Chamber of Commerce CURRENTS

By the Secretary

About one of the most difficult propositions to deal with in a time like this, is to persuade our citizens that our county is not in as desperate a condition as some of them would have you believe. Conditions are not normal by any means and business may not be as good as all of us would like to have it but largely due to the fact that we were able to market a big corn crop and a lot of our people have their cows and chickens, we are a long way from starvation. Our cotton production may be less than one half of last year, but present indications are that it will bring a much better price and put more money into the country.

The crop may be delayed in planting, but in most portions of the county it is up and growing nicely and if rains are received within the next few weeks, it will mean an almost assured crop. Some sections are dry and not likely to make much, but I have lived here eleven years and have yet to see big production in all districts. I was raised in a county that had to call upon the state for food and horse feed for one year and we are a long shot from that point.

Let every "knacker" put his hammer on the shelf and get a smile on his face. Conditions will then not only look better but will be better and after all remember that with normal conditions prevailing that we have sufficient time within which to mature a crop.

The State Department of Agriculture places the cotton production at about 13,000,000 bales and predicts a price of twenty cents.

A few people have reported that their hogs are not doing well and others that turkeys have some kind of ailment. This office has bulletins dealing with diseases and ailments of hogs and turkeys. Several people have been furnished with these and report good success where directions were followed. Remember they are free for the asking.

June 28, 1927.

Secretary of Chamber of Commerce,
Dear Sir:

Every summer a large number of Texas motorists spend their vacations in their cars, traveling over the state and frequently to other states, and they form a large portion of our principal highways, especially at night.

We are writing to request you to call the attention of the local motorists to the necessity of having their headlights and tail lights properly adjusted before starting on cross country trips.

A car should never be driven during hours requiring artificial illumination with only one headlamp burning and tail light out. These are most dangerous practices and direct violations of the law.

There is a tendency on the part of some motorists to give very little attention to the lighting equipment of their cars. Tail lights may have been burned out ever so long before they become aware of it. Likewise, many drive with but one headlamp burning. This is not done with the knowledge of the driver, in most cases, but occurs through carelessness.

It is generally agreed that the headlight law is a good law and that it will accomplish much if it is properly observed. We realize if the law is to accomplish the purpose for which it was established, there must be cooperation on the part of all concerned. We are making this earnest appeal, therefore, to the good citizens of the State to cooperate with us to secure better observance of this law. We are asking this in the interest of the people and for their safety.

Yours very truly,

Texas Highway Department,
By W. E. Schulin, Automobile
Headlight Division.

What The Texas Automobile Headlight Law Requires

The Texas Automobile Headlight Law requires that motor vehicles traveling on the highway at night comply with the following:

1. Two headlights must be burning.
2. The headlights must be properly adjusted.
3. The tail light, either red or yellow, must be burning.

R. C. Newsom Has Hopes of A Crop Yet

There has been reports from various parts of the county, and especially the northern part that cotton was dying for want of sufficient moisture to sustain the small plant. This seems to be the complaint almost every year when the plant is young and the earth hot and dry, but after a week or so, there seems to be a let up in this dying, and the survival of the fittest is the result, and then along in August there seems to always be plenty of cotton on the ground. We hope this will be the result this year too.

This belief is verified by R. C. Newsom, of west Terry who was in Saturday selling produce, for he said he had noticed that as soon as these little plants had time to send down a tap root to the winter moisture, and put out their feeders toward the center of the row, all at once these all but seemingly dead plants revived up, and would if well cultivated and the ground kept free of weeds, make some growth until a rain came to their rescue.

The idea is not to lose heart, but keep pressing the collar and keep the ground in good shape and free from weeds that will sap up what moisture there is. Plant life gets a great deal of moisture from the air too, a great deal more than you think. To leave the country now for some other place that you do not have any surety of finding any work is foolhardy. In the 18 years the writer has been here the country has rewarded those who hung and rattled it of these.

Much Improvement on Courthouse Grounds

The County Commissioners have been doing considerable work of improvement on the courthouse park, and that place now looks fully 100 percent better and not only is attracting the attention and favorable comment of the home folks, but is inciting to travelers who happen along. The cool inviting shade, and the clean appearance of the grounds cause them to stop and take their lunch on some of the seats provided, and makes a lasting impression with them.

The trees, which are green and vigorous, have been given a coating of white wash, and the blooming shrubs and evergreens around the building makes a picture not easily forgotten by we people who live out here on these level prairies.

The grounds are being double diked this week by John Barnum, followed by a good dragging that puts the ground in fine shape. The courthouse park has always been a source of pride to the Terry county people, and each year it seems to be more appreciated, especially with the improvements going on all the time.

Mrs. N. Chavis Died Tuesday Morning

The town was shocked Tuesday morning to learn of the sudden death of Mrs. Norman Chavis. She only lived about thirty minutes after being seriously stricken, and everything was done by attending physicians to no avail, and at 4:30 the spirit returned to its maker.

Mrs. Chavis was Miss Ethel Franklin in maidenhood, and was well and favorably known here. She married Mr. Chavis about 18 months ago. The body was prepared for burial, and funeral services were conducted at the Methodist church by the Baptist pastor, Rev. E. V. May in the absence of her pastor at Temple, Texas. The body was laid to rest in the Brownfield Cemetery about 6 p. m. followed by a long procession of sorrowing relatives and friends and laid to rest.

Joe Shelton who was recently operated on at the Lubbock Sanitarium is convalescing, and will soon return home.

See that your car is equipped accordingly so you will not be stopped on the highways at night for not complying with the law.

WAKE NIGHT DRIVING SAFE IN TEXAS.

How the Fourth Was Spent in Brownfield

The Fourth of July was a sure enough "Blue Monday" in Brownfield, so far as people being on the streets was concerned. Just where they went to or what they did would be a proposition to figure out. It is certain, however, they were not in town. They may have gone out in the country to get green beans and garden truck with friends, or passed clear out of the county to cities that were celebrating.

Practically every store in Brownfield closed early in the day and the owners scattered that's all. However, while they were down they put out their flags so that those who might pass through the city would know that Brownfield people realized what day it was. But even the drug stores and eating joints seemed to be deserted.

During the morning, a number of our billiard players gathered at the Legion Hall for a tournament, which began with a process of elimination, and finally narrowed down to Mayor Joe J. McGowan and Jack Tierahn, and was won by the Mayor. The golf boys say it is impossible to play that game any longer as the grounds have grown up in weeds, and a fellow is liable to get rattlesnake bit or wasp-nest stung if he tries that game with the grounds in the present condition. They say it is hardly practical to have the grounds mowed on account of bumps, ruts, and mesquite bushes. In fact, it is reliably reported that Bob Bowers encountered a rattlesnake or bear one, over there recently.

At night, however, all the people seemed to have come home from somewhere, for a large crowd was at the Radio Theatre for a good show, featuring Florence Vidler in "You Never Know Women." Also a Fox News reel giving Lindbergh's reception in Paris, France, and a hair raising comedy put on by "Our Gang." The show seemed to have been a good ending of the 1927 Fourth.

MILLER AND WIRTZ TO MAKE RACE FOR OFFICES IN STATE

AUSTIN June 27 (AP).—Lieutenant Governor Barry Miller of Dallas and State Senator A. J. Wirtz of Seguin plan to take the field together for governor and lieutenant governor respectively, if all things work out well, it was learned definitely today.

Miller and Wirtz "jow-wowed" all day yesterday at Wirtz's home.

Wirtz already virtually has verified an announcement that he will run for lieutenant governor. Miller, although he will not say that he will run, is known to be a prospective candidate, provided Governor Don Moody does not seek re-election. To repeated questions, Miller answered "I'm through with the present office. I'll either seek something higher or else."

NEW MEXICO FARMER MAKING OWN PROSPERITY

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Westbrock, whose farm-ranch is situated within the Tatum "sphere of influence," were callers at the Courier office Monday (stream day.) Mrs. Westbrock brought for our office show window some branches of currant bushes, with ripened fruit which were literally crowding each other off the limbs. Mrs. Westbrock, who runs herself a Lea county border, says they have quantities of the same kind, as well as other varieties of fruit. The Westbrocks, in addition to sheep, stock and general farming, are giving good care and attention to a home garden, which they say is in fine shape. Sheep shearing of the flock owned by them has just been finished with satisfactory results.—Tatum (X. X.) Courier.

Rev. E. V. May, pastor of the local Baptist church showed us a sample of a monthly magazine he is having printed for his church. It was a very neat and well printed magazine in colors, and speaks well for the energy of the pastor. The magazine was well supported by local firms, and the Herald was pleased to note that Rev. May is a good enough soldier to get some firms here to advertise that the Herald has never been able to touch.

The Rotary Club Has A Great Outing

Up to the present all the get-together affairs of the local Rotary Club have been held at the Hotel Brownfield, and all have been highly enjoyed, as Mr. Bond is an excellent host, but at a recent meeting it was decided that some diversion should be had, and it was decided to hold the next meeting out at the sand hills on the Brownfield ranch, at sundown, instead of at noon, Friday.

So, along toward sundown Friday evening, many cars would be seen winding their ways toward the Brownfield ranch, a bunch of cold pop, sandwiches, fried chicken, cake and bread having already proceeded them, which had been prepared under the direction of Everett Whittle and Flem McSpadden.

Arriving at the location, those who mounted the sand dunes had some real thrills watching some of the boys try to go over these high sand dunes in their cars, but Ray Brownfield and Tom May seemed to have been the Tom Mix and Buck Jones of the occasion. There is quite an art in going over these sand hills, but balloon tires are best for it and you must not stop. At top speed a car seems to glide over them with ease, but if you stop, you have to push in low and get all the men you can around to extricate it.

About sundown, the "whoo" was spread out on the auto seats and the Rotarians and guests were invited to march around army style and get them while they were hot. Extra precautions had been taken to care for those who had been to their dentures for their last time, and as Tom May was presented with a nice little ham filled with milk and a beautiful new yellow rubber apple thermos. Every body laughed ill-manneredly at Tom, and he even tried to grin, but you know if he tries to laugh his lip try to turn back and are liable to choke him. However, Tom explained that it was no joking matter with him, but was life and death, for he was his second childhood. He never made a nice piece of poetry about it, and we are real sorry that we are unable to reproduce some in these columns.

After the lineup, Elder Liff Sanders read the invocation, and a good feast was enjoyed by all.

After the report, the audience was favored with a solo by Clyde Lewis, which opened the regular hour program. Interesting talks were made by Morgan Copeland and Liff Sanders, some verses by Tom May, and then a general discussion of things for the betterment of the town and community. The program closed with a general singing of "The Little Brown Church in the Wilderness."

Besides members, guests were, Liff Sanders, Ralph Carter, Zuma Burke, Dan Lewis, Ray Brownfield, I. A. Stephens, W. F. McDuffie, and T. H. Wilson. There may have been others overlooked in the dark by the writer.

LUBBOCK CAMPFIRE GIRLS ENTERTAINED HERE

A troupe of 15 of the Lubbock Camp Fire Girls, the senior organization of the Boy Scouts, under the direction of their director, Mrs. Walter Broughton, came down June 28th during the afternoon for a demonstration here of the work, and were entertained in the home of Mrs. and Mrs. J. L. Randall for the night. A troupe of the order will likely be organized here in the near future.

During the evening these girls put on their work on the school grounds for the pleasure and edification of a large crowd of local people, and many favorable comments were heard of the benefits girls could derive from membership in the order.

The girls, as stated above, were entertained dinner party fashion in the Randall home during the night, and a real camp breakfast served in the backyard next morning, being joined by several of the local Boy Scouts. All expressed themselves very favorably for the delightful way they were entertained here.

TOO CONSPICUOUS

"For beating your wife, I will fine you $100," said the judge. "I don't object to the dollar," said the prisoner, "but what is the 10 cents for?" "That," said the judge, "is the federal tax on amusement."

No Trouble To Lease Your Land Now

J. D. Biles has leased his land in Yoakum County to three of the major oil companies, receiving over $15,000 for his 4,000 acres. The big companies are now after the royalty on this land and he is likely to secure a fancy price for same.

The above clipping from the Big Spring Herald only illustrates how easy it is to present to lease your lands in Yoakum and Terry counties. Of course you get more money in some sections than others, according to formations and the opinion of geologists, but one can get some kind of a price in nearly any portion of the two counties.

Indeed the Herald could almost fill the paper each week with such transfers and the opinion of various and sundry geologists, but such things are too liable to excite people and cause them to do and say rash things. In fact we did for a time report certain geologists or groups of them and lease people as being at local hotels, but the people with land and those of an inquisitive nature made it hot for both the Herald and the hotel men making where certain parties could be found that wanted to lease lands, so we decided to cut out such publication for the present anyway. We vary often put in something about both "lease bounds" and "trick bounds" so-called in these columns, but we do not tell their business, merely state that they were or are here on business.

In fact, the hotels at times are crowded with groups of these people, and has been for the past year or more, and from what we can get from them they all believe there is oil or gas here, perhaps both, but mostly they seem to favor the territory lying southwest of Brownfield, and extending into Gaines and Yoakum counties.

We understand that another of our largest land holders is now negotiating with a good company for a test southwest of this city, and there are under way good prospects of some real finds in Yoakum county, and with one actually under way in Gaines county.

We certainly hope that something is found under this section in the way of fuel, for there is certainly nothing of the kind on top, as the "gruber" and "cow-ships" have long been used up, and all fuels have to be shipped in. Then, too, with prospects of a short crop, a good oil field would help things, but there is not much of a shot for an oil well inside six months or a year at the very best, as it takes time to spud in and drill even a shallow well.

As the Herald has stated before, when there is some real news to be published, we'll be glad to put it out, but we don't pay very much attention to mere rumors.

Will Remove Remains Of Indian Fighter

Members of the American Legion have been investigating about the grave of W. H. Kilpatrick on Dockum and W. Williams, Jim Hall and Ben A. G. Abbott writing as committee made proper investigations and reported to the Commissioners Court, who granted permission to remove the remains.

The many graves in Dockum creek have almost washed the grave away, and probably one or two more rains would cause everything to be lost. The Spur Cemetery Association has donated a lot in the cemetery and a movement will be put over toward erecting a monument at the new grave.

Kilpatrick was a member of Gen. McKernan's army and was killed in action by the Indians in a skirmish at the head of Dockum in the late seventies. Inasmuch as he gave his life to save the country from roving Indians the American Legion boys feel that the respect shown in saving his grave is due his honor. The remains will be transferred in the near future to the Spur cemetery.

Verdon Powell was among the first to call the attention of the people to conditions, and went with the committee to investigate the situation.—Spur Times.

Mrs. Burton, of Lubbock, was here last week visiting her daughter, Mrs. Earl Jones.

Snyder Editor Revises His Previous Figures

Last week's edition of the Herald of Brownfield said: The Snyder Signal made the claim in a recent issue that Snyder had the cheapest water rate in West Texas, and gave their rate as $2.50 for 3,000 gallons. We got the same amount for $2.25. Keep the record straight.

Editor Stricklin, we said "$2.50 for 10,000 gallons." If Brownfield can give 2,000 gallons more for the extra two-hits, we'll be satisfied. We will await your reply with interest, Snyder Signal.

The copy we received said 3,000 gallons, no more, no less, but of course it may have been corrected before the entire edition of the Signal was run, and that was what we were basing our figures on. No country is better supplied with abundant, pure well water than the Plains section, and possibly there are towns on the South Plains that are giving equally as good rates as Snyder, and we can come within two bits of it even with their revised figures.

Brownfield water rates are as follows, figures official from our utility superintendent:

First 5,000 gals. per M.	10c
Next 5,000	25c
Next 10,000	25c
Next 10,000	15c
All over 30,000, per thousand 10c
Minimum rate	$1.50

Concerning Game Fish In Texas Waters

What is the bank of a public stream is a question often asked by fishermen. How much space a fisherman has along the water's edge is fairly described in an opinion handed down by the Texas supreme court.

"The banks of a stream or river are the water-washed and relatively permanent elevations or acclivities at the outer lines of the river bed which separate the bed from the adjacent upland whether valley or hill and serve to confine the waters within the bed and preserve the course of the rivers when they rise to the highest point at which they are still confined to a definite channel."

This definition by the supreme court of what is the river bank largely puts an end to controversies as to the dividing line of state streams and private property. Sand and gravel are sold from the beds of public streams by the Game, Fish and Game Department, which royalties are devoted to construction and maintenance of fish hatcheries. All operators who are taking such material without a permit are subject to prosecution if they continue without such permit.

The legislature two years ago set aside certain coast waters in breeding grounds for fish, in which poisons and lime fishermen may operate, leaving other waters to seines and nets. A controversy as to which side is getting the best of it is now on in certain sections. While this is getting the best of it is now on in certain sections. While this is getting the best of it is now on in certain sections.

Arrow-heads and other interesting relics are being excavated near Austin by Doctor E. J. Pierre, Professor of Anthropology of the state university. This buried history of a race, estimated to have lived several thousand years ago, indicates by the arrow-heads that hunting in Texas is a very ancient sport and that the crude weapons of that time left no room for conservation talk.

Will the Texas boys eventually fill up with oil and shell? Yes, some day, but other islands and boys will form. The American continent came out of the sea in ages past and will continue to grow. Land is a fair exchange for water.

And still we are marketing a little corn yet. We noticed a load in Wednesday that brought the owner 60¢ per bushel, and buyers informed us that the market was off 5¢ that day. Corn is one of Terry's staple crops, and the great pity is that more of the 1926 crop had not been held till now, which would have meant thousands of more dollars in the pockets of our farmers.

Henry Ford addressed a letter to the National Editorial Association in annual convention at Omaha, in which he said that the small town and country press is our only real newspaper. "It has avoided the errors of modern journalism without any sacrifice of influence," said Mr. Ford. Mr. Ford also says that his company has always found the home paper an efficient advertising medium.—McLean News.

The Jayton Chronicle says it is rather risky to take the other man's car without his permission and take a pleasure trip. You not only lose his friendship, but may find yourself based up against a brick wall for a goodly portion of the rest of your life. "Be sure that your sins will find you out" is still fearfully truthful these days, but some people seem to take a delight in testing it out. You will get caught sooner or later.

If you are inclined to be pessimistic and believe the world offers no opportunities to the ambitious, take a lesson from Col. Chas. Lindbergh. Within a span of a few hours he gained the favor of the people of every nation, was decorated, entertained and sought by presidents and rulers of empires from the four corners of the globe. There is nothing super-human about our young hero. He was merely ambitious, full of determination and with a desire to give to the world something worth while, accomplished a feat that gained world favor and put his name at the head of the list in the hall of fame.—O'Donnell Index.

WHY WE GET ONLY 10¢ PER DOZEN FOR EGGS

A local citizen bought dozen Lynn county raised eggs at a Tahoka store the other day. Out of the dozen 8 were spoiled, 2 had chickens in them, and 2 were perfectly good eggs. All so they were far from being uniform in size and color. He went back to the store and got ten more eggs, six of which were good and four bad. Moral: Market infertile eggs, uniform in size and color, and Lynn county may expect a better market for her eggs. Another story: A man residing near town bought a setting of eggs last week, put them under a hen and in three day three chicks had been hatched.—Tahoka News.

THE KNOCKER AND BOOSTER ARE NOT RELATED

When the creator had made all the good things, there were reptiles and poisonous insects, and when He had finished there was still some dirty work to do, so He made the beasts and had some scraps to bad to put into rattlesnakes and the hyena the scorpion and skunk, so He put all these together, covered it with suspicion, wrapped it with jealousy, and marked it a KNOCKER.

This product was so fearful to contemplate He had to make something to counteract it, so He took a sun-beam and put it into the heart of a child, used the brain of a man and wrapped it in civic pride, covered it with brotherly love, gave it a mask of velvet, a grip of steel, made him a lover of the fields and flowers and many sports; a believer in justice, and called it a BOOSTER, and since then mortal man has had the privilege of choosing his associates.—Selected.

COMING OUT OF THE MUD

One of the chief benefits the farmer derives from really good roads is that of being able to move his farm products to market over them, quickly, cheaply and without inconvenience. The farmer's crops are his stock in trade. If he can market them without delay when the price is up, he is the gainer; if, because of bad roads, he is unable to get his products to market until after the price has declined, he loses.

In the old days when roads were only good in good weather, the farmer could do little satisfactory marketing. He was forced to take a chance on getting his products to the buyer on a rising market.

One decided advantage in good roads is that they encourage the use of motor vehicles by the farmer, effecting a saving in time and worry in moving his crops, and in getting his family to church and the children to school.

Thousands of miles of poor roads which act as feeders for main highways are being made practical for modern traffic at a minimum of expense, by protecting the old base with a waterproof wearing surface. Thus farm land is made available for use, which would otherwise be isolated due to distance from school and markets and prohibitive cost of building standard types of state highway pavements.

The modern tractor and road machinery plus the waterproofing qualities of asphalt are enabling hundreds of communities to come out of the mud.

Good roads are probably next in importance to newspapers in unifying our people.—The Manufacturer.

Dr. H. H. Hughes and family returned last week from a vacation in California, and report a great time. The doctor formerly lived at San Diego, California, and got a great deal of his dental training at the University of California, Los Angeles.

MEADOW BRIEFS

By Aesculapias.

The past week we motored to Canyon, the home of the school for teachers in this end of Texas. It had been nearly three years since we had stopped there, and I was pleased at the immense amount of improvement that had been made since my last stop.

There isn't much in the adjacent territory to support a large place and but for the school interest it would doubtless remain a small county seat.

The situation is picturesque, being situated along a portion of the Palo Duro Canyon, and is on two lines of the Santa Fe and from Canyon to Amarillo, has a double track. The city has a number of paved streets, and is laying mains for gas. In fact pipe is being laid all along the highway from Lubbock to Canyon. By winter it seems probable that the towns between Amarillo and Lubbock will all be served. Wish we had it down our way.

We were told that the school had about one thousand enrolled for the present term. They are from all parts of Texas, as the summers there are much cooler than the Eastern and Southern parts of the state. One can therefore study without the assistance of an electric fan, and sleep without mosquito bars.

While strolling about the college grounds we came on two buffalo, a male and female. It was the first I had seen since along in the Seventies below the cap. These two looked like pigmies compared to the immense carcasses of those days. Still they will be of great interest to the young who came too late to see the lordly herds that once roamed these parts. The wild life of our country is practically gone and soon there will be none but those kept in game preserves or in the Zoos of the large cities.

Sunday evening with a party of old friends I went out to the new plant that Amarillo is constructing on one of the canyons some seven or eight miles north west of Canyon.

A great dam has been thrown across the canyon some three or four hundred yards in length fifty or sixty feet in height. The base is said to be three hundred feet thick at the bottom and is wide enough at top for cars to pass. It is built of dirt and is being faced on the reservoir side with broken stone over which cement will be spread. A lake seven or eight miles in length and of varying width will be formed.

A number of large wells have been sunk and water will be pumped into the reservoir and carried by large pipe to the city by gravity. This was a surprise to me as I had always been told that Amarillo was the top of Texas, and the coldest and windiest in the state.

The pumping will be done by large air compressors operated by electricity. These have not been installed but are on the ground. They have a large electric plant with immense generators. At present they are pumping through a six inch pipe to supplement the present water supply of the city.

The plant when completed will cost two million dollars, and is expected to meet the future needs of the city for years, or until it reaches the proportions of New York or Chicago. Most Amarillo folks think that it will surpass these two towns, in a few decades. Of course it isn't a windy city?

Farming in that region is rather backward this season. Over a large portion I saw very little row crops planted or preparation of ground for planting. In most fields harvesting was in progress and combines were a feature of the landscape.

Crops are backward in all parts of the plains visited and the outlook for cotton gloomy indeed. In a few places the plant was up but looked sick—needed a tonic or, perhaps a rain would do but even that has been denied to most parts.

One reading the dispatches in the Star-Telegram and some of the plains papers would be led to believe that we have had abundant rainfall over most of the plains. This is a false statement. The facts are that very few scattered areas have had more than half inch at any one time this year, many of them less.

A few of our citizens left Saturday for Abilene to take in the Automobile races Monday. Some of our swift driving over ripe youths should have entered with their rattle trap Fords. We would have at least have been rid of them for a few days. Youth, home brew and a car is a dangerous combination in a small town like ours.

It is astonishing that daddies will furnish the car and gas when he knows that it will be used to chase up and down the streets endangering all who happen on the streets.

We have a corporation, a board of aldermen, but apparently no traffic regulations and no one to enforce them. In fact our city government is just a pasty joke except to levy and collect taxes. Perhaps they are doing the best they can in most instances of violations of law, but if there has been any attempt to stop speeding on our streets I have failed to hear of it.

News From Lahey

By Bob

Well as I slept on the job last week I failed to wake up in time to get my news in, so I will send in a little report this week and see if it will get by the waste basket.

We had a large day Sunday at Lahey. Sunday School in the morning and three fine sermons in the afternoon. Rev. D. D. Johnson preached first, and at four o'clock Rev. Hayes of Brownfield preached to a large crowd and at night Rev. Hallman filled the pulpit. So you see we had some preaching.

Everybody is through planting around here and some have begun to plow.

L. C. Dixon and brother of Lubbock spent Monday in Seagraves on business.

The Fourth of July passed and most of us celebrated it by killing weeds.

Mrs. Jimmie Thomason's father of Big Spring spent Sunday night with her.

The young people enjoyed themselves at a party at Lahey Monday night.

Bob.

BURBANK WHEAT MAKES GOOD SHOW

Burbank's super-hard wheat has been given a thorough test on the South Plains and those who have had occasion to watch the test admit that it is the best wheat ever grown here. J. H. Hackfield, local implement dealer, purchased enough seed last fall to plant three acres, and while conditions have been favorable Mr. Hackfield averaged 33 bushels to the acre and the wheat had an extra high test.

Other wheat planted in the same field at the same time averaged only about 20 bushels, and the test was not so high.

Mr. Hackfield will plant about 60 acres of the Burbank variety this fall and predicts that within a few years it will be the only variety grown on the plains.

You can't look at a tire and tell how far it will run

YOU CAN'T SEE a tire carcass because it is covered by the tread. Yet the way this carcass is built tells how far the tire will run.

Dunlop has had 39 years to learn all the hidden points where tires wear. Dunlop carcasses are built from the best long fibre cotton, spun in Dunlop's own mills into the famous Dunlop cable-twist cord.

These cords are elastic, so they give and take as your tire runs; strong, so they resist constant load and pounding. They build the best possible foundation for the Dunlop tread—the toughest rubber development known.

Thus Dunlop's extra years of experience build added value into every vital tire-part. That is why not one Dunlop—but every Dunlop—gives you more service than you can reasonably expect.

DEATH OF C. K. AUBURG AT LOVINGTON, N. M.

The people of Lovington were greatly shocked and surprised this morning when they learned that C. K. Auburg, a prominent ranchman living east of town, had died about midnight the previous night.

Mr. Auburg's death, which came suddenly, was caused by heart failure and was unexpected. He was in Lovington transacting business yesterday and was apparently in the best of health.

Messages of his death were sent to his relatives in other states and the arrangements for the funeral will not be completed until they have been heard from. It is understood that the interment will be at the Hobbs cemetery, but we have not learned at what time it will be, if the hour has yet been definitely set.

Mr. Auburg was an old time resident of Lea County and has many friends here. He leaves a wife to mourn his loss in addition to many relatives in other parts of the country. J. T. Auburg, a brother living at Brownfield, formerly lived in Lovington.—Lovington Leader.

TWO NEW OIL TESTS TO BE MADE IN HOCKLEY CO.

Two oil tests are now drilling in Hockley county with prospects of a third being started at an early date. The well which has been designated as Elwood No. 1 and which is situated on the Wilbarger school land about six miles north of Kopesville and about 18 miles southeast of Levelland was spudded in this week.

The Elwood-Myrick well which is located between Smyer and Anton in the eastern part of the county is now said to be drilling at about 1450 feet. This well has been several months in attaining this depth, but we understand will continue until a thorough test is made.

We are informed that the T. & P. Oil Co. has made a drilling contract with Mr. Elwood for a well about 4 miles southwest of Smyer, or about 12 miles east of Levelland. This test will be the nearest yet made to Levelland and its progress will be watched with great interest.—Levelland Herald.

DID YOU DRINK YOUR EXTRA GALLON?

The "average American" drank an extra gallon of milk last year and this specimen of "vos pop" is on the "upward trend" in his milk drinking habit, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. This 55.4 gallons of milk, which includes his cream in coffee, is 12 gallons more than he consumed in 1920. Southerners do not drink as much milk as central state residents, it is noted, the proximity to the source of supply having a direct influence on consumption. Prohibition may have had some influence, says the Research Department of the National Association of Farm Equipment Manufacturers, but health education in schools, syndicated newspaper articles and magazines as well as increased sanitary measures at the farms and in the dairy barns has made practically all getting to the metropolitan cities absolutely safe. Ventilation systems, steel stanchions, sanitary stalls and mangers, individual drinking cups, feed and litter carriers, screening, milking machines, etc., have practically eliminated harmful bacteria from this source of food supply.

TECH TO MAKE STUDY OF SANDSTORMS AND STATIC

Lubbock, Texas.—Unusual electrical conditions during West Texas sandstorm has been the subject of extensive investigation by the physics department of Texas Technological College. During stormy periods severe shocks were frequently received from radio antennas, fence wire and automobiles. Many of the large automobile trucks have a chain dragging on the ground suspended from the rear axle in order to ground the electricity which develops. During severe sandstorms automobile ignition systems often refuse to function. Dr. E. F. George, head of the physics department, had attempted to measure the electricity thus generated during storms. A radio antenna formed the basis of the preliminary measurements. Potentials of 40,000 volts, as measured by spark gap between spherical electrodes, were thus obtained. Further experiments are to be conducted.

So remarkable a phenomenon has created widespread interest in scientific circles. Dr. George is now in Reno, Nevada to read a paper before the American Physical Society on the subject. The Physical Review magazine devoted exclusively to research in physics, will print an article in its next issue by Dr. George. Dr. George would not say that he believed the large amount of electricity could be utilized in a practical way, though it is regarded as a possibility.

WHAT IS MAN?

Speaking of the physical man, chemist have made some interesting studies and calculations. The animal part in man has been weighed and measured and when reduced to pounds, man has little value.

The component parts of the body of a man weighing 150 pounds have been shown to be as follows:

Water	97.5 pounds
Alumina	22.5 pounds
Fat	20.0 pounds
Mineral Salts	7.5 pounds
Sugar	2.5 pounds

TO MAKE A STUDY OF NATIONAL ADVERTISING

Austin, Texas.—A fellowship carrying with it a stipend of $1,000 has been awarded to Paul J. Thompson, associate professor of business administration at the University of Texas, by the Association of National Advertisers, according to the decision made by the educational committee of the Association.

Mr. Thompson is the first to ever receive the fellowship. The award is for the purpose of enabling him to devote his time to the completion of a thesis on "Advertising Rates." This work of Mr. Thompson's will be according to members of the educational committee, one from which definite results of real value can be expected. It will be a work which teachers can use as well as members of the national association. He expects to spend most of his in Austin with several trips to New York for personal interviews with leading advertisers.

Mr. Thompson, prior to the incorporation of the School of Journalism into the School of Business Administration at the University of Texas in 1925, was adjunct professor of journalism and later held the position of associate professor in the latter school, doing practically all of his teaching on the subject of advertising.

HOCKLEY COUNTY MAN MAKES GOOD WHEAT YIELD

Joe Meers, a farmer living southeast of town, made an average of 18 bushels of wheat per acre this year. This wheat also made a test of 61, states Mayor H. Rodgers, local buyer. It is understood that the Kan-Red was the variety used, which is particularly well adapted to this section. From estimates made by wheat men and those familiar with conditions, there will be something like 30,000 acres of wheat planted in this county this fall, should everything be favorable during the planting season.—Leveland Herald.

CANCEROUS IN THE ROOTS

A cancer cannot be cured by slicing off a piece of it. The only way to deal with it is to dig it out by the roots.

The court system of Texas is cancerous through and through. Every feature of it has been fatally poisoned by the touch of office-holding graft.

The only cure for the disease is to cut off all the diseased parts. This means the adoption of an entirely new system.

The court stenographer must go. All other officials who demand a fee every time they dip their pen in an inkstand must go.

The bunkety bunk technicality must go.

The long drawn out trial must go.

The big records must go.

The shyster lawyer must go.

The political and wire-pulling judge must go.

Several other cancerous parts must be carved out.

For all this compound of rotting disease there must be substituted a sound, logical, common sense system under which the only aim will be to achieve substantial justice, and the only employment which will be made of any procedure will be to aid in the pursuit of that end.

The system of procedure which now obtains in Texas cannot be remedied to conform to this purpose. Every detail of it runs in an opposite direction.—The Volunteer.

SIX USES OF ADVERTISING SUGGESTED FOR UTILITIES

Six outstanding and specific services which advertising in newspapers can render public utility companies are listed by Frank Blanchard, president of the Public Utility Advertising Association. These uses of advertising are:

1. To tell the general public of the company itself—its policies, its methods of doing business, its personnel and its plans for development.
2. To promote public co-operation by calling attention to what it is doing to encourage thrift, to promote safety, to build up commercial enterprises and to make the city a better place in which to live.
3. To sell the securities and the service of the company is prepared to furnish, whether it is transportation, communication, lighting, heating or power.
4. To keep the stockholders or customers informed regarding the affairs of the company and thus promote their interest in it.
5. To defend itself where unjustly attacked.
6. To explain to its customers why it has applied to the state utility commission for permission to change its rates.

U. OF T. TO HAVE A HUGE POWER PLANT

Austin, Texas.—Along with the construction work on the new power plant to be erected at the University of Texas, work is being started on the extension of the old steam tunnels to the new plant. Electric power cables are also being laid and the new Alice B. Littlefield Memorial Dormitory is being connected with the main campus heating and lighting system.

The new power plant will furnish heat for the entire University and will be large enough to accommodate the future greater University, according to J. W. Calhoun, comptroller of the University. The estimated cost of the plant will be approximately $250,000.
