Chamber of Commerce CURRENTS By the Secretary

An Important Meeting for Farmers in Brownfield

On Saturday afternoon, May 2nd, at 2:30, there will be held at the Court House a meeting, which it is hoped that every farmer who possibly can will attend. It is for the formation of the Terry County Watermelon Association. Mr. O. V. Roberts of the farming community southwest of Brownfield will act as chairman, the meeting being called by the Chamber of Commerce.

It will be remembered that melons shipped from Brownfield command a fair price, and are regarded as the choicest on the market. Last year the Chamber of Commerce received telegrams almost daily for Terry county melons up to the car load lots. Brownfield should ship from 50 to 100 cars of melons this year. It is also recalled that this is one of the earliest money crops that can be placed on the market, and coming as it does before the other crops mature, we should encourage it to the fullest extent, and every farmer should take advantage of the same to the end that Terry county may take its rightful place as the leading melon exporter of West Texas. Mr. Farmer, attend this meeting; hear the discussion of melon standardization and classification; its money to you and our community.

The City Dads are indeed to be complimented on the electrical decoration of the City Water Reservoir. With the standpipes brilliantly illuminated by night, is evidence that sparks of civic pride in the city administration that commends our respect and compliments. It is indeed significant for Brownfield to have the distinction of being the possessor of the largest elevated water reservoir in West Texas, and to go further by having it decorated with electric lights visible for many miles.

The Chamber of Commerce is in receipt of a communication from our Congressman from Washington stating that the Postal Department advises that we may obtain rural routes just as fast as our roads are opened up and placed in good condition. It sounds encouraging if we only had our roads opened up and in good condition, which will be accomplished in a short time possibly.

A number of dates for public concerts for the spring and summer are now being arranged for our band in neighboring South Plains cities. They recognize the merits of the Brownfield band, and will be glad to have them visit their towns, which reminds us that our band is a real asset to us.

SPLENDID LECTURE HEARD AT BAPTIST CHURCH

A fair crowd, despite inclement weather greeted Dr. Rupert N. Richardson at the First Baptist church last Saturday night. The speaker of the evening is professor of the Department of History in Simmons College, Abilene. He was introduced by Morgan Copeland, who acted as master of ceremonies for the evening.

Prior to the address, the Seniors of the Brownfield high school rendered a short program that was real interesting, the program and address being in their honor.

Dr. Richardson is not only a good speaker and well able to hold any audience, but his address was logical, witty and full of wholesome advice and general information about our Schools of higher learning. He was given an ovation at the close of his address.

Immediately following the program the Seniors and invited guests were banqueted by the ladies of the Baptist church in the church dining rooms in the basement.

PROMINENT COLLEGE PRES- IDENT COMING NEXT TUES.

Dr. J. C. Hardy, President of Baylor College, will be in Brownfield next Tuesday, May 5th. Dr. Hardy is recognized as one of the outstanding educators of the South. He will speak at the High School in the afternoon at 3:00 o'clock, and at the Baptist church at 8:00 P.M.

The public is cordially invited to hear both of these lectures. If you fail to hear Dr. Hardy, you are missing an opportunity to hear one of the most interesting speakers in Texas along educational lines.—C. E. Ball.

All Hail the Queen

NO SUCH ANIMAL AS A DROUTH HERE NOW

The three-quarters of an inch of rain last Wednesday was followed on Sunday by a big two inch rain that definitely took Brownfield and its entire trade territory out of the dry era—from a drouth hardened country to a soft mushy season.

Put the average person in a six months drouth and he becomes more nervous and fidgety than a sheep with screw worms, and has no more patience than a child. Even the old timers who have been here long enough to have sense enough not to expect much rain the first three months of the year had begin to take down with the "jimmies" and swear he never "seed sich a drouth before," and knew he was lying right then. Some of the tenderfeet fellows had just about decided to return east, and in fact, we learned of one who had already "closed out" and was preparing to hike for the sticks. A good neighbor who has been here for many years told him it was so late now that he would make more here than there, in fact more than he could possibly gather, as this was our regular planting time and too late to think of going east now and pitching a crop. He saw the point and the tenderfoot will remain here.

Prospects for a good crop here was never brighter, and we imagine that farmers for the next few weeks will be as scarce in town as the proverbial "hen's teeth." Local hardware men told of big implement sales, and the loaded farm wagons leaving town give evidence of the truth of their statements. The farmers say that even the bankers now meet them at the door with a smile and inquire of their needs and the family welfare.

People who had money to run them had clamped down on it like a vice, and only the needs of the table was sufficient to coax a dollar out of their "jenge." The Herald knows, for it was not considered a necessity, and had begun to feel the absence of the bashful dollar. Now, all is different and in twenty four hours after the rain the farmer begin to renew for the Herald, and the merchant begin to phone or bring in orders.

Let 20,000 bales of cotton be the motto for Terry county, and at least 200 cars of Indian corn, with the usual proportions of other feeds.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTIII

Oh merchant in thine hour of eec, If on this paper you should ccc, Take this advice and be you yyy Go straightway out and advertiii Be wise at once, prolong your daaa, A silent business soon d-kkk.

The clouds and atmospherical conditions are looking favorable for another shower, this Wednesday afternoon. In fact mists have been falling most of the day.

DE MILLE SOCIAL SATIRE OPENER AT NEW RIALTO

The opening production at the new Rialto Theatre May 6th, will be Cecil P. De Mille's latest Paramount production, "The Golden Bed." It is a story of Admah ("Candy") Holtz, risen to fortune from poor white trash.

"Candy" Holtz is infatuated with Flora Lee Peake, alluring beauty and hope of a family which is decaying because of its preference for a great name rather than useful toil.

Margaret Peake, equally arrogant at first, learns the emptiness of unearned wealth and high social position and works for the regeneration of Admah, after the young fellow is brought to ruin by a sister who accepts luxury from a husband while sneering and flirting behind his back.

As Flora Lee and Admah, Lillian Rich, De Mille's new "find" and the popular Rod La Rocque have two characters which book reviewers called "outstanding pen portraits," following a publication of Wallace Irwin's novel which Jeanie MacPherson adapted for the screen. As Margaret, Vera Reynolds, whom De Mille introduced to the picture going public in "Feet of Clay," has a good sympathetic role.

Famous names bristle in the cast which includes Warner Baxter, Theodore Kosloff, Julia Faye, Henry Walthall, Robert Cain and Robert Edson.

A typical De Mille spectacle in the production is a "gorgeous candy ball, a colorful setting for the crash and ruin of Admah Holtz. Thrills among the Alpine glaciers, an elaborate De Mille wedding, and other effects set off the production.

The Golden Bed is a fine De Mille social satire which for colorful drama bids fair to equal the success of such triumphs as "Manslaughter," "The Feet of Clay" and "The Ten Commandments." He takes a beautiful girl and routes her through four love affairs as only he can do it. He takes a boy from nothing and makes him a money power in his town.

Here's the finest De Mille production to date!

JACK REAVES IS NOW A BROWNFIELD BOOSTER

Jack Reaves who resided here for several years, was here from Brownfield, Monday, on his way to Sweetwater for a few days visit. Jack says they began to razing their old courthouse Monday morning preparatory to erecting a splendid new building. He also says that Brownfield recently dug a big well and found more water than they know what to do with over there. He declares the town is growing like an oil town and he has his boosting clothes on.

Jack is a booster for his home town and Brownfield won another good citizen when he located there. But what we can't understand is why he left Tahoka.—Tahoka News.

SOME "BOOSTERS" QUITTING OUR BOOSTER PAGE

Since or monthly "booster" ad was started some months ago, some of those who started have dropped out, but perhaps not enough to be missed by the casual observer. Just the same the Herald has missed them. The price the Herald charges each merchant who underwrites this space is insignificant, and worth much more than is really charged, and goes a mighty little way toward re-embursing the Herald for its fight for the "Trade at Home Movement" that it so religiously preaches from week to week, and at the same time practices what it preaches.

Only this week the Herald was offered a large advertising contract by the advertising agent of the largest mail order house in the world, and with the almost sure prospect that the advertising would not only be a permanent contract but a big one. If any merchant in Brownfield doubts this, come to our office and we will be glad to show you the offer.

Now, what merchant is there in Brownfield who would turn down an order for goods from Dallas or any other city? Not a few of them will send out of town to have their stationary printed if they are able to save just a few cents on a large order, but never think to ask our prices on a large order.

But, as stated above, we practice what we preach, and turned the advertising contract of the mail order house down flat, although offered full rate. We did this because there are lots of home merchants that stay with us like a brother on both advertising and job work year in and year out, cold or hot, wet or dry, and it is because of these that no mail order advertising will run in these columns. If it were not for these good friends, we would not only have accepted this contract but we would solicit others, and would try our best to think of some excuse to tell people through our columns that mail order houses were building up the community and looking after them in the time of sore trial. It would be a hard job however.

If you have never been one of the real honest-to-goodness boosters that is willing to spend a dollar a month to help put our trade-at-home campaign over, let the Herald know and your name will go on the May ad which appears on the last publication date of this month. Those who have taken out and have though better of the matter will also be welcomed.

TO WATERMELON GROWERS

You are hereby requested to meet at the District Court room at 2:30 next Saturday afternoon, May 2nd, for the purpose of organizing the melon growers of Terry county. A good market is assured if we grow them in quantities.

Respectfully,
O. V. Roberts

ICE MAKING MACHINERY NOW ON THE TRACK

An Erie car loaded with the ice making machinery for the Texas Utilities Ice Plant for this place, arrived the later part of last week and the draymen are busy transferring it to their building this week.

We were informed by Mr. Van Sant who has the erection of the building and the placing of the machinery under contract, that they would place the machinery just as fast as it was physically possible, and hope to be making ice in the next two or three weeks. In the meantime, the cold storage department has been completed and ice from Lubbock is being stored until the machinery here is in operation.

Those who have said that the plant here would only be a storage plant for the Lubbock plant should now go around and take a look and we believe they will change their mind even now.

OIL TEST PREPARATION STARTED IN CAINES COUNTY

The machinery for the oil test well on the M. C. Lindsey ranch near Cedar Lake, 18 miles northwest of Lamesa, arrived this week and is being hauled out to the location on section 17, Block C-33. This location is just a few miles west of the Dawson-Gaines county line in the latter county.

J. J. Munday of Colorado is in charge of the operations. He will have a first class rig and will get busy with the hole as soon as the rig is erected.

This is one wildcat oil test that is being put down without asking local people to finance it. Mr. Munday and his associates have the money for their operations and are not asking for a thing in the world, but to let them put down the test.

The geologists who have investigated the country contingent to this test have made some flattering reports and when a concern comes in of their own free will and accord and puts down a test without selling any stock, you can always figure that they have some indications that point pretty strong toward a showing of oil.—Lamesa Journal.

LAMESAITES REPORT GOOD TIME ON THEIR TRADE TRIP

The following from the Lamesa Journal tells how the Lamesa Boosters spent their time here:

"On arriving at the county seat of Terry county, everybody made a rush for something to eat. After the pangs of hunger had been appeased, the band gave a concert at the Brownfield band stand, and then Morgan Copeland, cashier of the Brownfield State Bank made a splendid talk in which he welcomed the Lamesa visitors to that city, and he extended us an invitation to come again when the watermelons get ripe. Mr. Copeland had some nice things to say about Lamesa and her people. He told of some things his own town had done and were contemplating. A bond is for a new courthouse has recently been voted, and work will start right away on the new building. A water-work system has just been completed and paving bonds will be voted on there soon. A new $30,000 theatre is nearing completion. Several new brick buildings are under construction.

S. O'Neal followed Mr. Copeland and told the people of Brownfield that Lamesa was ready to cooperate with them in every possible way."

BROWNFIELD TO VOTE ON PAVING BONDS JUNE 2ND

The voters of Brownfield will be given a chance on June 2nd to say by their vote whether or not the city will issue bonds to the amount of $50,000 to pave the business section of the city, which we understand will include some 14 blocks, reaching from the depot to the Methodist church, also around the square, and for a block on some other streets, 2 blocks north and south on sixth and one on north fifth.

This is a question for each voter to study for themselves, and for them to figure whether or not they want out of the mud and dust had enough to pay the price.

Mr. Mann, of El Paso, dropped in to see us this week. He is thinking seriously of becoming a citizen of our city. He stated that he had an option on two very desirable lots here in 1917 but let them go, but now wished he had taken them.

OPEN LETTER FROM JUDGE C. W. GILLESPIE

The following interesting letter of advice, congratulation and general solicitation will be read with much pleasure by the Judges' legion of close friends in old Terry.—Editor.

Ft. Worth, 4-23, 1925.

I see from the morning's press that your section has at last been visited by a fine rain, and I hope old Terry received her full share. I read with much interest every Monday morning all that the Herald has to say, and its various correspondents. I assure you that there is no hour of my time more pleasantly spent, and wish here to record my sincere appreciation of what your paper is doing to enlighten your community, and help unite and bring it up. There is no denying the fact that Brownfield and Terry Co. are finding a place in the sun. It is extremely gratifying to note the renewed and enlarged activity of your Chamber of Commerce, the building of your two new hotels, the one by that generous, public spirited citizen, Mr. Wines, and the other by that old warhorse of the South Plains, Mr. M. V. Brownfield; also the many new business buildings that have gone up since I left there.

Your account of the progress of your school has not been as full and complete as I could wish, but upon this question, perhaps, I am too sensitive. I must say however that I feel that with their limitations, under the management of your able superintendent and his principal, it has made possible progress. I am glad you are going to build one unit at least, of a new high school building. I would respectfully urge that you make your basement large with the view of ultimately having in completion a large, commodious, comfortable building, suited to a population of at least 1,000 souls. The people are coming to you; you want them; they need the new homes you offer; you can't and should not try to keep them back. Build wisely and well to take care of your present and future school interests.

I must not fail to give my approval to your new court house. My only criticism would be that $120,000 is too small for both building and its equipment. Every dollar of that should go into the building. You need a larger building. You can do so far less expensive equipment than I fear you are planning for this building especially for ten years to come. I don't believe in putting a $50 saddle on a $10 pony. But it will be fine to have your new courthouse, with your new hotels, a large high school building, and with a pushing, wide-awake Chamber of Commerce, Brownfield should certainly spread herself.

If this letter shows too much of the "buttsky" spirit, I trust its readers will overlook it on account of my deep, sincere interest in their welfare. My all too brief experience in Brownfield, though somewhat stormy, is worth a whole lot to me, and I appreciate the many loyal friendships I formed there. My ideal is to have our American communities compactly united together upon broad liberal American principles of Democracy, and my very soul revolts at the narrowness that would deny to any individual to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience, or that would deny him the full right and protection of the laws of the land.

Wishing peace, prosperity and progress to the people of Brownfield and Terry county, and wishing you and yours a double portion of these, Mr. Editor, I beg to subscribe myself,

Your friend,
O. W. Gillespie.

PREACHERS DECIDE ON A UNION REVIVAL

The Brownfield preacher's conference met last Monday at 9:30 A. M. in regular meeting. We discussed many things for the upbuilding of our people. One thing we agreed to do was to have one of the greatest union meetings that was ever held in our town.

This meeting will begin some time between June 15th and July 20th. We expect to get the best man in the evangelist field. We hope to have the co-operation of everyone. In union there is strength, but in division there is weakness.—G. W. Davis.

J. T. Auburg and family, recently of Meadow, are now domiciled in our city, and Mr. Auburg can be found following his old trade as watchmaker at the Grand Drug Store. Note his ad in this issue.

NEW CAR FURNITURE

We have just received a new car of furniture. This is the first shipment of furniture manufactured from the hard wood of the well known Indiana forests to be shipped to Brownfield. When you buy this furniture you have the assurance it will last.

GRAND JURY WOULD DEPORT ALIEN BOOTLEGGERS

Deportation for unnaturalized bootleggers, and condemnation for American citizens who patronize them, were the features of a recent grand jury report at Pueblo, Col. The jurors declared investigations showed that more than 99 percent of the manufacturers and sellers of illicit liquor were foreign born, and that most of them are not naturalized, but that, on the other hand, the larger percent of the customers of these bootleggers are American born citizens.

"The bootlegger is in principle an anarchist, and his children are learning early in life to defy the law, and thus we have growing a future generation of anarchists. The citizens who patronize him, encourage him in this principle and help to bring up his children to disregard the law," said the report.

The jury further recommended that bootlegger cases be tried in courts of record where a closer record could be kept on first, second and third offenses, and that "those foreigners who refuse to obey our laws and continue to break them, be deported as undesirable citizens."

ELDER METCALFE QUILTS FOR SUMMER MEETINGS

At the Sunday morning service Elder Chas. A. Metcalfe told the local church of Christ that it would be his last trip here for the time being, as he would enter his summer evangelistic work in the next few weeks.

A large crowd heard him Sunday morning, and much better Sunday night than was expected on account of the flooded condition of the roads and streets.

On Friday night before the 1st Sunday in May, Claud McClung will begin the protracted revival for the local church, and the church is anticipating an even better meeting than last year. Virgil O. Teddlie, singer, will also return this year to help in the meeting.

Mr. M. L. Cline, who has been recuperating here from a severe operation at a Lamesa sanitarium, has returned to his home in Spearman.

Bob Glover renewed for the Herald this week and took advantage of our very cheap rate on the Semi-Weekly Farm News for three years.

BAPTIST S. S. GIRLS STAGE A CONTEST

Some time ago the senior girls and young men's class of the First Baptist Sunday School entered into a contest of six weeks period to see who could obtain the largest number of points toward an A1 Standard class. The Philthea class being winners, were entertained to a delightful social last Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tiddell, teacher of the young men's class.

The evening was spent in various games and stunts. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

CHALLIS BUDGET By Cotton Farmer

The people over here are rejoicing over the fine rain, which will give us a season to bring up our crops, for which we are very thankful.

Mrs. Beasley has been on the sick list for the last few days.

Mrs. Price is feeling better. Mr. Howell is up again.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Neal have been staying over at Meadow with her sick brother, J. G. Currie.

Mr. Currie had a real bad spell of pneumonia and was carried to the Lubbock Sanitarium where he underwent an operation. He is reported to be doing well now, and will probably be brought home again in a week or two.

Mrs. E. S. Tinney and son from Wellington, Texas, have been visiting her aunt Mrs. O'Neal.

The people over here are interested in that special due here Wed. Several of the folks who were visiting Sunday got waterbound after the downpour Sunday afternoon and had to remain over night. That's a rain for Terry, we think.

Our school is progressing nicely.

Another big fish story came to light this week when A. M. Brownfield and family and A. M. McBurnett and family returned from their fishing trip on Devil's River. According to their story nothing less than 2½ pounders were caught and they got one that weighed 48 pounds. The later was viewed by many after they reached home.

Mr. Jim Jones, of Stephenville, accompanied by his son, Sam, of Lockney, were here this and last week visiting their brothers and uncles, S. W. and N. W. Jones and families.

THE UNDERTAKER

The midnight hour, the darkest hour
That human grief may know,
Sends forth its hurried summons—
Asks me to come—I go!
I know not when the bell may toll,
I know not where the blow may fall,
I only know that I must go
In answer to a call.
Perhaps a friend—perhaps unknown,
'Tis fate that turns the wheel—
The tangled skein of human life
Winds slowly on the reel.
And I? I'm the undertaker,
"Cold blooded" you'll hear them say,
Trained to the shock and chill of
death,
With a heart that's cold and grey,
Trained—that's what they call it,
How little they know the rest—
I'm human, and know the sorrow
That throbs in the aching breast.

Miss Mona Watson reports that a large crowd of Epworth Leaguers were on hand at the Lubbock District meet at Ralls last Saturday and Sunday, which resulted in a great time and much good instruction in this line of the church work of the Methodist denomination. She also reports that Ralls knows how to entertain, and does it. Miss Mona also had to tell us what a great driver she is or was. She found several cars stuck in the mud coming home, but she just "forded" right around them and got home without any mishaps. Self confidence is nearly always half the battle. Lots of time the team as well as the car does not "stick" until the driver has already "stuck."

Cars were stuck all over the streets of Brownfield Sunday night and also Monday morning. Those who forgot where the water mains were buried were lucky if they pulled across without being badly stuck, especially if they happened to run into them anyway except straight across, and then they were subjected to a severe shaking up. Workmen got busy on them early Monday, however, and now all crossing are again passable, and with the earth repacked, no more annoyance from them are anticipated.

"YOU say you can restore sight to the blind?" Old Simon asked, putting down "The Discovery of America," though not before he turned the corner of his page.

Mr. Skiffington nodded. "How are you going to do it?" "Have your office boy go out and bring in the first blind person he meets and then I'll show you."

Turning to his office boy, Old Simon told him to do as Mr. Skiffington bade. In less than five minutes the boy returned with a man encumbered with a sign advertising his affliction, a bundle of pencils and a battered tin cup.

Mr. Skiffington surrendered his chair to the blind man and then, after the fashion of certain physicians, removed his Prince Albert, draped it gently across the back of Old Simon's swivel chair, and rolled up his sleeves. After removing the blind man's blue-smeared spectacles, he produced a bottle and from it poured a quantity of golden fluid. This he applied to the unseeing one's lids. After a second or so they began to flutter. In another second, they were up, and the blind man's eyeballs were visible.

Realizing that he could again see, the man threw his arms around his savior's neck and said:

"I—can—see! I—can—see! Oh, my friend, how will I ever be able to repay you? Oh, my little Rosie! Now I will be able to see your dear little face for the first time!"

Mr. Skiffington gently released himself from the grateful man's embrace and, with a Mansfieldian gesture, said:

"That's all right, my friend; that's all right! The pleasure I derive from helping a suffering fellowman repays me a hundredfold. Go to your little Rosie and may God bless you both!"

The grateful man kissed the sleeve of Mr. Skiffington's coat and then silently departed. Turning to Old Simon, Mr. Skiffington asked:

"Are you convinced, Mr. Atkinson?" Old Simon evaded Mr. Skiffington's query and answered it by asking:

"How much will you take for your restorer?"

"Five thousand dollars," answered Mr. Skiffington.

Old Simon balked at the amount requested and then blew his Napoleonic nose. Then he began to rub his bald pate and whistle an ancient waltz. Then he became strangely silent, a merry twinkle in his crafty eyes.

"I'll give you thirty-seven hundred; not a cent more!" he said finally.

After haggling and hawking for a few minutes, Mr. Skiffington decided to accept Old Simon's offer.

Old Simon produced a check-book from the bottom drawer of his roll-top desk. After blotting what he had written, he tore the check out of the book and, holding it aloft, said:

"Young man, you will get this when I get the formula of your restorer!"

This last was a part of the transaction Mr. Skiffington evidently had not taken into account.

"Formula? Er—yes, why of course! Of course you shall have the formula. Yes, yes, of course! The original was accidentally destroyed, but I'll write out another one!"

Mr. Skiffington grabbed a small scratch pad and an indelible pencil from the desk and hurriedly began to scribble something about nitroglycerin, ipecac and bisulphate. Then he tore off what he had written and handed it to Old Simon.

"Here is your formula!" he asserted like some monarch of old upon handing the key to the drawbridge of one of his vassals.

Old Simon took it from Mr. Skiffington's beringed, nicotine-stained fingers and perused it carefully. Then he gave the check to the miracle performer, who thanked Old Simon profusely, bowed a bow worthy of Chesterfield, opened the door, closed it, and was gone.

Old Simon then returned the check-book to its place in the bottom drawer of his roll-top and resumed his reading of "The Discovery of America."

The office boy tiptoed over to Old Simon's desk and noiselessly removed a small leather case, from the top drawer. Out of this he took a pair of day-and-night marine binoculars and, going to the window, focused them on two gentlemen standing in a shaft of golden sunlight in the distance and holding an extremely happy conversation.

"How much did you get?"

"Thirty-seven hundred!"

"Hot dog! That's eighteen hundred and fifty each!"

"Pretty good for a twenty-cent bottle of cream soda and a formula not worth a half a hoot in hands!"

And then the two gentlemen winked meaningfully at each other, turned the corner and were lost to sight.

The boy turned excitedly to Old Simon and breathlessly exclaimed:

"Mr. Atkinson, you'd better have that check stopped! The bank closes in fifteen minutes. I just saw—"

"That's all right, Alexander," Old Simon cut in. "If that gentleman hadn't been so gosh-dinged anxious to get off with that check he would have noticed that it was dated 'October 12, 1492,' and was signed by Christopher Columbus!"

MEADOW BRIEFS

By Accutapias.

Music is defined as the art or science of pleasing or harmonious expressions of sound tones. Outside of the piano, the patter of raindrops on the windows and house-top surmises the gentle cadence of a wedding march, and I think of the little rhymes of long ago.

Hear the music of the rain,

Falling down.

On the roof and window pane,

Falling down.

Monday morning everything was astir with new life. We could see the team starting for the fields, although it was too wet for any farm work except turning sod, but almost every farm has more or less of that kind of work. Smiles has taken the place of frowns, and the long face has grown preceptably shorter.

The Order of Eastern Star, held a meeting Friday night and served refreshments at the close of its work. A number from Slaton Chapter were in attendance and assisted in the conferring of degrees on a number of candidates. Froyd Ellingson and wife, of Brownfield were visitors to the Chapter.

The dwelling of Mr. Morgan living west of town was burned Friday night about 12 o'clock. The fire is believed to have been of incendiary origin, as the family had been away from home several days.

Robert Welch and wife, with Earl Cadenhead and wife are off to South Texas somewhere (hunting and hunting). If either of these fellows gets even a bite, then I am off for an angling trip. It is hoped they will both take a bath while away.

Little Miss Levada Handley went up to Lubbock the past week and had her tonsils removed. Old Master certainly remembered the doctors when he was creating tonsils and appendicis, but he should have fixed the price of such work, and not left it to the tender mercy of these youngsters.

The vote Saturday on the bond issue for the purpose of providing sewers for the school building was unfavorable. Only 11 votes were cast for the measure.

We are informed that the election of teachers for the next term resulted in all but one of the present corps being retained. This I am sure will meet with the approval of most of the patrons.

There was some talk here of a change of roads to Brownfield back to where it ran some two years ago. This would leave Meadow of the highway. Whether there is any truth in the rumor I do not know, but our people are very much opposed to the change. It would do the town serious harm and benefit no one unless it is some Smart Alex hunting a job and doesn't care who is injured. We will be with him when he gets the change.

With the five big lights on the city water reservoir tower, it gives the business section and most of the residence section the effect of bright moonlight on the darkest nights, and makes it easy for one to pick out the best way home these muddy nights. A little later a 500 watt lamp will take the place of the 200 on the top of the tower, which will add greatly to the light effect.

Rev. W. K. Johnson filed his regular monthly appointment at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning and night to nice congregations.

Mrs. Rich Bennett has moved her Beauty Shoppe to her residence in the east part of town as her husband sold his barber shop. Her many customers will find her at their home.

DEATH

Mrs. W. J. Ramsey, 50, died Saturday night at the farm home 10 miles northwest of Brownfield, and was buried in the Brownfield Cemetery Sunday afternoon just at dark. She had been in ill health for a long time.

Funeral service were conducted at the family residence Sunday afternoon about five o'clock by Elder Chas. E. Metzler. Deceased was a member of the Church of Christ.

This faithful wife and beloved mother leaves behind to mourn her, a husband, and two daughters, Mrs. Geo. Brooks and a younger sister who is single, also her mother and her husband's mother, who make their home with the Ramseys. Deceased, was Miss Mary J. Southern in girlhood and was born and reared in Lawrence county, Alabama.

ODD FELLOWS MEET IN NEW BUILDING TUES. NIGHT

The local lodge of Odd Fellows met for the first time in their new brick hall for the first time Tuesday night of this week, and are very well pleased with it except some adjustments and faulty construction, which we are sure can be satisfactorily arranged.

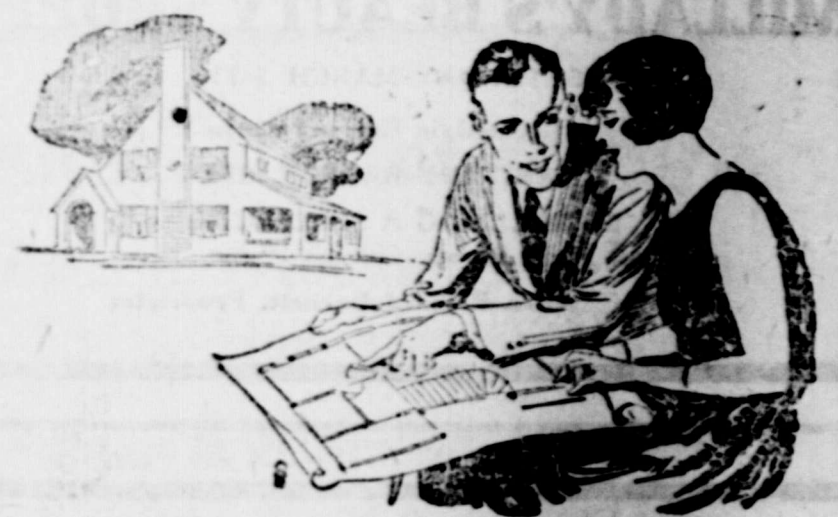

Both the builder, Mr. Raymond Barrier of Lubbock, and the contractor, Mr. Oscar Covey, met with them, and the adjustment of these matters will be left to a committee selected by these parties who will select a third man.

The Odd Fellows now have one of the best halls belonging to this order on the Plains, and with ample room and other facilities, we look for a very rapid growth of this order here.

The proverbial goose is swinging mighty high in old Terry these days, but not out of reach of anyone. And it is the goose that laid the golden egg. Come to Terry.

That $3,000,000 rain has fallen, and all that will keep Terryites from producing a crop now is insects or hail. You can insure against the later by looking up our advertisers who carry hail insurance.

The Herald is glad to put on exchange the Wilson News, Vol. 1 and No. 1 of which we received last week. It was a well printed and well edited eight page paper, with a lady editor. It was very liberally patronized by home merchants and not a few Tahoka and Lubbock business men.

Since the rains the people have begun to jar loose from coin, and all of us can tell the difference, even in just a few hours after the rain. Isn't it wonderful what a vast difference a good rain makes after a drouth, and also sunshine after you've had all the rain you want.

Up till the good rains came, there was no little aching and pessimism ran riot on the streets. The most dire tales of misfortune, starvation, and drouth were pictured. But with three inches of rain in less than a week, all this has been wiped away, and everyone is too busy to even talk politics. Come to Terry.

While there was a good crowd on the streets Saturday afternoon, it was noted that it was much lighter than common, and those coming in over the highways and railroad reported that many planters were running, and one man reported seeing five planters running in one field. Yet, despite all this, those that were in town probably purchased more goods than the larger crowds did during the drouth. Implements of all descriptions were carried out, and not a few tractors and gang plows were noticed going out in various directions.

Terry county is going to fix up the roads between here and Brownfield. They certainly need it.—Lubbock Avalanche.

Yes, all the way.

From the manner in which some editors and other people are criticizing Mrs. Ferguson for pardoning convicts, you would think that these same critics are very "hard-boiled" individuals, and that they would not think of turning a criminal loose under any conditions. Put one of these chronic critics on the jury and about nine chances to one is that some smooth criminal lawyer would stir his sympathies for the poor unfortunate and badly abused criminal, that he would go straightway to the jury room and turn the criminal loose. We have often seen them act as if they thought the prosecuting attorney and officers ought to be sent to the penitentiary where they were trying to put the crook. Mrs. Ferguson has doubtless turned some criminals out of the pen that ought to have remained there, but the juries of Texas have offended on the side of leniency toward the crooks far more grievously than Mrs. Ferguson has.—Lynn County News.

The Herald like the News supported Mrs. Ferguson during the late hot political campaign, but perhaps less whole heartedly, for we somehow anticipated another wholesale bursting of prison bars. While the Ferguson's have given Texas some legislation we appreciate, their pardoning record is a bit disgusting, we are frank to admit. And in saying this, we do not wish to be understood that we are in the least petting feather-hearted juries that neglect their duties, for the record of Texas juries as a pardoning and condoning board is just as disgusting and revolting. If a criminal is guilty and has had a fair trial by jury in the courthouse, let him pay the penalty of offending the law. If he is innocent, rich or poor, black or white, ignorant or educated, let him go free.

All cities were small at one time in their existence. At one time there was not even a New York or Chicago. Cities don't grow of themselves because of any natural advantages. The people who live there have to cultivate and push them along just like the farmer pushes his crop. No city "just happened."

Give the knocker some credit for what he does. Lots of times the old knocker disgusts real good men and make confirmed boosters out of them. That has happened right here in this city. We know men who used to be "agin" everything are almost "for" everything now, and they have been disgusted into this way.

ADVERTISING REDUCES THE COST OF LIVING

Is public utility advertising wasteful? Does it lower or increase costs to the consumer?

W. H. Hodge, president of the Public Utilities Advertising Association answers as follows:

"No advertising of necessities is defensible that does not in some way produce a public benefit. Public utilities advertising has more than kept pace with the remarkable growth, the vast improvement of service, and in many cases the lowering of consumer cost by the utilities during the past twenty years.

"There were scarcely a handful of men and women in these industries devoting their time to advertising 20 years ago. Now there are hundreds.

"Advertising has played a leading role in public utility development. It has brought the advantages of these services to millions. Find a poorly developed utility situation, usually with high service rates, and you will find a non-advertising utility imperfectly meeting public requirements. Look for the town or territory with good service, fully served population and industries, reasonable rates, harmonious public relations, and you will find invariably utilities that believe in and practice advertising on a liberal, intelligent basis.

"Advertising has shortened by one-half the time necessary to reach the present national status of utilities development, and has saved vastly more in wages not paid to house to house canvassers, than it has cost.

"Discard these values accruing to the public and you have left a third value of even greater significance, namely, the services of advertising to enable the public and the utilities to understand each other and come to agreements permitting utility development.

"There is no more possibility of making a success out of the utility business in this age minus expert advertising than there is in trying to capable accountants and auditors, salesmen and trained workers."

J. W. Edwards, of Fort Worth, representing Bradstreet's, was in our city this week and paid the Herald a short call as he was also representing the Quality Engraving Co. of that city.

She is now able to cook, and stronger than in a long time."

Cardui has been in successful use for nearly 50 years in the treatment of many common female troubles.

GROWTH OF BANDITRY SCORED BY BANKERS

Augusta, Georgia, April 22—The business situation of the country is "fundamentally" and "need cause no anxiety," since "the menace of inflation" has been removed by the conservation of business men, the executive council of the American Bankers' Association declared in a resolution adopted Wednesday.

"In so far as our business prosperity has been the result of a revival of agriculture, caused by undue diminution of crops in other countries of the world," the resolution sets forth, "the effect is likely to be temporary; but insofar as it has been due to the rehabilitation of Europe and the liquidation of old indebtedness on the part of our agricultural population, the result attained are likely to be permanent."

Adoption of this resolution, refusal to reopen for discussing the question of the association's attitude toward the practice of branch banking, and launching of the movement for the creation of an endowment economic scholarships in the principal colleges and universities, marked the proceedings of the Council Wednesday, the third day of its four-day spring session.

Deplored the "sentimental coddling of criminals after they are behind the bars," the protective committee submitted a report regarding banks in an effort to put a stop to bank robberies, to survey their criminal codes with a view to more rigid enforcement of laws, the abolition of indeterminate and suspended sentences, ending abuses of the parole system, and federal restriction of the manufacture and sale of fire arms capable of being concealed on the person.

"We find a persistent growth in this roving army of desperadoes flaunting the law at every turn," the protective committee report said. The consistent growth of the holdup man, the report continues, "is convincing proof that the dangers of banditry threaten to become a permanent menace."

Carl Lusk, of Lou, was in our city this week looking after business matters. He called around to insert an ad in the Herald as he had a surplus of work stock and milk cows.

Dee Hull, formerly engaged in the grocery business in Brownfield, but now in the furniture business in Lamesa, had business in our city this week. He was accompanied by Mr. Wilson who recently purchased the Sanitary Barber Shop.

Molecules

A "molecule" is the smallest part of a substance that can exist separately and still retain its composition and properties; the smallest combination of atoms that will form a given chemical compound. In physics, the structural unit, as distinguished from the atom, and applied to particles of gases in the kinetic theory independently of their relation to the chemical molecule.

Snow Reef in Mountains

One of the few snow reefs to be found in all the Rocky mountain range, is on "Snow Reef Top" in Glacier National park. This snow reef is there the year round and is much raved over by landscape painters and camera artists. In some parts of this reef, which forms a crescent near the mountain peak, the snow is drifted 100 feet high.

Plant Care

The only reason that house plants should not be kept in a sleeping room is that the temperature of a well-ventilated room is lower than the temperature necessary for plants. The average plant should have a night temperature of around 50 degrees and a day temperature of around 70 degrees.

THE RIALTO THEATRE

The best theatre gets the best shows. This is the unbroken rule. The explanation is simple: The best theatres can afford to pay what the best costs.

More people go to the best theatres than any other. The best theatres represent a larger investment than any other. All business pertaining to the operation of the best theatre is conducted on a large scale. The best theatre is financially able to buy the best pictures owners of the best pictures want them shown in the best theatres; and so the best is provided.

Every community has its best theatre, which is pointed out by residents to visitors as a prized possession of the community.

The Rialto will be that kind of a theatre.

Good shows are demanded by modern theatregoers. Good music to accompany good pictures is exacted, but before either of these, good surroundings are essential.

Today's modern theatres excel in architectural efficiency, beauty of design and furnishing, ventilation, convenience and comfort, all other classes of buildings. The great popularity of the motion picture has made the advance culminating in this superiority not only possible but necessary.

The good theatre is best for the theatregoer. It offers every health and comfort safeguard contrived by man, surpassing even the home in point of safety. A good theatre is the best of all places to go.

The Rialto will be that kind of a theatre.

The good theatre has become a major factor in the daily life of the modern family. It serves the ideal amusement place where all members of the family go together to enjoy wholesome entertainment. It furnishes in the wealth of its tradition, a conversational topic which all members approach on even terms.

In a "jazz age" institutions successfully exerting influence toward family unity are few. Preservation of family unity is vital to personal, community and national welfare.

A good theatre is prized by the children as a favored pastime place by the parents as a powerful force for the proper direction of youthful development. It is second in beneficial effect to no modern institution.

The Rialto will be that kind of a theatre.

The Progress of Safety---

In the Dark Ages, might made right and the will of the powerful was the only law. Each man was his own protector. Barons reared castles and massive stone walls for the protection of their property, the lives of their families and their attendants.

Nowadays, law and order prevail, safety is found in different channels but far more effective and convenient. This Bank offers you financial safety of a high order, through compliance with banking regulations and sound business principles, through the judgement and experience of its officers and through the careful management of its ample resources.

CRASSHOPPER CONTROL

By R. R. Reppert of A. & M. College

It now seems certain that in some sections at least, a grasshopper fight will again have to be waged this year. Already grasshoppers are hatching and damage has been reported in some localities. With the great number of eggs found in the soil, extended damage, especially if warm showers occur during April to hasten hatching, is expected. It is believed that the infestation will extend over most of the territory damaged last year, and into adjoining sections besides, where the hoppers migrated in late summer and fall for egg hatching.

Our "differential" hopper, yellow when full grown, does the most damage, except in localities where the jumbo is a pest. These two may be expected to commence hatching about the middle of April, and damage to cultivated crops will occur about the middle of May and thereafter. Numbers of grasshoppers have already hatched, but most of these are species that ordinarily do not damage cultivated crops, it is thought control of them will be unnecessary. They should be closely watched however, and poisoned if found attacking valuable crops.

Last year farmers would have saved much more had they commenced fighting the hoppers sooner. This year, being prepared by warnings and profiting by previous experience, they should be able to save all of their crops and at a less cost. Instead of fighting them as they attack cotton and corn, farmers should poison them where they are found hatching in low grass land and along stream banks. The places where they were observed congregating in large numbers during August and through the fall months, furnish an indication where eggs were being laid and where the small hoppers will hatch this spring.

During the first three or four weeks after hatching, the small hoppers range only a few feet from the place where they hatched. Because of this fact, and because the hatching period will be extended over several weeks, poisoning should be delayed some time. Farmers are advised to watch closely the places just mentioned where hatching may be expected to occur, and to poison over these restricted areas about three weeks after the first small hoppers hatch in any considerable numbers.

If all farmers co-operate in this poisoning promptly and if all hatching places are found and poisoned, it is believed that one or perhaps two such local applications will protect the cultivated crops for the remainder of the season.

Poison bran mash is advised in the control of the hoppers. In spite of some reports to the contrary, this gave excellent results last year where failures were found due to departure from directions in some particular.

Experience last year indicated that amyl acetate used in place of the lemons, gave better results, and it is advised this year if it can be obtained. The formula recommended is:

Wheat bran (avoid shorts) 25 lbs.
White arsenate (or Paris green) 1 pound.
Amyl acetate 1 ounce.
Cane molasses (avoid cane syrup) 2 quarts.

Water in quantity suggested below. Thoroughly mix the poison and the bran dry. Dilute the molasses and amyl acetate with about two gallons of water and thoroughly mix with the bran. Add more water and mix until a thoroughly wet mash has been obtained, yet not sloppy. It should fall apart easily when sowing, so that it breaks up into particles not larger than the small finger nail at the largest. A good test is to squeeze a handful tightly; if of the proper consistency the water will ooze out between the fingers, but should not run out in streams.

It is important to thoroughly mix after each addition of water, to secure an even distribution of all the materials. After one or two batches have been mixed, the farmer will learn how much water to use, so that no further additions need be made.

Only high grade amyl acetate is to be used. Avoid bronzing liquids, which contain so great a portion of other substances as to be repellent to the hoppers. Where high grade amyl acetate cannot be obtained, use six lemons or oranges with the 25 lbs of bran. Squeeze the juice into the water also, and then mix. It is important to include the rind and to chop finely as advised. Merely cutting up with a knife will not do. The quantity named in the formula should cover five acres.

Do not put this out in piles. The mash should be sown broadcast like sowing seed. The hoppers feed in the morning, and as the bait is more attractive when wet, it should be sown in the morning, before eight o'clock. Where the acreage to be covered is too big, sowing in late evening may be resorted to. The ideal procedure is to make up the mash in the evening, let stand over night and sow in the early morning over the places where the hoppers are hatching, or if the poisoning has been delayed until damage is being done to the crops, the crop area should be sown well beyond the places where damage is being done, as well as a fair margin of the grassland from which the hoppers are migrating, to kill others that may later move out to the crop. The flakes of bran will take up moisture during the night, and one sowing should be effective for a number of days.

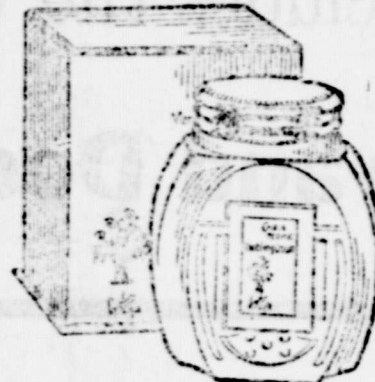

Dead grasshoppers will not be found in great numbers for two or three days after sowing the mash. Sown broadcast, as advised, there is no danger to livestock, and very little, if any danger to poultry or wild birds. Animals may be endangered where it is put into piles, however, and of course great care should be taken to keep batches that have been mixed out of the reach of stock, before it is sown. Common sense will direct that ordinary care should be used in handling this substance about the house and barns.
