Red Workers Trap Portugese Premier

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — About 20,000 striking hard-hats backed by Communist farmers surrounded parliament and trapped Premier Jose Pinheiro de Azevedo's inside his official residence today.

A cabinet minister described the protest — sparked by wage demands of up to 44 per cent by the construction workers — as an attempted coup by the extreme left.

The demonstrators agreed to let the more than 200 assembly deputies leave the parliament building about 1 p.m. after a military policeman appealed the deputies' case through a megaphone. The workers parted into a kind of gauntlet and the deputies walked through lines of angry protesters shouting, "Fascists, Fascists."

Azevedo remained trapped inside his residence behind the building, with two trucks from a construction site parked against the iron gate. The Socialist and Popular Democratic parties, Portugal's two largest, called for a nationwide mobilization of their followers to counter the siege.

The premier was reported by aides to be considering the use of military force to raise the siege, and was in constant telephone contact with President Francisco da Costa Gomes at the presidential palace, about three miles away.

"We are perhaps living through the last minutes of peace in Portugal," Foreign Trade Minister Jorge Campinos told the Associated Press. It was Campinos, a leading Socialist, who described the siege as "an attempted seditious seizure of power by the extreme left. We also hold the Communist party responsible."

The demonstrators covered the broad steps of the parliament building and spilled down into a deep bowl below where a hillside sloped away.

The strikers demanded an emergency cabinet meeting to approve wage increases of up to 44 per cent. The demand defied a government economic statement calling for wage restraints to avoid bankrupting the nation.

City, County Accepting 'Gifts' Of Ambulances

By MARJ CARPENTER

Big Spring and Howard County will receive one each of the ambulances being purchased by the Emergency Medical Service, established by the Permian Basin Regional Planning Council.

The board of the council took bids on 10 ambulances when they met at Terminal Wednesday afternoon, with the bids to be reviewed before awarding the final bid.

Both the city of Big Spring and Howard County had requested an ambulance for each under the program. For the present time, the two government units will probably offer to lease the ambulances to the present ambulance service owner if he wants them, according to both Judge Bill Tune and City Manager Harry Nagel.

If later on, anything should happen to cause the governmental groups to lose ambulance service, they would at least have two vehicles. They are not wanting to lose the service, according to Judge Tune and Nagel, spokesmen for the two groups. "We like the ambulance service that we have and hope it can continue."

ambulances while they are available is simply a precautionary measure for the future. Other ambulances will go to Midland, Odessa, Fort Stockton, and Pecos.

In other action Wednesday, the Permian Basin Planning Council approved an application from the City of Big Spring for a grant to partially fund a Master Plan for the city. The city will receive $40,000 from the state, to be matched with $20,000 in local funds if it receives final approval.

Mrs. Polly Mays, mayor pro-tem, represented Harold Hall, board member, at the meeting. She and the city manager answered questions from the board concerning the need for the grant.

The study is to produce a land use plan and a housing plan, both of which are also needed in other federal grant programs. Hall, along with Judge Darrell Glover, Pecos; Judge Barbara Culver, Midland and Judge Peggy Garner, McCombs, are in Washington serving on national committees of Governmental Planning Councils at an annual workshop meeting.

power Advisory Committee with 10 area committees to be set up rather than one central group. A resolution asking for review and comment of the Manpower Advisory Committee on a proposal for a non-financial cooperating agreement between the planning commission and the American GI Forum was cancelled due to the reorganization of the manpower committee.

The board approved on review a request for developers to develop a subdivision named Oxford Heights in Midland. This was not a grant application. Review is now required for developers requesting federal assistance.

In other action, the board approved setting up a Trans-Pecos Resource Conservation and Development area for the counties of Crane, Loving, Pecos, Reeves, Terrell, Ward, Winkler and Upton.

Pilot Credited With Saving 139 Lives

NEW YORK (AP) — The pilot of the DC10 jumbo jet that exploded into flames after an engine sucked in a flock of seagulls during a Kennedy Airport takeoff says that he was warned of "numerous bird activities" in the area.

Rapid evacuation down the emergency chutes of the Overseas National Airways plane Wednesday prevented any serious injuries to the 129 passengers and 10 crew members. The jet was engulfed in 60-foot high flames only minutes later, and the thick black smoke could be seen in Manhattan, 15 miles away.

JETLINER BURNS AT KENNEDY AIRPORT — Firemen stand by smoking wreckage of a DC10 jetliner after the aircraft caught fire on takeoff at New York's Kennedy Airport Wednesday. The Overseas National Airways charter was en route to Frankfurt, West Germany. The pilot brought the plane to a halt after it caught fire and all 139 persons aboard slid down evacuation chutes to safety. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Justice Douglas Quits, Ford Considers Successor

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is very eager to start considering a successor to retired Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, who said today he hopes to be remembered as "someone who made the earth a little more beautiful."

Douglas made the remark to reporters as he left his northwest Washington home for a stop-over at Walter Reed Army Medical Center enroute to his Supreme Court office. He volunteered no thoughts about his successor, other than to say "I have no prejudices against women."

White House Counsel Philip Buchen said Ford expects the American Bar Association to suggest possible successors, and added that the list in public speculation so far is "too narrow." He declined to comment on the possibility that Ford might be thinking about appointing a woman.

She would be the first woman justice in Supreme Court history.

Asked by the reporters about who might succeed him, Douglas replied: "That's none of my business." But he added that "I have no prejudices against women" on the court.

"I would hope to be remembered as someone who made the earth a little more beautiful," Douglas said.

The reporters asked why he retired.

"Because the pain is too great," he replied.

Buchen said Ford will "move just as fast as he reasonably can" in naming Douglas' successor. The President does not want the appointment to drag on, Buchen said, because he considers it important to restore the court to its full operating strength.

'VERY EAGER'

The counsel said the court has been "somewhat disabled by Justice Douglas' illness." He described the President as "very eager to get on with it."

Ford's choice could tip the ideological balance on the nation's highest court as it faces such crucial issues as the death penalty.

Douglas, 77 and partially paralyzed since last Dec. 31 by a stroke, retired Wednesday, telling President Ford what had become increasingly obvious to observers.

"I have been unable to shoulder my full share of the burden," Douglas wrote after a decision which court officials said he reached alone in the privacy of his chambers. Douglas said he is retiring effective immediately, bringing an end to history's longest Supreme Court career.

LIST TOO NARROW

Ford will be expecting the leadership of the American Bar Association to provide

"input in whatever way they desire" in suggesting a possible replacement, Buchen said.

He said the group of possible successors in public speculation so far is "far too narrow a list" and that Ford will be making his decision from a larger range of suggested names.

Ford, who as a congressman attempted five years ago to impeach Douglas, saluted him for service "unequaled in all the history of the court."

Douglas had been a Supreme Court justice since April 17, 1939, when he was sworn in following his appointment by President Franklin D. Roosevelt and nearly unanimous confirmation by the Senate.

His court service eclipsed by two years and two weeks the previous record set by Justice Stephen Field, a Californian appointed by President Abraham Lincoln. His retirement could pave the way for appointment of the first woman justice, and feminist groups with avowed support of First Lady Betty Ford are expected to mount a strong drive for such an appointment.

Women who have been mentioned include Shirley M. Hufstедler of Los Angeles, a judge of the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals; Carla A. Hills, secretary of housing and urban development, and three from Ford's home state of Michigan.

The Michigan women who have figured in speculation are former Rep. Martha Griffiths, U.S. District Judge Cornelia Kennedy of Detroit and State Supreme Court Justice Mary Coleman.

Despite growing demand for a woman appointee, Atty. Gen. Edward M. Levi is expected to be a strong contender also. Levi would give the court its first Jewish justice since Abe Fortas resigned in 1969.

Jacobsen Trial Date Set

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — A state district court judge has denied a change of venue and set Jan. 12 as the trial date for former milk lobbyist Jake Jacobsen on charges he misappropriated funds from a savings and loan institution.

Judge Curt Steib denied Wednesday a defense motion to move the trial out of Tom Green County.

Jacobsen is charged with misapplication of $825,000 of the First Savings and Loan Association of San Angelo.

Defense attorneys argued that knowledge of the Jacobsen case was so widespread in the county that their client could not get a fair trial.

"We feel that as many as one third of the veniremen (prospective jurors) will be predisposed toward this defendant," claimed defense counsel Jack Hill.

Arabs, Lebanese Army Renew Fighting After Ten-Day Truce

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Army commandos battled Arab gunmen at Beirut international airport today, causing panic among hundreds of passengers fleeing renewed Christian-Muslim warfare in Lebanon.

A security official acknowledged that the 10-day cease-fire appeared to be collapsing with "hundreds of armed men kidnapping, sniping and clashing in several Beirut districts."

Two Arab gunmen were killed in the airport battle and four surrendered. Airport sources said they were identified as Palestinian guerrillas, but there was no official confirmation. Two Palestinian refugee camps are located near the airport.

Initially, Lebanon's defense ministry said the gunmen tried to attack a Pan American World Airways hangar, but police later reported that they were simply trying to steal jeeps or trucks.

Airport sources said the armed band entered the Pan American hangar, held five maintenance employees at gunpoint and demanded the vehicles. When they found none in the hangar they departed and the maintenance men contacted army troops guarding the airport.

Lebanese commandos found the gunmen hiding in another hangar used by Air India and Saudi Airlines. They ordered them to surrender, but the gunmen refused and opened fire.

The ensuing battle panicked hundreds of passengers and airline employees, who raced to get inside the main terminal building. The airport has been crowded every morning for the past 10 days with a steady exodus of outbound travelers who feared the cease-fire would not hold.

Elsewhere in the capital, armed bands of Christian and Moslem militiamen erected roadblocks, kidnaped unwary motorists and traded gunfire in five Beirut districts.

Army tanks and personnel carriers which had been guarding the downtown hotel district during the cease-fire pulled out — a sure sign of trouble in Lebanon's seven-month-old civil war.

Three persons were reported killed in one continuing firefight between Christian and Moslem neighborhoods. Security officials also announced that six persons were killed by snipers and 120 had been kidnaped in the past 24 hours.

Of these, 80 had been freed by this morning. But more hostages were being seized even as cease-fire committees tried to free the remainder.

There was a marked reduction in street traffic, and shops that had taken advantage of the cease-fire to sell off their stocks began closing their doors.

The deteriorating situation undermined government efforts to reduce Christian-Muslim friction by negotiating political reforms.

On Wednesday, President Suleiman Franjeh, a Christian, said he agreed with the Sunni Moslem mufti of Lebanon, Sheikh Hassan Khaled, that constitutional amendments should be introduced to reapportion political power now concentrated in the hands of the 40 per cent Christian minority.

Franjeh's promise of compromise followed a peace initiative by a Vatican envoy, Paolo Cardinal Bertoli, who held a series of conferences with Christian and Moslem leaders this week.

Files $94,000 Building Permit

Gary Turner Properties filed a building permit at City Hall Wednesday for a $94,000 office building to be constructed at 610 Rannels.

The building will be constructed by J. W. Little Construction Company. It will be immediately behind the office building on Main Street being remodeled for the Guthrie Properties office building.

To Meet Behind Closed Doors

The public hearing Richard Fleener, suspended senior tax appraiser, sought will be later.

The tax appraisal board for local governments will discuss "personnel matters" privately today.

Starting at 3 p.m. in the county courtroom, the board also will consider appointing an attorney to represent them in the Fleener case and handle "routine matters."

'Jack Frost' Roams County

The first frost of the season appeared to be sufficient to kill cotton and open harvesting.

But Bruce Griffith, county extension agent, said farmers will not know for three or four days.

"There's a question mark on some of this real lush cotton," Griffith explained.

Temperature hit 3 degrees at midnight at the U.S. Big Spring Experiment Station.

It dropped to a low of 2 degrees.

By 8 a.m. today, temperature still had not risen above 28 degrees.

If it was a killing frost generally in Howard County harvesting will be well underway within 10 to 21 days, Griffith said.

To avoid prussic acid poisoning, cattlemen should stop livestock from grazing sudan, sorghum hybrids and grain sorghum, Griffith reminded. It will be safe to return cattle to these feeds when the stalks dry.

The World At-A-Glance

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Gen. Francisco Franco's doctors, astounded by the 82-year-old leader's month-long struggle to survive, reported new hemorrhaging today and said they were helping him to breathe artificially.

Premier Carlos Arias Navarro visited the hospital twice in the course of the morning, underlining the gravity of the general's condition. Nearly 500 Spaniards gathered outside the hospital, many listening to the latest medical bulletins on transistor radios. ***

LONDON (AP) — The fifth bomb in London's fashionable West End in three weeks killed one man and injured 15 others, including an American couple, Scotland Yard announced. The Irish Republican Army was blamed. The bomb was hurled through a window of Scott's, an expensive seafood restaurant in Mount Street, at 9:30 p.m. when about 70 customers were dining. It blew up the oyster and lobster bar and started a fire. Three men, one with red hair, were seen running from the restaurant toward Hyde Park after the blast. The American casualties were James Howard and his wife, Louise, from Georgia. He was hospitalized with a foot injury, while Mrs. Howard was treated for shock and released. ***

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican and Democratic leaders are working on a compromise bill to help New York City out of its financial crisis amid speculation that President Ford is looking for a way to soften his opposition to federal aid for the city.

Help That Counts

Although the battle is not won, finally the restoration of the funds for the Bachelor Officers' Quarters at Webb AFB in the conference committee report means that it certainly isn't lost — as it was last week.

If the Senate and House accept the conference committee report, which appears likely, and the President signs the military construction bill, this long-sought project has a great chance to become a reality. The only hurdle remaining would be that of obtaining bids within the available money of $3,937,000.

While the case for the BOQs was based on sound premises, including the fact that they are at least 15 years beyond their original "life expectancy" date, the community and base owe a debt of gratitude to Sen. John Tower and Rep. George Mahon, who were members of the conference committee; to our congressman, Rep. Omar Burleson, and to Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, for their influential and persuasive efforts. Without their help, the battle would have been lost for another time. Also, our thanks go to Mayor Wade

Choate, who dropped everything to fly to Washington to supply information in support of the project, which will help upgrade Webb AFB yet another notch as one of the finest in the Air Force.

New Leadership

Leadership of the Chamber of Commerce is crystalizing for 1976 with the election of J. D. Nelson as president. Named new directors with him were Al Stephens, Temple Kern, Andy Swartz, John Arrick and Ray Don Williams.

While this group possesses maturity, it does represent infusion of new blood into the community leadership. It is no disparagement of those who have labored so long, tirelessly, faithfully, and effectively over the past generation to welcome new blood.

Rather, it is a compliment to them that they have created an atmosphere here in which new workers, who are capable and willing, can step into the harness. (Incidentally, two of the new directors are Big Spring natives.)

The year 1976 will be an historic one, but aside from the activities which will stem from the bicentennial, there are many other things which offer tremendous potentials for our community and area. It is an exciting time. The challenge to the new leadership is great, but no less to all who live and earn our living here.

Hunting For Business

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — There has been criticism in Washington lately over defense contractors entertaining Pentagon officials at hunting lodges and other places of ill repute. Former Secretary of Defense Schlesinger in referring to Northrop's entertainment policies said, "We have seen only the tip of the iceberg."

THE LATEST word is that one aircraft firm even hired girls to accompany the guests on their trips into the woods.

I have a lobbyist friend from an aerospace company who thinks the hunting-lodge scandal is overkill.

Milbank told me, "All we were trying to do was give our senior fighting men some rest and recreation and now they're trying to hang us for it."

"WHAT YOU say is probably true," I told him, "but you'll have to admit it doesn't look good in the papers that your company was flying high-ranking officers off to shoot pheasant, duck and what have you, while you were trying to sell them rockets and airplanes."

"Do you think a hunting weekend is going to influence a general into buying a certain kind of rocket or airplane? We never even talked about rockets or planes. We never talked about business at all."

"What did you talk about?"

"WE TALKED about our wives and how much we all missed them." "War is hell," I said. "But I read in the newspapers that you not only provided hunting facilities for Pentagon officials and key staff members of the Armed Services Committee, but also female companionship." "Someone had to do the cooking and the cleaning," he said defensively.

"THE ONE thing this country has always prided itself in is the absolute separation of the military from the industrial complex," he replied. "Even something as innocent as a hunting weekend with call girls is enough to put this independence into jeopardy."

Milbank said, "Look at it this way. The enlisted men have the USO. The junior officers have the officers' clubs. But where can a general go to have fun? We were building morale."

"Tell me the truth, Milbank. After one of those weekends, have you ever got an order from the Pentagon?"

"NEVER. Well, almost never. Once I was out shooting with an Air Force general and he got a rabbit with a shotgun I had loaned him. He said, 'This is a helluva gun,' and I said, 'If you think that's a gun, you ought to see one of our AK 450 Red Line Missiles.' He didn't believe me so I set one up and launched it. Sure enough, we wasted a rabbit 30 miles away. That impressed him so much he called me Monday and ordered 4,000 of them."

"WELL, I guess with all the adverse publicity we're going to have to shut down the hunting lodge for a while," Milbank said.

"What will you do instead?"

"We bought a massage parlor near Alexandria. I'd like to see the Defense Department make something out of that!"

Why Rocky Quit

Rowland Evans

WASHINGTON — Although Vice President Nelson Rockefeller's stunning withdrawal from the 1976 ticket was a concession to political reality, it also signalled his private conviction of rapid and dangerous deterioration within the Ford administration.

THE CONCESSION to reality was long overdue. For six months, White House chief of staff Donald Rumsfeld had left no particle of doubt he was using his recognized talents for political infighting to remove Rockefeller as vice-presidential candidate next year. In Washington, Rocky was viewed as having joined the walking dead.

For the Vice President himself, the moment of truth came when the President's hard-line position against a federal hail-out of New York City to Rockefeller, this was political stupidity that capped his growing doubt about Gerald Ford's inherent ability to run the country. As one of Rockefeller's intimates in New York told us: "Nelson was coming reluctantly to an unhappy conclusion that the top man down there (Mr. Ford) just isn't bright."

RUMSFELD'S anti-Rockefeller campaign, which infuriated the Vice President but left him no weapons to strike back with, began during the summer. Rumsfeld's hand-picked Ford campaign chairman, Howard B. Callaway, called for Rockefeller's replacement on the 1976 ticket as his first order of business.

That led three months ago to a Dutch-uncle talk to Rockefeller by Dr. William Ronan, his longtime confidant. Ronan strongly urged the Vice President to announce his unavailability for a spot on the 1976 ticket.

BUT ROCKEFELLER, ebullient and optimistic, refused to admit the wisdom of Ronan's advice. Instead, he set out all over again, as he had so many times before, to woo and win the old Rockefeller nemesis of conservative Republicans, concentrating in the South where anti-Rockefeller sentiment is most shrill. He failed, utterly and flatly, as he had always failed before.

That failure coincided with alarming reports to Rockefeller from political intimates, including New York Republican state chairman Richard Rosenbaum. They told Rockefeller that Mr. Ford's campaign committee was still semi-moribund, with Callaway seemingly out of his depth.

"THEY'LL CUT you up, and you will be the first one thrown to the dogs after New Hampshire goes for Reagan," Rockefeller was told. That warning typified the advice flooding his office.

Even so, buoyed by an ambition which had survived grievous wounds in 16 years of national politics, Rockefeller almost surely would have given himself another six months of hope had it not been for the harsh rhetoric in Mr. Ford's speech on New York City last week.

'Redlining' Irritates

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — When you speak of redlining, a consumer activist probably thinks of greenlining and a home mortgage lender sees — well, he sees red.

Redlining, as you probably have heard, occurs when a lender marks off a certain geographical territory, most likely in the blight area, and declines to lend any money there.

This often provokes the greenlining reaction, in which depositors remove their savings, their greenbacks, from the offending institution and place them with one they conclude is more cooperative.

To those attending the annual meeting of the U.S. League of Savings Associations, whose membership includes institutions that make the majority of home loans, the issue is simple but complex.

In a narrow business sense, lenders say, investments in certain areas cannot be justified. "We say we have to protect the funds of our savers," said Robert Hazen, of Portland, Ore., who assumed the league presidency at the convention. "We just cannot take the risk," he said.

Few people here deny that they avoid doing business in the inner city. They argue that they aren't the only ones, either, that a variety of business and even governmental enterprises do the same thing.

The "redlining" term irritates them. The practice it describes, they repeat, is merely the exercise of sound business decisions. Chartered as business institutions, they say they cannot be asked to solve sociological problems.

Congress seems not willing to agree. A bill calling for disclosure of big city areas in which loans are offered or denied is likely to pass both houses. It could be an irritant, but more likely, say lenders here, it won't prove a thing.

"Those figures will be expensive to come up with," said Barry Tate, director of urban affairs for the league, "and the interpretation of what the numbers mean will be difficult to determine."

Some lenders already proclaim that they aren't the only reason so little financial business is conducted in the blighted, inner city core. They insist the record will show loans weren't made there because nobody asked for them.

While they don't try to conceal their belief that the very innermost residential areas are beyond their ability to save, the lenders now have a program they feel could save what they call the "middle ring."

Don't Always Blame Juices

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I'm a 66-year-old lady with a high acid condition. What should I not eat or drink. I like wine. May I have it? — Mrs. M. M.

When you speak of "high acid condition," you should mean that your gastric juices have been shown (by tests) to be unbalanced on the high acid side.

If this is true then any diet prescribed for such stomach problems as, for example, peptic ulcer, would suffice. If this is not true, or if you are guessing, then it would be important for you to find the real causes of your symptoms before leaping to conclusions. It could be something entirely unrelated. Many digestive disorders can occur with perfectly normal stomach juice chemistry. Hiatal Hernia, a structural defect in the esophagus, comes to mind.

And even in cases of high acid stomach, certain medications to neutralize the juice contents can serve as well as diets. You would need to look into this. Just because you have stomach upset, or belch, or present similar symptoms, is no reason to assume everything can be solved with a diet.

Unless wine brings on stomach distress, I wouldn't think a glass now and then would be harmful. But alcohol does increase stomach acid.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I had a checkup recently and was told that my triglycerides level was very high. I want to thank you for writing on this because I had really been gorging on candy.

I asked for a diet for my condition, and the doctor's nurse sent me a low-cholesterol diet. Why a low-cholesterol diet when I have high triglycerides? Do the two of them go hand in hand?

Will going on a low-cholesterol diet bring my triglycerides level down, too? I have cut out candy, but I do have about a third of a cup of honey a week (on pancakes) and I use a few cough drops a day. Am I harming myself? — M. D.

Both cholesterol and triglycerides have been linked to atherosclerosis (narrowing of the arteries). As I have mentioned here before, reduction of carbohydrates is a part of the solution to the triglycerides problem.

But the low cholesterol diet usually involves low calorie intake generally, and this would include a reduced amount of fat as well as of carbohydrates (starches and sugars).

So you are correct in reducing caloric intake (losing weight, if necessary), at the same time emphasizing reduction of carbohydrates specifically. With this regimen you should find both levels lowered at your next checkup.

I try to bring these factors into clearer focus in my booklet on this subject, "Control Your Cholesterol Sensibly." I think it might help you. If you want a copy, send 25 cents to me in care of the Big Spring Herald. Ask for the booklet by name and enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing.

Of course, both the honey and the cough drops contain sugar, which you should keep in mind in the total picture.

Save The Guns

Around The Rim

Marj Carpenter

This writer enjoyed a wonderful weekend in Austin visiting two of the offspring and watching Texas defeat Baylor. Come to think of it, I've never seen Texas defeated in over 30 years of attending games at Austin on their home field.

I know that they have been defeated in the confines of Longhorn Stadium, but not very often.

WHILE DOWN there, I enjoyed a good game, a good movie, a good party, a good party and a good boat ride on the lake. You just couldn't beat it for a good time. Well, I've never out that good old adjective.

As I drove back, I got to thinking about one of the current controversial issues. I'm not talking about the great local issue of who decided where the trash was going, but the national issue on guns.

I had a handgun in my car on the trip. I was traveling alone in a very old car and knew that I might have a breakdown on the road. The gun was strictly for protection. But it set me to thinking about the gun issue.

Every time a public figure gets either shot or shot at, the issue is revived. This year, a television documentary called "The Guns of Autumn" added fuel to the fire by taking a snide review of hunting. I have to admit I didn't watch it. I saw the advance reviews and that was enough for me.

If I want to watch a film about the poor little animals in the woods, I'll take "Bambi" every time, because, at least it is entertaining. I try to turn off Dan Rather every time I get the opportunity.

I know I have mentioned in this corner before that I was filmed with Dan in 1962 during the Estes story for "CBS Reports." The photographer at that time kept telling me, "Look at Dan. Marj, look a little more at Dan. Look at Dan, please."

I wasn't particularly thrilled to look at him then and it has carried over to now.

BUT BACK to the gun issue. I shudder every time somebody shoots at the President. However, I don't think the answer is to shut down the gun shops, register the guns or register the ammunition.

I think the answer is tough punishment for the would-be assassins. Stringing them up on the old oak tree might not be a bad idea and a death penalty for assassins or would-be assassins might slim down the number of them in a hurry.

I still think our founding fathers had the right idea. They meant for citizens of the United States to have to the right to bear arms.

We all know the bad guys — those fellows with the black hats, are going to get guns. Or if they can't and they want to kill somebody, they will use the handiest knife, ax or rock.

I personally like for the good guys — those in the white hats — to have the right to protect themselves.

Usually when dictators take over a country by force the first things they want to do is take over the press, the schools, the churches and take up the guns.

I'm already on three of those lists. I'm a reporter. My second vocation is school teaching. And I have a strong feeling for the importance of churches.

I sure wouldn't want them to be able to take up my gun as well.

THE BILL of Rights is a pretty good document. We have spent a great deal of time this year worrying about our right to privacy being invaded upon by the government. We have this protection in the Bill of Rights. It is important.

But our forefathers also firmly believed that it is important to have the right to bear arms. And sometimes America seems to be trying to throw that freedom away with both hands.

I have a good friend in Mercedes named Lola Rodriguez. She is in her 80s. She worked on a ranch near the Rio Grande back when there was bandit trouble on the border around 1916.

And as she recalls it, "In those days, when Pancho Villa would come, the men would hide the girls under the bed because the bandits might do bad things. The men would grab their guns and shoot out the window. I was always glad they had the guns." And so am I, Lola. Glad for the guns.

My Answer

Billy Graham

I confessed Christ when I was very young, but as I grew older I wandered away from God. I finally realized what I was doing and asked God to forgive me for those years of sin. I want to do what God wants me to do, but how can I know my sins are forgiven? I have asked God to forgive me over and over again, but I still am afraid that I am not forgiven.

I rejoice with you that you have returned to Christ. It is important for you to trust Christ for your salvation, and this means believing what He declares to you in the Bible about forgiveness. In I John 1:9 the Bible tells us, "If we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." If you have truly confessed your sins to Him, know that your are forgiven on the authority of God's Word.

Often the feeling of being unforgiven by God comes because we know we still are sinners and are imperfect. However, the good news of the Gospel is that God accepts us just as we are. We can never make ourselves righteous in His sight by our good works. But God loved us so much that He sent Christ to die for us, and by simple faith and trust in Him we are forgiven and become His children.

"But God shows his love for us that while we were yet sinners Christ died for us." Romans 5:8.

United Nations General Assembly, that defender of all that is good and true (as long as you agree with them), to take up a universal ban on all atomic weapon tests, including those underground.

Gromyko even relieved the U.N. of the necessity of putting it in writing by sending along an eight-article draft test ban treaty to recommend to the boys.

According to The Associated Press, the draft treaty would "consolidate and supplement" the 1963 Moscow treaty banning nuclear weapons tests in the atmosphere, outer space and under water, and the 1974 U.S.-Soviet pact limiting the size of underground nuclear tests carried out by us and them.

Aside from the uselessness of it all, what have we or the world to gain from signing such a pact? The U.N. doesn't and can't enforce anything on anybody and its rules are universally ignored.

So from this corner, the proposed ban appears to be just another propaganda device.

Shakespeare put it best: ".....meet it is I set it down, That one may smile, and smile, and be a villain....."

AUSTIN AMERICAN STATESMAN

A recent nationwide survey, "The General Mills American Family Report, 1975" has found that most people no longer consider that merely owing money is to be in debt. Today you're really in debt only if you fall behind in the monthly payments on what you owe. Why should a people whose nation can't even pay the interest on its public debt, worry about their own? You can't take it with you, you're not likely to die rich anyhow, so you may as well leave behind a reminder that you were here.

Tech Chief Will Quit Travel Agency In Big Spring In August Celebrating Certification

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Dr. Grover E. Murray, president of Texas Tech University, has announced he will quit his job on Aug. 31, 1976.

Dr. Murray made the announcement Wednesday at a faculty-staff meeting and then forwarded his letter of resignation to Clint Formby, chairman of the board of regents.

The board is expected to consider the resignation at the next regular meeting Dec. 5 in Lubbock.

Formby said, "Texas Tech has enjoyed dramatic growth under Dr. Murray's leadership. During the decade of his service the university has shown a remarkable increase in student enrollment and academic programs."

When Murray came to Texas Tech there were 17,768 students and a physical plant valued at $64.1 million. Today, the university has 22,580 students and facilities worth $187.9 million.

Dr. Murray, who has served as president since 1966, said he chose the August resignation date because "it will mark 10 years of service and give the board a reasonable interim to seek a successor."

Big Spring now has a certified travel agency that can issue tickets at its office at 110 W. 3rd.

It is the Skipper Travel Inc. agency, that has already become well-known to Big Spring travelers during their 18 months of operation here.

It has been duly certified by the Air Traffic Conference of America and is an approved, certified agency.

No longer will they have to obtain tickets from air terminals in Midland and Dallas, but can issue them on the spot.

Bill Ragsdale, president of the agency, is celebrating the certification with a special open house Saturday.

The agency that day will be open from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. with refreshments served during the day. At 2 p.m., a $50, $25, and $10 travel certificate will be awarded. Registration is being held all this week at the agency. The prize winners do not have to be on hand at 2 p.m.

The agency is open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Assisting Ragsdale in planning travel tours, cruises, and all types of trips anywhere in the world, are Kerry O'Brien, manager and Miss Cheryl Butler and Miss Darlene Crawford, travel consultants and reservationists.

They have travel folders available for Mexico, Africa, South America, Europe, attractions in the U.S.A., the Orient and anywhere else you may want to travel. O'Brien arrived in Big Spring 18 months ago and has already taken an active interest in civic and chamber of commerce affairs.

Ragsdale is a native of Big Spring and is the oldest conductor on the seniority list working for Texas and Pacific Railway. It is natural that his interest in the railroad turned him toward interest in travel.

Their agency invites the general public to drop by their office north of the courthouse at 110 W. 3rd this week and "get to know the personnel here." Call 263-7637 for travel information any time.

NOT MUCH GRAZING HERE — Broomweed has taken over much of the area ranchland, short-circuiting prospects for winter grazing. Some areas, like this, are overgrown so thickly that walking through is difficult if not impossible. Under that kind of cover, little grass has been able to grow and mature.

Broomweed May Sweep Away Range Feed Hopes

Although this is one of the wettest years on record, Howard County — and indeed much of the upper half of Texas — will go into the winter with prospects of a range feed shortage.

The reason, broomweed. That golden hue that dominates most of the West Texas countryside is broomweed in bloom. Many ranchers complain that it is almost impossible to walk through, and even when on horseback, it is necessary to move slowly through the banks of weeds from two to three feet high.

This weed pest, usually more annoying than dominant, has taken over pasture lands. Much of this is due not so much to abundant moisture as to the pattern rain has followed.

"Usually grass gets the upper hand," explained Bruce Griffith, county extension agent. "This year Spring rains brought on the broomweeds ahead of the grass, then it kept them going all season long. Broomweed never did die out."

BEATS OUT GRASS
Griffith affirms what many ranchers are saying, that the weeds have so shaded grass that it either has not grown much, or if so, grass lacks substance. When frost hits it, the grass won't be "strong," as cattlemen put it.

In Howard County about 40 per cent of the total of 583,000 acres of land is more than mildly infested. This translates to about 65 per cent of the county's rangeland, or some 210,000 acres. The picture to the north and east varies only to the degree of cultivated land.

Reports are that the infestation is heavy from North Central Texas to the Panhandle, and well down into the Edwards Plateau to south of San Angelo.

The weed, which grows on a tough woody stem without foliage until it sprangles out to form a crown, got its popular name from stories that early settlers tied several weeds together to form a handle and a broom. The botanical name is amphichrysis dracunculoides.

TENACIOUS PLANT
The plant grows best on heavier soils but can be found almost anywhere. It is unpalatable, hence it spreads rapidly on abused pasture land. In most wet years, grass gets ahead of it, but this year is the exception. In dry years, because broomweed's small amount of foliage offers relatively little surface for evaporation of moisture, the broomweed can survive.

Studies have indicated a toxic agent in the leaves or pollen of the plant which may cause an inflammation of the eye, in both man and livestock, similar to pinkeye. A worst hazard is where the stems have been mowed or broken off and become a threat to puncturing eyes of grazing livestock.

MANAGEMENT HELPS

Jack Elrod, work unit leader for the Soil Conservation Service, says that good pasture management may be one of the best weapons against broomweed. Aside from the weather, the current intensity of the infestation may be the result of pasture abuse in droughty years. He says that the difference in broomweed infestation is reflected dramatically in side-by-side pastures which have been well managed or over-grazed.

Both he and Griffith say the most effective control method is chemical — probably a 2-D (hormone) herbicide. Banvel, also a hormone type likewise is effective. Aerial spraying when the plants are young is the best, but this year that time coincided with emerging cotton, and that ruled out most aerial spraying because of wind drift.

FIRE HAZARD

One Howard County rancher is considering mapping out "spray lanes" for his pasture so that he can apply the chemical from a home-made rig aboard his pickup, eliminating the drift problem.

A few have attempted mowing, but then the land must be level and relatively free of brush. This year the broomweed got the upper hand and became so tough that even mowing was impractical — it was like cutting kindling.

Mitchell Discovery

Dorchester No. 2-A Spade has been completed as a Clearfork discovery in southwest Mitchell County.

It pumped 33.1 barrels of 29-gravity oil in 24 hours with gas-oil ratio of 40-1. The venture is located five miles north of the Ellwood (Yates-Mississippian) and 3 1/2 miles northeast of Ray Albaugh (Wolfcamp) fields. Pay came from perforations at 3,628-653, acidized with 2,750 gallons. Location is 933 from the north and east lines of section 11-18, Spur, 25 miles south and west of Colorado City.

The venture was drilled to 7,800 and plugged back to 4,007 where the 4 1/2-in. string was set. On a ground elevation of 2,056, these tops were picked: Clearfork 1,824, Wolfcamp 4,014, Cisco 5,224, Strawn 7,511, Mississippian 7,570, Woodford 7,670, and Ellenburger 7,690.

Another Mitchell test, Eastland No. 2 Wulfjen was waiting on cement to set on surface string at 295 feet.

Coquina Oil No. 1 Holton has been completed as a second undesignated Spraberry producer one location northwest of the No. 1 Holton, the discovery which was completed in August for 44 barrels of oil and 44 barrels of water. No. 2 Holton pumped 40 barrels of 42-gravity oil and 57 barrels of water in 24 hours.

In Howard County, Holbrook No. 1 Lester drilled in lime and shale at 6,397.

Alert Wife Prevents Home Fire Tragedy

An alert housewife woke in the early morning hours today and smelled smoke at the Gary Stotz home at 609 W. 16th.

The wife aroused her husband and ran to get the baby out of the crib in a house filled with smoke. Fire was burning in the closet in the room where the baby slept.

Flames had swirled into the attic, according to Fire Chief A. W. Harrison, who said that the fire apparently began from a light bulb in the closet.

The wires were so hot by the time the couple woke up that they had neither electricity or a useable telephone. They fled to neighbors to call the fire department.

Extensive smoke damage and heavy fire damage in the closet were reported by firemen.

Judge Sets Hearing In Hearst Case

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The judge in the Patricia Hearst case has called a special hearing next Monday to decide whether to delay Miss Hearst's bank robbery trial after a related decision in the case of Sara Jane Moore, accused of attempting to kill President Ford.

One of Miss Hearst's attorneys, Albert Johnson, said Wednesday night that U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter possibly could delay the Dec. 15 trial date until mid-February.

The Hearst defense team has sought such a delay, claiming that the 21-year-old newspaper heiress was too traumatized by her 19 months as a captive of the Symbionese Liberation Army to stand trial immediately.

The chances for delay increased significantly Wednesday when the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, ruling in the case of Miss Moore, held that a judge need not count time used for psychiatric examinations in the 90 days required by the Speedy Trial Act to bring a federal prisoner to trial.

A final version of the Speedy Trial Act goes into effect in 1979 and provides for exceptions to a more stringent 60-day limit in the case of psychiatric testing, but the interim provisions of

Malone and Hogan volunteer blood donation services, look on as a smiling George Weeks makes his 16th trip to the donation room.

Store Exec, 'Daddy' Don Donate Blood First Day

The Big Spring Community Blood Donor Service is off and running after a very successful first day, Wednesday.

"Daddy" Don Brooks, KHEM radiostation, was the day's first donor and he was followed soon thereafter by George Weeks, owner of Gibbs and Weeks Men's Store. Weeks is somewhat of a celebrity among blood donors. He has donated 10 to 15 times already and is nearing his second gallon of donated blood.

Among the several volunteers present at the center was Jane Thomas, western regional vice-president of the Texas state medical auxiliary, which has been placing special emphasis on starting community donation centers throughout the state. Also present were Mary Ruth Robertson, chairman of Malone and Hogan volunteer blood donation services, and Jo Broadrick, co-chairman of donation services.

At least 20 donors were expected at the blood donation center, housed in the emergency room of Malone and Hogan hospital, including 13 members of the American Businessman's Club in Big Spring. Five donors had already appeared within the first 20 minutes of the service's opening.

The community Blood Donor Service will be open every Wednesday, 1 noon to 6 p.m. at the emergency room of Malone and Hogan Hospital. Those interested in donating blood are urged to call the donor room 263-1211-ext. 124), or the hospital laboratory 263-1211 — ext. 125 to make an appointment.

The first day of the service was a great success, but in order to make Big Spring self-supporting, donors will have to give at least 20 units of blood per week. Every donation is important.

Machete-Wielding Man Surrenders

LAKE WALES, Fla. (AP) — A machete-wielding man, wanted for questioning in the stabbing death of one woman, released another woman and surrendered to police early today after holding her hostage for nearly 15 hours.

The hostage suffered severe bruises, cuts and a possible fractured rib, police said.

Police said Jasper Mines, 32, released Janie Nelson, a secretary, and gave up after being convinced he would not be shot down when he left the real estate office where she had been held captive.

Mines was arrested on an open charge related to the death of the first woman. Charges were being considered in the hostage case and in an attack on two other persons.

Mrs. Nelson, 32 and the mother of three young children, was rushed to Lake Wales General Hospital after her release.

Polk County Sheriff Monroe Brannen said she appeared to be "in good shape" when she was first released. However, a spokesman for Brannen later reported that Mrs. Nelson was suffering from severe bruises from her shoulder down to her lower back area.

"She was beaten with the flat of the blade of the machete on several occasions during the first couple of hours of the incident," the spokesman said. "She also has slight cuts on both wrists and on her neck and possibly a broken or fractured rib."

He described the cuts as minor scratches and said they were inflicted by the machete being drawn against her arm or neck.

"If he felt like we were moving around too much, he would inflict one of these cuts," he said.

Mines, a fruitpicker from Wabasso, Fla., had stormed into the office before noon Wednesday.

Dozens of policemen and others surrounded the office and spent the rest of the day and into the night trying to calm him down and talk him out. But Mines, who Brannen said frequently referred to himself as "the devine terrorist," repeatedly refused to surrender.

Police said that before going to the office, Mines had

GM Exec's Son Returned After $150,000 Ransom

BLOOMFIELD HILLS, Mich. (AP) — The 13-year-old son of a top General Motors executive was reunited with his family today, some 55 hours after he was abducted from outside his home. Police said the boy's father paid a $150,000 ransom to guarantee the youth's safe return.

Bloomfield Hills Township police said Timothy Stempel, son of Robert C. Stempel, was "fatigued but alert" when he walked into the Wayne County Medical Center shortly after 11 p.m. Wednesday and called his parents.

Young Stempel was abducted from outside his home in this exclusive Detroit suburb at about 5:30 p.m. Monday. At no time during the negotiations for ransom did the abductor give any evidence the youth was alive.

Word of the abduction leaked to the news media Monday night, but the story was withheld at police urging for fear of endangering the boy's life.

L. D. Zimmerman of the Bloomfield Hills Township Police Department said police had not questioned Timothy extensively. He said that would be done later today.

"The most important thing since this incident began has been the safety of the boy," Zimmerman said. "His parents have gone through a great ordeal."

Zimmerman would not say where investigators were pinpointing their search for the kidnapers but said technicians were at work trying to discover clues.

The successful dropoff of the ransom, which police said came at 8:24 p.m. Wednesday, followed an abortive attempt earlier in the day.

Stempel, director of engineering at the Chevrolet Motor Division, followed "complicated and critical arrangements" to make the payoff, police said. He went to a designated spot — under tight police surveillance — and waited for three hours after receiving a phone call at 10:53 Wednesday morning, police said. However, he received no further instructions and returned home.

Then, police said, a second telephone call at 7:30 Wednesday night disclosed more details and Stempel dropped off the $150,000, which was picked up at 9:12 p.m., police said.

The first word Timothy had been abducted came three hours after the boy vanished. In the first of a series of telephone calls, a male voice told Stempel he would have to pay $150,000 for his son. Stempel told the abductor Tuesday he wouldn't be able to get the money because banks had closed for Veterans Day. Police said Stempel asked if his son was all right but was told only, "You'll have to trust me, man."

Township Police Chief Robert L. Snell said the abductor emphasized Timothy's life would be jeopardized if police were called in. The chief said he was "amazed" and thankful at the cooperation he got from the press.

Stempel, in a brief appearance outside his house, also thanked newsmen for their cooperation in safeguarding the youth's return.

To Hold Hearings On SST Landings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Transportation has decided to call new public hearings on whether the controversial Concorde supersonic transport jet should be allowed to land in the United States, sources said today.

The sources said they understood the Concorde would not be allowed to land in the United States until the new hearings have been completed.

The department scheduled a news conference later in the day to release its final environment impact statement on the 1,400 mile per hour passenger plane.

Sources said the statement is more critical of the plane's impact on the environment than a preliminary statement released several months ago.

A final decision on whether the needle-nosed jet is allowed in the United States will be made by Transportation Secretary William T. Coleman Jr.

Coleman has met with President Ford and Secretary of state Henry A. Kissinger in recent weeks to discuss whether the Concorde should be given landing rights, the sources added.

Rep. Lester L. Wolff said the transportation department's impact statement will contain no final recommendation on the landing rights.

Wolff, a New York Democrat, said he, too understood the statement is "highly critical" of the plane and "clearly spells out the problems with this too expensive, too noisy, too small and, paradoxically, too slow aircraft which was designed in the 1950s and should have been replaced on the drawing boards long ago."

He said that "absolutely reliable sources in New York have told my office that on the basis of the British noise tests at Heathrow Airport, outside London, it is not certain Concorde will violate (John F.) Kennedy's (International Airport) noise standards on virtually every flight from Kennedy, despite a planned 5-degree noise abatement turn."

Wolff said the statement avoids any decision on flights into Washington's Dulles International Airport or Kennedy and he said it will not attempt to make a final recommendation on regular commercial service to the United States by the Concorde.

Shot Four Times, Killed During Holdup Attempt

ODESSA — Ronald Wayne Hull, 31, of White Swan, Wash., was shot four times and killed during an attempted holdup of an Odessa grocery store shortly before 1 a.m. Wednesday.

R. C. Kelly Sr., owner of the store, told police Hull walked into the store wearing a ski mask and carrying a pellet gun wrapped in a plastic bag.

When the holdup man muttered something about a robbery and a gun, Kelly said he grabbed a 22-caliber pistol from under the counter and fired four times at the man.

The robbery attempt was the second at the store in less than a month. Kelly scared off two would-be robbers the night of Oct. 27 by threatening them with a gun.

TOUR CONVINCED HER 'We Have By Far The Best Country'

A 40-day tour of Europe convinced the 4-H ambassadors taking it that "we have by far the best country," Kay Hunt told Downtown Lions Club members here Wednesday.

"You have an indescribable thrill when you come home, and I wish we could hold it all the time," he said. Her party broke spontaneously into the national anthem upon return home, and "it sent chills down my spine."

Kay was one of seven Texans among a group of 4-H members which, after a briefing in Washington, D. C., flew to Holland to begin 40 days crisscrossing Europe. There were stops in Denmark, Sweden, Czechoslovakia, Austria, Hungary, Switzerland, Italy, France, Germany, Belgium, England — and even three days in Russia.

Among the highlights were "family stays," that is living in homes, often where not a word of English was spoken, she said.

In Russia, Kay added, the group was under close supervision, always with a guide and with one other person apparently sent along to monitor the tour.

"We called her our spy," said Kay. Compared with some other countries, she found Russian accommodations and scenes drab. She projected colored slides she had shown of scenes and activities ranging from swiss cheese and wooden shoe making to the majestic Alps and Eiffel tower.

Doesn't Want To Retire

CARMEI, N.Y. (AP) — Florence Lord wants to continue teaching English at the Brewster school district here, although she has taught for 48 years and has reached the mandatory retirement age of 70.

The New York State United Teachers union filed suit in behalf of Mrs. Lord, contending that the state education law violated her rights by forcing her to retire on her 70th birthday, Oct. 28. Mrs. Lord says she feels no need to retire and feels fully capable of continuing her profession.

State Supreme Court Justice Timothy J. Sullivan withheld a decision after a hearing here Wednesday.

A union spokesman said the suit was aimed at the mandatory retirement age. He said the law makes second-class citizens out of senior citizens.

Greg is an auto mechanic with Sears Roebuck and Co., and is part of a program being tested in the Chicago area. A mechanic will come out to you to tune your car. The tune up can be done in your driveway, in front of your house, or in a parking lot, while you work.

'Firepot' Tells Secret Of Prize-Winning Chili

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Keep the beans out of chili and you'll have a winning concoction, says Herlie "Firepot" Williams.

That's how he placed second in the World Championship Chili Cook-off at Terlingua, Tex., last week, said Williams, 64, a contract manager for a sign company.

"I have a market for it so I'd rather not say exactly what is in it," he said.

Williams' helper, Spokane lawyer Horton Herman, helped prepare the meat, onions, garlic, tomato sauce and the secret ingredients.

Williams finished second to Suzie "Mother Gonzz" Watson, who gave a "Bombs Away" title to her formula.

"I always said you couldn't beat a woman in cooking who weighs more than 90 pounds. I think Suzie weighed 91," said Williams. Williams had to cook six quarts of chili for the finals.

Jewel Thief Top Veteran

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — An 85-year-old former jewel thief, whose victims allegedly included the Prince of Wales, is the 1975 "veteran of the year" in Worcester.

Arthur T. Barry of Worcester was chosen by the Worcester Veterans Council for his work for and with veterans. The selection was made at a dinner after Tuesday's Veterans Day parade.

Police once estimated that Barry stole between $4 million and $10 million in jewels. He operated on Long Island during the 1920s.

"There were more than 13,000 people down there in the desert walking around with little paper cups tasting all the final recipes," he said. "I saw mine wouldn't last for the judging unless I stopped giving it away. I only got two small samples of my own chili after everything was all over," he said.

Williams, who acquired the name "Firepot" at Terlingua, said he won't be returning there next year.

"You don't need two of those (cook-offs) in a lifetime," he said.

Hunt Oil Co. Disregards Suit By Hunt's Former Wife

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Hunt Oil Co. shrugged off a lawsuit by Frania Tye Lee, saying the former wife of oilman H.L. Hunt had waived her claim to share in the multi-million-dollar estate years ago.

"Mrs. Lee, represented by her attorneys, asserted claims about 34 years ago," a spokesman said Wednesday. "And at that time, a full, complete settlement and release of those claims was made by her."

Contending she had not realized the extent of her property rights, Mrs. Lee filed suit here Tuesday in U.S. district court seeking recognition as Hunt's putative spouse.

The suit, brought against Ray Lee Hunt as executor of the estate, says Mrs. Lee's legal status as putative wife must be known to determine the extent of her claims in probate court at Dallas, in the 15th Judicial Court of Louisiana in Vermillion Parish, and in proceedings filed in other states.

Hunt died last year and his will, filed for probate in Vermillion Parish, recognizes 14 children, including Mrs. Lee's four children. A lawyer in the case said the children share alike in Hunt's Louisiana and Texas properties.

Mrs. Lee's petition contends that Hunt made more than $150 million and acquired various valuable properties, including oil leases in Louisiana and

Texas and elsewhere, between 1925 and 1934.

It says Mrs. Lee married Hunt on Nov. 11, 1925, when he was using the alias of Franklin Hunt. They lived together in Caddo Parish until 1930, when they moved to Dallas.

The marriage ended in May 1934, the suit says, when Mrs. Lee found out her husband was actually Haroldson Lafayette Hunt, married previously to Lyda Bunker Hunt, now deceased.

Mrs. Lee contends that under Louisiana and Texas law, a putative wife is recognized as owner of half the community property acquired during the existence of the putative marriage.

But the suit says properties acquired during her marriage to Hunt were transferred to Hunt Oil Co. and Placid Oil Co., both formed in 1935 shortly after the putative marriage ended.

In another lawsuit filed in state court here recently, several of the Hunt children seek a declaratory judgment concerning how much inheritance tax they owe the Louisiana revenue collector,

Vidor Chief Accidentally Shot, Dies

VIDOR, Tex. (AP) — Police Chief Walter Billingsley Sr. apparently accidentally shot himself to death today, police said.

Police said Billingsley, 47, shot himself once in the chest at his home. He died shortly after arriving at a hospital around 6 a.m.

City Manager Al Briggs said the case was being investigated by police, sheriff's officers and state police.

Details of the shooting were not learned at once.

Billingsley was hired on a contract basis in 1971 after a controversy involving resignation of the two previous police chiefs here.

He began his law enforcement career at Lufkin in 1953. He quit as chief in Lufkin in 1960 and joined the Chambers County Sheriff's Department in 1962. He also worked for the Orange County Sheriff's Department.

City Secretary Jenny Norris described Billingsley as an "ideal" chief. Vidor is near Beaumont in Southeast Texas.

Nursing Home Is Exempt From Taxes

AUSTIN (AP) — A nursing home operated in McAllen by the Evangelical Lutheran Good Samaritan Society is exempt from property taxes, the Texas Supreme Court ruled today.

McAllen and the McAllen Independent School District had tried to collect taxes on the home, contending it did not meet the requirements for a tax-exempt public charity.

Fees are charged on a sliding scale that allows welfare patients to pay less than those who can afford the full rate for their services, and the home operated at a loss in 1972 and 1973.

McAllen and the local school district contended the society, a nationwide organization, had operated at a profit, thus removing the home from property taxes.

But the court found the home's policy of admitting persons regardless of economic status or ability to pay qualified it for tax-exempt status.

Runaway Train Kills Ten

MONTERREY, Mexico (AP) — A string of runaway railroad cars filled with gravel overturned on squatters' shacks, killing 10 persons Tuesday, authorities said.

At least 20 persons were injured, 19 of them seriously. Six of the dead were children.

Ten gondola cars filled with gravel and three boxcars rolled out of a station in Monterrey's suburbs, hit speeds up to 80 miles an hour and then overturned on a curve, the federal Public Ministry in Monterrey said.

An estimated 5,000 squatters live alongside the tracks where the cars derailed.

Epifanio Gonzalez Rodriguez, 47, found his wife and three of his eight children dead. Four of his children were injured, one seriously, and their house was destroyed.

Two of the 20 injured suffered amputated limbs, doctors at Monterrey's University Hospital said. Six of the dead were from three to 13 years old.

Ford Wreck Damages Settled

MERIDEN, Conn. (AP) — James Salamites, whose 1968 Buick sedan was demolished in a collision with President Ford's limousine a month ago, says he'll accept a $600 insurance settlement if he can also keep the car. The insurance company says it has no objection.

"I want a written explanation that they won't take my car away," says Salamites, whose wrecked car is parked in the driveway of his home. It has been there since it went through a green light at an unguarded Hartford intersection on Oct. 14 and struck the President's armored limousine.

Scott Gerrish, claim supervisor of the Insurance Company of North America, said Wednesday the firm doesn't intend to retain salvage rights on the car. He said it will pay $600, the purchase price when Salamites bought it from his mother several weeks before the accident.

Wolves Host Hamlin

COLORADO CITY — A even seasonal mark of 5-5 will be pursued by Colorado City as the Wolves wind up the season here at 7:30 p.m. Friday, looking at Hamlin. Colorado City shocked the AA circles last Friday by upsetting previously unbeaten and state second-ranked Ballinger, 7-6. Hamlin, same night, took care of Stamford, 12-6. In the district stands, Colorado City is 2-3 and Hamlin, 3-2. Overall, Hamlin stands at 6-2-1. All scoring between Colorado City and Ballinger took place in the third period. The Wolves' eventual game-winning point was made when Steve Belvin's PAT kick split the uprights following a TD by Bill Everett. The Wolves have assured themselves of the best record in two years, 2-8 last season.

BIDDING HIS TIME — Chicago Bears veteran linebacker Dou Buffone says he would not be playing for the losing Chicago Bears NFL team if he didn't envision a new concept. Buffone, 31, is in his 10th season with the Bears. He says he knows something good is going to happen to the team. "I want to be around. I want to be on the boat. I've paid my dues," says Buffone.

Floor Shot Catches HC At Buzzer, 85-84

TEXAS CITY — Howard College was hit with its first loss of the season here Wednesday night, losing a 85-84 cliff-hanger to College of the Mainland even though the Hawks' Marvin Johnson meshed for 45 points. The game for Mainland was its seasonal opener. Howard College, now 3-1, opposes Brazosport again tonight at 7:30 at Lake Jackson to wind up its four-game state coastal trip. The Hawks already own one win over Brazosport, 98-86, Tuesday night. With 14 seconds to go in the game, Howard College ahead 84-83, Mainland called time-out. When play was resumed, Mainland had to wait until Alonzo Hazley's turn around jump shot at the buzzer brought down the Hawks' man to man defense. Johnson, who has canned 31 or more points a game since the start of the season, pumped in six from the floor to give Howard College an 80-74 lead cushion with 3:40 to go. In the next two minutes to follow, Howard College missed four charity tosses. Mainland obliged by failing to make its free shots but went ahead 83-82 on floor accuracy. Mainland then went into a stall. The Hawks' Ray Martin pried the ball loose from Mainland with 30 seconds left. He race the length of the court but missed his field goal shot. Johnson secured the rebound and flipped in two points putting the score on the Hawks' side, 84-83.

Eagles End With Sands

STERLING CITY — The 3-B football season ends here at 7:30 p.m., Friday between host Sterling City and Sands. Both teams suffered defeats last Friday, Sterling City falling to Bronte, 34-18 and Sands losing to Roby, 26-6. Sterling City sports 2-4 in the district and 3-6 over-all and Sands, 2-4 and 3-5-1. Sands scored its only score against Roby on a 35-yard pass from Neil Gregg to Steve Bodine in the fading minutes of the game.

TAKING THE LOB — Lars Hansen, 6-foot-10 postman from Port Coquitlam, B. C., takes a pass from a University of Washington teammate during a recent workout. Hansen spent the past six months playing with the Canadian National Team but now is preparing for his senior season of college basketball.

Squires Drubbed

It's a bird, it's a plane... well, actually it is a bird. Bird Averitt. Kentucky's great shooter was flying high Wednesday night, scoring 31 points as the Colonels walloped the Spirits of St. Louis 98-81 in the American Basketball Association. "I had a good night," Averitt said, "but I'm more glad we won the game — we have so much to prove, we're the defending champs." Not only did Averitt contribute a season-high point total to the Colonels' victory, but Kentucky's Birdman also collected eight assists and held Spirits guard Freddie Lewis to just eight points — 11 below his average. "I thought he did a tremendous job of applying pressure to Lewis," said Kentucky Coach Hubie Brown. "Freddie had an off-night, but I think that Bird had something to do with it." In the other ABA games, the Utah Stars humbled the New York Nets 134-114 and the San Antonio Spurs drubbed the Virginia Squires 144-112. Averitt and Louie Dampier sparked a Kentucky surge early in the second half, leading the Colonels to their easy victory. While the Spirits missed their first 17 shots of the second half, the two Kentucky guards picked apart the St. Louis defense as the Colonels won for the seventh time in eight games. Dampier pumped in four long jump shots and Averitt hit three layups before the Spirits scored their first field goal 4 1/2 minutes into the quarter. Center Maurice Lucas scored 27 points to top St. Louis, which held slim leads in the first half before Kentucky pulled ahead for a 43-41 lead at intermission. Kentucky center Artis Gilmore contributed 14 points and a game-high 19 rebounds. Stars 134, Nets 114 — Last-place Utah snapped out of a five-game losing streak as Ron Boone scored 35 points to lead the Stars over New York. The Utah starting lineup played most of the way and all five starters ended up in double figures. After Boone, it was John Roche with 28, Steven Green with 21, in Eakins 19 and Randy Denton 18. Julius Erving wound up with 30 points for the Nets and Rich Jones chipped in 24.

Private Auction Planned

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Basketball Association is holding a private auction today and the Philadelphia 76ers are the special guests. The Sixers, of the National Basketball Association, have been invited to bring suitcases of money and make a bid for Caldwell Jones, a 6-foot-11 center from the defunct San Diego Sails. Jones has signed a future contract with Philadelphia already, but he can't join the Sixers until the 1977-78 season because he still owes the ABA two years. Philadelphia, which could certainly use the talented Jones, can get him immediately if the price is right. And the ABA, which has been less than successful at the boxoffice, can certainly use the money. The Sixers say they don't much care for the meat-market approach to purchasing players but they'll show anyway. "We're going to New York. Since we want to avoid any litigation, we're not looking for any legal hassles," said Philadelphia General Manager Pat Williams. "We have signed him to play for us 1 1/2 years from now. We're in no rush. "We can wait that long but if we can get him now we'd like to get him now. But we're not going to engage in any auction bidding for him." Jones was held out of Wednesday's dispersal draft of the Sails, which folded up Tuesday. The remaining San Diego players were put up for auction within the ABA with the league putting a price on their heads and clubs bidding. Only three players were chosen — forward Mark Olberding by San Antonio and both forward Dave Robisch and guard Dwight Lamar by Indiana. Everyone else was bypassed and will be placed on waivers. San Diego was the second ABA franchise to strike its colors this year, the Baltimore Claws having folded up four days before the season began. Three others — St. Louis, Virginia and Utah — are rumored in trouble. All of which, according to Williams, puts Philadelphia in a strong bargaining position. "It looks like the ABA is going under," said Williams. "They've already lost two teams. There's more pressure on the ABA than on us. The ABA wouldn't get anything for Jones a year from now. "Maybe Caldwell Jones will go to a judge and say he doesn't like being treated like a piece of meat," he added.

Buffaloes Out For Even Mark

SHALLOWATER — The Stanton Buffaloes oppose Shallowater here Friday night to meet the winless Mustangs, and will be trying for a victory to end the season at 5-5. The contest will begin at 7:30. Shallowater has been having its problems this year, losing all nine contests, while the Buffaloes of Coach Bob Richardson have been up and down over the season. Following last Friday night's rout of O'Donnell, the Buffs are up, and Richardson feels his team will be ready to play football Friday night. "The kids have had a good attitude in practice this week and they know we have to win this game to keep from being losers this year and ending the season on a losing note," Richardson commented. The red team's injury situation is not as grave as previously feared, with

Private Auction Planned

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Basketball Association is holding a private auction today and the Philadelphia 76ers are the special guests. The Sixers, of the National Basketball Association, have been invited to bring suitcases of money and make a bid for Caldwell Jones, a 6-foot-11 center from the defunct San Diego Sails. Jones has signed a future contract with Philadelphia already, but he can't join the Sixers until the 1977-78 season because he still owes the ABA two years. Philadelphia, which could certainly use the talented Jones, can get him immediately if the price is right. And the ABA, which has been less than successful at the boxoffice, can certainly use the money. The Sixers say they don't much care for the meat-market approach to purchasing players but they'll show anyway. "We're going to New York. Since we want to avoid any litigation, we're not looking for any legal hassles," said Philadelphia General Manager Pat Williams. "We have signed him to play for us 1 1/2 years from now. We're in no rush. "We can wait that long but if we can get him now we'd like to get him now. But we're not going to engage in any auction bidding for him." Jones was held out of Wednesday's dispersal draft of the Sails, which folded up Tuesday. The remaining San Diego players were put up for auction within the ABA with the league putting a price on their heads and clubs bidding. Only three players were chosen — forward Mark Olberding by San Antonio and both forward Dave Robisch and guard Dwight Lamar by Indiana. Everyone else was bypassed and will be placed on waivers. San Diego was the second ABA franchise to strike its colors this year, the Baltimore Claws having folded up four days before the season began. # Erxleben Has Sore Toe AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas freshman Russell Erxleben, the second-leading punter in the Southwest Conference, may not punt against Texas Christian Saturday because he didn't take time to get a new shoe when his shoe zipper broke in the Baylor game. Erxleben, averaging 41.9 yards a kick, tried to kick off in his sock foot last Saturday after the shoe came off, and he jammed a toe. If he is unable to punt, defensive halfback Paul Jette will handle that chore. Jette has punted once this season for 34 yards.

CRANBERRY TWIN TURKEYS Thanksgiving Duo

For a doubly super Thanksgiving, consider two smaller birds rather than a huge one — easier to store, handle, season and roast. Each can be tastefully different, with its own cranberry glaze and stuffing. Both will be delectably savory — one piquantly spicy, and its twin succulently sweet. Along with your turkey twins serve a berry fruitful relish. Thanksgiving with a tantalizing difference!

CRANBERRY TWIN TURKEYS

Make the two stuffings and the two sauces for glazing as directed. Stuff each turkey with a different stuffing just before placing them into the oven. Sprinkle turkeys inside and out with salt and pepper. Stuff turkeys and sew or skewer opening. Place turkeys on a rack side by side in a shallow roasting pan. If turkeys become too brown, cover with foil tents. Roast turkeys at 350 degrees as usual. Thirty minutes before turkeys are ready spoon over half of each of the glazes. Remove from oven and place turkeys on a large platter. Spoon remaining glazes over turkeys again. Garnish with parsley sprigs and green grapes.

CRANBERRY-MAPLE GLAZE SAUCE

(Enough glaze for 10 pound turkey)

½ cup melted butter or margarine
1 tsp maple flavoring
1 tsp cornstarch
1 cup cranberry juice cocktail

In a saucepan, mix butter, maple flavoring and cornstarch. Gradually stir in cranberry juice cocktail. Stir over low heat until sauce bubbles and thickens.

CRANBERRY FRUITED STUFFING

(Enough stuffing for 10 pound turkey)

½ cup butter or margarine
2 large onions, chopped
1 can (11 ounces) mandarin oranges, undrained
½ tsp nutmeg
1 loaf (1 pound) bread, cut into cubes
2 cups fresh cranberries

1 tsp salt
2 tsp poultry seasoning
¼ tsp black pepper

In a large skillet melt butter and sauté onions until golden. Stir in remaining ingredients. Mix well and use mixture to stuff turkey. If any stuffing is left over it may be baked in a greased casserole for 1 hour.

CRANBERRY SOY GLAZE SAUCE

(Enough glaze for 10 pound turkey)

1 can (1 pound) jellied cranberry sauce
¼ cup soy sauce
1 tsp garlic powder
¼ cup sherry

Press cranberry sauce through a sieve and stir in remaining ingredients.

CRANBERRY BACON STUFFING

(Enough stuffing for 10 pound turkey)

½ pound bacon, diced
2 cups chopped celery
2 cups shredded carrots
4 cups bread cubes
1 cup cranberry juice cocktail
1 tsp salt
1 cup chopped parsley

In a large saucepan fry bacon until crisp. Sauté celery and carrots in bacon drippings until wilted. Stir in remaining ingredients. Use mixture to stuff turkey.

SPICED FRUITS

(Serves 6 to 8)

2 cups fresh cranberries
½ cup sugar
½ cup water
Juice of 1 orange
2 cups stemmed seedless green grapes
1 pear, cored and diced
2 cups diced canned peaches
2 cinnamon sticks
8 whole cloves

In a large saucepan mix cranberries, sugar, water and orange juice. Bring to a boil, lower heat and then simmer 5 to 6 minutes or until cranberries are tender. Stir in remaining ingredients until ready to serve. When ready to serve, remove whole spices. Recipe can be doubled to feed a larger group.

DOUBLE TURKEY TREATS — Offer the Thanksgiving gathering a choice of spicy or sweet turkey. Served with the traditional Thanksgiving side dishes or other cranberry recipes, these turkeys will surprise and delight the family.

Holiday Dessert

For an easy yet elegant holiday dessert whip some cream and sweeten lightly with powdered sugar. Fold in 2 tablespoons green creme de menthe and chill. Fold in well drained, canned sliced peach slices. Serve in sherbet glasses.

Create A Harvest Of Fresh Cranberry Dishes

Plentiful fresh cranberries yield a host of recipe ideas, from a grand cranberry glazed ham to an elegant cranberry relish mold. All can be made now with fresh berries, or later with frozen fresh cranberries. To freeze, simply pop the boxes or bags of berries into your freezer. When ready to use, just rinse and follow recipe directions.

CRANBERRY GLAZED HAM

(Serves 12 to 14)

1 smoked precooked whole ham, about 10 to 12 pounds
Whole cloves
2 cups sugar
4 tsp dry mustard
1 cup water
4 cups (1 pound) Ocean Spray fresh or frozen fresh cranberries
1 cup burgundy

Score ham fat into diamonds. Press a whole clove into each diamond. Place ham into a shallow roasting pan and roast in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) for 1 hour. In a saucepan combine sugar, mustard and water; stir until smooth; add remaining ingredients; cook at a boil until cranberries are tender, about 10 minutes. Remove ham from oven and spread with some of the glaze. Return to oven for 30 minutes. Remove from oven and place on platter. Spoon some warmed glaze over ham. Cut ham into slices to serve with some of the glaze spooned over each serving.

BERRY MUFFINS

(Makes 1½ dozen)

1 cup Ocean Spray fresh cranberries, chopped
½ cup sugar
1 tsp grated orange peel
1 beaten egg
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup orange juice
2 lbs cooking oil
2 cups packaged biscuit mix

Mix cranberries, ½ cup sugar, and orange peel; set aside. Combine egg, ¼ cup sugar, orange juice, and cooking oil. Add all at once to biscuit mix. Stir just till moistened. Fold in cranberry mixture. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full. Bake in 400 degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes or till done.

CRANBERRY NUT BREAD

(Makes 1 9x5x3-inch loaf)

4 lbs butter or margarine

CRANBERRY CREATIONS — Cranberries do not have to be served as a sauce or jelly. These recipes are a few examples of the many ways cranberries can be used. From the top clockwise are cranberry glazed ham, berry muffins, cranberry nut bread and cranberry relish mold.

¾ cup sugar
2 eggs
2 tsp grated lemon peel
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2½ tsp baking powder
1 tsp salt
¾ cup milk
1 cup fresh cranberries, chopped
½ cup chopped mixed candied fruits and peels
½ cup chopped walnuts
2 tsp lemon juice
2 lbs sugar

Cream together butter and the ¾ cup sugar till light and fluffy. Add eggs and lemon peel; beat well. Sift together flour, baking powder, and salt; add to creamed mixture alternately with milk, beating till smooth after each addition. Stir in cranberries, mixed fruits and peels, and nuts. Pour into greased 9x5x3-inch pan. Bake in 350 degree oven for 55 to 65 minutes. Let cool in pan 10 minutes. Remove from pan; cool. Combine lemon juice and 2 lbs. sugar; spoon over top. Wrap; store overnight.

CRANBERRY RELISH MOLD

(Makes 10 to 12 servings)

1 pkg. (3 ounces) lemon-flavored gelatin
1 pkg. (3 ounces) cherry-flavored gelatin
½ cup sugar
3 cups boiling water
1 the lemon juice
1 can (8¾ ounces) crushed pineapple
2 cups (½ pound) fresh cranberries
1 small orange, quartered and seeded
1 cup diced celery
½ cup chopped walnuts

Dissolve lemon gelatin, cherry gelatin, and sugar in the 3 cups boiling water. Add lemon juice and undrained crushed pineapple. Chill till partially set. Put cranberries and orange through grinder. Fold into gelatin mixture along with the celery and nuts. Pour into 8½ cup mold. Chill till firm. Unmold on lettuce leaves.

SECTION B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1975 SECTION B

Juices Can Contribute

Foods are sometimes more nutritious when they are served in certain combinations. That is, one food will help the body absorb nutrients from another food more readily.

Iron is an example. Here is a nutrient that is vital in the human diet and often is deficient in some areas of Texas and much of Mexico. Scientists have found that the simple expedient of adding orange juice to such staple fare as tortillas and beans can provide four times as much available iron as the same meal with coffee.

The reason is that orange juice, or any citrus juice, contains ascorbic acid, an effective iron reducing agent. It works with almost all foods, and is of special interest in Mexico where a study is under way to determine which food combinations are best from the iron standpoint.

Helping with the survey is Dr. George W. Bates of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, who has just returned from a seven-week study trip in Mexico. While there, he helped nutritionists develop a system of finding those food combinations which allow greater iron assimilation by the body.

Blood chemistry and the importance of iron to good health are Bates' research specialty. Not long ago, he and his Experiment Station coworkers discovered a protein within the red blood cell that appears to pick up iron from the cell membranes and makes it available to the cell's hemoglobin synthesizing processes.

His research also has developed a highly accurate and dependable method of measuring the amount of unsaturated iron binding protein in the blood. The test is especially significant in light of a recent 10-state survey indicating serious iron deficiencies in large portions of the population. Texas was included in that survey.

Bates' research has been well received. He has presented papers at worldwide meetings in the United States, Ireland, Hungary and Israel. His latest invitation was the seven-week study trip to Mexico City.

During those weeks, he taught a course in iron metabolism, which attracted physicians, chemists, blood specialists and students to the classes at the Universidad Nacional Autonoma de Mexico.

Can't Run Government By Polls, Says Solon

OMAR BURLESON, M.C.
17th DISTRICT, TEXAS

WASHINGTON, D.C. — "Public Opinion is tested by pollsters on about every subject of what they perceive to be of national interest. According to George Gallup of the Gallup Poll, the pollsters are beginning to run into trouble, and he says that there is a threat to the long-term viability of the profession.

There is no doubt that the constant and all-pervasive sampling of public opinion on matters of high national policy has, at times, distorted the political process. It has been suggested that people are being "turned off" to some of the opinion-takers who are surveyed because they believe their advice and opinions count for nothing. The usefulness of opinions in marketing, if objectively made, is not disputed. When it gets into the political realm, however, sampling are another thing. Policy-makers and those who must make weighty decisions are not to make them on the basis of what the pollsters say they find out. Decisions of this nature must be done by a process of persuasion and education that public opinion supports. There is no such thing as instant democracy which could, if carried to extremes, pervert responsibility. It could, in the extreme, represent an abdication of basic responsibility if decisions are made by the findings of the pollsters.

In recent years it has been the practice of politicians to run a survey on how well their election chances might be. Four years ago, a Congressman from Iowa had a survey conducted which told him he could not win a seat in the United States Senate. The poll indicated the incumbent Senator could not be defeated. The House member's administrative assistant thought otherwise. He announced and was elected. Of course, this does not conclusively prove everything, with all the factors which may be involved, but it may prove something.

Last week, the well-known Louis Harris poll, taken among a nationwide section of adults, reports that a "massive 69-18 percent" of the American people favor federally guaranteed loans to New York City. The question was conditioned on the premise, "...if New York City balances its budget." In all fairness to the poll, it should be noted that the survey reports that Americans are willing to give federal guarantees to the city only "under stiff and firm terms." Those stiff and firm terms are not very clearly defined and certainly they are not guaranteed to work. It should also be noted that the poll was paid for by New York State sources and was done in six days.

This is the sort of thing we are urged to support by reason of a pollster's conclusions. Our judgment is certainly not infallible but whatever opinion is reached will not be influenced by the Harris Poll.

TWO-HEADED RATTLER JOINS EXHIBIT — A new star attraction is on the bill for the traveling exhibit of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. Making its debut is a live, two-headed rattlesnake found by eight-year-old Michele Deopenschmidt in the driveway of her home near Braunfels. Her family decided to donate the reptile to the department.

Ordered Jailed Until Tractor Is Returned

AUSTIN (AP) — M.L. Smyers of Smith County (Tyler) must go to jail until he "purges himself of contempt" by returning a Caterpillar tractor that he sold out of state, the Supreme Court said today.

The First National Bank of Whitehouse held a lien on the tractor to secure notes of Ray Claborn. When the bank failed to collect on the notes, its investigation led to Smyers.

The bank got a temporary restraining order that was served on Smyers on Aug. 8, but, according to testimony before a trial court, he refused to read the papers and threw them on the floor "so that they would not legally bind him."

Smyers gave "a belligerent reception" to a sheriff's deputy and a bank investigator when the papers were served, then threatened to whip the investigator, court records show.

Smyers reportedly claimed to have sold the tractor out of state on Aug. 4 and did not know where it was.

The deputy and investigator went to one of Smyers' places of business "within 30 minutes" and found him loading a tractor on a trailer, they said. The deputy drove off to get the investigator out of the way and radioed the sheriff, who arrived after the tractor had been removed.

Smyers' son, Jimmy D. Smyers, "drove up and clapped his hands in glee to announce that the tractor was then in Oklahoma where no one could do anything about it," the high court said.

Your savings may be costing you money.

Your savings are earning interest, right? But are they earning as much as they could be? If not, your savings are actually costing you money.

The truth of the matter is that many financial institutions, including banks and credit unions, are simply not structured to pay the highest interest rates. In fact, some can't even guarantee payment of the interest rates they quote.

And other kinds of investments have even higher degrees of risk. For example, mutual funds and other stock investments don't even guarantee return of the money you put in, much less earnings.

If you want to make the most of what you've got, and you want guaranteed interest rates, you've got to go to a savings specialist. Like First Federal Savings and Loan.

We call ourselves savings specialists because we can offer you higher guaranteed interest rates, more specialized savings-related services, and more ways to save than anyone in town.

And if none of our standard plans fit your particular needs, we'll custom tailor a savings plan specifically for you, whereby you can receive your interest checks any way you want. Monthly, quarterly, semi-annually or annually.

The following are just a few of the many special services and savings plans available to you from First Federal:

PASSBOOK SAVINGS Our Passbook Savings account is basically the same as a regular savings account offered by a bank — only our interest rates are higher. Passbook Savings earn a full 5½% interest compounded daily, and paid daily. For example, if you make a deposit and withdraw it three days later, you'll be paid interest for the three days your money was on deposit.

Anyone can open a Passbook Savings account with only a $5.00 deposit. There are no term restrictions. You can make deposits and withdrawals whenever you want. And with our new convenient, easy-to-use Tele-Transfer service, you can transfer money from your Passbook account to your checking account with just a phone call.

CERTIFICATES OF DEPOSIT First Federal offers you four Certificate of Deposit savings plans to choose from.

- 4-year plan (min. $5,000) earns 7½% interest
- 2½-year plan (min. $1,000) earns 6¾% interest
- 1-year plan (min. $1,000) earns 6½% interest
- 6-month plan (min. $1,000) earns 5¾% interest

Interest on all of our Certificate of Deposit savings plans is compounded daily and distributed quarterly.

SELF-EMPLOYED PENSION PLAN (KEOGH) This plan is designed for the individual who wants to establish a retirement plan for both himself and his employees. All contributions are TAX DEDUCTIBLE. You don't have to pay any income tax on either the contributions or interest until you begin drawing funds.

INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNT (IRA) This plan is designed for employed individuals, not currently participating in a retirement plan. Self-employed persons are eligible, but are not required to include employees in this plan.

All contributions are TAX DEDUCTIBLE. You don't have to pay any income tax on the money you contribute to the plan or the interest it earns until you start drawing funds.

AUTOMATIC DEPOSIT OF SOCIAL SECURITY PAYMENTS This service allows you to deposit your Social Security check in your savings account without lifting a finger. The check is sent directly from the U.S. Department of Treasury to First Federal.

And deposit is guaranteed. You never have to worry about losing it. What's more, our new Tele-Transfer allows you to transfer as much of it as you want to your checking account. All it takes is one phone call.

INTEREST COMPOUNDED DAILY Interest on all First Federal Savings Plans is compounded daily. That means that if you leave your Passbook savings on deposit a full year, or your Certificates of Deposit until they mature, your money actually earns more interest than quoted as our standard rates.

Here's how it works. When you make a deposit, your money (principal) starts earning paid interest the first day. Then each day following, the interest on your principal is compounded along with the interest accumulated from the preceding day or days. So if you have a Passbook account which earns 5.25% daily, and you leave your principal on deposit for a full year, you have actually earned 5.39% interest at the end of the year.

The following chart shows how much interest (percentage-wise) your savings actually earns annually when the principal is left on deposit until maturity, and the interest is compounded daily.

STANDARD INTEREST RATE	TYPE OF SAVINGS PLAN	ACTUAL PERCENTAGE OF INTEREST PAID ANNUALLY
7.50%	4-year Certificate of Deposit	7.79%
6.75%	2½-year Certificate of Deposit	6.98%
6.50%	1-year Certificate of Deposit	6.72%
5.75%	6-month Certificate of Deposit	5.92%
5.25%	Passbook account	5.39%

All things considered, it just makes better sense to save the First Federal way.

For more information about any of the services or savings plans outlined above, drop by First Federal today. Or call Mrs. Margie Hill or any of our other savings counselors at 267-8252.

Political Budget Battles Harmed Finances

EDITOR'S NOTE: New York City says it is close to the day when it can not pay its bills. Nearly two years of fiscal crises have preceded a threatened city default. Part two of a three-part series looks at some of the recent history of the crisis.

By LEE MITGANG
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — An annual feature of New York City's rough-and-tumble politics has been the budget battle between mayors and the city's chief fiscal officers, the independently elected comptrollers.

The political stakes in those battles have always been the mayoralty, and Mayor Abraham D. Beame, when he was comptroller in the 1960s, fought long and loud with former Mayor John V. Lindsay over budgets.

But in June 1974, Comptroller Harrison J. Goldin opened a battle with Mayor Beame that became more bitter than any in memory.

Many now say the Goldin-Beame rift and the resulting blow to investor confidence in the city's management and candor, marks the beginning of a year-and-a-half chain of crises that has pushed the city to the edge of financial collapse.

In his opening shot on June 6, 1974, Goldin claimed that the 1975 Beame budget proposal was $87 million in the red, and criticized $700 million in questionable budget balancing tactics.

"Are you suggesting that $700 million be cut from the budget?" Beame responded angrily. "If so, where do you suggest we cut?"

Four days before Goldin's comment, state Comptroller Arthur Levitt had accused the city of using hundreds of millions of borrowed dollars improperly to fund expense items such as library books, architect fees, and even interest on other bonds. Those statements brought further uneasiness to the bond market.

The next time the city went to the market — which a year later would be completely closed to it — these comments led to an 8.58 per cent interest rate on its note, the highest rate in the city's history to that date.

Beame, meanwhile, more confident after getting state approval of his $11.1-billion budget plus $270-million in new taxing authority to help balance it, hinted there might be a deficit at the end of the year but added he saw no room for budget cuts.

The Goldin-Beame rift reached new heights on Nov. 30, 1974, when Goldin charged the city's budget gap was $650 million, $250 million higher than Beame's estimates.

Three days after Goldin's comments, the city was forced to accept a new record 9.48 per cent interest rate to float a $600 million note.

Beame blamed Goldin for the high rate, saying: "It was poor judgment and unfortunate. Coming as it did before a note sale, undoubtedly it was reflected in the incredibly high interest rate."

Meanwhile Beame, prior to the note sale, ordered $100 million in budget economics including 1,500 layoffs. He rejected as "too harsh" proposals for 20,000 layoffs.

Later in December, Beame in a "Phase II" of budget austerities announced 3,725 city employees would be cut from the payrolls, bringing total job cuts in the 1975 fiscal year to nearly 8,000.

On Jan. 7, 1975, the city received one bid on a $620 million note issue, and Beame and Goldin termed the 9.4 per cent rate "unfair, unwarranted and outrageously high," adding that it "raises serious questions about the city's current treatment by lending institutions."

The city's unions, particularly the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association covering police, grew restive as Beame's austerities gathered steam. The PBA threatened strike action Jan. 15 if unbuffered police were laid off.

Beame persuaded city unions to forego certain contract rights and announced no more layoffs were needed to balance his 1975 budget. But he warned on Feb. 15 that the 1976 budget due to be submitted in June would be $1.68 billion out of balance without new taxes and state and federal aid.

Meanwhile the market for city bonds on Wall Street was collapsing. Bond buyers, already jittery about the city's declining credibility, were faced on Feb. 25 with the default by the state Urban Development Corp. of $104 million in notes. It was the first major government agency to fail to pay its debts on time since the Depression.

Three days later, with big city banks demanding hard facts on the city's budget health, Goldin announced cancellation of a $260 million note sale. Goldin declined the banks' request for information, stating that it "could not physically be compiled, checked and certified in the short time available."

On March 6, the city floated a $337 million bond anticipation note at 8.69 per cent. It proved to be the last time the city successfully raised money on the bond market.

On April 2, Standard & Poor's bond rating service suspended its "A" rating on the city's general obligation bonds, because of the city's "rapidly deteriorating ability to raise money in the capital markets," and "the inability or unwillingness of the major underwriting banks to continue to purchase the city's bonds and notes."

Two days later, city officials admitted that only 2,000 layoffs had been carried out under the mayor's austerity program. At the same time, the state took the heat off the city's cash crisis temporarily by advancing $400 million in revenue sharing money. Attention shifted to the 1976 budget.

Up to the last minute in June, Beame practiced the customary brinkmanship in trying to sell the state government on a $12.8 billion budget with a $641.5 million deficit. The earlier $1.68 billion budget gap estimate was lowered by $880 million by a proposed property tax hike.

This year, an unsympathetic state legislature and financial community wouldn't accept that sort of budget. Meanwhile, President Ford rejected a city request for $1 billion in aid, the first rejection of many from Washington.

Beame responded by submitting an alternative "crisis budget" of $11.9 billion involving 51,000 job layoffs and raising fears of service cuts that might be dangerous to civil peace in the city.

On the night of June 10, with the city faced with default on $700 million in debts the next day, Gov. Hugh Carey introduced a new word and agency into the crisis — Big MAC, a nickname for the state-authored Municipal Assistance Corp.

The formation of MAC enabled the city and state to piece together enough cash to stave off default last June, through issuance of MAC bonds backed by sales and security taxes.

Weeks later, Beame agreed reluctantly to a $12.087 billion budget for fiscal 1976, which he said would "in one cruel stroke" end the jobs of 30,000 city workers.

MAC quickly ran into trouble on the bond market in July where despite an "A-plus" rating by Standard & Poor's, the agency's first $1 billion bond offering was sold at a high 9 per cent interest.

A five-month ceasefire between Goldin and Beame ended that month, when Goldin in a confidential report said the city's "hidden deficit" — the result of years of budget juggling and questionable accounting — was $1.8 billion. City and state officials later conceded that the true deficit accumulated over the year was $3.4 billion.

Reaction to the city's 1976 austerity budget was swift from the unions. Sanitation men, faced with 3,000 threatened layoffs, illegally struck the city for three days, and Beame agreed to reinstate them.

He also agreed to hire back 2,000 police and other city workers who had been cut as a result of the budget.

MAC officials and Gov. Carey, meanwhile, worked feverishly to convince banks and the nation's investors that the city would take the steps needed to restore fiscal integrity. Increasingly, that meant MAC and the state took over most of Mayor Beame's power over the budget.

Taxes and fares increased. Subway fares increased from 35 cents to 50 cents on July 31 and the famous nickel-Staten Island ferry ride was raised to 25 cents. Layoffs increased to approximately 36,000.

With many believing the city would default eventually without federal help, President Ford included the city's problems in his speeches in places as far away as Belgrade, Yugoslavia. New Yorkers "don't know how to handle money," he told that nation.

The city was saved from default again Aug. 14 when the city's banks agreed to buy any of the $275 million MAC issue that wasn't sold to private investors.

It fell to the unions to save the city from default several times in September. The unions' pension funds provided $100 million to the city to prevent a default on Sept. 5.

The state also began borrowing heavily on behalf of the city, beginning with $250 million.

The state's deepening involvement became a growing concern on Wall Street, which lowered the state's as well as the city's bond ratings several notches in September and October.

Oct. 17 was the city's narrowest escape from disaster, when hours away from default on $443 million in notes and other obligations, the Teachers Union president, Albert Shanker, agreed to spend $150 million in union retirement funds, triggering a state package that made up the balance.

Shanker, in return for the money, got the city's assurance that his union and others would not be called on to pour pension dollars into a city rescue again. This left nowhere to turn but Washington, which has refused the city aid. New York City thus faces default early in December.

Workmen's Comp Rates Hike Urged

AUSTIN (AP) — State Insurance Board actuaries today recommended a 7.1 per cent average increase in workmen's compensation rates, effective March 1, 1976.

Insurance industry spokesmen, however, asked for more, while the Texas Manufacturers Association sought formula changes that would result in a smaller increase.

Board staff members recommended the following increases, by category of industry:

- Manufacturing 11.6 per cent.
- Contracting 3.4 per cent.
- Oil 5 per cent.
- All others 7.1 per cent.

The National Council on Compensation Insurance requested a 9.7 per cent overall increase, but also sought a change in the method for predicting future claims costs that would push the rate of increase even higher.

Charles Porter, board actuary, said the combined effect of the council's request would be a 13.8 per cent increase.

Jim Yancy, vice president and general counsel of the Texas Manufacturers Association, said employers are paying $611.6 million a year in workmen's compensation premiums.

He suggested a reduction in the 17.5 per cent of each premium dollar that is allowed for "acquisition costs," saying that commissions paid to agents only amount to 5 per cent to 10 per cent.

EXPLOSION'S AFTERMATH — Sheriff's deputies examine site north of Tucson where three men target shooting Tuesday were killed when a bullet touched off explosives inside a reinforced concrete shed. The explosion blew out windows in a two-mile radius, and even splintered trees, like the one at right.

$200,000 Bond Issue Up To Stanton Voters

STANTON — Stanton voters go to the polls Saturday to approve or reject $200,000 in bonds, which the city council says is needed to improve city streets here.

Some of the thoroughfares in town have badly deteriorated. The council hired an Andrews engineer to study the problem. It was preliminary work of ripping up the old streets over the winter. The paving and resurfacing would probably start as early as next June.

Passage of the bond would necessitate a tax hike, in that the city's evaluation rate would have to be raised from 50 to 65 per cent of actual value.

Jimmy Mathis, city manager, said the paving program would not involve an assessment against each property owner, as some had supposed.

Bullock Says State 'In Best Shape Ever'

AUSTIN (AP) — Comptroller Bob Bullock said today the state's 1975 business period ended Aug. 31 with $1.4 billion in the treasury, $200 million more than a year ago.

predicted that the next two-year period could be financed without additional taxes if the 1977 legislature follows his recommendations for economy in government.

"We're in the best shape ever for now," Bullock said in a statement, "but our analysis consistently shows that if spending increases as usual in 1977 (the next year the legislature meets), we'll face a tax bill in the $1 billion range."

Bullock said in his report that the state had $6.9 billion in the 1975 business year to pay for $5.5 billion in expenditures.

The 1975 legislature approved a $12.1 billion spending bill for the two-year period ending Aug. 31 1977, which Bullock certified was covered by expected revenue.

"The real story is that revenue increased because of inflationary prices while the tax base remained the same," he said. "And spending jumped 21 per cent over the previous year. If legislators want to increase spending another 25-30 per cent in the next biennium, they better have that billion dollar tax bill ready."

TEA Won't Enforce Fee Ban Decision

DALLAS (AP) — Texas Education Commissioner Marlin Brockette says his agency will make no moves to enforce the state attorney general's opinion that says certain traditional fees charged to students by schools are unauthorized and illegal.

Brockette said Wednesday that, although TEA feels that the opinion, which attacked fees such as drivers education, band uniforms rental and others, is the law of the state, he will not enforce it unless a formal complaint is filed.

"We will not take any action, either through withholding accreditation or other action unless we get complaints that laws are being violated," he said.

But school board member Robert Medrano said that he and others are getting ready to challenge the school district which voted a resolution Tuesday authorizing the continued collection of some student fees.

The school board's resolution authorized schools to collect fees for drivers education, locks for lockers, club memberships and band uniforms. All were mentioned by Atty. Gen. John Hill as being unauthorized.

The resolution said the district would pay for workbooks, lab manuals, art education supplies and shop equipment and supplies and would pick up the tab for any uniforms necessary for physical education classes.

Officials said the estimated cost for the rest of the school year would be $246,000.

'Kojak' Praises The Queen

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Telly Savalas, who portrays a tough New York City detective, Theo Kojak, on television, has some good things to say about Queen Elizabeth II of England, for whom he performed earlier this week.

"The Queen asked me intelligent questions and seemed to know a lot about cinema. She is a very charming and gracious lady," Savalas told reporters here Wednesday. He arrived here from London, where he sang at a London Palladium performance attended by the Queen.

Moynihan Challenges U.N. To 'Practice What They Preach'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States has challenged all countries to release their political prisoners and apply to themselves the same standards they demand of Chile and South Africa.

"Unless we care about political prisoners everywhere, we don't really care about them anywhere," U.S. Ambassador Daniel P. Moynihan said Wednesday, launching a human-rights offensive at the United Nations.

Moynihan introduced in the General Assembly's social affairs committee a resolution appealing to all countries to proclaim unconditional amnesty for all political prisoners.

He denied the American proposal was in retaliation for the assembly's adoption on Monday of the resolution terming Zionism a form of racism.

He said the United States recently voted for resolutions calling for freedom for political prisoners in South Africa and Chile, "in the company of nations whose own internal conditions are as repressive or more so."

Moynihan said the United States is concerned "not only that the language of human rights is being distorted and perverted," but also that "more and more, the United Nations seems only to know where it is still possible to protest such violations.

"Our suspicions are that there could be a design to use the issue of human rights to undermine the legitimacy of precisely those nations which still observe human rights, imperfect as that observance may be."

As an example, he said many of the charges of denial of human rights in Israel come from legal opposition parties in Israel, including Arab parties that have access to "the freest Arab-language press in the world," that published within Israel.

Similarly, he said, much of the information about abuses in South Africa and Chile is available to the world because those countries still permit certain freedoms which some of their accusers do not.

Moynihan said 23 of the countries sponsoring the resolution against South Africa and 16 of those sponsoring the one against Chile had political prisoners themselves, according to the periodic survey of freedom by Freedom House, a U.S. organization that evaluates political and civil liberties around the world.

A U.S. official said Moynihan would name the countries in a later speech. But according to the Freedom House ratings, they are Algeria, Bulgaria, Cuba, Cyprus, Dahomey, East Germany, Equatorial Guinea, Ghana, Guinea, Haiti, Guinea-Bissau, Guyana, Hungary, Jordan, Libya, Mali, Mauritania, Mongolia, Nepal, Peru, Poland, Romania, Senegal, Somalia, Sudan, Syria, Tanzania, Yugoslavia and South Yemen.

Freedom House also named the Soviet Union, but it is not a sponsor of the resolutions condemning South Africa or Chile.

Ford Will Ask For Truck Deregulation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford plans to ask Congress to modify federal regulation of the trucking industry sharply in an attempt to increase competition and lower consumer costs.

The proposed legislation being sent to Congress today would remove much of the federal red tape that now keeps trucking firms from raising or lowering their prices quickly to meet changing marketing conditions. It also would limit the authority of rate bureaus, the trucking organizations that set common fares for their members.

Portions of the White House plan are expected to draw opposition both from trucking firms and from the Interstate Commerce Commission, which regulates the agency.

The proposal would set up a so-called "zone of reasonableness" for rate changes that would allow the trucking firms to raise or lower their fares within certain percentage limits without fear of the ICC suspending the rates and keeping the fares from going into effect.

The ICC still would have authority to investigate fares. It could rule rate changes illegal and order them revoked but could not keep the fares from taking effect while an investigation was underway.

The legislation also would allow trucks that now carry agricultural goods — and so are exempt from ICC regulation by act of Congress — to carry other commodities such as manufactured goods on return trips.

Currently, the ICC prohibits agriculture trucking firms from carrying other commodities on return trips unless the truck has been leased to a regulated carrier. The provision, designed to protect regulated carriers, results in some agricultural trucks running empty on return trips since few agricultural products move from city to rural areas.

The trucking proposal is the third major deregulation legislation submitted by the Ford administration. The administration earlier asked Congress to make similar changes in rules governing the nation's airlines and railroads.

Bentsen Says Reagan Has A Chance

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen, D-Tex., says Ronald Reagan has a good chance of getting the 1976 Republican presidential nomination and "it would be more fun to run against him."

Bentsen, who is seeking the Democratic presidential nomination, said Wednesday that President Ford's position against Reagan was weakened by last week's upheaval in the Ford Administration and by continued unemployment and inflation.

Bentsen said, however, that Reagan might find it difficult to wrest the GOP nomination away from an incumbent president.

Bentsen appeared at a $100-a-plate reception to raise money for his campaign.

Beame Gets Optimist Club Award In NYC

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Abraham D. Beame, who has had every reason to feel pessimistic about the city's problems, has at least one thing to be optimistic about, the annual award of the Optimist Club of New York.

Beame took time out from financial worries Wednesday to accept the club's award, which was dated October 17, the dark Friday when the city was saved from default by the skin of its teeth. The original City Hall ceremony that day was postponed because of the crisis.

"A pessimist is one who believes New York City will not make it," said Maurice Blond, the club's president. "Today, we honor the man who has carried the heaviest burden and the full brunt of the pessimists' attack."

PATTERNS AND PRINTS are making bigger news this carpet season than ever before... partly because the carpet manufacturers and designers are finding new ways to weave their wonders. You'll find designs and patterns in every kind of carpet fiber. Stripes are big, for instance, in wall-to-wall carpeting, wide areas of color being accented and defined by one or more bands of another color. One result, of course, is to add length, so striped installations are ideal for the room that needs visual extension.

But stripes are only one way to go. You can choose today's fine carpeting in rich solids, striking florals, intriguing two-tones, three-tones, even more. Some carpets combine different kinds of fiber for a textural contrast, often with different colors adding to the interest.

Prints are dramatically different and colorful too, especially in the low-level kitchen and indoor-outdoor carpeting that's just as much at home in a hallway, den or family room. Lively prints make these carpets look luxurious anywhere! Come in and see all the exciting new ways of today's find carpets. We have a finer selection and offer you value and expert service, too, with guaranteed installation by our specialists. Rely on our experience when you think carpet.

Ex-Wife Afraid Children Will Learn Father's Habits

DEAR ABBY: The woman who is responsible for making my ex-husband a perverser now may be causing the same kind of behavior in my sons.

We were divorced after two years of counseling that didn't do one bit of good. When I was gathering my ex-husband's things to pack him up and get him out of the house, I came across evidence that he is a sadist, masochist, exhibitionist, voyeur and transvestite!

He has visitation rights to take our sons for weekends subject to my approval, and when he does, he takes them to see his mother, who has caused all of these abnormalities in her son. Now I fear that she will make perversers out of her grandsons!

Please, Abby, help me to stop all this. My psychiatrist tells me to talk to my lawyer. My lawyer tells me to talk to my psychiatrist. I am sick of talking to both these men. Every time we talk, I get a bill.

What is your advice? At least it's free.

If CIA Plot Was Known, Commission Would Have Broadened Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the Warren Commission had received information about CIA plans to kill Cuban Premier Fidel Castro, it would have widened its investigation of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, the commission's assistant counsel says. Information that the CIA plotted to kill Castro was gathered during the Rockefeller Commission's recent probe of the intelligence agency. But that information never was reported to the Warren Commission, even though the director of the CIA, the late Allen Dulles, was a member of the commission, David W. Belin said Tuesday.

Belin also served as executive director of the Rockefeller Commission.

In testimony before a House subcommittee, Belin acknowledged that the Rockefeller panel earlier this year received information about CIA plots on the lives of foreign leaders, particularly Castro. He said that if similar data had been available to the Warren Commission before it ended its inquiry in 1964, "there would have been a broader investigation."

With the information about the CIA plots, the Warren Commission could have expanded its investigation to check into a theory that Castro played a role in the Kennedy assassination, he said. He added that the commission could also have checked into the possibility that Lee Harvey Oswald, whom the commission said acted alone in killing Kennedy, was motivated by CIA threats against Castro. Oswald reportedly admired the Cuban leader.

Belin also told the House government operations subcommittee on information and individual rights that the Warren Commission's data was overly classified and that all related documents available in the National Archives should be made public.

He said pictures of Kennedy after he was shot and autopsy reports should be released.
