SPADE RANCH TO BE CUT INTO FARMS SOON

One hundred and seventy three thousand, four hundred acres of land, comprising the Spade ranch, which lie in the vicinity of Lubbock, will be thrown open to sale in small blocks for agricultural purposes, beginning on the 6th of October, it was announced recently. The announcement sounds the final death knell for the cattle industry in this section.

Stanley Watson, former business man of Kansas City, Mo., and the man who staged the successful land selling campaign for the Halsell Land company in Lamb county last year, will be in charge of the selling of the famous Ellwood property. Ellwood and Watson signed articles here the first part of the week and the latter immediately began work framing the organization to put over the campaign.

A town, very much on the order of Amherst, which was built under the direction of Watson, will be begun between Shallowater and Littlefield, in that part of Hockley county, where it joins Lamb county along the main line of the Santa Fe railway, between this city and Clovis, N. M. In the construction of this town Watson promises one of the greatest pieces of work in the History of West Texas. No name has yet been fully decided upon, but it will probably be named Anton, in honor of J. F. Anton, division superintendent of the Santa Fe railroad at Slaton.

The selling campaign will open on October 6th, and by that time several temporary buildings will have been completed on the townsite, Watson stated. The land will be sold on terms, bringing a maximum price of $35 per acre. The Spade ranch lands are 32 miles long, running north and south, and eighty miles wide, running east and west. Of the total acreage 103,000 lie north of the Santa Fe cutoff. The lands begin 12 miles to the west of this city, and were originally purchased by L. L. Ellwood, father of the present owner.—Plains Journal.

SEAGRAVES BOASTS OF A 91 POUND MELON

Gaines county can certainly cap the prize in producing the largest melon on the South Plains. A 91 lb. melon was raised on the farm of O. H. Hearne, local merchant, and now on exhibition at his store and will be shown with other Gaines county exhibits during the Gaines county 4th annual fair, Monday and Tuesday of next week. Mr. Hearne reported as many as six cars of melons had been shipped within the past few weeks.—Seagraves Progress.

Old Gaines will have to come again as old Terry has long reserved the sublime honor of furnishing the best and largest melons on the South Plains of Texas. There was one monster on exhibit at the Terry county fair that tipped the scales at 98 lbs., Bro. Dachman, in its sock feet, and exclusive of the blue ribbon on its delicate neck. Come again.

WARD AND LOVING COUNTY OFFICERS RAID STILL

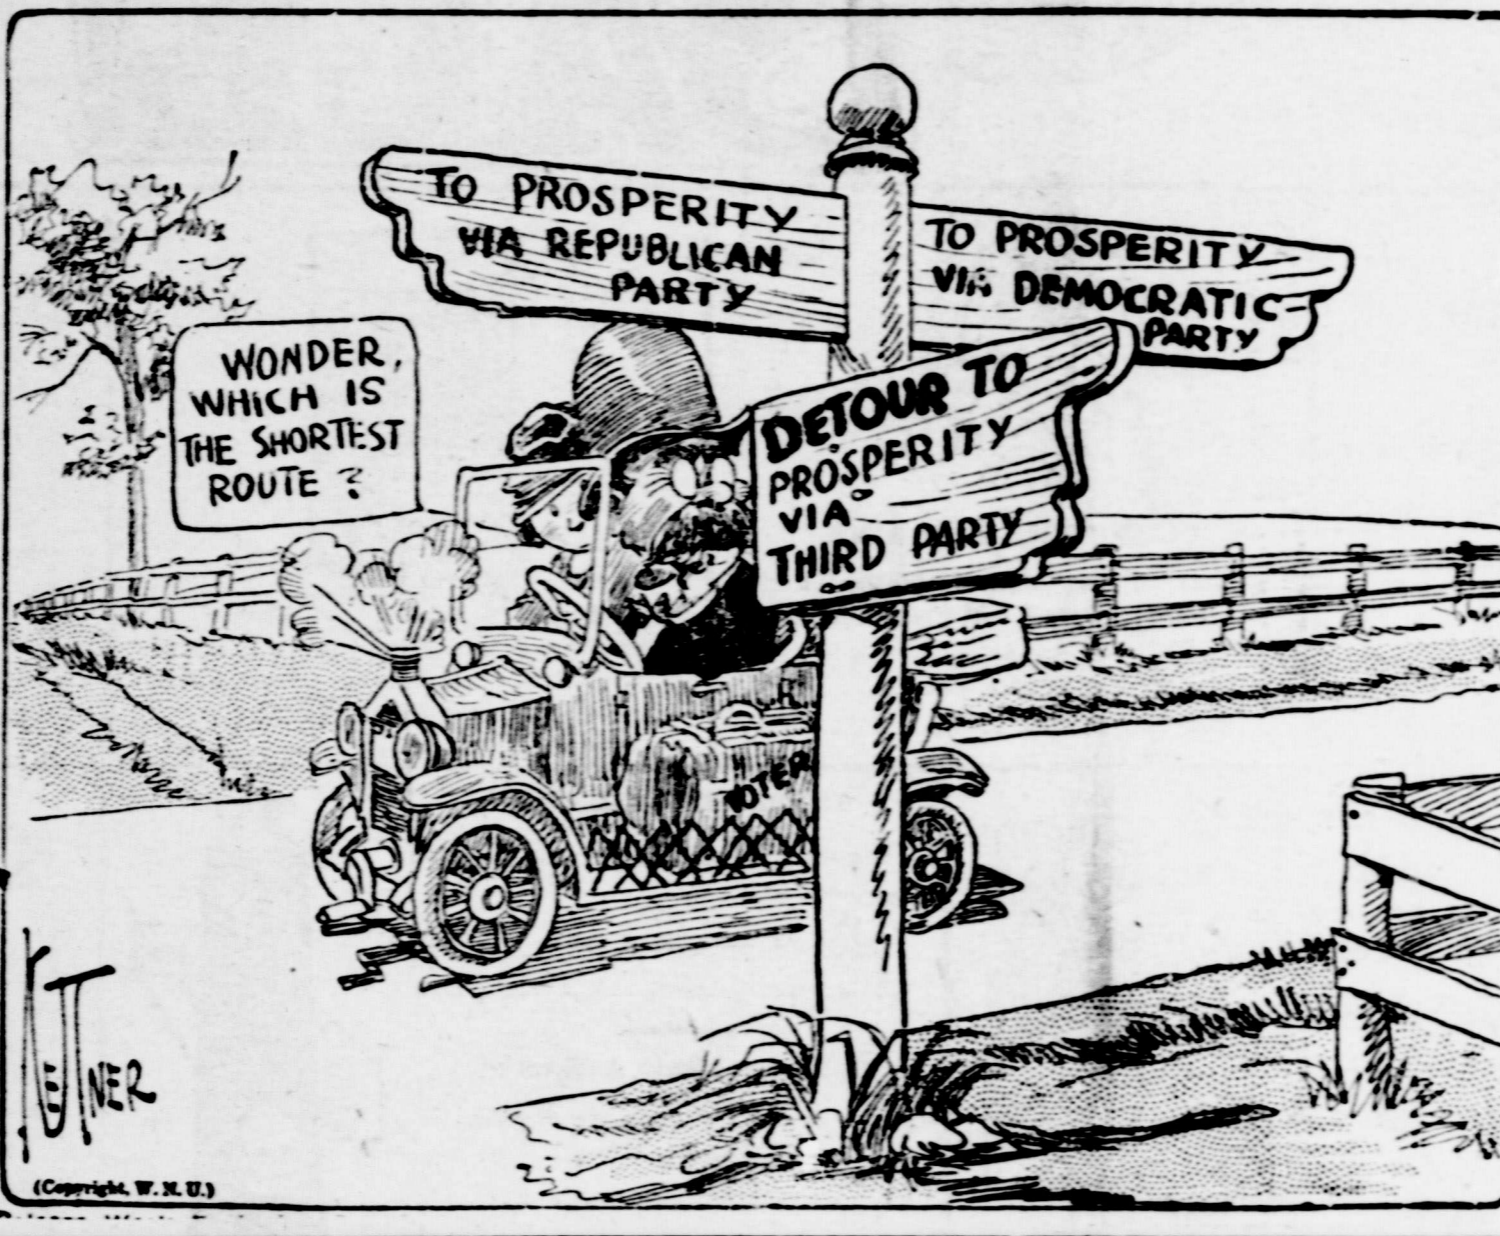

Sheriffs Wade and Kiser returned Wednesday from Loving county, where they spent the early part of the week searching for a still which they had reason to believe was in operation somewhere near the Texas-New Mexico state line.

They located the joy-juice factory—a still of large capacity—sometime Tuesday, but not until the following day did the supposed operator show up. When they did the officers proceeded to close in on their prey, but the supposed owner detected their presence in time to reach his horse and start his get-a-way. The officers state that they could have easily shot the law breaker, but instead Sheriff Wade shot his horse from under him when the fellow took to his heels and simply outran the officers over the sand hills.

The still, which was a bran new outfit, together with a large quantity of mash, corn chops, bran, sugar, etc., together with a wagon were utterly chopped to pieces by the officers and burned. With such co-operation as exists among the officers of the law in this section, the moonshiner can hardly hope to remain in business for long at a time.—Ward County News.

E. Brown carried his daughter Ola Bell, to Lubbock recently and had her tonsils removed. Dr. Hutchinson is also treating her eyes.

TERRY COUNTY FAIR NOT UP TO ITS USUAL STANDARD

The Terry County Fair was pulled off as per usual on Saturday, Sept. 27th, and from the number of communities exhibiting and also individual exhibits, were probably the sorriest that has ever been pulled off in Terry county.

The class of exhibits were very good, and averaged up with any other year and were in sufficient quantity to enable us to show at both Lubbock and Dallas. The people in town also took very little interest in assisting in putting the exhibition over, but in point of attendance, the average was up to the usual mark.

The Secretary is under many obligations to Mr. Redge Burnett and S. V. Wheeler for their valuable assistance in packing the Lubbock and Dallas exhibits. Had it not been for these two gentlemen, he would have had to work all Sunday night as no other person offered help in any way for that purpose. Thanks are also due Uncle Billie Howard, Bob Bowers, Tom May, Redge Burnett for their good work in looking after the exhibits. Miss Violet McBurnett and Mesdames Pearl Cardwell and Roy Collier, are due much credit for their work in looking after and judging the fancy work department.

Several things contributed to the partial failure. One was that it was not decided to have the fair until within a short time of the date set and also people, who had heretofore assisted in putting over these exhibitions, were too busy to take any part, and it was left up to the writer to shoulder the whole thing. He could not be at all points at one time and all departments suffered. Another thing was that last year we had a very mean spell of weather about this time that lasted several weeks, and farmers had not forgotten it and could not be persuaded to lose the time out of their fields.

There may have been other reasons, but the above are fully sufficient.—J. E. Shelton.

H. C. BURT & CO. OF HOUSTON BUY WATER BONDS

The City Council met Tuesday afternoon to consider bids for the $50,000 water bond issue that was voted in the early summer.

They found that H. C. Burt & Co., of Houston, Texas, made the best bid giving par for the issue.

Just as soon as some minor matters are cleared up, work will begin on the water system, which when complete will be one of the best on the South Plains. We understand that orders have already been placed for some time for material, which ought to begin arriving before long.

Mrs. Earl Scuddy and baby came in about two weeks ago, and they have taken rooms at the Fish residence.

WORD GIVEN 99 YEARS IN THE PENITENTIARY

Will (Peg-Leg) Word, charged by indictment with murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Dr. S. H. Windham, prominent Lynn and Terry county ranchman-doctor, who was killed within a few hundred yards of his Terry county ranch, on the afternoon of April 21st, was found guilty and must spend the remainder of his life in the penitentiary, according to the verdict returned by the jury here Wednesday afternoon.

The abrupt climax in the trial came shortly after noon Wednesday when attorneys on both sides of the case made an agreement following a long conference. The defense attorneys were prompted in making their part of the agreement by insistence upon the part of Word's aged father, who declared that he did not want to see his son pay the supreme penalty for crime, but that he did not want him left free where he might commit another such crime.

Dr. John S. Turner, nerve and mental disease specialist, of Dallas, testified in the case and it was his testimony that led to the abrupt ending of the trial, which, had regular channels been pursued, would have been in court at least two more days.

Dr. Turner stated that he examined Word in June following the tragedy, on April 21, and that he found his head a mass of ugly scars. He told of the stubbornness shown toward him by the defendant who believed that he was questioning him in order to gain information that might be used against him in the trial. Dr. Turner's testimony was heard with intense interest by the many Lynn and Terry county citizens who were in attendance.

B. G. Word, brother of the defendant, testified early in the morning and told of his observations of his brother's actions during his last visit home early this year that led him to believe that he was demented.

Word's aged father testified, but as he knew very little of his son's life during the past several years, other than that which had been told by B. G., he was questioned very little.

Word looked upon the trial with more interest than he had shown at any time during the trial, and appeared relieved when the verdict of the jury was read.

Word was returned to his cell in the Lubbock county jail, where he has been confined since his sensational arrest two days following the shooting of Dr. Windham.

Seaman & Company, local Chevrolet dealers, are moving into their new building on north Sixth street this week, where they will be much better prepared to handle their growing business.

C. D. Hanes, prominent farmer of the Pride community, was in to see us Wednesday.

BROWNFIELD HAS A NEW POSTMASTER

Acting Postmaster Jim Miller and his crew made their last run Saturday afternoon and turned the office over to J. C. Bohannon the newly appointed Postmaster for Brownfield, and Mr. Bohannon took full charge of the mail Sunday.

Mr. Miller gave excellent service during his more than a year's stay in the office, and little if any complaint was registered against him. His many friends wish him well in whatever undertaking he may follow.

The incoming postmaster is a home product, having resided here for several years and has many friends and well wishers. The public should bear with Mr. Bohannon while he is getting the run of the office, for it takes time and patience to learn the run of several hundred boxes. If the wrong mail is put in your box, we are sure that it will be appreciated by the new postmaster if you will politely call his attention to the matter.

Almost all people are ready and willing to make any reasonable amends when mistakes are called to their attention, and the writer is sufficiently acquainted with Mr. Bohannon to know that he will appreciate such help and encouragement.

DEFENSIVE STATEMENT FOR THE KU KLUX KLAN

To all sound thinking people to whom it may concern:

Again there are rumors and more rumors being passed on the streets of Brownfield, to deter the Ku Klux Klan.

Rumors: That the Klan is going to run klansmen in the general election in November against certain men who have been nominated in the Democratic primaries.

That klansmen are obligated by the Klan to gin their cotton at certain gins and to trade at certain business houses, and other minor rumors.

I, in behalf of the Klan and its officers and its members, state that these statements are untrue, and with the above explanation, and with the statement below, I do not intend to repudiate rumors of any nature hereafter.

If you are a friend of the Klan you don't require it, and if you are an enemy of the Klan you will say it is a lie anyway.

Exalted Cyclops,
Terry County Klan No. 321,
Brownfield, Texas.
(Paid Statement)

A. M. Brownfield, wife and daughter, Laurine, Ray Brownfield and wife, also Mr. William Brownfield, of Sterling City, went over to the Carlsbad Cave the past week spending a few days. They report it a wonderful thing, and entralling scenery.

WANTED: A few clean cotton rags at Herald office.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE SEEKING COTTON PICKERS

With regards to the cotton situation, or rather the picking situation, I desire to say that the matter of securing cotton picker for Terry county was taken up several weeks ago with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and the United States Labor Bureau at Fort Worth. I have received a letter from them in which they state that pickers are being sent into West Texas at the rate of more than a 1000 per day, and it would be judged by this that it will only be a few days until a sufficient supply will reach this section of the State. They also advise me that they have scouted in the eastern part of the State, shelling the woods for every man they could find, and that they hope to relieve the demand at no distant date.

At present dozens of cars of pickers are reaching the county each day, but they seem to have a leader who goes over different parts of the county seeking the best cotton and the most conveniences, and some time is lost to both the cotton grower and the picker, on account of the delay caused by this procedure. Numbers of them drive on to Dawson county, as it is reported that they are paying more money for pickers than Terry county growers. This is not the case, however, as the price is practically the same all over the South Plains. But true or not, it makes a difficult situation.—J. E. Shelton, Secretary of Chamber of Commerce

DECISION GIVES ALL POINTS TO MRS. FERGUSON

Austin, Sept. 29.—Declared eligible to hold the office of Governor of Texas, by District Judge George Calhoun, Mrs. Miriam A. "Ma" Ferguson Democratic nominee, was putting the finishing touches to her delayed campaign plans Monday night.

"Of course I am happy," she told the United News over long distance telephone from her home in Temple.

"But there could be only one kind of a decision handed down in such a case and it was done."

The decision of Judge Calhoun in refusing the petition for a temporary injunction asked by Chas. Dickson, San Antonio Attorney to keep Mrs. Ferguson's name off the ballots, affect more than 200 women in the state now holding elective and appointive offices.

In the petition Dickson claimed that there was no provision in the state constitution permitting women holding offices in the state.

Mrs. Ferguson won on every point in the petition.

TO EXHIBITORS AT THE TERRY COUNTY FAIR

All canned fruit that was on exhibition with the exception of five jars that was sent to Lubbock and Dallas, is ready for delivery and can be found at the office of Wood E. Johnson. The water canned fruit exhibited by Mr. Black, of Gomez, has been sent to Lubbock and will go on to Dallas. As soon as these fairs are over, all the above will be returned by express and will be ready for delivery at Mr. Johnson's office.

As soon as the secretary has time for it, the premiums will be worked out and checks mailed to all winners. In the community exhibits, Wellman won 1st prize; Tokio second and Gomez third.

A. M. BROWNFIELD TO CONSTRUCT ANOTHER BUILDING

We understand that A. M. Brownfield, local capitalist, has let the contract for another concrete business house, 25X80, just east of the one just completed for Brother & Brothers Grocery on East Hardin street. It will be nicely finished and equipped for a dry goods establishment.

We understand that the building has already been leased, but failed to learn the name of the lessee. But understand that he is a dry goods man and will put in a stock of dry goods in the building.

TO THE HUNTERS OF TERRY COUNTY

I have the 1924-25 license, which are good in any county in the State of Texas, and the price is $2.00 per license. If you think you are going to hunt much this winter, you had better get the license as the Game Wardens are pretty thick. The license is good until the 31st day of August, 1925.—H. R. Winston, Clerk.

LOCAL BAPTIST PASTOR GETS A POUNDING

On last Friday evening the Union Baptist church invited Rev. C. E. Ball and family out to Gus Ratcliff's home where the church and pastor were to come together for supper. The table was finally spread about sundown. Just as quickly as the announcement was made that the meal was ready, the table was surrounded by a happy group. Grace was said by Bro. Ball, after which a charge was made upon all the good things that the noble women of the church had prepared.

Supper being over the pastor and wife were invited into the dining room of the home, and to their great surprise they found the table literally loaded down with such as the following: canned fruit, beans, cantaloupe, water melons, lard, canned goods, chicken, etc. Mrs. Ball was called on to make a speech, for the ladies of the church announced that the things on the table were being presented to her. She was wholly unable to speak, being almost unconscious.

This church has doubled in membership in the last three months, as some two months ago it had a membership of thirty and now have a membership of sixty-three. They have called Rev. Ball for two Sunday afternoons in each month, and are planning larger things for another year.—Reporter.

LOCAL MERCHANT IS A GOOD AD WRITER

While passing one of our leading dry goods establishment one day this week, the proprietor called in a Herald representative, and conducted him to the business end of the establishment, and announced that he was going to change his ad this week.

Whereupon he gathered a piece of paper and began jotting down something and talking about how he wanted his ad to appear, and the substance of what he wanted the people to know.

The representative was careful to follow his instruction as the merchant is a good advertiser, and after the interview, the Herald man bro't the piece of paper to the Herald office and turned it in.

The paper was later examined, and all that appeared on it was a few dots and dashes, and the Herald force was thinking of appealing to the Western Union man to help out in the dilemma when the ad man said he thought he remembered enough of the conversation to fix the merchant an ad after his own heart.

As luck would have it this merchant is no grouch, and if a printer half way does right, he will be well pleased with the work.

MUT AND JEFF SHOW COMING NEXT TUESDAY

Elsewhere in this issue of the Herald you will find an ad of the Mut and Jeff tent show, who will pull a performance here next Tuesday night.

We do not know how good the show is going to be as we never saw it, and the only information we have of the matter is their posters and the ad appearing in the Herald, but all shows generally get a crowd in this city.

COTTON ROLLING IN AT A RAPID RATE

More than 100 bales of cotton were weighed at the local yards Tuesday, this being the first time this season that the hundred bale mark was passed, we believe. By the last of the week, it is believed between 150 and 200 bales will be received daily, providing pretty weather continues.

Weighter A. A. Bynum reported 716 bales weighed up to Tuesday afternoon, and he expects to pass the 1000 mark by Saturday.

THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY HAS IDEAL CANDIDATE

John W. Davis is first of all a man of exalted character. Born of splendid parentage in the home of culture and refinement, he is the finished product of the best there is in American manhood.

All his connections from the time he was admitted to the bar at twenty-two years of age until he was nominated as the Democratic candidate for President have been the highest type. Whether as practicing attorney in Clarksburg, W. Va., his small home town, as a member of the Virginia house of delegates, as a member of Congress, as Solicitor General of the United States, as Ambassador to Great Britain, as President of the American Bar Association, as a brilliant lawyer in New York, he has always been an outstanding leader of the first rank.

Mr. Davis did not seek the nomination for the Presidency. If elected he will go into the White House free from all political obligations except people regardless of class, creed and to serve alike all classes of American color. He is in sympathy with every forward movement for the good of mankind, as his heart has been attuned from youth to the needs of his fellow man.

Mr. Davis enjoys an international reputation as lawyer, orator, scholar, thinker, diplomat, polished gentleman and great patriot. No finer type of American citizen, either in character, ability, or personal charm has ever been presented to the voters of America for their suffrage.

Those who know him best predict his election if the American people can be made fully acquainted with his superior qualifications. In that event, we will have in him a wise leader and an executive worthy of the best traditions of the presidency.

H. M. Wooton and family, of Plains Kansas, brother of Mrs. F. E. Walters, is here visiting his sister. They are on their way to Phoenix, Ariz., where they will make their future home. This was Mr. Wooton's first visit to the South Plains, but he said it was very much like the country he hails from.

T B COSTING COUNTRY MILLIONS OF DOLLARS

Austin, Texas, Sept. 30.—Mr. D. E. Breed, Executive Secretary, of Texas Public Health Association, states that tuberculosis is one of the most costly diseases now effecting mankind, both in treatment and in money lost because of sickness.

In 1922 there were 106,000 deaths from tuberculosis in the United States, and it is estimated that there were about 954,000 active cases. Tuberculosis cuts off two and one-half years of life from the complete expectation of every individual. If each individual were to add only $100 to the community wealth for a year, tuberculosis would cost the community $250 per person. Among the 5,000,000 persons in Texas, this loss is over a billion and a quarter dollars.

It has been estimated that a tuberculosis patient is under care in an average of two and one-third years. Probably for at least the last year he is unable to earn anything. We can estimate the average annual earnings of a person at $1,000.00.

The Texas Public Health Association, through the money raised by the annual Tuberculosis Christmas Seals, has been endeavoring to reduce the death rate from consumption. In the registration area the death rate from tuberculosis has been reduced from 200 per 100,000 in 1904 to 97 per 100,000 in 1922.

Nature Has Provided the Eye Most Suitable

The American Review of Reviews quotes from the Bulletin of the French Societe de Biologie some interesting facts about the shape and position of the eyes in animals, according as to whether they hunt or are hunted. In the hunters, the eyes are in the front of the head and close together; they are deep in their sockets and protected by dorsal ridges and by the masticatory muscles. Thus, the binocular field of vision of such animals is large, while the panoramic field is limited. Hunters that lie in wait for their prey have pupils vertically elliptical; those that chase their prey have round pupils.

In hunted animals, the eyes are at the sides of the head and wide apart, with shallow orbits and no protection from ridges or muscles, so that they usually protrude. Hence their binocular field is very small or entirely lacking, but their panoramic field embraces almost the whole horizon. In the fast runners, the pupil forms a horizontal ellipse, which assists in broadening the field of vision; poor runners have round pupils. The frog, both hunter and hunted, has frontally placed eyes, but they protrude and have crosswise elliptical pupils.

The News

"Well—p'tu!—no," said Gap Johnson of Runpus Ridge in reply to the inquiry of the able editor of the Tumlinville Torch of Liberty and Toccasin of the Times. "I don't believe there's nuth'n special in the way of news been going on out my way. Come to think, though, at the dance at my house tuther night the floor broke down and killed a dog that had crawled under the house."

"Ah! Your dog?" asked the scribe. "Nope; belonged to Newt Strodder, over beyond Slippery Slap. Newt cussed and cut up so much about it—claimed he had only nine dogs left—that before the evening was over I had to shoot him in the leg to give him something else to think about. No, I don't know no pertickler news." —Kansas City Star

POLLYANNA

An editor down below the caprock is hiding out Six years ago a girl went to another state as a bride. She came home on a visit a few days ago, bringing her four young daughters each of whom had two given names. By the use of too many comas the careless linotype operator spoiled her visit by listing the youngsters in the print as Betty, Ann, Martha, Lou, Peggy, Jane, Mary, Elizabeth.

Glenn Akers made a business trip to Lovington, N. M., the later part of last week. Mrs. Champion returned Saturday from a three months visit to her daughters at Brownwood and Pine Bluff, Ark. While away she also visited relatives and friends at her old home at Memphis, Tenn. She reports a nice trip.

Just Doddridge, popular conductor on this run of the Santa Fe, was up at Seagraves Sunday, shaking the dust of his many friends here.

COTTON AND TARE

Tare is figured in the price. That is, six per cent of the price is deducted. Or to be more explicit, if the price of cotton is 35c including the tare, the price to the producer, all other things being equal, would be $32.90.

This department has never undertaken to gather statistics as to the average weight of the Texas bale of cotton, but our experience in the ginning business leads us to believe that Texas packed cotton will run far above 500 pound average.

The cotton producer who puts up bales weighing from 600 to 700 pounds and over, and the writer has seen many of these, is cheating himself.

With cotton selling at $2.90 per pound, the bagging and ties alone, eighteen pounds, amounts to $5.22 per bale, hence the sensible thing for the cotton grower to do is to have his bales packed in lighter weight bales, weighing only around 500 pounds. And should he desire to get all that is legitimately due him, he would be justified in demanding that the pattern of bagging, together with the ties that go on the bale, weigh approximately 20 pounds. There is no reason under present marketing conditions, for the producer to undertake to market his cotton net weight, although that system should be made the practice. And as long as some one connected with the industry is taking advantage of the lack of the full amount of the tare being on the bale, there is no sensible reason why the producer should not secure any and all advantages that might come to the intermediate holder of the bale.

Most if not all cotton exported carries from 8 to 12 pounds of patches. These are put on at the compress plants at the request of the exporter. And as stated in our last article in the Bulletin, this patch business runs into many millions of dollars annually. There are seldom any profits coming to the local or merchant cotton buyer through the addition of patches.

This department has advocated co-operation among several agencies having to deal with cotton to the end that the cotton grower might receive all legitimate benefits to which he might be entitled. We believe the legitimate cotton buying trade are in accord with the idea that the cotton grower is not getting a square deal where there is deducted from the price of cotton 6 per cent of tare, while in fact the bale carries only approximately 18 to 22 pounds of tare.

Here is an opportunity for a splendid piece of co-operative effort among the farmers and between these and the bankers and cotton buying trade. We are of the opinion that when the matter is approached from the right angle you will find these several agencies ready to lend their full aid, but there must be, there should be, a friendly and constructive co-operative effort looking to this end. The only way to play the game is to "play fair." But it is not playing the game fair to deduct 6 per cent from the price paid the producer for his cotton and then let some intervening agency put from 8 to 10 pounds of patches on the bale of cotton and even receive the same price as was paid the grower.

The application of common sense ideas need be made and we believe the time is opportune in Texas for the cotton grower, the local cotton buyer merchant, the banker and the grower to enter upon a program for correcting a practice that is taking away from the cotton growers many millions of dollars yearly.—State Marketing Bulletin.

LYNCH DAVIDSON TO BE A CANDIDATE 2 YEARS HENCE

Lynch Davidson is writing the press and through the newspapers the public, that he will be a candidate for governor in 1926, unless "there comes forth two years hence the champion of the principles upon which my candidacy was predicated, whom I regard better able to carry to carry them out and whom I can wholeheartedly support."

Davidson traveled 16,000 miles in Texas in his candidacy. There were several counties he did not get to visit and in a great deal of the territory he did not double back. The immensity of Texas, the greatness and the mightiness of it, can't be imagined by the stay-at-homes such travelers as Mr. Davidson tell us.—Exchange.

WHO WANTS A DUCK EGG ANYWAY?

The following circular letter was recently received by one of our local oil agents, and this big company was trying to drive home the importance of advertising:

"When a hen steps off the warm nest, broadcasting to the barnyard that she has just laid a fine fresh egg she has a product that everybody is proud of and she doesn't hesitate to advertise the fact.

A duck egg might be just as good as a hen egg, but the Duck evidently doesn't think so. She doesn't advertise and the eggs have no market."

Mummies Don't Last

Many persons are curious to know what a mummy looks like after it is unwrapped. Recently at the Cleveland Museum of Art a mummy case which had been on exhibition since 1914 was opened and the numerous bandages covering the remains were unwound. Nothing was found inside but a skeleton and some cheap blue porcelain beads that had evidently once formed a string. Not only the flesh had disappeared but time had disintegrated the bones. There was a strong odor of balsam. The mummy was that of Senbi, a king's scribe, who died in the Twelfth Egyptian dynasty, some four thousand years ago. It was found in Egypt. Senbi was of mixed Egyptian and Asiatic blood and died about the age of thirty-five.

African "Conjuring"

On the west coast of Africa natives of the "bush" claim to have two souls. One animates the person's human body, the other takes on the "wer" (wer) shape, by means of a magic draft handed down through the ages. In that land evil spirits lurk in the rocks, trees and the rivers. Here the Goddess Ninnu (great oval-shaped rock in a river) keeps her vigil and does out revenge or help to the supplicant at her shrine. Sixty per cent of the deaths in West Africa are believed to be due to witchcraft or sorcery. From these ancestors our southern negro inherits his belief in the power of the voodoo, and his "conjuring" practices are a direct throwback to the "bush" folk.—New York Times.

A. J. Stricklin, of Brownfield, recently built a new office building that is a dandy. Windows and sky lights made it an ideally lighted office. With the issue of June 6, "Jerry" celebrated the Herald's 15th birthday under his efficient management. He is proud of the fact that he has transformed the Herald equipment from the "G Wash" class to one that is modern, with a fine cylinder press and a Linotype. Here's to you "Jerry," and may you ever prosper.—Linotype News.

The above item appeared recently in the Texas department of the Linotype News, published in New York. We have no objection to the item—in fact it is a good one, but what we want to know is where they got that old "Jerry" stuff. Down here on the South Plains we are known as just plain "Jack," and we have not done anything recently that would justify a change in name. If Ira Bacon is responsible for the "Jerry" part, and we bet he is, we'll make it hot for him next time he sticks his grinning face inside our sanctum.

MUST KEEP COTTON PICKERS DURING WET SPELLS

The Herald has the following communication from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce addressed to local chamber secretaries.

The United States Employment Bureau at Fort Worth claims now to be sending cotton pickers into West Texas at the rate of 1000 per day, mostly by automobile. It is necessary that these cotton pickers be held over during wet weather and not allowed to leave the country, because if they do we face a serious situation.

We will appreciate it if you will take this matter up with your farmers and give an interview to your newspapers on it. If a bad spell of rainy weather should come to the farmers, they should hold the pickers and not let them go back to east Texas because if they do, it will just add that much more expense to the matter.

TAHOKA YOUNG PEOPLE MARRY AT ABILENE

Mr. Winter Knight and Miss Leona Key were married Tuesday at Abilene, according to a telegram received by the groom parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Knight. They were expected to return to Tahoka in the next day or two. They have engaged rooms at the home of W. L. Knight.

Mr. Knight has been in the employ of the firm of Knight Brashear in the grocery department, in this city. He has been promoted, it is said, to a position in the dry good and clothing department. He is one of the popular young men of the city and is a most capable young business man.

Miss Leona Key is the daughter of Mrs. G. E. Lockhart and is a young lady of culture and refinement, and is very popular in the social circles of the city. They have the best wishes of a host of friends here and elsewhere.—Tahoka News.

THE LATEST OF THE MANY FORD STORIES

Mrs. Fred Weaver had a big scare last Thursday when she was returning from Stratford with their new Ford car. She got along well until she entered the Flores pasture about 25 miles southeast of Stratford where she had to go through a gate. She left the baby in the car and went to shut the gate, but when she turned to go to the car it was gone. It had slipped into high gear and on account of the high wind she did not hear it start.

Mr. Weaver was some piece down the road ahead with teams and wagons, and when he saw the car was not in the road and that his wife was not driving, he hurriedly tied his lines and tried to catch the car but failed. The car then plunged into the draw, throwing the baby out, and started up the other side, but killed the engine and rolled down the hill. Neither the car or baby were injured, but Mrs. Weaver ran a mile and a quarter across the prairie and had the scare of her life.—Spurlock correspondent in Texhoma (Okla.) Times.

Charley Jones and wife were up from Pride Monday afternoon. He reports the new gin just about ready to run.

Which Proved It Right

L. D. Edie is a professor of economics at the State university, and incidentally is the author of the textbook used in his classes. He has a way of "catching up" his students, after they have made recitations. A few days ago, one of his students was as clever as he was. The usual procedure is that the professor asks a question, and after the student has answered it, the instructor says, "Now, are you sure about that?" and adds, "Isn't it thus and so," or "don't you really mean something entirely different from that?"

The student usually believes that he is wrong and "hems and haws," trying to correct his first statement, which usually is correct.

But this time a young man recited and when Mr. Edie asked, "Are you sure about that?" the student said, "I don't know whether it is right or not, but that is what you said in your book?"—Indianapolis News.

Rush-Bearing Festival

In a little-frequented village in the heart of North Wales, the ancient custom of rush bearing is observed annually on a Sunday in mid-July. Village girls pass into the churchyard through the old lych gate before morning service, bearing in their arms large bundles of green rushes and sheaves of all the sweetest-smelling flowers—mignonette and gilly-flowers, lavender and "Old Man," pansies and lilies, pinks and roses, which they place reverently upon the various graves. At the feasting which takes place after the service on every guest's place is laid a sprig of rue, which he or she must wear forthwith or be guilty of great discourtesy. "Rue—that's for remembrance."

"THERE IS NO GOOD BEST and BEST"

when you are talking about the abstract of title to a piece of property. In other words, an abstract with ONE ERROR—ONE OMISSION that leads you to pay money for property under the supposition that the title is clear, when in fact it is clouded or bad—that one omission makes the abstract just as false, just as worthless, as though there were a dozen mistakes in it.

There is only one kind of an abstract that is good—that is the kind that is complete and perfect in accuracy.

You want that kind, and we make no other kind. In this business we are specialists—devote our entire energy and brain power to this one thing, and own the most complete and accurate records for promoting the efficiency of our work. Come in and we will explain the service in detail.

ABOUT THE MAN WHO WANTS TO BE GOVERNOR

Dr. George C. Butte was born May 9, 1877, at San Francisco. When he had moved to Texas. He received his first college degree, a bachelor of arts degree, from Austin College, at Sherman, in 1895. After teaching school a number of years he came to the University of Texas.

From the University of Texas he received a B.A. degree in 1903 and an M. A. degree in 1904. Before coming to the University of Texas he was married August 31, 1898, to Miss Bertha Lattimore of Dublin, Texas, a sister of Judge O. S. Lattimore, Associate Justice of the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Dr. Butte was admitted to the Texas bar in 1903. After he had received his M.A. degree in 1904, he went to Muskogee, Okla., where until 1911 he practiced with conspicuous success. In 1907 he was admitted to practice before the United States Supreme Court.

In 1911 Dr. Butte retired from practice and went with his family to Berlin, where he studied for a year. He next attended the University of Heidelberg and received a doctor of jurisprudence degree from that institution in 1913. He followed his year's study at the German institution of learning with a year at the French leading law school at Paris.

Dr. Butte came to Austin in the fall of 1914 to accept a professorship of law in the University of Texas. He held this post until early in 1918 when he volunteered his services in the army, and was named head of the foreign intelligence department of the general staff, with the rank of Major. It is said that Dr. Butte's knowledge of the Germans and of Germany was of great value during the war.

Dr. Butte returned to the University of Texas in 1919, but after one year he was appointed by Gov. W.P. Hobby at the request of the Texas Railroad Commission as the head of the oil and gas conservation division of that commission. After he had organized this department he was asked by the League of Texas Municipalities to draft a public utilities bill for Texas. He spent several months in this work, and during the course of his preparation of the bill studied in the libraries of Yale, Harvard and other leading institutions of learning.

In 1922 Dr. Butte came back to the University of Texas and resumed his professional duties in the law school. Dr. Butte was named in 1923 dean of the law department.

Dr. Butte is a member of the International Law Association, the American Society of International Law, Alpha Tau Omega and Delta Theta Phi fraternities and a 3rd degree Mason. In 1910 he was a candidate in Muskogee, Okla., for district judge on the Republican ticket.

JAPAN WAS FIRST FOREIGN LAND TO ADOPT TELEPHONE

After the first 1000 telephones had been leased for commercial purposes on private lines and around New England, two telephones were shipped on Sept. 25, 1877, from the first telephone manufacturer in Boston to Bavier & Co., of Yokohama, Japan. On Oct. 6, two telephones were sent to Patrick & Carter in Havana, Cuba, and on Oct. 9 three telephones were shipped to Charles L. Gay, Paris, Fr.

Among the other earlier subscribers were the city messenger of Boston in Aug. 1877, and the Boston Public Library on Aug. 7. The Fall River Fire Department signed a contract

Among the Public Utilities Companies, the first to adopt the telephone was the Boston Gas Company, signed a contract on Oct. 15 and the Lewiston, Maine, Gas Company, who signed a contract on Nov. 15. The Fitchburg Railway Company installed telephones on Oct. 1, 1877; the Farragut House at Rye Beach, N.H., on June 15, 1877; and Washburn & Moen, steel manufacturers, of Worcester, on July 11, 1877.

From these instances will be gained a very clear idea of the way in which the earlier use of the telephone commended itself to men engaged in business of a widely diverse nature. All of these installations were within a comparatively few months after the first successful use of the telephone.

BESSIE BANKS ENTERTAINERS COMING OCTOBER 15

The first issue of the 1924-25 Lyceum Course will be in Brownfield on the evening of Oct. 15th, and will consist of Violin, Cornet, Piano, Vocal Readings.

Each member of the Bessie Banks Entertainers is an artist of musical attainment, and each has plenty of that rather indefinable thing called "Personality." A happy combination, this, which has enabled the three young women to prepare a program of wide popular appeal, and they present it in a manner which immediately places them in the front rank of popular concert organizations.

Miss Bessie Banks is a reader, a cornetist, and an accompanist. She is a graduate of the Lyceum Arts school of Chicago, an advanced pupil of Elias Day. She has been a favorite for several seasons, and her work has been highly commended everywhere.

Miss Blanche Hammond has a soprano voice of remarkable sweetness, and her technique is an ample testimony of the work of her teacher, Theodore Harrison, of Chicago. She is also a pianist of ability, a graduate of Knox Conservatory of Galesburg, Illinois.

Miss Mabel Forrester, violinist and accompanist, is a graduate of the Illinois State College of Jacksonville. She also studied with Mr. Kritch of the American Conservatory of Music of Chicago. She has had several years' experience on the concert platform and is unquestionably an artist of attainment.

The program given by the Bessie Banks Entertainers consists of vocal and instrumental arrangements, readings and dramatic sketches. Fascinating costume groups are given also, featuring Chinese songs and novelty numbers.

The repertoire embraces semi-classical and popular numbers, giving the young musicians ample opportunity

Why Automobiles Deteriorate

A factory machine is attached to a solid floor, which nearly prevents vibration. Yet it is constantly being adjusted and lubricated. Hence it wears for many years.

An automobile is constantly bumped over rough roads. Yet in spite of this terrible strain, the average car gets much less attention than the factory machine. Hence it depreciates much faster.

Bring your car to

Pirate Pat Treasure Beyond Human Reach

Surcharged with wild romance is the tale of Duval's hoard on the Rock of Perce, which lies off the coast of Gaspe Peninsula, province of Quebec. So many people have lost their lives in trying to climb up and recover the treasure supposed to be hidden there that the legislature of the province has passed an act forbidding anyone to try to scale the height without permission.

The rock is one of the natural wonders of the North American continent. Thousands of years ago some terrific convulsion of nature must have torn it from the near-by mountain and left it standing 500 feet high with a flat top and unscalable sides. At one time two caverns pierced the base on the seaward side, but one of them has collapsed and left only the larger, through which the sea thunders in stormy weather.

When Captain Duval, the French pirate, was hard pressed by the British, he collected all his treasure and sailed for the rock. A Micmac Indian with whom he was friendly wormed his way upward through an opening in the greater of the caverns and, reaching the top, threw down a light line with which he hauled up a block and fall. He pulled up two British prisoners, then the captain himself. Boats containing the treasure stood by below.

Tradition says that the men were a day and a night in getting it all up. Then the Indian and Duval came down. The captain's sword was bloody. With muskets he and his men shot at the tackle until they had cut it through at a point so high on the rock that no one could reach it. Captain Duval never returned; nor did any of his men.

For two generations the rains rotted the stout hemp ropes on the side of the cliff until at last they disappeared. Though there are fishermen in Perce whose grandfathers saw the ropes, no one knows what happened to the two prisoners and the chests of treasure.

Egyptians First to Employ the Epitaph

The word "epitaph" originally meant a sepulcher. Then it was applied to the monument marking a place of burial, and later it was used exclusively to designate the inscription on the monument.

Inscriptions of this kind, it appears, were originated by the Egyptians. From the Egyptians the custom of using them spread to the Greeks and Romans and finally to all Christian nations, says the Pathfinder. Usually an epitaph consists of some sentiment or expression of affection or faith in addition to the name of the deceased and the dates of his birth and death.

Despite the fact that they are invariably associated with such solemn things as death and bereavement, epitaphs are often highly amusing. In some instances their humor is evidently deliberate and intentional, but usually it is the result of faulty English or some accident of diction.

Really Fine Tribute to Love and Memory

In a speech delivered in the house of representatives, dealing with forest devastation in America, Martin L. Davey, representative from Ohio, cited a beautiful tribute to a tree. Mr. Davey said that on the occasion of his addressing the Rotary club of Elyria, Ohio, the president of the club introduced him with this story:

"I have the most valuable tree in the world out at my house. Some fifteen years ago I had a little boy who was then three years old. In the early fall he would go out to gather up the buckeyes.

"The little fellow would gather the buckeyes, sometimes by pocketfuls and sometimes by basketfuls, and would bring them in and play with them. One day he took sick. The next day he was better, so he went out as usual and brought in just one large, fine buckeye and played with it. The next day he died."

After a little pause he continued: "I took that large, fine buckeye and carried it with me all the long winter. I took it out every little while and looked at it and was reminded of him. And then, when the springtime came, I went out and planted it down under his sand pile. Later the sand was taken away, and the buckeye sprouted and came up, a healthy little plant. Then I built a fence around it to protect it, and I called the boys of the neighborhood together and told them the story. I asked them to help me protect this tree. I told them they might break anything else I had—the windows in my house, my automobile or anything else—but please don't break this tree. They have respected that request and the tree stands there today fifteen years old, a healthy young specimen, the most wonderful tree in the world to me."

There is in this living tree not alone a monument to a little boy who died, but also a monument to a father's love. —From American Forests and Forest Life.

Collection of Gourds

The late Prince Kilauea, who was for many years a delegate to congress from Hawaii, was a systematic collector of the historical relics of the early dynasties of his people and at the time of his death the collection was quite large and complete so that a large part of his house on the Waikiki beach was devoted to housing the collection. There are many warlike implements contrived and used by the early inhabitants of the Hawaiian Islands and a great number of the ceremonial calabashes, some dating back many hundreds of years. Some of these growths which have been regarded as sacred were found to contain valuable documents, papers and pictures, the native methods of preserving such articles. There are also many very handsome and rare feather capes, formerly made use of by royalty and upon ceremonial occasions.

Another Ex-Blacksmith

It had been terribly hot about the camp, and the battle cook was suddenly struck with a bright idea for the welfare of humanity. He filled a G. I. can with ice water and was dumping in tea leaves when the mess sergeant stropped up. "Wotcher makin' there?" demanded the latter. "Teed tea." "You can't make teed tea that way, insipid. You gotta boil it." "Boil it?" The cook became scornful. "Boil it? Why, you poor old can, if I boiled it, it would melt the ice."

Fooing Him

"Tuther morning I woke up from a doze on the porch and seed a lady sorter fooling around out by the ash hopper," related Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge. "Her back was to'ads me, and she had bobbed hair and looked pretty blame good to me. So I slipped over and grabbed and kissed her. And, lo, behold you, it was my wife! You could a-stopped me flat with a feather."

"What's the ldy of you getting drunk at this time o' day and cutting up such capers as that?" says she.

"It was that there bobbed hair of your'n that fooled me," says I.

"Tuh!" says she. "It's been bobbed for mighty nigh a month now, and you never noticed it before. You're drunk."

"And nuth'n would do her but I had to give her a couple of dollars to spend for a new hat or some such foolishness. I must have been drunk."—Kansas City Star.

Royal Art in Sweden

The royal house of Sweden is winning through its younger members a substantial reputation for distinction in the arts.

Prince Wilhelm of Sweden, in particular, has proved himself a good poet, a clever playwright, an enterprising explorer and a writer of excellent prose. His translation of "Hassan," published in Stockholm, is said to be a fine piece of work, according to London Tit-Bits.

The artistic strain runs strongly in the family. Prince Eugen studied art in Paris, and paints delightfully. His father, King Oscar II, was a poet of merit.

Another of the Bernadotte line, King Oscar's brother, Charles XV, was both poet and painter.

How to Get Better Milk Prices

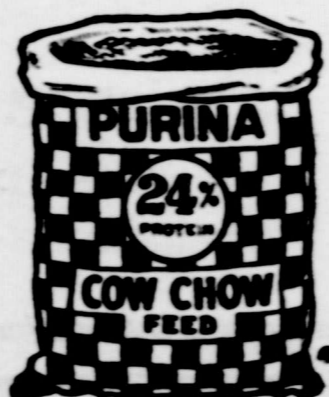

Now is the time to feed a real milk producing ration.

By raising the average of your winter milk deliveries with Cow Chow during the winter months you can expect better prices, and more milk accepted in the spring and summer.

The dairy farmer who brings in twenty gallons a day in the winter and then tries to deliver 40 gallons in the summer, gets the regular price for only 20 gallons, and the surplus price for the other twenty.

The dairy farmer who has a big fall and winter production establishes a high average for himself and gets a good price in the spring and summer on grass for as much milk as he made last fall.

Cow Chow now means more winter milk and more summer income.

MEADOW BRIEFS

By Anaculapins.

There has been a meeting in progress at the Church of Christ the past week. The Rev. Bankhead has been doing the preaching. We have heard quite a number of people commend his sermons. On Saturday night he was supposed to have preached on the 2 K's, and the writer wended his way thither as the shades of evening begin to gather and found quite a crowd at the church. Among them was quite a number who have been supposed to owe allegiance to the Invisable Empire, looking expectant. The speaker took his text from some place in Peter, and talked mildly of certain individuals whose zeal had ruptured churches and communities and families, but failed to indulge in any inflammatory or pyrotechnic sentences. We shared his respect for the dead, and enjoyed his sermon, but it could hardly be called a sermon on the ku klux klan. As he hails from my old home county and his father and I were old friends I would be glad that the churches at Brownfield and Meadow would secure his services the coming year.

The past week was an immense gain over the former week in the number of bales of cotton ginned here. Up to Saturday night there had been ginned 200 bales. The price has been good and most sold as ginned.

Notices have been posted calling an election to choose officers for the newly incorporated town of Meadow. From six dwellings and two stores in Nov. 1920, it has grown to more than 100 houses and now has 400 population. So mote it be.

We have heard that several have been hauled into court over the fast driving and accidents of last Sunday. This is just as it should be. Whatsoever a fellow sows, that shall he also reap. It is sincerely hoped that every one guilty will be given a reasonable fine and admonished that in the future it will be increased if they indulge in fast driving.

A very few from here attended the fair at Brownfield Saturday. It is really unfortunate that Meadow failed to taken even the accustomed interest in this laudable enterprise. There was no one to take the lead and as a consequence, nothing was done. It is deplorable that the second city in the county should fall down in failing to co-operate with the other communities.

Tina Cunningham was operated on at the Lubbock Sanitarium Thursday for gall bladder trouble. She is still in a very dangerous condition. Two other operations were done earlier in the year. We trust that the courage and determination of the unfortunate girl will be repaid with rapid return to health.

It has been rumored that Mr. R.H. Timmons has purchased part of the C. W. Avery general merchandise establishment, and will henceforth be found behind the counter of that establishment. We wish for the new firm the success it merits.

There has been several transfers of real estate the past week. Some people know a good thing when they see it. Railroad facilities, conveniences of a good school, nearness to church, with attendant social advantages are not to be overlooked in choosing a home.

Elder Price Bankhead preached to good audiences here Sunday night, also Monday night, and his sermons were greatly enjoyed. He has been employed by the Church of Christ at Meadow, who will build him a residence, and he will move from Fredrick, Okla. about Jan 1st to Meadow, dated Sept. 18, and Harvard College on Oct. 3.

"RELATIVES"

The husband, who had a great habit of teasing his wife, was out driving with her, when they met a farmer driving a span of mules. Just as they were about to pass the farmer's rig, the mules turned their heads toward the auto and brayed loudly.

Turning to his wife, the husband said: "Relatives of yours, I suppose?"

"Yes," replied the wife sweetly, "by marriage."
