OLD TEXAS IS ABOUT THE WHOLE CHEESE

Below we print a piece which is said to have been written by Miss Gloria Patton, formerly of Texas, but now a movie star in California:

"Texas is a scandalous word meaning 'the whole cheese.' Texas admits that it is. Texas, as seen from Mars looks like a battered frying pan with the handle broken off. Texas doesn't care what it looks like. Texas occupies all the continent of N.A., except a small part set aside for the U. S. and Canada. Texas is nearly all land, that being the principal pursuit of the people. Texas owns the north half of the Rio Grande river, the only dusty river in the world, also the only river with the possible exception of the Trinity which is navigated only for 'mud cats' and pedestrians. Texas is bounded on the north by 25 or 30 states, on the east by 15 or 20 more states on the south by South America and all the oceans in the world except the Pacific, on the west by the Milky Way and the sidereal universe. If stood on one end, it would only be necessary to build a short interurban trolley line from Dalham county to reach the moon. This line would be some popular, as all the cowboys want a closer acquaintanceship with the woman in the moon, she being the only woman they ever got to see.

If Texas were chopped loose from the rest of the United States at the Panhandle it would float out into the ocean for it rests upon a vast subterranean sea of fresh water.

Turned face downward Texas would represent the most perfectly watered surface of the globe.

The people of Texas are busily engaged in punching holes through this state to permit this water to gush through and irrigate the semi-arid sections, as Texas is ambitious to supply the rest of the world with all of its cotton, tobacco, sugar, alfalfa, and in fact, everything that grows except seaweeds, island moss and idelweiss; under cultivation like France, for instance, Texas could easily do this and have a surplus sufficient to supply the planet Jupiter and Asteroids.

Texas is so big that the people of Brownsville call the people in Dallas 'yankees,' and citizens of El Paso sneer at the citizens of Texarkana as being a 'snob of the effete east. And likewise the Texarkana man turns up his nose at the El Paso man as a 'low brow' who prefers the song 'Snook-ey Ookums' to such classics as 'Casey Jones' and 'It is Cotton Time in Texas.'

Texas is growing so fast it has 'growing pains.' If it were a boy it would have to have a new suit three times a day to keep it from going around in 'highwater' pants.

At the present rate of growth Texas will have so many congressmen in another century or so that it will be extravagance to hold Congress at Washington and the national capital will doubtless be removed to Austin. The saving of traveling expenses alone would justify such a move, and the representatives from all other states would be a mere handful compared to the army of Texas congressmen.

It is 150 miles further El Paso to Texarkana, Texas, than it is from Chicago to New York City.

Dalham county Texas is nearer to St. Paul, Minn., than it is to Brownsville, Texas.

The U.S. with Texas left out would look like a three legged Boston terrier. The chief occupation of the people of Texas is trying to keep from making all the money in the world.

The chief pursuit of the Texan was formerly Mexicans, now its land buyers, Texas steers and crop records.

Texans are so proud of their state that they can't sleep at nights. If a Texan's head should be upon a map of the state, it would be found photographed upon his brain; this is also true of his heart.

Unless your front gate is at least 18 miles from your front door, you do not belong to society as outlined by Texans. Mrs. King's gate is 150 miles from her door, and she is now thinking of moving her house back so she won't be annoyed by passing automobiles and peddlers. Other land lords have whole mountain ranges and rivers on their ranches. One man has 40 miles of navigable river on his ranch. During the Mexican war he took it inside nights so the greasers wouldn't swipe it, or fall in and contaminate it, the water being needed

A Guilty Conscience

SLATON BOOSTERS AND BAND HERE TUESDAY

A large crowd of Slaton citizens, together with their excellent band, invaded our town Tuesday about the noon hour in the interest of their community fair, which they will put on the 26th and 27th of this month. Arriving from Meadow about noon, the band played one selection and after a few remarks by Secretary Shelton of the local chamber of commerce, the crowd was asked to re-assemble at one o'clock.

A large crowd, including the school children gathered after lunch and were again regaled with a fine class of music from the Slaton band which is said to be one of the best on the Plains, together with addresses from Morgan Copeland, of Brownfield and the secretary of the Slaton Chamber of Commerce.

A watermelon feast was given the visitors just before they left. Such visits of one town to another only go to seal the one purpose of all—the upbuilding of the greatest country on earth—the Great South Plains.

The football boys left Wednesday morning for Post, Texas, where they will play the first game of the season. A strong team is expected to be developed here this season.

constantly for the cattle and irrigation purposes.

There is a hotel in Dallas so high that the flagstaff tears a hole in the sky every time the earth turns over.

If the proportion of cultivated land were the same as Illinois, the value of Texas crops would equal that of 47 other states combined.

Texas is proud of her citizenship as all the white people and many of the Mexicans are out of jail. Texas has land enough to supply every man, woman and child in the whole world a tract of land 50X150 feet and have enough left over for the armies of the world to march around the border five abreast. Texas grows enough alfalfa, which if baled and built in a stairway, would reach to the pearly gates.

If all the hogs in Texas were one hog he would be able to dig the Panama canal in three roosts.

If all the steers in Texas were one steer, he could stand with his front feet in the sands of Mexico, and his hind feet in the Hudson bay, and the other in the Arctic ocean, and with his horns punch holes in the moon and with his tail brush the mist off the Aurora borealis.

If all the cotton raised annually in Texas were made into one mattress all the people in the world could take a nap at one time. Even the sun in its daily journey around the world hovers longingly over Texas, lingering longer over its mountains, hills, plains and valley, than any other state, abundant evidence of the favor of the gods."

MAN FATALLY INJURED IN LOCAL LUMBER YARD

J. M. Wells, 51, and a farmer on the Dr. Miles ranch, died in the Lubbock Sanitarium Saturday night as a result of injuries received in the Cicero Smith Lumber Yard last Thursday afternoon.

It seems he was loading his wagon with some eight-foot posts, and happened to pull out the key post which was sustaining the weight of many more, which brought the key post down on his head with terrific force, crushing his skull. Medical aid was given here, and he was rushed to Lubbock, but it seems he never regained consciousness.

His wife was in east Texas visiting, and all efforts failed to locate her until after Mr. Wells was dead. She arrived in Lubbock Sunday morning.

The body of the deceased was laid to rest in the Idalou cemetery Sunday afternoon. He leaves a wife and several children, we understand.

MEADOW SCHOOL OPENS WITH BIG ENROLLMENT

The Meadow school started Monday with 280 pupils enrolled and this number will be increased considerably in a short time as there are several new families moving here each week.

Prof. H. C. Zorns, Supt. of our school was a very busy man all during the day Monday, getting things shaped up for the school term which will be the best Meadow has ever had as our most efficient school board has secured the services of a faculty second to none.

There was not any work done Monday other than classifying, assigning lessons, etc., but the teachers as well as the pupils have already begin to get in the collar to put Meadow on the map as a school town.

There were several patrons as well as the entire school board present at the opening exercises.—Meadow Messenger.

LOCAL TAILOR INSTLLING NEW PRESS AND BOILER

O. L. Jones, popular proprietor of the American Tailor Shop, is installing another press this week, and also a large boiler which will do away with his gasoline heating system, and this boiler, using coal for fuel will not only supply sufficient steam for both pressing machines, but also for the steam dryer which he will install in the next few weeks.

Mr. Jones is progressive, and believes in the future of Brownfield, and wants the people of Brownfield and trade territory to have the very best money can buy, and we predict that Jones' business will grow.

Oscar is also a consistent user of printers' ink, to which he contributes a great measure of his success.

Don't forget the Terry County fair Sept. 27.

WAS THE HERALD DREAMING 15 YEARS AGO.

Two of our old Lubbock friends, J. C. Bradley and son, Hal, were in town Monday of this week, and it had been so long since we had seen them and the fact that they used to advertise with us quite extensively before the iron-horse came to Brownfield, we just had to set down and have a good long talk with them.

Finally Hal remarked: "Well, Jack you can now tell the folks 'I told you so' about Brownfield, for it is now the thriving little city you used to picture in the columns of the Herald twelve or fifteen years ago when you advised them to get on the floor while prices were low and grow up with the city. Your day to tell them 'I told you so,' has come."

By this time our townsman and old friend M. V. Brownfield had joined the group and remarked jokingly that he believed the Herald was dreaming 12 or 15 years ago when we dared to picture Brownfield even the size it is today.

But folks, consider this: When the Almighty puts millions of fertile level acres down on the universe, and then burries oceans of water just beneath that surface, basks the whole in a flood of sunlight that no germ can survive; kisses the surface with just enough rain for vegetation with not a surplus drop to waste, there, you may drive down your stobs and stay. That land will develop; hundreds and thousands of farmers, will arrive to till the fertile soil that gives no disappointments, and somewhere near, there, of necessity, must arise a city.

So you see there is no dream about the matter. Just cold facts. Just a little reasoning.

MRS. CHARLEY BROWN PASSES AWAY

The town of Brownfield was greatly shocked Monday morning when it was learned that Mrs. Charley Brown was no more. She had a stroke of appendicitis last Monday the 15, and was carried to the sanitarium at Lubbock almost immediately, but from some cause or another, the operation was delayed until last Friday, when it was found the appendage was ruptured.

Mrs. Brown was a splendid neighbor, and a consistent member of the Baptist church. She numbered every one as her friend whom she knew.

Funeral services were conducted at the Baptist church Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, by her pastor, Rev. C. E. Ball. Entertained followed immediately in the Brownfield cemetery where a long train of mourning relatives and friends followed.

She leaves husband and several children to mourn her departure.

The entire town joins in sympathy for the beloved ones.

ENTHUSIASTIC ROAD MEETING FRIDAY AFTERNOON

One of the most enthusiastic road meetings ever staged in the county, was held under the auspices of the local chamber of commerce at the court house last Friday afternoon, with a score or more of good roads boosters from Tahoka and Plains on hand.

Morgan L. Copeland, president of the local chamber, open the meeting by stating the object of it. He then introduced W. B. Bishop, secretary of the Tahoka Chamber, who outlined the plan of the proposed loop highway for the benefit of those who did not understand it. He then introduced the president of the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce who went into details of what the road would really mean to the tier of counties, composed of Garza, Lynn, Terry and Yoakum, providing our roads were put in passable shape and passed the inspection of the highway department at Austin. These gentlemen had no criticism of our roads whatever, but seemed to be willing to help and assist us in any way to make them what they ought to be.

Judge R. P. Mooreland, of Yoakum county was then introduced, and in his usual witty style, told us how very simple it was to get state aid with which to put our roads in good shape, saying it was just like getting money from home. He was followed by Mr. Blankenship, one of the Yoakum county commissioners, who explained their road building with aid from the state.

H. R. Winston then gave some details of the Commissioners' trouble with the State Highway Department, stating that we had some 5,000 tied up here and $11,000 in money now at Austin to the credit of Terry county should we turn over our roads to the highway department.

Two of our commissioners were on hand, Messrs. Black and Cunningham and seemed to be interested in the meeting. A resolution was passed by those assembled to appoint a committee whose duty it will be to cooperate in every possible way in getting a good road from east to west through the county. After a few encouraging remarks by W. A. Bell and Mr. Copeland, the meeting was adjourned.

Will say for the benefit of the public that our commissioners left Monday for several of the counties below the caprock to inspect the roads and the work done on them by the State Highway Department, and on their return what they see and hear depends what they will do toward turning this highway over to the State Highway Department.

CARRIES SON TO DEAF AND DUMB ASYLUM

W. L. Beauchamp, prosperous farmer of the Gomez country, left Monday for Austin with his son Dale, to put him in the Deaf and Dumb Institute for the 7th term.

Mr. Beauchamp informed us that he carried his son down every year about this time and that he was making rapid progress in school. Dale is also learning to talk, now being able to carry on a very good conversation with his parents or those whom he is used to, and Mr. Beauchamp believes that in a few more years Dale will almost be a normal child. Dale is now 13 years of age.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE THANKS TWO CITIZENS

The Chamber of Commerce desires to express its thanks to Mr. S. V. Wheeler for the use of his time and car in securing the exhibits of agricultural products that go to make up the Terry county part in the agricultural exhibit being put on at the International Fair at El Paso, by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

We also desire to extend our appreciation for the products that were necessary to make up this exhibit and for his time in helping to secure it, to Mr. B. F. Knoll. Mr. Knoll gave us the whole afternoon in helping us gather the exhibit and afterward loaded the writer up with a nice load of watermelons and cantaloupes. We were assisted by Mr. Reed, a neighbor of Mr. Knoll.

It is just such kindness as this that makes life worth living, and a bright spot in the path of a secretary of a Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Davis, and daughter, Dorothy, of Tucumcari, N. M., were in our city last week visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McKinney.

THE COUNTY FAIR SATURDAY SEPTEMBER 27.

Catalogs are now being mailed out to the different school districts for their guidance in filling the score card of the County Fair, the books being used are the catalogs of the Panhandle South Plains Fair, of Lubbock, and the premiums offered in this catalog are NOT to be considered as those offered by the County Fair Association, either in community prizes or individual.

The community prizes offered in the County Fair will be about the same as last year and the same will apply to the individual prizes.

Owing to the short time intervening between this time and the date of the Fair, it will be impossible to publish a list of the prizes, but a list will be made which can be inspected by anyone on the day of the fair.

BROWNFIELD BAND RENDERS CONCERT SUNDAY P. M.

Sunday afternoon at 4:30, the local band under the direction of John S. Powell, rendered a splendid concert to the public from the band stand on the court yard.

The fact that these concerts are appreciated is evidenced by the attendance to them. Long before the time of the opening number, cars were parked around the curb and the citizens awaiting to hear the musical tones.

Brownfield is fortunate in having a well developed band which is capable of giving to the community high class concerts. The numbers on the program was observed some difficult overtures and marches written by great musical artists, therefore it is to be all the more appreciated when it is recalled that cities pay municipal bands to render such concerts in parks for the benefit of the public.

While we are proud of our band and its advancement, we must at the same time remember that it is thru the faithful efforts of the Chamber of Commerce supported by the business men and citizens of the town that it has been possible to back our band.

These concerts are educational, entertaining and enjoyable affairs in our community.

MEADOW RECEIVES FIRST BALE OF 1924 COTTON

J. S. Kizer, who lives southwest of town about four miles, came to town early Tuesday morning with the first bale of this year's cotton, which was ginned by the Panhandle Gin Co.

The bale weighed 468 pounds and was sold to E. H. Jones, local hardware dealer and cotton buyer for 23½ cents per pound. The bale brought Mr. Kizer $144.51, including the premium made up by local merchants.

Mr. Kizer is among the progressive farmers of this community and has one of the best crops of all kinds to be found here. By this time we go to press there will probably be several other bales ginned as there are several other farmers who have already begin picking.—Meadow Messenger.

BROWNFIELD BAPTIST ASSOCIATION MET AT CENTRAL

Slaton, Sept. 12.—On Sept. 9th and 10th, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, the Brownfield Baptist Association convened in regular annual session with the Central Baptist church, located about 20 miles south of this city.

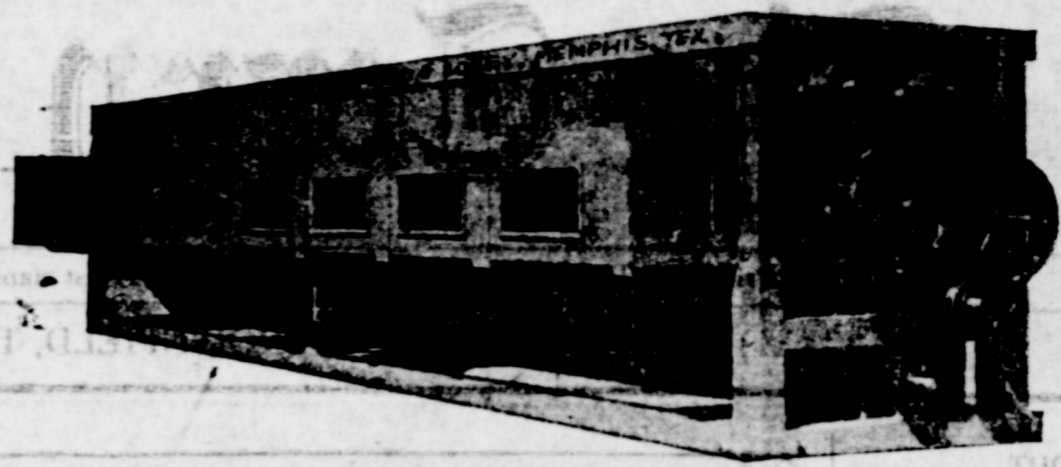

The purpose of such a meeting is to receive reports of the work done during the past year by each church in the association, lay out plans for the work of the new year, and transact all business coming under the jurisdiction of this association.

There were about thirty churches represented this year in the meeting held at Central. The reports on the whole were very encouraging, and showed that much progress had been made during the past twelve months.

Rev. Jao. P. Hardesty, of Slaton, acted as Moderator of this Association meeting, and Rev. C. E. Ball, pastor at Brownfield, acted as clerk. The proceedings of the two days included an inspiring program of the organized Women's Auxiliary, and a fine service on Wednesday night conducted by the young people in the interest of the B.Y.P.U. A B.Y.P.U. Assembly was organized for this association, meeting once each year to discuss the work and furnish aids to the success of the young people's work in all the churches.

The association convenes next year at New Home Church.

Queensland Government Sells Homes to Workers

The labor government of Queensland, Australia, has expended approximately $18,000,000 in the last eight years in the erection of between 8,000 and 9,000 houses which have been sold to the people, said Premier Edward G. Theodore in an interview at the Australian commissioner's office, 44 Whitehall street, according to the New York Times.

Mr. Theodore, who has been premier of Queensland, the second largest state in Australia, for nearly nine years, arrived in New York by way of Canada and was on his way to London to arrange for the refunding of loans amounting to approximately $125,000,000.

Premier Theodore explained that the housing shortage was quite as bad in Australia as elsewhere and said that under the scheme to build workers' homes the government bought the land, erected the houses and then sold them to individuals, who paid weekly installments no higher than ordinary rent. At the end of fifteen or twenty years the workman owned the home. Queensland is spending $2,000,000 this year for 1,000 dwellings to be sold in the same way.

Premier Theodore said he expected to see Prime Minister MacDonald, whom he knows, on his visit to London. He declared that Mr. MacDonald now had the opportunity of demonstrating that his policy was workable and sane. If he succeeds, said Mr. Theodore, it will have a great effect throughout the British empire.

Among the accomplishments of the labor party in Queensland in nearly nine years Premier Theodore recited the institution of the compulsory arbitration act as among the most substantial, as it practically did away with strikes.

Under government direction the cotton fields of Queensland are being developed intensively. Farmers from the United States will be asked in a year or two to migrate to Queensland to develop the cotton fields, with the inducements of land at low rates and government assistance until their farms yield substantial crops.

East African Elephant Herds Growing Larger

The elephant is a very useful animal both for draft purposes and for ivory. A few years ago 70,000 were slaughtered annually for their tusks, so that it seemed as though there was a good chance of the big animal's becoming extinct. Wise laws, however, have checked the destruction so that the number is increasing. The war gave the elephants their chance and the British authorities in East Africa have also protected them. South of Zambesi the elephant is virtually extinct and the Cape market for ivory has ceased to exist.

At present Mozambique is the center of the ivory trade. Oddly enough, the Portuguese, through whose hands it comes, send nearly all the ivory across to Bombay, where it is sorted and cut and dispatched to the European markets. The world's supply of real elephant ivory is now about 250 tons a year.—Scientific American.

Report Was Erroneous

A caller at the New York city morgue the other day asked to see the body of a man found in the Harlem river. "It's not me," he said to the mortician in charge, as reported in a daily paper. "What do you mean?" the official asked. "I mean," was the answer, "that the report that my body was found in the river is an error. My acquaintances have been running away from me for a week thinking I'm my own ghost." It seems that the body was that of a friend of the caller, and the latter's name written on papers found in the dead man's pockets resulted in the mixup.

The burglar sang as he entered the apartment of the assistant city treasurer, and the mistress, thinking he was a light-hearted peddler, and not wanting any green groceries, failed to answer the knock. He tried a key which didn't fit, and then entered another apartment on the next floor, singing all the while and when he had finished his job left just as leisurely.

People Like Aquariums

Visitors to the New York aquarium in the last year numbered 2,121,806, a monthly average of 176,825. Boston, Philadelphia, Detroit, Venice, Cal., and San Francisco are the only other American cities that maintain similar institutions. The Stelnhart aquarium, lately opened in Golden Gate park, San Francisco, attracted 232,947 persons in its first month.

We learned last week that our old friend, Wm. Kippertoe, old time Terryite, passed to the great beyond early in June, at his home on the north Plains. This was a splendid old man and had many close friends in and around Brownfield, who like ourselves, probably have not heard of his passing.

WHITE CEDAR HELD PRECIOUS IN JAPAN

Fast Vanishing Supply Held for Temple Use.

Washington.—A representative of a western lumber concern, who has returned from a visit to Japan, has informed Manager Blalock of the Seattle office of the Department of Commerce that the supply of white cedar in that country is controlled by the imperial family and comes from one of their estates. There is also a white cedar which comes from the Island of Formosa, but this is less desirable because it has a tendency to be pink in the center.

The Japanese white cedar of the highest grade is considered practically sacred. All of the wood 18 inches and up in diameter is reserved for the building of temples. The cheaper grades, however, are disposed of like other woods. Especially fine pieces are reserved for the temples of the emperors. Only white cedar grown in Japan is used for building temples.

In the opinion of this visitor, most of the white cedar shipped to Japan is used for exposed beams on the inside of dwelling houses, where this wood is prized for its appearance and long duration. One instance is cited in which a Japanese paid $1,100 a gold in this country for a choice beam 18 inches square, 20 feet long, with perfect diagonal grain.

Polish timber exports in 1923 increased to 1,165,687 tons, valued at approximately $9,000,000, from 1,023,528 tons, valued at $4,000,000, in 1922, Assistant Trade Commissioner Baldwin, Warsaw, reports to the Department of Commerce. Virtually the entire increase, which is said to have led to excessive exploitation of Polish timber resources, occurred in the first half of the year. Following the imposition in June of export taxes intended to check excess cutting and equally to stimulate the domestic wood-sawing and manufacturing industry by limiting the export of raw materials, shipments in the second half of the year fell to mere fractions of their former volume.

Cop Retains His Job Though He May Be Rich

Hollywood, Cal.—Everybody knows policemen are skeptical, and Herbert R. Reynolds, traffic officer of Hollywood, is no exception. In the squadron at the police station, fellow officers recently crowded around and congratulated him on falling heir to $500,000. "Maybe yes and maybe no," Reynolds commented, leaving hurriedly to take up his duty as directing traffic officer at Hollywood's busiest corner.

According to Attorney Charles Knudson, the money was left Reynolds by his father-in-law, Mangus Brown, of Philadelphia.

Despite a year's separation between Reynolds and his wife, the Brown family is said to hold a warm spot in its heart for Reynolds, who submitted to eight blood transfusions to save the life of his sister-in-law.

About 60 bales of cotton had been weighed in the local cotton yards up to Wednesday night, according to the weigher, W. A. Bynum. Cloudy and cool weather has retarded gathering a good deal this week. But with a week or two of hot, dry weather, the fleecy staple would begin rolling in with a whoop. Cotton is going off a little all the time lately, but buyers are expecting better prices only after the election.

John Dennis and family returned Monday from Anaheim, Calif. They report the big boom of a year ago all off now.

Miss Bernice Weldon, chiropractor, came in last week from Mineral Wells, Texas, and will make this her home and practice her profession. Note her ad elsewhere in the Herald. Her mother also came with her and will make her home with her.

B. F. Knoll, prominent farmer of the Gomez country, presented the Herald force with a nice specimen of water melon this week. When we cut it, we'll think of you black land readers.

Benny Knoll writes in from Stephenville stating that he will be in the John Tarleton Junior A. & M. for the next nine month. Benny was a 1924 graduate of the Brownfield High.

Hubert Bolch and family, W. H. Armes, Mr. Kiser and W. J. Wade, spent the front end of the week in Brownfield. Mr. Armes bought an improved quarter section while on the trip. They all report seeing good country and good crops.—Jayton Chronicle.

Douglas Carver, who taught in the local schools last year, has entered Simmons College to prepare himself for the ministry. We expect some good accounts of Douglas in the future years.

Mrs. Carl Pearce has returned from the city of Gail, where she has been visiting relatives.

Mr. Clauntz, who bought cotton on our streets last fall and winter, has returned with a new knife to help the other boys whittle bagging again this season.

The editor and family, accompanied by O. L. Jones and family went to Lubbock Sunday to hear G. A. Dunn of Dallas, deliver three sermons. A long ways to go for a sermon, you say. No, either one of the three was well worth the trip. We have heard lots of sermons worth going hundreds of miles to hear, and Dunn delivered one of that calibre Sunday night.

Editor Harry N. Stone of the Seminole Sentinel favored the Herald on Monday with a short call. Editor Stone has never fully recovered from his operation during the summer, and has to go to Lubbock each Monday for examination. We hope he will soon be enjoying the same usual good health.

Referring to the article in this issue about the size of Texas, we have been reliably informed that a big safe and lock company recently wired one of their men at El Paso to go to Texarkana to repair a safe. The man wired them back to send a man out of Chicago as that was over 100 miles nearer Texarkana than he was. The size of Texas can hardly be realized by outsiders.

Several of the gamblers with sporting blood in and around Brownfield are kindly looking down their noses now. It seems that some one made a vigorous protest to County Attorney Geo. W. Neill about the boys who shoot "craps" around town. Neill told them he would punish the boys, but he would start in on the citizens of mature age who set an example by betting on the recent elections—and he is keeping his word.

Some Democrats who supported Robertson in the recent primary have said that they do not feel under any obligations to support the Fergusons in the general election, and some of the other winners because they bolted the Democratic party at a former election. They are probably justified in that position, but is it right to violate the pledge because you think the other fellow did or would. The only thing for a Democrat to do is to support the nominee of his party. The proper way to safe guard against bolters and Republicans is to keep them from getting on the ticket and voting in the primary.—Jayton Chronicle.

Whiskey making in West Texas, has become a very peculiar occupation, and it seems that the peace officers of the different counties are set and determined to stamp this lucrative occupation out. The sad part of the raid last week in Floyd county, was that the sheriff went out and captured a still, lock, stock and barrel, including the men who were running it, before they had made their first run. Very pathetic, indeed, we would say, that the law should throw a monkey wrench into the wheels before they had their first drink. So much discouragement is being offered this industry that we fear the sponsors will become discouraged and quit.—Lorenzo Enterprise.

It don't seem possible that people, stirred to the highest pitch of battle over politics the middle of August, would forget about the matter by the middle of September. But such a happy change has been experienced in Brownfield, and we hope other counties and communities in Western Texas. There may be more than one reason for the change. We believe there are at least two. One is, that the most habitual harper gets tired of his own and others harping, and wants a change, and will have it. The other is that cotton and prosperity is now with us, and it is our part as real hosts to give these welcome visitors our undivided attention.

Bob Haynes has at last landed on a paper. Straight goods this time, so he tells us, and he is going to be a near neighbor to the Herald, so near that we can borrow from him every once in awhile, and even drop in for a short chat. He has purchased the Seagraves Progress from J. W. R. Bachman, and takes charge as soon as he can ship his almost new outfit recently purchased at Snyder, up to Seagraves. Seagraves, you are going to have a newspaper man worthy in every respect. He will not only give you a good, readable and well edited printed weekly, but he is capable of giving you as good job printing as you will get in the cities. And we know you are going to stand squarely behind Bob Haynes.

We don't object to our neighboring counties coming over in "Egypt" any old time they want to and get exhibits for display, providing they will tell prospectors where they grew, and so brand them if they carry them off to any fair, although we hate to get up against our own products at the Panhandle South Plains Fair. A bunch of men came over from a county not over 75 miles away last week and got a big lot of stuff off one farm that we know of, and we understand they made no bones of the fact that they were to be used in that county's exhibits. Terry county would be awfully humiliated to have to take stuff from any other county. In fact she never has nor never would do it. It isn't fair nor half honest, and if we did not produce the stuff without the scouting in other counties, we would not have any exhibits, that all. But old Terry has the stuff, and this is not the first instance in which counties as far east as 200 miles have used Terry county products as their own. The Herald wishes it were possible to make each county exhibitor at all fairs make affidavit that the products on exhibit were all produced within the borders of that county. Come to Terry.

VILE STUFF.

Mr. Francis R. Wilson of Philadelphia has recently prepared a statement giving a long list of men who would seek to overthrow our government. The testimony presented showed that two of the men mentioned by him led the I.W.W. in disorder in jail and in singing out of the I.W.W. songbook, which advocates sabotage of farmers' property. Some lines in the songs are:

"Pulpiters are spouting effervescent swill,
God above is call you to rob and rape and kill;
All your acts are sanctified by the Lamb on high.
If you love the Holy Ghost, go murder, pray and die.
"Rob with bloody fingers, Christ O. K.'s the bill;
Bayonet the babies, jab the mothers too.
Hoist the cross of Calvary to hallow all you do.
Praise the Lord whose dollar sign dupes his favored race."

It seems like sacrilege to publish such unspeakably vile stuff, and yet if the American people would rightly understand the activities of the I.W.W., the Communists, the Socialists and Bolsheviks and all the gang that is back of this movement in one way or another, they must comprehend the depth of depravity to which some of these people are going and still stand in high favor among the others. And yet the men who issue such sacrilegious vileness are counted as worthy associates and collaborators with many of the men and women who are backing the third party campaign. Notwithstanding this fact, some thoroughly reputable men and women, not realizing the kind of company they are keeping, are in favor of LaFollette, thus co-operating with the worst elements that have ever cursed this country by the presence here.—Manufacturers Record.

THE EDITOR'S BLESSING

"Blessed are the merchants who advertise because they believe in it and that it is good for their business; for their prosperity shall increase many-fold."

"Blessed is the woman who sends in a written account of the party or a wedding; for she shall see the details of the function and the names of her guests correctly reported."

"Blessed are those who do not expect the editor to know everything, but who call up and tell him whenever an interesting event occurs to them; for they shall have a newsy paper in their town."

"Blessed are they who get their copy in early, for they shall occupy a warm place in the editor's heart."

"Blessed are those who co-operate with the editor in his efforts in behalf of the community for their town shall be known far and wide as the place in which to live.—Ex.

HOW ONE EDITOR PROVED THAT PEOPLE READ THE ADS

So many of his customers were out of town on vacations that one of our pharmacist friends in a nearby town concluded that it wasn't worth while to continue his advertisement in the home paper. He knew the editor well and called his up and ordered out the ad. "I don't believe the people see it, anyhow," the pharmacist informed his friend the editor. The latter suggested that it might be well to change the copy, but the pharmacist had made up his mind.

The paper came out as usual, but following the editor's instruction, the illustration in the pharmacist's ad was upside down. That evening the editor strolled into the drug store and was immediately hailed by his friend. "What's the idea of having that cut upside down in my ad," he inquired. "I told you to take out the whole ad." "Well, you're probably the only one that noticed it," replied the editor. "Is that so?" replied the pharmacist. "Why, I'll bet that fifty people have already called my attention to the change—asked me if I had seen it. A dozen customers brought their own papers to show me. Two women went to the trouble to call me on the phone about it. I didn't realize that so many people noticed my ad. You had better let it run and I will get up some new copy right away."

Jim Burnett, who had a severe attack of appendicitis last week, is able to be on the streets again.

"Richest Woman" Lies in an Unmarked Grave

The boldest and ablest woman financier of her time, Herty Green, who died in 1916, still remains a unique character in the annals of the New England village of Bellows Falls, Vt.

Curiosity led a correspondent to visit her grave in the churchyard of Immanuel Episcopal church. A sexton's helper who was working among the graves was glad to point out the desired spot, writes the correspondent.

His help was surely needed, for the "richest woman" in the world lies in an unmarked grave! The lot in which there had been five interments, bore in its center one modest granite stone, on which were cut only the names of Edward H. Green, Herty's husband, and his father. Between the graves of the two men, "buried north and south," in accordance with the custom of the Quakers, in whose faith Mrs. Green had been reared, lies all that is mortal of the woman whose grasp during her lifetime was upon nearly every large corporation and enterprise of any magnitude all over the world.

Here in the summer come visitors by the scores. Sometimes there is one from Texas, who claims to be a neighbor of "Ned"—Col. Edward H. R. Green, Mrs. Green's son—sometimes one who, like the New Jersey woman last summer, vents her disappointment in the words, "And have I come 300 miles just to see that?"

French Urged to Wash Their Hands Oftener

It appears that we do not wash our hands enough. In spite of all modern conveniences—faucets in the kitchen sink, bathrooms and things like that—we are neglecting ourselves. It is really unpardonable and we deserve the flu caused by our failure to take hygienic precautions.

What would we say and what maladies would we not suffer if we were without modern comforts? In the Middle Ages the ceremony of washing the hands at midday in the castles was always performed with a touch of solemnity. It was announced by the blowing of trumpets preceding dinner. A euer and napkin were presented to the guests by a maid-servant.

In those days the fork had not been invented and one ate with one's fingers. And even today we do not think that drumsticks, fried apples, or the like, taste good unless held in the fingers. The more reason that the fingers should be clean.

Let us wash our hands. The Koran says we should wash them five times a day, and France is the greatest Mohammedan power. Let her therefore obey in this particular the precepts of the Koran.—Le Petit Parisien.

Chateaux Now City Parks

Many French chateaux, with wonderful old gardens with sun dials, were partially destroyed in the war. Their fire-scarred ruins still stand. In many cases their parks have been taken over, just as they stood, for city gardens, says the Kansas City Star.

The artificial water makes the village pond. The flower beds, without much trouble, have been converted into part of the public gardens. The former owners, dead or dispersed, would hardly know their own houses and grounds if they could see them today.

This work of transformation is like a sort of object lesson and a very crude one in France. The same process, more slowly evolving and less apparent, is going on elsewhere, too. Great estates are being broken up and sold in Belgium as well as France, and what served for the amusement of a single family is now the part property of perhaps a hundred.

Need Water Wagons

Water wagons are a real necessity in Asuncion, capital of Paraguay. E. M. Newman told members of the National Geographic society. There is no running water in any of the houses of the 400-year-old town, he declared, and peddlers of water do a thriving business from door to door. The Indian women of Asuncion smoke not cigarettes, but "whacker" big cheroots, like their sisters across the world in Burma.

The lecture covered a trip to Iguazu falls, the South American Niagara, between Argentina and Brazil, on the upper Parana river. Pictures showed the great volume of water that flows over these cataracts, which are greater than either Niagara or the Victoria falls of Africa.—Detroit News.

Famous Stone of the Czars Out of "Hock"

Nice, France.—The famous 43-carat sapphire blue diamond once belonging to Emperor Nicholas of Russia, has been taken out of the municipal pawnshop here, where it has been held for three years as security for a loan of 200,000 francs borrowed by Mile. Suzanne Thuillier, to whom Nicholas is said to have given it.

Mile. Thuillier came to France from Russia with nothing but the stone and once she had pawned it she was unable to get it out because creditors with claims aggregating 2,000,000 francs thought the diamond was safer in the pawnshop.

Finally a New jeweler financed Mile. Thuillier and she took out the stone, for which she is said to have just refused 10,000,000 francs. The stone is declared by jewelers to have come from a Buddha in a Hindu temple a thousand years ago.

GETTING READY FOR A GREAT FAIR AT AMARILLO

Amarillo, Sept. 16.—Feverish activity prevails this week at the Tri-State Exposition grounds, where final preparations of this great annual event of the Plains region is under way. The eight buildings are complete except for finishing touches but decorating and final arrangements will keep workmen and officials busy.

An array of exhibits so strong as to amaze those in charge, a fast program of horse and motor races, the "Pageant of the Plains, a realistic Indian buffalo hunt, two football games and numerous free attractions will afford continual entertainment for all visitors.

Dave Derden will have two hands here, in order to furnish music for all occasions. Three airplanes, with a crew of former army aviators, will do stunt flying and death-defying aerial acrobatics above the fair grounds twice daily. Gorgeous fire works displays, dazzling in their brilliance, amazing in their ingenuity and filled with beauty, will be free attractions on Monday, Saturday and Sunday nights. Colonel Ernest O. Thompson is arranging for a sham battle in connection with Saturday night's display.

The dairy cattle, agricultural and machinery exhibits will be the most comprehensive ever gathered in the Plains region. The showing in these lines directly reflects the advancement of agriculture in this section and also the bumper crops which have added millions of dollars to the wealth of its people.

Officials of the exposition believe everyone attending the fair next week will more than receive their money's worth and that the support this year will justify even more extensive plans for 1925.

SANFORD CAUGHT CAR THIEF AT TAHOKA

A young man drove up to W. W. Brandon's filling station last Friday and offered to trade some casings. Mr. Brandon suspected that something might be wrong and called the sheriff. Mr. Sanford took the young gentleman in charge and soon had a confession from him that the car he was driving was stolen, and belonged to parties in Roswell, N. M.

Mr. Sanford communicated with Sheriff Peck of Roswell, and he came over Saturday and took the car and thief back to Roswell. Sheriff stated that he had wired a number of towns in this part of Texas to be on the lookout for the car but he had failed to wire Tahoka. The capture here was solely due to the suspicions of Mr. Brandon, aroused by the young gentleman's conduct and Mr. Sanford's skill in drawing a confession out of him.—Tahoka News.

MONSTER STEER SHIPPED FROM TUCUMCARI, N. M.

Deputy Sheriff Fred White shipped a monster steer in a car of cattle Wyatt Nations shipped to Kansas City this week. Wyatt guessed the steer tipped the scales at something like 1300 pounds. Fred opened the weight at 1400 pounds. They bet a Stetson hat on the weight. The steer weighed 1580 pound and sold for six cents the pound, bringing $94.80.

Fred says the steer is range grown, being fed on a small amount of cake only last winter. This goes to prove that monster cattle can be grown in Quay county. The breed was red Durham.—Tucumcari (N.M.) News.

IDLE WIVES CLUB

After several enjoyable games of 42, the hostess served lovely refreshments to the following club members and the guests: Mmes. Bell, Smith, Shelton, May, King, A. R. Brownfield, Stricklin, Randal, Dallas, Snodgrass, Rentfro, M. V. Brownfield, Pearce, McBurnett, White, Copeland, Bailey and Bowers.

The hostess gave as cut prizes, a lovely basket which went to Mrs. Bell, and a set of table numbers that went to Mrs. May for high and low, respectively, and two guest prizes, beautiful pictures, to Mrs. Bowers, for high and the other to Mrs. Bailey for low.

Mrs. W. H. Dallas will entertain the club September 23.—Reporter.

I. W. Moss, local F. L. U. lecturer, addressed the farmers of Lynn county at the courthouse at Tahoka on Saturday the 6th. The F. L. U. is like Terry, rather strong in our eastern neighbor, Lynn.

A BUSINESS MAN'S PRAYER

Teach me that sixty minutes make an hour, sixteen ounces one pound, and one hundred cents one dollar. Help me to so live that I can lie down at night with a clear conscience, without a gun under my pillow, and un-haunted by the faces of those to whom I have brought pain.

Grant that I may earn my meal ticket on the square, and that, in earning it I may stick the faff in where it does not belong. Deafen me from the jingle of tainted money and the rustle of unholy skirts. Blind me to the faults of the other fellow, but reveal to me my own. Guide me so that each night when I look across the dinner table at my wife, who has been a blessing to me, I shall have nothing to conceal. Help me to preserve my health; keep me young enough to laugh with my children.

And when comes the smell of flowers, and tread of soft steps, and the crunching of wheels out in front, make the ceremony short and the epitaph simply—"Here lies an honest man."

NATURE BUILT THE LARGEST GAS TANK IN THE WORLD

Mother Nature supplies both the gas and the holder in a remarkable structure near Springfield N.Y., 25 miles south of Buffalo, says the Texas Public Service Information Committee.

The "tank" resembles a gigantic sponge in a glass jar. A number of small connected underground cavities, enclosed in a shell of impervious stone, make up this natural gas holder, which has a capacity twenty times as much as any man made gas tank. The natural tank will hold more than 400,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

Originally the center of the Zoar natural gas field, now depleted, the tank is used as a holder for gas from other wells. The natural gas is pumped in during the summer for use in the winter, when the demand exceeds the supply.

The Zoar field was first developed in 1907. By 1918 the supplies of natural gas had increased below the point of usefulness, and as an experiment, 45,000,000 cubic feet of gas from other wells was pumped in. During the following winter the gas was pumped out, and the meter measurements showed that none had been lost. Since then as much as 350,000,000 cubic feet at one time have been stored in this unique tank.

MAYFIELDS WEEKLY FUSED WITH AMERICAN FORUM

Houston, Sept. 12.—The Mayfield Weekly, prokran paper has been fused with the American Forum, a paper published by Charles K. Diggs, in San Antonio.

W. N. Colonel Billie) Mayfield former editor of the defunct sheet, built up a following with his paper that gave him second place in the race for lieutenant governor two years ago.

The Baptist had a big revival in Tahoka recently that neted them 46 additions to the church. Many of the denominations have had good revivals this year, which shows that people are not altogether turned to jazz and radicalism, but many of them are now pointing to the ways of their fathers.

How to Get Better Milk Prices

Now is the time to feed a real milk producing ration. By raising the average of your winter milk deliveries with Cow Chow during the winter months you can expect better prices, and more milk accepted in the spring and summer.

The dairy farmer who brings in twenty gallons a day in the winter and then tries to deliver 40 gallons in the summer, gets the regular price for only 20 gallons, and the surplus price for the other twenty.

The dairy farmer who has a big fall and winter production establishes a high average for himself and gets a good price in the spring and summer on grass for as much milk as he made last fall.

Cow Chow now means more winter milk and more summer income.

CAUSE OF CANCER AND A CURE FOUND

Serum Is Successful as Germ Is Isolated.

Philadelphia.—The cause of cancer has been discovered, also a treatment for it, which, although still in the experimental stage, is producing remarkable results, according to the Philadelphia North American.

That this most dreaded disease is due to a microorganism has been scientifically established. The germ has been isolated and its parts as the causative factor proved by the conclusive laboratory test known as the "Koch cycle."

The discoverer is Dr. T. J. Glover, a native of Toronto, Can., thirty-six years old, and a graduate of the medical school of the University of Toronto, class of 1911. For four years he has carried on his research work in New York. The antitoxic serum he has developed apparently is effective only in the treatment of carcinoma, the commonest and most destructive form of cancer.

Tests Are Successful.

Dr. Glover first succeeded in inoculating animals with the germ he had isolated in certified specimens of cancer from human beings, and with it reproduced the disease in monkeys and all immature animals. Then, through infection of the serum, he arrested or modified its course and later immunized scores of such animals against infection.

Within the last two years this serum has been tested on more than 200 cases of cancer, confirmed by pathological, X-ray and chemical methods, and the every state of development from the tendency to hopelessness.

Nearly 100 of these had been treated in the National Stomach hospital in Philadelphia, where the most complete tests have been made and the largest number of patients observed.

In a majority of these cases there have been favorable results, and in some instances the subjects have been discharged as symptom-free, a condition the laymen would call cured.

Thus it appears from the laboratory results secured by Dr. Glover, and from the records of these cases, that this terrible malady, as old as human history and of late years increasing at such a rate as to alarm both the medical profession and the public, has at last been brought to the point of control, joining the ranks of syphilis, smallpox, typhoid fever and diphtheria.

100,000 Deaths a Year in U. S. In view of the fact that the cancer death toll in this country alone now is figured at 100,000 a year, and that the disease is increasing at the rate of 2 1/2 per cent annually, the meaning of this discovery is obvious.

The discovery of the cancer germ lends logically to the hope that a method soon may be found for determining the presence of the microorganism in the blood, thus making possible the detection of the disease in its incipient and its prevention.

Dr. Glover has made significant experiments along this line, with decidedly encouraging results. He has distributed a limited amount of the serum to hospitals in various parts of the country to be tested under pledge of secrecy and without charge pending the official announcement.

From these experimental clinics there have been received highly favorable reports of results which coincide with those obtained in Philadelphia over a period of 18 months.

The Journal of the American Medical Association in February, 1920.

charged Dr. Glover with unprofessional conduct in trying to commercialize his discovery. Prior to that time the Toronto Academy of Medicine had made an adverse report on his work. Toronto medical men of high standing subsequently explained the situation leading to these charges in such a way as to minimize their significance.

New Camera Pictures Projectiles in Flight

Washington.—The bureau of standards has designed and constructed a new camera which is able to photograph projectiles in flight. It is not possible to take a clear picture of very rapidly moving objects on a stationary film, because in the interval during which the film is exposed the image of the object moves sufficiently to blur the picture. The new camera overcomes this difficulty by causing the film to move approximately the same velocity as does the image of the object. Hence, there is no blurring of the picture.

The bureau explains that to obtain a number of pictures several lenses are placed in a line at right angles to the direction of motion of the film and a focal plane shutter is so arranged that the images from these lenses are allowed to fall on the film in succession. This gives a series of pictures of a stationary object which lie diagonally across the film. However, if the velocity of the image is the same as the velocity of the film, the picture of the moving object will lie across the film perpendicularly to the direction of motion.

Elk Pester Farmers

W. B. Hedges, Wash.—Farmers, said to be dependent on scaling, are still making short work of ordinary haystacks, are welcome to farmers near Oklahoma. Organized groups have repeatedly driven the elk herds back into the foothills by firing blank shells over their heads, but with the return of hunger the animals revisit the farm lands.

Dig Dinosaur's Bones From Rock in Museum

Washington.—Charles W. Gilmore, curator of vertebrate paleontology at the Smithsonian institution, has begun excavating from solid rock the skeleton of an enormous dinosaur which he presented to the institution last autumn. More than five years will be required, Mr. Gilmore estimates, to place the skeleton in such condition that it will be ready for exhibition in the national museum.

The skeleton, which is the largest specimen ever brought to the Smithsonian, measures 80 feet in length and 14 feet in height. To bring the bones to Washington from their original resting ground in the dinosaur national reservation, near Jensen, Utah, required the exertions of a large number of men. The bones and rock in which they are imbedded weigh 50,000 pounds. At one stage of the journey, the excavators were forced to transport them 170 miles by automobile. Three men, working eight hours a day for four months, Mr. Gilmore said, will only be able to disinter three of the dorsal vertebrae of the reptile. Some sections are already being arranged by workmen, but 24 packing cases containing more than 80 vertebrae are still lying unopened in the basement of the museum.

Norman H. Boss, preparator in fossil vertebrates, is assisting Mr. Gilmore to reconstruct the skeleton.

ARE THE SLUM PEOPLE THE MOST MORAL?

Not all is dirt that comes out of the slums. The cleanest, most successful play now on the New York boards is being produced in the Neighborhood Playhouse, a few short blocks from East River, a settlement theatre founded by philanthropists for the purpose of supplying a need for home talent entertainment. The "Grand Street Follies" is said to be a clever burlesque and intelligent satire, free from the indecencies of most of the offerings which find favor with blasé Manhattanites.

This play is an honest play. Admission prices are but a fraction of those required by dull, lewd shows of the more fashionable districts. There is no attempt to pre-empt and white-light the theatre into popularity, no effort made toward the grandiose and spectacular.

Neighborhood Playhouse is difficult to reach. It is in a dirty, smelly section of the city, penetrated by the dreary surface cars and an occasional straying taxicab. But drama-loving New Yorkers have sought it out. Every night they fill the theatre to capacity, while they drink in the wholesome fun of the footlights.

Can it be possible that these patrons are worn out with the stupid muck and are seeking our simple decency even though it take them to the so-called slums? Can it be possible that the "dirty" slums are really cleaner, at bottom, than the pleasure avenues of "society"?

Many a good man has risen from the cradle of poverty. Many a great cause has sprang from the most humble people. In this lies the strength of democracy. The unusual picture of a slum show commanding the respect of critics and public carries a comforting lesson to the hearts of Americans, and serves to emphasize the saying:

COTTON PAGEANT FEATURE OF SOUTH PLAINS FAIR

Lubbock, Sep. 15.—"King Cotton," a Pageant of the Magic Fleece, will be unfolded spectacularly for the second time in the history of the Panhandle South Plains Fair and Short Course at Lubbock on two different dates.

The first showing of this wonderful Pageant will be on Wednesday night, October 1st, and will be especially for the citizens of Lubbock and nearby communities, although everyone is invited. The second showing will be Saturday afternoon, Oct. 4th, and will be especially for the farmers and those living at a distance.

Take turning so many pages of history, with the characters in real life instead of on the printed pages, the prominence of the cotton industry, showing its rise to its present high rank among the world's industries, the spectacle will be complete in every detail.

There are five episodes in the pageant, each one being portrayed by a different community, with a total of over 800 people or characters taking part altogether.

The Pageant will be given under the auspices of the Fair Association and the Farm Bureau Association, sponsored directly by the Texas Farm Bureau Association, which has a membership of several thousand on the plains.

The production at Lubbock of King Cotton is a signal honor for the Plains, which are fast becoming recognized as the coming cotton section of the South, especially in this Pageant, will be shown at only four other places in Texas this year, and none anywhere in this section.

This Pageant will be along the lines of other successful agricultural Pageants, such as the Raisin Pageant in California, the Tobacco Pageant in Kentucky and the Peach Pageant in Georgia, and will be a worth while attraction for the Great South Plains Fair.

Coal Curiosities

A block of coal intact, weighing five and one-half tons, nine feet high and four feet square, was shipped from Eckhart, Md., to Baltimore, whence it goes to Milan, Italy, to be displayed at an industrial exposition. Cutting the coal represented seven days' work by four men. It was crated with loose coal dumped around the sides.

The Chinese lily bulb gayly blossomed in the window of a coal office. But it was not resting its bulbous roots on a few pebbles, in the manner of most Chinese lilies. Instead, it sprang from a bed of coals—small bits of pea coal. And it was flourishing as suitably as if it had clean white stones beneath it.

A coal mine planted in soil where there has never been coal before will be one of the many wonders of the British Empire exhibition to be held near London this summer. This attraction alone will cost half a million dollars.

Clock Built in 1711 Still Runs in Omaha

A clock which was 21 years old when George Washington first saw the light of day, and from which the Father of His Country on several occasions later took the time, it is said, still is ticking away, in Omaha, and recording the seconds, minutes and hours, the days of the month, the phases of the moon and the rise and fall of the tides.

It is the property of Mrs. Carrie M. Peters. At her death it will descend to her oldest surviving male descendant, or in case none survives, to her daughter, Miss Hester H. Peters.

The clock, which was built by Felix Owen in Pork, England, in 1711, was purchased by Newton Peters, who seven years later came to America and settled at Jamestown, Va. A few years later, he, with William Byrd, founded the town of Petersburg, Va. At his death in 1725, the clock descended to his son, Absalom, and on his death in 1760 to Zachariah Peters, later an officer in the American navy.

The clock was on exhibition at the Centennial exposition at Philadelphia in 1876 as the oldest of the grandfather type, of authentic record, with none to dispute its precedence for age. It was keeping time when Lexington and Concord were fought and within sound of the cannons' roar when the Revolution closed at Yorktown October, 19, 1781. It still keeps perfect time.—Omaha Bee.

New York Song Birds Now Keep Jazz Hours

"In New York even the birds are sophisticated," remarked a visitor from out of town, according to the New York Times. "If any one lives here long enough he becomes stamped, as it were, with the character of the city."

"In the hotel where I am stopping one of the dining rooms has a variety of song birds. It is a pretty idea, but see how it works in New York. Up my way the birds are the first awake in the morning. The poets have had a lot to say about the habit and a moral lesson has been drawn, something about getting the first worm."

"Now, in my hotel, one of the largest and most fashionable in town, the birds sing all night. The music sets the pace. All evening and late into the night you hear their voices. The music and the crowd are there until the small hours of the morning, and sometimes till nearly daylight, and the birds accommodate. When the music stops and the crowd leaves the birds get to sleep."

"The dining room is not used until about three in the afternoon and the birds sleep undisturbed. But at the first note of the jazz orchestra they all begin to pipe up. In other words, the early bird has been corrupted in New York so that it sleeps every day till late afternoon. What kind of a worm does he expect to get at that hour?"

Poisoned Fish

The theory by which English channel fishermen explain their poor catches, is that the fish have been poisoned by the dumping in the sea of unused munitions. Small quantities of arsenic have been found in oysters on the east and south coast.
