Ford To Pick Black Veep?

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — President Ford indicated today he would consider a black running mate on the 1976 Republican presidential ticket.

"Certainly, Sen. Ed Brooke, by his record, is a person who ought to be considered," Ford said.

Ford made the statement during a questioning session with students at North Carolina Central University. His reference was to Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., who is black.

Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller has withdrawn from consideration as Ford's running mate.

Ford praised Brooke, the junior senator from Massachusetts, as a capable public official with qualifying experience as state attorney general and in the Senate.

"I like him personally," Ford said, "and he has an enviable record."

The President had been asked what blacks, if any, he was considering for a running mate.

The brief exchange came in a meeting with about a dozen student leaders.

Reporters were not able to ask the President for elaboration.

However, earlier in his visit to the black college, Ford had expressed a general interest in finding better positions for blacks and women.

Asked about a possible black appointment to the Cabinet, Ford mentioned William Coleman, already secretary of transportation.

Delay Three Criminal Cases Set For Trial

None of three criminal cases set for jury trial in 118th District Court Monday will be tried then.

District Judge Ralph W. Cator still has two civil suits scheduled then, however.

District Attorney Robert H. (Bob) Moore III said he plans to submit the bookmaking case to the grand jury for re-indictment.

Penny King, the victim named in the robbery indictment, is in Kansas, Moore said. And he said there was not time for Eusebio Morales' attorney to prepare for trial with this late notice.

Morales, 26, Coahoma, is accused of involuntary manslaughter in the death of Texas Highway Patrolman James W. (Jimmy) Parks.

David Paul Gamaleri, 20, is accused of the robbery.

And S. E. Haynie, 50, Lomax, is the defendant in the bookmaking case.

Senate Passes Oil Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today passed a 30-day extension of oil price controls, which were due to expire Saturday.

The legislation, approved and sent to the House by voice vote without debate, would give Congress until Dec. 15 to complete work on its comprehensive energy bill.

Without the emergency measures, oil companies would be free on Saturday to raise prices without government controls for the first time since Aug. 15, 1971.

White House spokesman Ron Nessen says President Ford has no objection to the brief extension of price controls but has not decided whether he will sign the comprehensive energy bill, with its price-rollback provisions.

A Senate-House conference committee completed work on that bill on Wednesday. The measure is so complex that it will take about a week for congressional aides to put the bill into final form for consideration by the House and Senate.

Franco's Heart Stopped

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Gen. Francisco Franco's heart stopped beating early today but was revived by massage, sources close to his medical team reported. The 82-year-old general then underwent a third major operation to stop internal hemorrhaging, the informants said.

The sources said the 82-year-old Spanish dictator's heart gave out at 3:30 a.m. local time — 9:30 p.m. Thursday EST — but began beating again after his doctors rushed to his side to administer heart massage at the government-run La Paz Clinic.

The report, confirmed by two independent sources, was not mentioned in a brief early morning statement by Franco's palace. The statement said only that the general had passed a quiet night, "without incident."

Law Academy Interest Perks

By MARJ CARPENTER

A revival of interest in law enforcement courses at Howard College was pointed up as a new proposal for a law enforcement academy was made at a meeting of the Howard College Law Enforcement Advisory Committee this morning.

Originally, Howard College had the first Law Enforcement Academy in West Texas. During the years when Howard County failed to join the Permian Basin Regional Planning Council, the designation of the academy by the Criminal Justice Committee was moved to another area community.

Although this designation cannot be recovered, grants for law enforcement courses can be obtained through other state and federal agencies which will again set up a full scale law enforcement academy here, college officials pointed out to the group attending the conference.

CAN OBTAIN FUNDS
Dr. Larry Key, dean of occupational education at the college, pointed out to the group, "We can obtain the funds. Our next budget will include the audio-visual needs and other needs for the courses. What we now need is pupils both on campus and at our extension courses at Lamesa and Goodfellow Air Force Base in San Angelo. If we come up with the pupils, we will have the courses."

John Massey, head of law enforcement courses at Howard College, pointed out that local law agencies and agencies in the two extension communities will be able to send their officers to school at a smaller cost than they are paying now.

Courses at Howard College will be designed to be held three nights a week so that officers can work during the day and still obtain training.

BASIC ACADEMY
There will be a basic academy for the courses required for certification. They also hope to set up an in-service training course to train persons wanting to learn to be law officers. They also are discussing reserve officer academy, transition courses for military personnel and in-service training courses such as defensive driving and first aid.

Speaking to the group on the success of the program in Amarillo College was Walter Eubanks, chairman of the Department of Public Safety Education. Eubanks was at one time a police captain in Big Spring from 1953-63 and later was chief at Sweetwater, then worked a year for the planning council in Abilene.

Eubanks detailed courses and their operation in Amarillo and gave advice toward setting up the program here.

Others at the head table were Dr. Charles Hays, college president and Theron Lee, chairman of extension and adult education.

ON THE INCREASE
It was noted that law enforcement classes were on the increase at the college and had jumped from seven offered last year to 11 this year.

Other college officials attending were Mrs. Johnnie Lou Avery, assistant to the president and Mrs. Anna Smith, dean of students.

Among others present for the discussion were Tom Locke, member of the steering committee, Sheriff A. N. Standard, Police Chief Stanley Bogard, Capt. Jack Jones, Jan Hyden and David Spilman of the Big Spring Police Department; Jack Gobel, security chief at the VA Hospital; Sgt. Pat Carney and Sgt. J. Holloway of Webb AFB security.

Kissinger Is Cited With Contempt Of Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House intelligence committee voted today to cite Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger for contempt of Congress for refusing to turn over subpoenaed documents on eight covert intelligence operations.

The contempt citation, proposed by Rep. Ronald V. Dellums, D-Calif., was approved 10 to 2. It now goes to the full House. If approved there, it would be turned over to a U.S. attorney for prosecution.

Conviction on a contempt citation carries a maximum penalty of a year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

The action marked the second time this week a congressional panel has voted to cite a Ford administration cabinet officer for contempt.

On Tuesday, the House interstate and foreign commerce subcommittee voted to cite Commerce Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton for refusing to turn over names of companies the Arabs have asked to participate in a boycott against Israel.

That citation will go to the Commerce Committee for consideration.

A resolution proposed by Rep. Robert Kasten Jr., R-Wis., that would have had the full House simply direct Kissinger to turn over the subpoenaed documents rather than cite him for contempt was rejected 9 to 2.

The intelligence committee's senior Republican, Rep. Robert McClory of Illinois, quoted White House counsel Philip Buchen as saying President Ford intends to cite executive privilege in refusing to turn over the documents.

The committee had subpoenaed Kissinger to turn over all State Department requests for covert intelligence operations abroad in one of seven subpoenas issued last week. Chairman Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y.,

HENRY KISSINGER

said that, "On this subpoena, we have received nothing."

"I for one am weary of this whole business of waiting and delaying, waiting and delaying on the information the committee is entitled to and needs to conduct its business," Pike said.

REP. OTIS PIKE

But McClory said Buchen had told him that many of the State Department requests for covert operations had been made directly to previous presidents and that Ford would therefore cite executive privilege to withhold them.

NO PUBLIC HEARING HELD

Tax Appraiser Fleener Fired

Richard Fleener, senior tax appraiser for local governments in Howard County, was fired Thursday without a public hearing.

The newly appointed attorney for the tax appraisal board, today gave a "simple reason for not holding a public hearing."

"INAPPROPRIATE"
Guilford L. Jones said it was "neither necessary nor legally appropriate to hold such hearings."

"My attorney, Allen Moore, asked for a public hearing, which at first the board of appraisal said I was entitled to," Fleener began a prepared statement.

"My attorney asked for a public hearing Nov. 3," Fleener said. "The then board attorney, Ben Bancroft, asked my attorney for a postponement until Friday, Nov. 7."

"This hearing was held, but the attorney for the board was disqualified for a possible conflict of interest," Fleener related.

Bancroft said the request for the public hearing came on a Friday, the following Monday being the deadline the board set.

He and one of Fleener's attorneys agreed to hold it at a later date.

Bancroft said he withdrew as soon as he heard the objections of the water district representatives that he was representing the City of Coahoma in legal action involving the district.

Although he saw no conflict of interest, Bancroft said he wanted to avoid even the appearance of conflicting interests because he is chairman of the State Bar Association grievance committee for several counties.

"Almost every lawyer in town would have the same conflict," Bancroft added.

"Dr. Charles Hays (chairman of the tax board) informed my attorney, press and public that a new hearing date would be set when suitable counsel for the board was hired," Fleener continued.

"Today, (Thursday), on advise of counsel Guilford L. Jones, the board ruled that I would not be given a hearing and that my services would be terminated as of Nov. 13," Fleener said.

"This is consistent with the inconsistent policies of the local governing board to keep the truth from the taxpayers of the county," Fleener said.

'THE ISSUE'

Fleener claimed there was policy of taxation in favor of big business and the high-value property owners. He said this deprived taxing agencies of needed revenues. "I made no recommendation to the board at all as to whether it should or should not terminate his services, that being a policy matter and not a matter of legal opinion," Jones said. "I am aware of the reason for the termination, and they are wholly different from those given by Fleener. Fleener denied his conduct had been unbecoming to the office."

"Through my office, I have tried to equalize the tax burdens of the county on the premise that every man no matter who or what you are should pay his fair share," said Fleener.

In the board meeting Thursday, one representative voted against the motion to fire Fleener. That was Harvey Hooser, business manager for Howard County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1.

Hooser replaced Dorothy Baker, district office

Trash Collection Increases Bewilder Few Big Springers

"The 50 cents increase on the current water bills for garbage collection is the 50 cents approved in August, which went into effect Oct. 1," Tom Ferguson, city finance officer, announced today.

Ferguson added, "We have had some calls telling us that the 50 cents does not go into effect until Jan. 1, but that fee has not been added to any bills and will not be added until Jan. 1."

The finance director said a few people were refusing to pay the 50 cents listed on current bills. "Any bill not paid in full will have a late charge added and be handled in the same way as present billings, he said. "At the end of a certain period, when water bills are not paid in full, or the late charges paid, our instructions are the same as they have always been in connection with cutting off services."

The Coahoma Independent School District was the only agency without a representative present Thursday.

SPRING WILL BE SPRUNG FROM SCRATCH BY CRMWD

The historic 'big spring' is about to lose its monopoly as a local aquatic attraction.

The Colorado River Municipal Water District is creating a spring of its own, plus a fountain, to animate its headquarters campus.

This spring will be sprung from scratch. By means of a circulating pump, water will be boosted from a sump at the base of the hill at Goliad and FM 700 back up to the top of the hill and into a receiving pool. From this point, the water will have three falls on its journey to the circular fountain pool.

Activated by a second pump, the fountain in the center of the pool will send a plume of water 10 feet into the air and cascade back into the pool. The sump pump draws the water off and recirculates it continuously.

Rock and pipe work have been completed by district workers under direction of R. A. Scholing, and electrical connections now are being installed. With a few days the falls and fountain should be in action.

Progress Toward Energy

Good strides are being made on several fronts towards plentiful sources of energy as alternatives to hydrocarbons.

Steady progress is being made in harnessing the sun's energy, though widespread practical application is still somewhere in the future.

One of the latest developments is that announced by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, which says its scientists have scored a five-fold increase in their ability to contain an astronomically hot mixture of gases under extreme pressure. This is essential to the fusion process, for the only way to contain the plasma hot enough for fusion is in a magnetic bottle field.

If this can ever be achieved as a continuous process, then an abundant of infinitely cheap power will be made available to the world. Deuterium, of "heavy water" is virtually inexhaustible as the raw stock.

There are skeptics who contend that this time may never come, and others who say the obstacles or cost will be prohibitive. But scientists, including those in the Tokamak project at our own University of Texas, have come much further and faster than most would have dreamed possible. Thus, they no longer speak in terms of "if," but rather "when."

If there is a silver lining to the energy pinch confronting the world and put in focus by the Arabs with their inflated oil prices, it is that we are being goaded into research that needed to be done. The end result is that we may solve our energy problems faster than we would have under normal circumstances.

Good Cut, Need More

Whether it's because of the 55-mile-per-hour speed limit, less driving because of the high cost of gasoline, or because safety campaigns are beginning to sink in — or maybe a combination of these and other factors — Americans have been making tremendous progress in reducing the slaughter and mayhem on the highways.

Accidents in 1974 were down 7.4 per cent from 1973, or from 25,649,000 to 23,744,000.

There was a 10.7 per cent cutback in auto deaths, from 55,511 to 46,200 — the lowest total since 1964.

Even so, the monetary cost of traffic accidents in the United States in 1974, reached a new high of more than $30.4 billion — the equivalent of $145 for every man, woman and child in the country. That's more than the total welfare bill.

The reason, according to the 1975 edition of Insurance Facts, published by the Insurance Information Institute, was inflation. Double-digit inflation. That, combined with inadequate rate levels for many insurance lines and intense price competition among some companies for commercial business, produced a net underwriting loss of some $2.66 billion, says the fact book.

While the Consumer Price Index reflected an average increase of less than 1 per cent in auto insurance premiums during 1974, the cost of auto repair rose 14.5 per cent. Unless we cut the accident rate still more, we may face higher premiums.

My Answer

Billy Graham

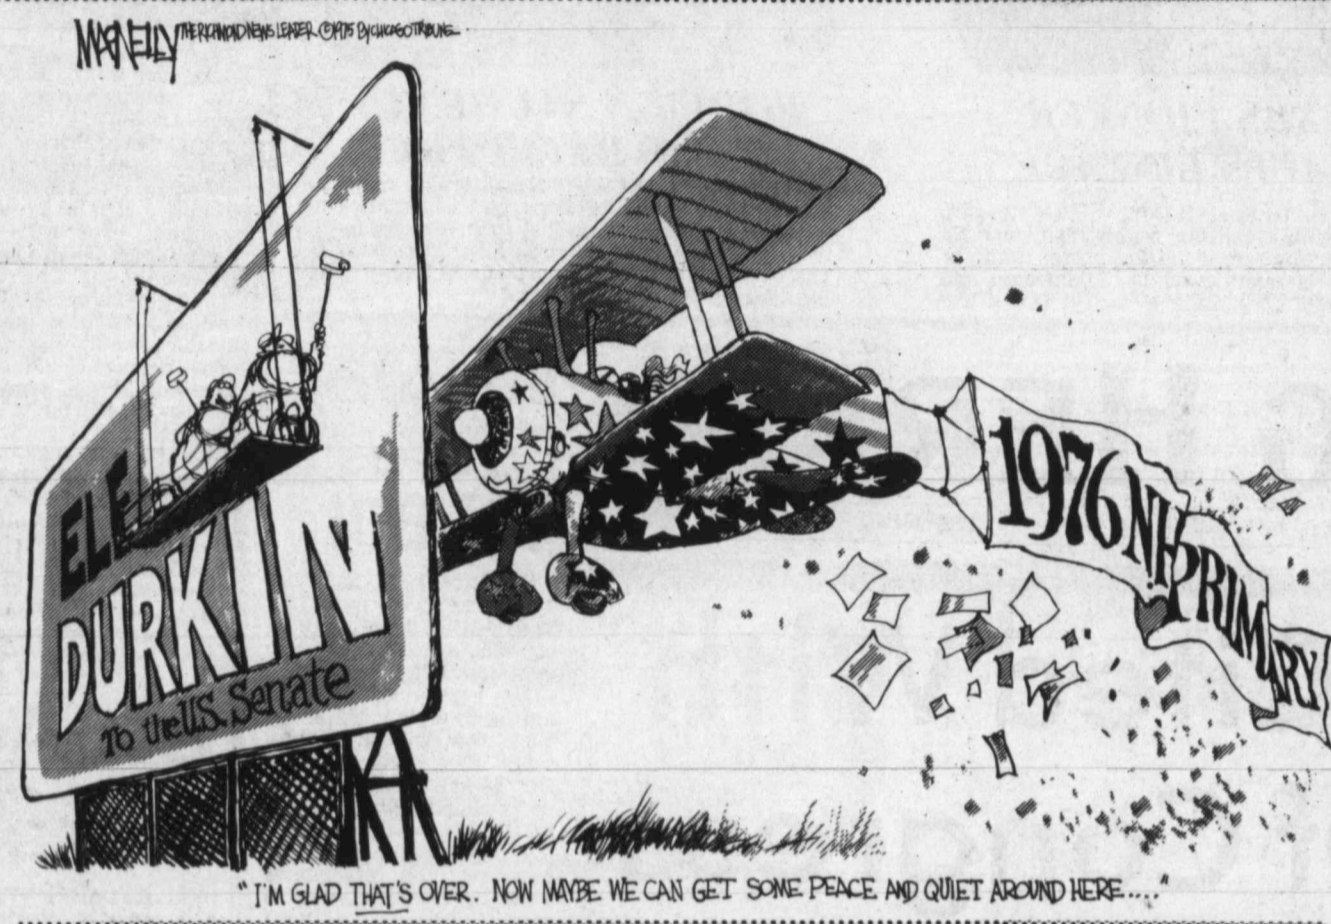

Is it right for Christians to celebrate birthdays? Does the Bible mention them? I have always thought of them as a time of loving remembrance, but my family and relatives seem to stress gift giving so much, that I wonder if it's wrong to even remember birthdays.

Mrs. J. P. C.

The observance of birthdays is a custom that dates from ancient times, as seen, for instance, by the celebration of the Egyptian Pharaoh's birthday in the story of Joseph Genesis 40:20. There is, however, no explicit Biblical command about observing birthdays.

I see nothing at all wrong with observing birthdays. As you suggest, they can be celebrated in the wrong way by emphasizing material things and gifts. For the Christian, a birthday can be a time of rejoicing in God's faithfulness in the past and a time of commitment of God's purposes in the future. Christmas itself is actually a celebration of our Saviour's birthday.

I know some Christians that celebrate another birthday — the anniversary of their second birth, when they were born again by God and received Jesus Christ into their WASHINGTON — The office of Vice President, despite the window dressing of recent years, is empty enough. For a lame duck Vice President, which Nelson Rockefeller now is, committed to withdraw from any attempt to seek the nomination after 1976, it is an intolerable charade.

WHAT HIS withdrawal has done for his party is dubious, to say the least. He is seen as the victim of the ultra-conservatives and the enmity of such grudge fighters as Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona. But the chief engineer is President Ford's campaign manager, Howard (Bo) Callaway. He sniped publicly at the Vice President until he was called off by Donald Rumsfeld, the President's No. 1 operator acting for Ford. His private opposition to keeping Rockefeller on the ticket has never ceased.

Defeated for governor of Georgia and former secretary of the army, he apparently considers his main job is to hold Southern delegates behind the Ford candidacy. It is a task like that of Sisyphus, forever pushing that rock up the hill only to have it roll back again. With Ronald Reagan's invasion of the South, the task becomes doubly difficult.

THE PAINFUL truth is that he is simply not equipped to direct a national campaign, so the campaign is in a shambles.

In my opinion it is now doubtful whether Gerald Ford can be nominated to run for his first elected term as President. Rockefeller himself has a lot to answer for in the unhappy denouement of his long political career. Cozying up to Southerners and conservatives, he tried to erase the image of "liberal" that his critics in the old guard hung on him. The effort really got him nowhere.

UNDESERVING AS the label was, the opposition could not forgive him having been so prominent a part of New York and the financial scare rocking the state as well as the city. Courting the conservatives, he weakened his standing with his moderate-liberal constituency. So he was left in political limbo.

ANY OPTION that might have been left was closed out when he differed with Ford over the fate of New York City. To have gone along even by his silence with the President's stonewalling of Rockefeller's home town was intolerable. While he had expressed his conviction that help was essential, he had ringed it around with conditions looking to solvency.

Ford could describe their difference as minimal. But three generations of Rockefeller have had the closest ties not only political but cultural and philanthropic with the city simply to let it hang turning in the wind would have been an act of brutal indifference, not to say stupidity.

WHAT THE Vice President can do to help New York is doubtful. But at least he is not turning his face away from the ordeal of a great metropolis, an ordeal in which as four-time governor he had a part. This last was his real vulnerability as the conservative opposition saw it: the Rockefeller lead in the borrowing and spending exercise that has put the city and, to a considerable degree, the state in such jeopardy.

Mortgage Rate Dithers

John Cunniff

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — There is a good possibility that sometime before the 1980s the conventional home mortgage, which usually means fixed monthly interest payments for 20 or 25 years, will become relatively unconventional.

While it still has its defenders, many and outspoken, it also has its critics, both borrowers and lenders, who maintain that the conventional mortgage is an inflexible instrument ill-suited to the times.

If lenders have their way it will be replaced by the variable rate mortgage, in which interest payments would rise or fall with the overall cost of money, much as do commercial bank lending rates.

Some borrowers, meanwhile, would like to see home mortgage payments adjusted to the pattern of earning power — relatively low payments in the early years, higher in the middle years, lower again as the borrower grows older.

Some lenders would like to have mortgage contracts renegotiated every five years, as they are in Canada. Other proposals also are being offered.

Said Carla Hills, secretary of housing and urban development, "We cannot be mesmerized by tradition. We have to think of what we might do to solve these problems."

Mrs. Hills' prediction was made in an interview at the 83rd annual meeting of the U.S. League of Savings Associations, whose members are the nation's principal home mortgage lenders.

The savings and loan people, she commented, have talked themselves into a dither over the need for the variable rate mortgage. "And indeed the S&L people are in a dither. They say they need a variable rate in order to survive."

Their argument is this: these are unstable times economically. We are being asked to commit ourselves at a fixed rate of interest for 20 or 25 years ahead, when we know nothing about what our own money costs will be that time.

Already, say the S&Ls, who make up the major portion of what is called the thrift industry, we are forced to hold mortgages made years ago at five per cent while we ourselves are forced to pay well over six per cent for funds to lend.

A commercial bank, by contrast, "floats" its lending rate. That is, its lending contracts, even with prime customers, are written at rates that rise or fall with general money market conditions.

To some extent, mortgage lenders have themselves to blame for their bind. For years they possessed the right to raise interest charges on mortgage loans.

Pain Can Be O-S Symptom

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Our daughter, age 12, has Osgood-Schlatter's disease. Our family doctor diagnosed this a year ago when she began having pain in her knees when running.

Initially, she had cortisone shots in the knee and took aspirin for pain. Her activities were not curtailed. But during the past year she tried to participate in gym classes until her legs began to hurt her. Swimming does not seem to bother her.

The doctor tells her she may outgrow this by age 20.

What else can you tell us about this condition? — Mrs. O.N.

Just below the knee cap, at the upper end of the big bone of the leg, is a bony prominence called the "tibial tubercle." It is at this point that the tendon of the kneecap (patella) inserts.

O-S disease is a disorder in this tubercle. Injury or excessive irritation to the area can predispose a youngster to developing the problem. There may be a tear in the tendon at the point of insertion, or a bone chip, or a fragment. The problem is more common in boys, and there is pain on kneeling or with strenuous use.

The disorder can heal by itself in time, but it is difficult to say just how long it will take. It probably should occur well before age 20 in your daughter's case.

Some support, as a firm bandage, will hasten healing and lessen discomfort. Hydrocortisone injections are also used to relieve discomfort.

While some weight bearing is tolerated and permissible, exercise, such as jumping should be avoided. Swimming is ideal, especially since it does not bring pain for her and gives her an athletic outlet.

Your daughter may have tried to be a bit more active than was wise before the diagnosis was made. Patience is a part of the healing process in O-S.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: You recently discussed pregnancy mask in your column. Is there anything to be done for this? My daughter's face and neck broke out with dark blotches while she was carrying her first baby. After the pregnancy it went away.

Now she is in her change of life and she is taking hormones. Do the hormones bring about the same pregnancy mask? If so, is there anything she can do about it? — Mrs. W.P.H.

The hormone therapy may well cause the mask if the dosage is high enough, especially if the earlier pregnancy and its attendant hormonal activity did.

If it does, only cosmetics will help, and there are several medically safe preparations on the market that seem to work well. I have had letters from women readers who have used them. They act as a sun screen and also as a base for regular makeup.

A dermatologist would be able to recommend one for your daughter. They probably were not available years ago when she first encountered the problem. I understand, too, from my readers, that they are now available in various shades to match skin tones.

I don't favor one over the other just so long as it is medically approved.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you please explain what viremia is? Also, its cause and cure? — M.B.G.

This is a general term that means there are viruses in the blood. It can mean nothing or it can be very significant depending upon the type of virus involved. You would have to be more specific.

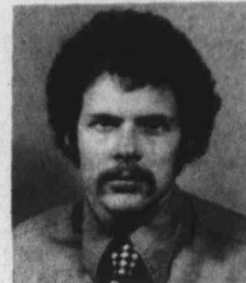

Some viruses can be harmless, but all require susceptible host cells in order to multiply and become active.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple — write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 3999, Elgin, Ill. 60120, for a copy of his booklet, "How to Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Law Tougher

Around The Rim

John Edwards

The first alleged violator of the smoking ban in a county elevator was the man putting up the sign this week.

Eddie L. Harper, courthouse maintenance supervisor, said his cigar wasn't lit when Ed Cherry, juvenile probation officer, caught him.

SMOKING IN certain public places became illegal in Texas Sept. 1.

Monday, county commissioners read a copy of the law which provides:

"A person commits an offense if he is in possession of a burning tobacco product or smokes tobacco in a facility of a public primary or secondary school or an elevator, enclosed theater or movie house, library, museum, hospital, transit system bus, or intrastate bus as defined . . . plane or train in which is a public place."

It's still legal to smoke while acting in a play, however. And the law allows designating some areas within trains, planes, and buses for legal smoking. Lack of a prominent notice of the state law or lack of an ash tray are defenses to being fined up to $200.

SUSAN CONLEY, county librarian, proudly pointed to the sign prohibiting smoking in the library. But she couldn't find a receptacle for cigar and cigarette butts.

"Patrons can't smoke in the library," she said. "Staff members who have to stay here eight hours have a place to take a drag."

Smoking a cigar is a good way to win compliance, Mrs. Conley said.

Tired of being smoked out of the teachers lounge at an elementary school in Austin, Mrs. Conley said she started puffing on a big cigar.

"I had the whole place to myself," the petite librarian recalled.

Bush Backfire

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — The wholly predictable storm over President Ford's nomination of former Republican national chairman George Bush to head the CIA has forced the White House into a dangerously overdue calculation of political realities, with withdrawal of the nomination now a possibility.

THE POLITICAL realities, apparently never considered by the President or the very few top aides privy to his secret plans to replace Central Intelligence director William Colby with Bush, boil down to this essential: to avoid possible refusal of the strongly Democratic Senate to confirm Bush, he or President Ford must absolutely rule out any possibility of Bush winding up as Mr. Ford's vice presidential running-mate.

Such a condition has now reached the stage of gospel inside the Democratic Senate establishment, and particularly with Democrats on the Senate Armed Services Committee.

FAILURE OF the President to consider this aspect of his appointment of Bush, a highly regarded and extremely popular politician, was further exacerbated during Mr. Ford's appearance on "Meet the Press" last Sunday.

Instead of seeking to calm the roiled waters when asked if he should not eliminate both Bush and Secretary of Defense-designate Donald Rumsfeld from all consideration for second place on the 1976 Republican ticket, Mr. Ford bristled.

"I don't think people with talent ought to be excluded from any further public service," he replied coolly.

THUS, THE President's gravely mistaken reading of the political impact of the Sunday morning massacre continues in his failure to perceive that, to the controlling Democrats on Capitol Hill and many Republicans as well, the director of CIA must be above political suspicion.

But some presidential aides are more keenly tuned in to congressional frequencies. It is no accident that even though Bush's nomination has been formally sent to the Senate for confirmation hearings, no hearings are now scheduled for several weeks at best — and possibly not until next year.

THAT RAISES the question of a deliberate stall, based on the President's suddenly expressed desire to keep Bush at his present post in Peking at least until Mr. Ford's China trip. If, as presently assumed, Mr. Ford goes to China within the next month, Bush would not be available for his confirmation hearing until well into December.

With Congress eyeing either Dec. 12 or Dec. 19 for the start of the Christmas recess, it now looks doubtful that Bush could be confirmed before next year. By then, with far deeper understanding of the anti-Bush sentiment, the President could make another mid-course correction, giving Bush a different post which would keep him available for a possible vice-presidential nomination next summer (the job Mr. Ford came within a whisker of giving Bush instead of Nelson Rockefeller last year) and naming someone else to succeed Colby.

STILL ONE of Washington's darker mysteries is why the President chose to put the long-suffering Bush through such a wringer without understanding the political realities. White House aides normally involved with CIA affairs, including the congressional probes, knew nothing of Colby's sudden sacking or his replacement by Bush until too late.

Letters To The Editor

Congratulations to the Traffic Commission for taking action to close "the chute" to traffic exiting south from the M-H Hospital onto Farm Road 700. This entrance to the hospital emergency and delivery was never intended to be used by the general public for their convenience. The Eleventh Place drive is the main, public entrance and exit. Emergency vehicles, public and private, need the entire paved roadway to negotiate a safe turn off Farm Road 700.

I would be hard-pressed to choose a less dangerous entry onto Farm Road 700 (right to left) from those available: Westover, Wasson Rd., Cedar-Osage, Goliad, Birdwell. Each one bears extreme caution for those who must use it. However, this, for me, intersection must have ranked first as the most dangerous from the tremendous increase in the amount of traffic use.

It usually takes a tragedy for laws to be made, changed or enforced. Thank you for your foresight.

Cancer-Cured Sons Enjoy Correspondence

MIAMI (AP) — The son of a U.S. senator and the son of a Dade County policeman, bonded by their battles against bone cancer, are still pen pals even though the illnesses of both have all but been licked.

"I don't have any (other) friends who are amputees," Teddy Kennedy Jr., 14, eldest son of Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., wrote recently to Steve Southerland, 15, of South Miami. "It's good to hear from a pen pal."

It's been almost two years since Teddy had his right leg amputated four inches above the knee. Doctors said the radical surgery was needed to halt the life-threatening spread of a malignancy in the tissue next to the bone.

In March 1974, Steve's left leg was amputated to halt the spread of a similar cancer. At the time, Steve, the third child in his family to suffer from cancer, was given a slim chance of survival. But he has gained weight, grown four inches and is doing well in school.

When Teddy learned of Steve's disease a little more than a year ago, he wrote the Florida youth to offer encouragement and understanding. A P.S. to the note read, "I am going skiing tomorrow."

A month ago, Teddy wrote again to tell Steve that he was finished with chemotherapy — a procedure that sometimes made him sick — and "now things are going pretty well."

"I know how much it means to you and your family" to have passed the two-year milestone, Steve wrote back. "I am beginning to adjust well to my artificial leg ... and I know how great it is to be off therapy."

Steve took the drugs for 19 months. He ended up with a peptic ulcer and also suffered with liver and kidney problems.

"The worst part of the whole thing is the medication," he said Wednesday. "It makes you depressed and grouchy, and you don't know when you're going to throw up."

The Southerlands already have suffered through the death of a 4-year-old son Jeffrey, a victim of leukemia, and the spinal cancer that struck another son, Michael, now 11. Doctors say Michael, who underwent three operations, has been cancer-free for six years.

Steve, who has outgrown two artificial limbs and is working on a third, wrote that he's "the only four-legged sophomore in Killian High School."

And he says he fell in school the other day.

"A girl caught me," he added. "It was fun."

Tomball Crash Kills Teens

TOMBALL, Tex. (AP) — Three high school pupils died before dawn today in a collision of their car and a heavy truck on the outskirts of Tomball.

They listed the dead as Teresa Foster, 16, and Ricky Thomas, 17, both of Tomball, and Leon Hughes, 17, of neighboring Magnolia.

'Paul Revere' Money Needed

The Heritage Committee reminds local organizations that donations are needed to support the presentation of a play, "The Midnight Ride of Paul Revere" to be shown to a large group of Big Spring school children on Tuesday, Nov. 25 at the high school auditorium.

The school has underwritten the $1,000 needed for two performances of the play with the hope that local clubs will help them sponsor the bicentennial project.

Purpose of the presentation is to enable seventh, eighth and possibly ninth grade pupils to view American history in action.

Among clubs donating to the project are three Hyperion Clubs, the 1953, 1948 and 1955 clubs, the Rotary Club, the Kiwanis Club, and the Officers Wives Club.

Any club who can make a contribution may contact Dr. E.H. McKenzie at 267-8245 as soon as possible.

DOUBLE STANDARD FOR SPENDING

Economy For Others, Not For Legislature

EDITOR'S NOTE — Legislative payrolls between sessions continue to grow and it appears lawmakers apply different standards of economy to themselves than to the rest of state government. Here is an Associated Press analysis of the situation.

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN (AP) — A study of House and Senate payrolls suggests that many Texas legislators follow a double standard—economy is for other branches of government, not the legislature.

Although legislators applauded Gov. Dolph Briscoe's call for government economy back in January, records disclose continuation of a trend toward bigger personal staffs, a permanent legislative bureaucracy and high salaries.

Sometimes the salaries are not in keeping with the legislative employees' duties, a study shows.

A few lawmakers like retinues, and senators particularly seem to place a higher dollar value on those who serve them than on other state government workers with equal or greater responsibilities.

There are encouraging signs. Although September payrolls following this year's legislative session are larger than September payrolls following the previous session in 1973, this year's September payroll for both chambers is smaller than this year's post-session July payroll.

Administration committees on both sides of the Capitol say they are on economy drives.

But they are far from overcoming trends which started in the 1960s.

There seems to be little interest in ending the duplication of effort that lawmakers would find intolerable in other agencies—two print shops, two purchasing offices, two post offices, separate personnel and payroll departments for each chamber and two accounting offices.

This year, making a legislative expense study was complicated by new rules of House Speaker Bill Clayton, under which a reporter could view the full House payroll only after making written requests to all 150 representatives to look at their staff salaries.

Such a barrier was not present when The AP made similar surveys in 1972 and 1973.

Almost two months from the date of the requests, Clayton himself had to open the records of 30 representatives who never answered The AP's letters or responded to his urging that they do so.

Since the Texas Legislature meets every two years in regular session, the month to use for a comparison with September 1975 payrolls would be September 1973. In each case, the legislature went out of session about four months earlier.

Here are some statistics from the survey: —Since September 1973, the number of persons employed between sessions by the legislature rose by 22 per cent and the dollar amount of the payroll increased by 39 per cent.

salaries of secretaries in state agencies other than the legislature to $968 a month, 13 Senate secretaries make more than that—some in excess of $1,300 a month.

—The House limits House members' secretaries to $650 a month, but some members get around that by calling secretaries "administrative assistants," and their salaries go high as $1,100.

—While outlawing state funds for personal publicity in other agencies, both chambers maintain growing "media services" staffs. The Senate's five public relations persons receive a total of $4,282 a month—including $1,391 to director Claiborn Crain. The House pays $5,066 to seven persons, including $1,068 to director Dave Helfert.

Media services help a member inform his constituents but also give him a running start on campaign publicity, with newsletters, radio tapes and photos giving him a hardworking, statesmanlike image.

"House media is an integral part in our ability to help Texans become an informed electorate," Clayton says.

—The highest paid legislative employees are Senate Secretary Charles Schnabel and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby's executive assistant, Don Rives. At $37,500 apiece, they earn more than the directors of such large agencies as the Parks and Wildlife Department, Rehabilitation Commission, Youth Council, Insurance Department and Water Quality Board.

Hobby said the disparity is justified in Rives' case "because he does a better job." Gov. Dolph Briscoe's top aide makes $37,100.

Clayton's executive assistant, recent law school graduate Jack Gullhorn, receives $22,200 a year. Clayton said "it should be increased," noting it is far less than former Speaker Price Daniel Jr. paid his top assistants.

Hobby's said his staff of 28, paid $29,228 a month, is needed "because there is plenty of work to keep everyone busy. In addition to the day-to-day functioning of this office, my staff does research work for the entire Senate."

Besides Rives, the lieutenant governor's staff includes public relations man and pilot Bob Cargill at $25,608 and three others earning over $21,000.

Clayton has 14 staffers, including $14,000-a-year public relations man George Works. Daniel had the same sized staff.

Schnabel supervises the 202 persons who work for the Senate as a body. In a hidden camera film show at a Headliners Club awards party two years ago, Schnabel, describing his job, remarked, "I nursemaid senators."

They also say the payroll has grown because the workload has increased, and blames much of the most answer their phones, do crummy little jobs like that."

Clayton says the messengers are useful, even when the legislature is out of session, averaging 84 errands of 25 minutes each day as a group.

He also says the payroll has grown because the workload has increased, and blames much of the most recent increases on Daniel. "The brunt of the monetary increase in House employe-related expenditures as well as raw numbers occurred under the previous administration, which was in office until 10 months ago," Clayton said.

Schnabel supervises the 202 persons who work for the Senate as a body. In a hidden camera film show at a Headliners Club awards party two years ago, Schnabel, describing his job, remarked, "I nursemaid senators."

The Houston Chronicle recently reported that the Austin district attorney is investigating allegations that Schnabel used the Senate's print shop to do private printing jobs for himself.

Sen. Don Adams, D-Jasper, chairman of the Senate Administration Committee, says Schnabel is worth his $37,500 salary—"I evaluate his responsibilities as high."

As high as those of major state agency heads?

"Yes," Adams replied. Schnabel said he is trying to reduce the size of the Senate staff under his control, and, in fact, salaries paid in September were only $2,000 greater than in August, despite a pay raise.

"You ought to look at our porters' salaries—they're down from $12,000 to $4,000 for the month," he said, citing one object of his economy drive.

The House has no one with a job similar to Schnabel's but has three division chiefs, making $1,500 to $1,812 a month. Two have double duties, such as Sergeant-at-Arms Rusty Kelly, the support and services division chief. His Senate counterpart, Tommy Townsend, makes $2,125. Among other duties, each supervises eight parking attendants—"squirrel guards" as one wag labeled them—who protect House and Senate parking spaces. The House has 25 part-time "messengers" and the Senate 21.

A messenger's job is a nice favor a legislator can do for college student children of constituents.

One House employe describes them as "gophers for everybody. They 'go for' coffee, check their mail, answer their phones, do crummy little jobs like that."

Clayton says the messengers are useful, even when the legislature is out of session, averaging 84 errands of 25 minutes each day as a group.

He also says the payroll has grown because the workload has increased, and blames much of the most recent increases on Daniel. "The brunt of the monetary increase in House employe-related expenditures as well as raw numbers occurred under the previous administration, which was in office until 10 months ago," Clayton said.

BRAZOSPORT CLIPPED

HC Breaks 100 Mark Third Time Around

TEXAS CITY — Rebounding from its first loss the previous day to College of the Mainland, Howard College soared over the century figure for the third time this season to defeat Brazosport, 107-81, here Thursday night.

Winning by only 12 points over the same Brazosport five Tuesday night, Hawk Head Coach Harold Wilder contributed the wider point spread this time around by keeping Mike Blume scoreless. In Tuesday's match, he sacked 18. Four Hawks hit in the double figures. Marvin Johnson, who has been HC's leading scorer in all games played, was again high pointer with 28. Larry Erves for the second straight night was runner-up to teammate Johnson, netting 18.

After announcing Wednesday that Howard College was omitted for the first time from the 15-year-old Odessa Tournament, it was learned Thursday that the Chamber of Commerce there has reinstated the Hawks.

The Tournament is scheduled for Nov. 20 to 22. Howard College will receive a first round bye because Head Coach Harold Wilder not knowing of the sudden tournament change of heart, added Bay Ridge to his schedule. Only 31 regular games are permitted according to NJCAA standards.

The Texas Tech-Baylor football game Saturday in Lubbock will be regionally televised by the ABC television network. Kickoff is 12:50 p.m., moved up from the original time of 2 p.m.

Comic book collector Gene Arnold and Johnny Cash fan club president Jack Dale will do a Batman and Robin act for the Exxon Network on the Texas Tech-Baylor game.

Arnold, allegedly will bring the original Superman comic book and Dale will appear as the boy wonder of broadcasting. Spotters are to be disguised as Clark Kent and Lois Lane.

Tech and Baylor have met 33 times in a football series dating back to 1929 when the Bears captured a 34-0 victory in Waco. Baylor leads the over-all series with 20 victories to the Raiders' 12. There has been one tie.

Tech, however, owns a 8-7 edge in the win column since joining the SWC. Baylor defeated Tech 17-10 last year in Waco.

Thanks to the 104, 248 folks on hand at Ann Arbor for the Baylor-Michigan game, a total of 456, 233 persons have seen Baylor in action this fall for a fine 57,029 average.

The breakdown is 44,650 at Baylor Stadium and 69,408 average on the road.

Mesa Community College of Mesa, Ariz., 8-0, finished No. 1 in the final NJCAA football poll followed by Coffeyville, Kan.

Coffeyville, 9-0, the Kansas Jayhawk Juco Conference champs, has been selected to face New Mexico Military Institute, 9-1, in the 10th Annual Wool Bowl game scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 29 at Roswell, N.M.

NMMI downed Cisco in the 1967 game, 20-13 as well as turning back the same Texas eleven two months back in the first Spring Bowl, 42-0.

Antlerless deer permits are still available from the Parks and Wildlife Department to landowners or anyone having authorized control over land used for hunting.

The permits can be obtained in person or by mail until the end of deer hunting season—Jan. 4, 1976, over most of Texas— from PEWD regional wildlife offices or from the department's Oak Hill office near Austin.

Officials at the department remind landowners that antlerless deer permits for the 1975-76 deer season are issued on an acreage basis that varies according to determination of the areas existing deer population.

Knicks Unwind

By The Associated Press Earl Monroe has a good point: you can't score from the bench.

"I only played five minutes," Monroe said, explaining why he only took two shots from the field and scored three points in the opening half of Thursday night's National Basketball Association game with the Houston Rockets.

"The Pearl" saw quite a bit more action in the final two periods, winding up with 23 points while leading the Knicks to a 108-102 victory, their first after five straight losses.

Knicks 108, Rockets 102 "I got three quick fouls in the first period, so I figured I would sit out the rest of the first half," Monroe said.

Monroe, guarded mostly by Houston's Calvin Murphy, took the 5-4-10 guard and deep state "fire" and again, scoring on a variety of spinning jumpshots.

Bullets 110, Celtics 107 Washington's Wes Unseld and Elvin Hayes sank free throws in the final 12 seconds to give the Bullets a narrow victory over Boston. The Celtics rallied in the final period, pulling from an 89-75 deficit going into the quarter to just one point down, 108-107, with 19 seconds remaining before Unseld and Hayes successfully hit from the free throw line.

Warriors 98, Bulls 87 Scoring 12 straight points late in the first period, San Antonio broke open the game and never trailed in handing Virginia its sixth consecutive defeat and 11th loss in its last 12 games. Billy Paultz led the Spurs with 21 points while James Silas and George Gervin added 20 each as San Antonio posted its fourth win in a row.

OUT OF THE SHADOW — Cincinnati Bengals defensive tackle Ron Carpenter, shown doing exercises at a recent team workout, has moved out of the shadow of former teammate Mike Reid to claim the recognition that has eluded him for five years.

Area Grid Play Draws To Close

The football season for seven area high school teams draws to a close tonight.

Big Spring will no doubt search for any way possible in trapping the Bobcats from San Angelo. A large Steer following is expected to make the trip south.

The Steers are 0-6 in 5-4A and unfortunately 2-7 for the campaign and the Bobcats, 3-3 and 5-4. Twenty seniors will don a Steer uniform for the last time.

Coahoma steers its bus over to Stamford for a 6-AA meeting. With an open date last week, the Bulldogs need a victory to break even for the year.

This game will also be the final one for 10 Coahoma seniors. For the season, Coahoma stands at 3-2 in 6-AA and 4-5 over-all.

Another 6-AA match is also outlined at Colorado City. The Wolves greet Hamlin. Seasonal records for both teams show Colorado City 2-3 in 6-AA and 4-5 over-all and Hamlin, 3-2 and 6-2-1.

Colorado City is already assured of its best season in two years, 2-8 in 1974.

Another eleven out to break even is Stanton, 4-5. The Buffaloes meet the winless Shallowater Mustangs in a 5-A match on the latter's home field.

Stanton is 0-2 in 5-A and Shallowater, 0-3 and 0-8 over-all.

Lamesa hits the road for Sweetwater. The Tors after experiencing dismal early season performance but coming on strong near the end, will be out to keep the host eleven down.

Sweetwater is 0-5 in 3-3A and 0-9 over-all and Lamesa, 2-3 and 2-6-1.

Two 3-B games are lined up, Forsan at Bronte and Bronte at Sterling City.

Forsan is 2-3-1 in 3-B and 2-6-1 for the season and Bronte, defending champs, 5-1 and 8-1.

Sands has put together a 2-4 record in the district and 3-5-1, its over-all best in two years and Sterling City 2-4 and 3-6.

All games start at 7:30 with the exception of the Steer tiff, at 8.

SEASON SUCCESSFUL Junior Varsity Shellacks SA

Going over the District 5-4A, 500 mark for the first time in recent memory, 4-3, the Big Spring junior varsity capped the season by shellacking San Angelo, 29-14, Tuesday night at Blankenship Field.

Larry Horton, JV head coach, said he was extremely pleased with the over-all team effort shown. Short-horn defensive standouts included Kent Rice, Mitch Harris, Tommy Wegner, Robbie's brother, and Stump.

Wade Cobb showed he had a quick arm release as he completed two Big Spring aerial touchdowns with the other two scores made on runs.

Big Spring spotted San Angelo eight points in the third quarter on a two-yard TD sprint and ran over the two extra points. The Shorthorns followed with Robbie Wegner crossing the end zone on a two-yard run. Cobb ran over two extra points to deadlock the contest.

In the second, San Angelo took the lead again on a five-yard TD drive. The PAT was no good. Big Spring broke loose with Greg Adams hitting paydirt on a five-yard run. Don Stump's extra point kick was good and the Shorthorns commanded a 15-14 lead at halftime.

Big Spring picked up insurance protection in the third and fourth on Cobb throws to Loyd Jones and Kenneth Coffey, 15 and 18-yards, respectively. Stump kicked both extra points.

Pats Want Win

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — The New England Patriots coach and two quarterbacks sang the same song for the Sunday afternoon National Football League game against Dallas at Schaefer Stadium: Win.

"If it takes Jim Plunkett to make this team a winner, it's all right with me," said Patriots signal caller Steve Grogan.

"If it takes me, that's fine too. But I want to play for a winner. I played on a losing team in college (Kansas State). I just want to play some and win some ball games."

Plunkett, fighting off injuries since midway in last year's season, said, "I don't see anything wrong with having a challenge. That's what you go into this game for in the first place. The thing to remember is that we wouldn't have even had this situation if I hadn't gotten hurt."

Coach Chuck Fairbanks said, "Jim is our No. 1 quarterback and he'll play if he's healthy and throwing the ball sharply. But this is not to downgrade the potential of Steve Grogan. We're very much pleased with what he's done for us as a rookie and what he might do in the future."

Whoever calls the signals for the Patriots against the Cowboys, there is expected to be a heavy emphasis on defense.

The visitors are expected to use their shotgun offense—a direct snap to the quarterback about five yards back from scrimmage.

"The advantage of the shotgun," Fairbanks said, "is an increase of time for the quarterback to see his coverages, the defense he's facing. But it still takes the same amount of time to pass from it because the receivers have to run their distances and patterns."

Fairbanks said the disadvantages for Dallas passer Roger Staubach is that the amount of run capability is limited. They have a few running plays they try to do from it, but it's primarily a passing formation.

Package Plan Is Discussed

There could be as much behind-the-scenes action involving bowl deals this weekend in the Southwest Conference as there will be on the field.

Should third-ranked Texas A&M, seventh-ranked Texas and unranked Arkansas prevail as forecast, some interesting things could happen behind closed doors.

SWC executive secretary Cliff Spuggle said he has discussed a package plan with "some" of the coaches—presumably Darrell Royal of Texas, Emory Bellard of Texas A&M and Frank Broyles of Arkansas.

"We are not at liberty to discuss it with bowl people until Nov. 15 but it's the only way our teams are going to get into the bowl picture ... it sounds like a good idea to me," Spuggle said.

There's talk the SWC runner-up would travel either to the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl, or the Gator Bowl with the third place team taking one or the other. The Fiesta Bowl and the Sun Bowl are also hot after SWC first division clubs.

The SWC champion, of course, hosts the Cotton Bowl but that won't be decided until well after the Nov. 15 date which opens the season for bowls hunting team.

Funds For Emergency Room Items May Go To Hall-Bennett Hospital

Grant funding for the first year of the Emergency Medical Service program included funds for emergency room equipment for seven hospitals in the Permian Basin Region.

The EMS staff at the Permian Basin Planning center is contacting the hospitals for a current listing of their needs to upgrade their present capabilities and to prepare specifications for bidding requirements.

Included in the group is Hall-Bennett of Big Spring. Others are Crane Memorial, Odessa Medical Center, McCamey Hospital, Martin County Hospital, Ward Memorial in Monahans and Kermit Memorial.

The EMS board held two meetings last week to get set up as a unit. It operates with its own staff at the PBRC building at Terminal.

Among local representatives on the board are Norman Knox, Dr. M. C. Nardone and Dr. C. B. Marcum.

Consider Bay City Nuclear Power Plant

BAY CITY, Tex. (AP) — Members of the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) are considering final aspects of a proposed nuclear power plant near here.

There was no opposition to the plant Wednesday at the final public hearing on radiological health and safety issues.

Staff members said they expect commissioners to make a final decision before the end of the year on whether or not to build the plant.

The NRC staff earlier issued a limited work authorization allowing preliminary preparation of the proposed plant site.

The plant, known as the South Texas Project, is a joint venture of Houston Lighting & Power Co., Central Power and Light Co., Corpus Christi and the city-owned utility systems of Austin and San Antonio.

There were no disagreements among NRC staff, company representatives and state officials at Wednesday's hearing.

Company representatives and the NRC staff are to present a joint report of their findings to commissioners by Dec. 2. Commissioners will make their decision on final approval of the plant after studying that report.

KICKED OFF TEAM — Esther Pena, 21, was kicked off the women's track and volleyball teams at Texas A&I University at Kingsville because she won't wear a bra. The Mission High School graduate says, "Why should I? I'm just not that big."

KICKED OFF TEAM

Bra-Less Athlete Gets No Support

KINGSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Esther Pena has been thrown off the Texas A&I University volleyball team because school officials say her charms are getting in the way.

Miss Pena, 21, refuses to wear a brassiere.

"Why should I? I'm just not that big. I'm very firm," says the former volleyball captain, a three-year veteran.

Betty Brewer, woman's athletic director, described Miss Pena as "probably the best woman athlete ever to compete at Texas A&I University." Miss Pena was named an Outstanding College Athlete of the Year during her sophomore year.

But, according to the student, Mrs. Brewer won't abide Miss Pena's non-support.

And, Miss Pena said, other coaches have failed to support her.

"The dispute arose Oct. 22 when Mrs. Brewer told the Miss Pena to put on a bra or get off the volleyball squad."

"Esther always used a bra in past seasons," Mrs. Brewer said.

"She's lying," Miss Pena said. "I've never worn a bra in competition. They know that."

A pamphlet published by the athletic department shows Miss Pena on the cover, participating in a track meet.

The student says the bra issue popped up as the outgrowth of complaints she made against Mrs. Brewer and a male coach.

"The whole thing was designed to keep me quiet. I'm not a woman's libber. I'm just myself," Miss Pena said.

Auditor Hunts Missing Funds

ORANGE, Tex. (AP) — An outside auditor investigating an apparent cash shortage of $6,471 in the Orange County Tax Office has found "negligence in bookkeeping" but failed to pinpoint any leaks in funds.

In a three-page report to County Judge Grover Halliburton released in commissioner's court Wednesday, Walter Ebanks of the firm Ebanks, Owens and Butler criticized the tax assessor-collector's office for "innumerable discrepancies of every conceivable nature and by virtually every employe of the department."

"We can't dodge any of the blame," said Halliburton of himself, the tax collector, county auditors and commissioners. However, he said tax collector Louvenia Hryorchuk will have to make up the losses by herself.

The judge said he felt badly about the collector having to pay the deficit "out of her own pocket."

Mrs. Hryorchuk said "I could see the writing on the wall."

The accounting firm so far has charged the county more than $13,000 for its audit of tax collections.

Halliburton said he was not disturbed over the report because there was "not even an inkling of where the money went."

Creative Homemakers Hold First Meeting

The Creative Homemakers were welcomed by Mrs. James Johnston at their first meeting held Tuesday evening in the Reddy Room of the Texas Electric Company. Mrs. Jan Huff gave a demonstration of the art of candlemaking. She previously managed the Candle Boutique and enjoys making candles. She said, "There is no limit to the way one can create candles letting your imagination be your guide."

Mrs. Huff demonstrated the ice candle and discussed the sand candle, hurricane candle, and wax candles, made by the basic instructions in addition to applique work and painting with wax.

She emphasized following safety precautions as wax is combustible and must be handled with care. If a wax fire is started she suggested pouring baking soda on the fire until smothered. Also she told the group never to pour a candle near the sink as the wax might leak into the drain causing plumbing problems.

She then proceeded to melt wax for the ice candle. She called attention to the thermometer attached to the pan of wax, explaining that the higher the degree of wax the firmer the candle. The luster crystals are melted separately in a small amount of wax and added in addition to steric acid, dye, and scent when the wax is almost melted. She emphasized not adding the dye or scent too soon as it will cook away.

Mrs. Huff poured the wax over ice cubes, which filled a mold, and set the mold into a water bath for 20 minutes. The mold was transferred to the refrigerator to finish setting.

Mrs. Dan Allen drew a number for the door prize and Mrs. Bill Cox received the candle Mrs. Huff had made. The group was served refreshments by Mrs. Clay Thompson and Mrs. James Johnston.

Miss Sherry Mullin, county extension agent, explained the role and purpose of home demonstration clubs. The Creative Homemakers is a name adopted for this Home Demonstration club organized to meet the needs and interest of Young homemakers, Carerr women, mothers and wives.

The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. on Dec. 9 in the Reddy Room. Mrs. Janie Harmon will give a program on the art of cake decorating. Mrs. Harmon teaches a course on cake decorating at Howard Junior College and will come prepared to give each person special decorating tips in addition to her program.

For more information concerning Creative Homemakers call Mrs. James Johnston, 267-2364 or Miss Sherry Mullin, 267-8469.

Husband Backs Off On 10th Anniversary Bash

DEAR ABBY: We will have been married 10 years next January. Since we didn't have any fanfare when we were married, my husband promised that we would have a big blow-out on our 10th wedding anniversary.

I booked a band and hired a hall and made deposits on both. Now out of the blue, my husband says, "Cancel everything!" I asked him why, and he said, "I just don't want it."

I know it's not the money. Even if it were, I'm able to pay for it myself, as I have a good job.

I know there's no other woman. So what should I do? I don't want to make him angry, but I really want this anniversary party, and I don't think he should go back on his word. Please guide me.

DEAR ABBY: I am 21-years-old and my boyfriend is 20. We've been going steady for a year and three months.

Being a very up-front gal, I told my boyfriend all about my past, and it just so happens that I have gone to bed with more guys than he has gone to bed with girls.

He wants to marry me, but he says first he wants to even the score.

Should I just sit around and wait for him to catch up with me?

DEAR J.: If you do, you are even more immature than he is, which in my opinion is far too immature for marriage.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20c) envelope.

Rev. Gage Lloyd Tells History Of Area Religion

The members of the Potpourri Club met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Tippy Anderson Jr.

During the business meeting, the club approved plans for a Christmas party to be held on Dec. 20.

The Rev. Gage Lloyd, former pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Big Spring, presented a review of "Early Religion in Big Spring." Beginning with Indian observance of religion from nature, Rev. Lloyd told of the discovery of carvings in sandstone rock near South Mountain denoting presence of Catholic missionaries in 1768.

Later in 1824 the Mexican government granted Catholic colonists land in the area, including Big Spring. All traces of these inhabitants vanished mysteriously.

Around 1881 priests and monks from the Carmelite Order established a Catholic mission where Stanton now stands.

The first organized church in Big Spring after the arrival of the T&P Railroad was the First Christian Church, followed by the Methodist, Baptist, St. Mary's Catholic, Presbyterian, Episcopal and Lutheran.

Rev. Lloyd related the courage and determination of the early day settlers of Big Spring to build and maintain their chosen religious sanctuaries.

Membership in most instances was sparse and money very scarce. Still the early day inhabitants persevered to establish the church of their choice.

The next meeting of the group will be on Jan. 12 in the home of Mrs. John Currie.

NEW YORK CITY IS WASTEFUL?

Crisis Blamed On Poor Management

EDITOR'S NOTE: A recurring charge in the New York City debate has been that many of the city's problems have come about because of poor management. The way the city runs itself is examined in the third and final part of a series on the city's fiscal crisis.

By LEE MITZANG
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — President Ford recently told the nation that New York City would not get federal help in its financial crisis "until they get their management straightened out."

Charges of gross mismanagement have bombarded City Hall for years.

Politicians and citizen groups have said New York City government is disorganized, wasteful, unproductive and lacking in worker morale.

A voluntary business community group called the Economic Development Council of New York City has studied the management of the city's courts, the Human Resources Administration, which handles welfare and other social services, the Board of Education and other agencies.

George Champion, former Chase Manhattan Bank chairman who heads the council, says better management in all city agencies could save taxpayers about 5 per cent out of the city's $12.2 billion budget, "and it could be much higher."

A study of the Human Resources Administration two years ago proposed a reorganization plan that Champion said would save $300 million each year, or 10.7 per cent of the money spent on social services.

He found that worker productivity in the HRA was at "35 per cent to 50 per cent of potential." But he said the current HRA administrator "wasn't interested in implementing our proposals."

A productivity study of the HRA conducted by the Citizens Budget Commission in 1974 showed that computerization of the agency's services would cut back on the fraudulent welfare claims that are milking the city of millions annually and the agency itself would save another $58 million in salaries.

If the welfare budget holds first place as far as waste and mismanagement are concerned, studies seem to point to the city's education system as a close second.

Champion's group claimed to have found ways to shave the city's $2.1 billion education budget by more than 10 per cent, partly by increasing teachers' classroom hours.

In two productivity studies by the Citizens Budget Commission, the group found that "a detailed study of a sample of 12 New York City secondary schools indicates that a substantial amount of teachers' time now spent on non-instructional activities could be freed for classroom time" at a saving of $20 million.

The commission's study of the City University system has shown that with the open admissions policy begun in 1970, the budget has gone up 135 per cent, the staff has increased 64 per cent, but student enrollment has increased only 45 per cent in the five-year period.

The study showed that full-time faculty members spent an average of 8.7 hours of student contact each week, while at the average four-year American college, 72 per cent of teachers spend more than that with students.

The commission estimates that "with changes to increase workload, savings of $26 million to $34 million could be achieved."

A budget commission study of the city's Health and Hospitals Corp., which runs the city's 19 municipal hospitals, has shown that an average of 25 per cent of hospital beds are empty, and that 10 to 15 per cent of patients occupying hospital beds could be treated by less expensive means.

The study recommended "mothballing" one or more city hospitals, a step which Mayor Abraham D. Beame was forced to take a few months ago in the midst of the current fiscal crisis.

Champion said that many of the steps recommended for reform of the criminal court system were carried out, resulting in savings of more than $6.7 million, increased worker morale and reduction of a two-year backlog of 59,000 criminal cases to 13,000.

One of the more stubborn management problems in city government has been the Department of Highways, according to a 1974 study by the Citizens Budget Commission.

"The basic problem is an enormous backlog of needed street improvements. The city's physical stock of streets, highways and structures is old and deteriorated," the study said.

"The challenge calls for a conscientious managerial response which has been slow in coming, indicating both a lack of managerial control, and even worse, managerial concern.

"No long-range transportation plan exists," the study found.

A commission study later in 1974 on the city's Department of Sanitation stated that the practice of having three or four men on garbage trucks is "just another instance of featherbedding," and called for a reduction to two men per truck.

The study also called for a pilot experiment using private garbage collection services, which it said would save the city more than $70 million annually.

"What is the city waiting for? Is someone, perhaps, afraid what the results of the experiment will show?" the report asked.

The Management Advisory Board created in August and led by Richard Shinn, president of Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., is looking into other ways to help the city cut $724 million from its expense budget in the next three years. Shinn and other businessmen on the board so far have declined comment on their findings and activities.

While few challenge the idea that the city's management could be improved and is at least partly to blame for New York City's crisis, the much tougher problem is why mismanagement exists, who is to blame, and why the problems seem to resist ready solution.

"Every government is mismanaged, including the federal government," said Richard K. Aurelio, a close adviser to former Mayor John V. Lindsay.

The real problem he and others cite is that "government management tends to be shaped by politics. The problems come from the fact that the city has too few resources and too many desires."

Abraham Briloff, a leading New York City accountant who has advised several city administrations, says: "A community is confronted with major demands, whether they be political, economic, humanitarian, or whatever. This is the irresistible force.

"But then you have an immovable object: you need a balanced budget under the law. Something has to happen to crawl under this dilemma and so the city hopes against hope that tomorrow will be better, that the economy will recover, or that the state or federal government will help," Briloff says.

"What does President Ford do when he sees compelling needs? He increases budgets, raids Social Security funds. We don't call that mismanagement, though," he says.

Briloff agrees that management problems arise in the city government and all governments when politics intrudes.

Politics, he says, means "not creating a professional morale among the employees. It means I will give to Caesar only what I think he expects."

Appointments to the commissioner level in the city are "politically oriented rather than selecting from the very best.

"But who can you select from the private ranks of management when the commissioner is offered only limited tenure, and when good management decisions are vetoed by labor unions, politics, forces beyond your control?" he asks.

Jehovah Witnesses Go To Spanish-Speaking Meet

Spanish-speaking Jehovah's Witnesses from the West Texas and New Mexico area returning to their local congregation this week after having celebrated a very successful convention in Carlsbad, New Mexico where 1329 were in attendance and 17 were baptized.

Local meetings will be resumed according to Mr. Leonard Martinez, presiding minister of the local congregation of the Spanish Jehovah's Witnesses. Mr. Martinez said, "The convention will benefit us greatly in being able to help more people of the locality to better understand their table."

He also stated that during the main discourse of the convention; the speaker, L. Torres, district supervisor of Jehovah's Witness, speaking on the theme "How the Kingdom of God Affects You", brought to the attention of the audience the fact that everyone of us, all mankind are directly touched by the activities of God's Kingdom. God's kingdom is being preached in more than 200 lands by Jehovah's Witnesses by repeatedly going to homes to offer free instruction about God's Kingdom.

This program of education has continued now for more than 60 years, it has reached us," Torres said, and "that is why we are here today." Mr. Torres then asked, "How will further action of God's Kingdom affect your life? Will it mean destruction? Or will you enjoy the blessing of God's Kingdom now?"

He concluded by showing how the Bible promises and makes provision for everlasting life here on earth under perfect conditions for all of those who show appreciation for God's Kingdom now.

Everyone interested in a free Bible study with one of Jehovah's Witnesses is invited to contact Mr. Martinez and attend free Bible classes at the local Spanish Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Nightingale of the playroom

Less than a century and a quarter have passed since that terrible winter when Florence Nightingale ministered to suffering British soldiers. Until then there had been no place for women nurses in military hospitals, and not many women nurses anywhere.

Ever notice how often it is the occupations or professions of SERVICE TO OTHERS that excite the imagination of our children? We should learn something from that!

Boys and girls see themselves as amateur adults. Through their imagination they often show us the world they would like to live in.

Their hopes can become a reality if we support our churches with our faith and our families. After all, it was the Founder of Christianity who insisted that He came not to be ministered unto, but to minister.

El Paso Agents May Have Uncovered Large East Coast Drug Ring Evidence

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) spokesman says the uprooting of a large drug ring with connections in the United States and Mexico depends on whether officers can find the owner of a car in which 22 pounds of Mexican heroin were discovered Wednesday. Two resident aliens from California—Arturo Saucedo Montenegro, 19, of Santa Monica, and his cousin Raymundo Saucedo—were arrested at the Paso Del Norte bridge when U.S. customs officials found the drug. It was packaged in nine plastic bags concealed in a hidden compartment of the car's gas tank. The two arrested men are being held here under $500,000 bonds.

George Pride, DEA agent in charge, said Thursday that if the owner of the car is found agents might be able to link him with a "big drug ring" on the East Coast. Meanwhile, U.S. Atty. Ron Ederer said he had been contacted by a Chicago lawyer who identified himself as Ivan Frizin and told he would represent the two arrested men. Pride said the 1973 automobile confiscated by customs officials was bought by a Chicago man in a Lower Rio Grande Valley used car lot.

(AP WIREPHOTO) SUED FOR HOUSING REFUGEES — Houston architect, Jack A. Earthman, standing, is being sued by his neighbors for housing a Vietnamese family of four in a garage apartment behind his southwest Houston home. Earthman said "Do Thanh Chi, 37, his wife, Tran Thi My Dung, 37, and two children, Do Thi My Nga, 14, and Do Thi My Duyen, 13, are our guests." The Civic Club that filed the suit said the subdivision's deed restrictions, adopted in 1928, permit only household servants to live in garage apartments behind the homes.

Houston Man Sued For Housing Viets

HOUSTON (AP) — Neighbors have gone to court to force Jack A. Earthman to kick out a Vietnamese refugee family from a garage apartment at his home in a fashionable Houston neighborhood. Earthman, an architect, says the suit is racially motivated. But Chilton Bryan, president of the Braeswood Civic Club which filed the suit, said Earthman's charge is "pure baloney." Deed restrictions in the neighborhood permit only household servants to live in garage apartments back of homes in the area, Bryan said.

Earthman said the Vietnamese family lives in the garage apartment as guests, a practice, he said, "that is very predominant in this subdivision." Most homes in the subdivision are valued around $100,000.

"I'm sure the objection is the race," Earthman said. "The civic club is a group of ultraconservative people who really resent changes taking place" in the predominantly white neighborhood. The architect quoted one club member as saying, "There are places in Houston for people like that (the refugees)."

The refugees are Do Thanh Chi, 37, his wife and their two daughters, 13 and 14, all from Saigon.

Earthman said they were assigned to him by the Catholic Community Services, a placement agency, in late September. He said he and his wife and three children are helping the Vietnamese learn English.

"Chi holds a master's degree in business and English from Syracuse University, but he's a little weak on sentence structure," Earthman said. "As soon as he becomes fluent, he wants to go into banking. He was a loan officer in Vietnam. He hopes to save enough money to buy his own home."

The Earthman family moved into their home in 1965. They said they once rented their garage apartment for two years to a law student and his family. "Nobody filed a deed restriction suit then," Earthman said.

Bryan said Earthman's charge of racism is "all pure baloney. We have Jewish people, Gentiles, Italians, all kinds here. Earthman is just blowing smoke." The suit says the presence of Vietnamese is a deed restriction violation that "constitutes an invasion of plaintiffs' rights" and will result in irreparable injury to the neighborhood.

Cop Murder Trial Under Way In Austin
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Final arguments were scheduled today in the murder trial of Walter Jennings, who allegedly shot to death police officer Leland Anderson a few blocks from the Capitol.

Jennings, 24, admitted Thursday that he had struggled with Anderson on Congress Avenue, claiming he was mad because the officer had been "disrespectful." But, he said, he didn't have the "foggiest" idea who shot Anderson.

The defense and state closed their case just before noon Thursday. "Is it your testimony that you don't have the foggiest idea how the police officer was shot?" Asst. Dist. Atty. Larry Laden asked Jennings on cross-examination. "I haven't the foggiest," Jennings replied.

Jennings testified he was driving down Congress Avenue, looking for two men who he had dropped off to sell copies of the Muslim newspaper when he saw one of them talking to Anderson. He said he got out and asked what the trouble was.

Jennings testified the officer reached out as if to grab the newspaper one of the other men, Harold Curtis, was holding, and that Jennings also tried to grab the papers but Anderson slapped him.

Jennings said he grabbed Anderson's left arm and Anderson reached for his revolver. "I was scared. I was afraid he'd shoot me. I was holding on for dear life. I could see the gun . . . that was all I could see. I was trying to knock his hand back," Jennings said.
