Barry Switzer, Oklahoma — "There's no way you can play well if you don't practice. You've got to be prepared. If practice wasn't important, you'd just play on Saturday."

Onofrio and Osborne hook up at Columbia, Mo., while Stanley entertains Switzer at Stillwater, Okla., in two of three games on Saturday's schedule between members of The Associated Press Top Twenty. The other is Penn State-Maryland.

Missouri continues its suicide schedule, which shows six opponents currently in the Top Twenty — Alabama, Michigan, Oklahoma State, Colorado, Nebraska, Oklahoma — and four in the Top Ten.

The Tigers, unranked at the start of the season but currently No. 12, opened with a 20-7 triumph over

Alabama, which Onofrio says "helped us overall because it gave us confidence."

Last year, Missouri handed Nebraska one of its three setbacks. Two weeks ago, Colorado beat Missouri 31-20; and last week, Nebraska routed Colorado 63-21. Ergo ... Nebraska 27-21.

Last week's score was 46 right, 21 wrong, a .687 percentage. For the season, it's 334-139-10-706.

Oklahoma at Oklahoma State: "I feel we've got an

Runnels Honored

Get acquainted night for Runnels seventh and eighth grade football teams was observed at the Big Spring Quarterback Club meeting Tuesday at the high school cafeteria before the largest crowd of the season.

Coach Bob Zellers introduced the eighth grade roster, followed in turn by Wade Burroughs and seventh grade recognition. Cheerleaders from both teams were applauded. Parents of team members sat by.

Both squads conclude the season next Thursday hosting Coahoma. The eighth grade's record is 4-2 and the seventh, 1-5-1.

Bob Burris, Steer head coach, presented a film on the Lee-Big Spring contest and gave a scouting report on Abilene Cooper, next opponent here Friday night.

Burris said the Cougars are big and "it will be interesting to watch how they react after dropping two straight games." Jesse Doss, bull-dogging fullback, will be held out against Cooper due to his bothersome ankle, injured several weeks back.

Tony Mann and Mike Abreo, who bruised a knee and an ankle, respectively, with Lee, are expected to be fully recovered, come the Cooper kickoff.

The Big Spring Quarterback Club will welcome the Marcy Vikings, city PeeWee champions, at next Tuesday's meeting.

even chance with anyone we hook up with," says Stanley. "I think," says Switzer, "their greatest asset is their over-all team quickness and speed. They've got people who can really run and chase the football. They kind of look a lot like us." And "us" is ... Oklahoma 35-21.

Penn State at Maryland: Terrapins have a week off to get their game faces on but we've learned the hard way never to pick against ... Penn State 17-10.

Indiana at Ohio State: "We go to Ohio State this Saturday and there'll be an upset," says Indiana Coach Lee Corso. Pause. "I didn't say there'd be an upset at Columbus, I just said there'd be an upset someplace this Saturday." Michigan beat the Hoosiers 55-7 last week and anything Bo Schembechler can do, Woody Hayes wants to do better ... Ohio State 56-7.

Southern California at California: Trojans could be ripe for an upset after their emotional high at Notre Dame last week. But John McKay won't let 'em forget Cal tied 'em last year ... Southern Cal 31-21.

Alabama at Mississippi State: A night game in Jackson following LSU-Ole Miss on regional TV in the afternoon. The same thing happened two years ago, because the starting times and dressing rooms were all fouled up. Bama had to suit up in its hotel. Bears and Red Elephants never forget ...

Alabama 34-6. Michigan at Minnesota: It's November, traditionally the time Minnesota comes on strong ... Michigan 31-7.

Texas at Southern Methodist: Mustangs are home for the second time all season, but not home sweet home ... Texas 38-14.

Florida at Auburn: Last year, the Gators upset the Tigers and it was our Upset Special. This year, it's still our Upset Special of the Week ... Auburn 20-17. Navy at Notre Dame: Anchors aweigh — and some of Notre Dame's defensive linemen weigh about as much as a good anchor ... Notre Dame 21-10.

Arizona at Brigham Young: Cougars have no quarterback to rival New Mexico's Steve Myer, who passed the Wildcats dizzy last week ... Arizona 24-14.

San Diego State at Pacific: Aztecs finally made the Top Twenty this week and they're anxious to stay there ... San Diego State 34-14.

Lynn Picked

NEW YORK (AP)—From Rookie of the Year to Sophomore Jinx: it's such a familiar story. But 1975's best American League freshman, Fred Lynn of Boston, thinks he knows how to elude the jinx.

"I think the big thing I learned this season is the mental part of the game, which should really help next year," the center fielder said Tuesday after learning of his near-unanimous selection.

"One thing I want to do is take a day off once in awhile and make sure I go to a lighter bat."

Lynn came within one-half vote of becoming only the second rookie ever to win unanimous acclaim. He was named on all 24 ballots but split one vote with teammate Jim Rice.

He also has a good shot at becoming the first player ever to win Rookie of the Year and his league's Most SMOOTH RUNNER — Vikings' Wayne Coffee shows the form he used to elude the Dolphin defense for 127 yards and three touchdowns in the city Pee-Wee championship game Tuesday night at Blankenship Field. Dolphin players shown are Vince Coates (39) and Tom Shirley (51). Vikings won, 32-6.

PEE-WEE FOOTBALL Vikings Stop Dolphins For City Championship

Wayne Coffee drove for three touchdowns, Terry Wiggins ran for one score and passed for another to move the Marcy Vikings past the Airport Dolphins, 32-6, for the City Pee-Wee football championship Tuesday night before the largest gathering of the season at Blankenship Field.

The Vikings rattled the Dolphin defense for six points in the first three periods and 14 in the final frame. In the fourth period, the Dolphins scored their

TD. Terry Wiggins started off the Vikings to their eventual triumph by plunging over from the one-yard line in the opening quarter.

Then Coffee took over. He broke loose for touchdowns on runs of six, eight and 53 yards in the second and third and fourth periods. Coffee intercepted a pass to set up his third score.

Coffee was also instrumental in Wiggins' paydirt punch, stepping off runs of 29 and 15 yards. A Wiggins pass to James Walker completed the only Viking PAT of the game, following Coffee's final tally.

The final end zone effort by the Vikings was produced on a fourth period 25-yard pass from Wiggins to Walker. Dolphins' only score loomed forth on a one-yard run by Richard Evans.

The Vikings, who had allowed only 37 yards rushing in three games played, found Evans sneaking through for 19 yards in 22 carries. Coffee rushed nine times for 127 yards.

Over-all the Vikings dashed for 174 yards and 57 yards passing while the Dolphins advanced for 102 yards but failed in the passing game.

Defense standouts for the Vikings included Pete Valenzuela, Johnny Gaskins, Kevin Harris, Wiggins, Coffee and Walker.

The Vikings ended the year with a 6-1 mark and the Dolphins, 4-2-1. Both Dolphin setbacks were dished out by the Vikings.

Last year, the Vikings missed the city title by one game, falling to the Cowboys, 2-0.

Sports Shorts

BOSTON (AP) — The knee injury to Boston Bruins' left winger Don Marcotte will keep him sidelined indefinitely, officials of the National Hockey League team reported.

Marcotte slid into a goalpost during a game Oct. 12 against the New York Islanders. The injury was diagnosed as a hyperextension to his right knee.

Marcotte will go on a three-week exercise program, said trainer Dan Canney, and then will be able to begin skating with a brace.

HAZEL PARK, Mich. (AP) — Trainers of horses at the Hazel Park Race Track voted unanimously Tuesday to form their own association.

Jack Foran of Detroit, the top trainer at Detroit Race Course earlier this year and currently No. 2 at Hazel Park, said a recent blast against Hazel Park by the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association triggered the decision by the trainers to unite.

DALLAS (AP) — Attendance has gone over the million mark at Southwest Conference football games.

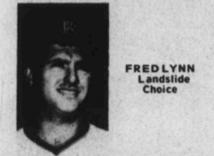

The average attendance is 38,021 per contest. Texas A&M is averaging 11.1 per cent over last season and leading the SWC with an average attendance of 48,745 in their 48,000 capacity stadium.

Rice has the biggest dropoff of 47.1 per cent, averaging 18,000 per games.

BELLINGHAM, Wash. (AP) — Dr. Jack Ecklund, 45, Tuesday was named interim basketball coach at Western Washington State College.

Ecklund will replace Chuck Randall for the 1975-76 season. Randall suffered a heart attack in February and underwent open-heart surgery in June.

For the past eight years he was basketball coach at Rocky Mountain College in Billings, Mont. He also was athletic director there the past seven years.

FRED LYNN
League Choice

Valuable Player awards in the same season.

"It's everything I worked for," said the 23-year-old Lynn. "I thought about the award a little during the season. As we went around the league, it was easy to figure Jim Rice was the fellow I'd have to beat in order to be selected."

Lynn follows Mike Hargrove of Texas as the AL rookie winner and is the fourth Red Sox player to win the AL rookie award since the Baseball Writers of America originated the award in 1947. First baseman Walt Dropo won it in 1950, pitcher Don Schwall took it in 1961 and catcher Carlton Fisk won it in 1972.

Fisk was the only unanimous winner but Lynn came as close as possible to matching that achievement.

The voting committee was composed of two writers from each of the league's 12 cities. They vote for one player each, but one writer split his ballot, saying he couldn't choose between the two young Red Sox.

Lynn wound up last season hitting .331, trailing only Minnesota's Rod Carew in the American League batting race. He hit 21 home runs, drove in 105 runs and led the league in slugging, runs scored and doubles.

Rice hit .309 and had 102 RBI. He and Lynn were the first rookie teammates in the AL ever to hit over .300 and drive in more than 100 runs.

One Contest Set At Blankenship

Only one game by a Big Spring school will be open for public viewing Thursday at Blankenship Field.

Ron Stump's ninth grade Toros end the season by sizing up Odessa Crockett at 7 p.m. Last Saturday, the Toros moved ahead to a 5-4 record by punishing Midland Edison, 22-6.

Saturday, Runnels, off for a week, coached by Bob Zellers, is host to Snyder-Travis at 10 a.m., at Blankenship field and the Steer JV meets Cooper at Abilene, at 1:30 p.m.

A&I Assumes Narrow Lead

KINGSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&I Coach Gil Steinke heard the news then drawled: "Folks down here appreciate being No. 1. That means I get a discount at the coffee shop."

Steinke, who has had four national champions in 22 years at this Lone Star Conference powerhouse, said "This team compares favorably with the other title clubs we have had."

Texas A&I has won 20 games in a row and is the defending champion in the NAIA.

The top-ranked Associated Press team captured 24 of 45 first place votes to take a narrow lead over Eastern Kentucky which bagged nine first place ballots.

The nationwide panel of sportswriters and sportscasters voted North Dakota third, Boise State fourth and Grambling fifth.

"I think we might have a better defense than we did last year," said Steinke. "Of course, we miss ole 'Jaws' on offense."

Steinke was referring to running back Don Hardeman who later became the No. 1 draft choice of the Houston Oilers of the National Football League.

Asked if he had another No. 1 draft choice on the team, Steinke said "I'll be surprised if our tight end, David Hill, doesn't go in the first round. He's something else. He's the brother of Jim Hill who now plays for Cleveland."

Texas A&I plays relatively weak Tarleton State Saturday but Steinke said "being No. 1 is like having a target circled on your chest. Other members of The AP small college elite included, No. 6 Western Kentucky, No. 7 Wittenberg, No. 8 Henderson State, No. 9 Jackson State, No. 10 Idaho State, No. 11 Northern Michigan, No. 12 Lehigh, No. 13 Kentucky State, No. 14 Ithaca and No. 15 (tie) Jacksonville, Ala., and Bethune-Cookman.
