

Brush Fires Threaten Los Angeles Suburbs

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An eerie orange glow settled over the Los Angeles metropolitan area today as three wind-whipped brush fires sent hundreds of residents fleeing from their homes in the foothills north of the city.

Several fire fighters were injured, many more homes were damaged or destroyed, and morning commuters choked on smoke and blinked out cinders as the fires spread out of control. The smoke was so thick in some areas that motorists had to turn on headlights.

Authorities were evacuating hundreds of persons whose homes were threatened by the largest of the blazes, burning out of control after charring some 25,000 acres in the Big Tujunga Canyon area about 15 miles north of downtown Los Angeles.

They said the flames — fanned by hot, dry winds gusting to hurricane force at times — had destroyed at least 13 homes and damaged scores of others after breaking out Sunday.

About 1,800 fire fighters were positioned to keep the fire away from populous suburbs such as Glendale, where burning embers carried by the high winds were starting many roof fires.

"They are so numerous we just lost count," said Glendale City Fire Capt. Elmer Straker.

About 10 miles away on the western flank of the Tujunga Canyon blaze in Kagel Canyon, scores of residents were running down canyon roads leading horses and other livestock to safety ahead of the advancing flames. Firemen were working feverishly to save structures.

An elderly Spanish woman refused to evacuate, and two sheriff's deputies had to carry the woman screaming from her small canyon home as flames closed in.

"My whole life was there," she told a reporter in broken English.

Some 30 miles to the east, about 500 firemen battled high winds and rugged, steep terrain to keep a 7,000-acre blaze in the Mt. Baldy ski resort area from endangering vacation homes in the vicinity.

At the western edge of the San Fernando Valley, a third blaze blackened at least 100 acres in the Chatsworth area, where a fire two weeks ago charred about 1,000 acres.

Authorities reported that at least five fire fighters working at the Big Tujunga blaze had been hospitalized, three of them with second-degree burns and one with injuries suffered when he was struck by a vehicle.

More than 40 firemen also were treated at the Mt. Tujunga fire lines, getting their eyes cleared of dirt and grit sent swirling in the air by the strong winds that buffeted helicopters attempting to make water drops on hot spots.

U.S. Forest Service spokesman Harley Greiman said no major injuries had been reported at the Mt. Baldy blaze, which started Sunday afternoon in a $50,000 vacation home that was burned out. "This is miraculous," he added when reporting no injuries, "because rocks falling down the steep cliffs there have damaged fire equipment vehicles."

In the Big Tujunga blaze, there were unconfirmed reports that two youths were missing.

OPEN AIR MASS FOR FRANCO — This is a general view of the open air public mass for Gen. Francisco Franco which was held outside the National Palace in Madrid Sunday. The coffin bearing Franco's remains is visible right of center. King Juan Carlos I and Queen Sofia are under awning at upper right. The guests of honor are visible seated at left and center foreground.

FIRE MOVES TOWARDS HOMES — Flames from a large brush fire in Big Tujunga Canyon move toward some homes early Monday morning. The fire about 15 miles from Los Angeles has burnt over 25,000 acres and several homes.

Thousands Bid Farewell To Franco

MADRID, Spain (AP) — More than 100,000 rightists shouted support for Generalissimo Francisco Franco's dictatorship as their leader was buried in the grandiose funeral monument he built to himself and Spain's Civil War dead.

"Long live Franco!" the throng thundered Sunday as they packed the huge plaza outside the vast basilica of the Valley of the Fallen cut into a mountainside 35 miles from Madrid.

Civil War veterans and young militants gave the straight-arm fascist salute and sang the Falange anthem "Face to the Sun" as King Juan Carlos I followed the coffin into the basilica.

Foreign representatives included Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller, the head of the Chilean military dictatorship, President Augusto Pinochet, Imelda Marcos, the wife of the Philippine dictator; King Hussein of Jordan and Prince Rainier of Monaco.

Most other governments were represented by their ambassadors or lower-ranking cabinet members to signify their disapproval of Franco's dictatorship.

Only a single cry of "Long live the King!" was heard, but no voice was raised against the new 37-year-old king. He was installed Saturday, becoming Spain's first monarch in 44 years, and many expect him to try to guide the nation away from Franco's authoritarian system.

Fromme Trial Testimony Over

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The defense and prosecution rested their cases today in the Lynette Fromme trial after the Charles Manson follower refused to testify in her own behalf.

"The defense rests, your honor," declared attorney John Virga, who dropped his effort to present further witnesses after Miss Fromme clung to her trial boycott. The prosecution said it would have no rebuttal to the brief defense case in the trial in which Miss Fromme is accused of trying to kill President Ford.

Attorneys then began their final arguments before the jury, and the panel could begin deliberating a verdict by the end of the day.

"It's not my trial," the 27-year-old red-haired defendant told U.S. District Court Judge Thomas MacBride.

"If it's not my trial, how can I take the stand on my own behalf?"

Miss Fromme, a follower of convicted mass murderer Charles Manson, also exclaimed to the judge: "What I'm saying is don't make us shoot. Don't make us violent." In a rambling discourse, Miss Fromme accused her attorney, John Virga, of misrepresenting her.

She told the judge her message: "If you all continue to lie to yourselves and your children, you'll die and you'll die violently."

The jurors were not present during her statement. They have not seen Miss Fromme through much of the trial.

She was ousted for misbehavior Nov. 7 and has refused repeatedly to return unless Manson and his followers were brought to court. Manson is presently housed in San Quentin prison.

Miss Fromme appeared red-eyed and tired as she was led into the courtroom wearing a blue denim shirt and slacks.

The defense presentation so far has been extremely brief. Virga's major piece of evidence was the videotaped testimony of President Ford, who said he couldn't remember whether he heard a click as Miss Fromme pointed a gun at him from two feet away on Sept. 5 in a park outside the state Capitol.

Secret Service agents who wrestled the tiny red-haired defendant to the ground that day said the 45-caliber semi-automatic pistol, carried in a holster strapped to her leg, was not ready for firing. It had four cartridges in the magazine but none in the firing chamber.

The key question of the trial is whether Miss Fromme mislaid the gun by accident or whether she knew the gun was not ready to fire. There is also uncertainty about whether she pulled the trigger. Consequently, her testimony is crucial to the central issue of the case — her intent when she faced Ford with the pistol.

Virga is trying to show that Miss Fromme's failure to fire the pistol was deliberate. In less than one day of testimony Friday, Virga called only six witnesses, two of them prosecution witnesses recalled to the stand. One of his witnesses was a government prosecutor in the case.

The World At-A-Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most state and local officials are losers when it comes to good new ideas for fighting crime, says a former federal official who has dealt with them for two years. "The original notion was that we would be flooded with all these great ideas. And lo and behold, they didn't come at all!" said Charles R. Work who resigned last week after two years as deputy chief of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rules Committee, after long but unsuccessful efforts to decide the disputed New Hampshire Senate election, now is sorting out an election battle involving a Senate seat from Oklahoma. Ed Edmondson, the Democrat who is challenging the re-election of Republican Sen. Henry Bellmon, has presented his chief witnesses to the committee, but several committee members say they have not been persuaded to order new balloting in the 1974 election.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Hugh Carey pressed the state legislature for action on $206 million in increased New York City taxes, but a deadlock continued on the package aimed at securing President Ford's support for federal aid to help the city avert default. Carey, a Democrat, prepared to issue a statement today taking "full, personal responsibility" for the tax increase. "I'm willing to put my head on the line," said Carey. "Let them say these are Carey taxes."

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Democrats look like they have overcome the bitter internal reform feud of recent years, but they proved here over the weekend that they have plenty of fight left. The bombshell of a three-day issues conference came Sunday when George McGovern said the party will have to stand firm on integration and busing and he is ready to make another presidential bid if the other candidates don't hold up.

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — White domination of the World Council of Churches is being challenged for the first time at the Christian organization's fifth septennial assembly. The assembly, which began an 18-day meeting Sunday, represents 271 Protestant, Eastern Orthodox, Anglican and Old Catholic denominations with nearly 500 million members in 90 countries. For the first time, delegates from the underdeveloped, darker-skinned nations of the Third World hold a slight voting edge in the interdenominational organization.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Nearly 70 persons have been killed and 150 wounded in Beirut since another cease-fire broke down and the Moslem-Christian civil war spread beyond the capital. Only one seaside residential area and the fashionable Hamra shopping district in Beirut remained untouched by the fighting despite an announcement Saturday night by Premier Rashid Karami of the 13th cease-fire in eight months of street warfare.

Rebellious Prisoners Release 2 Hostages

NEW YORK (AP) — Rebellious prisoners in a city jail on Rikers Island today released two of five correction officers taken hostage but argued among themselves about their next moves.

"There seems to be deepening divisiveness among the inmates," Bronx Dist. Mario Merola said. "They are trying to decide what they want. I'm concerned for the welfare of the remaining three correction officers."

Guards Richard Sealy and Thomas Rivera were freed about 8 a.m., shortly after Merola arrived at the jail and talked with representatives of the inmates who had seized control of five cellblocks Sunday night with homemade weapons.

A negotiating team for the 1,200 prisoners indicated that the other three guards would be freed if Merola agreed — before television cameras — to grant them amnesty in connection with the disturbance.

Merola told newsmen he was willing "to negotiate on anything," but added, "Until they resolve their differences, we are powerless to act."

One inmate, Robert Hook, told newsmen, "We ain't here to harm nobody — no other inmates, no correction officers, nobody."

He said, the uprising was "the only viable means we could use to tell society about our plight. You cut back on money so our families can't go to welfare officers. Even our children need food and all the while we can't get fair and speedy trials."

Hook blamed the city's fiscal crisis for a recent layoff of correction officers. He called that "a cutback on us because then we're denied the services we got to have."

The city laid off 240 correction officers this year. It now has 2,845 to handle a total prison population of

Moynihhan May Resign U.N. Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Daniel Patrick Moynihan went to the White House today for a talk with President Ford that was expected to influence his decision on whether to resign as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Newsmen spotted Moynihan, who has been at the United Nations less than five months, strolling around the White House grounds with Leonard Garment, a friend who served as a White House lawyer during President Richard M. Nixon's administration and is now a member of the U.S. delegation to the United Nations.

Senator Says Zarb Wastes Energy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bypassing commercial airlines, Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb flew on Air Force or chartered planes that burned 19,000 gallons of fuel this year on speechmaking trips aimed at encouraging energy conservation, a senator said today.

An FEA spokesman confirmed Zarb had made the trips but disagreed with the conclusions of Sen. William Proxmire, who called Zarb a "winged wastrel of energy, fuel and taxpayers' money."

Proxmire said that on at least half the 13 chartered flights Zarb flew "in a plush, four-engine Air Force jet which burned enough fuel in an hour to supply the average American driver with enough gasoline to drive for an entire year."

In response, the FEA said that on eight occasions, Zarb flew a six-passenger four-engine Air Force JetStar because commercial flights would not have allowed him to meet his schedule. And on four of the trips mentioned by Proxmire, Zarb chartered a small twin-engine Piper because there was no other way to fly into four small towns, the FEA spokesman added.

Proxmire, a Democrat from Wisconsin, released a list of 13 charters arranged by Zarb during the first 10 months of the year, along with the cost of the flight and the estimated fuel usage.

Seven of the trips were mainly for speeches to urge local business or civic groups to conserve fuel. In several cases, Proxmire said, Zarb could have taken a commercial flight at a far lower cost and at little or no loss of time.

For example, Proxmire said a May 9 trip from Washington to Little Rock, Ark., cost the government $3,053 and more than 2,500 gallons of jet fuel. "At 12:55 p.m. on that date a direct commercial flight was scheduled to leave Washington National Airport and arrive in Little Rock at 3:10 p.m. (local time)," Proxmire said.

"According to FEA records, Mr. Zarb's first scheduled event in Little Rock was set for 5:30 p.m. This cost of Mr. Zarb's chartered round-trip flight was more than 20 times greater than the round-trip commercial coach fare," Proxmire said.

But the FEA spokesman said Zarb could not take advantage of the 12:55 p.m. commercial flight because Zarb testified until mid-afternoon before a House committee and had to fly back to Washington late that night to fulfill a schedule of commitments the following morning.

Jaycees May Sponsor Air Show Next May

Ken Johnson, representative of the Big Spring Jaycees, discussed the possibility of a Jaycee-sponsored air show with members of the Big Spring Commissioners Court at its meeting today.

The air show has been tentatively scheduled for May 30, 1976, at Howard County Airport, and would feature an aerial acrobatics display, visitors' booths, and possibly a display sponsored by Webb AFB.

Commissioners said that more details about the show were required before official approval from the county could be granted out that the Jaycees should continue with initial planning for the event.

In a conference with Neel Barnaby, county engineer, commissioners decided to continue with the pumping

FOUNTAIN — This aquatic display on the corner of Goliad and the north service road of FM 700 was constructed by funds from the Colorado River Municipal District. It is made up of a 65 foot long, man-made creek that flows over three waterfalls and into a 20-foot diameter basin. There the water is shot 10 feet into the air and recirculated through the creek. Vegetation will be installed in the spring.

The Unmatched Book

This is National Bible Week. Here are some excerpts from an editorial written by Don Shoemaker, editor of the Miami Herald, which pays eloquent tribute to the unmatched book.

"Whether the Bible is the full and true word of God, as many Christians believe; or whether it is the history of a religion, as all scholars acknowledge; or whether, finally, it is to be held simply as great literature, as agnostics and writers agree, it is to all mankind a universal gift.

"No other book has been translated into nearly every language and dialect. No other book appears, in one version or another, in so many homes and inns and even hotels.

"The Bible's very antiquity, which stretches back into the Old Testament to some date between the sixth and eighth centuries, is at once mysterious and electrifying. The Bible is the first type-printed history of man, surviving natural catastrophe and the collapse of civilizations.

"The Bible is the human story, in its scope a chronicle of the family of man as awesome and compelling as an historical novel. The intense study of it, as

Samuel Taylor Coleridge wrote, 'will keep any writer from being vulgar in point of style.'

"But we miss the majesty of this book if we regard it only as a book and anything less than the consensus of man as related to God.

"In keeping, then, with both Scripture and man in the flesh, the Bible is a book of both comfort and despair, of romance love and voluptuousness, of the nobility of the human mind and of its crass brutality, written in a manner which both contents scholars and challenges them to try to improve — vainly I think — on its language.

"Anyone who can be without it, through ignorance of its pageantry or scorn of its religiosity, is sorely deprived."

Two Trips Scuttled

Returns aren't in from New Hampshire or points west on President Ford's campaign for nomination and election, but the early returns from points east — in Moscow and Peking — aren't good.

Part of the President's grand design to win his first nationwide election involved meeting with Russian leader Leonid Brezhnev and with Mao Tse-tung (or whoever is speaking for the Chinese chairman these days) to do presidential things while other candidates comb the domestic hustings. But alas, 'tis running on the schools.

The Brezhnev meeting has come apart, simply because there is nothing for the two leaders to meet about. Their conflagration was to have been the occasion for announcing progress toward, and possibly signing of an agreement upon, nuclear disarmament steps. But there has been no progress in the SALT talks.

The trip to Peking is still on. But as the date for the President's journey nears, it becomes more apparent the trip will be a hollow affair. Kissinger himself met with a chilly reception in his own recent trip to Red China. Mr. Ford will still go to China; but there is really no purpose for the visit, outside of campaign-related exposure for the President.

Now, A Kittycat

Around The Rim

Tommy Hart

This and that:

NEVER DOUBT that the oil companies are patriotic. It won't be long, in all likelihood, before the price of a gallon of gasoline goes to 76 cents. If that's not getting into the Bicentennial spirit, I'd like to know what is.

AND REMEMBER when four bucks used to put a tiger in your tank? Now, what you get is a kitty-cat.

Have you heard about the Navy volunteer who, when asked if he could swim, replied: "Why, ain't the Navy got enough ships?"

I think it was Benjamin Franklin who said "a penny saved is a penny earned." Now, he'd probably say a "penny saved is a penny taxed." Today, you see fewer and fewer people throwing their money around. After all, we've got a government to support. And it's a government, I might add, that doesn't believe in taking second class accommodations in its headlong flight to the poorhouse.

I'm becoming more and more convinced that the "Don't Knows" in Washington are running the country.

It's hard to pin any congressman down on anything.

Committees rarely get anything done. They organize, then go home. They say that committees never should consist of more than three people — and two of those should stay home.

About the only T-shirt I'd care to wear is the one with the "Nobody's Perfect" lettering emblazoned across it. It's dedicated to Idi Amin, the flakey leader in Uganda who threatened to lean on that Englishman recently for calling him a "village tyrant." Amin believes in Amin. He decreed recently that people living in the Ugandan capital of Kampala will have to wear shirts and dresses bearing a picture of El Presidente during a meeting there on African unity.

SOME DAY I'm going to do business with those loan companies which trumpet the fact that you can now borrow enough money to get completely out of debt. I think the government has been operating on that theory for years.

Have you heard about that woman who sued her husband for divorce, claiming he was a reckless driver? Seems he drove by her, with a blond in the front seat.

Limiting Terms

William F. Buckley, Jr.

I have read, or listened to, at this point, analyses by 32 commentators of the meaning of President Ford's reshuffling of last week, and all of them, and this one makes 33, ascribe primarily political motives to the entire transaction. I simplify now, but the arguments are in fact reducible roughly as follows: 1) GF has to get rid of Schlesinger because Schlesinger and Kissinger are on a collision course, and K is more valuable than S given his immense prestige. 2) Congress and the critics of CIA have got to have a victim, or else they will think GF insensitive to the crimes of CIA; therefore, Colby has to go. 3) The approach of Reagan requires that a couple of Vice Presidential alternatives should be catapulted into public view, or else R will get it by default: so bring Bush back from China, and send Rumsfeld over to the Defense Department, where he can be photographed not with typewriters and clerks in the background, but with nuclear battleships. 4) Let Rockefeller go without a fight — he has taken the hints like a gentleman. That will take some steam out of Reagan. And so forth.

This would pass, under the Connally amendment, and its passing would I think prove a great blessing for the republic. The standard argument against it is that the American people should not be prevented from renewing the mandate for their chief executive. But in fact they were prevented from doing so by tradition established by George Washington; a tradition written into the Constitution after Franklin Roosevelt; — two terms, no more.

IT IS said that six years is an infinity if you find you have a bad President after the first year, and have to wait another five years to get rid of him. Comment: a bad President can be substantially immobilized by the Congress; and anyway, at least you are certain he will be removed in five years. No matter how bad he is, he might, through his public appeal and through the canny exercise of his powers, effect his re-election for another four years. In any event, you are talking only about an additional two years, and we are trading off those two years against the organization of public policy and the resources of the executive for the sole purpose of effecting re-election.

Why does Mr. Ford want so very badly to be elected President? He did not aspire to the Presidency. He never entered a State primary. His ambitions were entirely within the House of Representatives, where he functioned extremely well. He is not surrounded by barbarians so that, like Cincinnatus dropping his plough with a sigh, he must take up arms and lead his country.

AND YET ALL of America is harnessed to an ambition which is entirely personal. Mr. Ford is a good man, with the right instincts, a better intelligence than he is given credit for, and he is a quintessential American.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir: Overuse of the credit card is part of our economic problem. If the money for interest were spent for a new product we would be able to create more work for the people of this country.

WILLIAM R. SULLIVAN
Vale, Ore.

Carter's Assets

Robert Novak

ORLANDO, Fla. — The prospect of little Jimmy Carter, the former governor of Georgia, being transformed into the giant-killer who humiliates George Wallace in the Florida presidential primary is preposterous — but not quite so preposterous as it was early this year.

INDEED, EVEN though no sane Democrat would bet a plugged nickel on Carter's humiliation of Wallace in the March 9 Democratic primary election here, events seem to be conspiring in such a way as to deliver maximum political dividends for Carter.

Most important is the fact that no other Democrat — with the inconspicuous exception of Pennsylvania Gov. Milton Shapp, an almost invisible dark horse — has shown the slightest interest in a statewide race against Gov. Wallace of Alabama here. To the contrary, even Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, who is expected to run delegates in selected congressional districts — mainly Miami with its large pro-Jackson American-Jewish community — is not yet regarded as a serious factor except in Miami's Dade County.

THUS, ALMOST by luck of the draw, Carter has a favored track position which other Democratic presidential candidates in years past have often striven for but seldom achieved: a virtual two-man race against Wallace and his hardcore but quite inelastic force of supporters.

In 1972 winner Wallace got less than 42 per cent of the vote in the presidential primary here, despite the highly emotional pull of an anti-busing provision on the ballot. Most Democrats and many Republican leaders here perceive Wallace at best as holding onto just about that same strength next March, with no sure way to measure whether his paralysis will hurt or help him politically. Another 42 per cent of that 1972 vote was distributed among three other candidates, each of them to the left of George Wallace: Hubert Humphrey, Jackson and Edmund Muskie.

ON THE FAR left, the strongest challenger was made by Sen. George McGovern with a meager 6 per cent of the total vote cast.

Neutral Democrats doubt that Wallace will be able to pick up more than scattered votes from among the 1972 non-Wallace voters. If true, and if these same non-Wallace voters of 1972 actually go to the polls, they may well vote for the candidate who has campaigned tirelessly for their support — Jimmy Carter.

THAT THEORY is by no means ironclad. Under Florida's presidential primary election law, Secretary of State Bruce Smathers must place every probable 1976 presidential candidate on the ballot unless an affidavit of non-candidacy is filed.

That means the huge bloc of non-Wallace voters could vote for any of the 1976 candidates on the ballot, including Jackson. But since Jackson got only 13.5 per cent of the vote in 1972 despite a major campaign, it is unlikely he would get many more votes in March without a full-fledged effort.

THAT EXPLAINS why Carter's relentless campaign here (he has been in the state 22 separate times since last Jan. 20) may pay rich dividends and why he ran away with 70 per cent of the straw vote taken last weekend at the first state convention of the long-decrepit Democratic party in 75 years.

"See you when I return from abroad. Have fun in New York, cousin Ebenezer!"

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — It is often said that in an election year the economy moves ahead, not just because of some cyclical accident but in response to efforts by the administration to make itself look good.

A month or so ago you would have found widespread support for the view the President Ford had obtained a head start on his particular program of making the economy look good. There is probably less support today.

All in all, the consensus of forecasters still is that the economy will move ahead through much of 1976, probably at an annual rate of about 7 per cent. But the public reaction to all this might be another matter.

That is, the indicators might show that the economy is improving, but that doesn't necessarily convince the people that this is so. The phenomenon has been demonstrated in the past — even today.

There is no mystery about it; the fact is that the Gross National Product can grow, but unemployment and the prices can rise and consumer confidence, partially as a result, can decline.

In other words, the real world of the voter might tend to be better or worse than the world as interpreted by the leading indicators and the other statistical measurements, no matter how refined they may be.

A month or more ago a good many people subscribed to the belief that the economy was rebounding strongly from the recession. But it seems a lot of other people didn't believe it, because the confidence measurements declined.

More recent statistical information shows that maybe they had reason to be disbelievers. The indicators don't look nearly as robust as they did, and the recovery has settled back into a mixture of weakness and strength.

There is good news, make no mistake about it. The harvest is good. Housing starts, although very low, have recovered a bit. Automobile sales, though relatively low, have improved somewhat.

The U.S. payments balance reached nearly $5 billion in the third quarter, after a deficit of $1.62 billion in the quarter before. Retail sales have recovered somewhat, although they are not vigorous. And interest rates are falling.

But there are some very disturbing reports also, and if the consumer surveys are correct, the public is quite aware of them. The good news, they observe, is not without question marks. And the bad news often is grim.

Damaging Effect Of Anger

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What part, if any, does anger play in physical or mental health? It seems to me a person who cannot get through one day of his life without getting angry about one thing or another must be doing some harm to himself.

Even little things that go wrong for me are major catastrophes. Am I harming myself physically? — M.H.

Yes, indeed, in anger, the hypothalamus is immediately activated sending signals throughout the sympathetic nervous system. It has been shown that under such conditions blood vessels actually become constricted, with blood being diverted to muscles. This is thought to have been part of primitive man's defense mechanism in response to real physical dangers about him.

For the chronically emotionally upset modern man the result can be hypertension. This would apply to anger whether vented or suppressed. In fact, such emotions as anger activate the entire network of endocrine glands. The body is doused in excess secretions. One result can be an increase in blood cholesterol and secretion of insulin with all the attendant problems this can bring.

There is an excellent discussion of this subject in a book published not too many years ago, "Type A Behavior and Your Heart," by two medical doctors, Meyer Friedman and Ray H. Roseman.

From your brief description, you may fit into the "type A" category, and you may need help, for both your mental and physical health. One of the best descriptions of mental health I have read refers to it as "getting along with oneself and with others in a constructive, satisfying way."

I suggest you contact a mental health organization in your locality. There are many worthwhile organizations devoted to self-help for people like yourself. Doctors today are seeking greater significance in the role of mental health in treating bodily ills.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a three-year-old daughter. Is there any harm in using bubble bath for her? Could it cause problems? — Y.T.

Bubble baths are not advised for young girls because they can cause genital irritation. Vaginitis can strike any woman at any time in her life. You can find out about the causes — and the cures — for this troublesome complaint in Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Vaginitis: The Hidden Illness." To get your copy, write to him in care of the Herald, P. O. Box 3995, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

My Answer

Billy Graham

I'm writing you in regard to our child and want another, but the adoption lists are so long. Our natural child is in her teens. Does the Scripture shed any light on the subject of artificial insemination? Please reply. I read your column daily. M.C.L.

The procreative process was devised by an infinite, wise God, and is treated as most sacred in the Scriptures. "Male and female created he them. . . and God said unto them, Be fruitful and multiply" (Genesis 1:27, 28).

The Scriptures mention no other method of reproduction of the human species and, from the beginning to the end, any deviation from the normal method which God ordained has no Scriptural basis.

Of course, artificial insemination was unknown in the days when the Bible was written, but even so, there is a shadow of doubt present when the Scriptures are silent.

It seems to me that adoption, which occurs with God's blessing in the Scriptures, is the answer to your problem. True, the wait may be long. But a good conscience is most important to both of you at this stage of life.

Or perhaps, during the waiting process, you might consider opening your home to the Foster Child Program which is ministering to so many needy children today. May the Lord direct you in this important decision.

A Devotion For Today

"Whatever you do, do all to the glory of God."
(1 Corinthians 10:31 RSV)
PRAYER: O God, help me today to serve You with the power of all my faculties. Amen.

We Hold These Truths... A Chronicle of America

November 28, 1775: Congress designates Benjamin Harrison of Virginia, Benjamin Franklin of Pennsylvania, Thomas Johnson of Maryland, John Dickinson of Pennsylvania and Delaware, and John Jay of New York as a secret committee of correspondence. The members, who come to be known as the Committee of Five, are instructed to correspond "with our friends in Great Britain, Ireland, and other parts of the world, and [to] lay their correspondence before Congress when directed." Among its members, only Franklin has any diplomatic experience. The primary conduit to the committee becomes Charles Dumas — a Swiss journalist and a long-time friend of Franklin — in the Hague. Dumas gathers his information, puts it into an intricate code that he devises, and forwards it to the Committee.

Wetland Encroachment May Cause Seafood Shortage

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Play makebelieve a minute. The new century has just arrived and you'd like to celebrate with a seafood dinner.

But seafood now is reserved for the wealthy who have to import it when they can find it. Shrimp goes for $12 a pound. Blue crab are reserved for kings.

Replicas of oyster bars can be found in Louisiana museums and the federal government has just recommended that speckled trout and redfish also be added to the endangered species list.

Wild duck would be a nice substitute for the dinner but hunting was banned five years ago when wildfowl began going the way of the passenger pigeon.

What happened?

Well, Louisiana's coastal marshes shrank to nothing, dried and invaded by urbanization.

Inland residents never noticed the change and coastal folks paid little heed to the trapper and fisherman. The marsh was full of mosquitoes and alligators anyway. No sandy beaches. Just swamp. Good riddance.

The state could afford to lose swamp area since Louisiana had eight million acres of it in 1975 — more than any other state in the nation.

The frightening thing about makebelieve, say marine biologists, is the speed with which it can become reality when man tampers with the environment.

In the past 25 years, a chunk of Louisiana marsh the size of Rhode Island has disappeared. The rate of loss now is 16 acres a year due to man-made structures, salt water intrusion into inland bays and other factors.

What everyday folks call marsh, the biologists call wetlands.

Those wetlands are the breeding ground for shrimp, oysters, menhaden and other wild life.

The state planning office has $350,000 to come up with a program to halt the attack on the environment along the coast.

By the end of next year the office hopes to have a coastal management zone mapped out, complete with state authority to stop unwarranted encroachment of wetlands.

The ticklish problem, says the planning office, is to balance the needs of ecology with the needs of the state economy and the rights of private landowners who own most of the wetlands.

The planning office, which began work last year, will sponsor legislation to set up a management zone, but first has to answer these questions:

—What are all the coastal resources, what are their values and to what extent are they present?

—At what rate are the resources being used and how can future supplies be predicted on a scientific basis?

—And most importantly, how stringent will the legislative steps be in protecting the coastal environment?

Gov. Edwin Edwards, who is expected to continue to hold sway over the legislature, has barnstormed the nation for more oil and gas production, demanding that the nation's entire environmental protection program be shelved for five years.

Edwards says that under coastal zone management, industry will be told "to take what reasonable steps are necessary to protect the coastline."

The argument in the next legislative session will be the definition of reasonable.

ILLUSTRATION FOR A THESIS — Kathryn King, Lamar University, Beaumont, Tex., graduate student, included this picture of herself in her master's thesis to show the correct use of the sextant in navigation. Some university officials expressed opposition to the picture as "not adding anything to the scholarship of a thesis," threatened not to approve the thesis. A lawyer will accompany Miss King to her oral exams next Tuesday.

Warns Reporter — His Daughter

HERMISTON, Ore. (AP) — Justice of the Peace John Smallmon has issued a stern warning to a court reporter for making it appear he suspended the fine for his daughter's traffic ticket.

The case was actually heard by Municipal Judge Marvin Dick, but the court reporter listed the case on his docket, Smallmon said.

"It she does it to me again, I'll do more than fine her," he said. "I'll take away the car keys."

The court reporter is his daughter—Debbie.

UT Regents May Build Grocery Store In Austin

AUSTIN (AP) — University of Texas regents apparently are considering building a grocery store on 2.7 acres near a municipal golf course.

The store would be leased by Safeway, Inc., the Austin American-Statesman said today.

Although the university has never built a structure to lease it to a private concern, Robert Long of the UT system office of investments said there is no legal prohibition against doing so.

Minutes of the July 25 regents meeting that a special regents committee was "authorized to negotiate financing of the improvements for Safeway and the UT system was authorized to employ the firm of Henry A. Miller Co. (of Dallas) to work with and advise the staff in drawing

Warren Official Wants New Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — A leading Warren Commission official wants Congress to investigate the murder of President John F. Kennedy, even though he says he believes such a probe would confirm that Lee Harvey Oswald acted alone and was not part of a conspiracy.

David W. Belin said it "was absolutely reprehensible" that "the CIA withheld vital evidence from the Warren Commission" in connection with U.S.-sponsored plots against Cuban Premier Fidel Castro. He also said the FBI withheld other information from the panel.

Belin also headed the 1975 Rockefeller Commission investigation into CIA murder plots against foreign leaders, including Castro.

Belin said it is unlikely reopening the investigation into the Dallas tragedy would turn up evidence of any foreign conspiracy, because "too many people would have had to know about it to keep it a secret this long." But he added that such an inquiry might throw "some additional light on what motivated Oswald."

Belin's call for a congressional probe is a reversal of his previous position. He made his comments Sunday during the CBS show "Face the Nation" and in a prepared statement Saturday.

Public disclosure of CIA assassination plots against Castro has led to some unverified speculation that Oswald was an agent of the Cuban government, sent to retaliate for plots against Castro by killing Kennedy.

Belin said another reason for opening the Warren Commission investigation is that it would expose "many of the most extreme and vocal assassination critics (who) have deliberately misrepresented the over-all record of evidence before the Warren Commission."

Belin said he believes both Kennedy and President Dwight D. Eisenhower knew of assassination plots against foreign leaders, especially Castro.

Belin said the 347-page

Trapped Boy Saved

DALLAS (AP) — A 9-year-old boy trapped next to a pile of burning rubbish was hospitalized today with second and third degree burns after a chance rescue by firemen and a passing motorist.

Hospital authorities said Christian English was in serious condition with burns on his face, right hand and head.

Battalion Chief T.J. Walker said firemen braved intense toxic smoke, heat and spreading flames to save the child.

A passing motorist, Gary G. Hensley, said he was driving through an alley when he saw the fire and heard the boy's screams. Hensley called firemen who said later the boy had been sent to find a younger brother when he became wedged between a building and a post. Unable to attract help, the boy set fire to a pile of rubbish nearby which contained a quantity of plastic.

Hensley said he was driven away from the flames and could not pull the boy to safety. Firemen had to pry away the post to free the child.

Scouts Earning Bicen Awards

More than 75 Scouting units in this area have earned awards for participation in the third year of the bicentennial program of the Boy Scouts of America, according to A. L. McCarrall, president of the Buffalo Trail Council.

A Pack, Troop or Post selects and completes an activity or project related to the 1975-76 program titled "Spirit of '76". The program emphasis is on three areas of involvement: Heritage '76, a look at our history; Festival USA, a look at the present; and Horizons '76, a look to the future.

A special Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge Scout Unit category has been created to recognize 288 units nationally.

Heroin Shortage Leaves New Orleans Addicts Dry

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The heroin business is lousy in New Orleans. Something's dried up the supply, leaving about 5,000 addicts wondering where their next "hit" is coming from.

"You could sell any amount you could get your hands on in this city. I could never get enough to sell before, but right now it's hard to get any," the New Orleans Times-Picayune quoted one pusher as saying.

Nobody's quite sure what's causing the drought, although some dealers think smugglers in Texas border towns are hoarding their supplies in an effort to drive up the price.

Dist. Atty. Harry Connick

likes to think it's the tough sentences being handed out to convicted peddlers. He noted that 21 of the "bigger pushers" in New Orleans have been sentenced recently to life terms in prison.

"That alone may convince some people that selling heroin here isn't profitable in the long run," Connick said.

"We have information pushers are leaving town...because we finally have them scared."

Narcotics officers aren't so sure the stiff prison terms will have any lasting effect.

As soon as a major dealer is arrested, one of his lieutenants usually moves in to take over, said James R.

Bland, regional director of the federal Drug Enforcement Administration. He expects the drought to be only temporary.

The drug trade is risky but the stakes are high, authorities note. The newspaper quoted a 20-year-old "retired" dealer as saying he made $800,000 in one year of pushing heroin.

Meanwhile, police are worried about the effect of the shortage on the city's addicts. They fear the addicts will panic and begin holding up pharmacies to try to find relief.

Hard times have also come to the marijuana trade, which is small change compared to the heroin traffic.

Eason Planning Dec. 13 Party

Wyatt Eason is planning his 27th annual pre-Christmas feast for Dec. 13 at the Settles. More than four score people have been invited to the affair which had its roots more than a quarter of a century ago when he brought back a big batch of smoked salmon from his Northwest fishing adventures. In recent years, however, the salmon haven't been running so this year Eason is shifting to mouflon (sheep).

Pilgrimage Crews Inadequately Trained, Board Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Simulated safety equipment on which some airline crews get emergency escape training may be so unrealistic as to be useless, the National Transportation Safety Board says.

A board spokesman said Sunday that evidence from two non-fatal crashes showed crews had problems operating emergency exit doors.

The crashes involved a Western Air Lines crash March 31 at Casper, Wyo., and an United Air Lines crash Oct. 16 at Seattle.

"Many times when we don't have just a black hole in the ground after a plane crash, but have a live crew to work with, we can discover things like this," the spokesman said.

He said the board has recommended to the Federal Aviation Administration that in training crews, airlines should be required to use "accurate and realistic equipment and procedures which accurately simulate emergency conditions..."

In the Seattle crash, the board spokesman said, "It was found the door the stewardess had trained on — a simulated one — had a throw on the handle of 30 degrees. In other words, you had to turn the handle 30 degrees to the right.

"But, in the real plane you had to turn it full circle. So, when she turned it 30 degrees and it wouldn't open, she figured it was jammed."

The passengers and crew were able to escape the plane through other exits, he said.

In the Wyoming crash, two flight attendants reported difficulties in opening two separate cabin doors. Both attendants were able to rotate the handles and open the doors partially but not completely.

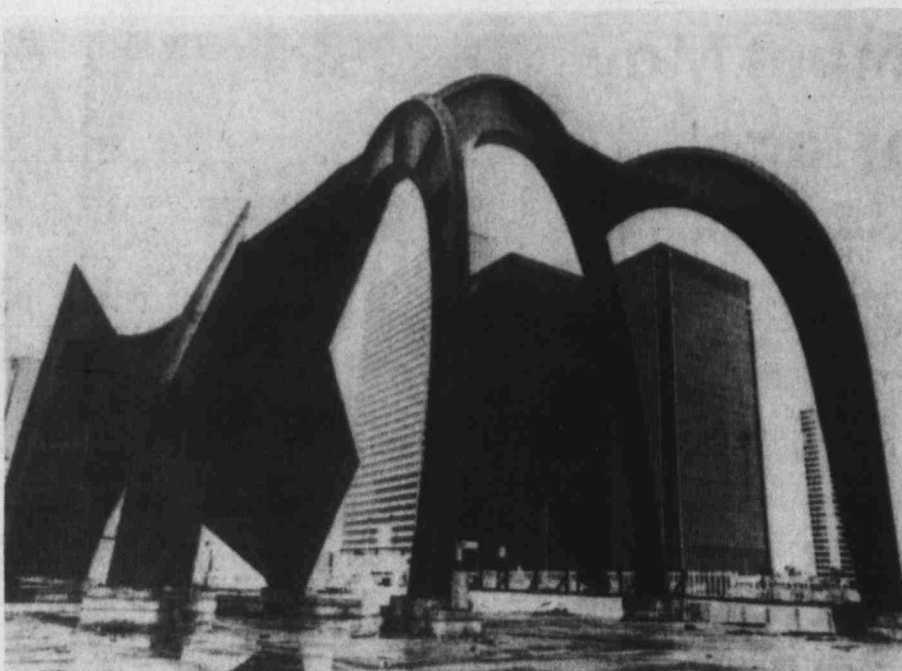

"Both flight attendants had received initial and recurrent emergency training using an actual aircraft door and using the mockup containing a B-737 door," the board noted.

"However, neither flight attendant had ever opened an aircraft exit door with an evacuation slide attached; nor is Western's mockup door equipped with a slide," it said.

"Our investigators noted that the forces required to operate the mockup door are noticeably less than those required to open an actual aircraft door with the slidepack attached."

Thus, neither flight attendant "was adequately prepared to anticipate the forces necessary to open a cabin door in the emergency mode," the board concluded.

Frigid Air Hangs Over State Today

By The Associated Press

Frigid air from Canada poured southward into the Texas Panhandle today while the state still tried to shake off the effects of a sharp weekend freeze.

Forecasters looked for a low pressure center to develop over the central part of the state and pull the reinforced chill right along into Southeast Texas.

Skies were mostly clear except for occasional clouds over the southern sections with little change in prospect except for possibly a few showers in extreme South Texas.

Temperatures near dawn sagged to 28 degrees at El Paso, 29 at Amarillo, 30 at Dalhart and Lubbock and 32 at Longview, Texarkana, Tyler and Wink. Readings at other points ranged up to 55 in Brownsville at the mouth of the Rio Grande.

Sunday's top marks went no higher than 69 at Alice in South Texas.

Man Lies In Tub For Three Days

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — An elderly man who relies on a pacemaker to aid his heartbeat says he thought mostly about ice cream while lying helpless in his bathtub for three days.

Alphonso Crockett, 74, put some vanilla ice cream in his freezer before taking a bath Tuesday. While in the tub, he lost the use of his arms and legs and lay there until a cleaning woman found him Friday.

"The phone didn't do me any good — I couldn't get to it," says Crockett. "I was hardly thinking of anything except that ice cream."

Caroline Displays Her Photos

The show at the Lexington Labs Gallery began Thursday, but it took a day or two before publicity which usually attends the actions of the late President Kennedy's daughter caught up.

"She wanted to keep the whole thing low key," Philip Passoni, president of the gallery, said of the opening of Miss Kennedy's show of 80 black-and-white photographs.

The pictures include a few of Kennedy family members, but most are of outdoor scenes, a Spanish bullfight and the people of Appalachia where Miss Kennedy worked on a documentary film crew last year.

Her interest in photography began when her mother, Jacqueline Onassis, invited photographer Peter Beard for a cruise on the Onassis family yacht Christina, and Beard lent Miss Kennedy a camera.

$250,000 Bicentennial Project Goes Sour

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A Catholic priest spent close to a quarter million dollars in Pennsylvania Bicentennial funds traveling the globe in search of humanists and on other preparations for a world unity conference that may never be held.

"The money went down the drain," says Lt. Gov. Ernest Kline, at one time a staunch supporter of the project. "It was a good idea that went sour."

Pennsylvania staked the Rev. Guy Merville to the $250,000 two years ago for his Congress of World Unity and then pulled out last spring, getting $30,000 in change.

The priest spent the difference looking for what he calls "a common denominator which will transcend the nationalities and cultures to promote the energies to accelerate a world civilization."

Kline says the concept—to bring the world's great minds to Philadelphia during the Bicentennial next May—was excellent and worth exploring.

But it became apparent, he says, that Father Merville and the people working with him were not getting along.

"When his board of directors decided to withdraw that's when we decided to pull out," says Kline. "He wanted to call all the shots. 'You're not the Holy Ghost. You can't light all the candles in the world.'"

To put his plans in motion, Father Merville set off for Europe and Asia, traveling in 75 different countries to find his humanists.

The states says it allocated his Congress of World Unity a travel budget of about $4,000 over roughly a two-year period. Merville says he exhausted it on his foreign excursions—four trips over a one-year period.

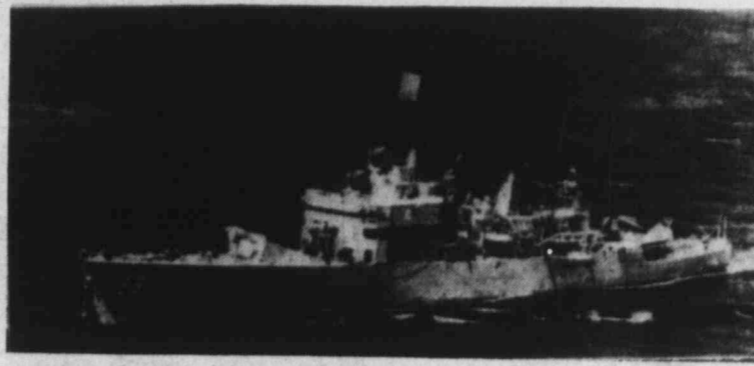

"I had professional people with me," he explains. "Administrators, secretaries. Nothing is left. Nothing. I'm living on bread and water."

An out-of-character diet for a man who lives in a $320-a-month, penthouse with a southern exposure and picture window view of the city.

The apartment, beneath a roof-top swimming pool, also serves as his office.

Father Merville says he works full time on his Congress of World Unity.

The priest's state money is gone, but he still manages to pay the rent.

Saturday night. The U.S. Navy said Sunday at least four crewmen were killed and another 16 injured. About 55 men from the Belknap were swept overboard in the accident but later rescued.

Jackie's Call Gets Results

LONDON (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis' transatlantic telephone call has led to the cancellation of an elaborate 18th birthday party planned for her daughter Caroline next Thursday, a gossip columnist says.

"The party is off. I'm not holding one next week, and that's that," Caroline was quoted as saying.

Daily Mirror columnist Paul Callan said the call was "urgent and shrill" and added: "Mother gave the 17-year-old child a sharp wiggling (scolding) for going to too many parties and paying scant attention to her alleged art studies."

Four Dead, Four Lost After Collision Of Navy Vessels

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — "Ammunition exploded. There were terrible fires," the sailor injured in the collision of the U.S. aircraft carrier John F. Kennedy and the cruiser Belknap reported.

David Vollmer of Waupaca, Wis., was below decks aboard the cruiser about 10 p.m. Saturday when the collision set off explosions aboard the Belknap and fires aboard both ships.

"We were trapped below decks, but fought our way to the deck," reported Vollmer after he was flown to a navy hospital near Naples.

The Headquarters of the 6th Fleet said four men were killed, four were missing and 16 were injured, five of them seriously. Three of the dead and all of the missing were members of the Belknap crew. 55 of the cruiser's 350 crewmen were thrown overboard.

Identities of the dead and missing were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

The fire aboard the 1,047-foot carrier, one of the largest warships in the world, was put out in 10 minutes, and damage was slight, the Navy said. It added that capability for flight operation was not impaired, and the ship joined in the search for the missing men.

But the 547-foot cruiser was badly damaged. There were numerous flashback fires, blazes that were put out and then started up again, and it was two and a half hours before the fires were brought under control.

A newsman who flew over the Belknap reported its superstructure was "a twisted mass of steel and all charred." The destroyer Bordeon was towing the ship to Augusta, Sicily.

The Navy gave no indication of the cause of the collision but ordered an investigation.

The collision occurred in rough seas and "reduced visibility," the Navy said, during night flight operations in the Mediterranean about 70 miles east of Sicily. The Navy refused to say whether either ship had nuclear weapons aboard.

A Soviet destroyer was in the area at the time, but its "help was not asked, and it did not offer," the Navy said. The Soviet and U.S. fleets in the Mediterranean usually observe each other's movements.

VA Mails Out Income Forms

Annual income questionnaires were included with Veterans Administration pension checks mailed to 1.3 million recipients in November, Jack Coker, VA Regional Director, reported today. Questionnaires also went to 34,000 parents receiving Dependency and Indemnity Compensation (DIC) checks. Completed questionnaires must be returned to the VA by Jan. 1 to insure continued receipt of benefits, Coker said.

Explorer Post To Organize

A new Veterinary Medicine Explorer Post, No. 248, is being sponsored by the Webb Veterinary Services and the Big Spring Veterinary Association. The first meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. Monday in the conference room of the Wing headquarters, Bldg. 300, located on Simler Drive.

All youth who have completed the eighth grade or who are 15 years of age but not 21 are eligible for membership. During the coming year, members will have the opportunity to meet and work with the local veterinarians, visit the Texas A&M University Veterinary College and participate on projects related to veterinary medicine.

Those attending the first meeting will meet the sponsors. They will also view a film on the veterinary profession. A brief outline of the program for the next several months will be given out and those interested can join the post.

The base, as an additional sponsor, will provide transportation for field trips. The Webb Credit Union provided funds for audio-visual training aids. All young men or women interested in this program are invited to call Capt. (Dr.) Larry Brown, base veterinarian at Webb 267-2511, Ext. 2336 or Art Hyman, district Scouting executive, at 263-4176.

QB Duel Figured

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Oilers quarterback Dan Pastorini made a curtain call after his film debut here Friday night and he'll face the Steel Curtain defense of the Pittsburgh Steelers tonight in a nationally televised AFC Central Division showdown.

The two teams are central figures in an American Football Conference Central Division power struggle, the Steelers leading it with an 8-1 record and the Oilers a step behind at 7-2.

The Cleveland Browns made the game more interesting Sunday when they upset Cincinnati, dropping the Bengals to an 8-2 record. A Houston victory would throw the division into a three-way tie for first place.

Pastorini and the Oilers were deadlocked with the Steelers until Bradshaw threw a TD pass in the final 38 seconds for a 24-17 victory Nov. 9 in Pittsburgh.

Dallas Clubs Philadelphia; Blanda's Boot Bops 'Skins'

HEADED FOR PAY DIRT—Dallas Cowboys running back Doug Dennison (21) heads for the end-zone in third period of game with the Philadelphia Eagles and beats safety Artimus Parker (24) to score. Cowboys won, 27-17.

Browns 35, Bengals 23
Cincinnati could have taken at least a temporary lead in the division—but the Browns in general and quarterback Mike Phipps in particular decided it was time to do something about their dreary record.

Anderson completed 13 of 20 for 282 yards and two touchdowns before giving way to John Reaves, who had little success. He hit on just four of 11 for 68 yards and threw an interception that was returned by safety Jim Hill 56 yards for Cleveland's last score.

Falcons 35, Broncos 21
While some quarterbacks were going out, Atlanta's Steve Bartkowski was coming back.

Cardinals 37, Jets 6
Terry Metcalf's two touchdown runs, one on a 52-yard draw play, and Jim Hart's two scoring passes to Mel Gray, one of them a 74-yard bomb, blew out the Jets and kept St. Louis atop the NFC East, a game ahead of Dallas.

Texas-A&M Deal For High Stakes

If Texas Christian can win a game and Wishbone-T oriented Southern Methodist overcome a 23-0 halftime deficit with four touchdown passes, can a Texas Aggie victory over Texas for the first time in almost a decade be in the cards?

The Aggies haven't defeated the Longhorns since 1967 when Gene Stallings was the coach and Ed Hargett the quarterback. That's the last time A&M won the Southwest Conference title.

The answer, of course, will be determined Friday in a nationally televised collision of two of the nation's collegiate football giants in Kyle Field's "Holler Canyon" in College Station.

The two teams are dealing for high stakes. The third-ranked Texas Aggies—and that might be higher in view of Nebraska's lopsided loss to Oklahoma Saturday—and the sixth-ranked Longhorns will have a little more to play for than just plain old vanilla hate in this most bitter of rivalries.

If Texas wins, the 'Horns will be crowned Southwest Conference champions and awarded the host role against Georgia in the Cotton Bowl.

If the Aggies win, they still have to play Arkansas in Little Rock Dec. 6 for the right to appear in the New Year's Day Classic. An Arkansas victory under such circumstances would throw the SWC into a three-way tie and propel the Razorbacks into the bowl because they haven't been since the Aggies or 'Horns.

The consolation prize is either an AstroBluebonnet appearance for either Texas or A&M and a Liberty Bowl game for either A&M or Arkansas.

Arkansas smashed Texas Tech 31-14 Saturday to bring the Razorback record to 5-1. Asked if he would be pulling against his old golfing buddy, Texas Coach Darrell Royal, Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles replied "I didn't say that."

Arkansas lost to Texas earlier in the season but has closed fast despite the temporary losses of running backs Ike Forte and Jerry Eckwood.

It's the first time that A&M and Texas will meet with unblemished conference status since 1943.

It was glory Saturday for downtrodden TCU which snapped a 20-game losing streak with a 28-21 victory over Rice before some 12,000 faithful in Amon Carter Stadium.

TCU Coach Jim Shofner proclaimed it "as big a victory as I've ever been involved in. I'm sure winning the Cotton Bowl won't be any sweeter than this today."

That was also the way SMU Coach Dave Smith felt after senior quarterback Chuck Benefield threw four touchdown passes and ran over Rice before some 12,000 faithful in Amon Carter Stadium.

There are no dream games in Texas schoolboy football this week to match the attractions of last weekend, but the fact that playoff teams are one game closer to a state championship should keep fan interest peaking.

Last weekend's bi-district round was blessed with two games between first and second-ranked teams in the state. Class 4A kingpin Longview beat Plano in one match and Class 3A monarch Cuero ousted Columbia.

Best of the 4A this week's regional pairings should be Longview against Conroe, which beat fourth-ranked Killeen in bi-district.

Bruins Spotted Second In Poll

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Bobby Knight's Indiana Hoosiers reacted to their No. 1 ranking in The Associated Press preseason college basketball poll as they react on the basketball court—together.

The Hoosiers, who collide with UCLA next Saturday, say they are concentrating on perfecting their basketball skills. The polls will have to take care of themselves.

"We're very appreciative that people think that highly of us," Knight said Sunday after the preseason rankings were released. "But I don't see how you can rate teams with any kind of validity until they have played some games, so I don't feel one way or another about being

No. 1 this early in the season."
The Hoosiers were ranked third in the final AP poll last spring after losing to Kentucky 92-90 in the Midwest Regional final of the NCAA playoffs. It was their only setback in 32 games.

UCLA, defending NCAA champion and winner of the title nine times in the last 10 years, is ranked second in the preseason poll. Rounding out the top 10 are Maryland, Marquette, North Carolina, Kentucky, Notre Dame, Louisville, Tennessee and Cincinnati.

"I don't even think about the rankings. The things that happen on the court, that's what counts," said Tom Abernethy, a new addition to the Hoosier starting five.

"If you worry too much about the polls, who's first, second or even 10th, you lose sight of the end of the season," he added. "Finishing on top at the end of the season—that's our goal."

Indiana received 30 first-place votes and was named on every ballot in garnering 876 points in the nationwide poll of sports writers and broadcasters. UCLA was next with 782 points, but the Bruins received only 13 first-place votes.

Others receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Arkansas, Boston College, California, Creighton, Drake, Houston, Kansas, Kansas State, Kentucky, Louisiana State, Michigan, Missouri, Nevada, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Oregon, Penn State, Pitt, Princeton, Purdue, Rutgers, San Diego State, South Carolina, Southern Cal, Texas A&M, Texas Tech, Washington, Western Michigan, Wichita.

BUCKEYES Buck For No. 1

Ohio State may be within one step of college football's national championship.

"I think we should be No. 1. We beat the No. 4 team," Coach Woody Hayes said after the top-ranked Buckeyes completed an 11-0 regular season and captured the Big Ten crown and a fourth consecutive trip to the Rose Bowl by defeating Michigan 21-14 Saturday.

Ohio State's Rose Bowl opponent and last stumbling block en route to a possible national championship will be either No. 14 UCLA, a team the Buckeyes routed 41-20 earlier in the season, or No. 13 California, which trounced Stanford 48-15 as Chuck Muncie scored four times and threw a 46-yard touchdown pass to Wesley Walker. UCLA must beat Southern California Friday evening to earn a rematch with Ohio State.

The Buckeyes' main challengers were pulling for Michigan.

"It would have been better for us if Michigan had won. I don't think any Pacific-8 team can beat Ohio State," said Oklahoma's Barry Switzer, whose seventh-ranked defending national champs ended second-ranked Nebraska's perfect record with a 35-10 triumph and, ironically, landed an Orange Bowl berth against Michigan.

The Sooners recovered four of five Nebraska fumbles, intercepted two passes and turned five of the turnovers into touchdowns. Two of them were scored by Steve Davis, who rushed for 130 yards.

Texas A&M, Alabama, Texas and Arizona State, ranked 3-5-6-8, were idle. Ninth-ranked Colorado, going to the Bluebonnet Bowl, whipped Kansas State 35-7, triggered by Billy Waddy's 100-yard dash with the opening kickoff. Penn State, ranked No. 10 and headed for a controversial Sugar Bowl meeting against Alabama, nipped No. 17 Pitt 7-6 when the losers' Carson Long missed field goals of 51, 23 and 45 yards in the final five minutes. The last attempt fell just wide and short with nine seconds left, 82 seconds after the 23-yard

Texas Newspapers Often Have Misleading Names

By The Associated Press

The newspaper delivered at your front door—or on the roof or in the hedges—more than likely bears a name you readily identify with news.

Some newspapers make it easy. They call themselves the News.

Or the Times, or the Daily Bugle.

Others, mostly weekly newspapers, make things a little tougher. In some cases it can become game of logic to figure out how the newspaper ever got such a name.

Take the Schulenburg Sticker for example. Unless you worked at this South Texas weekly you might never know why it is named the Sticker. Employees say the name was dreamed up by a long-ago publisher whose name is lost to memory. Several of his predecessors tried to launch a newspaper in Schulenburg and failed. This man said in 1893 he was going to establish a newspaper that would stick.

And it has.

The Big Lake Wildcat acquired its name in much the same fashion. And it hasn't anything to do with untamed felines.

A spokesman at the paper explained: "Well, back in 1923 there was a lot of wildcat oil drilling going on around here. The publisher figured he was starting out in an unproven area much like the drillers were doing. So that's where it came from. It was a wildcat newspaper."

The Hondo Anvil is another weekly whose name seems unrelated to news, defense of the truth or a clarion call to arms.

Not so. It was common years ago for the community blacksmith to alert town residents to danger or important news. He did this by detonating gunpowder between two anvils, producing a deafening blast that startled horses, made babies cry and disrupted activities at the saloon.

At least that's the explanation given by the Anvil.

The Carrizo Springs Javelin is so named because of the large numbers of javelina hogs in that South Texas region.

And the Daily Rosenberg Herald-Coaster, it is said, got its name because of its proximity to the Gulf Coast, and a long-ago merger with the Texas Coaster.

At Sonora in West Texas, the newspaper carries a name straight out of the Old West—the Sonora Devil's River News. It should be no surprise the paper was named in 1890 for the now dry Devil's River bed which meanders through town.

The Mesquite Daily News was once a weekly named the Mesquite, an obvious play on words since that rodeo town has more trouble with horseflies than mosquitoes.

The Port Lavaca Wave bears tribute to the sea at its front door.

The Jasper News-Boy was an honor bestowed upon urchins around the world who, like the mythical little match girl, stood on street corners in fair weather and foul selling the chronicle of world events. Capt. Edwin Kelly, founder of the newspaper in 1867, was himself once a newsboy.

The Jefferson Jimplecute is a name that really does defy description.

Publisher Dwaine Dennis laughed. The name stands for— are you ready for this—"Join industry, manufacturing, planting, labor, energy, capital, unity, together, everlasting."

Students To Get Initial Call

There will be only limited seating for the public at the 12:45 p.m. and 2:15 p.m. Wednesday showings of the play "The Midnight Ride of Paul Revere" at Big Spring High School Auditorium.

Priority in admission to both shows will be given to seventh, eighth and ninth grade pupils. Any seats available after pupil seating will be open to the public.

Man's Wedding Band Missing

Charles Medary reported to city police that his wedding ring was apparently lost or stolen Saturday night at the Non-commissioned Officers Club.

Medary told the investigating officer that "the ring might have fallen off my hand in the ballroom while I was dancing." The ring has the initials KALE in old English lettering and is valued at $120.

Two Juveniles Are Picked Up

Two male juveniles were arrested inside the Broadway Tavern at 1231 W. 3rd at 3:11 a.m. Sunday morning.

The two youths have been charged with burglary and turned over to the city juvenile department.

Two city patrolmen, J. W. Hensley and Allen Parrish, discovered the burglary in progress and sent for additional help before entering the building.

First Meeting To Be Tuesday

A new veterinary medicine Explorer Post 248 will have its first meeting 7 p.m. Tuesday in the conference room of Wing Headquarters (Bldg. 300) at Webb AFB.

Young men or young women attending the first meeting will meet the sponsor, view a film on veterinary medicine as a profession. There will be a brief outline of the program for the next several months. The Webb Veterinary Services and Big Spring Veterinary Association are sponsoring the post and plan several field trips. Those interested may call Capt. (Dr.) Larry Brown, base veterinarian at Webb AFB, or Art Hyman, Scout Executive (3-4176).

Kidnaping, Chase Ends Near Lubbock

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Pursuing police shot the tires off a car and finally, hours later, used tear gas today to capture a man accused of robbing a plush restaurant and forcing its assistant manager to flee with him.

Reports indicated the holdup may have netted as much as $3,000 in the two nights' receipts taken shortly before midnight from nine employees of the Smugglers' Inn on Lubbock's south side.

Police arrived in time to see a man holding the assistant manager, Mike Langston, at gunpoint as they sped southward on U.S. 87 in Langston's car.

Lubbock officers gave chase at speeds up to 115 miles per hour, they reported, and halted the vehicle 20 miles south of town by using bullets to puncture its tires.

Police of neighboring towns, sheriff's deputies and state patrolmen teamed to surround the disabled car with a force of about 20 men.

Thereafter they parleyed with Langston's captor in a standoff lasting until about 5 a.m., when—with the aid of tear gas—the gunman was forced to surrender and Langston was freed.

Authorities said the only injuries were minor and resulted from exposure of Langston and a police lieutenant to the tear gas.

During the standoff officers tried in vain to persuade the gunman to release his hostage and surrender. He countered by demanding that they turn over to him a police car and a policeman as substitute hostages—or else provide him transportation in a state police helicopter which had joined in the pursuit.

The man taken into custody was not identified at once.

Top Salesman Is Rewarded

Leslie Lloyd, 2308 Roberts, with his father, Larson Lloyd, was one of three boys flown Sunday to the Dallas Cowboy-Philadelphia Eagle football game as a reward for outstanding salesmanship.

With Mike Mashburn, Midland, and Mark Miller, Midland, he was a leading salesman for the Scout Expositions held last Spring throughout the Buffalo Trail Corridor.

Leslie and his dad were flown from Midland in a 600-mph jet furnished by George Eng of the Permian Corporation, to Dallas. They were met at Love Field by a limousine, given a tour of the city, had dinner, then went to Texas Stadium where they had choice seats. After another meal, they were zipped back to Midland in about an hour's time. All expenses were picked up by the council.

Oldtime Swindler Arrested Again

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Benjack Cage, a fugitive Texas insurance man sentenced to 10 years in prison in 1957 for embezzling $100,000, has been arrested in Sao Paulo, police said Saturday.

They said Cage, 58, and three of his Brazilian partners were charged in a scheme to bilk Brazilian and foreign firms through transactions involving 10 firms they set up. Police said the illegal operations may have netted as much as $1.7 million.

Police said the four also were charged during the past week with making irregular land transactions from their plush headquarters in Sao Paulo.

Cage denied his companies' activities violated any laws.

Efforts were made to extradite Cage in 1964 when another U.S. fugitive, financier Earl Bell, was returned to the United States.

Museum Seeking Funds Amounting To $220,000

Two leaders of the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum have issued an appeal for funds as part of a "state of the museum" report.

Russell J. Ramsland and Emil C. Rassman, heads of the museum's two volunteer boards, said in the report that by year's end the museum will have borrowed approximately $261,000 to complete its building project.

Partly offsetting this will be 1976 pledge payments totaling $122,000. Taking this into account, as well as estimated interest payments, the two men said that the museum needs to raise, in cash or pledges, "about $156,000 to turn our mortgage." In addition, the museum hopes to raise $65,000 to restore operating reserves borrowed for building purposes. Thus, the goal is to raise $221,000.

The total cost of the building project, when all bills are in, is forecast at $1,881,000.

All of the money for construction of the museum has been raised entirely by private donations, given over a period of several years.

"Visitors to the museum say it's among the best in the nation," Ramsland and Rassman said. "We have a hit. Now we need to get it free of debt, operate it for awhile, and start thinking about the next steps."

They urged people of the Basin to visit the museum now, rather than later, since attendance is a factor in attracting new gifts, particularly from out-of-town donors.

Plans for using billboards on Interstate 20 to tell transients of the museum are being studied.

The report said that operating expenses for the museum are being paid in part through reserves that were laid aside beginning in 1973. Admissions fee, museum store sales, and auditorium rentals are currently paying about 28 per cent of the operating costs, and the museum hopes eventually to raise this figure to about 40 per cent. The remainder will need to be raised through sale of memberships and "possibly one or two special events each year," it was said.

Looking at future plans, Ramsland and Rassman said that the museum would be dedicating its grounds in 1976 as part of the national Bicentennial celebration. Much of the funds for landscaping have been raised through "Project Green Horizons", to which many civic organizations and individuals have donated.

The next capital program at the museum, once the present debt has been paid and operating experience has been gained, is likely to be an expanded sequence of outdoor exhibits, all in operation.

"We have available, through the Abell-Hanger Foundation, a truly magnificent collection of antique drilling equipment we want to move here and restore. It will be unique in the nation and the world," they said.

The master plan for the museum calls also for the eventual addition of two new wings, matching the two now in the building.

Handless Man Is Truck Driver

SAN DIEGO (AP)—Richard De Ford graduated Friday from truck driving school 17 years after he blew off both his hands with a homemade bomb.

"I accept it and make the best of it," said Ford, now 30.

The California Department of Rehabilitation has named the Escondido man its rehabilitative success of the year in the San Diego area. The agency paid his tuition at the truck driving school after he was laid off last month as a garage helper for San Diego Gas & Electric Co.

TO DENVER, LAW VEGAS...

Opus III Is Musical Group Going Places

"Changes, life's so full of changes — My Love's with you and not with me. Changes, how life rearranges Changes can bring my woman down."

So go the lyrics of "Changes" — an easy mellow song by a group called "Opus III."

It's the type of song you catch yourself humming unconsciously. A nice tune to drop a tear into your beer with. A tune to reflect upon happier and sadder times. A song to dance to with your love.

And for three Webb AFB airmen, the song casts hope for a brightening spotlight on their talents and the talents of three other musicians that make up "Opus III."

With their hit single headed for an apparent gold record, Sgts. John Evans and Chuck Stone and A1C Rick Beech see an ever lengthening calendar that has the group booked up through next June. Michael McGee, Gordon Myrick and Gene Currie share in the anticipation of future engagements in San Antonio, Denver and Las Vegas.

PAYING OFF
"I guess the hard work is starting to pay off," says songwriter Evans who becomes lead vocal Johnny Cantrell when he sings. "We're a tight group that gets together and practices for five hours or more at least once a week. That's on top of the usual three to four shows we do a week. I guess this time the work paid off. But you never know, the balloon bursts quicker than it's inflated."

"Changes" isn't the first song written or recorded by Evans, an NCO club steward during duty time. Huey P. Meaux, the current producer for country music star Freddy Fender, gave Evans his first break. "We're both from a small town outside of Houston," he says. "He coached me and published some of my material when I was a pretty green kid and didn't know what was going on. I sure learned a lot from him." A prolific writer, Evans has lost count of the songs he's written.

"Hey, how about that — the Marina Hotel in Vegas," exclaims drummer Stone. "We'll probably leave more money there than we'll make. I don't know what kind of crowds we'll have; but they can't be as good as the ones here. This is where we started getting it together a few months back. Besides, we're playing for our friends here." The group plays at the officers' club on Dec. 5 and 6 and is slated for the New Year's Eve blowout at the NCO Open Mess.

Stone is from Temple, Tex., and works in the assignments section of Personnel.

Pittsburgh keyboard player Beech is a refrigeration specialist for Civil Engineering Squadron. "All three of us GIs have some super supervisors," he says. "They let us have leave when we need it and that really helps."

Beech has an assignment to Germany early next year. "I'm gonna miss out on some of the fun," he adds. "But the group plans to stay together and I'll definitely keep in touch."

Lead guitar player McGee, a Webb dependent and student at Howard College, gets half the credit for writing "Changes." His 16-year-old sister, Margaret, did the backup vocals on the tune and helps out on their soon to be released album, "Introducing Opus III."

That album should hit the market early next year and features eight original songs on the 10-cut work.

NICE NUMBER
"Watch out for 'Bedroom Eyes,'" comments bass player Myrick. "It's a nice rock number I really like on the album." Myrick is an area service representative for International Business Machines.

CBers Swap Tales, Info — And Wives

MCKINNEY, Tex. AP — A group of Citizens Band radio operators in this North Texas area swap information, stories — and wives.

"We don't just swap wives but that's part of it," the vice president of the Breaker 17 club said Saturday. She asked to be identified by her radio handle — "Cricket."

She said a group of eight "swingers" meeting regularly here for the past several years began a CB radio recruiting campaign Oct. 21. Swinging is a euphemism for mate-swapping.

"We've already got 32 charter members and applications from 40 others," she said.

"We've had everything from a politician on down."

The group's radio activities began as a date-making medium but quickly encompassed humanitarian efforts.

"We assist in searches for missing people and have a regular coffee break for truck drivers and motorists. We're setting up a Good Samaritan committee, too," she said.

"We were broadcasting on Channel 19, but we had to switch to Channel 17 so we could talk about the things we wanted to talk about without a lot of interruptions. We don't allow any dirty talk on the air, but we arrange to meet. Once in a while some wisecracker will get on our channel, but we haven't had too much of that."

She explained truckers and other drivers unknown to club members are invited over Channel 17 to "stop and have some coffee."

She continued: "We have them stop for a cup of coffee, and we talk about whatever they want to talk about. We let them know we are swingers, and they can take it from there."

"We have regular meetings and dances. I mean, we don't throw keys on the floor or anything like that. We don't allow any hustling over the air, and we don't allow it at our socials."

"If a couple wants to pair off, they do. It's no big deal. We don't consider it to be the main reason for our existence as a club."

The group's officers include president "Little Beaver", and other officers, "Goldlocks" and "Broken Spoke."

The club would like to join with the sheriff's department in various civil defense and rescue jobs, but "they're not saying anything. I think they just want to sit back and see how we're doing, first," Cricket said.

She said she and her husband have been "swinging" for eight years. "The radio is the only way to go," she said. "We've sure picked up the members."

"I'd rather explain higher gas bills than why you don't have gas."

Your natural gas bill is higher. And, you have every right to know why.

One reason is lower temperatures brought on by winter. The main reason, however, is simply that you are paying more for natural gas. Because we are paying more. This chart shows how much:

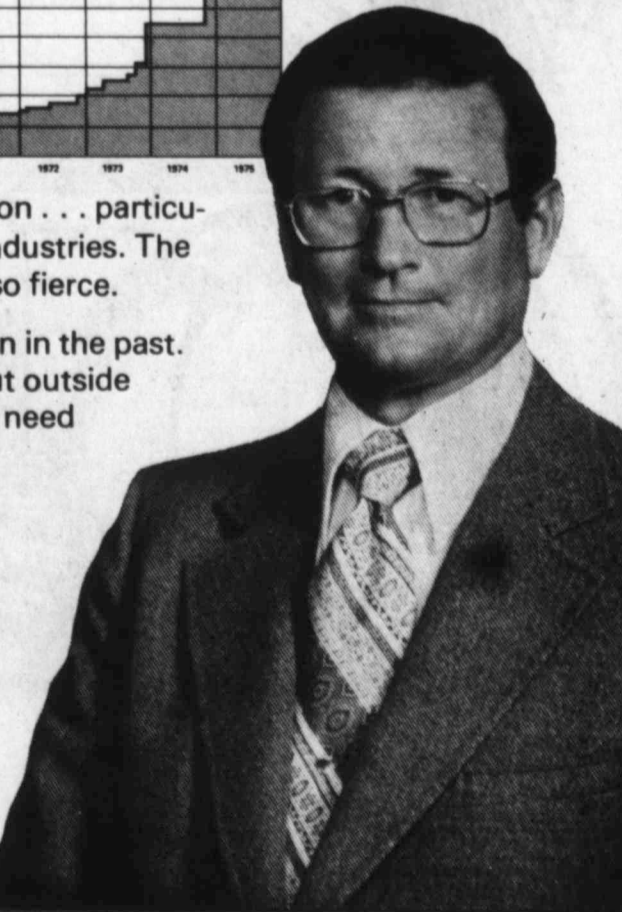

This increase hurts both you and Pioneer. It adds to your bill and to our cost... a cost for which Pioneer is not entirely compensated. It is passed through without mark-up or additional charges.

Why does gas cost more? Competition... particularly from petrochemical and other industries. The competition for gas has never been so fierce.

We will have to pay more for gas than in the past. But by working together, and without outside interference, you'll have the gas you need today and in the future.

Newcomer's Handicraft Club Meets Wednesday

The Newcomer's Handicraft Club met Wednesday morning in the home of Mrs. Karen Wallace to begin work on Christmas wreaths. Plans were made for the Newcomers bazaar on Dec. 6 at Highland Mall. Items for sale will be handicrafts and baked goods. The club will give away a bicentennial quilt made by club members.

The group has started collecting canned goods for the needy which will be distributed for Christmas. A new member, Ms. Alicia Perez, was greeted during the meeting. Guest was Mrs. Rebecca Bravo. The next meeting will be at 9 a.m. Dec. 17 in the home of Mrs. Wallace, 531 Scott. The group will continue work on Christmas wreaths. The club will have a Christmas luncheon for members at La Posada at 12:30 p.m. on Dec. 17. Gifts will be exchanged at this time.

BPO Does Plan Events

The Big Spring Drove 16, Benevolent, Patriotic Order of Does met in the Elks Lodge Tuesday evening with Mrs. Mary Alice Cone presiding.

Mrs. Ann Rutherford was appointed as representative to the Volunteer Service at the Veterans Administration hospital. Plans were made to furnish sandwiches for the State Hospital Christmas party on Dec. 16. Mrs. Mary Alice Cone is chairman of the project.

Mrs. Alma George and Mrs. Kay Williams will assist Mrs. Rutherford with the Thanksgiving Basket. Food donations may be placed on the box in the Lodge Hall.

The next meeting will be Dec. 2 in the Lodge Hall.

Sister Injured

Mrs. A. L. (Alta) Grant of Andrews, sister of Mrs. Mae Darrow, Big Spring, fell and broke her hip recently in Andrews, Mrs. Darrow went to Andrews to be with her sister during the operation.

She returned home Friday. Mrs. Grant is in room 206 at Andrews General Hospital.

Gift Shower Given For Miss Little

Miss Debbie Little, bride-elect of John Bryans, was honored at showers on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

The couple will marry Dec. 5 in the Birdwell Lane Baptist Church.

Hostesses for the Tuesday shower held in the First Federal community room were Mrs. Dick Milstead, Mrs. Gil Jones, Mrs. Morris Robertson, Mrs. Bill Bell, Mrs. Lefty Bethel and Mrs. Cuiu Grigsby. They gave the honoree a queen-size electric blanket.

Miss Kelly Bryans registered guests. Miss Little and the mothers of the couple, Mrs. Troy Little and Mrs. O. F. Priest, were given white carnation corsages with gold and green ribbons.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with a white lace cloth and centered with a bride doll surrounded by gold daisies.

The Wednesday shower was hosted by Mrs. Rodney Robertson and Miss Kim Crawley. Guests met in the Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room.

The honoree and the mothers were given white daisy corsages. Miss Little received individual gifts from the guests.

ODESSA EDITOR — Mrs. Janice L. White of Odessa read and edited over 300 short stories and approximately 500 poems to select the works that will appear in the collection of women's writings, "Fiction And Poetry By Texas Women."

Women's Fiction, Poetry Featured In New Book

A new book of works by Texans, "Fiction and poetry by Texas Women," has just been released by the Texas Center for Writers Press. The book contains 23 short stories and 21 poems by outstanding women writers from throughout Texas.

The editor, Janice L. White of Odessa, read 300 short stories and approximately 500 poems to select the works included in this collection. A former fiction editor of "Boys' Life" magazine and teacher of English at several universities, Mrs. White found the works being produced by Texas women of high quality, with strength and variety. Though written by women, the stories and poems are not limited to the feminine viewpoint.

The book contains new works by leading authors such as Vassar Miller, Betsy Colquitt, Violette Newton, Mary Gray Hughes and Annette Sanford. The 42 contemporary writers in the collection represent all areas of Texas, and a number of them have already been honored in "Best American Short Stories" or by the National Endowment for the Arts.

Mrs. White notes that "International Women's Year seems an appropriate time to publish this unique anthology. I think everyone will enjoy these talented authors' stories and poems."

The book's dustjacket and titles were especially designed by Texas artist Pamela Champion Price who teaches at the University of Texas at the Permian Basin.

The Texas Center for Writers Press began publishing "The Bicentennial Collection Of Texas Short Stories" in 1974. This fall, in addition to "Fiction And Poetry By Texas Women," the press is also publishing "New And Experimental Literature," a collection of traditional and innovative writing by Texas authors.

Seniors Vie For Scholarships

The 22nd Annual Betty Crocker Search for Family Leadership in Family Living, a $110,000 college scholarship program sponsored by General Mills, gets underway Tuesday (Dec. 2).

High school seniors from this area and throughout the country will join in a written knowledge and attitude examination which will determine individual college scholarship awards of $500 to $1,000. Big Spring High School is the scene for the test. Participating seniors will compete in a 50-minute examination prepared and graded by Science Research Associates, Chicago, who are also responsible for all judging and selection of winners. The local winner will receive a certificate from General Mills and will, together with other school winners, remain in the running for state and national honors.

State winners — one from every state and the District of Columbia — will each be awarded a $1,500 scholarship. Chosen in judging that centers on performance in the written examination, state Family Leaders of Tomorrow will also earn for their schools a 20-volume reference work, "The Annals of America," from Encyclopaedia Britannica Educational Corporation. Second-ranking participants in each state will receive $500 college grants.

On April 25-28 of next year, the 31 state Family Leaders of Tomorrow will gather in Washington, D.C., for an expense-paid educational tour of the capital city. Personal observation and interviews of the state winners during the tour will be added factors in the selection of the 1976 Betty Crocker Family Leader of Tomorrow and three runners-up. Scholarships awarded to the four national winners will be for $5,000, $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000.

Dear Abby Girl's '747' Nose Hinders Romantic Relationship

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my nose! I hate it. I am 18 and have a fairly good personality and lots of friends especially at church. But everybody seems to notice my nose, and I think it's high time I did something about it.

What really hurts, Abby, is that really this guy who goes to my church. I like him a lot, but because of my nose he calls me "747."

If you could see my nose, you'd know what I mean. Where can I find a plastic surgeon who wouldn't charge me a fortune? Even the pastor, in a very nice way, told me I had a nose problem. Help!

DEAR ABBY: Please don't throw this in the wastebasket. I must have an answer. Whenever my husband and I are invited out for dinner, it seems to be the rule that everyone should sit by someone else's spouse. If I ask to sit beside mine, I'm accused of being jealous or possessive.

Abby, I don't go out to dinner very often, so it's a special occasion to me, and I like to have my man near me. Sitting next to a stranger at dinner doesn't make me feel very romantic after I get home.

What is your opinion? These people are mostly my husband's business associates. LONESOME

DEAR LONESOME: Most married people enjoy dinner conversation with someone other than their own spouses. That's the object of socializing. Perhaps you are slightly jealous, possessive or insecure. If so, admit it, and try to overcome it.

DEAR PHILLY: What are your alternatives? Ordering your husband to quit going there for lunch? Sorry, but he's a big boy, and you aren't his mother. I seriously doubt that the girls are nude. (Topless, maybe, but hardly naked at lunchtime.) After the novelty wears off — and it will — all that nudity will become about as exciting as looking at a lot of dressed turkeys hanging in a butcher-shop window!

DEAR ABBY: If you are convinced that you'll never land a guy with that 747, ask your family doctor if he knows a plastic surgeon who would operate now, and let you make monthly payments.

DEAR ABBY: This problem is making me physically ill. We live in the suburbs, and my husband works in the city. A bar-type restaurant recently opened near Vic's office that features a "go-go lunch" — complete with nude girls who dance and wait on tables. Vic and several men in his department lunch there daily now.

I am very much upset over this, and Vic knows it, but he makes light of it. He's a hot-blooded Latin, and just the thought of his being aroused by naked girls every day is more than I can bear.

How should I handle this? I've considered meeting him

Music Club Gives Program For Older Adults

A bicentennial musical program was presented by members of the Music Study Club at the Kentwood Older Adult Center on Tuesday evening for an audience of senior citizens. Mrs. Emma Mason directed the program, assisted by Mrs. Siema Carlile and Mrs. Susan Dawes. They led in group singing. Mrs. Naomi Graham sang two Negro spirituals. Other solo artists included Mrs. Mason and Mrs. Joyce Bradley. The club ensemble, accompanied by Mrs. Jackie Simpson, concluded the program. Ensemble members were Mrs. Jean Kuykendall, Mrs. Mason, and Mrs. Carlile, Mrs. Mason, and Mrs. Carlile, Mrs. Dawes and Mrs. Janice Menchaca.

Airport HD Club Plans Activities

The Airport Home Demonstration Club met Tuesday for a luncheon at Furr's Cafeteria.

After the luncheon, 15 members attended a children's program given by the students of a local dance school.

A business meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Ray Parker with Mrs. J. L. Metcalf conducting the meeting.

Guests attending the meeting were Mrs. R. F. David, Mrs. Ernest Miller, Mrs. Ben Carpenter, Mrs. Dick Clay and Mrs. Paul Swatte.

Mrs. Fred Jones reported that the Christmas meeting would be held by Dec. 9 at Furr's Cafeteria for the luncheon and at the home of Mrs. Virgil Smeadley, 1105 E. Fourth, for the party. Members will exchange gifts and play bingo. Bingo prizes will be baked, canned or homemade goods of the members.

Airport HD Club will participate in the Council Christmas party on Dec. 16.

The club members will furnish sandwiches and cookies for a Christmas party for residents of the State Hospital. Mrs. R. D. Key, Mrs. Thames and Mrs. Roy Spivey will serve.

Mrs. Smeadley gave Kate Pope Morrison and Dora Roberts.

ANNOUNCING Mary's Beauty Center UNDER NEW OWNERSHIP.

Wood Carver Speaks To Hyperion Club

Bill Brooks summarized the history of wood carving for the members of the 1970 Hyperion Club. Members met Wednesday morning in the home of Mrs. Dan Allen with Mrs. James Johnson cohosting.

Brooks displayed examples of his work to illustrate his talk.

Mrs. Eddie Hedges and Mrs. Temple Kern were welcomed as new members.

Guest attending the meeting were Mrs. Charles Neefe, Mrs. Gilford Jones III, Mrs. James Werrell, Mrs. Buster Peake and Mrs. Willie P. Lane.

The resignation of Mrs. Ray Owen was accepted. Mrs. Tome Locke will host the Christmas party on Dec. 18 at 7 p.m.

Members voted to give a donation to the Paul Revere plaque.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Dennis Tucker at 9:30 a.m., Dec. 17. Denver Pettit will speak on the violin.

Feminist Book Reviews Given

Three book reviews were given during the Saturday afternoon meeting of the Beta Kappa chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society. Members met in the Sterling City Community Center.

In a program entitled "Woman Becoming," Ms. Lavelle Hill, Ms. Mary Crawford and Ms. Thelma Smedley reviewed "Man's World, Woman's Place" by Elizabeth Janeway, "Voices of the New Feminism," edited by Mary Lou Thompson and "Changing Women In a Changing Society" by Joan Huber.

Miss Movelda Rhine presided during the business meeting.

Plans were made for the Christmas Silver Tea to be held from 3-5 p.m., Dec. 7 in the Dora Roberts Student Union Building on the Howard College campus.

Hostesses for the meeting were Ms. Evelyn Douthit, Mrs. Ruth Sweat, Ms. Margie Milligan, Ms. Ola Mae Robertson, Ms. Delores Gage, Ms. Susan King, Ms. Mary Bailey, Ms. Marjorie Talmadge and Ms. Elfa Cantrell.
