THE DROUTH DONT STOP THE OLD TIMERS

While the drouth pours out its heat through the day, the nights have a refrigerating flavor. The same was Monday night when ye old timers, without coaxing, met in regular session at Braky's orchard where he had arranged a long row of tables in the well lighted shute, and clickety-click and ha! ha!!! went the hilarity 42 games till the night's noon hour struck, when cake de cream was at once abundantly served and likewise consumed by Geo. and Sallie, Jack and Lottie, Dalt and his manager, Jim and Cap, Marshall and Helen, Ali and the big-un, Sam and the little-un, Tom and Ida, John and Jessie, of course, W. E. and the Missus, Uncle Mose and the old lady, Bert, Lizzie, Nancy, Tennis, Mrs. Annie K., Mrs. Mary Mc, Dade, Vade, Geo. W. who brought his muddy, who though nearing 70, is no piker at 42. Uncle Barn and Mose sit off to one side, smoked and yawned, but the game went right on.

Jim proved a set-fair when it came to staying at one table. Grace may be little but she is a big hearted hostess. Braky hung around and laughed like a country boy at a free medicine show.

After the bones were boxed, the gang went to Mrs. Welch's bonus house where they found her eldest son, a former Brownie, but who has strayed off to Meadow, and got caught in the holly hounds by a beautiful damsel, and who had put out by the Meadow bunch (any easy thing to do) and were trying to honey-moon it by the old timers here, but nit, they porch-climbed to the upstairs, tore off the screen, and pulled the ku-klux imitators out of—their peaceful slumbers, and made them admit that serenading may be old, but awfully successful. On account of the short night, the gang then turned in home.

The next meeting will be two weeks hence at the house of Uncle Mose—Wonuven.

HAPPY PATCH CLUB

The Happy Patch Club met with Mrs. H. R. Winston, Sept. 4, 1922. The president was not present, so the meeting was left to the members to manage, so we enjoyed a number of mountain pictures made in the west and a little further west than old Terry. The pictures were taken by Mr. Winston and wife while on their trip to visit Mrs. Winston's parents. Quite a number were present as this was the first meeting in some time. As the name indicates, all had their work of different kinds. Mrs. Graves and Miss Lizzie Winston visited with us, the former giving her name for a member.

Refreshing punch was served to each member, and after a time, watermelons were served and all had a good time. Adjourned to meet with Mrs. Walter Gracey, Sept. 11.—Reporter.

A. D. S. PARTY

Misses Kate Spivey and Tera Baughman were club hostesses to the A. D. S. Wednesday, August 30th at the home of Miss Spivey. After six games of forty-two, refreshments in two courses, consisting of sandwiches, cake, iced tea and watermelon were served to the following members and guests: Misses Lois and Lorelle Brownfield, Castleberry, Nancy and Elizabeth Dumas, Pyeatt, Lewis, Mozelle and Stella Treadway, Miller, Wines, Burgess, Webb and Mrs. Story of Dallas.

MATHER HILBURN OUR FIRST LYCEUM NUMBER

Mather Hilburn is primarily an entertainer, and yet behind all of his impersonations there moves a serious purpose which inspires worth while thoughts and better living. For the re-creation of his characters, Mr. Hilburn calls to his aid wigs and grease paint, and with a few deft touches transforms himself into types familiar to every audience.

Hilburn is a born actor and he breathes into his "types" much of his own fine spirit and kindly love of humanity. He mirrors life through these characters and he laughs with his hearers at their foibles and weaknesses. Hilburn's appearance always creates wonder at his artistry and because he is able to completely submerge himself into the characters he represents. This is the reason why Hilburn is called the "master entertainer." He is the type of entertainer who reflects credit upon the platform and upon his profession. It is more than entertainment—it is "Art"—spelled with a capital "A."

Hilburn is undoubtedly one of the leaders in impersonation work now on the platform. His work is unquestionably very fine art. One moment he is before his audience as Hilburn. In the next moment he has vanished and a typical Irishman appears; then out of the "Jack Oakes country" then walks a droll character in the delineation of which Hilburn rises to a master height. And so they come—a kaleidoscopic procession of ever changing characters.

In his "Bachelor's Romance" Hilburn appears at his best and this clever little sketch in which he speaks to the phantom forms of old sweethearts, has been declared a classic of platform art. In this number his art is so convincing that the spirit forms seem actually to appear and become a part of the scene about the banquet table.

FIRST BALE OF COTTON BRINGS NICE PREMIUM

As the first bale of cotton of the season was ginned last week just as we were preparing to go to press, we did not learn how much it weighed or what it brought or who bought it. The West Texas Gin Co., ginned the bale free of charge, and it weighed 577 pounds and was purchased by T. I. Brown for 21 cents per pound. A premium of about $50 was made up for Mr. Hosen, the producer.

The first bale in 1921 came in Sept. 19th, and this one Aug. 30, making the first bale this year about 11 days earlier.

Two bales were ginned Saturday and it has been coming in pretty well this week.

MARRIED

Robert Welch, who was reared in Brownfield, but who is the popular manager of the Cicero Smith Lumber Company at Meadow at present, tied himself away to Ralls last Sunday and returned with Mrs. Welch, who was formerly Miss Hagie Swain, of Ralls.

We congratulate the happy young couple, and ask the reader to notice the account of the shiveree given him and bride here Monday night by the old timers.

BROWNFIELD SCHOOL TO OPEN MONDAY

The Brownfield Public school will have its opening exercises Monday, Sept. 11th, at 9:00 o'clock.

The board has selected a faculty of well trained, experienced and successful teachers, who if co-operated with will teach a successful school.

In order for children to obtain free text books, it is necessary that they present last year's book card. Last year's work will be recognized if promotion cards are presented, otherwise it will be necessary to take examinations, which will be given Monday and Tuesday of next week.

At a cost of $500 a laboratory is being fitted up to add two years of science to the course of study. A course in public school music will be offered; also glee club and chorus by Supt. Rankin, who is a conservatory graduate in public school music, voice and harmony, for which one unit of credit will be granted.

The taxpayers of the Brownfield Independent School District are entitled to a real school. The young people of the town deserve that their work shall be recognized everywhere as standard. Our school should be classed as a high school of the first class. The physical equipment of the school now measures up to that standard in every respect, excepting the length of term. If the patronage and citizenship of the district will follow the leadership of the board and superintendent, and give them loyal support, we can and will close this school year as a high school of the first class. When this is done, graduates of this school may enter higher institutions of learning anywhere without humiliation, and without a loss of time spent in the local school.

We cannot afford with the present equipment and faculty to run a school with no more standing among the schools of the state than that of a one teacher cross roads school. Our pride and community spirit should cause us to rise up and really do something large in a school way this year.

We can have as good school as any town in the state of our size, if we will, everybody, whether patron of the school or not, co-operate with the present administration. Give the instructors a fair show, encourage them and visit the school, and see that your child does the home work assigned, and help, not hinder, a wise, kind but firm discipline. Report with your children Monday; meet the faculty, and everybody help to have a real school.

J. D. Rankin, Supt.

AMERICAN LEGION DENOUN- CES KU KLUX KLAN

The William Peyton Howard Post of the American Legion of Brownfield met August 31, with 80 per cent membership present and adopted the following resolutions:

1. That we will aid and assist in any way possible, all religious organizations of Brownfield or Terry county which are for the betterment and uplifting to higher Christian and social ideals;

2. That we stand behind our educational institutions of the community and will legislate for the interests of such institutions to the best of our knowledge and ability;

3. That we denounce the K. K. K. or any organization of their kind who administer justice with a mask on. FIRST, LAST and FOREVER.

Because we believe such organization to be a disgrace to Americanism; disastrous to our government; practice things which are directly against the constitution of the United States.

A Free Democracy that is good enough to fight for, is good enough to live by. We fought the Hun that we might have freedom and came home to be ruled by good sensible people in the OPEN, and we do not intend to let justice be handed out by Night Riders behind masks in old Terry.

4. That a copy of these resolutions be placed in the minutes of our organization and that a copy be published in the Terry County Herald.

FAIR DIRECTORS MET SATURDAY AFTERNOON

A few of the farmers and business men interested in the matter met in the district court room last Saturday afternoon to make final arrangements for the Terry County Fair which is to be held Thursday and Friday, Sept. 21-22, and to also arrange an exhibit for the Lubbock fair and possibly the Dallas fair.

Several new committees were named to help the other committees that were named some time ago. Quite a nice sum will be raised to pay for premiums on the products, and the ladies department will be allowed just double what they had last year.

The larger premiums will go to the farm, garden and orchard sections, as no livestock will be exhibited by the association in other fairs. This can be done by individuals if they so desire.

There are many sections of the county that has as good crops as last year, portions that got showers in July and August, and from these will have to come most of the exhibits. The exhibitor must understand and agree that his exhibits may become the property of the Terry County Fair Association to be carried elsewhere, if they see fit, whether the exhibit draws a premium here or not. This does not apply to canned goods, we understand.

NURSERY INSPECTOR HERE LAST WEEK

W. J. Abby, of El Paso, was here last week giving the Brownfield Nursery the once over, and in conversation with the Herald man, Mr. Abby stated that the local nursery was in the class with the best, and superior to most nurseries he had inspected. He said any experienced man had but to glance through the Brownfield Nursery to not that Mr. Joe B. King, the proprietor knew his business. He said that he found the trees all healthy and had made a big growth this year. Some apples he noticed had grown about six feet.

Few people realize the fact that a nursery in Texas must undergo rigid inspection in order to be able to ship trees over the state. This is to keep diseased and poor stock from being palmed off on the public, and is a safeguard to the buying public. We are proud therefore that our nursery was found by the inspector to be among the head of the list.

IDLE WIVES

Mrs. Tom May delightfully entertained the Idle Wives Club at her home, Friday, Sept. 1st.

Several interesting games of 42 were played, the high score and consolation favors going to Mesdames W. N. Lemmon and J. L. Randall, respectively.

Mrs. May had 52 special guests. Meses. M. B. Sawyer, Randall and Downing.

The hostess served dainty refreshments in two courses to the following members and guests present: Meses. Alexander, Bell, Brownfield, Dallas, Downing, King, J. R. and W. N. Lemmon, McGowan, Randall, Sawyer, Shelton and Smith.—Reporter.

IS THERE A RIFT IN YOUR TITLE LUTE?

You do not think so—but do you know for a fact that there isn't?

You have heard of the widow or orphan tried to cash in on it—then barriers mountain high suddenly arose, in the form of defects in title, followed, of course, by lawsuits.

Don't allow such a fate to overtake those whom you love dear. See to it that the title to the property you have is ABSOLUTELY CLOUDLESS.

It does not cost much to ascertain whether there is a rift in your title lute or not—some thing is certain, it generally costs you much more NOT TO KNOW.

Specialists only can do this work thoroughly—we've specialized in this work for years. It is our sole business—our minds are focussed on this one thing, not divided on several "side issues." What is more—we have the right records—accurate and complete. A consultation will not obligate you in the slightest.

Knowing what not to do, in the case of accidents or illness, is more important than doing something that is wrong.

Remember when—the butcher used to “throw in” a hunk of suet or soup bone when you bought a steak? And when—the livery stable kept a couple of good, reliable plugs, the kind you could drive without holding the reins?

We understand that the city council will take some action right away for the protection of our citizens from professional beggars. Some of the citizens have suggested an assessment of a small amount each month to create a fund for worth charity cases, and turn it over to a committee who will make a thorough examination of each application for funds.

The local American Legion boys have expressed themselves in regard to the Ku Klux Klan in no uncertain tones. The Herald is of the opinion that whatever the need of this organization in the east, it has no place in the law-abiding west and especially Terry county where there are no niggers and but few sorry white people. Masking is entirely out of place in the west, as western people are supposed to fight in the open and in the day time.

We found out after our editorial came out last week that we were not the only one that was getting tired of transient beggars. Some of the citizens have already quit donating to them, and others ready to do so. One citizen informed us this week that a man approached him recently for a donation, and he pointed out the city marshal to the panhandler, and told him if he would go to the city marshal and his case proved worthy of charity, he would donate. Instead of going to the city marshal he made a steak for the wagonyard and was soon on his way rejoicing.

Recently we noticed a cartoon in a newspaper that had a whole sermon wrapped up in the picture. It portrayed capital and organized labor scrapping in the foreground and scattering their bundles and belongings all over creation. In the background the faithful old farmer was quietly, but busily tossing hay while the sun was shining. Under the picture were these words: “What if he should quit work?” Yes, what if the farmer was to quit work? What would happen? If the farmer should serve notice on the contestants that he refused to feed them as long as they fought and fussed, how long would it be till they would be tickled to get back to work? Organized capital and organized labor is hard on no one but the public—but of course the public be damned, is the saying.

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I—During the height of the New Orleans carnival season, Jackin Fell, a wealthy, though somewhat mysterious oil man, and Dr. Ansley, are discussing a series of robberies by an individual known as the Midnight Masquer. The latter, acting as an aviator, has long defied the police. Joseph Mallard, wealthy banker, is giving a ball that night, at which the Masquer has threatened to appear and rob the guests. Fell and Ansley, on their way to the affair, meet a girl dressed in a costume, seemingly known to Fell, but masked, who accompanies them to the ball.

CHAPTER II—Lucie Ledanois, recently the ward of her uncle, Joseph Mallard, is the Columbian.

CHAPTER III—In his library Joseph Mallard and a group of friends are held up and robbed by the Midnight Masquer.

CHAPTER IV—Lucie Ledanois, the last of an old family, is transferred to a convalescence. Joseph Mallard's handling of her funds has been unfortunate and she is deeply interested in the girl. Henry Gramont, really the prince of Gramont, son of a French father and an American mother, but who spurns the title of prince, is enamored of Lucie and believes himself a not unfavored suitor.

CHAPTER V—Gramont's chauffeur, Hammond, American army in France, and there known to Gramont, has been a part of the original Midnight Masquer, and Gramont, for a particular purpose, after discovering Hammond's activities, assumes the role. Where Hammond had been a robber for him as a fortune-hunter from Europe? There, I confess, I made a grave error.

Without a knock the door opened and Lucie Ledanois entered.

"Good evening, stockholders!" she exclaimed. "Do you know there's a crowd down in the street—police men and automobiles and a lot of excitement?"

"Allow me," said Gramont, taking her coat and placing a chair for her. "Will you sit down, please? You remember that I warned you regarding a shock that would come; and now I must explain." Gramont gravely handed her his commission from the governor, and resumed his seat. "When I say that I have come here, not to attend a meeting of our oil company, but to arrest Mr. Fell, you will understand. I am very sorry, Lucie, to have to tell you all this, for I know your attachment to him."

"Arrest—arrest? What's that?" the girl gasped from the paper to Fell who nodded. "Why—this isn't a joke of some kind?"

"None whatever, my dear," said Fell, quietly. "Mr. Gramont is to be congratulated. He has discovered that I was the head of a large organization of criminals. Here, if I mistake not, are your Department of Justice friends, Gramont."

A knock at the door, and it opened to admit two of Gramont's men.

"Here they are," the chief agent and a deputy. "Shall I let them in?"

Gramont nodded. Two men entered the room, and Gramont dismissed his own man with a gesture. He saw that the agents both looked to Fell.

"The son of-a-bitch who is in this state," he demanded, rising.

"Yes," said one of them, regarding him keenly. "Who sent for us?"

"I did," Gramont gave his name, and handed them his commission. "I have been investigating a lottery which has been conducted in this state for a long time by an organization of very clever criminals. Jackin Fell is the man at the head of this organization. The lesser members of the gang are in custody. The police department will arrest the other men, and I now call upon you to hold him in custody as a federal prisoner. Now go to it."

The chief agent laid Gramont's commission on the table and looked at Jackin Fell. For an instant there was a dead silence. Then, when the federal man spoke, Gramont was paralyzed.

"I'm very sorry, Mr. Gramont, to have to refuse."

"What?" cried Gramont, incredulously. "Do you dare stand there and—"

"One moment, please," said Fell, his quiet voice breaking in. "It is quite true that I have organized all the criminals possible, Mr. Gramont, and have run the lottery and have a systematized form. I have done this by the authority of the United States, in order to apprehend Memphis Izzy Gumberts and other men at one crack. These gentlemen will tell you that I am a special agent of the Department of Justice, employed in that capacity through the efforts of Judge Forester and Senator Flaxman. I regret that this had to be held so secret that not even the governor himself was aware of it until this evening. The conflict was quite unavoidable. Not a member of that gang must become aware of my real identity."

Gramont sank into his chair, the automatic dropping from his hand. He was suddenly dazed, thunderstruck. Yet he had to believe. He was dimly aware that Lucie had gone to Jackin Fell, her arms about his neck. He stared from unseeing eyes.

"Better that," said Gramont, "than to have her profit come through criminal money and means. She'd be the first to say so herself. But I'll tell you this: I'm convinced that there is oil under that land of hers! If she'll agree, I'll put up what money I have against her land; we'll be able to have one well drilled at least, on the chance."

"If it's dry," said Fell, "you'll be broke."

"I can always get work," and Gramont laughed harshly.

Fell regarded him in silence a moment. Then: "I think Lucie loves you, Gramont."

A trembling seized Gramont; a furious impulse to shoot the man down as he sat. Did he have the benches to try and save himself through Lucie? Something of his stilled anger must have shown in his eyes, for Jackin Fell laid down his cigar and continued quickly:

"Don't misunderstand. I say that I think she cares for you; it is merely surmise on my part. Lucie is one person for whom I'd do anything. I stand and have stood in the place of a parent to her. She is very dear to me. I have a special reason for intruding upon your personal affairs in this manner, and some right to ask you in regard to your intentions."

"I don't recognize any right whatever on your part," said Gramont steadily.

Fell smiled. "Ah! Then you are in love. Well, you must be so."

"I'd like to know one thing," struck in Gramont. "That is, why you were so cursed anxious to get something on my man Hammond? And why you held the Midnight Masquer affair over me as a threat. Did you suspect my business?"

Fell threw back his head and laughed in a hearty unstrained manner that was quite unstrained.

"That," he responded, "is really impossible. For you know, I honestly thought you a fortune-hunter from Europe? There, I confess, I made a grave error."

Without a knock the door opened and Lucie Ledanois entered.

"Good evening, stockholders!" she exclaimed. "Do you know there's a crowd down in the street—police men and automobiles and a lot of excitement?"

would arm stabbed him like a knife. He jerked his head sharply up, and was aware that the agents had departed. He was alone with Lucie and Fell, and the latter was rising and holding out his hand smiling.

"Gramont, you got ahead of me in this deal, and I congratulate you with all my heart," said Fell, earnestly. "Neither of us suspected the part played by the other man; but you've done the work and done it well. Will you shake hands?"

Gramont confusedly took the hand extended to him.

"I've been a fool," he said, slowly. "I might have guessed that something unusual was—"

"No, how could you guess?" said Fell. "There are three men in Baton Rouge who know the truth, and three persons in this room. That's all, outside of the regular government men. I had not told even Lucie, here."

I dared not. And I dare say nothing even now. To the underworld at large I will be known as the crook whom not even the government could touch; in days to come I may be of untold service to my country.

"If you will excuse me one moment," he went on, "I shall speak with your men who are on guard, Gramont, and will be back in a moment, and we may then discuss business. If you agree, I think that your company may proceed upon the original lines, and we shall set to work drilling for oil without delay."

Gramont scarcely heard the words, nor did he hear the door close. He

"Certainly, sir. It's still late," he said. "The French people have what they call M. Carre, or M. Lout, and they certainly give it a big celebration. You see, it's a night halfway through Lent, when they can enjoy themselves to the limit—let off steam, as it were. We're having several dinner parties here in the club tonight, for the occasion."

A slightly built little man, who had been the air of a shy clerk—and it had not been for his evening attire—approached the desk. He signed a check for a handful of clams, which he stowed away.

"Please provide a fresh box later," he said to the secretary. "Most of my party is here, I believe."

"I'll send them up, Mr. Fell," answered the secretary, quickly. "Yes, I think the dining room is all ready for you, sir. By the way, Mr. Gramont was looking for you a moment ago—ah! Here he comes now."

Jackin Fell turned. Gramont was plunging at him, a yellow telegram form in his hand, revelation in his eyes.

"Look here, Jackin! This was just come in from Hammond—you know, I left him in charge of things down at Payon Terrebonne! Read it, man—read it! They've struck outdoors at five hundred feet—and send it five hundred, with these indications. It means a gusher at a thousand! Where's Lucie? Have you brought her?"

"She's upstairs. Well, well!" Jackin Fell glanced at the telegram, and returned it. "So all is actually found! This is certainly going to be one big night. Come along. Let's find Lucie and tell her about it!"

The two men turned away together.

ALL ABOARD FOR WACO FORMER SERVICE BOYS!

Waco, Sept. 5.—Doughboys, doughnuts and doughnut girls will meet at the annual convention of the Texas department American Legion in Waco, Sept. 11-13. The reunion will bring vividly to mind memories of the days over there.

The Salvation Army will have a fourfold part in making the convention a happy time for the former service men, and in showing the legionnaires that their welfare is as much the concern of the Salvation Army as it was in the days of the war.

Lieut.-Col. George Wood of Dallas, Commander of the Salvation Army in the Southwest, will address the convention at the opening session on the 11th of September, conveying to the war veterans the greetings of the Salvation Army and telling them of what the Army is doing and planning in their behalf.

The Salvation Army is co-operating with the housing committee in Waco and is preparing to provide accommodations for a number of their delegates and their friends.

It is also planned to throw open the downtown hall for a rest room, making a replica of the old time Salvation Army war camp huts. Here the veteran will find a place to rest, to write letters, reading matter and other facilities for their comfort.

Doughnuts and coffee will also be handed out by the lassies just as they were over in France. Every doughboy and those who accompany him to the convention will be eager to renew old friendships across the counter of the doughnut "dugouts."

A booth will be erected near the convention hall and another will be installed in the rest room, where the boys may have their doughnuts and coffee whenever they care for them. The lassies are prepared for a wild scramble, just as there was when the Salvation Army placed doughnut "dugouts" all over Kansas City last year for the National Legion Convention.

Col. Wood has ordered Salvation Army officers from adjacent cities to be in Waco during the convention, and will bend their energies toward making the reunion one of the most glorious the boys have had since they returned from France and the camps in this country.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH CONVENTION—PANHANDLE DISTRICT

The Christian Churches of the 40 counties of the Panhandle are to meet in annual convention at Plainview, Texas, Sept. 11-12. All Christian churches of the district are expected to send representatives and members of the Christian Churches living in communities where there is no organization are urged to come. The Plainview church is extending a hearty welcome to all. A very fine program has been arranged. Among the speakers is J. B. Holmes, of Ft. Worth State Supt. of Missions, and Miss Maxine Smoot of Enid, Okla. Bible school field worker under the United Christian Missionary Society. Prominent among the personnel of the Convention are Judge L. Gough of Amarillo, President; Mrs. A. N. Julian of Claude, Vice-President; Dr. J. A. Odum of Memphis, Secretary; Judge W. E. Gee, Amarillo, Roy Rutherford, of Amarillo; Paul J. Merrill, Pampa; J. E. Mathews, Dalhart; E. L. Hughes of Clarendon; A. D. Rodgers, Memphis; S. E. Wilkins, Childress; W. T. Cochran, Floydada; E. A. Osburn, Canyon.

Special feature is the young people's conference and luncheon of Monday evening. Various phases of the church life will be considered and important business matters are to come before the convention. It is urged that a large number may attend.

WANTS ADDRESS OF MEMBERS OF CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Jasper Bogue of Dalhart, District missionary of the Christian church and E. M. Wheatley of the local Christian church are anxious to get into touch with all members of the Christian church living in communities where there is no Christian church and would appreciate it if any in this section would write to E. M. Wheatley of Brownfield, or those living far removed from Brownfield would write to Jasper Bogue of Dalhart or people knowing of such if you will write us we will appreciate it.

RESOLUTIONS

August 26, 1922

Whereas, during the three years of National Prohibition the newspapers have admitted to their columns a superabundance of jokes at the expense of the prohibition law; cartoons ridiculing prohibition and the prohibition amendment, prohibition enforcement officers and articles concerning the violation of the law, written designedly to destroy respect for law; and

Whereas, the moving picture shows have also too often shown upon the screen slurs, jokes and innuendoes and positive statements designed to create disrespect for the law; and,

Whereas, Prohibition is written into the fundamental law of both the State and Nation and must and will be respected by every loyal American. Therefore, be it

Resolved, second, that we call upon these publications to cease to refer to the Federal officers charged with the responsibility of enforcing the prohibition laws as "Hooch Hounds," "Sluths" and other terms lacking in respect for the position of one thus commissioned by the Federal Government.

Resolved, third, that we respectfully request the moving picture shows and legitimate stage to exclude from their programs everything that is calculated to create disrespect for the law and the officers charged with the responsibility of enforcing it.

Resolved, fourth, that we call upon the citizens of Texas to manifest their loyalty to the Government by personally showing respect for the law, refusing to be a part to its violation and to render every assistance toward the enforcement of the law and create the highest respect for the officers commissioned to its enforcement.

REASONS WHY DEATHS SHOULD BE RECORDED

Benefits derived from death registration.

Settlement of estates.

Settlement of life insurance policies.

Settlement of pension and war claims.

Civil action at law in settlement of damage suits, death due to criminal negligence.

Proof of dissolution of marital relation in case of disappearance and desertion.

An aid to life insurance companies in the disposition of border line cases.

Settlement of contestible life insurance claims, establishing proof of fraudulent statements and misrepresentation.

Aid in sanitation and prevention of occupational and communicable diseases.

Location of endemic disease area.

Detection of epidemic diseases and indications for the adoption of hygienic measures and the establishment of quarantine measures.

Universal observance of the sanitary code by the undertakers would result in the admission of the State to the Federal Death Registration area.

The State would be the recipient of financial benefits and other funds available under different Federal Acts.

Franking privileges of the mail by the Bureau of Vital Statistics.

A complete mortality report of the State will operate as an aid in the unification of the Federal Mortality experience.

REASONS WHY BIRTHS SHOULD BE RECORDED

Determine whether minor defendants should be tried in Juvenile or District Courts.

In illegitimacy proceedings.

Proof of age and legitimacy of the heirs.

As proof of age in order to determine the validity of a contract entered into by an alleged minor.

To determine the liability of a parent for the debt of a minor.

In accident cases to determine the age of persons injured when the casualty company carrying the risk sets up the defense was under the age of persons permitted in their contract with the defendant to operate machinery.

Varied Types Workers Sent

Included in the list of missionaries are preachers and evangelists, teachers, doctors, nurses, one architect, one expert in domestic science, and special workers among women and children. William Earle Hines of Spartanburg, S. C., who goes to Shanghai to supervise the construction of all missionary buildings in China, enjoys the distinction of being the first architect ever sent out by the Foreign Mission Board, and his appointment indicates the vast extent of the Southern Baptist work in that country. More than half of the total number of missionaries in the employ of this board are located in China, where the results of their labors are very gratifying to the officers of the Board.

Large interest centers, also, in the launching of an intensive missionary work in Palestine, to which country there go Rev. and Mrs. Fred Bunyan Pearson of Mountain, Ala., and Rev. and Mrs. J. Wash Watts of Laurens, S. C. Some native missionaries are already at work in Palestine, and the outlook there is considered very encouraging, despite the present complicated political and racial controversies.

Campaign Brings Engagement

In addition to the sending out of 250 new workers to foreign fields the 75 Million Campaign has made it possible to increase the number of native workers from 197 to 1172, to practically double the missionary equipment in the older fields of China, Japan, Africa, Italy, Brazil, Argentina, Chile, Uruguay and Mexico, and to enter the new fields of Spain, Yugoslavia, Hungary, Rumania, Southern Russia, Palestine and Siberia. Southern Baptists now have a practically unbroken string of mission fields encircling the globe, and a possible mission audience of 900,000,000 people, or one-half the total population of the globe.

And the results on the field have kept pace with the larger investment in the work and number of workers. Since the outset of the Campaign the Foreign Mission Board reports the organization of 117 new churches, 21,729 baptisms, 211 new Sunday schools with a gain of 17,576 pupils, native contributions to Baptist work of $1,663,296.68, and $29,642 treatments administered by missionary physicians.

Churches on the foreign fields, exclusive of the new territory in Europe and the Near East, now number 622 with 64,251 members. There are also 971 Sunday schools with 52,631 pupils, and 684 mission schools of all grades with 26,257 students.

Expense Rate is Low

More than $6,250,000 net has gone from the Campaign into foreign mission work, and so economically have these funds been handled, the Board reports, that $4.24 cents out of every dollar has actually reached the foreign fields, only 3.74 cents out of each dollar being required to care for the total cost of administration. But with these larger receipts and economical administration the Board is unable to meet the demands upon it, and at its last annual meeting it was compelled to reduce the requests of the missionaries on the field for appropriations by more than $1,000,000.

HOW TO JUDGE

WHEN a merchant sends out his monthly bills printed on a statement he has bought at the drug store and printed his name on the heading with a rubber stamp, enclosed in a number 5 envelope without his return card printed on corner, you don't have to look in the newspaper for his advertisement to know the size of his business. If his stock was judged by the size of his advertisement, he'd be peddling shoestrings.

Ten Young Texans Sail For Foreign Mission Service In Distant Lands

Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Porter and young daughter (1) of Waco, who will do educational work at Sao Paulo, Brazil; Miss Josephine Ward (2), Austin, who will do educational work in Kaitenz, China; Miss Louise Willis (3), Waco, who will do educational work in Kaitenz, China; Miss Lois Howard (4), of Brownwood, who goes to North China; Miss Jennie L. Swearingen (5), Bellville, who will do educational work at Heliopolis, Egypt; Rev. J. R. Mashburn (6), DeKalb, who will do evangelistic work in China; Dr. and Mrs. W. P. Meredith and young daughter (7), of Pecos, who will do medical work at Opatomoso, Nigeria, Africa; Miss Nell Hall (8), Hightower, who will teach home economics in Kaitenz, China.

WITH the sending out this season of fifty new missionaries by the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, 250 new workers have been sent to foreign fields during the 75 Million Campaign, or one-half the goal that was set in the number of workers to be provided during that movement. It is anticipated the remaining 150 will go out during the remainder of the Campaign period that will expire in December, 1924. The workers going out this season will enter the fields of China, Japan, Africa, Palestine, Brazil, Argentina, Uruguay, Chile and Mexico.

Inasmuch as the largest missionary effort of the denomination is centered in the Orient, the larger portion of the workers sailed from Seattle Saturday, September 2, on the Admiral. Lineer President Jackson for stations in China and Japan. The missionaries for fields on other continents sail from New York on various lines and some of them will not depart until September 30.

A NESTER'S PRAYER

"Lord, I am only a nester, a Dallas county farmer. This knowest that when wheat was $2.00 per bushel that I had flour and sugar in the house and cake and pie when I wanted it. I was not satisfied and voted for a change. Thou knowest that I wore a Harding badge and was faithful in all things to the G.O.P. Even so, Thou knowest that I believed in the Dawn of a new Day and the Wood would advance in price; that I would get $3.00 for wheat and 30c per pound for my pork. Lord, two years have gone by never to return and I am too poor to buy the necessary Rockyfeller for my Henry, but I still wear the Harding badge, but it's now on the seat of my overalls. O Lord, I am thankful for one thing and that is that Harding has been able to make jackrabbits taste good in the summer time; I pray thee that Thou will keep them replenished so I shall not want. I am glad, O Lord, that Thou hast prospered the railroads and that they have been able to keep up their freight rates when my corn would not pay the expense of gathering. And I pray Thee that Thou will continue to uphold Mellon that he may be able to collect interest for years on the funds for his own bank account, for it is a righteous cause. Teach me to pray:

"Our Father, who art in Washington, Harding be his name: His kingdom come; his will be done, even to beating the soldiers out of a bonus. Give us each day our daily Corn—read that Wilson tried to make us eat, for two years, and Harding had us eating in three months; and lead us not unto temptation to vote for a Democrat; for Harding's got all the power; Mellon, all the money; Rockyfeller all the oil, and me the patched trousers, forever and forever. Amen!"—Exchange.

TALE typical of the dean of America's most successful novelists. It goes back to a period when steamboating on the Mississippi was picturesque and full of romance.

The hero is from the North and the other prominent characters all southern. The atmosphere is entirely of the old South, excepting for a tinge here and there which reveals the carpetbaggers' regime and the influences of the early days of reconstruction.

Uncious with humor and character drawing, presenting both the foibles and the lovable qualities of its people, the story is also salty with a quaint philosophy. Plots and incidents are dramatic and thrilling in the extreme; truly representative of a time when chivalry and hot blood were still in the ascendancy and men and women loved and hated with all the fervor of intense natures.

WHY GOOD MEN DODGE

The government service must look largely to the graduates from colleges and universities in recruiting for its technical work. Replies to an inquiry addressed to some forty of the leading colleges and universities of the country to discover what class of men took civil service examinations, whether the number is increasing and, if so, the reasons, disclose vividly what the training schools of technical and scientific men think about the government as an employer. They warn their graduates against government service, and the graduates heed the warnings.

It is certainly true that the best of our graduates are not interested in government employment because they feel that all it does not pay adequate salaries, nor does it offer opportunity for advancement that private enterprise does. This spring I interviewed all the members of the graduating class, except the women, and some of them would consider government employment, although there were many positions open. They are now about 1200 male graduates of the institute, and I will venture to state that not more than ten are employed by the government.

Replies of similar tenor and import were received from the University of Chicago, Leland Stanford University, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Princeton University, Indiana University, and the University of Wisconsin. Inequality of compensation is one of the chief reasons that deter scientists from going into the government service. Congress fixes the salaries of most of the government employees. I can give a concrete illustration of how it determines the salaries of scientific men.

Dr. Leonard O. Howard and Dr. Edward W. Nelson are two scientists in the employ of the government who have national reputations. The appropriation bill for the Department of Agriculture was under consideration in the house on January 30th, 1929. The secretary of agriculture had been recommending for five or six years that Doctor Howard's salary be increased from $4,500 to $5,000. He proposed it again in that year's bill. When the item was reached in the discussion on the floor, this colloquy ensued:

Mr. Stafford—Minor Chairman, I reserve a point of order on the paragraph in the appropriation bill which you propose to increase the same person recommended for an increase last year.

Mr. Lever—Yes, he has been in the government service many, many years.

The Chairman—I make the point of order.

Mr. Lever—I concede it.

Mr. McLaurin—Michigan—Will the gentleman reserve his point of order?

Mr. Stafford—I will reserve it.

Mr. McLaurin—The committee made the recommendation to increase the salary $500. I took testimony on it and concluded it very carefully. In our judgment the increase in salary ought to be made for an increase in the duties of the position, as the chairman says for a long time at the head of the bureau. He has performed able and faithful services. The salary is less than that paid to the heads of other bureaus. We felt, after hearing on all that was said, and with a knowledge of the work he has been doing and has done, the salary proposed is not too large.

Mr. Stafford—How long has he been there?

Mr. Lever—He has been there forty-two years.

Mr. Stafford—What is his age?

Mr. Lever—Over sixty, perhaps nearer seventy, but he is still vigorous and able to do good work. He is one of the wisest entomologists in the world.

The Chairman—The point of order is sustained.

Five minutes later the matter of Doctor Nelson's salary was reached. The secretary of agriculture recommended an increase of his pay from $3,500 to $4,000. This happened:

Mr. Stafford—Minor Chairman, I reserve the point of order on the paragraph in the appropriation bill which you propose to increase the same person recommended for an increase last year.

Mr. Lever—Yes, he has been in the government service many, many years.

The Chairman—I make the point of order.

Mr. Lever—I concede it.

Mr. McLaurin—Michigan—Will the gentleman reserve his point of order?

Mr. Stafford—I will reserve it.

Mr. McLaurin—The committee made the recommendation to increase the salary $500. I took testimony on it and concluded it very carefully. In our judgment the increase in salary ought to be made for an increase in the duties of the position, as the chairman says for a long time at the head of the bureau. He has performed able and faithful services. The salary is less than that paid to the heads of other bureaus. We felt, after hearing on all that was said, and with a

Jim Ferguson finally wiggled thru the primary in his home county with a majority of seven votes. Jim seems to have lost out at home, among the people who knew him best, just a little worse than where he is not so well known. Some people think that Jim is dead, but we are of the opinion that he will bob up again in the near future under a different guise. We are wondering just what it will be, but Jim will no doubt offer himself again for some public office. Mark our prediction and watch your step or he is liable to trip you at some unsuspecting place and shove into office. The prohibition question is not settled yet. Old King Corn is not dead, and he is liable to figure conspicuously in Texas in the future. When a man can get the solid support of the anti-prohibition people in Texas, and then work in a few side lines he is a dangerous opponent, and is not to be thought of slightly in the final count in the great State of Texas. Ferguson lost the fight by less than sixty thousand votes out of a total of over six hundred thousand—Lubbock Avenue.

Jim has already started something. He and Harry Miller have done been 'knobbing' behind closed doors in Dallas. Miller is mad because Mayfield beat his pet (Cullerson) and Jim has the chance of his life to drag in Barry and a lot of other "good prohibition" democrats of Dallas because Mayfield is accused of being a knuge kluxer. It is getting in one mull of a mess in Texas. Dow, to say the least of it. But didn't it also gull you to know that Ferguson carried Mayfield's home county, (Bosque.) But one thing, Mayfield carried Travis county by a good majority, and that is where he has really lived for several years.

MEXICO MAY INTRODUCE PROHIBITION LAWS
Mexico City, Aug. 28.—The possibility of Mexico becoming bone dry is again being seriously discussed at this place. It is announced that several deputies will propose a "dry bill" as soon as Congress begins its sessions. General P. Elias Galles, chief of cabinet and Secretary of the Interior, and Minister De La Herrera are avowed advocates of such legislation.

The belief prevails that a dry law modeled after Volstead law in the United States will be introduced although it is not believed that the measure will be enacted.

TAKOHA AS HOST TURNS OUT TO BE THE GUESTS

We had a good chance last Sunday to find out what kind of citizens we have in Takoha, especially the class of business men who inhabit the town. Some few may have been providentially hindered by sickness from helping to enter tain the out-of-town visitors, and they are excusable, but the News is sorry to say there are some people who reside in Takoha who showed a selfish streak by staying at home and not assisting in entertaining the visitors that attended the county singing convention held within our gates last Sabbath day. But, on the other hand, staying at home was not so bad as the streak shown by some of our good citizens who came and partook freely of the good things to eat without contributing anything to the dinner. From our observation there were more country people who brought dinner than there were town folks.

The News is at a loss to understand just how the business class of people in Takoha expect trade to come this way when Takoha is supposed to entertain the singing convention, and say sit comfortably at home and let the throngs of visitors take care of themselves, and return home without something to eat as was the case here Sunday.

While you were at home enjoying your easy chair, your young hopeful son joined in a general stampede at the dinner—Takoha News.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION
State of Texas, County of Dallas—To the Sheriff or any Constable of Terry County, Greeting—

You are hereby commanded to summon H. Bozeman, whose residence is unknown, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Terry County, Texas, to be held in the courthouse thereof in the city of Brownfield, Texas, on the Fifth Monday of October, 1922, being the 30th day of October, 1922, then and there to answer the petition of intervention filed in said court on the 4th day of May, 1922, in suit numbered 691 on the docket thereof, wherein the State of Texas is plaintiff, H. Bozeman is defendant and Western Securities Company is intervenor, the cause of action on the intervention by the Western Securities Company being as follows:

Western Securities Company claims ownership of one new Mitchell Automobile, F-34222, serial number 7163, which automobile was confiscated from H. Bozeman by the Sheriff of Terry County on or about November 10th, 1921, because it is alleged said automobile was used in transporting intoxicating liquors. Western Securities Company claims said automobile was stolen from it by H. Bozeman, but that it has a valid and subsisting chattel mortgage on the same, and that no officer of the State of Texas has authority to confiscate said automobile under the existing facts and circumstances.

You are further commanded to summon such defendant and to serve this citation by making publication once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county; and if there be no newspaper published in your county, then in any newspaper published in the 72nd Judicial District and if there be no newspaper published in said judicial district, then in the judicial district nearest said district.

Herein fail not, but have you before this Court on the next term thereof, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, in the City of Brownfield, this 4th day of September, A. D. 1922.

H. R. Wynn,
Clerk of the District Court, Terry County, Texas.

Issued this 4th day of September, A. D. 1922.
