NUMBER 30

By the Secretary

The Chamber of Commerce drive is almost completed with a very few citizens to see. There will be a very substantial increase in membership over last year with funds sufficient to put over any reasonable program. The organization was badly handicapped last year on account of small membership and inadequate financing.

The meeting of farmers and business men that was advertised last week as to occur on Monday afternoon did not pan out as to numbers, but was made up in enthusiasm. A more complete report of the meeting will be found in another column.

This office has received from the State A. & M. College poultry department directions for mixing baby chick mash, laying mash, fattening mash and growing mash. Also information for incubation and brooding of turkeys. They will be gladly handed out to interested persons. It has always been considered hard to brood turkey eggs in an ordinary chick brooder but this has been overcome and better results are obtained with an incubator that the old well known manner.

This office has been informed by the district engineer of the Highway Department that our county will come in for a lot of highway work this year as he has called for an appropriation of several thousand dollars and will rebuild all designated highways including the present one west to the county line. This should be good news as our west road is getting in a shape that reminded one of an early day.

It would seem that the March sandstorms have struck us, but would you not rather buck sandstorms than wade through black mud for several weeks as the people of east Texas are doing now? One fellow from Terry county moved to that section about sixty days ago and said he never expected to not wanted to see this country again. He has been fighting mud since his arrival there and writes back to his relatives that he expects to return here as soon as the roads dry up enough to permit travel. "They all do it."

Yes, We Have Some Tree Vandals Here

It seems to us that a specimen of humanity with no love of home, trees or birds, is getting down pretty low in the scale of nonconsciousness, and the fellow who will deliberately destroy shade trees put out with loving care on these bald plains in order to beautify his own and all adjoining property has reached the scale of downward trend where he is just about on par with the guy who would desecrate his grandmother's grave or drown a widow woman's dog.

We hate to think that our little city has any of this ilk, but it has, for one or more of them recently sneaked down to the Presbyterian church under cover of darkness we imagine and deliberately cut down some of the trees they recently put out about the church, donated by Earl Alexander. Birds like that never work openly. They are too darn cowardly.

Now, if the pucelanimous pup who did this dirty work wants to fight about the matter, we have been authorized by the male members of the church to say they are ready to take you on, and after they are through with you, if your wife or sweetheart can still recognize you, then the lady members may finish the job for you, you stinking cur.

CORN BUYER LEAVING FOR FORT WORTH

Sid T. Oats left Wednesday for his home in Fort Worth after spending two months here with the West Grain Co. of that city, as buyer. Mr. W. F. Craddock is taking Mr. Oats' place here as street buyer. Sid has made a large number of friends and acquaintances who will regret to see him leave.

Mr. Oates informed us that his company had purchased 75 percent of the corn crop sold in this section.

The Herald Appreciates News Items—But

This week for the second time in the past few months, we received a communication from the Pleasant Valley community with no name given as the author, and of course found its way to our waste basket. We certainly appreciate news items from the rural communities, but we also want to know the author, not for publicity purposes, but for our own protection. For instance, a correspondent might say something impertinent about a citizen of the community, and that indignant man or woman might come in all riled up and demand to know the author of the article. Then if we did not know, what kind of a pickle do you suppose we would be in.

No, if a correspondent is too modest to sign their true names to articles to be published in these columns we are also too modest to publish them. We always note that those who try to get unsigned articles in a paper always have something smart to say about some party or parties in the community, and the one referred to above was no exception to the general rule.

Then too, occasionally we leave out an article, such as poetry that we cannot read or make rhyme or cannot read. We might take an hour or so off from our work and decipher some of them, but our time is worth a little bit, and when an operator goes to the typewriter they go there to turn out work and not to figure out inelegible writing.

Therefore in view of the fact that the Herald has never charged for obituaries, cards of thanks, etc., as most papers do, we believe we have the right to ask contributors to write a readable hand and to compose in prose unless they really understand how to write poetry.

17 Year Old Prodigal Girl Returned to Home

A 17 year old girl, masquerading in boys' clothes, giving her name as "Bobby Newman," was taken last Friday night on the streets of Littlefield by Night Officer Albert Anderson.

Upon being questioned, she told the officers that she had run away from home. She said she lived at Woodrow, 14 miles southwest of Lubbock; that she left home in girl's clothing, having $13.00 and a $6.00 check in her possession. At Brownfield she bought some boy's wearing apparel and made the change, coming on to Littlefield.

The girl was taken to the home of City Marshal Wynn, where she spent the night under the care of Mrs. Wynn. Her parents were duly notified, and the next day her mother and an uncle came for her. She went back willingly, but intimated to the officers she would not stay.

When asked as to her reason for leaving home, she said she was dissatisfied; that it was all work and no pleasure, and she was getting tired of it.

Officers stated that the girl was very quiet and modest, showing no traits whatever of badness, and they were convinced of the statements made by her to them.—Littlefield Leader.

Oil Reported Found In Lovington Well

A report is current here that oil bearing sand has been penetrated at a depth of 4,700 feet in a well some 12 miles southwest of Lovington, N. M. and about 50 miles west of Brownfield. Parties from Lovington report that they drilled only 4 feet into the sand and that oil is standing 1000 feet deep in the well. Drilling has been stopped until the owners come down from Amarillo or give them information what to do.

TELEPHONE HELPS JUDGE HEAR TIMID WITNESSES

Judge Joseph N. Ulman of the superior court in Baltimore, Md., has had installed a microphone and several amplifiers at the witness box, to amplify the whispers of weak-voiced or scared witnesses.

This eliminates one source of confusion and annoyance to judge and jurors.

Ben Wolffarth Conducts a Business Farm

When the farmer comes to recognize his business of farming as a real business institution, and forgets the idea that he must be helped over all rough places by a paternalizing government, and settles down to making a living at home and producing a surplus for sale, there will be no hue and cry about the poor down trodden farmer is the belief of Ben Wolffarth. Ben also we might say gave the one crop idea a black eye in our talk with him last Saturday afternoon.

Away back in his boyhood Ben was taught the lesson of the ant in laying up for winter, which included dried fruits and vegetables, such as a good supply of peas and beans, and then later to cap it all off with a nice supply of porkers that meant meat and lard in the household until the next came in. He is now practicing what he learned on his own farm, and at the end of the week, month or year he has no great big grocery bill to worry him nights.

He informed us that his cows were more than paying their grocery bill at the present time, and had been doing so for months, not to mention their large poultry flock that provided a steady farm income and provided along with the milk and butter, a nourishing diet for the family, with plenty of home raised meat to season the stuff he saved from the garden. He informed us that he always killed a calf as early in the fall as possible, and this gave them plenty of good fresh meat until hog killing time.

Ben always raises plenty of feed for all the stock and for fattening the meat on the farm. And he raised some cotton too, mind you, but did not let that have his whole attention. However, Ben talked just like cotton would be a neglected article on his farm this year. In fact he sure is going to cut his acreage, good and deep.

Needless to mention to those who are personally acquainted with Ben that he is somewhat handicapped as he has but one arm. Therefore, we believe that Terry county farmers can the more earnestly take heed of the example set by Ben Wolffarth in conducting a real business institution on the farms of Terry county.

BILL PROTECTS QUAIL FOR FIVE YEARS

AUSTIN, Texas.—Recently a bill introduced in the lower house of the legislature placing a closed season of five years on quail in six West Texas counties, grew and grew under amendments from the floor until scores of counties in all parts of the State had come under its provisions. The bill was engrossed with the following counties placed under a five year closed season, in addition to Scurry, Borden, Kent, Garza, Stone-wall and Dickens in the original bill: Collin, Harrison, Fannin, Lamar, Polk, Jack, Navarro, Parker, Hays, Hale, Clay, Archer, Wichita, Taylor, Yoakum, Gaines, Dawson, Williamson Tom Green, Caldwell, Coleman, Brown, Limestone, Montgomery, Brazoria, Milam, Henderson, Montague, Rockwall, Kaufman, Rusk, Ellis, Johnson and Foard.

A finishing touch was put on the quail bill by the adoption of an amendment prohibiting residents of counties not protected by the bill from hunting quail in other counties permitting quail to be killed in season.

REUNION OF SCOTTISH RITE MASONS

Complete program of the 43rd Scottish Rite Masons Reunion in El Paso, beginning Monday evening March 28th and continuing each day and evening through April 1st, has been issued. From all indications there will be a class of approximately 175 candidates, and besides many members and visitors will be in attendance from all over West Texas and the Panhandle. A week of real Masonry is in store for all Masons in this territory according to the statement of Tom May 32nd local member of the El Paso bodies. More than fifty Master Masons in this City and vicinity have petitioned for these higher degrees.

The societies that agitate against bad language have had plenty to do while the income returns were being made out.

Court House Park To Be Beautified

A landscape artist from that department of the Texas Technological College, at Lubbock, was down this week and submitted plans and blue prints to the Commissioners' Court for beautifying the court square park grounds. His plans were unanimously accepted by the court. The plans call for about 150 evergreens and a number of shrubs, the list including the following: 33 Arizona Cypress; 8 Red Cedar; 9 Western Yellow Pine; 2 Deodar Cedar; 15 Chinese Arborvitae; 22 Dwarf Golden Arborvitae; 18 Norway spruce 100 California Privet; 10 Japanese Holly; 7 Euonymus; 11 Holly Leaved Photina; 5 Abelia; 6 Desert Sage; 8 Ramsey's Hybrid.

These have been harmoniously arranged from the curbing around the streets to the walks around the building as well as the walks to and from the streets, and when they are put in place and have the proper cultivation, they are going to make the court park look really beautiful.

Mr. John King, local nurseryman received the contract to put them out in the proper place and manner prescribed by the landscape gardener, and as Mr. King is an artist himself of no mean ability, and understands the nursery business as well as any man in West Texas probably, we are satisfied his work will be satisfactory in every way.

With the twelve additional beautiful ornamental lights around our public square, together with these beautiful shrubs and evergreens artistically arranged, and with the refreshing green grass to set off our noble building, no county in this section will enjoy a more beautiful building and grounds.

FORMER TERRY COUNTY BOY HURT AT AMARILLO

Joe A. Davis and A. C. Holcombe of Gomez received a phone call at midnight Thursday the inst., announcing the serious injury of their son and son-in-law, Ernest Davis in Amarillo. They passed through Brownfield, Friday on their way up there and came back Monday evening. They report that Ernest was hurt accidentally while working for a construction company in Amarillo putting in a waterline there. The injury was so serious that an immediate operation was necessary, the operation being delicate and dangerous, so much so that the doctors had little hope of his recovery. His father and Mr. Holcombe stayed up there 3 days and report that he was slowly improving when they left Monday. Ernest was operated on in the Northwest Texas hospital and will be detained there till he recovers. Ernest family resided in Brownfield with his family, consisting of his wife, formerly Miss Ruth Holcombe, and their little son, Junior, 2 years old.

HOW TO CASH IN ON STREET FIGHTS

Apparently the pugnaic tendency of congress has reached Littlefield, since the principal entertaining feature of the past two Saturdays has been street fights. From the standpoint of society street fights are not very elevating, but so far as the disputants are concerned, individually or collectively, the Leader don't give a continental darn.

We would suggest, however, since they have become so popular it might be well to reinstate "Trades Day," advertising one or two physical combats as the principal drawing card of the occasion. Let the Chamber of Commerce superintendent the fights, bouts and duels, if they go that far; let them appoint a special committee to make the arrangements beforehand so they can be well advertised, and have a referee named to call decisions and confer suitable medals, chevrons and bars on the victorious contenders.

Verily, civilization is yet only a thin veneer.—Littlefield Leader.

BULL IS RIGHT

Speaking at the Court House Monday

The writer has always contended since the completion of our new courthouse that it was the best and prettiest on the plains according to size and cost, and he still stays with it, but he found one very serious defect in the district court room Monday afternoon when he went over to hear some speeches. We don't believe we ever heard such acoustics in any building. In fact, there is no such animal over there. Whether the speaker cuts down to an ordinary conversation, are steps on it for the high C in oratory, it is just the same old humdrum roar of a million bumble bees together with the screams of the boys who are robbing them. Some of the audience may have got part of the speeches—their faces and occasional cheering proved it—but we did not get enough for it to even interest us. There is said to be a material now on the market to keep down the roar and help the acoustics wonderfully in large buildings. Well, it is certainly needed in our district court room.

But what we started to say was that a number of our farmers who are members of the Farm Labor Union called a meeting for Monday afternoon and especially invited the business men of the town in both the paper and by circulars printed, paid for and distributed here Saturday, but if there was a single Brownfield business man on hand they were hid under the seats, for we have pretty good eyes but dinged poor ears. Is it possible that our business men are not in sympathy with any movement of farmers in which they are trying to better themselves? Hardly. No, they believe they ought to organize, but probably believe in letting them work out their own salvation in fear and trembling. Anyway, they did not appear.

As to the talks, as stated above, their sweetness was all wasted on the desert air so far as we were concerned. About all we could catch was an occasion mention of a certain financial thoroughfare in New York and overproduction or underproduction of cotton. The speakers of the afternoon were Pres. J. A. Johnson, of Lou, of the State Union; C. D. Lusk, of Forrester, of the Terry county union, T. W. Moss and N. W. Jones, and we will vouch that all made good talks if they could have been heard above the roar of the building.

After vainly trying to hear what four speakers had to say, we left the building during a joint discussion by the former and later named gentlemen about something, and we assure you we would have stayed for that if we could have gotten anything out of it. W. H. Black, one of our county commissioners also tried for a few minutes to pit his voice against the roar and tumult.

We hope the next time any meeting like the above is held that at least some of our business men will turn out for respect at least, and that it be held out doors. Also we hope the commissioners will use any building funds they may have left over, if any, to put some deadening material on the walls and ceiling of our fine new district court room.

Fire Boys Make Quick Run Tuesday A. M.

A practice alarm that looked real was pulled here Tuesday, and the usual procession of cars followed up at a break neck speed only to see the boys put out a lot of corn shucks piled up in the rear of Fred Smith's property. Some of these days the follow up crowd is going to get disgusted and miss a real fire.

Water was turned on the blaze just four minutes after the alarm was turned in, although the Smith property is in the extreme southeast corner of the town or about a mile from the fire station.

ATTENTION PARENTS

Should you have a child who will be 7 and under 18 years of age on September 1, 1927 and who are residents of Brownfield district, who have not been enumerated this month will you please report to me. They should be enrolled that money may be set aside at Austin for them.

Rotary Club Has An Interesting Meeting

The Rotary Club had another very interesting meeting Friday evening at eight o'clock at the Hotel Brownfield, with a goodly number of the rollers on hand and willing and ready to devour the fine viands provided by this popular hostelry.

In view of the fact that the local club is just getting under way, most of the time was taken up in business matters considered vital to the club, but nevertheless Tom May had a good program on tap, and those who participated in it, responded like veterans, many being very amusing as well as helpful to those present.

At the suggestion of Morgan Copeland, local president, the idea of visiting other clubs and having them visit us, especially of nearby South plains towns was discussed, and it was agreed that this would be done by a few of the members occasionally, and we would thereby gain in the knowledge of the true meaning of Rotaryism by coming in contact with some of the older clubs of this section. A vote was then taken on the hour we would meet from this on, and the luncheon hour was set at noon sharp, each Friday. Jack Stricklin was elected reporter for the club with no restrictions on what was to be reported, so we should not be surprised to have this election recalled or at least investigated at a near future date.

The next meeting is today, noon, and lets all be there Johnny on the spot.

We neglected to mention the very great oration that Bob Bowers got off his chest. This alone was worth the price of a good feed.

THOMAS A. EDISON WORKING ON HIS MASTER INVENTION

FORT MYERS, Fla., Feb. 27.—Thomas A. Edison is working in his little shop at his winter home here these days on his master invention, which will, when perfected, he hopes and believes, make it possible for the United States to raise sufficient rubber to supply her own needs, and which will have a revolutionary effect on the South by displacing cotton growing with rubber producing.

The world-famous inventor revealed today in an exclusive two-hour interview in which he made known his deep rooted ambition to make this country free from dependence on other nations for its supply of crude rubber.

Edison is striving to overcome the labor problem by his master invention in the form of a machine which will crush the rubber plant, press the sap and separate the liquid rubber from the rosin.

He is working day and night, and the experiment is going on at the same bench where he perfected the electric light globe and the talking machine many years ago.

The electrical wizard is solving the many problems of his rubber pressing device, he asserted, and when it finally is perfected, he believes it will be the greatest of all his inventions.

HOLE-IN-THE-WALL BANK DANGEROUS

The National Association of Credit Men recovered practically $400,000 from fraudulent failures during the past 15 months, and convicted 122 commercial crooks.

This is a very small proportion of the losses from such frauds, which are estimated to be $250,000,000 a year. But the effect is good; the losses might have grown enormously, if these 122 professional operators had not been jailed, and others restrained through fear.

Some people still say, "I'm afraid of banks," and keep their money on their person or hidden about the place, to bring the footpad or murderer or to be lost by fire or their own death. The losses from the old sock and hole-in-the-wall banks are more than all those from credit frauds, bank failures and all breaches of trust; and the loss of life is a thousand times greater.

It is not prudence to hide money away; it is sheer idiocy.

A number of our fishermen left Monday for the point where the Pecos empties into the Rio Grande, and where the WATER runs all the year. They promised to remember the other.

ANAESTHETIC TAXATION

A number of state legislatures are considering enactment of state income tax laws as the easiest method of raising more taxes.

In a few Western States and some Eastern, there is an actual, well directed fight to reduce the general burden without creating new forms of taxes.

The state income tax in the undeveloped states has proved a highly powerful anaesthetic to put industrial development and general state prosperity to sleep.

Plainly stated, capital or accumulated savings, operate like the farm wagon or motor truck that spreads fertilizer on the land, helps reap the harvest, and moves the crops to market, and a state income tax lessens the ability of the vehicle to do its work—ties a boulder to one of its wheels and puts farm operations to sleep. It is the gas anaesthetic peddled by theorists, and produces a powerful soporific to slow down and prevent development of any commonwealth.

Undeveloped states, depending on growth of enterprises that require free movement of stored capital, at low rates of interest, to finance farming operations and open up livestock, lumbering, fisheries, mining and manufacturing, have only one need of a state or double income tax—and that is, to effectually apply this anaesthetic to business.

YOU CAN'T SEE A PARADE IF YOU ARE IN IT

"You can't really view a parade while you are a part of it. You must stand out of the line once in a while." The woman who said that gave it as the lesson of eight years in bed. And at almost no time has she been free from pain within that period.

Eight years ago Dorothea Antel left her dressing room in a Hartford (Conn.) theater and started down a flight of stairs to take her call. She tripped and fell, injuring her spine, with the result that she has to get such sleep as her malady allows sitting up in bed, encased in a steel jacket. She can not move from her position, except that one of her hands is useful and the other has been restored to some of its functions by means of a brace. She can move her head only to the right. And yet that girl is the head of a business which she is compelled to direct entirely by telephone and mail.

What has she to live for—this girl, who refused to die after more than half of her body went dead? Let her tell it as she told it to a writer of the Hartford Courant:

Outside my window there was an ash heap, and they (the neighborhood children) fixed it so flowers would grow, brought soil and seeds and tended their tiny garden every day. It was my garden, they said, and because they couldn't fix it so I could see it looking directly from my bed I fixed a mirror so I could see the flowers that way.

One night some boys from another neighborhood came and stole all my flowers.

Next morning my own little friends were heartbroken. They were crying when they came into my bedroom and told me my flower were gone. I told them not to mind, new flowers would grow soon. But what do you think they did? They couldn't wait for that, but went to store and bought some imitative flowers. And if they didn't tie them to the stems of the old flowers so that I could get the reflection in the mirror!"

Now Dorothea Antel, doomed to a life in rigid helplessness for the rest of her days—and nights—thinks that is worth living for. Is she not right? —Dallas News.

MELLON AND MONEY

Mr. Mellon is paying off the country's heavy war debt as part of the job he undertook when he became Secretary of the Treasury. He understands finance, and under his management the billions of public debt melt away. If Mr. Mellon continues at the present rate, Uncle Sam won't owe a dollar twenty-five years hence.

Mr. Mellon tries also to protect the people in their earnings widows children and the old especially, but that is harder work. You cannot force people to be wise. Treasury agents watch and prosecute sellers of fraudulent securities. But in spite of all effort Mr. Mellon shows that five hundred millions a year are taken dishonestly from the public savings.

TRUTH AND POETRY

Brooklyn: She's an angel in truth a demon in fiction. A woman's the greatest of all contradictions. She's afraid of a cockroach, she'll scream at a mouse, but she'll tackle a husband as big as a house. She'll take him for better, she'll take him for worse, she'll split his head open and then be his nurse. And when he is well, and gets out of bed, she'll pick up a teapot and throw at his head. She's faithful, deceitful, she's crafty, she's simple, she's cruel, she's kind. She'll lift a man up, she'll cast a man down, she'll play like a kitten and bite like a cat. In the morning she will, in the evening she won't, and you're always expecting she does but she don't.

We understand that Mr. Wm Butcher of the Pleasant Valley community, who was carried to the Lubbock Sanitarium suffering with a severe case of hiccoughs, has recovered.

SENATOR STANFIELD CHAMPION COUNTRY EDITORS

Theoretically, under the Constitution, we have a free press. To conserve, inspire and disseminate it will be to the high interests of a free people.

We have apotheosized it as "the Palladium of our Liberties," but we have failed in part to give it universal voice and scope.

The most conspicuous examples of the principle of free press are the Country Newspapers of America. In a peculiar sense, the Country Editors of the Nation hold a vital relation to the welfare of the Great Republic. They function intimately in the homes of our people, who are at once both their neighbors and their friends. In the aggregate, they speak to the largest constituency of the Nation, but they speak individually to relatively limited groups, as compared with their colleagues of the great Metropolitan Press.

Robert N. Stanfield, Ex-U. S. Senator

I am impressed that their charter and sphere of influence should be conserved and enlarged. I hold that the Countryside Editors, of right, should have the opportunity for Nation-wide hearing. Their voice and their message should have as wide dissemination, without hindrance, as the outgivings of the Metropolitan Press. This applies to Country Editors in general, and with special force to the Editors of Country Weeklies.

Perhaps it is to this circumscription of the Country Press that some of the economic ills of the American Farmers are due, since the farming communities, in large measure, are the constituents of the Country Newspapers. I am not touching upon the issues of Farm Relief, but it is not significant that the great industrial interests, which happily function under the aegis of the Metropolitan Press, have little difficulty in securing requisite stimulation?

If the voices of the Country Editors of the Nation could be heard as universally throughout the country and in the halls of legislation as the voices of their Metropolitan brethren, might not the status quo between Country and City be readjusted and crystallized?

There are just as good brains in the Country Editorial Sanctum as in the Metropolitan Sanctum. The difference in their influence is marked by their inequalities of dissemination. In Congress, for example, editorial notes or any installment of interest thereon when due, shall at the option of the holder of said notes, or either of them, mature each thereof, and in such event the holder thereof may proceed in the same manner as if the entire series of said notes had fully matured, and also providing for ten per cent additional on the amount then due if same be placed in the hands of an attorney for collection, given in part payment for the purchase money for the Northeast Quarter (NE $\frac{1}{4}$) of Section Number 116 in Block "T" in Terry County, Texas.

And, Whereas, thereafter, to wit, on the 11th day of September 1926, the said H. M. Prince and wife conveyed said property to J. H. Eubanks and among other considerations, the said J. H. Eubanks assumed the payment of said notes, said deed bearing date on the day and year last aforesaid, and duly recorded in Vol. 25 page 451 of the Deed Records of Terry County, Texas;

And, Whereas, the said A. M. Brownfield is the holder and owner of all of said notes, and the said J. H. Eubanks and H. M. Prince have made default in the payment of the note due December 1st, 1926, and the annual interest due on all of said notes on December 1st, 1926, and the same is now past due and unpaid principal, interest and attorney's fees, by reason thereof, as is provided in said notes and in said Deed of Trust, the said A. M. Brownfield has declared each of said notes and all of said indebtedness immediately due and mature, and has therefore so notified the said J. H. Eubanks and H. M. Prince, in writing; and,

Whereas, each of said notes is now past due and unpaid, now aggregating principal, interest and attorney's fees, the sum of $3,544.00; and,

Whereas, I have been requested by the said A. M. Brownfield to enforce said trust,

I will offer for sale, between the legal hours thereof, to wit: between the hours of 10 o'clock A. M. and 4 o'clock P. M. at public auction, to wit: on the 5th day of April, A. D. 1927, at the Courthouse door in the town of Brownfield, Terry County, Texas, the following described property, to wit: All of the Northeast Quarter (NE $\frac{1}{4}$) of Section Number One Hundred Sixteen (116) in Block "T" in Terry County, Texas, with all the rights, members and appurtenances thereto in anywise belonging.

Witness my hand this 1st day of March, A. D. 1927.

(3-25) W. A. Bell, Trustee.

utterances of the great City dailies are frequently read into the Congressional Record. It would be interesting to note how many Country Editors have been thus honored.

It is probably not impressed upon the mind of the distinguished Senator from Virginia, that the first bill in Congress providing for regional banks embodying some of the essential features of our Federal Reserve System, was written by ex-United States Senator Henry Clay Hansbrough, a Country Editor and Printer, of North Dakota, and introduced by him on December 4, 1907. Senator Hansbrough called his proposed system "The Central National Bank of the United States," to operate in fifteen regional districts, with power to "fix weekly the rate of discount," to "issue demand notes in the form of currency," and to "rediscount for solvent National or State Banks and make loans to the same upon satisfactory security." This is the meat of the present Federal Reserve System. This same Country Editor was also the author of our present National Irrigation Law.

The Metropolitan Press is fond of recognizing and exploiting certain able Country Editors, whose outgivings have frequent and liberal space in big city papers. Some of these editors are not strictly representative of rural opinion or psychology.

There are many other Country Editors whose views, if disseminated, may stir the Nation and influence Congress. The rural community is frequently the arena of events which concern the country at large, but fail of adequate exploitation because of the limitations of the home editor and his newspaper.

It is admitted that the Metropolitan Press has exploited some of the outstanding sensational events which have had their setting in the Countryside; but there may be other important conditions or events, not strictly sensational, which fail of adequate Metropolitan notice.

Means should be found for remedying this hiatus in the operation of our free press. It may well be anticipated that the Countryside, through its Editors, its spokesmen and its votes, will more and more emphatically speak for that fair play which it estimates is long overdue.

TECH TO GIVE SIX WEEKS TO COTTON CLASSIFICATION

LUBBOCK, TEXAS, March 14.—Continuing their policy of offering the youth of the Southwest all possible instructions in textile work the officials of Texas Technological College will offer a six weeks cotton classing course during the summer session from June 7 to July 16.

The cotton classing school will be under the supervision of the textile department of the engineering school and Professor E. W. Camp, head of the department, will be in charge of the classes. Besides the regular cotton classing and study work students will be given special emphasis on the testing of textiles which are made in the school.

Regular courses in textile work will be offered if there are enough advanced students to take the work. Professor Camp has a very thorough knowledge of textiles. He came to Tech from the Georgia School of Technology where he was an instructor for a number of years. He has conducted a number of cotton classing courses there during the summer sessions.

During the latter part of the summer Prof. Camp will visit the leading textile mills of the United States to make further study of textile machinery and mill management.

The time is right at hand when we are to elect both city and school officials for the coming year. In most places not so large as Brownfield, people think enough of the city officials to announce for them, but one never knows who is running here until election day. Of course, no one has ever been known to ask for the office of school trustee, but just the same it is a very important office, and should, like city councilmen, be filled with the best talent to be found in the community.

From the appearance of Dr. Paul Horn in his latest photograph in which he appears in a suit of clothes manufactured by the Tech, he appears to be putting on quite a bay window, showing that the South Plains climate is to his making. Also we notice that the brush around the upper life so conspicuous when he arrived in Lubbock, have done the fade out. Whether wind or razor, we know not.

We have traveled a little and seen a good many different things, and we have had a good many different things thrust upon our vision at home, but one thing we have never seen a ten year old boy galivanting the streets in a girl's dress, and further, we are utterly unable to understand why a girl should desire to roam about in boy's clothing, when she looks a thousand per cent nicer and sweeter in her own particular style of dress. But they do it.—Henrietta Independent.

What kind of a frog are you? This question was recently asked by a fellow who wanted to illustrate the point that some showed the white rag too soon and told this yarn about two frogs falling into a churn of milk. Frog No. 1 swam around a few minutes and finding there was no possible show of scaling the walls, fell back and gave up the ghost, with only a few bubbles to mark the place of his "last scene." No. 2 remarked that he was going to stay on top as long as he could and see if anything turned up before he gave up. So he kept "churning" around, and finally created a mound of butter upon top of which he hoped and sang his song of triumph. Are you frog No. 1 or No. 2?

And now after fifty years of legend we are informed that Mrs. O'Leary's cow did not kick over the lantern that started the Chicago fire. A newspaper reporter of that day, now growing quite old, and probably dreading to face the judgment and a falsely accused cow, has acknowledged it was all a hoax. Now that this pretty little fairy story along with the Washington cherry tree affair has been rudely snatched from us by a couple of materialistic bo-hunks, we look almost any day for some such guy to come along and deny that Abe ever split a rail. It is getting so in this country that about all the romance of our country has been removed, and they are trying to load us up on the fact that our revolutionary fathers were mere measly cowards and never won a battle. We suppose they just wore out the British leading them around over the country.

The question has arisen in several states as to whether or not publicly owned utilities should pay taxes to the state and county. It seems that in several of the western states that publicly owned utilities have become quite common, especially along the Pacific seaboard, and while doing a business in competition with privately owned utilities, are paying no city, county or state taxes, and the farmers are complaining that they are having to bear an extra burden of taxes for this reason. The farmers also reason that if these utilities were owned by private individuals, they would be bearing their just burden of the taxes, and as a consequence would somewhat ease up matters on them. Therefore they are demanding that publicly owned utilities be made to pay county and state taxes at least, the same as any other business institution.

Lyceums and chautauqs are gradually dying the death to which they are entitled under the management most of them obtain. Several who attended the last number of the Littlefield Lyceum last week spoke of it in a very depreciating manner, some going so far as to declare it "rotten." For the past three years most of the talent coming to Littlefield in these programs has been very mediocre, some of it could be better than duplicated by local citizens and high school pupils. Yet for this "high class" entertainment the company putting it on must always have a financial guarantee from local citizens who invariably become the "goat" at the end of the series. Littlefield appreciates and will gladly patronize a lyceum of real talent, but they are already well fed on the kind that won't come to town on its own merits and responsibilities.—Littlefield Leader.

SHOWER IS GIVEN FOR RECENT BRIDE

Mrs. Horace Rambo, who before her recent marriage was Miss Mildred Hahn, daughter of Mrs. Tipton, was the honor guest on Wednesday afternoon, when Mrs. Claude Hudgens and Mrs. Monroe Telford entertained with a lovely party, at the beautiful home of Mrs. W. B. Downing.

Miss Jewel Graves presided over the "Brides Book" in which a number of friends registered. Mesdames Hudgens and Telford were assisted by Mrs. Roy Herod and Mrs. Downing and several intimate friends of the bride in the nice little courtesies extended. Program was given quite artistically by Mrs. Herod, Miss Holgate who sang beautifully, Virginia May and Queenelle Sawyer, a popular song in sweet and dainty voices. Kathryn Holgate's reading, "In the Usual Way" was nicely done. "When Mother's at the Club," was a pretty reading given by Kathleen Alexander. Queenelle Sawyer gave a clever little reading, "Boys." As the program was brought to a close, the little procession entered, two artistically decorated wagons appeared, one drawn by Billie Joe McGowan and Kathleen Alexander, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Bowers, Bobbie Virginia, being seated, was surrounded by a number of beautiful gifts. Following closely was another wagon, drawn by Queenelle Sawyer and Virginia May. The brides admiringly gave the guests a glimpse of her wonderful remembrances, which were of a miscellaneous nature. All of which were intended to please her and beautify her home. Mrs. Telford played several piano numbers during the serving of refreshments. A plate with an Easter suggestion of artificial grass and colored eggs, strawberry ice cream and angel food cake squares were served and greatly enjoyed. Concluding the lovely party was the Charleston dance by little Miss Jean Lees with Mrs. Lees accompanying her on the piano. Mrs. Roy Wingerd gave a toast to the bride.

The guests at the shower whose names were registered were, Mesdames R. W. and C. R. Rambo, Irving Rambo, Earl Alexander, Joe J. McGowan, Downing, Collins, Michie, Bowers, Copeland, Lees, Henry Alexander, McDuffie, Ray Brownfield, Howard Swan, Holgate, A. A. Sawyer, Telford, Herod, May, Graham, Dallas, Baldwin, C. L. Green, M. V. Brownfield, Wingerd, Arnett Bynum, H. R. Winston, and Misses Graves, Lindley and Voncille Holgate.

Mrs. Chas. Hamilton was hostess to the Friday Forty-two Club at the home of Mrs. Simon Holgate on Saturday afternoon, March 12. This attractive home was extremely so on this occasion. Shades were drawn and lights with opaque shades used, which cast a pretty glow. Five tables were used for the game of 42. Pretty tallies were of shamrock design, and a reminder of St. Patrick Day in the true Irish green colors. On each table were candies of a variety to be enjoyed during the process of the game. Linens were placed and a most delicious menu served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Holgate and daughter, Kathryn, was sandwiches of chicken, pickles, fruit and nut salad, iced tea, fruit and nut pies with whipped cream for topping and dotted here and there with candies in the green colors. Guests of this lovely party were Mesdames Holgate, Kendrick, Earl G. Alexander, Baldwin, Claude Hudgens, John C. Scudday, Thomas, C. R. Rambo, Downing, Knight, H. W. McSpadden, Brothers, W. C. Smith, Lees, Wingerd, Dallas, and Miss Margaret Bell.

The next meeting of the club will be March 25th with Mrs. R. M. Kendrick, at this time the "Sunshine" friend will again be remembered.

NEGRO MINSTREL BROUGHT A FULL HOUSE

One of the principal attractions of the past week was staged at the Rialto Theatre on Thursday night, given by local talent in the form of a Negro Minstrel. Messrs. J. B. Jackson, Judge Geo. W. Neill, Ben Hilliard, Alton Webb, Arnet Bynum, Joe Shelton, Jim Youree, Tom May, E. G. Lewis and Fladger Tannery were chief entertainers. The players were ably supported by a chorus of pretty young ladies. An Old Fashioned Girl was sung by Miss Holgate in colonial costume. Miss Ann Bell was an added attraction and a graceful dancer. Miss Fay Brown and Jim Youree sang a most pleasing number. Mr. Alton Webb sang Swanee Blues, and responded with a song playing his own banjo accompaniment. The cow-girl stunt composed of small girls was pretty indeed, and brought forth hearty applause. Mrs. Roy Herod sang a popular solo. Perhaps the whistling solos and songs given by Mr. Tom May were the greatest hit of the evening entertainment. Miss Hamilton in true "topsy" costume sang "Kentucky Babe."

The entire performance was directed by Miss Eileen Phillips with Miss Castleberry accompanist.

REV. BALL AND FAMILY TO RESIDE AT RULE, TEX.

It is with a decided deep regret to our citizens to lose Rev. C. E. Ball and family. Rev. Mr. Ball has accepted the call to the pastorate of the Baptist church at Rule, Texas, and left for that place and new field of labor on Tuesday.

Brother Ball, as he is known to so many in the community, has endeared himself to not only his church, but to all of Brownfield. His estimable family hold a high position in the hearts of our best citizens, who wish them good speed in their life's endeavors, and hope they may find loyal supporters and friends in their new home. Their work in Brownfield will live on and on in our memories.

Mrs. G. S. Webber has been out of town visiting in Hereford, where she went to witness the play given by the High School pupils. Glenn Noble, her son, played a very important role in the cast.

Broken Umbrella

One rainy day as I was going to work my wife gave me an umbrella which was broken. It would open without pressing the button. Thinking it was better than nothing on a rainy day I took it. When I got on the street car it was crowded so I had to stand. Suddenly the umbrella opened up and with it lifted the dresses of the women around. I was never so embarrassed in all my life.—G. Laws Against Profanity

In 1794 the Pennsylvania legislature passed an act providing that any person over sixteen years blaspheming, cursing, or profaning the name of Almighty God should be fined the sum of 67 cents or be confined in the house of correction 24 hours. In 1804 it was amended that the perpetration of a curse or oath involved a penalty of 40 cents or detention for 12 hours in the house of correction.

SIXTH GRADE PICNIC

Four o'clock Monday afternoon found six cars and two trucks which were to carry fifty-six pupils, teachers and parents, to say nothing about the cats, to the high flat west of Seven Lakes for a class picnic. In due time the lakes were reached and then the fun began. We played Capture the Flag and Dare Base. We found the negro soldiers graves who drank the alkali water and died years and years ago. About sundown we were called around a bon-fire where the feast began. The home call was then given and we reluctantly loaded in the cars for the return trip.

Those who made it possible for our class to have such a pleasant time were our teachers, Misses Nancy and Elizabeth Dumas, Mrs. A. R. Brownfield, Mrs. A. M. Brownfield, Mrs. Roy Wingerd, Mrs. Rickles, Mr. J. Y. Taylor, Mr. Goodpasture and Mr. Graves.

RESOLUTIONS

March 13, 1927.

We your committee appointed to draft resolutions of our high regard, affectionate love and deep interest in our departing pastor, Bro. C. E. Ball, submit the following:

Resolve first, that we rejoice with him in the many and lasting friends he has made while in our midst.

Under his leadership the church has advanced from a small wooden structure to the first unit of a modern brick building. From an unorganized to a well organized Sunday School with class and departmental rooms. From a church membership of about three hundred to more than five hundred.

His relations with the church have been indeed pleasant, profitable and worthy of commendation. And his five years of unstinting, untiring, unselfish and highly spiritual service has meant so much to the advancement and development of the church.

Therefore be it further resolved that while we are losing a good true and worthy citizen of the highest type, a pastor of deep convictions who is worthy of the most loyal cooperation and deepest love of the church membership and the community, that Rule, Texas is gaining a pastor and a family to be appreciated.

Bro. Ball's leaving is of his own initiative and we all feel that it is according to the leadership of the Lord.

Be it further resolved that a copy of these resolutions be placed on the church record and a copy sent to the Baptist Standard for publication.

Respectfully submitted,

Mrs. R. W. Rambo
J. L. Cruce
Mrs. Ivey Savage
K. W. Howell
H. H. Copeland.

May God place his favored blessings upon you all is our sincere prayer.

NOTHING ELSE BUT—

Some years ago a Hoboken Irishman owned a goat. Another Irishman who was tax assessor taxed the aforesaid goat at four dollars. The owner of the goat took the assessor to task and demanded to know why this family pet was assessed at that sum.

"That is strictly in accordance with the statutes of the sovereign state of New Jersey," replied the assessor.

"I demand the proof," said the indignant owner.

The assessor thereupon read to his bewildered countryman the following statute on taxes: "All property abutting and abounding on the public street shall be taxed at the rate of two dollars per front foot."

The young people are called "flaming youth," and anyway the gasoline burns when they get around in Brownfield.

In view of the steady work in most lines of business the past season, it has been a hard winter for tramps and vagrants.

The 13,000 new laws that the state legislatures are passing during this year's sessions, will at least do good by making work for the printers.

TECH PROFESSOR WINS IN SONG CONTEST

LUBBOCK, Texas, March 15.—Professor W. R. Wagborne, head of the department of Music of Texas Technological College, has been awarded a prize of $150 for an anthem, "The Lord Shall Comfort Zion" which was judged the best of one thousand submitted in the contest. The Lorenz Publishing Co. of Dayton, Ohio, who conducted the contest, advised that many of the more prominent composers of the country submitted anthems.

Professor Wagborne previously won a substantial cash prize from a London publishing house for an anthem, "The Glory of the Lord," submitted in a similar contest. Professor Wagborne received his education in the University of Edinburgh, Scotland, and during the war period he was musical director for the Y. M. C. A. in a number of army camps. For five years he was musical director of the department of recreation of Houston, Texas, coming from that place to the Texas Tech.

Kiev, Ukraine, Feb. 23.—Severe sentences have been passed on ten firemen convicted. MAN POWER COMPARED WITH MECHANICAL POWER

When one looks at the Chinese Wall, the Pyramids or the Roman Roads, and thinks of the misery and death which accompanied their building, one questions whether the accomplishment was worth the price in human suffering.

What a contrast between these ancient methods of construction and the power era which Our Country enjoys today.

One American workman with his power equipment can do more work in a day than a hundred, or in many cases a thousand, Roman slaves could do in the same time.

As an example, take the modern tractor in road construction, logging and farming. With one man, it will do more work in a day than scores of helpless slaves. And so with the electric motor. Such mechanical power has changed the position of workmen from mere laborers into efficient producers, with corresponding advance in wages and living standards. What a contrast to the ancient man-killing methods of production.

AMERICAN BOYS TALLER THAN GRANDPAS WERE

The American boys of today are at least 2 inches taller than their grandpas were when they were boys, asserts Dr. Horace Gray of the Institute for Juvenile Research in Chicago. Measurements of the heights of over 1,000 boys of American born parents were compared with the heights of boys measured over fifty years ago by another scientist. The increase in height may be attributed to the increasing knowledge of health and disease control, thinks Dr. Gray.

METHODIST SUNDAY SCHOOL PASS RESOLUTIONS

Brownfield, Texas, March 16, 1927
We, your committee by unanimous acclamation of the Methodist Sunday School in session, being instructed to voice our appreciation of Bro. C. E. Ball and family in a letter of recognition for service rendered to this community during his sojourn among us, do hereby formulate our resolutions as follows:

Resolved: That we hold Bro. Ball as a valuable asset in our community, participating heartily in the betterment of our community's affairs, affiliating with our churches and in a personal way to the ethical limit officially; and a warm, loving friend, personally rejoicing with those that rejoice, and weeping with those in sorrow.

That we have a better conception of Christian fellowship since we have had the privilege of knowing Bro. Ball.

That we regret losing a family held in such high esteem in our community, but congratulate those people wherever Bro. Ball is called in securing a whole-souled man of God.

That a copy of this letter be handed to Bro. Ball and that a copy be printed in our city paper. May God's blessings rest upon you and yours, wherever you may go.

NEEDMORE

By Sand Devil.

Farming is now in full swing with a goodly number of the plowmen nearing completion.

The Martin boys were in your city Saturday.

Mr. Prey of Lubbock was here this week attending to business.

Mr. Jobe was shopping in Brownfield, Saturday.

This week a nice piano was added to our school equipment by the patrons. Hereafter at the closing of Sunday School there will be singing. Come and bring your friends.

In a recent issue of one of our state papers, there was published a long drawn out article, pertaining to the glorious revenues to be obtained from crop diversification. In flowery, yet forceful language, the writer went on to explain how simple and easy it would be for a farmer adhering to the practice, too in a few years be able to purchase a luxurious home for himself, ride in a Rolls Royce bus, besides acquire a few small farms to lease out to tenant goat heads. "Nowfarmers, Tumble Weed in philosophizing upon this article marveled just why it was that here in Terry county where the soil will permit nothing short of diversification, also in view of the fact that in 1926 the farmers throughout the agricultural belt went cotton mad, planting the fence corners to the fleecy white. Just why good corn sold as low as 38 cents per bushel; maize 8 dollars per ton; kaffir not worth a darn; cane a disgrace to any self-respecting citizen; all other crops in proportion; does seem funny doesn't it? Finally the old farmer closed by saying, that in his opinion, this late 1927 model of the term diversification, like the much abused word "absolutely," was used only as an Americanism, without the slightest meaning whatsoever. And in respect of the mother tongue, both, for a time at least, should be cut out of the English language, laid on a er he could see but one hope let 99 percent of his land lay fallow, plant the other 1 per cent in hen teeth. Cultivate in a slip shod manner, then more than likely some fellow would get up and yell an over production, giving as a reason we ain't got no hens to use'em. However he concluded, I note eggs are not selling at fifty cents a piece.

A STRIKE INCIDENT

During the recent strike in England the volunteer driver of the London-Liverpool express performed the miraculous feat of bringing the great train into Liverpool twenty-five minutes ahead of schedule time. The passengers went forward in a body to thank him. A pale green face emerged from the cab. "Don't thank me," it gasped; "thank God; I only found out how to stop this thing 10 minutes ago."

ONE OF THE FUNNIEST

"Oh! What a Nurse!" the new Syd Chaplin picture which comes to the Rialto Theatre on Monday for a run of two days, is said to be one of the funniest pictures ever screened. Critics in other cities have used up all the adjectives they've got in trying to say that this picture will get every laugh you've got. They all agree it is funnier than "Charley's Aunt" or "The Man on the Box," the pictures that lifted Syd Chaplin to the top as a screen comedian.

The new picture was written by Robert E. Sherwood, editor of "Life" and Bertram Bloch. It concerns the mad adventure of a newspaper reporter, who, forced into the garments of a bootleg queen, runs into an astounding series of misadventures aboard a lugger.
