THE SIX GINS HERE RUNNING INTO NIGHT

Last Friday was the record day of the fall at the Brownfield cotton yard when W. A. Bynum and his crew weighed up 204 bales of cotton, and on Saturday 191 was weighed. Not all the cotton that is ginned is being weighed here, as some are shipping with gin weights, we understand and some of the gins are buying cotton and storing in the gin yard.

One can now hear the low drowsy hum of the gins far into the night, and is about the first noise on gets at the waking hour, and this merry hum of industry is putting new life in the town and country.

The receipts at the Brownfield and Meadow yards up to Wednesday are as follows:

Brownfield	7,029
Meadow	2,465
Total	9,494

Brownfield had an increase of over 1,000 bales the past week.

F. J. HEADSTREAM PASSED AWAY SATURDAY

Mr. F. J. Headstream, aged 63, and one of our most beloved and valuable citizens passed to his reward at 4:10 Saturday afternoon, after several months of bad health and severe suffering. Mr. Headstream came to Terry county from the Rotan country several years ago, and at once entered into the pushing of the development of Terry county, educationally, morally and religiously. Mr. Headstream had been a member of the Methodist church for 30 odd years, and was a true and faithful member, a devoted husband and dutiful father. The passing of such men is a blow to any community.

The funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at the local Methodist church by the pastor Rev. J. P. Watson, after which the body was carried to Meadow by the Brownfield Hdw. Undertaking Co., and layed to rest in the Meadow cemetery.

Besides a wife, Mr. Headstream leaves five living children, all of whom live in and around Brownfield, except one, a married daughter who lives in Fisher county.

SANTA CLAUS LETTERS

Santa Claus letters are coming in lively and rather earlier than usual this year, showing the little fellows realize that prosperity is here, and want their part of the pleasure. The Herald wants to do its part in getting these letters before old St. Nicholas, but some of them are rather hard to interpret, and we are going to ask the co-operation of the mothers in this. If the child doesn't write a legible hand, the mother can take quite a lot of work off the Herald force by re-writing the letter. This can be done under the pretense of writing Santa themselves, and inclose with the child's letter, and the little fellows will be none the wiser. Also be sure they sign their letters.

Any letter addressed to Santa will be dropped in the Herald box by our accommodating postoffice force no matter where it carries a stamp or not.

Dear Santa—
I am a little girl 11 years old and going blind, and can't go to school on that account, so please bring me a doll buggy and lots of other things to play with so I won't be so lonesome.

Lovingly,
Ola Belle Brown

Dear Santa Claus—
Please bring me an air gun; a train that will run; a little wagon and a coaster, and a set of tools; a big tricycle; a knife—a dandy good one—and a tin horn and a french harp.

I think that is all. I will be a good chicken.

Richard

Dear Santa—
Please bring me a motorcycle and a hand car, a Sandy Andy and an Alabama Coon jigger, a train and some tinker toys.

FOUNDATION BEING DUG FOR AN ICE PLANT

It begins to look like Brownfield is in for a couple of ice plants, something we have been needing and even begging for several years, and now it appears that we are going to get two helpings of this necessity.

Workmen started digging the foundation for the Porter-Barry plant, who are from Crowell, and own the ice, light and power plant in that city.

We understand that they are to put in a thoroughly modern plant in this city, and that they will only start with a ten ton plant, their housing will be large plenty for double that capacity.

In the meantime the Texas Utilities Company are platting their property and have plans drawn for an up-to-date plant here.

The Herald knows nothing about the ice business except that he has paid a good long price for the products of them for several years, but we believe the business is being overdone here for the present, but in a few more years, if both survive, we will have use for two. Of course we may be mistaken, and hope we are but this is our opinion ofhanded.

POTASH MAN HERE AGAIN TESTING LAKES

We have been reliably informed that another salt and potash man from the north, whose name and residence we are not permitted to divulge, was here recently, and with several hands who understood the business, dug several test wells in the big salt lakes 10 miles east of town. Our informant said that this gentleman informed him that he could not give out anything definite until he returned to his laboratories in the north and made thorough examination of the water and excavations.

We hope to see the potash in these lakes developed in the future, but we believe that time is rather indefinite but in the future may be one of the leading industries of this section. It is at least acknowledged that they contain a large percentage of saltpeter salts and many other valuable minerals besides potash.

PREACHING AT CHURCH OF CHRIST SUNDAY

It was announced last Sunday that Elder Vaughan, of Abilene would fill the pulpit at the local Church of Christ Sunday and Sunday night. He is reported as being a good preacher and a fluent speaker. Everybody invited.

Later: Preaching has also been announced by Bro. Vaughan for Saturday night.

M. E. Jones informed us this week that he was holding down a chair at the City Barber Shop where his old friends and customers would find him now.

CONTRACT LET FOR BROWNFIELD WATERWORKS

The city council in executive session last Wednesday afternoon, November 19th, opened the bids for the construction of the Brownfield City Waterworks System, and found that Messrs. Irick & Kenney, of Plainview were the lowest bidders, their bid being just shy of $35,000.

The specifications call for a tank or reservoir to hold 100,000 gallons on a steel tower 100 feet in the air; 8-inch water mains throughout the business section, and 6-inch and 4-inch mains throughout the residential section, there being altogether some four miles of mains. Fire hydrants are to be properly spaced all over the city.

This work is all being done under the direction and to comply with the specifications of the State Fire Marshall and Insurance Commissioners, and when the system is completed, and other paraphernalia added that the council is buying, it is believed our insurance rates will be greatly reduced.

The job is to be completed within 90 working days from Nov. 19th.

The city council has also purchased 1000 feet of first class fire hose, and with it they will be able to reach practically every residence in town. They are also on a deal for a fire truck, which they think will be consummated in the near future.

We consider this a step toward making our city a real city that will mean more than any other single step that has ever been taken here. You absolutely cannot build or get anyone else to build a city without adequate fire protection.

COMMISSIONERS ARE WORKING TAHOKA ROAD

A piece of Terry county road that is much used, and has been needing a real jamb up grading for a long time is now receiving the undivided attention of Commissioners Cunningham and Barrett. This is the road leading from Brownfield east to the Lynn county line, and gives promise in time to be a nationally used highway.

We have not been over the road since the grading started, but we've been informed by a man that uses it every day that a good road is being made of it, that although the amount of loose dirt in places is hard to get over just now, when a rain or snow comes and the road is dragged, it will be one of the best if not the best roads in the county.

The citizens of the county as well as the general traveling public will appreciate this road work.

Utopia must be some sort of a land where your trousers last as long as your coat.

Roland Brown, of this place, has charge of the King line car making regular daily trips from Lubbock to Snyder.

ODD FELLOWS MAY ERECT TWO-STORY BRICK BUILDING

The local Odd Fellows have appointed a committee of its leading business men to take up the proposition of erecting a modern two-story brick building 100x25 feet on their lot on the north side of the square. We understand that their first care will be the disposition of the present two-story frame building now on the lot which is 24-50 feet. If they can find a buyer for the building or the material in it, the other part will be considerably easier.

E. G. Alexander is now building a two story brick 25x100 adjoining their lot on the east, and would of course be willing to sell half interest in his west wall. Then, we understand if the Odd Fellows build, it will mean the erection of a one-story brick adjoining them on the west by Uncle Tom Holley, who will take half interest in that wall as high as one story.

We hope these arrangements can be made as it will mean more buildings for Brownfield, more work for laborers and less fire risk for the north side.

LOCAL CHIROPRACTOR BUILDING LARGE RESIDENCE

Miss Bernice Weldon, local chiropractor, who though only having resided in Brownfield but a few months has enjoyed a healthy and growing practice of her profession from the very beginning, is erecting a large residence just across the street from the Rex Rooming house.

In this building, she will not only be able to arrange for her practice to suit herself, but can if she likes keep her patients from a distance who are not able to see her regularly at stated times.

Miss Weldon has the utmost faith in the future of Brownfield and its big territory and is showing her faith by her works.

TEXHOMA OIL CO. BUILDING WHOLESALE STATION HERE

Workmen are busy this week with the erection of warehouse and putting up the iron braces for the two big steel tanks for the Texhoma Oil Company, and the work will be rushed to completion. The headquarters of this big company is in Wichita Falls, Texas.

The company has located their plant on north 7th street near the old Grandma Bassham residence. This is the fourth wholesale oil company to come to Brownfield, the others being the Magnolia, Texas, and Gulf Refining.

We understand that Mr. Doc Powell will likely be local manager.

They claim a Wall Street man who stole a million lost it, but it isn't the custom.

County Clerk H. R. Winston, was a business visitor to Amarillo Saturday and Sunday.

PROMINENT FARMER HAS GINNED HIS 49TH BALE

J. L. Hyman, who lives six miles north of Brownfield on the Lubbock road was in Saturday mixing with the big crowd on the streets and had a smile on his face that attracted the attention of the writer. He informed us that he had picked and ginned 49 bales of cotton and had at least six more to gather. We understood the smile well enough without further questioning.

Mr. Hyman does not pretend to let on that he was rolling in wealth at the time he landed in Terry some six years ago, and settled on a raw half section of land with a small payment down and a small shack to house the family. But now he has one of the best improved farms in Terry county and has had it payed out so long, and all other debts taken care of and a nice bank account that he has forgotten all about his first year or two of hardships here.

J. L. Hyman is a booster for old Terry, despite her sandstorms, and he believes other intelligent and industrious farmers can do equally as well has he has done.

NATIONAL TRIO IS THE NEXT LYCEUM NUMBER

The music and drama lovers of Brownfield are in for a real treat on Saturday night December 6th, when the National Trio hold forth at the High School auditorium at night.

The one act play has been an increasingly favorite form of dramatic entertainment during recent years. Our communities have been more enthusiastic in the promotion of this movement. This artistic trio is an innovation of great merit—worthy of the best minds of communities—yet capable of giving delightful entertainment to everyone.

The program is unique. Plays of real human interest, such as "The Man From Home" and "The Way Out," will be given by artist of experience and thorough schooling; and to prelude and interlude these plays, music of such a character as to lend atmosphere to the dramatic presentations will be delightfully rendered.

The company is headed by Barney Thompson, a young Chicago artist of attainment along dramatic and musical lines. With him will be Miss Anita Thompson, a fine pianist, and Miss Margaret Byers, soprano and reader of unusual abilities. Mr. T. has a fine baritone voice which will be heard to advantage.

The program of the National Trio is one which will appeal to both music lovers and dramatic fans, and local people have a real treat in store for them at the forthcoming program.

BROWNFIELD SCHOOL GIRL APPRECIATES THE HERALD

C.L.A. Denton, Texas, Nov. 11th. Dear Mr. Stricklin—

Here's only a brief note just to tell you how much the Terry County Herald means to me. It's nice to read the Herald at home, but when a fellow is away, and has left all his friends, when he picks up his home paper and knows everyone who is mentioned in its contents—well, it's especially nice.

I am enjoying my school life in Denton, and think the C.L.A. a wonderful place. We have the best of literary lectures, and on December 10th we will have the opera "Carmen," which will be the main attraction before Christmas.

However, in spite of all these nice opportunities, I find I still long for the best little town in Texas, and the best people.

Wishing the Herald every success and prosperity, I am,

Your friend,
Lela Margaret Bell

CAR RUNS OVER CHILD ON O'DONNELL STREETS

A near serious accident occurred at the intersection of Doak and 7th Street, Monday, when a car driven by a Mr. Christ, of Tahoka, ran over the small son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Odum. The child had started across the street and darted in front of the car, and before Mr. Christ could stop the child had been knocked down and the wheels passed over its legs.

Nothing of more serious nature than severe bruises resulted from the accident. Mr. Christ was entirely blameless, the accident being unavoidable.—O'Donnell Index.

W. P. FORBES BRINGS IN HIS 36TH BALE TUESDAY

Something in the neighborhood of $4,000 worth of cotton gathered already and at least six more bales in the field, is not bad, and when you add to that the fact that plenty of good feed, such as corn, maize, kaffir and cane has been raised on the farm to safely run it another year, then that farmer has indeed a bright outlook.

This is the record of W. P. Forbes, prominent Pleasant Valley farmer, who lives about seven miles east of town. And the good part of this is the fact that the home force has picked all this cotton except about five bales.

Right here we want to tell one on Mr. Forbes. He first came to this country about ten or eleven years ago from Red River county and purchased a place. There was not nearly as much rain the first two years as he had been used to, and he got uneasy, and dreamed of the "old shady creek banks back east." So he sold out at about what he gave. About one year from that date the editor was passing a local hotel when a lady, whose face look familiar hailed its and said: "Send us the Herald again; we've move back; bought our old place again." Well, Mr. Forbes paid a nice advance in price, but he knew the place was worth it. If any of his neighbors have heard him say anything about moving back to "old Red River" since his return, please elevate your hand where it can be seen.

OUTDOOR SLEEPING GOOD SAYS HEALTH ASS'N.

Austin, Nov. 24.—D. E. Breed, Executive Secretary, the Texas Public Health Association, stated today that outdoor sleeping was one of the greatest tonics for tired minds and also one of the greatest disease preventatives. There is a growing interest in outdoor living by people who are not ill.

The American people are the greatest sport lovers in the world. Among them are some of the greatest athletes in the world. At the same time, the great mass of people lead a sedentary life, shut-in lives. They inhale fresh air only when they open their windows at night (and in winter they often neglect to do this) and when they walk from their homes to their work.

Why should not the United States become a nation of outdoor sleepers?

of vigorous men and women who arise refreshed on a winter morning, blood and brain clear for the day's achievement? The lungs that inhale outdoor air for eight hours out of twenty-four are not a fertile field for the tubercle bacillus.

It is with this thought in mind that the Texas Public Health Association urges everyone who possibly can to sleep out of doors all the year round. Mr. Breed stated that this was something that most Texans could enjoy and hoped they would avail themselves of the opportunity to enjoy nature's great restorer.

Rev. J. F. Curry received a letter Tuesday from his son, Albert, who formerly was employed by the News but now of Phoenix, Arizona. He reports he is feeling fine and his health seems to be improving. He thinks he will come back to Tahoka in the near future.—Tahoka News.

$2,530 PAID FOR A BIG MERKEL STEER AT K. C.

Kansas City, Nov. 1.—The Grand Champion fat steer, owned and fed by C. M. Largent of Merkel, Texas, sold at auction Friday for $275 per 100 pounds, which is the world's record. The steer weighed 920 pounds and brought $2,530.

This price of $275 per pound for Texas beef is the highest price ever paid for that commodity and was for the steer on the hoof.

Largent's herd exhibit was also accorded highest honors for the best 10 head of Herefords, the get of the herd's aged sire.

The Merkel man also took down six single class first awards.

No other exhibitors has ever approached, much less equaled the above record, and the Texas herd of Herefords from Merkel easily takes first place in the annals of the American Royal Livestock Show.

YEAR'S COTTON FORECAST IS 12,992,000 BALES

Washington, Nov. 21.—The cotton crop was estimated today at 12,992,000 equivalent 500 pound bales by the Department of Agriculture. A crop of 12,816,000 bales was forecast a fortnight ago. Last year's crop was 10,139,671 bales.

Of the total crop, 11,147,524 running bales, counting round as half bales, had been ginned prior to Nov. 14th, compared with 8,369,498 for 1922 and 8,869,978 for 1921 to that date, the census bureau announced.

The estimate of the crop was made on the basis of facts available to the crop reporting board as of Nov. 14, covering the condition, probable yield percentage of acreage abandoned, percent of the crop picked and ginned and upon the actual ginning to the 14th of November.

The estimate of Texas cotton crop for 1924 was placed at 4,650,000 bales.

Samoan Women Happy and Not Overworked

The life of a Samoan woman is pleasant. She is neither overworked nor savagely treated, says Edward A. Salisbury, in Adventure Magazine. From her earliest childhood she is trained in the intricacies of the siva-siva, and all her life the dance is a source of pleasure to her.

Samoan women will always dance for you if you ask them, and they show by their smiles and songs how much they delight in granting the request. In their girlhood they deck themselves with flowers and garlands of leaves and are fond of coquetry, but, unlike their Polynesian sisters of the Marquesas and Society Islands, they are chaste.

Before the coming of the Americans with new medical theories, the life of an infant was doubtful, and even now the old customs are carried out in some villages, it is said. The new-born child was laid on its back and three flat stones were laid around the head. To make the baby beautiful the family thought it was necessary to flatten the forehead and nose. Nothing is uglier, they feel, than our hideous, pointed "canoe noses." The baby was fed with filtered coconut juice for three days, while a "wise woman" tested the mother's milk. Often the child died.

Spices in Demand in Early Days of History

The tantalizing flavor and piquant qualities of spices have made them sought after from the earliest days of mankind, and an adjunct to civilization at all periods.

In the early days of history spices were worth fabulous sums, owing to the difficulty of obtaining them and the high cost of transportation.

When Alaric the Goth conquered Rome in 410 A. D., says the New York World, he asked as a ransom 3,000 pounds of pepper, then worth more than its weight in gold.

The first organization of dealers, it is said, was the "fraternity of pepperers," and it was in the fourteenth century that the name was changed to the "guild of grocers," which depicted on its coat of arms six cloves.

Venice at its height traded in spices to the amount of $10,000,000 annually, and it vied with Portugal in securing cargoes from far eastern ports. Columbus was bound for the spices of the East when he chanced upon a new continent, and Vasco da Gama, the famous sea fighter, made one of his most important voyages to secure a cargo of pepper, cinnamon and ginger from India.

Abyssinian Alphabet Huge

Abyssinia is a nation of more than 10,000,000 of whom a large percentage are illiterate, and it is a coincidence that the Abyssinian alphabet contains 236 letters. If an Abyssinian typewriter should be built on the same plan as the one used in America and European countries, it would have nearly 500 keys. Without any extra characters it would ordinarily have 472 keys, providing 944 letters, numerals and necessary characters.

Advice for Poets

To the poet, as to every other, we say first of all, "See." If you cannot do that, it is of no use to keep stringing rhymes together, jingling sensibilities against each other, and name yourself a poet; there is no hope for you. If you can, there is, in prose or verse, in action or speculation, all manner of hope.—Carlyle in "Heroes and Hero Worship."

Why Automobiles Deteriorate

A factory machine is attached to a solid floor, which nearly prevents vibration. Yet it is constantly being adjusted and lubricated. Hence it wears for many years.

An automobile is constantly bumped over rough roads. Yet in spite of this terrible strain, the average car gets much less attention than the factory machine. Hence it depreciates much faster.

The progressive business men of Brownfield are again underwriting a Trade-at-Home Educational ad in this issue for your approval. These are to be monthly affairs, and each of them are written and illustrated by experts who know what it would mean to ruin your home trading point by patronizing strangers in a far off city who have no interest in you or yours. And these writers and illustrators know how to express what they know. It does not make one particle of difference what you want, be it a brass pin or a thrashing machine, try our home merchants first, and nine chance to one they will have it in stock, or if not will get it for you in a few days. Without Brownfield and its progressive merchants your farm would be worth about $5 per acre. Think on these matters.

Thanksgiving Day should have a wonderful meaning for the American people as a whole and to the people of Terry county and the South Plains in particular. Terry county people do not have to cast about and think at all for any excuse to thank the creator for. The substances for any thankfulness is evident on every hand—fairly running over as it were. The first of these, of course is good health. This is the most important because it means everything; the enjoyment of life, and that means an even frame of mind, peace and contentment. We should be thankful for our government, the best in the world that permits of political and religious freedom, tolerance and freedom of thought and action; free press and free speech. We should be thankful for our abundant yields of cotton and grains, and the goodly returns from them. We should be most especially for our churches and free public schools that we are permitted to foster and build up under our matchless government. We should be thankful for our homes and families; our good friends and neighbors and the manifold blessings that an allwise and loving God is constantly visiting upon us.

About the only thing we now have that we are ashamed of is our courthouse. A modern hotel is now under construction, so that leaves only the courthouse to be ashamed of in the way of buildings. Don't you never get it into your noodle that our farmers are proud of our old shack, either, for most of them came from other counties where people are proud of their courthouses. We doubt if many of our children under twelve know what goes on over at the old shack, for their elders are so ashamed of it they never tell the children what its for. It is not only ugly, but musty and sandlocked. You could not clean it out and make it sanitary or even smell decent if you wanted to. Let's build a courthouse in keeping with progressive old Terry.

"I wish that we could send to Russia for cure, every red in America, and make him live there until he could learn by actual experience what Emma Goldman and Bill Haywood have learned about the relative blessings of Bolshevism and personal liberty under the constitution of the United States."—Henry J. Allen, former Governor of Kansas.

Lots of folks up in Ohio still have the idea that we West Texas folks are still wild and woolly, judging from the following letter written to the Big Spring Herald: "I have shown the Booster Edition to many friends here at Dawson and have been talking West Texas as the coming country. Most of them were really surprised to learn that Big Spring or West Texas could be progressive, prosperous and a delightful place to reside. They thought the West was inhabited by ranchmen, cowboys and Mexicans, as wild and woolly as usually represented by motion picture westerners."

Sometimes the editor "sees it" and sometimes he don't, but he writes along just the same, for he is expected to see everything and know everything and tell everything he both sees and knows. But he don't. If he were to publish everything he sees and spread everything he knows, a cyclone would be a mild comparison to the storm that would sweep over the community. And yet our fair baliwick is no worse than the normal community the world over. But few people ever realize the amount of patience and discretion the average publisher must observe. He hears and sees many things that their publication could serve no legitimate purpose, could result in no good to the community, could be no benefit to human beings, but on the contrary would bring grief and suffering to innocent people. It is in such matters that the humane publisher tempers his action with mercy and adulterates it with the milk of human kindness. Yet but little of this consideration is ever extended to the publisher himself.—Melrose (N.M.) Messenger.

Two college newspaper editors have accompanied their football boys here within the past few weeks. The first to come was editor Aubra R. Banowsky of the Optimist, who not only travels with the Abilene Christian College Wildcats, but plays quarterback on the team as well. Banowsky, known to the Prairie editor and other delegates to the annual press conventions as "Pete," played here the later part of the fourth quarter of the football game and called the end run which scored a touchdown. How the Abilene editor manages to edit a paper and play football is a mystery which is only partly explained by his statement that he had a capable associate editor.—Canyon Normal Prairie.

Aubra is a Brownfield product, being practically raised here, and we are proud to hear of his making good with all his irons in the fire.

There seems to be quite a stir in some sections of Texas over school teachers of both sex marrying during the school term, and the matter has even been carried to the State Superintendent for his opinion. Personally the Herald has never been able to see why unless the board wanted to get rid of them and used this as an excuse to do so. We cannot see why marrying would impair their efficiency for the time being at least. From the dawn of creation the sexes have been mating as they met their mates, just the same as all others of God's creatures and for a set of mere board members to try to make priest and priestess out of normal human beings even for a definite period, is to set at naught God's edict when he told them to multiply and replenish the earth. What is this old world coming to anyway when one class, happily or unhappily married themselves, demands celibacy of another class?

Cave That Furnished Solomon With Stone

Solomon's cave, an old quarry from which the stone was taken to build Solomon's temple, is situated just outside of Jerusalem, in the hills of Judea. All that is left of the temple is the idea embodied in a model of it. On its site stands the Mosque of Omar. But the cave remains unchanged, its walls echoing voices from our the ages and bearing testimony to the foundation of a grand and glorious temple which symbolized as well as dated the foundation of the Masonic lodge, says a writer in the Christian Science Monitor.
 In the early days the laws of religion and philosophy and those of architecture were very closely united in thought, and it was held that these laws were secrets to be known only to the few. The working tools of the builder became emblems of moral truth and the arts and crafts were secrets jealously guarded. There must have been a secret order of architects who built the Temple of Solomon, and who opened friendly commercial relations with foreign nations, making of the organization an international fraternity. Great material help was given by Hiram I of Tyre and the society of Phoenician architects in the construction of the temple.
 When Diocletian began his reign he determined to destroy Christianity and began the persecution of all religious secret orders. For a time the builders, owing to their value and services to the state, were exempt from these laws of suppression and enjoyed special privileges, but gradually they were forced into more and more secrecy, taking refuge in caves and secluded places to hold their meetings.

Man's Chief Interest

She had gone out to dinner with her suitor. She had felt in particularly gay and sprightly mood, and had talked, she felt, quite entertainingly of this and that. Many had been the amusing incidents she had told.

But toward the end of the evening her suitor seemed very dejected and unhappy.

"What has been the trouble? Did anything happen today to make you blue?" she asked. Surely the evening had been a success.

"No, the day was a very good one," he said.

"But tonight? Haven't you enjoyed it?" she asked, surprised.

"Well," he returned, "you know a man likes to talk about himself when he takes a girl out, and you haven't given me a chance all evening."

There is No Such thing as a "Near Good" ABSTRACT of TITLE

An abstract is either complete, accurate, and final—or you might as well have no abstract at all, and simply trust to luck in buying property.

You don't have to know the ninety-nine points that show the title clear—you need to know the ONE POINT which indicates a flaw.

An abstracter who should take your money for showing you the things that are favorable, but leave out the ONE thing that indicates danger, might have the best and most innocent intentions in the world, but the RESULT TO YOU would be the same as though he robbed you of your property.

We do not furnish any "near good" abstracts. When we do your work, you will know the truth and the whole truth about the property for which you are going to pay your money, and which must have a clear title if you expect to get your money back again when you want it.

We are specialists. We do just one thing. We do it all the time.

IF EDITORS TOLD THE TRUTH ALL THE TIME.

On a short time ago the editor of a paper in Indiana grew tired of being called a liar and announced that he would tell the truth in the future and his next issue contained the following items:

"John Bennin, the laziest merchant in town, made a trip to Beeville on Monday.

"John Coyle, our groceryman, is doing a poor business. His store is dirty and musty. How can he expect to do much?

"Dave Conkey died at his home on Tuesday. The doctor gave it out as heart failure. Whiskey killed him.

"Married—Miss Silvia Rhodes and James Collins last Saturday at the Baptist parsonage by the Rev. Gordon. The bride is a very ordinary girl who doesn't know any more how to cook than a jackrabbit and never helped her mother three days in her life. She is not a beauty by any means and has a gait like a duck. The groom is an up-to-date loafer. He has been living off the old folks at home all his life and now worth shucks. It will be a hard life."

THEY ALL ADVERTISE

A hen is not supposed to have much common sense or tact. Yet every time she lays an egg she cackles forth the fact.

A rooster hasn't got a lot of intellect to show.

But nonetheless most roosters have enough good sense to crow.

The mule, the most despised of beasts has a persistent way

Of letting folks know he's around by his insistent bray.

The busy little bees they buzz.

Bulls bellow and cows moo.

The dog he barks, the ganders quack and doves and pigeons coo.

A peacock spreads his tail and squawks

Pigs squeal and robins sing.

And even serpents know enough

To hiss before they sting.

But man, the greatest masterpiece

That nature could devise,

Will often stop and hesitate

Before he'll advertise.—Ex.

TOKIO TALKS

By Reporter.

The people here are so busy we hardly have time to eat. Picking cotton and pulling bolls and ginning cotton. The gin was forced to run until Sunday morning last week, then left five bales on the yard not ginned. Up to date we've ginned 750 bales.

Mr. W. H. Kelley informed us that he had his garage completed, and was getting about all the business they could do.

The Parents and Teachers met at the school house last Friday night and organized a Parent-Teachers Club with 21 members.

We have two cotton buyers in our little city now days. Mr. Kiley Smith has got into the race, and somehow Mr. Ernest isn't buying near so much cotton.

Mr. Wayne Buchanan was rushed to Lubbock one day last week for an operation. The last report was that he was doing well.

FIRE PREVENTION IS GAINING GROUND

A doubting Thomas says: "Are fire prevention activities producing results?" The fact is cited that fire losses in dollars and cents is increasing by year regardless of the efforts of insurance companies and fire prevention organizations to curtail the loss.

It would be a severe indictment of the intelligence of the American people if it could be said that they had paid no attention to all the efforts exerted in their behalf to secure their co-operation in reducing fire losses. But such is not the case. Even though it is true that in dollars and cents, aggregate fire losses increases year by year, it is also true that the value of burnable property is increasing proportionally much faster than increases in fire losses.

That people are beginning to appreciate and head campaigns in the interest of fire prevention is evidenced by modern building laws which require slow burning, or so-called fireproof construction. For some time there will remain the menace of fireproof construction. For some time there will remain the menace of fire traps filled with contents especially subject to quick destruction by fire.

Commenting on this subject, the Southern Underwriters of Atlanta, says: "Until the process of educating the public at large against the danger of permitting fire traps to exist has taken root, the potential conflagration breeders stand in the way of better results from fire prevention activities. The elimination from fire-breeding conditions greatly reduces the cost of operating fire departments. Probably one-half the expense of fire departments is incurred in answering alarms. A saving in this direction means lower taxes or release funds which can otherwise be used for public improvements."

Mr. and Mrs. Aut Graham took their little boy, Sawyer, to Lubbock last Saturday to have his tonsils removed.

We failed to mention last week that Mrs. W. A. Bell had returned from Amarillo, where she went as a delegate from the Maids and Matrons Club to the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs. She reports a wonderful time and heard some of America's foremost women speakers and writers.

How Malays Get Fire From Compressed Air

The inhabitants of the Malay peninsula have a method of obtaining fire which is probably unique among primitive peoples. They utilize the principle that the compression of air raises its temperature, one known to every man who has ever pumped up a tire, but one which it is most surprising to find in the possession of a group of aborigines.

A tiny pump of wood, hardly more than three inches in length and with a bore of about half an inch, is used, says the New York World. This pump is open at one end, closed at the other. In it fits closely a plunger equipped with a round knob at one end and a piston-like expansion at the other.

The piston end of the plunger is dipped in tinder, which the native carries in a moth's cocoon, which makes an absolutely watertight container. The piston is placed in the pump and the knob struck sharply.

The compression of the air raises the temperature to such a degree that the tinder is ignited, and when the piston is withdrawn it is found to be glowing. The native blows on the glowing mass, inserts it into his ready-laid fuel, and presto! he has his fire.

This method is quicker by far than the friction method used by most primitive races.

Original Tattooed Men

It is impossible to say when and where the custom of tattooing began, but it is of ancient origin. In the tombs near Thebes were found painted representations of white men with tattooed bodies, and in his commentaries Caesar writes of Britons being tattooed.

NO JOQUE

Congressman Guy Hardy of Colorado, himself a country publisher, has a faded old clipping in his possession about the difficulties of a pioneer newspaper out in his country, which reads:

After witnessing the big crowds on the streets Saturday, Mr. Banowsky remarked that Brownfield was no kin to the Brownfield of his days. As one fellow remarked there are more people in Brownfield now accidentally than came to a circus a few years ago.

What Is a "Tinker's Dam"?

A "tinker's dam," says the Kansas City Star, is a wall of dough or of soft clay raised around a spot which a plumber, in repairing, desires to flood with solder. The material of this dam can be used only once, and is thrown away after this very temporary period of usefulness. Hence the saying "not worth a tinker's dam," which either through a perverse humor or through misunderstanding has been converted into profanity by the addition of a final "n."

MORE POWER TO THE AMERICAN SYSTEM

The editor of The Manufacturer recently had urgent need of communication between his sales office and San Francisco. He turned to his desk phone and put in a station to station call (not asking for a particular person). Scarcely had he replaced the receiver, when the answer came over the 700 miles of wire. He asked the operator for speed and he certainly got it.

A letter would have taken two days for transmission and delivery; a personal round trip would have required four days. Either would have been too late as an important news question was involved for which instant action was imperative or the value of an article of national interest would have been lost.

That is the service that private enterprise gives in lieu of leisurely, disinterested, public ownership inefficiency. It is the reason for there being more telephones in the United States than all the rest of the world, and many times as many phone messages per capita as in other lands. It is the reason for freight rates being less than one cent per ton mile in America, as compared with almost 5 cents per ton mile on state-owned railroads of New South Wales.

Private enterprise, that can feel the joy of progress and of serving an appreciative clientele, and compete fairly with other rival agencies, has built up the American telephone, the American railroad, American public utilities and the whole American habit of competitive, progressive business thought.

Such service as rendered on this Salen-San Francisco phone call is a tribute to the whole American system of encouraging and rewarding individual enterprise. Not only should the telephone company feel proud of employees who render such service, but an employee must get a wonderful thrill and real enjoyment out of working for an institution which furnishes equipment to make such service possible.

HOOF DISEASE DANGER PAST SAYS OFFICIAL

Austin, Nov. 22.—Governor Neff was advised Saturday by J. E. Boog-Scott, Chairman of the Livestock Sanitary Commission, that it had been 37 days since there had been any serious outbreak of the foot and mouth disease, and that those handling this problem were of the opinion that all effected premises had been cleaned.

It is stated that the germ causing this disease develops within 21 days and that the affected premises are safe after the elapse of that period.

As a result of this favorable situation, it is anticipated that practically all of the states that have quarantined against Texas, will within a short time lift the embargo against shipments of livestock and products from Texas.

SEAGRAVES SIGNALITES
From the Seagraves Signal.

Messrs. E. T. Kidd, of Everman, Texas and J. W. Evans, of Crandall, Texas, were in the Signal office Friday and subscribed for the Signal one year each. These men recently bought a quarter section of land each in Gaines county and intend moving here soon with their families.

On Wednesday of this week Seagraves was honored by a visit from C. L. Seagraves, of Chicago, for whom the town was named. Mr. Seagraves was very enthusiastic about the prospects confronting the South Plains section. He stated that 300,000 bales of cotton would be gathered along the Santa Fe lines in the Panhandle. More than 20,000 bales will be gathered and shipped on the Seagraves branch of the Santa Fe, said Mr. Seagraves. In the neighborhood of 4,000 bales will be gathered in Gaines county.

According to a report obtained of cotton weigher, B. L. Waters, he had weighed out 1,800 bales of cotton on Wednesday night. The gins have turned out a little more than 1,900 bales.

A big rabbit drive will be staged in the Hilldale community Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 27th. Dinner will be served to all present on the ground, and everybody is invited to come and bring a friend.

Messrs. Earl E. Jones and "Judge" Bynum, proprietors of the Pastime Theatre, Brownfield, were in our city last Monday for the purpose of advertising the "Covered Wagon" which will be shown in their theatre on the 26th and 27th of November.

Mrs. Ferguson won Gaines county by one vote, according to the returns as counted by the Commissioners Court in session Monday at Seminole.

O. B. Mathis, of Foss, Okla., and W. T. Parks of Calute, Okla., have arrived with immigrant cars to make their home in Gaines county, near Seagraves. These gentlemen in conversation with the Signal editor stated that this country was far ahead of the country from which they came and that many others were headed this way to secure this rich Gaines county soil.

FARM CHILDREN ARE NOT INFERIORS

Facts involving 20,000 high school pupils, representing every state in the union show that farm children make better progress than other children through high school. This is true because of the unusually good progress of farm girls. The fact also shows that a higher percentage of farm girls than any other girls are enrolled and that the percentage of elimination from high school is lower. Unless we concede remarkable sex differences of ability between farm boys and girls, therefore, we must abandon the ancient myth that the farm stock is decaying and that all the brains have migrated to the cities.

Sentimentalists who have sought to improve rural education by raising the bogey of decay of the farm stock have advanced a program designed to keep the most intelligent of the farm must seek another leg to stand on. The farm stock is still virile and intelligent. It is yet educable. We need not fear to offer to country children an unbiased liberal education and permit, even encourage, those so minded and fitted to seek opportunity wherever it beckons, whether it be upon the farm or in the professions or trades.
