Folks who can't find enough leisure time to read newspaper fillers are missing a rare treat in entertainment and an even rarer lesson in education.

Fillers, if you didn't know, are those tiny little stories that you find scattered throughout the paper every week, that nearly always are completely unrelated to the local content and the bulk of the paper's news.

Ordinarily, they are so brief and inconsequential as not to even carry a headline. The popular sizes are two, three and four lines in length. Reading fillers is a lot more education than a cross-word puzzle and involves no senseless mental gymnastics.

Still, nearly all of them will widen one's mental horizons with a bit of philosophy, wry wit, or a spot of geographic, biologic, or economic statistics.

Where else but in the fillers would you ever learn that Christmas cards were first used in the U. S. in 1874. Who would ever have guessed that it costs Uncle Sam about one cent to make a dollar bill?

It's hard to believe, but fillers tell us that lemon trees have been cultivated in India for over 2,500 years. And did you know that the license number 100 is always reserved for the president's car?

My, what a wonderful education reading fillers can give a person!

The logical question that pops into your mind is, where the heck does The Star get all that stuff? Since most of our readers know our staff personally, it would be hard for us to get you to believe that we are a bookish, scholarly group and dig up these gems of wisdom on our own accord.

Some are swiped from other papers. Most we get from our press associations. Where the fillers actually originate, even we don't have any idea.

Fillers, like real news stories, sometimes contain shocking revelations. To show you what we mean, consider this one. "There are no tigers in Africa."

If we take this statement at face value, it shatters one of the fondest childhood stories we have ever read. Many years ago, we can remember when our mother used to read "Little Black Sambo" to us, and we loved it.

Now, we find, Ronny and Hal, our two boys, are just as thrilled with the exploits of Little Black Sambo as we ever were—perhaps even more. What could be more hair raising than the scene where the tiger stalks out of the jungle, and confronting the little colored boy on a stroll, growls ominously, "Little Black Sambo, I'm gonna eat you up!"

This is positively terrifying, and is repeated four times as Little Black Sambo hands out the new clothes he is wearing, piece by piece, to pacify the tigers' wrath.

But of course the story has a happy ending, with Little Black Sambo getting back all his new clothes and the tigers being done away with by their own selfishness. You may recall that they all grabbed one another's tails and ran around a coconut tree until they turned into butter.

If there really aren't any tigers in Africa, then this story just couldn't possibly have happened. What a tragedy.

We believe we will cancel our filler service.

Government "aid" is just what the name implies. When you think of aid, you immediately think of injury. It is necessary for someone to be hurt before they need aid.

That's exactly what government does. It hurts you by taking your money away, and then renders "aid" (to a lesser degree, of course) to make you feel better.

If we ever get put in jail for shooting somebody, we think we can see in advance what the reason will be.

We have, in our lifetime, dabbled around in quite a few places of natural beauty in the great Southwest, and have, on the whole, enjoyed our trips.

But a lot of them have been marred by man-made ugliness that is impossible to overlook in spite of the beauty of nature roundabout. The infamous litterbug causes more sacrifice than anyone else we believe. His thoughtlessness borders on vandalism as he clutters up the countryside with refuse of all kinds.

The member of the litterbug clan which we detest the most is the beer can thrower. Certainly no item has caused more unsightliness in our national parks than the discarded beer can.

A sparkling mountain stream is a thing of beauty to us, but when its channel bottom glistens with

It's Chiefs Vs. Bucks

Friona's Chiefs, licking their wounds from a rough early season schedule, will do battle with the White Deer Bucks Friday night to cap off a big homecoming celebration.

Expected to play before a capacity crowd, the Chiefs will face another team which has run into some rugged competition, but which is showing signs of being a top football club.

The Bucks, although dumped by Clarendon and Lefors, in the past two weeks have whipped Canadian and McLean and will be thirsty for another intersectional victory.

One of these five girls will be crowned football queen during homecoming ceremonies at Friona Schools this week. Left-to-right are Ruby Grubbs, Phila Buske, Phyllis Dean, Nancy Outland, and Barbara Crow. The queen will be picked by members of the Chief football squad, and will be honored at the Friona-White Deer game Friday night.

★ BABIES ANXIOUS TO USE HOSPITAL

Two little girls were anxious to use the new building of the Parmer County Community Hospital Saturday.

The moving in activity had scarcely died down when Mrs. L. R. Travis of Farwell gave birth to an 8 lb., 12 oz. baby girl at 10:50 p. m. She was promptly followed by Mrs. Tommy Jones of Friona with another girl at 11:27, this one weighing 6 lbs.

No difficulty was experienced in delivering the babies in the just-moved-into facilities. In fact, by Monday morning, major surgery had been performed in the new building.

J. B. McFarland was the first patient to be moved in. He had two companion patients, also.

About 80 persons pitched in to make the switch as quickly as possible. "We didn't break a bottle," says Jim Baxter of the touchy operation.

Claborn Buys Out Partner's Interest

J. C. Claborn this week purchased the interest of J. L. Marcum in three Friona businesses. They are Marcum-Claborn Funeral Home, Florists, and Furniture.

The sale, which was made effective last week, leaves Claborn as operator and manager of all concerns.

Marcum, who announced the transaction Monday, says he does not have definite plans for the future, but expects to move to Amarillo soon where he may become associated in business.

Inside Jamborees Scratched Awhile

The weekly jamboree sessions which lasted through the summer months and have been moved inside the school auditorium, were cancelled for at least a month this week.

Sponsored by the Friona Legion, the weekly entertainment has been suspended because of lack of interest. Funds from admission had been going to a swimming pool fund.

"We may try to start up again in about a month after harvest lets off some," says Russell Massey, commander.

HALL TO SPEAK

Al Hall, public relations coordinator for the Bi-State Water Commission at Muleshoe, will speak to Friona Lions tonight (Thursday). He will discuss the group's activity in resisting Lubbock's effort to draw on sandhills water storage.

Shop-O-Rama Circus Booked Next Week

To appear next week in Friona will be the Lions Club-sponsored "Shop-O-Rama" free circus, billed as the largest free circus in the world. It will appear Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Two 90-minute shows will be presented daily, and will include performances of acrobats, horses, dogs, monkeys, clowns and an elephant.

In connection with the show will be a midway of rides, including ferris wheel, merry-go-round, and other rides for the kiddies. A wild animal menagerie with lions, leopards, pumas, panthers, bears, and monkeys rounds out the circus.

John Hamilton, president, and Gerald Floyd, secretary of the local FFA chapter will attend the National FFA Convention at Kansas City, Missouri, October 15 through 20. This convention is held annually in conjunction with the American Royal Fat Stock Show.

At the convention, national officers will be elected and each chapter affiliated with the national organization is allowed two votes. The American Farmer degrees are also presented at the meeting.

Hamilton and Floyd will leave Amarillo at 5:45 p. m. Sunday on a Santa Fe special which will carry delegates from this area. The train will arrive in Kansas City at 9 a. m. Monday. This is the first time in the history of the Friona FFA that delegates have been sent to the convention.

8 Indictments By Grand Jury

Eight indictments were returned by members of the Parmer County grand jury Monday during the opening session of the October term of court.

Three of the cases were tried by Judge E. A. Bills Tuesday morning and all of the defendants entered pleas of guilty and the jury was waived.

One indictment was against Willie Wolfe, Junior Parks, and Troy Bridgeman, for burglary of O. C. Pullam's Gulf Service Station in Farwell on February 12. The three pled guilty and were sentenced to serve two years in the state prison.

Robert Lee Burks, Hereford, was indicted and pled guilty to forgery and knowingly passing a forged instrument. He passed a check on J. W. Parmer of Friona on June 23. Burks also received two years in the penitentiary at Huntsville.

Indicted for passing a worthless check was W. O. Carnes, Plainview. Entering a plea of guilty for passing such check in the amount of $301.00 to Ellis Tatum for a load of alfalfa on May 7, Carnes was sentenced to three years at the state prison.

Another indictment was against Paul Bush, formerly of Friona. Bush is presently out on bond and is being charged with the embezzlement of $122.50 from Parmer County Implement Company in Friona, the firm where he was formerly employed. The date for Bush's trial will be set later.

Four other indictments returned were two for burglary, one for forgery, and one for theft. The four cases will be tried in district court at a later date, according to Chas. Lovelace, Parmer County sheriff.

Several other cases were investigated by the grand jury, but no indictments were issued, pending further investigation, Lovelace says.

DELEGATES TO NATIONAL CONVENTION.—The Friona F. F. A. chapter is sending two delegates to the National F. F. A. Convention which will be held next week at Kansas City, Missouri. Gerald Floyd and John Hamilton have been selected to represent the local chapter.

Marcum Resignation, Curfew Ordinance Cap Busy Night

Commissioner J. L. Marcum, serving his first term as a city dad, surprised Mayor A. W. Anthony and Commissioner J. G. McFarland with his resignation Monday night.

Also, the commissioners passed a curfew ordinance.

Marcum's announcement came midway in a busy session that kept the commissioners on deck until midnight. Marcum announced that he has sold his business interests in Friona and will soon leave the community.

The city dads named no successor to Marcum's post. In fact, little discussion was given the vacancy at the time, there being a heavy schedule of other business that had to be attended to.

Most of the evening was given over to a review and appraisal of the city's complex insurance program. Dan Ethridge, Friona insurance agent, was present to give explanation to a number of questions that arose during the discussion.

Before the insurance matter was dismissed from the evening's docket, several changes were ordered by the commissioners. Chief among these was an increase in the death and disability benefits for Friona volunteer firemen to $5,000 or $40 per week.

Also, Clerk Roy Wilson's bond was increased from $6,000 to $10,000, and Elda Hart's bond was jumped from $2,000 to $10,000 also. She is Wilson's secretary. The bond schedule had not been revised since 1947, and the amount of money handled by the city has increased many fold since then.

One addition to the program which was discussed for a time was liability insurance for city owned and operated motor vehicles. The common $5,000-$10,000-$5,000 policy with which most private car owners are familiar was considered for a time and its costs to the city were discussed.

However, on the motion of McFarland, the dads decided not to expand the program in that direction for the time being.

Premiums on city policies for last year totaled $854.76. The commissioners merely reviewed the program, however, and did not order the re-writing of these.

A petition bearing the signature of 30 persons was handed the commission by W. H. Graham Jr. for their consideration. It was, in his words, a request that the commission consider steps toward ending or reducing the amount of speeding and reckless driving within the city limits.

"Should we wait until someone is killed or injured before we take any action?" he asked them.

One sentence of the petition read, "The undersigned persons call upon the members of the Friona City Commission to take steps that will lead to the enforcement of traffic laws within the city limits and that violators of our traffic regulations be issued tickets."

This touched off a lively discussion on the merits and demerits of strict enforcement of local regulations. Jim Roberts, city marshal, and Herman Helton, night watchman, were present and expressed the problems of catching and ticketing violators, especially fast drivers. In general, they took a dim view of the petition.

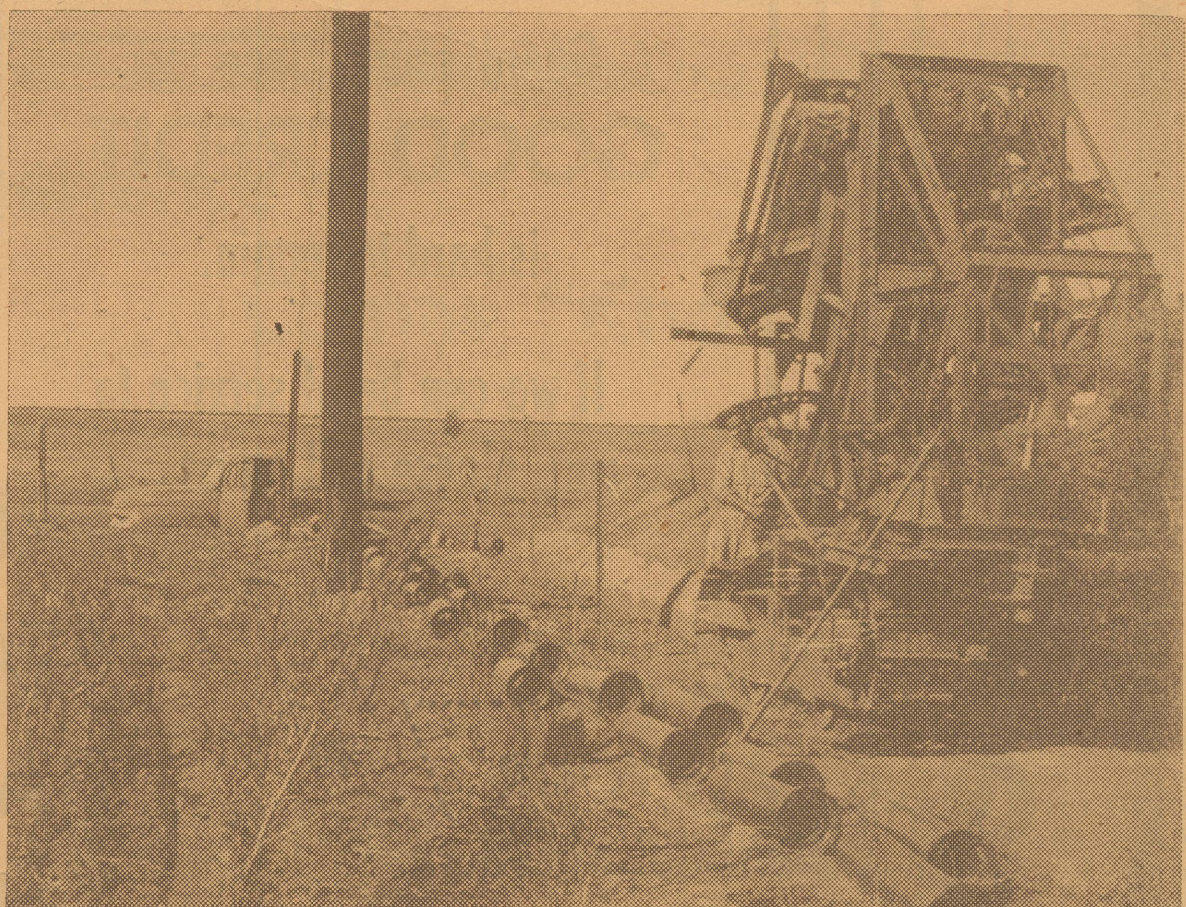

Almost an hour was given to a re-hash of traffic law enforcement activities and the worries that the city has encountered in this respect in past years. In the past, cracking down on local violators has been a "hot potato" for commissioners, judges, and officers alike.

Eventually, the city dads passed on to other subjects without taking any action on the matter.

The old city commission skeleton, the curfew ordinance, came out of the closet for another rattling Monday night, and though it has caused discussion for months, the city dads finally gave it a green light.

Curfew hours are from 12 mid-

THE STAR'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

Another Viewpoint

"Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned."

That poetic but blunt statement, in itself, would be reason enough for wanting to keep the ladies of the community on our side, but we have other reasons, too.

The women of Friona and its trade area have given exemplary support to virtually every worthwhile undertaking of a civic nature that has ever come the community's way. Time and again they have demonstrated not only their willingness, but their ability to lead in civic and charitable drives of every sort.

That is why we so hesitantly lift the curtain on this week's editorial. It has to do with rummage sales—a subject near and dear to the heart of every woman.

We don't mean to tell the ladies of the town that they are doing the wrong thing in conducting these fund-raising activities. The preponderance of evidence on whether they are good or bad things may very well lean toward the positive.

However, we think that it is not unreasonable for us to raise a point that may have been overlooked, and might have a bearing on determining the true value of the sales.

The retail businesses of Friona, because they are in a community which has as its support an economy almost wholly agricultural, have seasonal trade. Business has peaks and valleys in direct relation with the peaks and valleys of spendable agricultural income, and this includes the paychecks of farm laborers.

Many merchants have a splendidly philosophic attitude. They say they can manage to stay in business through the lean summer months when they are losing money, in the hope that the harvest or fall business will compensate for their losses with its normal increase in retail activity.

Meantime, while waiting for that good business, they pay taxes, support the chamber of commerce and other civic organizations, do what they can to better the community, and hope for things to get better.

Then, when harvest season finally arrives, is it quite fair that they have rummage sales for competition.

Oh, sure, we know—the rummage sales are low-pressure operations where a $100 volume in one day is big business. And of course, the money always finds its way into some worthy cause. And doubtless many laborers who spend a few nickels at a rummage sale couldn't afford ANY of the new merchandise at our stores.

Sure—we know all these things. But please give this some study, ladies.

Officers Installed Monday Evening

The Ruth class of the First Baptist Church was host to a salad supper at the church Monday night. Guests were members of the Homemakers class. The centerpiece was a bowl of roses surrounded by crystal candelabra which held pink candles.

After supper, the two classes held a joint installation of officers and teachers for the coming year. Mrs. Paul Fortenberry was installing officer. Her theme was "New Roads." After the installation, the two classes held separate buzz sessions and made plans for the year.

The teacher of the Ruth class is Mrs. Ralph Miller. Officers are Mrs. J. B. Douglas, president; Mrs. Ray Castleberry, vice-president; Mrs. John Wright, secretary; and Mrs. Ralph Taylor, benevolence chairman.

Officers of the Homemakers are Mrs. Luther Shelton, president; Mrs. Billy Turner, vice-president; Mrs. Lee Renner, secretary; and Miss Tacy Smith, teacher.

CLASSES MAKE POSTERS

Each class at Friona Schools this week made a poster on the theme of fire prevention. They will be submitted to the Friona Fire Department for judging.

Friona Enrollment Over 900 Mark

Total enrollment at Friona Schools, though somewhat lower than the administration had expected, easily went over 900 this fall. This week the enrollment stood at 912.

"We had figured on having about 925 to 950 this year," says Dillie Kelley, superintendent, "but that many just didn't show up."

Some students failed to enroll, and there have been some moves which brought the total down. The total at the end of school last year was 873. The senior class of last year numbered 33. About 100 were received in first grade this fall.

Division totals include high school, 229; elementary, 383; and grade school, 300.

BUTANE
PROGRESS

Oil and oil products have long led man's progress, since the first commercial use of oil for fuel over 2,000 years ago. In recent years, the heavy hydrocarbons known as butane and propane have opened new horizons in progress, especially where dependability, flexibility, and economy are concerned.

This is oil progress week, and we call your attention to the part that butane has played in modernizing the rural living of the High Plains to the highest standards in the world.

Don't Pass School Bus When Stopped

Texas citizens are being requested to observe the oft-neglected Texas law which requires all vehicles to stop when approaching a school bus loading or unloading children. Three state agencies—The Texas Education Agency, the Texas Highway Department, and the Texas Department of Public Safety—join in making the appeal.

Texas school buses were involved in 379 accidents in rural areas (outside city limits) during 1955. Three children and two adults were killed in these accidents.

"Even one preventable accident, as we all know, is one too many," says J. W. Edgar, commissioner of education. "A study of the various replies which have been made to the question of what drivers of other vehicles should do when they approach a school bus which is loading or unloading children reveals a startling lack of understanding and a great deal of misunderstanding concerning what the statutes require."

The law says, in effect, that upon meeting or overtaking from either direction a school bus which has stopped on the highway for the purpose of receiving or discharging children, the driver should stop immediately before passing, then proceed with due caution at a speed which is prudent and does not exceed ten miles per hour. The law does not apply within city limits.

How Much Does It Cost You

go out of town to buy?*

We may think . . . when one of our neighbors buys a shirt, or a car, or a hot water bottle in the city . . . that it's nothing to us . . . unless we happen to be trying to make a living in the shirt, or car, or hot water bottle business here in this community.

But . . . as a matter of fact . . . every time a dollar leaks out of local circulation, it hurts everybody who lives around here.

Because . . . financial anemia is a very contagious disease. Trade volume . . . the lifeblood of every community . . . when drained off to invigorate some other place . . . leaves us weaker, our schools and churches poorer, job opportunities fewer, our own businesses less profitable, our property worth less, our living standards lower, and important help and services less convenient to us.

On the other hand . . . Prosperity is also contagious.

Every single dollar that stays here at home turns over again and again as long as it's here . . . to account for two, three, or more times its value in increased local trade volume . . . to keep every single one of us in better economic health.

OK RUBBER WELDERS

C. J. Marchman Owner

When your tires need to be repaired or recapped, be sure to take them to a firm that knows how. The O. K. Rubber Welders in Hereford have had years of experience and know how to care for your tires. They have a complete shop for recapping and repairing your tires.

Here's where you get more for your money. Their recapping leaves a tire that looks and wears like new. They put tread on a tire in such a manner that it will not peel off. It takes a great deal of experience to recap a tire and not harm it. There are such things to watch as overcooking, which will break down the fabric in your casing. You needn't worry about your tires being damaged when you take them to the O. K. Rubber Welders. They employ workmen that can truly do a satisfactory job on your tires.

In this review, we wish to recommend this reliable establishment to our readers.

Dimmitt Has Easy Win Over Chiefs

One of the Panhandle's better class 2-A teams handled the Friona Chiefs with ease Friday night, as Dimmitt sliced its visitors down 48 to 13 in a non-conference football game.

The Bobcats were never pushed for the victory, and led 20-0 at the half. In the third quarter, the Chiefs scored on an interception by Wesley Barnett, who darted 35 yards into the Dimmitt end zone. That, however, was all Friona could offer in the third quarter, and it ended only after the hosts had polished off a couple of additional TD's making the score 34-6.

Friona's second touchdown came in the last canto as Larry Fairchild wound up a 30-yard run. Barnett kicked the extra point.

The Chiefs, still fielding a team minus several on account of injuries, played it close to the ground Friday night. They passed only twice, both of which went incomplete.

Persons coming in from or going to work, or in pursuit of some other legitimate activity need not have concern for the clamp-down, the commission emphasizes. Late hour loafers, on the other hand, had better take note.

Other activity included the signing of a contract with Southwestern Public Service Company to mount a city traffic light on a utility pole; okaying the Highway Department to alter speed limits on state-maintained roads through the city; and the awarding to Mrs. Glee White of $1250 damages to her home in the widening of Highway 60.

The BIBLE Says

"THE WAY OF A FOOL IS RIGHT IN HIS OWN EYES: BUT HE THAT IS WISE HEARKENETH UNTO COUNCIL." (Proverbs 12:15) It is clearly seen that the wise man is, in this passage of scripture, contrasted with the fool. The fool believes his way to be the proper one and is wholly unwilling to heed the advice offered him. He is wise who will stop in the midst of activity to examine the way he travels to see if the set of his sails is causing him to be borne in the right direction.

are there varying methods set forth as to how one pleases God. In the midst of so much confliction we must be certain that we seek for the proper authority in matters that really matter. Pleasing God matters more than we sometimes let ourselves believe. To get the best counsel, then, let us be sure that we turn to His word.

Do you desire to be saved from your sins? Learn how men did it in Bible times. Do the same thing. Do you wish to belong to the church the Lord built? Learn what it is like in the Bible, then seek for it. Do you seek for eternal life in Heaven? Abide by the word of God.

Application of anhydrous ammonia in an early stage will insure the maximum benefits from this accepted practice. The sooner you get started, the more you have to gain.

If you're busy with other crops, make arrangements with us to get this taken care of soon. You'll discover that it really pays dividends to start early.

The new front being installed on the Crawford building, formerly occupied by the post office, is a very nice addition to the appearance of the east side of Main Street. The inside is also being remodeled and will soon be occupied by Ethridge-Spring Agency.

This weekend is HOMECOMING for all exes of Friona High School. The Chiefs will play the White Deer Bucks here and several special activities are being planned for visitors expected to attend. Anyone who knows the name and address of any ex-student is invited to call and leave the information at the school. A permanent record is being made and it is hoped that it can be a complete record.

Have you noticed the improvements that are being made out at the roadside park east of town? The highway department has done a good job there. If there has been any pressure to get it done, we've not heard about it. At any rate, we feel the department is due a bouquet for a job well done.

We have learned several things lately that can be put to good use. One of them is that the capacity of a person's brain is almost inexhaustible. Think most of us could put this bit of information to good use. Before much good could come from it, though, we will have to un-learn an old adage, which most of us use repeatedly, "You cannot teach an old dog new tricks."

This may be true when used in reference to dogs, but should never be applied to human beings. Any of us, who have an honest desire to do so, can learn to do almost anything we undertake. Almost daily we read in the papers something which has been done by older people who have will power coupled with a desire to accomplish a given task.

"I'm too old to learn now," is a statement too many of us use too often. If we could just learn to replace the statement with, "I didn't learn when I was young, but am going to learn now," a lot of things could be done which never will be done unless we change our attitudes.

Bruce Bliven's "Your Brain's Unrealized Powers," in the October Reader's Digest gives some very interesting information about the capacity of the brain. One statement we especially liked was that industry and character were more important than I. Q. He also stated that a person's mental powers grow with use and that overworking the brain is impossible.

Maybe we could use some instruction on how to use the brain power which we possess. If it is true that our unconscious mind is the storehouse of millions of past experiences, perhaps someone should teach us how to make use of our unconscious mind. At times it seems that our conscious mind is a complete blank.

The fall flowers were never lovelier than they are right now. In all probability, there will not be very many weeks left for us to enjoy them. If you don't have any in your own yard, just help the neighbors enjoy theirs while they last.

Superintendent Dillie M. Kelley has announced that classes will be organized in conversational Spanish, typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping.

H. T. Childers, high school English instructor, has been appointed coordinator. The typing class will meet one hour twice each week. All other classes will meet for two hours once each week. Classes will continue for ten weeks.

Anyone who is interested in these classes is urged to be present for the first meeting in order that schedules may be worked out for everyone. Mr. Childers states that this is very important.

'56 Sign-Up Deadline Near for Soil Bank

After a sluggish start, the government's new conservation reserve program—phase two of the soil bank plan—was kicked off in Parmer County last week.

Applications are now being received at the county ASC office in Farwell, and a deadline of October 15, is pointed out for farmers who want to get in under the wire on the 1956 part of the program.

The bulk of the government's new land-idling plan will not get rolling until next year, and March 15 of 1957 is the deadline for signing up for land to be put into the bank beginning that year.

In other words, if a farmer wants to rush his land into the program for 1956, he'll have to do it by next Monday. If he wants to study things over until next spring, that's okay with the government, but that delays the plan until the calendar year of 1957.

In the case of farmers who want to start immediately, it is possible for cropland on which nothing was produced this year to be included and payment made. That would apply to failures of wheat, cotton, or grain sorghum on dryland, for example. It must not have been harvested.

Payment in Parmer County is based on a flat $10 per acre per year. This applies to irrigated, dryland, and regardless of the crops removed from production. The maximum payment in Texas is $13 per acre. The minimum is $8. Minimum acreage is five acres. Maximum payment is $5,000 per year.

Mills points out that agreements which will be made between farmers and the government will be for five and 10-year periods. Those are the only two plans, and once an agreement has been entered into, it will remain in force throughout the length of the contract.

Farmers will be required to establish cover crops, although government payments will make it possible for up to 80 percent to be paid on getting these crops started.

County agricultural officials had at first planned a series of meetings in the county to explain the program to farmers, but the sessions have been postponed.

Harvest would cut down attendance, believes Mills, and the meetings probably will not be announced until December.

Water Line Case Flukes in Austin

The Bi-State Water Commission lost a step or two in its march to stop Lubbock from piping water from the Bailey County sandhills last week.

A case in Austin pitting C. C. Morgan against the City of Lubbock was thrown out of court on the grounds that the plaintiff could not establish clear title to the land in question.

The Commission had nursed this along in the hope that they would be able to prove that a right-of-way easement to the State Highway Department was for highway construction purposes only, and did not grant the privilege of water lines.

The land on which the Commission had hoped to stop Lubbock was in Hockley County. Whether the Commission will encourage another property owner along the water line route to take action similar to Morgan's has not been announced.

THE PARMER FARMER

In spite of the tremendous acreage under irrigation in the Parmer County area, we can look forward to a lot of blowing dirt this winter and next spring.

In our opinion, this is one of the few real discomforts of life on the rich farming country of the Plains. The sand blows about a third of the year, and anybody who claims it isn't uncomfortable is just kidding himself. He won't fool very many others.

Even if it were possible for us to control all dust of local origin—which we'll never be able to do, naturally—this coming windy season would still look pretty rugged. There are a lot of days ahead when we will have more New Mexico, Colorado and Kansas soil in our skies and eyes than the good earth of our own area. In fact, on account of the extreme dryness of those other areas, we may pick up more topsoil than we will lose.

At any rate, the weather forecast for the windy months is "slightly cloudy."

Looks like we're down to two rains a year. One comes too early. The other comes too late.

Hale County, our neighbor a little ways to the east, is getting all the headlines these days for its fabulous irrigated farming development. As the richest agricultural county in Texas, it deserves everything that is being said.

All of Hale County's abundance, however, can be traced to two things: a great supply of irrigation water, and a rich soil. All progress of that famous area has stemmed from development of these two natural resources.

This ought to make Parmer County farmers and land owners feel pretty good about the future. Our land, just as rich as Hale's to start with, likely is in better shape than Hale's because it hasn't been heavily cropped for so long.

Our water inventory gives every indication of being just as great or greater than Hale's.

The only difference between the two counties is the time factor. They got started making money several years sooner than we did. If we can match Hale County with diversification and smart, business-like farming, we can catch 'em.

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

If you have a small daughter who wants to wear saddle oxfords to school and you hesitate to buy them because of the difficulty involved in keeping them clean, try rubbing a thin coat of paste wax over them when they are new.

Here is a formula which any homemaker can use:

FORMULA
To start the phone a-ringing, (At almost any hour)
The surest way I know,
Is to step into the shower!
And to bring the world a-beating
A path up to my door,
(I know that answer, too)
I simply mop the floor.

Do you have trouble making pie crust? If so, try this recipe. It is really fool proof and is very good for beginners. Beat together 1/3 cup hot water, 2/3 cup shortening and 1/2 teaspoon salt until smooth. Add two cups sifted all-purpose flour and stir until well mixed. Roll out as for any pie crust. This will make enough for two nine inch crusts.

A lot of farm homemakers that we know are helping with the harvest this fall. There is no better way for a busy homemaker to get caught up on her thinking than to help out in the field a few days. If she is driving a tractor, she can do a lot of concentrating without any interruptions. The tractor makes so much noise it is impossible for anyone to talk even if they are close enough.

Someone will probably say, "How can you think on a tractor?" It is easily done. Just forget about the noise and pretty soon you will not even notice it. Then you can concentrate on any subject as long as you like without any questions to answer, telephones to ring, radio announcers to distract your attention, or any of the dozen and one other things that come up every day.

Have you ever thought of trying to improve the radio programs which are designed for the woman of the house? Maybe you are one of the listeners who thoroughly enjoys the soap box operas. If so, you are probably pleased with what most stations have to offer during the hours that children are in school and men are at work.

If not, what type program would you prefer? If enough homemakers would request the type program they prefer, the powers that be would probably comply with the request. Why couldn't we have at least one program given by a good book reviewer on the current best sellers? Possibly because no one has suggested one.

The hours that a homemaker spends alone could be used to a good advantage, and usually are. However, a few really good programs designed to broaden our horizons would be welcomed by most of us. What do you think?

Sorghum Growers Asked To Support Producers Group

Growers of grain sorghum in Parmer County are being asked this week by the Grain Sorghum Producers Association to support the activities of the organization to promote a better future for the commodity.

The Association, which last year was credited with obtaining an increase in the price support of milo, is asking farmers to set aside one-fourth of one-cent per hundredweight to further the work of the group.

R. G. Peeler, president of the Association, was in Parmer County last week and this week in the interest of the activities of the organization. A Hereford farmer, he points out that Parmer County benefitted to the tune of more than $1,000,000 this year in a better price for this primary feed grain product.

This achievement was done in the field of legislation. However, Peeler is quick to point out that legislative activity is not the only field which the Association thinks needs cultivating.

There are tremendous markets that need opening. Feeders the nation over who are now using corn can be converted to grain sorghum if a hard-hitting marketing and promotion program is advanced, he believes.

Grain sorghums, though considerably cheaper than corn, are in most cases an equal to corn in feed value.

Elevators and banks in Parmer County are being asked to act as receiving points for the money which will go into the Association. Forms are available which will make it a simple matter for farmers to set aside the recommended portion of their crop.

The Association was started only last year, when prices and markets for grain sorghums looked dim. Support of the Association's work has been strong in some localities on the Plains, but no drive has ever been made in Parmer County.

That, in effect, gave Parmer County farmers the benefits of the 19-cent increase in price without their having given more than token support to the work of the organization that made the increase possible.

Labor Department Gives Wage Rate

The U. S. Department of Labor has announced the wage rate for cotton pulling in Parmer County. According to information contained in a wire which was sent by Ed McDonald, regional director of bureau of employment security, the rate effective October 4 is $1.50 per hundred.

This information was released by Maurice Oden of the Texas employment office at Muleshoe. These findings are based on irrigated acreage only.

Take It Easy—Keep Grade Up

Cotton farmers who pack more cotton into their trailers than the units are designed to carry are penalizing themselves, says County Agent Joe Jones.

"If you tromp cotton into a trailer, and load up four bales on a three-bale trailer, or three on a two-bale trailer, you are going to grind a lot of trash into the lint that will cut the cotton's grade," he says.

The well equipped and operated gins of the area can do a lot to keep a farmer's grade high, but it's impossible for them to turn out a better grade than the farmer brings to them, believes the agent.

"There are modern improvements such as lint cleaners that can pull a lot of trash out, but then again, this has the farmer hurting himself because every piece of trash removed takes with it a little bit of lint," says Jones.

Another thing that he recommends cotton farmers watch is putting wet cotton into the trailer. Moisture from dew or other sources will contribute to lowering the grades.

Slat and wire trailers give trash a chance to postle out while the bolls are in transit and are probably an advantage in this respect, says Agent Jones.

If Texas continues its present rate of growth for the next fifty years, water use by urban dwellers alone will be doubled. This fact is pointed out in a publication released by the Brazos River Authority. It is noted that this expected increase in water use does not include industrial needs.

Ike Can't Make It Rain, But He's Still Best Man

The other day I asked a farmer if it was dry out his way. He said it sure was. "Looks like we just can't get any rain," he said. "Why, when Noah had his 40-day flood, we didn't get over half an inch."

There's no mistake about it, Texas is having itself a real drouth. Some of the farmers and ranchers in our county are in such bad shape that they may vote for Stevenson.

Old Man Jones, from across the river, said he wasn't going to go to any such extreme. He said he needed rain as bad as anybody else. He claimed water was so scarce in his community that the preacher was baptizing new members with a wet handkerchief. But he was holding out awhile longer, anyway.

"I may be stubborn," said Old Man Jones, "but I just ain't been convinced that President Eisenhower is keeping it from raining."

He said he knew that Stevenson and Kefauver acted like they thought so, and they had a right to their opinion. Lyndon Johnson, he figured, knew better, but he was sticking with Adlai and Estes for the sake of unity. He said he didn't figure Mr. Sam Rayburn had known whether it was raining or not for the last 25 years.

"I hate not to go along with such a widely known crowd of weather observers," Old Man Jones said. "If there's anybody who keeps up with which way the wind is blowing, generally speaking, it's Stevenson, Kefauver and Johnson."

Then he went on to say that he realized the national farm program hadn't pleased everybody—including him. If he was in the White House, he would do things different, at least in our county. He allowed that the $61,000,000 spent by the Eisenhower administration for drought relief in Texas could have been doubled and still not made all the farmers happy and prosperous.

"But," said Old Man Jones, "I keep remembering that the main reason for our troubles, besides the drouth, is the fact that we are not at war. Now, if Adlai and Estes really want to jump on President Eisenhower, there is a real issue. They've sure got the goods on Ike in that respect. If he hadn't stopped that Korean War, farm prices would be higher, no doubt. I wonder why they never mention that."

Old Man Jones was kidding a little, of course, in his usual way, but I think he had something there. We have got to adjust to peace-time, which is taking awhile but President Eisenhower is working at it. And meanwhile our boys aren't fighting and dying on foreign soil. It's worth thinking about.

Yours truly,
Jex

The Parmer County Implement Co. News

"The Place Where Most People Trade" Wednesday, Oct. 10, 1956, Friona, Texas

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Osborn from Hope, Arkansas, visited here with Mr. Osborn's sons the past two weeks. They visited Jess Osborn in Muleshoe also. Mrs. Osborn says she'd like to move to Friona, but not Mr. Osborn—he says he's too old. Mrs. Osborn is 79 and Mr. Osborn is 85 years young.

Douglas Connelley says if it's parts you need, he has them. You are as close to us as your telephone. 2091 or 2201 is the number.

Have you seen the wonderful booklets about Friona which the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture published? These booklets have a lot of information about Friona, "brightest spot in the golden spread." The Parmer County Implement Company has a number of the booklets on hand and will be glad to give you one or one dozen to send to your friends and relatives.

We hear every day how good the corn in Parmer County is this year. Better get an IH Corn Picker and get your corn gathered.

In 1521, fighting bulls were imported from Spain. Those too tough to handle were chased into Texas where they had to get tougher and grow longer horns to compete with the buffalo and to buffalo the Indians on the vast plains. Wild herds gave birth to the Texas cattle industry even before the railroads came. Their ruggedness made it possible to drive them upwards of 1500 miles to railheads and markets in the North. Today's highly bred, short-legged, beef cattle could not stand up under such treatment, but the long-legged, rangy, tough Longhorns had little to lose except meanness. Texas' first "packing houses" killed wild Longhorns for their tallow and hides. The carcasses were thrown away.

We know the weather is warm, but all the same it is about time to get ready for winter. If you are going to buy one or one hundred gallons of antifreeze, get our price first.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Boggess are building a beautiful new house in Frippa. It is located just north of the Ralph Smith home and Mr. and Mrs. Boggess hope to be able to move in before the first of the year.

A good many ranchers have been in our store looking for some bundle feed. If you have any or will have any bundles to sell, we will be glad to tell someone about it.

Friday is football night in Friona. This is homecoming week at the Friona schools. There will be a parade downtown about 2 o'clock Friday. The homecoming queen will be crowned at 2:35 in the auditorium and everybody is invited.

Barbecue is an institution of the State of Texas. Beef, pork, mutton, chicken—or, as someone has said, "anything that will stand still" is barbecued, and that includes goat.

A tourist was admiring a necker-lace being made by a Texas native. "Beautiful," she said. "What is it made of?" "Alligator teeth," said the Texan. "Oh," said the visitor. "I suppose they have the same value to you that pearls have to me." "Not quite," said the Texan. "You see ANYBODY can open an oyster!"

When Friona meets White Deer at the homecoming game Friday night, the Pep club and both junior and senior bands will perform at half time—that makes more than 200 of Friona's younger folks who will be on the field. Plan to attend—starting time is 8 p. m.

Have you seen the new Farm-all 400 in action? We invite you to come by and drive one for proof that it will make your farming easier and more profitable.

Restrictions Lifted On Wheat, Cotton

Parmer County farmers who want to preserve their planted history of wheat and cotton will no longer have to sow full or near-maximum plantings in order to keep their history.

Prentice Mills, county ASC office manager, this week announced that if farmers will come in and sign a form requesting that their allotments be held and put into the history records, it will not matter then how much of these two basic crops they wish to plant.

Previously, it was necessary for a farmer to sow 75 percent of his wheat allotment and 90 percent of his cotton allotment in order to keep maximum history.

This, in effect, was forcing farmers to plant all the acreage they were able in order to keep allotment history.

Forms for the sign-ups should be in next week, says Mills.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

"I don't mean to say that we are any smarter than our other farmer friends, but as directors, we do keep up with matters affecting all farmers, and we have a responsibility to talk to those less informed so that they can share in the facts, and not just popular hearsay."

"By that, I don't mean we should necessarily try to change their minds, if they differ, but get the facts to them and let them make up their own minds with full information at their disposal."

This is a quotation from President Gilbert Kaltwasser near the close of the regular director's meeting last week. If you, as a member, and some of your friends will attend some of these meetings of your county directors, we believe you will be amazed at the constant effort they are putting forth in your behalf. They're not spasmodic, but you'll find nearly everyone of them in their place in the office the first Monday night of each month.

Donald Christian, one of the newly elected directors, said he enjoyed his first meeting last week. Donald lives south of Bovina on the farm formerly occupied by Clarence Christian, his father. He is well informed and will give good representation to his area, we are convinced.

Any of you people who wish to attend the National Farm Bureau Convention December 10 to 13, in Miami, Florida, should request reservations at the Farm Bureau Office. It looks like there will be at least four families make this trip, and we hope there will be more.

Here are three points of Farm Bureau operation, as listed in the Missouri Farm Bureau paper, which are applicable to all local, state and national Farm Bureaus: 1. Our program is built by the members. 2. Our program makes economic sense. 3. We have a long record of achievement. 4. We stand between the farmer and socialization of agriculture.

You know, some day or night we will be awakened to the fact that summer is no longer with us and that winter is here. Have you thought much about how you are going to store your summer clothes. Remember that right storage will increase the life of summer clothing.

Here are some suggestions for keeping out-of-season clothing in good condition until next summer: Mend any ripped seam, tears, loose buttons or other damages. A few stitches can save the life of a garment.

Wash or dry clean all garments before storing. Store cottons and linens unironed. Make certain all starch is removed. It can cause fabric to deteriorate and may attract silverfish.

Dry garments thoroughly and store them in a dry place to prevent mildew.

Store in large boxes or trunks to make room in closets for fall clothing.

Also something housewives and mothers are looking for is a way to cut down on that ironing. Have you bought any of these new drip-dry fabrics? They help cut down on the homemaker's work. But remember to follow directions.

Dripping is essential for smooth drying of cotton and rayons with a minimum-care finish, according to extension clothing specialists. Lift the clothes from the rinse water after laundering. Hang smoothly on a hanger. Don't wring, twist or squeeze to remove water.

As the water drips off, it smooths out creases or wrinkles left from laundering. A final touch-up with the iron may be needed to make hems, seams and edges as smooth as new.

Some of the synthetic fibers, as dacron, also have this drip-dry quality. Clothes made of these synthetics will be wrinkle-free when dry only if lifted from the rinse water and hung to dry with the least possible handling. The more they drip, the smoother they dry.

Best footwear for deer hunting in all except extremely steep, snow-covered mountains, is the lumberman's rubber shoe with sharply corrugated rubber bottom and leather top, not over eight inches high.—Sports Afield

2, 4-D Weed Spray May Be Restricted By Commissioners

Restriction of the sale, use, and transportation of herbicides in Parmer County is being considered by the county commissioners, who will conduct a hearing on the subject Monday, October 22.

Aim of this action is designed to reduce or eliminate the possibility of damage to cotton by 2, 4-D, a popular weed killer which in numerous instances has drifted from maize fields to cotton several hundred yards away.

The effect of this is well known to many Parmer County farmers by now. The broad-leaved cotton is susceptible to the weed killer, which uses the principal of plant hormone. The cotton "goes crazy" and its growth is contorted. Yields in some cases are materially reduced.

Some incidence of dosing cotton with the chemical has been turning up for several years, but this summer proved worst of all. Hundreds of acres of cotton in the county have been hit by the drifting spray, and lawsuits by the score have been threatened, although none have been filed in the county so far.

If the commissioners invoke the law, severe restrictions will be put on 2, 4-D. Dealers will have to keep track of who buys the chemical, and in what amounts.

Buyers will have to post bond for its use and will be required to keep careful records of when they apply, and weather conditions that prevail at the time.

The over-all effect of such action, believe commissioners, would be to largely discourage use by individuals of the chemical. Bonded commercial operators might very well expect to enjoy a substantial increase in business.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

There are many factors that enter into soil fertility. One of the most important factors is the organic matter content of the soil.

Virgin soils of Parmer County contain approximately 3 to 5 percent of organic matter. Under cultivation this percentage is reduced. The average dryland farm has about 1 per cent. The average content of the irrigated land is about 0.7 per cent. These figures are considerably lower than the figures for the virgin pasture land.

Organic matter is any form of plant or animal bodies that are in the process of decomposition. This includes any part of a crop left on the fields, any crop plowed under green, any barnyard manure that is added, and the bodies of dead animals.

The organic matter present in the soil directly affects the water-holding capacity of the soil. The small fragments of organic matter have the ability to hold up to ten times as much water as a soil particle the same size. Therefore, any increase in organic matter content will increase the amount of water a soil can store.

This is extremely valuable to the dryland farmer who depends on water stored in the fall and winter to produce the next crop and to the irrigation farmer who pre-irrigates. Crop production depends on the water stored in the soil.

Organic matter increases the water intake rate of the soil. During the process of decomposition of organic matter, there is given off a glue-like substance. This substance tends to stick the soil particles together in small clumps called aggregates. A soil that is well aggregated will take water more rapidly than will a soil in poor condition. This is especially true in tighter soils.

To increase the permeability of a soil is helpful in this area where many of the rains fall in a short period of time. A well aggregated soil tends to resist both wind and water erosion. This resistance is due to the fact that several of the smaller particles are stuck together creating a larger aggregate which is not easily moved.

Another important function of organic matter is the increase in bacterial activity. An abundant supply of microscopic bacteria are necessary for plants to be able to use the nitrogen plant foods. The bacteria use decaying organic matter for food to supply the energy required to change the nitrogen to a form that plants can use.

Bacteria are also helpful in the plant utilization of phosphates by storing the phosphorous in their bodies to be released all during the growing season. The number of bacteria in the soil is amazing. One gram of soil contains from 100,000 to several billion. This means that there are approximately 5,000 pounds per acre on dryland and 20,000 pounds or more per acre on irrigated land of these bacteria in our soils.

Without these bacteria working for us our soils would be infertile. Anyway that we can increase the food supply of these bacteria will increase our soil fertility.

The most economical way to supply this needed organic matter is by the efficient use of crop residues and green manure crops.

The addition of organic matter increases the amount of plant food available to the plant by speeding the breakdown of the rocks and minerals of the soil. Acids are given off in the decomposition of organic matter. These acids help eat away these minerals leaving the plant foods.

The organic matter content of a soil is related to the ease of tillage. Soils that are low in organic matter tend to pack and form clay pans or plow pans much more rapidly than soils high in organic matter. A packed soil reduces the infiltration of the rain and restricts the development of plant roots.

The addition of organic matter will not solve all of your fertility problems; however, it is a step in the right direction.

Asks for Workers To Preserve History

Nearly 200 Texas counties have named county historical survey committees, but Parmer County is not one of them, says George W. Hill, executive director of the Texas State Historical Survey committee.

"If you are interested in the preservation of our historical heritage and are willing to serve on the county committee of Parmer County, contact County Judge A. D. Smith or write directly," Hill requests.

A state wide meeting is scheduled in Austin October 27, to discuss the state and county programs.

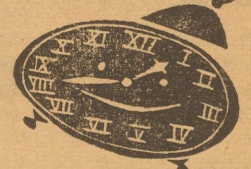

The address of the historical group is 202 First Federal Building, Austin.

J. W. PEARSONS, 510 ANGELO CIRCLE, CARLSBAD, N. M., say:

They point out that a busy home requires husband and wife to share in the household duties. As Mr. Pearson says, "My wife is so busy with the children that I do a lot of the cooking. And I enjoy our electric range because it is quicker and a whole lot cleaner. Our electric range gives us a complete selection of controlled heat for any size pan, which is a big help for any cook." You'll notice the difference, too, when you start cooking electrically.

The Pearsons heat their water electrically, too. Mrs. Pearson says, "With a family of 5, including a baby, which sometimes requires as many as 3 washer loads of clothes a day, our water heater is economical, less than 10 cents a day to operate. It's completely safe, even for small children. In fact, we have put it in an open alcove in the hall." Notice in the picture, Mrs. Pearson fixes her daughter's shoe while daughter and mother obviously feel no wasted heat coming from the electric water heater. And that's because an electric water heater has no flame, and so is insulated on ALL sides.

Start now to live better electrically in your home. See your Reddy Kilowatt dealer and let him show you the wonderful electric appliances that contribute so much to modern electric living.
