COMING DOWN — An alert photographer caught a tornado as it was heading for the ground in Tulsa Friday, injuring 34 persons and leaving 80 families homeless. Nine persons were seriously injured.

Twister Hurts 34 In Tulsa

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Cleanup crews worked in chilly weather Saturday after a series of tornadoes ripped through a section of east Tulsa during the evening rush-hour traffic on Friday, injuring 34 persons and leaving 80 families homeless.

Nine persons were hospitalized, including a woman nine months pregnant, but only one was in serious condition, officials said.

The stricken area in Tulsa was about a mile-and-a-half long and a half-block wide.

The Red Cross said 50 homes and 24 apartments were destroyed by the tornado, another 125 to 150 heavily damaged and many others had smaller losses. An estimated 50 business structures were destroyed.

Mayor Robert LaFortune estimated the damage at several million dollars.

The tornado in Wilburton late Friday unroofed several homes and hit a college gymnasium where a basketball tournament was under way. Several persons were injured by flying glass in the gymnasium.

NYC Aid Bill Gets Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — Final passage of legislation authorizing $2.3 billion in federal loans to save New York City from default was greeted Saturday with enthusiasm by New York Gov. Hugh Carey.

Carey said he was "deeply gratified" by the Senate's 57-30 vote early Saturday extending $2.3 billion in short-term loans for the city. The measure was sent to the White House.

The House had approved the measure 213 to 203 last Tuesday.

"Somehow or another an awful lot of fiscal rabbits have been pulled out of New York's hat in the last few weeks," said Sen. James L. Buckley, Con-R-N.Y., who voted for the bill.

Carey, in a statement issued in New York City, thanked those who voted for the bill and added: "But I wish to thank most especially all of the people throughout America who saw the merit of New York's case and came forward to support the city."

The bill was proposed by President Ford on Nov. 26 when he reversed his previous opposition to federal aid for the city.

City officials have warned that default could come as soon as next Thursday. But with approval of the federal loans, it is expected that city bondholders will exchange their due notes for long-term notes to enable New York to continue operations without a formal default.

The approved bill creates a vehicle by which New York City can borrow from the federal treasury. Still to be considered by both the House and Senate is a $10.3-billion supplemental appropriations bill which contains the money to be loaned.

Russian Diplomat Shot In Lebanese Fighting

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A Soviet diplomat was shot in the face and more than 100 persons were killed or injured Saturday as Christian and Moslem militiamen battled with renewed ferocity, ending a week-long truce.

Officials reported 49 persons were killed, at least 66 were injured and more than 300 were kidnaped in the latest outbreak of Lebanon's civil war. Masked gunmen killed hostages at roadblocks and the state radio declared "every street in the capital is unsafe."

A spokesman at American University Hospital identified the critically wounded Russian as Robert Mardirousian, second secretary at the Soviet Embassy. He said Mardirousian's condition was improving late Saturday, but the bullet apparently touched his spine and could cause paralysis of the legs.

Police officials, who initially reported Mardirousian had been killed, said he and another Soviet diplomat who was slightly injured were hit by snipers while driving in the downtown area.

The officials said 15 persons were trampled during a stampede of shoppers and bank customers trying to get away when snipers opened fire in the downtown shopping district.

Camille Chamoun, interior minister in the coalition government and a prominent Christian leader, told Beirut residents in a radio-television address to remain inside their homes Sunday. Security forces would try to end the "barbaric" executions, he said, but if they don't stop by Sunday night "Shouldn't we declare a state of emergency?" Chamoun has been pressing for intervention by the Lebanese army. He is opposed by Moslem Premier Rashid Karami and other Moslem and leftist leaders who say the army is dominated by Christian officers and might split along factional lines if called in.

Christians said the fighting was touched off by discovery of the bodies of four Christian militiamen.

Viets To Release MIA Bodies

PARIS (AP) — A North Vietnamese diplomat announced Saturday that the bodies of three American pilots killed in the Vietnam war would be turned over to their families in a few days but said there was no trace of some 850 other Americans listed as missing or held prisoner.

Vo Van Sung, North Vietnam's ambassador to France, said his government was holding no other Americans, dead or alive.

The North Vietnamese gesture came after five hours of talks between Vo Van Sung and members of the U.S. House of Representatives Select Committee on Missing Persons which both sides said were successful.

The three pilots were identified as Maj. Jesse Taylor Jr., shot down Jan. 16, 1965; Maj. Crosley James Fitton, downed Feb. 29, 1968, and Capt. Ronald Dwight Perry, killed Dec. 21, 1972. Committee aides said their home towns were not immediately available.

FORD SPEAKS TODAY AT MEMORIAL 'Remember Pearl Harbor' Echos 34 Years Later

HONOLULU (AP) — Thirty-four years ago Sunday, World War II began for the United States with much of its Navy lying at the bottom of Pearl Harbor.

"Remember Pearl Harbor" became a rallying cry during the nearly four years of war that followed.

Today the Japanese sneak attack on the naval installation in Hawaii is still well remembered, a reminder of enormous changes that have taken place since that Sunday morning.

As usual, civic and service groups will mark the anniversary by laying nearly 30 wreaths at the stark memorial built atop the sunken wreckage of the battleship Arizona, where 1,177 men were entombed during the attack. The U.S. flag will be raised as it has been every day since the memorial was dedicated in 1961.

This year, for the first time, the President will speak at the ceremonies. President Ford will stop in Hawaii for a few hours on his return to Washington from China. His first stop will be the Arizona Memorial.

Approximately 200 persons will gather in remembrance of the Dec. 7, 1941 attack by 33 Japanese ships and more than 350 airplanes.

The first bomb fell about 7:55 a.m. as 94 Navy ships lay in the harbor. Eighteen ships were sunk, nearly 200 planes were destroyed and 3,581 persons were killed or wounded.

The nation went to war and Hawaii was put under martial law. The territory's large population of Japanese descent was under suspicion but its very size precluded internment camps like those that housed Japanese-Americans on the U.S. mainland.

Half the persons inducted into the military in Hawaii during the war were of Japanese ancestry. The all-Nisei 442nd Central Postal Directory Team became known as the Army's most decorated unit.

Today the Arizona Memorial is one of the few reminders of the Japanese attack. Pearl Harbor remains one of the largest and best sheltered naval bases in the world, surrounded by growing suburbs, shopping centers and freeways.

The Japanese who once were discriminated against now hold the majority of powerful positions in Hawaii government and education. The governor, lieutenant governor, a U.S. Senator and both House members, the president of the University of Hawaii — all are of Japanese descent.

Another measure of change is the visit to the United States last October by Emperor Hirohito, in whose name the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor. Ending his American visit in Hawaii, he was greeted by large, enthusiastic crowds.

The Arizona Memorial has become one of Hawaii's most popular tourist attractions, drawing a million visitors annually. Among them are thousands of tourists from Japan.

Big Spring Week

with Joe Pickle

If you doubt the cotton harvest is in full swing, then watch the northern horizon in the early morning or late evening. That yellow-grayish hue means that cotton gins are humming far into the night.

Softball and baseball enthusiasts got a blow to the solar plexus Tuesday when bids for the new sports complex came in. The lowest proposal was for $484,000, whereas the top estimated for the program were no more than $250,000. If a lot can't be trimmed out that, then the project has stuck out.

Nominees from Howard County for the Health Systems Agency panel representing the Permian basin have been approved. They are Norman Knox, Dr. Ron Cohorn, Tony Ortiz and Lannie Hamby. This, in time, could be one of the most important committees in the area.

The City of Big Spring has been given encouragement that it will qualify for a $525,000 grant for sewer system improvements. The program has the blessings of the Permian Basin Council of Governments, and if finally approved, would put the disposal system in good shape.

News came last week that our United Way campaign has gone over the top, having reached $133,000 or 101 per cent of the objective. This is about $13,000 more than ever raised before, and Ron McNeil and his workers are due a big vote of thanks.

Dutch Won't Give In To Terrorists

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands (AP) — Dutch authorities stood firm Saturday in their refusal to make political concessions to South Moluccan nationalists holding up to 61 hostages in two separate sieges, a government spokesman said.

The statement came as Dutch officials, Indonesian diplomats and mediators from the exile Moluccan community launched a round of intensive contacts to try to end the sieges — at the Indonesian consulate in Amsterdam and aboard a hijacked train in northern Holland.

A detachment of Dutch marines ringed the con-sulate, and the train was surrounded by a heavy force of army marksmen and police in armored cars, and sharpshooters.

Gunmen at both sites seek independence for the Molucca Islands, also known as the Spice Islands and ruled by Holland for nearly three centuries. Since 1949 the Moluccas have been part of Indonesia, and the Netherlands has no power to satisfy diehard demands for independence.

The militants hold 36 hostages in the train stranded since Tuesday in open farmland near Beilen, 90 miles north of Amsterdam.

Ford, Marcos Agree On Role Of U.S. Bases

MANILA, the Philippines (AP) — President Ford and Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos declared Sunday that U.S. military bases here "remain important in maintaining an effective United States presence in the Western Pacific."

In a communique issued on the final day of Ford's 23-hour visit, the two presidents said an American presence in the Pacific supports mutual objectives of promoting peace and progress. Ford also had stressed American interest in Asia Saturday during a stopover in Jakarta, Indonesia, after a five-day visit to Peking.

Marcos has called for a renegotiation of the agreements under which Washington maintains installations at Subic Bay and Clark Air Base, and this was a major theme in the communique.

It said "there should be an early review of the steps necessary to conclude the negotiations" and the talks "should be conducted in the clear recognition of Philippine sovereignty."

Ford and Marcos also agreed "it was timely to conclude negotiations on new agreement on trade, investment and related matters as a means to enhance economic cooperation between the two countries."

The Laurel-Langley agreement that granted concessions for Philippine exports to the United States and favored treatment for American investment here expired in 1974.

A new trade agreement "would modernize the terms for conducting economic and commercial relations" the communique said, and would give "due consideration to the requirements for the development of the Philippine economy."

Ford and Marcos "affirmed that sovereign equality, territorial integrity and political independence of all states are fundamental principles which both countries scrupulously respect," their joint statement said.

In his welcoming speech to Ford Saturday, Marcos signalled that future military agreements with the United States would have to include commitments to help the Philippines build its own arms industry.

Trio Released After Lineup, Body Hunted

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Three New Jersey Teamsters were released Saturday after they appeared in a police lineup viewed by a secret government witness who says he saw James R. Hoffa abducted.

U.S. Atty. Ralph Guy refused to say whether the witness recognized the three as the men he claims he saw abduct the former Teamsters president last July 30.

Guy said he was withholding the results of the lineup from the attorney for the three men as well.

The three Teamsters previously had been identified by an unnamed government informant as the abductors and killers of Hoffa, authorities have said.

The secret witness who viewed the lineup does not know the names of the men he saw abduct Hoffa, the government said. Robert Ozer, head of the U.S. Organized Crime Strike Force in Detroit, said he hoped his witness could corroborate what the informant said.

The attorney for the three Teamsters said the lineup was viewed by three men and two women.

Salvatore Briguglio, 47; his brother, Gabriel, 36, and 38-year-old Thomas Andretta — all associated with Local 560 in Union City, N.J. — were arrested earlier Saturday and then ordered into the lineup.

The arrests on charges of failing to obey a court order to appear in the lineup came after the attorney for the three tried to bring videotape equipment into the lineup room.

Government investigators blocked the attempt, a scuffle between Salvatore Briguglio and plainclothes detectives ensued and the three were taken into custody.

The security spokesman said "security forces are unable to cope with the situation. It was a black day with kidnaping, counter-kidnaping, sniping and street fighting."

Thirty Christian gunmen stormed the Beirut port authority and began executing Moslem employees in their offices, witnesses said. A customs inspector who narrowly escaped death himself said he saw three of his fellow workers killed on the spot before a senior Christian officer intervened to end the massacre.

Vengeance-seeking Moslems of a Nasserite militia set up a roadblock in downtown Beirut and began executing Christian motorists in reprisal for the port authority attack, witnesses said. They said several persons were killed before the street was cleared of traffic.

Armed men reappeared at sandbag barricades and gun emplacements guarding Christian and Moslem districts in the suburbs.

United Halted By Strikers

WASHINGTON (AP) — A strike by service workers grounded all 2,800 United Airlines flights Saturday and Sunday, although negotiations on a new wage contract continued.

The walkout began at midnight Friday, forcing nearly 200,000 passengers to look to other airlines, or not fly at all.

There was no indication how long the walkout might last, although a federal mediator described a Saturday bargaining session between United and the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers as "very, very crucial." Another source familiar with the talks said a settlement over the weekend was unlikely.

A United spokeswoman in Washington said decisions on next week's schedule would be made "on a day-to-day basis." Charter flights were cancelled through Tuesday.

The union striking the airline represents 16,700 mechanics, ramp and food service workers and flight dispatchers.

TEXAS DRIVERS' LICENSES TO HAVE DONOR STATEMENT

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas drivers' licenses issued after Jan. 1 will carry a witnessed statement whereby the holder of the license may donate any part of his body as an anatomical gift at the time of his death.

The statement on the back of the redesigned driver's license is the result of a law passed by the 1975 Legislature that becomes effective Jan. 1.

The new license will look the same on one side with the driver's name, address, physical description, signature and photograph.

However, on the back side will be the statement that allows the driver, on his death, to donate his body or any portion of it to any hospital, surgeon or physician. The bequest must carry the driver's signature and the signatures of two witnesses.

If the driver does not care to participate in the anatomical gift program the statement on the back of the license does not need to be completed and signed.

Col. Wilson E. Speer, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said the DPS will keep no records concerning anatomical gifts.

ROOM WITH A VIEW — This likely would be an ideal location for the owner of a house who relishes a scenic view of the T & P Railroad tracks and downtown Big Spring. In fact, however, this structure was being moved across the Gregg Street overpass south during the past week. Time was when people moved from one residence to another. Now some of them are taking their houses with them.

Vitality Of Success

There's more than good news for the participating agencies in the United Way campaign having reached and exceeded its goal.

This means that the cooperative efforts of the community leadership has achieved a goal, one set nearly 10 per cent higher than a year ago. It would have been easier to have let the drive stall out just a little short, but there were several last minute boosts, and one anonymous gift that sent it over the top.

And accomplishing what you set out to do is important. This spirit carries over into other vital activities. It strengthens a "can do" spirit and reflects confidence as well as compassion.

It goes without saying that the agencies which depend upon the United Way for a major part or all of their support will be assured of a full portion. In no instance was the United Way able to grant what it wanted to allocate, but this means that what was indicated is now assured. And that may be the difference between continuing with a quality program or service as opposed to dripped service and mere survival. Congratulations Howard County United Way, and to its leadership.

Easy Way To Spread Cheer

The annual Cheer Fund appeal has been launched by the Herald, and, as usual, the results depend upon your generosity.

Some may say that this is a one-shot deal and that it therefore does little to get at the over-all problem of need. Indeed, it won't, but what it will do is to make certain that those of little means are supplied with the necessities, and a few trimmings, at the Yuletide.

This is a chance for those of us with some means to say to our brothers, we want to share with you. We care for you. Yes, trite truths are more the less truths — it still is and always will be more blessed to give than to receive.

My Answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Two months ago, my husband was laid off from work. It was a great blow to us, as we are in our mid-20s and this was his first job. We are losing faith in God because of this. I hate to admit it, but why does God let things like this happen? — Mrs. J.M.

DEAR MRS. M.: It is not always easy to understand why things come to us, but the Christian knows that God can use these things for our good if we will but trust Him and seek His lessons. The Bible says: "Count it all joy, my brethren, when you meet various trials, for you know that the testing of your faith produces steadfastness. And let steadfastness have its full effect, that you may be perfect and complete, lacking in nothing." James 1:2-4, RSV

Frankly, it is difficult to "count it all joy" when things do not go well for us. However, we will learn to rejoice when we see that God can use the situation to strengthen us and draw us closer to Himself. What we must seek is a steadfast faith in Christ that is not dependent on our circumstances, but instead rises above them. Anyone can be happy when all is going well; the real test comes when all does not go well.

I urge you to commit this matter to God, asking Him to increase your trust in Him. Like the Apostle Paul, may you learn to say: "I have learned, in whatever state I am, to be content. I know how to be abased, and I know how to abound; in any and all circumstances I have learned the secret of facing plenty and hunger, abundance and want. I can do all things in him who strengthens me." Philippians 4:11-13, RSV.

Passing The Time

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — I heard on the news the other morning that the agenda for the talks with China was so limited that President Ford planned to work on his domestic budget while he was in Peking. It's hard to believe that President Ford, with only four days in China, wouldn't have enough to keep him busy. But on second thought, nothing is hard to believe anymore.

I CAN imagine the conversation that took place in Peking this week between the President and Henry Kissinger.

What Others Say

One can only applaud the kind of honesty and openness that Betty Ford has brought into the White House. But it is regrettable when such candor erupts in an injudicious comment that is less than bracing to the nation's moral climate.

Surely Mrs. Ford did not mean to be giving the public advice when she stated in a CBS television interview that she would not be surprised if her daughter had "an affair" and suggested that premarital relations with the right partner might result in "less divorce." These were her own private thoughts on the subject. Yet, as the wife of the President, as a national figure often in the limelight, she ought to be aware that her comments have a public impact.

Happily, the Ford family itself seems to embody needed moral qualities. Judging from her wholesome children, Mrs. Ford is a fine mother. She is also a most refreshing figure on the Washington political scene who tries to speak out frankly and unassumingly about mundane issues.

We would not have her do less than that. But frankness must be tempered with wisdom and an alertness to one's public responsibility. CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

"Hi, Henry, this is the President. What are you doing?"
"Nothing. What are you doing, Mr. President?"
"I was just sitting here in my hotel room, watching Chinese television."
"I thought you were going to work on your domestic budget?"

"I CAN'T seem to get in the mood, Henry. I really thought I could catch up on some White House work over here, but it's still all stacked on my desk."

"I know how it is, Mr. President. I was hoping to get some of my mail answered, but I haven't written a post card. What are you doing tonight?"

"I have no plans. What are you doing tonight, Henry?"
"Beats me. Maybe we could sit in the hotel lobby and watch the people."
"We did that last night."

"I FORGOT. What's on the agenda for tomorrow?"
"We have a meeting with the student body president of Mao Tseung High School in the morning, and then we have the rest of the day free."
"What should we do?"
"You want to play gin rummy?"
"Yes, we could do that, Henry. Betty will probably want to shop, so we'll have the suite to ourselves."
"Are you sure you don't want to work on your domestic budget?"

"I DON'T think so. New York City seems so far away. Have we got anything on tomorrow night?"
"There's a reception at the People's Palace for the Canton volleyball team, and I'm trying to wrangle an invitation to that. If it doesn't come through, we could find a good Chinese restaurant and have dinner."
"And then what?"
"We could sit in the lobby a gain."

"HENRY, WHY did we come to China?"
"To show the Soviet Union they can't fool around with detente."
"Well, why are the Chinese giving us the cold shoulder?"
"To show us what they think of our detente with the Soviet Union."

"Well, at least it may give those stupid cartoonists something to draw besides 'Jaws'..."

Plan To Aid Railroads Faces Veto

WEEKS BUSINESS

- Shopcraft unions to get big pay increase
- Senate approves $1 billion plus in loans
- Other industries reporting happier times
- Domestic car sales shoot up 35 per cent
- Wholesale price index for month unchanged

NEW YORK (AP) — A threatened strike against the nation's railroads was averted this past week, but the threat of a veto still loomed over Congressional plans to prop up the railroads financially.

A tentative contract agreement provides a 41 per cent increase in wages and fringe benefits over three years for the 70,000 members of four shopcraft unions, who still must ratify it.

Had they walked off, members of other unions that have already reached similar agreements would have honored the picket lines, shutting down virtually all of the nation's rail service for commuters, freight and long distance travelers.

The U.S. Senate, meanwhile was approving more than $8 billion in loans for the railroads, despite President's Ford's warning that he would veto the measure because he considers it too costly.

Included in the bill were $3 billion in loans for Consolidated Rail Corp., the federally chartered company created to move freight over the track systems of the seven financially collapsed northeastern railroads.

Also provided in the bill are $1.4 billion in loans for track repairs on other lines and $3 billion in loans to improve service between Washington and Boston.

Transportation Secretary William Coleman said the Senate bill and a similar, but less costly House subcommittee plan, were both unacceptable to the President.

Ford has proposed spending $2.1 billion to fund the reorganized railroads and $1.2 billion to upgrade Washington — Boston passenger service.

Other industries, notably automobiles and retail merchandise were reporting happier times.

The auto makers said domestic car sales in November shot up 35 per cent above last November's level, the sharpest year-to-year gain for any month in almost four years.

In another sign of growing consumer activity, the nation's major retail chains boasted higher sales figures for November, including a 22.5 per cent jump for S.S. Kresge Co., a 13-3 per cent rise for F.W. Woolworth Co., and an increase of 6.7 per cent for Sears, Roebuck & Co.

The unemployment rate, the percentage of persons working or looking for work who are jobless, dropped from 8.6 per cent in October to 8.3 per cent. About 7.7 million persons were unemployed in November, about the same number as in September.

A marked drop in farm products and an equal rise in prices of industrial goods and commodities left the government's wholesale price index for the month unchanged, after seasonal adjustments.

Government economists said the evening off was better than what can be expected in the next few months, but James L. Pate, a Commerce Department economist, said "Any way you look at it, I think it's good news."

Calories For Newborn

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you be good enough to settle a discussion as to the maximum number of calories a newborn baby requires through infancy? — J.C.M.

The caloric requirement is highly variable. Average would be from 50 to 60 calories per day for each pound of baby weight. Much, of course, depends on the child's activity.

I have purposely avoided any reference to a maximum. If a youngster is gaining weight rapidly, it is getting too much to eat. You have reached a maximum. A fat baby is not necessarily a healthy one, and I wish that idea had never gained popularity.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What does cervical erosion mean? I was being treated for a knee injury and the doctor did a Pap smear. He said there was cervical erosion and he told me to douche for a couple of days with a solution of a teaspoon of vinegar to a quart of water.

I am confused. The doctor said I will get results of the Pap test in the mail — Mrs. C.S.

Cervical erosion is one of those medical terms which carries with it an unjustified sense of foreboding to the patient. It means your doctor found some ulceration of the outer layers of the cervical tissue. This can be the result of trauma associated with childbirth. It also can mean the presence of infection.

The Pap smear will tell you all you will need to know. The odds are against the presence of malignancy, but it is important to have the erosion treated. Early treatment of such erosion can head off the possibility of its causing a discharge or becoming more serious.

You are fortunate to have a doctor who routinely offers Pap tests to his patients.

It is common procedure to provide results of such tests by mail.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My doctor has told me I have an inflammation in my duodenum. X-rays showed this.

I am staying on a bland diet, and my doctor talked as though I would have to stay on this for a very long time. Can I ever eat normally again — for example, a salad?

Also can you explain to me just where the duodenum is? — Mrs. V.Y.

The duodenum is located in the central upper abdomen. It is the first portion of the intestine as it leaves the stomach.

Inflammation of this structure duodenitis can precede an ulcer formation, so it is well that you are getting such early treatment.

World Football League Quits After 30 million Dollars in Losses — Headline

They were rather slow getting the message, weren't they?

My bright cousin, Dr. George Ladd, an Okie in Muskogee, furnishes this order issuing clarification from the Federal Power Commission:

Horatio Humphrey

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — When he comes out of a crowded Senate hearing or even as he crosses the street, strangers come up to him to say, "You've got to run, we don't see anyone else we trust." The Humphrey phenomenon, one of the most curious developments in contemporary politics, is building every day.

SEN. HUBERT Horatio Humphrey is doing nothing to encourage it nor is he doing anything to dampen it. He is just being Humphrey and that means moving with a speed that leaves all those close to him on the ropes. He speaks around the country with the wit, the intellect, the good nature that have marked his public life.

At times impatient, he says, why should it be me? I've got a nice home out there in Minnesota. I've just had a physical examination that shows I'm in better health than I have ever been. And my wife, Muriel, would rather push her head through that wall than go through another campaign.

THE ANSWER to his question is that an increasing number of Democrats and some Republicans see him as the only figure on the horizon of 1976 with the experience, the intellect, the judgment to lead the country through the mass of trouble we are in. They see him as a compromise that the party and the nation could accept, not far from the center, between the populist left and the conservative right. He swears he will enter none of the 30 primaries and will not take a move toward the nomination until after June 8 and the last of the primary contests. If no single candidate emerges from the crowded field and he decided to go all out, he would have a month before the convention of his party in Madison Square Garden.

THERE IS another side to Humphrey, the optimist, the yeasayer. Looking at the fracas and the fragmentation that can come out of those 30 primaries, he can see a strike-torn convention taking a last-minute choice who would bear the scars of all the in-fighting over the past six months. Then the gloomy Humphrey believes that Ronald Reagan, the smooth performer whom he sees as the Republican nominee, could win.

THE DOUBTERS, needless to add they include the 10 candidates

"WE DO NOT know exactly how our explanation of this central issue is defective. In fact, in reviewing the exposition in our original submission we find an embarrassing number of ways in which we have failed to communicate.

"Therefore we have undertaken to clarify all the points where our explanations were excessively obscure."

Postal Service Warns Against Mail Swindlers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service warns Christmas shoppers to be wary of mail-order swindlers, who may be operating in record numbers this holiday season.

"These operators offer something at an extremely attractive price and then don't deliver," said Postal Service attorney George Davis.

"Christmas is a busy mailing time because it is a time of busy commercial activity. And those who seek to deceive come out of the woodwork at Christmas time," Davis said in an interview.

Though many mail-order concerns are legitimate, the ailing economy has started a boom in mail-order fraud, and it may get worse during the Christmas season, Postal Service officials say.

"This is a time when the buyer should beware even more than usual. If a mail-order offer sounds too good to be true, then that's probably what it is," Davis said.

As an example of a mail-order swindle from a previous holiday season, Davis cited an operator who advertised a well-known make of camera for about $50 less than its market value.

"He got thousands of people to mail him checks for $19.95 but the swindler wasn't delivering any cameras," Davis said.

Postal inspectors obtained a court order allowing seizure of his bank account. Eventually, $200,000 was returned to people who fell for the scheme.

Another scheme that operated during a previous Christmas season involved misrepresentation of the size and quality of dolls. The dolls mailed to buyers turned out to be much smaller and of poorer quality than those described in an ad.

Davis said another area to be careful of is mail-order franchising, which could involve an obligation to buy holiday greeting cards with the promise that they can later be sold for a profit. "You could end up with a lot of cards that won't sell and would be difficult to give away," Davis said.

Postal officials said that anyone who doesn't receive satisfaction on a mail-order purchase should contact the local postmaster.

Man Charged With Murder After Six Bodies Unearthed

LAKE CITY, S.C. (AP) — A Charleston man was arrested Saturday and charged with murdering one of six persons whose bodies were unearthed earlier this week, Florence County authorities said.

Florence County Sheriff William Barnes said James Koney Judy was taken into custody Saturday afternoon.

Judy was charged with the murder of Johnny Sellers, 38, of North Charleston, who had been reported missing since June 1974, the sheriff said.

Officers said Sellers' body was the only one of the four men and two women so far identified.

However, a police source said, "We feel we know who everyone of them is."

Capt. Michael Whatley of the North Charleston police said he understood Sellers' body had been identified by papers found in the grave, located Thursday in a remote area about 35 miles southeast of Florence.

Simmons said Judy's arrest followed additional leads uncovered after the bodies had been discovered.

The bodies were buried in three graves in a wooded area on the edge of a soybean field. Sellers' body and that of a woman were found in the second of three graves.

Metal detectors and a device said to be able to locate human remains were used Saturday in the search for additional bodies. Officers planned to search the area again Sunday.

Officials said they believed the burials were at three different times over a period of months.

The gravesite is located midway between Lake City and Johnsonville in the tobacco growing Pee Dee section of South Carolina.

No motive has been established for the killings. However, some law officers said the deaths may be linked to an auto theft ring operating in the state.

Earlier, officers said they were questioning Donald Gaskins, 40, who was held on an unrelated charge in the Central Correctional Institution in Columbia.

Gaskins had been charged with auto theft and contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Officers said he was a former resident of the area where the bodies were discovered.

Rule Doesn't Always Apply

The bad guys usually have black hats, but the rule doesn't always hold. A manager of a local motel called police Friday night and reported a suspicious vehicle circling the motel.

The manager told police, "There are three guys in the car with black hats." The black-hatters explained to police that they were hunting a friend.

Legion Gift Shop Due To Reopen

The American Legion Gift Shop will formally be reopened at the VA Hospital here with a ribbon-cutting ceremony at 9 a.m., Monday.

The shop provides patients at the hospital with free gifts, along with wrapping and mailing privileges, which are also provided without charge.

Volunteer workers will assemble at the hospital today to complete work on the shop. The gift shop chairwomen are Mrs. Peggy Parr, VAVS representative, and her deputy, Mrs. Vera Leigh.

A tradition at the hospital for 23 years, the store's supply of gifts has grown each year since it started with a modest inventory of $1,000.

Among dignitaries due here for the ribbon-cutting ritual are Mrs. Henry (Mary) Wheeler, Plainview, state vice-president of the organization; Mrs. Mack (Wanda) Potter, Fort Worth, past state president of the auxiliary; Martha Douglas, Denison, state chairman of Veteran Affairs and Rehabilitation; Mrs. C. G. (Katherine) McKinzie, Lubbock, state chairman for legislation; Mrs. Don (Beatrice) McCray, Big Spring, 19th District vice-president; Mrs. Lee (Nan) Jolly, Lubbock, State Community Service Committeewoman from District IV; and Mrs. Virgil (Myrtle) Cooper, Midland, State Community Service Committeewoman, all officers of the American Legion Auxiliary.

American Legion Auxiliary unit presidents due to attend are Leta Hutson, Crane; Mrs. R. N. Lowe, Brownfield; Mrs. Ernest Grubbaugh, Big Spring; Talula Lightfoot, Roscoe; Mable Ibel, Slatin; Mrs. Marvin Henry, Seminole; and Jean McCormack, Snyder.

Items Missing From Property

Mrs. El Sandell reported a renter left her rent house at 3305 Maple and took a number of items with him.

Missing was a vacuum cleaner, a foam rubber mattress, curtains, bedspread and an artificial arrangement of roses.

Bicentennial Town Crier

Dynamite really does come in small packages! Witness our own "Tiny Miss Big Spring", Ginger Brooks. Ginger has been spreading the bicentennial fame of Big Spring far and near with her rendition of "America's Birthday Party". Already she has performed the song (written by her mother, Theda Brooks) in Lubbock, Midland and for the Snyder TSTA. Ginger is booked to appear on the KOSA-TV Hi-noon show on Dec. 10th and for the Webb Childrens Christmas party Dec. 13th. Proud papa, Bill Brooks, is a very active member of the Bicentennial Horizon Committee.

Possibilities loom large that Big Spring has been selected as one of 53 bicentennial cities to host a multi-media presentation titled "Dawn of Freedom". The show uses a 3-screen, 6-projector set-up and depicts events that led up to the Declaration of Independence. The film is the brainchild of two young people in their 20's — Vicky Jones and Leroy Foster. Watch for dates after Jan. 1st.

Tid-bits: Mary Raines caught us just in time to find where to send the 1970 Hyperion check to help support "Paul Revere". We referred her to the efficient Dorothy Dunnam, the girl-in-the-know at Dr. Emmett McKenzie's office. Another "thank you" to all the civic clubs that helped.....Stop by the school administration offices if you'd like to see a novel thank you note. It was sent by the College Heights class of Mrs. S. A. Walker in appreciation for the recent play, and features a sketch of Paul Revere in the background. Veddly Clever!.....The comprehensive history of Boy Scout Troop No. 1, compiled by Nila Allen, will be housed at Heritage Museum. Drop by and live a little bit of local history as you read. Thanks to the family of Mrs. B. Reagan for their help!

The good news is — the students of Mrs. Mary Montgomery read Towne Crier! The bad news is that in the story about their play, "A Needle Fights for Freedom," one teeny mistake was evident. Their School is Bauer, not Lakeview as reported. Sorry about that, kids, and keep those calls and letter coming in.

The Charles Cain family should inspire us all to be copy-cats. The recent Herald picture of Tim Cain with the family trash containers decorated in patriotic motif really caught our eye. Worth a trip to Lorilla street for a closer look!

THE WEEK

The Blood Bank project, after a good start, has sagged a bit and it needs help. You are the only one who can give it. Last week there were only eight donors, and there needs to be at least two and a half times that many weekly. Call the center at Malone-Hogan Hospital for a Wednesday appointment. Your gift might come back when you most need it.

Nila Allen, has completed the initial stage of a monumental project. She compiled an early history of Boy Scout Troop No. 1. It is, in case you don't know, the oldest continuously registered troop west of the Mississippi. The book, replete with pictures, has been given to the Heritage Museum, and as time goes on its contents will be expanded.

Police made a great catch during the week, nailing a burglary suspect inside a hardware store. Recovered, before it was really lost, was some $5,000 in merchandise. That's a pretty good day's work.

After vanquishing the undefeated New Mexico Institute basketball team early in the week, the Howard College Hawks got sand-bagged by the Midland College team here Thursday, 112-109. The tilt produced fireworks and threatened to break into a mini-riot, and there's no sense in that.

Charley Johnson, who has bathed himself in glory as a NFL all-pro quarterback and has reflected great credit upon his town, will be speaker for the Quarterback Club's Autumn banquet. Charley not only is a great competitor, but a great gentleman as well.

In the Spring of 1934, two years after I began my continuous service with the Herald, times were so hard for the paper we could not afford space for an editorial page. So in March 1934 I started a column reviewing the Big Spring week. I supposed it would be replaced when our new editor came in 1935, but Robert W. Wipkey graciously moved it to the front page. It has so appeared every week since (with one exception when desk men, so absorbed with our new AP picture machine, forgot to lay it out).

And now, some 2,000 or more columns later, it comes to an end. Always written in the third person until these lines, the style remained essentially the same — short paragraphs, moving rapidly from one subject to another. Comment came as a by-product but was secondary and purposefully never spiteful, personal or belittling.

On the occasions I was out of town on vacation, Bob Whipkey filled in for me; more recently, Tommy Hart handled the chore. I am indebted to both of them for this and many, many other things.

If anything profound came from these efforts, it must have been by accident. But the weekly exercise did give me a chance to produce a constant chronicle of our good news, our disappointments, the nice things that happened to our people, the tragedies that shattered, the joys we shared. In all this I hope it has mirrored the significant event of our times in our town, and that served some entertaining and useful purpose.

My satisfying tenure with the Herald now is officially ended, and it is time to lay this column to rest. I shall miss writing it, and the weekly visits with you. I shall forever remember both fondly.

Billings Sentenced

Jimmie Ford Billings of Lovington, N.M., pled guilty in District Court Friday afternoon to a burglary charge.

Billings, assistant manager of a department store in Lovington, N.M., was charged in connection with the early-morning burglary of Big Spring Hardware where he was caught at the scene by Patrolman John Burson.

Billings was handed a ten-year probation sentence and released.

Other guilty pleas in court Friday afternoon before Judge Ralph Caton included Ray Stewart Marion, charged with auto theft. He also was given a ten-year probation sentence.

Kenneth Shauer pled guilty to felony Driving While Intoxicated and was sentenced to five years probation on felony DWI after pleading guilty.

Poster Contest Is Under Way

The Big Spring Association is sponsoring a Bicentennial poster contest for junior high school students.

The posters must represent the work of the student but can be any size and in any medium.

The students should bring their posters to Room 111 at Runnels Junior High no later than Monday, Dec. 15.

Members of the Art Association will judge the posters in their regular meeting Dec. 16. First, second and third place winners will share in the awards, earning $10, $5 and $2.50, respectively.

HOUSTON (AP) — Robert E. Henley, 16, of Mt. Pleasant, Tex., was killed late Friday when the motorcycle he was riding and a car collided police said.

PAUSE THAT REFRESHES — Sophia Dean was downtown Friday afternoon Christmas shopping when she had to wait for a friend who found a new use for the downtown planter boxes. The newly painted red, white and blue planters are pretty, but Miss Dean did not detract from the scenery either.

Weather Modification Dead After Permit Gets Approval

Two weather modification permits, including one for the Colorado River Municipal Water District, were approved by the Water Development Board in Austin Friday.

The permits for both the CRMWD and the Plains Weather Improvement Association Inc., which operates to the north of Howard County, were for four years. No one appeared against the applications.

Plains Weather Improvement Assn. applied for operations in or over Hale, Lamb, Castro, Swisher, Briscoe, Floyd, Crosby, Lubbock, Hockley, Randall, Deaf Smith and Parmer counties.

Colorado River MWD's application was for operations in Lynn, Garza, Kent, Dawson, Borden, Scurry, Fisher, Martin, Howard, Mitchell, Nolan, Glasscock, Sterling and Coke counties.

Both involve serial application of silver iodide to increase rainfall in their target areas and are ongoing programs. The permits are safe for the 1976-79 period.

The board approved the permits without discussion after the staff reported no protests had been received.

Demos Fail To Support Candidate

NEW YORK (AP) — New York's New Democratic Coalition failed Saturday to endorse a presidential candidate in the state's first major test for liberal Democrats.

Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana came within a fraction of getting the NDCS' nod.

Supporters of former Sen. Fred Harris and other presidential hopefuls successfully blocked Bayh's bid to permit more than six ballots in the senator's hope of increasing his 59.97 per cent vote beyond the 60 per cent necessary for endorsement.

"We're not going to win this contest in one convention or one confrontation," Bayh told reporters later.

Harris said he was "awfully pleased" with the outcome, adding: "We came out among the top two. I think we did well."

On the first ballot, Bayh drew 39.9 per cent and Harris, 27.5. As other candidates dropped out on successive ballots, Bayh gained strength.

Three Hurt In Mishap

Three persons were injured in a two-vehicle collision at the intersection of Sixth and Lancaster streets around 7 p.m. Saturday.

Morris Broadbuss, 162-A Fairchild, driver of a vehicle traveling west on 6th, suffered a dislocated knee and was treated and released at Malone and Hogan Hospital. A passenger in his car, Ricky Arguello, 611 S. Bell, was treated for a possible broken arm.

Driver of a vehicle headed north on Lancaster was George Raymond Cole, 1104 Benton. Cole was not injured, but a passenger in his car, Mrs. Vivian Cole suffered a dislocated shoulder.

City patrolman James Nettles investigated the accident and issued a citation to Broadbuss for failure to yield right-of-way.

But Bean says a barge and sea-going tug wouldn't be available until next week because the tug was laid up for repairs in Canada.

The plans and delays for moving his six-room frame house came when Bean's view of the harbor was blocked by a building constructed between his house and the sea.

He decided to lift the house from its foundation, place it on a barge and tow it to Yarmouth, N.S., where he could get a better view.

People In The News

BARBARA TAYLOR... first woman Playboy Club manager

DENVER (AP) — "I'm really a prudish girl in a lot of ways," says Barbara Taylor. "I've never been to an X-rated movie and I don't smoke or drink."

Strange words coming from the first woman named to manage a Playboy club.

"Playboy was aware that it would be a big step for them," Miss Taylor said, "but not just a big step but the first step in putting more women in management areas. I really firmly believe that Playboy hired me, first and most importantly, because of my qualifications. I've had to work a lot longer and harder than a man might have to gain the same position."

Miss Taylor was promoted to head the Denver club in August after serving as director of public relations and assistant manager.

ROME (AP) — The wife of Soviet physicist and Nobel Peace Prize winner Andrei Sakharov paid a courtesy visit to Rome's city hall Saturday and received a commemorative medal from Mayor Clelio Darida.

Yelena Sakharov, who came to Italy in August for eye surgery, leaves Tuesday for Oslo to accept the 1975 Nobel Peace Prize on her husband's behalf. Soviet authorities have barred him from leaving the country to accept the award.

Mrs. Sakharov also met with Angelo Bernasola, assistant secretary of the World Union of Christian Democrats, thanking him for the support shown by Western Europeans in her husband's behalf.

CUNDY'S HARBOR, Maine (AP) — Merit W. Bean was going to move his house nearly 300 miles along the Maine coast to Nova Scotia on Saturday but is having a delay in plans.

Bean originally planned to move his home a week ago, and then delayed it until Saturday because of difficulty obtaining a barge.

But Bean says a barge and sea-going tug wouldn't be available until next week because the tug was laid up for repairs in Canada.

The plans and delays for moving his six-room frame house came when Bean's view of the harbor was blocked by a building constructed between his house and the sea.

He decided to lift the house from its foundation, place it on a barge and tow it to Yarmouth, N.S., where he could get a better view.

Rehab Center To Conduct Orthopedic Clinic Dec. 13

The Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center in cooperation with the Howard County Easter Seal Society will conduct its next orthopedic clinic Saturday, between 9:00 a.m. and 12 noon. All patients must be registered by 11:00 a.m. Parents of children may pre-register by calling the center, 267-6587.

The clinic will be under the supervision of the Center's medical advisory committee. The medical director of the clinic will be Dr. Bill Alexander, orthopedic surgeon from Midland. Dr. M. C. Nardone will be the clinic's pediatrician. All new patients to the clinic must be seen between 9:00 and 10:00 a.m., otherwise the pediatrician will not be able to see them. This clinic is for orthopedic or neurological disorders. Children with foot problems will be seen at another clinic.

All children up to 21 years of age are eligible to attend. This will include children from the surrounding area as well as from Big Spring and Howard County. Children from Lamesa, Colorado City, Snyder, Loraine, Stanton, Sterling City, Garden City and other cities are welcome. No charge will be made for services.

Parents of children who wish to have their children seen in this clinic should contact family physicians in order to have them referred. Those who do not have a physician should contact the Center for an appointment.

Purpose of the clinic is to offer a diagnostic and evaluation service to crippled children through the team approach. The team will consist of an orthopedic surgeon, pediatrician, physical therapist, occupational therapist, speech therapist, public health nurse, and brace man. The clinic will help to determine what kind of treatment is best for the child. The child might need one or a combination of the following types of treatment: physical therapy, surgery, braces, corrective shoes, drugs, or a home exercise program.

The center hopes that through this clinic children who have so far not been treated might be located and treatment begun.

Santa And Candy Lure Small Fry Downtown

Wide-eyed and wondering, two little girls waited in line halfway down the courthouse steps to see Santa Claus here Friday afternoon.

They left their mother's side long enough to walk up a little closer to Santa's throne. "I'll talk to him if you will," one little girl said to her friend. "O.K. He has candy," the friend answered.

The annual visit of Old Sant Nick to Big Spring children again turned out to be a success here Friday afternoon as the Chamber of Commerce Ambassadors group helped with the lineup of children and their parents and grandparents.

"Let me move up there with, Dee Dee," one little girl cried. "She's up near the front." But the line was moving along, so Mother tried to teach the impatient Santa-seeker that "Santa Claus likes girls and boys that wait their turn."

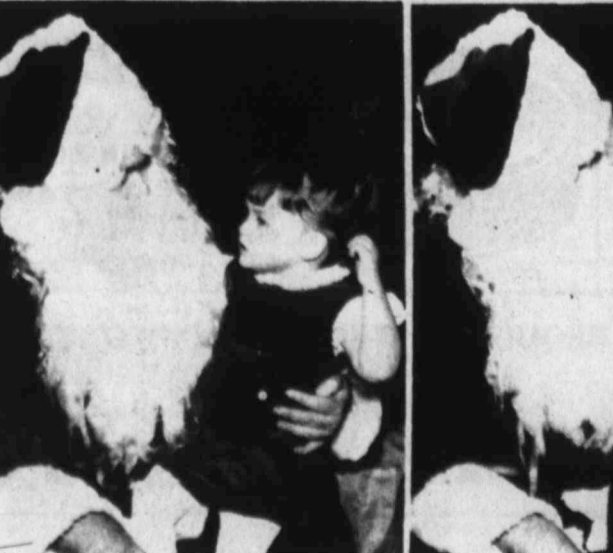

A littled crippled boy asked for one lone item. A youth with a brand new coat asked for 10.

Several children who felt brave about hugging and kissing Santa when they left the house dissolved into tears.

Others ran up and jumped right into Santa's lap. Mothers and grandmothers beamed as their small fry made requests. Some mothers, looked skyward in horror when the child would burst fourth with an unexpected large item or a lengthy list.

But Santa Claus knows who is good and who is bad. He promises to do the very best he can — even during an inflation period.

'Right To Die' Movements Spring Up In Europe, Stirred By Quinlan Case

LONDON (AP) — Right-to-die movements are springing up in some areas of Western Europe, stirred in part by the controversial Karen Quinlan case in the United States.

In Italy and France, however, the Quinlan case has strengthened groups fighting for an ailing person's right to live.

In West Germany the entire subject is taboo because it evokes memories of Adolf Hitler's decision 35 years ago to end 70,000 "worthless lives" — mostly crippled or mentally defected persons.

In several other West European countries — among them Britain, Sweden, Switzerland and Denmark — there are budding "right-to-die" movements wrestling with moral, legal and social issues similar to those raised in the United States by the Quinlan case.

Miss Quinlan, 21, has been lying comatose since April in a Morristown, N.J., hospital, kept alive by a respirator, although medical opinion is that she has no chance of recovery.

But a state court ruled

Nov. 10 that doctors cannot turn off the machine and let Miss Quinlan, as her Roman Catholic parents put it, "return to the gentle hands of the Lord."

In Denmark, the case prompted former journalist Christian Soendergaard to distribute in a few weeks more than 1,000 "life testaments" to Danes wanting to escape a fate similar to Miss Quinlan's.

The testaments, called "living wills" in the United States, ask doctors not to prolong needlessly the bearer's life in case of mortal illness or accident. The wills have no legal validity, but leading Danish physicians and psychiatrists back the idea and are helping set up a national organization to promote it.

"If we don't take the decision into our own hands, the technology will decide for us," commented Mogen Jacobsen, chief psychiatrist at a state mental hospital and a member of the organizing committee.

A week after the 72-year-old Soendergaard outlined his idea in the interview, he suffered a heart attack at a railway station. His testament was in his wallet, but there was no need for it. He was dead on arrival at a hospital.

Doctors might be inclined, Soendergaard had said, to "give the patient the benefit of the doubt" if he has expressed in writing his desire "to die with dignity."

A similar campaign was launched in Britain last month with the help of journalist and television personality Malcolm Muggeridge.

Muggeridge, 72, told a news conference he had signed a document that declared he would want "to be allowed to die in peace."

The document, addressed to "my doctor, family and friends," was prepared and is being distributed by the 500-member Human Rights Society, founded in 1969 to oppose euthanasia, or mercy killing.

It expressly rules out euthanasia. "But when it becomes obvious that I am dying," the document says, "I do not want doctors to strive officiously to keep me alive for extra periods, or to give me painful treatments which cannot succeed... If I have an incurable and fatal illness, I would prefer it to take its natural course and not be artificially prolonged."

There are no "right-to-die" movements in Italy and France, probably because of the strong influence of the Catholic church which teaches that life is sacred and can be given and taken only by God.

But some priests in those countries and in the United States take the view that turning off a respirator that is artificially prolonging life, such as in the Quinlan case, is not killing but simply allowing nature to take its course.

Pope Paul VI has made no pronouncements on the Quinlan case. But Gino Concetti, leading theologian for the Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano, wrote Oct. 22 that there is "no right to die, but only the right to live."

He said Miss Quinlan must be treated with "full dignity" and that the "intrinsic, inviolable and inalienable rights of human beings must be respected, protected and taken care of up to the last limit of life."

Widespread public support for a right-to-die movement in Switzerland became apparent early this year with the widely publicized case of Prof. Urs Peter Haemmerli, chief physician in the medical clinic at Zurich City Hospital.

Haemmerli was suspended from his post after it became known he had allowed terminally ill patients to die.

Police opened a criminal investigation. But amid a wave of demonstrations in his support, Haemmerli was reinstated at his hospital after two months.

No formal charges have been filed.

"It is not the duty of a physician to prolong the agony," Haemmerli said in an interview, but he denied having practiced "active euthanasia."

Last month, the London Daily Telegraph told the story of 26-year-old Steve Talbot. After a motorcycle crash six years ago, doctors said he was nothing more than "a hopeless human vegetable."

"We felt that in all this controversy we should tell the world about our son," Frank and Winifred Talbot told the newspaper. "It is dreadful that any man should have the right to end life... Nobody should be pronounced a hopeless case."

Steve Talbot still needs a wheelchair to get around, but he has a job handling bookings in a hotel. He thanks his parents for their adamant stand that he be kept alive when all hope seemed lost.

"I am very lucky to be alive," he said. "I was almost but not quite dead. My speech is a bit slow, but my brain is as it always was."

SEVEN POSSIBILITIES

UFO's — Fact, Fiction Or Just Imagination?

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a series of three articles about Unidentified Flying Objects. This initial article deals with background and general information. The second concerns some of the more dramatic sightings of UFO's, and the third details experiences of local residents with UFO's.

By STARBUCK WOOLF

Of the millions and millions of planets in our own galaxy, there is a great possibility that at least 3,000,000 of those are earth-type planets. And in all the universe, there are three million, million galaxies. Now get your pocket calculator and multiply those figures by themselves and you will get a good idea of how many planets could have theoretically developed life of some sort.

That figure with the 18 zeros after it does not even include the plethora of planets that could have developed a life that is totally alien to our thinking.

Scientists now agree that the Earth is between four and five billion years old, young at that. And if you compare those 4½ billion years to a calendar year of 365 earth days, the span of time man has been on the Earth is only equal to the last second and a half of the last hour of Dec. 31. Now that is young.

It just seems logical that of all those millions of planets which could be harboring life, some are younger and some are older...in other words, more advanced. Anything is possible when the complexity of the many profundities surrounding any serious thinking about the universe is considered.

Now that you are in the right frame of mind, let us get down to the subject at hand. What are UFO's? To be literally proper, they are simply any flying object that cannot be identified. That sounds easy enough, but what they actually are is very much open for speculation. They could be any number of phenomenon.

I think in a listing of seven categories I can cover every possibility as to what any UFO might actually be:

1) Stars and other natural heavenly phenomenon — Many people mistake the brighter stars and planets for UFO's. On particularly clear, dark and cold nights, Venus can appear to be hovering just a mere hundred feet over your neighbor's house. And the many meteors (falling stars) that enter Earth's atmosphere can sometimes appear dramatically to some people as a UFO.

WEATHER BALLONS?

2) Airplanes, Weather Balloons and Satellites — This category probably accounts for the majority of UFO sightings. Weather balloons can especially appear as eerie and sensational visual enigmas. They can appear suddenly (when they reach an altitude sufficient to reflect the sun's rays) and disappear just as quickly (when they pass beneath the angle of the Earth's shadow from the sun.) Airplanes with unusual lights and man-made satellites, some of which have been orbiting for years, also account for a number of UFO sightings.

3) Secret Weapons — Now we get into the realm of possibilities that many people feel are less plausible, or fail to consider at all. Military and civilians alike often offer the solution that UFO's are secret flying machines, secret weapons, either of the Soviet Union, some other power or the United States itself. With all the secrecy and falsehoods that have been raising their infected heads in government over the past few years, this theory doesn't seem quite that unbelievable at all.

4) Flying ships from an alien world — flying saucers, little green men...the most common speculation of what UFO's are. Hundreds of sightings of strange creatures emerging from these craft give this category its place on the list. And not only that, the theory is the most appealing to a public whose imagination has been stimulated by talk of flying saucers for years.

5) Craft from Earth's Own Future — To the scientists and people who consider time-travel feasible, this notion is the most logical, as they feel the distance too great for any alien ship to travel the Earth.

6) Craft from another dimension — countless earths, countless me's, countless you's all occupying the same space but at milliseconds apart from one another — and one of them advanced enough to solve the problem of interdimensional travel. (This is also one of the most popular theories for the solving of the Bermuda Triangle.)

7) Something no one has thought of yet — this isn't a cop-out to make my list complete and valid, but UFO's could be a phenomenon so alien to our experience that we just haven't thought of it yet.

SINCE RECORDED HISTORY

Depending on whose book you read, or whose lecture you attend, UFO's have been around for as long as recorded history, or just as recently as after WW II. Eric Von Daniken's best-seller, "Chariots of the Gods," proposes that aliens visited Earth in ancient times and possibly aided in the civilization of early man. Certain Bible scholars even point to passages in the Bible that refer to UFO's (although many people interpret those passages differently).

But one thing can be for UNIDENTIFIED FLYING OBJECTS — The lights that appear in the heavens at night are stars, planets, galaxies, gaseous nebulae, quasars, various man-made craft, and a species of unknown breed characterized best as the UFO...just one of the many mysteries of the Universe.

certain, the number of sightings of UFO's has increased dramatically since WW II, or at least that is when they began getting world-wide attention. And this is where the controversy begins.

Scientists and laymen alike accuse the military, especially the Air Force of covering-up vital information concerning UFO's, and blatantly lying about other matters surrounding the UFO mystery. Depending on which side you believe, UFO's are either swamp gas or flying saucers. (Air Force directives concerning UFO's and statements from the director of NICAP — The National Investigations Committee on Aerial Phenomena, Major Donald E. Keyhee, will be offered in the second article in this series.)

Let us for the moment assume that at least some of the UFO's are manned by alien creatures from another world. First we need to look at that possibility from the objective scientific standpoint.

Obviously none of the planets in our own solar system are capable of sustaining intelligent life. We may be lucky enough to find a few spores or bits of algae on Mars, but that will be about the size of it. However, some people offer the theory that the backside of the moon or Mars is used as a way station for the aliens from another system. That seems logical enough if you buy the theory of extraterrestrial visitors in the first place.

Okay, assuming that aliens traveled here from the stars, just what kind of trip would that be? The nearest star to the Earth is Alpha Centauri. It might have planets around it that could sustain life, and it might not. Assuming it did, and the aliens were developed sufficiently to travel to Earth, it would take them 3,000 years to get here traveling at the speed of light, 186,000 feet per second, or about 126,800 miles per hour.

Now most people, including the majority of scientists say that attaining the speed of light is impossible, for a number of reasons. Many weird things are supposed to happen when you approach the speed of light, and I'd rather not get into any of them right now.

So let us assume that the aliens traveled here at less than the speed of light, and that somehow, either through an enormously long life span, suspended animation, multi-generation crews or whatever, they arrived at Terra Firma. Why?

WHY NOT? We begin to become illogical when we relate our sense experience to any supposed alien intelligence.

Gen. John Flynn Will Be Ceremony Speaker

Webb AFB Undergraduate Pilot Training Class 76-05 adds a new dimension to its graduation ceremony Monday with "live" music by a contingent of the Air Force Band of the West from Lackland AFB, Tex. The program begins at 6:30 p.m. in the Webb AFB Chapel.

But star billing goes to the guest speaker, Major General John P. Flynn, commander of Air Training Command's Air Force Military Training Center at Lackland.

General Flynn was the senior officer among prisoners of war at Hanoi, North Vietnam, from October 1967 until his release in March 1973. Although he was kept isolated and in solitary most of the time, he was able to keep in touch with other prisoners and was the commander of the 4th Allied Wing, made up of all prisoners.

Prisoners communicated with each other through a "confidential" communication system," according to Lt. Col. Arthur W. Burer of the 83rd Flying Training Squadron who was a prisoner at the same time. Flynn received his promotion to brigadier general while a prisoner. Then about a year after his release he was promoted to his present grade.

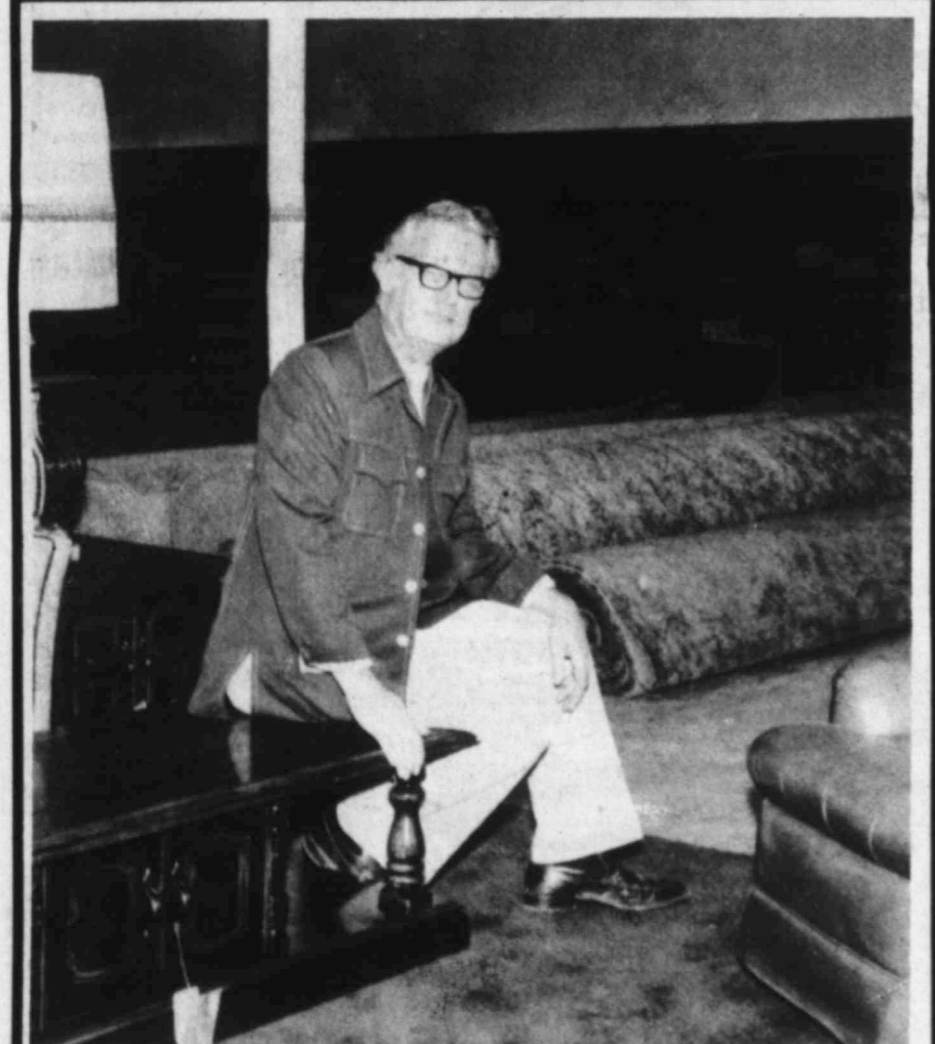

A veteran of World War II, he flew P-51's in Europe, escorting bombers over Germany until the end of the war. He also served at the outbreak of the Korean War, flying P-80 fighter bombers.

Gen. Flynn was a part of the first atomic strike force for the Supreme Allied Commander Europe. In England at that time, he later served with the 49th Air Division at Sculthorpe. The general has served as commandant of the Air Command and Staff College at Maxwell AFB, Ala., as well as vice commandant. He was vice commander of the 388th Tactical Fighter Wing, based at Korat, Thailand, when he was shot down by a SAM missile over Hanoi while flying an F-105 Thunderchief.

His other assignments included: deputy commander for Operations with the 49th Tactical Fighter Wing in Germany, action officer in the Strategic Weapons Plans Division of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, chief of plans for the Headquarters 19th Air Force and operations officer when it deployed to Adana, Turkey; and plans officer and operations and training officer in the 49th Air Division in England.

Following graduation a reception is scheduled in the Officers' Open Mess and a dinner dance takes place beginning at 8 p.m. A dance combo of the Band of the West will play.

How to select the right nursing home.

We Americans are not just living longer, we're living more useful, productive lives. But an increasing number of the chronically ill, the old, the convalescent, need some place other than the hospital and their home where they can receive personal health care, round-the-clock attention and the opportunity to continue to live their lives with meaning.

As your community extended health care facility we want to help you make the right decision. Here are some guidelines: see your family physician to determine the kind of care needed; feel free to visit our facility; ask us for our costs in writing and financial advice about Medicaid; examine all of our facilities; check our food quality; verify our safety features; and finally, observe how our residents spend their time.

There's a lot more to selecting the right nursing home. We want to help. If you have any questions, please call or visit us.

Big Spring Nursing Inns, Inc.
901 Gollad Harold Edwards, Adm.

How are we to know the unknown? But natural curiosity would seem the most likely reason for our visitor's presence. Most people think that all the UFO's want of Earth is an innocuous surveillance for whatever purpose they see fit.

But all of that assumes placing semi-Earth-type limitations to the whole matter of UFO's. Suppose the speed of light can be attained and exceeded. Suppose an advanced alien civilization has obtained the secret of popping into another part of the Universe millions of light years away in just a split-second. Suppose our universe is just some sort of celestial aquarium for some average family in another Universe. You could suppose anything when you begin thinking of the questions of the Universe.

Invent your own questions and solve your own riddles, but in the next article in this series, I will detail some of the sightings of UFO's, (the total number of which is amazing) that cannot be ignored or simply explained as balloons or swamp gas, because too many of them have been seen by too many qualified, sane and normal people to merely place the story in file number 13.

People from another world may be visiting our Earth...

IN TEXAS VS LEE HARVEY OSWALD

Wade Might Have Been America's Great Lawyer

DALLAS (AP) — The playbill might have read "The State of Texas vs. Lee Harvey Oswald, starring Henry Wade as the prosecutor."

It might have been one of the greatest courtroom dramas in American history. Wade's descendants might have found his name written alongside that of Clarence Darrow and William Jennings Bryan.

Schools would have been named for him. Future law students would have studied him. His name might have become synonymous with oratory and courtroom technique, what doctors call their bedside manner.

All of it might have been had Jack Ruby not stepped in and assassinated Oswald before a national television audience.

"Aw, hell," says Wade, biting off a chunk of cigar, "we'd have convicted him anyway."

Henry Menasco Wade, 61, wasn't bragging. The chances are very good Oswald would have been convicted if for no other reason than because of Wade's record as district attorney for Dallas County.

He has sought the death penalty 24 times and obtained it 23 times, a point he says he doesn't like to "play up." But the only reason he lost that one time is because it was an armed robbery deal-no killing involved. And then the jury was deadlocked 10-2 for two days before they all voted against the electric chair.

Wade is one of 11 children of a country judge who farmed and exercised stern control over his siblings. Rural life with a hard father imbued Wade with a tough attitude toward lawbreakers. He has spent the bulk of his professional life prosecuting big city crooks in the biggest metropolitan area of Texas. He is regarded by some as a hunk of grinning granite who applies his country upbringing to whaling the tar out of criminals in the courtroom, an assessment Wade doesn't wholly deny.

The silver-thatched prosecutor bit off the south third of a cigar and began chewing as he settled back in his swivel chair.

"Yes," he drawled, "I guess generally speaking that's true. But it depends on whether it's a first offense, and their age." Wade went on to recount examples of his benevolence to take the edge off an image as an eye-for-an-eye prosecutor. Wade is 61 years old and he said, "Maybe I'm gettin' old. But we've learned that police out chasing people, arresting them, prosecuting them, throwing them in prison wasn't cutting the crime rate. We've got to have some innovative approaches."

For that reason, his staff of 80 assistant prosecutors has come up with a specialized crime unit to handle complex white collar crimes; a career offender section; a prosecutor's school, a "diversion" program to find alternatives to jailing young, first offenders; and other measures considered as modern as can be found.

Although he doesn't favor gun controls, and "all that bleeding heart stuff," Wade advocates mandatory one-year prison terms for all offenders who use guns in commission of an offense.

Had Wade prosecuted Oswald for the shooting death of President John F. Kennedy, he would have later prosecuted Oswald for wounding former Texas Gov. John Connally. Connally and Wade roomed together in college 40 years ago.

There is a growing renewal of interest in reopening the Kennedy assassination probe to answer questions critics say the Warren Commission never answered. But Wade is unmoved by the clamor. "I don't care if they reopen it or not. But they're wasting the taxpayers' money. There is no doubt in my mind that Oswald did all of the shooting. But I've always had a gut feeling that there was somebody else behind the scene. Somebody encouraging him. If there was, I believe it would have been a pro-Castro group. It's just hard to believe a man got up one morning and decided to kill the president," Wade said. "It would tickle me to death if they did find somebody else, though. I'd get to try him."

Henry Wade runs what is considered to be one of the best prosecutor's offices in the nation. "Only eight percent of our felony cases are found not guilty," he said. "In New York City they think they're doing something if they can get 30 percent convicted. Hell, we average 92 percent. Look at Philadelphia. They're not much bigger than we are. Philadelphia has 54 courts. We've got nine. In 1973 they handled 13,000 cases. We cleared 12,500."

"Of course," said Wade, "the jury is the thing. We've got real good juries down here. But the biggest thing wrong with the criminal justice system is the lack of confidence in it. Most Part One (felony) crimes are not reported because people don't think the system will do anything about it. Then there is apathy, people don't want to take off from work to testify. Then there is fear. People are afraid to testify."

Of Wade's seven brothers, five of them are Texas lawyers or judges, products of a tough father during hard times. "My daddy was a pretty strict disciplinarian. We couldn't go out for any reason after dark. Later on, he'd let me go to a pep rally because I was on the football team. But I had to be in by 7:30 or so."

Wade's father was a farmer-lawyer in Rockwall County. "I worked eight hours a day putting myself through the University of Texas. When I got out I had $700 in the bank."

Wade worked with the FBI for four years in New York and in South American then saw naval combat service in the Pacific during World War II.

Ford Will Name Texan To Commerce Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford will nominate Texas native Betty Jo Christian of Washington as a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the White House said Friday.

Mrs. Christian, 39, was born in Smithville, Tex., near Austin. She attended the University of Texas, receiving a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1957 and a law degree in 1960. After admission to the Texas Bar, she served as a law clerk for the chief justice of the Texas Supreme Court.

If confirmed by the Senate, she will succeed Commissioner Willard Deason, who resigned last summer.

El Paso Discrimination Suit Goes To Court

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Nearly five years after it was filed, a suit calling for an end to alleged discrimination against Mexican-Americans in El Paso schools goes to court Monday.

Although the suit asks U.S. District Court Judge William Sessions to devise a plan to remedy what it contends is a dual school system segregating Anglos and Mexican-Americans, plaintiffs' attorneys are not expected to advocate the use of busing.

They maintain busing is already being used to further segregation.

The action was filed Dec. 10, 1970 on behalf of Mr. and Mrs. David Alvaredo and 13 other parents of El Paso school children. It was dismissed in March 1971 by the late U.S. District Court Judge Ernest Guinn. He said that "A chaotic condition would exist in the school system if a U.S. district court permitted any and all groups of private individuals to institute suits to revamp and revise an entire school system."

A federal appeals court overturned Guinn's ruling. The plaintiffs allege:

— that the school district has discriminated against Mexican-American teachers in hiring, promotions and transfers;

— that it has selected school sites to maximize existing patterns of neighborhood segregation;

— and that predominantly Mexican-American schools have inferior course offerings and equipment.

The plaintiffs also allege that the discrimination extends even to athletics, that high school athletic districts are set up to segregate predominantly Mexican-American high schools from playing predominantly Anglo teams.

The plaintiffs also say the discrimination they allege is responsible for higher dropout rates among Mexican-American pupils, more suspensions and expulsions and lower scores on achievement tests.

TERENCE O'ROURKE

O'Rourke In Visit

Texas Railroad Commission candidate Terence L. O'Rourke brought his campaign here Friday.

"The Federal Power Commission and the Federal Energy Administration are trying to control the energy resources in this state," O'Rourke said.

"The Texas Railroad Commission must revitalize its efforts against this creeping bureaucracy and protect the oil and gas which Texas produces," O'Rourke added.

O'Rourke, a Houston attorney and former Texas assistant attorney general, is seeking the Democratic nomination for the Railroad Commission seat being vacated by commission chairman Ben Ramsey.

"It is nothing less than irrational for people on the East Coast to pay less than Texas citizens for oil and gas produced in this state," O'Rourke noted.

"Oil and gas prices must be determined by the free market and not by Washington, D.C.; the bickering politicians on the other side of the Potomac must put their trust in the free market instead of the mindless bureaucrats in the Federal Power Commission," O'Rourke added.

Since his announcement to run in August, O'Rourke has campaigned in San Antonio, Dallas, Fort Worth, Austin, Amarillo, the northern Panhandle, Wichita Falls and North Texas, as well as continuing his efforts in his home base of Houston-Galveston.

Ordinances concerning traffic on FM 700 scavaging at the landfill and other matters will be considered by city council members at their meeting to be held here Tuesday morning.

An ordinance will have its first reading to reduce the speed limit around the curve on FM 700 near the intersection of Wasson Road and Westover. Another ordinance will halt the practice of scavaging at the landfill.

The Big Spring school board will hear a report on a recent in-service day, consider budget amendments and appoint the local textbook committee when it meets Monday at 5:15 p.m. in the board meeting room for a regular session.

The two contemplated budget amendments are in connection with student fee revenue and hail insurance. Don Crockett will present items of information to the board and the board will also discuss factors concerning the school trustee election in the spring.

COLLECTS CONVERTIBLE AUTOS — Landscaper Floyd Moore stands among some of the 30 convertible autos which he has collected in his special showroom at Glenview, Ill. All are in tip-top running condition.

Won't Be Caught Short Of Ragtops

GLENVIEW, Ill. (AP) — Floyd Moore won't be caught with his top down when the domestic auto industry ends a wind-blown era by turning out its last convertible next year. He has collected 30 of them.

"I hate to see the end of the ragtops," says Moore, a 46-year-old commercial landscape contractor who keeps his cars in a company warehouse and displays favorites in a showroom. "Future generations will never know the pleasure of running around with the top down. It's like being in the open cockpit of a plane."

His stable of ragtops — as the special breed of convertible lovers call them — is composed largely of Ford Motor Co. products ranging from a 1973 Cougar, the last soft top made by Ford, to a 1931 Model A Ford.

Moore has 22 open air T-Birds of the 1955-1966 vintage in mint condition and constantly is searching for more of the two-seaters.

"An 82-year-old woman has one in Los Angeles — a 1956 model with only 69,000 miles on it," he says. "I've offered to buy her a new Mercury Monarch in exchange, but she is more stubborn than my father, whose 1957 T-Bird I finally got."

Moore thinks the Thunderbird roadster was the most desired car ever produced in the U.S.

The growing popularity of air conditioning, and the appeal of hardtops with a vinyl roof or sun roof helped bring the demise of the convertible, as did their accessibility to thieves and vandals, say industry officials.

All domestic automakers have given up on the ragtop in recent years except General Motors Corp. Its

CHRISTAIN-GARY HOME

Owner Of Vintage House Was Married At 5 A.M.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is thirteenth in a series of early homes in the Big Spring area constructed prior to 1915 and certified by the Horizons Committee of the Bicentennial Commission.

BY MARJ CARPENTER

Today's article features two homes that have no early picture available. The home on Runnels at one time is reported to have had Baroque cherubs in the ceiling, and the house on Gregg once was owned by a couple who held a wedding ceremony at five o'clock in the morning.

The home at 611 Runnels, referred to as the Christain-Gary Home, was built by the Dave Christains around the turn of the century.

It was magnificent a home and must have caused a lot of comment and curiosity. It provoked legend as there are stories handed down of the elegance of the home in that age out here in West Texas.

Some recall the cherubs in the ceiling and others definitely remember lead crystal and silver chandeliers and a staircase fit for royalty.

The staircase acquired royalty as Mr. Christain's daughter married an English nobleman and upon his death, married a second illustrious aristocrat. This was hardly the typical West Texan of the early 1900's.

The home then belonged to the Gary family and their daughter, Mrs. Lillian Gary Burns sold it to still another longtime Big Spring family, the E. H. Boullions. The house during those years served as a funeral home with an apartment upstairs. Anne and E. H. Boullion lived in the apartment as newlyweds in the early 50's.

In the intervening years, the home was an oil company's office and later a headquarters for vacuum cleaner sales, prior to being purchased and renovated by McDonald Realty for its office.

The staircase, beautiful oval bevel glass windows, a fireplace, much of the millwork and an old brick cistern in the basement are definite holdovers from the days in which the home was viewed with awe.

On Gregg, Mrs. Guy Cravens owns the home at 410 and has owned it almost 66 years. Its original owner was a Mr. Poppenbach, who worked for the railroad.

In between the home was briefly owned by Dr. G. T. Hall, but he never did live in the house.

Mrs. Cravens was raised by her grandmother, known to many Big Spring residents as "Mother" Zinn. Her family had come to Big Spring with the building of the railroad around 1881, and were pioneers in both the town and the formation of the First Methodist Church. A few years ago, she died at the age of 101.

Mr. and Mrs. Cravens were married at 5 a.m. in order for the couple to leave on the train for Ft. Worth for their honeymoon.

Guy Cravens also worked for the railroad. The couple did not marry in this home, but in the home of her aunt.

Her aunt was the wife of the sheriff, J. A. Baggett. They lived at 600 Main, in the home which was the fifth in this series.

Outstanding feature of the often noticed house at 410 Gregg is the oval stained glass window, surviving from the original construction.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "All of them were just blown away. They looked like puppets."

Ray Lynch, 20, was describing what happened Friday when a runaway fire truck plunged into a bustling crowd of holiday shoppers at the intersection of Market and Sixth streets.

Three persons were killed, and three were critically injured.

As Lynch spoke, firemen hosed blood from the intersection which was strewn with eyeglasses, shoes, handbags, clothing and a smashed pair of crutches.

The hook-and-ladder truck was en route to a garbage can fire at a florist's shop three blocks away. Suddenly, it lurched out of control, bounced and tore into a group of pedestrians standing on a traffic island where passengers board buses and trolleys.

Authorities identified the dead as William Moore, 65, and Angelina Moreno, 77. Their hometowns were unknown. The third dead person was unidentified.

Injured were Mrty Sanderson, 34, of Oakland, Calif.; Ronald Lambert, 45, of San Francisco; and Jimmy Fitzpatrick, 23, a college student from Union, N.J., the hospital said.

All suffered head and internal injuries, a spokesman said.

Authorities could give no explanation for the accident. "I would say right now that this was not a result of driver error," said Acting Fire Chief John Bardelli.

"There could not have been a mechanical failure because each driver takes his apparatus out each morning and runs it and checks it over for any problems.

"There may have been something wrong with the street — it may have hit a chuckhole."

Bardelli said the truck had just slowed to a pedestrian signal.

"I doubt if they were going 15 to 20 miles per hour if that fast," he said.

But Lynch said the fire engine was "really traveling" down Market Street.

"When I heard the sirens coming down Market, I looked and the engine looked like it started bouncing around as it got close to the island where people were standing," Lynch said.

"As it passed the island, it bounced and knocked at least six people all over the place. It was going 40 or 50 miles per hour at least. One person went flying about 25 feet."

Farmers End Mexico Strike

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Farmers from northwestern Mexico, who lined idle tractors along major highways, have announced they are giving up their strike called to protest expropriation of their land.

Farm leaders announced the strike's end Thursday following a meeting behind closed doors with Mexican President Luis Echeverria. Spokesmen for the National Agricultural Union said in a statement the 20,000 striking farmers were returning to work after the five-day strike to avoid reducing the winter harvest.

They said their decision was "an act of solidarity with the necessities and aspirations of the national community."

Echeverria's office had no comment on his meeting with the farmers Wednesday night.

FIRE DEPARTMENT REFUSED CALL — Gary Wallum stands beside the smoldering ruins of his home destroyed by fire Thursday about 7:45 p.m. Wichita Falls fire units were dispatched to the scene but stopped at the city limits, turned around and came back because the fire was one mile outside the city limits of Wichita Falls in Clay County.

Ft. Hood Major Apparently Wins Battle With Army

WASHINGTON (AP) — An emergency leave by a Ft. Hood, Tex., Army major has kept him from an unwanted discharge and probably will keep him in the service until he qualifies for a retirement pension in two years, the Pentagon says.

It said Friday that Maj. Richard A. Wall, of Paris, Tenn., stayed on leave and out of reach long enough so that he cannot complete the required separation procedure before Monday, when he will have completed 18 years of service.

The Pentagon said he will be allowed to continue in uniform for two more years until he reaches the minimum 20 years of service required for retirement with a full pension.

This is because Army officers who have served at least 18 years on active duty will not be sent into civilian life unless such action is approved by the secretary of the Army. The Pentagon said that "barring unforeseen circumstances," Wall will be permitted to continue serving.

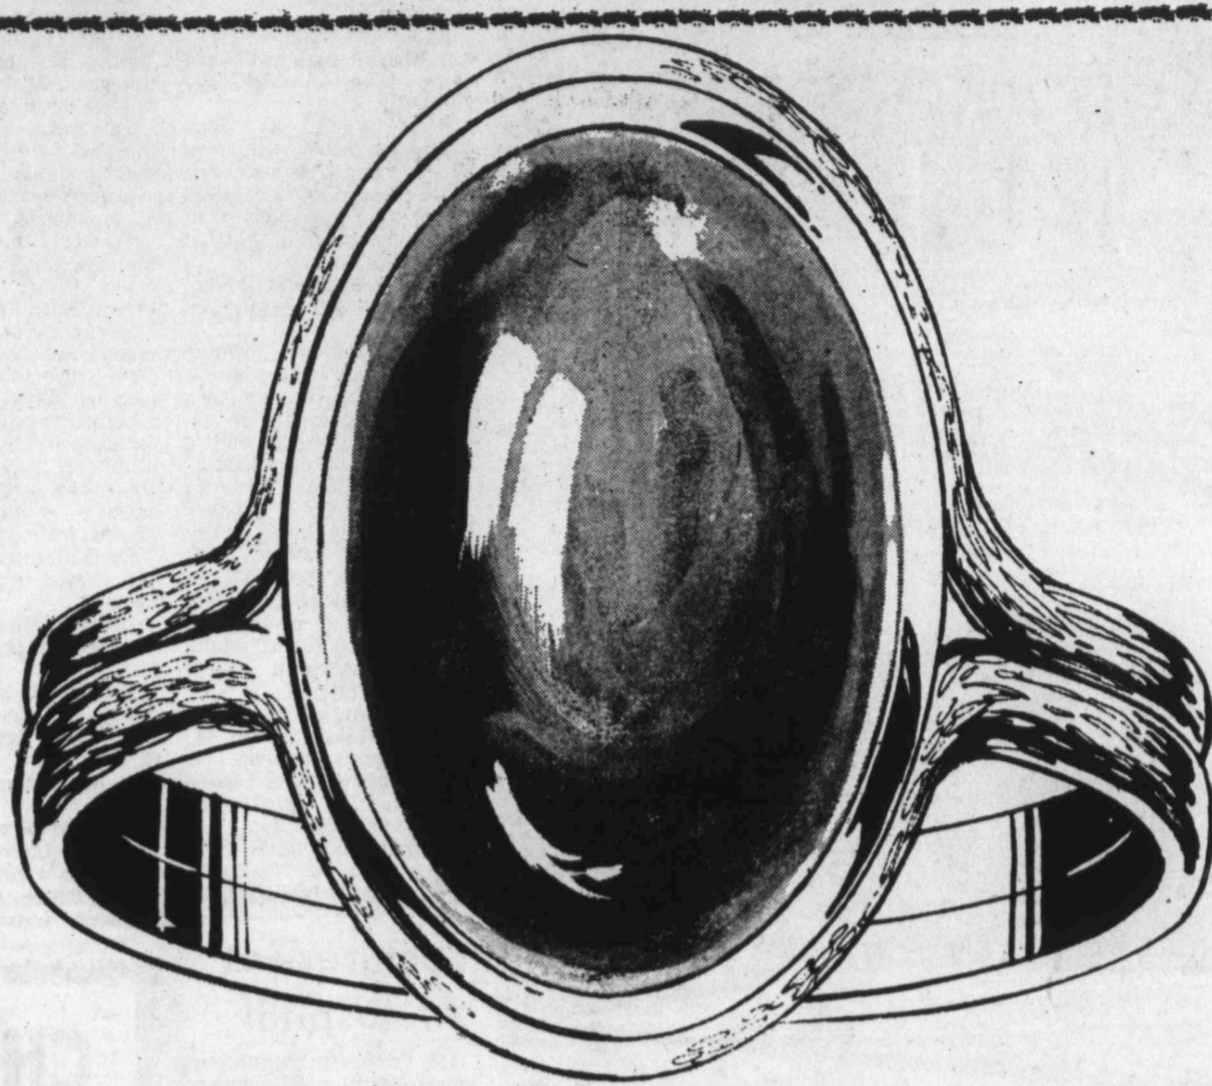

Wall had been ordered to Ft. Hood to continue his processing for release, scheduled for 2:30 p.m. local time, Thursday.

However, the Pentagon said, Wall signed out on seven days emergency leave at 1:30 a.m. Thursday "with the approval of his unit duty officer."

Thus, the Pentagon said, he was unavailable to complete his separation procedure.

The statement said an unsuccessful effort was made to locate Wall after he went on leave to inform him that he would be released Thursday. "Since he was not located," he was not released," the Pentagon said.

Metcalf Is Threat To Pokes

By The Associated Press
Don Coryell sees things in rather simplistic terms. "I think we're desperate," says the coach of the St. Louis Cardinals. "If we're going to have a chance to be in the playoffs we have to win, that's all."
That's not really all—but Sunday's National Football League battle between the Cards and the visiting Dallas Cowboys will give one of the teams first place in the National Conference's East Division and a better shot at those playoffs. Both teams are 8-3 and one game ahead of Washington.

What seems to be up-fermost in Dallas Coach Tom Landry's mind is St. Louis' breakaway runner, Terry Metcalf. The elusive 185-pounder has 11 touchdowns this year and is a primary reason the Cards are considered an explosive team, capable of scoring virtually every time they have the ball.

"He's the one you have to stop to do much good against the Cardinals," Landry says. The Cowboys are coming off a 14-3 victory over the New York Giants last Sunday. St. Louis lost its last outing 32-14 to Buffalo—but that was on Thanksgiving Day, giving the Cards three extra days rest and preparation time.

In Sunday's other games it's Washington at Atlanta, Buffalo at Miami, Baltimore at the New York Giants, Cleveland at Pittsburgh, Cincinnati at Philadelphia, Houston at San Francisco, Green Bay at Minnesota, Los Angeles at New Orleans, San Diego at Kansas City, the New York Jets at New England and Detroit at Chicago. On Monday night it's Denver at Oakland.

The Redskins need a victory to stay in the NFC East and conference wild-card race and they may have to play without quarterback Billy Kilmer, who has a broken bone in his left foot.

Miami likewise has quarterback problems. The Dolphins, hosting well-rested Buffalo, are starting third-stringer Don Strock since Bob Griese and reserve passer Earl Morrall both are out with injuries. Backing up Strock is journeyman Jim Deel Gaizo, an ex-quarterback who was selling insurance until a few days ago.

The Bills, tied with Baltimore for second place in the American Conference East, trail Miami by one game. Pittsburgh has to beat Cleveland to make sure it remains atop the AFC Central Division. The Steelers are heavy favorites to beat the Browns—but so were the Bengals, who were upset two weeks ago and now trail Pittsburgh by a game.

Cincinnati expects to have quarterback Ken Anderson back in action against Philadelphia, but if his chest pains persist, the Eagles may find themselves trying to stop former teammate John Reaves, who tossed two touchdown passes for the Bengals against Houston last week. The Oilers' chances of an AFC wild card are virtually nil. They must win all three remaining games and the Bengals must lose all three for Houston to get it.

Notre Dame Handcuffs Red Raiders, 88-63

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — All-American Adrian Dantley fell a bit short of his offensive average Saturday, but it didn't matter as the rugged Notre Dame defense was the key to an 88-63 Irish victory over Texas Tech.

"We played intense defense," said Notre Dame Coach Digger Phelps, "more so than we've shown before."
Dantley, who had averaged 32 points a game in Notre Dame's first two outings, had 26 against Tech.

But the ninth-ranked Irish, using a full-court press, held the Raiders to just four points in the final seven minutes of the first half and walked to victory.
"I was impressed with Dantley," said Tech's Gerald Myers, "but I was more impressed with their over-all strength. Notre Dame just doesn't have to go with one man."
"They are a big, sound, physical team and they played a very good defense against us," the Tech coach added.

The Irish, alternating between a man-to-man and zone defense, allowed the Raiders just three points in the first five minutes of the game.

Later, leading only 25-24 with about seven minutes remaining in the opening period, the Irish outscored the visitors 17-4 for a 42-28 halftime lead. Notre Dame, now 3-4, blew it open with another 15-4 burst in the closing minutes of the second half.

Dantley, who had nine of Notre Dame's final 15 points, also tied a personal career high with 17 rebounds as the Irish dominated the boards by a whopping 49-28 margin.

Guard Ray Martin hit all five of his field goal attempts and finished with 14 points for the Irish, while 6-foot-11 freshman center Bill Laimbeer chipped in with 12 for his best showing of the season.

Texas Tech, now 2-1, was led by 6-9 center Rick Bullock with 20 points and forward Grady Newton with 14.

Dan Neal Will Start Today

CHICAGO (AP) — Free agent center Dan Neal of the Chicago Bears will make the first start of his three-year National Football League career Sunday against the Detroit Lions.

The 6-foot-4, 240-pounder signed with the Bears last month. He was placed on waivers in September by Baltimore after spending his first two seasons with the Colts. He will replace Dan Peiffer, who will undergo surgery on an injured right knee.

Instant Rivalry Is Born Thursday

By STARBUCK WOOLF
It took decades for the intense rivalry to develop between the Aggies and the Longhorns of Texas. It took years for the same to occur with the Dallas Cowboys and the Washington Redskins. But it took only one scrappy, mill-running, barn-burning Thursday night on the hardwoods of Hawk Gymnasium to unite the Howard County Hawks and the Midland College Chapparals in a bond of puissant confrontation that should last a very long time.

In a game that saw five technical fouls, the Midland coach ejected from the gymnasium, two very official knock-down drag-outs and quite a few unofficial flurries of fisticuffs, three and four basketball players sprawled out on the floor at one time, and language from all the X-rated movies ever made, a tradition emerged, (bleeding, sweaty and with a torn jersey), that will, no doubt, endure.

The over-flowing crowd sensed that a battle supreme was looming before the game, and the officials tried their best to control matters and wear out whistles — a total of 31 fouls were called in the first half alone. But referee Sharshay found himself between Scylla and Charybdis at the beginning of the second half. The rock was Coach Chester Storey of Midland, and the hard place was the basketball court...which it appeared Sharshay might find his face staring up from at any moment.

Y Is Seeking Volunteers

The Big Spring YMCA is looking for volunteers in several program activities.
Gra-Y Basketball Leaders are needed to coach 3rd-6th graders in the playing skills of basketball with emphasis on sportsmanship values. Practices are held two afternoons per week in the YMCA gymnasium with games played on Saturday mornings. Gra-Y season begins Dec. 13 through February.
Volunteer gymnastic instructors with knowledge of free floor exercise and apparatus are needed on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 4:00-5:30. If you would be interested in taking a helping hand in these programs for our youth, contact the physical director at the Big Spring YMCA, at 267-8234.

Men And Women In Same Meet

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Men's and women's competitions will be held together in the AAU's national outdoor track and field championships this year.
Different sexes will continue to compete separately, but officials said it is the first time the meets have been combined since introduction of women's competition in 1923.
The meet, sponsored by the Los Angeles Times, is set for June 10-12 at UCLA.

Monday Date For Signing

The Big Spring YMCA will begin Gra-Y basketball registration Monday. First practice sessions will be Saturday, Dec. 13. All boys and girls in grades 3rd through 6th are invited to register. Third and fourth grade students will comprise one league, with 5th and 6th graders in another.

VAL d'ISERE (AP) — Michel Dujon, 19, one of the young stars of the French alpine skiing team, suffered a severely fractured skull in a fall while testing new skis Thursday at nearby Tignes. He was helicoptered to a hospital at Bourg St. Maurice, where his condition was described as very serious.

Porkers Edge Green Wave

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Darryl Saulsberry scored 19 points and Sidney Moncrief added 13 as Arkansas came from a three-point halftime deficit to defeat Tulane, 67-55, Saturday.
The Razorback defense blitzed Tulane in the second half, forcing seven turnovers in the first five minutes that led to 14 consecutive Arkansas points.
Tulane had led 38-35 at the half.
Tulane jumped to a 13 point lead in the early going on efforts by 6-foot-7 Phil Hicks and 6-foot-11 Jeff Cummings. Hicks had 15 and Cummings 13 in the first half, but both were shut down and limited to two points each in the second half.

Racing Greats To Be Signed

BRUSSELS (AP) — Belgian auto racing sources said Thursday that British Formula One team manager Frank Williams is about to sign Jacky Ickx of Belgium and Renzo Zorzo of Italy for the next Formula One season.
Williams recently bought the two Formula One 308cc cars of British Lord Hesketh. Zorzo is a former Formula Three driver who made his Formula One debut at Monza on a Williams.

5-AAAA Conclave Set Wednesday

Members of the District 5-AAAA executive committee meet in the Big Spring High School Library at 10 a.m., Wednesday to discuss several pertinent matters. Dr. E. H. McKenzie, Big Spring superintendent, serves as chairman of the district, and, as such, will preside.
The tentative agenda includes a discussion of the league's financial statement, the 1976-77 football schedules, the coaches' recommendation concerning carriers of the ten-yard chain and down marker in football games and proposals made by district volleyball coaches.
The request has been made by the Southwest Football Officials Association chapters at Abilene, San Angelo and the Permian Basin that the home team furnish chain gangs made up of adults or officials. This group, the SBOA suggests, should be experienced in the mechanics of officiating and should be available for pre-game conferences with the referee.
The fees used to pay such individuals would be left to the discretion of the home team and would be deducted as a game expense.
The volleyball coaches have recommended that the H. E. Wilson SVS 12 panel be adopted as the official ball ELLENDER OUT — Bennie Ellender, head football coach at Tulane University, was relieved of duty Friday. Ellender had eight years remaining on a 10-year contract but his Green Wave finished with a 4-7 record.

Area Play Held Over

MIDLAND — Midland Community Theatre has added two holdover performances of its current comedy, "6 RMS RIV VU." The new performances will be on Dec. 19 and 20. A matinee is scheduled at 2:30 p.m. today. The show will resume Wednesday night and continue through Saturday. Call the box office, 682-2544 for ticket information. The premise of "6 RMS RIV VU" is a variation on the old question of whom you'd like to have with you if you were stranded on a desert island. The leading characters of this comedy are stranded in a vacant apartment in Manhattan. Gloria Stephenson and Gary Askins Portray the couple whose involuntary togetherness evolves into a reluctant love. "6 RMS RIV VU" is the last play on the 1975 MCT membership. It is also a bonus play for those who buy their 1976 membership now.

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas unemployment remained unchanged during October with an estimated 324,600 persons out of a job, or 6.1 per cent of the state labor force, the Texas Employment Commission said. The rate was the same as September although there were 3,100 fewer job seekers. A year ago the 218,900 idle workers represented 4.2 per cent of the labor force.

Christmas Crafts Outlined In Books

By REBECCA TAYLOR
Of The County Library
Eighteen days until Christmas! It's time for holiday decorating and handmade gift projects. The Howard County Library has both old and new ideas for decorating and gift making. "The Christmas Idea Book" by Dorothy Bidde and Dorothea Blom has decorating ideas for homes, schools, clubs and even whole communities. MAKING IT "The New Christmas Make-It Book" by Barbara Baer, has patterns and instructions on how to make everything from door front decorations to greeting cards. Christmas is a time for children, and Joan Maloney's "Making Toys for Children" has patterns and instructions for felt dolls to airplanes, doll houses to pup tents. "Sew for Baby the Fun Way" and "It's Easy to Sew Men's Wear" by Kerstin Martenson are new in the library collection. They have many tips and ideas on all kinds of wearing apparel for the biggest and littlest on Santa's list. For the craftsmen, several late additions to the book shelves give new ideas and patterns for the more artistic minded gift makers. "The Tall Book of Candle Crafting" by Gary V. Guy, contains instructions for making all kinds of candles from plain block candles to beautiful applique forms. A basic book on leather gifts is Mary and E. A. Manning's "Leatherwork: A Step by Step Guide." Wallets, key rings, toys, even jackets and skirts are shown with complete instructions and pattern guides. DYEING A "new" old art is shown in Peter H. Gooch's "Ideas for Fabric Printing and Dyeing." This new book covers stamp or block printing, screen printing, Batik, tie and dye and various other forms. A unique set of gift ideas is presented in "Make Your Own Chess Set" by David Carroll. Patterns and instructions are given for 25 different and unique hand-made chess sets. FIXING IT Some of the gifts you will be buying at stores will require adjustments or some other fix-it knowhow. Among the many do-it-yourself books in the library, a brand new book, "Sincere's Bicycle Service Manual" is now available. It covers all of the troublesome derailleur gear assembly and caliper brakes, as well as other aspects of maintenance and repair.

Campaign To End Bust, Lust Films

ROME (AP) — Italy's prominent directors and critics are campaigning for "the end" to busts and lust films of Hollywood-on-the-Tiber. Two of the notables, directors Roberto Rossellini and Franco Zeffirelli, have turned to God as the subject of costly and ambitious productions. A few feel that viewers of erotic films, having seen everything, will still take in more of the same — but are also ready for nudity that appeals to reason as well as the libido. "Sex yes, but now only for laughs," says director Sergio Martino, a veteran of erotic films "Carnal Cousin". His next production is a farce on sex. His will be, he says, more a debate on sex than indulgence, despite its title: "Forty Degrees, or 104F., in the Shade of the Sheets." Rossellini, a founding father of postwar realism and the director of "Open City," issued a public appeal against pornography in a major assault on the erstwhile trend in Italy. He said erotic films were disseminating "aberration into current ethics." Rossellini, however, says he is not advocating religious views or even morals. His latest work, "The Messiah," depicts Christ as a social redeemer rather than God, stresses "Christ the peasant" rather than the Almighty creating miracles. He says, "The film has no message and is a study of the power structure of the time." Zeffirelli, too, is an arch foe of pornography, complaining that it has "fatally lowered" the cultural level of Italy's vital film industry, which employs 300,000 persons for its 250 films a year, highest in the world. He is now directing a six-hour television documentary on "Jesus of Nazareth," at a cost of $15 million. But currently the films in wide demand and supply are noted for their thin plots and heavy nudity in a trend that began a decade ago and still prevails.

New Mexico Slopes Await Skiers

By TOM FENTON
Associated Press Writer
Taos Ski Valley, nestled in the Sangre de Cristo Mountains of North Central New Mexico, was run for years primarily as a haven for the expert and super expert skier.

"We set up the resort strictly for experts, but things are changing," Taos operator builder Ernie Blake said in an interview recently. "Now we're catering more and more to less daring skiers," Blake said. "And we're setting up more areas to accommodate entire families."

Taos adult lift tickets are $10 this year, up $1 from last year. Taos has a vertical drop of 2,612 feet, with the longest run of about seven miles.

Here's a rundown on developments at the other major ski areas in New Mexico:

Sierra Blanca: In South Central New Mexico near Ruidoso, Sierra Blanca is the state's busiest ski resort, drawing heavily in day skiers from the El Paso, Tex. area.

Manager Roy Parker said all-day, adult, weekend lift tickets are $10 this year, up from $9 last year. The area has a vertical drop of 1,700 feet, and the longest trail is about 2½ miles, Parker said.

Sandia Peak: This ski area is accessible by road or by a 2.7-mile tramway that runs from the outskirts of Albuquerque to the summit.

Operator Ben Abruzzo said all-day, weekend lift tickets will be $8 this year, up from $7.50 last year.

The area has a vertical drop of about 1,750 feet, and the longest trail is about two miles.

"We need more snow to open," Abruzzo said. "Last year we opened Dec. 11. I'd guess we'll probably open in early December this year."

Santa Fe Ski Basin: Operator Kingsbury Pitcher said the area's new double chairlift should be in operation by Christmas.

"It's 4,600 feet long, and has a vertical rise of about 930 feet," he said.

Adult weekend ticket prices will be $9 this year, up from $8 last year, Pitcher said.

Angel Fire: Spokeswoman Jeannine Neal said adult lift tickets at this northern New Mexico resort between Cimarron and Taos are $8 this year, compared with $7 last year.

Angel Fire's longest run is about 3½ miles, Mrs. Neal said.

Cloudcroft Ski Area: Operators of this resort, run in conjunction with the Cloudcountry Lodge, bill it as the southernmost ski area in the nation.

Ira Rupp, Cloudcountry general manager, said adult lift tickets will be $6 this year.

He said the area has 14 trails, one of which is about 1,650 feet long, and a vertical drop of about 600 feet.

Red River: This ski area has a second double chairlift in operation this year, along with two pony lifts.

Red River ski school director Drew Judycki said machinery to produce man-made snow from the ski area summit downward has been installed.

Lift tickets are $9 again this year, Judycki said. The area has a vertical drop of 1,550 feet, and its longest run is about two miles.

Sipapu: This area, on New Mexico 3 between Taos and Las Vegas, has added a new poma lift. Operator Lloyd Bolander said the new lift, which brings the number of pomas to three, is 2,800 feet long.

Bolander said adult lift tickets this year will be $6.50, compared with $4.50 last year.

The area has a vertical drop of about 800 feet and the longest run is about one mile, Bolander said.

"It will depend on the weather, but we'll be open by mid-December for sure," he said.

Powder Puff: In the town of Red River, Powder Puff specializes in teaching beginners, especially children, to ski.

The area, which is owned by two couples, can produce its own snow.

Mrs. John Miller, one of the owners, said the area features short, wide, and well groomed slopes. It has a vertical rise of about 120 feet, and its longest run is about 350 feet.

"We take children as young as 3 years old in ski school," she said.

The area recorded 23,000 skier days last year, the best ever.

Adult weekend lift tickets will be $7.50 this year, compared to $6.50 last season.

How to save up to $3,750 on your 1975 income tax.

As incredible as it sounds, it's true. And it's even sanctioned by the IRS! If you're self-employed, or not participating in a retirement plan where you work, you can save a substantial sum on your 1975 income tax, and start building a nest egg for the future at the same time. How? With a Keogh or IRA account. Since these programs are relatively new, many individuals who qualify for them may not fully understand what they are, or how they work. So as a community service, we at First Federal have decided to hold an informal gathering to explain fully, in easy-to-understand language, what these plans are, and exactly what they have to offer. The meeting is scheduled for Tuesday evening, December 9, from 7:30 to 9:00 pm in the Community Room at First Federal Savings and Loan. It's free. Refreshments will be served. And those attending will receive a comprehensive workbook that includes literature distributed by the IRS, a simplified explanation of both plans, and work sheets to compute how you, personally, can benefit. So if you want to know how you can save up to $3,750 on your income tax, be sure to join us. These plans must be established by December 31 to benefit you on your 1975 tax return. For more information, call or write Mrs. Margie Hill at First Federal Savings and Loan, 500 Main, Big Spring, Texas, 267-8252.

Planters Garden Club Has Christmas Luncheon

Planters Garden Club members met for a Christmas luncheon in the home of Mrs. C. Y. Clinkscales on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Frank Wilson presided at the meeting. A nominating committee consisting of Mrs. A. G. Eitzen, Mrs. C. A. Smauway and Mrs. C. A. Holcomb was appointed.

A program on Madonnas was given by Mrs. Holcomb. She told the group about the symbols used in interpreting Madonnas. Angels, specifically cherubs, were with the Virgin Mary at the time of the Immaculate Conception, according to tradition. A closed book is the mystical symbol of the Virgin herself. An open book in her hands becomes the Book of Wisdom and is always open to the seventh chapter. A globe is interpreted to mean sovereignty. A serpent represents Satan or sin.

The sun and the moon symbols are taken from Revelation where the passage "A woman clothed with the sun, having the moon under her feet and on her head a crown of twelve stars," is recorded. Stars stand for Mary's Jewish name, Miriam, which means star. A dove is the symbol of the presence of the Holy Spirit.

A new member, Mrs. W. H. Morrison was welcomed.

Mrs. Wilson showed guests a Santa Claus figure made from coat hangers.

Gifts were exchanged among members.

Following the party, club members decorated a wing at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

The next meeting will be Jan. 7 with Mrs. Cass Hill as hostess.

PUNCH PARTY HOSTESSES — The Ladies Golf Association had its annual Punch Party and luncheon Friday morning. At the punch bowl are Mrs. Clyde Angel, social chairman; Mrs. Robert Patterson, hostess; Mrs. Louise McAdams, incoming president; Mrs. J. D. Nelson, hostess; Mrs. Jan Morgan, hostess, and Mrs. Hayes Stripling, outgoing president.

Christmas Dance Held Saturday

Dear Abby

Wife Is Perplexed By Husband's Peeking Habit

DEAR ABBY: I'm a fairly attractive, middle-age divorcee who recently started dating a man a few years older than myself. He's never been married, but he has dated women and girls of all ages. He would be quite a catch (I am told) because he has money and a responsible position, and he's the generous type. He's not bad-looking, keeps himself physically fit and is immaculate.

Now for the problem: When we go out for dinner, he brings his own salad dressing in a little jar. Also he carries wheatgerm in a plastic bag, and he sprinkles it on almost everything he eats. I guess you could call him a health-food nut. He neither smokes nor drinks.

Do you think, a normal, healthy woman, could be happy with a man like this?

postcard, telling me what YOU notice first about the opposite sex. You need not sign your name.

DEAR ABBY: I was a happily married woman until my husband came home and calmly asked me if he could bring another woman into our home to have sex with us.

He told me that other couples do this sort of thing all the time. He said it helps them improve their sexual relationship in marriage.

When I absolutely refused, he became angry and called me a "square."

Abby, if that's the kind of sex he wants, I don't think I should be married to him. So what's your answer?

SQUARE IN INDIANAPOLIS

DEAR SQUARE: If you're a "square," I want to be in all four of your corners. Your husband's attitude about sex is sick. He needs help on the couch — with a doctor!

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif 90069. Enclose stamped, self addressed envelope, please.

Isn't that interesting?

DEAR WAS: Very. It's surprising that in this bosom-conscious culture, not one man said he noticed a woman's bosom first! And no two men noticed the same thing. Also, only two women agreed (his physique).

DEAR D: If his only "faults" are those listed above, I think you'd be lucky to bag him.

DEAR ABBY: I found out last week that my husband is having an affair with another woman. Her husband called and claimed to have tapes of several telephone conversations between his wife and my husband. I met the man, heard the tapes and am certain it's my husband's voice.

When I told my husband, he denied everything. He even swore on his mother's life that the tapes were rigged. Abby, there's no way those tapes could have been rigged!

This isn't the first time something like this has happened. Two years ago, a man phoned and told me if my husband didn't stay away from his wife, he'd "break his face." Another time, my husband was roughed up, and I always suspected it was a jealous husband.

What should I do? I'm not young — 49. My husband is 53, and this last woman is 35.

If I divorced him, I could live comfortably on the settlement. We've been married 33 years. Do you think he'll ever change?

ON THE FENCE

DEAR ON: At 49 you're still young enough to make a new life for yourself. Don't count on changing the spots on your old tiger. It would be easier to get another tiger.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I went to a party the other night. There were eight married couples — all between the ages of 25 and 35.

We got into a discussion about what we notice first in a member of the opposite sex. Then, the hostess got the bright idea of passing out pencils and paper and asking us all to write down what we notice first.

Here are the results:

The men: One wrote, "her legs"; another, "her behind"; another, "her eyes"; another, "her hands" (to see if she's married); another, "her complexion";

Safety Features Important Part Of Clothing

COLLEGE STATION — "Built-in" safety features are an important part of choosing children's clothing, Claudia Mitzel says.

She's a consumer marketing-clothing and textiles specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Each child varies in his need for safety features, but a few guidelines can help parents protect their children better."

"For children who are especially curious about fire, mothers may consider buying flame-retardant play clothes. Since 1975, all children's sleepwear is flame retardant. Also some costumes are available with flame-retardant finishes — but it's important to check labels to be sure."

Children who ride bikes at dawn or dusk need reflective tape on clothing — and bright and light colored jackets help prevent accidents also.

Poison Weed May Help Heart Patients

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A poisonous weed probably used by Mexican Indians for centuries to treat hemorrhoids may become the source of a scarce chemical needed for heart drugs, three Mexican doctors told the Chemical Congress of the North American Continent.

The weed is the yellow oleander, whose seeds have been found to be a rich source of glycosides, the steroid building blocks of many natural cardioactive compounds.

"The plant is found wild in different localities, and it is generally regarded as a poisonous, undesirable weed," said a paper presented Thursday by Drs. Jose Iriarte, Alicia Cruz and Joseph Muchowski.

"It is cultivated occasionally in gardens for ornamental purposes because of its showy yellow flowers.

"The seeds are sold in the markets for the shells which are worn about the ankles as rattles in several Mexican folkloric dances. They also find some use in folk medicine in the treatment of hemorrhoids."

"The seeds contain about 4.5 per cent of steroidal glycosides of the cardioactive type, one of the highest values considering the averages for other plants."

"If a new process for extracting the glycosides proves commercially successful," Dr. Iriarte said, "the weed and several closely related species of tropical and subtropical plants could replace the foxglove, a relatively difficult plant to grow commercially for glycosides."

Texas Oil, Gas Wildcats Number 32

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Sixteen wildcat oil wells and 16 wildcat gas wells were drilled in Texas during the last half of November, the Railroad Commission reported Thursday.

A total of 382 wildcat oil wells have been drilled this year, an increase of 120 from the first 11 months of 1974, the Commission said.

The commission said 486 wildcat gas wells have been drilled this year, an increase of 165 over the first 11 months of last year.

The new oil wildcats drilled from Nov. 15 through Nov. 30 included five in the Abilene district, three in the Houston district, two each in the San Angelo and Wichita Falls districts and one each in the San Antonio No. 1 and 2 districts, the Corpus Christi district and the Pampa district.

The new gas wildcats included six in the Corpus Christi district, five in the San Antonio No. 2 district, two in the Houston district and one each in the Kilgore No. 5, Midland and Pampa districts.

A total of 207 oil wells were completed in the two-week period for a yearly total of 6,225, or 1,618 more than this time a year ago. A total of 129 gas wells were completed for a yearly total of 3,098, or 767 more than this time last year.

The commission said 272 wells were plugged, including 166 dry holes.

Texas' average calendar day oil allowable as of last Monday was 3,803,683 barrels, a decrease of 105,422 from Nov. 15.

Steelman Announces Candidacy

AUSTIN (AP) — Rep. Alan Steelman, R-Tex., said today he will file in January as a candidate for U.S. Senate from Texas.

The joint announcement made in Austin, Washington and Dallas had been expected for some time.

"I had planned to come to Texas in early December to make the announcement," Steelman said in a statement. "However, the heavy legislative schedule in Congress between now and Christmas makes that impossible."

"Therefore, I will file and formally announce my candidacy at a press conference in Austin on Jan. 5. Immediately thereafter I am planning a short tour of major Texas cities to discuss what I think will be the major issues of the 1976 campaign."

NEW YORK COURT RULES

Bottoms, Breasts And Booze Just Don't Mix

NEW YORK (AP) — Bare bottoms and bosoms don't mix with booze. That's the word from the State Liquor Authority.

In a major new statewide policy, the authority banned total nudity — including "bottomless" entertainment — in places selling alcoholic beverages. Topless entertainment was limited to an elevated stage at least six feet from the nearest patron, thus doing away with the bare-breasted barmaid.

The commission also canceled, effective Dec. 12, the liquor license of the Village Gate on the ground that the Greenwich Village night spot's current show, "Let My People Come," was "lewd and indecent."

"We feel that the sale of liquor and total nudity are incompatible," said Michael Roth, chairman of the liquor agency. "Years of experience that have shown nude dancing and similar entertainment frequently lead to prostitution and other kinds of sexual conduct between performers and customers."

Calling the ruling "dastardly," Arthur D'Lugoff, owner of the Village Gate, said he would continue to stage the so-called "sexual musical" and would appeal the decision.

The liquor authority's ruling on the Village Gate was based on the findings of a hearing officer, who found that during performances of the play, among other things:

"Nude male and female performers appeared on stage and performed act simulating or portraying fellatio, cunnilingus, sexual intercourse and fondled one another's body and private parts."

Court Rules Against Minors' Nudism

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP) - A judge has ruled that a woman must leave her two young daughters home when she and her husband visit a nudist camp.

"I'm sure this is laden with all kinds of constitutional implications," Superior Court Judge Cameron Hopkins of Yakima County said about his decision Thursday.

It was not known whether there would be an appeal. Names were not disclosed because the children are minors.

Judge Hopkins ordered the woman not to take her daughters, aged 9 and 13, to the nudist camp until they are mature enough to decide for themselves if they want to go.

The girls' father, divorced from their mother since 1967, had petitioned the court to prohibit his ex-wife from taking his daughters to the nudist camp. The woman has legal custody of the children. Both parents have remarried.

"I hate it" the girls' father said about nudism. "It's as indecent as can be. It's absolutely wrong. I don't like the idea of my little girls exposing themselves to other adults."

The woman said her present husband encouraged her to become a nudist shortly after they married in 1973. She said the entire family goes to the nudist park whenever possible.

"The children just love it," the woman told the court.

She said the camp primarily is for families and her daughters have become friends with other children whose parents are nudists and use the park, located east of Seattle near Issaquah.

In ordering the children not go to the nudist camp, Judge Hopkins characterized nudism as "recreation" and "relaxation" and not covered by First Amendment rights of assembly.
