14 ANNUAL COUNTY FAIR

TO BE HELD HERE SEPTEMBER 28-29. SOME HISTORIC FACTS OF OUR FIRST FAIR.

The time is nearing when the 14th annual Terry County Fair will be on us. In fact, the dates, September 28-29 are only about two weeks in the offing, and with care almost anything except perishables can now be selected for the fair, and layed away for that good day.

Fourteen years ago, at the little village of Gomez, the Terry County fair was instituted and put on record, and is today the oldest County fair on the South Plains. There was no elaborate prize list, it is true, but those hearty pioneers of that day gathered their best together in the face of the fact that some hooted the idea, and the fact that more than 100 miles lay between them and the iron rails of modern commerce.

It is a fact that less than 1000 folks lived in Terry county at that date, but they had the nerve to gather the fruits of their orchards, gardens and fields and not only exhibit them in this county, but when the whole was seen together, some on with foresight suggested that we could make the eyes of the east open at the big Dallas fair, and the stuff was hauled 110 miles to Big Spring for transportation to Dallas.

Of course the most optimistic did not expect any prize, but Uncle Bill Howard and Col. J. T. Gainer went along anyway, and to the surprise of many brought home several blue and red ribbons.

It might be of interest to some of the old timers as well as new boosters to quote a little from two October 1909 numbers of the Herald:

"Notwithstanding the wind had a rasping feeling on the nerves of people who had been up against the hottest summer in the history of the Plains, the 1st Annual Terry County Fair held at Gomez last Saturday, (Oct. 8th) was well attended and was pulled off on schedule time and in real city manner. The exhibits were fine specimens of several kinds of corn, kaffir and maize, stock, etc."

In the same issue we had the following:

Colonel J. T. Gainer left Thursday morning for Dallas with as fine lot of farm exhibits as has been our pleasure to see in many a day. The entire exhibit of the Gomez fair was packed and was supplemented with a lot of corn, maize and kaffir collected by the Bigger & Hill Land Company of this place.

Mr. Gainer was very enthusiastic over this fine collection and has high hopes of bringing back the blue ribbon on Indian corn, and believes he has a fine chance to win on maize and kaffir. He says he is going to talk Terry for all he is worth and we believe it. There is not a better booster in the county than Col. Gainer, and he strictly confines himself to the truth.

"Somebody had better look to their laurels at the Dallas Fair this year, because old Terry's products will be there this time.

"This reminds us of a little incident that occurred last year wherein a certain Central West Texas county got a lot of boosting at the expense of Terry county. One of our citizens gave a prospector several ears of fine corn. He took the corn to the Abilene fair and got first prize for his county, and then went to Dallas and repeated the performance, but we have them blocked at that old game this year."

In the issue of the Herald of Nov. 6th, 1909, Col. Gainer had returned from Dallas and gave us the following interview:

"To my notion the fair was as good again as it was two years ago. The exhibits were good from all the counties and especially from the Plains country. The exhibits of Terry attracted the attention of thousands of people from every part of the country, and received compliments from all alike, because of its honest appearance as most of the county displays that had artificial appearance. Many asked about the location of Terry county and when it was pointed out on the map, they were the more surprised. It is generally believed in the east that nothing grows here but long horned cows and bad men. Quite a number of people that are hunting homes will visit Terry in the near future on the strength of our display at the fair."

In our issue of October 27th, 1909, we take the following extract from the Dallas News:

To those who had no faith in sending the products of Terry county to the Dallas Fair will probably after reading the following extract from Tuesday's Dallas News, scratch some of the moss off their backs and go to work with a will to more fully advertise our splendid advantages. What tickles us most is that old Terry is mentioned first in the list of counties that are well represented:

"It was Llano 'Estacado' Day. There was no special program for the honoring of the new county, rapidly settling, steadily gaining in rail-ways, abundantly supplied with subterranean water in what was once reckoned a sterile section, but the counties of that region have their exhibits at the Fair. These places were much sought, and the visitors much amazed of the evidence of the productiveness of the great era; its limitless possibilities, its cattle industries and allied wealth. Terry, Lubbock, Crosby, Hale, Castro, Deaf Smith, Potter, Dallam, Briscoe and Gaines counties were well represented in many ways, and other counties are creditably represented. Many hundreds of visitors came from these counties to the Fair, honoring the occasion."

How much more ought we now to do with our 5000 people, railroads, electric lights and other modern conveniences? And we will for not only will there be more prizes than ever before for individual exhibits, but several large purses are offered for community exhibits.

Remember the Terry County Fair, September 28-29, Friday and Saturday.

GREATEST FAIR IN LUBBOCK'S HISTORY THIS YEAR

Lubbock, Sept. 10.—Things are shaping up right for the greatest Panhandle South Plains Fair ever held in this section. The new Live-Stock Judging Pavilion has been completed and will give the Live-stock a real saw-dust show ring, with seats for spectators, a washrack for livestock and other conveniences to be found in a regular high class live-stock department. Stall capacity has been increased approximately 50 per cent.

Work is starting this week upon the enlargement of the Agricultural Building. This building 60x120 was completed last year and was believed to be large enough for five years at least. Already it is more than full with 12 county exhibits and a 40 foot addition is being put onto it to give the Fair a 60x160 Agricultural Building.

The greatest interest is following the County Exhibits since the first winner of the South Plains Fair last year won second place at the State Fair at Dallas, only being beaten by Lubbock county, whose products were selected from the individual Lubbock county exhibits at the same fair. This year at least three of the first five winners at the State Fair are expected to come from the counties showing at the South Plains Fair and the counties are already preparing their exhibits with care.

Increased and Enlarged Woman's Department

A decidedly new and modern Woman's Building is under construction. It will be ceiled inside and out and will be the best building yet erected on the Fair Grounds. It will be more than double the size of the old Woman's Building—which, by the way, becomes the Poultry building for the coming fair. Special built-in shelves, cases and other features will add to its service as a Woman's Building. It will be a better and more complete building than is now used at the State Fair to house the Woman's Department. Special invitation is extended to the women of the Plains to study that department in their catalogues and plans for exhibits.

The catalogues are out and are being distributed. The greatest demand ever known for catalogues is already being felt by the Secretary's Office. An interesting feature of this year's catalogue is the write-up of each of the South Plains counties entering an exhibit at the fair, with pictures, facts and general information that will make the book worth reading, in addition to the premium list contained in the back of the book. Write the Secretary for a copy.

Entertainment Program Most Complete

The greatest entertainment program ever attempted has already been worked out for the coming fair. Seven bands have entered the band contest and will provide music each day for the Fair and in the evenings. The Fire Works appropriation was more than doubled and some real features are promised each night in that department. More than $3,000 has been spent for free entertainment of various kinds, including two big free acts each day by a troupe of trained animals, aerial acrobatics, clown stunts and other features. This entertainment alone has cost the fair more than $12,500.

An attendance of more than 50,000 is being prepared for during the four days. When 40,000 people came to Lubbock for the Tech Celebration a new high water mark was set on single day attendance of any kind of celebration in Texas. The total of the four days at the Fair must break this record and every indication now points to the fact that it will.

CONVERSIONS REPORTED AT KKK MEETING AT UNION

On September 7th at 8 p.m., a large crowd of ladies and gentlemen congregated at the Union School house for the purpose of hearing Mr. W. S. Arms discuss the principles for which the K.K.K. stands. The people were very attentive and when the meeting closed, there were 15 who publicly accepted Christ and are ready to line up with some branch of the christian church and give their lives to the service of God.

Dr. Lester A. Brown, a national lecturer of the K.K.K., will lecture at the City Tabernacle in Brownfield at 8 p.m., Thursday September 20th. Everybody invited.—Contributed.

LARGE CROWDS ATTEND SCHOOL OPENING MONDAY

The largest crowd in the history of the Brownfield High School was on hand promptly on time Monday for the 1923-24 session opening. While lots of parents were on hand, we are sorry to say that they were mostly made up of mothers. However, quite a few fathers were on hand. The big auditorium seating in the neighborhood of 750 was soon taxed, and the window jams and standing room was then taken.

Superintendent Rankin announced that fully 500 would matriculate the first day, and that he expected 625 pupils enrolled by Christmas.

All the teachers were on hand and seemed to vie with the pupils smiling and greeting the visitors. The following program was carried out:

Invocation—Rev. J. W. Baughman. Music—Brownfield High School Orchestra.

Address—Rev. C. E. Ball. The speaker in a masterly manner stressed the fact that the teacher was supposed to inculcate more than a physical and mental education into the child; that the moral part of the human being was worth all the rest. He congratulated the school on the fact that all the teachers are church members and take an active part in the work of some of the local churches here.

The girls high school chorus, who received many compliments for the music they rendered before the Institute at Lubbock last week, then rendered a very pleasing song.

Mr. K. W. Howell, member of the school board addressed the house in the absence of President O. W. Gillespie. He stressed co-operation, and delivered a very pleasing address, which was well received.

Miss Johnson, of Sweetwater, who is attending school here, favored the audience with a violin solo at this time.

Supt. Rankin then delivered an address of a general outline of the improvements since last session, including about $20,000 for additional building and equipment, including steam heating for the entire plant. He also layed down some rules that are to be enforced this year, which includes only one party every two weeks for pupils.

He then indicated the rooms the eleven grades will occupy and the pupils were permission to go to their rooms.

Not a few pupils from other districts were noticeable, especially from Meadow, where school will not open for a few months on account of the construction of a new building. We are glad that we are able at this time to accommodate them.

The outlook for a good school was never better here, and with a little push and co-operation on the part of each pupil, patron, teacher and trustee, no better school will be had on the Plains this year.

ASSOCIATIONAL B.Y.P.U. BANQUET LAST WEEK

On the evening of September 6th, the Baptist young people of the Brownfield Association, which is composed of about seven counties, assembled at the Cozy Cafe here for their first annual banquet. Sixty-seven young people, happy, hilarious, alive with young manhood and womanhood and religious zeal and fervor, were seated at the well arranged and supplied tables.

When all had been served, a very interesting and instructive program was rendered, consisting of special music, readings, and talks looking forward to the future progress of the Association. At the close of the program a list of officers were elected, consisting of the best talent in the Association.

The above organization hopes to meet somewhere in the Association at least once a quarter and render a suitable program in the interest of the Union.

AT THE METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday School promptly at 10:00 o'clock. Subject of the lesson will be "Luke's Contribution to Christianity." The Pastor, J. W. Baughman will preach at the morning and evening hours on "The work of the Holy Spirit." A welcome is extended to all.

John Gathing, manager of the West Texas Gin, informed us Tuesday afternoon that he had ginned 8 bales of cotton up to that time.

BUYING HOMES IN TERRY

IT IS BELIEVED BY ALL THAT 1930 CENSUS WILL AT LEAST GIVE TERRY 12,000 POPULATION.

They came; they saw; they purchased homes.

This is about the way to tell about the prospector to Terry county at the present time. None of them go back home satisfied with home, but will come back to purchase later. However, many of them are buying farms the first trip. They are farms too; not a big body of land for speculative purposes. Land is getting too high here, even for that purpose, but they are buying home for the future, from 80 acres, 160 acres and 320 acres. Most of the farms are 160 acres.

These purchasers are real farmers, too. They have that appearance and talk like they know how to farm. The portion of Texas known generally as Central West Texas is represented mostly among the prospectors, but many are coming from the lower Panhandle and Oklahoma.

Even at the present rate of growth, for most of these people will locate here and build home around the first part of 1924, our population will more than double in three years, but it is the general belief that the crest of immigration has not come by any means.

Now that these settlers are headed this way and at least two big ranches not to mention numerous farms are for sale, let's not make a mess of it and stop them with unreasonable prices fixed either on land, building material or other merchandise, just because we think we can get it. This very thing was done a few years ago here and should be a lesson. We have the land they want, alright, but they are not going to pay exorbitant prices for it.

Our lumber companies and other merchants are preparing for the rush with large stocks, and we are sure we know them well enough that they will give the new comer the glad hand and value received besides.

We heartily welcome these stable people coming here to make homes, for they believe with us that Terry county and the South Plains generally are destined to be the greatest cotton section in Texas.

It may be of interest to some to learn that some of these prospectors from Jones and other big cotton counties of Central West Texas, are finding fields out here they say will make a bale of cotton per acre.

Get headed for Terry.

W. C. T. U. FIFTY YEAR SOLD

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union is fifty years old. The Jubilee Convention is being held at Columbus, Ohio, its mother State. It was just a half century ago that "Mother" Thompson, of Hillsboro, Ohio, surrounded herself with a band of militant women intent upon one thing, the putting out of business all liquor selling establishments.

From the informal organization grew the Woman's Christian Temperance Union which has an organization in every state in the union and reaches in to 57 foreign countries. Important aspects of the meeting, which has law enforcement as its theme, includes a possible pilgrimage to Hillsboro, a street pageant, and a march of allegiance to our flag and country.

J. H. Stewart was here last week visiting relatives.

GOOD ENTERTAINMENT PROMISED AT AMARILLO

An outline of the entertainment for the Amarillo Tri-State Exposition, September 25-29, has just been announced by R. D. Rodgers, chairman of the committee. His committee has been at work for several months in lining up a program that is believed will please the thousands of visitors that are expected to go to Amarillo for the exposition.

A fire works display by a nationally known firm will be one of the features. Details of this display will be announced later, but it is declared that the Panhandle has never seen a fire works display that equals it. A mammoth American flag, so realistic that it is surprising, is the grand finale each night for the fire works.

Petite Marguerite, heralded as the dainty miss with a nerve of iron, will be one of the real attractions in the entertainment. She will be here the afternoon of September 25th and give an exhibition, suspended by her hair and glides from the top of one building to another. This stunt will probably be performed from the Amarillo Hotel to the Mission Theatre. While she is suspended in the middle of the Block, Marguerite will sing a song. To the person who mails in the song she chooses to sing, by September 22, her manager will give a cash prize of $25. This selection of song should be mailed to the entertainment committee of the fair, care of J. V. Gilvin secretary-treasurer. A one ring circus with mules, dogs and monkeys will please the adults and children. "Spot," the greatest of all bucking mules will be in Amarillo in all his glory.

Other entertainment features will be announced with full details in a few days. Practically all the amusement features have been contracted for, according to Mr. Rodgers.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF LOVINGTON CLOSES DOORS

Wednesday morning of week our citizens and town in general received a staggering blow when it fully became known that the First National Bank of our town had closed its doors at or near closing time the afternoon before, owing, it is said, by reliable information, to the continued withdrawal of deposits and an inability to realize on cattle papers.

However, a number of the business and heavy depositors do not feel uneasy as to the final outcome and still feel confident that the stockholders themselves will come to the rescue and that business will open up again in the near future.—Lovington (N. M.) Leader.

J. D. Bingham, of Hardeman Co., was here last week visiting his brother, T. N. Bingham and family, and prospecting.

AN ENTERTAINMENT EXTRAORDINARY

On Monday night at the school auditorium, was given one of the best entertainments heard within the past twelve months.

H. C. Rankin, a Baylor graduate, an ex-service man, and a volunteer for missionary service in China, gave a "one man entertainment," consisting of serious readings from standard authors for the first part of the program. The second division of the entertainment was devoted to stories and poetry of the late war, both humorous and heart gripping. One of the best was an original reading by the entertainer. The third part of the program was devoted to negro impersonations.

Mr. Rankin is an entertainer par excellence. His type of entertainment appeals to the most cultured as well as the young people and children. He is an orator, an ex-soldier, an honor graduate student, which various experience makes him fit to please and entertain all classes.—Contributed.

PROF. RANKIN PRAISED FOR SINGING AT INSTITUTE

The opening exercises for the South Plains Teachers' Institute this morning were well attended, and much credit is due Prof. J. D. Rankin, of Brownfield, for the splendid work he is doing in conducting the song services.

Prof. Rankin was here last year, and was made director of these services, and it is a pleasure to hear him

The future possibilities of the South Plains schools are reflected in the splendid interest the teachers are showing in the institute, which to them is just what a convention is to the average business man—a place to grasp the big ideas of the other fellow who is successful in his particular work and to get a greater vision of their respective responsibilities.

All open and special sessions of the institute have been well attended and the teachers are equipping themselves to solve the many problems that have come before them.—Lubbock Avalanche.

"SORE" BECAUSE THE PLAINS GOT THE TECH. COLLEGE

The Texas Tech.

Thank heaven the agony is over,
Praise God the Tech is located,
Thirty-four towns are sadly in mourning.

While Lubbock is greatly elated,
No doubt you've heard of the Texas Tech.

That famous school on the line of New Mex.,
It's out on the treeless plain,
In the land of sandstorms and sand

Where the coyotes yell,
Cowboys raise H—, I,
And the Prairie Dog kneels

On the back of his heels,
And fervently prays for rain.—"Pets."

J. W. McKinney pastor of the Church of Christ at Slaton comes back at "Pets" in a recent issue of the Slaton Slatonite, as follows:

Yes the Tech is located,

An, gosh, we rejoice,
To know that old Lubbock
Is the committee's choice.

But we fail to get the drift,
Of "the sandstorms and sand,"
For we have the very best

Of the Lone Star's land,
And the coyote's yell,
Why say, old top,

We chased them to the 'sticks,'
Down below the caprock.

Why, the cowboys you speak of
They don't raise Cain,
Cause their editor competitors

Have put them to shame,
And practically all our land
Is tillable you know,

And we don't have room
For the trees to grow.

We've had lots of rain,
From whence we opine,
We should never have known

If your light did not shine,
We're glad the prairie dog
Hasn't forgot his old home,

Although we've chased him to
Regions unknown,
And if rain results

From his proverbial spell,
While he calmly kneels
On the back of his heels.

We hope he continues
For the Tech has a home
Out here in a country

Truly called God's own,
Where prosperity reigns
Supremely, though fair,

Now come on out Buddy,
And enjoy the pure air.

Insist On An Expert Opinion

There are plenty of folks that know something about titles. But the only opinion that is worth anything is the opinion of the man who knows EVERYTHING ABOUT land titles.

One flaw overlooked leaves the title just as hazy as before. In fact, an incomplete abstract, a shallow search, leaves things worse than before; for trusting the incorrect opinion has deceived one into a false sense of security.

This Company offers you the services and the verdict of an EXPERT. Our exhaustive records, our systematized methods, our complete knowledge of the subject, our THOROUGHNESS which lets no facts slip—these are your guarantees. When you have our opinion, you know there is no more to be said.

Before you buy, insist upon an Abstract of Title made by this Company. It will be your guarantee of future security in your property.

The Herald hopes that you will be able to pour it on 'em for at least 20 years more Haynes.

Yes, land is selling here fast and furious, and it is nothing now to how it will sell the next two months. We have been asked why we don't report sales. We want to see the county settled by thirty farmers, and if we began reporting sales, people who have land to sell would get the big eye and advance it to where no one would buy. Get the idea.

Our exchanges are full of school openings the past week. No other single medium boosts schools anything like the press, yet it is hard for the school people to remember this when they want some graduating announcements or something on that order. They think it must be printed way off somewhere, failing to remember that the printer has access to the same stock of announcements as the foreign printer.

Don't take it for granted that the Review office knows the news—tell it to us. Some of the most important news of the week gets by us because somebody thinks we know about it, when not even a little bird has whispered the message to the Review office. While this is a newspaper office we fully believe that less gossip reaches us than any other business house in town. Harless gossip is the source of most news. So don't be selfish about telling the Review of news items.—Crosbyton Review.

The above very appropriately applies here too.

Another dangerous runaway took place on the streets Monday afternoon about two o'clock. It is a wonder that more people than there is, are not killed by madly frightened horse without driver plunging down the streets, and the drivers should take precautions by hitching teams, as they have no assurance but it may be one of their own little ones crossing the street at the wrong time. The City Council might brace up the matter by an ordinance and then enforce it, for soon our streets are going to be covered with cotton wagons, and runaways will be still more dangerous.

Jess Adams of the Plainview News is trying to palm off the reform notion that the only safe place to kiss a girl is on the back of her neck. Ben Smith, of the Snyder Times says that germs have nothing to do with the matter, and if a fellow wants to take a chance on painter's colic he should kiss a girl where she wants to be kissed. All of which is old stuff, and it is said that Old Tut himself went to his historic tomb trying to solve the problem. So bald headed critics and merry fashion censors had better lay off the subject, and tell us who is going to be the next president. It would be something more in your line.—Canadian Record.

"Great is the Goddess Diana of the Ephesians." This was the cry of the ancient Monkeyites to the Apostle Paul and Silas. These Ephesians of course knew more about the universe than the God of Heaven, and their descendants still survive the time. A Monkey ancestor professor over in California, writing last week for the magazine supplement of one of our prominent State dailies, referred to the Genesis account of the food as Hebrew Mythology. This stuff is being doped out in every available bit of literature possible these days for the perusal of the young and old alike. They claim, these professors, we mean, to have the exact figures on the age of rocks, etc., but are very careful to give themselves at least a million years variation. The heathen admit a Supreme Power, and we should not wonder that even some tribes of apes with more common sense than modern kulturist admit a Higher Power, that is able to create—to speak into existence what He wills. What then, is to hinder this Supreme Power from given in a few hours the age of a million years or more to a simple pebble?

"Or else it was administered in the brandy you gave her. Only three people touched that brandy—you, Miss Tuppen, I myself, and one other—Mr. Julius Hershelmer!"

Jane Finn stirred and sat up, regarding the speaker with wide, astonished eyes. Springing to her feet, she cried out angrily:

"What do you mean? What are you trying to suggest? That Mr. Brown is Julius? Julius—my own cousin!"

"No, Miss Finn," said Sir James. "Not your cousin. The man who calls himself Julius Hershelmer is no relation to you whatsoever."

CHAPTER XVII

Mr. Brown.

Sir James' words came like a bombshell. Both girls looked equally puzzled. The lawyer went across to his desk, and returned with a small newspaper cutting, which he handed to Jane. Tuppen read it over her shoulder. It referred to the mysterious man found dead in New York.

"As I was saying to Miss Tuppen," resumed the lawyer, "I set to work to prove the impossible possible. The great stumbling-block was the undeniable fact that Julius Hershelmer was not an assumed name. When I came across this paragraph my problem was solved. Julius Hershelmer set out to discover what had become of his cousin. He went out West, where he obtained news of her and her photograph to aid him in his search. On the eve of his departure from New York he was set upon and murdered. His body was dressed in shabby clothes, and the face disfigured to prevent identification. Mr. Brown took his place. He sailed immediately for England. Since then he had been hand and glove with those sworn to hunt him down. Every secret of theirs has been known to him. Only once did he come near disaster. Mrs. Vandemeyer knew his secret. It was no part of his plan that that huge bribe should ever be offered to her. But for Miss Tuppence's fortunate change of plan, she would have been far away from the flat when we arrived there. Exposure stared him in the face. He took a desperate step, trusting in his assumed character to avert suspicion. He nearly succeeded—but not quite.

"Now we're ready. I know better than even to suggest going without you, Miss Tuppence—"

"I should think so indeed!" Sir James' car drew up at the corner of the square and they got out. A policeman produced a key. They all knew Sir James well. The three entered the house, pulling the door to behind them. Slowly they mounted the rickety stairs. At the top was the ragged curtain hiding the recess where Tommy had hidden that day. Tuppence had heard the story from Jane in her character of "Annette." She looked at the tattered velvet with interest. Even now she could almost swear it moved—as though someone was behind it. Supposing Mr. Brown—Julius—was there waiting.

Impossible of course! She must not give way to this foolish fancying—this curious insistent feeling that Mr. Brown was in the house. . . . Hark! What was that? A stealthy footstep on the stairs? There was someone in the house! Absurd! She was becoming hysterical.

Jane had gone straight to the picture of Marguerite. She unhooked it with a steady hand. The dust lay thick upon it, and festoons of cobwebs lay between it and the wall. Sir James handed her a pocket-knife, and she ripped away the brown paper from the back. . . . The advertisement page of a magazine fell out. Jane picked it up. Holding apart the frayed inner edges, she extracted two thin sheets covered with writing!

No dummy this time! The real thing! "We've got it," said Tuppence. "At last. . . ."

Sir James took it, and scrutinized it attentively.

"Yes," he said quietly, "this is the ill-fated draft treaty!"

"We've succeeded," said Tuppence. There was awe and an almost wondering unbelief in her voice.

Sir James echoed her words as he folded the paper carefully and put it away in his pocket-book, then he looked curiously round the dingy room.

"It was here that our young friend was confined for so long, was it not?" he said. "A truly sinister room. You notice the absence of windows, and the thickness of the close-fitting door. Whatever took place here would never be heard by the outside world."

"You feel—as we all feel—THE PRESENCE OF MR. BROWN. Yes!"—as Tuppence made a movement—"not a doubt of it—MR. BROWN IS HERE. . . ."

"In this house?" "In this room. . . . You don't understand? I AM MR. BROWN. . . ."

Stupefied, unbelieving, they stared at him. The very lines of his face had changed. It was a different man who stood before them. He smiled a slow cruel smile.

"Neither of you will leave this room alive! Shall I tell you how it will be? Sooner or later the police will break in, and they will find three victims of Mr. Brown—three, not two, you understand, but fortunately the third will not be dead, only wounded, and will be able to describe the attack with a wealth of detail! The treaty? It is in the hands of Mr. Brown. So no one will think of searching the pockets of Sir James Peel Edgerton!"

There was a faint sound behind him, but, intoxicated with success, he did

But, even as he did so, he felt himself seized from behind in a grip of iron. The revolver was wrenched from his hand, and the voice of Julius Hersheimer said drawingly: "I guess you're caught redhanded with the goods on you."

The blood rushed to the K. C.'s face, but his self-control was marvelous, as he looked from one to the other of his two captors. He looked longest at Tommy. "You," he said beneath his breath. "You! I might have known."

Seeing that he was disposed to offer no resistance, their grip slackened. Quick as a flash his left hand, the hand which bore the big signet ring, was raised to his lips.

"Ave, Caesar! to morituri salutem!" he said, still looking at Tommy. Then his face changed, and with a long convulsive shudder he fell forward in a crumpled heap, whilst an odor of bitter almonds filled the air.

SEVEN U. S. DESTROYERS LOST

LINER CUBA ALSO GOES ON ROCKS, BUT PASSENGERS AND CREW SAVED.

OVER 500 ARE RESCUED

Navigators Lose Way in Impenetrable Fog and Ships Are a Total Loss.

Santa Barbara, Cal.—Seven United States Navy destroyers and the Pacific mail liner Cuba have been wrecked; the navy vessels crashing on the rocks in a dense fog off Arguello Light, 75 miles north of Santa Barbara, and the passenger steamer on a reef off the southeast end of San Miguel Island, 35 miles off this port.

Twenty-three enlisted men of the destroyers lost their lives in the naval disaster and all the destroyers were reported as total losses.

The liner Cuba was reported to have sunk during the night, but all passengers and members of the crew either were landed at Los Angeles by the destroyer Reno or are on their way to San Francisco on board the Standard Oil tanker W. S. Miller, with the exception of Capt. C. J. Holland, the purser, steward and eight seamen, who remained on board to guard a shipment of $2,500,000 in silver bullion.

Dense fog was the cause of both disasters.

The destroyers Chauncey, Woodbury, Fuller, S. P. Lee, Nicholas, Young and Delphy were all beached within a few minutes of one another, according to naval officers.

The flotilla of which the wrecked craft formed a part was in command of Capt. Edward Watson, commanding officer of the Delphy, and was on a practice cruise.

The dead were all trapped in their bunks on the Young when the vessel struck and were destroyed when the craft capsized within two minutes after striking.

A partial list of the dead, as officially announced follows:

U. S. Skipper Joseph Slimak, Henry T. Kirk, Enrique Torres, Buchanan, Harrison, Reddock, Salzer, Martin, Kirby, Grady, Benschank, Taylor, Overshiner, Duncan, Ray H. Morris, John Young, C. F. Rogers and Conroy.

The body of Conroy was the only one recovered when all efforts to obtain the others had been fruitless.

More than 500 men were rescued from the wrecked destroyers, which were reported to be pounding to pieces on the rocks, all total losses.

Of the survivors 15 of the seriously injured were brought to the Santa Barbara County hospital here. One hundred others were cut and bruised in their swim to safety over the jagged rocks. The destroyers were traveling in formation at twenty knots in a heavy sea and dense fog when the leading vessel crashed.

Carried ahead by a strong tide, the destroyers piled on the beach in succession. Lying in the line along the shore at intervals of 250 feet, the boats were slowly breaking up. One of them, the Chauncey, was resting high on the rocks.

The sea was running so heavy that it was only a few minutes after the crash that all of the destroyers were taking water.

THE RED CROSS FUND IS NOW $3,500,000

Efforts Will Be Continued, as Officials Think That $10,000,000 Is Needed.

Washington.—The American Red Cross Japanese fund has been increased to $3,501,000 by subscriptions received at headquarters here.

With only $1,749,000 yet to procure to achieve the $5,250,000 set, officials expressed confidence that the full sum would be subscribed, principally through Nation-wide church collections.

From coast to coast churches took up special collections for the Japanese relief fund.

When the quota is reached, however, there will be no slackening of efforts, because Red Cross officials believe this amount is far below what will be required to afford even the most meager relief for some months yet.

President Coolidge has estimated that at least $10,000,000 will be required to afford the Japanese even mediocre relief for two months.

The mystery is as to the nature of the unknown gas in the sun which produces a vivid green in the sun's spectrum.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS OFFER COMPROMISE

League Reserves for Own Action Problem of Occupation of Corfu

Geneva.—The League of Nations has avoided immediate shipwreck on the rock of Mussolini's defiance.

At a public meeting of the league council it staved off the embarrassing question of its competency to handle the Greco-Italian embroilment.

Two decisions were made.

The league recommends to the Paris Council of Ambassadors the problem of arranging a basis of settlement of the Italian demand for a 50,000,000-lire indemnity for the slaying of Italian officials.

The league reserves for its own action question of the Italian occupation of Corfu, which is considered a violation of Art. 10 of the league covenant.

The league thus avoids an open break with Italy and delays the final test of its authority and competence to handle the question.

The general view here is that the league council's action in turning the question of the murders over to the Council of Ambassadors is in itself an assertion of league authority and thus establishes the competency of the league.

The league, furthermore, must approve the Ambassadors' decision, it is declared.

GERMANY REACHES END OF HER HALTER

Likely to Propose Official Discussions With French and Belgians

Berlin.—While Chancellor Stresemann still is awaiting French reaction to his speech at Stuttgart recently there is a strong belief in Bourse and financial circles that the Ruhr conflict is facing an early and enforced termination. Whatever effect the Chancellor's pronounced shift in the direction of a French rapprochement may have had on Premier Poincare, there is a growing conviction that Germany is no longer capable of paying the terrific price involved in maintaining her passive resistance.

Aside from gradual disintegration, which is daily becoming more conspicuous throughout the Ruhr and the Rhineland, the Nation's finances are leaping into such chaos that further indulgence in the luxury of dumping uncounted trillions into the battle along the Ruhr and the Rhine is viewed in official and private quarters as indefensible.

The Ruhr and Rhineland today are literally wallowing in oceans of wildcat currencies of official and private origin, all of which must eventually be redeemed. As these two territories are nominally Germany's most productive sources of tax revenues, the Government has virtually paid double price for keeping them inactive through eight months of passive resistance, in that it has been deprived of enormous tax receipts from the most prolific producing areas.

Their rehabilitation to the former standard of production will consume another six months of unproductiveness so far as the tax chequer is concerned, in the opinion of industrialist leaders, who are qualified to gauge the physical deterioration of the plants and mines and to the extent of which the workers have been demoralized by their idleness.

Dallas Third in Postal Receipts
Washington.—Dallas ranks third in the percentage increase in postal receipts for August, compared with the same month a year ago, as announced by the Postoffice Department, its increase being 13.97 per cent, and exceeded by Detroit and Pittsburgh. Receipts of Dallas for the month amounted to $232,088, compared with $203,623 for August, 1922.

Proclaim Moratorium
Osaka.—The Japanese Government has proclaimed a thirty-day moratorium for payments falling due from Sept. 1 to Sept. 30. The moratorium is inapplicable outside the zone of the disaster.

Seaplane Forced Down; Floats Sandusky, Ohio.—According to a message received from the Marblehead coast guard station, eight passengers were taken off a big seaplane, bound from Detroit to Cleveland, five miles off Cedar Point. The plane was forced to land in Lake Erie because of engine trouble. The big plane floated on the lake for nearly two hours before the coast guards reached the air boat, which was hidden in a thick fog.

AIR FLEET SINKS TWO BATTLESHIPS

Virginia and New Jersey Bombed by Aviators at Height of 3,000 Feet

Cape Hatteras, N. C.—A spectacular show, staged by army aviators, over this famous graveyard of ships, marked the beginning of the scrapping of American war craft required under the naval limitation treaty.

The ships destroyed were once the proud Virginia and New Jersey, which made up a part of the American battle fleet which "Fighting Bob" Evans led in the memorable cruise around the world in 1907.

The success attending the efforts of the army aviators from Langley Field, Virginia, operating under perfect weather conditions, were simulating a defense of American shores from an enemy attack, was greater even than that which they met in 1921 in the sinking of a German warship turned over to the United States after the World War.

Improvement of instruments and personnel in the two years was demonstrated clearly. It required just thirty minutes for the sinking of the Virginia, eight planes flying at an altitude of 3,000 feet accounting for her with thirteen 1,100-pound bombs.

The New Jersey proved more difficult of destruction, however. After two attacks on the New Jersey, which left her still afloat but leaking, the assault on the Virginia began at 11:54 a. m. The fourth bomb released struck the hull in the after turret and converted her superstructure into a tangled mass of steel. Both cage masts, three smokestacks and the heavy boat davits were demolished and part of the armor plate was torn from the after turret.

Before that two bombs had been put overboard close alongside and the ship began to list. Other bombs fell close to the starboard side and apparently ripped open the ship's hull, as she went down to starboard, rapidly turned bottomside up at 12:20 p. m., and disappeared bow up four minutes later.

CLOTHING MAKING PROPOSAL TO NEFF

Manufacturers Say They Will Fight Proposed Convict Contract

Austin, Texas.—Proposal to loan machinery and other necessary equipment free of charge to the State for establishing a State garment manufacture at the State prison, the products of which would be used in State institutions has been made to Gov. Neff by a committee representing the Texas Garment Manufacturers' Association. The committee protested against a proposed contract for prison labor with a private concern.

It was announced by the committee, headed by Carl Pool, president of the State association, that a movement to prevent carrying out any contract with private concerns would be inaugurated in the courts if such contracts are closed.

The manufacturers' association also proposed to name a committee from its organization to assist the Prison Commission and State officials in instituting the garment manufacture.

Gov. Neff expressed no opinion on the proposal, the committee said, and did not agree to present the proposal to the Prison Commission.

The manufacturers' proposal is a new turn in the controversy over prison labor, which was the subject of an investigation by the last Legislature.

The message relayed information received from official sources in Japan to the effect that all foreign refugees escaping from the disaster had been taken care of upon ships in Yokohama harbor.

WALTON WILL NOT LIFT MARTIAL LAW

Oklahoma Grand Dragon Sounds Challenge to Executive in Klan Fight.

Oklahoma City, Okla.—The entire State of Oklahoma has been threatened with martial law by Gov. J. C. Walton coincident with a challenge thrown to him that he would never be able to "break the power of the Ku Klux Klan in Oklahoma."

Charging that the drive being conducted by the executive in Tulsa County against mob floggers was inspired by Walton's desire to make himself "a national figure," N. W. Jewett, grand dragon of the Oklahoma realm of the Klan, declared that the Governor "would like to drop the iron that has grown too hot for him to hold right now if he could."

Voicing his unshaken determination to "restore the supremacy of the law in this State," the Governor said:

"I realize that the conflict with the lawless element and lawless spirit of large groups of Oklahoma's citizens is a desperate one; that my enemies will use every weapon at their command, including the press where they can command it, grand juries and other agencies, to defeat the purpose of this administration."

In an attack on the executive Grand Dragon Jewett charged, "Jack Walton entered the kitchen of the Klan, but he never got any further, and that is one of the principal causes of his fight on the Klan." Jewett alleged that Walton had been "obligated" in the Klan at the capital by Minor Merryweather, formerly a klegle at Muskogee, adding "that is as far as he ever got." The Oklahoma City organization rejected the Governor, Jewett charged.

Answering allegations from the Governor's office that only the Klan has been found responsible for Tulsa County floggings, Jewett declared that the Klan repudiated the few "weaklings" of its membership who had become involved in masked violence. "The Klan has ever advocated enforcement of the law, he said.

In line with Gov. Walton's advice to citizens to arm and "shoot to kill" when attacked by mobs, State police commissions were issued Friday to several Comanche County farmers, according to Aldrich Blake, the Governor's counselor.

"Persons who have been threatened by mob violence will be given commissions to protect themselves," said Blake.

A full pardon to any person convicted for shooting members of mobs has been promised by Governor Walton.

"I am not contemplating any moderation of the martial law proclamation in Tulsa County nor the withdrawal of the military nor any let up in the military investigation now being conducted there.

"On the contrary, if any new orders are issued, they are apparent to be in the nature of a proclamation declaring martial law throughout the State of Oklahoma, including Oklahoma County.

HAVE DEFINITE IDEA AS TO FOREIGN DEAD

Loss of Life Among U. S. Residents in Japan Appears Small.

London.—With communication between the devastated districts of Tokio and the Southern Japanese ports of Kobe and Osaka partly restored by airplanes and road transport along the Takaido route, and with the pick of Japan's well-trained army divisions, which have been converging on the ruined capital for several days, exerting discipline to restore order among the hundreds of thousands of homeless, news from Japan begins to give some definite idea of the loss of foreign life.

There are approximately 100 foreigners dead or reported missing, half of whom are British, but the Japanese Government representatives here are still uninformed as to the number of Japanese who perished through the earthquake, fire and deluge.

It seems fairly certain that the loss of life among American residents in Tokio and Yokohama was small, but no reports have been received concerning the fate of tourists. From 500 to 1,000 American globe trotters are usually to be found in Yokohama hotels any day during the summer months, waiting for homeward boats or to start on tours through Japan.

41 Lives are Lost
Amsterdam.—The Dutch trawler Java, which has just arrived at Ymuiden reported the foundering of the German steamship Kleupfel with a loss of 41 lives.

Cripples' Friend Dies
London.—Sir William Purdie Treloar, Lord Mayor of London in 1906-07 and widely known as "the cripples' friend," died here recently. He was a prominent business man and was founder of the Lord Mayor Treloar hospital for Cripples at Hampshire.

Street Dresses for Fall;

Style in Handmade Sweater

THE variations of the mode in dresses and suits for the current season are like variations of a musical theme that carries a single phrase through an entire composition. Regardless of the manner in which sleeves, collars and skirts are made, the costume, as a whole, conforms to simple lines and to the longer skirt length, things that are established in the fall fashions. Where there are departures from the straight silhouette it is generally in the form of a slight fullness at the front or sides of the skirt and this is merely a modification of the mode.

In the two dresses pictured, that at the left shows a favored method of trimming sleeves and collar. The sleeves are made rather wide and rows of applique embroidery in an intricate design, are applied from the elbow to the wrist. The same design is repeated in the collar. The dress at the right reflects the vogue of tiered skirts. Three deep circular ruffles are placed at each side giving something of a pannier effect. The straight lines of the front of the dress are emphasized by rows of small tucks extending from garment as beautiful and as exclusive as the one shown in this picture. It is a marvel that stands unique in the history of sweaters in that it is not knit but is darned with many colored yarns on a foundation of scrim. This is grandma's sample stitchery glorified in modern adaptation.

This sweater is simple to make. Cut scrim in whatever style blouse desired. Sew up. Then darn with multicolored yarns forming a design of one's own origination, or it may facilitate the work to stamp the pattern. This sweater offers unusual opportunity to express individual taste.

Speaking of hand-wrought knit sweaters, the scope of styles embraces a bewildering variety, including charming innovations of blouse and jacket, also many slip-on models.

There is a new patsley yarn which knits up into garments of impressive style. Stripes knit horizontally in gay colors are in marked favor. Very interesting revers and novelty fastenings which invite the use of buttons are characteristic features in the latest hand-made sweater modes.

the necklines to the hem. A belt of bright, metallic ribbon held at the hips by straps of the material, adds a touch of color to the costume.

The circular effect favored in many new coats and dresses is emphasized by border treatments of fur, braid and embroidery. Bodices are either severely plain or very slightly modish to the figure. For sports wear there is a decided flare for masculine styles in rough weaves and bold colored materials.

The feminine world is turning to sweater-knitting more enthusiastically this season. Small as it is, for the marvelously beautiful and zephyrs which every

LACKS CREATIVE VIGOR

Commenting on the recent debate in the British House of Commons on Socialism versus Capital, J. L. Garvin in the London Observer entitled "Sense or Suicide?" made the following statement:

Nowhere in the world has state ownership of anything equaled countless successes of private enterprise. The creative impulses of free energy, initiative and invention are lacking; these personal qualities are essential industry and commerce as in literature and art.

"Official management, sooner or later, comes to settled routine, and mere routine is the death of business as continued new resources is its very breath of life. No substitute for the creative or organizing vigor of the individual has yet been discovered."

When she was a sweet young thing with orange blossoms and a long, sweeping, white veil, 'n' everthing, the organ strikes up the tune: "Here comes the bride." After ten or twelve years of marital meanderings, and the organ might well strike up: "Here comes the brood."

A WORD OF APPRECIATION

Whereas, this is the first day of Sept., and the 4th anniversary of Bro. H. D. Heath's pastorate of the Gomez Baptist church,

And whereas, we the members of the church subscribe to the saying that "honor should be bestowed where honor is due;" we deem it fit and proper that we here, today, make this public acknowledgement of our hearty appreciation of Bro. Heath's pastorate of four years at Gomez; that during the four years pastorate, he has missed but two appointments, both of which were providential; that when we consider the distance, the cold, fierce storms of winter, often snowing and freezing weather, we believe the above record is exceptional, and seldom if ever equaled by any pastor; that when he came to our church four years ago, there was no Sunday School here, nor had there been for months previous to his coming; that at the time of his coming there was no prayer meeting nor a Young Peoples' Union in Gomez; that the church since his coming has been lead to co-operate in all our denominational work from year to year, and from time to time contributions have been made to home, state and foreign missions, as well as to the Baptist Sanitarium and the Buckner Orphans Home; that at different times Bro. Heath has, through good and wise leadership and counsel been the means of bringing members of the church who had been at variance back into unity and peace and good fellowship; that while we have no definite data upon which to base an estimate, quite a number have been lead away from the paths of sin and led to accept Christ as Lord, during his pastorate; that we commend him for the pure gospel which he preaches; for his ability as a teacher of God's word and for his spotless Christian character and his unimpeachable honor, and that we heartily endorse Bro. Heath's pastorate, past and present at Gomez.

Therefore, be it resolved; That his call to this church made four years ago still maintains as it was an indefinite call.

Adopted by the Gomez Baptist church in conference, 1st day of September, 1923.

J. A. Davis, A. P. Moore, Ben H. Brannan, Committee

PIPE DREAMS

By George Malcolm Smith

I love to sit o' evenings
When the sun is sinking low,
And smoke and muse o'er boyhood
days,
Of forty years ago.
The old school house upon the hill,
Each leafy, shady nook,
That grew in clusters near the brink
Of dear old Willow brook.
And when the shades o' night close in
And everything is still,
'Cept a mocking-bird singin'
And a lonesome Whipporwill.
A lad I trudge to school again,
Through fields each dewy morn,
A listenin' to the old Bob Whites
A whistlin' in the corn.
Thru years I see those haunts again,
Where childish feet have strayed,
I meet an old time playmate
With whom I once have played.
I sit again where once a lad
I sat with pin-bent hook,
A anglin' for those minnows
That were playing in the brook.
But time alas! has changed those scenes,
Each well remembered place,
The site where once the school house
stood,
One cannot find a trace.
The old play grounds, the grapevine
swing,
The giant elm and oak,
Have disappeared and vanished
Like the curlin' rings o' smoke.
How short the space of forty years;
How swift time has fled;
How soon the Silent City,
The city of the dead.
When life's last entry has been made
And death shall close the book,
Just plant me in some quiet shade,
Near dear old Willow brook.

Many were the smoked glasses that were turned upwards Monday to see the sun eclipse, but the darkness at Brownfield was not very pronounced—about like just before sunset. The weather was very fair here.

OLD TIMERS REVIVE

Soon after the sun and moon had finished their bunny-hug waltz down the western hall of Monday afternoon's blue skies, and had separated for a century, ye old timers began to reflect over the past, and reflections usually bring thoughts of kindness and pleasure. Naturally they remembered that this was 42 night; so they went and came and gathered in and around the pretty little vine covered cottage of Ben and Vade, and the happy, numerous old timers soon filled the house, porch and the Bermuda carpeted yard with tables, chairs, laughter and good will, enlivened by the music of Ted's mandolin and Rich's guitar, and thus played their genial games of forty-two until the clock warned them home.

But no one was allowed to go, and no one wanted to go until Vade and Cap passed around the cake, and when we say cake we don't mean "maybe," and lemonade to follow it up and (down.) The writer had went to the foot table, and then lost, with no where else to go. He tied into a checker game with another unfortunate with such interest that when we go thru, and looked up, they had all gone and we didn't get their names, but the twelve tables were well surrounded, and standing room was all taken.

It certainly is a beautiful thought and sight to see the old timer friend and acquaintances, mixed with a few new ones, gather in a real hospitable home; leave formality out in the dark; bring freedom into light. The old ones turn their wrinkles into smiles and the young ones become proud of their county; all for the time remove their lament like a cloak, and the joy in their hearts shine out like a light in a window. In this day of unrest, gossip and strife, a night like this is like a bath to the weary, or a drink to the dry. Oh Boy! aint it a grand and glorious feeling, to think that our eclipse of gloom brings light while that of the sun and moon bring a shadow.

The next joy feast will be two weeks hence, at a similar home to be announced later, but whose it may be, you will be wanted and welcomed.—Wun-uv-em.
