Chinese Troops Ambush Indians

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — In the first known flareup along the India-China border in eight years, Chinese troops ambushed an Indian patrol and killed four soldiers, the Indian Foreign Ministry said Saturday. The ministry issued a statement saying the government took "a very serious view of this incident and lodged a strong protest with the Chinese government."

The statement said the incident occurred Oct. 20. Although the location was not pinpointed, authoritative Indian sources said it took place in the same north-eastern frontier area where heavy fighting raged in the month-long 1962 India-China war.

Reviewing the . . . . . Big Spring Week with Joe Pickle

TOMMY HART SUBSTITUTING FOR JOE PICKLE
In case you've wondered there's only 53 shopping days between now and Christmas, which means 1976 — a very important year for many reasons — will be here before you know it.

An adventurous New Jersey man, Sam Diamond, rode through here on horseback last week on his cross-country trek to the west coast and sampled some of that noted West Texas hospitality. He spent one night in the Coahoma Motel and the inn's manager, Mrs. Bales, wouldn't take a farthing for the night's lodging. There's a lot to be gained from seeing the country from the back of a horse, Diamond told an inquiring reporter. He misses a lot of the evil the news media reports. "From the horseback point of view, things look pretty good," he mused.

I know a fellow who'd like to be the first American adopted by a Vietnamese family.

A local peace officer took part in an Odessa gambling raid not long ago in a place where bets were being accepted on weekend football games. On the wall of the gambling headquarters, which happened to be a pool hall and was open to the public, was a sign which said, "No bets accepted after 2 p.m." The officers took it along as evidence.

Yanks Ordered To Flee Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The U.S. ambassador ordered all families of American officials to leave Beirut on Saturday as escalated street battles set fires throughout the downtown hotel district.

Ambassador G. McMurtrie Godley acted as Moslem gunmen closed in on the area behind a barrage of mortars and rockets. The fire brigade reported blazes in at least five buildings, including the plush St. Georges Hotel on the waterfront and the 500-room Holiday Inn up a hillside overlooking St. Georges Bay. Godley also advised all other Americans still resident in the battle-torn Lebanese capital to get out as soon as possible to avoid the spreading warfare. There are about 170 U.S. officials still in Beirut.

Machine gun bullets plowed into Beirut international airport and explosions rocked the fashionable Hamra district in a new extension of the fighting.

The Christian command claimed, meanwhile, that Palestinian guerrillas have moved in from Syria to strengthen Moslem forces in the seven-month-old civil war between Lebanon's political and religious factions.

The machine gun blasts at the airport set fire to straw packing material in a customs warehouse but the blaze was quickly extinguished, security officials reported.

The guns were fired from a Moslem district east of the airport near the Borj Barajneh Palestinian refugee camp, they added, and security troops in armored cars drove off to silence them.

It was the first direct attack on the airport in the seven-month Lebanese civil war, although stray bullets have landed there earlier, and four Arab terrorists shot it out with guards at the airport last month in a plane hijack attempt.

The terminal has been jammed with foreigners fleeing Beirut since the fighting escalated last week. There were no reports of injuries and flights continued landing into the evening.

Cars were seen speeding for safer areas following the

Teen Jailed In Sniper Slayings Found Dead

LITTLE VALLEY, N.Y. (AP) — Anthony F. Barbaro, 18, a brilliant high school student and expert rifleman being tried for the sniper deaths of three persons, was found hanged in his jail cell Saturday.

Barbaro was found with a bedsheet knotted tightly around his neck and the other end tied to the bars of his cell, said Dr. Harry C. Law, the Cattaraugus County coroner.

"An autopsy is being performed," said Law. "But I think there's very little doubt death was caused by strangulation secondary to hanging."

Barbaro left three suicide notes, Law said. One was addressed to his family, one to a girl with whom Barbaro had corresponded but never met and the third was addressed: "To whom it may concern."

Law did not disclose the contents of the notes.

Barbaro was indicted on charges of second-degree murder, first-degree assault and first-degree reckless endangerment after sniper fire from a third-floor room at Olean High School killed three persons last Dec. 30.

He was accused of slaying a school custodian in a hallway, a woman seated in an automobile and a utility company employe on a street near the school, which he attended.

Eleven other persons, mostly Olean city firemen, were wounded by rifle bullets or shotgun pellets or injured by broken glass.

Testimony in Barbaro's trial was to have begun Monday after the seating of a jury last week.

In his opening statement Friday, defense lawyer Vincent E. Doyle Jr. told the jury of three men and nine women that Barbaro was suffering from a "serious, deep-rooted mental illness that precluded his conviction."

The Moslem advance on downtown luxury hotels set fire to a gasoline station just behind the 500-room Phoenicia hotel, where snipers from the rightwing Christian Phalange party blasted down on the leftist gunmen.

Firemen said they drove in to extinguish the blaze but had to turn back because of gunfire and grenade blasts.

'CLASSIC GREEK STYLE' 'Jim Dandy' Courthouse Dedicated At Stanton

By JAMES WERRELL

A tour through the new Martin County Courthouse in Stanton, which had its official opening Saturday, is like a trip through the Greek Parthenon and 2,001 Space Odyssey at the same time.

The outside of the building has been done in what its architect, Tommy Huckabee, Andrews, calls, a "classic Greek style." The outside walls are constructed of a light colored ribbed concrete with imbedded stones. A covered walkway, flanked by a two-foot-high stone border, circles the entire building.

The floors of the walnut paneled room are completely covered in gold carpeting. The cubicles for plaintiffs and defendants are made of contoured wood with a black covering, while the judge sits in a similar rounded enclosure built higher off the ground.

The jury is seated in high-backed, stuffed, vinyl and wood chairs, their rock back and forth on sprung pedestals screwed to the floor. These are, unfortunately, too comfortable and conducive to sleep and daydreaming.

A huge, round grilling indented into the ceiling encloses a reflective lighting and sound shell. This lights the whole room and at the same time improves its acoustics.

During ceremonies in the room, guest speaker District Judge Ralph Caton, Big Spring, welcomed visitors to the "brand spankin' new, jim dandy courthouse," and said that it contained the finest court room he had ever seen. He also said that lawyers and judges had across the state, who had seen the courtroom, agreed with him.

Also at the ceremonies, County Judge Carrol Yater read a number of good luck messages from U.S. Sen. John Tower, Gov. Dolph Briscoe, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, and a number of administrators in Austin.

All in all, it was a rousing christening for the new building which will stand as a memorial to community pride for years to come.

At opening ceremonies, townsfolks wandered through the courthouse, greeting old friends and neighbors and marvelling at the new facilities. Refreshments were served by hostesses wearing long, floral dresses and corsages.

Dedication ceremonies took place in the new district courtroom. This is probably the most unique room in the new building.

We have tried to break away from the traditional rectangular room and create a totally functional circular courtroom," said architect Huckabee. And break away they did.

Charter Election Interest Picks Up

By JOHN EDWARDS

Interest in the state constitution election is running higher than in most special elections in Howard County, County Clerk Margaret Ray said.

With 10 ballots mailed to voters not yet back, absentee voting in the office was concluded Friday afternoon. To date, 180 votes have been cast.

Any of the 10 remaining mailed ballots received before 1 p.m. election day will be counted. Paper ballots were used for absentee voting only.

This will be the first election conducted in Howard County with punch card ballots.

The "mini-computer" used to count votes will be publicly tested at 3 p.m. Monday in the county clerk's office.

From 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday, voters will be punching holes in ballots, indicating approval or rejection of one of eight propositions. See the sample ballot on page 6-D.

The polling places follow: Prairie View Baptist Church for election precincts 12, 13 and 17, with Edgar Phillips as election judge.

Cedar Crest Elementary School for precincts 1 and 8. L. R. Mundt, judge.

Hut behind Wesley United Methodist Church for precincts 2, 15, 10 and 18. Mrs. Alton Lee Underwood, judge.

Coahoma City Hall for precinct 9, Mrs. David Grant, judge.

DOUBTFUL IF MORE THAN 25 PER CENT OF ELIGIBLE VOTERS WILL GO TO POLLS

Texans Get Once-In-A-Lifetime Chance Tuesday

By The Associated Press

Texans get a once-in-a-lifetime chance Tuesday to vote on a complete new state constitution.

However, it is doubtful if more than 25 per cent of Texans' approximately five million eligible voters will bother to go to the polls, according to Secretary of State Mark White.

The Texas Election Bureau, which will gather unofficial returns on the voting, estimated a turnout of about one million voters.

IN DOUBT
Most polling places open at 7 a.m. and all must close at 7 p.m.

The statewide ballot will carry only the eight propositions that make up the proposed new constitution. Voters will mark "for" or "against" each of the eight issues.

There is no advance indication of the outcome. Last-minute controversy has been hot.

Some proponents say privately that some of the propositions are likely to fail. Some opponents, who have pushed hard for a turnout of the entire ballot, admit that at least a couple propositions may pass.

Voting on local issues will spark turnouts in several places, particularly in the Houston area where there is a mayor's race—incumbent Fred Hofbein versus two challengers, Dick Gottlieb and Frank Briscoe.

APATHY
An expected 40 to 50 per cent turnout of Houston's 771,000 eligible voters could produce up to 40 per cent of the entire state total, election officials predict.

Despite the fact that the eight-proposition ballot was authorized by the legislature last April, there has been widespread apathy and no statewide campaigning or con until mid-September.

Public interest noticeably picked up after Gov. Dolph Briscoe made his long-awaited recommendations to voters on Oct. 14. He advocated rejecting all eight propositions.

Joining with Briscoe in the fight against the new constitution have been Comptroller Bob Bullock, and former Govs. Allan Shivers and Preston Smith. Sen. Peyton McKnight, D-

Tyler, heads a statewide opposition organization, Citizens to Preserve the Texas Constitution.

NEW POLICY
Leading the fight for a new constitution have been Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, Atty. Gen. John Hill, Speaker Bill Clayton and former Gov. Price Daniel Sr., now associate justice of the Texas Supreme Court.

Former Chief Justice Robert Calvert of the Supreme Court, heads the statewide support organization, Citizens for the Texas

Constitution. Other prominent speakers for the new policy document are Leon Jaworski, former Watergate prosecutor, and State Republican Chairman Ray Hutchison who, as a Dallas state representative, played an important part in getting it through the legislature.

Easily the most controversial of the eight propositions has been No. 1, that includes the legislative article with its proposal that the Texas legislature meet annually, instead of every two years. Also lumped in the same proposition, are provisions that would give the governor more power in overseeing agency operations and budgets.

OPPORTUNITY
Shivers said the executive article changes were needed, but he would vote against them because of his opposition to annual sessions. Briscoe made annual sessions his chief reason for recommending defeat of the entire constitution.

Proposition No. 1 is considered the most likely to fail.

Helping Battle Of Wills

Some of the small fry may think members of the highest court in the land have taken leave of their senses: Some grandparents may secretly rejoice. More than a few parents could be appalled. The U.S. Supreme Court recently ruled that, under certain conditions, unruly children could be disciplined by spanking.

A lot of parents don't hesitate to take a switch to a misbehaving child but they're not particularly fond of the idea that school personnel be allowed to resort to corporal punishment when it is deemed justifiable. Many mothers and fathers say they don't have to resort to a show of force to exercise discipline over their offspring. They are to be commended. Few adults, if any, however, ever reached maturity without having their backsides warmed occasionally. Looking back, they probably concede they were deserving of such treatment.

A physical demonstration often helps sway the judgment of a small child where any amount of reasoning doesn't help.

Kids don't come into this world with the powers of judgment they need on the voyage through life. If they did, what purpose would parents serve, other than to provide sustenance and a warm place by the fire when the nights get cold?

Most kids will behave if they know their parents have the prerogative to punish them should they fail to respond to suggestions for improved demeanor. And most parents will use the extreme form of punishment only as a last resort.

Critics of corporal punishment say such treatment is "archaic" and entirely unnecessary. They reckon without the battle of wills that often goes on between parents and children.

A Special Day For A Lady

There's a move in the works to establish a special day for mothers-in-law.

Mothers-in-law have survived and strengthened their image, despite all those bad jokes told about them by stand-up comedians.

Mothers-in-law make endless contributions to the success of families. They also deserve special praise for the good humor they display in suffering through all those horrible jokes.

The National Mothers-In-Law Council offers these suggestions for honoring mother-in-law on her special day:

- (1) Tell her you love and appreciate her; (2) thank her for all her help and support; (3) apologize for imposing on her at times (aren't we all guilty of that shortcoming at times); (4) have her over for dinner or take her out to a restaurant; (5) buy her a small gift you take time to select; and (6) tell her a joke where the laugh is on a son-in-law or a daughter-in-law.

A few human interest stories about mothers-in-law would, no doubt, enhance their reputation. The National Mothers-In-Law Council is assembling such items about the much-maligned ladies. The council can be contacted by writing to PO Box 5005, FDR Post Office, New York, N.Y. 10022.

Anxious Ann Bryant says one of her uncles in Quannah can get pretty rough sometimes. He plays Frisbies with manhole covers.

I'm glad dogs can't read. Nothing personal. I have two dogs and a long string of predecessors, which I loved dearly, but Marmaduke in the funny papers would be a horrible example for our furry friends.

On second thought, change that "which I loved dearly" to "whom I loved dearly."

After all, they were part of our family and don't deserve to be whicked.

Glenn Moffett, ex-cowboy, writes: "My kids love the new 'family hour' on TV. It gives them an hour to do their homework without missing anything on TV."

Good ol' Bill Factor, asks: "Did I ever ask you what goes 'Knock, knock ouch! Knock, knock ouch!'" "In case I didn't it's a woodpecker with chapped lips." Why me? Bill, why me?

My wood-choppin' aunt, Alta Harris, just released from the hospital, sent some words worth repeating from Elbert Hubbard (1856-1915).

"If you work for a man, in Heaven's name WORK for him. If he pays you wages which supply you bread and butter, work for him, speak well of him, stand by him and stand by the institution he represents."

"If put to a pinch, an ounce of loyalty is worth a pound of cleverness."

"If you must vilify, condemn and eternally disparage — resign your position, and when you are outside, damn to your heart's content, but as long as you are part of the institution do not condemn it."

"If you do that, you are loosening the tendrils that are holding you to the institution, and at the first high wind that comes along you will be uprooted and blown away, and probably will never know the reason why."

Overheard in Big Spring's biggest hotel lobby:

"Do you think it's ignorance or apathy that's got this country in all this trouble?"

"I don't know, and I don't give a damn!"

My Answer

Billy Graham

Not long ago my daddy passed away suddenly at the age of 59 with a massive heart attack. My problem is I'm worried. I worry about what pain he may have suffered, and I have nightmares about where he is. He once made a profession of faith, but seemed later not to be interested in spiritual things.

It is well that God has kept to Himself the destiny of the deceased. While we can know for a certainty about our own eternal welfare, we can only judge by appearance when it comes to others.

Your father may have had a basic faith in Christ, and hence was ready for death when it came. His pattern of life, however, may unfortunately not have reflected that faith. By such a spiritual relapse, he would then have forfeited part or all of his reward.

As for the physical pain suffered at the time of his attack, the sudden nature of it may have minimized or even eliminated his discomfort. Don't spend any more sleepless hours worrying about your dad. His life is over, and the God of justice and mercy will do right by his soul. See Genesis 18:25. You need to assist your mother as much as you can, and then find for yourself the happy and productive niche in life which God has for you.

REMEMBERING...

By BILL D. BROOKS

RUNNING AWAY FROM HOME

The paddling seemed harsh for no more than he had done wrong. He decided his parents must not love him and therefore he was going to leave home. The ten-year-old gathered his more important belongings, put them in his bandana, tied the corners to an old broomstick and announced to his parents that he was going off and would probably never see them again. Surprisingly enough, it didn't seem to disturb them, because his dad went on reading the paper, hardly bothering to look at him. His mother was stirring something in a big bowl in the kitchen. She looked at him, said, "Have a nice time, goodbye," and went back to stirring. Now he knew they didn't love him.

He stormed out the door, slamming it for effect, feeling a new sense of freedom. He walked down the dusty road, around the bend and out of view of the house. He decided to rest awhile and examine the things he had brought with him. He spread the bandana on the ground. There were his five favorite marbles, his best top, a T-shirt, the complete set of thirty bubblegum baseball cards, a peanut butter and cracker sandwich and his life's savings from his piggy bank — 35c.

"By now they must be sorry I'm gone," "Serves 'em right, though." "Some day I might go back but it'll be when I'm a lots older and they won't know it's me 'cause I'll change and I'll last 'em if they ever had any kids and whatever happened to 'em and they'll break down and cry and then I might tell who I am but I probably won't."

He was hungry now and decided to eat his sandwich. It tasted good but he got awfully thirsty. He hadn't brought any water with him but there was a windmill up the road a piece. When he got there it was surrounded by cows and a bull that looked pretty mean. "I sure am thirsty." "Think I'll just set down here by the fence an' maybe the bull will leave." "Wonder what they're doin' now, prob'ly eaten supper." "Wonder what was in that big bowl?" "Peanut butter sandwich wasn't much, shuda brought two." "They're prob'ly feelin' so bad now, wishin' I was there with 'em." "Maybe I've punished 'em enough." "It's startin' to get dark an' they're prob'ly real worried."

The trip home didn't take long. He went to the back door, started to go in but decided he better knock first, since he didn't live there any more. His mother came to the door and said, "Oh, wonderful, you're just in time for supper!" "Guess what we're having; your favorite, fried chicken and, for dessert, pineapple upside-down cake." At the table his dad said, "You know that rod and reel you've been looking at down at Stinson's Store? I bought it for you today. What say we try it out tomorrow?" There was a good feeling about being home. "Don't worry with those dishes, Mom, I'll do 'em for you tonight."

Just Call Me Bill

William F. Buckley, Jr.

Very soon I will be 50, a datum I do not expect will rouse the statisticians or revive the fireworks industry. Fifty, and left with a problem that keeps . . . changing, as you grow older. It is, of course, the first-name problem.

MY INCLINATIONS on the matter have always been formal. In part this was a matter of inheritance. I grew up mistering people, and discovered, after I was fully grown (if indeed that has yet really happened) that in continuing to do so, I was bucking a trend of sorts: the obsessive egalitarian familiarity which approaches a raid on one's privacy.

So on reaching 30, I made a determined effort to resist. Even now, on the television program Firing Line, I refer even to those guests I know intimately as "Mr. Burnham," or "Governor Reagan," or "Senator Goldwater." (This rule I simply had to break on introducing Senator Buckley, but the departure from the habit was stylistically troublesome.) The effort, I thought, was worthwhile — a small gesture against the convention that requires you to refer to Professor Mortimer Applegate as "Mort" five minutes after you have met. Jack Parr would have called Scratz "Soc."

I came on two difficulties. The first was the public situation in which mistering somebody was plainly misunderstood. Or, if understood at all, taken as an act of social condescension. For a couple of years I would refer, on my program, to "Mr. Carson." In due course I discovered that the audience thought I was trying to put on an act. Mr. Carson does not exist in America. Only Johnny does.

THE SECOND problem, as one grows older, lies in the creeping suspicion of people a little older than oneself that your use of the surname is intended to accentuate an exiguous age difference. If you are 18 and the other man is 28, you can, for a while, call him Mr. Jones without giving offense. But if you are 40 and he is 50 and you call him Mr. Jones, he is likely to think you are rubbing in the fact of his relative senescence.

The complement of that problem, which I fear more than anything except rattlesnakes and detente, is trying to be one of the Boys. "Just call me Bill," to the roommate of your son at college, is in my judgment an odious effort to efface a chronological interval as palpable as the wrinkles on my face, and the maturity of my judgment.

On the other hand, one has to struggle to avoid stuffiness: so I arrived, for a while, at the understanding that I was Mister to everyone under the age of 21, or thereabouts, and only then, cautiously, Bill. It is a sub-problem how to break the habit. Here I made a sub-rule: that I would invite younger people to call me "Bill" exactly one time. If thereafter they persisted in using the surname, well that was up to them: a second, redundant gesture on my part could be interpreted as pleading with them to accept me as an archeological.

My bias, on the whole, continued in the direction of a tendency to formality, so in the last few years I made a determined effort to overcome it, wherein I came across my most recent humiliation. Mrs. Margaret Thatcher was my guest on Firing Line. Rather to my surprise, the English being more naturally formal than we are, half way through the program she suddenly referred to me, once, as "Bill."

Reports Are Mixed On Profits

WEEKS BUSINESS

NEW YORK (AP) — Third-quarter profits reported this past week by top oil, steel and car companies gave a cloudy picture.

Marking what may be its sharpest profit rebound ever, General Motors said third-quarter earnings were $243 million, up more than 1,400 per cent from levels a year ago.

But does this mean the end of troubles for Detroit's car makers? Not for Chrysler Corp., which reported a third-quarter loss of $79 million, nearly 10 times as much as its deficit a year ago.

And while Ford Motor Co. surprised many on Wall Street by scoring a 19 per cent profit climb in the period to $56.3 million, the company noted that its U.S. car operations lost money and the bulk of the gains came from overseas.

Oil and steel producers continued to suffer a recession hangover. Texaco said third-quarter earnings were down 38 per cent, Gulf Oil 36 per cent, and Atlantic Richfield 32 per cent compared with a year ago when profits still were soaring from high demand and high prices.

Leading steel producers, in the midst of a two-quarter profit slump that industry spokesmen now say could last through much of 1976, also reported sharply lower third-quarter profits this past week. U.S. Steel Corp., the No. 1 producer, said earnings declined 38 per cent from a year ago and Bethlehem Steel Corp., second in size, said profits dropped 66 per cent.

Economic statistics from Washington didn't help clear the picture, either. Last week the government's September index of leading economic indicators, which is supposed to show where the economy is headed in the coming months, declined 0.9 per cent, the first drop in seven months.

While some economists jumped to the conclusion that the index was signaling a bumpy recovery or even a relapse into recession, others cautioned that a one-month drop could be meaningless.

New York City's battle against default was dealt a setback last week as

General Motors has tremendous quarter
Chrysler, however, didn't fare very well
Recession hangover evident in oil, steel
Statistics do little to clear picture
Ford still emphatic in stand on NYC problem

President Ford in a televised speech stated he would veto any congressional measure aimed at preventing a default. There remained hope that the city's pension funds, reportedly controlling $8.5 billion, might agree to back up $4 billion in city borrowing. But key figures in the drama did not sound optimistic that such a plan could clear the legal hurdles in time to prevent a default either on Nov. 14 or Dec. 1.

The city's situation failed to set off panic waves in the financial markets. In general the bonds of corporations, municipal governments and the U.S. Treasury bore up well with scattered price gains.

The stock market showed only a small, 4.48-point loss for the week at 836.04. On the day of Ford's New York City speech, though, the Dow Jones average slid 12.83 points.

Spastic Torticollis— Or Wry Neck

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could you give me some information about spastic torticollis? I can't seem to find any information about this condition although I have had it for eight years. — Mrs. E. S.

The cause of torticollis (wry neck) is not clear. It is a muscular deformity of the neck vertebrae which sometimes causes a tilting of the head. Fibromyositis (inflammation of fibromuscular tissue) can be a cause, but this should not have lasted eight years.

Heat and massage, along with anti-inflammatory drugs such as aspirin, have been used successfully, especially in early states. In very early cases simple manipulation often corrects the problem.

The exact name of your condition is "spasmodic" torticollis. This is a rather rare adult form of the problem, and it doesn't respond as well to treatment as does the more common variety. Psychological factors may be present.

The few cases I have seen have been in women who did exhibit emotional upset. In stubborn cases surgery may be the only solution. An X-ray of the neck spine should be undertaken to determine arthritic changes there. You should consult a orthopedic specialist for a full evaluation.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you please tell me why you can pull some hairs from your face with tweezers and it's okay, but at other times it gets infected? Are there some hairs you should not pull? — A. T. K.

No matter how well you wash, there are usually some germs left on the skin of the face. Normally, they are harmless. However, pulling a hair leaves the follicle (or pore) open and exposed to infection.

It is best to snip hairs with scissors around the nose, face or breasts.

any hope for relief? Will the condition be cleared up ever? Please send me your booklet, "Dizzy Spells," for which I'm enclosing the required 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope. — Rev. A. C.

It is quite possible that faulty circulation to the brain is causing you dizziness. If so, the obstruction, which would most likely be in the carotid artery to the brain, can be determined by arteriogram. In such a case, surgery to correct the obstruction would bring relief.

However, persistent dizziness rather suggests a defect in the balance mechanism of your ear. Has this been investigated? There are various anti-dizziness medications available to alleviate this problem.

There are a variety of causes of dizziness, which you will find out about in the booklet you requested on the subject. And, until the specific cause of yours is definitely established, there is not much to be suggested in the way of specific relief.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor: I would like all parents who have teen-agers or children to read this. I go to Big Spring High School. A large percentage of my friends have been running away (from home). The reason — their parents.

Now I'm not saying it is their fault, but parents (not all) just don't give enough of their time to sit down and reason with them. I know that there are always two sides to a story, but when one of my friends comes to the school with belt welts on her, it is a different story.

Her parents said she had no right to run away. I ask her where all the bruises came from. She answered: "I got them from my parents because, when I tried to explain why I did it all they wanted to know was 'where and why.'" Maybe the reason they do this to their kids is because they tried to live up to reality but their's was too painful to face. Also, the people who try to help these kids end up getting in trouble.

The point I'm trying to get across is — couldn't parents try to take a little time to sit down and reason with them. After all, we are always being asked to just smile and take it. I'm seeing it from the kids' point of view, and it is tough to be a child like it is to be a parent. The reason I don't run away is because my parents sit down and talk to me so that I don't want to run away.

SUZETTE YOUNG

Dear Sir: The editorial in the Herald Tuesday, Oct. 28, most emphatically deserves an answer. The position is clearly taken that President Ford vetoed three bills, one for $2.75 billion for free school lunches, for the only reason that he is immune to the needs of the people of this country. Frankly, I am not only appalled but deeply concerned as to the actual reason for this statement. Is the reason a total misunderstanding of the consequences of the enormous debts the Federal Government owes today, or is it just pure politics? Either way, I am much disturbed by this position taken by your paper. It assuredly is food for reflective thought.

A very brief calculation of $2,750,000,000 for the lunch program for X number of children that "require" free lunches for one "school" year — yes, take two or three minutes. The answer should be a revelation to anyone. New York City is today, undeniably and publicly reaping the benefits of inept leadership and obvious fiscal irresponsibility. Take two more minutes of calculations; the debts of New York City divided by its population versus the debts of the Federal government divided by all our people. The answers, clearly New York City is bankrupt — publicly known, the Federal government is just more bankrupt, but not publicly known. But please don't tell Sen. McGovern, he would just raise taxes and spend more money, and make it all go away.

I do firmly agree with President Ford's veto of these three bills, all excellent examples of fiscal irresponsibility. We need many more such vetoes until the billions spent match the actual needs, without the deliberate waste and within the amounts the tax payers can provide. I firmly feel also that most of the silent majority — those work and pay their taxes, and their debts, feel the same way. The irresponsible spending and waste of money the various governments do not have must someday cease. Families know they must live within their means, and eventually pay their debts, little and big cities, and newspapers, and States, and now Big Big cities are getting to know it very well, and some in D.C. are trying to teach it to some others up there, and if enough of them find it out, we will have federal spending within our means and with it an end to inflation. But please, don't anybody ever tell Sen. McGovern, or his admirers.

FLOYD R. MAYS, JR., M.D.

Dear Sir: There is something very "wrong" in this system of sports. While the children are young and are still excited about playing and having fun — frustrated, high tempered, screaming, cussing, fathers are drilling into their once young happy minds — "It's not how you play the game — but you'd better 'win' for me, or else!!!"

If a concerned parent wonders or mentions the too rough attitude of the coaches (or their bad language) — the most common reply is — "They have to be tough to win" or — "Look, I'm volunteering on my own time." Well I ask — just how tough does a ten-year-old have to be? And how does the school board (I assume these coaches are under the rules of the board) allow these men to use this type of coaching attitude that you'd expect from a pro football coach, not on small children!! Plus — they may call the boy a "Mama's baby" or pick on the boy if a parent says anything. Is this fair? Usually the parent goes the entire season afraid to say a thing.

The boys are also punished for being late or missing a game or practice, which is not the boy's fault at all. At this age, they depend entirely upon their parents to take them everywhere, and it is not always possible for the parent to do so. Do you think the coach is concerned about this? Absolutely not! And this practicing every night until dark plus Saturday morning is out of reason. At this age, a 10-year-old needs time to "play" once in a while — plus giving a Mother a break from serving a burned supper as a result from running the children in ten different directions at the same time.

I thought there was supposed to be some type of rules plus a bit of concern for the more shy children who need that little extra attention — instead of ignoring him during the entire season. The coaches may not realize it now, but they set a very big example to these small boys, and just might have a lot more to do with "making" or "breaking" his future in athletics. — So, if you're "mean", PLEASE don't volunteer!!

I know games can be won by not so harsh coaching — it's called concern, love or whatever! I have seen it done.

If the coaches or parents would like to tell me their opinion — Please write:

Dear Sir: Your editorial of Oct. 28 (about the consistency with which President Ford vetoes measures designed to help people) is a gem. Most certainly the President is consistent, as is Sen. McGovern.

There are two points easily overlooked, however. The President is not the "ultra-liberal" as are Sen. McGovern and others. Secondly, the only government body in worse shape than the City of New York, from (the standpoint of) fiscal irresponsibility, is the Federal Government. Somehow the unilateral mind lacks the capacity to understand this simple economic fact.

GLASSCOCK COTTON GINNED

State's Pecan Harvest Making Good Progress

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Scattered rains brought needed moisture to much of South Central and Southeast Texas last week, but for most other sections of the state, dry conditions still exist, Dr. John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, reported Saturday.

Harvesting of corn, sorghum, sunflowers and soybeans is moving toward completion in the High Plains, where some cotton harvesting has also started.

Peanut harvesting is active in the Rolling Plains and West Central, Central and East Texas, with yields and grades good.

The state's pecan harvest is making good progress in most sections, said Hutchison.

Sugar beet and late summer vegetable harvesting continues in the Panhandle. Cucumbers and peppers are moving to market in South Texas, while sweet potatoes are being harvested in good volume in eastern areas.

Small grains in most sections are still in need of rain, Hutchison said, and grazing conditions for livestock continue to decline. Marketing of calves and culled cows remains heavy in the eastern half of the state. Stockmen in some counties of East Texas have already started supplemental feeding.

Reports from district Extension agents showed the following conditions:

PANHANDLE: Harvesting of corn and sorghum is almost complete, producing above average yields. Harvesting of lettuce, carrots and sugar beets continues. Sugar beet yields are down.

SOUTH PLAINS: Harvesting of corn, sorghum and sunflowers is in the final stages. Soybean harvesting is about 75 per cent complete. Some cotton fields are being disiccated to get the crop ready for harvest. However, most farmers are waiting for a killing frost to drop the leaves off the cotton stalks. Dryland wheat and ranges are in need of moisture.

ROLLING PLAINS: Some cotton harvesting has started but most farmers are awaiting a killing frost. Peanut and pecan harvesting is also getting under way. Rain is needed for small grains. Ranges are heavily infested with weeds.

NORTH CENTRAL: About 20 per cent of the cotton crop and some 30 per cent of the peanut acreage remains to be harvested. Soybean harvesting has just started, with good yields in prospect. The pecan harvest has fair to good yields. Planting of wheat and oats is about 80 per cent complete, with rain needed.

NORTHEAST: About 20 per cent of the corn and sorghum crop remains to be harvested in some counties; yields have been off. Sweet potato harvesting is active, and the pecan harvest is starting. Small grains are making little progress due to dry conditions. Pastures are below average and cattle are losing weight.

FAR WEST: The first bale of cotton has been ginned in Glasscock County. The pecan harvest reports good yields. Forage is abundant on most ranges so that sheep will probably make it through the winter without supplemental feeding. Calves and culled cows and bulls are being marketed.

WEST CENTRAL: About 20 per cent of the cotton crop is in. The peanut harvest is about 85 per cent complete; yields have been good. Pecan harvesting has started but the crop will be short due to a late spring freeze and heavy disease and insect damage. Small grains and pastures and ranges need rain. Fall lambing and calving is under way and marketing remains active.

CENTRAL: Good rains fell in some locations but much more is needed. The peanut harvest is about 90 per cent complete. Pecan harvesting is starting and crop prospects vary from fair to good. Much small grain acreage has not yet been planted due to no rain.

IN CONFERENCE — Joyce Beasley (left), Maintenance resource advisor and local coordinator of the Federal Women's Program at Webb AFB, confers with Judy Freese who is a member of the FWP project committee. Joyce says, "The success of FWP may only be measured by the number of women promoted into higher level jobs — not by the number of luncheons we have."

Webb Salutes Fem Work Force

Webb AFB saluted its women work force the past week in observance of the United Nations' International Women's Year. Women employees hold approximately 30 per cent of all Air Force civilian jobs and are involved in virtually all types of work performed by the civilian work force.

And on the military side, women have been fully integrated into the Air Force with about 24,000 serving worldwide in various capacities. By mid-1978 officials expect the total to be 44,000 women or 8.2 per cent of the Air Force military strength.

At the Air Force Academy about 100 to 150 women cadets will be accepted into Class of 1980 which enters June 28, 1976. Women cadets will be able to take any of the 21 academic majors offered by the academy.

"The Department of Defense equal opportunity policy is aimed at creating a climate of equal opportunity which will allow everyone's expectations to be achieved without regard to race, creed, color, sex or national origin," said H. Minton Francis, deputy assistant Secretary of Defense, Equal Opportunities.

"If this sounds like an idealistic but impractical policy, I assure you that it is entirely pragmatic," Francis continued, "the Defense Department exists for one purpose only, and that is to protect the national entity. We can't possibly do that job effectively if there is discontent, misgiving or under-utilization within any segment of the work force."

International Women's Year is entering the final two months. The DOD endorse certain objectives for the year which call for action in recognizing the accomplishments of women, and, more importantly, for increasing the scope of their participation in the Defense mission.

A government-wide program, The Federal Women's Program (FWP), aims at enhancing employment and advancement opportunities for Federally employed women. Since 1973 FWP has had a full-time executive level coordinator in DOD. During the past 18 months, coordinators were appointed throughout the work force to be accessible to all of the 250,000 women who work for DOD. At Webb, Joyce Beasley, Maintenance resource advisor, is the FWP coordinator.

Military departments were asked to eliminate all unnecessary distinctions in regulations applying to

JOB SHE WANTED — Mrs. M. O. Kinsey, 73, step-mother of Mrs. Nettie Marie Smith of Big Spring, died at 2 a.m. Friday in a Rotan hospital following a lengthy illness.

'WE'RE FORTUNATE' — Barbara Daniel, assistant chief of supply at Webb AFB said, "I do feel women employees with Civil Service are quite fortunate. They are given ample opportunities for advancement. As long as we do a job to the best of our ability we will get recognition."

Revenue Sharing Faces Test

County Commissioners Court Monday will consider passing a resolution asking Congress to continue revenue sharing.

The proposed resolution also suggests the federal government provide counties with advance information about revenue sharing amounts so counties may budget.

County Judge Bill Tune said members of the court may attend a rally planned by the National Association of Counties in Washington, D.C., Nov. 18.

The organization scheduled the rally in the face of a Dec. 31, 1976, expiration date for revenue sharing legislation.

At its Monday meeting, the court will also confer with Jerry Mancill about insurance for boilers in the courthouse and library.

Louis Mancha is scheduled to speak to the court about the fair bars.

Forsan School Board To Open Bids On Bonds

FORSAN — The Forsan school board will open 10-20 bids on $750,000 in bonds at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Superintendent J. F. Poyner said.

With the bonds, the board plans to build four new classrooms, two science labs, a resource learning center, a track and a dressing area for the swimming pool.

Also, existing classroom areas will be equipped with a central heating and cooling system and carpeted. The cafeteria will be renovated, and an area added to the industrial arts section.

The board will view the recently remodeled gym and enclosed area, which was formerly a stage.

And the first of the nine parts of school policy will be reviewed for comprehensive revision. The board meeting will convene at 7 p.m.

Report U.S. Pilot Freed By Kidnapers

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — An American pilot kidnaped from his Beirut apartment by unidentified gunmen three days ago was reported released Saturday, the U.S. Embassy said.

A spokesman said he heard unofficial reports that Herman Clyde Huddleston, 47, of Fort Worth, Tex., was released Saturday morning and is apparently "in some part of Beirut." He was understood to be trying to get out of the war-torn city.

Huddleston, a pilot for Lebanon's all-cargo Trans Mediterranean Airlines, was kidnaped from his suburban apartment by five men who accused him of involvement in Lebanon's civil war.

Mrs. Huddleston said the intruders questioned her husband for three hours about Lebanon's politics before driving him away.

The embassy said nothing of the circumstances of the release or the identity of his captors, indicating U.S. diplomats were not involved in "winning his freedom. Airline officials said at the time of his capture that they were in touch with Lebanese security officials and Palestinian guerrillas to secure his release.

Huddleston was the third American kidnaped in the current round of fighting between Christian and Moslem gunmen. There is still no word on two American Embassy officials abducted Oct. 22 — Charles Gallagher, 44, of Roanoke, Va., and William Dykes, 59, of San Jose, Calif.

School Choirs On Program

The Big Spring High School choir will offer their first program of the season with their annual Fall Concert starting at 8 o'clock Monday evening in the High School Auditorium.

A variety of music is in the offing — something for everyone who attends. Rehearsals have been going on for some time.

'Ear' Gone

Bobby Glen Price reported a citizens band radio stolen from his pickup while it was parked by the T. H. McCann Butane building on U.S. 87, the sheriff's office reported.

HARRIS HOME ...built at experimental farm

Experimental Farm Home Featured On Postal Card

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the eighth in a series of early homes in Big Spring built prior to 1915 which will be certified by the Horizon's committee of the bicentennial organization. Anyone interested in nominating a home may call Mrs. Carol Hunter at 242-854.

By MARJ CARPENTER

The home featured this week is the Harris Home built north of town on the U.S. Experimental Farm. This was at one time featured on a post card which was sold at local drug stores. Today it is surrounded by shrubs and trees and is an attractive home north of the city.

In early 1900, some area residents donated land to the federal government in hopes of establishing one of the 23 dryland research farms springing up in the Great Plains states.

Big Spring was selected because it offers such a unique combination of soils including high plains, red plains, and the Edwards Plateau.

The first crop yield for the experimental farm's 133 acres was in 1915, but in 1914, the government built numerous buildings, including the comfortable seven-room house for the director.

Fred Keating arrived in 1922 as director, moving his bride into the house in 1923 and staying until his retirement in 1957.

MOVED NORTH — The home itself was located on what was then North 12th, but is now the access road to IS-20. Bids were taken to move the home and make way for a truck stop in that area. The experimental farm is still located east of the former location, and has added acreage through the years.

The purposes of the farm have changed from crop research to the study of soil and water conditions and also a study of wind erosion problems. It is one of the few experimental farms organized during the early 1900s that is left.

The event is attended by large crowds of West Texans each year with barbecue served from 11-2 p.m. and 5:30-6:30 p.m. with tickets $3 for adults and $1.50 for children.

Sandwiches are served in between. Uncooked sausage will be sold by the pound.

The booths will be open all afternoon including Spin-a-Wheel, Grab Bag, Ma's

Kitchen, the Hobby Shop, Bingo, Money Toss and Cotton Candy.

An auction will be held starting at 2 p.m. followed by supper and a dance. Furnishing the music will be Jimmy Heap and the Melody Masters from Taylor.

The women's committee in charge includes Mrs. Joe Schwartz, Mrs. Wayne Halfmann, Mrs. Jimmy Strube, Mrs. Roland Halfmann and Mrs. Eugene Jost.

The men's committee includes Wendell Jones, Ronnie Hirt, Charles Braden, Fred Hoelscher, Walter Halfmann and Leroy Hoelscher.

Howard County and the City of Big Spring both received mixed drink tax remittances for the quarter ending Sept. 30.

The total tax revenue for the county for the quarter amounted to $7,686.09. Howard County's share amounted to $1,152.91. The City of Big Spring's total tax revenue was $4,981.06, with Big Spring's remittance figured at $747.16.

More than $2.7 million has been sent to 188 counties and 297 cities across the state.

The share to cities is 15 per cent of the total tax collected in each city and the 15 per cent to the counties represents tax revenues for drinks sold outside the city limits. The remaining 70 per cent, $6.5 for this quarter,

The Gerald Harrises were top bidders for the house in 1963 and they moved to several miles farther north to Leatherwood Road on a few acres out of the C. M. Weaver's cotton farm. The Weavers are the parents of Mrs. Harris.

Today, this beautifully preserved home is surrounded by a lot of Big Spring history. The fence is made from bricks that the Harrises bought when the East Viaduct was replaced during the 60s.

Several paintings in the home also depict Big Spring history, and let all visitors know immediately that the Harrises love Big Spring and are intent on enjoying and preserving its history. They have raised their four children in this home.

move. Many shrubs and trees which surrounded the house at the experimental farm were also moved to the new location.

Inside the home are some enchanting antiques, gathered by Mrs. Harris and her mother. These include a chest and four chairs, bought from the old Crawford Hotel and are now in the oversized living room.

A wardrobe and chair were purchased from the Nat Shick home. This is the home of a longtime postmaster.

St. Lawrence Festival To Lure Texans Today

The St. Lawrence Fall Festival begins at 11 a.m. today at St. Lawrence Catholic Hall.

It is located 10 miles south of Garden City on Highway 33 and five miles west on FM 2874.

The event is attended by large crowds of West Texans each year with barbecue served from 11-2 p.m. and 5:30-6:30 p.m. with tickets $3 for adults and $1.50 for children.

Sandwiches are served in between. Uncooked sausage will be sold by the pound.

The booths will be open all afternoon including Spin-a-Wheel, Grab Bag, Ma's

Kitchen, the Hobby Shop, Bingo, Money Toss and Cotton Candy.

An auction will be held starting at 2 p.m. followed by supper and a dance. Furnishing the music will be Jimmy Heap and the Melody Masters from Taylor.

The women's committee in charge includes Mrs. Joe Schwartz, Mrs. Wayne Halfmann, Mrs. Jimmy Strube, Mrs. Roland Halfmann and Mrs. Eugene Jost.

The men's committee includes Wendell Jones, Ronnie Hirt, Charles Braden, Fred Hoelscher, Walter Halfmann and Leroy Hoelscher.

Howard County and the City of Big Spring both received mixed drink tax remittances for the quarter ending Sept. 30.

The total tax revenue for the county for the quarter amounted to $7,686.09. Howard County's share amounted to $1,152.91. The City of Big Spring's total tax revenue was $4,981.06, with Big Spring's remittance figured at $747.16.

More than $2.7 million has been sent to 188 counties and 297 cities across the state.

The share to cities is 15 per cent of the total tax collected in each city and the 15 per cent to the counties represents tax revenues for drinks sold outside the city limits. The remaining 70 per cent, $6.5 for this quarter, goes into the state general revenue fund.

The quarter's total local share was up slightly from the second quarter's $2.5 million paid out; according to Bob Bullock, state comptroller. The $9.2 million total tax receipts for the third quarter represented the 18th consecutive quarter that the total taxes increased.

Collection of the tax is administered by the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission.

Mitchell County's share of the tax reached $290.96 while the City of Colorado City is getting a check for $213.84.

Dawson County receipts for a payment totaling $212 but Lamesa itself qualified for no refund.

THE WEEK

No matter what your convictions are, be sure and vote in the new constitution election Tuesday.

If I had to make a prediction, I'd say the chances for the voters' approving the document were very poor, but then my powers of political prognostication have always been inexact.

I notice that delegates to a recent area teachers' convention in Corpus Christi agreed to seek a $14,000 minimum teacher's salary in Texas, which they say could be financed with a one per cent state income tax.

The big trouble with a state income tax, as I see it, is that anything that starts at one per cent would grow to five per cent before many years. Taxes have a way of doing that.

Word out of the east is that the nation's pickle packers plan to present their "Fickle Pickle of Fate" award to the police department of Hartford, Conn., where President Ford's limousine was involved in a two-car accident.

The pickle packers said it was obvious the police got themselves into a pickle by leaving a street crossing unguarded as the chief executive's car approached.

I thought the designers of the Howard County Bicentennial Seal did an outstanding job. Mitchell County's seal crossed the desk recently and is reproduced here. It, too, is eye-catching, I think you'll agree.

Big Spring artist Bill Brooks, whose woodcarvings and pen-and-ink drawings are now on exhibition at the Scurry County Museum in Snyder, authors the newspaper feature,

"Remembering..." which was first seen in The Herald. Brooks' articles currently appear in 16 newspapers across the Southwest. Recent subscribers include papers in Georgetown, Iowa Park and Dell City.

Bill's plan now is to offer the series in hard-cover book form, perhaps as early as next year.

The new Malone and Hogan Clinic, which may set off quite a bit of growth in western Big Spring, formally opens a week from today. Officers of the clinic are very confident that the clinic staff will add 16 doctors within the foreseeable future. In other words, they are expecting the Big Spring community to show tremendous growth over the next several years.

The size of the medical colony here is remarkable for a city like Big Spring. More than a few communities across the land are struggling along without a single doctor, much less a hospital. We have four private hospitals, plus a VA facility, a Webb AFB hospital and Big Spring State Hospital.

When Mayor Maynard Jackson made the crew of the Apollo-Soyuz space mission honorary citizens of Atlanta, Ga., recently, he told them, "We'll be sending you a tax bill soon."

Russian cosmonaut Alexei A. Leonov responded by saying, "By Soviet law, you are supposed to offer us free apartments."

Suffice to say that more memorials were forwarded to the Heritage Museum here in the name of the late Mrs. Joe (Lucille) Pickle than for anyone in the museum's history.

In reply to inquiries, the donations go to help operate the museum rather than into an endowment fund.

Avoid Being Ripped-Off By Self-Styled Medicos

"Just Discovered! This special, new secret cure for all your aches and pains! Guaranteed or your money back — one swallow of Pappy's Powerful Potion and you will run with the champions!"

Such dramatic claims as this are no longer peddled by top-hatted gentlemen on horseback who were finally chased out of town by the sheriff. But the peddlers of health quackery are still with us, warns the Better Business Bureau.

According to the American Medical Association, people are still being robbed of their health and their money by self-styled "doctors." Today's medicine man probably will give a sophisticated sales pitch about "that tired rundown feeling" or "aging before your time." He may be familiar with enough medical terms to get your attention. But the only thing he offers you is a chance to lose your money and valuable time.

There are certain chronic ailments and serious diseases which lend themselves to misuse by health quacks. Treatments for arthritis, cancer, obesity and even baldness are among the subject of on-going research. These — like most diseases — cannot be cured by self-treatment or without medical supervision. Unfortunately, some do not yet have a known cure.

Persons in physical or mental distress, advises the Better Business Bureau, should not fall prey to the fast talker who promises a sudden, guaranteed cure for a condition to which the medical profession still has no answer.

HOW TO TELL

How can you tell a quack from a legitimate doctor? First of all, no doctor will advertise or promise a guaranteed cure. No doctor will go door-to-door looking for patients. A door-to-door "healer" is looking for victims. In addition, a quack may be spotted by any or all of these tell-tale signs:

A "special" machine or formula.
A sales pitch filled with glowing testimonials and examples of "case histories."

A tale of woe about how the medical profession simply refuses to recognize this cure.

An attack against accepted treatment such as surgery, x-rays or

HC Bridge Club Closes

Howard College Community Bridge Club, an A.C.B.L. sanctioned club, has ceased operation due to poor attendance. The A.C.B.L. requires that three tables be present for an official game. Director John Gordon advised that there were no nights in October when the necessary 12 people were present.

Director Gordon advised that apparently Monday night was a poor night to conduct the game. He stated that he was willing to hold and direct a game if enough persons were interested, probably after January first. Anyone interested should contact John Gordon at Howard College and recommend a night that the game should be held.

Fort Worth Press Sold

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Dean Singleton, publisher of the new Fort Worth Press, has sold his controlling interest in the morning daily newspaper to Ray Freedman, former production manager of two Evansville, Ind., papers.

Freedman said today he had purchased 45 per cent of the Press stock and that Singleton no longer would serve as publisher. A replacement has not been named.

The Press was sold to Singleton about three months ago.

Airport Press Confab Monday

State Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong will be in Big Spring at 10:30 a.m., Monday Nov. 3 at the Big Spring Airport.

Armstrong will speak in support of the proposed Texas constitution which will be voted upon by Texans on Tuesday.

All citizens are invited to show up at the airport and meet Armstrong. He will be making a swing through West Texas with stops at Midland-Odessa, Big Spring, Abilene and San Angelo.

prescribed drugs. A long list of impressive titles other than "M.D." — most of which will not be traceable, and which represents nothing of true medical knowledge.

Most people realize that not all aches and pains merit medical attention. However, the most certain way to prevent serious damage to your health is to see a physician for persistent discomfort. Treatment from someone without recognized medical knowledge is a dangerous risk.

TREATMENT DANGERS
Experience has shown, says the AMA, that treatment by non-doctors usually falls into three categories. It may be detrimental to your health, and sometimes fatal, when used without medical supervision. It may be totally worthless for your particular condition. Sometimes the suggested treatment is partially legitimate but, when used alone, will allow your condition to deteriorate too far for eventual, effective treatment.

If you are faced with a medical problem for which you cannot find easy relief, the Better Business Bureau suggests that you first consult a doctor.

Secondly, learn about the wise use of drugs, devices and nutritious foods. Your local library will have books and articles on various health subjects. Discuss what you read with your doctor. Be critical of all that you read or hear; your doctor should welcome your interest.

Finally, use your knowledge to keep quacks and false and deceptive advertising off the market. Be suspicious, says the Better Business Bureau, of extravagant medical promises. Report instances of suspected quackery to your state Attorney General, the Food and Drug Administration, or the Federal Trade Commission — or if the mail is involved — to the U.S. Postal Service.

Fewer TV's On, More Watching

NEW YORK (AP) — Each year the national television audience increases. But something curious may be happening in viewing patterns this season. It seems that fewer TV sets are on, but more people are watching them.

Question: Does this indicate that we've reached the point where television's bubble finally has burst and viewers are turning their sets off more this season than in past years?

"I would hesitate to think that anyone could draw that conclusion," says Mike Weinblatt, NBC-TV's executive vice president. "I think it's probably more premature to know exactly what has happened. But I don't think people's tastes and interests change that dramatically."

Still, NBC is so puzzled by the paradoxical drop in set usage and the rise in viewing audience that its top research man, Bill Rubens, is closely examining the audience-sampling methods of the A.C. Nielsen ratings company to see if anything's been changed from past years.

Rubens says the number of homes in which TV sets are on during the prime evening hours dropped by four per cent in the first seven weeks of the current season, compared to the same period last year.

At the same time, he says, "the proportion of people viewing is up by one per cent" to about 81,470,000 souls watching each night.

"So there are more people viewing, according to Nielsen, in fewer homes," he says.

How to select the right nursing home.

We Americans are not living longer, we're living more useful, productive lives.

But an increasing number of the chronically ill, the old, the convalescent, need some place other than the hospital and their home where they can receive personal health care, round-the-clock attention and the opportunity to continue to live their lives with meaning.

As your community extended health care facility we want to help you make the right decision. Here are some guidelines: see your family physician to determine the kind of care needed; feel free to visit our facility; ask us for our costs in writing and financial advice about Medicaid; examine all of our facilities; check our food quality; verify our safety features; and finally, observe how our residents spend their time.

There's a lot more to selecting the right nursing home. We want to help. If you have any questions, please call or visit us.

Patricia Kidnaped In Movie

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The beginning of the new film "Abduction" carries the message that it is based on a novel, "Black Abductor," and "any similarity to persons living or dead is coincidental."

That may arouse doubt among movie-goers, since the leading character is an heiress named Patricia who is abducted from the campus apartment she shares with a boyfriend and is converted to the violent philosophy of her radical captors.

The parallel to the still unfolding Patricia Heald drama is uncanny, yet at least part of the similarity seems unwitting. "Abduction," filmed a year ago on a moderate budget of "slightly under $500,000" by independent producer Kent E. Carroll, is based on a novel which was published before the Hearst kidnaping.

"The book was discovered by the New York Post, which did an article about the remarkable similarities with the Hearst case," Carroll said by telephone from New York.

The heroine was named Patricia, her family was a symbol of wealth in her state, she lived at the University of California at Berkeley with her boyfriend, her abductors were men and women, black and white, and it was a political kidnaping.

Carroll, 33, said that because the book — written by a California engineer in his mid-40s — was in print before the Hearst kidnaping, the FBI looked into the possibility that the book was a basis for the caper but found no connection with the actual case. At the time, Carroll worked at Grove Press, which published a paperback and considered a film version. Grove dropped the project and Carroll decided to try his hand at independent production.

He raised the financing from private sources, and "Abduction" was filmed in 35 days in Long Island and upstate New York. Documentary filmmaker Joseph Zito, 29, directed from Carroll's script. Judith Marie Bergan, 24-year-old TV commercial actress from Terre Haute, Ind., plays Patricia, and her parents are Hollywood veterans Dorothy Malone and Leif Erickson.

Variety reported that "Abduction" was originally designed as a hardcore porno film. Carroll hedges: "There was no serious plan to make a hardcore film."

He admitted that some of the sex scenes were explicit "because of the reality that the director required," and it could have been an X-rated movie. Cuts were made, and "Abduction" is rated R, amazingly so, considering the raw sex and terrorist-style language.

BACK IN BUSINESS — John Henry Faulk, 61, who was a folksy television humorist until he was blacklisted nearly 20 years ago, is back before the television cameras in a supporting role in the Hee Haw syndicated television program, which is taped in Nashville. Faulk won a $3.5 million suit against Aware Inc., which accused him of associating with known subversives in the 1950s.

Shy Jean Arthur Attacks TV, Film

CLEVELAND (AP) — The long blonde bob has become an off-white Buster Brown square cut. The face is a bit fuller, ditto the figure in the chic tan pants suit.

The voice, the manner and the eye glint are still original Jean Arthur, the now-you-seeher, now-you-don't film and stage star.

After an eight-year intermission, the lady who insists "I'm a person, not a personality" is in a play that may take her back to Broadway — a circumstance which persuaded her to grant a rare interview.

"I've always been shy and sort of tongue-tied," she begins, "it's only recently I shoot off my mouth the way I do."

In the play that has coaxed her from seclusion, "The First Monday in October," the 67-year-old, 5-foot-3 actress portrays the first woman member of the U.S. Supreme Court.

"I'm doing it because it says something about what is happening now," she says of the script by Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee. It is in test production at the Cleveland Playhouse through Nov. 15. The next step hasn't been announced.

"I think everybody who is alive wants to know suddenly how we think and why we think the way we do. We used to be so bound with the beliefs that had been shoved down our throats for years and years and years. I think Watergate opened up the whole thing: What are we doing with our lives?"

Miss Arthur aims a disparaging broadside at films and television for their bids for her services in recent seasons.

"You can call them properties if you like. I call them garbage. I'd get scripts I couldn't believe, those horrible parts that you've seen for the last few years."

In 1965 Miss Arthur had a TV show of her own that swiftly faded. She never returned to the tube.

Jackie Cooper Fights Critics And Ratings

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jackie Cooper was in a fighting mood, aiming his jabs at television critics, the networks and "The Family Hour."

His attitude was natural: he is battling for the survival of his new television series, "Mobile One." The odds seem long, but it's best not to bet against Cooper. After spending all but three of his 54 years in show biz world, he is a master of the art of survival.

Last week, ABC moved the series from Friday to Monday nights, which Cooper fears might be shifting from frying pan to fire.

"Our show had an impossible spot on Friday," he said. "We were up against not one, but three shows that have been in the top five — 'Sanford and Son,' 'Chico and the Man' and 'M-A-S-H.'"

"But is Monday going to be any better? We'll be facing the powerhouse of 'Rhoda' and 'Phyllis' in the East and 'All in the Family' on the West Coast. We go on before the football game back there and afterward out here. And after three weeks we'll be pre-empted."

"Even with that competition, we managed to get a 20 to 22 per cent share of the audience on Friday. But if we can't start building on Monday, gaining more audience each week, we'll go down the tubes."

Cooper is enough of a realist to admit that "Mobile One" is not the greatest TV series to come along since "The Defenders." When Jack Webb first suggested the show, Cooper declined. As an in-demand guest star ("Kojak," "The Rockford Files"), director (he won an Emmy for "M-A-S-H") and producer (he headed production at Screen Gems), he had no ambition to be tied down as a series star.

"But I was pleased that Jack had brought me a reporter, instead of the doctors, cops and private eyes that flood the networks," said Cooper.

"When Jack talked about the show a second time, I was more interested. At that time he had the reporter in a small town. I argued that the audience wanted to see a reporter in a big city covering important news stories. Jack went along with me on that."

The reviews of "Mobile One" were almost uniformly bad. The number-one reason, said Cooper, was that critics "are out to get Jack Webb." Cooper himself has pointed comments about TV reviewers.

Murphy Envisions Bright Future For Railroads

By MARJ CARPENTER

"There's no way to convince an old rail that he worked 48 years for the T&P that railroads will not some day again see their days of greatness," J. O. Murphy stated here this week as he retired from the railroad service.

Murphy added that he remembers when a railroad official told him when all the passenger train service ended in this part of the world: "They'll be back. We may not live to see it, but they'll be back. I know that trucks will never be able to handle the things that trains have handled."

Murphy has spent most of his life in Big Spring. "It seems as though I've always come back to Big Spring from the time I was an infant. Certainly, I will spend my retirement years here. My wife, Mildred and I plan to travel some. We also will grow a garden on our acreage north of town and enjoy our children and grandchildren."

The children, Mrs. Ralph Walker, J. O. Murphy Jr., Dick Murphy and Jerry Murphy, along with their wives and husbands, will host a reception today at the Murphy home at 700 E. 12th. All friends of the couple are invited to attend, from 2-5 p.m.

BACK TO BIG SPRING
Murphy's first return to Big Spring was when he was three-weeks old. Born in Brawley, Calif., he was brought back to Big Spring on the train by his mother. She also had his two older brothers on that trip. His father had been working in the Imperial Valley helping put in the irrigation system and canals in that area.

His parents decided to go back to Big Spring and the father sent the family ahead on the train. He was to follow after "tying up loose ends in California and planned to work his way home." They never heard from him again. A brother and sister last heard from him when he was supposed to be working on a dam at Alamogordo. Their reports were that some people were missing up there, when part of the dam broke.

But Mrs. Murphy simply failed to hear from her husband again. She returned to Big Spring and raised her three boys. One of the boys was a former railroad man, who has since died, and the other is F. B. Murphy, a construction contractor at Sand Springs.

The family moved to Crosby County where the boys went to school and later moved over to Morton and Berger. Along about that time, J. O., who was 16, was injured in a Model T Ford wreck when he and two other youths were in the vehicle when they flipped it over in the middle of the road.

BACK AGAIN

He recalled that he decided along about then to take off on his own and headed for Big Spring. The year was 1927 and on Sept. 28, he went to work for the Texas and Pacific Railroad.

Almost all of his service with the railroad was right here in Big Spring. He spent a few months in Toyah, three years out of El Paso and spent a few months driving piles down in Louisiana. "Sure didn't get along down there too well. I just hung on waiting to come back to Big Spring," he recalled.

His run as a locomotive engineer in recent years has been to Fort Worth. "I used to run to Baird every day of the week," he recalls, but added, "Nowadays you're only allowed to travel 3,800 miles a month."

MEMORIES REMAIN

The Murphys have seven grandchildren, including two boys and five girls. Mrs. Murphy was the former Mildred Murray. "Her father worked for Charlie Creighton's dad," Murphy said, "At one time her mother and my mother were neighbors, but we met again later on at a party here in Big Spring."

Murphy has been in engine service with the railroad since 1941. "I like running an engine and handling the trains." He also liked railroad people "in spite of all the hurrahing and rawhiding."

But Murphy's railroad

days came to an end this week. He's thinking about a lot of places he'd like to see and things he'd like to do, like a little "deep sea fishing some day."

But in the back of his mind, he can still hear those trains — the diesels, the old steam engines and the switch engines.

On the wall of his living room is a painting with an old rail's striped cap, a lantern, a bandana and a pocket watch.

"It looks so real," Mrs. Murphy said, "I feel like I ought to take that old cap back and hang it up in the junk room."

But one thing that hasn't been junked by Murphy is his memories of the railroad and his hopes for "a railroad future."

Weather, Wilt Causing Cotton Crop Decimation

Not cold weather alone, but also widespread infection by verticillium wilt are causing extensive damage to the cotton crop of the Southern and High Plains of Texas, according to U.S. Department of Agriculture researchers.

The fungus and weather are proving to be a devastating combination, working together synergistically to produce more damage than either would alone.

Plant pathologists Alois A. Bell, Charles R. Howell and Joseph A. Veech, of USDA's Agricultural Research Service, found verticillium wilt established over an area of 200 square miles from Abilene to Snyder and around Lubbock. All examined fields had appreciable infection and the fungus was obtained from 100 per cent of random selected plants from several fields. This region is probably representative of western Texas and Oklahoma, says Dr. Bell, who emphasized that not only cold weather but also verticillium wilt was causing the present decimation of the cotton crop.

Losses are expected to run to about 300,000 bales, or almost a sixth of the crop. Estimates for the area have been reduced from 2 to 1.7 million bales.

ARS scientists have not yet found various varieties with good resistance to verticillium wilt, however, research is in progress here to discover and develop such resistance.

New March Of Dimes Board Members Named

New board members for the six-county Caprock chapter of The National Foundation-March of Dimes are Gloria Ochotorena, Felice Logan, Norma Porter, Kathy Hopper, Mattie Watson and Sandy Siblsky.

This was announced by Rose Teems, chapter executive secretary. Angie Alderton, Steve Hughes, Andra Hohertz, Terry Howell, Mike Evans and Donnie Knight will be this year's Teen Action MOD board members.

Veteran members of the March of Dimes board the new members join in spearheading community birth defects efforts as chapter chairman Vaughn Martin, vice-chairman Romni Smith, secretary Edith Gay, treasurer Ruby Phillips, Craig Fischer, Eddie Aciri, Tito Arcibia, Ann Lane, Willie Lane, Jim McCain, Dr. Ray Owen, Dr. Mark Nardone, Al Valdez, Carole Owen, Marjorie Finch and Robert Bradbury. These local March of Dimes volunteers will be led in community service and public health education activities by Texas' newly appointed volunteer advisor for The National Foundation-March of Dimes, Helene Botsonis of Amarillo.

"The March of Dimes funds 250 medical service programs at hospitals across the country," said Mrs. Botsonis. "Many of these provide treatment for women who have pregnancy complications, and special care for infants who are critically ill at birth. Others make genetic services available."

"Fine examples are Foundation-funded genetic service programs at the University of Texas in Dallas, Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, and the Santa Rosa Medical Center Children's Hospital in San Antonio. The March of Dimes has also purchased equipment for a maternity service program at St. Mary's of the Plains Hospital in Lubbock," Mrs. Botsonis pointed out.

Tax Vote In Coahoma

Voters living in the City of Coahoma will decide whether to allow the city merchants to collect a one per cent city sales tax, in addition to expressing their opinions on the proposed Texas Constitution Tuesday.

Both elections will be held at the same location, the City Meeting Room, and polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Voters will be asked to vote "yes" or "no" for the city sales tax, which will bring the total retail tax to five per cent in the city. State taxes already account for four per cent of the retail taxes.

NCO Awards Banquet Date

An awards banquet will be staged by the local chapter of the Non-Commissioned Officers Association at the NCO Club at Webb AFB at 7 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 15.

A social hour is scheduled for 6 p.m. Several achievement awards will be presented, along with special plaques for local merchants. Among special guests will be the base commander, the wing commander and the base executive officer at Webb.

Emceeding the program will be Ed Moore of San Antonio, representing the NCOA national headquarters.

An estimated crowd of 250 will attend the banquet.

Decaffeinated Coffee Doesn't Stop Acidity

BOSTON (AP) — Coffee drinkers trying to avoid excess stomach acid may have as much a problem with decaffeinated coffee as with the regular brew, medical researchers say.

An unknown ingredient in coffee appears to cause as much or more stomach acid secretion as caffeine, throwing doubts on the practice of people with ulcers trying to avoid acidity by drinking decaffeinated coffee, according to the study.

Because caffeine has long been known to cause gastric acidity, doctors have generally recommended that patients with peptic ulcers avoid beverages containing caffeine.

The study to be published Thursday in the New England Journal of Medicine "suggests that current clinical recommendations based upon the known actions of caffeine may have little relevance to the predicted harmful effects of caffeinated beverages or the expected safety of decaffeinated beverages."

The studies were carried out by Dr. Sidney Cohen, chief of the gastrointestinal section at University of Pennsylvania Hospital in Philadelphia, and Dr. Glenn H. Booth Jr., of the General Foods Corp. Technical Center in Tarrytown, N.Y.

In tests with eight men and women over a six-month period, the report said "responses to regular coffee and decaffeinated coffee were remarkably similar" when looking at acid secretion.

Acid secretion with both types of coffee was higher in all cases than with caffeine taken alone in equivalent amounts contained in regular coffee, the report said.

Cohen said in an interview that another finding was that both kinds of coffee increased the tightness or pressure of a ring of sphincter muscles at the connection between the gutlet and the stomach.

Low pressure in these muscles causes the discomfort called heartburn, and previous observations that coffee may induce heartburn were not supported by the new study, Cohen said.

Cohen said most previous studies on the effects of caffeinated beverages had been done with caffeine by itself and the results applied to the beverages. The new observations put this practice in question, he added.

United Way Collections Top 70 Per Cent Mark

Renewed efforts of the 1975 Howard County United Way committee have pushed collections past the 70 per cent mark. The figure stood at $90,100 when the UW office shut down for the weekend Friday afternoon.

Campaign chairman Ron McNeil said he was elated about the progress made toward the $131,975 objective during the week and was more confident than ever that the money raised in the campaign would exceed the goal by Nov. 15.

"All signs are good," McNeil said Friday. "We have teams in the field which have renewed their efforts to reach our objective. Some of our better contributors have not yet reported in. All of us have no doubt but that Howard County will again have met its challenge successfully."

One of the first to hit its goal was County and State Employees Division, which raised a total of $2,203, compared to a goal of $2,005. McNeil had warm words of praise for the division captain, Mrs. Virginia Black.

"She got the job done," McNeil said, without wasting words.

The Combined Federal Campaign, led by Maj. Don Box of Webb AFB, went over its goal several weeks ago and now reports that $28,776 in UW money has been subscribed for the drive. Other divisions which are in the home stretch include Women's, City of Big Spring Employees, Special Gifts and Metropolitan.

Traffic Count Move Made

The traffic commission Friday approved placing either yield or stop signs at several recommended intersections, including four intersections on 24th Street.

Members tabled action on removing the red light at the intersection of FM 700 and Highway 80. Capt. Sherrill Farmer, city patrol captain, recommended leaving the light at that intersection.

The commission is to call for a traffic count for a period of a month. However, the month of November will not yield a count on big crowds frequenting the intersection during such events as the Howard County Fair, the Big Spring Rodeo or the Shrine Circus.

The commission meeting at City Hall, also recommended placing a 35 mile per hour speed zone around the curve on FM 700 near the intersection of Wasson Road where there has been an increase in accidents recently.

the week ending Friday included Out of Town, with collections totaling $350; Special Gifts, $550; and Metropolitan, $300.

McNeil and W. S. (Dub) Pearson, the drive's president, urged that all UW workers rework the cards of persons who for one reason or another had not donated the first time.

The UW accounts likely will take a sizeable jump when commitments made by individuals are reported. Reports from the Employee division thus far have been fragmentary, with donations totaling $9,793 toward an objective of $27,863.

Notaries Get Their Own Day

The nation's estimated million and a half notaries public will observe Friday as the first National Notary Public Day according to Eugene E. Hines, executive director of the American Society of Notaries, the organization sponsoring the event.

Hines pointed out Nov. 7 was chosen because it is the anniversary of the appointment of the first notary public in the American Colonies in 1639. The week of Nov. 2-8 has been designated National Notary Public Week.

Your savings may be costing you money.

Your savings are earning interest, right? But are they earning as much as they could be? If not, your savings are actually costing you money.

The truth of the matter is that many financial institutions, including banks and credit unions, are simply not structured to pay the highest interest rates. In fact, some can't even guarantee payment of the interest rates they quote.

And other kinds of investments have even higher degrees of risk. For example, mutual funds and other stock investments don't even guarantee return of the money you put in, much less earnings.

If you want to make the most of what you've got, and you want guaranteed interest rates, you've got to go to a savings specialist. Like First Federal Savings and Loan.

We call ourselves savings specialists because we can offer you higher guaranteed interest rates, more specialized savings-related services, and more ways to save than anyone in town.

And if none of our standard plans fit your particular needs, we'll custom tailor a savings plan specifically for you, whereby you can receive your interest checks any way you want. Monthly, quarterly, semi-annually or annually.

The following are just a few of the many special services and savings plans available to you from First Federal:

PASSBOOK SAVINGS Our Passbook Savings account is basically the same as a regular savings account offered by a bank — only our interest rates are higher. Passbook Savings earn a full 5 1/4% interest compounded daily, and paid daily. For example, if you make a deposit and withdraw it three days later, you'll be paid interest for the three days your money was on deposit.

Anyone can open a Passbook Savings account with only a $5.00 deposit. There are no term restrictions. You can make deposits and withdrawals whenever you want. And with our new convenient, easy-to-use Tele-Transfer service, you can transfer money from your Passbook account to your checking account with just a phone call.

CERTIFICATES OF DEPOSIT First Federal offers you four Certificate of Deposit savings plans to choose from.

- 4-year plan (min. $5,000) earns 7 1/2% interest
- 2 1/2-year plan (min. $1,000) earns 6% interest
- 1-year plan (min. $1,000) earns 6 1/2% interest
- 6 month plan (min. $1,000) earns 5 3/4% interest

Interest on all of our Certificate of Deposit savings plans is compounded daily and distributed quarterly.

SELF-EMPLOYED PENSION PLAN (KEOGH) This plan is designed for the individual who wants to establish a retirement plan for both himself and his employees. All contributions are TAX DEDUCTIBLE. You don't have to pay any income tax on either the contributions or interest until you begin drawing funds.

INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNT (IRA) This plan is designed for employed individuals, not currently participating in a retirement plan. Self-employed persons are eligible, but are not required to include employees in this plan.

All contributions are TAX DEDUCTIBLE. You don't have to pay any income tax on the money you contribute to the plan or the interest it earns until you start drawing funds.

AUTOMATIC DEPOSIT OF SOCIAL SECURITY PAYMENTS This service allows you to deposit your Social Security check in your savings account without lifting a finger. The check is sent directly from the U.S. Department of Treasury to First Federal.

And deposit is guaranteed. You never have to worry about losing it. What's more, our new Tele-Transfer allows you to transfer as much of it as you want to your checking account. All it takes is one phone call.

INTEREST COMPOUNDED DAILY Interest on all First Federal Savings Plans is compounded daily. That means that if you leave your Passbook savings on deposit a full year, or your Certificates of Deposit until they mature, your money actually earns more interest than quoted as our standard rates.

Here's how it works. When you make a deposit, your money (principal) starts earning paid interest the first day. Then each day following, the interest on your principal is compounded along with the interest accumulated from the preceding day or days. So if you have a Passbook account which earns 5.25% daily, and you leave your principal on deposit for a full year, you have actually earned 5.39% interest at the end of the year.

The following chart shows how much interest (percentage-wise) your savings actually earns annually when the principal is left on deposit until maturity, and the interest is compounded daily.

STANDARD INTEREST RATE	TYPE OF SAVINGS PLAN	ACTUAL PERCENTAGE OF INTEREST PAID ANNUALLY
7.50%	4-year Certificate of Deposit	7.79%
6.75%	2 1/2-year Certificate of Deposit	6.98%
6.50%	1-year Certificate of Deposit	6.72%
5.75%	6-month Certificate of Deposit	5.92%
5.25%	Passbook account	5.39%

All things considered, it just makes better sense to save the First Federal way.

For more information about any of the services or savings plans outlined above, drop by First Federal today. Or call Mrs. Margie Hill or any of our other savings counselors at 267-8252.

Contract Bridge Turns 50 Today

By CHARLES H. GOREN
Today, contract bridge will celebrate its golden anniversary. No world-popular game in history — certainly no other card game — can so accurately pinpoint the first time it was ever played.

Contract bridge is so well established that it is difficult to believe it is only a half century old. For most of that time, it has been the world's number one card game. Some fad games, such as canasta and gin rummy, have for a while challenged its supremacy, only to fall by the way as bridge continued to grow in popularity. Estimates range as high as 35 million or more bridge players in North America, with the number world-wide more than double that.

In October 1925, the S. S. Finland sailed from San Francisco for a voyage through the Panama Canal to Havana and New York. Boarding in Los Angeles were Harold S. Vanderbilt and a party of friends, all auction bridge players. The great-grandson of Cornelius Vanderbilt, who had built the empire that became the New York Central Railroad, "Mike" Vanderbilt, as he was known to his friends, was a talented sportsman. A rangy six-footer, he would three times skipper yachts that won the America's Cup, symbolic of world supremacy in yacht racing.

There was a family tradition for speed — on trains, boats and cars — but it was not carried to the bridge table, where "Mike" had earned the reputation of being the world's slowest player — and perhaps the best.

For more than a decade shortly after the turn of this century, Vanderbilt and his partner, Joseph Elwell, were considered America's strongest auction bridge pair. The partnership ended in June 1920 when Elwell was discovered shot to death in his New York home, where he lived alone.

The murder was never solved, and formed the basis of a number of mystery novels, with each writer supplying his own solution to the crime. Since a large number of women were reputed to have a key to the Elwell home, speculation was rife that it was a crime of passion, perhaps committed by a jealous husband. Rumor had it that the police knew who was responsible, but did not have sufficient evidence to prosecute.

Vanderbilt had been exposed to a French game in the whist family called Plafond, which involved bidding for game in order to receive credit for it. He had been experimenting with some scoring changes for bridge, and convinced the group on the Finland to try them. On Oct. 31, the ship reached Balboa too late to dock and for passengers to go ashore. The sole survivor of that gmae, Francis Bacon III of New York, vividly recalls the night's play.

A young lady passenger managed to worm her way into the game, and suggested all sorts of scoring changes, apparently based on an exotic oriental card game she had learned while on a visit to China. This intrusion irked Vanderbilt and provoked him sufficiently for him to sit down and write out a new scoring table for the game he called contract bridge.

Among its features were higher bonuses for making game and slam contracts, and higher penalties for going down in contracts. The next night, the first game of contract bridge under the new rules were played.

This damsel, which name is forever lost in the mists of time, did make one further contribution to the game. It was she who suggested the term "vulnerable" for the side that has already scored a game. While nothing much was thought of it at the time, Ely Culbertson was quick to note the sexual overtones in the term, and later developed a number of similar terms — such as "approach forcing" and "one-over-one" — in his drive to make bridge the world's foremost card game.

While Vanderbilt's social standing certainly helped him introduce his new game to the smart set and into New York's bridge clubs, it was the inherent excitement supplied by his scoring table that made the game catch on so fast. In 1928, the first national contract bridge championship was played, appropriately enough for the Vanderbilt Cup. In 1929, Bridge World Magazine appeared, edited by Ely Culbertson — the first magazine devoted to the new game. A few years later, auction bridge had all but disappeared.

It is a tribute to Vanderbilt that, except for a slight change in the scoring of trump contracts, the scoring table as he devised it is still in use today. From time to time, lawmakers have tried to fiddle with it, but their changes never received acceptance. I met and played with Mike many times, both in tournaments and at the rubber bridge table in his homes in New York or near Palm Beach, Florida. I soon discovered that he was an inherently shy man who disliked being called the father of contract bridge. He took more pride in having devised the Vanderbilt Club system, the first comprehensive contract bridge bidding system. Unfortunately, it was years ahead of its time and never received public acceptance. It fell into disuse until it was discovered by Prof. Eugenio Chiaradia early in the 1950s, dusted off and revamped as the basis of the systems that led Italy's international teams to dominate the world bridge scene from 1957 to date. My rubber bridge encounters with Vanderbilt were limited. I never played rubber bridge for big stakes — I considered a penny a point above my limit, whereas he played for 5 cents or more. But I do remember the lavish way he entertained his bridge friends at his "little" home in Florida — only 25 rooms or so. This contrasted starkly with the games in his New York residence, where the standard fare was cheese and crackers. One thing we did have in common — neither of us could ever remember where he put his spectacles. I have a sneaking admiration for the way Mike licked this problem. He must have had a dozen pairs of spectacles placed at strategic places throughout his home. There was nothing Vanderbilt would not do for a good game of bridge. When Sam Fry Jr., one of this country's great players, called Mike one day from the West Coast of Florida, Mike asked him what he was doing that afternoon. "Nothing," replied Sam. "Well, Junior, go to the airport and my plane will pick you up." To this day Fry maintains that he is not sure whether such service was due to Vanderbilt's respect for his game or because Mike felt he had a sucker ready for the plucking. There are many stories about Vanderbilt and bridge, some of them undoubtedly apocryphal. What is certain is that, despite his multimillion dollar fortune, there was nothing he disliked more than to lose at bridge. Holding Auction At NCO Club

JUDGE CARRILLO TURNS AWAY FROM COURT AND IMPEACHMENT FLAMES
Will Fight Closed Door Effort To Oust Him

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sun., Nov. 2, 1975 11-A

Editor's note: Time and money are being spent on proceedings involving District Judge O.P. Carrillo. What does the future hold? How has Texas handled such cases in the past?

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Like a man stamping out a grass fire, Judge O.P. Carrillo turns away from court and impeachment flames Monday to battle a closed-door attempt to remove him from office. Asst. Atty. Gens. Max Flusche and John Odam begin presenting the case against Carrillo before District Judge Jim Meyers, appointed to sit as a finding master in the case by the Judicial Qualifications Commission. Carrillo already has been suspended from his district court bench in Duval, Jim Wells and Starr counties.

pending the impeachment trial in the Senate. A federal jury in Corpus Christi convicted him Oct. 2 of income tax evasion charges. After hearing two days of testimony, the Senate voted on Oct. 7 to postpone the impeachment trial until Nov. 18, the day after Carrillo is scheduled for sentencing in the tax case. He could get up to 14 years in prison and a fine up to $25,000. Senators supporting the postponement said they wanted to give the Judicial Qualifications Commission a chance to handle the case at less cost to the state than the impeachment trial. They argued that the voters established the commission by constitutional amendment to deal with just such cases.

But the commission which postponed its investigation of Carrillo after the House approved 10 impeachment articles, cannot finish with Carrillo in 15 days.

Meyers will hear the evidence from each side in secret hearings and submit his findings to the nine-member commission, which then will decide whether to ask the Supreme Court to remove Carrillo.

If either side disagrees with Meyers' findings, it can request a hearing before the commission.

The Supreme Court can hold its own hearings in the case before making a decision.

The entire process could take several months.

So the Senate will have to postpone the trial again if it wishes to allow the commission to dispose of the matter.

There are two objections to that procedure. One is that the Senate is required by law to dispose of impeachment articles itself. The other is that Carrillo can be prevented from running for public office again only if he is convicted at an impeachment trial.

There are five ways to remove a district judge from office:

—Impeachment.
 —By the Supreme Court on recommendation of the Judicial Qualifications Commission.

—By the Supreme Court after 10 or more lawyers who practice in that judge's court file a removal proceeding in the high court and the court holds a hearing.

—By the governor "on address" of two-thirds of each house of the legislature.

—By a disbarment trial. A district judge must be a lawyer. If he is disbarred, he no longer is qualified to sit as a district judge.

Carrillo could run for district judge again unless he is convicted at the impeachment trial or he is disbarred. Even if disbarred, he could run for another public office, such as county judge, tax assessor-collector, district clerk or schoolboard trustee.

No judge has ever been removed by the governor on address of two-thirds of each house.

DEPRESSION ART "FOUND"

Public Offered
U.S. Surplus
1937 Art Prints

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Special) — A series of rare coincidences has led to the historic discovery of several thousand sets of full color antique art prints that were "lost since 1937." They are now being offered to the American public.

ELEANOR ROOSEVELT
Back in 1937, immediately following the depression years, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and a select group of a dozen nationally prominent people formed a voluntary national committee for art appreciation to create an art program that would give the public a well-needed moral lift. It was the committee's decision to select the world's most famous paintings from the 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th and 20th centuries — the best paintings of Matisse, Van Gogh, Gainsborough, Picasso, Gauguin, Titian, etc., and to reproduce them in full color as perfectly as humanly possible and make them available to the public at a price within the reach of nearly everyone.

ABANDONED IN 1937
For some unknown reason, after a quantity of these beautiful reproductions were made, the entire project was abandoned and this collection of perfect reproductions was stored in a Brooklyn warehouse, where they remained undisturbed since 1937.

The lost collection was "rediscovered" and leading lithographers and art critics agree that the subject matter and quality of detail and color reproduction is incredibly accurate. Over $100,000.00 had been spent to make finely engraved glass printing plates. These authentic original 1937 prints are literally collectors' items and have been appraised by a member of The Antique Appraisal Assoc. of America, Inc. at $7.00 each print. Once they have been sold, there will be no more available. A truly excellent art "investment" that makes a fabulous gift.

AVAILABLE TO PUBLIC
Now, after 38 years these full color 11" x 14" (ave. size) prints are finally available to the public at $12.95 for a collection of 12 prints. Send cash, check or money order to: U.S. Art Surplus, Dept. D11, 4816 MacArthur Blvd. N.W., Washington, D. C., 20007. Fully GUARANTEED. Certificate of authenticity given with each set. Mastercharge and BankAmericard OK (give card number and expiration date).

Local Educators
Seeking Offices

Lynn Hise and Mrs. Loyce Phillips of the Big Spring School system will both be candidates for district officers of the Texas State Teachers Association when over 3,000 teachers from District XVIII convene in Odessa next Friday.

Nov. 7 will be a pupil holiday in Big Spring and an in-service day for teachers. Hise is running for the office of president-elect and Mrs. Phillips is seeking the office of secretary.

The convention begins Thursday with the House of Delegates meeting at Odessa Permian High. The local delegation, during the business session, is also planning to put in its bid for hosting the district convention in the fall of 1977 when the new coliseum is completed.

Coach Faye O'Dell, athletic director at Perry High School in Oklahoma, will be the featured speaker at the general session Friday morning.

Coach O'Dell combines humorous anecdotes with a highly motivational message on national and spiritual issues. He stresses as his theme, "God Bless America."

Following the general session, teachers will attend sectional meetings pertaining to their particular grade level or area of interest.

Representing the local TSTA unit as voting delegates are Mrs. Janice Rosson, Mrs. Lynn Calvert, Mrs. Rhonda Rothell, Mrs. Betty Birdwell, Mike Cowley, Lynn Hise, Mrs.

Also attending the House of Delegates meeting will be Ernest Boyd, as chairman of the credentials committee and Don Green, chairman of the auditing committee.

Girl Leading Normal Life

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Anita Dumble, 16-year-old high school girl, was born with a rare disease, Chondrodysplasia Californica Congenita, no solid bones in her body. There is only one other such case on record, a baby girl who died at age 1, in 1901.

But the Dumbles were lucky. "We were living in the San Francisco area at the time and the doctor suggested we call a Shriner and have him sponsor her for the Shriner's Children's Hospital," said Donald Dumble.

Anita was admitted to the hospital. Today after 16 years of care and seven operations, she is leading virtually a normal life.

"The Shriners paid for the whole thing. We figure it would have cost about $150,000. She's very fortunate," her mother said.

Anita has to be careful not to hurt her back and now has one artificial leg. She is no longer under Shriner care; that ends at age 16.

Now Many Docs
Skip Internship

CHICAGO (AP) — Today after a medical student gets his MD degree, he often goes directly into residency instead of being an intern, then a resident. Internship is not required today in some medical specialties.

However, says Joseph Ceithaml, dean of students at the University of Chicago Pritzker School of Medicine, it's a matter of semantics. "The first post-doctoral clinical appointment year is just that — an apprenticeship in postgraduate medicine, by any name."

This year there are two house staff positions open in the United States for every U.S. medical graduate.

Ceithaml says that the Pritzker School this year offers only one internship program — in internal medicine. He said that the emphasis at the school is on urging out specialists and research physicians.

Flannel
Flashback

NEW YORK (AP) — Gray flannel suits are back in vogue as an establishment business uniform, notes men's fashion expert Biwl Gale in the 25th anniversary issue of Signature magazine, thus completing a full circle that began in 1950 when the "dressed-down" look of gray flannel was first introduced.

During the past quarter century, American men have worn anything and everything to the office.

For the first time within recent memory, Steer home basketball tickets, to create more interest, will be sold for the 1975-76 season. This plan will be put in motion starting at 8:30 a. m., Monday at the Big Spring School District Office, 708 11th Place.

Don Green, assistant business manager, announces that this Steer attendance approach will be tried on a limited basis. The gym can seat approximately 1,000 with moveable seats on the playing floor increasing the capacity some 200.

Tickets will be sold to adults only, covering 11 games, for $13.75 ($1.25 per game), where the gym door price tag is $1.50. Student prices are not affected and sell for 75 cents.

Steer Head Coach James Griffin told Green he had more than the usual requests to start a home season ticket drive. "So we thought we'd give it a try," said Green.

The Steer season starts Nov. 18 at home, hosting Andrews. Three games will be featured, sophomore, junior varsity and varsity.

Armchair quarterback calls will no doubt be heard loud and clear as most of the nation today watches Part One of the annual Cowboys-Redskins war from RFK Stadium on CBS-TV at 3 p. m.

As usual, they're battling for first place in the Eastern Division of the National Football Conference. Dallas has a 5-1 record, followed by the Redskins and St. Louis at 4-2.

Since George Allen took over at Washington in 1971, (44-17-1), the Cowboys and Redskins have divided their two regular season games each year. Last season, the "Skins won in Washington, 28-21 and the Cowboys won in Dallas, 24-23.

Dallas hasn't won in Washington since 1971, a 13-0 victory giving the Cowboys a major boost in their drive to the Super Bowl.

The Texas Stadium edition of Cowboys and Redskins comes up on Saturday, Dec. 13, in a nationally televised contest. In the nine games played between Allen's Redskins and Tom Landry's Cowboys, Washington has scored 166 points and Dallas 165.

The 25-man State of Texas All-Time Professional Football Team will be presented at halftime of the Cowboys-Kansas City Chiefs game at Texas Stadium Monday night, Nov. 10.

The Texas Sportswriters Association and 7-Eleven Stores sponsored the contest, in which fans across Texas cast more than a million ballots.

University of Houston starting offensive tackle David Brooks, a junior from San Angelo, is no longer with the Cougars, leaving the Miami clash.

J. E. "Jocko" Roberts, Class of 1933, of Bryan has been elected president of the Texas A&M Lettermen's Association. Roberts succeeds C. J. "Tex" Thornton of Houston, the association's first president.

Roberts was all-Southwest Conference in basketball in 1933 and voted Most Valuable Player his senior year.

A bicentennial Turkey Shoot and Gun and Wildcat Show sponsored by the Borden County High Senior Class will be held from 9 a. m. until dark Nov. 8 at Gail's Borden County Showbarn.

Reservations for Gun and Wildcat Show may be made by contacting Ed Huddleston or Sid Long, Box 95, Gail or phone (915) 856-4262.

The 999 members are classified as follows: AAAAA-243; AAAA-147; AAA-208; AA-197; A-123; 8-Man-23; and 6-Man-58.

All conferences will play to state championships this year.

Terps Thumped By Penn State

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — A 40-yard, fourth-quarter field goal by Chris Bahr, the third of the game by the nation's leading field goal kicker, gave ninth-ranked Penn State a 15-13 college football victory over 14th-ranked Maryland Saturday.

It was the 14th consecutive victory by the Nittany Lions over the Terps, who have taken only one of 22 games in the inter-sectional series. Penn State is 8-1 for the season and Maryland is 5-2-1. Bahr, whose 18 field goals puts him one short of the NCAA season record, connected from 37 and 44 yards early in the game after Penn State recovered fumbles on the first two Maryland possessions.

A 36-yard run by Woody Petchel made it 12-0 for Penn State with 5:54 remaining in the first quarter, and the LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Tommy Duniven gunned down Rice's Owls with a 72-yard scoring pass to Sylvester Brown and Texas Tech held on for a soggy 28-24 Southwest Conference victory Saturday.

Brown slithered into the clear at the Owl 40, took Duniven's loss on the run and skipped into the end zone with a Tech homecoming crowd of 38,205 screaming in delight.

Duniven's bomb shoved the Raiders into a 28-21 lead and closed out a wild third quarter that included four touchdowns, two by each side.

The Red Raiders, squaring their season record at 4-4 and their SWC mark at 2-2, flirted with a rout throughout the rainy afternoon, but fumbles and pass interceptions kept Rice knocking at the door.

The Owls are now 2-5 and 1-2. A frisky Tech defense, led by middle guard Ecomet Burley, figured prominently in the Raider heroics as they snuffed out a desperation Rice drive to the four yard line in the closing seconds.

Fumble recoveries by Bob Loper and Larry Brune set up two Rice touchdowns in the third period, with James Sykes bolting one yard for the first and John Coleman barreling six yards for the second. That tied the count at 21-21 and set the stage for Duniven's pitch to Brown.

Alvaro Arenas ended the scoring in the final period with a 27-yard field goal after a Gary Cox pass interception at the Tech 28.

The contest went down to the final seconds as Tommy Kramer took the Owls from their own 12 after recovering a Raider fumble into the WACO, Tex. (AP) — Quarterback Mark Jackson directed Baylor on scoring drives of 94 and 80 yards and the Bears extended a luckless Texas Christian University string to 18 games with a 24-6 Southwest Conference football victory Saturday.

It was Baylor's first victory since a 20-10 triumph in the season opener over Mississippi, although it had as tied Auburn and Michigan.

Halfback Cleveland Franklin of Baylor, who carried 24 times for 191 yards, including a 52-yard touchdown dash with just under six minutes to play. The yardage total was a school record.

On Baylor's first two touchdowns marches, a Baylor player recovered a fumble to keep the drive going.

TCU, looking for its first victory since its 1974 opener against Texas-Arlington, finally scored on a 10-yard pass from quarterback Lee Cook to Vernon Wells in the fourth quarter. Jackson threw to Ricky Thompson for 23 yards and Baylor's first touchdown in the opening period, after Mike Ebow had picked up his own bobble at the Baylor 24 to allow the Bears to control the ball.

Jackson pushed over from the one-yard-line with 23 seconds left in the half for Baylor's second touchdown, but it was his recovery of Franklin's fumble at the Baylor 16 that enabled the Bears to push on in.

MAUL MUSTANGS Longhorns Charge Into S'West Lead

DALLAS (AP) — Aroused eighth-ranked Texas, stunned by early adversity, mauled Southern Methodist Saturday on fullback Earl Campbell's bruising runs and three cross-country field goals by freshman Russell Erxleben to charge into the Southwest Conference lead with 30-22 victory over the Mustangs.

Texas is now 7-1 for the year and 4-0 in SWC play—a halfgame ahead of the idle, fifth-ranked Texas Aggies.

SMU is 3-5 and 1-3 in SWC contests.

The three-touchdown underdog Mustangs rocked the Longhorns with Wayne Morris' first quarter one-yard touchdown dive that looked like he jumped off a one-meter board for a 7-0 lead.

Morris also bolted 77 yards late in the game for a touchdown after Texas had built up an unsurmountable 30-14 advantage.

Morris gained 202 yards to become SMU's all-time leading rusher.

Morris' first touchdown fired up the lackadaisical Longhorns who scored on Campbell's twoyard touchdown run exactly 34 seconds later. Campbell ripped 33 yards after Raymond

Army Falls

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — Dave Lawson, Air Force's strong-legged placekicker, booted four field goals to surpass the national kick-scoring record, propelling the Falcons to a 33-3 rout of service academy rival Army in college football Saturday.

Lawson also had three extra points. His 15 points gave him 224 for his career, eclipsing the NCAA career scoring record for a kicker of 212 points held by Arkansas' Bill McClard.

Lawson now owns five national major college kick marks, including most field goals in a career—50—and longest field goal—62 yards.

Falcon quarterback Mike Worden ran for one touchdown and passed for another as Air Force dominated the contest, converting four Army turnovers into scores.

Army's only score came on the game's first possession. The Blak Knights marched 62 yards to set up Steve Barrett's 29-yard field goal.

But Army didn't come close to scoring again until the closing seconds. The victory boosted Air Force's record to 1-6-1, snapping a 12-game winless streak. Army dropped its sixth straight game and is 2-6 on the season.

TULSA (AP) — Quarterback Jeb Blount, with help from defensesmen Buddy Tate and Wade Bosarge, passed for one touchdown and ran for another to guide Tulsa to a 38-14 intersectional football victory over Louisville Saturday.

Tulsa scored first on the strength of its offensive unit when Blount passed 17 yards to tight-end Ken Steinke in the end zone, but needed the two cornerbacks to set up the second and third touchdowns to end the half 21-14.

Tate, the left cornerback, intercepted freshman quarterback Jim Didier's pass. Four plays later, alternating quarterback Ron Hickerson ran the ball four yards into the end zone to make it 14-7.

Tulsa got the other break when Bosarge, the right cornerback, forced Tony Smith to fumble Didier's pass. Tulsa made it 21-14 ten plays later when tailback Carlisle Cantrell went one yard up the middle with 24 seconds remaining in the half.

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Argentine-bred Dulcia embarrassed her male rivals in the $350,000 National Thoroughbred Championship Saturday as she and her champion jockey Bill Shoemaker rallied from dead last to win the richest handicap in American thoroughbred racing history at Santa Anita.

The time was 2:01 flat in the nationally televised event.

Dulcia, the distaff champion of Hollywood Park this past season, went off at 7-1 and trailed the field by at least 20 lengths rounding the turn into the back stretch. Then Shoemaker began a move that was climaxed with a stretch drive that overtook Royal Gint with Jorge Tejeira aboard.

Cougars Beat Steers

By CLARK LESHNER

Only 1,800 some spectators braved the high winds here Friday night to see Abilene Cooper blow Big Spring out of Memorial Stadium, 26-5, in a District 5-4-A contest.

Big Spring's defense, though, kept Cooper's scoring evenly distributed, six points each in the first, third and fourth periods and eight in the third.

Key defensive tackles were posted by Big Spring's Tommy Churchwell, Johnny Birdwell, Ed Pekowski and Mark and Bill

Stark. The Cougars, until recently a district darkhorse contender but now out of the race, are 3-2 and 5-3 for the year. Big Spring has gone through six games without a win, standing 0-5 in 5-4-A and 2-6 over-all.

Cooper took quick note of injury-riddled slow-moving no control Steers as Tim Orr picked off a Mark Moore pass on their first drive of the game at 10:14 of the first quarter. Orr sprinted 70 yards for a touchdown.

Orr also orbited for another score with Cooper's talented twosome, quarterback Kelly Gill and tailback Mark Allen touching the end zone for six points each.

Greg Spears kept the Steers within reach of the Cougars only in the first on his 27-yard field goal at 2:48. Big Spring's other score took place with only 18 seconds left in the game. Ed Pekowski was credited with a safety on Jeff Duvall's blocked punt.

But the loss of bull-dogging Jesse Doss was sorely felt as

Lobos Lucky

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Quarterback Steve Myer passed for 222 yards and a touchdown Saturday to set a New Mexico career passing mark and spark the Lobos to a 23-3 Western Athletic Conference football victory over Texas-El Paso.

Myer, a senior, hit 13 of 29 attempts to push his career passing yardage total at UNM to 2,799. That broke the old mark of 2,715 by Terry Stone, who played in 1967-68.

Myer, a junior college transfer who has played in only 14 games at New Mexico, drilled his touchdown pass 14 yards to freshman Mike Williams with eight minutes to play in the contest.

The TD strike was Myer's last play of the game as coach Bill Mondt replaced him with freshman quarterback Noel Mazzone with the Lobos leading 23-3.

Myer's passing accounted for 222 New Mexico's 376 yards total offense. Keith Ellis, a tight end, paced Lobo rushers with 56 yards on three carries.

The victory, New Mexico's third straight, lifts the Lobos to a 4-4 over-all record and boosts their league mark to 3-3. UTEP is 1-7 on the season and 0-4 in the WAC.

The Miners, who moved the ball well in the middle of the field, racked up 352 yards total offense — including 307 on the ground.

Robert Elliott keyed the UTEP ground game with 171 yards on 27 carries.

5th Straight Cougar Loss

CINCINNATI (AP) — Junior defensive back Keith Jenkins ran back the second half kickoff for a 99-yard touchdown Saturday putting Cincinnati ahead as the Bearcats defeated Houston 28-23.

It was the fifth straight loss for the Cougars, 1-5, and Cincinnati is 5-3 on the season.

Mike Smith's five yard plunge gave Cincinnati a 7-0 first period lead.

Houston quarterback Bubba McGallion tied it at 7-7 in the second period with the first of his two touchdowns, the first one a 41-yard sprint.

Cincinnati got the lead back on Jenkins' kickoff return. Cincinnati then recovered a Houston fumble on the Houston 36 and scored five plays later when quarterback Henry Miller hit tight end Steve Bell on an eight yard aerial.

Houston's Leonard Coplin booted a 40-yard field goal after the Cougars' offense bogged down on the next series.

McGallion then put together a 71-yard drive and plunged in from the two at the opening of the final period.

Both teams scored again in the final period and Cincinnati was able to hold on as time ran out for Houston.

Sophomore Curtis Williams broke a 26-yard run for the final Cincinnati score and Houston's reserve, rullback Charles Lynch, bulled in four yards for the final tally.

Cincinnati is now 3-0-1 against Southwest Conference opposition.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Seventh-ranked Michigan, under strong pressure from heavy underdog Minnesota, broke a tie midway through the fourth quarter Saturday when tailback Gordon Bell ran 23 yards for a touchdown to send the Wolverines to a 28-21 Big Ten Conference college football victory.

Michigan, 6-0-2, did not get into Minnesota territory in the second half until midway through the final period. The Wolverines' defense finally shut off the passing of Minnesota's Tony Dungy and forced the Gophers to punt from their end zone, setting up the winning drive.

The 5-foot-9, 175-pound Bell, who gained 172 yards on 31 carries, had runs of 11 and four yards before his game-breaking run.

Dungy completed 17 of 31 passes for 192 yards and two touchdowns as Minnesota,

Irish Defense Leads Way To 31-10 Victory

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Ross Browner blocked and recovered a Navy punt for one Notre Dame touchdown and pounced on a Navy fumble to set up another score Saturday as the Irish defense led the way to a 31-10 college football victory over the Midshipmen.

The victory was 15th-ranked Notre Dame's 12th straight over Navy in the nation's longest continuous intersectional rivalry, dating to 1927.

Navy's defense was ranked third in the nation going into the game, but it was the Irish defenders who came up with the big plays that reversed a 3-0 Navy lead in the first quarter.

Browner, a 6-foot-3, 235-pound sophomore defensive end, lifted the Irish to a precarious 17-10 lead going into the final quarter. Then, defensive tackle Jeff Weston forced 53 yards with an intercepted pass for one touchdown and linebacker Tom Eastman ran another interception to the Navy four-yard line to set up the final Irish score by Al Hunter.

The victory lifted Notre Dame to a 6-2 record and ended a two-game home losing string. Navy, which upset Pitt 17-0 last week, fell to 5-3.

Sul Ross Stopped

ALPINE, Tex. (AP) — Hardden Weech scored three touchdowns and rushed for 141 yards to lead Stephen F. Austin University to a 35-13 Lone Star Conference victory over Sul Ross here Saturday.

Weech bolted for 72 yards and a touchdown on the first scrimmage play of the game and later tallied on runs of 6 and 2 yards. John Reece, who gained 99 yards for SFA, scored on a 26-yard run.

Allen, the district's top rusher, continued to glisten as he carried the ball 29 times for 104 yards.

Mark and Bill Stark tried desperately to come to the aid of Big Spring by intercepting Cooper passes. Mark's return was shorter than Bill's, his returned for 53 yards to Cooper's 18. But the spark from both grabs was quickly watered down.

Big Spring's other offensive bright spot, the passing combination from Moore to McMurtrey was so closely watched, it was good for only 12 yards. Again like in the Lee contest, McMurtrey's timing was crossed up by being double covered. Several would-be catches thrown by Moore were repeatedly dropped.

Moore, roughed again as a punter was forced to assume the Steer ground-pounding burden, totaling out the team's individual best, rushing 11 times for 12 yards.

Big Spring could only flip up seven first downs, five recorded in the first half.

Even with the game completely out of reach, Steer backup quarterback Mike Valenzuela received an around of applause when he entered to direct the team late in the fourth quarter.

The Steers close out their 1975 home stand next Friday with Odessa High, then go to San Angelo, Nov. 14, a team that is slowly but surely going downhill after being rated the pre-season favorite.

Gate Slammed Shut On Buffs

By TERRY NEILL

PLAINS — The proverbial roof caved in on Stanton Friday night as the host Plains Cowboys upset the Buffaloes 29-6, in a lopsided contest that was never close.

Stanton was everybody's pick to win the District 5-A meeting, but somebody forgot to tell the fired-up Plains Cowboys. Plains was obviously ready to play and Stanton was not, as the Buffaloes dropped their fourth contest in a row.

Plains always seemed to come up with the play they needed when it was needed Friday night, pulling off several crucial third and fourth down plays to keep drives going. Stanton's offense sputtered most of the evening with the SHS backs having trouble running through non-existent holes.

Fullback Elvin Brown set up the Buffs' only score, running a kickoff back 31 yards to the PHS 44-yard line. Stanton couldn't get in, however, but intercepted a Plains pass and drove in three plays. Defender Kenny McCallister intercepted the Cowboy aerial.

Gate Slammed Shut On Buffs

A run by quarterback Gary Hanson set up the tally, with Brown bowling over the two-point conversion run failed and the locals had their only points.

Plains got on the board after taking the opening kickoff and marching in for a score, with a five-yard pass on fourth down accounting for the tally. The PAT was good.

In the second period Plains put together a 75-yard scoring march, capped off by 10-yard scoring run. The PAT again was true to the mark and the hosts led, 14-0 at halftime.

After Stanton could not get anything going with the second half kickoff Plains took over and drove 81 yards for another score, this one coming on a 10-yard run. A two-point conversion pass attempt clicked and Plains led, 22-0.

In the fourth period Plains blocked a Stanton punt and had a short distance to go for their final six-points, scoring from the one-yard line. The PAT kick was good and the scoring was concluded for both teams.

Dogs Fight To Keep Pace In Title Race

By BARRY CANNING
COAHOMA — The Coahoma Bulldogs fell further behind Ballinger for the District 6-AA title after suffering a defeat at the hands of the Hamlin Pied Pipers here Friday night, 22-16. With this victory, Hamlin was able to keep a faint hope alive for the title with a 2-2 record.

The game, played before a large Bulldog homecoming crowd, was about as well played as most high school games a person could witness.

Coahoma committed only one error in the game, while the Pied Pipers suffered two fumbles. But the real quality of the game was shown by the total yardage statistics.

The Bulldogs picked up a total of 260 yards both through the air and on the ground. Hamlin obtained 261 yards entirely on the ground. Coahoma did lead on first downs, however, 13-12. The one Hamlin threat that the Bulldogs could not cope with was the quickness and strength of their backs.

Hamlin opened up the scoring in the first quarter on a Daniel Willis run from seven yards out. The extra point try was successful and Hamlin led 7-0 with 7:16 left in the first quarter.

The Pied Pipers struck for two points midway through the second quarter without having to exert much effort. Coahoma had a fourth and two at its own 20. Ken Kelso went back to punt and before he knew it he was chasing the ball out of his own end zone with the Pipers in hot pursuit. The safety made the score 9-0 with less than five minutes left in the half.

Following the free kick by the Bulldogs, Hamlin wasted no time in putting more points on the board. With a second and six at the Bulldog 40, Hamlin lined up in the wishbone and ran the option around right end. Quarterback Gerald Rodgers pitched to Robert Pharris who went the needed 40 yards for the six. The extra point was good and with 3:45 left in the half neither team placed marks on the scoreboard.

Following the first half, it appeared as though Hamlin would chalk up this game with ease, but the second half was an entirely different game.

On Coahoma's first possession of the second half, the Bulldogs were forced to punt with a fourth and one at their own 39-yard line. Ken Kelso punted to Robert Pharris who fumbled the ball at his own 46, and the Bulldogs recovered.

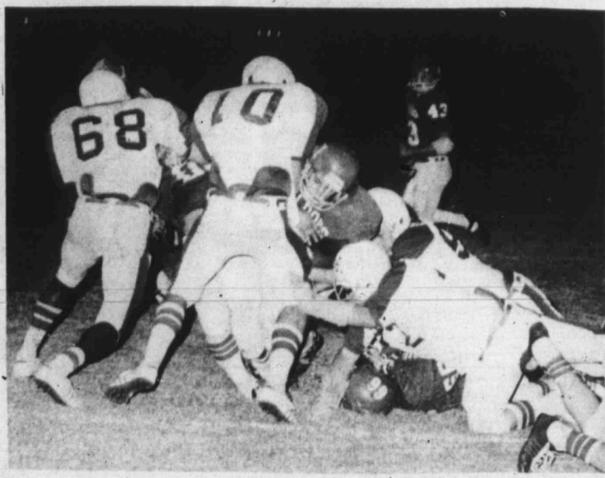

With a first and 10 at the 46, Ricky Patterson scooted for 19 yards and a first down at the Hamlin 27. With a third and six, Charles Tindol hit Steve Kohanek for a 13-yard pass completion and a first and goal at the Hamlin 19.

Ricky Patterson ran for nine yards to the one setting up his touchdown from that point. The try for two was successful and the Bulldogs trailed 16-8.

The Bulldogs scored again at the outset of the fourth quarter. Coahoma engineered a successful 83-yard drive topped off by Charles Tindol's 5-yard run for six points. The Bulldogs made a successful try for two on the extra point as Tindol hit Tim Higgins in the end zone.

The game was floating fairly even until Hamlin blew the game open with 4:30 left in the game. Daniel Willis put the Pied Pipers in front with a 50-yard scamper as he went in virtually untouched. Hamlin was unable to convert the extra point as they closed out the scoring and won the game 22-16.

The Bulldogs played consistently throughout much of the game but they were unable to produce the consistent big play as did Hamlin.

MISSOURI THRASHED Ferragamo's Arm Carries Nebraska

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Nebraska fooled Missouri Saturday with a fake punt play that John O'Leary ran 40 yards for a touchdown and Vince Ferragamo threw three scoring passes as the third-ranked Cornhuskers stormed to a 30-7 Big Eight Conference football victory Saturday.

O'Leary's game-breaking run against 12th-ranked Missouri came in the fading seconds of the first half. It came just after the Tigers had closed Nebraska's lead to 10-7 on a 42-yard, nine-play drive aided by pass interference. Tony Galbreath dove over from the one for the score that made it close only briefly.

On the ensuing drive, Nebraska was faced with a fourth down at the Missouri 40. Randy Leffmann went back to kick. But the ball was centered short to Tony Davis, who shoved it between his legs to O'Leary.

O'Leary pretended to block and set sail to the left. Monte Anthony ran wide to the right and the Missouri defense went after him. O'Leary went into the end zones untouched and Nebraska had a 16-7 halftime lead.

The Huskers, upset by Missouri in the two previous years, turned the battle into a rout after the intermission.

as Ferragamo threw 37 and 61-yard touchdown passes to Bobby Thomas.

Nebraska spurred to a 10-point first quarter lead on Mike Coyle's 30-yard field goal and Ferragamo's five-yard pass to Brad Jenkins for a touchdown. That score came on an 18-yard drive after Nebraska end Ray Phillips blocked a Missouri punt.

A crowd of 68,195 and a national television audience watched the struggle, played under heavily overcast and threatening skies.

Seven plays later, Johnson redeemed himself with his 19th touchdown of this season, one shy of the Big Ten record. So Indiana was saddled with its sixth loss in eight games.

Aroused Indiana, such an underdog the oddsmakers did not list the game, forced Ohio State to punt all three times it had the ball in the fourth quarter. Meanwhile, the Hoosiers were mustering a pair of touchdowns from sophomore fullback Rick Ennis.

Johnson and Heisman Trophy winner Archie Griffin both produced 150 yards rushing. Griffin extended his own national records to 29 straight regular season games of over 100 yards and 4,880 career yards.

HORSESHOE DOUBLES TITLE — Richard Monholland tosses a near ringer while teammate John Ramey watches. The pair defeated Larry Kelley and Ray Grant for the Webb Air Force Base horseshoe doubles title last week. The winners were from OMS while the second place team represented Sturton.

Sooners Maul Oklahoma State

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Quarterback Steve Davis scored two touchdowns and fullback Horace Ivory consistently gained tough yardage up the middle Saturday as second-ranked Oklahoma defeated arch-rival Oklahoma State 27-7 in a key Big Eight Conference college football game.

The victory pushed Oklahoma's winning streak to 28 games, longest in college football, and moved the Sooners a crucial step closer to a third consecutive undefeated season and a possible repeat as national champions.

The victory over the 19th-ranked Cowboys didn't come easy. The Sooners took a 10-0 lead in the first quarter on a one-yard plunge by Davis and 56-yard field goal by Tony DiRienzo.

Two Oklahoma State fumbles early in the third quarter set up an 11-yard touchdown run by Davis and a 36-yard field goal by DiRienzo, putting the Cowboys in a 20-0 hole from which they could not recover.

Oklahoma's final touchdown came on a 26-yard run by All-American Joe Washington after Sooner cornerback Jerry Anderson had intercepted a Cowboy pass on the Oklahoma State 44 late in the final quarter.

Oklahoma State missed several scoring opportunities, finally scoring midway of the fourth quarter on an eight-yard pass from quarterback Scott Burk to split end Gerald Bain.

Both teams displayed superior defensive speed, denying the outside run to both offenses. Ivory, a junior with good speed, gained 99 yards, most of it through the middle of the Oklahoma State defense.

Travis Hart has returned from a hunting trip near Uravon, Colo., where he felled a 16-point deer weighing 375 pounds.

Dub Grigg, another member of the party, shot a four-point buck.

Hart was using an 8-millimeter Mauser on the expedition. This was the fourth year in a row Hart had hunted in that area and the biggest deer shot over that period.

Ohio State Tough '10'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Pete Johnson, the nation's leading scorer, went from goat to hero in three minutes of the fourth quarter Saturday, scoring the clinching touchdown as top-ranked Ohio State escaped with a 24-14 Big Ten football victory over lightly-regarded Indiana.

Johnson wrapped up the tense triumph by ramming one yard with less than seven minutes to play, insuring the unbeaten Buckeyes' eighth straight victory and their fifth without a loss in the Big Ten.

Minutes earlier, as an Ohio Stadium sellout crowd of almost 80,000 sat stunned, the 243-pound junior fumbled on Indiana's one-foot line with the Buckeyes ahead by only 17-14. Sophomore linebacker Craig Brinkman recovered for Indiana. A daring gamble by the Hoosiers, a first down pass by quarterback Terry Jones, was intercepted by Ohio State's Bruce Ruhl at the Indiana 33.

Seven plays later, Johnson redeemed himself with his 19th touchdown of this season, one shy of the Big Ten record. So Indiana was saddled with its sixth loss in eight games.

Aroused Indiana, such an underdog the oddsmakers did not list the game, forced Ohio State to punt all three times it had the ball in the fourth quarter. Meanwhile, the Hoosiers were mustering a pair of touchdowns from sophomore fullback Rick Ennis.

Johnson and Heisman Trophy winner Archie Griffin both produced 150 yards rushing. Griffin extended his own national records to 29 straight regular season games of over 100 yards and 4,880 career yards.

Cares Less For Roger

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diron Talbert, defensive captain of the Washington Redskins who comes from Texas, doesn't particularly care for the Dallas Cowboys. He cares less for quarterback Roger Staubach.

The six-year Talbert-Staubach feud is being reignited as the Cowboys come to the nation's capital for a game Sunday with the Redskins in a matchup of National Football Conference East Division contenders.

Talbert, who always plays like a whirlwind against Dallas, has his sights set on Staubach — Roger the Dodger.

"That's about it," said Talbert. "He's still running around with the ball. He still hasn't learned how to read coverages and he still has to scramble. If he runs, we'll take shots at him and bring him down just like we would any running back."

"We welcome the shotgun," Talbert said. "We know he's going to pass the ball. There's no play-action. There are very few runs off it. We know he's back there to throw the ball, so we can just take off."

"The only reason they put in the shotgun is to give him time to read the defenses," he continued, echoing the comments of Washington Coach George Allen.

Goodyear's All-Weather 78 is built with polyester cord that's first tempered in an exclusive Goodyear process to set the cord at optimum strength and resilience. The wide 78-series tread is "reverse molded," a technique borrowed from race tire production. In reverse molding, the contour of the tread surface is slightly concave as it comes from the mold — so that when the tire is inflated, the tread makes full, flat contact with the road. And the rib-type tread design is well grooved, with plenty of traction edges to provide decisive grip. In every detail, our All-Weather 78 gives you honest quality, at a price that's in step with the time. Tire-up now.

WOLVES BETTER LAST YEAR'S RECORD

Winters Spooked

By KATHY CRAWFORD COLORADO CITY — It was a clear, crisp Halloween night when the Colorado City Wolves spooked the Winters

Blizzards, 7-6. The name of the game was defense throughout the game and the Wolves proved themselves equal to the task. Outstanding defensive plays came from Bill Everett with an assist from Ed Adams and Manuel Arellano. First quarter action saw both teams struggling to get to the end zone and trading the ball on downs. At the end of the quarter, the game was scoreless. The beginning of second quarter play was sparked by an exciting play by Wolves' Manuel Arispe who sprinted through a hole in the Winters defense for a gain of first and 10 with the 33-yard run.

An interception by Wolf Jackie Ellis prevented the two-point conversion attempt by the Blizzards.

The remaining minutes of the game were filled with penalties, turnovers and few exciting plays, until the last 28 seconds of the game. Winters had possession of the ball, and quarterback Jeff Russell dashed out passes to Johnson and Flent McNeill to earn a first and 10 at the Wolves' 25-yard line. An attempted field goal by the Winters' group was blocked, and the game ended with Colorado City in the lead, 7-6.

GRA-Y CHAMPS

Oilers Trap Bobcats

The Oilers trapped the Bobcats, 14-8 for the YMCA Gra-Y Flag football championship Saturday morning on the field adjacent to Steer Park.

Oiler scoring was handled by Mark Johnson, a run and David Berry, a pass from Mark Johnson. Scott Nelson scored four extra points.

Charlie Ragan ran across the Bobcat touchdown with Billy Paul collecting the two extra points.

Following the game, the Morning Optimists treated both teams to dinner and handed out trophies.

Morton Shines

NEW YORK (AP) — Craig Morton passed for two touchdowns and Joe Dawkins ran for two others as the New York Giants defeated the winless San Diego Chargers 35-24 in a National Football League game Saturday.

The defeat was the seventh in a row for the Chargers, who had averaged only six points per game before Saturday. The Giants are 3-4.

Morton's second touchdown pass, a 47-yard play to tight end Bob Tucker, broke a 21-21 tie in the third period.

Then the Giants defense halted a fourth-quarter San Diego drive inside their 10-yard line and the Chargers had to settle for a 26-yard field goal by Ray Werschling that kept New York ahead in this see-saw game.

Morton's winning touchdown pass to Tucker was a short squarish pattern that went all the way when the tight end picked up key blocks from John Hicks and Don Clune.

The teams traded touchdowns throughout the game, with the Giants scoring first and leading 21-14 at the half.

The Giants opened the scoring with just under 10 minutes gone in the game when Dawkins barreled over from the four-yard line on a draw play behind Hicks' block.

The scoring drive included a fourth-and-one play when Larry Watkins went three yards for the first down that kept the Giants moving.

San Diego came right back and tied the score when rookie Rickey Young broke over right tackle and dashed 48 yards to a touchdown.

Doug Kotar returned the ensuing kickoff 64 yards and two plays later, the Giants were ahead again when Dawkins dashed 14 yards for another score.

But the Chargers launched a 90-yard drive that included a 17-yard scramble by quarterback Dan Fouts on a third-down play. Fouts scored the touchdown on a one-yard run.

Again, the Giants came right back and regained the lead, this time on Morton's 24-yard pass to wide receiver Ray Rhodes.

Buffaloes Tie Hawley, 14-14

HAWLEY — Forsan had to settle for a District 3-B 14-14 tie with Hawley here Friday night. Gary Tidwell scored both Forsan touchdowns.

Paydirt drives for both teams took place in the second and third quarters. Forsan hit the scoreboard first in the second on Tidwell's five-yard plunge, capping a 34-yard drive. Time left: 1:14. The PAT was no good.

In the third, Hawley forged back as they recovered a Forsan fumbled punt in the end zone. Forsan went ahead again on Tidwell's three-yard run, climaxing a 65-yard pursuit. Ralph Miranda passed to Billy Osborne for the two extra points.

With only eight seconds left in the third quarter, Hawley deadlocked the score for good. On a fourth and two situation, Don Lambert plunged across Forsan's end zone from the two. Lambert ran over the PAT.

Forsan had a golden opportunity of breaking through in the fourth only to see the pass attempt dropped in the end zone.

Over-all, Forsan Coach George White was pleased with the way his team performed. Offensive standouts for Forsan included Randy Kregar, Hanks Adams as well as Ralph Miranda and Tidwell.

Trojans Shocked

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Quarterback Joe Roth passed for two touchdowns, Chuck Muncie accounted for more than 200 yards and Steve Rivera caught nine passes for the University of California Saturday as the Bears shocked fourth-ranked Southern California 28-14.

A sophomore cornerback, Jeff Moyer, made the key defensive play in the upset victory which broke the Trojans' 18-game unbeaten streak one day after Coach John McKay had announced this season would be his last at the collegiate level.

California never trailed in the regionally televised Pacific-8 Conference game. Moyer's tackle of Southern Cal quarterback Vince Evans just short of the Bears' goal line in the final minute of the first half kept the score at 7-7, stopping a Trojan drive which went 45 yards.

Roth, a junior, passed for 244 yards and two touchdowns—to Wes Walker in the second quarter and George Freitas in the third.

NO MORE DISCRIMINATION ON BASIS OF SEX

Title IX Federal Program Will Change School Sports, Classes, Clubs, Attitudes

By MARJ CARPENTER

What in the world is Title IX and what does it mean to the Big Spring schools?

The law is comprehensive and was passed three years ago by Congress. It is the federal education amendment which prohibits sex discrimination in federally-assisted education programs.

Not until this year on May 27, 1975 was it signed by the President of the United States. It became effective July 21.

In addition to the formal guidelines covering various aspects of educational practices and programs, officials from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare point out two additional regulations.

These are for the purpose of setting up guidelines and grievance procedures.

What it all boils down to is that Big Spring schools and all schools, who can no longer survive without federal funds, must offer fair educational practices to both sexes, in the classroom, in extra-curricular activity and among their employees.

The local schools have already set up guidelines and appointed a director of the program in Harold Bentley. During the first year, the physical education program in elementary schools must be made to comply and all of the athletic program must comply within three years.

NO LONGER FIRST

This means in the elementary physical education classes, no longer can the little girls be put "in line first" at the water fountain, or the little boys grouped for a special game.

Everything has to be equal and they all become "simply children." The changes at the elementary level will be few and far between. Teachers are reminded to change their attitudes and no longer have all little boys carry books to the book room and all little girls water the flowers.

A recent supreme court regulation also upholds corporal punishment in the schools and recently upheld a lower ruling permitting school teachers to spank misbehaving students.

EQUAL PUNISHMENT

In years past, spanking has often applied more to little boys than little girls, but the new ruling of equal sex rights makes all students simply children and corporal punishment would be requested to be ruled on an equal basis.

Separate restrooms are allowed under the program. At the sports level, four contact sports are listed as able to be designated for one sex. These are football, wrestling, boxing and basketball.

In other sports, by the end of three years, if there are not equal offerings for both sexes, a student could request to try out for the only team.

At the present time, girl's tennis, track and volleyball are offered and golf was added this year. By the end of the three years, the only other two sports which would be affected would be boy's baseball and girl's volleyball.

Unless a girl's baseball team is offered, a girl could then request to try out for the boy's team and unless a boy's volleyball team is designated, a boy could request to be on the girl's volleyball team.

RAH RAH RAH

All organizations in the high school, except those affiliated with outside clubs such as the Key Club under the Kiwanis or DeMolay and Rainbow Girls under the Masons, would be open to all.

For instance, a boy could insist on being a member of the Gold Diggers and carry a pom-pom, sit in the group and rah rah for the team.

The Home Economics classes already have boys and the small machine classes have girls. Girls can also take Future Farming if they desire or auto mechanics. Boys, in turn, can take cosmetology and learn to style hair or any other course.

No longer can married or pregnant students be "discriminated against." Again, they are simply students. The requirement is that pregnant students be treated no differently from other temporarily disabled students.

If a career day is held, every effort must be made to find both men and women doctors, lawyers, merchants and chiefs to discuss the various vocations. Students are to be made to believe that they can aspire in any career in any direction.

DRESS CODE REMAINS

Some schools will have to change their dress codes. Big Spring has already changed theirs to list only "modesty, cleanliness and safety." Their requirement is that extremely short clothing not be worn. It does not say extremely short skirts, but "clothing" which applies to both girls and boys.

No more regulations may be set by schools about hair length, moustaches, or beards except that they be clean. Individual extra-curricular activities can set requirements.

The employees will be hired on the basis of both knowledge and experience and experience in the local system, according to the requirements.

There will be a grievance procedure by which anyone who believes that the act is being violated should notify or be referred to the principal of the school or campus from which the complaint originates. The principal will make every effort to then resolve the complaint and will submit a written report to the Director of Personnel.

HEARINGS SET

The director then advises the complainant that it has been referred to him. He will investigate and conduct hearings regarding the alleged violation and within five days will issue a ruling.

The ruling may be appealed to the superintendent of schools, should the complainant so desire. Again, the five days will be allowed for a ruling. If the complainant is still dissatisfied, he may appeal to the Board of Trustees. A ruling from the board may not be rendered later than at the next regular board meeting.

Complaints not originating in connection with a school or campus should go directly to the director of personnel.

Dr. Emmett McKenzie, school superintendent, told his teachers recently, "The finesse with which we implement this program will determine the number of problems that we have. We must go into it with good faith and with the intention of abiding by the law with no attempts to circumvent the law."

Big Spring schools are ready for Title IX.

Home Economists Will Demonstrate Recipes, Give Kitchen Economy Tips

With today's rising costs, people are being forced back into the kitchen and are searching for new menus and techniques to make "home cooking" easier and more attractive.

Sue Hommel, program manager for Progressive Farmer's Southern Kitchens Cooking School, and Pat Pittman, home economist, are making a living demonstrating to homemakers how to make the best of the situation.

The school is scheduled for 7 p.m. Thursday at the Municipal Auditorium. The Big Spring Herald will co-sponsor the cooking school. A number of local merchants will participate by supplying foods for cooking demonstrations, appliances to be used during the actual on-stage demonstration and door prizes.

Newsom's Food Center will supply all the food used in the cooking demonstrations. The dishes Mrs. Pittman will prepare Thursday evening will be passed around to the audience.

A range, refrigerator and a microwave oven will be provided by Big Spring Hardware. Arcand Electronics will furnish another microwave oven.

Admission will be free and tickets may be obtained from participating merchants and from the Herald. All the recipes are practical ideas you can use in your day-to-day menu planning. Recipes will be varied — simple gourmet, southern cooking, inflation-fighters and time savers. The entire program lasts about 2 hours, and is jam-packed with practical tips and helpful hints.

Watch for a special section of the Herald on Wednesday which will provide sample recipes, tips on cooking and appliances and the advertisements of participating merchants.

National sponsors for this program are: Hormel, Karo, Nescafe, Wear-Ever, Reynolds, Fruit-Fresh, Hellmann's, National Oats, Viva Napkins and Campbell's Soups.

PROGRESSIVE FARMER'S DYNAMIC DUO

Progressive Farmer knows that "country cooking" is hard to beat, and through its Southern Kitchens Cooking School shows the homemaker how to economically prepare delightful menus for her family in addition to enjoying the culinary arts.

Sue Hommel and Pat Pittman conduct the cooking schools to the delight of all. As a team, Sue and Pat travel a four-state area of Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas. Pat, as the home economist, demonstrates to homemakers new methods of food preparation and shares with them many recipes to please their families. Sue, as program coordinator, works with sponsors, co-sponsors, media and participants in the school to ensure that each effort is a successful one.

Pat Pittman and Sue Hommel are a team from "way back," in fact, longer than either cares to admit. They began their association at East Texas State College in Commerce and since that time have worked together on many occasions. Now they have teamed with Progressive Farmer's Southern Kitchens Cooking School and are enjoying traveling throughout the Southwest illustrating "Southern living" to those with whom they work.

Pat and Sue coordinate all their efforts in staging a successful school. Long before the cooking school begins Sue works with the national sponsors, local co-sponsors, all news media and people involved with staging the show.

The day of the cooking school is the "grand finale" to each program campaign. Pat spends many hours on that "big day" making certain that all she needs for the school is right at hand. Nothing is overlooked. She measures, mixes, prepares and assembles all that she will be working with. She exhibits on stage the efficiency with which she works at all times.

Sue is on hand at each cooking school to assist Pat, and together the "dynamic duo" display a most novel concept in cooking. Both Sue and Pat enjoy the kitchen and know what a delight working with foods can be. Pat prepares many delicious dishes "right before your very eyes." Sue is close by to catch a falling pie pan, repair a broken microphone, or if worse comes to worse, support a broken table leg with one hand while tying Pat's apron with the other.

Through the cooking school both Pat Pittman and Sue Hommel hope to exhibit to the homemakers throughout the Southwest that "country cooking, Southern style" is a most enjoyable experience, and share with them Progressive Farmer's sincere interest in the home.

Source Foods Listed For Potassium

By SHERRY MULLIN
(County Extension Agent)

A frequent request lately to the extension office has been for a list of food high in potassium. Although potassium is widely distributed in foods, extra amounts are sometimes needed by the individual. This is particularly true of the person whose physician has prescribed certain medications that aid in depleting the body of this mineral.

Potassium, one of the mineral elements required by humans, is among the most plentiful minerals in the body. A person who weighs 154 pounds has about 9 ounces of potassium in his body. Potassium, and the related mineral sodium, are needed to keep a normal balance of water between the cells and body fluids. Potassium plays an essential role in the response of nerves to stimulation and in the contraction of muscles. This important mineral is also needed for proper functioning of cellular enzymes.

Good sources of potassium are bananas, oranges, avocados, cantaloupe, dried prunes, apricots, peaches, figs, dates, dark molasses, dried beans, sweet potatoes, peanut butter, meat and milk.

Fair sources are tomatoes, carrots, kale, spinach, brussel sprouts, broccoli, cauliflower, apples, pears, strawberries and pineapple juice.

Southwest Artists Will Show Paintings At Gala Evening

Among the artists to display their works at the Gala Evening benefit for the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center will be H. C. Zachry, David Brownlow and Jackson M. Hensley. Their paintings will be for sale at the Tuesday show to be held at the Big Spring Country Club.

All artists have designated that ten per cent of their proceeds will be donated to the Rehabilitation Center.

H. C. ZACHRY

It was quite natural for H. C. Zachry of Abilene to become a western artist.

He grew up on a Red River ranch in North Central Texas, and spent ten years as a rodeo contestant.

After graduating from Texas Tech University with a degree in art, the combination of that study with his background led him directly into the field of western art.

He has had many one-man shows across the country and his paintings are currently included in more than 800 private and institutional collections in the United States and several foreign countries.

Collectors include many dignitaries such as the late former president Lyndon B. Johnson. He was recently honored by having his paintings selected to represent West Texas in the Brazilian and Italian embassies in Washington, D.C.

Zachry serves or has served in several civic capacities, including being a past president of the Abilene Fine Arts Museum, director of the Abilene Fine Arts Museum, Abilene Zoological Society, United Way of Abilene and Christian Homes of Abilene. He is currently a director of the Abilene Chamber of Commerce and a member of the Abilene Christian College Advisory Board.

DAVID BROWNLOW
David Brownlow is a native of Fort Worth. He has painted since childhood and is self-taught, acquiring his art education from public library books.

Brownlow has received 42 prizes and awards and is listed in "Art In America" as outstanding.

Brownlow's art has been displayed in over 20 one-man shows and is represented in many private collections. His art is represented in the permanent collections of the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts, the Fort Worth Art Museum, the Worcester Art Museum in Massachusetts and the Junior Service League of Longview, Nicholson Memorial Library.

JACKSON M. HENSLEY
Strong but sensitive presentations of New Mexico and New England landscapes, all with a sure and accomplished hand, have brought wide recognition to Jackson Hensley.

Hensley was born in New Mexico in 1940, and there received his early schooling. He then started his college training in architecture; however, the artistic appeal of the creative design courses was too strong, and encouraged by Peter Hurd, he decided to enter the National Academy of Design in New York City. There he received intensive training and studied under several famous artists including Leon Kroll and W. A. Levy.

Hensley, with his wife Carolyn and two children, returned to New Mexico in 1966. The family lives in Taos in a fine old adobe home with a large studio which opens directly upon the wide fields and foothills.

Hensley is a young and active person; a vigorous artist who paints out in the winter fields, in the Taos hills, and in the summer storms the fast changing shadows and colors. He is an exceptionally accomplished artist in egg tempera, ink and in oil, and thus has a freedom of choice open to so few artists to select the medium which will accomplish the special purpose he desires.

The layman and the critic are impressed alike by the dramatic realistic quality of the sky, the clouds and the light in his landscapes. His work also clearly evidences a deep feeling for the countryside, and they state a relationship of man and nature. This is accomplished in part by the subtle manner in which the human figures and the works of man are depicted in his landscapes. The pleasant position of the people, the houses, the farmyards, barns and corrals in relation to the entire painting evoke a feeling of satisfaction and well-being. His paintings have this pleasant and enduring quality to impart to their surroundings.

The artist, in addition to landscapes, enjoys painting still lifes. These, as do his paintings of religious subjects, have the same quality and appeal as his other works and exhibit again his exceptional ability.

Van Gaskins Speaks To ABWA Club

Van Gaskins, freshman at Sands High School in Ackerly, spoke to the Spring City Chapter of the American Business Women's Association at the Tuesday evening meeting held at the Spanish Inn.

Gaskins was chosen by the Bicentennial Committee to be a speaker for the bicentennial year.

Gaskins gave a humorous speech entitled "Born 70 Years Too Late," about the Howard County area including Ackerly and Knott. Most of his information came from interviews with his grandfather, O. B. Gaskins, J. B. Pickle and Mrs. Bernard Fisher.

Gaskins gave anecdotes about early life in the communities.

He also presented a serious speech entitled "Which Way America?" concerning respect and dedication to the national flag.

During the business meeting, members voted to assist with the Christmas Party for Big Spring State Hospital patients slated for Dec. 16.

Prayers were given by Mrs. Margaret McDonald and Mrs. O. A. Badwick. The next meeting will be at 7 p.m. Nov. 18 at the Texas Electric Reddy Room.

FAR TOO EARLY TO WRITE FINAL CHAPTER

Domino Theory Revisited

WASHINGTON (AP) — "You have a row of dominoes set up. You knock over the first one, and what will happen to the last one is the certainty that it will go over very quickly."

With these words 21 years ago, President Dwight D. Eisenhower outlined the "falling domino principle" to demonstrate the strategic importance of Indochina to the Western world.

Persuaded that Eisenhower was right, a succession of American presidents went to great lengths to assure that the domino scenario would not be played out.

Now, it has been exactly six months since the Communists moved into power in South Vietnam. That event brought an end to one of the most divisive episodes in American foreign policy history but it also marked the beginning of the central test of the domino theory.

As long as the American-backed government in Saigon was able to survive, the validity of the domino theory could not be proved. With Saigon's fall, would other neighboring countries follow suit "very quickly," as Eisenhower had predicted, or was the whole theory a pipedream?

In the six months since the National Liberation Front flag was hoisted for the first time at the presidential palace in Saigon, both hawks and doves can point to events in Indochina and elsewhere which suggest each was right all along.

But the consensus is that it is far too early to write the final chapter on the wisdom of American policy in Indochina.

The period between last April and June was one of tumultuous change in Indochina. Almost simultaneously with the collapse of the Saigon government was the victory of the Khmer Rouge movement in neighboring Cambodia. This was followed quickly by the Communist success in Laos. One U.S. official called this "dramatic evidence of the domino theory set in motion."

Elsewhere, the changes have been less startling. But there has been a perceptible decline in American influence in some areas.

Within five days after the fall of Saigon, Thailand, the western neighbor of Laos and Cambodia, insisted on and received assurances that all 16,000 U.S. servicemen would be out of the country by March 1976.

To the east, Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos began demanding an end to American jurisdiction over U.S. bases there. The Philippines, like Thailand, established relations with China.

To Thailand's south, Malaysia, anticipating an upsurge in rebel activity, is expanding its security forces and recently purchased 41,000 American M-16 rifles.

Most U.S. officials agree the key to Southeast Asia's future rests with Vietnam which, in practical terms, has become united under Hanoi's rule since the events of last April.

As these officials see it, Hanoi, with some $4 billion in abandoned U.S. weapons at its disposal, has the capacity to nourish insurgent movements elsewhere in Southeast Asia for years to come. But it is not clear yet whether Hanoi has such plans.

Thailand is the country most vulnerable to Hanoi-inspired insurgency, with Laos serving as a corridor of easy access for any arms shipments Hanoi wishes to deliver to Thai rebels.

The smuggling of weapons to insurgents in the north and the northeast of Thailand has been going on for years but western observers say it is more open now than ever.

Officials here say Thailand may be more resilient to guerrilla activities than is widely believed. The nation never has been controlled by foreigners and, unlike Vietnam, rebel forces can't make headway by appealing to anti-colonialist instincts.

The future role of China and the Soviet Union in Southeast Asia is another question mark. Since April, there has been a sharpening of the Sino-Soviet conflict as both powers compete for influence in the area.

Curiously, this conflict may become a source of stability in Southeast Asia — and a barrier to fulfillment of the domino theory. There are signs that China sees the maintenance of the U.S. role in Southeast Asia as its best assurance against Soviet domination of the region.

In a recent meeting with Chinese officials in Peking, Philippine President Marcos brought up the subject of American bases in the Philippines. Far from demanding an end to the U.S. military presence there, the Chinese refused even to discuss the subject, Marcos said.

Earlier this year, as the Congress debated whether or not to provide South Vietnam and Cambodia with last-minute military aid, some American officials revised and broadened the old domino theory.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, among others, invoked a global domino theory and expressed concern that a failure by the United States to continue supporting U.S. allies in Indochina would raise questions in Europe, Israel, Japan and South Korea about American steadfastness.

SECTION D BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1975 SECTION D

Bicentennial Town Crier

Edna Womack's excitement is catching when she tells about the great bicentennial day area garden clubs will have here on Nov. 5. On that date, the Southern Zone of District 1, Texas Garden Clubs, Inc., will have a luncheon meeting and flower show at the Dora Roberts Community Center. Elaborate decorations will follow the bicentennial theme, and the show is titled "Reflections of Our Heritage." Mrs. Jay Huckabee, first vice president of Texas Garden Clubs, will be an honored guest.

Our own Sherlock Holmes, Agnes Currie, was first to notify us of the lovely red, white and blue corsages given to some of the Mountain View Lodge ladies on Oct. 22. With a little sleuthing, we discovered that the folks at Texas Electric Service Co. had a surplus from the Quarter Century Banquet, and were happy to share part of their bicentennial decor. Even TESCO president W. G. Marquardt carried out the heritage theme in his speech.

Great news from Tom Locke that the Goals for Progress group is in the countdown stage. This Horizon's project represents untold hours of work and organization. The best part is that we all had a chance to contribute ideas. Nov. 20th has been set for the final Town Hall meeting.

Since the story was picked up by Associated Press, we continue to get statewide feedback on our teenage Uncle Sam (Paul Ruiz). Last time we checked with Steer Band Director Bill Bradley, stories had appeared in newspapers from Abilene, El Paso, San Angelo, San Antonio, Lubbock and Dallas. We love this kind of horn-tooting!

We are now a part of West Texas bicentennial history. After using the special flags in Homecoming activities, Craig Fischer shipped the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Flag Celebration Set on for use in Clyde. These flags have flown over the National and State Capitols. We are now recorded in the traveling flag diary and have certificates to attest to it!

Tid-bits: Thanks to First Baptist's Herb Shipp for the snapshot from Homecoming Parade. Lots of cameras in the crowd, and Herb was kind to share with us... Notice the new landscaping at the Dora Roberts Community Center when out for your Sunday hike. The tireless garden council again — with special help from Polly Mays, Johnnie Johansen and Jerry Foreyth's Parks and Recreation group, no doubt!... West Texas Chamber of Commerce is pushing an education campaign titled "Free Enterprise, for 200 Years America's Strength." A constructive bicentennial approach. Our town's Dub Pearson serves on the WTCC board....

National Food, Fiber Plan Backed

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congressmen representing the High Plains of West Texas and Eastern New Mexico — both senators and representatives — heard a plea Friday for a national food and fiber policy. The plea came from a group of Plainsmen at a luncheon meeting hosted by Rep. George Mahon of Lubbock.

"The most compelling questions that must be answered are where is the food and fiber to feed and clothe this nation coming from 10 years from now? 25 years from now? 50 years from now?" the congressmen were told, and they were warned that unless a long range policy is established at the highest level, shortages could soon reach crisis proportions.

"We have moved in a relatively few short years from a position of overflowing granaries to scarcity," the delegation told the lawmakers. "We only noticed it when our stocks became alarmingly low," they said.

"The High Plains of West Texas and Eastern New Mexico, given sufficient supplemental water, is in the forefront of areas which can supply increasing needs with minimum preparation and expenditure," said Geo. W. McCleskey of Lubbock, president of Water, Inc. Eventually, however, we must import water if the nation is to realize full benefit from our productive capacity, he said.

In the capital city for the luncheon session were McCleskey, Marion Key, president of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, Bob Nash, Russell Bean, Duncan Ellison and John Logan, all of Lubbock; Lloyd Calhoun, Hobbs, New Mexico; J. W. Buchanan, Dumas; and Jerome Johnson, Amarillo. The trek to Washington was a joint venture of Water, Inc., and the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

State Textbooks Hearing Scheduled For Thursday

AUSTIN — The State Board of Education will hold a public hearing relating to textbooks recommended for the 1975 adoption Thursday, in the north building of Riverside Square, 150 E. Riverside Drive.

The hearing, scheduled to begin at 8:30 a.m., will be the Board's first Austin session away from its traditional quarters in the Texas Education Agency main building at 201 E. 11th Street.

The Board will also hold its first regular meeting in the new quarters at 8:30 a.m. Saturday. Adoption of new textbooks for spelling and mathematics in grades one through six will headline the agenda.

Two Spanish language social studies textbook systems recommended by the State Textbook Committee will not be forwarded to the State Board of Education for adoption on Saturday, Dr. M. L. Brockette, commissioner of education, said.

The systems, which had been recommended only for a limited two-year adoption, do not meet all the criteria set by the State Board of Education in its textbook proclamation issued last spring, Brockette said.

Designed for first and second grade pupils, the systems include slide, tape and other visual media as well as printed materials. Both were sent to the commissioner of education "with reservations" by the State Textbook Committee.

Committee meetings scheduled for Friday will be held in the new Board Room and in conference rooms located on floors of the two buildings now occupied by the Texas Education Agency.

Four major departments have been assigned to two floors in each of the Riverside Square buildings. Other departments have moved into the Byram Building at 611 South Congress.

Heart Meet Set Tuesday

Plans to reorganize the Howard County Division of the American Heart Association were announced today by Don De Leeuw of Big Spring, division president.

The first organizational meeting will be held Tuesday in the VA Hospital, first floor conference room, Big Spring, at 7 p.m.

All citizens of Howard County, De Leeuw stated, who are interested in learning how they may join the fight against Diseases of the Heart in their own community are cordially invited to attend.

"Last year, over 45,000 Texans lost their lives to heart and circulatory diseases, De Leeuw pointed out. "Many of those had problems which can be controlled if only they had taken the proper measures to reduce their risk."

"Reduction and proper attention to the risk factors of heart disease will be one of the major goals of the Howard County Division," he said. "Our citizens have a right to receive this knowledge first hand."

"This community has a responsibility to develop a year-round educational and community service program by organizing a Division of the American Heart Association. I hope that many of our citizens will share my opinion and become actively engaged in the control of Heart Disease," he added.
