Now that everybody is getting July the 4th off their minds, we would like to suggest that the next big event that Friona area folks start thinking and talking about is our 50th anniversary.

People are perking up a bit about things in general, the showers and slightly improved farming conditions having something to do with this, and we are convinced that the interest in such a celebration would be heavy.

Right now is the time to begin to lay groundwork for this event—because the first thing you know, school time will be with us again, and with all the running around that early fall brings, we won't know what we're doing. Besides, it would be too late to start anything then anyhow.

How does this sound: A full day's program, complete with a big barbecue, a big name speaker, plenty of game and sideline entertainment, and lots of emphasis on the old timers who would gather to once again live the early days of Friona?

Will it work? Can it be done?

We are sounding out some folks up and down the street to obtain their views. A letter received recently from a former resident helps generate interest, too. It's from J. W. Callaway, Montgomery City, Mo., and is as follows: "Myself and my brother, Grover, worked in Texas 50 years ago with a surveying party which laid out town sites and sectioned several hundred thousand acres of XIT lands.

My work was at Friona, and Grover's mostly at Springlake where he helped stake out the town of Springlake and survey and mark section corners over 150,000 acres.

I worked from Friona north into the breaks, across the Amarillo-Tucumcari Trail, which is now U. S. Highway 66, which took us across Deaf Smith County and into Oldham County about 1 1/2 miles.

That was the Escarbador Division, and took about eight months to survey and mark, and we also laid out a town site 20 miles north of Friona which was named Kelso. I abandoned a long time ago, I understand.

We also surveyed a large tract, part of the Star Ranch, about 25 miles southeast of Friona. Between surveying jobs, I worked at carpentry and helped build the fourth, fifth, and sixth buildings in Frio, which was the town's first name from the Frio Draw.

When enough of us were here, and we had to go to Hereford for our mail, we petitioned the Post Office Department for a P. O. of our own, but there was at that time another Frio post office in Texas, so we added "na" to the Friona and got our office.

When I left Texas in 1907 there were eight buildings, if I remember correctly. I never heard from there after I came home, until the autumn of 1952 when I saw in Country Gentleman magazine a short letter from Mrs. Jim Baxter, Friona, Texas.

That started something. She didn't invite correspondence, but she had something I wanted: information. Had my town grown up? Had the country developed as a farming success?

I had given her the names of about a dozen men I had worked with in 1906 and 1907, and she had The Star publish my letter, thinking someone might remember me and write. No one did, but one man wrote from California, also sending me the copy of The Friona Star containing my letter to Mrs. Baxter.

Mrs. Baxter also wrote me a nice letter, and Mrs. Ralph Wilson also wrote and sent several copies of The Star. Both said I would have to see the city and the country to believe the information they wrote. After the exchange of a number of letters, all urging us to come see for ourselves the changes, my Texas fever had reached the point where it was "Texas or Bust."

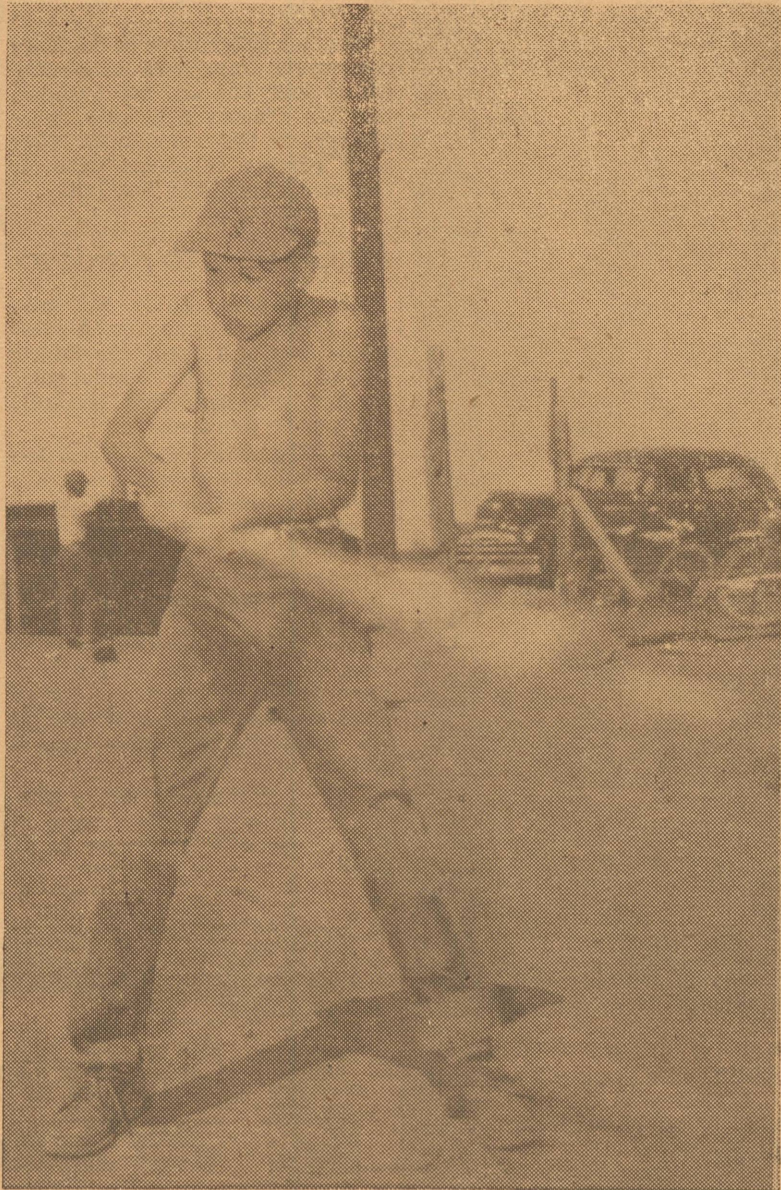

So, in August of 1954, my brother and his wife and I went down to see, and did we see. Those two ladies could not have made us believe the country was so productive, or the city was so grown up, so lovely, and so modern.

And I see by The Star there are more improvements going on all the time.

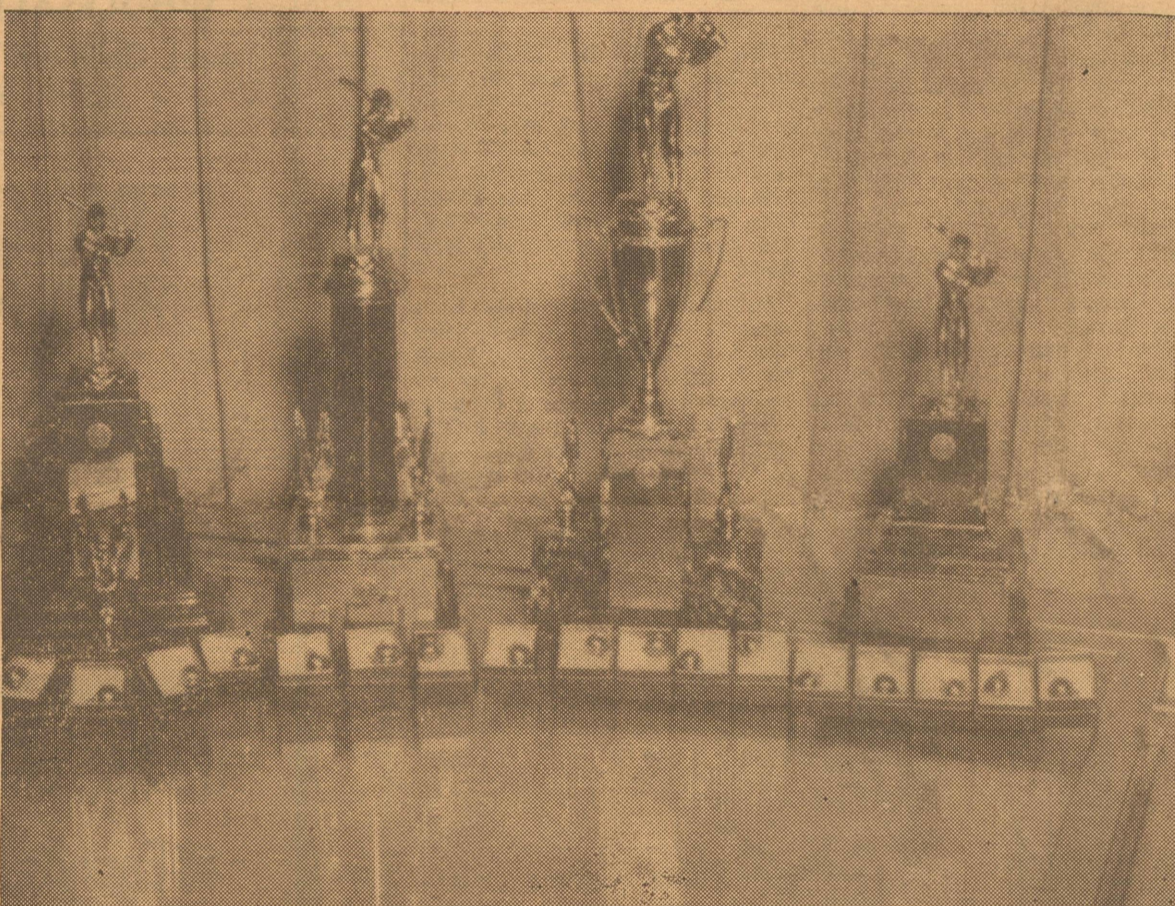

We bet that Mr. Callaway would be tickled to come back and help Friona celebrate its 50th anniversary.

Are you always surprised at how rapidly those once-a-year talks between the steel mills and the workers seem to come up? We are.

SWING, BROTHER—Glen Herring takes a hefty cut at a pitch from Coach Joe Means in a practice Little League session. The 11-year-old batter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Herring, and he plays on the Reeve Chevrolet team. Friona youngsters have gotten a big kick out of the summer recreation program this year.

LOOK HERE, KIDS—These trophies for Pony and Little League baseball are being eyed by lots of Friona youngsters these days. Sponsored by the Friona American Legion, the shiny prizes will be awarded at the season's end. On the left is the second place trophy. Second in line is the best all-around player's trophy, and then is the trophy for first place. Those three are for Little League participants. The trophy at the right is the Pony League revolving trophy. Individual gold baseballs go to team members of the two first place teams.

Commissioners Give Raises To Employees of Friona

Salaries of city employees were raised a total of $130 a month in action taken by Friona's city commission Monday night. Acting on the recommendations of City Clerk Roy Wilson, they approved the following salary scale:

A. M. Hollis, from $235 to $250 per month; Clyde Fields, from $235 to $285 per month; E. E. Sparkman, from $235 to $240 per month; and Elda Hart, from $240 to $260 per month.

Then Mayor A. W. Anthony and Commissioners J. L. Marcum and J. G. McFarland voluntarily approved raises for Wilson from $370 to $400 per month; and for Police Marshall Jim Roberts from $175 to $185 per month.

Salaries usually come up for consideration by the city twice yearly. Vic Krueger was present at the meeting and indicated to the commission that he will soon have ready for action a petition he has been circulating which calls for a change in city government. The petition—which is the second one on the same subject, the first having been termed legally invalid—now has 124 signatures, according to the Friona cafe operator, "and we are shooting for 198," he said.

Outside of Krueger's mentioning that he expected to soon return with the instrument which calls for an election to name two additional commissioners, the subject resulted in little discussion. Clerk Wilson read a letter from District Highway Engineer S. C. McCarty of Lubbock indicating the state is willing to allow the city to curb and gutter Fifth Street. (See story elsewhere in this week's Star.)

Another important matter on which the commission passed was to order that an ordinance to restrict transient peddlers be drawn and enforced in Friona.

This ordinance—which would replace one already in effect for the city, but which City Attorney Bill Sheehan suspects might be unenforceable—is modeled after a (Continued On Last Page)

Farm prices are down. Costs of producing farm products are, in most cases, up. The farming outlook on the High Plains—as well as the rest of the nation—is considerably dimmer than two years ago. What does this mean to Friona businesses, and how has it affected the volume of their trade? A spot check by The Star this week with Friona State Bank and businesses shows a decided recovery or "bounce-back" from the "recession blues" that were the talk of the country about the first of the year. Agriculture, the dominant industry of the Friona area, appears to be forging ahead in spite of its difficulties if the business barometers of the town mean anything. Though down slightly from the report issued a year ago, the statement of condition at the local bank is healthier than that published 12 months back, says Charles Allen, cashier. Total resources are $2,749,619, as compared with $2,878,787.70 a year ago. However, the key statistics

Primary Absentee Voting Starts Monday

Absentee voting for the July 28th Primary will begin Monday, July 9, and continue through July 24th, Hugh Moseley, county clerk announced this week. Actually the date is July 8, but since it falls on Sunday, it will not begin until Monday, Moseley says. Applications for absentee ballots may be obtained at the clerk's office.

Gabe Anderson, Democratic chairman of Parmer County, announced the names that will appear on the ballot. Local, county, and district races will include: For Commissioner, Precinct No. 1: Forrest W. Osborn, re-election; E. R. Day Sr., A. L. Carlton, and E. G. Phipps. Commissioner, Precinct No. 3—J. H. Johnny McDonald, re-election; E. F. (Earl) Billingsley, and A. N. Walls.

For sheriff, incumbent Chas. Lovelace is unopposed as is Bill Sheehan, candidate for county attorney. For the new county office, assessor-collector, Lee Thompson is also unopposed. For state representative of the 96th district, incumbent Jesse M. Osborn is unopposed, and Joe L.

Cox has no opposition in his bid for the re-election as district attorney. In the state-wide races, the following candidates will appear on the ballot: Governor—Price Daniel, Liberty; J. Evetts Haley, Canyon; J. J. Holmes, Austin; W. Lee O'Daniel, Dallas; Reuben Senterfitt, San (Continued on last page.)

1-Million-Bushel Expansion Planned By Wheat Growers

In a move which would increase storage capacity almost 50 percent, the board of directors last week approved and set in motion plans to build 1,000,000 bushels more storage onto Friona Wheat Growers elevator in Southern Friona. The big expansion will get underway in the near future, says

Arthur Drake, Wheat Growers manager, who explained that the goal of the new storage will be to have it available for row crop harvest this fall.

"The contractor believes that construction can be accomplished within 60 days—after the excavation is completed," indicated Drake.

A tentative okay on a loan to finance construction of the $300,000 addition has been secured from a Houston bank for cooperatives, and the only things standing in the way of immediate work are engineering details.

It may be necessary to move an earthen embankment serving as a dike along the Frio Draw before the addition can be attached.

Santa Fe's engineer made an inspection Tuesday afternoon, and if present plans materialize, work will begin in the near future.

Analyzing storage problems for the concern, Drake recalled that last year the elevator filled with milo after only approximately one-half of the harvest had been completed. Grain was turned away the rest of the year.

"And we're full right now," says Drake, indicating that most of the grain in storage is from last year's milo crop, although some of the space has been taken up by this summer's wheat.

Friona Wheat Growers started out with 30,000 bushels of storage in 1934.

Mrs. Maynard Agee, Karen Ann and Dean spent Friday in the G. L. Mingus home.

★ THAT NARROWS THE PROBLEM

Mayor A. W. Anthony apparently has a keen insight into the complexities of financial statements. At a meeting of the city commission Monday night he proved this.

City Clerk Roy Wilson was reading the city's financial statement, and explaining several phases of the statistic-studded report.

"Generally speaking, the city would be better off this year than last if it wasn't for three things," he said, attempting to narrow down the statement to terms that could be understood.

"No, just one thing," corrected Mayor Anthony as he interrupted the report. "That's money."

This simplification of the city's worries prompted a laugh from all in attendance.

Equalization Board Meets Next Monday

Friona School's board of equalization will meet Monday, July 9, for the purpose of hearing district taxpayers who may desire to petition the school for adjustment of their taxes.

The board is composed of J. G. McFarland, P. L. London, Dick Rockey, Joe Douglas, Charley Mercer, O. D. Bingham, and Raymond Schueler. It will meet from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. at the schoolhouse.

Notices of the meeting have been sent to about 600 taxpayers of the school district, according to Dan Ethridge, assessor-collector.

Mrs. Treva Reece and son, Ted, of Canyon, spent the weekend with Mrs. Reece's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Drake.

Big Year for Lions -- Wind Up in Red

Friona's hard-working Lions Club ended a busy year last week, and found itself slightly "in the red" from its load of charitable projects. The red ink, however, is not serious, report Club leaders.

In a nutshell, the Club took in $2601.57 from all sources during the just-ended fiscal year. They spent $3292.49, but because they started out with $435.92 in the bank last year, the deficit is only $255.

Here are the charities which the Lions Club sponsored or participated in during the past year:

Soil Conservation Service plaque, $5; Baseball Association, $50; Parmer County Community Hospital, $1645.28; Crippled Children's Hospital, $41.32; glasses for needy children, $12; and Chamber of Commerce, $25.

The balance of the expenditures went for meals, International Lions dues, supplies, conventions, and ladies' night.

Projects from which the Club obtained its money included a broom sale that grossed $940.78 and netted $249.28, a light bulb sale that grossed $472.53 and netted $88.65, rides at the Parmer County Fair which grossed $70.68 and netted $26.26, and their play, "Law West of the Pecos," which grossed $720.25 and netted $507.

New officers will take over and a new year begins Thursday night of next week when the Lions Club will meet in the Club House.

Texaco Station Booked

Another new and modern service station for Friona will soon spring from the drawing boards into reality, following announcement this week by Bert Shackelford, Texaco consignee.

A Texaco "Type E" 4-pump station to cost $29,000 will soon be built by the Friona wholesaler, and it will be located on Highway 60 in the western part of town.

Contractor for the building is Glenn Stevick of Friona, and work was scheduled to get underway sometime this week.

The concrete block station will be set on a 140x90 foot lot, and is scheduled for completion by September 1. Some material already is on hand.

Shackelford will lease the station to The Texas Company after its completion. He owns one other retail station in Friona.

Bible School To Begin July Ninth

The annual vacation Bible school of the Congregational Church in Friona will begin Monday, July 9, at 9 a. m. There will be five two-hour sessions. Then on Friday evening there will be a program to which the public is invited.

Mrs. Fred Helmeke, superintendent of the school, states that there will be classes designed for every age from three through the eighth grade. All children of these ages are cordially invited by Mrs. Helmeke and the teachers to attend.

Mrs. George Treider will serve as assistant superintendent. Mrs. Ralph Wilson will have charge of the refreshments and the teachers and assistants will be as follows:

Rev. C. G. Nelson, senior group, with Billie Rae McKee assisting; Mrs. L. F. Lillard, junior group, with Shirley Whitten assisting; Mrs. Charles Wise, primary group, with Phyllis Treider assisting; Mrs. Elvie Jennings, beginners, assisted by Gladys Dean; Mrs. Otho Whitefield, kindergarten, with Peggy Widner as assistant.

PRICE TO BE DISCHARGED

George Price, formerly of Friona, will be discharged from the Air Force on July 13. Price, whose wife is the former Gay Cass, has recently been promoted to sergeant. The Prices plan to make their home in Lubbock, where he will enroll at Texas Tech.

OK on Fifth Street

Residents of Friona with homes on or near Fifth Street (West Loop Drive) can now see an end to their problems with the mud, following a letter from S. C. McCarty, district engineer, who this week indicated the Highway Department will give the green light to curb and gutter along that route.

These improvements which are essential to drainage of the ditches along the much-used street will be paid for by the property owners, and in addition, it will be necessary for the city to furnish engineering costs to insure proper grade in the construction process.

Citizens have worried over the project for several months, and especially so during late spring and early summer months when continual showers resulted in very unsatisfactory conditions. The Highway Department is requiring the city to provide a 64-foot right-of-way for later widening of the paving to the curb. Work is expected to get underway in the near future.

Friona Bank, Businesses Indicate Optimism

Farm prices are down. Costs of producing farm products are, in most cases, up. The farming outlook on the High Plains—as well as the rest of the nation—is considerably dimmer than two years ago.

What does this mean to Friona businesses, and how has it affected the volume of their trade? A spot check by The Star this week with Friona State Bank and businesses shows a decided recovery or "bounce-back" from the "recession blues" that were the talk of the country are found in the loans and deposits department. While loans have dropped $334,118.50, deposits have slumped only $148,730.89, resulting in an overall improved condition.

Allen says, "Money is still pretty 'tight,'" but he added that the 1956 wheat crop turned out very well, and helped conditions considerably in the past few days.

"Our deposits have gone up $350,000 in the last thirty days," he estimated. Looking ahead into the fall harvest months, Allen predicted, "I think that if crops go ahead as they are now, and we have good harvests, that people will have more money to spend than they did a year ago."

He recalled conditions in the fall of last year, when many farmers discovered that they had spent more than had been netted from the year's operation.

Farmers have been much more cautious about borrowing this year, he said, and have cut down the expense of operations wherever possible.

A check with key Friona businesses—some of those whose trade fluctuates closely with the amount of money in circulation—indicates that an optimistic philosophy characterizes local retailers.

The businesses selected here are by no means the bulk of the Friona businesses, but are considered key operations that serve as "barometers" of general business trends.

Because item-by-item the merchandise of these stores is typical of the average family's regular or small purchase shopping lists, changes in buying habits are reflected in these stores at an early date.

Food stores, clothing stores, and drug and sundry stores follow the pattern of changing spending activity most closely. In Friona, here's the report:

J. V. "Cotton" Houser at Houser Grocery and Market says, "We expected a declining business in the first half of the year, but it didn't materialize. Our business has been okay."

He cited June as having been a (Continued on Last Page)

THE STAR'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

Worth a Court Case?

The threatened suit of the City of Friona vs. the County of Parmer may be justified in principal, but it is doubtful that a decision on the points involved would result in a solution to the problem.

This talked-of court case originated five years ago in the spring and summer of 1951 when Friona was in the midst of its first big paving project that had plenty of local complications, and would have been a hair-puller for city dads even if the trouble with the county had never developed.

To turn back the pages of history, it is recorded that George G. Wright deeded the city block in question to Parmer County "for the purpose of a location for the courthouse." That was about 50 years ago.

The county apparently has considered it to be county property on several occasions, the most notable of which was in 1948 when the county stood the cost of curb and gutter on Main Street—the west side of the block.

Three years later when Friona was first trying to grow with a big paving program, the question of paving around this vacant block faced the city's commissioners. To omit paving around this block in the heart of the city seemed unthinkable at the time, and was something the commissioners desired to avoid if at all possible.

Mack Bainum, then mayor, and Dan Martin, a sign-up man for Brown & Root of Houston, paving contractors, visited the county commissioners and appealed that they agree to pay for the paving, but failed to obtain consent. Emmett Day, then commissioner of the Friona precinct, also appealed to the court on behalf of the city with a similar request. Records show that his motion that the county pay for the paving died for lack of a second.

Meanwhile, paving was being laid by the block, and in a move to insure that the block not be left out, the city commissioners met and agreed with Brown & Root that they would be responsible for the cost. It was the hope of the city dads that the problem could be ironed out later and Friona be reimbursed.

Things didn't work out smoothly, however, and the problem has dragged on until now (the city having footed the bill for the $4,800 worth of paving, in the meantime), and the court has again refused to endorse the Friona commissioner's motion that the county pay for the improvements.

This newspaper believes that since the county has exercised dominion over and ownership of the block in question, it is both reasonable and fair to expect the county to assume the cost of the paving—other property owners of Friona certainly did. Besides, the paving was a necessary improvement and one which has obviously increased the value of the property.

However, inasmuch as permission from the commissioners' court to pay for the paving was never obtained, it appears doubtful to us that the city can now force the county to pay. In short, we see little benefit to be derived from a court suit that would only further inflame the feelings of all involved, and most likely could not result in a satisfactory judgement for the city.

If Friona holds a lien against the block as security for the paving, and attempts to obtain court action to force the county to pay, then what would the city end up with except the property itself? Could a money judgement be obtained? If not, then of what benefit would be the suit?

In actuality, the City of Friona has little need for the block—except for purposes such as a park—for which the property is already being used. Friona, though winner of the suit, probably would still be long on property and short on cash.

Friona's city commissioners may not "cut any ice" with the county court—especially after five years of letting the problem worsen, but we believe that further negotiations with that group might be more fruitful than a costly and complicated lawsuit . . . one which promises little even if a favorable decision is anticipated.

Mrs. Charles Schlenker had a party on her 90th birthday, Thursday. All ten of her living children were present.

Long-time Resident Observes 90th Birthday

The 90th birthday celebration of Mrs. Charles Schlenker, long-time Parmer County resident, really began about five days before her birthday. On Saturday, June 23, her seven children who do not live here, began to arrive.

They came by bus, train, car and plane from New Mexico, Iowa and California to be here for the birthday party which was in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wilson on Thursday. By that time, all ten of them were here.

They are Oscar Schlenker of Bellflower, Calif.; Mrs. Florence Darsey and Mrs. Bula Hopkins of La Canada, Calif.; Mrs. Esther Mae Burns of Des Moines, Iowa; Willard Schlenker of Lometa, Calif.; Harold Schlenker of Carmichael, Calif.; J. R. (Chick) Schlenker of Portales, N. M.; Mrs. Mabelle Hartwell and Mrs. Louisa Wilson of Friona and Mrs. Helen Potts of the Rhea community.

Others present for the celebration were Mrs. Oscar Schlenker and Barbara of Bellflower, Calif.; Evelyn Schlenker of Lometa, Calif.; Mrs. J. R. Schlenker and Patsy and Jo Day Cope all of Portales; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Tischler and daughters of Lubbock, and Mr. and Mrs. Kendall Schlenker of Clovis.

Mr. and Mrs. Cordie Potts were hosts to a dinner in their home Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Welch entertained with a supper for the group Wednesday evening.

On Thursday, the group gathered in the Ralph Wilson home. Mrs. Helen Potts baked the birthday cake which was huge. It was white with three tiers and topped with 90 candles.

Mrs. Schlenker came to the Rhea community from Iowa in December of 1909. She and her husband, the late Charles Schlenker, were pioneers in that community. They were parents of eleven children. One son, Floyd, died last fall.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Knight and grandchildren went to Cimarron, N. M., Tuesday and attended the rodeo on the Fourth of July.

Toastmasters Give Lions Good Laugh

Friona's Lions got plenty of entertainment from the visiting Hereford Toastmasters' Club Thursday night. It was the first time such a group had ever appeared before the local Lions.

Jimmy Baxter acted as president (or Boss Lion) during the evening in the absence of Steve Bavousett, and Charles Allen, program chairman, presented the visitors.

They included Ed Juke, Toastmasters' Club president, Curtis Trawick, Stewart Bean, Virgil Dodson, Pete Peterson, Hardy Peterson, George Kirk, and Lester Jones.

The program consisted of a series of short speeches by each of the visitors, and was begun by Dodson who spoke on, "Politicians—Good or Bad?"

A surprise in the program came when Juke asked Floyd Crume, Friona Lions member, to talk on the subject, "Why All Veterans Should Have a Pension." The surprised Crume recovered quickly and presented a humorous analysis of the subject, however.

Peterson injected a religious note to the evening with his topic entitled, "How I See It," and Benson gave a talk accompanied with charts on "Rainfall in the Panhandle." His 64-year record indicated the Southwest can expect a continuation of the dry cycle until 1962. The length of Benson's cycle is 11 years.

Kirk explained the functions of the Toastmasters' Club and urged that one be organized in Friona. Jones evaluated the talks of all and offered constructive criticism.

RHEUMATIC VICTIM THROWS AWAY CANE

Thanks to AR-PAN-EX Tablets "I have had terrible pains in my knees for over two years and couldn't walk without a cane," writes Mrs. Mary Creamer, St. Louis, Mo. "About two months ago a friend suggested AR-PAN-EX Tablets. I took a bottle and the pains left my legs and by the time I finished my third bottle I was walking without any pains at all."

The big reason why AR-PAN-EX works best, is because it contains seven special ingredients—works seven ways at once—speeds long-lasting relief to chronic deep-seated agony; increases energy and resistance; and tones system. Sensational new formula of a prominent Eastern Scientist, scientifically "film-coated" to prevent useless, distressing action in the stomach. "Film-coating" dissolves in the small intestine where all pain-relieving medicine is quickly released into the bloodstream—speeds fullest possible relief.

Positively Nothing Like AR-PAN-EX Thousands of men and women suffering from crippling torture of deep-seated rheumatic, arthritic pains get surer, faster, relief, by taking AR-PAN-EX Tablets. Be guided by them. If your druggist is out of AR-PAN-EX he will be glad to order it for you.

HAY BALING TIME—This attractive scene was noticed by the cameraman last week as hay was being loaded from the field of J. T. Gee west of Friona. The succulent alfalfa, which is grown along the Friona draw near Highway 60, is selling for about $20 a ton, the harvesters reported. Gee says that the 18-acre field is in its fourth year and this is the second cutting this year. The 28-ton cutting was sold to H. C. Wells. Another three cuttings are hoped for this year.

Mayor and Family To Take Long Trip

When Mayor and Mrs. A. W. Anthony Sr. and daughter, Pat, leave next Monday, it will be about one month before they return to Friona. Present plans are for an extended tour of the northeast section of the United States and part of Canada.

Their destination is Limestone, Maine, where they will be guests in the home of M. Sgt. and Mrs.

H. C. Biggers and sons, Gary and Richard. Mrs. Biggers is the daughter of the Anthonys.

Stops they plan to make along the way are St. Louis, Indianapolis, Cleveland, Buffalo, Toronto, Montreal, Quebec and finally Limestone. On the return trip they plan to visit New York, Washington, D. C., and several places in Kentucky and Tennessee.

One of the highlights, for the mayor at least, will be a visit to Belbuckle, Tennessee. It was there that Mr. Anthony was born and it has been 57 years since he was in the town.

Visitors in the Howard Mayfield home last week were Mrs. Woodrow Lovelace and Diane on Thursday and Mrs. M. A. Snider Jr., John and Kim on Saturday. They are all residents of Farwell.

H. V. Rockey and Don Lewis spent Thursday night in Wichita Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Massey were dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Williams Sunday. Mrs. Williams is the daughter of the Masseys.

OLDEST BALE

The oldest bale of cotton reportedly in existence now is preserved in a glass case on the floor of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange.

It was produced in 1862 by John Peden of Oktibbeha County, Mississippi, who stockpiled his crop on his veranda for years, selling only enough cotton each year to take care of his immediate needs.

The bale was picked and ginned entirely by slave labor.

The largest ranch in the United States is the King Ranch, in Texas, with 970,000 acres.

"The Chocolate Soldier" is a musical version of the play "Arms and the Man" by George Bernard Shaw.

FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

The BIBLE Says

"BE THOU FAITHFUL UNTO DEATH, AND I WILL GIVE THEE THE CROWN OF LIFE." (Rev. 2:10b)

Nothing is to be more desired nor earnestly sought after than life. It was taught by Jesus that "all that a man hath would he give in exchange for his life." Experience teaches us that this is true. Nothing we possess would be kept back if it would only buy life for us when it comes our time to die. When loved ones are near death material gain is eagerly sacrificed as we search for remedy. Death is avoided at all cost.

Death may overtake us at any time. Some reach old age; some do not. Some live full and complete lives; others are called in their youth. God teaches us to be faithful as long as we live, whether it be little or much.

To be faithful to God is to comply with his wishes. We must learn what he desires and be diligent in doing it. We must obey not just for a season, nor at some season of the year, nor at regularly appointed seasons, but always. So long, that is, as God lets us live.

Be steadfast under persecution! Though men may determine to kill you for your faith in Christ be faithful. Christians are faithful unto death in order to receive the crown of life promised.

Commissioners Boost Employees' Salaries

Mineral Wells city law for the same purpose.

It would set the fee for door-to-door peddling within Friona at $30, and in addition would require an additional fee of $10 for each agent working the town. The Mineral Wells ordinance has been upheld in the courts, reported Clerk Wilson.

"We need something, all right," remarked Commissioner McFarland, and he was joined by Mayor Anthony in this observation.

The municipal law is aimed at out-of-town peddlers of magazines and other merchandise, and especially the ones which use questionable business practices. It is hoped that the law will help protect local citizens from getting "hooked" on some of the schemes.

Another ordinance which came up for more discussion concerned last week's decision by the city dads to impose a "curfew law" on Friona to curtail unsupervised late-hour activity on the streets.

Attorney Sheehan has recommended dropping a reference to "wartime conditions" which was cited in the ordinance last week, and re-writing it to regulate activity in "unsupervised places" between the hours of midnight and 6 a.m.

And as is customary, the city agreed to help pay for sending four members of the Friona Fire Department to a fireman's training school at Texas A & M next week.

The only other business attended to by the commissioners was to hear the request by Herman Neff, owner of a potato shed in Friona, that the city help provide a means of getting loaded potatoes from the highway to his shed.

The torn-up condition of the highway area through Friona likely would result in upsetting some of the spud trucks, he maintained.

The commissioners decided to open a road from the eastern part of town to give Neff's trucks access to paved city streets which would route them to the shed with little expected difficulty.

Neff also requested permission to drill a well at his shed this fall, but commissioners took no action, pending further study.

Former Frionan Injured Friday

Jack Drye of Muleshoe was injured in a construction accident Friday. Drye, who is employed by the REA, received a broken leg when a pole fell on him. His left leg was broken in two places.

Drye, whose wife is the former Bernell Price, formerly lived in Friona and was employed at the Friona Consumers.

WON'T BE TOO LONG NOW—Postmaster Leo McLellan admires Friona's new post office building, now nearing completion. The opening date of July 15 still holds for the new building, he says, although there still is a good deal of work to be done.

Check with Bank, Key Businesses Shows Optimism

particularly good month for his store. Asked about collections, Houser reported credit accounts as "fair."

"How's business?" Bonnie Wilson of Piggly Wiggly was asked. "Mighty good," was his reply. "It's a lot better than last year, and it ought to get better every month from now on," he said.

As an afterthought, however, Wilson said August might prove to be an exception to his type business—when families stock up on school supplies and clothes.

He summed up his attitude with, "This should be the biggest fall any of us (all Friona businesses) have ever had."

Joe Johnson of the Corner Grocery reports his trade "a little better than last year," when checked with by The Star Monday.

He also anticipated good business this fall, pinning his hopes on how crops make out. "They are looking good—so far," he said.

Ed White of White's Grocery could not be reached for a report.

Ralph and Marie Roden of Bi-Wize Drug reported their business "much better than at the same time last year," and Roden clarifies by adding, "It's better than you would expect for this time of year."

Bi-Wize has felt business ebb and flow with the amount of work that has been necessary on area farms. "When there's planting or plowing to be done, our business drops," he says. "But when we get a little shower and the fields are too wet for a day or two, business jumps back up."

He added, however, that his fountain business has been steady. "We haven't had a slack month since the first of the year," is the favorable comment of Mrs. Henry Lewis of Lewis Variety.

"Our business is up quite a bit over that of last year, and we are looking for a good fall business too."

In the clothing stores, Mrs. Faye Smith of Foster's reports business holding up well there. "May was a real good month," she said. She gave it as her opinion that Wesley Foster, who was out of town when the survey was made, has been pleased with trade.

Andy Hurst of Rockway-Hurst Department Store: "It's picking up all the time. I'm optimistic."

He admitted that times had been slow occasionally since the first of the year, however, and he pointed to February and April as slow months. Business perked up in May and June, though.

Asked about expectations for fall, Hurst laughed and said, "well I bought like it was going to be pretty good."

Joe Ferrell of Ware's Department Store had about the same sentiments. "I guess people are feeling a little better," he said, indicating an upturn in trade in recent weeks.

"The first three months of the year were no good at all, but some labor is beginning to come in, and business has been good—especially in the last 60 days."

Mrs. Nora Welch at LuNora's children's shop reported "June was very slow—especially the first part of it—but things are picking up now." She said that wheat harvest and vacation time has upped her trade considerably.

"I haven't checked out my books, but I believe that business is some better this year than last," she adds.

All in all, it can generally be said that Friona's retail merchants—at least the ones polled by The Star—feel pretty good about business and prospects for months ahead.

Octogenarians Get Together

By June Floyd

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Greeson of Oklahoma City spent last week visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam (Pappy) Greeson of the Black community. Jim and Sam Greeson are brothers.

The combined ages of the group adds up to 333 years. Pappy says the other three of the group are "not kids." He is 87 and each of the others is 82. All four of them were born in a small community in Tennessee and grew up in the same community.

They were married about the same time and lived in Tennessee until 1897. Then both couples moved to Texas. Later the Jim Greesons moved to Oklahoma City, where they have made their home for many years.

The Sam Greesons moved to Parmer County in 1935 and to their present home, just south of Black, in 1945. They have three daughters. They are Ethel Bush, Hazel Warrick and Myrtle Lindley, all of Hereford. Their son, Carl, was killed in a car wreck near Black several years ago. They also have 11 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

The Jim Greesons have four children, seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Their children live at Oklahoma City. When this reporter was at the Greeson home, the smell of freshly baked bread was coming from the kitchen. We were sorry we were unable to accept the Greesons' invitation to stay for supper. Pappy said he knew a lot of fellows around who were older than he and who had lived in the community longer, too.

Thinking of older people always causes us to remember a statement our mother made a few years ago. She was married at 15, has six children, 18 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren and really isn't old yet. This is the way she expressed her feeling:

Party Honors Galen Brewer

Mrs. Loyde Brewer honored her son, Galen, with a party at the family home Tuesday from 4 to 5:30 p. m. The occasion was Galen's sixth birthday.

The birthday cake, which centered the serving table, was decorated to carry out the circus theme of the party. It was circled with peppermint candy sticks and topped with plastic animal candle holders.

A special feature of the party was a cake which was baked in the form of a tractor. The tractor cake was a gift from Lucille Latta. Refreshments were cake and orange punch.

Guests were Paula and Don Fortenberry, Joel Osborn, Brenda Blackburn, Kelvin Woody, Carole Stokes, Celia Faye and Susan Vestal, John Bill McFarland, Chloe Ann Ford, Linda Means, Sharon Awrey, Sammy Tapia, Gail Brookfield and Byron Brewer. Favors were paper hats. Mrs. C. L. Vestal Jr. assisted Mrs. Brewer.

Here On Vacation

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Davenport and children of County Line, Oklahoma, and Mrs. L. O. Martin of Rush Springs, Okla., have been visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Blackburn and other relatives.

Tuesday morning they accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Claude Blackburn, Carol, Donna and Keith Lynn, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Blackburn and Jill Blackburn to Red River, N. M.

The 14 member group plans to spend a week in the resort town.

With June

We have always derived a great deal of pleasure from visiting with older people. Some of our best friends down through the years have been people who were 20 or 30 years our senior. We are very pleased to number Mrs. Charles Schlenker among our friends.

Thursday morning we visited Grandmother Schlenker a few minutes. That day was her 90th birthday. She showed us an afghan which she had just completed. It was a beautiful piece of handwork and she has done all the work on it within the past year. She is planning the next one and her long range plans call for the completion of nine more.

"I want to make one for each of the children," Mrs. Schlenker stated.

Plans have been completed for all Cub Scouts and their dads to attend an overnight camp out at Camp Don Harrington Saturday night, July 7. Several parents and Cubs met at the City Park for an ice cream supper and planning session Friday evening.

Cub Master W. T. Johnson urges all Cubs to be at the American Legion Hall in Friona at 2 Saturday afternoon, July 7. Each Cub is to bring his bedroll or sleeping bag and his dad.

The men and boys will camp out for the night. The mothers plan to drive up on Sunday, have a picnic lunch and then the entire group will return home Sunday afternoon.

Marriage Vows Read in Clovis

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Lilley of Dimmitt have announced the marriage of their daughter, Frankie, to David Patterson of Friona. The double ring ceremony was read by Rev. Walter A. Mitchell at the First Baptist Church in Clovis on June 22. The bride wore a dress of beige embroidered satin fashioned with a low neckline, fitted waist and full skirt. Her accessories were blue.

The groom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Patterson of Route 3, Friona, is a 1953 graduate of Friona High School, and is engaged in farming.

Mrs. Patterson is a graduate of Dimmitt High School. The couple are at home on a farm near Friona.

Mr. and Mrs. Bee Westbrook spent Sunday visiting her brother, L. E. Bevel, who is a surgical patient at the Medical Arts Hospital at Littlefield.

We enjoyed talking with him.

About 10 this morning we had visitors from Erick, Okla. Doss and Dica Gilbert, who are close friends of Mother and Daddy, stopped by for a few minutes. We especially enjoyed chatting with them, even though we do not know them very well. Mother and Daddy were guests in their home yesterday evening. They were on their way to California for a month's vacation. Wonder how it would feel to be able to spend a month in California?

An anonymous letter came in the mail this morning. Do wish everyone who writes to The Star would sign his name to the letters. Some of the contents are very worthwhile for publication, but we do not publish unsigned contributions. If the person who mailed the unsigned letter suggesting that we build a swimming pool will come in and sign the letter, we will print it without the signature.

Corn Looks Pretty, But Earworms Hurt

"Corn in Parmer County is sure looking good," reports Agent Joe Jones this week, but this optimistic report is dimmed by the presence of corn earworms which are showing up in considerable numbers in some fields.

"This is not the old Southwestern corn borer which attacks the stalk and causes the corn to fall over," points out Agent Jones, "but he is doing his damage where he is hard—if not impossible—to control."

"A lot of holes are showing up in the leaves, and indicates that the worm is working in the bud in rolled-up leaves," says Jones. "It is causing the farmers a lot of concern."

The agent added that it is well that farmers be concerned over the potential threat of the worms, but he cautioned against the impulse to rush in with control measures that might prove ineffective.

"It is doubtful if poison will reduce the number of worms, simply because the worms are down inside the plant where the poison can't get to them," warned Jones.

"My advice is not to poison, but if a farmer feels that he must, then I surely recommend that he check with someone else who has sprayed to see what kind of luck they report. Also, the best time to try control is when the miller is depositing her larvae on the corn silk.

The county agent this week checked two fields which had been sprayed, and found only one dead earworm.

Up against a worm over which no effective (and practical) control measure is known, Jones added a note of optimism. "Now I don't deny that the worms are doing damage—but it's not as much as farmers might tend to think at first."

The agent checked with the Hereford area, which has been fighting earworms for six years, and found out that farmers there too believe that it is impractical to spray field corn.

In the case of sweet corn that is being cared for carefully and will sell by the ear, it is possible to make hand application of insecticide and profit from the operation. Not so commercial corn, however.

13 New Irrigation Wells in County

Statistics released by the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District office at Lubbock revealed that 13 new irrigation wells were completed in Parmer County during the month of May. In the same period, 12 permits to drill were issued.

This is considerably off the pace of a year ago at the same time, but is considerable drilling activity to be this time of year, when a new well could hardly be expected to make a crop.

Also during May, Bailey County finished 29 wells, Castro 11, and Deaf Smith 18.

Cotton Spraying Ending in County

Most cotton farmers of the Parmer County area checked their calendar and halted spraying of their fields for thrips and fleahoppers this week, with the view in mind of letting beneficial insects build up.

A month-long buildup of these insects is recommended in order to control the bollworm, which will be showing up about three or four weeks from now.

Early season control programs whereby farmers spray their fields by the calendar instead of by insect count have been gaining in popularity in the area as a means of insuring setting of early fruit.

Today the oil and gas industry consumes almost eight per cent of the nation's steel output. It goes into well equipment, pipe lines, refineries, storage tanks, and many other items.

THE PARMER FARMER

It thrills us to see the potato men of the area—few as they are—on the verge of making some real money this year. However, we have seen them hopeful before when things didn't work out so well, so perhaps it's still best not to count unhatched chickens.

Wondering if there are any "sour grapes" fellas around who had a hard time with potatoes last year and feel they might be missing out for not planting this year, we phoned up Walter Kaltwasser out at Oklahoma Lane to get his sentiments.

Although Walter admitted that if he could have foretold the prospects things might have been different, he said, "Well, you know, it took a lot of maize to make up for what we lost on potatoes last year."

Buck Gregory of down West Camp way was scheduled to start digging today (Thursday), and had the strange paradox of digging his spuds at the same time he was planting.

Pleased with the summer market, he is getting another crop in for fall, hoping that prospects will still be good.

In driving through the country, we notice that farmers are making good use of staggered planting dates with their crops this year—particularly milo.

Often, they tell us, it is helpful to be able to water a crop in one stage while part of the rest of the acreage is in an earlier stage and can stand waiting its turn for a long drink on hot summer days.

Also, it amazes us to see the difference that 30 or 40 miles in a north-and-south direction can make in over-all crop development. There is really an apparent difference between growth along the Lazbuddie-Farwell southern part of the county, as compared with the northern end.

Of course, as the season wears on this difference diminishes considerably, but the variation is extremely noticeable when crops are just getting started.

Common weeds in field crops such as the careless weed and tumble weed have been a real problem for many farmers this year. Showers have been largely responsible for this condition.

However, even as this is being written, the fields are being swiftly cleaned out by our industrious High Plains farmers. By this weekend, most fields should be much neater looking—and of course have much more potential for this fall.

What ever happened to all the fuss everyone was making over artificial rain-making?

We noticed in last week's Mule-shoe Journal that Lazbuddie has been chosen as the site of a quarter section experiment station for the Texas Research Foundation of Renner.

If this pans out, it will bring a lot of well deserved publicity to one of Texas' most productive regions, not to mention the benefits in plant research that one would naturally expect from such a project.

We side with county Farm Bureau officials who are concerned about the effects of the lobbying of organized labor. The most recent threat to our farm economy are several pending bills which, if made law, would make labor on our farms an almost unbearable expense.

The tendency of the government to discount the time-proven laws of supply and demand, and to arbitrarily determine what a Parmer County farmer must pay for the hands he hires, is detrimental to the soundness of our agricultural economy.

Bindweed Spreads Like Human Cancer

Another warning was sounded this week that pointed up the fact that Parmer County fight against the spread of bindweed is only beginning. The spread of this noxious plant might be reckoned to human cancer in its destructiveness.

Joe Jones, county agent, this week had proof that bindweed is not the concern of farmers alone—but is the responsibility of town residents as well.

For infestations of the creeping, land-devouring plant have been spotted in Texico-Farwell, Bovina, and Friona. And all of the infestations are serious.

"Someway or another," warned the agent, "it needs to be brought home to the people of the county that the bindweed problem is becoming increasingly serious, and is the responsibility of everyone."

"It's showing up everywhere: behind buildings, along highways and railroad rights-of-way, in the towns' bar ditches, farmers' fields, and even in the lawns of the county's cities."

Up until the last few years, Parmer County has been able to brag that it was virtually free from noxious weeds. However, things are changing fast, warns the agent, and the challenge to control this weed needs to be met.

Irrigation with its intense farming methods has been largely responsible for the spread of bindweed (and Johnson grass, too), and there are still farmers who don't recognize the weed and plow through it, scattering seeds all over their field.

Of course, there are many other ways of spreading bindweed, too, but the one that can be controlled by residents is the one that needs the most prompt action.

On the farm, it's sodium chlorate which is the most popular control chemical. However, because of the possible fire hazard involved, polybor chlorate, borascu, or karmex W is recommended for in-town use in fighting the plant. The agent urged that farmers make use of the current ACP program for government support in controlling the weed.

Bureau Directors Hear Reports

At the monthly Farm Bureau director's meeting Monday night in Friona, 4-H boys and girls who attended the round-up at College Station recently reported on the trip.

Home Demonstration Agent Jimmie Lou Wainscott introduced the girls who were Beverly Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith of Lazbuddie; and Margaret Mabry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Mabry of the Hub community. Mrs. Mabry and Mrs. Smith accompanied their daughters to the Monday night meeting. Mrs. Mabry accompanied them to the State Roundup and attended some of the classes.

County Agent Joe Jones introduced James Stevens of Bovina and Mike Ellis of Lazbuddie. Mrs. Eugene Ellis, mother of Mike, was in attendance with her son at the Monday night meeting. All of these young people gave enthusiastic reports on the venture and expressed their appreciation to Farm Bureau for assisting them financially in going.

Following a committee report on FFA and FHA school activities, the directors voted to provide $15 each year to each chapter in the county to be used in helping finance delegates to those state conventions. Roy Crawford, vocational agriculture teacher of Bovina, had asked consideration of this action at a previous meeting.

Other business discussed was: Opposition to the 1/4c per gallon increase in farm used gasoline, which followed enactment of exemption of Federal Road tax on such gasoline; discussion of soil bank provisions; opposition to federal aid to education legislation now being considered; ways and means of informing members.

Hybrid Hits Town--Goes in a Hurry

A shipment of 40 bags of Texas Hybrid No. 620 from Asgrow Seed in San Antonio went fast when farmers got the word the new stock had arrived. That's the report of C. M. "Heinie" Henderson of Farwell.

The seed arrived at Henderson Grain & seed Friday two weeks ago, and by Saturday evening, it was all gone. "I didn't call anyone on the telephone or advertise it," said Henderson, "It just went to fellas who dropped by."

Hybrid grain sorghums, a new development for Southwestern farmers which holds high promise for increased yields, is just now beginning to trickle down to farms.

Next year will be the first year of wide-scale production.

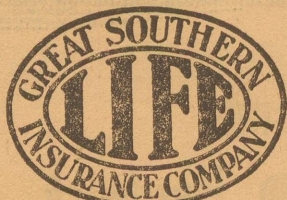

This shipment, the first known on a commercial scale in the area, came from stock produced this year in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, according to the Farwell seedsmen.

"It is a cross of Kafir 60 and Redbine Milo, and should be an early maturing variety," said Henderson.

Largest purchasers of the seed were Bob and John Spearman of Pleasant Hill, who are seeding 100 acres to the hybrid.

Henderson said he has since received a small additional shipment, but expects it to go fast, too.

Attention Called To Native Grasses

Native ranges or native pastures are no longer Parmer County Soil Conservation District's most important agriculture product. However, what native pastures that still exist will bear some attention, says Floyd Crume work unit conservationist.

For the most part there are two significant range sites in the district. One is the hard land range site and the other is the mixed land range site. The hard land consists of those lands containing tighter, less permeable soils. In good condition these ranges will contain unlimited amounts of blue gramma, side oats gramma, western wheat, and little blue stem with about 25% buffalo grass.

In poorer condition, these grasses will be in less abundance and less vigorous. Invading plants such as loco, broom snakeweed and other harmful or less palatable plants will be present.

Mixed range lands in the district are those more sandy lands, that absorb water more readily. In an excellent or good condition they may contain blue gramma, side oats gramma, hairy gramma, black gramma, little blue stem, Indian grass, and switch grass, in unlimited amounts with buffalo grass, three awns, sand dropseed and tabosa grass making up about one third of the cover.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

In fair or poor condition these grasses will be in less abundance and show less vigor and an invasion of annual weeds, less desirable grasses will take their places with a great infestation of yucca and sagebrush.

To improve the condition of a range or pasture, a farmer should pick out his most desirable grasses, find out about their growth habits, and manage grazing so that they are allowed to make a seed crop every year or so. It is never a good practice to graze more than half of the current year's growth of those more desirable grasses.

A good method of determining the carrying capacity of a pasture is to select a spot where conditions are average, measure off a plot 3.1 feet square, clip all the vegetation on the spot and weigh it in grams. The weight in grams multiplied by ten gives the pounds of forage an acre has produced.

This figure divided by the number of pounds of forage (20 to 30 pounds) a cow will eat per day will give the number of days that an acre will last for a cow.

Some of the pastures in the district utilize runoff water from irrigation from surrounding fields. As far as the pasture is concerned, this allows greater production if handled properly. On those hill-sides where buffalo grass is about the only thing present, some method of holding the water on the land so it will have time to soak in should be used. Chiseling or pitting the land is a good way to do this initially.

Until a good amount of grass is present, grazing should be very limited on these areas and then should not be grazed when wet.

Increase Noted In Johnson Grass

As if the presence of bindweed wasn't worry enough for High Plains farmers, most are discovering that this year more Johnson grass is popping up than ever before.

It's a result of intensified farming methods under irrigation where the grass is not only plowed up and scattered throughout the field, but is often fertilized and watered and encouraged to grow strong and tough.

"The best control measure of Johnson grass is still to summer fallow the land and plow the grass every time it gets over six inches high," according to County Agent Joe Jones.

He admitted, however, that such conditions might not be possible on all farms because it is necessary to keep the land in production.

Generally speaking, chemicals that are suitable for the control of bindweed will work on Johnson grass. Naptha and sodium dalpon are new chemical preparations which are proving effective in many cases.

Sesame Raising Due Big Decline

Production of Sesame seed, a new crop to the Parmer County area last year, apparently is due a reversal this year, according to reports from both farmers and the area's only seed dealer, Cummings Farm Store of Friona.

"I doubt if there will be 1,000 acres harvested in the county," said E. H. Cummings, this week. He pointed not only to light sales of seed, but also to the difficulty farmers have had obtaining a satisfactory stand.

C. W. Sanders of the Oklahoma Lane Community, who again has about 300 acres this year, is the largest sesame seed producer in the United States. At least, that was the title he held last year.

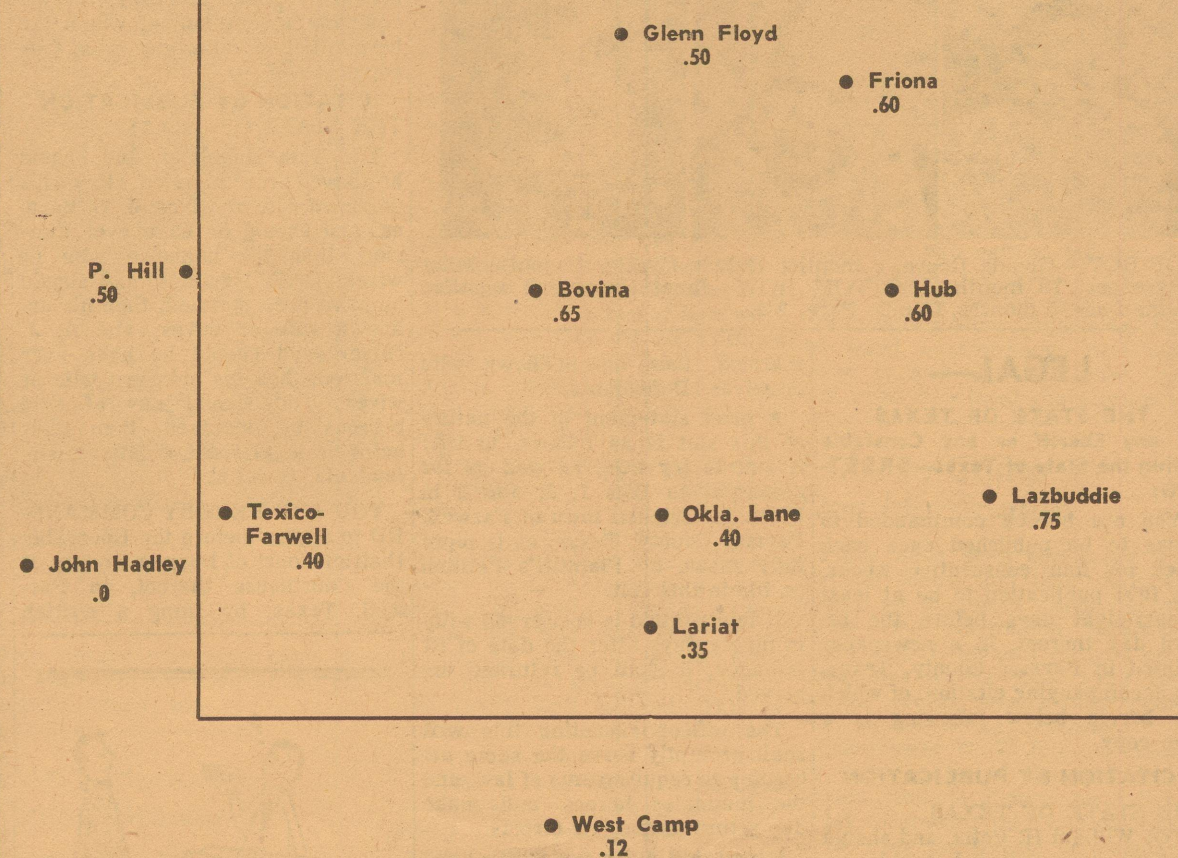

Billy Marshall and James Borden of Hub are two other sizeable producers who are trying the oil-seed crop again.

Last year, yields ranged from 400 to 1,100 pounds of seed per acre, with the price being about 10 cents per pound. About 2,500 acres were raised.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

Now is the time for farmers to file for refund of the two-cent federal road use tax on all farm used gasoline purchased between January first and July first. A year from now, when you file again, you will be filing for three cents per gallon. Farm Bureau thought the one cent increase would soon go into effect, when it was working on the law allowing farm exemption. Forms, which are very simple for filing on this tax refund, are available in the Farm Bureau office and at most banks and the county agent's office.

Since passage of the above mentioned law, oil companies have raised the tank wagon (farm delivered) gasoline price 1/2 cent per gallon, which means that this much of the benefit farmers were finally able to get goes to the oil companies instead of the farmers, who fought for the exemption. Walter Hammond has wired Lyndon Johnson and Price Daniel, asking an investigation of this new act of discrimination against farmers.

They have both replied favorably. Whether the desired action can be obtained is not known, since the oil companies can claim the one half cent is a delivery charge, although they have not previously made such a charge. But unless the local consignee gets the money, they will not be able to use that excuse, which we think would be very thin, anyway.

Farm Bureau is also taking action, as directed in county and state resolutions, against proposals for federal aid to public schools. Unless kids are getting dumber, which we don't think they are, even the Gilmer-Aiken deal has been a detriment to the real education of our children. Federal aid would multiply this deficiency no telling how many times. Most people know by now that federal aid means federal control, whether it is admitted by proponents of federal aid laws or not.

It's as simple as this: if you pay a man's wages, you are going to tell him what to do, as a condition of your continuing his pay. Federal moguls are certainly no less demanding than the average individual.

In considering the good and bad points of the soil bank program, we should remember this: The fact that few farmers of this area are putting land in the bank does not mean that it is of no use. In less productive areas, and areas of smaller acreages, it appears that many farmers are going to participate. The end result is reduced production on a nation wide scale. This means that our county can actually profit more from the plan than if there were many participants. A year from now we will know more about the possibilities of the program. Let's hope it works.

Consider this: When thou sittest to eat with a ruler, consider diligently what is before thee: Proverbs 23:1.

4-H Encampment Last of July

The annual summer encampment of county 4-H Club boys has been scheduled for July 30-31, and August 1-2, announces Joe Jones, county agent.

Plans for the earlier affair are only in the formative stages, but already a list of leaders willing to make the trip is being prepared. Clubbers will soon be receiving a letter, advises Jones, with complete information on the outing.

Eligible to participate will be clubbers who have completed a project this year, or who are now managing one.

Camp cost will be $7 for all boys and leaders attending.

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

Someone has said, "The busiest people are the happiest people." If that be true, and we feel sure it is, homemakers should be the happiest people in all the world. Most of the ones with whom we are acquainted are very busy the year around.

If any college ever decides to offer a course in homemaking, we'd like to offer some suggestions on what should be included in it. To be a really successful homemaker, it would be very helpful if each woman could be a specialist in about a dozen different fields of learning.

The average homemaker should be able to cook, sew, wash, iron, clean, plan wholesome menus for her family and do any number of other things in order to be able to keep her house running smoothly.

Then in addition to these accomplishments, it would be very helpful if she had some training in nursing, interior decorating, bookkeeping and teaching. Of course, any mother needs to be an expert in public relations. Landscaping and gardening should be "musts" on the list of accomplishments for prospective homemakers.

Several years ago we read an article that stated, "Every woman needs three husbands." One should provide a living for the family, one should do chores that need to be done around the house, and the third should go places with the family. At the time, we made a resolution to write a similar article on the subject, "Every child should have three mothers." Maybe we will get around to writing it one day.

The canning and freezing of fruits and vegetables will take a great deal of time in the next few months. Think we need some new instructions on how to freeze green beans. The ones we froze last year are inedible. There will be some to can from the garden next week.

Last summer Helen Potts gave us a tip on canning okra that we enjoyed as long as the okra lasted. Wash okra and cut it in small pieces just as if you were going to fry it. Then without salt or meal, pack it in jars and pressure it 20 minutes at 10 lbs. You don't even put water over it.

Of course, when you take the jars out of the cooker, they are just about half full. When you are ready to cook it, remove it gently from the jars, roll in meal which has been salted and fry. Sure tastes good in the winter time.

A recipe that we have used for several years for a simple dessert is for white gingerbread. It is easy enough so that a beginner need have no difficulty using it.

The ingredients are:
2 cups flour
1 cup sugar

1/2 cup shortening
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/2 teaspoon soda
1 cup milk
1 well beaten egg

Sift together flour and sugar. Combine with shortening. Mix until crumbly. Reserve 1/4 cup of the mixture. To the remaining mixture add spices, baking powder, soda, egg and milk. Mix well. Pour into well greased loaf pan. Sprinkle reserved crumbly mixture over top and bake in moderate oven.

If your daughter's dress need the hems let down and you hesitate to do it on account of the faded line it leaves where the bottom of the present hem is, you might try Edith Hannold's method. She stitches near the hem line with the machine before letting the hem down. Then when the job is finished there is a neat tuck where the faded line would have been.

"Plan your work, then work your plan" was the title of one article we read a few years ago. After reading it, we made a decision that should have resulted in making us a very efficient homemaker. It didn't work, though, and after a few weeks we were back in the same old rut. There wasn't any time in the schedule to take care of the emergencies which arise in most homes from time to time.

Maybe we could make a schedule work if it were flexible enough. There should be some time in each hour to allow the mother of small children to remove stickers, repair broken swings, get cats off the roofs and act as referee over disputes which have arisen. We have reached the conclusion that the only way to get things done is to do them. The method isn't so important.

There are a lot of homemakers we know and admire who keep things done in ship-shape order all the time. Their method of management would be interesting to read about, but it probably wouldn't work for us. If there are two categories of homemakers, the ones who keep things done and the ones who don't, we fall in the latter.

As long as we keep trying and have fun at the same time, we feel we will have won in the long run, even if we have lost out in the efficiency race.

During the last 22 years, the oil industry has managed to find 1.54 barrels of new reserves for each barrel of oil produced.
