Arraign Kidnap Suspects

BLOOMFIELD HILLS, Mich. (AP) — Two men accused of kidnaping the son of a General Motors executive were arraigned before a U.S. magistrate Saturday after police recovered all but $11,000 of a $150,000 ransom paid for the boy's safe return.

Darryl E. Wilson, 22, and Clinton Williams, 19, both of Ann Arbor, were brought before Magistrate Paul Komives on federal charges of extortion.

Komives ordered each held in Oakland County jail in lieu of $100,000 cash bond, with another appearance before him slated for Monday morning.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Gordon Gold and Oakland County officials indicated the federal charges would be tried first. If there is no conviction on the federal level, state charges of kidnaping still could be filed, they said.

BEAUTIFUL

The weather forecast for today and Monday was a continuation of fair weather with a low tonight of 40 degrees and the high today and Monday, in the middle 70s. Winds will be variable this afternoon at 10 miles per hour from the southwest.

Big Spring Week

with Joe Pickle

The big news has to be the restoration of the BOQ project at Webb AFB representing an investment of $3,937,000, to the military appropriations bill. The action came in conference committee, and we have Rep. Omar Burlison, who coordinated efforts, Rep. George Mahon, Sens. John Tower and Lloyd Bentsen, among others to thank. The measure has yet to be affirmed in both houses and signed by the President.

That "killing" frost arrived Thursday, only about three days behind the average first-frost date. The mercury dipped to 32 at midnight, reached a low of 28 and stayed at or below freezing for about 12 hours. This likely will kill most of the cotton leaves, thus accelerating the harvest, but it also could damage some lush bolls. About a week more will be required to assess the results — and by that time we probably will have another chiller.

Our Community Blood Donor Services project got off to a good start Wednesday, and if every group will emulate the American Business Club, it's a cinch to succeed. Within the first quarter hour, 13 ABC members showed up to donate blood. Hours are Wednesday 1-4 p.m. at the Malone-Hogan Hospital emergency room (call 263-1211, Ext. 124 for appointments). It will take about 20 donors a week to keep the program going.

Six-Nation Economic Summit Opens In Paris

RAMBOUILLET, France (AP) — President Ford met with leaders of five other major industrialized nations Saturday for talks which the United States hopes will transform the world economic slump into recovery by 1977. Japan immediately began pressing for greater commitment to free trade.

Arriving at the sumptuous 14th century Chateau de Rambouillet 30 miles southwest of Paris, Ford met for 25 minutes with French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing before the opening of the informal seminar.

A White House spokesman said the two men agreed the leaders should plunge immediately into discussions of world trade, energy and monetary matters. Also attending the French-initiated session were the government leaders of Britain, West Germany, Japan and Italy.

Japan, hurt by the decline in world trade, was circulating a draft of what it hoped would be a final statement to "recognize the principle of free trade and the necessity to promote a new international round" of trade discussions. The draft stressed the six nations' common responsibility to set up an "open and free economy" in the world.

The mood at the start of the summit was that of a relaxed business men's weekend seminar.

"It's just a beautiful place here," said Ford as he and his host, President Valery Giscard d'Estaing of France, led the participants from six nations into the pink and gray hall of marble at the chateau where Louis XIV passed idle hours and Napoleon his last night in France before banishment to St. Helena.

"I hope you feel as positive about all this afterwards," Giscard d'Estaing shot back with a laugh. Then he called out "Helmut, oh Helmut," as West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt entered the room.

The relaxed mood also was apparent in the dress of the leaders. Giscard d'Estaing wore a greenish tweed weekend suit, and Schmidt had on a light gray one. Ford was the most formally dressed of the leaders in a dark blue suit with a vest and white shirt.

The group, 18 in all including the finance and foreign ministers of participating nations, was spread out nine on each side of a 30-foot-long table. Giscard d'Estaing and Ford faced each other across the chestnut colored upholstery covering the table as did Harold Wilson of Britain and Aldo Moro of Italy, and Takeo Miki of Japan and Schmidt.

Each of the participants had earphones on which to follow the proceedings.

Ships Collide

BREST, France (AP) — Two collisions involving trawlers and cargo ships, one of them carrying passengers, left at least four men missing off the foggy coast of France Saturday. Sixty other persons were rescued.

A spokesman for the Lloyds shipping agency said a Spanish trawler sank after colliding in the Bay of Biscay with the 1,597-ton Panamanian ship New Hope on Saturday afternoon. Five of the trawler's nine crewmen were reported picked up.

The extent of damage to the New Hope and its destination were not immediately known.

HEAD(Y) THIEF

A headrest thief took one headrest each out of three different vehicles parked at Spanish Inn Friday around 9:30 p.m. Kenneth Ridgeway, 1301 S. Atlanta, Doug Jeffreys, 3408 Golf Course Road and Jeff Smith, 3302 Avondale, each reported one headrest taken from their respective vehicles while parked at the cafe.

$200,000 Bond Issue Nixed In Stanton

STANTON — Voters rejected a $200,000 bond issue to resurface 20 blocks of old streets and pave 13 blocks of new streets in a light vote Saturday.

The vote was 35 for and 96 against in an election called for by the city council for street improvements. An Andrews engineer had been hired to study the problem and make recommendations.

Although there was not an assessment against individual property owners involved, citizens turned down the measure in what was almost a 3-1 vote against.

INSPIRED BY COAHOMA TEACHER Union Leader Remembers 'Wild' Wink, Lauds Meany

By MARJ CARPENTER "To me the labor movement is a movement of idealism. It is the people's lobby. For the past 75 years, it has been the cutting edge of economic and social progress in this country," so said J. C. Turner, acting national president of the International Union of Operating Engineers, AFL-CIO, here Saturday prior to the annual 20-year membership awards meeting of local 826.

Turner, who is from Washington D.C., years ago attended school at both Midway and Coahoma when his father was working building tanks in the fast developing West Texas oilfields in the roaring 20s.

A special guest at the meeting Saturday was Dee Tonn, who taught Turner in the fifth grade in a two-room school at Midway and later was a substitute teacher when he attended school in Coahoma.

INSPIRING TEACHER

Turner, who will in early December be named president of the national labor group, recalled "Mr. Tonn as a tall, skinny teacher who was really inspiring." Turner recalled that he used to listen to Tonn talking to other students of an older grade level in the same room. "We may have learned more that way," he recalls, "You got to hear the older student's lessons."

Tonn, now in his 70s, is still tall, but laughingly admitted that he only weighed "about 130" in the years when he taught Turner as a student.

Turner recalls that his father worked wherever there was the need for a riveter. "I was born in Beaumont," he said. "Later, when Lyndon Johnson was President and set up the first city council in Washington D.C., he called me in and told me that Mr. Meany had recommended me for a councilman's post."

"I understand you were born in Texas," the President told Turner.

"When I said I wasn't sure that I wanted the position, President Johnson said, 'If you don't accept, I don't think there is going to be a Labor representative on the council,'" he said. "I accept," Turner laughingly recalls.

Among the towns that Turner lived in as a child in West Texas were Wickett, where he attended school in Monahans, Midway and Coahoma. "I also remember when it was wild in Wink and the Texas Rangers came in one Saturday night and sealed off the town by holding a machine gun at each end of town to straighten out a big, wild fight there," Turner added.

"My Dad moved to Washington D.C. in 1932 and helped place the rivets in the Labor Department building being constructed there. I have lived there ever since. Following college, I worked briefly as an operating engineer and in 1940 became a union organizer.

Turner praised Meany as "a great Labor leader, on the beam in terms of strong defense for America. He is 81-years-old and still alert and exerts a great influence commensurate with his obligations."

When asked how he would defend statements that labor unions and their demands had contributed to inflation, he said, "I think we need to look instead at the impact of the oil crisis on the economy and to look at such things as the need for the Federal Reserve board to accept their responsibilities. I think the 14-year terms of members of that board leave them completely unresponsive to the needs of the people. Workers today are receiving real wages that are equal to 1964 real wages in what those wages can purchase. We never can negotiate real wages, only money wages."

In discussing the problem of New York City, he pointed out that "Certainly New York City should deserve as much help as Lockheed, or as much help as some foreign country." He expressed concern for the contracts of workers in that city and added, "I think public employees have the right to bargain collectively."

He said unions are urging all of their members to try to become delegates to the State and National Democratic conventions so "that we will have a strong voice in naming of the candidate." Turner added, "My personal choice for a candidate would be Scoop Jackson, but if there is a deadlock, a possible solution would be Hubert Humphrey and he would be a good candidate."

Turner then turned back to his former teacher and began to reminisce about old times. "If there's any place in the United States that I have close ties, other than in Washington, it's back here in West Texas," he remarked.

THURSDAY AT HC Goals For Progress Will Be Formulated

A year of work by the Big Spring Goals for Progress committee is nearing an end this week, as the final Goals for the development of the community will be formulated at a public town hall meeting Thursday at Howard College Auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

The goals adopted by the public at that meeting will be published as recommendations to local businesses, clubs and governments for the further improvement of the Big Spring and Howard County community.

The Goals for Progress program began with eight sub-committees, each responsible for an area of progress for Big Spring. These eight subcommittees surveyed each of their areas and compiled essays on the different areas, exploring facilities and situations which exist now, what problems face Big Spring in each of the areas, and what can be done. The eight essays: "Health and Education," "Government," "Community Relations," "Design of the City," "Culture," and "Entertainment," "Housing," "Economy" and "Parks and Recreation" were published in the Herald prior to five planning conventions held last August.

At the conventions, the public offered suggestions, desires and needs to the committee, which were then compiled into a list of suggestions which will be acted on at the town hall meeting, Thursday. All suggestions are those made by the public and the final list of goals is expected to be the actual wants, needs and desires of the people in Big Spring. Everyone is urged to attend the Thursday meeting, to hear the results of the planning conventions and to offer comments, criticisms and approve the final Goals for Progress.

Vitally Important Choice

The search is now on for a successor to Ron Mercer as executive head of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.

Under Mercer, a significant restructuring of the Chamber occurred with the objective of freeing the top executive officer for more time to devote to industrial development. This also put virtually in one basket the community efforts toward industrial development and civic and business achievement, instead of having each go its separate way.

Thus, the screening committee and the directorate of the Chamber will be seeking an individual who is familiar with over-all community development, since responsibility of the entire operation will be in that person's hands.

But they also will be seeking an individual with skills and experience in industrial prospecting and development. An effective individual of this type will need to be endowed with energy, initiative and imagination, as well as having organizational and promotional ability. Obviously, it is not a spot to be filled easily or filled well.

But this is what we need, for most everyone recognizes that one of our long range objectives should be toward diversity and stability of our economy. Inevitably, we must come to the time when the production side of agriculture and petroleum may not be able to sustain the economy on current levels. To be sure these basic fields may and likely will furnish raw materials for our industries, but it will be the industries which take up the employment slack and provide pay for more and more people.

West Texas has considerable potential for industrial growth because of its generally favorable climate, proximity to fuels and raw materials, and because of the character of its work force and working conditions.

But we are caught up in a competition not only with other regions, but with communities within our own region, as between neighboring communities, the situation is highly competitive. Few choices of personnel will have such a critical influence on our future as that of the executive head of the Chamber. Thus the best choice is the one we want to make, and to support generously and tirelessly.

Heartening Development

It is heartening that the Law Enforcement Technology program at Howard College is being stepped up. A gathering of the advisory committee here Friday underlined that.

It is fitting that the college beef up this program because it was the first in West Texas, and possibly the Southwest, to establish a law enforcement Academy. When the city and county were slow to enter the Permian Basin Regional Planning Council, the regional organization moved the academy to another city. However, different routes of funding permit the program to be offered through the college, which is a better place for it anyway. This is an adult and continuing education project, and it belongs with the college.

One advantage, with its centers also located in Lamesa and San Angelo, Howard College can carry the basic academy and advanced courses to those locations, enabling officers to gain the training without interrupting their active duty status. Of course, that obtains for our own town and immediate area. This is a good program and can be an increasingly productive one.

My Answer

Billy Graham

I was in an accident a few years ago. Although I had the benefit of plastic surgery, I still feel (now that I am a teenager) self-conscious because of the scars which still remain. I feel no one loves me, and I fear getting to know people too well because I know they don't want me for a friend. How can I get rid of my self-consciousness? P.T.

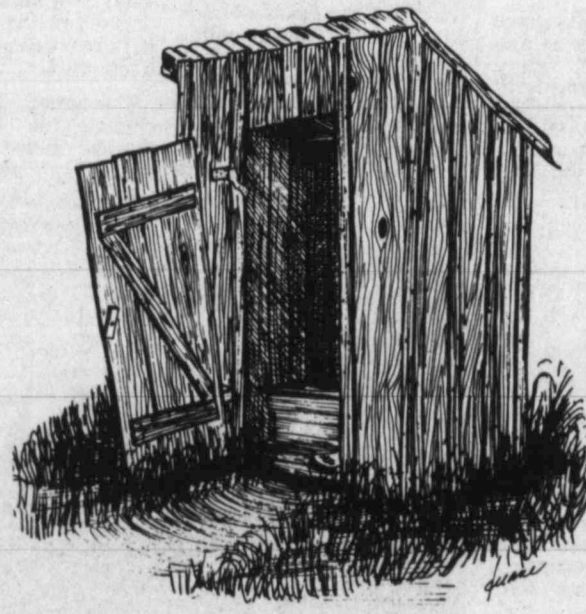

The most important thing is to remember that God loves you just as you are. He created you a unique person, and sent His Son Jesus Christ to die for your sins because He loves you. I urge you to turn to Him in faith, and accept His eternal love.

A wonderful thing happens to us when we learn to walk with Christ each day through prayer, fellowship and Bible study. We begin to look at other people with a new love that Christ gives us, and at the same time we find we are not as self-conscious as we once were.

A friend of mine once told me a simple story of a forest. It contained tall trees, medium trees, and small trees. But God loves them all, not because they are tall or short, but because He made them all. God loves you, and you are precious in His sight. To despise yourself is to call God a liar, for God says you are important and loved by Him.

REMEMBERING...

By BILL D. BROOKS

OUTHOUSE

Much has been written and even more has been said on the subject of the outhouse. Sometimes called a privy, toilet, or outdoor toilet, and of course other names we can't mention here, it has been the brunt of many jokes, pranks, and acts of downright meanness. But forget all that if you can and let's take a sober look at it in this brief narrative.

The outhouse for a standard household was usually a "two holes" measuring about 4' X 5' in floor space. The simple structure was usually of rough lumber, unpainted. There were four walls, a wood floor and a roof. There was only one door and no windows. Across the back wall was a bench with closed-in front, standing about 18" high. In the top of the bench were cut two round holes about 10" to 12" in diameter. Directly below the bench was the pit into which wastes were deposited.

The basic theory and construction were simple but most people added improvements as they could. For example, fold-down lids were sometimes attached to cover the holes when they were not being used. When the lids were open they served as back rests. Some of the structures were made of brick or stone and some came complete with fancy door knobs and hinges, some even had their own kerosene lanterns. Nails were sometimes driven into the walls to serve as coat hangers. Wire hangers were fastened to the wall over which the catalog was hung (real roll type toilet paper was not a readily available commodity but the mail order catalog was a tolerable substitute). I am told that some folks cut the crescent moon shape above or in the doors but I honestly never saw an outhouse with it.

Ash cans or lye containers were standard fixtures in many outhouses. The lye was used to chemically treat the wastes and cut down on the odor somewhat, a process much like that of chemical toilets found at construction sites today.

When "inside" toilets or bathrooms in houses were becoming popular there were many skeptics who thought the idea would never catch on. Many did not even like the thought of indoor facilities. As one old rancher was heard to say one time, "I'll be darned if anybody is gonna do that in my house".

Car Sales Perking Up

NEW YORK (AP) — A sharp rise in car sales and a sudden upsurge in the nation's money supply this past week brightened hopes that the economic recovery was gathering steam.

Whereas a week ago the economic news included a sharp climb in inflation and renewed rise in unemployment, this latest week produced the better news that early November U.S. car sales rose 45 per cent over 1974 levels, the sharpest year-to-year rise in a 10-day selling period since 1972.

Car makers stated optimistically that the strong showing meant potential customers who had stayed out of the new-car market for the past two years were buying again.

With Chrysler Corp.'s financial shape still in some question on Wall Street, Standard & Poor's bond rating service lowered the car maker's bond rating to BBB from single-A, and also lowered the company's financing arm, Chrysler Financial Corp., to double-B from BBB.

The economy may get an added spur from the sudden sharp climb in the nation's money supply. The federal reserve announced last week that the supply of cash plus

Two oil companies faced further revelations of questionable political payoffs last week.

In a deposition taken by the Securities and Exchange Commission, two former Gulf Oil Corp. officials testified they served as go-betweens for $9,000 in campaign contributions to candidates from Tennessee, Florida and Massachusetts.

Among the candidates named were Sen. Bill Brock, R-Tenn., aides of former Rep. William Cramer, R-Fla., and Mayor Kevin White of Boston.

The Italian subsidiary of Exxon Corp. was reported last week to have made $27 million in secret political payments in Italy over a 23-year period and another $29 million to $32 million was skimmed from the company's funds for unknown purposes.

What About School Lunch?

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a 15-year-old girl who weighs 160-165. I know that is too much for me since I am only 5 feet tall.

I've asked my mother to take me to our doctor, but she says all he'll tell me is to cut out sweets. I know that's part of my being fat — that, and not exercising enough.

But what kind of diet can I go on? I go to school, so I can't bring a pork chop — Brussels Sprouts — coffee-free diet with me. So what kind of diet is left? — P.M.

Come now. You sound as though you are trying to rationalize your poor eating habits. You have a world of suitable alternatives to the lunch you mention.

How about a lean meat or cheese sandwich, skim milk, some fruit, or some raw vegetables (carrot sticks, radishes, etc.)? A hard-boiled egg can substitute for a sandwich.

You are much too heavy for your height. Sweets aren't the whole story, though. The lunches I suggest should hold you over until you get home, where a sensible snack can be waiting, perhaps a glass of skim milk.

What you need is determination. Watch out for snacks, for fried foods, second helpings, and so forth. Instead of a second helping, sip a glass of water or unsweetened juice.

If you want to go to the junior prom looking a bit less like the bass fiddle in the band, you had best use some common sense approaches. If you find it difficult, then you might want to look for hints in my booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing."

They're not deep, dark secrets either. You can get a copy by sending 35 cents to me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been suffering for the past three and a half months with x o p l a s m o s i s choroidetinitis.

My titer count is over 2,000. I'm told this is unusually high and that I have stubborn case. I am being treated with cortisone, but there has been no improvement yet in my blurred vision.

What can you tell me about this disease and treatment? I always read your column, and I always get a lot of good information from it. — Mrs. R.S.

This tongue-twister is a parasitic disease which can be congenital or acquired. The congenital form exists when a pregnant woman has the disease and transmits it to the unborn child. The acquired form behaves like a viral infection and there is lymph gland and liver involvement.

The condition is not readily diagnosed, but it can be suspected from obvious eye involvement, including the changes in the retina, from where comes the name. This can cause the blurred vision you mention. Titer tests (for antibodies) show a rather high percentage of persons have this disorder to some degree.

The parasite can be acquired by eating poorly cooked meat or by contact with cat excrement. Cats can get it from eating infected mice.

Great Lines

Around The Rim

Walt Finley

A group of people who do not smoke call themselves: Group Against Smokers Pollution. Its acronym is GASP.

One of my leaders, Tommy Hart, has a thought for the day:

THE BEST WAY to keep teenagers at home is to make the home atmosphere pleasant — and let the air out of the tires.

Ex-Duncan Banner (flash, Joe Awtry, provides this thought for tomorrow: There is one consolation about our outer space program.

Our tax dollar will go farther.

Attention "Daddy Don," you know the guy who used to mess up the air waves by slurping coffee:

Five members of the Dallas Cowboys professional football team have been collecting great lines from Country and Western music for a number of years.

Here are their favorites: "How much more can she stand and still stand by me?"

"A woman a day keeps my man away."

"Every time you throw some dirt, you lose a little ground."

"I feel better all over than anywhere else."

"Walk out backwards so I'll think you're coming in."

"A sad song don't care whose heart it breaks."

"She stepped on my heart and stomped that sucker flat."

"Why is it that everytime I itch, I wind up scratching you?"

Special awards were given to: "The work we done was hard. At night we'd sleep 'cause we was tired."

"Don't come home a-drinkin' with lovin' on your mind."

"My pride's not hard to swallow, once I chew it long enough."

"If fingerprints showed up on skin, I wonder whose I'd find on you."

The pickers were Curt Mosher, the Cowboys' public relations director; his assistant, Doug Todd; trainer Don Cochran, scout Bob Griffin, and ex-fullback Bill Garrison — five good of boys with good of ears for good of lines.

EX-ALPINE cowboy Jay Sanders has a note for sailors:

"Should you experience difficulty in setting the sail and it becomes snarled around the mast, you should stand at attention immediately.

"This is in recognition of the spartan-tangled banner."

Since we're already in the area, a pal came in Friday with Bennett Cerf's Treasury of Atrocious Puns, which I plan to quote regularly — starting right now.

The promoter of a big flower show in Philadelphia had to postpone the opening because the exhibits couldn't be installed in time. He admitted "They caught me with our plants down."

A footnote adds: It is entirely possible that the promoter owed his exalted post to strict observance of Franklin P. Adams' famous injunction. "Take care of the peonies and the dahlias will take care of themselves."

Fortunately, Frank Gonzales, the "Coahoma Kid," brought me a volume named "Wipeouts." A sample:

"Why is it that everytime I itch, I wind up scratching you?"

Special awards were given to: "The work we done was hard. At night we'd sleep 'cause we was tired."

"Don't come home a-drinkin' with lovin' on your mind."

"My pride's not hard to swallow, once I chew it long enough."

EDITORIALS / OPINIONS

Beware Of 'Situs'

William F. Buckley, Jr.

You are — let us suppose — the head of a company that specializes in the installation of elevators. You employ regularly 35 men and women, and when you have a big job, you go out into the market and add to your working force as necessary.

Every couple of years, somebody in your organization proposes that the workers unionize.

Following strictly the rules prescribed by the National Labor Relations Board, you facilitate a vote on the matter. Every time, the vote has come out heavily against joining the labor union. The collective right not to join has not been challenged anywhere — the majority is supposed to decide on these matters. It is a right that the Congress, with the backing of President Ford, is about to repeal for your company and others like it.

THEY CALL IT, with an etymological atavism the motives of which I have not been able to trace, the "common situs" bill. Situs is Latin for site, and since they insist on calling it that, I'll go along, just as I call Cassius Clay Muhammad Ali.

Under the proposed common situs act, which breezed through the House and through the Senate Labor Committee, and is coming up now on the Senate floor, you and your employees would, in effect, be faced with two choices. Either join the union, or go out of business.

The reason it is narrowed down to these two choices is that the construction trades are highly organized: the masons, carpenters, plumbers, electricians, bricklayers, etc., though here and there, there are exceptions. In 1949, in Denver, a firm engaged in constructing a building subcontracted the electrical work to a small, non-union firm. Remember, that since the NLRA, a non-union firm is defined as a firm that doesn't want to join the union, not as a firm that isn't permitted, by the employer, to join a union. The trades union council of the other workers threw up a picket line around the entire site, or situs as the solons denominate it.

RETURNING TO Anglo Saxon, the contractor fired the subcontractor, pursuant to the capitalist ethic that profit comes first. But the subcontractor sued before the National Labor Board, which ruled that he was entirely correct: the contractor didn't have a right under the law to fire him because the Taft Hartley Act prohibits secondary boycotts against different employers engaged in different activity. Under that act, if let us say the meat-workers union strikes against a MacDonald's Hamburger stand, the electrical workers at Con Ed can't strike against the generating facility that furnishes light to the hamburger stand.

THE SUPREME COURT absent-mindedly confirmed the NLRB in 1951, and ever since then it has been the dream of the construction unions to get legislation passed that would exempt them from the secondary boycott ban of the Taft Hartley Act. Presumably because construction workers, though their rhetoric is usually Democratic, are mostly Republicans under the skin, even Eisenhower and Nixon backed the common situs act which would permit the Denver-type situation.

Mr. Ford, alas, is not disposed to take what they call an "anti-union stand" it is really nothing of the sort: it is a pro-freedom of choice stand. He has co-opted the pill for conservatives by coming up with a complicated, syndicalist-sounding plan devised by his labor secretary John Dunlop, which would set up a board of 10 of us, 10 of them, plus Dunlop and Shirley Temple and one androgynous labor mediator, to attempt to reconcile differences between contractors and unions if a strike threatens.

THE FACT of the matter is that a critical American liberty is about to be removed from the scene. Since it is not fashionable to talk about our evanescent liberals, one might put it this way. The construction business, which does $130 billion dollars worth of activity in America every year, is highly depressed, and it is highly depressed in part because costs are astronomical. To contribute to this economic moment a piece of legislation which will make it easier for a single union to close down an entire construction project, and 2, put pressure on non-union and freelance laborers to organize and in many cases raise costs, which 3, will be passed along to the consumer, which 4, will lessen the demand for construction, 5, which will increase unemployment, is — a high price to pay for sating union pride.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir: For several years, the people of Big Spring have been urged to shop in Big Spring and I believe people should support the community. However, I have changed my mind.

A few days ago, I bought a new car and like most new cars it needed a few minor things fixed. The things I wanted fixed were not done at the factory and everyone knows the factory doesn't make mistakes.

After an attempt to fix something that was OK, the man in charge told me that my warranty didn't cover what I originally wanted fixed. He didn't mention fixing that which was messed up in the attempt.

Everyone knows how large an investment a new car is and for that much money even the minor problems should be corrected. The dealer representative doesn't think so, because it wasn't done at the factory.

I can fix the minor problems myself for $10 to $15 and I will, but the next new car I buy will come from an out-of-town dealer.

New Official Slogan

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — My colleague Jack Anderson has been running a slogan contest for the Bicentennial. He is offering all sorts of prizes to the person who will come up with the words that will describe this country the best.

I WAS thinking of entering the contest, but I knew I couldn't win because people would think it was a put-up job. Since I hate to see my slogan go to waste I have decided to use my own column to publicize it.

I believe the slogan that describes this country the best is "The check is in the mail."

My reason for selecting it as the best one is that it is easy to remember, it fits on automobile bumper stickers and millions of Americans have been using it for years.

I MUST admit the slogan isn't original with me. I first heard my father use it 40 years ago. In fact, every time the phone rang at our house he would say it to the caller on the other end.

One time I asked him after a call from the electric company if the check was really in the mail and he said, "Don't ask such dumb questions. If the check was in the mail you wouldn't be eating meatballs and spaghetti tonight."

MY FATHER must have told other people about it because in no time at all I kept hearing the phrase being repeated wherever I went.

Most companies would blow their minds when they were told by a customer that "the check was in the mail." But there was little they could do about it. Then one day a comptroller of a large corporation got a brainstorm. Why couldn't his company tell another company the same thing? In that way his company could slow up payments on its bills and use the money itself. He tried it and improved the cash position of his company by 100 per cent.

PRETTY SOON everyone doing business was assuring everyone else that "the check was in the mail," and it took weeks, even months before anyone was paid.

The practice might have been stopped except that the people telling the tale got help from an unexpected source — the U.S. Post Office.

As time went on postal service got so bad in the country that no one could tell if the person who said the check was in the mail was lying or not. Today it's impossible for anyone to know if the debtor is telling an untruth or if the check is really lost somewhere in a mailbox between St. Louis, Mo., and Butte, Mont. This has encouraged almost everyone in the country to blame the mails for the lack of payment of a bill.

FOR A LONG time only individuals and private enterprise used the ploy. But recently the government has gotten into the act. Now, whether you're waiting for a Social Security check or payment for a highway contract, there is someone in Washington who will tell you in a friendly voice that "the check is in the mail." It wouldn't be so bad if it was a real person, but most government departments are now using taped recordings.

Reveal Four Two Big Springers Receive Special Medals From China

Four producers from the Cisco upper gas strata of the Credo East field in northwest Sterling County have been announced.

HGM Oil No. 1-15 McEntire, 1 1/2 southeast of production, had a final calculated open hole flow of 2,450,000 cubic feet of gas per day with a gas-liquid ratio of 36,560-1 and condensate gravity 50.2. The flow was through perforations at 7,250-412. Location is 1,320 from the south and east lines of section 15-23, H&TC.

HGN No. 1-22 McEntire, three-fourths of a mile southeast, had an open hole cubic feet per day from perforations at 7,721-431 fraced with 28,000 gallons. Gas-liquid ratio is 53,846-1 and condensate is 54.1 gravity. Location was 1,320 from the south and west lines of section 22-23, H&TC.

HGN No. 1-27 McEntire, 1 3/4 miles northeast, rated 1,450,000 cubic feet per day calculated open hole flow from perforations at 7,233-385, treated with 40,000 gallons. Gas-liquid ratio was 22,857-1, condensate 54.6. Location is 660 from the south and east lines of section 27-23, H&TC. This is a re-entry of a plugged back test drilled in 1960 to 9,010.

HGN No. 1-34 McEntire, 2 1/4 southeast, had a 1,500,000 cubic feet calculated open hole flow from perforations 7,189-470, fraced with 42,000 gallons. The gas-liquid ratio was 370,000-1 with condensate 54.4 gravity. Location was 1,320 from the north and east lines section 34-23-H&TC.

Somewhat belatedly but none the less deservedly, two Big Spring men have received a special medal from the Republic of China.

Order for the China War Memorial Medal was lost at the end of the war and only recently found. Nationalist China, however, set about striking the medal and distributing it.

Among those qualifying were Jack Gulley, traffic manager for Cosden Oil and Chemical Company, and Robert J. (Jack) Cook, member of the firm of Cook & Talbot.

Ambassador James Shen and Minister S. K. Hu of the Chinese embassy staff personally made the first presentations at the Hump Pilots Association 30th annual meeting in Miami in August. Neither Cook nor Gulley was able to make this reunion this year, so their medals were forwarded to them.

The Hump was the forbidding Himalaya Mountains, over which transport planes from the China-India-Burma theatre were flown into bases in mainland China. Most of the supplies for American and Chinese Armies and Air Forces fighting in China were supplied by this unprecendented airlift.

So terrible was the terrain and so atrocious were weather conditions and mechanical problems, not to mention Japanese fighters and bombers, that 900 planes were lost in the lift from 1944 through 1945. After 31 years, memories of practically flying over and through the Hump by the seat of the pants are still vivid for both Gulley and Cook.

BETTER LATE — Because the order was lost at the close of World War II and was not found until recently, Jack Gulley, left, and Jack Cook of Big Spring were 31 years late in receiving the China War Memorial Medal. They both were pilots flying the notoriously hazardous Hump in 1944-45.

Gulley began ferrying planes for the U. S. Army Air Force in the Spring of 1943. Within a month he was named a second lieutenant and soon promoted to first lieutenant and assigned to the 1st Air Transport

Squadron, 20th Bomber Command in the Assam-China area. He received the Air Medal for 150 hours of combat flight. His squadron also was commended by Gen. Curtis LeMay for outstanding achievement. From May 13, - Dec. 8, 1944, he earned the Distinguished Flying Cross for hazardous flying of the Hump, and in October 1945, he was authorized to wear three bronze stars on the Asiatic Pacific theatre ribbon for the China, India-Burma, and the Central Burma campaigns. He became a lieutenant in the Army Air Force Reserve in September 1945.

Gulley is married to the former Gypsy McCollum, and they live at 4 Coachman Circle. They have two children, Barney Gulley, Big Spring, and Mary Jane Rountree, Big Spring.

Cook began as a civilian flight instructor for the U. S. Army Air Corps, gained his second lieutenant commission in 1942 and served in the ferry command out of Memphis, Tenn. After flying planes from the United States to various theatres of war, he was transferred to India in 1944 to fly the Hump. Stationed at Tezgaon India (now Bangladesh) near Dacca with the 1346th Air Base Unit, he flew over 80 Missions carrying such items as gasoline, ammunition, food and other supplies to bases at Kunming, Chanvi, Luliang and Chen Tu.

He received the Air Medal with oak leaf cluster. The DFC, Presidential Unit Citation, three bronze battle stars for the China, India-Burma and Central Burma campaigns. He retired as captain in 1946 at Fitzsimmons General Hospital in Denver, Colo. Cook is married to Jean Jackson Cook, and they reside at 1706 Harvard. They have two daughters, Suzanne (Mrs. Coy Conner Jr. of Tyler) and Jackie (Mrs. Keith Sweatland) of Mountain Home AFB, Idaho.

THE WEEK

Lynn Hise, assistant superintendent of schools here, is the president-elect of the Texas State Teachers Association District 18. That means he will assume office for the 1977-78 term, and his secretary will be Lois Phillips, Big Spring. This is an outstanding honor, since we have few of these. Only once have we furnished the state president — Sam Anderson.

Another educational honor came this way when Doris Hultbreitje was selected as the Business Education Teacher of the Year by the Texas Business Education Association, that's pretty heady stuff.

Ron Mercer, citing personal reasons, submitted his resignation Monday as chief executive officer of the Chamber of Commerce and Industrial Foundation. Under his administration, the two were fused inseparably. President Ken Perry immediately named a screening panel to seek out a successor.

Another separation from service was made under different circumstances Thursday when the administrative board terminated the contract of suspended Richard Fleener as head of the joint tax appraisal services. Fleener, complaining of having no public hearing, intimated that he got sacked because of even-handed assessments of big taxpayers. The board, saying no hearing was required, intimated entirely different reasons, choosing not to elaborate.

October, according to official records, had only .54 of an inch moisture (the gauge should have been at our house), but through 10 months the total rainfall measured 26.71 inches. November added to that, and now we have one of the wettest years, but temperatures and patterns may not cause the expected reaction. Fields should enter the winter with good reserves, pastures not so good.

Members Of IUOE For 20 Years Honored

Some 53 members of Local 826, International Union of Operating Engineers, were honored Saturday afternoon when they received 20-year membership awards at a meeting at the local Union Hall.

J. C. Turner from Washington D.C., acting president of the approximately one-half million International Union of Operating Engineers members, was featured speaker.

Other special guests included Jimmy Morrison, regional union director of the Southwest from Houston; C. E. Gressett, union representative here; Clovis Phinney, local president; Kenneth Howell, local manager and I. D. Fortenberry, business representative.

Twenty-year members from Cosden include James Baird, Horace Bowden, Bobby Bradford, Billy Bunn, Harold Cain, Perry Campbell, the late Bobby Campbell, Charles Campbell, R. H. Cantrell, W. T. Childress,

We're not talking about football anymore, especially since it's over. But what about our BSIS girl's volleyball team? With a terrific surge in the second half, it wound up second in the district for the season.

Efforts are being made to bolster the law enforcement program at Howard College, and Walter Eubanks, former captain in the police department here and now head of the public safety department for Amarillo College, was brought in as consultant to the advisory committee. We may not be able to get back our academy per se, but may be able to parallel it.

A pickup truck veered suddenly into his path on a curve, and Alex G. Casas, 46, employe of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, was killed instantly southeast of Snyder. Two others received broken legs.

Oil well wildcatting in increasing tempo in this area, with most of the activity in Martin, Sterling, and Mitchell Counties. Dawson and Glasscock also are getting some play, and Howard — one of the older producing counties — only slightly.

Exclusive fixed-base contracts aren't cricket, the FAA has indicated to Howard County officials, which means that Trans-Regional Airways can't be denied a contract on the basis that one already has been awarded.

The Big Spring Association of Insurance Agents has made two generous gifts to local causes. One is $100 to the Heritage Museum and the other is to the High School Bible Fund. One should create our Heritage, the other preserve it.

And speaking of Heritage Museum, a typographical error in Friday's issue considerably shaved the attendance for the year. It should have been 13,000 instead of a mere 1,300 as printed.

Charles Cummings Ceci Dranke, Billy Hammond, Stan Griffin, Travis Hallmark, James Hollis, John W. Howard, James C. Kelly, D. C. Lee, O. C. Mason, Joe D. Merrick, Don Parks.

Also, Kenneth Plew, Jack Pipes, Cecil Raspberry, Joel Roberts, Leon Riddle, who resigned in April, Odell Roman, Byron B. Smith Jr., William Splain, William Stovall, Floyd Stephens and Charles R. Walker.

From Gulf at Crane were R. E. Fletcher, C.G. Liles, H. B. Ladyman R. R. Shelton and Martin H. Ingram. From Vulcan at Denver City were R. C. Sparks and W. F. # 'Listen To My Tale' Of Guitar Brandings

BY MARJ CARPENTER

"Oh come Along Boys and Listen to My Tale." There are still cowhands in Howard County and they still hold round-ups and brandings.

Out at the Guitar Ranch, a scant four miles from downtown Big Spring, cowhands on the Guitar Ranch this week were holding one of their tri-annual brandings.

It was a cold, frosty morning and cowhands in levis, boots, chaps and cowboy hats gathered around the branding fire for warmth and conversation. They had just rounded up the herd and it was time for branding.

LIGHT THE FIRE

The sun was just up in the east as they began to lay out the branding irons, light the fire and get the vaccination needles ready. The cattle nervously watched in the background and backed off to one corner of the large corral watching the preparations.

Close to 200 calves were rounded up in three groups and were branded, dehorned, castrated, vaccinated, had their ears notched and were given a shot of Vitamin K.

The eight cowhands helping with the branding were experts and the calves were run through quickly. One would rope them out, three would hold the calf and a fourth would administer all of the needs in a matter of seconds.

MOURNFUL SOUND

The cattle were from 24 sections of the Guitar Ranch. Earl Guitar was one of the nine cowhands on hand as well as his son, Phil and his nephew, Repps.

Tommy Smith, foreman and his son, Jimmy, were helping along with Russell Walters, Pete Ware, Arlan Baize and David Gomez.

Four cowhands rounded up the herd, taking close to two days on horseback and penned them up in an area not too far from the Andrews highway.

The cattle wailed out their mournful sound as calves were separated from their mothers and those thought to be old enough to be weaned were placed in separate corrals.

The fire for the branding irons was smoldering and felt good on a cold day.

A big T was branded on the calves symbolizing the name of West Texas Cattle Company. A shallow fork was notched out of the calves ear so that when winter comes and the brand is haired over, the cattle can be identified quickly by their ear marking.

The cattle will be let out to pasture and when the pasture fields get "bad" in the winter, range cake of soy bean and alfalfa hay will be put out for their grazing.

Ranching was the first Texas industry and is still a top Texas industry.

WAY OF LIFE

Producing beef is a way of life for Texans and Texas is proud of its ranchers.

The Hollywood cowboys and the television trail riders are not near as efficient as the real live West Texas variety.

They dress like cowboys, because they have learned long ago that the cowboy hat is protection from the wind and sun, the boots are needed for their kind of work and chaps are a necessity for riding in the brush.

Times have changed, but the cowboy is still a tough breed. He still has to know how to ride and rope if he's ever to complete a day's work.

And out at the Guitar Ranch and at other area ranches, along about February, June and November, it's round-up time.

DEATHS

'Bart' Bartlett

Funeral will be held at 3 p.m. today at the First United Methodist Church in Coahoma for True (Bart) Bartlett, 85, who died at 9:10 a.m. Saturday in a local hospital.

The Rev. Homer Salley, pastor of the church, assisted by the Rev. James Renfro will officiate. Burial will be in the Coahoma Cemetery with Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home in charge.

Born Dec. 28, 1889 in West Union, Ill., he moved to the Coahoma area from Sapulpa, Okla., in 1934 and served as a driller in the oil fields. He was a veteran of World War I and a Methodist.

Survivors include his wife, Laura and one son, Richard Bartlett, both of Coahoma. One daughter, Miss Frances Bartlett of Big Spring also survives, as well as one sister, Mrs. Frances Wolf of Napa, Calif.

Pallbearers will be Marrion Hays, John Best, G. B. Harding, Paul H. Allen, Alvin Best and Richard Renfro.

D. A. Thomason

David A. Thomason, 84, of Toyah, brother of Mrs. Eula Fucua of Coahoma, died in Culberson County Hospital in Van Horn Thursday.

Services were held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Toyah Methodist Church and burial followed in the Toyah Cemetery.

W. E. O'Brien

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. Monday in Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel for William Ernest O'Brien, 83, who died at 10:20 p.m. Friday in a local hospital.

Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park. Born Feb. 25, 1892 in Bonham, he married Almeda Ray, who survives him.

He moved to Big Spring in 1928 and helped build the original Cosden Refinery and also helped build the original rodeo grandstands. He later helped construct a refinery in Wynnewood, Okla. He was a World War I veteran. He went to work as grounds and maintenance supervisor at Webb in 1952 until his retirement.

Survivors, in addition to his wife, are two sons, C. L. O'Brien, Abilene and Elmo O'Brien, Fort Worth; a daughter-in-law, Mrs. M. J. O'Brien of Big Spring; a sister, Mrs. Ruby Bailey, Okla., and a brother, A. B. O'Brien of San Juan, N. M.

Seven grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren also survive.

Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, First Presbyterian Church, will officiate.

Mrs. Stallings

Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. Monday in Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel for Mrs. Mack (Novella) Stallings, who died Thursday in Hereford.

Other survivors, in addition to her husband, include two sons, L. J., and Mike Cook of Abilene; a daughter, Mrs. Royce Williams, Abilene; two sisters, Mrs. I. H. Higginbotham and Mrs. Van Jackson, both of Gatesville; a brother, A. J. Thompson, Taylor County; five grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

H. A. Palmer

Howard A. Palmer Sr., 76, Midland, died in the Big Spring VA Hospital Thursday.

Services were held at 10 a.m. Saturday at the Newnie W. Ellis Funeral Home in Midland and burial followed in Resthaven Memorial Park.

Survivors include a son, H. A. Palmer Jr., and a daughter, Mrs. O. C. Collins, both of Midland.

TOTEM POLE Covert-Shick Home Memories

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the tenth in a series about Big Spring homes constructed prior to 1915. Homes approved by the Historic Commission are featured. For nominations, call Mrs. Carol Hunter at 2-9556.

By MARJ CARPENTER
Once marked by a hand-carved totem pole, the Covert-Shick house at 510 Gregg has a colorful history.

On the day in 1973, when the house and contents were auctioned off, hand carvings were among the many priceless items that were purchased by Big Spring families interested in preserving a bit of Big Spring history.

W. C. Covert, who arrived in Big Spring with the very first passenger train, was actually the third owner of the house at 510 Gregg. The house had been built for a family named Chandler who sold it to Joe and Will Fisher. The Coverts bought it in 1905 and it was owned by family members until 1973.

District Attorney Bob Moore purchased the home at that time with plans to preserve it and eventually remodel it into a law office.

RAILROAD JOY
Mrs. Holly Shick, a Big Spring resident, has vivid memories of the home on Gregg street. She remembers the house not only as her childhood home when she was Holly Covert, but also the home where she and her husband, the well known and colorful Postmaster Nat Shick, lived and raised their daughter, Lillian Shick Dawson.

Covert was a railroad man and the family enjoyed the railroad. The Covert children often rode the train to Stanton to visit friends. They also used the railroad to transport their valuables.

Back in 1898, Mrs. Covert ordered a magnificent five pedal piano from Wing and Song in New York. The piano made a trip on the train and was taken to the Covert's summer home in Arkansas.

That same fall, the musical instrument came via train to Big Spring. Ten-year-old Holly took lessons and then later had her piano transported, by train, of course, to Kidd Key College in Sherman.

The piano which was in this featured house so many years, is now back in Big Spring at the home of Mrs.

Lillian Dawson. Mrs. Dawson was a Big Spring teacher for many years. She was both born and married in the house featured in this article.

PANE TESTED
Mrs. Shick recalls that in 1906, a dapper bachelor named Nat Shick arrived in Big Spring and in 1907 had given her a ring and the wedding plans were formulated. Holly later Mrs. Shick had a brother named Eddie, who was later killed in World War I. Eddie doubted the authenticity of the diamond ring, and set about to prove it was glass.

However, when he could carve his name in a window pane, he had to relent his position. The window pane still bears the carving.

The Holly Covert-Nat Shick wedding was a grand occasion. The Baptist church was at 410 Gregg and there was nothing between the Covert home and the Baptist church except mesquite trees. The Coverts stretched white cheese cloth amid the mesquite for the wedding party's path.

MEMORIES
Later, the Baptist Church was twice destroyed at that location, once by a cyclone and once by fire. So it moved to another location and was no longer a neighbor structure to this home.

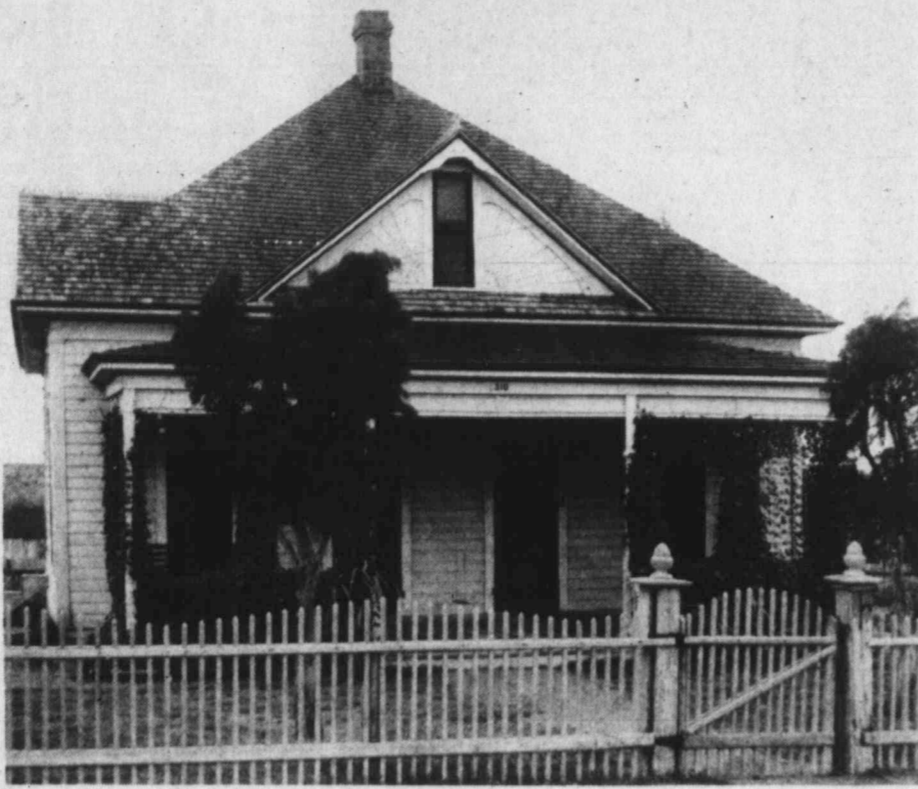

At one time fences were necessary around the home to prevent cattle from coming into the yard. Later the fence was removed. Still later, the home was suddenly on a major thoroughfare as Gregg Street became Highway 87 through Big Spring.

The house, with a full basement, has been remodeled and added to on several occasions. There are still many of the original square nails in the house.

Some of the furniture, lamps, chira, cut glass, books, pictures, and other items were kept by the family and many were purchased by friends at the auction in 1973.

The totem pole out front was purchased by Kent Morgan and given to the Heritage Museum. Another of the totem poles is in Comanche Trail Park.

Items from the Covert-Shick home were retained by those interested in one of Big Spring's memories.

LBJ Dean Resigns

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Dr. William Cannon, dean of the Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs for just over a year, has quit, effective Dec. 31, to return to the University of Chicago.

Cannon succeeded Dr. John Gronouski, the school's first dean, who resigned in August 1974. Gronouski is still a faculty member.

Cannon said he was resigning to take a job as vice president for business and finance at Chicago, where he served as an administrative vice president for six years before coming to the University of Texas.

Cannon told UT president Lorene Rogers that he was departing with "real regret."

He said he "would not leave for any other reason other than to return to a place where I have spent many years, for a role which will be fulfilling and in which I may be able to make a further contribution."

Men Arrested Trying To Sell Fake Picassos

HOUSTON (AP) — FBI agents report they have arrested seven men in connection with an attempted sale of eight fake Picasso paintings to an undercover agent for $1.5 million.

The men were to be arraigned before U.S. Dist. Court Judge John V. Singleton.

An FBI spokesman gave these details: The undercover agent, who asked not to be named, said one of the men contacted him in New York and told him he owned eight Picassos valued in excess of $1.5 million. He told the agent the paintings had been in a vault since 1954.

FBI agents in New York determined that the original paintings described by the man are in museums throughout the United States.

The eight fake paintings offered to the undercover agent are copies of "Head of Girl," "Dancers," "Musicians," "Sylvette," "Portrait," "Grotesquerie" and two untitled portraits.

The FBI believes the fake paintings were done by hand, the spokesman said.

"An investigation concerning the exact artist is continuing," the agent said.

Pecan Show in December

SAN ANGELO — The 10th West Texas Regional Pecan Show is Dec. 11-12-13 at Odessa, said economist Robert H. Kensing of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

To be held in Winnwood Mall — same site as last year — the show will include classes for all named varieties, from which judges will pick the champion and the reserve champion "in-shell" and "hulling" pecans.

Kensing, longtime chairman of the annual show, said judges will also select the champion "collection of three varieties" and the champion "collection of six varieties" as well as that of "highest percent kernel" and of "heaviest pecan."

Specialists will be on hand to discuss pecan production techniques, and educational materials will be displayed. An educational seminar for pecan growers is scheduled.

Tighter Controls At Webb Gates

Tighter nighttime controls at Webb AFB entry gates go into effect Monday. The increased precautions will help protect government and private property for theft, according to Col. Robert F. Brodman, base commander.

All incoming traffic will be stopped between midnight and 4 a.m. on weekdays and between 1 and 6 a.m. weekends. All vehicle occupants will then show valid credentials or otherwise prove their need to enter.

Any visitors will have to be with a sponsor or, if enroute to Webb Village or dormitories, sponsors will be telephoned to verify their request to enter.

IN ACTION — A stripper unloads its basket of cotton into trailer specially designed for carrying cotton and easily dumping it into the module builder.

ST. LAWRENCE DEMONSTRATION Field-Stored Modules Of Cotton Now Okay

GARDEN CITY — To his great advantage, many a West Texas cotton grower will store his 1975 crop temporarily in the same field from which he harvested it.

Only a season or two ago, no good farmer if he could prevent it left harvested cotton very long in the field because both the seed and the lint were certain to deteriorate.

Such field-storage is now possible, thanks to technology developed by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

West Texas growers can see that technology demonstrated during a field day next Thursday at the St. Lawrence Community 15 miles southwest of this Glasscock County seat, where engineers will use newly developed equipment to build giant modules of cotton.

If the moisture content of the modules is 12 percent or less, Experiment Station research indicates they can be left up to 45 days in the field with no loss of quality.

If he knows that he can store in the field, the grower can harvest his cotton when it is just right, whether or not he has trailers enough for hauling it to the gin and regardless of when the gin can handle the cotton.

The field day begins at 9 a.m. when growers can discuss individual problems with specialists of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station regarding cotton diseases, cotton varieties and weed control in cotton, all in the St. Lawrence Parish Hall.

After a barbecue lunch at the hall, engineers will build a module of cotton, load it, transport it and unload it at the gin.

In the morning, growers Wayne Halfmann, Clifford Hoelscher, Lawrence Jost and Douglas Church will discuss their experiences with module building. Glasscock County Extension Agent Oliver F. Werst will also talk about the module stacking of cotton.

Persons at the field day will hear a report on the St. Lawrence Boll Weevil Diapause Control Program, by Werst and Extension Service entomologist Charles Neeb. After lunch, the guests will also see field demonstrations of cotton varieties on the Lawrence Jost and Bill Schraeder farms, where speakers will be Neeb, Dr. Kenneth Lindsey, Dr. Bob Metzger and Dr. James Supak, all Extension agronomists.

Others on the Nov. 20 program will be Dr. Calvin B. Parnell, Extension Service agricultural engineer, and Dr. Bill Lalor and Lee Warner of Cotton Incorporated, who will discuss a special dump trailer and a mover designed to pick up and haul ricks of cotton.

Stock Given To Foundation

MIDLAND — More than 50 percent of the stock in Playland, Inc., of Midland has been presented to the Midland College Foundation.

The stock was officially presented Wednesday by Bill Worley, Midland, acting as agent for four of the corporation stockholders. Assets of Playland, Inc., include the Playland Miniature Goat Course and approximately 9.5 acres of land located on North Big Spring Street, between Wadley Drive and Air Park Road. Current appraised value of the land and improvements total approximately $80,000. Donors of stock included: Clyde Fry, North Little Rock, Ark.; John J. Jones, Robert A. Jones, and Olivia Jane Worley Ogden, all of Dallas.

Select New Wing Senior Airman Advisor At Webb

S.MSgt. Samuel R. Earl has been chosen to replace CMSgt. Walter H. Purgason as the 78th Flying Training Wing's Senior Airman Advisor at Webb AFB.

Earl will take over his new duty when Purgason transfers to Yokota AB, Japan, in January. He is already working with Purgason and learning his new position.

"I'm really looking forward to it," says Earl, who has been a Cessna T-37 maintenance superintendent. "The job will be a tremendous challenge and I hope I can fill the slot as capably as Sergeant Purgason has done for the past three and a half years."

The 41-year-old Beckley, W. Va., native has been at Webb for 28 months and has been in the Air Force for nearly 21 years.

Most of his career has been involved with aircraft maintenance. Planes he is familiar with include the F-84G, RF-101, F-105D, F-105D, F-105F, F-100D, T-33 and the T-37.

He is an active member of the Air Force Association and the Noncommissioned Officers Association. He's currently serving an elected two-year term as president of the board of advisors for the NCO Open Mess. Earl is an appointed member of the Big Spring Parks and Recreation Committee.

He is a graduate of the Senior NCO Academy at Gunter AFB, Ala., and was chosen as Webb's NCO of the Year in 1973.

He and his wife Betty have three daughters, Carolyn, 19, and Avis and Mary, both 16.

Sergeant Earl was chosen for the position after a careful screening of all eligible personnel by Col. Robert A. Owens, 78th Flying Training Wing commander.

The Senior Airman Advisor assists the wing commander in keeping informed on all matters affecting the welfare and morale of assigned enlisted personnel. He acts as an advisor to major councils, committees and boards which affect Webb airmen. He acts as a liaison between the commander at various community, military and civilian functions.

Many WT Cotton Farmers Welcome Frosty Weather

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Cold weather that defoliated cotton plants on the West Texas plains last week was welcomed by farmers awaiting harvest activity. Dr. John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said.

The sweet potato harvest is about complete in East Texas, Hutchison said. Vegetable harvesting is active in the San Antonio-Winter Garden area and in parts of the Coastal Bend and South Texas.

The citrus harvest remains rather slow in the Rio Grande Valley because of weak demand and generally low prices, he said.

Soil moisture is still needed Northeast and North Central Texas and on the plains, Hutchison said.

Fall grazing is short in several counties and some feeding has started. A hay shortage is likely in Northeast Texas if winter causes heavy feeding, Hutchison said.

District agricultural agents gave these reports:

Panhandle: Freezing temperatures last week will allow the rest of the cotton crop to be harvested. The sugar beet harvest is 65 percent complete and the sugar content of the crop is improving. Most dryland wheat needs moisture.

South Plains: Freezing temperatures will enable cotton farmers to start harvest operations. Recent rains have boosted wheat prospects but the dryland crop needs additional moisture. Cattle conditions are good.

Rolling Plains: Cotton harvesting should get into full swing soon. Sunflowers harvesting is about complete. Pecan yields are generally good. Good rains improved prospects for wheat grazing. The demand for stocker cattle has jumped sharply.

North Central: Moisture is needed for small grain growth. Grazing is short on pastures. Stock water is short in some counties. Some supplemental livestock feeding is under way. A few fields of cotton remain to be harvested. About 90 percent of the peanut crop is complete.

Northeast: Soil moisture remains short. Soybean yields are fair to poor because of prolonged dry conditions. The irrigated sweet potato crop is producing excellent yields. Grazing is short.

Far West: Some late planted sorghums remain to be harvested. Small grains are making good growth where there is good moisture. Ranges are generally in good shape.

West Central: The cotton crop is short in most counties. About 10 percent of the peanut crop remains to be harvested.

One-Act Festival At HC To Be Shaped By Eyman

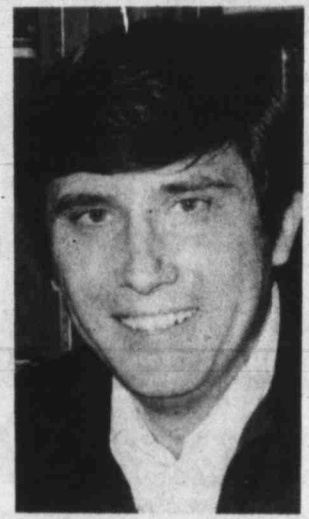

Terry D. Eyman, head of the speech and drama department at Central Texas College, has been named executive secretary-treasurer of the Texas Junior College Speech and Theatre Association, according to Dan Mendoza, of Lee College in Baytown, president.

In his new position Eyman will be handling all the administrative correspondence of the organization representing oral communications departments of the 53 public and 11 private junior colleges in Texas.

First among his duties will be arranging for the statewide one-act play festival to be held at Howard College, Big Spring, March 4-6. Later will come the state forensic festival scheduled for April 9-10 at Grayson County Junior College, Denison.

Eyman, who received his bachelor of arts degree at Harding College, Searcy, Ark., and his master of science degree at North Texas State University, was an instructor at Raymondville High School, Harding College, Searcy, and Lon Morris College, Jacksonville, before joining the Central Texas College faculty in 1973.

Siboney Net Income Noted

Income of $6,044,993 for the third quarter for Siboney Corporation is down from $6,260,902 for the comparable time a year ago. Three-quarters income, however, amounted to $12,107,219, up from $11,219,430 for the first nine months of 1974.

Net income for the third quarter approximated 27 cents a share, down from 55 cents a year ago, and for the nine months 28 cents, which compares with 62 for the three-quarter mark in 1974, when sale of oil and gas interests and other recurring items added $1,000,000 to earnings. Gamco of Big Spring is a wholly owned subsidiary of Siboney.

BY REBBECA TAYLOR
REFERENCE LIBRARIAN

The most popular areas of the Howard County Library are the fiction areas of both adult and juvenile sections. Additions to the new book shelves are directed to a wide range of interests and age levels.

novel tells the story of John, third son of England's King Henry IV. John grows up fighting for his father against both invading Scots and treasonous Englishmen.

Isaac Bashevis Singer won the National Book Award "for a lifetime of distinguished work, revealing a skeptical, philosophically mischievous obsession with human and demonic character."

'Historical Headlines' In Spotlight

Heritage Museum is opening a double-barreled display this afternoon.

Mrs. Toots Mansfield, Bicentennial chairman of the museum, and Daryle Hohertz, exhibits chairman, teamed to erect "Historical Headlines," a collection of old newspapers. This is backed by an outstanding collection of commemorative coins, several of them geared to the Bicentennial.

Class 76-D at Webb AFB added a contemporary touch Saturday morning by putting in place an unusual display of Air Force model planes. Many are tremendously striking reproductions, even to the smallest detail. They range from the prop-driven planes of World War II through the famous T-Bird (T-33) to the F-111 series and the supersonic version of tomorrow, the RS-70 (XB70). Capt. Dick Risk arranged with the class to put up the display.

This unusual display will remain up into January. Hours today at 1 to 5 p.m. and during week days from 1 a.m. to 5 p.m. There is no charge.

BLACK OUT BEARS Raiders Fan Faint Flame Of Bowl Bid

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Texas Tech, fanning the faint flame of a bowl bid, got two quick touchdowns from quarterback Tommy Duniven and four field goals from Brian Hall and rolled Saturday to a 33-10 victory over defending Southwest Conference champion Baylor.

A sun-swept, shirt-sleeved audience of 36,594 and a regional television audience watched the Raiders collect their fourth consecutive SWC triumph and enhance their seasonal slate to 6-4 and 4-2. The Bears, their Cinderella 1974 season now a pleasant memory, slumped to 2-5-2 and 1-4. The Raiders spotted the Bruins a 3-0 edge on Bubba Hicks' surprise 54-yard field goal in the first period, but fumble recoveries by Thomas Howard and Ecomet Burley and the running of Jimmy Williams quickly doomed Baylor's upset bid.

set up that Bear touchdown and then scored it himself from the two. The Baptists threatened in the final period with a first-down at the Tech 9, but Burley spilled Baylor's Mark Jackson on fourth down and the opportunity died. Hall put the icing on his afternoon performance with a 22-yarder and the Raiders closed out the scoring in the final minute as Billy Taylor burst through the middle from ten yards out.

WE'RE NO. 1 — Mark Luma, halfback for the Hudson, Mich., Tigers, raises his finger in the air signifying their No. 1 as he is carried from the field in victory Saturday in Grand Rapids. Hudson set a new national high school record Saturday with its 72nd victory. They defeated Kalamazoo Hackett 24-14.

More or Lesh

By CLARK LESHER

Ever hear of the Bumerooski? If you're a native Texan you probably have because it's an old football play they say Bum Phillips dreamed up when he was coaching high school at Nederland and took it with him when he coached under Bear Bryant at Texas A&M way back in 1957. Phillips called it "fake punt right" or "fake punt left" but the Bear dressed it up a little and called it the Bumerooski. It was learned that Stanton High School Athletic Director Bob Richardson supports Charles Erick to fill a vacancy on the Buffalo coaching staff. Erick coached junior high sports in Stanton two years back, then moved to Junction as head basketball coach. He served as coach there for one year, then went into the oil business in Houston.

Dallas, 5-3, visits New England today as the Cowboys fight to stay alive in the NFC Eastern Division race. The Pokes lost at home to Kansas City last Monday night, 34-31. It was Dallas' second straight loss, their third in four games, dropping them a game behind East-coasters Washington and St. Louis. New England won at San Diego last Sunday, 33-19. The contest will be telecast regionally by CBS.

Ford Punt, Pass & Kick competition continues today at three games: Denver at San Diego, Philadelphia at New York and Washington at St. Louis.

Andy Musser has to be one of the busiest sports announcers based in San Diego as KSO sports director, Musser broadcasts Charger games on radio, Southern California football on TV and also does the Chicago Bulls basketball games on TV. On a recent weekend, Musser did the USC-Notre Dame game at South Bend Saturday afternoon, a basketball game from Milwaukee same night, and a Charger game in Oakland Sunday afternoon. Next year, Musser's going to do the baseball Phillies.

When Oklahoma lost to Kansas, 23-3, it was the first time in 103 games the Sooners had failed to score a touchdown.

No sooner is Steer football over than basketball takes over Tuesday. The Steers open the season at home with Andrews. Three games planned starting at 4:15 p.m. To encourage attendance at home, a season drive has been started, producing thus far nine holders.

WHAT IT'S WORTH DEPARTMENT — Gloria Dodd, who represented Forsan in the 1971 All-Star Basketball game, is back at her alma-mater as a teacher and coach.

Texas Stomps Frogs, 27-11

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Sore-toed freshman Russell Exrleben and a defense led by freshman end Tim Campbell took up the slack after quarterback Marty Akins was injured and seventh-ranked Texas defeated TCU 27-11 Saturday in a Southwest Conference football game.

again filled in. Constanzo stalled a Texas drive by fumbling at the TCU 14 and lacked the polish of Akins, but he directed the Longhorns 74 yards to a fourth quarter touchdown. Exrleben, who hurt his toe last Saturday, boomed 48 and 22 yard field goals in the third quarter, and the Texas defense shutdown TCU with a minus five yards in the third quarter.

Winless TCU fell to 0-6 in the SWC, losing its 20th straight game over two years. Akins guided Texas to two touchdowns on rapid-fire drives of 53 and 93 yards as the Longhorns chewed up yardage at a 12-yard-a-carry clip. With a 14-0 lead, Akins was slammed by two TCU defenders at the Texas 45 with 6:22 remaining in the first quarter and left the game with a leg injury.

He ran two plays in the third quarter, but limped off and freshman Ted Constanzo

Alabama Looks At Sugar Bowl
TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Split end Ozzie Newsome caught two long touchdowns passes from Richard Todd Saturday to spark fifth-ranked Alabama to a 27-6 college football victory over scrappy Southern Mississippi.

The victory gave Alabama—believed headed for the Sugar Bowl—a 9-1 record. Southern Mississippi is 5-4.

The Crimson Tide went 83 yards the first time they had the ball with Newsome hauling in a 32-yard pass from Richard Todd for the score. In the fourth quarter, Todd connected with Newsome from 35 yards out.

Alabama, relying on a strong ground game, went ahead 14-0 in the second quarter when Duffy Boles scored from five yards out. Todd was responsible for 37 yards in the 81-yard drive.

HOUSTON (AP) — A devastating Texas A&M defensive combo of Lester Hayes and Mark Jackson set up two touchdowns over a 1:28 span of the third quarter Saturday to rally the third-ranked Aggies to a 33-14 Southwest Conference victory over Rice.

The come-from-behind victory gave the Aggies a 5-0 SWC record and set up a showdown in College Station Nov. 28 against the Texas Longhorns. Substitute quarterback Mike Jay, an ex-Marine getting his first start this season, ran for two Aggie touchdowns and freshman George Woodard got his fourth 100-yard rushing performance of the season.

Sooners Survive

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Joe Washington dashed 71 yards for a fourth quarter touchdown and then bolted into the end zone for a two-point conversion Saturday to lift sixth-ranked Oklahoma to a 28-27 come-from-behind Big Eight football victory over 18th-ranked Missouri.

Washington's dazzling run, followed by his burst for the tying and winning points, came with 4:20 to play and erased an amazing Missouri comeback in which the Tigers had wiped out a 20-0 Oklahoma lead to go ahead 27-20.

Missouri, which used the running of Curtis Brown and the passing of Steve Pisarkiewicz to demolish the commanding Oklahoma lead, had one last shot at victory. It failed when Tim Gibbons missed a 40-yard field goal with 1:02 remaining.

Aggies Work Hard To Overthrow Rice

Hayes, a safety, and Jackson, a linebacker, turned the game around for the Aggies late in the third quarter. Hayes blasted through and forced Rice punter Mike Landrum to delay his punt and Jackson tackled him for the touchdown on the first play to give A&M its first lead of the game at 19-14 with 2:19 left in the third quarter.

Cougars Topped

MEMPHIS (AP) — Running back Terdell Middleton scored two touchdowns to lead Memphis State to a 14-7 victory over Houston Saturday night. In their last outing of the season, the Tigers took advantage of Cougar errors to score both touchdowns in the second quarter. The teams were scoreless in the first period.

Hogs Remain In SWC Race

DALLAS (AP) — Arkansas senior quarterback Scott Bull muscled aside Southern Methodist's battered defenders for one touchdown and brushed his way over 100 yards to set up three more touchdowns Saturday, keeping the Razorbacks alive in the Southwest Conference race with a 35-7 victory over the Mustangs.

Bull and super-sub Roland Fuchs carried the offensive attack for Arkansas after star running back Ike Forte was injured on a 38-yard touchdown run in the first period. Forte suffered three dislocated toes on his right foot on a tackle by Mickey Early near the goal.

The 6-foot-5, 209-pound Bull scrambled 10 and 20 yards on a 67-yard scoring drive and the bumbling Mustangs who lost five fumbles never recovered.

Grid Bowl Roundup

The Orange Bowl announced Saturday that its annual Jan. 1 classic will match the winner of next week's Oklahoma-Nebraska game against the loser of the Ohio State-Michigan game. The decision means that fifth-ranked Alabama is headed for the Sugar Bowl and will not get a chance to play a contending team for the national championship. Top-ranked Ohio State and fourth-ranked Michigan—both unbeaten—meet next Saturday in Ann Arbor. The winner goes to the Rose Bowl as Big Ten champion and the loser heads to Miami.

College Scores

Meanwhile, second-ranked Nebraska and sixth-ranked Oklahoma meet next Saturday in Norman. The winner goes to the Orange Bowl as champion of the Big Eight. The loser also will go somewhere. If Oklahoma loses, it is believed the Sooners might get an invitation to the Sugar Bowl to meet Alabama. If Nebraska loses, the Cornhuskers might go to the Cotton Bowl, or they might go to the Sugar. Oklahoma would not go to the Cotton Bowl because of the possibility of meeting Texas, whom the Longhorns have already lost to this year. Once-beaten Alabama was reported by football sources to have wanted to keep its Orange Bowl options open just in case Ohio State loses and Nebraska wins next Saturday. In that event, the Crimson Tide would have had a chance at defeating the top-ranked team and thus possibly winning the national championship. But the Orange Bowl decided not to wait. By early Saturday night, three bowls had extended invitations. Florida, ranked 14th in the nation, accepted a bid to the Gator Bowl after walloping Kentucky 48-7. Unranked Pittsburg accepted a Sun Bowl bid after upsetting Notre Dame 34-20 and North Carolina State accepted a bid to the Peach Bowl after gaining a 21-21 tie with Duke.

SWEETWATER — Lamesa held the upper hand from start to finish to whitewash winless Sweetwater, 30-0, in a 3-3A contest here Friday night.

The Tors close out the year with a 3-3 mark in 3-3A competition and Sweetwater, 0-6 and 0-10.

Rose Bowl Showdown

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Gordon Bell scored a pair of first quarter touchdowns Saturday and undefeated, fourth-ranked Michigan defeated Illinois 21-15 to set up a Big Ten title and Rose Bowl showdown with Ohio State next Saturday.

The victory gave Michigan a 7-0 record in the conference and 8-0-2 overall. A victory over Ohio State at Ann Arbor next Saturday would give the Wolverines the title and Rose Bowl berth. The loser is expected to go to the Orange Bowl.

Michigan turned a fumble and a punt into touchdowns in the first period, and the Wolverines struck for another score in the third quarter following a pass interception by Dwight Hicks.

Wolves Surprise Favored Hamlin

By TROY BRYANT

COLORADO CITY — The Colorado City Wolves turned a Hamlin fumble into gold Friday night, giving them the go-ahead six points in the third quarter. The Wolves went on to surprise the highly favored Hamlin Pied Pipers, 18-7.

The contest was the final for both teams, with the Wolves ending the season with a 5-5 season mark and a 3-3 district mark. Hamlin is now 6-3-1 for the season and 3-3 in district.

The first quarter marked the first of Hamlin's three fumbles deep in its own territory, but Colorado City was unable to move from the Pipers' 25-yard line and a field goal attempt was blocked.

After Hamlin took over on Colorado City's five-yard line, it looked as if the Pipers were going to make a rout of the contest, driving down to the Colorado City 18 yard-line before the Wolf defense held and forced the Pipers to attempt a field-goal.

The Wolves finally got on the board after an interception of a Colorado City pass and a personal foul penalty gave the Pipers the ball on Colorado City's 46-yard line.

A 33-yard pass took the ball down to the seven-yard line a couple of plays later and another personal foul penalty against the Wolves took the ball to the three and a half yard line. Daniel Willis carried the ball across the goal line on the first play, giving Hamlin a 7-0 lead after the extra point split the uprights with only 1:15 left in the half.

The Wolves fought right back, however, with only 1:15 left in the half. Colorado City's quarterback Ray Torrez took over at the Wolves' 25-yard line, picked up a couple of first downs on the hard running of fullback Bill Everett and then completed four straight passes to bring the Wolves down to the 25-yard line as the buzzer sounded.

The Wolves got one more play, because of a mistake by the time-keeper earlier in the game, and Torrez hit his fifth straight pass, this one for the 25-yard touchdown to end the game.

end Pete Parham.

The extra point kick was blocked and Hamlin led 7-6 at halftime. In the third quarter, the Wolves got another chance for paydirt when the Hamlin punter booted the ball straight in the air for a net of six yards on the punt, giving Colorado City the ball on Hamlin's 29-yard line. The Wolves were forced to attempt a field goal, which was long enough, but wide.

The Wolves were able to capitalize on Hamlin's next mistake, as the Pipers fumbled the ball at their own 30-yard line, with Wayne McKee recovering for the Wolves.

Several plays later, Bill Everett scored from one yard out, giving Colorado City the lead, 12-7, with 1:53 left in the third quarter. The Colorado City defense effectively shut down the Hamlin offense in the second half, only allowing the Pipers one first down and 38 yards in the final half.

The Wolves put the game out of reach in the fourth quarter, taking the ball on their own seven yard line after a punt and a penalty and driving the 93 yards for the score, and running the time down from a little over eight minutes left in the game to exactly 20 seconds left in the game. Torrez scored the final touchdown from one yard out.

Hamlin's last-ditch effort to get back on the board failed when McKee intercepted the first pass with only ten seconds left in the game. Everett was the leading rusher for the Wolves, gaining 85 yards on 23 carries while Torrez gained 41 yards on 15 carries and completed seven passes for 107 yards.

MARIETTA, Ga. (AP) — Tim Zink of Charleston, W. Va., won the senior men's title Friday night in the South Atlantic Regional Championships of the U.S. Figure Skating Association. Zink is expected to go on to national competition.

Reggie Stanley of Philadelphia took the junior men's title, and a brother and sister team, Karen Mankowich of Wilmington, Del., and Douglas Mankowich of Boston, won the silver dance competition. Seven more finals are to be decided Saturday night.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Veteran pro hockey star Gordie Howe will be honored tonight before the World Hockey League game between the Houston Aeros and the Eastern Division leading Cincinnati Stingers. Howe will be honored for his accomplishments in 27 years of professional hockey. Playing alongside his two sons, Marty and Mark, Gordie Howe also is president of the WHA Aeros.

ARLINGTON, KY. (AP) — A Greenville, Ohio, horse trainer filed suit in Boone Circuit Court to force Latonia Race Course to pay him $2,013 for a winning quinnella parimutuel ticket he claims was stolen from him. Richard T. Blackstone said he reported the theft at the track Nov. 3 after a man snatched his ticket and fled.

The track seized a ticket presented the next day by a Cincinnati woman for the payoff, claiming it was stolen. Neither party has been paid by the Ohio Valley Harness Racing Association Inc., which operates harness racing at the track.

Kansas, down 10-7 at the half, struck quickly for a go-ahead touchdown midway through the third period when Steve Taylor romped 45 yards for an interception of a Williams pass.

Nolan Cromwell, who gained over 100 yards to become only the fourth quarterback in NCAA history to go over 1,000 rushing yards in a season, carried six of seven times to cover the 32 yards to score.

Sports Shorts

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Knicks of the National Basketball Association announced that veteran guard Walt Frazier is suffering from a mild case of tendonitis in both knees. However, the club said that the condition was not serious and Frazier would play in tonight's home game against the Atlanta Hawks.

But the Knicks added that the doctor who examined Frazier on Friday recommended that the perennial All-Star undertake an exercise program to strengthen the knees. Frazier had complained of his legs feeling weak recently and the problem was affecting his play.

BOSTON (AP) — Suffolk Downs has been granted its request for two thoroughbred racing meets totaling 200 days in 1976. The Massachusetts State Racing Commission granted the request Friday for a meet from Jan. 1, 1976, through July 5, and Sept. 20 through December 19. There will be no racing on Tuesdays and Thursdays, except on Jan. 1 and Nov. 11.

Racing this year at Suffolk, also for 200 days, started Jan. 19.

FUMBLES SPELL DEFEAT

'Dogs Rip Stamford

STAMFORD — Coahoma coasted to a 26-14 6-AA win over fumble-minded Stamford here Friday night to close out the 1975 season.

Stamford lost the ball five times on fumbles with Coahoma converting three of the miscues into scores. Stamford got on the scoreboard first with Don Earl scoring on a 12-yard run at 9:58 of the initial period. Three minutes later, the Bulldogs dedlocked the game as Ricky Patterson worked his way over from the three, contributed by Stamford's first fumble.

Charles Tindol cracked the tie with three minutes left in the first when he tossed a 29-yard TD pass to Dusty Douglas. This TD was set up by a Stamford fumble at the 32. Tindol ran over the two extra points.

In the second period, another Stamford fumble enabled Coahoma to score, Douglas running over from four yards out. Stamford got its last points with 2:25 left in the third when Bryon Tabor scored on a two-yard keeper. Wade Petty ran over the extra points. Tindol was credited with Coahoma's final score, a two-yard run with only 25 seconds left in the game. The drive required 49 yards in 13 plays to complete. The Bulldogs conclude 6-AA play with a 4-2 mark and Stamford, 3-3. Both teams end over-all at 5-5 each.

STANTON'S MARVIN JONES Grounds Up Yardage Behind Good Blocks

Buffaloes Trounce Shallowater, 24-0

SHALLOWATER — Stanton whitewashed Shallowater, 24-0, in a 5-A contest here Friday night. The Buffs end the year with a 5-5 over-all mark and 2-2 in the district go-around and Shallowater, 0-10 and 0-4.
 Stanton lit up the scoreboard with 8:57 left in the first period when Marvin Jones scampered the last 33 yards of a 38-yard drive for the first touchdown. The kick was no good.
 Gary Hanson racked up six more points when he carried an intercepted Shallowater pass 25 yards for a touchdown. Again, the kick failed.
 Stanton didn't get into scoring position again until the third quarter when Jones intercepted another Shallowater pass to set up a four-yard run by Elvin Brown for another touchdown. The kick was no good.
 Stanton closed out its scoring barrage with seven seconds left in the game as Hanson connected with Bobby Richardson for a 27-yard TD pass. The TD capped a nine-play 86-yard drive with Brown carrying for 51 yards in the drive.

 Brown led Stanton rushers with 76 yards on 15 carries and Jones added 74 on 12 tries. Keyv Allred added 63 yards on 11 carries. Allen Douglas paced the Stanton defense as he intercepted one pass and recovered two fumbles in the contest.

Sports In Brief

Ponies Topped
 STERLING CITY — The Eagles of Sterling City concluded the season here Friday night by beating Sands, 33-12, in a 3-B contest.
 The Eagles ended with a 3-4 district total and 4-6 over-all and the Mustangs, 2-5 and 3-6-1, best seasonal play in two years.
 Jeff Copeland carried the brunt of Sterling City's scoring attack on runs of 40 and 70 yards in the first and second periods. Danny Radde ran over both Eagle extra point tries.
 Sands came back in the second quarter with an 80-yard return of a kickoff by Ishmael Casas for a TD. The run for extra points failed.
 However, Copeland again went to work and scored from one yard out. The point after failed and Sterling City led at halftime, 20-6.
 Sterling City put the game out of reach in the third quarter when Boots Demere ran four yards for a touchdown. Ross Hord added the extra point.
 In the fourth quarter, Lee Fleming scored the Eagles on a 20-yard end around play. The kick failed. Sands got on the scoreboard one last time in the fourth quarter when Casas ran 23 yards. The run for extra points was no good.

BASKETBALL
 LOUISVILLE, Ky. — The Kentucky Colonels acquired 6-foot-11 Caldwell Jones, who was a member of the San Diego Sails before the American Basketball Association team disbanded last week.
 ST. LOUIS — The contract of center Paul Ruffner, who was picked up by the Spirits of St. Louis in the dispersal draft of players from the defunct Baltimore Claws, was waived by the Spirits.
TENNIS
 LONDON — Jimmy Connors defeated Ilie Nastase of Romania 6-3, 4-6, 6-1 to reach the finals of the Dewar Cup Tennis Tournament against fellow American Eddie Dibbs.
HONG KONG — American Tom Gorman upset second-seeded Tom Okker of the Netherlands 6-4, 6-4 in quarter-final action in the $50,000 Citizens Tennis Classic.
BUENOS AIRES — Argentina's Guillermo Vilas defeated Yugoslavia's Zeljko Franulovic 7-5, 6-3 to advance to the semifinals in the Argentine Open Tennis Tournament.
BOSTON — Argentina's Guillermo Vilas clinched his second straight $100,000 top prize in the Commercial Union Grand Prix, the largest annual prize in tennis.
GENERAL
 ST. LOUIS — Arthur P. "Art" Gaines, former major league baseball scout and founder of the Art Gaines baseball camp in Hunnewell, Mo., died at the age of 57.

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1975

A parade of fashions from the top designers in America will be featured in the Swartz Bicentennial Fashion Salute presented by the Webb Officers Wives Charitable Association on Nov. 21 at the Officers' Club.

A collection of bicentennial clothing will highlight the fashion salute. The clothing will show the advance of fashion from early periods of American history to the present time.

Luxurious furs designed by Charles York will be modeled during the style show. Furs of traditional beauty to the most exciting contemporary looks in fur and leather designs will be displayed.

Mrs. Maria Cottingham of the Officers' Wives Club has dedicated her efforts to coordinating the fashion show.

The fashions will be modeled at 7:30 p.m., following a cocktail hour beginning at 6:30 p.m. After the style show an optional buffet will be offered.

Tickets for the style show are available at either Swartz shop, Barnes-Pellitier Shoes, or the Officers' Club.

Reservations for the buffet must be made through the Officers' Club, 263-8381. A choice of buffets will be offered. A Chicken Muenster dinner can be reserved for $3. A roast beef dinner is available for $5.95 per person.

Door prizes, including a decorative turkey stuffed with dollar bills, will be given away during the evening's entertainment.

The fashions will be furnished by the Swartz shops with Barnes-Pellitier providing shoes to compliment the outfits.

Mrs. Karen Campbell will offer a commentary to the Bicentennial Fashion Salute with Capt. Jeff Muchow as organist.

Modeling the lovely fashions will be Mrs. Jan Stephens, Mrs. Johnnie Sue Dayton, Mrs. Carolyn Courington, Mrs. Diane Means, Mrs. Ann Lee, Mrs. Meta Gress, Mrs. Miriam Finch, Mrs. Jeanette Hanson, Mrs. Christie Malone, Mrs. Beth Klatt, Mrs. Eve Utterback, Mrs. Barbara Burg, Mrs. Julie Chaleff, Mrs. Dee Anne Tucker and Mrs. Kathleen MacGhee.

The citizens of Big Spring and area residents are invited to attend the Swartz Bicentennial Fashion Salute. Proceeds from the fashion show will support various charities in the Big Spring community and the charitable projects of the OWCA.

A Small College And Friendly People Attract A Variety Of Foreign Students

By MARJ CARPENTER
 "A small Texas college is a good place to go because people will be friendly." This is what Jose Herrera Cruz was told in Panama by others who had gone to college in the States.

Jose recalls that he knew another youth who had attended college at Howard College in Big Spring. So he selected this college for his work in animal husbandry. He plans to finish his degree at Texas A&M and go back home and work on the large family ranch.

Jose is one of 12 students from foreign countries attending Howard College. Nine of the group are from Vietnam and among the new citizens of Big Spring. The other three are Jose, along with Pablo A. Chiriboga of Ecuador, and Narongrit Chongsuwat of Thailand.

Jose is from Santiago which is three hours from Panama City and about "three times the size of Big Spring." He came first to the States and visited friends in Louisiana. "We talked our native language so I didn't really start trying to use my school book English until I got to Howard College."

Narongrit Chongsuwat has been given a nickname by Howard College students. They call him Lex. He is from Thailand.

Lex, Jose and Pablo spoke recently to the local Rotary Club. "My father is a Rotarian and a business man in Thailand," Lex recalls.

Lex is majoring in business and plans to complete his degree at either Texas Tech or the University of Houston.

He selected Howard College from a list of small colleges recommended to him. "I'm glad that I did. I really like it here. Everybody is friendly."

Pablo A. Chiriboga is from Quito, Ecuador. He came to Coahoma High School while in high school as an exchange student in the International Fellowship of Exchange Students.

"I liked it around here so I decided to stay. I selected Howard College because everyone around here has been good to me."

"I think I could live anywhere. I have been in Chicago, but it's a lot different than around here. I have made a lot of friendships among the students."

Pablo is majoring in marketing and plans to complete his education at Texas Tech. His father operates a Xerox plant at Ecuador.

The nine Vietnamese students are primarily taking English and history. Many of them were college students at the time they had to go into the Air Force in Vietnam.

Some were stationed at Webb, one in California and some at Keesler AFB. All are being sponsored by families in Big Spring.

They admitted that they miss their homeland and families. "We are starting all over. Some of us were college students, but now we must learn English, walk fast to get where we are going because we have no cars and in general learn your ways."

Another spoke up and added, "But people here have been good to us and very friendly." They admitted missing their native foods and "girls back home."

When asked if they would go back to Vietnam if they had the chance, the answer was quick, "With the communists there — no thank you."

The students at the college include eight Vietnamese youths and one girl. They are Son Ky Dao, Le N. Hung, Ba Tran, Dung Tran, Hung Doan Tran, Hung Quay Tran, Tuan Minh Vu, Vo Can X and Phuong Thi Tran, who is nicknamed Flower.

The entire group is becoming "Texan-ized" quicker than you might think. When asked about sports, they said they played basketball, soccer and volleyball at home. But one quickly interjected, "We like the Cowboys." Another added, "But they lost."

And then began a discussion in Vietnamese English of why the Cowboys lost last week. They're becoming natives in a hurry.

The entire dozen students agree that small colleges, such as Howard College, have something really fine to offer to the student from another country.

One of the Vietnamese students said, "It is hard to start again and to be with people who understand and who help you, makes a difference."

Such things as tutors to help with English are available at the college for these students. One of their main problems is shortage of time, because they must work and education has to come as a secondary thing.

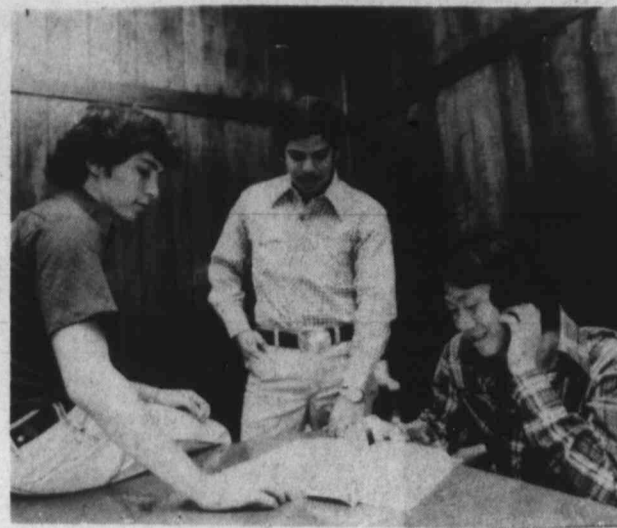

"We study all we can, but we have to make our way and make money on which to live," one of the students added.

"The people at the college always seem to understand when we have to be at our jobs and make the schedule fit our schedule," he added.

Pablo, the youth from Ecuador, who said, "I could live anywhere, I think — even Chicago", may have hit the nail on the head when he added, "But it is better to live where people are your friends and care what happens to you."

This is the secret of success at Howard College in dealing with foreign students. If only the administration cared, it would not be enough.

But what the foreign students have discovered in Big Spring is apparently that the students and the faculty also care about them as students, as people and as friends.

Pistol-Packing Mamas Form A New Club

Wives of state and federal law enforcement officers organized a club and named it the Pistol Packing Mamas during a Tuesday evening meeting held in the home of Mrs. Dan Hutchinson.

Mrs. Bill Jennings was elected president of the new organization with Mrs. Ken Joyce, vice president; Mrs. Hutchinson, secretary-treasurer and Mrs. Bill Priest, reporter-historian. Mrs. Bill Wilson will head the telephone committee.

The group was organized for better public relations and understanding. They set plans to voluntarily take cookies to the Veterans Administration Hospital at assigned times.

The next meeting of the group will be held in the home of Mrs. George Frasier on Dec. 9.

PTA Meeting Held Thursday

College Heights PTA met Thursday afternoon in the school cafeteria. Mrs. A. C. Jones, presided. Rev. Bill Hatler, Minister of Baptist Temple, gave the devotional. Lt. Andy Wilson, Webb AFB, gave the program on the history and formation of the flag.

A report on the Halloween Carnival was given. The proceeds will go toward air conditioning the school. Members approved plans to use the remaining money to landscape the playground.

Mrs. Dale Dittie reported that Mrs. Helen Walker's room won first place in the membership drive, and Mrs. Edith Gossett's room came in second. The $20 saving bond from First Federal Savings and Loan was awarded to the Ted Grobel children for selling the most tickets to the carnival supper.

Delegates to the state convention in Houston, which will be held Nov. 19-21 at the Astro World Complex, will be Mrs. A. C. Jones and Mrs. Billy Plew. The alternate is Mrs. Don Adams.

Mr. Jim Beam reported that the Thanksgiving Holidays will be Nov. 27 and 28. School will be dismissed at 2:45 p.m. on Wednesday.

The 17th District PTA wrote a letter thanking Big Spring for hosting the fall workshop, which was held at the First Baptist Church.

The next meeting will be held at 3:00 p.m., Dec. 11 in the school cafeteria.

Dr. Ron Cohorn Speaks To Club

Dr. Ron Cohorn, psychologist at Big Spring State Hospital, spoke to the members of the Child Study Club about overindulgent and overprotective parents during the Wednesday afternoon meeting held in the home of Mrs. Delbert Donelson. Mrs. David Hodnett was cohostess.

Mrs. Spencer Wolfe and Mrs. Don Adams were introduced as new members.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Don Grantham, 602 Osage, at 1 p.m., Dec. 10.

Garden Club Plans All-Day Workshop

The Planters Garden Club met Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Luke Fortenberry, 1207 Lloyd Avenue.

Mrs. Frank Wilson, president, presided.

An all-day workshop will be held Saturday to repair and make Christmas decorations for the VA Hospital. The workshop will be held in the home of Mrs. Clinkscales, 705 W. 18th.

Mrs. Cass Hill reported from the Garden Club Council. The Council will discontinue the project at the State Hospital, but will continue the projects at Comanche Trail Park and Cottonwood Park.

Mrs. C. Y. Clinkscales reported on the Southern Zone meeting held Nov. 5 in Big Spring.

Mrs. J. O. Murphy gave a program on wild flowers. She said that the dandelion is the most cosmopolitan of all flowers, growing in every country that man inhabits. The juice of the dandelion was used by Indians in preparation for war dances.

Wild flowers and shrubs have food value, she explained. More than 200 varieties are used in medicine.

A Christmas party and salad luncheon will be featured at the next meeting slated at 12:30 p.m., Dec. 3 in the home of Mrs. C. Y. Clinkscales, 705 W. 18th.

Dear Abby

Kids Walk In On Grandma Kissing Her Boyfriend

DEAR ABBY: Last month, my children, a boy and girl ages 8 and 9, rode over to their grandpa's on their bikes. She's their father's mother. They walked into the house, looking for her, and found her kissing a man who wasn't their grandpa. They ran out of the house without knowing if they were seen.

They came home and told me about it, and I explained that what Grandma was doing was wrong. Yes, Grandma is still alive and living with Grandpa.

My husband and I know what's going on with Grandma, but we didn't want the kids to find out. She has more than one boyfriend.

Yesterday, my husband's sister phoned about drawing names for Christmas, which we always do at Grandma's. My problem is my kids don't want to go to Grandma's at all now.

Should we tell Sister why my kids don't want to draw names? Also, should I tell my mother-in-law what my kids saw?

Or should we act like nothing happened? I don't know what to do anymore.

UNDECIDED IN MARYLAND

DEAR UN: Level with Grandma and tell her if she's going to carry on that way, she should lock her door. I can understand your children's feelings, but they'll recover. Don't discuss Grandma's indiscretion with Sis. Or anyone else. In time, the incident will have lost its importance.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of guests who are invited for 7 p.m. dinner and show up at 6:15? It irritates me no end!

I wouldn't mind if it happened only once, but this couple always comes early. My husband says I shouldn't get upset — that it's better to have them come early than late.

What do you say?

UPSET IN ABERDEEN DEAR UPSET: I'd be hardpressed to state my preference. The hour before partytime usually finds the hostess either dressing or attending to last-minute details, and having to entertain early birds is for the birds.

Sewing Club Plans Party

The Sew and Chatter Club met Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Lee Porter with Mrs. C. L. Rowe as hostess.

Members tackled a quilt to be included in a Christmas basket that will be given to a needy family of the area.

The Christmas dinner and party are planned for 6:30 p.m., Dec. 10 in the home of Mrs. Marvin Sewell, 407 Washington Boulevard. Members should bring complimenting side dishes to the roast turkey that will be served.

Bridge Club Names Winners

The Big Spring Duplicate Bridge Club met Wednesday at the Country Club with five tables in play.

Winners were Mrs. J. J. Fish and Mrs. E. O. Ellington, first; Mrs. James Raoul and Mrs. Hayden Griffith, second; Mrs. Elmo Wasson and Mrs. A. Swartz, third; and Mrs. R. Hefley with Mrs. D. A. Brazel, fourth.

Miss Spriggs Marries In Crestview Baptist Church

Miss Sandra Kay Spriggs and Robert F. Roger exchanged wedding vows in a ceremony held Friday evening in the Crestview Baptist Church. The Rev. Jim Wilkerson united the couple before an altar enhanced with an arch centered with an open Bible and white doves. Spiral candelabra flanked the arch. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Spriggs of 2612 Carleton Drive. The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Roger.

Mrs. Ruby Fowler, organist, and Miss Debbie Scott, pianist, accompanied the vocalists, David Scott and Kenneth Scott, in several nuptial selections. The bridegroom also sang to his bride during the ceremony.

The bride chose to wear a formal length dress of white satin styled with a fitted empire waist and princess skirt. The lace and pearl covered bodice was designed with a V-neckline. A floor-length tulle veil drifted from her tiara of lace and pearls and fell over the attached train. She carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations, red silk roses and gypsophila.

Miss Mollie Ray served as maid of honor. She wore a red knit dress accented with lace styled similar to the bride's dress. She carried a long stemmed red silk rose tied with green streamers.

Steve Ferrell of Dallas was the best man. Ushers were Jimmy Spriggs, Johnny Bedford, David Scott and Kenneth Platte.

Wendy Sullivan was the flower girl and Terry Lynn Bullock was the ring bearer.

A reception was held after the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church to honor the newlyweds.

Refreshments were served

Moss PTA Meets Tuesday

Members of the Moss Parent-Teacher Association met Tuesday evening in the school cafeteria.

Bill Erwin gave the devotional.

The Rummels Junior High choir under the direction of Mrs. Jack Bowers performed several musical selections for the PTA.

Mrs. Jean Kuykendall spoke to the group concerning the blood donor program in Big Spring. She encouraged all members to donate blood whenever possible. The mobil blood donor unit is stationed in the parking lot of Malone-Hogan Hospital every Wednesday from 12 noon to 6 p.m.

The PTA City Council report was given by Mrs. Jan Whitehead. Members voted to support the city council projects next year, designated as workshops on bicycle and halloween safety.

Members voted to buy three folding tables for the cafeteria and a large area carpet for the early childhood room.

Bride-Elect Honored

Miss Sharlyn Barbee, bride-elect of Mike Carroll, was honored Thursday evening with a shower held at 2611 E. 25th.

White carnation corsages were presented to the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Charles Barbee; his mother, Mrs. Sherrill Carroll; and also to her grandmother, Mrs. Walter Barbee.

Refreshments were served from a table laid with a white cutwork cloth centered with an arrangement of white carnations, daisies and spider mums and a branched candelabrum. Silver appointments were used.

Hostesses for the shower were Mrs. Bill Blalack, Mrs. Pete Hull, Mrs. Joe Wallis, Mrs. Harold Hicks, Mrs. Joe Fortson, Mrs. Ora Buckner, Mrs. Sue Balzer, Mrs. Preston Adams, Mrs. Neal Abernathy, Mrs. Earl Trout, Mrs. Bill Draper, Mrs. Byron Smith, Mrs. Charles Cain, Mrs. Jane Upton, Mrs. Ivan Conard and Mrs. Noel Hull.

Folk Music Lt. Col. Burer Featured At Study Club Speaks To ABWA

"Variations on Folk Music" was the theme of the Wednesday meeting of the Music Study Club held in the high school auditorium. The Music Study Club is celebrating the bicentennial year by centering their programs around American composers.

Mrs. Marguerite Hyden was in charge of the program. Hostesses were Mrs. J. W. Kuykendall, Mrs. Curtis W. Compton and Mrs. Joseph Dawes.

Gene Curry directed the Big Spring Young Americans in a selection of American folk tunes from 1776, 1876 and 1976.

Mrs. Linda Mason, sang "The Boatman's Dance," accompanied by Mrs. C. L. Carlie.

An original composition entitled "Whose Birthday Is It," was performed by Mrs. Margaret Baum, pianist.

Several Negro spirituals were sung by Mrs. W. I. Graham, accompanied by Mrs. E. S. Dawson.

The club ensemble directed by Mrs. Joe Dawes and accompanied by Mrs. Bob Simpson closed the program by singing "Oh What A Beautiful City."

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Charles Beil, 502 Highland. The program will feature a Christmas theme.

The Scenic chapter of the American Business last Tuesday evening at Furr's Cafeteria. Lt. Col. Arthur W. Burer was the guest speaker. He is a Section Commander in the 83rd Flying Training Squadron at Webb Air Force Base.

Lt. Col. Burer spoke of his seven years as a Vietnam prisoner of war. He stated that during the confinement, POW's were able to broaden their knowledge and educate themselves by working toward a goal of peace and freedom.

He commented that he believed the nation's downfalls are due to the individual's lack of furthering his education and the knowledge of the freedoms of press, education, religion and the right to vote.

He stated that in the final days of his group's confinement, they were taken to Hanoi and imprisoned together in groups of 60. Although they were not allowed to have a Bible, write letters or have books, each individual shared his knowledge and education with his fellow prisoners.

Lt. Col. Burer said that during their imprisonment through bonds each POW had with God, fellow prisoners and the fight for peace, they were able to tolerate the conditions. After being released, they were able to enter society and could say their knowledge and education were more valuable because of their imprisonment.

After Lt. Col. Burer's talk, a business meeting was held. Mrs. Opal Wooten presided. Mrs. Dan McRae gave the benediction.

The vocational speaker was Mrs. Joyce Moore, who is a housewife, mother and a business student at Howard College. She and her husband formerly owned and operated the Big Spring Raceway. She has also worked at various business places as a cashier, secretary and receptionist. She hopes to become a Certified Secretary.

Correspondence from national headquarters was read by Mrs. Jerry Thompson regarding the national convention held in October in Cincinnati, Ohio.

The next meeting will be at 7 p.m., Dec. 2. Mrs. Ruth Apple will be the guest speaker.

A Christmas social will be held at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 16 for members and their guests at the Barcelona Apartments club room. At that time Christmas gifts for Rhonda Bedhke, adopted teen-age resident of the Big Spring State Hospital, will be donated.

Friendship Club Honors Member

Mrs. C. C. Forrest was honored for her birthday by the members of the Friendship Breakfast Club at the Tuesday morning meeting held at Coker's Restaurant. Mrs. L. A. Yater was the hostess.

Mrs. M. B. McFall presented the devotional with each member adding thoughts about friendship.

Mrs. Yater will be the hostess for a meeting at 6 p.m., Dec. 8 to honor three members for their birthdays. The meeting will be held at Coker's. A Christmas party in the home of Mrs. C. C. Forrest will be held after the dinner meeting.

FOCUS ON FAMILY LIVING Project To Provide Mobil Meal Service

BY SHERRY MULLIN

Howard County Council on Aging has been funded by a local donor to provide a mobil meal program for the aging in the county. The program is designed to meet the nutritional needs of individuals aged 60 and older who do not eat adequately because they cannot afford to eat adequately; they lack the skills and/or knowledge to select and prepare nourishing and well-balanced meals; they have limited or no mobility which may impair their capacity to shop and cook for themselves; or they have feelings of rejection and loneliness which obliterate the incentive necessary to prepare and eat a meal alone.

Undoubtedly the greatest factor in the prevention of senility is the availability and adoption of a suitable diet. Premature senility is not inevitable, but it is all too frequent. It is false optimism to expect a body to continue to function normally without adequate and proper food. A healthful diet for old people with a proper distribution of essential nutrients in adequate amounts as recommended by the American Medical Association differs very little from that for any other adult group with comparable activity. Many older people show mild to acute deficiencies of nutrients. Some of these may be: habitual fatigue, slow healing of wounds, red and granulated eyes, sores at the corners of the mouth, poor digestion, poor appetite and lowered resistance to disease and others.

The latest census taken in Howard County revealed that there are 4,736 persons over 60 years of age residing in the county which represents about 10 percent of the population. Of this number over 30 percent have annual incomes of less than $3,000.

It is the goal of this program to promote better health among the older segment of the population through improved nutrition. We are offering our older citizens the opportunity to live additional years in dignity and independence by remaining in their own homes as long as possible.

This mobil meal program will deliver meals to anyone over 60 who meets the criteria of needs as mentioned before. They may pay any, all, or none of the cost of the meals depending on their situation. If you know of someone that this program can benefit please call Sherry Mullin, Howard County extension agent, 267-8469 or Mrs. Mary Newell, Center director for the Howard County Council on Aging, 263-4016, for more information.

Couple Weds In Home Service

Miss Jacquelin Lea Abshire was wed to Phillip Wayne Parmenter in a ceremony held Nov. 8 the home of the bridegroom's parents. The Rev. C. W. Parmenter, grandfather of the bridegroom, officiated during the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Abshire of Nederland. She is a graduate of Nederland High School.

Parmenter is the son of Rev. and Mrs. H. E. Parmenter. He graduated from Big Spring High School.

The bride wore a street-length dress featuring a white lace covered bodice and a white and brown print skirt.

Miss Pamela Ann Parmenter, sister of the bridegroom, served as maid of honor. She wore a white and brown print dress. Ricky Pitts was the best man.

A reception was held after the ceremony to honor the newlyweds. Serving at the refreshment table was Mrs.

Jim Terry, the bride's sister. The couple will make their home in North Dakota where Parmenter is stationed at Grand Forks Air Force Base.

Relatives attending from out of town included Sgt. and Mrs. Jim Terry and family of Hollaman Air Force Base in New Mexico and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Ferguson of McLean.

Genealogical Society Meets

The Genealogical Society of Big Spring met Thursday evening in the Howard County Library. Bill Steagald presided at the meeting.

He announced that the local Genealogical Society will be listed in the directory of the genealogical societies in the United States and Canada.

Mrs. Mary Lou Woolverton reported that she is in search of any information concerning her grandparent, Peter C. Krupp, who was disowned by the famous Krupp family of Germany for a marriage that did not conform to their religious doctrine. Krupp was awarded citizenship in the United States on April 11, 1846.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Steagald reported on a visit to the home of his grandfather, John Carroll Steagald. The home was built in 1821 in Lewis County, Tenn.

Mrs. Woolverton and Albert B. Watkins Jr. were welcomed as new members.

The next meeting will be at 7:15 p.m., Dec. 11 in the Howard County Library.

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. Ross Roberts of Coahoma announce the engagement of their daughter, Gayla Jan, to Michael Wayne Rice. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Rice of Big Spring.

The couple will be married Jan. 2 in the Baptist Temple Church.

Senior Citizens Fair Slated For Saturday

The annual Senior Citizens' Talent Fair will be held Saturday from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. in the Highland Center Mall. This activity is sponsored yearly by the Howard County Council on Aging.

Anyone over sixty years of age wishing to participate may bring their handmade items to the mall to sell. All proceeds from sales will go to the individual.

Items suggested for entry include crocheting, knitting, embroidery, aprons, handbags, coat hangers, wood carvings, handmade flowers, houseplants, home canned pickles, jams and jellies, baked goods, quilts, afghans, and all other handmade items.

All those eligible who desire more information should contact Sherry Mullin, County Extension Agent, 267-8469. Participants are urged to call and register early so that the committee can prepare for the space.

During the event donations will be taken for a handmade quilt. The quilt has been pieced and quilted by senior citizens at the center. All proceeds from the donations will go to help buy supplies for the center.

The Howard County Senior Citizens' Center is located in the First Presbyterian Church at 7th and Runnels. The center is open daily from 1:00 to 5:00 p.m. for table games or quilting. Special activities for the remainder of the month include a county-wide covered dish luncheon on Wednesday and the birthday party on November 25th. The center telephone number is 263-4016. All senior citizens are urged to call or come by the center if they need assistance.

Altrusa Club Installs Members

Two new members were installed at the Thursday luncheon of the Altrusa Club held at noon at Coker's Restaurant. The new members are Mrs. Bonnie Bennett and Mrs. Ethal McCracken.

Mrs. Lola Knowles gave a report on the state conference of the Altrusa Clubs held in October at the St. Anthony Hotel in San Antonio. Attending the conference were Mr. and Mrs. Milton Knowles, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Hendrick, Mrs. Margarette Wooten and Mrs. Jeannette Barnett.

Members made plans for the Christmas party to be held Dec. 4 at the Big Spring Country Club.

A Thanksgiving luncheon will be held at the next meeting slated at 12 noon, Nov. 25 at Coker's Restaurant.

MRS. ROBERT R. SANCHEZ

Wedding Held In San Antonio

The wedding of Miss Martha E. Askew and Robert R. Sanchez was solemnized Friday evening in a ceremony held in the home of the bridegroom's parents in San Antonio. The Rev. William F. Askew, father of the bride, and the Rev. Larry D. Holmes officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. William F. Askew of Springfield, Mo. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Sanchez.

The couple was united before two pedestal arrangements of yellow and white gladiolus.

The bride wore a formal length gown of ivory organza over a white tulle bodice with an empire waistline and a princess skirt. The bodice featured a scooped neckline with flower applique trim. The long full sleeves were gathered into cuffs marked with matching trim. The chapel-length train flowed from a satin bow marking the back. The train was accented with matching applique trim. Her elbow-length veil of illusion drifted from a bandeau of applique flowers. She carried a nosegay of yellow miniature carnations and gypsophila centered with white roses.

Mrs. Martha E. Sowder of San Antonio was the matron of honor. Mrs. Margaret Young of Austin was the bridal attendant. They wore floor-length dresses of yellow crepe styled with empire waistlines, scooped necklines and short puffed sleeves. Matching garden hats completed the attire. They carried nosegays of mixed fall flowers.

Robert L. Young of Austin was the best man with Sammy Sowder as groomsman.

A reception in the home was held after the ceremony to honor Mr. and Mrs. Sanchez. A wedding reception will be held at the Church of the Nazarene in Big Spring from 2-4 p.m., Nov. 23.

After a short honeymoon in San Antonio the couple will make their home in Big Spring where the bride is a secretary at Howard County Family Service Center and the bridegroom is a surgeon's assistant at Cowper Hospital.

Miss Kolden Honored At Bridal Party

A bridal shower was held Nov. 3 for Miss Julie Kolden, bride-elect of Lonnie Gillihan in the home of Mrs. J. F. Smith with Mrs. W. N. McClanahan as cohostess.

Miss Kolden is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kolden. Gillihan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rayford Gillihan.

The hostesses presented Miss Kolden with select pieces of her china.

Mrs. Doyle Gillihan, grandmother of the bridegroom, was the special guest.

The couple will be married Nov. 29 in St. Paul Lutheran Church.

Food Service Club Has Meeting

The Big Spring Food Service Club met Thursday afternoon in the Marcy Elementary School cafeteria.

Chaplain Clayton Hicks spoke to the group on the duties of the chaplain at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

Members made plans for the Christmas party to be held at 6:30 p.m., Dec. 6 in the high school cafeteria.

Door prizes were won by Mrs. Opal Wooten and Mrs. Katherine Wiedel.

School Program Teaches 'You Are What You Eat'

All elementary students will soon be learning about "Big Ideas" in nutrition following a Dairy Council Inc. inservice training session for Big Spring ISD teachers.

The workshop, presented by Mrs. Miriam Curry, dietitian for dairy Council, Inc. of Midland, was held at Boydston School through the cooperation of Lynn Hise, curriculum director for Big Spring ISD. Sixteen second grade teachers and fifteen fifth grade teachers learned the lessons in their respective units during the inservice session.

The structure of the nutrition education program begins, in the second-grade level, with these students modifying their food classification system. In ten lessons, the student now learns to classify foods from his environment, using the four food group system: milk group, meat group, fruit and vegetable group, and bread and cereal group. With this knowledge, he then proceeds to the selection of a balanced meal.

"The ultimate goal of the program is to teach people to make wise food choices", Mrs. Curry explained. And in the fifth grade, the student then learns to use the four food group system to select foods which meet the minimum daily requirements.

As the fifth-grade teachers learned through the program objectives, identifying serving amounts, knowing the number of daily servings needed from each food group, and the ability to analyze one's daily food selections must become an integral part of not only the elementary student's, but everyone's daily eating habits.

Dairy Council Inc. aims to not only train teachers in nutrition education programs for classroom use, but hopes to educate the community about nutrition. Mrs. Curry emphasized the fact that the ideal time for introducing a child to nutrition education is at the initial onset of formal education.

Dairy Council Inc., a non-profit, tax-exempt health and nutrition education organization, and a National Dairy Council affiliate, coordinates its five-state, 19-office area in San Antonio. The program, carried out by a professional staff of 35 nutrition consultants and dietitians, is totally supported by the area dairymen.

Westbrook School Slates Open House

The Board of Education and school staff of Westbrook Public School invites all interested persons to attend an open house from 2-4 p.m. Sunday in the Westbrook School. The open house is being held to show the public the new construction and renovation of the school.

Low Calorie Combination

Calorie-conscious connoisseurs will love this refreshing combo. Low-fat cottage cheese shapes up beautifully with the addition of chopped red skinned apples. Simply mix together and scoop into drained canned cling peach half.

How to select the right nursing home.

We Americans are not just living longer, we're living more useful, productive lives.

But an increasing number of the chronically ill, the old, the convalescent, need some place other than the hospital and their home where they can receive personal health care, round-the-clock attention and the opportunity to continue to live their lives with meaning.

As your community extended health care facility we want to help you make the right decision. Here are some guidelines: see your family physician to determine the kind of care needed; feel free to visit our facility; ask us for our costs in writing and financial advice about Medicaid; examine all of our facilities; check our food quality; verify our safety features; and finally, observe how our residents spend their time.

There's a lot more to selecting the right nursing home. We want to help. If you have any questions, please call or visit us.

Tammy Butts To Compete In Texas Teenage Pageant

Miss Tammy Leigh Butts, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Butts of Big Spring, has been selected to be a finalist in the 1976 Miss Texas Teenager Pageant to be held at Astroworld in Houston on March 19-21.

The Miss Texas Teen-Age Pageant is the official state finals to the Miss National Teenager Pageant to be held in Atlanta, Ga. in August. Jana Lou Collard of Dalhart, 1975 Miss Teenager, will crown the new Queen.

Contestants from all over the state will be competing for the title of Miss Texas Teenager. The reigning Miss National Teenager is Kimberly Ann Jensen of Caldwell, Idaho.

Each contestant accepted will be requested to participate in the Volunteer Community Service Program of the National Teenager Pageant. This program teaches teenagers to share and to participate in school and civic affairs. A mini-modeling charm course is given in conjunction with the pageant.

The winner of the Miss Texas Teenager Pageant will receive a scholarship, other prizes and an all-expense paid trip to compete in the Miss National Teenager Pageant in Atlanta. Cash scholarships totaling $10,000 will be awarded at the national pageant.

Contestants will be judged on scholastic achievement, leadership, poise, personality and beauty. There is no swim suit or talent competition.

Each contestant will recite a 100 word "essay" on the subject, "What's Right About America."

Miss Butts is being sponsored by First National Bank, Security State Bank and State National Bank.

She is a freshman at Coahoma High School.

Couple Weds In Webb Chapel

Miss Deborah Annette Steele became the bride of Sgt. Bernard Paul Fecko of Seattle, Wash. in a ceremony held at noon Saturday in Webb Chapel. Father Don Hudson officiated during the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul T. Sibert, 703 Creighton. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Fecko of Lehigh Acres, Fla.

Mrs. Polly Settles, organist, furnished wedding selections during the ceremony.

The bride wore a formal-length dress designed with an empire waistline and an A-line skirt. The bodice was styled with a V-neckline enhanced with a high collar of satin with lace trim. The long chiffon sleeves were gathered into satin cuffs. A lace-trimmed chapel-length train fell from a tie belt. The bride's bouquet was of yellow and white daisies.

Mrs. Kenneth Franklin of Canyon attended the bride as matron of honor. Miss Judy Fecko, sister of the bridegroom, was the bridesmaid. Mrs. Franklin wore a formal-length gown of green satin featuring an empire waistline and an A-line skirt. An inset of chiffon print enhanced the neckline. The long full sleeves were of the chiffon print. Miss Fecko wore a dress of pale green satin designed with an empire waistline, A-line skirt, V-neckline and cap sleeves. They carried bouquets of green carnations.

Leonard Fecko of Cincinnati, Ohio was the best man with Brian Nikolai of Midland as groomsmen. The usher was Maurice Smith.

Amy Fletcher assisted the bride by carrying her train.

A reception was held in honor of the couple in the Non-commissioned Club at Webb AFB. Friends of the bride served refreshments from a table covered with a white satin cloth and accented with bridal candles.

After a wedding trip to El Paso, the bride will remain in Big Spring until her husband completes his military assignment in

Rituals Held At Sorority Meeting

The Texas Beta Omicron chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Phyllis Cox at 1700 Main.

An opening ritual commenced the meeting at which Mrs. Ruth Penner, president, presided.

Mrs. Kathy Crawford received a farewell ritual.

Mrs. Mary Alligood and Mrs. Paula Howard presented a program for the meeting which was entitled "Of House and Home". The program was aimed at showing how the role of a woman in today's society had changed from centuries and even decades ago. Posters and pictures were displayed to help point out the differences between the tools of yesterday's kitchens and the modern kitchen. Members expressed thoughts on housework.

A skit was given by Mrs. Pam Carroll and Mrs. Mary Adams portraying the life styles of two housewives.

Some of the changes in today's laws concerning women were briefly discussed.

Mrs. Normal Friesen was a guest at Thursday's meeting. Plans for a bake sale to be held in December were discussed.

A report was given by Mrs. Paula Howard, treasurer, on the bazaar which was held in Highland Mall on Nov. 1. Mrs. Henry Bartholomew was the winner of the crocheted afghan.

Several appointments were made at the meeting. Mrs. Doris Arcand was appointed as chairwoman of the yearbook committee. Mrs. Mary Adams was appointed as chairwoman of the program committee, and Mrs. Pam Leggett was appointed as the publicity chairwoman.

A letter from Senator Lloyd Benson was read to the group.

Final plans for the Thanksgiving progressive dinner were discussed.

Plans for the Valentine Ball were discussed. The chapter acknowledged Mrs. Pam Carroll as the Beta Omicron candidate for the Valentine Queen.

The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m., Thursday in the Barcelona Apartments club room.

Rituals Held At Sorority Meeting

The Texas Beta Omicron chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Phyllis Cox at 1700 Main.

An opening ritual commenced the meeting at which Mrs. Ruth Penner, president, presided.

Mrs. Kathy Crawford received a farewell ritual.

Mrs. Mary Alligood and Mrs. Paula Howard presented a program for the meeting which was entitled "Of House and Home". The program was aimed at showing how the role of a woman in today's society had changed from centuries and even decades ago. Posters and pictures were displayed to help point out the differences between the tools of yesterday's kitchens and the modern kitchen. Members expressed thoughts on housework.

A skit was given by Mrs. Pam Carroll and Mrs. Mary Adams portraying the life styles of two housewives.

Some of the changes in today's laws concerning women were briefly discussed.

Mrs. Normal Friesen was a guest at Thursday's meeting. Plans for a bake sale to be held in December were discussed.

A report was given by Mrs. Paula Howard, treasurer, on the bazaar which was held in Highland Mall on Nov. 1. Mrs. Henry Bartholomew was the winner of the crocheted afghan.

Several appointments were made at the meeting. Mrs. Doris Arcand was appointed as chairwoman of the yearbook committee. Mrs. Mary Adams was appointed as chairwoman of the program committee, and Mrs. Pam Leggett was appointed as the publicity chairwoman.

A letter from Senator Lloyd Benson was read to the group.

Final plans for the Thanksgiving progressive dinner were discussed.

Plans for the Valentine Ball were discussed. The chapter acknowledged Mrs. Pam Carroll as the Beta Omicron candidate for the Valentine Queen.

The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m., Thursday in the Barcelona Apartments club room.

7 out of 10 Rabbit Tests are positive.

Our research shows that 70% of all the people who buy the Rabbit say that it was the test drive that made up their minds for them. It's no wonder. The Rabbit drives like no other car you've ever driven before.

You see, in designing the Rabbit, we didn't just stop at things like front-wheel drive and rack-and-pinion steering. We created a totally unique "independent stabilizer rear axle" that greatly increases the stability of the car on rough roads. And therefore the safety.

And speaking of safety, we gave the Rabbit features that you'll find on few other cars in the world. Like "negative steering roll radius," for example, which helps bring the car to a straight stop in the event of a front-wheel blowout.

But the two big things that everyone who drives the Rabbit really marvels at are: one, the amount of head and leg room (as much as some mid-sized cars); and two, its incredible pickup. (0 to 50 in 8.2 seconds.) Which is pretty amazing for a car that rates an EPA-estimated 39 mpg on the highway—and 25 in the city, with standard transmission. (Actual mileage may vary depending on type of driving, driving habits, car's condition and optional equipment.)

But don't just take our word for it. Stop in and take a Rabbit Test today.

WASHINGTON CONNECTIONS

'Pop' Reagan Is Bicen 'Builder' In Big Spring

By STARBUCK WOOLF 'Pop' is a bicentennial bonanza.

Besides being one of the area's earliest residents, he has connections all the way back to the Washingtons of Virginia.

B. A. (Pop) Reagan will celebrate his 90th birthday in the Bicentennial year of 1976, and if the present pattern holds, for years to come he'll be busy pursuing one of his many hobbies, including his latest infatuation — astronomy.

He was born in a small one-room house that, if it were still standing today, would be across the street from the present-day police station — a location that housed a dug-out tent structure where his parents first lived when they came to Big Spring. (In 1881 when his parents arrived, there were no houses to be had.)

The family soon moved to a location on 3rd street across from the present-day City Hall. 'Pop', (what his family has called him for 60 years), recalls, "We kept having trouble with coyotes stealing our chickens, and stunks getting under the house and stinking it up." Back then, a 40 foot hill, "a pretty big one" as "Pop" remembers, stood where the City Hall is today. And when he was about eight years old, he and a friend named Sam Hunt hunted quail on that hill. In my interview with "Pop", a score of old stories of early day Big Spring followed.

I asked him the very earliest thing he remembered. After some reflection, he decided it was the time he drove a bunch of nails into the front door step of the family house when he was three-years-old. For that he "got a good whuppin'". (If you recall in April of 1974, an article appeared in "Pop" receiving his 70-year pen as a member of the carpenters.)

"Pop" had numerous interests and did many things in his life, but his first love was carpentry. He got his first paying carpentry job when he was 10 years old (1896), and has spent his life building structures all over the southwest. (He helped built many of the houses featured in a series of articles by Marj Carpenter about Big Spring homes built before 1915. He also worked on the construction of City Hall, and many of the first stores on third and fourth Streets, and practically all of the first houses on Main, most of which have long since been moved out of town, torn down or renovated. He helped construct the first oil derrick here for S. E. J. Cox in 1919-1920.

"Pop's" first big contract came about during the construction of Camp Travis in San Antonio during WWI. Years later he was to be the first carpenter on the job in the building of Webb AFB. "Me and one of the engineers ran around a long time 'fore they got any lumber out there. We just built sawhorses in the meantime," he recalls.

He is distantly related to the father of our country. "Pop" remembers letters from Robert E. Lee Jr., a relative as well to his mother. And in the old family Bible, this writer saw some of those letters. "They talked about how the kin-folks were doing and such," "Pop" recounts.

Among the items from the family Bible are letters and documents dating back to 1849, showing the marriage of "Pop's" grandfather to Virginia M. Washington; also a letter from Col. John C. Lewis with a periodical clipping detailing that he was the nearest living relative of Washington's; and a letter from Robert E. Lee Jr., attorney, telling Emily Reagan ("Pop's" mother) of a suit heirs for the George Washington estate had brought. (There also was a letter from Christine L. Washington saying she didn't think either of them would get anything from the suit.) But mostly the letters "talked about how the kin-folks were doing and such."

Most of "Pop's" other relatives are not nearly so illustrious, but are worthy of mention. "Pop's" grandfather on his mother's side was Capt. Wells, a sea-captain who sailed the Caribbean in the early 1830s. "Pop's" father was Wiley Andrew Reagan, (his nickname was "War"), who joined the Confederacy at the age of 15, just long enough to receive a mini-ball "the size of your thumb" in his left hip which left a scar for the rest of his life. This may have been a reason or excuse for tripping a bit. "He got half tooted-up every now and then," "Pop" recalls. "Pop" recalls a story his father told him that took place just after the Civil War before "War" came to Big Spring, (he was living in Terrell county). While picking pecans from the trees along the Concho river between Big Spring and San Angelo one day, "War" Reagan came face to face with an indian who was eating pecans by the river. "They both yelled and ran off in different directions."

EMILY REAGAN W. A. REAGAN

"Pop" recalls a story his father told him that took place just after the Civil War before "War" came to Big Spring, (he was living in Terrell county). While picking pecans from the trees along the Concho river between Big Spring and San Angelo one day, "War" Reagan came face to face with an indian who was eating pecans by the river. "They both yelled and ran off in different directions."

"War" Reagan first saw Big Spring when he and some friends followed a band of Indians to the Spring who had stolen some horses from them. "They got the horses back," Reagan recalls his father's story, "but the Indians got away."

His parents moved to Big Spring in 1881. "Pop's" mother was named Emily Wells Talbot — the widow of Gayle Talbot. ("Pop" later became partners with her brother-in-law Cliff Talbot.) She lived to be 94, dying in 1951. "War" Reagan lived to be 89.

In 1913, "Pop" was in Roswell, N.M. on a carpentry job and met a girl named Irene Perot, who was a friend of his half-sister, Esther Gayle Talbot. No, he didn't marry her, he married her sister who he saw one day walking down the street. He threw a rock at her to attract her attention. Her name was Emily Eugenia Perot, (She is on H. Ross Perot's family tree), who was raised in a convent in Louisiana. And so that same year at the age of 28, rather late in life, "Pop" married. Before his wife died in 1955, they had lived a full life together — having seven children, 23 grandchildren, and 15 great-grandchildren.

Carpentry and "Gene", as he called his wife, were not his sole interests. He is a mechanical genius of sorts.

Victory March In Battle Against Crippling Disease

Howard Mott, Howard County chairman of the Arthritis Foundation, announced a Victory March in the fight against the crippling disease will kick off in Big Spring Nov. 25 with the beginning of the special gift drive.

is called juvenile rheumatoid arthritis or JRA. There are at least 250,000 youngsters with JRA in the United States today.

If he saw anything he thought interesting he found out how to make it, and made it.

Jimmy Anderson will serve as special gifts chairman. The residential march will be held on the first Monday in December which is Dec. 1 and Mrs. W. A. Riley will be chairman of that event.

To call attention to the plight of these children, the Arthritis Foundation has chosen an 18-month-old baby as the symbol of its 1975 fund-raising campaign.

He started taking pictures and developing them himself in the early 1900s. Back then he took "well over 1,500" pictures, many using the glass-plate negative. Thirty or so years ago these glass negatives became too cumbersome to carry around, so he broke most of them up, not realizing what they would be worth today.

"Far from being a disease of the elderly, arthritis can strike at any time of life including infancy," reports Mott, county chairman.

Little Karen, who was struck with crippling arthritis in infancy gazes poignantly from the local agency's literature which will be mailed out with special gifts.

One of the most severe forms of the disease is rheumatoid arthritis which afflicts some five million Americans. It is a chronic disease that can cause untold pain and severe crippling.

When it strikes children, it

The West Texas chapter alone supported 43 clinical research grants and 52 research fellowships through the $20,385 channeled to the national level in 1974.

But he still has many old pictures and hundreds of negatives of the early days of Big Spring and the Southwest. (Some of his pictures appear in this article.)

Midland Cops May Organize

In West Texas, there are 123,600 diagnosed cases of arthritis, of which 1,752 are children. Of the total, 2,100 persons are completely disabled and 12,012 partially disabled.

One picture that he didn't take but in which he appears hangs in Sheriff Aubrey Standard's office. It was taken in 1915 and "Pop" says that it's labelled wrong. "We weren't on a rabbit drive but a coyote drive."

MIDLAND — City policemen here have indicated they may organize in efforts to win pay boosts.

Howard County citizens are urged to participate in the local drive.

"Pop" is also an avid marksman. Back around 1908, "Pop" relates, a man named Topperville, an agent with Winchester Rifles toured the Southwest displaying his skill at sharpshooting. Whenever he was in town, he and "Pop" would always go out and practice together. "It cost me a fortune. He got all his ammunition free, but he never loaned me any."

The policemen have indicated they want a $156 monthly raise, which would push their base pay from $823 to $979. This would be equivalent to the $976 now paid to Texas Highway Patrolman with Patrolman I status.

Key Club Gets Money For MS The Big Spring Key Club, which will observe a special week starting Monday, recently raised $466 toward the Multiple Sclerosis campaign, soliciting funds from the public in general. Brad Carr, Key Club president, directed the drive.

"Pop" is still active today at showing his prowess with a gun. His grandson Mike, son of F. F. and Lois McElreath, attests to that. Recently when they were in the country target-practicing, Mike threw a bottle up in the air to see if his grandfather could hit it. "Pop" did.

Open House To Be Observed At Westbrook High School

L. M. Dawson, superintendent of schools at Westbrook, said that members of the school board and Westbrook teachers would serve as hosts.

A few years back an article also appeared in the Herald about another of "Pop's" hobbies, the collecting and making of arrowheads. Now he spends more of his time fishing, and studying astronomy. But in his early years, while pursuing a full-time career as a carpenter, he also became quite good as a landscape artist in oils. He also bought tools, and built violins, guitars, and mandolins. He built the first radio ever to ripple the still air waves of Big Spring in the 1920s.

WESTBROOK — Open House will be observed at Westbrook High School between 2 and 4 p. m., today, in order that the public can see the new auditorium and other physical improvements made to the Westbrook school plant. The school district issued $400,000 in bonds last year for the project. The auditorium will now seat 398.

The library and restrooms were renovated during the refurbishing project. New ceilings were installed and an air conditioning-heating system were added. Some classrooms and hallways were also carpeted.

He still creates at every chance he gets. Far from being elderly, physically as well as mentally, he leads an active life. He's never been in a hospital a day in his life except for an eight day stint after a train wreck in 1899. ("I never rode in passenger trains much," "Pop" tells me, "but before I was 25, I was in three train wrecks.")

UNITED WAY COMMITTEE EDGES CLOSER TO GOAL

After another productive week, the Howard County United Way committee is within 20 per cent of its $131,925 objective.

He still creates at every chance he gets. Far from being elderly, physically as well as mentally, he leads an active life. He's never been in a hospital a day in his life except for an eight day stint after a train wreck in 1899. ("I never rode in passenger trains much," "Pop" tells me, "but before I was 25, I was in three train wrecks.")

Collections for the week ending at 5 p. m., Friday totaled $6,281.96, bringing the aggregate to $105,282.66. The Employee division, headed by D. D. Pittman, was particularly active during the week, with collections totaling $4,721.96.

By divisions, the grand totals collected to date include: Out of Town, $6,275; Advance Gifts, $19,793; Special Gifts, $6,665; Employee, $21,628.04; CFC, $28,776; City Employees, $6,551.22; Metropolitan, $1,755; County and State Employees, $2,178.30; Rural or Area, $759.10; Women, $4,817; and Professional, $6,085. Of the $105,282.66 committed to date, $45,987.71 has come in outright gifts while the remainder has been pledged by donors.

API Exec To Speak In Odessa

A reception and dinner, co-sponsored by the Odessa Chamber of Commerce and Congressman Richard White's Congressional Club, will be held 7 p. m. Monday, Nov. 24, in the Ballroom at the Inn of the Golden West.

The Combined Federal Campaign and Special Gifts divisions have exceeded their goals and some of the others are close.

Guest speaker for the evening will be Charles Di Bona, executive vice president of the American Petroleum Institute. His topic will be "The future of independent petroleum producers in the community which depends on petroleum production."

Ron McNeil, general chairman of the drive, noted that a report has not yet been forthcoming from one of Big Spring's major industries.

"When the final audit is in on that, we will be very close to our goal," McNeil said. The campaign committee did not meet its objective of winning up the drive by Nov. 15 but McNeil held out hopes that the drive would go over the top by the next week or so.

Di Bona is former special consul to the President on energy, deputy director of the President's energy office, a Rhodes Scholar and graduate of the Naval Academy. The public is invited to attend. Tickets are $7.50. If interested call the Odessa chamber office, 332-9111 for reservations.
