Detente Differences Confessed In Peking

PEKING (AP) — Implicitly acknowledging their differences over detente with the Soviet Union, President Ford and Chinese Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-ping today pledged to continue working for better Chinese-American relations.

Ford got a restrained but correct welcome on his arrival for a five-day visit he said is aimed at fostering mutual understanding between the Chinese and American peoples. The atmosphere improved perceptibly after the airport ceremonies.

Speaking at a banquet in the Great Hall of the People six hours after landing in the Chinese capital, Ford said: "The moves that were taken in 1971 and 1972 by the leaders of China and the United States were of historic significance. I take this occasion to reaffirm my commitment to the objectives and the principles which emerged from those first steps and specifically to the normalization of our relations."

Teng described the Soviet Union, without naming it, as "the country which most zealously preaches peace and is the most dangerous source of war," and added that "rhetoric about detente cannot cover up the stark reality of the growing danger of war." Ford chose to emphasize the things which bring China and the United States together.

He said that China and the United States have a mutual interest in seeing that the world is not dominated by force or pressure. He said that the current situation requires "strength, vigilance and firmness," but he rejected the idea that China might dictate how the United States should approach the problem of detente.

"In pursuing our objectives," Ford said, "each of us will of course determine our policies and methods according to our differing positions in the world and our perceptions of our respective national interests."

The President, Mrs. Ford, their daughter Susan and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger received a warm but formally stiff welcome on arrival at Peking airport.

Teng headed the welcoming, and there was the usual playing of national anthems, military guard of honor and handshakes with diplomats and officials.

Since the United States and China do not have full diplomatic relations there were no lengthy exchange of speeches and no cheering crowds at the airport or along Ford's 18-mile route into the city.

Followed by his wife and daughter, Ford strode down the ramp of Air Force One and shook hands warmly with Teng, who greeted the President on behalf of the Chinese government and Premier Chou En-lai.

Chou, 77, is seriously ill and has not seen any foreign visitors for some time. Chairman Mao Tse-tung, now 81, is expected to receive the President.

The weather was crisp and cold as the presidential plane landed at 2:50 p.m. The President was hatless and wore a dark overcoat while Mrs. Ford and Susan both wore brown fur coats.

The airport ceremonies were identical to those for the arrival in February 1972 of President Richard M. Nixon, who with Chou opened a new era of Chinese-American relations after two decades of hostility.

The atmosphere improved markedly just before the banquet when Chou's wife, Teng Ying-chao, and the wife of Chu Teh, 89-year-old chairman of the National People's Congress Standing Committee, appeared at the government guest house to have tea with the Fords.

An hour later, Mao's wife,

Chiang Ching, making one of her rare appearances, joined Chu Teh in posing for a group photograph at the Great Hall prior to the elaborate Chinese banquet.

The toast by Teng — pronounced Tung — was a reiteration of anti-Soviet themes expressed here for months, and often repeated for the benefit of a variety of visiting heads of state.

He hailed the results of Nixon's 1972 visit and said that China welcomed Ford's statements since then that he will work to promote Chinese-U.S. relations.

"To realize the normalization of relations between our two countries conforms to the common desire of the Chinese and American peoples," he said.

Neither he nor Ford held out any prospect that full recognition was in the offing. Teng used the word "eventually."

PICKET DUTY — Two city teachers, Sue Jalbert, left, and Cheryl Kocsy, fight the cold wind as they picket at the Greenway Middle School on Pittsburgh's West End. Some 3,700 teachers walked off their jobs today over a contract dispute. About 62,000 pupils are affected by the strike.

Postal Strike To End?

OTTAWA, Canada (AP) — Striking postal workers were expected to vote tonight to end their 42-day-old strike despite their leaders' recommendation that they reject a tentative contract agreement.

The agreement was reached Saturday, and the 22,000 members of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers were meeting tonight to vote on the proposals.

Arnold Gould, the union's national director for the Ontario region, said the national executive recommended that the strikers reject the proposed contract. But an estimated 2,700 union members have already gone back to work, and sentiment in favor of acceptance was report strong among the rest.

Results of the vote will not be known until early Tuesday. Postal officials said if the strike ends, it might take the rest of the week to get the postal system back into full operation.

Postal officials said announcements would be made later in the week about the mailing of Christmas cards and parcels.

The U.S. Postal Service said it would not begin accepting mail from Canada again until it gets a go-ahead from Canadian postal authorities.

Provisions of the agreement were not announced, but it was believed that the union got little or nothing more than the government offered before Canada's longest postal strike began.

Postmaster General Bryce Mackasey said repeatedly that he would not improve the government offer which was recommended by a conciliation board.

The workers' top wage rate has been $4.59 an hour. The government offered an increase of $1.70 an hour for a 40-hour week, a 30-month contract and a cost-of-living clause that could have amounted to about 60 cents an hour.

The union demanded an increase of $2.73 an hour, a 35-hour week and a more generous cost-of-living clause.

Cold, Hungry, Sleepy Lad Found By Search Party

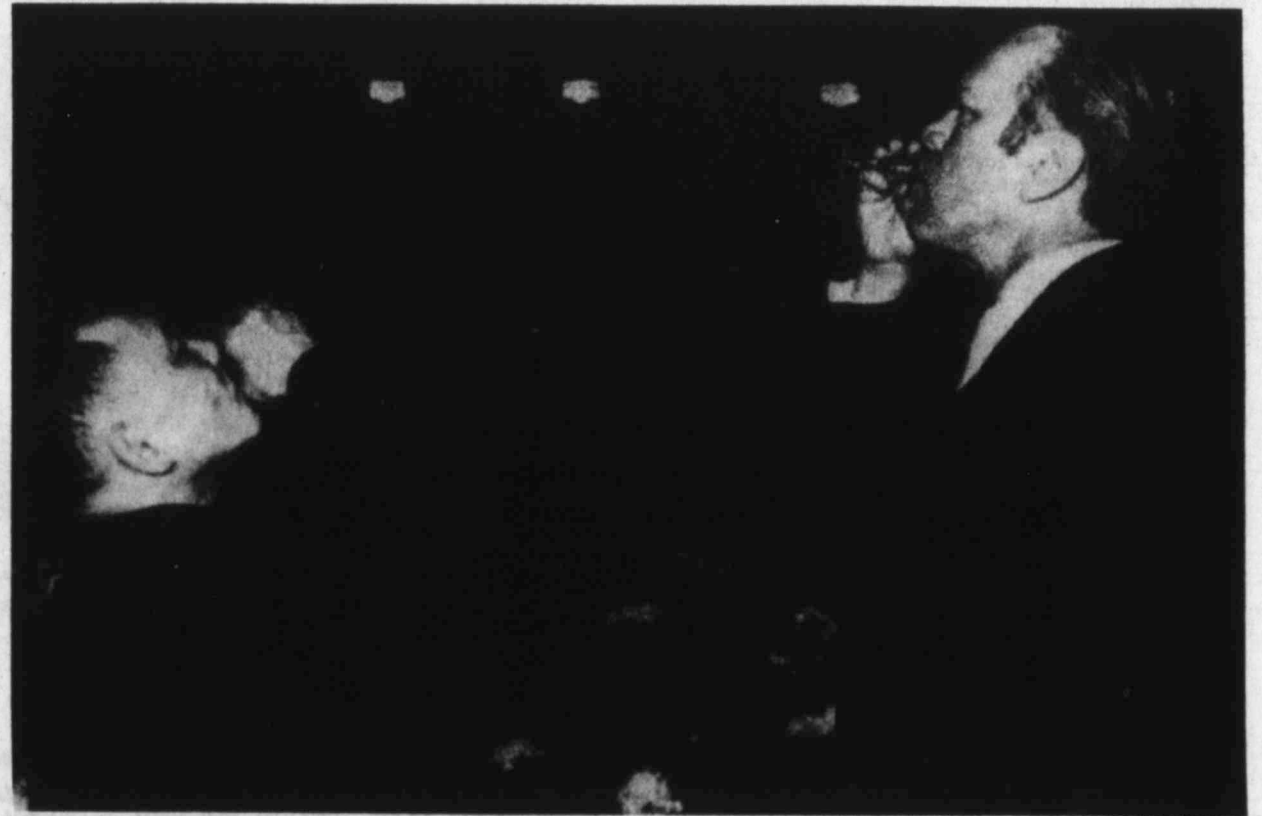

STINNETT, Tex. (AP) — An 8-year-old boy, missing from his father's hunting camp since Saturday, was found by a search party today. He was cold, hungry and sleepy, but otherwise in good condition.

Authorities said searchers, aided by bloodhounds, located Richard Hooks about three miles from the camping area near this Texas Panhandle town.

The youth reportedly had not slept since Saturday and had walked for hours through the wild, rugged area where temperatures had dropped below freezing.

Young Hooks was taken to a Borger hospital for examination.

The child was with his father and a group of several

The World At-A-Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress returns from its Thanksgiving recess for an intense three weeks. The rush before adjournment, tentatively set for Dec. 19, may help decide whether this session of the heavily Democratic 94th Congress was do-nothing, as the Republican President has been saying, or busy and productive, as the Democrats contend. The lawmakers face a formidable pile of unfinished business, including President Ford's proposal to grant short term federal loans to New York City of up to $2.3 billion annually for the next three years.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Virtually without exception, the nation's mayors are confident that no other city will seek the sort of federal aid which President Ford has proposed for New York. Interviews with more than a dozen mayors at the annual convention of the National League of Cities showed two reasons for the officials' belief: They say no city would willingly surrender as much control over its finances to state or federal governments as New York has been forced to yield, and they believe no other city's financial problems are so severe.

MIAMI (AP) — Despite the killer hurricane Eloise, the 1975 Atlantic season continued a trend that has seen fewer and weaker hurricanes than in the past, the head of the National Hurricane Center says. "In the past few years, there hasn't been a super hurricane, but we don't know when the lull will end," Neil Frank said as the season officially closed Sunday after spawning six hurricanes and two other tropical storms.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Cuban general close to Prime Minister Fidel Castro reportedly is in Angola to help Soviet-backed forces win control of that newly independent African country. U.S. intelligence sources say Brig. Gen. Julio Casas apparently was sent to Angola to direct the handling of weapons and other military equipment being poured in by the Russians.

Chamber Launches Program

Today is kick-off day for the Shop Big Spring First Program sponsored by the Retail Committee of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.

The program is designed to encourage local citizens to shop in Big Spring before going to other cities.

As part of the drive, the committee will sponsor an "Employee of the Week" award to be presented each week to the employee of a local business who best exemplifies the friendliness that is common to Big Spring's business establishments.

Employees will be nominated by representatives of area civic groups. Names will be submitted to members of the Retail Committee for screening and the winner of the award will receive a $25 cash prize from the chamber.

Badges to be worn by participating employees, bearing the employees' names and a Shop Big Spring First emblem, are available at chamber offices. The program will continue through the holiday season.

Court Stays Decision On Insurance Contract

County Commissioners Court paused before deciding whether to renew Blue Cross Blue Shield insurance for 1976 this morning.

County Attorney W. H. (B.) Eysen Jr. was asked to find out whether the court could take this action without seeking bids.

The court has earned a good rate with the present insurer, and it was felt changing companies could cost money.

Paul Martin, a company representative from San Angelo, told the court other counties have approved rate increases without advertising bids.

Because of higher medical costs, Martin said Blue Cross Blue Shield wants 69 cents more per employee monthly from the county to continue present coverage. Martin suggested paying another $1.03 per employee to increase the major medical coverage.

Accepting both increases would cost the county $2,270 more yearly based on 110 employees.

In other business the court:

- Voted to have a TWX (teletype) machine installed for the motor vehicle registration division despite costs, which were higher than originally anticipated.

Installation will cost $100. In addition to 40 cents for each message, the county will pay $113 monthly. The fee charged citizens for this service will be $2.

Delayed opening bids on repair of the cooling tower until Dec. 8 when bids on special equipment for the Texas Highway Patrol will be studied also.

Heard County Judge Bill Tune tell W. D. Berry, Civil Defense coordinator, a request for $858 for radio equipment costs will be listed on the agenda for Monday. Berry said the city has contributed an equal amount, and the federal government will pay $444.

Planned to prepare a list of road equipment the county would like to obtain from Civil Defense. The equipment may never be available, Berry explained, but the county must get on the waiting list to obtain any which may be offered later.

Talked with Berry about the deadline for returning pumps and lines borrowed for draining the lake at Knott. County Engineer Neel Barnaby estimated the lake could be drained within a week, barring rain or snow.

And returned a right-of-way for 1,320 to the landowner. More than a year ago, the court informed Horace Tubb the right-of-way was not a practical place for a new road in the Tubb Annex Addition.

"It goes right down the middle of the creek is the main thing," Barnaby explained.

County Commissioner Simon (Cy) Terrazas abstained because the action was not specifically listed on the agenda.

TRAFFIC TOLL ZIPS TO 376

The traffic death toll for the Thanksgiving holiday weekend was 376 at the close of the 78-hour period during which the Associated Press tabulated fatalities.

The National Safety Council had estimated that between 450 and 500 persons would die in traffic crashes during the weekend that began at 6 p.m. local time Thursday and ended at midnight Sunday.

That prediction was the council's lowest for Thanksgiving in seven years.

"Motorists have reduced their driving speed, recognizing that reduced speed pays off, not only in savings of fuel, but in greater driving comfort and increased safety for everyone on the road," Vincent Tofany, president of the safety council, said.

Prisoner Scoots, Not Missed For 15 Hours

Hershel Floyd Love, 21, was out of the Big Spring City jail and gone for approximately 15 hours before anybody knew it here over the weekend.

Love, who was captured after a high-speed chase around the edge of the city Sunday afternoon, told officers in a statement that he made a key from a pointer he confiscated while he was under arraignment in the city courtroom.

BREEZY

Southwesterly winds expected to be up to 11 miles per hour today, switching to a west wind up to 18 miles per hour tonight. High today in mid 60s, low tonight in the mid 30s and high on Tuesday, a little warmer, expected to be near 70 degrees.

parently put pillows and wadded-up blankets in his bunk to make it appear that he was asleep, unlocked the jail door, and walked out between 5 and 6 p.m. Saturday.

He stole a pickup and headed for the San Angelo area, stealing from trailer houses and other locations to get food, beer, a coat, guns, and cash.

When he was arrested again, he had in his possession a .30-06 semi-automatic and a .410 Springfield, $157 in 50-cent pieces and 28 silver dollars.

A statewide alert was put out on the fleeing prisoner, but he apparently decided to come back to the Big Spring area on his own Sunday afternoon.

One Big Spring officer spotted Love as he drove into town on U.S. 87 from the south and gave chase. Love, who resides at 505 Douglas here, turned on FM 700 and headed north.

Love was reported to have been driving 90 to 100 miles per hour by the time six law enforcement cars managed to get him stopped just before he reached the intersection of Highway 350 north of Big Spring.

Law officers had been hunting the pickup which was reported stolen shortly after his escape. Sterling City law officials had reported seeing the pickup go through Sterling City.

A $50,000 bond was set Sunday by Justice of the Peace Bobby West on charges of jail escape after Love's return to jail.

Blowing Better Bubbles

The champagne of water pollution treatments, so to speak, has been devised by Dr. Stanley Barnett of the University of Rhode Island chemical engineering faculty. Simply stated, his process consists of creating millions of tiny bubbles which collect impurities as they rise to the surface and can then be skimmed off as foam.

Our own Hayes trickling filter system, installed a quarter of a century ago, is based on the air bubble theory, although it was with an objective of expediting aerobic action.

Other methods of reducing water pollution are more effective where there is a high concentration of the pollutant — for example, in an oil spill. The particular value of Barnett's approach is that it "will pick up something as minute as one-half part per million."

This means, for example, that the bubbles can separate the dye in the waste water from a dye plant, or the pesticide which seeps into a river in an agricultural area; they could be used in a water treatment plant to remove compounds thought to be possibly carcinogenic. Moreover, materials recovered from the foam — pesticides, or dye — may pay for the operation in some cases.

The importance of Barnett's process should not be exaggerated; it is only one of various anti-pollution methods being developed. It shows special promise, however, as a potential means of removing low concentrations of pollutants from water — even running water. The Barnett process may prove to be a significant tool for meeting the legal requirement of zero pollution, by 1983, from sewage and industrial effluent.

But like most processes, it will require expensive installation and energy to accomplish.

Economic Illiterates

Sylvia Porter, an outstanding economic news columnist, made a scathing observation recently in addressing the Washington Press Club.

She says bluntly that business and union executives, as well as Congressmen, are too often economic illiterates when it comes to making decisions that affect the economy.

"We are a nation of economic illiterates and our illiteracy is a threat to the survival of the system we profess to love so much," she said.

"In our Congress today, policies vitally affecting the survival of our form of economic system are being made by economic illiterates," she said.

"In the executive suites of great financial and business concerns and in union headquarters across the nation, decisions directly involving our paychecks, profits and prosperity are being made by men who have only the vaguest idea of what creates paychecks and profits and furthers prosperity."

Perhaps she has something, for when you get down to it, self-interest rather than business acumen, rules too many economic decisions. Alas, the record of business experts often is as dumb as that of Congressmen.

Her remedy is for more economics courses in public schools and for newspapers to give more emphasis to economic news, gearing it to the consumers rather than the advertisers.

They Boast Edge

Around The Rim

Tommy Hart

A little bit about nothing in particular:

FIREWORKS ARE being outlawed in a country which made them popular (and profitable for a few). Perhaps it is just as well. There's a sameness about fireworks displays that is suggestive of television reruns.

If a community wants to be different, why not a parade with a 14-foot Uncle Sam balloon and giant balloon replicas of turkeys, Liberty Bells and other items drawing attention to the Bicentennial celebration?

The balloons can be rented from a business concern back east.

number of non-government workers at 71.6 million.

When politicians tell you they mean to dedicate their efforts to the common good, what they mean is they will vote where the political clout lies — and it doesn't rest with the peons who support them.

One of these days, everyone who is active is going to be working for public agencies in some capacity. In my younger days, that was called Socialism.

Did you know beekeepers in the state add $5 million annually to the economy? Texas ranks third in the national production of honey. There are 210,000 colonies of bees within the borders of Texas. Something like 10,290,000 pounds of honey are collected annually. That means each colony of bees is producing an average of 49 pounds of honey each.

TEXAS, PARTICULARLY West Texas, has always had the reputation for being in a wind draft but others have similar problems, too. In a survey made by the National Weather Service over a ten-year period, only one Texas city (Fort Worth) ranked among the top 32 in average-miles-per-hour wind speeds.

Fargo, N. Dak., led all the metropolitan areas with a 14.4 norm. Fort Worth was fifth with a 12.5 norm.

Chicago, often referred to as The Windy City, rated no better than tenth with an 11.2 MPH average zephyr.

Los Angeles and Anchorage, Alaska, proved to be the least windy among the areas checked, each with an average velocity of 6.8 MPH.

Two Dilemmas

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — President Ford's high-powered economic advisers are urging him to disown and veto his own common situs picketing bill even at the risk of high-level resignations, or face defeat by Ronald Reagan in the Republican presidential nomination.

ADVICE TO veto the energy bill is being given the President by the two officials who have most clearly shaped the administration's conservative philosophical framework: William Simon, Secretary of the Treasury, and Alan Greenspan, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers. On the picketing bill, Simon is even more aggressively pushing for a veto (with Greenspan agreeing but not actively involved). Although their arguments are mainly economic and ideological, the political warning to Mr. Ford is clear: sign these two bills, both opposed by Reagan, and you are finished in the Republican party.

BUT ANOTHER pair of Mr. Ford's favorite officials, Secretary of Labor John Dunlop and Federal Energy administrator Frank Zarb, are deeply committed, respectively, to the common situs and energy bills. Particularly in Dunlop's case, a protest resignation might further embarrass the troubled President. Accordingly, the decisions — both due in mid-December — could profoundly affect Mr. Ford's future.

Difficult decisions are the lot of Presidents, but these bills raise hard questions about Mr. Ford's competency. Why has he repeatedly endorsed the common situs picketing bill? Why did he give Zarb the green light in negotiating a compromise energy bill?

MR. FORD'S astounding support of the common situs bill, in effect legalizing secondary boycotts in the construction industry, is directly attributable to Dunlop's dynamic powers of persuasion. A former Harvard professor and perhaps the cabinet's most liberal member, Dunlop talked the President into a bill he always opposed as a House member. Mr. Ford has publicly promised to sign the bill on at least three occasions this year (providing it contained a construction wage stabilization plan), though it has never been discussed in cabinet, formally or informally.

NOW, WITH Republican businessmen and politicians outraged, other cabinet members are telling the President he must suffer the embarrassment of vetoing his own bill. Simon is pressing for a veto, and this is known to be Greenspan's private view though not yet expressed to the President.

What Others Say

If there is anyone left with a Robin Hood view of crime, listening to some of the country's top police officials would dispel it.

The outlaw does not rob the rich to give to the poor, especially their neighbors. "Crime is generally committed against your own ethnic group," said Robert J. Di Grazia, police commissioner of Boston, one of six police officials from large centers who were questioned on "Meet the Press."

The police chiefs had some practical recommendations for reducing crime, among them:

Shorter, fairer, more certain sentences.

No plea bargaining for the purpose of reducing court dockets.

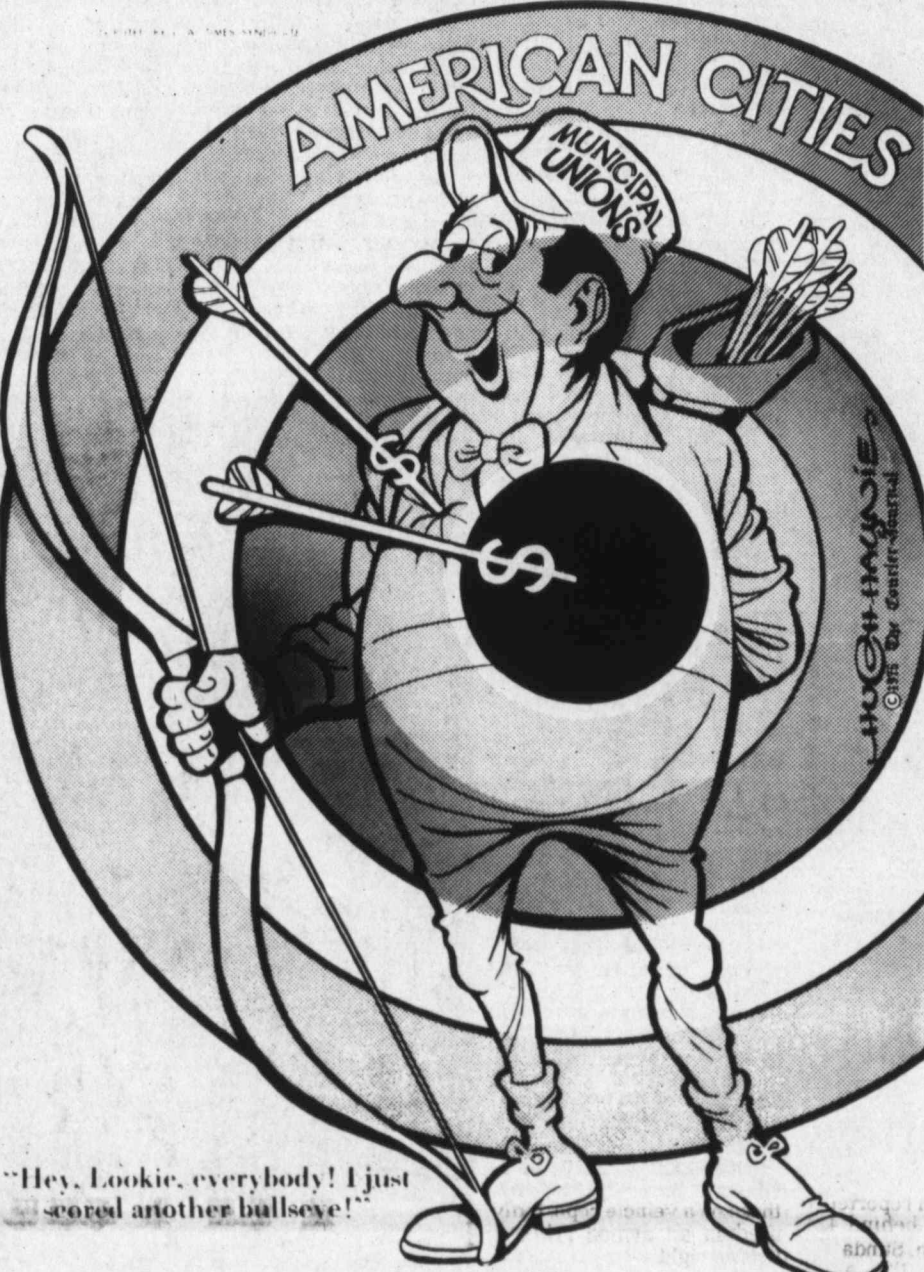

Job opportunities following up rehabilitation programs, which are otherwise worthless.

Restitution to the victim, by the community if not by a convicted criminal.

One instance of public restitution, said Birmingham Police Chief James C. Parsons, who favors paying damages to the victim, could change the whole attitude of a community by showing the "true cost" of crime.

It also would show who, in the final analysis, is the true victim: the taxpayer.

Why Are Prices Rising?

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — If you don't already have enough economic matters to dwell upon, you might consider these:

—If prices are rising, asks the ordinary consumer, who is legion, how can the country rebound strongly from recession?

If you are a habitual reader of scores of economic reports from banks and businesses and business schools and other places on high, you cannot but observe that the professionals really don't come to grips with this question.

For the consumer, it isn't a matter of coming to grips with it; contrarily, he and she are gripped by it. There is no ignoring higher prices or what they do: they turn off spending, whenever it can be turned off.

There is no theory or need for theory to explain what is happening in the pocketbook. It is there that reality exists, and it cannot be ignored. There is no room or time for dreaming, because the dreamer starves.

At the professional level, where almost everyone is caught up in theories and computer models and dogma, this elemental consideration sometimes seems not to fit. There is an awareness perhaps, but not an appreciation.

On the battle front, it is the only consideration. The battle front, of course, is the market place where the consumer does his spending. Two-thirds of this economy of ours is made up of consumer spending. It is almost impossible, short of war, for the economy to grow if the consumer isn't a strong participant.

The professionals don't deny this; they proclaim it.

But then they go on to expect the consumer to win the war, so to speak, while the enemy is advancing. The enemy is inflation, and the consumer retreats from it.

The figures for October show that enemy inflation rose at an 8.4 per cent annual rate, which puts us right back to the identical level that prevailed in the first quarter of the year. No improvement.

Retail sales, meanwhile, are admittedly "less than had been anticipated," as the too-familiar phrase reads. Even the Commerce Department concedes that.

The consumer, however, is a bit baffled by the anticipations of the "experts." He asks: "What did you expect?" To him it is axiomatic: When you raise prices you don't want me to buy."

Dear Mr. John Edwards:

I recently liked your speech yesterday. I know you were nervous when you stood up there and gave the speech. I was nervous when I came to this school, too.

I hoped you liked Runnels Junior High, and enjoyed making your speech here. I hope you come back.

VANESSA BENNETT

Dear Sir:

In regards to your editorials on death and dying, I was happy to read two interesting and pertinent articles. They spoke clearly and to the point. For the most part, the writers, including Big Spring's Troy Bryant, seemed well informed.

There is, however, one correction that I'd like to make to the local article. The Catholic Church does not, nor has it ever, condoned murder, whether homicide. The killing of oneself (suicide) either by direct means, for example pulling the trigger on oneself, or indirect means, allowing oneself to be exposed to certain death, is completely against natural and divine law: "Thou shalt not kill" Ex. 20.13. The power of life and death belongs to the Supreme Being, the God who created us.

The Catholic Church does not oppose relief of suffering nor does it insist on prolonging life unnecessarily. Ordinary means of life support will allow for a natural death to occur when it comes.

Letters To The Editor

Medical science with the patient or his family (if he is not able) judge what are ordinary means and what are extraordinary means. No one has the authority or right to "pull the plug," not even the patient himself. God alone has the power of life and death. (Wis. 16.13.)

DEAR EDITOR:

Quite often things are printed in newspapers because of the interest they generate. As you can see by the enclosed article (about a search to find Mt. Arat the evidence of Noah's Ark) which appeared in your newspaper Feb. 11, 1975 which in the thinking of Mr. Tom Crozier would prove the authenticity of God's word.

This writer challenged Mr. Crozier's expose and predicted that nothing would come of it. Finding of "the ark" would actually prove just the opposite because of the faith factor. This writer is indeed amazed that no preacher in Big Spring would "contend for the faith" as the writer is doing. Heb. 11:6 says "without faith, it is impossible to please God." Faith is when one's friend tells him that he has X dollars of change in his hand and it is accepted as true without counting it but should one insist on counting the change to verify the amount, then it would no longer be faith. . . . and so it is with God. . . .

My Answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: What is YOUR definition of a Christian? — A.N.

DEAR A.N.: Frankly, the important thing is not how I define a Christian, but how God defines one. In the Bible, God has shown us what it means to become a Christian.

First, a Christian is a person who has acknowledged his need of God because of his sin. Second, he has realized that he cannot save himself from his sins by his own good efforts. Third, he has understood that God sent His Son, Jesus Christ, into the world to die in his place and to take away his sins. Fourth, he has committed his life to Jesus Christ by inviting Christ into his life as Saviour and Lord. God has forgiven him, and the Holy Spirit has been given within him to help him follow Christ every day.

Notice that the Bible does not define a Christian in terms of good works or church membership. These are the results of being a Christian, but they do not make a person a Christian.

Perhaps one of the best statements of what it means to be a Christian is found in the familiar verse of John 3:16: "For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

If you have never invited Christ into your life, I urge you to turn to Him in repentance and faith and trust Him as your Lord and Saviour.

Why D And C Important

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I had a miscarriage two months ago and never went in for a D and C. Is it now possible for me to become pregnant? If I became pregnant, would there be any kind of complications? What did they do 30 or 40 years ago when this happened? — B.L.P.

You could still become pregnant without complications provided none of the after-birth was retained. This is the reason for the D and C for the woman who has miscarried during the early months of pregnancy. The overgrown lining of the uterine cavity may not have been expelled completely. The gentle, scraping procedure accomplishes that.

It is a rather minor operation and involves only a day or two of incapacitation. You would be wise to have the matter looked into even now, two months afterward.

If any of the unwanted tissue remains, it can be a source of sporadic bleeding and possibly of infection.

What did they do 30 or 40 years ago? The D and C (dilation and curettage) is not that new. It is much older than that. Prior to its development, I suppose, not much of anything was done. Such advances can account for the sharp decline in pregnancy complications over the years.

Recent statistics indicate that one out of every five pregnancies ends in miscarriage, and that about 35 per cent of childbearing women miscarry before age 30. That represents an amazingly high number. I don't know the statistics on D and C's performed annually, but I'd be willing to bet it doesn't come close to matching the number of miscarriages.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am

37 years old. I recently went for my routine Pap test and internal examination. The doctor told me I had some fibroid tumors, which was news to me. They never cause me any pain.

My question concerns my infertility. I had only one conception in 15 years of marriage. Could these fibroids have been the cause of that? Or is it possible to conceive with these harmless fibroids? — G.H.S.

Fibroid tumors are but one of several possible causes for infertility. Your fibroids probably developed after your conception. Incidentally, a fibroid tumor is not painful. So it's not surprising the diagnosis was "news" for you. Bleeding is a common symptom, infertility another. The growths are usually discovered during routine pelvic examinations.

We Hold These Truths... A Chronicle of America

December 3, 1775:

Aboard the 350-ton flagship Alfred, John Paul Jones raises the first American flag ever unfurled on an American military ship. It is the Grand Union flag, consisting of 13 red-and-white stripes with the Union Jack in the upper lefthand corner. At the time, Jones is awaiting congressional confirmation of his naval commission as a lieutenant. The young Scotsman has had a good deal of experience at sea — most of it gained in running slaves between the African coast and the West Indies. Having added "Jones" to his given name, he applied to Congress' Marine Committee for a job in the summer of this year; his commission comes through on the 7th, making him the first lieutenant in the Navy. He goes on to become the pre-eminent American naval hero of the war.

NEW ORLEANS That little jug of water buy at the corner because it's "more full" than tap water or doing more harm than a water quality expert. "It's unfortunate, think they're doing selves good and they doing themselves," said Dr. John C. director of research Loyola University.

DOING MORE HARM THAN GOOD Buying Bottled Water Like 'Russian Roulette'

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — That little jug of water you buy at the corner store because it's "more healthful" than tap water could be doing more harm than good, a water quality expert says.

"It's unfortunate. People think they're doing themselves good and they may be doing themselves harm," said Dr. John Christman, director of research at Loyola University.

Christman, who has been studying water quality control for the Environmental Protection Agency, said forthcoming federal regulations may impose the same health standards on both bottled water and municipal water supplies.

"That's a fortunate thing and I hope it happens right away," he said. "Bottled water at this moment is real Russian roulette. You have no idea what's in it, you don't even know if it meets community standards — it may be worse."

The EPA is drawing up new standards for city water, and possibly bottled water, under the Water Quality Act of 1974. The standards are expected to be unveiled about Dec. 15.

The tightened regulations follow the discovery last year that many major cities' water supplies were contaminated by organic chemicals and metals capable of causing cancer in animals.

Those disclosures proved to be a boon for the bottled water industry, as cautious homeowners decided to play it safe and spend a few extra dollars for supposedly pure bottled water.

It may not have been a very good trade-off, Christman said. There are currently no federal regulations governing bottled water which is not sold in interstate commerce.

"Anybody could go out, buy a bunch of bottles and sell tap water," he said. As long as the water doesn't cross state lines, it is of no interest to federal agencies.

Nor is there any requirement that such water be dated.

"You could go to the store and buy a bottle of water that's been sitting on the shelf for seven months or more," Christman said.

"That's really dangerous, especially when it's warm, because warm temperatures speed up the growth of bacteria."

After 16 months of study, Christman has concluded that home water purification systems, despite their expense and bother, may be the only feasible way of insuring that water is fit to drink.

To remove all of the germs, chemicals and metals from all of the water pumped through municipal water systems would be a massive undertaking — one that may not be technologically feasible or economically bearable.

Christman quotes an EPA source as estimating that fewer than 3 per cent of the 4,500 water systems in the nation will be able to meet the new standards to be announced this month.

Over White's objection, officers searched his car and discovered four checks which White allegedly attempted to pass at another bank. The four checks were used as evidence against White at his trial.

Reversing the Texas court, the justices said they had ruled in 1970 "that police officers with probable cause to search an automobile on the scene where it was stopped could constitutionally do so later at the station house without first obtaining a warrant."

Justice Thurgood Marshall and William J. Brennan dissented, contending that the search was unlawful without a warrant.

The wind and snow have prompted travelers advisories in parts of Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Colorado and all of Wyoming.

Upper Michigan and the section of the state along Lake Michigan are also under advisories. Gusts winds, much colder temperatures and locally heavy snow are predicted.

In Macon County, Ill., an estimated $600,000 to $700,000 damage was inflicted early Sunday by a tornado. More than 150 homes were damaged, but no injuries were reported.

Five of the homes belonged to members of the Payton family. They gathered Sunday night in Decatur at the Gerald Payton home, which had been knocked from its foundations.

"This just wasn't a very good day for Paytons," said Dwayne Payton, whose house outside the rural town had been extensively damaged. He said the tornado "just ripped another house off and slapped it into ours."

Police in Pawnee, Ill., said twin tornadoes moved through that town. One woman there was slightly hurt when the storm blew apart her trailer home.

Winds of up to 60 miles per hour along the lower Great Lakes are expected to cause lowland flooding and beach erosion today. Storm warnings have been issued. Temperatures before dawn ranged from 10 below zero at Grand Forks and Bismarck, N.D., to 72 at Key West, Fla.

In Idaho, portions of U.S. 95 were closed during the night because of drifting snow and stranded vehicles, but were reopened today.

Zubiate was arrested at the scene and charged with driving while intoxicated. The wreck occurred in front of the Northcrest Apartments.

Had Right To Search Automobile

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today that Texas authorities had the right to search a defendant's car at the police station even though they had not obtained a court warrant.

In an unsigned opinion, the court reversed a decision by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals which had held that the search was improper.

The question was raised in the case of Earl Elmer White who was convicted of attempting to pass a forged check at a bank in Amarillo.

Police arrested White at the bank and took him to the police station for questioning.

Over White's objection, officers searched his car and discovered four checks which White allegedly attempted to pass at another bank. The four checks were used as evidence against White at his trial.

Reversing the Texas court, the justices said they had ruled in 1970 "that police officers with probable cause to search an automobile on the scene where it was stopped could constitutionally do so later at the station house without first obtaining a warrant."

Snow, Rain Impede Rescue Of Hunters

By The Associated Press

Snow, freezing rain and wind made traveling risky today in the Northwest and impeded the rescue of a group of hunters stranded in Washington's Asotin County.

The hunters, 22 men and women, tried to direct rescue teams Sunday night with a citizen's band radio.

A radio operator in Lewiston, Idaho, in contact with the hunters and the rescue party, said the rescuers were using winches tied to trees to inch their vehicles through heavy snow and dense timber.

The operator said one of the hunters stranded since Sunday morning has a serious heart condition. Sheriff Herbert Reeves said he would summon an Air Force helicopter rescue unit if the man's condition worsened.

In Oregon, heavy rain caused a mud slide and some flooding. The slide closed one traffic lane on state highway 36 and left debris on Southern Pacific Railroad tracks.

In Idaho, portions of U.S. highways have been closed because of drifting snow and stranded vehicles, but were reopened today.

The wind and snow have prompted travelers advisories in parts of Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Colorado and all of Wyoming.

New Interest Can Help Farmers, Says FB Head

SAN ANTONIO — The president of the Texas Farm Bureau told the organization's 42nd annual meeting today that the general public is concerned about future food supplies and has a new respect for farmers and ranchers.

Agriculture still has problems, said Carroll Chaloupka, but "we can see opportunities, too. Our challenge is to use the new-found influence to get the true value of our products."

In his annual address to the TFB delegates, the Dalhart livestock and grain farmer said major issues facing agriculture are inflation, threats to farm exports, the energy crisis, government interference and the need for more research.

"The solution is to stop inflation — not control it," he said. "Deficit spending by the federal government causes inflation. We must insist upon pay-as-you-go government."

Chaloupka said that despite the announcement of a long-range trade agreement with the Soviet Union, "we are still vulnerable to export restrictions. It's grain now, but it could be another commodity next time."

Referring to the "temporary ban on grain sales," the farm leader said, "agriculture was the victim of a sell-out by the administration. At stake is the farmer's right to his legitimate markets."

Despite a relaxation, if energy gets tight enough, there will be pressure from the public to take away agricultural priorities, he warned. Higher petroleum costs mean higher farm production costs. He also warned about government interference in agriculture, pointing to curtailment of chemicals without adequate research to warrant this restriction. He added that farmers have a stake in basic agricultural research, one way of helping meet demands of an 80 per cent increase of world population by the year 2,000.

"I'd rather explain higher gas bills than why you don't have gas."

Your natural gas bill is higher. And, you have every right to know why.

One reason is lower temperatures brought on by winter. The main reason, however, is simply that you are paying more for natural gas. Because we are paying more. This chart shows how much:

This increase hurts both you and Pioneer. It adds to your bill and to our cost... a cost for which Pioneer is not entirely compensated. It is passed through without mark-up or additional charges.

Why does gas cost more? Competition... particularly from petrochemical and other industries. The competition for gas has never been so fierce.

We will have to pay more for gas than in the past. But by working together, and without outside interference, you'll have the gas you need today and in the future.

Prices On Eggs, Butter, Coffee Continue To Rise

By The Associated Press
 Prices associated slightly on the consumer at grocery stores in November, an Associated Press market-basket survey shows. The shopper found lower prices for such items as pork chops and sugar, but they were more than offset by higher ones for eggs, butter and coffee.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nonfood items, checked the price at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1, 1975, and has rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month.

During November, the marketbasket total at the checklist store was up in seven cities, with an average hike of 3.7 per cent, and down in six cities, with an average drop of 2.6 per cent. Overall, the bill near the start of December was eight-tenths of 1 per cent more than a month earlier.

During October, the marketbasket bill increased in six cities and dipped in seven, and the change in prices overall for the month was an increase of three-tenths of 1 per cent.

The changes seemed to generally follow those at farm and wholesale levels. The U.S. Department of Agriculture reported last Friday that from Oct. 15 to Nov. 15, farmers were paid less for hogs and more for milk and eggs.

On the AP marketbasket, eggs increased in price at the 12 stores at which the checklist's medium Grade A size was available. The average increase for the 12 stores was 16 per cent.

Milk prices increased in 5 of the 13 stores, fell at two and remained at the same level in six.

Another item with price hikes was coffee, going up at seven stores, down at one and remaining the same at four. The type of coffee on the checklist was not available at the other store.

The change in coffee prices continued to reflect a frost in Brazil that heavily damaged that country's coffee crop. It has been slow to filter through to retailers because supermarkets often use coffee as a "loss-leader" to draw customers.

These higher prices were somewhat offset by lower prices for pork chops and sugar.

The price of sugar, which hit record levels and caused a consumer protest last year, continued to drift downward. It declined in six of the 12 stores where the variety to be checked was available and was up in only one. It was the same price in five other of the stores.

The price of pork chops was down in six checklist groceries, up in three and remained the same in four. However, the Agriculture Department warned that pork supplies would be "light" in December and said prices on both pork and beef would rise slightly in the first half of 1976.

The items on the AP checklist were: chopped chuck, center cut pork chops, frozen orange juice concentrate, coffee, paper towels, butter, Oade-A medium white eggs, creamy peanut butter, laundry detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, chocolate chip cookies, milk, all-beef frankfurters and granulated sugar.

The cities checked were: Albuquerque, N.M., Atlanta, Ga., Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, Salt Lake City and Seattle.

'Boom, Bust' Cycles Hurting Family Farmers

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — The president of the Texas Farmers Union called Sunday for establishment of government programs to ease the effects of "boom and bust" cycles in the American economy on the nation's farmers.

Speaking at the 67th annual convention of the Rocky Mountain Farmers Union, Jay Naman said, "One thing is certain. That is that the boom and bust cycle will continue to force out more and more of the nation's family farmers."

Naman called on the Ford Administration and Congress to raise agricultural loan levels and establish a "protected food reserve." He also urged establishment of a "comprehensive production system" and a national food policy and asked for action "to allow easier entry into agricultural programs by younger farmers."

Smuggled Cigarettes Costing State Bundle In Unpaid Taxes

DALLAS (AP) — Cigarette smokers in Texas in their never-ending search for low cigarette prices may be costing the state hundreds of thousands of dollars a year in unpaid taxes.

Texas' 18½ cents tax per package of cigarettes—the fourth highest in the nation—is attracting dealers in stolen and smuggled cigarettes, according to the Texas Comptroller's office in Austin.

Bob Woolsey, director of the Tobacco Products Tax Division of the comptroller's office, said three cases are currently under investigation in the Dallas-Fort Worth area involving cigarettes from West Virginia, Mexico and North Carolina.

The North Carolina tax is two cents a package.

Woolsey's comments appeared in the Dallas Morning News.

Woolsey said some smugglers bring cigarettes costing $1.85 a carton without state and federal taxes from Mexico and sell them at $3.00 a carton to small Texas businesses such as individually owned grocery stores, service stations or bars.

"The small businesses can sell the cigarettes for up to a dollar more and still sell below their competition," Woolsey said.

Nationwide, it has been estimated that city and state governments are losing about $500 million dollars in illegal cigarette sales.

Law enforcement officials in New York City estimate one out of every four cigarette packs sold there is either from a stolen load or smuggled into the city, usually from North Carolina.

Woolsey said that in Texas contraband cigarettes are also taken from distribution warehouses by "just backing up a trailer and loading 50 to 60 cases at a time."

He said other smugglers are operating mail order schemes where individuals can order cut-rate cigarettes without paying the proper taxes.

One North Carolina man was convicted earlier this month on 10 counts of mail fraud for selling mail-order cigarettes in Texas, Woolsey said.

"We figure his operation alone cost the state more than $160,000 a year in lost revenue," he said.

The price of dealing in contraband cigarettes can be expensive, he added.

Woolsey said persons found with more than 50 cartons of illegal cigarettes in their possession may face a felony prosecution and the loss of their business permits.

Unbeaten NMMI Is Hawk Foe Tonight

Two of the top-rated teams in the Western Athletic Conference, Howard College and New Mexico Military Institute, square off in the first league contest for both in the Hawk Gym here at 8 o'clock this evening.

Harold Wilder's resident team is 9-1. Its only loss was to College of the Mainland on the road, and that by one point. HC has been averaging 112.5 points a game to 82 for the opposition.

NMMI, coached by Gary Cardinal, is the league's only undefeated team. The Cadets have won six straight games. Among conquests of the Roswell team were Western Texas College, last year's national champions, and highly rated Seminole, Okla. The Cadets humbled both teams by 16 points.

Cowboys Looking Ahead To St. Louis Battle

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys showed a distinct lack of killer instinct Sunday but Coach Tom Landry said it was really the St. Louis Cardinals who were in the sights not the hapless New York Giants.

Dallas struck for two first quarter touchdowns on Roger Staubach's passes then whittled away the rest of the afternoon making a foil of former teammate Craig Morton in a 14-3 National Football League victory.

The Cowboys defense intercepted Morton three times and sacked him on four other occasions in the victory which propelled Dallas into a National Conference Eastern Division tie with St. Louis. Both teams own 8-3 records and meet Sunday in St. Louis to decide the division leadership.

"We weren't mentally sharp but we got this one out of the way," said Landry. "All the marbles are on the line next week. That's the BIG ONE!"

Cowboy defensive tackle Jethro Pugh, the only remaining member of the front four of Dallas' former "Doomsday Defense," said "That's the biggest game of the year for us. St. Louis will be extra tough because they lost Thursday to Buffalo. St. Louis hangs in there until the end."

Dallas defeated St. Louis in overtime in their first meeting earlier in the season at Texas Stadium. Staubach started out like he was going to snap the NFL passing record for yardage in the first period against the porous Giant

All good things have to come to an end some time. For the Minnesota Vikings, it was the end of a perfect season. For the American Conference West, it was the end of a race that never really was.

On Thursday, the Vikings enjoyed not only Thanksgiving dinner but also Los Angeles' 20-0 victory over Detroit. That not only gave the Rams the title in the National Conference West but also enabled Minnesota to back into the NFC's Central championship.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Bengals backup quarterback John Reaves goes back to being Ken Anderson's understudy this week, but not before savoring a brief fling in the limelight.

"It's a new feeling," said the 25-year-old Reaves, who made his first start since 1972 an auspicious one Sunday. "After what's happened to me, it's quite a thrill to help move a team toward the playoffs."

Trying To Determine Cause Of Derailment

HOUSTON (AP) — Southern Pacific Railroad officials attempted today to determine the cause of a derailment of 32 cars of a 131-car freight train in the northern area of the city.

Fire which broke out after the Sunday derailment burned 16 to 18 of the cars, a wooden approach trestle and a small section of the nearby wooded area.

No injuries were reported. The cause of the fire, which Southern Pacific officials said started simultaneously with the derailment, was not immediately determined.

Joe Bart said only 12 of the 32 derailed cars contained cargo. He said only two, one with potash and the other with tallow, carried combustibles but not explosives.

The train was en route from Pine Bluff, Ark. to Houston and derailed just south of the San Jacinto River, east of U.S. Highway 59. The derailment occurred on a thin strip of land in the Houston city limits just north of Humble, Tex.

The main steel trestle was not damaged, Bart said, but the approach trestle was about 50 per cent burned. He said this will cause no delays

Scout Banquet Cause Of Derailment Slated Tuesday

The annual Scouters recognition banquet for the Lone Star district will be held Tuesday 7 p.m. at the Dora Roberts Student Union Center on the Howard College Campus.

In addition to adult volunteers who will be cited for achievements, young men who have earned Scouting's highest award, the Eagle Badge, also will be recognized.

Sam Hunnicutt is chairman of the Lone Star District, which embraces Howard, Sterling and Glasscock Counties. J. Arnold Marshall, immediate past chairman, will preside at the dinner. Others on the program include Joe Whitten, and Mrs. Janet McCre, music, Rev. Louis Moeller, invocation; Dr. Kenneth Patrick, First Baptist pastor, who will speak.

Clem Jones, leader recognition; George J. Zachariah, who will have the Bicentennial minute; R. H. Weaver, who will make a special presentation; A. J. Pirkle and Webeles Den from Pack 305, flag ceremony. Also due here for the affair are Ike McCarroll, Midland, Buffalo Trail Council president, and Steve Odom, council executive, who will install the new district officers.

Walter Wheat is the banquet chairman, and Art Hyman the district executive.

Deny Rehearing

The Eleventh District Court of Civil Appeals has denied a motion for a rehearing by Fort Worth Lloyds versus Suttle Purcell, Lamesa. The insurance company appealed a judgement of district court in Dawson County without results, then asked the appeals affirmation be given rehearing.

Fine-Free Week Dates

Fine-free week at the Howard County Library starts Tuesday.

Fines will be waived on overdue books returned by Saturday, librarian Susan Conley said.

LEGAL NOTICE

The Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission will hold a public meeting Wednesday, December 10, 1975, at 10:00 a.m. in the office of the Regional Planning Commission, 1100 W. 11th Street, Midland, Texas. The meeting will be held for the purpose of discussing its application requesting federal designation of a Health Systems Agency for this area.

Eric Crawford, Executive Director, said that although the meeting is open to anyone interested in the health planning activities of the area, preliminary information has been sent to city, county and area officials, as well as providers and consumers of health care who have previously participated in various health planning activities of the Agency.

The key features of the meeting will be the contents of the applications, the next steps to be taken in the designation procedure and a general discussion of the Health Systems Agency and federal legislation which authorizes such agencies. Qualifications and the proposed governing body composition of the HSA, along with a copy of the proposed program of the Agency will be available as of December 5th for public inspection and copying at the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission, 1100 W. 11th Street, Midland, Texas. He invites written comments from those attending the meeting or those who may wish to review the application at the Commission office prior to the meeting.

Increasing Lint Flow

The cotton market began strengthening last week, according to B. B. Manly of the Abilene classing office.

Some cotton sold in most all areas this week, but the highest prices were paid for cotton with a premium mike (3.5-4.9). Premium mike cotton sold for 12 cents to 14 1/2 cents per pound above the government loan rate; cotton that mikes 3.2-3.3 sold from 13 to 14 cents above; 2.7-2.9 sold 7 to 9 cents above the government rate. A few bales of grade 41 and 32, staple 34 premium mike sold for 49.50 cents per pound.

Grade 42 continued to be the predominant quality classed with 30 per cent. Grades 41, 51, and 52 had around 17 per cent each. Forty-one per cent was reduced because of bark and grass.

Fiber length changed little with 50 per cent called 31, 20 per cent were shorter, and 31 per cent were longer. Micronaire readings were 59 per cent within the 3.5-4.9 range; 12 per cent in 3.3-3.4 range; 20 per cent in 3.0-3.2 range.

Strength tests were: 33 per cent 75,000 PSI to 79,000 PSI; 42 per cent in the 80,000 PSI to 84,000 PSI range, and 20 per cent higher.

About 25,500 samples were classed at the Abilene office in the week ending Friday, and brings the season total to 62,000. A year ago only 15,200 samples had been classed.

VA Hospital Sets Program

The Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital will sponsor a hypertension screening program for area veterans Dec. 3 and 4, 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. both days. All veterans are encouraged by the hospital staff to have their blood pressure taken in order to determine the need for medical advice or treatment. This is especially important for veterans who have not received a physical within the last year, according to hospital officials.

The screening, which will take place in room 219 of the VA Hospital, is part of a Public Awareness Program recently instituted by the Veterans Administration. This is the first time the screening has taken place in Big Spring but it will occur on a regular basis in the future. There is no cost for the screening.

Demonstration Set Tonight

The Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital will sponsor a meeting of the Heart Association tonight, 7 p.m., on the second floor of the Hospital. A demonstration of cardiopulmonary resuscitation methods will be given.

Anyone interested in working with the Heart Association is invited to attend.

Chapter Hears Story Of Thanksgiving Feast

The Coahoma Chapter 499 Order of Eastern Star held a meeting Tuesday in the Masonic Temple.

Mrs. Myrtle Heaton gave the program, which centered on the first Thanksgiving celebration. Mrs. Heaton told how five women did all the cooking for the feast. The women, who originally intended to prepare for 60 people, found that they had to feed 143 people when the Indians brought members of their tribe.

After the meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. Francis McKinney.

The next meeting for the

Burer Will Speak To Hyperion Club

Lt. Col. A. W. Burer, section commander in the 83rd FTS at Webb AFB will be the speaker at the next meeting of the 1953 Hyperion Club, slated for 1 p.m. Wednesday.

Shop On Weekdays

Christmas shopping hint—shop on weekdays. Wednesday is often the least crowded day. Mrs. Linda McCormack, family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, advises.

Col. Burer is a native of San Antonio but as a member of a career military family, moved to many points before completing high school in Washington, D.C. in 1950. At the height of the Korean war, he enlisted and six years later entered OCS which led to his training as a pilot.

He volunteered for duty in the South Vietnam where he was taken prisoner March 21, 1966 when his plane was knocked down by ground fire. He was released Feb. 12, 1973 after spending nearly seven years as a POW. Burer holds numerous decorations.

Toastmasters Schedule New Meeting Time

"Actions should speak the same as words—not louder—for best communication. It's hard to understand when a speaker says one thing but his actions don't back up his words. For example, it's especially confusing to a young child when his parents tell him 'we don't hit anyone in anger' as they spank him hard for hitting someone else," the specialist said.

Honest Communication Tool For Improvement

COLLEGE STATION—Open, honest communication is one tool for improving family relationships. Mrs. Ilene Miller, a family life education specialist, says.

"But learning to communicate effectively with loved ones isn't always easy. Differences in values and feelings cause conflict and misunderstanding," she added.

Mrs. Miller is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"First, remember that both words and actions communicate. Facial expressions, tone of voice, posture, breathing tempo and many other actions communicate a person's feelings and attitudes.

Salvation Army Home League Meets Tuesday

The Ladies Home League met in the basement of the Salvation Army Citadel Tuesday at 10 a.m. for their weekly meeting.

Dues were taken and the role was called. Mrs. Opal Sullivan brought the devotion, which was a prayer of Thanksgiving written by Irene McDermott.

The women worked on Christmas crafts.

Mrs. Sullivan closed the meeting with prayer.

Church Class Meets Monday

The women of the Golden Circle class of the Phillips Memorial Baptist Church met last Monday evening at the church for a social gathering.

Mrs. Jester Adams gave the opening prayer followed by Mrs. Philip Palmer who presented a devotional on "The Lighthouse."

Mrs. Paul Russel was the hostess.

Members planned the Christmas party which will be on Dec. 12 at Coker's Restaurant.

Dear Abby

Former Fatty Thanks Abby For Suggestion

DEAR ABBY: I send this letter out of gratitude for recommending Overeaters Anonymous. It saved my life.

In December 1973 I weighed 326 pounds. If my high blood pressure or heart trouble wouldn't eventually have killed me, I'd have done it myself. I lived with loneliness, depression and despair.

I was a heroin addict and a 23-year-old divorced mother of three on welfare. I hated myself enough to prostitute my body to get money for dope. I suffered humiliation after humiliation. (A 300-pound prostitute gets all the sadists and perverts no other hooker will take.) I had no self-respect, no hope, no God—no nothing.

I wrote to you, never expecting an answer. Your letter was the first word of encouragement I had had in years. I took your advice and went to an O.A. meeting in June of '74. I believed none of it. "These people are crazy," I thought, "I'm a fat, ugly junkie, and they're telling me I can get thin and regain my self-respect if I want to!"

"No way," I told them right out loud. No one threw me out. A beautiful, middle-aged man put his arm around my shoulder and said, "Come back and listen. Try us for 30 days. What can you lose?"

I didn't believe him, but I went back, and back and back.

Today I've lost 121 pounds,

AARP Officers To Be Installed

Installation of officers for the American Association of Retired People will be held Tuesday 10 a.m. at Kentwood Center, members were reminded today.

The Rev. C. A. Holcomb, who was re-elected president, will head the new slate of officers. Other business matters and a social period will highlight the meeting.
