The Home Merchant

'Mid pleasures and places though I may wend, I find the home merchant a much valued friend.

The mail order catalogue woes me in vain, For to pay without seeing may bring me pain.

The home merchant credits 'til pay day arrives, He knows all the whims of his friends and their wives

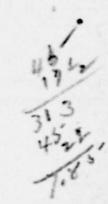

His overalls wear like the buckskin of old--His Buttons ain't brass if he tells you they're gold.

Of every community he is a part, And even the kids know the path to his heart. He boosts for the chapel, the lodge and the school, Community uplift is ever his rule.

And even the football and basketball teams, Look kindly on him in their athletic dreams.

I'd rather have him at my elbow each day, Than to deal with someone furlongs away.

Let's make the thing mutual, stand by our friend, There's no place like home for the money we spend!

STOP! LOOK!! LISTEN!!!

An Illinois Central engineer asks the world to consider what it means to the man in the cab powerless to rieties that will bear fruit here on the avert a disaster of crashing into an automobile ladened with human beings. He says:

"Nothing can eradicate from the memory of the engineer who has gone through that experience, the grim and ghastly picture." Nine thousand persons have been killed and twenty-four thousand others maimed at grade crossings during he past 5 years. Stop-Look-Listen signs have been disregarded.

Could every driver of a car realize that it is better to lose a half hour in waiting than to risk a fraction of a minute trying to beat a locomotive, many of these disasters could have been avoided. But there are no foolproof arrangements possible, and the fool we have ever with us.

ED GROSS ADVANCING IN HEALTH CAMPAIGN

Extends Service to New Fields and Brings Healing Hope to Remote Sections.

"The supreme opportunity for leadership" for the American Red Cross is Its health service. Thus a committee made up of prominent physicians, san-Itarians and public health experts, after months of exhaustive study, reported and urged that not only should the Red Cross continue its present service, but should undertake a comprehensive educational campaign along public health lines. The annual report of the American Red Cross, just issued, discloses that it has grasped this opportunity in the fields of public health nursing, instruction in home hygiene and care of the sick, nutrition work, first aid to the injured and in water life-saving.

Health service is fundamentally, historically and practically an important function of the Red Cross, and each year marks its extension into new fields and along broader lines. In the Red Cross Nursing Service there are enrolled nearly 40,000 nurses, 20,-000 of whom served during the World War. The past year Red Cross nurses were assigned to duty in isolated sections of Alaska and North Carolina and to work among the fishermen of Penobscot Bay, Me.

inaugurated by the American Red Cross in 1912, which operates chiefly in rural sections untouched by other public health agencies, has 1,038 Red Cross nurses working under the direction of Chapters. This work has up the twon with something that the nurses are taken over by the local authorities to maintain health services for their communities. Instruction in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick lows now. is noting a steady advance. Since 1914 certificates of proficiency have been given 304,427 women who completed the Red Cross course. In the last year 26.595 certificates were awarded and 65,901 students were un-

The benefits derived from meals balanced to meet each person's peculegnition through the work of the Red Cross Nutrition Service, particularly in the schools. During the school year 2,688 carried on regular instruction in nutrition, reached more than 150,000 children and adults. More than 2,250 volunteers assisted in this work. Throughout the country 35,283 health meetings were held under Red Cross auspices, attended by approximately 254,500 persons.

Annual Summons to Red Cross Banner On Armistice Day

America's great humanitarian effort he behalf of stricken Japan early in September gave the answer to the question, "What is there for the Red Cross to do in time of peace?" What the American Red Cross did at once when this crushing earthquake disaster came without warning showed that it was ready on the instant with | modern dress of the female of the country-wide team work to carry out quickly and effectively the request of the President to lead the national effort for the relief of the many thousands of sufferers. Preparedness to take the field when relief is needed is a charter duty of the Red Cross. Without a membership enrolled in every community in the land this readiness would be impossible. That is why your dollar membership is most important.

It is imperative that the structure of the American Red Cross be made up of millions of individual units. Opening Armistice Day, November 11, and closing with Thanksgiving Day, November 29, the Roll Call this year will penetrate to the ends of the earth and to the ships sailing the seven seas. The 3,600 Red Cross Chapters in the United States will here their busy volunteers enrolling members during this period imbued with renewed enthusiasm due to the recent revival of effort when the call came from Japan.
