

TWELVE YEARS LATER, DOUBT GROWS LIKE CANCER

Kennedy Assassination: Doubt Will Not Depart

By VICTORIA GRAHAM
AP Feature Writer

Doubt will not depart. It intrudes at the grave of President John F. Kennedy, killed by an assassin's bullet 12 years ago.

The sad memories pale with time. The doubt darkens.

Still the questions from that sunny day in Dallas: How did he die? Why did he die? Who pulled the trigger? Who killed JFK — really?

From the bumpers of cars to the halls of Congress the questions are being asked.

Doubt has grown as America has changed from a nation that could talk of Camelot and Kennedy to one that spoke of a cancer on the presidency.

CIA?

It has been nurtured by the cynicism of Vietnam,

Watergate, government spying, lies and CIA involvement in foreign assassinations.

Was it the CIA? The FBI? The Mafia? Cuban exiles? Castro? The Soviets? A right-wing cabal? A left-wing plot?

Was it, as the government says, Lee Harvey Oswald?

In the post-Watergate era, even the previously reported presence of former President Nixon in Dallas on the morning of Nov. 22 takes on new and sinister significance for some.

JUST DOUBTS

The doubters have clamored since the Warren Commission reported that Oswald, and only Oswald, fired the shots which killed Kennedy and wounded former Texas Gov. John Connally in Dealey Plaza.

Armed with new disclosures about government misdeeds, they have increased, organized rallies and petition drives urging a new investigation.

So far, there is no proof of conspiracy, just theories, links, troublesome coincidence—doubts.

"Who Killed JFK?" is printed on T-shirts and bumper stickers. It is asked on the lecture circuit and by a new crop of anniversary books, all critical of the Warren Report.

It is raised by the "assassinologists" who cluster in Dallas and elsewhere and relentlessly pursue a variety of conspiracy theories.

VISIT PLAZA

Every day the tourists, photographers, writers, researchers go to Dealey

Plaza. They look and measure, take notes, pace off distances. They snap pictures of the ghost motorcade's course, the grassy knoll, the triple overpass.

Especially they note the vacant Book Depository and look for the window of the assassin's nest.

Summertime vendors sold postcards showing the course of the motorcade and course of the bullets.

In Congress, the probe has not been reopened, but U.S. Sens. Richard Schweiker, R-Pa., and Gary Hart, D-Colo., head a subcommittee looking into the FBI and CIA investigations of JFK's death.

They are trying to determine what information the federal intelligence agencies withheld from the

PLOTS UNKNOWN

The Warren Commission did not know that elements of the CIA and Mafia plotted to assassinate Fidel Castro of Cuba and that unfriendly foreign leaders were targets of CIA murder schemes.

Commissioners did not know that the Dallas FBI destroyed a threatening note Oswald sent before the assassination. It reportedly concerned Oswald's anger about FBI questioning his Soviet-born wife.

Based on an October survey, the Harris Poll reported that 65 per cent of the American people believe the assassination was "not the act of one individual, but rather of a larger conspiracy."

"I think it reflects a decline in trust in the institutions of government. It was declining long before Watergate," says Leonard Berkowitz, a University of Wisconsin psychologist who has studied violence and audience reaction.

"Seeing plots is a way of trying to understand a fairly complex world," he says. "People look for an explanation, a plot theory, that goes beyond a single event and is consistent with hostility toward a large segment of society."

WARREN REJECTION

Berkowitz says plot theories usually are held by the alienated and down-trodden. "But in the last couple of years," he says, "I've been struck by the number of middle class university students who have a plot-oriented view of society.

FILM REVEALS

"I've even had students tell me that Auto Workers President Walter Reuther was assassinated, although he died in a plane crash."

"Rejection of the Warren Commission and new interest in conspiracy theory has increased by leaps and bounds," says Michael Gee, office coordinator of the Assassination Information Bureau in Cambridge, Mass.

"A big reason is Watergate," he says. "People have seen evidence of conspiracy in high places and are skeptical of official investigations. So they are much more willing to depart from the Warren Report and take a new look."

He says another reason is the wide showing of Abraham Zapruder's color film showing Kennedy and Connally wounded in the motorcade. It shows the side of Kennedy's head being blown away and his head being thrown back.

The backward movement is dramatic proof for some critics that there must have been a gunman firing ahead of the motorcade, not only from Oswald's location to the rear.

What are some of the controversial Warren Commission findings?

1. The shots came from the sixth floor of the Book Depository to the rear of Kennedy.
2. Three shots were fired. The first struck the back of Kennedy's neck and exited the front; it then struck Connally in the right back, exited, struck his right wrist

Juan Carlos I Crowned New Monarch Of Spain

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon ascended to power Saturday as Spain's first king in 44 years, pledging to act as "moderator, guardian of the constitutional system and promoter of justice."

He indicated that those largely excluded from the political process, including Basques, would be allowed greater freedom.

Speaking in a tense voice in the main chamber of parliament amid Spain's tightest security ever, 37-year-old King Juan Carlos I ushered in a new era after 36 years of right-wing, autocratic rule under Gen. Francisco Franco.

The new head of state was cheered by shouts of "Juan Carlos! Juan Carlos!" and "Long live the king!" as he rode through the Spanish capital after formally accepting leadership. Then he and the new queen, Greek-born Princess Sophia, joined tens of thousands filing past the body of Franco, lying in state before burial Sunday.

The long-time dictator died Thursday at the age of 82.

Juan Carlos bowed briefly in front of Franco's coffin, then knelt in a corner to pray alone.

Trained from boyhood by Franco to take over, the king appeared as the moderator he said he wanted to be in his first public accounting to the nation.

Rockefeller was the only high official of a major power present as Juan Carlos spoke formally to the rightist-dominated parliament and to the nation by television. The monarch pledged to support the principles of the Franco regime, but he clearly indicated change was in sight.

"Appealing for unity," he said, "A free and modern society requires the participation of everybody," a contrast to Franco's rule restricting political action.

Declaring "a new era of Spain's history is beginning," the king took note of the fact that most of Western Europe's leaders had boycotted his installation because of opposition to Franco's years of rule.

Big Springer Wins Pageant

PLAINVIEW — Donnetta Williams, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack D. Williams, Big Spring, was named Miss Wayland Baptist College here Saturday night, earning the right to represent the college at the Miss Texas Pageant in July, 1976.

Miss Williams won the preliminary swimsuit competition Friday night and sang an old torch song, "Cry Me A River" in talent competition.

She is a sophomore elementary education major and won the title over 23 contestants.

MIA Talks To Include Vietnamese Ambassador

WASHINGTON (AP) — Talks between U.S. congressmen and Vietnamese officials on the fate of Americans missing in action in Indochina have been "upgraded" to include Hanoi's ambassador, but postponed until next month.

Rep. G. V. "Sonny" Montgomery, chairman of the Committee on Missing Persons in Southeast Asia, announced the delay Saturday. Discussions on the MIA question had been scheduled to begin in Paris on Monday.

Montgomery said the Vietnamese sent him a cable asking that the Americans put off their trip "in order that we may meet with Ambassador Vo Van Sung of the Democratic Republic of

Pickle Retires Dec. 1 As Editor Of Herald

Joe Pickle, who has devoted all of his adult life to the newspapering profession and regarded it as a labor of love, retires as editor of The Herald Dec. 1.

In his more than 40 years with the paper, a portion of which he served as publisher during World War II, Pickle has maintained a citizen's covenant as a servant to public causes.

During those four decades, his efforts toward the promotion of the community and its people have been ceaseless and monumental.

He was a director of the Chamber of Commerce for a score of years and served as its president in 1946, the year it successfully launched its campaign to bring the Veterans Administration Hospital here.

LED LIONS

He is a past president of and has always been one of the most active members of the Downtown Lions Club. He is a founding director and a past president of the Heritage Museum. He served the Friends of the Library as its chief officer.

Pickle helped in the reorganization of the Howard County Fair Association, served as the organization's president two years ago and is now its secretary. In addition, he was a founding director and past president of the YMCA, he served on boards of the Red Cross, the Salvation Army Advisory Board, the Tuberculosis Association and the Big Spring Concert Association.

He managed to find the time to work as a member of the Big Spring State Hospital Volunteer Council and in 1958 received the State Mental Health Development award. He was a member of the board of directors of Medical Center Memorial Hospital and was named a vice-president of its successor, Malone and Hogan Hospital. In addition, he served on the board of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

His public service has been diversified and extensive. He functioned as a member of the original Zoning and Planning Board, was head of one city charter commission and was named to a special commission to map a city-developer ordinance.

Local Crime Increase Outstrips U.S. Surge

Big Spring crime during the first 10 months this year has increased 68 per cent in some of the major categories, according to Police Chief Stanley Bogard.

In 1974, during the first 10 months, there was only one murder in Big Spring, but this year there have been five murders through October.

There have been six rapes thus far this year, compared to one during the first 10 months of 1974. Robberies took a tremendous jump showing nine with none the first 10 months last year.

In the two categories where the most crime is reported in Big Spring — burglary and larceny or theft, the increase is also startling.

Burglaries this year are 606 compared to 305 last year. This includes auto burglaries, which is the biggest percentage of the increase — almost all of these are

Navy Ships Collide

GAETA, Italy (AP) — The U.S. aircraft carrier John F. Kennedy and the cruiser Belknap collided and caught fire Saturday night in the Mediterranean 70 miles east of Sicily.

Navy officials said one man aboard the carrier was known dead and indicated there were other casualties. There are 4,500 crewmen aboard the Kennedy and 350 aboard the Belknap, a missile-carrying ship designed for anti-submarine and anti-aircraft warfare.

The two U.S. 6th Fleet warships collided during night flight operations and both caught fire, according to the Pentagon in Washington and a London-based spokesman for the U.S. naval forces in Europe.

The fire on the flight deck of the Kennedy was put out in about 10 minutes but it took about 2½ hours to bring the flames on the Belknap under control.

New Sports Supplement Appearing In Herald

A supplement devoted to sports news, entitled "Sports Week," makes its debut in today's edition of The Herald and will henceforth appear each Sunday.

Edited and printed by Sportsweek Inc., of Atlanta, Ga., the publication will devote itself largely to events occurring in the South and Southwest.

One of the articles appearing in the inaugural edition, entitled "Biting the Bullet," was written by George Plimpton of "Paper Lion" fame.

A questions and answers page, "The Locker Room," should prove very popular with readers in that it encourages questions from readers. One of the posers listed in this week's Locker Room is "Who holds the record for the longest golf shot?"

The multi-colored magazine is tabloid sized.

Big Spring Week

with Joe Pickle

The Goals for Big Spring final presentation meeting drew some three score people last week, and with 54 goals, that comes out to about a goal per person attending. Fortunately, a lot more people took part in the series of panel and neighborhood hearings which shaped the proposals. As a result of Thursday's hearing, a final draft will be made of the adopted goals.

If there was any doubt that the freeze of a week ago was sufficient to kill all the leaves and expedite the cotton harvest, it was removed during the past few days. Folds were frozen as the temperature dipped consistently into the mid-20s. By the first of December, gins should be running full force.

Incidentally, the cold snap brought a brief shower which ranged from .07 to .15 of an inch, making 1.09 for November and boosting the year's total so far to 27.80, fifth wettest on record and wettest since the ideal year of 1941 with 31.62.

The City of Big Spring got its October sales tax receipts from the state in the amount of $44,075. At this rate, the city ought to be reaping a tax harvest of nearly half a million dollars a year.

He was secretary of the Colorado River Municipal Water Association, which was set up in 1946, and later of its successor (1949) the Colorado River Municipal Water District, a job he still holds.

Down through the years, he has been deeply involved in promotion of the Boy Scout movement, having held virtually every position on the district level, including that of chairman for a couple of years. In 1951, he earned the Silver Beaver award from the Buffalo Trail Council.

A long-time member of the First Baptist Church, Pickle has served as a Sunday School teacher since 1932 and has been a church deacon since 1934, having served three terms as chairman and as president of the board of trustees for a quarter of a century. Somehow, he has also been able to devote time to serve two terms as a member of the Baptist Standard (state church paper) board.

During World War II, he was a staff sergeant in the Texas State Guard.

Born in Roscoe of Joseph Binford Pickle and Mary Theresa Duke Pickle, he was the elder of two sons in a family that included three daughters. His father, the late J. B. Pickle, was founder of the Roscoe Times who later was a partner in a newspaper at Snyder.

Joe graduated from Big Spring High School in 1928 and from Baylor University in 1932. At the Waco school, he majored in English and minored in journalism.

STARTED IN 1931

He went to work as a reporter for The Herald in the summer of 1931 and returned in 1932 to begin an uninterrupted tenure with the paper. He was made managing editor in 1940 and was promoted to editor in 1970. From January, 1944, until March, 1946, he served as publisher.

A jury of his peers elevated him to the presidency of the West Texas Press Association in 1959. In 1967, he served in a similar capacity with the Associated Press Managing Editors Association. He edited two historical editions of The Herald, one focusing attention on the community's centennial observance in October, 1949, and the remarkable Bicentennial edition in July of this year.

He married Lucille Rix, daughter of Harvey L. and Bertha Deats Rix, June 15, 1937. She died Oct. 15, 1975. Three sons were born to the union. They were Tommy Rix Pickle, now of Irving; Joseph Gary Pickle, Austin; and Paul David Pickle, currently of Waco. All, like their parents, were graduates of Big Spring High School and David followed his father into the newspaper business.

The usual life of the retiree has little appeal for Pickle. The leisure time he might gain from not showing up at the office every time he will use in other pursuits. He will continue his employment with the Colorado River Municipal Water District. And somehow, he will continue to find the time to serve his church, his community and those numerous public and charitable agencies which have grown so accustomed to calling on him for assistance.

Although he will be officially retired after Dec. 1, Pickle will be available for consultation and special assignments at the Herald for the next few weeks.

Time To Take A Look

Gov. Dolph Briscoe may not have insured that he will win the educators' popularity poll last week when he called for a reappraisal of our educational investment. The public is being asked to put more and more in schools and getting less and less in return, he said, and "it's going to break our state."

Then he made these recitations: The state investment in education has risen by 250 per cent within the past decade; the cost of higher education has rocketed by 10 times since 1967. And yet, he added, one-fifth of our population seems to possess basic literacy requirements.

If that seems harsh, consider a study commissioned by the U. S. Office of Education. It reported that one of five American adults lacks enough basic skills to count change, read a newspaper, or fill out a job application. It also revealed that 30 per cent of American adults cannot read a flight or bus schedule; 13 per cent cannot properly address an envelope; 58 per cent cannot understand the "Miranda" card which warns a suspect of his rights at the time of arrest. To that we can add a staggering percentage that cannot spell, use correct grammar or make a consistently complete sentence.

Now clearly something is amiss. Granted time tables, job applications, income tax forms, etc. ought to be made a lot simpler, the fact remains that we must realize a better product in our educational output. A good case can be made that money put in education is a wise investment, but only to the extent that education gets results. Gov. Briscoe's challenge ought not to go unheeded, and educators should be among the leaders in efforts to get to the heart of the matter of turning out individuals who can at least communicate.

Beef Up Basic Research

Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz was in rare form when he addressed the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges in Houston last weekend. The occasion was the 100th anniversary of experiment stations.

The secretary said he saw nothing evil in selling United States agricultural products abroad for "it has brought us $22 billion in foreign exchange." Regardless of whether we have a moral obligation to feed the world, he said, "I don't know about that, but we've been doing it for 25 years."

Then he put his finger on a simple fact: "Only farmers produce food — they need incentive to exploit our research. . . . we must get profit into agriculture."

Finally, he challenged the educators and research scientists to meet the challenge of the next quarter century — that of doubling world food production. He said that only science can meet the challenge because "there is no new land to discover."

Right on, Mr. Secretary, and how about carrying the fight for more basic agriculture research funds with more determination? The U. S. Experiment Station here, as others all over the land, has been crippled for lack of funds in its urgent and sometimes lonely fight to gain more knowledge, including the vital problem of wind erosion control. This and other fundamental research must be increased sharply if the challenge enunciated by Secretary Butz is met.

My Answer

Billy Graham

About a year ago my wife divorced me. She told many lies to get the divorce, and hurt me even more by getting my children to believe the lies and hate me. Much as I try not to, I cannot help being bitter toward them, and I have really come to hate even my own children. I believe in God, although I admit I don't go to church very much. How can I get rid of my bitterness?

T. C.
You have certainly been through hard times recently, but it is encouraging that you do not want to remain bitter and angry. The Bible says, "Let all bitterness and wrath and anger and clamor and slander be put away from you." (Ephesians 4:31, RSV).

I believe the first step for you is to get into a right relationship with God. God does not ask for us to have a vague belief in Him; He asks us to come to Him in complete trust and faith, and yield ourselves to Him completely and totally as we trust Jesus Christ His Son to take away our sins. God is concerned with your situation, and He wants to come into your life and forgive your sins and help you begin life again.

Second, I am convinced that only God can remove the bitterness that you feel, and replace it with love and forgiveness. Ask Him to give you love for them. Pray for them, for they also need Christ in their lives. Claim the power of the Holy Spirit. Remember that one of the fruits of the Spirit is love. (Galatians 5:22-23).

Third, I urge you to become active in a church where Christ is preached. You need other believers, especially at this time. And you may be surprised to find that some of REMEMBERING...

Pet Funerals

Most people had pets when they were growing up. The pets were cared for, loved and often came to be like members of the family. Cats and dogs were the most common but anything could be a pet. There were ducks, white rabbits, cotton tails, squirrels, hamsters, roosters, possums, even skunks (sans glands). Pets were made of such things as turtles, horned toads, frogs, crickets, gold fish, mice and snakes. A child can love just about anything that's lovable and some things that parents would just as soon not see them love.

But with all things that have life, death is certain. Few things in this life bring more sorrow than the death of a loved one and, to a child, his pet is very much a loved one. I remember a scene long ago of two boys with tear-filled eyes digging a hole out in the orchard. They were burying their loved one, a dog, that had been run over by a car. The dog was carefully wrapped in the blanket he always slept on. He was placed in the hole. Standing there looking down, it seemed as though something should be said. But nothing seemed right, nothing was said. Sniffles could be heard. The hole was covered over. I suppose you could call that a funeral, if a funeral is paying tribute to one you love.

Pet funerals weren't always as simple as the boys with their dog. One boy made a big production of the occasion when his ground squirrel died. Julian invited several of us kids over to his house for what we learned was to be Speck's funeral. The grave had been prepared along with a velvet lined shoe box for the casket. A flat, white sand stone was to be used for the grave marker. He had lettered SPECK on it with a red crayola and outlined each letter with green.

Two boys were selected to be pallbearers. They slowly walked out of the garage and down to the graveside where he was standing. Slowly they circled the grave once with the casket open for us to view the body. The girls mourned and we stood reverently by. The casket was placed in the grave. Julian took out his testament, thumbed through the pages to a marked place and read Matthew 6: 25-29. The speech was next: "Dearly beloved . . . we are gathered here . . . We sang a few lines of 'When the role is called up yonder.' . . . Actually it was just the chorus 'cause that's all we knew. We each took a hand full of dirt and sprinkled it over the casket and then Julian took his shovel and finished covering it up. The grave stone was set in place and we all stood there for a minute thinking about ole Speck. The silence was broken by Julian saying, 'Anybody for a game of tag?' SLAP! You're it! Julian didn't let stuff bother him very long but he could really do things up right when he set his mind to it.

Watergate Women

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Two new books have come out concerning Watergate. One is titled "The Women of Watergate" by Madeleine Edmondson and Alden Duer Cohen and the other is "Mo" by Maureen Dean with Hays Gorey. The thrust of both books is that if the wives of the conspirators had only known what their husbands were doing, Watergate may never have gotten out of hand.

ANYONE WHO believes that doesn't know how people live in Washington. This is what would probably happen. "Hello, dear. Wow, what a day at the White House. I just had to persuade three people to lie to the FBI. 'The toilet's broken again. Every time I call the plumber he doesn't pay any attention to me. If you would call just once maybe we'd get some action around here.'"

"LISTEN, I need a drink real bad. I had to fill the President in on some stupid break-in at the Watergate and he was steaming mad. He told me to see that no one found out about it even if I had to use every organization in the country including the CIA."

"I'LL TELL you who else is steaming mad — Sears Roebuck.

They called up and said we hadn't paid their bill for three months. I thought you told me you were going to send them a check."

"I was, but it slipped my mind. You see some jerks over at the Committee to Re-Elect the President committed a burglary and seven were arrested. It turns out two of them were members of a secret outfit we have in the White House called 'the plumbers' who were up to their eyeballs in illegal activities. Now the press is on it and they've called a special grand jury. I'm going to have to perjure myself in front of the grand jury to save the President."

"WELL, WHEN will you send the check to Sears Roebuck?" "Will you stop talking about Sears Roebuck? If this thing gets out in the open it will blow the Administration sky-high. My clothes are filthy from destroying evidence we found in one of the plumbers' safes."

"ISN'T THAT illegal to destroy evidence?"

"Of course it's illegal, but it had to be done. In fact I'm going back tonight to burn some more files. After I destroy the evidence I have to meet several members of the Committee to Re-Elect the President."

Inflation: Sleeping, Not Dead

NEW YORK (AP) — When President Ford returned from the six-nation economic summit at Rambouillet, France, this past week, he was confronted with more indications that the recovery has not yet shed the heavy cloak of inflation.

The six nations agreed that "in consolidating the recovery it is essential to avoid unleashing additional inflationary forces which would threaten its success."

But in the United States during October, although industrial output, personal income and corporate profits were on the rise, inflation was taking its third highest jump of the year.

The Commerce Department's consumer price index rose 0.7 per cent in October, largely because of sharply higher grocery prices. The index had risen 0.2 per cent in September.

Nevertheless, October's 8.4 per cent annual rate was well below last year's double digit level. And James Pate, the Commerce Department's chief economist, said inflation is expected to drop to an annual rate of about 5 per cent by the end of 1976.

Other figures released during the week showed that:

—CORPORATE PROFITS after taxes for the three months ending in September

WEEKS BUSINESS

- Corporate profits show biggest quarters gain in 25 years
- Cost-of-living index of 8.4 pct rate, but lower than '74
- Housing starts may increase by one-third during next year
- GNP up 13.2 pct., better than 11.2 pct. estimates
- Consumer confidence wavers, fear unemployment, higher prices registered their biggest quarterly increase in 25 years. The rise of $11.9 billion was 16.9 per cent over the previous quarter and was the highest rise since a 22.1 per cent jump in 1950's third quarter.

—The consensus prediction of experts is that HOUSING STARTS will range from 1.40 million to 1.65 million units next year, compared to 1.15 million this year, according to Donald Kaplan, director of economic research for the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

—INDUSTRIAL OUTPUT rose a moderate 0.4 per cent last month, while business INVENTORIES increased just 0.2 per cent in September.

—THE GROSS NATIONAL PRODUCT's rise in the third quarter was actually higher than originally thought. The government's revision of figures pegged it at 13.2 per cent, up from the original 11.2 per cent estimate.

—PERSONAL INCOME rose 1 per cent in October, the second month in a row that its rate of growth has slowed.

And there were figures supporting the belief that U.S. consumer confidence in the recovery, an important goal of the Rambouillet summit, is still wavering.

The Conference Board, an independent research group, said its index of consumer confidence in October dropped for the first time this year.

"Consumer spirits seem to have been dampened by the rise in unemployment in October, continued price increases and the financial woes of New York, which are increasingly being regarded as a mini-disaster," said Fabian Linden, director of the consumer research for the Conference Board.

Body Odor Can Be Normal

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: One subject I don't believe you have written about is body odor. I don't perspire excessively, but I do have odor under my arms no matter how much I wash or what deodorant or anti-perspirant I use. I am a healthy female. I'm 32 years old, 5 feet, 7 inches, and I weigh 125 pounds.

I work in an office and it is quite embarrassing. I have even asked my doctor for advice, but his solution of using surgical soap and deodorants didn't work. Could you please print a solution in your column? — Miss R. W.

I sometimes suspect that as a society we've mass-deodorized and anti-perspired ourselves to the point that a perfectly normal, hygienically meticulous person of 50 years ago would appear today to be reeking slob. I am not suggesting you don't have a real problem, but I did suspect, based on the number of letters I receive on this subject, that a lot of folks are worrying about normal body odor and nothing more. Incidentally, you say you do not perspire excessively. Then why the anti-perspirants? I can only offer you a couple of rather basic observations.

Sweat glands under the arms, in the pelvic area and under the breasts are somewhat larger than those on the rest of the body. They can produce a more distinct odor. If the areas are not kept clean, this sweat can react with skin bacteria and cause a truly offensive odor. The key is keeping the areas clean.

Excessive use of vitamin B can also produce a distinctive body odor.

A solution of water and baking soda can be as effective as deodorants purchased at cosmetic counters. Shaving the armpits is essential to reduce odors.

Take a good shower or bath in the morning. Dry off under the arms well, then dust with an antiseptic powder or apply the solution I mention.

Your body odor may be of your own imagining. Give your skin a chance to behave normally.

"SO YOU GO to the boss and ask for a raise and he says he can't give it to you — Costs are too high."

But take heart dear reader (s) if you think your wife is too expensive, read on:

A comprehensive analysis of Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis' finances by Money magazine for October indicates that when her late husband's will goes into effect, she may be operating her household in the red.

The magazine estimates her annual income will be about $341,000 next year, or a little under $241,000 after taxes — some $40,000 short of keeping up with her current level of spending.

And you think you had troubles?

Alf Landon appeared on the Today show on Kansas Day. He looked every bit of his 88 years but he still has his marbles, which is more than I can say about many of our "leaders" today.

(I put quotation marks around the expression "leaders" because I'm not completely sure yet.) Landon was a Presidential candidate defeated in a landslide. He won only in Maine and Vermont.

This destroyed a political slogan. As Maine goes, so goes the nation, and instead it became "As Maine goes, so goes Vermont."

Landon had one comment on politics today: "The Republican party deserves Watergate because of the kind of leadership it has."

Long Shadow

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — As against eight years in the presidency, a limit fixed by constitutional amendment, a justice of the Supreme Court serves for life. That is one reason, as the career of William O. Douglas demonstrated, a presidential appointment to the court can cast a longer shadow than almost any other presidential act.

THE APPOINTMENT is a test for a president as severe as any duty he must perform. One sure way of getting a passing grade is to name a justice certain to get by the confirmation hearings in the Senate judiciary committee and the vote on confirmation in the Senate with no trouble.

That was Harry Truman's approach to the sticky business of naming a man likely to outserve and outlive the temporary resident on Pennsylvania Avenue. Of the four justices he appointed, three had congressional service which, in the clubbable spirit prevailing on Capitol Hill, insured their confirmation with no fuss.

TRUMAN'S FOURTH choice was Tom C. Clark, who had been attorney general at the time of the appointment. With the stamp of Texas politics emblazoned on him, his confirmation took little more than two weeks. In the recently published Plain Speaking, based on taped interviews, Truman described the appointment as the worst mistake he ever made. In view of certain egregious Truman errors, this seems slightly excessive.

By way of contrast, certainly in invitation to trouble, take Franklin Roosevelt's appointment of Prof. Felix Frankfurter. A member of the Harvard law faculty and a confidant of the president, Frankfurter had had no previous judicial experience.

THE FRANKFURTER hearings before the Senate judiciary committee were as disgraceful as any in recent times, with the ugly stain of anti-Semitism spread across the record. One member of the committee made the unprecedented demand that Frankfurter appear in person to be questioned about his appointment.

This shameful performance was reminiscent of the attack on Louis D. Brandeis when he was appointed by Woodrow Wilson to serve as the first Jew on the court.

AND NOW comes President Ford with an opportunity that, could, in view of the election next year, be his sole responsibility for naming one of the nine.

He has the safest of all safe ways out and that is to appoint Sen. Robert P. Griffin of his home state of Michigan. Rising to the post of minority whip, Griffin has had a respectable, if hardly distinguished, career which began in the House of Representatives. His name is on the list of eligibles to be canvassed by the American Bar Association.

Another name on the list is Carla Hills, who has served less than a year as Secretary of Housing and Urban Development. Before that she spent less than a year as Assistant Attorney General in the Justice Department. As the first woman to serve, her appointment would please women's libbers, foremost among them Mrs. Betty Ford.

THE CHOICE of Attorney General Edward H. Levi would raise the hackles of some Republican conservatives and it might prolong confirmation hearings. But it would be, in the view of students of the court, the most distinguished appointment he could make.

PRESIDENTS LIVE in the history books, but they also live in those whom they put in the judicial process. President Eisenhower named Earl Warren as Chief Justice to his lasting regret and to the gratification of believers in equal rights. He also named Potter Stewart, one of the most respected judges in our time.

So Ford, as he ponders his problem, must be reflecting on what his predecessors have done.

Tumbleweeds, Flagpole Mark Site Of Howard 'Boom Town'

By MARJ CARPENTER
The wind blows across the prairie at Otis Chalk, once a thriving boom town in Howard County, and whips tumbleweeds against the flag pole stand that is all that is left of that municipality.

The flagpole was in front of the post office, which was the last thing to go in the community of Otis Chalk. Mrs. Nola F. Story of Forsan was postmistress there for 25 years, taking over from Mrs. D. A. Oglesby. This was in 1944 and in 1959, the post office closed down.

At the time, Mrs. Story went to Chalk, there was little left except the Post Office and the school, which doubled as a community church.

The Mobil Oil Camp, however, was still across the highway. The post office began operation in 1939, but the community began growing in 1929. The discovery of oil on the Otis Chalk ranch by Owen and Sloan, independent operators, signaled the beginning of an oil boom.

People flooded into the area seeking work, bringing their families with them and a community of tents and shacks soon sprang up.

NO SALOONS
Not far away, another boom town, Ross City was also growing. Forsan was the third boom town. Ross City had saloons. "Otis Chalk never had such things at Chalk," Mrs. Story stated.

Then she added, "Finally in 1950, the precinct voted Ross City dry. Chalk folks almost all voted dry. Ross City died soon after."

Within two years after the boom, Chalk had built a church and schoolhouse. Two grocery

MRS. NOLA STORY
former Chalk postmistress stores, two gas stations, two boarding houses and a cafe also were constructed. At the height of the boom, close to 500 persons lived at Chalk.

"Officially it was Otis Chalk because there is a town in the Panhandle called Chalk. We got the mail mixed up all the time," Mrs. Story recalls.

EVERYBODY LOOKED
In the beginning, mail was brought to Otis Chalk by Star Route from Big Spring and dumped on the counter in one of the grocery stores. Everybody went through everybody else's mail.

Mrs. Minnie Hyman, sister to Chalk was instrumental in getting the post office established. She circulated a petition and got signatures. There was also a post office at Hyman a few miles away in Mitchell County. This was named for the same family.

By 1939, the town had already begun to decline. By 1939, one gas station and one grocery store had ceased to operate. By 1944, only the church and the post office were open. The school had moved to Forsan.

"When I took over as postmistress," Mrs. Story said, "The community was still thriving. There were about 100 people. There would be about 15 children waiting for the bus to take them to school."

END OF OIL CAMPS

She said the closing of the oil camps was the end of the Otis Chalk community. The post office almost had its demise three years before it closed when lightning struck the building. Mrs. Doris Cole, Chalk's daughter, rebuilt the office. There were eight postal boxes left when the post office closed. One of these was Doris Cole's. One was Mobil Oil Co.

Mrs. Story laughingly recalled, "I've lived more than one place that is now gone. I once lived at Konohassat, which was a community between Big Spring and Sterling City. It too once had a post office."

Out at Otis Chalk, there is a flagpole and there's an old concrete croquet court with some of the wickets still cemented in the concrete.

"People there built that court and went out late in the evening and had croquet tournaments. They made their own fun at Chalk," Mrs. Story added. And said a little wistfully, "It was a good town."

Bicentennial Town Crier

Don't miss it if you can! Of course, we mean the great music program performed by the Jack and Jill School Melody Makers. Dressed in white robes with saucy red, white and blue bow ties, the youngsters sing with a dedication beyond their 3 to 5 years. As a bicentennial program feature, this enthusiastic group is much in demand, with good reason. Our thanks to Arsh Phillips and her outstanding faculty for making the show available.

watch the video-taping of "A Needle Fights for Freedom" at Lakeview School. Also in the audience was elementary school co-ordinator, pretty Helen Gladden. She spoke for all of us when she congratulated the students and teacher, Mamie Lee Dodds, for their total involvement in our bicentennial celebration.

Mark Wednesday evening, Nov. 26 on your calendar! That's when Chaplain Jimmie Baggett and Carroll Kohl hope for a great crowd at the community Thanksgiving service, to be held this year at the Webb Air Base Chapel. Such a uniquely American holiday deserves our support, especially during our bicentennial year.

Mel Prather may be able to take a deep breath, now that the Goals for Progress is in the wrap-up stages. Mel has spent many hours refining the Goals essays. Meantime, back at the ranch, Mel and Margaret Lloyd are providing bicentennial publicity help to Sherry Mullin and Bruce Griffith for the up-coming 4-H Arts and Crafts Fair, slated for the Fair Barn on Dec. 6 and 7th. What do you do in your "spare" time, Mel?

Mansfield (Mary Nell) scores again! The new coin and headline exhibit at heritage Museum is a knockout! Roberta Hanson Miller provided the newspapers (from her "box") and the Edwards Clan and others supplied the elegant coins. An added treat is the fine display of model aircraft of all types, set up by a group from Webb Air Force Base. The bicentennial flag waves proudly over all! Don't miss it!

Encephalitis Outbreak Ends In Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — The St. Louis encephalitis outbreak that was first announced in Houston last August is over, according to city health officials.

Health authorities said Friday no new cases of the mosquito-borne disease have been reported to health authorities since Nov. 10. However, City Health Director Dr. Albert Randall said five previously listed suspected cases have been confirmed since then.

Since the outbreak was first reported Aug. 27, there have been 32 confirmed cases of the sleeping sickness, including two deaths, and 28 suspected cases, including five deaths.

Since Nov. 10, health officials have dropped 17 suspected cases, including the case of a 72-year-old man who died Sept. 11. Health authorities said tests showed the 17 did not have the illness.

Prisoner Bolts At Sweetwater

SWEETWATER — A prisoner escaped Friday from Deputy Sheriff Alton Montgomery at the Ranch House Restaurant here Friday while the two were en route from Belton to an Andrews jail.

Johnny Clifton Gary, 24, is the fugitive. He darted out the kitchen door while Montgomery was paying the bill. He had asked permission to use the restroom.

Judge Quashes Indictments Of Rains County Officials

EMORY, Tex. (AP) — A district court judge has ruled that indictments issued by a Rains County grand jury last September were issued when the grand jury was in an illegal session and, therefore, the indictments are not legal.

The ruling, issued Friday by District Court Judge Stanly Kirk, quashed all indictments against four county officials and one former official who had been charged originally with misapplication of county and school funds and with improper declaration of taxable property.

Those whose indictments were quashed are County Judge Cecil Johnston, Commissioners E. L. Daugherty, J. T. Kirkpatrick, T. H. Northcutt and former commissioner D. E. Northcutt.

Kirk said at the pre-trial hearing that an order extending the term of the Rains County grand jury was invalid because it was issued before it was requested.

Records showed that District Court Judge Kerney Brim Jr. extended the grand jury's term on July 1. But jury foreman Jim Painter testified that he did not request an extension until the following day. The law specifies that a jury foreman or a majority of the grand jury must request an extension before it is given.

Before issuing his ruling, Judge Kirk said he wanted everyone involved "to forgive and forget" and added that, while he had no legal authority, he recommended that county officials give serious consideration to the grand jury's report.

"We still have justice, don't we?" County Judge Johnston said after the ruling. "Now we can get back to running the county like we should."

Defense attorney Bascomb Perkins said: "These people did not do anything wrong." He added that if the county officials were guilty, "we would have to convict every county commissioner in the state, every person on city councils and school boards and about everyone else in the state who pays taxes."

GI Insurance Tips Offered

The Veterans Administration has reminded five million veterans covered under its government life insurance program to make certain that beneficiaries on their GI insurance policies are current.

The VA is obligated by law to pay insurance proceeds to the beneficiary of record. Most of the agency's insured are World War II veterans who carry National Service Life Insurance, Jack Coker, VA regional director, explained.

In a typical case, a veteran named his mother as beneficiary when he obtained his policy. Later the veteran married and overlooked the requirement to notify the VA of intended change in beneficiary. Unwarranted financial hardship often results, Coker noted.

Texas First In Stripper Wells, Output

Texas, ranking first in the nation in both the number of active stripper wells and production from such operations, provided 126,387,000 barrels of crude from these marginal wells during 1974. This information was released at the recent meeting of National Stripper Well Association in Houston. Data were compiled as a joint project of the Association and Interstate Oil Compact Commission.

The state's 87,412 stripper wells, defined as those capable of producing an average of no more than 10 barrels daily, averaged 3.96 barrels per well during the year.

Remaining to be produced under stripper properties are an estimated three billion barrels, much of which will be recovered by the use of secondary recovery methods, primarily the flooding of oil reservoirs by water to move the oil to producing wells.

During 1974 operators of the state abandoned 4,608 wells which reached their economic limit. However, the national trend indicates a decline in the abandonment rate, based on prices of stripper oil allowed to seek its true volume in open market.

Nationally, stripper wells during the past calendar year accounted for 412 million barrels of production from 366,000 stripper wells.

SHARE AND SHARE ALIKE County Dads May Parlay $1,700 Into $200,000

Lobbying for revenue sharing in Washington, D. C., cost Howard County about $1,700.

But county officials now feel revenue sharing, which will mean $238,000 to the county this year, will be continued.

Based on 1975 revenue sharing revenue, the county budgeted the fund this way for 1976 spending: $57,500 for tax appraisal, $32,000 for fire protection, $7,500 for ambulance service, $1,500 for senior citizens and $145,000 for capital improvements.

These capital improvements may include repairing courthouse air conditioning and the cooling tower, County Auditor Virginia Black said.

Also, some revenue sharing may be used for operating expenses so that other funds may be devoted to the local share of the proposed Moss Creek Lake Road bridge.

Mrs. Black estimated the cost of sending five local officials to Washington for three days at about $1,700.

There, the local group participated in a rally sponsored by the National Association of Counties.

Meetings began soon after the delegation's arrival.

Monday night, 250 Texas County officials discussed the pending revenue sharing bill with Rep. George Mahon (D-Texas). Mahon had at first been opposed to re-enactment of the program but is now in favor of the plan, Tunesaid.

Tuesday, the Texas delegates attended a breakfast at which Sen. Lloyd Benson, (D-Texas), was the guest speaker. He also expressed his support for re-enactment.

Following the breakfast, over 1,000 delegates from the 50 states heard differing opinions on the plan.

Rep. Gillis Long, (D-La.), who is a member of the Congressional committee now reviewing the revenue sharing bill, wished to eliminate cities or counties with population under 10,000 as potential beneficiaries of the bill. Rep. Jack Brooks, (D-Texas), pledged complete support of the bill, according to Tunes.

Secretary of the Treasury William Simon also spoke at the rally supporting the bill and outlined some of the potential uses for revenue sharing funds.

The Howard County delegation of Tunes, County Auditor Virginia Black, and Commissioners Jack Buchanan, Ikie Rupard and William B. Crooker, Jr., met with Rep. Omar Burleson, 17th District-Democrat.

"We had a very nice visit with Mr. Burleson, and it is my impression that he is in favor of the bill," said Tunes.

Later in the day members of the Howard County delegation overheard conversations between county representatives and Senator Hubert Humphrey (D-Minnesota) and Senators Edward Kennedy (D-Mass.) and Ed Brooke (R-Mass.).

"They all (the Senators) seemed to favor the bill," said Tunes.

All delegates were given congressional report forms which were to be used in questioning congressmen and senators. The form posed four questions:

Do you support renewal of general revenue sharing?

Would you support a combined authorization and appropriation of at least five and three-quarters years?

Would you work actively with your fellow congressmen to re-enact revenue sharing before Christmas?

Do you want any changes in the program?

The forms were later turned in to the National Association of Counties where the answers will be tabulated.

Two Deep Wildcats In County

Howard County has gained two deep wildcat oil tests, one in the extreme northeast and the other in the north-west corner.

A.K. Guthrie of Big Spring will drill No. 1 W. J. Beckham, six miles west of Vealmoor, to 9,200 feet. The venture, 660 from the south and west lines of section 17-33-3n, T&P, will be 1 1/2 miles northeast of the Modesta (Pennsylvania) field which has production at 8,215. It is however, separated by a 9,114-ft failure. Originally this was staked in February 1974 by Xco, Inc.

Palmeo of Billings, Mont. No. 1 R. T. Shafer is targeted to 8,000 feet, 2 1/2 miles northwest of Vincent. The location 467 ft. from the south and west lines of section 29-25, H&TC puts it seven-eighths of a mile north of the Sara Mag (Canyon Reef) pool which produces at 7,580. A Pennsylvania failure, however, separates the two.

Dawson County also gained a wildcat in Floyd Boyd, et al No. 1 Weaver, 1,980 from the south and 5,290 from the west lines of Taylor CSL No. 1. This puts it 1 1/2 miles east of the Bode (Devonian) field, which does not produce currently, and half a mile west of a recent Devonian failure.

Stoltz, Wagner and Brown No. 1-12-F Glass will be a Sterling County outpost three-fourths of a mile northwest of the six-well Big Salute (Canyon oil) field 15 miles southwest of Sterling City. Contract depth is 8,400 feet, and location is 1,750 from the south and 2,520 from the east lines of section 12-32-5s, T&P. Also in Sterling, Cities Service No. 1-A-B Ferguson was at 7,766 making hole.

Dorchester 3-A Spade, 990 from the southeast and northeast lines of section 37-16, SPRR, Mitchell County, 25 miles south of Colorado City, has been plugged at 7,841. Dorchester No. 4-A Spade a fishing job at 3,435.

Trip West No Fun Thing For Women

By MARJ CARPENTER

Mrs. Lula Harper was 90 years old Saturday. And 104 relatives came from all over the country to help her celebrate in a special dinner at Coker's Restaurant.

She was excited about it. "I don't feel 90 years old," she stated, "but some of the things that have happened to me seem like they happened a long time ago."

Her children include Robert Harper, Kemp, Mrs. Inus Bradley, Big Spring; Claude Harper, Tucson, Ariz.; Jim Harper, Big Spring; Paul Harper of Odessa and Mrs. Billie Lou Byerly, San Angelo. Grandchildren who live in the county include Mrs. Barbara Draper, Sonny Byerly III and Mrs. Shirley Froman. There are 16 grandchildren in all, 36 great grandchildren and 11 great great grandchildren.

WEST IN 1906

Her husband, W. E. (Bill) Harper, died on Nov. 15, 1944. She and her husband and two small children came to Big Spring in a covered wagon from Eastland County in 1906.

"I cried all the way," she recalls. "I didn't want to leave the family. I couldn't understand why he wanted to go to Big Spring. And Inus broke out with measles the first day on the road."

Mrs. Harper, who at 90 keeps her own house and yard in order on Austin Street, stopped to straighten a doily and continue, "That first year we lived on the Charlie Morris farm and then the Christian Ranch. Bill was a cowhand and would leave on trailrides. I had to walk a distance of about two blocks to the creek for water and take the children along. There was a drouth and the cattle would push against the house hunting something to eat. I thought they were going to push it down."

Mrs. Harper, who was married in a buggy in Eastland County noted the changes from the horse and buggy days to the days of the airplane. She laughed about people getting upset when Junior takes the car. "I recall when Bill stole his Grandpa's horse so we wouldn't have to walk to a party," Mrs. Harper added.

MOVED TO TOWN

They moved to town and lived at 3rd and Settles. Harper had a transfer service running wagons called floats. He started with two horses and eventually had eight. Later he changed to early trucks.

She recalled that the wagons helped get people and their furnishings out of the low spots in Big Spring during an early flood. "Fishers' store was here in the early days, and a lot of saloons," Mrs. Harper recalled.

One of her daughter's told her about a flower arrangement one of the relatives was sending from California. Her son also mentioned red roses.

"Don't hide me behind too many flowers," Mrs. Harper quipped, "It's the family I want to see."

Of the 90 years of her life, 69 of them have been in Big Spring. So she knows lots of Big Spring history.

Her life hasn't always been easy, but she's kept her sense of humor. When she saw an advertisement wishing her a happy birthday, she chuckled, "Isn't that something?"

Cotton Harvest Picks Up But Market Is Sluggish

Cotton market activity continued slow as harvesting gained momentum, according to B. B. Manly of the Abilene classing office. Cotton is selling best in the southern counties where the harvest is almost over and a high per cent is premium mike.

However, the market is slow. Grades 41, 42, staple 31 and longer, premium mike, bring 45 cents. Grades 52, 61 with bark, staple 30 and longer, premium mike, bring from 42 to 43 cents per pound. In other areas shippers are offering from 10 cents to 12 1/2 cents above the government loan. They discount the 3.3-3.4 mike 2 cents per pound, 3.0-3.2 are discounted 4 cents, 2.7-2.9 are discounted 6 cents per pound. Most areas report few if any sales.

Grade 42 was the predominant quality classed with 35 per cent, 19 per cent was grade 52, while grades 41 and 51 had 18 per cent each. Forty-two per cent was reduced on account of bark or grass. Grades show little change from the prior week with 31 the predominant staple at 46 per cent. Staple 30 accounted for 32 per cent and staple 32 at 16 per cent. Micronaire readings were 61 per cent and staple 32 at 16 per cent.

Micronaire readings were 61 per cent within the 3.5 to 4.9 range, down from 73 per cent a week ago. Thirteen per cent fell in the 3.3 to 3.4 range; 18 per cent in the 3.0 to 3.2 range.

Strength tests fell mostly in three ranges: 29 per cent in the 75,000 to 79,000 PSI; 38 per cent in the 80,000 to 84,000 PSI, and 23 per cent in the 85,000 to 89,000 PSI.

About 15,000 samples were classed at the Abilene Office during the week ending Nov. 20, and brings our season total to 32,300. A year ago to date only 6,820 had been classed.

Goldwater Takes Reagan's 'Viewpoint'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, D-Ariz., will take over Ronald Reagan's "Viewpoint" radio commentary show for at least three weeks, the producer of the show says.

Goldwater, the 1964 Republican nominee for president, will record 15 broadcasts Thursday in Washington for airing beginning Dec. 8, producer Harry O'Connor said Wednesday.

Reagan is leaving the program — now heard daily on 320 radio stations — to campaign for the Republican nomination for president.

O'Connor said other guest hosts, including Julie Nixon Eisenhower and William F. Buckley Jr., have recorded five-minute daily programs for use before Dec. 8.

CLARK INSULATION

What does Oren Cellulose Insulation do best?
IT SAVES YOU MONEY.

You save big money on heating and cooling bills. You save on medical bills, too, through the reduction of drafts and cold spots. When you install Oren Insulation, it is like investing in good stock. You start earning "money savings" from the day you invest. In five years or less you have your investment back and keep on earning. Helps resale, too.

IT KEEPS YOU CALM. Science is proving that the hazards of noise pollution may be equally as deadly as air, water and waste. OREN drastically reduces sound, absorbing it like a sponge does water. More quiet means more tranquility... and OREN doesn't charge any extra for your peace-of-mind.

Native Of East Prussia Learning Lore From Son

By JOHN EDWARDS
Mrs. John C. Smith, a native of East Prussia, wasn't enthusiastic when her son, Jim, 16, started collecting military paraphernalia.

"When he first started collecting those things, it brought back bad memories," Mrs. Smith, 1108 Lloyd St., said. She was 7 years of age when World War II ended.

Now, she's glad Jim collects military equipment, including American, Nazi and items from other regimes.

"Believe it or not, I'm learning from him about Germany," Mrs. Smith said.

Jim does have a large assortment of Nazi items. That's because they are popular and easier to find, not because of his German heritage.

One memento does come from his inheritance, though, a gold mother's cross with Hitler's signature etched on its back.

It was given to his great-grandmother for having eight children.

"She wasn't very proud of this metal," Jim explained, "because she said it was nobody's business how many children I have."

An uncle gave him a U.S. Navy sword dated 1851.

Others come from Spain, Italy, Britain, Sweden, Czechoslovakia and Russia.

GUNS, SWORDS
A 1930 Russian model 7.65mm bolt-action is his only war rifle. He keeps an American .45-caliber automatic Springfield pistol, Belgium-made Browning Nazi 9mm automatic and Japanese 8mm Nambu.

Also from Japan came two Samurai swords, one for a hand-forged sword for an officer dates to an earlier origin, how early Jim has been unable to confirm.

"Alles fur Deutschland," meaning All for Germany dress daggers for members of motorized units and Storm Troopers say.

Friends, pawn shops and mail-order catalogues are among the sources he tapped during the last three years.

Why does he like to collect? "I don't know. I've always had an interest in the military," Jim said.

While he doesn't know if he wants to make it a career, Jim would "like to have a few hitches in it."

Screwworm Cases Soar To New Highs

An October surge has boosted screwworm cases to new high levels for this area.

In the state, four counties have set new records of confirmed cases. Jim Hogg County with 1,465 cases in comparison to its previous high of 817, is the leader. Of its total, 743 were reported in October alone. Another South Texas county, Willacy, had 390 cases compared to the previous record of 390.

The other two record smashers were in this area — Winkler with 41 cases, compared to 17 in 1972, and Andrews with 35, compared with 28 in 1972.

Here is the way the latest reports from the Southwest Screwworm Eradication Program stacks up for this area for October (cumulative figures for the year are in parentheses):

- Andrews 10 (35), Borden 4 (5), Coke 6 (7), Dawson 1 (1), Glasscock 11 (13), Howard 8 (30), Kent 16 (46), Martin 7 (9), Midland 7 (11), Mitchell 5 (5), Nolan 2 (5), Reagan 7 (11), Scurry 9 (9), Sterling 13 (17), Taylor 4 (9), Tom Green 17 (30), Upton 8 (16).

The Evening Lions Club will hear Paul Ruiz, who plays the role of Uncle Sam, when they meet Monday 6:30 p.m. at Coker's. Paul is to be featured in the CR '76 production in this role.

One Monday, Dec. 1, the club will hear Capt. Jack M. Butcher, who trained at Webb AFB before he was sent to Southeast Asia where he was shot down while flying the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos, captured and held prisoner of war.

He has returned to Webb, this time as a T-37 instructor pilot.

Outlook Rosy For AM Plant

SNYDER — Significant increases in production have signalled better days for the American Magnesium Company metal producing plant near here.

These developments, said a company statement, have created a favorable climate for continued growth and economic development.

Originally the plant ran into difficulties and in mid-1971 was shut down to begin correction and refinement of process and equipment. Restarted in late 1972, it now is up to 200 employees today.

American Magnesium is a unit of National Steel Corporation of Pittsburgh, Pa. For months it has been involved in construction on and testing of new equipment and systems at the facility which extracts magnesium from Borden County brine wells. The first design ran into all sorts of trouble with electrical equipment and emissions control problems. The company even was hailed before the Texas Air Control Board.

In September of this year the Texas Air Control Board issued an operating permit to the plant, following analysis of tests made there. New equipment and process modifications at the plant allowed it to meet the board's emissions guidelines.

Eagle Scouts May Organize

The Buffalo Trails Council is joining with others in the nation to locate every living person who earned the Boy Scouts' Eagle Badge.

The National Eagle Scout Association is seeking to develop a roster of Eagle scouts for presentation to the Congress during the 1976 Bicentennial celebration.

Only one scout in every 100 ever attains to this highest of scouting ranks, but it is estimated that there are perhaps half a million of Eagles still living.

Art Hyman, Scout executive, urged individuals who hold that rank (or for anyone who knows of the name and address of someone who earned this in the past) to write the Buffalo Trail Council P. O. Box 1508, Midland 79700, or call 915-684-7171.

If the list developed is sufficiently long, attempts may be made to organize a Buffalo Trail chapter of the National Eagle Association.

Shannon Named To Area Post

HOUSTON — C. R. Shannon has been appointed field sales supervisor for Amoco Chemicals Corporation for the West Texas Permian Basin area.

A native of Turkey, Texas, Shannon joined Amoco Chemicals in 1966 shortly after the company organized its oil production chemicals division. He attended Howard County College and South Plains College. He is married to the former Patsy Spikes, Snyder. They reside in Levelland.

Parents Find Girl They Were Convicted Of Murdering

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — Eight months ago a San Bernardino woman and her former husband were convicted of murdering their 3-year-old daughter in 1965.

A month later, Judge Thomas M. Haldorsen set aside that conviction and ordered a new trial.

And on Friday, Merla Walpole, 35, and Antonio Rivera, 38, stood again in court. They heard the charges against them dismissed, and made plans for a Christmas visit from a San Francisco teen-ager whom they, their attorneys, and a district attorney's investigator are convinced is the daughter they were accused of killing.

Throughout their trial, Mrs. Walpole, her name since remarrying after a divorce from Rivera, and Rivera had insisted that they had abandoned their girl Judy in a San Francisco gas station because she was seriously ill, they were desperately poor, and they believed Judy's only chance for life was to be found and cared for by someone else.

But in 1973, eight years after Judy's disappearance, bones of a girl were found in a crude grave some 10 miles from where the couple lived in 1965. And in March this year, Rivera and Mrs. Walpole, by then divorced and she remarried, were brought to trial and convicted by a San Bernardino jury.

Among the defense exhibits at the trial was a San Francisco Chronicle newspaper story about a 3-year-old girl found abandoned in a San Francisco gas station on January 16, 1965, the time Rivera and Mrs. Walpole testified they had abandoned their daughter.

Superior Court Judge Thomas M. Haldorsen, who presided over the trial, set aside the verdict on a technicality, ordered a new trial, and ordered further investigation — but the murder charges still stood against Judy's parents.

Timothy Martin, an investigator for the San Bernardino County district attorney's office, took up the search for the missing child — given the name Judy Gasse because of the gasoline station angle.

Martin found "Judy Gasse" last month, living near San Francisco with the woman who adopted her after the child had spent two years in a San Francisco hospital.

Neither Martin, defense attorneys Larry Freeman and David Call, court officials, nor Rivera and Mrs. Walpole would give the name or address of the adoptive mother.

But Freeman and Call said a series of blood tests and certain physical similarities, including cranial and hip bone formations, made it appear likely Judy Rivera and "Judy Gasse" were the same.

After that, the attorneys said, they arranged a meeting between Judy, her adoptive mother, Mrs. Walpole and Rivera.

Reported Freeman of that meeting: "Not only are Rivera and Mrs. Walpole convinced that Judy Gasse is their daughter. So are the girl and her adoptive mother — and so now Judy and her adoptive mother are planning a Christmas visit to the homes of the child's natural parents."

Writer Denies Depression

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — Alexander Solzhenitsyn, the exiled Soviet writer, has denied reports that he is suffering from depression.

The reports about his alleged depression came on the eve of the international P.E.N. congress in Vienna.

Airman Sylvester Rose, son of Mrs. Mildred Rose of Rt. 1, Loraine, has graduated at Keesler AFB, Miss., from the U. S. Air Force air traffic controller course conducted by the Air Training Command. He is being assigned to Webb AFB for duty with a unit of the Air Force Communications Service. Airman Rose is a 1974 graduate of Loraine High School.

Cadet David A. Pribyla, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Pribyla of Star Route, Tarzan, has been accepted for the professional officer course of the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps (AFROTC) program at Texas Tech University. He is working toward a degree in agriculture and upon graduation will be eligible for a commission as an Air Force second lieutenant. He is a 1973 graduate of Flower Grove High School in Ackerly, Tex.

Chief Master Sergeant Bruce L. Hogue, son of Emmitt L. Hogue of 1508 E. 37th St., Big Spring, is a member of a unit that recently received the U. S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award.

Sergeant Hogue is a heating systems superintendent with the award-winning 2852nd Air Base Group at McClellan AFB, Calif.

The Air Force Logistics Command unit was cited for exceptionally meritorious service from Jan. 1, 1973 to Dec. 31, 1974 in providing international emergency response and domestic disaster control, and for its support of the Sacramento Air Logistics Center.

Sergeant Hogue is a 1941 graduate of Big Spring High School. His wife, Lee, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Brunson, 310 San Antonio, Big Spring.

Ft. McClellan, Ala. — Sergeant Jack Wrightsil, son of Mrs. M. Wrightsil, 807 Ohio St., Big Spring, recently completed eight weeks of military police investigation training at the U. S. Army Military Police School at Ft. McClellan, Ala.

Sgt. Wrightsil learned basic investigation procedures, including obtaining, processing and evaluating evidence from witnesses, complainants, victims and suspects in criminal and traffic cases and identifying drugs and drug offenders. He entered the Army in 1971.

He is a 1970 graduate of Big Spring High School and a 1971 graduate of Granite Computer Institute, Phoenix, Ariz.

Comes Long Way To Sample Soil

Hans-Joachim Spath is an associate professor at the University of Duisburg in Germany, but this week he was out in the field at the Big Spring Experimental Station digging up soil samples.

Spath works under a United States Department of Agriculture fellowship which allows him to travel around the United States to experimental stations and obtain information in regard to a study of both irrigated and dry-land farm soils.

"It might seem strange that my government in Germany would be interested in dry-land farming since Germany has enough water," Spath stated. "However, we are investigating helping develop countries such as the Sahara desert and the sub-continent of India where there is real drought."

He talked about the shifting sands covering up the oases in the Sahara and the need for more information about developing agriculture there. Spath speaks excellent English but said "I have traveled in America a lot and also in England."

He and his wife came over with a four-month-old baby and have been studying out of Fort Collins, Colo. for about seven months. Before they return, they hope to be joined by his parents and take a trip to the Grand Canyon, the west coast and into Mexico.

His wife, also a teacher, learned her English in Canada where her father worked with an International Civil Aviation Organization sponsored by the United Nations.

Spath, who had been getting soil samples in Colorado, Kansas and Texas, expressed appreciation to the USDA and also said about Big Spring, "The people at this station—Bill Fryrear—have been so good to us. They really seem glad that we came."

The professor was also happy about the soil as he was very quickly getting his needed seventy samples. His wife would put them in plastic bags and mark them and put them in the van. Their young son, Oliver, was enjoying the outing. He's quite well traveled for a lad less than a year old.

"Up in the Panhandle, it was like trying to get soil samples out of concrete," Spath added.

Fryrear smiled, "You happened to hit a wet year in Big Spring."

Housing Shortage May Ease Somewhat Locally

Future relief of the housing shortage in Big Spring was reported at the Base Community Council meeting at Webb AFB the past week. One builder is planning a 35-unit apartment complex and another proposes to build 50 units. On base, a mobile home park will be started about mid-January which will accommodate 30 units.

In the meantime, incoming personnel are still cautioned about the housing shortage. However, many continue to arrive with their families.

The report was from the Housing-Commercial Committee by Lt. Col. Ronald M. Miller.

For water enthusiasts, lake permits to Lake Spence can be checked out at Special Services by Webb people. Dr. Charles Hays of the Recreation-Education-Religious Welfare Committee reported the agreement was made with the Colorado River Municipal Water District to issue the permits.

A report on the Legislative Action Committee of the Century Club by W. S. (Dub) Pearson detailed efforts which went to restore the Bachelor Officer Quarters to the military construction budget.

Col. Robert F. Brodman reported on the formation, progress and objectives of the New Citizen Sponsorship Committee. It is developing a brochure printed in Vietnamese to inform the newcomers where to go to get help such as medical, legal, educational, etc.

A plan for community service is in the forming stage which should improve base-community relationship. Brodman plans to send copies of it to key members of the community, asking them to identify possible projects. The Air Force Community Service Program's purpose is to identify social deficiencies and domestic problems that affect both the civilian and military communities and to then organize programs to eliminate or minimize the deficiencies or problems.

FLIGHT LOGS INDICATE ABSENCE Briscoe: Running Texas From Uvalde?

EDITOR'S NOTE—Is Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe running the state from the seat of government in Austin or from Uvalde? This story is a result of months of study by AP newsmen Lee Jones on the governor's work habits. Future stories will compare Briscoe to his predecessors and to governors of other states.

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP)—When the state's prop-jet executive airplane roars to the southwest from Austin's Municipal Airport, chances are it is Uvalde-bound.

Long weekends—sometimes stretching into the work week—at his ranch are part of a style which makes Dolph Briscoe one of Texas' most reclusive governors.

Persons in and out of government claim the $65,000-a-year chief executive is inaccessible.

Some reporters were offended when he joked last month about having gone 61 days without a news conference. Informal question-and-answer sessions with reporters were blocked when he began holding routine ceremonies unannounced and in his private office.

Briscoe's staff refuses to issue travel itineraries and advance texts, so his speeches may be poorly covered. Only two reporters who specifically asked his whereabouts covered an appearance at a water conference here last month.

Asked about his contacts with Briscoe, a senator replied, "You mean he's ever in?" He laughingly called it "government in absentia."

Yet House Speaker Bill Clayton said that during this year's legislative session, "Whenever I needed him, I always found him."

Flight logs of the governor's Grumman G1 state airplane are the only available documents indicating time spent in Uvalde. His own Lodestar also is seen frequently at the airport, however.

The AP asked Briscoe's staff for the governor's daily calendar or any other records which showed how much time he spent on the job in Austin. Briscoe refused to make the calendar available and sought an attorney general's opinion on whether either the calendar or flight logs were public record.

Atty. Gen. John Hill said Briscoe could keep his calendar private but said he must make public the flight records of the state-owned aircraft.

Interpretation of the logs poses a problem because they do not show departure and arrival time. The logs show Briscoe spent at least a portion of 135 days during the first 10 months of this year in Uvalde, including 64 non-holiday week days.

Executive assistant Ken Clapp insists, however, that Briscoe usually makes the 30-minute flight to Uvalde after work on Friday evenings and returns early on Monday mornings.

Clapp has not provided desk calendar entries to confirm this.

Using Clapp's method, the logs indicate Briscoe spent 90 days in Uvalde during the first 10 months, including 39 working days.

Clapp said in August that "when the legislature is in session, other than speaking engagements, he (Briscoe) is here all the time."

But the logs show that Briscoe was in Uvalde May 2-10, a critical period in the life of his school finance bill.

Briscoe used the state plane for 32 trips of a weekend or longer to Uvalde during the first 10 months of the year. In July, the aircraft delivered him and his family to Dallas-Fort Worth Airport to board a trans-atlantic flight to Europe. It picked up the Briscoes in Houston when they returned.

The question also has been raised here, but never pushed, whether Briscoe, who continues to vote at Uvalde and spends much of his time there, is complying with the state constitutional requirement that a governor shall reside where sessions of the legislature are held "and at all other times at the seat of the government."

No state attorney general has ever been asked, nor has he delivered a legal opinion on the provision, which was inserted in the original 1876 constitution.

Briscoe's staff declined to provide information beyond the flight logs concerning his work habits.

"There are no records kept of the governor's office attendance," The governor of Texas does not punch a time clock. He is always on duty, 24 hours a day," said press secretary Bob Hardesty.

Questions were submitted in writing about Briscoe's accessibility, work habits and time in Uvalde.

"I don't intend to respond to them" Clapp said after consulting the governor. He said the questions were "insulting."

Referring to Briscoe's heavy out-of-town speaking schedule in September and October, Clapp said: "In looking at the records, you saw a man who is available to the people of this state."

Forrest Smith, whom Briscoe replaced last month as chairman of the Texas Youth Council, said he tried for more than a year to speak with Briscoe—even by telephone—"about the problems of troubled youth in Texas."

"But all such efforts failed. A letter written to the governor requesting a meeting of great urgency has not been answered," Smith said.

A lobbyist for a non-business organization said he had similar problems in 1974.

"The many times I tried to get something set up, he was almost always in Uvalde," he said.

The Amarillo Daily News & Globe-Times, which investigated the pardons and parole system, of which the governor is a part, sought Briscoe's comment for four months before finally catching him during a speaking engagement.

Former Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert of the State Supreme Court said he asked Briscoe in early July for an appointment to discuss the proposed new constitution, of which Calvert was a leading advocate. He said Briscoe promised such a visit, but on Oct. 1 was still saying, "I'll be in touch." They finally met on Oct. 13, the day before Briscoe announced his opposition to the document, which voters defeated three weeks later.

READY FOR TAKEOFF—When the state's prop-jet executive airplane roars to the southwest from Austin's Municipal Airport, chances are it is Uvalde-bound. Governor and Mrs. Briscoe are shown boarding Janey B II, the governor's state-owned airplane.

Yule Reception Is Set Dec. 4

The Century Club will stage a Christmas reception and a bingo party for Webb AFB student pilots and junior officers at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Dec. 4, in the Howard College Student Union building.

Host couples will be officers and directors of the Century Club and their wives, along with members of the Base Community Council Hospitality Committee and their wives.

The Greyhound Food Service, which provides food for the college, will prepare and serve hors d'oeuvres for the occasion. Dress will be casual.

Pearl Tries Hand At Diplomacy

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Singer Pearl Bailey, star of the current Broadway musical, "Hello Dolly," is trying her hand at being a diplomat.

She has joined the U.S. delegation to the U.N. General Assembly and will probably serve on the assembly's social committee for the rest of the three-month 1975 session, which ends Dec. 10.

Stanton Native Appears In Educational Movie

STANTON — A native of Stanton is a featured performer in a television production developed earlier this month for educational use.

Larry Haggard, 27, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Alex Haggard, Stanton, appeared in a series of programs designed to improve the basic literacy in adult students. The series were produced by the State Department of Education in South Carolina.

PAPERS BETTER

The series, which will be used by local and state educational agencies throughout the U.S., helps classroom teachers of adult education reading programs, particularly in the use of the daily or weekly newspaper. It points out that newspapers usually are much more motivating for adult learners than are typical textbooks.

The segment in which Haggard appeared centers on a conflict surrounding an auto accident and the ensuing details necessary for police records and newspaper reporters.

"I've always enjoyed watching television but had no idea of the technicalities involved in production," he said.

"It's interesting to be in front of the camera because you get a whole new perspective of what's going on," Haggard added.

The particular segment in which Haggard appeared was selected by state officials for a special showing to other state agencies at a convention in Chicago earlier this month.

"GOOD FEELING"

"It's fascinating and sometimes a little scary to think that people all over the country will be viewing me on television regularly during the next year or so," the Stanton native commented.

"But it also gives me a good feeling to know that it will be helping to improve things for some of those people watching the series," Haggard said.

At Columbia, S.C., he is enrolled in advanced studies. He is a 1966 graduate of Stanton High and received his B. S. degree from North Texas State University before beginning graduate work at Southern Methodist University.

Another deep wildcat oil test has been staked in northeastern Howard County. It is Cowan Exploration No.1 Jim Hodnett, slated for 7,500. The 660 from the north and 467 from the east line of 31-25, H&TC location puts it 1 1/4 miles northwest of the Vincent North (Pennsylvania) field. The venture is separated by deep failures and is a quarter of a mile east of a 7,479-ft. failure.

Borden and Martin Counties received confirming producers. General American Oil of Texas No.1 Miller, 13 miles northeast of Gail, 990 from the south and, 650 from the west lines of section 366-97. H&TC, pumped 34.1 barrels of oil with gas-oil ratio of 205-1. The oil came from 8,014-018, perforations in the 5 1/2-in. casing set at 8,370, total depth. This well produces from the Canyon.

The Martin confirmer is Cotton Petroleum Co. No.1 B. T. Hill, half a mile north of a Dean reopener in the Hill Ranch (Spraberry) field. The location of 1,980 from the north and 660 from the west lines of section 58-A. Bauer and Cockrell, puts it eight miles southwest of Ackery and five miles east of Spraberry Trend Area production.

The venture pumped 66 barrels of oil, had a gas-oil ratio of 303-1, from perforations at 6,942-8,441, fraced with 120,000 gallons. The Dean reopener was Amaco No.1 Ruby Allred, completed in June 1974 for 84 barrels of oil and five barrels of water from 8,223-413.

MGF No.1 McLendon will be a three-fourths mile south-southeast stepout from the five-well Adcock (Spraberry) field in northeast Dawson. It is located 660 from the north and east lines section 10-34-6n, GTRR. It is slated for 7,300 feet and is seven miles northeast of Lamesa.

In extreme northwest Howard, Holbrook No.1 Lester was bottomed at 8,698 and logging.

Hilliard No.1 Bragg, a Lynn County wildcat, was below 10,900 feet, and in Sterling County Cities Service No.1-A-B Ferguson-bored ahead at 8,019 feet.

HATED TRAINS

Most rock throwers are children. Hughes related that a local brakeman inspecting a train between Weatherford and Baird was threatened, however, by an adult near the railroad, but didn't like the sound of trains," he recalled.

A proposed federal law will include fines and imprisonment for railroad vandalism. If the violation results in injury to an engineer, fireman, brakeman, switchman, or any other employe, the maximum fine will be $5,000, five years in prison or both.

"In the event of a death, the penalty is 20 years in prison. Thus far, no hearings have been held on the bill, which has been referred to the House Judiciary subcommittee on crime.

In Big Spring, breaking into box cars and burglary has been more of a problem than vandalism. Out on the rails, it's another story.

A railroad employe has always had to be cautious in order to avoid accident. Now added to his woes is the need to keep a sharp eye for snipers.

LITTLE RED CABOOSE — Caboose are among the main items that vandals sometimes take pot shots at on the railroad. Frank Neill is keeping a close watch out for rock hurlers or snipers.

Increase In Vandalism Worries Rail Officials

By MARJ CARPENTER

Railroads are experiencing an increase in vandalism all over the United States and the Big Spring area is no exception.

"One of our biggest problems is damage to new cars being hauled by rail car," Gordon Hughes, T&P superintendent here stated. "The vandals throw rocks or shoot at the cars and break the windows," he added.

The superintendent said that vandals sometimes shoot at the caboose or other parts of the train — as a moving target. "For some reason, they especially like the caboose," he added.

"Near Bryan earlier this year, a railroad employe was shot in the neck with a .22 rifle as he rode on one of our trains and is paralyzed for life. The bullet fragmented his spine," he added.

SPRAYED CABOOSE

In Illinois, one railroader testified that "Only their alertness and a miracle prevented some workers from being killed when individuals sprayed a caboose with a machine gun at East St. Louis."

Legislative bills are increasing the penalty for throwing stones at locomotives or trains and also provide a felony penalty for shooting at a train.

LESTER HOME ... at 1801 Donley

Tubful Of Money Used To Purchase Property

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the eleventh in a series of early Big Spring homes which will be certified by the Historic Commission of the Bicentennial commission. Anyone wishing to nominate a home built prior to 1915 should call Mrs. Carol Hunter at 263-8954.

By MARJ CARPENTER

A railroad man who once went to town with a wash tub holding 500 $1 bills to purchase property now in downtown Big Spring was the man who built the house featured in today's article.

Frank Lester and his wife, Mattie Bell, built the home now located at 1801 Donley. It was then considered to be "out in the country."

The home is just five minutes from downtown today, but around 1900, it was in the center of 23 acres in the rural area.

The green frame house was the second Big Spring home for the Lesters, who resided earlier at a location at 3rd and Main.

The family still owns the downtown property, which Lester purchased with his wash tub full of dollars.

Only one of the eight Lester children was born at the home on Donley. He was the late Dr. Stanley Lester.

The Lesters arrived in Big Spring in 1880 when it was a tent city and when the tracks were being laid around it and Main.

At that time, Frank Lester watched the cowboys rope the smokestacks of the locomotive engines coming west. He used to like to tell his grandchildren about it. He later operated a restaurant and the Klondike Hotel. He was a storehouse of information about early Big Spring.

The ten-room house on Donley belongs to a third generation Big Spring Lester, Don, who works for

Team Says Loch Ness Monster Is Alive

BOSTON (AP) — A Boston-based research team says the fabled Loch Ness monster is alive and well in the chilly depths of Scotland's largest lake, and it apparently has photographs to substantiate its claim. The Boston Globe reported today.

"There's no question about it," said Dr. Robert Rines, when asked by the Globe if the Loch Ness monster, or family of monsters, has been found.

"Our purpose now is to say there is a population of living animals in Loch Ness, things that have been called Loch Ness monsters.

"The pictures are good pictures this time, and they give us a good idea of what these things are," Dr. Zug said. "They are something that we're not familiar with."

Dr. John Prescott, executive director of the New England Aquarium, another who told the Globe he saw the photographs, said, "Apparently, from the photos, he's got some sort of a beast there."

Prescott said he was unable to judge the size of the monster, but said Rines told him the monster's body was about 12 feet long and its head and neck about eight feet long.

research team will be released at a Dec. 10 news conference.

Word that new information on the alleged monster was available, the Globe said, came from a London source, and from persons contacted in Cambridge, Boston and Washington.

Dr. George Zug, a zoologist working at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, told the Globe he saw the pictures and found them "exciting."

"This is additional proof there is a population of living animals in Loch Ness, things that have been called Loch Ness monsters.

"There is no chance of a hoax at all," Rines said. "All of us make our livings on the basis of our integrity, and we wouldn't risk it for something like this."

Sightings of a Loch Ness "monster" have been reported as far back as 565 A.D., the Globe said. A modern wave of sightings began in 1934 shortly after a new road was built along the northern shore of Loch Ness, in Inverness County in the Scottish Highlands.

The Globe said photographs taken by Rines, a patent attorney and dean of Franklin Pierce Law Center in Concord, N.H., and his

How to select the right nursing home.

We Americans are not just living longer, we're living more useful, productive lives.

But an increasing number of the chronically ill, the old, the convalescent, need some place other than the hospital and their home where they can receive personal health care, round-the-clock attention and the opportunity to continue to live their lives with meaning.

As your community extended health care facility we want to help you make the right decision. Here are some guidelines: see your family physician to determine the kind of care needed; feel free to visit our facility; ask us for our costs in writing and financial advice about Medicaid; examine all of our facilities; check our food quality; verify our safety features; and finally, observe how our residents spend their time.

There's a lot more to selecting the right nursing home. We want to help. If you have any questions, please call or visit us.

The national survey of 13,000 youths in 450 schools across the country found that 28 per cent of them are drunk four times in the past year. They said their drinking habits are at least the past year. The survey said that constitutes a drinking problem.

The survey, released Wednesday, was done by the National Institute of Alcoholism and Alcoholism Research Triangle Institute. Students in the survey out a questionnaire.

The survey revealed that less than 10 per cent of the nation's olds have never drunk although the drinking age in all states is at least 18.

GROWING PROBLEM IN BIG SPRING Alcohol Grips 28 Per Cent Of Teenagers

By STARBUCK WOOLF

Alcohol is the most widely abused drug in our culture. About 70 million Americans drink alcohol regularly, and the American Medical Association estimates that there are nine million alcoholics in the United States. And the most alarming fact that is surfacing in recent research on alcohol is that more and more teenagers are adding their numbers to those statistics.

A study of teen-age drinking habits says 28 per cent of the nation's teenagers are problem drinkers. The national survey of 13,000 youths in 450 schools across the country found that the 28 per cent reported themselves as drunk at least four times in the past year or said that their drinking got them in trouble with peers or superiors at least twice in the past year. The surveyors said that constituted a drinking problem.

The survey, released Wednesday, was done for the National Institute of Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism by the Research Triangle Institute. Students in the survey filled out a questionnaire.

The survey results indicated that less than 18 per cent of the nation's 17-year-olds have never taken a drink although the legal drinking age in all states is at least 18.

Project director J. Valley Rachal said the most surprising finding was that about one-fourth of the 13-year-olds surveyed could be classified as moderate drinkers. The researchers defined a moderate drinker as one who drinks lightly once a week or drinks more heavily on occasion. Only 38 per cent of the 13-year-olds said they were teetotalers.

Close to half of all the students surveyed said they had been drunk within the past year. Rachal said the 35-page questionnaire indicated that beer was the teen-agers' most popular beverage. Boys drank more often and more heavily than girls; and children of drinking parents tended to drink more frequently.

Rachal said students with strong religious beliefs and students in the South tended to drink less. Of course, a great deal of teenage drinking today is simply occasional, drinking for the sake of some external and incidental motive, rather than for the satisfaction of some need. But more and more, cities the size of Big Spring are experiencing an increase in the number of alcohol-related problems with teenagers.

What is a teenage alcoholic? Not every teenager who uses liquor, even to excess at times, can be called alcoholic. The term alcoholic should bring to mind a person who has gotten himself into a peculiar personal complex best described as an illness. Plainly speaking, an alcoholic is a person who is so obsessed with alcohol that it interferes with his functioning as a total human being.

How much does a teenager have to drink to be an alcoholic? Most experts agree that the amount itself does not make that much difference. It is the motivation behind the drinking that is the main concern. How widespread is teenage drinking in general? Dr. Chafetz, director of HEW's National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism says, "Kids are almost universally using alcohol by the twelfth grade. That doesn't bother us so much, but there is an abuse pattern. Five percent of all teenagers get drunk — at least once a week, 52 times a year. If you take just the male high school senior in the United States, 14 per cent get drunk once a week, every week."

Most experts also agree that half of the teenagers drink while driving around in cars at night, and that 60 per cent of all traffic fatalities from the ages of 16 to 24 are alcohol-related.

In spite of its wide social acceptance, alcohol has been shown to have many adverse effects, both physical and psychological, and even more so when the person is a teenager. The teenager who is uncomfortable in the presence of strangers and over-conscious of flaws in himself of any sort will forget those flaws and often become bold and aggressive after a few drinks.

Lt. Jim McCain of the juvenile division of the Big Spring City Police Department has a working knowledge of teenage drinking problems in Big

HOWARD COUNTY DRUNK TANK
... not a good place to be

Spring. In a recent interview he expressed his opinions on the subject.

How widespread is juvenile drinking in Big Spring?

"I'd say probably 20 per cent to some extent."

What about the serious drinker?

"Probably five percent of the kids between the ages of 13 and 16." "Do you consider that a small percentage?" "Yes, I do. We've got a problem, but I don't feel like it's any worse than any other city has. In the year and 8-months that the juvenile division has been in operation I can recall off hand only two teenagers I've handled that I've considered to have a serious drinking problem, in other words, I would class them as an alcoholic. But I've only handled two."

Does social class have anything to do with drinking?

"I made a study here about a year ago, and found that it about averages out...one month we might have more from what you call your middle class, and then the next month, there would be more from the lower class. It about averages out."

What about the boy to girl ratio of teenagers you see due to alcohol-related incidents?

"There are more boys. I'd say three to one."

How would you recognize a juvenile who has a drinking problem?

"That's real hard to answer. The only way I can tell one really has a problem is by sitting down and talking with him. Usually if the youngster is getting in bad shape as far as alcohol is concerned, he'll be coming home nearly every night he's out with alcohol on his breath. I don't feel that a parent should be overly concerned when a 15 or 16 year old boy tries a beer or a mixed drink once in a great while."

"Society has brought this upon itself. Drinking, at least socially drinking is pretty acceptable, well, I'll say its acceptable by 90 percent of the people, and these kids have been conditioned into thinking that drinking is a social function, or part of a social function. And I just don't feel that a parent should become upset if once in a great while the youngster becomes curious. Now when they start coming in every week, two or three times a month, I would say its time for them to sit down and talk with the kids and see if they do have a problem."

How should a parent or friend approach a teenager they feel has a drinking problem?

"I'm not a professional counselor, but I have some approaches and they do work, but I hesitate to recommend them to anyone else. They may not work for them. I don't know...some kids you can scare by telling them the effects of alcohol. It depends on the child. Some of them you can reach by talking to them about religion, respect for their parents. It just depends entirely upon the child you're talking to...what approach you have to take. And it's real hard for me to put into words how I determine what approach I take, because it's just something I've developed over the years talking to these kids. I really don't have a definite pattern, I just get into a deep conversation with them, they'll get to their problem...if you give them a chance...if you talk with one instead of just talking at him, and trying to preach to him. You've got to listen to his side of it and let him talk his problems out."

What do you do with teenagers who are brought down to the police station on alcohol-related incidents?

"We have to incarcerate them. We have two cells up there (second floor of the police station), one male and one juvenile cell that are certified by the County Juvenile Board, and that's where we keep them. Now, if we keep them any length of time, we transfer them to the county jail. Since the new family code has been in effect two years ago, all facilities that we keep juveniles in have to be certified by the Juvenile Board."

There is also another person in Big Spring who has a first-hand knowledge of teenage alcoholism. Brad (not his real name) is 15. He's lived in Big Spring all of his life. His parents are lower middle-class, and from all indications seem an average set of parents. They don't mistreat him or lavish undue affection upon him. Brad considers himself a typical red-blooded American teenage boy, except for one difference—he is an alcoholic.

"I drank three or four nights a week, usually Thursday to Sunday. I mostly drank only two six-packs on Thursday night and Sunday because I had school, but on Friday and Saturday nights it was maybe three six-packs."

Brad usually drank with friends while riding around, but sometimes one of them would have a parent-less house for the night, and occasionally they went to a drive-in movie or some other place where they felt safe from detection. Brad also began to drink more alone.

"I heard that if you drink by yourself, you're an alcoholic, but that never bothered me."

I asked Brad what made him question himself to see if he had a drinking problem?

"I liked drinking beer and raising hell with the guys. But I was the one who wanted to the most. Some of the guys would say 'not tonight, or wait 'til the weekend,' but I was always ready to. That's when I figured I might have a habit. And ever once in a while when I drank a lot, I would forget things that happened. That made me wonder a lot."

Brad's "wondering" led him to talk to his parents about his problem, and they, in turn, sought professional help. Brad was "scared" out of his drinking problem, but most teenagers, as with most adults, never admit to themselves that they have a drinking problem, even if someone suggests it to them.

Are you a teenage alcoholic? Answer these questions truthfully.

1. Do you lose time from school due to drinking?
2. Is drinking making your home life unhappy?
3. Do you drink because you are shy with other people?
4. Is drinking affecting your reputation?

New Hiring System For Region Parks

SANTA FE, N.M. — The National Park Service has announced that seasonal jobs in the Southwest Region will be filled through a new hiring system in the future. There will be jobs for as few as one of every 100 applicants, according to Regional Director Joseph C. Rumburg, Jr.

Under the new procedures, all job applications must be sent directly to the Regional Office in Santa Fe, and not to the individual parks.

Applications (a form SF-171) will be accepted only between Jan. 1 and Feb. 15 and only at the Southwest Regional Office of the National Park Service, P. O. Box 728, Santa Fe, N.M. 87501. Envelopes should be marked "Seasonal Employment Application."

Will Challenge 'Scrubber' Order

DALLAS — Texas Utilities Services Inc. (TUSI), a subsidiary of Texas Utilities Company, reported that it has been served with a petition in a suit that would force the installation of a scrubber on the Monticello No. 3 lignite-fueled generating unit now under construction near Mt. Pleasant.

This equipment would be required to meet Environmental Protection Agency air quality regulations that have been challenged by a number of electric utilities.

TUSI is constructing the Monticello plant for Texas Electric Service Company, Dallas Power & Light Company.

The suit was filed in the district court of Tarrant County by the Attorney General of the State of Texas at the request of the Texas Air Control Board.

T. L. Austin, Jr., chairman of the board of Texas Utilities Company, said, "We have not changed our conviction that this equipment is unnecessary and a waste of our customers' money. We intend to oppose this suit in court because we sincerely believe that such action is in the best interest of our customers who are already deeply concerned about the increasing cost of producing electricity."

"We recognize the position of the TACB," Austin said, "in having to enforce existing Federal air quality regulations. However, EPA regulations requiring the use of scrubbers are unreasonable, arbitrary and capricious and are now being challenged in the courts. We believe that clean air can be ensured in our area without the unnecessary expenditures for scrubbers and that we have a responsibility to take a stand when government regulations have gone too far."

Austin had appeared before the TACB on September 26, 1975, to notify the Board that the Company would not install the equipment that would cost some $36 million. At that time Austin said that the Company was still convinced that the scrubber would not significantly improve the quality of the air people breathe, yet it would add 18 per cent to the cost of every kilowatt-hour generated by the Monticello No. 3 unit.

THE WEEK

Another business development was the announcement that Thornton will join the Big Spring scene in the spring of 1976, utilizing the Coronado Plaza location abandoned earlier by Cook's. Thornton gets its name from the famous Abilene store, but the firm now is part of the P. N. Hirsch group which belongs to Interco (International Shoe Co.).

Officials who hurried to Washington D.C. last week were given assurances that federal revenue sharing will likely continue. It means about a quarter of a million dollars to the county, more to the cities.

Howard County will have four representatives on the Health System Agency division of the Permian Basin Planning Council territory. Two of these will present the providers, two the consumer interests. Local nominees have been made here.

Rep. Omar Burleson sent word that a $1,221,000 loan to West-Tex Telephone Cooperative, headquartered in Stanton, has been approved. In addition to converting most West Stanton and Lenora patrons to one-party lines and beefing central equipment in those areas, the loan also will provide for general improvements and adding 65 new subscribers.

Don't forget to take time out Wednesday 7:30 p.m. to attend the traditional Union Thanksgiving Service sponsored by the Howard County Ministerial Fellowship. It will be at the Webb AFB chapel, and the Rev. Carroll Kohl, St. Paul Lutheran pastor, will deliver the message.

Big Spring young people got spots in nominations for the district for the Youth in Government (YMCA) project next February. Frosty Reynolds was named as candidate for governor, Suzanne Smith for chief justice, and J. Wray Warren speaker of the House. Donny Knight and Colleen Gralow were picked as the district's best attorney team.

Vandals hit the senior high school over last weekend and left a wake of senseless destruction and damage behind. This is the sort of thing which makes you wonder if the whipping post might not be a proper dose for the perpetrators.

Surprise! Surprise! Robert Veal, 37, ferrying a Cessna 140 with pontoons from Green Bay, Wis., to his home in Sacramento, Calif., was on the verge of running out of fuel when he spotted a large play pond just west of town and north of IS 20. How he got down and took off safely from so small a surface is hard to understand, but he did with the greatest of ease.

Stanton voters reached a decision Saturday a week ago on whether to issue $200,000 in bonds for additional city paving. The answer was a rather convincing "no" by a 3-1 margin.

Howard College trustees voted last week to send the champion Howard College volleyball team to the national finals in Maryland this week. This may say something to rumors that the program might be scuttled to escape the Title IX equal status division of athletic funds.

FROM THE NOTEBOOK

The USAF confirmed that there will be limited testing for women as pilots with an experimental group due for selection possibly by mid '76. Suspects, Property Located In Cases Suspects have been located and stolen goods recovered in several cases, Sheriff A. N. Standard said Saturday.

Bobby White, 31, who is accused of passing a worthless check for three citizen band radios Oct. 10, is in a Junction, Tex., jail.

A man using Ted J. Haley as one of several aliases is in jail in Crowell, Tex. Haley, 30, is charged with altering a $3,018. The check was for County and passing it for $3,018. The check was for alleged electrical work.

A 1972 model pickup stolen from an Albany, Ga., dealer has been recovered here and the identification of the suspect given to the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

And apprehension of 9 and 10-year-old boys led to recovery of items stolen from three addresses in Coahoma Nov. 19. The two boys have been released to their parents.

Stolen from 507 South Ave. was a set of shelves, Standard said. A box of fishing tackle was taken from 203 Central St. And a lantern, electric drill, gallon fuel can and assorted hand tools were looted from 503 South Ave.

Borden Venture

J. & R. Oil No. 1 Billy Max West, a wildcat nine miles southeast of Gall has been abandoned at 8,487 feet. The specific location is 660 from the north and east lines of section 226-97, H&TC.

Thanksgiving Service Is Set At Webb Wednesday

Webb AFB's Chapel will host a joint base-community Bicentennial Thanksgiving Service at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. Those taking part will be from different churches in Big Spring as well as from the chapel.

The Rev. Carroll Kohl of St. Paul Lutheran will be the main speaker. Others participating with prayers, scripture reading and offering service are: Protestant Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Jimmie Baggett, Catholic Chaplain (Capt.) Don Hudson, and the Reverend Harland Birdwell of St. Mary's Episcopal, Bill Smythe of First Christian and Randall Ball of First Assembly of God. The Goliad Junior High Ensemble will present two selections with the teacher, Joyce Hull, directing. The Bell Choir from First United Methodist will give two selections and the Chapel Choir will do the introit and benediction.

Offering of the evening is designated for the Howard County Family Service Center.

The chapel organist will be Nancy Flanigan while Susan Toffenetti directs the choir. Base people will serve as ushers and greeters.

Baker Hotel May Be Converted Into Housing Units For Aged

COLORADO CITY — Baker Hotel in downtown Colorado City may be turned into housing units for the elderly if funds are approved.

The Colorado City Housing Authority has granted permission to apply for funds to turn the hotel into units for the elderly to the architectural firm of Fitch, Holdrege, Bisone and Holcombe, Inc. of Houston. Gino Bisone of the firm, met with the housing authority board of directors this week. The firm has already built several Housing Authority projects in Colorado City. They have converted hotels in Gorman, Dublin and Coleman for housing units for the elderly.

If the project is approved, it would be operated under the Housing Authority, adding to the 26 units for the elderly and 50 family units already operated by the non-profit organization.

MEMBERS OF 25-YEAR CLUB HONORED — The Big Spring Country Club was the scene Friday night of a party honoring members of Cosden Oil & Chemical Company's 25-year Club, persons who have been employed by the firm a quarter of a century or longer. Mr. and Mrs. Ken Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Jenkins and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Cauble were among those attending. Perry and Jenkins are Cosden vice-presidents while Cauble serves as president of the 25-year Club. Mr. Perry and Mrs. Cauble sit in front of their respective spouses.

Cosden's 25-Year Club Officers Elected

Garrett Patton was elected president of the Cosden Oil & Chemical Co. 25-year Club Friday night.

Jerry Jenkins and Ken Perry, two Cosden vice-presidents, presented 25-year cards and jewelry to 25 new members of the company organization. This brings membership to 263 persons.

The 16th annual meeting attracted the largest crowd ever. There were more than 200 reservations.

George Zachariah was elected vice-president. Otto

Peters Jr. was re-elected treasurer, and Miss Marguerite Cooper was named secretary for the third consecutive year.

J. D. Cauble stepped down as president, and Garrett was the former vice-president.

New members of the 25-year club are: Jess D. Allison, pump mechanic; Robert L. Anderson, warehouseman; F. T. Arner, welder "A"; Bill J. Bennett, Hydeal unit operator; James William Coots, blacksmith "A"; Ed

H. Cordes, pump mechanic, polybutene unit and stillman, crude unit; Florine L. Davis, programmer-analyst; Avery Faulks, welding shop; and Carl R. Frazier, foreman, BTX-Reformer.

N. R. Holcombe, operator, crude complex; Ernest E. Hughes, welder "B"; Olton Jamison, truck driver and gang pusher; Robert Glenn Leppard, polybutene unit foreman; Dwight B. McCann, stillman, crude complex; Wayne B. Morris, paint dept.; Waymon L. Phillips, electrician no. 1; Sam A. Posey, shift electrician.

J. B. Price, operator, Reformer; Emrie C. Rainey Jr., Operator, Cat cracker; Bascom E. Reagan, stillman, Hydeal unit; A. E. (Skeeter) Reed, operator, alkylation unit; Ross M. Roberts, pumper; and Robert A. Sparks, special tester, chemical lab.

Dee G. Thomas, senior billing clerk; Donnie F. Tubb, operator, field pump house; and Grover L. Wiley, machinist "A".

OSWALD SHOT — Lee Harvey Oswald, the man accused of assassinating President John F. Kennedy, wincing as Dallas night club owner Jack Ruby, right, fires at him in the Dallas police station on Nov. 24, 1963, two days following the assassination. Twelve years later, doubt still lingers in the minds of Americans as to who was responsible for the assassination. (Copyright 1963, Dallas Times Herald and Photographer Bob Jackson.)

and entered his thigh. The second was the fatal bullet in the head. The third shot went wild.

3. The three shots were fired by Oswald.

4. There is no evidence that either Oswald or his killer, Jack Ruby, were part of any conspiracy, domestic or foreign, to assassinate Kennedy. It concludes: "On the basis of the evidence before the Commission, Oswald acted alone."

THREE SHOTS?

Variouly, critics contend there were more than three shots, that some came from the grassy knoll or the freeway overpass and one shot from ahead sent Kennedy's head back.

Contrary to the commission, they claim a single bullet could not have followed a tortuous course wounding both Kennedy and Connally. They claim it could not have been recovered virtually intact.

These and numerous other interpretations lead critics to believe that Oswald either was not the assassin or that he was part of a conspiracy.

They have suggested that he was one of at least two gunmen, that he was a dupe, that he had a double and that he was deliberately assassinated by Jack Ruby in a coverup.

What is known is that Oswald had ties to various U.S. intelligence groups, that he defected to the Soviet Union, that he tried to go to Cuba and that he passed out pro-Castro leaflets. Many critics say the evidence doesn't support the single assassin conclusion, but they don't know who did it.

VARIOUS THEORIES For every one who doesn't know, there are many more who claim they do. The most current conspiracy theories involve the CIA, the Mafia, Cuban exiles, alone or in cabal, and Castro himself.

Reporter Robert Sam Anson, in his new book "They've Killed the President," hints at a Mafia conspiracy, possibly with aid from the CIA. "La Cosa Nostra had everything to gain by Kennedy's assassination and very little to lose," he writes.

He cites "a few core facts — that there was a conspiracy; that Oswald had numerous links to the intelligence community; that vital information about Oswald's and Ruby's backgrounds was deliberately withheld from the Warren Commission by the CIA and the FBI."

The Mafia, CIA and Cuban exiles theories say the goal was to blame Castro for the assassination and force a successful Cuban invasion to oust him.

Mafia plot theorists say the mob wanted to regain its valuable Cuban casino properties and its Havana drug connection. It was angered because Kennedy did not send in the Marines and redeem the Bay of Pigs fiasco. It feared possible rapprochement with Castro.

They claim Jack Ruby, a small time underworld figure, was ordered to kill Oswald as a coverup.

Fixed-Base Operator's Lease At Airport To Be Discussed

The proposal from Trans Regional Airlines for a second fixed-base operator's lease on Howard County Airport will be discussed in the County Commissioners County meeting Monday.

County Attorney W. H. (Bill) Eysen Jr. will advise the court about — the request.

Big Spring Aircraft Inc. already has one lease as fixed-base operator.

ELECTIONS

Tom Eschberger of Computer Election Systems will talk to the court about buying punch-card voting booths like those leased for the constitutional election. Mrs. Zirah L. Bedar, county tax collector-assessor, plans to testify before a legislative subcommittee in Austin Nov. 6.

The subcommittee heard from 38 witnesses about creating a new office for registration and other election duties. Making elections and registration the duty of either the county clerk only or county tax collector-assessor only is a second alternative.

Election work and registration is divided between the two offices under existing law. Mrs. Bednar said she "personally feels like it's better off like it is."

DRAINAGE

Commissioners court has not decided whether to have about one mile of ditching dug for draining the pond at Knott. Going against the wishes of a landowner, who doesn't want any more water, or discontinuing the drainage work are alternatives.

Ken Johnson of the Jaycees and Don Grissim will request the court's approval for use of the fair bus on separate occasions.

DEATHS

L. E. Maxwell

HILLSBORO — Lloyd E. Maxwell, 59, formerly of Big Spring, died at 7:30 p.m. Friday night in a Hillsboro hospital.

Services will be at 4 p.m. today in the Marshall Funeral Chapel in Hillsboro. Burial will be in Ridge Park Cemetery there.

A native of Hill County, he spent most of his life in Hillsboro, except for eight years in Big Spring.

Mr. Maxwell, a former Civil Service employe at Webb Air Force Base, returned to Hillsboro about a year ago.

He married Velma Nelson in 1942. He was a member of the Hillsboro Masonic Lodge and the Scottish Rite Lodge of Waco, and a veteran of World War II.

Survivors include his wife, Velma; two sons, Nay Allen Maxwell and Paul Maxwell, both of Lubbock; three sisters, Mrs. Marilyn Jackson and Mrs. Marie Ybara, both of Lubbock, and Mrs. Anna Stroup of Ogden, Utah; four grandchildren; three brothers and three sisters.

Elverey Hunt

Elverey (Biddie Boy) Hunt, 67, Midland, died in a Big Spring hospital about 6 a.m., Thursday following a brief illness.

Services will be at 2 p.m., Monday in Exdale, with burial in the Exdale cemetery. He had worked as a cab driver in Midland for several years.

Survivors include three sons, Thomas R. Hunt, Kevin Hunt and Reginald Hunt, and two daughters, Reba Hunt and Ole Faye Hunt, all of Midland.

Hollandsworth

F. E. (Ed) Hollandsworth, 71, died at 4:45 p.m. Saturday in a local hospital after a short illness.

Services are pending at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

He retired from Civil Service at Webb Air Force Base. Born June 14, 1904, in McMinnville, Tenn., he had lived in Howard and Martin Counties since 1935.

He married Gladys Bradshaw Nov. 22, 1940, in Hugo, Okla. He was a member of the Carl Street Church of Christ.

Survivors include his wife, Gladys; three daughters, Mrs. Shirley Webb of Carriere, Miss. Mrs. Virginia Merritt of Midland and Mrs. Betty Burns of Woodland, Wash.; four sons, Jimmy, Kenneth and Alan, all of Big Spring, and Thomas of San Angelo; and six grandchildren.

Also, four sisters, Mrs. Vera Bailey of Camp Wood, Tex., Mrs. Lucy Woods of Lubbock, Mrs. Dolly Aihart of Winters and Mrs. Velma Burton of Tacoma, Wash.; and six brothers, Josh of McFarland, Calif., Bill and Charles, both of Camp Wood; Tom of Fresno, Calif.; and Claude and James, both of Pensacola, Fla.

One son, Eddie Hollandsworth, died in 1966 in Vietnam.

Bonded Electrical Contractors To Elect Officers Dec. 1

A group of local licensed and bonded Electrical Contractors met earlier this week to form the Big Spring Electrical Contractors Association. Selected as temporary chairman was Raymond Tally, Tally Electric, while Bill Row, R Electric, was appointed secretary-treasurer. A meeting has been scheduled for the week of Dec. 1 to elect permanent officers.

Also present at the meeting and joining the association were Ray Anderson, Allen Bailey, Clyde Chessner, Troy Drinkard, Dwite Gilliland and Gene Haston.

The organization according to Tally, was formed: to promote safety and a high standard of electrical wiring in the city of Big Spring and surrounding areas; to improve communications in the electrical industry as a whole; to support the Electrical Board of Examiners and the City Electrical Board of Examiners and the City Electrical Inspector; and to work closely with the electrical supply agency in encouraging the public to conserve energy by using energy saving appliances and lighting.

Route Of 11th Place Extension To Be Examined By City Fathers

Consideration of the route of the 11th Place Extension from Abrams to Gregg will be among the items to be discussed at the City Council meeting at 9 a.m. in City Hall Tuesday.

Other items will include the second and final reading of an ordinance requesting a zone change from SF-2 single family residential to heavy commercial on Lots 7-0, Block F, Earles Addition, and consideration of the second and final reading of an ordinance amending garbage rates.

Red Cross Volunteers Are Honored At Webb

Three Red Cross volunteers who gave many hours to aid evacuees from Indochina at Andersen AFB, Guam, received recognition at Webb AFB last week. They are Shirlee, Tammy and Dawn, wife and daughters of MSgt. George M. Sullivan, manager of the NCO Open Mess.

The mother and daughters each received a certificate of Meritorious Achievement for "sustained devotion in support of humanitarian causes." The citations bear signatures of General Russell E. Dougherty, commander in chief of Strategic Air Command, and Major General Charles F. Minter, commander of 3rd Air Division.

In making the presentations, Colo. Robert F. Brodman, base commander, read letters to the recipients from Gen. Minter. He said, "Your humane consideration for these unfortunate people in their time of need reflect the highest standards of human kindness. Without your help the complete success of this operation might not have been achieved."

TRIO HONORED — Certificates were presented to Shirlee Sullivan and her daughters, Dawn and Tammy (l. to r.), for the help they contributed on Guam when evacuees from Indochina came through Andersen AFB.

Teenage Dance Booked Nov. 29

A dance for teenagers and "rap" sessions are the latest activities projected by Howard County Family Service Center.

"The West Wind" a combo that plays "rock and roll" with a "beat", led by Sgt. David Grayson and Technical Sgt. John Shiflett, will offer a benefit dance for youth, with proceeds going to the Center, at the Fairbarn on Saturday, Nov. 29 from 9:00 p.m. to 1 a.m. Tickets will be $1.00.

Sgt. Grayson and T. Sgt. Shiflett have assembled a musical group from both the military and civilian populations.

The "rap" sessions will be for all youth who wish to talk about "where it's at". School attendance, truancy, the law, and attitudes of parents will be some of the topics discussed at these sessions which will begin Tuesday, Jan. 13, at the Center, 306 West Third. Corresponding sessions for parents of youth will begin on the same date at 7:30 p.m.

Wilfrid M. Calnan, Director, Howard County Family Service Center, which is developing the Center for Living, stressed the agency's interest in youth.

Bike-A-Thon Winners Listed

Pamela Hanson and Ronda Beene won the two bicycles given away in connection with raising funds for the American Cancer Society through the recent bike-a-thon. Sandy Kuykendall and Dr. Maurice Berclier were winners of the second place trophies.

Three gifts went to Gerald Dunlap, Pat Lawrence and Jimmy Butts.

Mrs. Sherry Bordsfske thanked all of the participants and the businesses who donated gifts. A total of $1,500 was collected by 45 bicycle riders in the event.

Scouter Banquet Set Dec. 2

Tickets have been distributed to all unit leaders in the Lone Star District for the annual Scouter Recognition Banquet set for Dec. 2.

Walter Wheat is general chairman, and tickets ($3.50) can be obtained from him or from Art Hyman, (3-4176), Scout executive. More than 15 unit leaders, plus others, will be cited at the affair which will begin at 7 p.m. in the Howard College SUB.

Scouters in Glasscock and Sterling Counties, as well as Howard County are being urged to attend.

In addition to adult volunteers with Cubs, Scouts and Explorers, all the young men who have attained Eagle Scout rank during 1975 will be spotlighted. This is the highest rank which boys may achieve in Scouting.

J. Arnold Marshall, a former Lone Star District chairman, will preside, and presentations will be made by Clem Jones, and George Zachariah. The latter will handle the Bicentennial Minute, a historical recognition. There also will be one other special award at the banquet.

Bob Lilly, the great Cowboy defensive tackle who retired after the 1974 season, will be honored in half-time ceremonies today between Dallas and Philadelphia at Texas Stadium. The contest will be telecast regionally by CBS starting at 1:30 p.m.

In the Cowboys-Eagles series, Dallas won at Philadelphia Oct. 16, 20-17, when Tony Fritsch kicked a 42-yard field goal in the dying seconds. That gave the Cowboys an 18-12 edge in the 16-year-old series.

"The Eagles have lost in all four previous visits to Texas Stadium, and haven't won in Dallas since 1965. "The only difference between Philadelphia and us is that we've won the closes ones," said Tom Landry, Cowboy coach.

Carl Knappe says that this looks like a great year for deer hunters. Most of the deer he is processing now are running 60 to 70 pounds, although he has handled one felled on the Larry Stockton Ranch near Hermleigh at 110 pounds.

The smallest he has seen so far is a 40-pounder which in former years was not uncommon. Rains and plenty of forage seem to have made the deer bigger and with bigger horns, too.

Johnny Harris, Howard College's playmaker last season, now at Hardin-Simmons University, got into an international exhibition game with Panama Thursday night, flipping in five points. HSU won, 120-115.

Otto Graham, Hall of Fame quarterback, never missed a game while directing the Cleveland Browns in 10 consecutive championships games.

Nominees for the Eighth Annual Kern Tips Memorial Trophy have been named by the athletic directors of the eight schools in the Southwest Conference.

List includes: Marty Atkins, University of Texas; Ecomet Burley, Texas Tech; Chris Fisher, Rice; Wayne Morris, SMU; Tim Pulliam, TCU; Ed Simonini, Texas A&M; Brad Thomas, Arkansas; and Ricky Thompson, Baylor.

The name of the winner will be announced Dec. 12.

Coahoma's Phyllis Best, senior guard at Abilene Christian College, is listed among the school's top returning players.

Denver's Floyd Little has become the ninth runner in the history of the NFL to gain 6,000 yards, a list topped by Jim Brown's 12,312 yards in his career with the Browns.

Little now ranks No. 8 on the all-time rushing list, a little less than Willard's 6,105 total with his 6,125 yards. The retired Don Perkins is No. 7 with 6,217 yards.

Dean Heasley, 19, of Lake City, Pa., has been bowling only four years but recently accomplished one of the game's rarest feats, back to back 300 games in a league session.

Bowling in the Tuesday night league at Lake City lanes, Heasley opened with successive 300 games and finished with a 207 for 807. Only nine other bowlers have done this in ABC sanctioned competition.

Ford Punt, Pass & Kick competition will be held at three games today: New England at Buffalo, Cincinnati at Cleveland and New York Giants, Green Bay at Milwaukee.

There will be PP&K competition on Thanksgiving Day at halftime of the Los Angeles-Detroit game at the new 80,000 seat indoor Pontiac Stadium.

FROGS END DROUGHT — Texas Christian University coach Jim Shofner is carried off the field Saturday after his team upset Rice University 28-21. The Frogs had lost 20 games before Saturday's win in Fort Worth.

HOGS REMAIN IN TITLE CHASE

Raiders' Winning Spell Stops At 4

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas quarterback Scott Bull accounted for two touchdowns during a 96-second span and the 19th-ranked Razorbacks went on to a 31-14 Southwest Conference football victory over Texas Tech here Saturday.

With Arkansas leading 10-0, Bull hooked up with tight end Marvin Daily on a 44-yard TD pass and then came back 1:36 late to score on a one-yard sneak. That made it 24-0 with 1:18 left in the first half.

Bull also scored Arkansas' first and last touchdowns on one-yard runs.

The victory kept the Razorbacks in the SWC title chase and ended the Raiders' winning streak at four. Tech, in its first year under Steve Sloan, finished at 9-5.

Arkansas, already assured of a bowl bid, is 8-2 for the season and 5-1 in the conference. Arkansas would go to the Cotton Bowl if Texas A&M beats Texas Nov. 28 and Arkansas beats A&M Dec. 6.

If not, the Razorbacks will play Southern California on Dec. 22 in the Liberty Bowl.

and William Hampton recovered the fumble at the Tech 14. Bull scored four plays later.

Tech mistakes kept the Raiders in trouble. Arkansas moved 33 yards for its first touchdown after an 11-yard punt and the Razorbacks went 62 yards for their second touchdown, aided by a dead ball foul.

With third and nine at the Tech 44, Bull backed up and looked for Daily down the middle. Free safety Curtis Jordan went for the ball and missed. Daily reached high, gathered in the ball at the 20 and galloped into the end zone untouched.

Brian Nelson was crunched on the ensuing kickoff

Frustration Ends For Frogs, 28-21

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Lee Cook winged a couple of touchdown passes and scored once himself Saturday and Texas Christian University's Horned Frogs ended their longest current losing streak at 20.

A meager audience of 12,875, perhaps more surprised than delighted, watched the Horned Frogs end two years of frustration that dated back to 1974's season-opening triumph over Texas-Arlington.

Coach Jim Shofner's Horned Frogs had dropped 10 straight in 1975 before concluding this season on Saturday's high note.

Cook sneaked across from the one to tie the score at 7-7 in the second quarter and then hurled an 11-yard touchdown pass to Mike Renfro to shove the Frogs into a 14-7 halftime lead.

Mustangs Chill Bears With 28 Seconds Left

WACO (AP) — Senior quarterback Chuck Benefield climaxed an incredible Southern Methodist second half comeback with a seven-yard touchdown pass to Kenny Harrison with 28 seconds left Saturday to stun Baylor 34-31 in a wild Southwest Conference football game.

Trailing 23-0 at halftime, Benefield rifled four touchdown passes and scored his first collegiate touchdown in the shocking Mustang rally that chilled the Baylor crowd of 20,300 in Baylor Stadium.

Benefield whipped SMU 80 yards for the winning touchdown pass which found Harrison standing all alone in the disillusioned Baylor secondary.

A last ditch Baylor field goal attempt of 54 yards by Bubba Hicks was wide to the left at the final gun.

Baylor tailback Cleveland Franklin slashed for three touchdowns on runs of three seven and one yards and Hicks kicked a 53-yard field goal as Baylor romped at will in the first half.

Four Baylor fumbles gave SMU a chance in the second half and the suddenly revived Mustangs turned every one of them into touchdowns.

Benefield nailed Freeman Johns on a 13-yard touchdown pass, ran one yard himself for a score, and winged a 25-yard touchdown pass to Harrison in a 21-point third quarter.

yards against a stiff 20 miles per hour wind that made the chill factor read 37 degrees.

SMU ended its season with a 4-7 record and 2-5 in conference play. The frustrated defending champions Bears are 2-6-2 and 1-5.

The SMU victory snapped a five-game losing streak for the one-touchdown underdogs.

Hawks Win Tournament

ODESSA — For the first time under Harold Wilder's six-year direction, Howard College won the Odessa Chamber of Commerce Tournament here Saturday night, overpowering Odessa College, 107-97, in the finals.

Going over the 100 mark for the fifth time, the Hawks after first being omitted from the entry list, brought to an end a long tournament drought title bid stretching back to 1964. HC also was the champion in 1961.

Marvin "Cowboy" Johnson continued his scoring spree, top Hawk in all games, hitting the hoop for 35 points. Johnson's teammate Larry Erves was close behind with 16. David Wood and Anthony Forch of Mexico Military Institute, Dec. 1.

The Hawks took the lead midway in the first half and held the upper hand throughout. At halftime, HC was in command, 61-48. Odessa had gone into the game undefeated at 3-0.

Wilder was quick to praise Larry Kelly and Reggie Leffel for their excellent guard play.

Johnson was voted the Most Valuable Player and was placed on the all-tournament team alongside teammates Erves and Jimmy Paye.

Ohio State Rebounds To Outlast Michigan

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Top-ranked Ohio State, behind with less than four minutes remaining, rebounded on Cornelius Greene's passing and Ray Griffin's interception that set up touchdowns by fullback Pete Johnson to send the Buckeyes to a 21-14 victory over fourth-ranked Michigan for the Big Ten title.

Johnson scored three touchdowns—two of them in a 59-second span of the final four minutes Saturday—to secure the Buckeyes' fourth straight Rose Bowl appearance.

The victory marks the first time in four years either team has won the conference title outright. The two arch-rivals had tied the last three years, although the Buckeyes went to the Rose Bowl each time.

The defeat means Michigan now heads to the Orange Bowl.

Griffin, brother of Heisman Trophy winner Archie Griffin, set up Johnson's winning three-yard touchdown run by intercepting a Rick Leach pass and returning it 30 yards to the Michigan three-yard line with 2:23 left. Johnson, who raised his Big Ten-record chance, five-yard dash in the third quarter. It came two plays after a touchdown run by Elvis Peacock was nullified by a penalty.

Peacock added an insurance touchdown, scoring from three yards out with 10 minutes left. The Sooners then added insult to injury, scoring twice in the final three minutes on runs of eight yards by Davis and four yards by freshman Billy Sims.

The final gun erased the last shred of Oklahoma's NCAA probation. And college football's defending national champions will meet Michigan in the Orange Bowl on New Year's night, their first bowl appearance in three years. Fourth-ranked Michigan lost to No. 1 Ohio State 21-14 Saturday and the Buckeyes are headed for the Rose Bowl.

Mayberry Mops Up Louisville

CANYON, Tex. (AP) — Halfback Robert Mayberry rushed for 133 yards and scored two touchdowns Saturday to lead West Texas State to a 49-23 victory over Louisville in a non-conference game.

The victory evened the Buffs' season mark at 5-5 while the Cardinals dropped to 1-10 record.

Jim Didier kicked a 35-yard field goal for the Cardinals early in the opening period, before Mayberry put the Buffs ahead for good with two quick touchdowns. He scored first on a three-yard burst and then romped 80 yards for the second touchdown.

Mayberry helped set up the third West Texas touchdown in the second period when he ran 20 yards before Curtis Clinton drove in from the one.

Anthony Dogan then highlighted another West Texas drive with a 67-yard run that set up Bob Robinson's two-yard burst.

Louisville narrowed the BEST RECORD SINCE '58 Miller's Touchdowns Provide Poke Punch

AMES, Iowa (AP) — Sophomore tailback Terry Miller scored two touchdowns and was one of two players who passed the 1,000-yard season rushing mark as Oklahoma State defeated Iowa State 14-7 in a mistake-riddled Big Eight Conference football finale here Saturday.

Miller, who also became the third player in Cowboy history to get 11 touchdowns in a season, scored on runs of 1 and 20 yards in the second and third periods.

Bufs Rout KSU, 33-7

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Billy Waddy raced 100 yards with the opening kickoff and hard-running fullback Terry Kunz added two more touchdowns, powering ninth-rated Colorado to a 33-7 rout of Kansas State Saturday in the regular season finale for both Big Eight football teams.

The victory boosted the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl-bound Buffaloes' record to 9-2 overall and 5-2 in the conference. Kansas State, in dropping its eighth straight game, finished at 3-8 overall and 0-7 in the Big Eight.

Lobos Run By Aggies

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — New Mexico senior quarterback Steve Myer closed out his college football career Saturday by throwing for three touchdowns and running for another score to lead the Lobos to a 52-28 victory over downstate rival New Mexico State.

Myer, who owns just about every New Mexico passing mark, combined with Bobby Forrest for scoring plays of 48 and 23 yards and hit Ray Cameron with a five-yard TD toss.

He also bulled his way in from the one-yard line to figure in four of the Lobos' seven touchdowns.

The win gave New Mexico its first winning season since 1971 as the Lobos finished the 1975 campaign with a 6-5 mark. The Aggies, who were trying for their first winning year since 1967, ended the season at 5-6.

Myer, who came to the Lobos last year from the junior college ranks, connected on 24 of 37 passes for 263 yards to spark New Mexico to 452 yards total offense.

He was supported by a ground attack that chalked up 189 yards with freshman tailback Jon Sutton leading the effort by stepping off 86 stripes on 10 carries.

New Mexico State was topped by running back Oliver Thomas, who totaled 53 yards on 12 carries, including touchdown runs of nine and one yards.

Aggie quarterback Bill Bowerman chipped in with a fine passing performance as he hit on 18 of 31 passes for 198 yards as the Aggies finished with 417 yards total offense.

Wyoming's Ground Attack Drops AFA

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — Running back Andy Dixon scored two touchdowns to lead Wyoming's ground attack in a 24-10 nonconference football victory over Air Force Saturday.

Dixon, a 195-pound senior, scored his first touchdown on a 12-yard run up the middle late in the third period to lift the Cowboys to a 14-10 lead moments after Air Force had taken its only lead in the ball game.

He scored again on a two-yard dive with less than three minutes to go in the game to give Wyoming an insurmountable lead and its second victory in eleven games.

Air Force wound up its season with a record of 2-8-1.

Tarleton Thumped

COMMERCE, Tex. (AP) — East Texas State's Aundra "Boomer" Thompson finished his career in style as he rushed for 218 yards to lead the Lions to a 44-13 Lone Star Conference victory over Tarleton State here Saturday.

FIESTA BOWL Nebraska Will Reconsider Bid

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Nebraska Coach Tom Osborne said Saturday his players would reconsider a bid to the Fiesta Bowl which they had rejected earlier. But he declined to predict how they would vote.

"That will be up to the players," Osborne said after Saturday's game. "I think we probably still have a chance to go to the Fiesta Bowl, but I don't know what they will decide," he said.

Osborne said the team probably will not vote until Sunday afternoon. Fiesta Bowl officials indicated Nebraska was still the first choice to oppose the Western Athletic Conference

Bulldogs Smack Hanover, 32-13

SEGUIN, Tex. (AP) — Quarterback Mike Washington rallied Texas Lutheran to a 22-point outburst in the third quarter as the Bulldogs came from behind Saturday to defeat Hanover College of Indiana 32-13 in an NAIA Division II semifinal football contest.

The victory put Texas Lutheran, the defending NAIA Division II champions, into the championship final with the winner of the California Lutheran-William Penn game played at Thousand Oaks, Calif.

In running their season mark to 10-1, the Lutherans had to come from an 11-8 halftime deficit.

Washington put the Bulldogs out front on their first possession of the third quarter when he skipped over for a touchdown from two yards out to cap a 6-play 42-yard march. Two minutes later, Texas Lutheran fullback Charles Franks scampered 30 yards for his second touchdown of the afternoon.

The Bulldogs closed out their third period explosion when, with 24 seconds left in the quarter, Washington hit flanker Brock Kalmbach on a 33-yard TD pass.

Franks had scored the first touchdown in the opening period on a one-yard run before Hanover's Terry Jeanes booted a 27-yard field goal early in second quarter. Hanover went ahead with five seconds left in the half as Scott Hinzman blasted over from one-yard out after the Panthers had recovered a blocked Texas Lutheran punt at the Texans 13.

Each team got a safety in second half.

Stanford Stumbles

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Chuck Muncie scored California's first four touchdowns, passed for a fifth and rushed for 166 yards Saturday to lead the Bears to a 48-15 defeat of Stanford and at least a share of the Pacific-8 football championship.

The four touchdowns by Muncie, who may have been playing his last collegiate game, equaled a school record and the senior tailback established several other records in the convincing victory before 88,000 fans at Stanford Stadium.

The 13th-ranked Bears finished the regular season with a 8-3 record. Their conference mark is 6-1.

Tech Tops SWC Poll

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Texas Tech got eight first place points to lead the preseason selections in the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal's Southwest Conference basketball poll.

The Red Raiders had a total of 120 points while Texas A&M and Arkansas, with two and three first-place votes each, tied for second place with 109 points.

The selection was made by a group of Texas newspaper sportswriters.

Southern Methodist, which also received two first-place votes, was third with 93½ points followed by Houston, 76½; Baylor, 64; Texas, 58; Texas Christian, 29; and Rice, 16.

Ira Terrell of Southern Methodist, who spent last year on probation, was voted "Player of the Year."

Voted to the preseason All-SWC team were: Otis Birdsong, 6-7, Jr., Sr., Texas Tech; Ira Terrell, 6-9, Sr., SMU; Sonny Parker, 6-5, Sr., Texas A&M; and Dan Kruger, 5-11, Sr., Texas.

Others who received votes in the "Player of the Year" balloting were Bullock, Birdsong and Parker.

Two Count Conviction

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Former football entrepreneur Rommie Loudd has been convicted of two counts of conspiracy to deliver cocaine in a trial his lawyers tried to open to live television and radio coverage.

A five-man, one-woman circuit jury deliberated four hours before returning the verdict Friday night.

Judge W. Rogers Turner set no date for sentencing Loudd, former managing general partner of the defunct Florida Blazers of the World Football League. The charge carries a maximum penalty of 30 years in prison.

Loudd, 33, who fought an eight-month court battle to avoid extradition from Boston to Florida, also faces trial later this month on charges of embezzling state sales tax money.

He was found guilty of arranging the sale of $4,800 worth of cocaine to an undercover agent after first handing him a small packet as a sample.

Loudd is a former linebacker at UCLA, played professional football in the National Football League and became personnel director of the New England Patriots.

He organized the Blazers primarily on a $1 million investment by David Williams, a millionaire Orlando motel owner.

League Title 1st Outright

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Harvard won its first outright Ivy League title ever Saturday when Mike Lynch kicked a 26-yard field goal with 33 seconds left to give the Crimson a 10-7 victory over arch-rival Yale.

With less than two minutes remaining and faced with a fourth and 12 situation, Harvard quarterback Jim Kubacki rifled a pass over the middle to Bob McDermott. The play carried to Yale's 14-yard line and set up Lynch's game-winning kick in the 100th anniversary of this rivalry.

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Dick Kravitz, 34, of Philadelphia, has been named general manager of the Wichita Aeros, the Chicago Cubs' farm club in the American Association.

He had been general manager of the Jacksonville Express of the World Football League. In 1973, when he was general manager of the Jacksonville Suns, he was named general manager of the year in AA baseball.

Kravitz was a pitcher and an assistant baseball coach at Temple University. He holds a master's in sports administration from Ohio University.

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—A memorial service will be held at the Swan Point Cemetery chapel Monday for John R. Aborn, a member of the Providence Journal-Bulletin sports staff for 50 years until his retirement last year.

Aborn, 74, died Friday at a nursing home in nearby Pawtucket. A 1922 Dartmouth College graduate, he worked briefly for the Manchester, N.H., Union-Leader before moving to Providence.

He became the Journal-Bulletin's first horse racing editor in 1934, also covering hockey in the winter. He served as secretary-treasurer of the New England Turf Writers Association for nearly 20 years.

VAL d'ISERE, France (AP)—Kim Mumford, 20, of Putney, Vt., is believed sidelined for the winter after fracturing her left leg in a fall while training with the U.S. Ski team.

The big push on building the Bonfire starts this weekend with hundreds of Aggies taking part in getting ready for their annual traditional gathering before the Texas A&M-Texas game.

BASKETBALL POLL Hoosiers Put In Number 1

By The Associated Press
The Indiana Hoosiers are the best college basketball team in the nation, according to The Associated Press' pre-season poll.

The Hoosiers, who lost only one game in 32 last season and finished third in the final poll, were put into the No. 1 position Saturday by a nationwide vote of sports writers and broadcasters.

Indiana collected 30 first-place votes and a total of 876 points in gaining the top spot over UCLA, last year's NCAA champion.

The Bruins, No. 1 after last season's victory over Kentucky in the NCAA final, were awarded only 13 ballots for first place and 782 points.

Both Indiana and UCLA were named on every ballot and one voter surprisingly placed the Bruins No. 10. Indiana received 11 votes for second, four for third and one for fourth. UCLA was accorded 22 votes for second place, as well as four each for third and fourth.

Maryland, one of the South's perennial powerhouse, finished third in the balloting with 564 points. The Terps were No. 5 in last season's final poll.

Marquette was placed fourth with 493 points, and North Carolina, Maryland's colleague in the Atlantic Coast Conference, was No. 5 with 453. The ACC had strong representation in the 1975-76 poll, placing North Carolina State in the No. 13 position.

Kentucky received two votes for first place and collected 395 points to place sixth. Notre Dame was awarded 281 points for seventh place, Louisville finished eighth with 259, Tennessee was ninth with 207 and Cincinnati 10th with 179. Tennessee got the only other first-place vote.

The remainder of the AP's elite included: No. 11 Arizona; No. 12 Alabama; No. 14 Kansas State; No. 15 San Francisco; No. 16 Michigan; No. 17 Providence; No. 18 Arizona State; No. 19 Memphis State, and Syracuse and Auburn, tied for No. 20.

Syracuse's low position was surprising, considering the Orangemen were in the NCAA's final four last year and finished No. 6 in the nation.

The AP's final 1975 Top Ten: UCLA, Kentucky, Indiana, Louisville, Maryland, Syracuse, North Carolina State, Arizona State, North Carolina and Alabama.

Wants Free Agent Claim

NEW YORK (AP)—Like Catfish Hunter, Andy Messersmith is a quality righthanded pitcher, a 20-game winner and an All-Star. His agent hopes the similarity doesn't end there.

The 30-year-old Messersmith wants to be declared a free agent and get his face on top of baseball's most wanted list, just like Hunter did last year. Hunter, who became a free agent because the Oakland A's breached his contract, put himself on the open market and closed the cash register only after the New York Yankees dropped in a five-year package worth more than $3 million.

Legally, Hunter's award of his freedom by arbitrator Peter Seitz does nothing for Messersmith.

WALTON THE ANOUNCER — Portland Trail Blazers center Bill Walton assists in a radio broadcast of the Portland-Philadelphia 76ers NBA game Friday night in Philadelphia. Walton, who has been out of action the last two games with an ankle injury watched his team beaten by the 76ers 131-111.

SIGNS OF GAME SPIRIT

Bonfires Reflect Moods

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—At T-minus seven days on the University of Texas campus, huge, colorful signs indicated there was more interest in Sigma Chi's "Derby Days" than the championship football game between Texas and Texas A&M.

The fraternity's outdoor carnival at the public park Saturday featured hundreds of sorority pledges in skirts, tug-of-wars, races and a mud fight.

As usual, however, the week before an A&M game, Texas' super fans were grumbling about "those damn Aggies," and a quiet intensity was settling over the Texas squad.

To Longhorn football players, the Aggie team has never been a joke.

Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant once commented, after Texas had whipped his Aggie team, that the Longhorns just seemed to hate A&M more than A&M did Texas.

Emotion and talent have given Texas Coach Darrell Royal's teams a one-sided 17-1 victory over margin over the Aggies, but next Friday at College Station, Tex., will be the first time Royal has sent a team against an unbeaten Aggie squad.

Third-ranked A&M, the finest defensive team in college football, is 9-0 for the year, may have to play without first-team quarterback Marty Akins.

Akins sprained his right knee eight days ago, and so many people, including apparent gamblers, have called to check on his condition that he fled his dormitory room.

"I'll bet I've had 1,000 calls—I'm not kidding," said Akins, sprawled against a blocking dummy at a Longhorn workout. "I had to leave my room. I got a girl to answer the phone, and I wrote three words on a piece of paper for her—'sprain,' 'rehabilitation' and 'doubtful.'"

Asked if he sensed any difference in the Longhorns' attitude at practice for A&M, Akins said, "There's no difference. Only that we usually have an open date and it gives us two weeks to concentrate—but nothing like that cheerleading process down there (at A&M)."

Akins was asked where one might see signs of spirit on the Texas campus.

"You go to A&M for that," he replied.

Nothing illustrates the contrast in the moods of the two campuses quite as clearly as the bonfires before the game each year.

"They use redwood trees and we toss on a couple of orange crates," said a Longhorn team observer.

Nevertheless, the sellout crowd of more than 53,000 at Kyle Field will include at least 13,423 Longhorns fans, who bought all the tickets that were available here.

And they'll be screaming just as hard as the A&M partisans—almost.

PHILADELPHIA AT DALLAS Vikings Charge Toward Seventh Central Title

By The Associated Press
It's a case of two teams rushing headlong in opposite directions.

The Minnesota Vikings, charging toward their seventh National Conference Central Division title in the last eight years, are undefeated in nine National Football League games this season.

The San Diego Chargers, charging toward what might be the worst season in their 16-year history—they were 2-11-1 two years ago—are winless in nine.

The two meet Sunday in Minnesota. And, barring what would have to rank as the biggest upset of the season, the two streaks appear destined to continue.

In Sunday's other NFL games, it's Oakland at Washington, St. Louis at the New York Jets, Philadelphia at Dallas, Baltimore at Miami, New England at Buffalo, Cincinnati at Cleveland, Chicago at Los Angeles, Denver at Atlanta, the New York Giants at Green Bay, Detroit at Kansas City and San Francisco at New Orleans. On Monday night it's Pittsburgh at Houston.

The main reason for Minnesota's success is, of course, Fran Tarkenton. The scrambling quarterback is closing in on a pair of Johnny Unitas passing records.

One of them—the most career completions—is almost certain to fall Sunday. Tarkenton needs just 14 completions to surpass Unitas' record of 2,830. He also is six touchdowns shy of Johnny U's 290, another career mark that seems sure to topple before the season ends.

Teaff Named South Coach

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Baylor's Grant Teaff was named Saturday to direct the South squad in the 38th annual Blue-Gray football game on Dec. 19.

It will be Teaff's second appearance in the college all-star contest in Cramton Bowl. He was head man for the South in 1973 when the North won 20-14.

Wooden Relaxes

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Twenty-seven years after he coached his first game at UCLA, John Wooden viewed his first game as a spectator from a seat 15 rows directly behind the chair he made famous.

The 65-year-old Wooden, who officially retired after winning his 10th National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball title last year, applauded politely when the 1975-76 Bruins of new Coach Gene Bartow were announced.

However, Wooden was on the edge of his seat for the entire first half Friday night and admitted later, "Yes, it's a little difficult to be here. But it's great to be here watching these fellows."

"I became very attached to this particular group and I'm a little anxious about them."

Wooden was given a gala testimonial at Pauley Pavilion on his birthday Oct. 14 and the following day "we left on a Caribbean cruise. It was something my wife Nellie wanted to do for a long time and we left the day practice started. I really wanted to get away."

Wooden and his wife sat in comfortable seats presented to them at the testimonial and Wooden said he would probably attend all Bruins home games. But he also has plans to act as color on a number of televised basketball games this season.

He said CBS wanted him to do some National Basketball Association games this season, but "I didn't want to tie myself down for an entire season, so I decided against that. But I may do some of the NBC 'Games of the Week.'"

Wooden said he long had felt that upon his retirement he leaves a decent team for his successor and after the Bruins had demolished the Australian Olympic team 88-56 with an awesome display, Wooden said:

"I didn't think I left the cupboard bare."

He said UCLA would be one of the nation's finest teams again this year and as for the Pacific-8 Conference, "I pick them over any team in the conference."

Wooden has been spending his time since returning from the cruise on a series of lectures at college campuses such as Kearney State, Weber State and Portland State. He said he has many other speaking engagements.

SCHOOLBOY PLAYOFFS Conroe Levels Killeen, 50-29

By The Associated Press
Two first round Texas schoolboy football playoff games were dream matches between No. 1 and 2 teams Friday night, with 4A kingpin Longview and 3A monarch Cuero proving their mettle.

More than 20,000 fans packed Texas Stadium near Dallas to see Longview wallop second-ranked Plano 26-0. The Lobos ground out 30 yards on the ground to Plano's 55.

Cuero had a much smaller crowd at Victoria as the Gobblers won their 42nd straight game, 14-2 over the No. 2 Class 3A team, Columbia.

The top-ranked teams in the other three classes had less prestigious bi-district opponents, but the results were the same.

Class 2A's Cameron aced Llano 24-0. Seagraves of Class A blanked Iraan 22-0 and Class B pacesetter Big Sandy punished Corsicana Mildred 6-6.

Possibly the biggest upset in Class 4A came as the fourth-ranked team in the final

No. 3 South Houston, No. 7 Brazoswood and No. 9 Richardson Lake Highlands played Saturday.

Although Cuero won, three other highly-rated Class 3A teams were defeated. Jacksonville clubbed No. 3 Jasper 33-7. South Grand

PanAm Strong

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — Pan American's independent basketball team posted a 22-2 record last year and could better that record this season with a quarterbacking guard who likes to pass and another backcourt star with a deadly scoring touch.

Jesus (Chuy) Guerra is the playmaker deluxe and Marshall Rogers is the gunner.

"Passing to an open teammate is a big part of my game," says Guerra. "I get a thrill when I pass off to somebody and he scores—the same thrill as if I scored myself. So, when I see somebody open beneath the basket, I try to kick it to him to score."

Obviously, the 6-foot-2 Rogers from St. Louis, Mo., knows where the hoop is with his 26 points per game scoring average last year. He gives a lot of the credit to Guerra.

"Playing with Chuy in the backcourt makes it a lot easier," says Rogers. "It doesn't take as much out of you to play alongside Chuy because if you get open, he'll give you the ball."

Rogers transferred from Kansas University because he wanted to play for Coach Abe Lemons.

Guerra, from Roma, Tex., will be in the starting lineup for the fourth straight year for the Broncs.

Also returning from last year's starting lineup are Gilbert King and John McDowell, both 6-5 forwards. King averaged almost 14 rebounds per game last year.

Rogers says "For us to go to a post season tournament is my first goal. My personal goal is for me to be in the top three scoring—at least."

The Broncs open the season Nov. 29 at Fort Worth against Texas Christian. Their first home game is Dec. 6 against Arkansas State.

Lemons is already thinking about next year when he loses his two dynamic guards.

"You notice that Marshall and Chuy are seniors—I'm going to find out where they're going next year and transfer with them," says Lemons.

CURT GOWDY
No Longer No. 1

Garagiola Steps To Center Stage

NEW YORK (AP) — A question of power arose after it was learned that the National Broadcasting Company was dropping announcer Curt Gowdy on its network baseball and college basketball telecasts.

Gowdy, one Associated Press source reported Friday, was offered the job on NBC's backup baseball Game of the Week in an apparent effort to ease him out of the spotlight he has held since the 1960s. He has handled play-by-play on five of the nine Super Bowls, covered the World Series since 1964 and the Rose Bowl since 1966—making him the voice of several of the most-watched sportscasts—along with the baseball and football Game of the Week shows.

Gowdy refused the graceful step to the background in the two sports, it was learned, although neither he nor NBC officials was available for comment. The network's only statement was that "NBC's long association with Curt Gowdy will continue under our existing agreement and details of his 1976 assignments are yet to be determined."

NBC Sports boss Carl Lindemann Jr. went to Gowdy's Florida home to advise him of the network's decision.

His place on the network's baseball coverage, limited to Saturday games now by the sport's contractual agreement with ABC beginning next season, will

Coahoma Cops Two Contests

FORSAN — Coahoma won two of three basketball games from Forsan here Friday night, losing only the girls' JV contest, 35-33. In that one, Jaylene Saunders counted 13 points for Forsan and Melissa Brown ten for Coahoma.

Coahoma's margin in the girls' varsity game was 61-41, and Becky Snell played a big role with 29 points. For the losers, Metha Strickland counted 21.

Coahoma won the boys' contest, 65-42, in a game that saw Forsan fail to connect from the foul line. The Buffaloes, now 1-1 on the year, got only two free shot opportunities.

Coahoma had four players in double figures, Gary Roberts leading the way with 18 points. Brad Stevens paced Forsan with ten.

The Forsan varsity teams host Bronte Tuesday night. Forsan's JV girls are 4-2 on the year while the varsity girls have won only one in six outings.

Coahoma will be at home to Greenwood Monday and ventures to Stanton for games Tuesday.

WTSU Under Investigation

CANYON, Tex. (AP) — Gene Mayfield, Athletic Director of West Texas State University, says the alleged violations that sparked an investigation of the school's basketball program by the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) were "minor" and "done in good faith."

"We are disappointed," Mayfield, who is also the football coach, said late Friday shortly after it was disclosed that the school's basketball program was being investigated by the NCAA. "We will answer the allegations when we go before the NCAA infractions committee," he added.

Mayfield said the allegations involved "offers made to a player" that was sought but not signed by West Texas State. "I believe they involved some meals," he said. "I really do not think it is a serious matter," he added. "It was done in good faith, but we don't know how the NCAA feels about it."

Mayfield said the school must answer the allegation in writing to the NCAA infractions committee by Dec. 8.

Jack Bullock, the school's NCAA faculty representative, said the official probe was launched after a preliminary inquiry by the NCAA and the Missouri Valley Conference of which WTS is a member.

Bullock said West Texas "will respond to the allegations and matters should come to a head sometime next month."

He said only that the allegations were "relative to recruiting practices." Coach Ron Ekker and Bullock declined to comment on the allegations.

case to the NCAA infractions committee, but, before that, it will be heard by the Missouri Valley Conference at the league's fall meeting Dec. 3-4. The league also could take action against the university if the alleged violations were proved and considered serious enough.

This is the second time West Texas has come under the watchful eye of the NCAA. The first was in 1965 when the school was placed on a year's probation without sanctions. At that time West Texas was found in violation of a provision governing financial assistance to student athletes.

SHOULD PATIENTS BE ALLOWED TO 'SLIP AWAY'?

Doctors Walk 'Tightrope' Between Life And Death

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The gentle-eyed doctor turns to the father and says softly: "Tony, would you give me permission to do what I think is best? Because Mary isn't Mary anymore. This is still your child, but this isn't Mary."

This is no callous litany, no bargaining-table rhetoric. This is a sad dialogue, played over and over perhaps thousands of times a year across the nation.

It varies from case to case: the failing lives of the very old, the very young, the very hurt. It is a compromise between the doctor, dedicated to maintaining life and alleviating suffering, and the reality that he cannot always in good conscience do one without sacrificing the other.

SLIP AWAY

The Karen Ann Quinlan case in Morristown, N.J., only exposes what many others have already encountered — the need to let someone slip away, an elderly father or mother, a damaged child.

That many doctors do it routinely, that some may not even ask permission, that even the Roman Catholic concept of Natural Law weighs against keeping a semblance of life by extraordinary means, none of these things makes the decision easy, nor softens the terrible wear on family and doctor alike.

Doctors view the Karen Ann Quinlan case with misgivings. It has prodded some of them into a frank and public discussion of death. They fear that society may try to generalize rules that bind them to a course they cannot in good conscience follow. Each patient, they say, is first a person who lives his own life and dies his own death.

So when Dr. Paul Patterson, pediatrician, gently asks a parent for permission to do what he thinks is best, he is neither alone nor without precedent.

MAKE THE DECISION

"I would ask, would you give me permission to do any additional therapy or withdrawal as might be necessary," Dr. Patterson, professor of pediatrics at the Albany, N.Y., Medical Center, says. "And they would all say yes, which is interesting. It was really a disguised way. The people would say, 'Oh doctor, I'm so glad. We've been hoping someone would make this decision...'"

"But this I learned gradually, by having doctors turn their patients over to me: Someone has to be captain of the ship. Someone has to be in charge."

When he first came to Albany from Harvard nearly 20 years ago, he found hydrocephalic babies in the ward, their heads swelling with fluids because drainage channels had not developed during pregnancy. They were being fed by tube, their brains already damaged. He ordered the nurses to take out the tubes, offer the babies formula in a bottle. The nurses protested that the infants could not suck.

DEAD BRAINS

The nurses met with the hospital chaplain who told them the Catholic Church did not hold that human life should be supported by extraordinary means.

The babies, placed on formula, of course died. In at least six states today — Colorado, California, Kansas, Michigan, Oregon and West Virginia — the babies would be considered dead anyway because their brains had ceased to function.

Although doctors have made compromises with death throughout history, the problem is more acute today. Intensive care units, machines that breathe for a patient, circulate and cleanse his blood, tubes that drip nutrients into the bloodstream or directly to the stomach through the nose, all of these things in consort with powerful antibiotics keep patients alive.

Patients in coma, in pain, without working lungs, working brains, kidneys, livers, survive. Little of this was possible 20 years ago.

TEMPORARY HELP

"By and large these are critically ill patients, many of whom have failures of organ systems that temporary measures will help little," says Dr. Frederic Herter, neurosurgeon at Columbia Presbyterian Hospital, New York.

"And yet the pressure is on, because we have an intensive care unit, to use it, to keep these patients alive. And by golly we do keep them alive. A large number survive and go home."

But Dr. Herter finds the follow-up studies more interesting than the fact "we put them through this spectacular tour de force." The studies are discouraging. Many patients are dead within a year of the same ailment they were treated for.

True, machines are of great value in some acute illnesses — say a child who has eaten poison, or someone who takes an overdose of narcotics, or anyone in an acute phase of a treatable and reversible disease.

"But if you take a person with chronic pulmonary disease, chronic heart failure who has sustained another insult to the heart, or somebody with badly diseased kidneys, you've got to ask yourself," says Dr. Herter, "if you're really doing anybody any good prolonging life for a number of hours, days or months."

COST IS HIGH

The cost is high — $500 a day for a comatose patient on a respirator at Columbia Presbyterian's intensive care unit. The charge is similar elsewhere. And a coma is not a pretty thing.

"I think when people think of a coma they have a picture of a Sleeping Beauty kind of existence," says Dr. Joseph O'Brien, Columbia-Presbyterian neurologist. "But when a person begins to treat a patient in coma, one finds the situation is far from that."

To be hooked to the respirator, a patient must have an aperture cut in his windpipe and special attachments inserted. Nurses watch constantly to change the attachments and suction fluids. The patient is catheterized to remove urine. He is fed either by nasogastric tube or intravenously.

He is prone to infections of the kidney, bladder, windpipe, lungs. Then there are bedsores and muscle cramps.

"I would term the use of a respirator and all its attendant problems certainly an extraordinary means to the problem even extends to the newborn nursery."

"We have all these instruments to help premature and small babies," he says. "We work like the dickens to keep one of these children alive, only to give society a real brain-damaged child."

There are other yardsticks. "What may be extraordinary treatment for an 80-year-old man not be extraordinary for a 25-year-old," says Dr. O'Brien.

MAKING JUDGMENTS

"We're making judgments every day," says Dr. Herter. There are a limited number of respirators, and limits to trained staff. Infrequently, they have to turn patients down.

There is also the dilemma of whom? A young patient with a chance of recovery but in need of life support is admitted to the hospital after an auto accident. Does he have a priority to the use of a respirator occupied by a chronically ill elderly patient?

Doctors don't feel alone in the decision making. There is a shadowy jury of conflicting values and stances in the background — the family, the patient himself, and inevitably society and its laws.

"Medical ethics are decided by the public, not by physicians," says Dr. Patterson. Sometimes a doctor is left to confront his own conscience.

AGAINST 'COOK BOOK'

"I don't think we have any answers to this," says Dr. Herter. "We really don't. The ethical aspects are still subject to do much individual interpretation. I am strongly against laying out an ethical cookbook as to how to take care of these people. So much depends on the relationship between the doctor, the family and the patient. Just how good the communication is..."

The first thing at any rate is a complete explanation to the family. Then the other imponderables set in.

"You get into the strangest things," one doctor explains. "We had a patient like this on our floor last week. The family was talked to and they were strongly against any heroic measures to keep their father alive. He had heart disease, cancer and his brain was not working."

"So armed with that statement, the house staff officer went over to his respirator and turned down the oxygen so that the oxygen light went off."

"The special nurse came up to me and asked if I realized the oxygen light was off. 'It can't be left like that,' she said. And I said the family has been talked to about this and they really don't want any more done. The staff officer has complied with their wishes."

OFF AND ON

"The nurse went and turned the oxygen back on. She just could not do it. She could have absolutely no part of this conspiracy."

"And we had this running, silly little game. The nurse turning it on and the house staff turning it off. But that's exactly how complicated it is. Because every person involved is making these decisions and has to dig down pretty deep inside."

The threat of malpractice, distrust of the doctor, distrust of the family, also help set the stage. Many doctors in emergency situations will leave no medical treatment undone, for fear of a lawsuit. Knowing the fragility of life and their own inadequacies, the imperfection of human judgment, some doctors will reach for technology to spare themselves trouble. The result — an irrecoverable patient on a respirator.

The family follows suit, suffering the self-reproach of wishing a loved one dead, but not being able to say so.

"Remember," says Dr. Patterson, "this is repeated thousands of times every day probably, all over this country. And so, seeing someone kept alive, whom you love and wish they didn't have to suffer any more, this is pretty cruel on the part of us, bragging as medical scientists we can keep anyone alive we want to. If this isn't sadism of the first water..."

"Everybody in the present aspect is thinking only of Karen, and her rights — not thinking of the suffering that everyone connected with Karen has. I suspect the child's doctor is feeling guilty too."

"You don't have to actively pull out a plug in a literal sense," says Dr. Herter. "There are so many subtle ways to allow a patient to die which are far easier to take. Simply not watching what the serum electrolytes are doing. You know they are going to get into imbalance."

"Or then you're not very assiduous about following certain things. And in a relatively short time the patient goes to sleep. And everyone feels okay about that. It's a very thin tightrope you walk between the kind of active participation in a person's death — deliberate — and active participation through negligence."

In some cases, the patient intervenes. The doctor finds himself presented with a document called a living will. It is signed by the patient, witnessed and addressed to anyone involved in his care. One put out by the Euthanasia Education Council says, "If the situation should arise in which there is no reasonable expectation of my recovery from physical or mental disability, I request that I be allowed to die and not be kept alive by artificial means or 'heroic measures'."

USEFUL GUIDE

"I think it is a useful thing," says Dr. Herter. "Obviously it's not legally binding. But if a patient comes in and says, look, here is the will I've made out, it is a useful guide to the managing physician."

"It does not give him carte blanche to give an overdose of morphine, but the general direction of care can be influenced. Why do you need an orderly coming in and taking your temperature four times a day when you don't give a damn what the temperature is? It's just bothersome."

"If we are really going to take the attitude of 'let's keep so-and-so comfortable, peaceful,' there are many ways in which we can do it. And I think, knowing this is the attitude of the patient, helps."

After it is all over, many doctors see their work still unfinished. There is, still, the family.

"If you bring the family in, the mother cries immediately," says Dr. Patterson. "The father doesn't. He tries to comfort her a little bit, and acts a little angry that she's carrying on this way. I've found you have to get up, touch his arm and say, 'John, why don't you go ahead and cry,' and leave the room. Men have to get permission to cry."

"When someone dies, I always try to have the relatives come and see me again one month after death," Dr. Patterson says. "They are generally full of self-reproach, wondering if they had done all that might be done. They also wonder about a hereafter."

'WE CRY TOO'

"I say I've thought of a hereafter many times. I say I've always wished there were a hereafter, having lost people in my own family. I've sort of come to the conclusion that we all have the instinct to love, to love, to procreate, to do many things. And I've noticed that all men, all religions believe in a hereafter."

"Maybe this is an instinct God gave us to let us know this isn't finality or the end. And the family will say, that's the most logical explanation they've heard. And they want to believe it."

The ordeal and the duty, the sadness and self-reproach are played out. The doctor knows that because of his chosen profession he will encounter it again.

"You know," says Dr. Patterson, leaning over his cluttered desk, "we're only human. And we cry too."

"That's why I have that on my door," and he points to a small bolt that he can lock from the inside.

... prolongs life? Or extends death?

Invention Of Machines Raises Questions Of Life, Death

By TROY BRYANT

The invention of machines which can substitute for parts of the human body and prolong life in the intensive care ward has raised many legal and moral questions in the past several years. The spotlight on one particular recent case has stirred many to search their souls for their feelings on the subject of life and death.

Karen Ann Quinlan, being kept "alive" by the use of a respirator in an intensive care unit in New Jersey, is the principal in that case. Her parents asked a state court in New Jersey for permission to turn off the respirator to allow her to "die with dignity."

Even though the court refused permission, many persons who have heard of the case or of the many similar cases, have their own opinions on the matter.

LITTLE PUSH

Dr. Neil Sanders, an eye, ear, nose, and throat specialist who has practiced in Big Spring since 1945, addressed herself to the medical side of the question, while Big Spring attorney Wayne Basden offered his views on the legal side.

"I very firmly believe that we shouldn't do anything to harm anyone," Dr. Sanders said. "So, as long as there is any hope of recovery I don't think that we ought to give a patient, who is being kept alive with a respirator, that little push that sends them into eternity."

Brain waves, a criteria used sometimes to determine if a patient is dead, is not really that significant, according to Dr. Sanders. "There are documented cases in which people have functioned without brain waves for a long time and then later regained consciousness and were able to live," she said.

NO EXTRAORDINARY AID

However, Dr. Sanders said "We do not use extraordinary measures to keep people alive. By extraordinary, I mean we don't hook them up with a tube and keep every system functioning. If the respirator is all they need to keep going, if the heart and other systems are functioning for a reasonable length of time then we will do it." We would expect that after a period of time, they would be able to make it without that aid.

She pointed out that "extraordinary measures" mainly concerned the use of the respirators on comatose patients and that many persons here in Big Spring are kept alive by a pacemaker regulating their heart-beat.

KAREN 'HAS LIFE' About the Quinlan case, Dr.

Sanders said that although she had not seen the case documented in medical journals, she has read in a news story that Karen has some movement of her body. "So, I think she still has life," she said.

Dr. Sanders is opposed to state or federal statutes governing the use of medical equipment in "extraordinary measures" because she believes that each case is different and that there are no black and white rules that can apply.

"I don't want the responsibility of making the decision in the hands of the parents, those who should be most interested in it, who may say 'Oh, let disconnect the thing and give her a little boost,'" she said. "I don't want to have to buck this. I would be pushing the other direction, as apparently Karen's doctors are, to let her strictly alone and see if she makes it."

REASONABLE TIME

"You should certainly use every method you can to keep the patient alive for a reasonable length of time. A reasonable length of time might be a few hours or a few months," she concluded, depending on age and condition.

Basden researched the legal side of the question and found that there is really no law that defines when death occurs, but that statutes do say that a person is dead when the heart stops, when he is no longer breathing, and when a person is an official capacity renders a verdict of death.

DEATH OBVIOUS

"We have our Peace Justice's here, who are in attendance at a death, especially if it's in question, and they decide if the person is dead or in a hospital, the doctor decides," he said.

"In the case of the JP's, you usually don't have much question about the death, because it is usually obvious, but in the case of the person who is critically ill in the hospital, the doctor must decide."

"When you get a case where the patient has a brain-wave test and it shows the brain is simply not functioning, but through the assistance of the machines they have been able to develop, his heart and lungs are functioning. It is much like having a car with the key on and the motor running, but with no driver."

HAVE THEORY

Basden said that the popular idea of when life begins and ends is that life is synonymous with brain waves. Life is said to begin in the third month of pregnancy when the brain starts its activity and ends with the cessation of brain waves, but if that is true, than an abortion after the third month is murder.

The withholding of medical aid, or turning off a respirator in a case similar to the Quinlan case, to allow a hopelessly ill person to die is defined by Basden as negative euthanasia, while the willful act, such as injecting air into the veins of a patient in that situation is positive euthanasia.

NOT LEGAL QUESTION

Euthanasia, or mercy-killing, is actually a widely accepted practice when it is the negative type. A judge in a trial in the northeast United States refused to consider a case of negative euthanasia because he said it is a medical, moral, and religious question, rather than a legal one.

Basden quoted a survey of doctors and lawyers in the state of Washington, which found that 90 per cent of those surveyed were in favor of negative euthanasia, but only 17 per cent were in favor of the positive euthanasia.

MURDER

What's the difference between euthanasia and murder as defined by state law? Basden said, "Murder is an intentional or knowledgeable act which causes the death of a person or if in committing a felony or attempting to commit a felony a person is killed. Of course there is negligent homicide and criminally negligent homicide, but they are all specific acts which cause death."

"Negative euthanasia is the refusal of help or withholding of aid which is needed in order for the person to continue to survive. Positive euthanasia is an act which causes a person's death, when there is no reasonable hope of the person ever regaining consciousness or ever being aware of anything around them or when brain waves have ceased."

COURTS CALL IT MURDER

"I believe most courts right now would call the positive euthanasia murder," he added.

Basden said that some religions, including Catholicism, allow a person to take his own life if he believes himself a burden on his family because of his illness and that he would not recover.

No one knows if Karen Quinlan will someday recover from her illness if she is left on the machine, nor can anyone say that the doctors are right or wrong in keeping her on the machines because the question of life or death for Karen seems to be a question of personal moral and religious beliefs.

Teachers Meet Tuesday For Luncheon

Members of the Retired Teachers Association met for a Thanksgiving luncheon at the Downtown Tea Room on Tuesday.

The invocation was given by Slater Johnson.

Mrs. Jimmy Ray Smith reviewed "From the Book" by John Hutto, a former teacher in Howard County. The book depicts the life of the early settler beginning with the life of the Comanche Indians who settled near the Big Spring.

Mrs. Smith showed slides during her review.

Mrs. Lena Heaton of South Dakota and Dole Vaughn were guests.

The next meeting will be on Dec. 16. The Westside Choir will entertain.

Christmas Activities Begin For State Hospital Residents

Christmas festivities are already underway for residents of the Big Spring State Hospital as area organizations prepare celebrations for the residents.

Commencing the Christmas season was the annual patient shopping trip to Woolworth's on Thursday.

W. R. Prindible, store manager, and his staff opened the store that evening for a shopping spree. RSVP volunteers, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Brown, Mrs. Opal Covington, Mrs. Sallie Hodo, Mrs. Florence Casey, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sullivan and Mrs. Dorothy Hill, assisted with residents' purchases.

Doughnuts and hot chocolate provided by Woolworth's were served during the evening.

BSSH Chapel Christmas activities will include the First Baptist Church youth group at 2 p.m., Dec. 7. The Nuts and Bolts of First United Methodist Church will sing at 3 p.m., Dec. 14, followed by an open house and tours of the hospital. The Christ Lutheran Church of Odessa will carol in the units at 4:30 p.m., Dec. 14.

The annual Christmas services will begin at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 17 with James Kinman conducting the service.

The Central Baptist Church youth group from Odessa will entertain the residents at 2 p.m., Dec. 20. The First Methodist Church handbell choir will perform

Couple Weds In Elbow

Mr. and Mrs. Murrel Loudamy of Big Spring announce the marriage of their daughter, Mrs. Pat Smith, to Jimmy Darrell Low of Big Spring.

He is the son of Mrs. Orrie Low, also of Big Spring.

The couple was married Friday evening in the Elbow Baptist Church with the Rev. Mack Alexander officiating.

Attending the bride were her daughters, Lisa and Lee Ann Smith.

The bridegroom's sons, Keven and Monty Low, served as groomsmen.

The newlyweds were honored at a reception given by the parents of the bride in their home.

WEDDING ANNOUNCED. Mrs. Joe Jabors, Big Spring and Carlton Adams, Big Sandy, Texas, announce the marriage of their daughter, Terri Adams, Big Spring to Charlie Campbell, Big Spring. Charlie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Campbell, Big Spring. The wedding ceremony was held November 22, 1975 in the home of the bridegroom's parents. A reception was held following the ceremony.

Mrs. Clark Honored At Gift Shower

A bridal shower was given Tuesday evening to honor Mrs. Bobby Clark, the former Debbie Slaughter. The shower was held in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room.

Mrs. Clark was presented with a white corsage. Her mother, Mrs. O. L.

Hostesses were Mrs. Terry Walton, Mrs. Buddy Andrews, Mrs. Tal Ashley, Mrs. Frank Perry, Mrs. Homer Conner and Mrs. Carl Dale Reid.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with a white lace-trimmed cloth centered with a bouquet of cut flowers in pastel shades.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark were married Nov. 7 in the Trinity Baptist Church and are making their home in San Angelo.

Decorating Tip For Cookies

Need inspiration for decorating holiday cookies? Copy the design of Christmas tree ornaments. Use ready-to-spread frosting then decorate with candies, colored sugars, candied fruits, coconut or nuts. Families love home-baked cookies and it's easy to be artistic. You may find some creations unusual enough to use as ornaments on the tree itself.

Miss Menser Weds In Home

Miss Jerriann Menser and Lt. Lawrence Lee Lott Jr. were wed in a ceremony held in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Menser, 401 N. College, Coahoma, Saturday evening. Lott is the son of Mrs. Emile Hoag and Lawrence L. Lott Sr., both of Covington, La.

The Rev. James Anders of Odessa officiated at the ceremony. Mrs. Guy White, organist, provided wedding music during the ceremony. The couple stood before an arch accented with greenery, talisman roses and white mums. Branched candelabra flanked the arch. The bride chose to wear a formal length dress of candlelight voile designed with a fitted bodice and a full gathered skirt enhanced with a ruffle. The bodice featured a lace inset and high collar. The long full sleeves were gathered into deep cuffs accented with lace. The waistline was marked with a satin band. She wore a matching garden hat and carried a bouquet of coral talisman roses and greenery surrounding a white orchid.

Miss Lisa Taylor of Austin attended the bride as maid of honor. Mrs. Mark Middleton of Abilene was the bridal attendant. Mrs. Julie Mintz of Australia was the honorary matron of honor.

The attendants wore formal-length dresses of coral Indian gauze and carried nosegays of orchids and coral talisman roses. Randy Hoag, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man with Lt. Mark Middleton of Abilene as groomsmen.

Layne Mims was the altar taper lighter. A reception held after the ceremony honored the newlyweds. Miss Melinda Reid registered guests.

Refreshments were served from a table laid with an ivory cutwork cloth centered with the bridal bouquets. Crystal and silver appointments were used. Serving were Mrs. Joe Anderson, Mrs. Eddie Engel, Mrs. Wallace Reid, Mrs. Bill Mims and Mrs. Quinon Reid. After a wedding trip to Los Angeles, Calif., the couple will reside in Riverside, Calif.

The bride is a graduate of Coahoma High School and attended Miss Wade's Merchandising College in Dallas and Howard College. She has worked as a freelance model in Dallas and was employed with the Soil Conservation Service.

Lott is a graduate of Covington High School and Louisiana State University. He is stationed with SAC at March Air Force Base, Calif.

Out-of-town relatives attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Emile Hoag and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence L. Lott Sr. of Covington, La. and the E. L. Duenzls of Grapevine.

Forsan Report

Brenda Cowley and her roommate at Angelo State University spent a recent weekend with Brenda's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cowley. The two girls and Mrs. Cowley attended the UIL Marching Band Contest in Odessa on Nov. 13.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McCall were Mrs. Dana Commack and her daughter of Lovington, N.M.; Mrs. Shirley Sue Sherbahn and her son of Eagle River, Alaska; Mr. and Mrs. Herrell Idlemann of Kenia, Alaska; and Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Parker of O'Donnell.

Mrs. Lee Doyle was recently honored at a baby shower given by the members of the Dorcas Sunday School class. The shower was held in the Forsan Baptist Church.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with a white linen cloth. A yellow lace swan centered the table. Pioneer Sewing Club members met in the home of Mrs. Henry Park Tuesday afternoon.

The members made plans for the Christmas party slated for 2 p.m., Dec. 11 in the ranch home of Mrs. V. E. Phillips.

Secret pals will be revealed. Members will draw names for the secret pals for the next three months.

Mrs. Lurlene Rogers of Big Spring is a new member. Members with completed projects for nursing home patients should bring the items to the next meeting.

A baby shower honoring Mrs. Johnny Pickett was held Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Bob Cowley.

Hostesses for the shower were Ms. Evelyn Cowley, Ms. Denie Riffe, Ms. Pat Barron, Ms. Bernetta Gaston, Ms. Susan Gaston, Ms. Ellen Eudy, and Ms. Dorothy Kilgore.

The hostesses presented Mrs. Pickett with a baby walker and gown.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with a linen cloth.

Rebekahs, Odd Fellows Attend Meeting

Members of the Rebekah Lodge 284 and local Odd Fellows and Rebekahs attended a fellowship meeting last Saturday evening in Snyder.

Activities during the evening included a salad supper, a musician show and a "Womanless Wedding" performed by the Odd Fellows of Big Spring and Snyder.

Lodge officers of Texas present included H. O. Trent, deputy grand master from Denver City; H. K. McIntire, junior past grand master from Odessa; and P. W. McClendon, secretary from Corsicana.

Lodges represented at the fellowship were Odessa, Big Spring, Midland, Snyder, Denver City, Big Lake, Menard and Corsicana.

Music was provided by the Mullin Lodge 372 of Big Spring.

The refreshment committees for the last two Tuesday meetings of the Rebekah Lodge 284 were Mrs. Mabel Morrison, Mrs. Gladys Sudberry, Mrs. Coryenne Cunningham, Mrs. Ruth Wilson and Mrs. Maudie Jones.

Mary Dudley Speaks To Coahoma Sorority

Mrs. Mary Dudley reviewed the history of women's rights for the members of the Coahoma Alpha Beta Omicron chapter Beta Sigma Phi at the Tuesday evening meeting in the home of Mrs. Karen Frette.

Mrs. Dudley stated that the Quaker Church was the first group to give women equality.

To illustrate the dedication of suffragettes, Mrs. Dudley cited that Susan B. Anthony presented her proposal for women's rights to vote to the legislature every year from 1878 to 1906.

During the business meeting a letter of thanks was read from the girls at Girstown in Whiteface for the club's contributions during the past year.

Sorority members made tentative plans to take cosmetic items to the girls on Dec. 13.

Members approved plans to serve dinner to two shut-in families on Thanksgiving day.

A Christmas party for members and their husbands will be held at 6:30, Dec. 6 at the Spanish Inn. After dinner the party will move to the home of Mrs. Jeanne Gaffard where white elephant gifts will be exchanged.

A committee was appointed to assist Alpha Beta Kappa with the decorations for the Valentine Ball.

A pledge ritual for Mrs. Beverly Smithie will be held during the next meeting, slated at 7 p.m., Dec. 2 in the home of Mrs. Jo Ogle. Mrs. Ogle will give the program.

Best Baked Early

Fruit cakes, symbol of the holidays, should be baked at least three or four weeks ahead of time. The waiting is worth while because the cake needs time to mellow to its peak flavor and texture.

Poppy Day Proceeds Totaled

The American Legion Auxiliary received a report on the success of the recent Poppy Day at the Thursday evening meeting in the Legion Hall.

Final tabulations totaled $616.77 from the poppy sale. One-third of the proceeds will be donated to the Veterans Administration Hospital rehabilitation department. The remainder will be used by the auxiliary for projects and activities for the veterans.

Mrs. Ernest Grubaugh, Mrs. Matt Mooney and Clarence Grubaugh were thanked for decorating the dining hall of the VA Hospital for Veteran's Day.

During Dec. 7-11, members of the Auxiliary will assist in the hospital gift shop. Veterans will select gifts for their families free of charge during that time.

The auxiliary and legion will have a Christmas dance on Dec. 22 at the Legion Hall.

The next meeting will be at 8 p.m., Dec. 4 at the Legion Hall.

Installation Held For Officers

The American Gold Star Mothers installed officers for the coming year at the Thursday morning meeting in the home of Mrs. T. D. Peacock.

Mrs. Herbert Smith, second vice president; Mrs. Truett Thomas, secretary and Mrs. T. D. Peacock, treasurer. The installing officer was Mrs. F. H. Talbot with Mrs. A. W. Moody as installing chaplain. Members attended a coffee fellowship prior to the meeting. Mrs. Rogers presided at the business meeting. Mrs. Moody reported that 46 patients were served refreshments on Wednesday at the Veterans Administration Hospital. The veterans were entertained by the Jack and Jill Melody Makers. Members will decorate the Christmas tree in the VA hospital lobby at 9:30 a.m., Dec. 2. A business meeting will be held after the tree decoration. The American Gold Star Mothers will distribute gifts to the veterans in the VA Hospital on Dec. 22.

Bridge Club Welcomes New Member

The Newcomers Bridge Club welcomed Mrs. Naomi McNairy as a new member during the Wednesday morning meeting held in the Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room. Mrs. Kathy Prindible was the hostess.

Guests attending the meeting were Mrs. Mary Chapman and Mrs. Judy Robison. Winners of the bridge contest were Mrs. Stephanie Roll, high; Mrs. Gretchen Sprinkle, second; and Mrs. Judy Robison, bridge-o. Mrs. Susan Schrimsher won the door prize. The next meeting will be at 9:30 a.m., Dec. 2 in the Flame Room. All women are invited to the bridge competition. For more information contact Mrs. Kathy Prindible at 263-8015.

Chill Dough For Cut Cookies

Roll-and-cut cookies are easier to handle when the dough is chilled. A pastry cloth, lightly sprinkled with flour, and a stockinette rolling pin cover, help prevent the dough from sticking. Dip cookie cutters into flour before pressing into dough. And when you re-roll the trimmings, merely lay them together with edges slightly overlapping and press with a rolling pin.

Dear Abby Seductive Sister Shocked When Bait Catches In-Law

DEAR ABBY: My husband (I'll call him "Bud") and I have been married for three years and were thinking about starting a family until this came up. (I'm 26 and Bud is 28). Five months ago, my sister, who just got divorced moved in with us until she could get herself together. She's 29 and the "beauty" of the family, but she's always after somebody's man. Bud never paid her any attention in front of me, so I wasn't worried. Then this terrible thing happened. Sis called me at work and told me Bud tried to rape her! I was so stunned I nearly fainted. I got home as soon as possible, and all Bud could say was, "I thought that's what she wanted the way she always paraded around in a see-through nightgown." Sis said she didn't even own one, but I knew she was lying because I'd seen it when I did the laundry. Sis said this was the second time he tried it, but she didn't tell me because she didn't want to make trouble. Abby, explain the difference between "rape" and "molest." Sis told the family it was "rape," but Bud didn't tear her clothes off or even touch her. All he did was proposition her. Also, wasn't it partly her fault for enticing him? I still love my husband, but I don't trust him. Whose fault was all this? Shouldn't my sis move? Answer soon.

CONFUSED: DEAR CONFUSED: There was no rape involved. Apparently, your sister tantalized your husband and he propositioned her, and that's all there was to it. Yes, your sis should move. Buy her a flannel nightgown as a farewell present and get yourself a see-through nightie. DEAR ABBY: We have been married for 38 years. My husband has been reading very dirty pocket-books and magazines that dirty men he works with give him. He's been reading them for many years.

I have always claimed that this excessive arousal would make him impotent. He never believed me. Now at age 60, he no longer gets aroused from these dirty pictures — or even from me! He has gone completely impotent. Please tell me, Abby, can a man become impotent from looking at too many dirty pictures over the years? If he can, please write a whole column on it so men won't be so dumb. CHIC. TRIB. READER

DEAR READER: It won't require a whole column to advise you that a man cannot become impotent from looking at too many "dirty" pictures. He may become bored with them, but impotent — no way! DEAR ABBY: Four months ago, I met this man. He's 22, handsome, sweet and kind. He's new in this city and lives down the street in a boarding home. I suppose I should be honest and tell you that we had sex the first time we were together, and I've been going to his place as often as I can ever since. Last week he said his landlady doesn't approve of my coming to visit him, and she wants it stopped. How old am I? Just 14. My parents don't let me take company, and I have to sneak out to see him, but I can't stay away from him. I don't want to get hurt, but I haven't the willpower to stop. Please help. YOUNG AND FOOLISH

DEAR YOUNG: You named yourself appropriately. This man has used you, and now he is trying to tell you that he's lost interest in you. You are a minor, and as such, you could both be in serious trouble if the landlady decides to call the law. Stay away from him! He's bad news! CONFIDENTIAL TO MY READERS: Thinking about Thanksgiving? If you are planning a holiday dinner, why not make it a true time of giving thanks and share it with someone who might otherwise be forgotten? Is there an elderly person down the block who lives alone? Why not call the nursing home nearest you and ask them to select a resident who would enjoy Thanksgiving with a family. Then provide transportation. Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

America's First Holiday

Although the Pilgrims of the Massachusetts Colony celebrated the first Thanksgiving in 1621, the traditional Thanksgiving held on the last Thursday in November was established by proclamation by President George Washington in 1789. Our first President and the Congress agreed to establish a day of public thanksgiving to offer thanks in the tradition of our Pilgrim forefathers for the opportunity to establish a nation based on the principles of freedom. As we approach the 200th Anniversary of the United States, we should pause and be grateful for the opportunity to live in a land where peace and freedom are our sacred rights guaranteed in a Constitution and based on a tradition which was started more than 350 years ago by a group of Pilgrims seeking religious freedom in a new land.

Miss Trevino Weds Cris Duron Use Safe Methods In Saturday Morning Service When Thawing Turkey

Miss Leticia Trevino and Cris Duron exchanged wedding vows in a ceremony held Saturday morning in the Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Evaristo Trevino, 608 NW Fourth. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Santos Duron, 102 NW Eighth.

The Rev. James P. Delaney united the couple before four large arrangements of bronze and yellow mums and poms. Matching arrangements enhanced the altar by the tabernacle.

Mrs. Eva Rodriguez, organist, played nuptial selections during the ceremony.

The bride wore a formal-length gown of white organza over satin styled with an empire waistline. The skirt of the dress flared to a circle with a long court train attached. Lace appliques edged the waistline and encircled the neckline. Long full sleeves were gathered into lace accented cuffs. Her floor-length Spanish mantilla completed her wedding attire. She carried a cascade arrangement of Woburn abby roses and butterscotch poms accented with sprays of gypsophila.

Miss Kathy Middleton of Odessa served the bride as maid of honor. She wore a formal-length dress of avocado green velveteen and carried fall bouquet of small mums.

Bridal attendants were Mrs. Rosario Perez of Fort Worth, Mrs. Eulalia Dolan of Hereford, Mrs. Irma Hernandez of El Paso, and Mrs. Connie Ramirez, all sisters of the bride. Miss Melinda Duron, sister of the bridegroom, also attended the bride. They wore dresses of rust and brown velveteen and carried bouquets of butterscotch poms and gypsophila tied with orange streamers.

MRS. CRIS DURON

Ushers were Genard Melendez and Victor Alba, both of El Paso. Cushion maids were Amelia Ayala and Rosie Paredes. Ring bearers were David Robles and Alma Leticia Hernandez. Prior to a wedding trip to Colorado Springs, Colo. the newlyweds were honored at a reception held in the church youth center. Later that evening they attended a dinner and dance given in their honor at the Dora Roberts Community Center.

Mrs. Duron is a graduate of Big Spring High School and is attending West Texas State University in Canyon. She is employed at the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum as an exhibit designer.

Duron is a Big Spring High School graduate. He has attended WTSU and is presently employed as a welder in Amarillo.

Relatives attending from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. Manuel O. De La Garza and family and Mr. and Mrs. Raul Jasso Guido, all of Monterrey, N. L., Mexico; Jesse Trevino, Washington D.C.; Mr. and Mrs. Gregorio Duron and family, Roswell, N.M.; and Miss Olivia Barrios, San Antonio.

Care should be exercised when thawing a turkey. Poultry is a source of Salmonella bacteria, which occur in the intestinal tract as a rule and may spread to the surface of the poultry through processors' handling. Poultry does spoil quickly, but presents no danger if properly handled.

Hard-frozen poultry may be stored at a holding temperature of 0 degrees F. or lower for a period of four to six months. Once defrosted to room temperature, poultry should be cooked immediately, never refrozen.

To thaw poultry that has been purchased frozen, use one of the following methods. Keep poultry in its freezer wrapper and thaw in the refrigerator 1 to 3 days, depending on the size of the bird. Leave poultry well sealed in freezer wrapper and thaw in cold water. Be sure the water stays cold. Thawing will take 30 minutes to 1 hour for small chickens and up to 6 to 8 hours for large turkeys. Never use warm or hot water. Place wrapped bird in a double paper bag or wrap in 2 or 3 layers of newspaper, close tightly, and thaw at room temperature. Thawing will take 20 to 24 hours for birds under 12 pounds and up to 24 to 30 hours for birds over 12 pounds. Allow 1 hour of thawing time per pound.

Never stuff poultry with a dressing until ready to cook. Do not thaw commercially frozen stuffed poultry. This should be cooked from the frozen state according to package directions.

Poultry leftovers must be refrigerated immediately. Turkey presents a problem in this regard. The size of the carcass, the use of a moist dressing, and the difficulty in quickly reducing the temperature of leftover parts increases the chances for multiplication of Salmonella. It's a good plan to remove leftover stuffing from turkey and refrigerate separately. Cooked poultry, stuffing and broth should be used in 1 or 2 days.

If you plan to freeze part of the leftover turkey, do this immediately. Do not keep on refrigerator several days and then decide to freeze. Bacteria are not killed by freezing. Their growth, however, is stopped by freezing. They are killed by heat.

When purchasing turkey allow 1/2 to 3/4 lb. serving per person. The larger the turkey the more servings will be available. Cook at 325 degrees F., allowing about 20 minutes per pound. To test doneness, move poultry leg, poultry is done if leg joint moves easily.

Violin Craftsman To Display In Fair

Denver Pettit, a Texas violin craftsman, will participate in the Second Annual Christmas Barn, an arts and crafts fair sponsored by the 4-H Clubs and Chamber of Commerce Bicentennial Commission.

The fair will be held in the Dora Roberts Fair Barn, Dec. 6-7.

Fairview HD Club Meets

The Fairview Home Demonstration Club met for a Thanksgiving dinner at noon Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Jim Skalicky. Mrs. Frank Wilson and Mrs. C. A. Smauley were cohostesses.

Mrs. Smauley presided at the meeting. The devotional was given by Mrs. Bernice Micallef on Psalm 102.

Miss Sherry Mullin was a guest.

The club Christmas party and December meeting will be Dec. 2 in the home of Mrs. Bessie Bigony.

The HD Council Christmas party will be held in the Kentwood Center on Dec. 16.

Pettit has gained worldwide recognition for his fine art of making violins.

Bill Horton will demonstrate the instruments crafted by Pettit and will provide musical entertainment for fair-goers. Billy and Jess Milles of Stanton will also play.

The Christmas Barn will be an excellent Christmas shopping opportunity for buying original gifts. All mediums of art, needlework, macramé, turquoise jewelry, wire jewelry, ceramic jewelry, wood-carving, ceramics, lapidary work, baked goods picture frames and other items will be displayed.

No admission fee will be charged.

Artists and craftsmen from New Mexico will display their wares.

A few booth spaces are still available. Anyone wishing to reserve a booth space may contact the Howard County Extension Office in the Howard County Courthouse, 267-6671.

VIOLIN CRAFTSMAN — Denver Pettit holds two violins he has made. He will show his violins at the 4-H Arts and Crafts Fair on Dec. 6-7. The violin on his right was made in 1934 in Hermleigh.

Book Review Given On Biblical Event

The 1948 Hyperion Club members met in the home of Mrs. Kate Irons Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Ola Mae Williamson as cohostess.

In preparation for the Christmas season and continuing with their series of travelogue programs, members heard Mrs. Margaret Michael speak on the secular history of Christ's time from sources other than the Bible. Mrs. Michael discussed the Jewish Wars of the era.

In her program, entitled "The Masada", Mrs. Michael discussed the Masada Rock, a 23-acre plateau overlooking the Dead Sea. This almost inaccessible natural fortress has been the sight of recent archeological digs. The findings there verify the writings in Josephus' book, "The History of the Jewish Wars," dated 78 A.D.

As Judea fell to the Romans in 70 A.D., 960 Jews retreated to the fortress atop the Masada Rock for sanctuary. For three years they remained in the fortress and under siege by the Romans.

When defeat was finally inevitable, Eleazar Ben Yair made his famous plea. He asked all his fellow sufferers to join him in suicide, stating, "...it is still in our power to die bravely, and in a state of freedom...it is still an eligible thing to die after a glorious manner, together with our dearest friends. This is what our enemies themselves cannot by any means hinder...we have preferred death before slavery."

The suicide pact of 960 men, women and children was decided upon. Ten men were selected to kill the other 950 inhabitants. Then one of them was chosen to kill the other nine and finally himself. The only survivors were two women and five

Welcomes Members

Mrs. Corma Stoval, president of the Big Spring Art Association, welcomed new members to the club at the Tuesday evening meeting held in the home of Mrs. W. D. Duggan with Mrs. Gerre Harry as cohostess.

New members are Al Scott, Ariys Scott, Eve Woolverton, Barbara Merworth, Mrs. Deane Brown and Mrs. Jesse Cuthbertson. Mrs. Carol Strong is an associate member.

Visitors at the meeting were Mrs. J. L. Loyd.

The Art Association will sponsor a children's bicentennial poster contest to be held later this month. The association will furnish three judges for the event and first, second and third prizes for the winners. Details of the contest will be completed soon.

The December meeting, a covered dish supper, will be held in the home of Mrs. Gen Schaefer. Each member should bring a miniature painting to exchange. Al Scott will be in charge of the program.

Coming events include art shows in Odessa and in Andrews and the 4-H Christmas Barn, all on Dec. 6-7.

A membership show for the San Angelo Art Association will be held in December.

C. Warren Cullar, a watercolor artist of Snyder, will conduct a three-day seminar to be held during the first of the year.

Following the business meeting members voted for a bicentennial "Painting of the Month." Two paintings were chosen for the honor. "The Flags" by Mary Holloway and "Hayden House" by Hazel Duggan will be displayed in the State National Bank during December. The artists were given the "Tipping of the Brush."

Children Make Birdfeeders

Twenty children from the Moss Elementary class participated in a garden therapy session this week.

Members from the Oasis Garden Club helped each child make pine cone birdfeeders. Women assisting were Mrs. M. C. Stulting, Mrs. J. P. Skalicky and Mrs. Paschal Odum.

The children filled each cavity between the pine cone petals with a mixture of suet, rolled oats, wild bird seed and sunflower seeds.

A Christmas party will be held on Dec. 18. Hostesses will be Mrs. Harwell, Mrs. J. D. Leonard and Mrs. Charlie Creighton.

FOR YOUR PLEASURE Paul Revere Rides Again In Children's Production

By JAMES WERRELL
Kids, as well as their parents, should love the presentation of the play, "The Midnight Ride Of Paul Revere", Tuesday, Nov. 25, at the Big Spring High School Auditorium.

There will be two performances. The first, at 12:45 p.m., will be limited to seventh, eighth and possibly ninth grade pupils if space permits. The second, at 2:15 p.m., will be open to the general public.

The play will be presented by the Performing Arts Repertory Theatre Foundation of New York, and reviewers have called it "an educational entertainment in the best professional manner."

"The Adding Machine," a play by Elmer Rice, will be presented by the University Theatre at Texas Tech at 8:15 p.m. nightly through Nov. 25.

The play which was written in the 1920's is a protest against slavery — human slavery to the business world through conformity, anonymity and insensitivity. It chronicles the life and death of its main character, "Mr. Zero" who has ceased to exist as a sensitive, aware human being.

Tickets are $2.50 for general admission. They may be purchased at the University Theatre ticket office. Reservations may be made by calling 742-2133.

While out with the family on some sunny afternoon, check out the new display at the Heritage Museum. An impressive collection of old newspapers entitled "Historical Headlines" may be seen, as well as an outstanding collection of commemorative coins.

Class 76-D at Webb AFB has also added a contemporary touch with an unusual display of Air Force model planes, ranging from the prop planes of WWII to the supersonic versions of tomorrow.

This unusual display will remain up into January. Hours today, 1 through 5 p.m. and during week days from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. There is no charge.

For a little down-home music, try the "Odessa Brand New Opry" which offers a variety of area country-western performers every Saturday night at 7:30. The Opry plays at the Globe of the Great Southwest, an exact scale replica of Shakespeare's 1598 Globe Theatre in jolly old England.

Tickets are available at the Globe box office anytime after 6:30 p.m., Saturdays. Admission is $3 adults, $2 senior citizens, $2 students, and $1 for children under 12.

For powerful and controversial adult fare, see "That Championship Season", a play by Jason Miller, showing Nov. 28 and 29 at the Permian Playhouse in Odessa.

The Tony Award-winning play details an annual reunion between a high school basketball coach, now retired, and four of the five members of a team he guided to state victory 20 years before. As the play progresses the failed dreams and weaknesses of the four teammates are brought to light.

This is strong stuff and the theatre management recommends that children and those with "squeamish ears" stay away.

Seat reservations may be made through the Playhouse office, 362-2329.

For those travelling to Fort Worth, a dazzling exhibition of fluorescent light structures may be seen at the Fort Worth Art Museum. The exhibition is entitled "Dan Flavin: Installations In Fluorescent Light From 1972 Through 1975." Seventeen installations are included in the show which cover the full range of colored fluorescent light.

Mrs. Joy Boyd Speaks To Credit Women

Mrs. Joy Boyd spoke to the members of the Big Spring Credit Women at a noon luncheon Thursday at the Settles Hotel.

She spoke on public relations in credit companies. She said that credit managers present the image of the company to the public. Their responsibility is to be mentally, physically and spiritually fit so they can do the best job possible.

Members of the club planned a Christmas party to be held Dec. 15.

Mrs. Polly Sissom was welcomed as a guest.

HISTORIC SILVERSMITH — Scene from the play, "The Midnight Ride Of Paul Revere", playing at Big Spring High School Auditorium Tuesday.

Patriotic Program Given At Meeting

"What Is Good About America" was the program given by Mrs. W. T. Barber in her presentation of a continuing series on Americanism for the 1965 Hyperion club. The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. S. M. Anderson on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Barber pointed out that America is a land of contrast, beauty, limitless agricultural possibilities, mountains and great men to match the mountains. America is the story of the opening of a land founded on the principles of liberty and freedom.

Among the good things America has are the voice and the power of the people. Mrs. Barber stressed that with freedom comes responsibility. She stated that if we are not part of the solution, we are part of the problem.

The real story of America is her people and the melting of nationalities, she concluded. A social hour preceded the business meeting with Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Joe Whitten as hostesses.

During the business meeting Mrs. O. T. Brewster presided. A report was given by Mrs. Hayes Stripling Sr., National Federation Club counselor. She explained a National Federated Club endeavor on prevention of crime to be supported by a grant.

The Dec. 18 meeting will be in the Methodist Church Parlor with Mrs. Roger Hefley and Mrs. Ted Hatfield, hostesses. The topic to be discussed by Mrs. Norman Read will be "A Light Unto My Path." Mrs. Charles B. Parham Jr. will present music by the Nuts and Bolts chorus.

Beta Omicron Slates Bake Sale On Dec. 6

Members of the Texas Beta Omicron chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met Thursday evening in the Barcelona Apartments club room. Mrs. Ruth Penner presided.

Plans for a bake sale on Dec. 6 were approved. Baked goods, hot dogs and cokes will be sold at Highland Center mall from 8:30 a.m. until 6 p.m.

Mrs. Normal Friesen is receiving pledge training following her pledge ritual Monday.

Members voted to have a Christmas party from 2-4 p.m., Dec. 14 for members and their families.

Guests at the meeting were Mrs. Willie Sutton and Mrs. Marlou Dwyer. A gift of appreciation was given to Mrs. Dyer who crocheted the afghan which was given away at the recent club bazaar.

A program entitled "Women to Whom We Are Indebted" was presented by Mrs. Jean Denton and Mrs. Stephanie Roll.

Members tried to identify each others' baby pictures.

The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 11 in the home of Mrs. Pam Carrol, 1400 Tucson.

Fill Bird Lightly

The best part of a holiday meal may be turkey — but many would vote for that delectable companion — the stuffing. Remember, when stuffing a turkey, fill the bird lightly. Let the stuffing absorb the juices as it expands during roasting. Allow about 1/2 cup of stuffing per pound of ready-to-cook bird. Extra stuffing can be baked in a greased casserole during the last half hour of roasting. You may prepare stuffing in advance, but always keep it refrigerated. Spoon it into the bird just before roasting.

CLEAN AIR — Charts show the steep decline in both hydro-carbon and carbon monoxide emissions since the beginning of the decade. Much of the decline is attributable to the cleaner auto engines, produced by U. S. car makers. Cincinnati, O. (above) has begun a mandatory emissions check program to keep air clean.

Cleaner Engines Mean Cleaner Air

What goes up must come down. A decade ago, it seemed like the nation's air pollution problems would defy that axiom. Governmental action and achievement by automotive designers have reduced air pollution considerably. So, the car is an ever-decreasing factor in the total air quality problem. Reports from the Environmental Protection Agency and the California Air Resources Board are but two indications that cars are running cleaner.

REDUCTIONS SHOWN
EPA Administrator Russell E. Train said, "Our monitoring stations are beginning to show air pollution reductions that are related to our regulatory work over the past four years, especially in the areas of particulate, sulfur oxides and carbon monoxide control."

Emissions most directly related to the automobile, carbon monoxide, have declined on a nationwide basis, the EPA reports. High pollution areas including Los Angeles, San Francisco, the states of New Jersey and Washington have all documented CO declines. This improvement has been credited by the EPA to emission control devices on a growing percentage of cars.

CALIFORNIA STUDY
How effective emission control systems developed by car makers have been are shown in an eight-year survey by the California Air Resources Board. A random sample revealed that compared with uncontrolled pre-1966 cars, 1974 models emit 83 per cent less hydrocarbons, 79 per cent less carbon monoxide and 58 per cent less oxides of nitrogen.

New Jersey, the only state currently conducting mandatory emissions inspections for all vehicles, experienced a 14 per cent drop in carbon monoxide emissions last year, the state department of environmental protection reports.

Fleet Testing Helps Save Gasoline, Air

The City of Phoenix has demonstrated that both fuel and money can be saved using their unique fleet emission inspection program. The following savings have been achieved.

— More than a 10 per cent reduction in light duty vehicle fuel consumption in the first six months of the program.

— The number of vehicles failing in the field and having to be towed in is down significantly.

— The quality of the maintenance received by the vehicles has increased substantially.

— The number of vehicles being returned by the user after preventive maintenance has been greatly reduced.

The State of Arizona mandated that all municipal fleet vehicles receive an emission inspection once each year. The State law gives the municipal governments the alternative of having their vehicles inspected by the State, or installing State approved inspection equipment and conducting their own inspections. The City of Phoenix chose to install its own equipment.

Each vehicle that comes in for scheduled preventive maintenance receives an emission inspection before going back into service. This inspection is given not only to minimize the emissions of the fleet vehicles but also to insure that the vehicles have been properly serviced.

BIG SPRING HERALD

SECTION D BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1975

You're paying for a tune-up whether you get one or not.

Untuned cars waste 1 to 2 gallons per tankful.

Before you think, "They're not talking to me," read the next sentence.

3 out of 5 cars on the road today need a tune-up.

That means there's a good chance we are talking to you. Especially if it's been 10,000 miles since your last tune-up.

A tune-up with Champion Spark Plugs can help save you that one to two gallons per tankful (depending on the size of your tank). To say nothing of giving you surer starts and better engine performance all winter.

Look—gasoline costs a lot these days. So get your car back in tune. Take it to your mechanic and say "Fill 'er up with Champions." Then you won't have to say "Fill 'er up with gas" nearly as often.

Fill 'er up with Champions.

Toledo, OH 43661

Plug Misfire Can Kill 'Cat'

Misfiring spark plugs have long been known to cause fuel waste and excessive emissions. They can now contribute to another problem—a non-functioning catalytic converter.

When plugs misfire, whether due to fouling, ignition system malfunction, or being just plain worn out, heat in the catalytic converters rises. The converters, designed to change unburned hydro-carbons and carbon monoxide into harmless carbon dioxide and water, normally operate at 900 to 1,500 F. (488 to 816 C).

SAVED FROM DISASTER AT CHECKPOINT Blonde, Blue-Eyed And Headed For Trouble

She was 15, blonde, blue-eyed and headed for trouble. If the above sounds like the beginning of a Grade B Hollywood thriller, at least the locale is correct. The setting was California, but the circumstances were not what one might suppose. The young lady in question was driving her bright yellow, 1966 Mustang along a highway outside a major California city. She was ordered by a state highway patrolman to pull into a roadside vehicle inspection station. That's where her trouble began.

First of all, being underage, she had no license to drive the car. (Only the fact that a front-seat passenger was holding a small baby in her lap prevented the police from impounding the car.) The vehicle itself was as lethal as a letter bomb from a terrorist.

Most of the lugs holding the wheel to the axle were missing. Thus, the paper thin tires were listing at an oblique angle to the road. Shock absorbers weren't functioning, brakes were defective, the exhaust system leaked, lights did not work and the engine was missing practically every emission control element including the air cleaner. In total, 18 violations of safety and anti-emission codes were found.

While the random inspection program responsible for the above scene has been dropped by California in a budget slashing move, results show the need for inspection in that and other states.

DEFECTS SPOTTED
Of the 1,518,698 vehicles

checked last year (11.5 per cent of California's total) nearly a million safety defects were spotted.

In addition 1.2 million cars were checked for emissions and 23 per cent of them exceeded allowable limits.

As far as safety was concerned, about half the cars had defective lights, about 15 per cent had noisy or leaky exhausts and another 15 per cent had unsafe tires or wheels. Other common defects were bad wiper blades (84,000), unsafe brakes (36,000), obstructed glass (30,000), defective steering (20,000), and inoperative suspension (19,000).

PILOT INVESTING
Last July, California began investing all of its vehicle inspection funds in an emissions check program in the southern part of the state. First phase of the program will be a pilot project in Riverside County. Eventually six counties in the Greater Los Angeles area will be included.

According to Jack Dolan who will be supervising the program, "Six counties may not seem like a lot, but 53 per cent of all cars in the state operate in that area. There are more vehicles (nearly six million) in those six counties than in all but a few other states in the country."

Dolan added, "The benefits of the emission inspection program in California will do more than clean up our air. We expect that maintenance that will result from keeping emissions low will also save enormous amounts of gasoline."

NO LICENSE, NO LUCK — Recording more violations than she had years, a 15-year-old California motorist was apprehended during a random vehicle check. Underaged, she had no license to drive and her car was totally unsafe. Note the nearly bald tires and wheels held in place by only three lugs in the rear. Also, the motor was completely devoid of any anti-pollution equipment including air cleaner. California has since halted its random safety and emissions inspection program.

AAA Gas Watchers Show How To Save

Operating on the theory that an informed public voluntarily can achieve gasoline savings that would make rationing or high taxes unnecessary, the American Automobile Association has launched a Gas Watchers program.

Aimed at making "five gallons of gas do the work of six," the program is in response to President Ford's stated goal of reducing U.S. oil imports from six to five million barrels daily. A 16-3rd per cent reduction in gasoline consumption would be needed to meet the President's objective.

The AAA program concentrates on five areas to save gasoline. They are:
Use Good Driving Techniques. "Jack rabbit" starts, fast braking and weaving in and out of traffic can cost motorists up to 44 per cent in gas mileage in normal city driving, AAA claims.

Keep Your Car in Tip-Top Shape. AAA reports tests have shown that a tune-up can result in an immediate nine to 15 per cent increase in gas mileage. "Once you've had your car tuned, don't forget about it," AAA advises. "A car need to be tuned at least twice a year."
Attention to proper tire pressure, radiator temperature and brake adjustment also helps save gasoline.

Join a Car Pool. Just car pooling with one other person to work could reduce the average motorist's fuel use by 25 per cent.

Plan Your Driving — Try combining errands in one trip, cutting down on the average 55 miles the average motorist expends on shopping and related needs. Map your route on each excursion to make certain you're traveling the shortest distances. Where possible, shop by phone.

Watch Speeds. Observe the 55 mile per hour speed limit. In fact, where safe and not interfering with traffic, travel at 30 to 40 m.p.h. That is the best speed range for fuel economy.

"Gas Watchers Guide," a 16-page booklet containing tips on how to make five gallons do the work of six, is available from most AAA clubs, at no charge for single copies.

All-Weather 78
Goodyear's "All-Weather 78" tire is built with polyester cord that's tempered in an exclusive process for optimum strength and resilience. The wide 78-series tread is "reverse molded"—a technique borrowed from race tire production. The rib tread is well grooved, providing plenty of traction edges for decisive grip. In every detail, this tire gives you honest quality, at a price that's in step with the time.

Certified Mechanics Fill Need For Dependable Car Service

A national organization formed only three years ago has tested 95,000 automotive mechanics and certified approximately 70,000 of them as competent in one or more technical areas. The National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence, headquartered in Washington, D.C., is the name of the organization, and their tests are developed and administered nationwide by Educational Testing Service of Princeton, N.J.

Warm Climate Doesn't Stop Car Trouble

The agonies of snow, shivering and skidding may not plague motorists in the warm winter areas. But a fourth unpleasant "S" is as much a problem in Miami as it is in Minneapolis, and in Vancouver, B.C. as it is in Montreal. And that is Starting Trouble.

According to the most recent Champion Spark Plug Company study of hard starting problems, warm weather area motorists continue to have as much trouble as their colleagues in frigid climes.

Percentage-wise, cars in the Pacific Coast regions of the United States were the leading victims of "can't starts." Three out of every 10 cars experienced at least one starting failure during the winter. The best record was set by motorists in the cold New England states where a 25 per cent failure rate was registered. Cars in the south averaged a 27 per cent incidence of starting trouble, only slightly better than a 28 per cent difficulty rate in cold northern states.

The Canadian story was similar. The warm weather area of British Columbia had a 29 per cent rate of strating trouble. Cold Quebec had 26 per cent rate.

Part of the reason for the discrepancy is tune-up purchases. Champion reports. The New England and Quebec survey areas had the highest rate of tune-up purchase.

voluntary tests. It certainly expresses a strong desire to prove their competency. We hope that consumers will ask for certified mechanics to work on their cars and will look for mechanics' credentials displayed in service areas. Shops employing certified mechanics are authorized to display orange and blue signs which read: "We employ mechanics certified by NIASE — let us show you their credentials."

The credentials show specifically in what areas a mechanic or body repairer or painter is certified. The Institute offers certification in eight automobile areas: Engine Repair, Automatic Transmission and Rear Axle, Front End, Brakes, Electrical Systems, Heating and Air Conditioning, and Engine Tuneup. Also offered are six tests for heavy-duty truck and bus mechanics, and two tests in body and paint.

In the automobile series, for example, a mechanic can take all eight tests or a lesser number. If he succeeds in passing all eight and he meets the experience requirement, he is certified as a General Automobile Mechanic. Two years' working experience as a mechanic are required for certification.

BENEFITS EVERYONE
The Institute claims the voluntary testing and certification program benefits everyone. The consumer is given the choice between a mechanic who has proved his competency and one who has not.

The tests are generally designed for the mechanic who is already employed, and experience seems to be a very important factor in passing. The tests emphasize problem solving and diagnostic skills rather than just knowledge questions. Older men have consistently done better on the tests than younger mechanics, despite the fact that in most cases the younger men have more normal education than their older associates.

Each certified mechanic receives a certificate, an I.D. card, a display card, and shoulder patches and stripes identifying his areas of demonstrated competence.

Fuhrman anticipates that within a year the Institute will have over 100,000 mechanics certified in one or more specialty areas. "This program resulted from an industry response to the need for improving the quality of automotive repair. Mechanics' lack of know-how has been one of the major deterrents to excellence in auto repair," he says.

"With the certification of more and more good mechanics, the public can now find mechanics of proven and tested ability. We are proud of the Institute's role in this effort." A national directory of employers of certified mechanics. "Where to Find Certified Mechanics for Your Car," is available to the public for $1.95. To obtain a copy, send a check or money order to: NIASE, Suite 515, 1825 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

BRAIN TWISTER — Auto mechanics taking the NIASE certification tests find the questions truly probe their knowledge of their trade. NIASE officials expect that by next year more than 100,000 mechanics will have earned certification in one or more of eight specialties.

Pay Attention To Tension

While ignition system troubles are most often responsible for starting problems, there are other often mystifying causes. An improperly tensioned or worn alternator or generator belt can be the culprit. The faulty belt can contribute to a fatal drain on the battery power and cause a "can't start."

Keep Your Car Off The 'Won't Start' List

Short of a heated garage, there's no better insurance that your car will start on a frigid morning than a properly serviced engine.

Since warm garages are at a premium, the best way to avoid a frustrating wait for a tow truck is to get your car in proper shape before cold weather sets in. The service needed is far less expensive than heating that garage.

Most cars with starting troubles begin winter with worn spark plugs and defective ignition systems. The incidence of hard-starting complaints reported by car owners climbs in direct proportion to the number of miles the plugs have been in service.

To make sure your car doesn't show up on the list of "won't start" this winter, here's a check list of the items which should be inspected on your car before the weather turns cold:

—Have your service man check the battery with a hydrometer to determine the specific gravity. If specific gravity readings are low, have the battery recharged and make sure he determines the reason for the low readings. If battery condition appears doubtful have the mechanic test it for weak cells. Also, be sure he removes all corrosion from the battery terminals and lubricates them so the corrosion won't reoccur. Remember corroded cables and terminals restrict the flow of electricity through the entire system, and can actually prevent the car from starting if allowed to go unattended.

—Make sure the regulator is properly adjusted. An out-of-adjustment regulator may not allow the battery to charge enough, or may result in overcharging which will eventually ruin the battery.

—Chances are if your car is only a year or two old, these components will be okay. However, make sure your service man removes any corrosion that might exist on either starter or generator connections—and that they are all securely fastened. If your car is over two years old better have the generator brushes and commutator looked at. Badly worn brushes reduce the generator efficiency and can result in a constantly weak battery.

—If your car has been driven more than 10,000 miles since the distributor has been serviced, you'll probably save yourself a lot of trouble by having the mechanic install new points, condenser (in engines that use them) and making whatever adjustments are necessary. Improperly operating distributors are a major cause of starting difficulty.

—Again, if your car is reasonably new, chances are you won't have to worry about coil condition. However, better keep in mind that a weak coil can not only cause starting failure but also contribute to poor performance in general and reduced gasoline economy. If your car has over 20,000 miles on the odometer better have your service man run a check on coil condition.

—If the plugs are nearing the 10,000-mile mark, they should be replaced before the weather turns cold as worn out plugs are probably the biggest single factor in hard starting.

It is also a good idea to have your mechanic check the engine with a timing light. Out of time engines not only are much harder to start but lose much of the efficiency and performance they were intended to deliver.

Canadian Experts Wouldn't Skid You

To the motorist who lives in cold, snowy winter weather, getting a car out of a skid is hardly more than a routine annoyance. However, motorists used to driving on normally dry pavements can run into problems should they be traveling in frigid areas or be confronted by a freak snow storm at home.

Therefore, the Rubber Association of Canada shares its experience in safe driving on bad roads. With the reminder that stopping on a wet road can take four times the normal distance as on a dry road, the association urges reduced speeds. Also distance between your car and the one in front should be doubled.

On starting out and with no cars around, test the surface by braking the car lightly. When braking, pump the pedal, bringing the car to a gradual stop. Jamming on the brakes is likely to lock the wheels and put the car into a skid.

Should you start to enter a skid, take your foot off the gas pedal, stay off the brakes and steer in the direction of the skid. When the car is straightening out, pump the brakes gently to slow down.

The association offers these tire care tips to help avoid trouble. Keep the tires inflated properly. Unequal pressure in the front tires promotes instability on bad roads.

Another important reason to check tires frequently in cold weather is that tire pressure drops approximately one pound for every 10 degree drop in temperature.

More Vehicles Join '50' Club

The Over-50 club has become the most dominant segment of the nation's motoring population. It's not the age of the drivers but the age of the cars on our highways.

According to a recent survey, more than half of the cars in operation today have in excess of 50,500 miles on their odometers. While the supposition could be that difficult economic times have caused people to hold on to cars longer, the survey shows the trend to higher mileage cars has been a steady one.

In 1968 only 43 per cent of the cars registered more than 50,500 miles. The latest study shows 51 per cent of all cars have exceeded that mileage.

The significance of the figures lies primarily in a need for more maintenance on the part of the motorists. By the time a car has been operated more than 50,500 miles, the following major services should be performed.

Cooling system component replacement and repair; major engine tune-up; exhaust system replacement; new shocks installed; major brake service; replace tires; install new battery; plus other services as needed.

COOLING SYSTEM TUNE-UP CHECKLIST

1. Visually check system for leaks. Check coolant for presence of oil.
2. Inspect all hoses. Check all clamps.
3. Check condition of V-belts. Check belt tension with tension gauge. Readjust if necessary.
4. Pressurize system with Cooling System Analyzer to check for leaks. Check pressure cap with tester.
5. Check crankcase oil and automatic transmission fluid for presence of coolant.
6. Test thermostat operation with radiator thermometer.
7. Check heater and controls for proper operation.
8. Drain coolant and flush system until clean.
9. Clean debris from radiator fins. If necessary, steam clean or use de-greaser on engine.
10. Visually check core (Welch) plugs and drain cocks for leaking.
11. Check fan blades for damage. Check belt pulleys for mis-alignment. Check water pump shaft seal for leaking.
12. Refill system with proper coolant. Run engine and re-check for leaks.

ENGINE COOLANT — Antifreeze has ceased being a loss-leader item in most automotive supply houses. Therefore, to save money when installing a fresh supply, the prudent car owner wants to make certain he puts in enough to protect from freezing or overheating but no more than he absolutely needs. The producers of DowGuard have prepared the above chart to guide car owners on proper amounts of the coolant antifreeze for the capacity of his car's cooling system.

Winter Problems May Be Solved With Cooling System Tune-up

Take your car to your service station and ask the mechanic to give your car a "cooling system tune-up" and he'll probably look at you and scratch his head. He knows about ignition tune-ups and carburetion tune-ups, but he might not know about the "second tune-up" — a cooling system tune-up. Yet this procedure is a vital part of your car's maintenance and one that's long overdue for most cars.

without boiling over. The "super heated" coolant is piped into the radiator where the rush of cool air carries the heat out into the atmosphere.

A cooling system tune-up is a thorough inspection and check of all the parts in your car's cooling system and replacement of those components that are worn, deteriorated or malfunctioning.

To understand the need for a cooling system tune-up, we must first look at the function of the system. Simply stated, the cooling system keeps your car's engine at the proper operating temperature which allows it to perform at top efficiency.

An engine that runs too cool will burn excess gas, run rough and may contaminate the oil with sludge build-up. An engine that runs too hot may boil over and engine parts may fail.

KEEPING ITS COOL

To accomplish the task of keeping the engine at the correct temperature, auto manufacturers have developed the pressurized cooling system which allows a special coolant (not water) to circulate through the engine where it picks up the heat being produced by combustion.

This special coolant can be heated well above the boiling point of ordinary water

Small outside

40 mpg highway, 28 mpg city, as rated by the U.S. Government in EPA tests. Remember, these mileage figures are estimates. The actual mileage you get will vary depending on the type of driving you do, your driving habits, your car's condition, and optional equipment. (Ratings are based on the 1.4-litre engine and 4-speed transmission—both standard.)

It's about time for a new kind of American car. And we've got it. The very roomy, very fuel-efficient Chevette. Chevette is Chevrolet's new metric car, international in design and heritage, with engineering concepts proved around the world. It has its own built-in diagnostic connector, insulation against noise, and more. Come in and test-drive this efficient little car now.

Library Holiday Slated, Holiday Books Available

By REBECCA TAYLOR OF COUNTY LIBRARY

The Howard County Library will be closed Thursday and Friday for the Thanksgiving Holiday. Staff members however will open the Library on Saturday at the usual time of 9 a.m. for weekend readers and researchers.

Staff members are on hand to help you find what you are looking for. If you do not find what you want, ask. The material will be checked out or you may be looking in the wrong place.

The staff may be able to locate books or materials not available in our local library through the Interlibrary Loan System of the Texas State Library. Some requests are filled in 24 hours.

'WILD KITCHEN'

Last minute recipes, party and game ideas for the holiday are now available at the Library.

"Customs and Holidays Around the World" by Laviaia Dobler and "Everyday's a Holiday" by Ruth Hutchison and Ruth Adams give the history, background and some of the more popular customs of the holiday.

"Poultry and Game" by Robin Howe and "Going Wild in the Kitchen" by Gertrude Prke, give some fascinating recipes for preparing everything from quail to trout to bear.

"Recipes for Diabetics" by Billie Little and Penny L. Thorup will be of special aid to families with dietary problems. This book and several others give recipes for the special preparation of foods from chocolate chip cookies to turkey soup.

In order to provide a lovely and appropriate setting for your holiday meal, you may

Pearl Says Bye In 'Hello, Dolly'

NEW YORK (AP) - Pearl Bailey is leaving show business "because there is other work I must do."

The singer-comedienne disclosed her decision to a startled management, cast and audience at the end of her opening night performance Thursday in a return visit with "Hello, Dolly!"

She said she would complete the engagement at the Minskoff Theater here through Dec. 14, and an ensuing six-week run at Washington.

wish to consult a book, such as "The Art of Table Setting and Flower Arranging" by Sylvia Hirsch, for new and for traditional ideas.

Other books have game ideas to entertain children and adults. These are in addition to many volumes of fiction mystery, western, hobby and repair for pleasure.
