Chamber of Commerce CURRENTS By the Secretary

The Brownfield Band played a concert for the Meadow people Tuesday night, Sept. 1st, being the opening night of the Chautauqua. The concert was well received and the people of Meadow treated the boys royally, serving lunch and refreshments to them. Meadow is a real little sister city to us and we appreciate them and are willing to help them every time and the band is very valuable in cementing our relations.

The Tatum people are calling for our band on the 4th of this month, Friday, to assist them in their community picnic there. Their committee has been in to see about the band twice, and are anxious to have the band with them, and Tatum is correlated with Brownfield's interest inasmuch as it is our adjacent trade territory and we have a very kind feeling for that community, and should cooperate with them to the fullest extent.

With so much demand for the services of our band and the inestimable value to this town from a standpoint of publicity, a civic asset and an organization ready for every public program that we have, it would seem that we would wake up and support them. Business houses and business men of the town who have in their employments band members should by all means try to make it convenient for the boys to answer the call of duty in the band, for to retain them only takes a pivot corner from the band and is detrimental to its service and reflects on the good of the band and the town and community will appreciate the cooperation given the band from the business men in this respect.

The Chamber of Commerce is lining up markets for Terry county watermelons which will shortly come on the market for shipment and we believe that there will be a market for all we can ship.

We do not anticipate that there will be any trouble in securing pickers for this fall's crop, which will begin to open rapidly about the first of October. Herewith is published a letter from the drouthy part of the state to indicate this:

San Marcos, Texas, Aug. 24, 1925. Chamber of Commerce, Brownfield, Texas.

Gentlemen:—I have about 25 negro cotton pickers on my place who are destitute and without means to get to where there is work. If you know of anyone who could use them and would stand their fare, I would bring them out and stay with them until they had picked their fare out, and see that there would be no loss. The fare would be about $10 or $12.

Yours truly,
J. B. Harris.

MORE BIG RAINS VISIT OLD TERRY LAST WEEK

Mr. J. Phivous has certainly got his shower machinery working to perfection here of late, for a rain that amounted close to a half inch fell in and around Brownfield Friday afternoon, and was capped off by a two and three quarter inch down pour on Saturday afternoon.

Nearly six inches of rain have fallen here since the first of August according to Mr. John B. King, who is in charge of the local government rain gauge, and farmers from many sections are reporting the appearance of leaf worms in their rank cotton, and are now anxious for fair and hot weather.

A number of farmers were in this week after poison for the army or leaf worms.

MILT COODE IS VISITING SICK BROTHER AT BRONTE

Sweetwater, Texas, Aug. 27.—Milt Good, serving a term in the State penitentiary on conviction with Tom Ross in trials at Lubbock and Abilene for the killing of Robertson and Allison, cattle inspectors at Seminole, passed through Sweetwater Thursday to visit his brother, Tom Good, at Bronte, Coke county, who is ill. Good was granted a furlough.

R. H. Timmons and W. C. Cook, of Meadow were in the capital Wednesday, and paid the Herald a short call. The former renewed to his Herald and the latter became a new reader.

R. C. NEWSOM'S BROTHER KILLED IN KNOX COUNTY

Messrs. R. S. Heartsill and J. F. Malcolm, prominent farmers of the Gomez country were in one day last week and informed us that their neighbor, Mr. R. C. Newsom had just returned from Knox county, where he went to attend the funeral of his brother, Wilbur, who was dragged to death by his team last week.

It seems that Mr. Newsom was thought to have been unhitching the team from the cultivator about night, when they became frightened and ran away and dragged him with the plow a long ways, and over a go devil. The horse finally broke loose, leaving the mule to the cultivator, which finally stopped. No one was in the field with him and his wife becoming uneasy, went to see about him, and upon her approach Mr. Newsom asked her to hurry and get the plow off him, but it is thought she approached the mule too hastily, and he broke again, but did not run far until the cultivator turned up on one wheel in making a quick turn and passed over him. He never spoke again, but lived until the next day.

Mr. Newsom informed us that he did not get the telegram to come until the next day at noon, but his daughter drove him through that afternoon and night in some less than thirteen hours.

RALLS VOTES BONDS TO CARRY ON ROAD WORK

Ralls, Texas, Aug. 31.—The election held here Saturday carried by more than two-thirds vote in favor of creating road district number three Crosby County, and voted $35,000.00 bonds for the purpose of construction of lateral roads leading to each community in the Ralls territory. The bonds were sold conditionally by the commissioners court at their last meeting according to a statement made by T. H. Holmes commissioner, to H. C. Burt & Company.—Lubbock Avalanche.

TWO WILSON STATIONS ROBBED SUNDAY NIGHT

Two filling stations at Wilson, were burglarized Sunday night. From one station operated by Fred Dawson, eleven automobile casings were stolen. In the other, operated by C. R. Wallace, a small money safe was taken and carried away. It was found Monday morning about three-fourths of a mile north of Wilson on the Slaton road. Parties had broken into it by driving the bolt in the lock through the door with some kind of punch. Money and checks amounting to about ninety dollars in value had been taken from the safe. Officers are working on a clue and it is believed that they will get the right parties.—Tahoka News.

Mrs. W. H. Collins stopped off on their way home from market at Sweetwater to visit relatives.

SHALL WE PERMIT THE BAND TO DISORGANIZE?

There have been rumors recently that the Brownfield Band was talking of having to disband, as some of the business men had quit supporting it. This should not be the case by any means, but the band ought to be well supported.

While the Herald has never taken the position of some, that "the band is the greatest asset we have," for it could name several things we might dispense with at less inconvenience, to the town than the band, such for instance as our schools, churches, the banks and stores and farms, but we do recognize its worth, and it is our aim to try to do our duty to the band with both financial and publicity support, and while we may have been somewhat stinting on the former, the latter has been given ungrudgingly and in unlimited doses.

We may think we will not miss the band much if it should disorganize, but we will, and before two weeks shall have passed after its disorganization, there will come a time without doubt when we would be willing to pay twice what we have been paying for the Brownfield Band like it was or is now.

MULLINS GIVEN TEN YEARS IN PENITENTIARY

Bass Mullins, charged by indictment for rape upon Eunice Weatherman, was sentenced to the state penitentiary for a period of 10 years by the jury in the case here Friday at 9:40 o'clock.

The case was opened Monday A.M. when the work of selecting a jury from the special venire was begun, and the case was given to the jury at 5:40 o'clock Thursday afternoon. On failing to reach a verdict Thursday, the jury retired at 9:00 o'clock and resumed deliberations again at 8:00 o'clock Friday morning.

W. H. Bledsoe and Homer L. Pharr attorneys for the defense, gave notice of appeal and defendant was liberated upon making bond of $8,000.

District Attorney W. C. Witcher, chief counsel for the state who was assisted in the prosecution by County Attorney O. W. McWhorter and special prosecutor John L. Ratliff, stated late Friday that he was not satisfied with the verdict but that he was confident that the verdict will be upheld in the higher court.

"I heartily appreciate the co-operation accorded men by Sheriff H. L. Johnston and Deputy Sheriff Vernice Ford, and the splendid assistance rendered by County Attorney McWhorter and Attorney Ratliff," Walter C. Witcher said in commenting on the case.—Lubbock Avalanche.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Endersen returned last week from Newark, Ohio, where they visited relatives. Before returning home he went up to Detroit and drove a new Chrysler Sedan back home.

OKLAHOMA FARMER BOOSTING OLD TERRY

Mr. E. E. Ferris, of family of Headrick, Okla., came in one day last week for a short stay, this being the first time the family had ever been here, and came with the intention of deciding on whether they would locate here or not. Mr. Ferris informed us that they seemed to like, and that they would likely be citizens here this coming fall. Mr. Ferris has been a reader of the Herald now for several years.

He also has a brother in Oklahoma whom he wants to interest in this country, and he remarked the best way he knew of was to send him the Herald about six months.

He also remarked that if the people of that section in general, who are renting, and are good renters, were aware of the opportunities here of paying for this fertile, level prairie land with the crops raised on it, he believed the majority of them would lose no time in getting here. But he said most of them did not regard this country as anything much except a barren waste.

BIG BUILDING PROGRAM UNDER WAY AT MEADOW

Meadow, September 1.—The month of August marked the beginning of an extensive building programme in the town of Meadow. The second brick building is now under construction and prospects for still more are in sight. This building is being erected by Jones Hardware Company and will be one of the finest structures in this section. It will be a one story structure 50x100 feet and will be occupied by the Hardware Company in which they will carry one of the most complete and up-to-date lines of hardware and furniture in the country.

Weingerd & Thompson of Brownfield are the contractors who expect to complete the building by October 1st.

Many of the old business houses are being remodeled into very up-to-date store buildings and four new businesses have been put in since August 15th. Three new residences are under construction and four are being repaired into modern residences.

The business and residence streets are being graded up and much has been done to add to the appearance of the town in the last few weeks.—Lubbock Avalanche.

METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday School at 9:45. Preaching service at 11:00 by the pastor. Subject: "Church the Family."

Epworth League meeting at 7:30. Evening service at 8:30 by Jack Compson.

—J. T. Watson, P.C.

W. H. Key has moved his family back to Brownfield from Clovis, N.M.

PARAMOUNT COMPANY SENT ADVERTISING WAGON HERE

Mr. R. B. Scott, of Dallas, was here Monday and Tuesday with the Paramount advertising truck in the interest of Paramount Week, which begins here next Monday, as well as all over the United States in some 6000 theatres. The truck was a large one, and as conveniently arranged on the inside as a residence, and all advertising matter had a place and was in place. Mr. Scott took great pains in showing the editor some of the advertising matter for pictures to be shown at the Rialto latter on, and especially that of the Ten Commandments to be shown here in October.

While here Mr. Scott was the guest of Messrs. Jones and Bynum, managers and owners of the Rialto Theatre, who took pleasure in showing him around the town. Mr. Scott is a jolly young man, well met, and had a leave talk to us small town people seemingly as to anyone, although he has rubbed elbows with the greatest stars and directors in filmdom.

Mr. Scott remarked that his company was more than pleased with results they are getting by patronizing the country weeklies, they being the pioneers in this line of advertising.

LARGE NUMBER TEACHERS ATTENDING INSTITUTE

Lubbock, Aug. 31.—An estimated attendance of over 700 teachers ushered in the regular session of the South Plains Teachers' Institute here Monday, with Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of the Texas Technological College, in charge.

No special address marked the opening of the institute as has been the case in the past, as Dr. Horn called the meeting to order promptly at 8:30 o'clock, made brief remarks about the necessity of conserving o time in every way possible in order that the large program of work planned for the institute might be carried out in every detail.

The teachers were urged to attend all sessions possible, and promptness in arriving at the general assemblies, study classes, etc., being especially urged.

Rev. Onderdonk, missionary leader for the Methodist church, who is here working in the interest of building a Methodist mission in the local Mexican quarters, conducted the devotional service.

Following conclusion of formalities which included introduction of the several instructors, representing the State Department of Education at Austin, some of the larger educational institutions of the state, the general assembly session was dismissed and promptly at 10 o'clock class work was entered into, the introduction of the faculty members being punctuated with brief remarks by several of the number.

While a great deal of difficulty has been experienced in securing room and board accommodations for the teachers convenient to the school, such close cooperation has been given those having charge of this work by local citizens that the situation is believed well in hand at this time more rooms than were needed being available Monday.

Dr. O. A. Ulrich, conductor of the Intermediat Grade session for the institute, who is professor of education at Southwestern University, will deliver a lecture this morning at nine o'clock, which will be of special interest to all those in attendance.

It is believed by those in charge of registration that attendance will be 800 before the close of the institute which has gained momentum since its organization and has done a great deal toward establishing Lubbock as the educational center of this section.

O'DONNELL BOY IN NEWS PICTURE

Those who attended the State Theatre last Friday night night had the pleasure of seeing an O'Donnell boy in the person of Wyeth Wilson flashed on the screen in the Fox news reel. The picture showed Wyeth as a member of the guard of 57 marines who are acting as a special guard to President Coolidge at Swampscott, Mass.

Wyeth Wilson is the son of Mrs. A. C. Wilson who lives east of town. Those who were acquainted with Wyeth easily recognized him and were delighted to know he had attained this high honor. You can always depend upon an O'Donnell boy to make good wherever he goes.—O'Donnell Index.

BROWNFIELD SCHOOL OPENS MONDAY MORNING

We are soon to again witness the school boy and girl scurrying toward the buildings early mornings, and the slow march in the afternoon as they wind their way homeward.

This ought to be the happiest portion of the whole life of the individual, and it is with most pupils. There are however exceptions, and one can not always rightly judge what the future may hold for either boy or girl who dreads school, but it is usually those who hail school days with delight who make their mark in the world.

Then too, parents are paying a big price in taxes, worry, etc., for the education of their children, and they should at least make a supreme effort to be in attendance at the opening day, and every other day convenient to you during the entire school term. Of course the writer doesn't do this himself, but that doesn't hinder this from being good and wholesome advice for you to take.

Some people have the idea that the school should be turned over to the trustees and teachers and if it is not run right, cuss 'em for everything you can think of, and give them no chance to explain matters.

Then, there is a lot of us that are ready to believe our kids above all other humans on earth. We are not even willing to admit that possibly the children might be mistaken and that we ought to hear the other side of the matter. Let us be guarded in expressing our opinions of our public school teachers until we get both sides of the matter. Least of all let's not be guilty of expressing our opinion of our teachers before the children.

Another thing to keep in mind is the fact that we had a very lively Parent Teacher Association during last session, especially lively for this city, and the attendance upon the meeting was good during the entire session after the association was organized. Now the grand thing to do is to start the organization immediately upon the opening of school, and let each member act as a committee of one to bring a new member to the first meeting, which can be announced later by the president.

Let us co-operate in every way possible to make the 1925-26 term of our public schools the best we have ever had. Let's go.

SHERIFF AND MRS. ELLINGTON LOSE LITTLE SON

Little Wayne Eugene Ellington, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Ellington, was born June 8, 1922, and died Aug. 30, 1925; aged 3 years, 2 months and 22 days.

He was the joy and sunshine of the home for his father, mother and sister, always happy, bright and playful.

Wayne was Daddy's boy and he loved to talk about the things he and Daddy would do some day. How truly he believed in and loved Daddy! No more did Wayne love his daddy than he did his mother, and he could come to her at all times of the day with his little troubles and joys. His sister was his playmate in the home and many happy hours did they spend romping together.

Though a child Wayne gave expression of real interest in the things about him. He loved flowers and trees and made companions of his pets. Wayne loved the Sunday School and took care of all his little cards. He was a lover of all kinds of music, especially singing, and he had his favorite songs which he could sing so well, such as "Since His Love Came Shining Through," and "Revive Us Again."

Though young to have a knowledge of things eternal, he believed in Christ as he had been taught in the home and in the Sunday School.

According to the teaching of the Presbyterian church those dying before reaching the years of accountability go immediately to God to dwell with Him forever. Therefore, we feel that little Wayne is with his Maker.

"Asleep in Jesus! blessed sleep! From which our souls never wake to weep."

Elbert Proctor was in one day recently from his farm northwest of the city and reported the best crop he ever raised in Terry county.

Mrs. R. A. Harbin, wife of the superintendent of construction of State Highways in this county, left on the train Monday morning for Baird to attend the bedside of her brother, Mr. Cecil Marshall, who was operated on for appendicitis, Sunday. She will be away about two weeks, during which time R. A. will likely need a guardian.

Mrs. E. A. Morgan and children, Evelyn and A. E. Jr., left last Friday for their future home at Sudan, after a two weeks visit here with her sister, Mrs. Stricklin.

Chas. K. Auburg and wife of Livingston, N. M., were overnight guests of his brother, J. T. Auburg, Monday night. They were on their way to Hail county for a visit.

W. H. Weathersby, manager of the Jones Dry Goods Co., returned this week from St. Louis, where he has been for the past two weeks buying merchandise. He reports that the wholesale merchants declare they are having one of the best seasons in history, and that all hotels in that city were crowded. Crop conditions between here and there look favorable, he reports.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Terry county—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon Oscar Covey by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof in some newspaper published in your county, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in any newspaper published in the 106th Judicial District; but if there be no newspaper published in said Judicial District, then in a newspaper published in the nearest District to said 106th Judicial District, to appear at the next regular term of the County Court of Terry County, Texas, to be holden at the Court House thereof, in Brownfield, on the first Monday in October, A. D. 1925, the same being the 5th day of October, A. D. 1925, and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 24th day of July, A. D. 1925 in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 233, wherein W. A. Bell is Plaintiff, and Oscar Covey is Defendant, and said petition alleging, that heretofore, to-wit, on the 12th day of April, 1924, defendant made, executed and delivered to plaintiff his certain promissory note bearing that date payable to the order of plaintiff at Brownfield, Texas, on demand, for the principal sum of $525.00 and bearing interest from its date until paid at the rate of 10 per cent per annum, providing the usual 10 per cent attorney's fee clause if placed in the hands of an attorney for collection, whereby defendant became liable and bound to plaintiff and promised plaintiff to pay him the sums of money in said note specified, together with interest and attorney's fees.

That plaintiff has placed said note in the hands of Joe J. McGowan, an attorney, and promised to pay him the 10 per cent attorney's fees specified in said note, which is the usual and customary fee.

The said note is long past due and unpaid, and defendant, though often requested, has failed and refused to pay the same or any part thereof, to plaintiff's damage in the sum of $675.00.

Wherefore plaintiff prays judgment for his debt, principal, interest and attorney's fees and costs of suit, for special and general relief, in law or in equity.

Herein fail not but have before said Court, at its aforesaid regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said Court, at office in Brownfield, Texas, on this the 2nd day of September, A. D. 1925.

Jay Barret, Clerk.

County Court, Terry County, Texas

Imagine

The statistician of a large manufacturing plant states that the time may come when historians will look back on our mechanical age as a curious freak, for he says: "Merchandising our processes undoubtedly lowers the intelligence of all who have to do with production except the experts who make the machines. It also makes possible the rapid depletion of natural resources. We are now going a mile deep for copper here in Michigan, where we used to get it from the surface. Just what our mechanical age will do to the human race is a nice problem. Among other things, the ease with which we get great quantities of natural resources converted into usable supplies appears to make possible the rapid increase of the population of the earth to a point where we seem to be reaching a state of over-crowding."

Royalty Taken Seriously

Imperial portraits are serious matters in Japan, though the incidents in connection with a certain set cannot appear other than comic to the outside world. Eight years ago copies of the portraits of the royal family disappeared from a schoolhouse near Osaka. The authorities immediately prohibited the press from mentioning the fact. Though the mystery has never been solved, the government, doubtless feeling that the danger to the public weal lurking in the episode has died with time, has lifted the censorship, and the Japanese press may now publish the fact that the portraits have disappeared.

Old City of Wales

Buried Under Sand

We are accustomed to buried cities of the East, and even in the forests of Africa one is not surprised to hear that ancient ruins have been buried in the jungle. But to find a buried city in Wales seems something of an anomaly.

Yet on the borders of Swansea bay, in the heart of a great sandhill, lies the buried city of Kenfig. There is today a village close by called Ton Kenfig. It is behind the sandhills in which the buried city lies, and from which the broken wall of a ruined tower projects to this day.

In the days of the Conqueror Kenfig was a walled city, a great commercial center, and filled with armed men. But an insidious foe—the blown sand—was always liable to break down its best defences. Year by year, bit by bit, it gained the victory, till by the time Queen Elizabeth began her reign there was little to be seen of the city except a dune and a ruined tower.

For ages tradition had it that the town was submerged by sand in a great storm, as Pompeii was overwhelmed by volcanic dust, but the chronicles of Margam abbey, which have recently been examined, make it plain that the sand encroachments lasted for many years, and that the process of burying this Welsh city was a slow one.—London Times.

Stupid Errors Made

by Great Painters

Magnificent and incomparable as was the workmanship of the old masters, as found chiefly in the churches and picture galleries of the Continent, when it came down to detail, things both ludicrous and anomalous were apt to appear. A picture is to be seen dealing with the crucifixion in which a confessor holds out a cross to the dying thief. A painting by a Dutch artist, representing the sacrifice of Isaac, is to be seen in which Abraham stands over his son holding a blunderbuss! In the National gallery, too, may be found an old-master painting, in which a saint holds a very modern-looking pair of horn-rimmed spectacles. Painters of extremely advanced views seem to delight in this sort of thing. Not long ago a picture of "The Deafie" was exhibited in London, by a student of the Slade school, in which Noah and his sons wore derby hats.—London Mail.

The Man Who Counts

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena; whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs and comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and short coming; who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows the great enthusiasms, the great devotions, spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement; and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat.—Theodore Roosevelt.

Wrong or Right

There is an old judge of the Supreme court in New York who recently in private conversation was heard to vigorously defend one of his friends who had fallen by the wayside. He was challenged for defending a man who had been proved to be wrong.

"That was only one failure," said the old judge. "Consider the fine things about him—"

"But," objected one of the critics, "I don't see how you can stand up for this fellow even if he is a friend. He certainly was wrong."

"Any man will stand up for you when you are right," replied the old judge. "But it takes a friend to stand up for you when you are wrong."

And there was silence.—Dellnestor.

Birth of Rocking Chair

Rocking chairs are commonly referred to as an American institution purely. They had their greatest development, of course, during the Nineteenth century, when they passed through the stage of makeshift rockers cut flat on top with the bottom in the form of an arc, to those which constituted an integral part of the chair, and from these to those monstrosities of furniture called patent rockers. That was the beginning of their decline, says the Boston Transcript. Rocking chairs are made now, but they are simple in construction, and the elaborate arrangements of springs and bases are known no more.

Gratifying Ambition

The ambitious person must rise early and sit up late, and pursue his design with a constant, infatigable attendance.

Reciprocity

I have observed that if a man bores me, I am pretty apt to bore him.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

Ben Franklin's Idea

House wifery is woman's noblest name.—Benjamin Franklin.

Ranger Couldn't See

Skunk as Family Pet

United States Forest Ranger Lewis Hanson of the Two Medicine valley in Glacier National park fed flapjacks all winter to a mink, a weasel, a skunk and two gray squirrels. The mink, weasel and the squirrels got so tame they ate out of his hand, but he left the skunk to wait on itself "enfeteria fashion."

Veteran trappers of the Rocky mountains declare this is the first time they ever heard of a mink or a weasel getting tame enough to eat out of a man's hand.

The incident came to official notice when Ranger Hanson kept reporting a shortage in flour rations. The chief ranger, when he discovered what Ranger Hanson was doing with his flour, was first inclined to reprimand the subordinate, but on looking over the rules and regulations, he changed his mind and allowed the extra supply.

In Uncle Sam's manual, forest rangers are instructed to be kind to animals.

Ranger Hanson's amiability has extended to more species than any other ranger has yet made pets of in the wilds of the Rockies.

"Of course, in the tourist season it's different, but during the lonely months of the long winter a fellow has a friendly feeling for anything with life in it," Ranger Hanson volunteered.

"These animals evidently felt the same way about it, for they kept hanging around my cabin door all winter, and I sure couldn't regard 'em as anything but companions of the wilds."

"But that darned skunk! I just couldn't bring myself to fondle him, although the poor devil almost wagged his tail as friendly as a dog when he approached me begging for the flapjacks which he had seen me feed to the other animals. I had to laugh at myself at times when I was almost convinced that he was sincerely friendly in the wagging of that tail."

"Once I was on the verge of giving him the hand offerings, just to show that I had no partiality for the other animals. I guess if I had had two suits of clothes I might have done it."

Decries "Junk" in Abbey

The proposal to overhaul Westminster abbey so that more of its treasures and beauties may be revealed has led C. W. R. Nevison, an English artist, to remark that the abbey is more like a department store than a church.

The opinion that some of the most beautiful things in the abbey cannot be seen because of the overcrowded memorial statuary is shared by many lovers of the historic building, including Canon Westlake, the abbey historian.

"The proper course is to get rid of some of the ecclesiastical junk at present in the abbey," Mr. Nevison said. "I think it could be cleaned out without offending anybody's susceptibilities. Ultimately many beautiful things could be discovered which cannot now be seen."—Westminster Gazette.

Odd Way to Bring Rain

Rain-making is supposedly achieved by novel methods by peasants in the Punjab. An investigator into customs and methods visited a village where it had not rained for a long time. The anxious women of the village gathered around the officer's tent and requested to be allowed to souse him with water, as they believed that the performance of such a rite would bring down rain at once. The official refused to be drenched, for two days, but he gave way on the third. Twenty pots of water were poured on the unwilling head of the official outside his tent, and after 24 hours the rain came.

Speed of Sound

The sound of thunder travels the same distance a second as any other sound. Under ordinary conditions sound travels through air in the neighborhood of 1,100 feet a second. The exact speed depends on the amount of moisture in the air.

COMMERCIAL COLLEGE NEWS

The Commercial College has been a beehive of live workers all through the summer, but work, as a general rule, always brings results. Such is this case. The first student, Mr. Porter Garrison, of Floydada, finished the last of July and is now holding a position as book-keeper for the Floyd County Lumber Co., in Quitaque, Texas. He writes that his time in taking the course was well spent. He said it was a pleasure to take the course and he had no trouble in securing a position.

On the 7th of August two more promising young men of excellent ability finished their work and were presented with diplomas. The stenographic course was completed by Mr. Herbert Neill, and the commercial course by Mr. Chester Bilbo. These young men are both of Brownfield.

Three young ladies have also completed their courses. Miss Lena Betenbough, of Brownfield, Miss Mildred Crawford, of Spearman, and Miss Golda Walls, of Lamesa, all having completed the secretarial course.

There are several more who are reaching their goal and will be walking down the path of success with the rest at an early date.

THE TERRY COUNTY HERALD
 Brownfield, Texas
 A. J. STRICKLIN, Editor and Prop.
 Subscription Rate
 In Terry and Yoakum Counties
 per year $1.00
 Anywhere else in U. S. A. $1.50

The Lubbock Avalanche came out Monday morning with its first Monday issue, and so far as we know is the only daily this side of Wichita Falls in Texas that published a seven day daily, which we consider is not only a distinction for Lubbock and the Avalanches, but the South Plains as well. The Herald takes this time and space to congratulate the Avalanche Publishing Co., on this their latest forward move for the advancement of Lubbock and the great south Plains section.

Lights boost the town. The effects of a well lighted town are many on the stranger within the gates. A story was recently told of a young Chinaman who went to a prosperous looking New England town to put in a cafe, but left next morning. When asked why he so suddenly changed his mind, his answer was quick: "As soon as dark comes, no lights," and we regard the Chinese as heathens. All honest people like bright lights; the other kind like the darkness, and we are not after them anyway. The more lights shine forth by night, the more real honest to goodness people will we attract to Brownfield.

A. J. Stricklin has been so busy the past sixteen years looking after the welfare of the Brownfield Herald that he hasn't had time to get into other means, but now has that excellent publication has acquired its majority, the Herald is going to have to get along on its own resources. We'll say it is abundantly able to do so and shouldn't be hanging on the boss' coat tails any longer. In fact, it looks to us like the Herald intends to do the decent thing by Stricklin and reciprocate by looking after him as well on the down hill side of life as he looked after it on the uphill climb.—Southwest Plainsman.

They say the rich are never punished for their crimes, but Coney Slaughter does not believe it. Coney the son of a millionaire Texas cattleman, was arrested at Denver Tuesday and will be taken to the Federal Penitentiary at Leavenworth, from which he escaped eight years ago. Coney is the son of W. B. Slaughter, now of San Antonio, but once the owner of a large ranch in the Panhandle. He spent a million dollars trying to keep his son out of the pen but failed, and now runs a small hotel in San Antonio. Coney's crime was wrecking a bank in Pueblo, Colorado. Nevertheless it is true that many rich men escape punishment for their crimes by scattering their money in the right places. It should not be so.—Henrietta Independent.

Still there is reason for the old saying that "there is nothing new under the sun," and we have come to be one of its chief disciples. Amarillo, it seems, is leaving no stone unturned to keep a big circus out of their city on the first day of the Tri-State Fair. Now this is news and real interesting to boot. Just you hark back a few short years when not only the average small boy and girl went into rapture when the big posters announcing the name and date of the coming three ring circus, but the average father took a fresh quid of tobacco and a hitch in his galluses in anticipation of the event, and mother perhaps would smile over her knitting as she thought of the funny clown who "sided" her several feet when she came in the big tent last time they were here, though neither parent would admit for a moment that they cared a whit for the circus except for the children. And now Amarillo is trying to stop the circus. Strange!

ATTAINS ITS MAJORITY

The Terry County Herald, published at Brownfield and edited by A. J. Stricklin celebrated its 21st birthday on August 14th. Mr. Stricklin modestly proclaims that fact as follows: With this issue of the Herald is 21 years of age, and, according to the laws that govern humans, is now on its own resources, and besides entitled to the ballot. And it might not be amiss for the management to state that we hope that part of the above that refers to "its own resources" may obtain, for the old girl at times during its career has almost seemed beyond the resources of both itself and its boss. It has been under the present management for the last sixteen years and while most of the time has been powerfully upheld it has been quite a pleasure also, and probably kept our mind so steadily employed that it has kept us out of other "meaness."

The Terry County Herald is one of the pioneer newspapers of the South Plains and one of the best. Its last issue was eight pages. It is typographically neat from one end to the other, carrying no advertising on the front page, and has an editorial column really worth reading and its news columns is sparkling and accurate all the way through. It is, in fact, one of the best of the smaller newspapers of the State, and one that S. P. welcomes to his desk. Congratulations to Editor Stricklin and to Terry County.—State Press in the Dallas News.

The Herald would indeed be ungrateful and unappreciative as well did it not thank one of the most popular special editors of the day, who writes for one of America's greatest journals for the above expressions of the fraternity and genuine, outspoken compliments.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

A missionary social was given at the very delightful home of Mrs. W. B. Downing on the afternoon of Aug. 26th. The following program was very much enjoyed by all:

Devotional Reading.—Lead by Mrs. A. B. Bynum.

Piano Solo: "I Need Thee Every Hour" by Elizabeth Downing.

Reading: "Bob's Girl" by Louise Watson.

Violin Solo: "Some Day We'll Understand," by Miss Larue Sawyer.

Vocal Solo: "This Heart of Mine" by Miss Ann Hamilton.

Reading: "Lockanvar," by Faye Brown.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served to about 30 ladies; the cream being compliments of the Palace Drug Store.

The missionary society plans to have these socials once a month. Come Methodist ladies and enjoy them.

We had a letter and the price for the Herald from our old friend Tom Hargus one day recently. Guess where he's located now? Wrong. He's at Hico.

The State of Texas,
 To the Sheriff or any Constable of Terry County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon Mathew Truman by making publication of this Citation for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in any newspaper published in the 106th Judicial District; but if there be no newspaper published in said Judicial District, then in a newspaper published in the nearest District to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Terry County, to be holden at the Courthouse thereof, in Brownfield, Texas, on the 3rd Monday in January, A. D. 1926, the same being the 18th day of Jan. 1926, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 20th day of August, A. D. 1925, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court number 837, where in Alberta Truman is Plaintiff and Mathew Truman is Defendant, said petition alleging: That heretofore to-wit, on the 28th day of February, A. D. 1910, plaintiff was lawfully married to the defendant as Clarksville in Red River county, Texas. That she, the plaintiff herein continued to live with this defendant as his lawfully wedded wife until the 1st day of November, 1912, when she was forced by studied vexations and abuse and non-support forced to leave said defendant, that she has not lived with this defendant for 10 years, and has never seen him, and does not at this time know his whereabouts. That she is and has been a resident citizen of the State of Texas all her life, and for the past six months a resident of Terry County, Texas.

Wherefore she prays that the bonds of matrimony heretofore existing be severed, for which in duty bound she will ever pray.
 Herein fail not but have before said Court, at its aforesaid regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said Court, at office in Brownfield, Texas, on this 20th day of August, A. D. 1925.

1000 THEATRES JOIN IN MOVEMENT FOR BETTER FILMS

Confident that the public will support the best in screen entertainment the most progressive theatre owners in this territory have joined the national movement to celebrate Paramount Week, Sept. 10th to 13th, when 8,000 theatres throughout the country will unite in exhibiting Paramount pictures exclusively.

It is significant that the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation has chosen newspapers almost exclusively to advertise Paramount Week. Coming as it does just after the opening of the Greater Movie Season, it will be on this, its eighth annual year, be more widespread and popular than ever.

The past seven years has proved Paramount week not only a prosperous one for the exhibitors but it now is recognized as a national movement giving prestige with those theatres identifying themselves with the movement.

To send the week off to a flying start the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation is advertising in 3500 newspapers throughout the country, and including both daily and weekly, and the sum spent is one of the largest ever spent by any one corporation in American newspapers in a single day.

It is only within the past few years that Paramount has included weekly papers in its list, and it is recognized as a tribute to the power of the rural press.

A strong bid for continued popularity among the movie goers was made by Paramount during the past year when that company released such pictures as "The Covered Wagon," "Thundering Herd," "The Ten Commandments," "Manhandled," "Monsieur Beaucaire," "Merton of the Movies," "North of 36," "Peter Pan," and many others of equal note.

And the company has in store for early release such pictures as are certain to keep Paramount out in front in public interest. The include "That Royle Girl" and other productions directed by the noted D. W. Griffith; comedies with Harold Lloyd starring; comedies with Douglas MacLean starring; "A Beggar on Horseback," a James Cruze production; "The Pony Express," another Cruze masterpiece.

It is in this latter picture that Vice-President Dawes became so enthusiastic about when he saw it being filmed, and he suggested showing it to President Coolidge when completed.

Gloria Swanson will be seen in "The Coast of Folly" and "Stage Struck." Thomas Meighan in a picture in Sing Sing prison, "The Man Who Found Himself," and also one now being made in Ireland.

Pola Negri will be seen in one of Joseph Hergesheimer's stories, "Flower of the Night." Betty Bronson will repeat herself in "Peter Pan" of last year with a new Barrie picture, "A Kiss for Cinderella," taken from the stage play of that name.

Joseph Conrad's masterpiece "Lord Jim," will be filmed with Percy Marmont in the title role.

Those are a few of the coming pictures.

Paramount Week has come to have considerable importance to the motion picture industry as well as the publishers of the country. The latter gain not only the special advertising by the company, but increased linkage by the exhibitors. The industry recognizes the Week as the commencement of a new season for motion pictures.

The complete list of Paramount's "Greater Forty" to be released during the coming season follows:

"Night Life of a New Yorker"; "In the Name of Love" with Greta Nissen, Wallace Beery and others; "The Lucky Devil," with Richard Dix; "Rugged Water"; "Begger on Horseback"; "The Street of Forgotten Men"; "Wild Susan" with Bebe Daniels; "Not so Long Ago," starring Betty Bronson; "Wild Horse Mesa" the Zane Grey story; "The Coast of Folly" with Gloria Swanson; "A Son of His Father" from the Harold Bell Wright story; "Trouble With Wives," with Florence Vidor, Tom Moore, Ford Sterling and others, and a number of others equally as good with the usual Paramount stars.

In conversation with W. H. Collins, owner and manager of one of the South Plains' leading dry good stores this week, we asked him if he bought very heavily in the dry goods markets while away recently and he replied quickly and in his characteristic way: "Sure I bought lots of fall good. Even if we should have had a crop failure, people must wear clothes, and are going to wear nice clothes too. As it is we are having promise of good crops and we anticipate heavy sales this season."

Mr. and Mrs. Pegues, of Odessa, were here last week visiting in the home of Mrs. Pegues' parents, Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Bell.

We are glad to report Mrs. M. C. Bell, who recently underwent an operation at Lamesa, improving.

THE PENCIL MAKES A FARM PAY BETTER

Farm Accounting Reveals Losing Methods and Points Way to Bigger Profits.

(From Banker-Farmer)

A farm cannot properly be called successful unless it pays a fair rate of interest on the investment and returns fair wages for the farmer's labor. Agriculture is considered by all odds the most important industry in the world, and yet in no other industry is the business end so neglected.

It is common to find a farmer with an investment of fifteen to twenty thousand dollars, yet does he keep books? Perhaps he may jot down a note now and then of an important deal, but this is of no value in an analysis of his business as a whole. No other industry, however small, is carried on without books of some sort.

Farming is a business and to be successful must be conducted in a businesslike way. The business man's mind should have indelibly printed upon it two questions: What profit is my business making? How can that profit be increased? To know the latter, one must find out the former; and to find out about profits requires the keeping of books.

It is not necessary for a farmer to have a course in bookkeeping. Almost every agricultural college in the country has issued a simplified farm accounting book which it sells at cost, and only a few minutes are required each day to jot down the day's happenings.

Accounts Increase Profits

Instances number a thousandfold where farmers have profited by knowing their business. Accounts kept by nineteen farmers in Illinois led them to improve the organization and operation of their farms in ways that added approximately $650 to their average net income in 1922, the seventh year they had kept accounts.

An Iowa farmer found at the end of the first year he kept books that crop fed to livestock brought more money than when sold outright. His figures showed that his cows were poor, compared with other farms in the state, he found the number of acres cultivated per man on his farm, as well as the number of acres per horse were below average. He rented more land and replanted his fields, so that the crop areas per man and horse were increased. He sold some of his scrub and bought good cows.

The second year his income from the farm, after paying all expenses and interest on the money invested, had been increased over $250.

Costs Can Be Regulated

"I have discovered," says one farm bookkeeper, "that the kind of man you have on a job, as well as the particular team, often makes quite a variation in the cost of performing certain tasks. I have learned from the pages of my book that if I could have increased the yield of my wheat field by two bushels and my corn by five bushels I would have realized a substantial profit from them."

While the farmers may not be able to fix prices on their products, they do have a voice in determining the costs of production. To reduce this cost they must first know what the costs are.

The number of farmers who are keeping books on their business has increased remarkably in recent years, but the number of businesslike farmers is woefully small when listed alongside the sum total of the farmers in the country.

Inventory is Indispensable

The basis of any system of farm accounting is the annual property list or inventory. It is the starting point of the farm records. One must take into consideration decreases or increases in the value of all property owned to gauge the progress of the business. Lacking facts as to the value of his property, no business man can form an accurate estimate of how he stands financially. Increased cash may be due to property which was sold, or increased debts may be due to improvements made. If a farmer is falling behind, the inventory will emphasize this fact. Often when a man is discouraged and thinks he is making no progress, his inventories will tell him that he is better off than he thought.

At the end of each year a financial statement is drawn off. This is the farmer's rating and no farmer with a good financial statement need fear walking into a bank and asking for a loan.

BANKERS HELP

A bank in Monrovia, Ind., tests seed corn for farmers. A basement room was fitted out last season for the purpose and 25,000 ears were tested for fifty-six farmers. One-fourth of the seed tested last year was unfit for seed. This year the percentage will run even higher. The work is done under the supervision of the high school agricultural teacher. He reports that the community will have a surplus of seed corn this year.

The banks of Conway, Ark., have offered prizes for the most marketable sweet potatoes produced on one acre of land. A first prize of $150 is offered, along with three district prizes of $50 each. The county agent and the banks are working out the details.

The County Bankers Association will help to employ a full time county leader this year for boys' and girls' club work in Calhoun, Cherokee and Boone Vista counties, Iowa.

ANTIEVOLUTION RESOLUTION BY MEADOW BAPTISTS

Whereas, there is being taught far and near a certain thing called evolution; and

Whereas evolution is being as an explanation of the creation, or as a working hypothesis in direct contradiction of the creation account in the book of Genesis; and

Whereas, such teaching is certain to undermine the faith of our people; to destroy the proper reverence for God and the Bible; to create a spirit of carelessness and crime; to lower the standard of morals among the people; and to promote immorality among the youth of our land; and

Whereas, such teaching has not been, and we believe, can not be established as a fact of science; and

Whereas, its most ardent supporters offer as proof of the genuineness of the teaching and only ridicule and scorn for those not in sympathy with the soul-damning and life blighting doctrine; and

Whereas, there is absolute necessity for God's people to declare themselves against the teaching of evolution; Therefore be it resolved,

By the First Baptist Church of Meadow, Texas, in conference, August 15th, 1925;

(1) That we express and declare our faith and confidence in the Genesis account of creation; that it was the direct act of God from the lowest to the highest form of creation and it was not by any process of evolution,

(2) That we declare our open opposition to this or any other doctrine or teaching not in harmony with the word of God,

(3) That we register our protest against the teaching of evolution in our tax-supported schools,

(4) That we urge the presidents and trustees of our own denominational schools where evolution may be taught, to immediately and without ceremony, or delay, to dismiss the teaching force of such institutions, and all teachers, teaching evolution,

(5) That this resolution be made a part of the record of this church, and that a copy of it be sent to the Meadow Review and the Brownfield Herald and the West Texas Baptist.

Women of Solomon Islands Fade Early

In their youth, the women of the Solomon Islands are slender and graceful. However, they are like certain flowers, they blossom early and very soon fade. They marry sometimes before they are in their teens and become prematurely old from the drudgery of the day's labor—bringing up babies, tending gardens, making mats and pottery. Their dress consists of a fringe of hemp-fiber; or, where the white man's influence has penetrated, of a skirt of calico, called "lava-lava." The figures on the imported cloth occasionally suggest new designs for ornaments or pottery made by a native artist, who adapts them to his own best needs. By the help of a sling thrown over her shoulder, a young mother from the island of Malatta carries with ease her sturdy, healthy babies, one on each hip. Though unclothed, they wear necklaces and anklets. Children are usually carried in this fashion until they are three or older, despite their weight. Like the men, a woman prepares for the delights of smoking in some chance hour of rest by tucking her clay pipe and perhaps her tobacco and match-box into the pocket formed by her tight armband.

When Greeley Proved He Was No Minister

Most people know Girard college, if they know it at all, for its stringent rule that no clergyman shall ever enter its gate. Whenever the institution is open a guard stands at that entrance, and his one question is, "Are you a preacher?" Long ago Horace Greeley, with his usual white tie and angelic smile, stood at that gate. "You can't come in here!" exclaimed the guard.

"Why not?" queried Greeley humbly. "Because you are a clergyman." "The h—l I am!" blurted out Greeley.

"Excuse me, sir," stammered the guard, "come right in." It was not prejudice against clergymen that caused Stephen Girard to make that law, but rather his desire that the boys should not be confused by denominational controversy, and that "on their entrance into active life they may adopt such religious tenets as their matured reason may enable them to prefer."—Carl Holliday in American Mutual Magazine.

T. R.'s Three Speeches

Sir William Reach Thomas, English war correspondent, in his book, "A Traveler in News," tells the following anecdote about Colonel Roosevelt, whom he met in the United States: "Whether or no he possessed a great brain may be debated, but I never met a man who had so much control over his mental processes. A friend told me that he had heard him address a crowd in the open air on a windy day. Only those toward whom he turned could catch what he said; so he spoke three speeches—one to those on the left, one to the center, one to the right. The three speeches were different and were given in alternate sentences; but he managed the triple feat without confusion, without pausing for a word or thought.

Old Army Punishment

The expression "running the gantlet" meaning to suffer ill treatment at many hands, is derived from a form of military punishment once in vogue, in which the culprit, stripped to the waist, was obliged to run repeatedly between two lines of soldiers facing inward, each one of whom struck at him with a short stick or switch. The custom is said to have originated in the "Thirty Years' War," (1618-1648) and to have been adopted by the European armies as a mode of punishment. The word "gantlet" does not derive from the iron glove, but from the Swedish word gatlopp, meaning "a running down a lane."—Exchange.

Variation in Story

Leon Bloy, to whose memory a monument has been erected in France, was a deep student of ingratitude. One day a lady asked him if the children of this era were usually ingrate. "Yes, madame. Allow me to tell you a story. There was a young villager who wanted to leave the parental roof, and who pestered his father into dividing up the family live stock and giving him his share—" "I know that story," interrupted the lady. "It is the parable of the Prodigal Son. Subsequently he returned, repentant, to his father's home." "No, madame," said Bloy. "In my story it is the pigs that return."

First Egyptian King

According to Greek authors, as well as according to the Egyptian list of kings, the first king who ruled over the Nile valley was Menes, called Mena in Egyptian. His family came from Teni, a spot in middle Egypt, which formed a certain religious center of the kingdom down to a late period. Menes was the founder of the so-called first dynasty of Egypt (4400-4133 B. C.) Tradition represents him as the builder of the great city of Memphis.

Artist Scored a Point

"Well, old man," said the artist, "what did you think of that latest picture of mine? I should like to have your candid opinion." "My dear fellow, it's absolutely worthless!" replied the critic. "Yes, yes. I know that, but I should like to hear it all the same."

CHINA AS A NATION HAS LONG HISTORY

Records Date Back More Than 100,000 Years.

The history of the Chinese is certainly interesting. At what period they first settled the country that they now occupy is not known with any certainty, but their traditions give them an antiquity of more than 100,000 years prior to their half-authentic history which goes back fifty-five centuries or more. So the Chinese were living in the valleys of the Hwang-ho and Yang-tze rivers long before the last extension of the polar caps.

At first they probably lived in caves along the river banks, spreading gradually along the banks of the tributaries and thus the people of the two rivers would have met and blended into one nation. Living on the rivers, the Chinese would have learned the art of navigation early, and large sailing canoes in all probability were cruising up and down the rivers and coasts of China and making voyages to Korea, and perhaps Japan, as early as 50,000 or 60,000 years ago. At that time many animals that are now extinct were living. Chinese history, though it dates back upward of 5,500 years, is not much to be depended upon till some ten centuries later, for like all ancient peoples, their early history is, of course, purely mythical.

Among the many discoveries and inventions of the Chinese might be mentioned the discovery of the seasons of the year, during the reign of the emperor (or hoang, as the Chinese called their ruler) Fu-hi, who, it is said, also taught his people how to raise cattle, and writing and introduced marriage among them. Fu-hi reigned about 5,800 years ago. He was succeeded by Shin-nung during whose reign medicine was first made and agricultural tools were improved. Before 2357 B. C. waterclocks, wheeled vehicles, improved weapons, musical instruments, and junks had been invented, and polygamy and schools had been established. The Emperor Yau built roads and canals. The compass was invented in 1115 B. C. and engraving in 1000 B. C. and gunpowder, fireworks, firecrackers, which they used extensively at celebrations, etc., and also in battle to frighten horses, etc., and repeating crossbows and printing, etc.

As is well known, the great wall of China is the greatest defensive work ever erected by man. It is probable that if the wall was lit up by powerful searchlights from one end to the other, the lights would be visible to the inhabitants of Mars, presuming, of course, that there are intelligent beings on that planet. The Chinese did not invent guns or cannon of any kind; cannon were invented by the Arabs in the twelfth century, though a doubtful authority claims they were used at the siege of Belgrade in 1073 of the present era. The Mohammedans, however, used cannon in India in 1200 and Genghis Khan had artillery at the siege of Tsalchow, China, and it is also said that he had cannon at the storming of Yenking, now Peking, China, in 1215, but this is doubtful. Though the Chinese did not invent either guns or cannon of any kind, they nevertheless were the first people to propel missiles with gunpowder, for during the reign of the Emperor Fu-tsu, in 969 of the present era, the Chinese attached rockets to their arrows, both to make them go farther and for incendiary purposes, so the idea of artillery, as well as the invention of gunpowder, is justly due to them.—Adventure Magazine.

Hair Dryer Starts Motors

During damp weather and after periods of idleness it was found difficult to start the motors of the seaplanes on the battleship Maryland. Somebody on board the vessel thought of a novel scheme to remedy this difficulty, according to a report by the vessel to the bureau of aeronautics. A hair dryer and a carbon lamp were used. The carbon lamp is secured alongside each magneto and is kept lighted while the plane is fastened to the catapult. When the plane is ready to be flown the hair dryer is used on the spark plugs and the exposed ends of ignition wires. It works fine, says the report.—Pathfinder Magazine.

The Critic's Pun

Frank Harris, the novelist and critic, spent the winter on the Riviera, and one day on the Promenade des Anglais in Nice a rich young poet accosted him.

The poet, who belongs to the new expressionist school—he has leanings besides toward diabolism, dadaism and drollism—said with a smile of tremendous self-assurance.

"Ah, good morning, Mr. Harris. What did you think of the volume of poems I sent you last week?"

The critic laughed and answered in his melodious bass voice:

"So bad it couldn't be verse."

Horse to Live in History

The skeleton of the famous racehorse, Tracery, bred by August Belmont at Lexington, Ky., has been presented to the Yorkshire Philosophical society and is now exhibited in that society's museum at York, England. Tracery won nearly $100,000 in stakes during his racing career. He was sold in 1920 to Senor Unzuu of Buenos Aires for $265,000, the largest sum ever paid for a racehorse. He was taken back to England in July, 1923, and died at the Cobham stud, Surrey, four months later.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS OF MOTORING

First: Drive to the right side of the road; its just as good as the left.
Second: Slow down when approaching a cross road; it is nearly as dangerous as railroad crossings.
Third: Look out for children. You can never tell what they will do, and you are always in the wrong if you hit one.

Fourth: Try to help instead of hinder the traffic officer; he is there for your good and he's got a tough job.

Fifth: Be sure your "dimmers" really dim; it's now joke driving into a blinding glare as you probably already know.

Sixth: Read and obey the warning signs; they are not put up as ornaments.

Seventh: If you feel you've got to speed—do it where it will not kill anybody but yourself.

Eighth: When making minor repairs, stop where your car may be seen from both directions, otherwise you may stop longer than you anticipated.

Ninth: Speeding around corners is a straight route to the hospital.

Don't race past a stopped street car. Some day the jury will call it manslaughter.

Tenth: Use discretion. The fact that you have the right of way won't bring anybody back to life, least of all yourself.—The Nation's Highway, (Okla.)

NEWSPAPER ETHICS

Physicians have their iron-clad code of ethics and so do members of the bar and men in other professions.

Although it is not generally known to laymen, newspapers and newspapermen have just as iron-bound ethics as any other professional men.

Recently the Association of Southern Newspaper Publishers held their annual conclave and adopted a new and official set of ethics. The code adopted read as follows:

"A newspaper's first duty is to print the news honestly and fairly to all, unbiased by any other consideration, even including its own editorial opinion.

"Its second duty is to construe honestly and fairly in its editorial columns, happenings at home and also abroad, that the people may realize their full benefit under a republic and require of public officials faithful performance of the duties entrusted to them as servants of the people. It must protect its readers in so far as may be possible, from evil influences in public life and from dishonest or misguided persons, who, thru their own advertising columns, might seek to exploit or mislead its readers.

"Last, its duty to itself, and its stockholders; for unless a fair return to their investment is yielded, the publication must cease, and with it, its opportunity to be of service to the public."

This code seems to be a fair one to the newspaper publishers and the public, which is the first regard of all publications rightfully conducted. Other businesses might as well adopt and adhere to similar codes of ethics. —Plains Journal.

Zambesi Falls Called Inferior to Niagara

The Victoria falls are located on the Zambesi river, in Rhodesia. They are more than twice the height and somewhat wider than Niagara falls. The native name is Masi-on-tun-ya—"Thundering Smoke" or "Smoke Does Sound Here."

The Zambesi, one of the four great rivers of Africa, is more than 1,500 miles in length and carries an enormous volume of water, so that the falls are a magnificent spectacle at any time of the year. But this volume of water is not as great as that which pours out of our lakes, and it is in this respect that the Victoria falls are inferior to Niagara.

The African cataract is divided by islands so that it forms four falls, two wide and two narrow. Near the right bank of the Zambesi is the Leaping Water, a fall 108 feet wide; then Boaruka island; then the main fall, 1,419 feet wide; then Livingstone island; then the Rainbow fall, 1,605 feet wide; then another island; and finally the Eastern cataract, which resembles the Leaping Water.

The Victoria falls occur where the Zambesi is at its widest. They fall over an edge which is almost vertical, but instead of falling into an open basin as Niagara does, they drop into a chasm the opposite wall of which is only 80 by 240 feet away. The outlet of all this water is a gorge 300 feet wide, which leads a little farther on into a Grand canyon 40 miles long.

The falls were discovered by David Livingstone on November 17, 1855. They are on the route of the Cape-to-Cairo railway, and a bridge 650 feet long has been constructed across the canyon some distance below the falls.

Colors on the Screen

For two hot hours recently, says the London Daily Mail, a large audience sat in darkness in Queen's hall, Langhame place, while Thomas Wilfred demonstrated his invention, the clavilux.

Before the screen was a boxlike apparatus divided into four sections, each containing a number of keys. The performer, by merging basic colors, blue, green and red, obtained beautiful shades and designs, also "building up" scenes resembling all-houettes, save that coloring was the basis of the pictures.

He then merged the blue, green and red shades upon the screen, which appeared purely white, but, walking between the instrument and the screen, he "broke the continuity" of the scheme and the separate colors could be seen reflected.

Treatment of Flax

Flax was ordered to be grown in England by statute passed in 1533 in the reign of Henry VIII. For many years the core of the flax plant was separated from the bark by hand. A mallet was next used, and then a water mill was invented in Scotland about the year 1750.

Detroit, Mich., owes its name to the fact that it is situated on the west bank of a strait connecting Lake St. Clair with Lake Erie. For this reason it was called city "of the strait" (French, d'etroit).

JIM SAYS "MA" MAY DO THE RUNNING NEXT YEAR

Dallas, Aug. 31.—Defending the pardoning policy of Governor M. A. Ferguson, ex-governor James E. Ferguson indicated in any interview here today that Mrs. Ferguson would make the race for re-election if her administration is bitterly attacked. When asked if he or his wife would make the race, if either, the former governor stated that Mrs. Ferguson would make the race if a Ferguson ran for the office.

"Mrs. Ferguson is entitled to a second term" he said it may be that we will finish our work by the end of the present term. But, if there is any amount of opposition to her and signs of an attack on her administration she will be a candidate for re-election.

The woman governor's acts of clemency now amount to 859, of which 529 are pardons.

Ferguson reiterated the statement he had made several times previously that if Mrs. Ferguson's critics knew the facts surrounding the cases in which convicts were being freed, they would feel different about it.

The governor's chief advisor also stated that there would be no special session of the legislature to consider drought relief measures or anything else. He said that the 200,000 bushels of cotton seed the prison commission would sell to drought stricken farmers in Central Texas would plant 400,000 acres, and give some relief. The legislature could not appropriate relief for them for the constitutional limit for taxation had already been reached, he said.

Assuredly He Wasn't

A famous female screen star recently declared that too much was being written about the alleged conceit of the movie actresses. She said that in her experience the men were worse in that way than the women. "For example," she explained, "an actress friend of mine was lunching with a male movie star the other day. 'Isn't it a pity,' she said to him, 'that handsome men are always so conceited?' 'Not always, little girl; I'm not.'"

Home-Town Opinion

It would take the dynamite kick of a mad Georgia mule to make some men to rise in the world; and even at that, they'll growl because they wouldn't have time to pick a soft place to fall; and if they were able to catch hold of a rainbow up yonder, it would break all to pieces with their dead weight, and they'd come tumbling pronisious!—Atlanta Constitution.

TEXAS THE GREATEST STATE IN MANY RESPECTS

Some interesting facts about Texas: Land area 262,398 square miles—one fourth larger than France, one-half larger than Germany, twice as large as the United Kingdom; equal in size to all the states of New England, plus New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Ohio and Illinois. Room for all the people of the United States of whom it now has a few more than 5,000,000, or 1-22 of the nation's population.

Is a million dollar state in at least two lines—in manufacture and agriculture.

First in exports of all the states, with a total last year of $737,218,000.

Last year Texas raised $1,064,773,600 worth of farm crops on 33,000,000 acres of land. It has more than 100 million acres of prime agricultural land that has never felt a plow.

Last year in addition to the billion dollar crop, it produced $120,000,000 worth of livestock, $58,500,000 worth of poultry and eggs; $33,000,000 worth of dairy products; $15,500,000 worth of wool and mohair; $268,000,000 worth of minerals and $50,000,000 worth of lumber.

Tarrant county is the state's banner manufacturing county, producing upwards of $155,000,000 worth a year, as shown by the 1920 census, well in advance of its nearest competitors, which are in the order named, Dallas, Harris and Bexar.

These figures are to stimulate the imagination. A state numbering 20 million souls and a ten fold increase in production all around is one of the certain prospects of the near future. —Star-Telegram.

A DELIGHTFUL PARTY

A delightful party was given by Misses Avis McGee and Grace Hulse at the home of the former, honoring Mr. Romie Stewart of Dallas, who was here at that time visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Stewart.

Stunts and games were the diversions of the evening. Those enjoying the refreshments of watermelon besides the hostesses were, Misses Lorena Copeland, Mauryne Weathersby, Ruth and Lera Welch, Rowena Hulse, Lela Duke, Belle Williamson and Opal McGee; Messrs. Floyd Fry, Brogan Dodd, Romie Stewart and Andrew Castleberry.

LUBBOCK MAN SHOT IN WHISKEY RAID

Lubbock, Aug. 29.—One man is in jail, another in the West Texas Hospital suffering of wounds inflicted by an officer's gun, and three gallons of whiskey has been added to Sheriff Johnston's "evidence stock," as a result of a raid made on the two men by Deputy Sheriff Vernice Ford and other officers of the sheriff's force in the south edge of the city late Saturday night.

Rodgers, a man of about 25 years of age, was shot in the right shoulder with a shot gun loaded with bird shot, as he attempted to escape from the officers as they made the arrest, according to information gathered by the Avalanche.

The other man, R. E. Rodgers is confined in the county jail here. Reports from the West Texas Hospital are that the wounded man's condition is not serious.

Bond for the two men has not been set, but County Attorney McWhorter stated late Sunday that the State is ready to grant examining trial and grant their bond.

MEADOW BRIEFS

The past week has been very quiet in our burg. Most of the people have been resting and sleeping trying to catch up with that lost during the meetings of the past month.

Crops continue to look fine and but for the probability of the leaf worm us farmers would indeed be happy. In many places they have already begun operations and a few have been asking for poison. No time should be lost where they show in many parts of the field.

The little child of Sheriff Ellington was buried here Sunday afternoon, and Mr. Fletcher late Monday evening. He was well along in years and had raised a large family. Some two years ago he was badly injured by a runaway team, breaking a leg and otherwise injuring him.

The businesses of Meadow took a trip Monday over the roads with a view of opening certain roads. They report success. Meadow like all towns needs roads and the better they are the greater their usefulness. The teachers are away this week at the institute, and school has been suspended in the interval.

MULLICAN AN McGUIRE TO EXCHANGE BENCHES

District Judge Clark M. Mullican returned to his home here early Saturday from Brownfield, where he spent Friday up orders for a special venire for the trial of an important criminal case docketed in the new 10th Judicial District, of which Gordon B. McGuire is judge.

On Monday September 14th, according to plans just instituted, Mullican will preside over the 106th Judicial District Court in a case which McGuire is disqualified, while McGuire will preside over the 72nd Judicial District Court here.

McGuire is remembered for the long and faithful service rendered by him as District Attorney of the 72nd Judicial District.

A LITTLE WILD WEST STUFF GIVES HUBBY FREEDOM

Floyd Barnett and Miss Winnie McArthur, of Spur, Texas, were married last Sunday and the young men of Spur took the groom and chained him up to a telephone pole and left him there.

In the afternoon the bride secured a six gun and some blanks and went in on the bunch and after firing a couple of times, the boys not knowing the difference, hurriedly turned him free and fled the scene. After which the bride and groom came to Jayton and spent the night at the Garnett house where they were unmolested, and returned to Spur Monday A. M. —Jayton Chronicle.

"MORBUS SUNDACUS"

Not a new but a very dangerous disease. Once it attacks a member of the family it quickly spreads to the other members and soon to others in the community.

Each victim become a fault finder, a preacher killer, a grumbler, a pessimist, and unless the progress of the disease is arrested, a doubter.

Cure: Arise early Sunday morning, take a cold shower, and accompany the rest of the family to church. Do it every week and the disease will disappear.—The Primitive Christian.

Mr. Souther, formerly of this place, but now of Oklahoma City, is here visiting his relatives, the T. J. Price family. He reports that crops and grass look awfully good to him here.
