THE DUCK FAMILY

"QUACK, quack," said Mrs. Duck. "Quack, quack," said Sir David Duck.

"Quack, quack," said the little ducklings.

"Now you know how you must sleep, don't you, precious ducklings?" asked Mrs. Duck.

"Yes, Mother Duck," answered the little ducklings. "Yes, quack, quack, we know."

"And we will show you, Mother Duck, so you will see that we know."

"That is right, quack, quack," said Mother Duck.

"That is right, quack, quack," said Sir David Duck.

So the little ducklings showed Mrs. Duck and Sir David Duck and all the older ducks how they would be able to sleep in the water, which was what Mother Duck wanted to know.

They showed her how they would hold one foot up under them and with the other they would keep their same position in the water.

That is, they would paddle with that one foot even as they slept—it was very simple and easy to do after a short time and they would keep in the same place that way. Of course on the farm they could not go far.

But it was well to learn all duck lessons, for if ever they should be sleeping in the open—in a large body of water—then they would need to know this lesson.

"Quack, quack," said Mother Duck. "you all know your lesson well, and it delights Mother Duck's heart."

"You do, indeed, know your lesson well," said Sir David Duck. "You are good, bright ducks. No one could complain of you."

"I should say not," said Mother Duck. "No brighter ducklings ever lived."

"Every time I see you wobble I think of how beautiful you are."

"Ah, yes, you're mother's beautiful ducklings. And though some may say you're not beautiful, I think you are."

And Mother Duck looked very proud and happy. Sometimes she was called Mother Duck and sometimes Mrs. Duck. Of course Mrs. Duck was what she had been called but she quacked so proudly about the beauty and the brightness of her children that most of the barnyard creatures, as well as her own ducklings, began calling her Mother Duck, too.

"Grunt, grunt," said Sammy Sausage. "you may think you're very bright and a very good mother, and that your children are very bright and very good children, but I think all of you are absurd."

"Quack, quack, what in the world, or the barnyard, do you mean?" asked Mrs. Duck.

"I cannot understand it. Not for a moment can I understand your strange speech."

"Well, I suppose if you understand it for a moment you would be able to understand it for a longer time, too," said Sammy.

"I will explain to you, however. I do not think you're bright and I do not think you're a good mother. Neither do I think your children are bright, nor do I think they're such good children."

"I should think you'd teach them that the most important thing in the world is food and that the brightest thing a creature can do is to grab all they can."

"And if the children were bright of their own accord they would be practicing such lessons instead of the absurd one you've just taught them."

"Quack, quack," said Mother Duck. "I'll have you know, Sammy, that I do not teach my children to be pigs. I teach them to be ducks, and ducks they are. I'm thankful to say."

"You poor duck, how foolish you are," grunted Sammy. "But I am glad that there are people with little sense—it leaves more food about for those who think of it appreciatively."

New England Atmosphere With 1926 Improvements

ANY one who has ever motored through the quaint sleepy towns of New England has fallen in love with the small houses that abound in that section of the country—neat, white, unpretentious and with a touch of reserve about them. Just such a house is the one pictured here. It is equally adaptable for town or country, and by merely shifting the living and entrance porches around can be built on a wide or narrow lot without spoiling its architectural beauty.

The house is sturdily built and has an exterior of wood siding except for the unusual stucco panels that start at the level of the second floor windows. The roof is of stained shingles, preferably moss green, in keeping with the window shutters. A house of this compact style is very easy to heat, especially when the specifications call for insulation throughout with celotex, which prevents heat leakage, and keeps the house cool in the summer.

The living and dining rooms are here combined into one large room flooded with light by windows on three sides. The two bedrooms on the second floor each have double exposure and an extra large closet in which a window may be placed.

WE ARE EQUIPPED—

We are equipped for cleaning your cotton to the very highest degree, and giving you from one to two higher grades than is possible for most gins to give.

Regardless of whether you SELL your cotton to us, to the local street buyers, ship it yourself, or sell through some marketing organization, it will be to your interest to HAVE IT GINNED where you can get the HIGHEST GRADE POSSIBLE, thereby realizing more money for each bale.

There seems to be an impression among some farmers that we do not want to gin cotton and put it up in square bales. This is an error. We would just as soon run it into square as round bales.

If you are a member of the Farm Bureau, we have Bills of Lading in our office, which we will make out for you and see that your cotton is properly billed.

In case you should neglect to bring your shipping tag, we have the Serial Number of each member in the county, and can arrange matters for you.

PECOS CAVERN MAY RIVAL THE CARLSBAD CAVE

While it is not yet explored fully, there is a strong possibility, if not amounting to a certainty, that McCamey and this surrounding territory will develop a scenic attraction that will rival if not eclipse the famous Carlsbad Cavern, in the Carlsbad, N. N., region of the Gaudalope range of mountains.

It is a well established fact that, at a point a few miles west of McCamey-Yates oil field in Pecos county, there is a cave of apparently huge proportions. This cave has been only partly explored to a distance of 400 or 500 yards inside its lower depths.

Several persons are known to have descended the big hole in the ground and traversed that much of its interior, thru a room of huge size on a solid rock floor.

Reports coming from these embryo explorers indicate most interesting possibilities in this Pecos county cave and lead to the belief that natural attractions will be found therein, which will throw the Carlsbad Cavern entirely in the shade.

Wonderful stalagmites and stalactites are reported as having been observed by the first explorers, while the extent of the interior is seen by the men is described as "terribly vast." Not having gone into the hole with proper equipment of lights, ropes, axes, food, etc., the first explorers back-tracked and returned to daylight, detailing remarkable accounts of what their eyes had beheld.

HISTORY OF WEST TEXAS SOON TO COME OFF PRESS

Abilene, Oct. 10.—"The Southwestern Frontier," the first book ever written on the period of southwestern history following the civil war, and one of the few volumes ever written on the history of western Texas, will be released from the press on or about December 1, it was announced by Dr. Carl C. Rister, the author.

Dr. Rister, who is professor of history in Simmons University here, is a native of western Texas, and has studied for years the history of this section. Final acceptance of his volume came recently with a written contract from the Arthur H. Clark Co., of Cleveland, Ohio, exclusive publishers of high grade historical books.

Taking up the history of the southwest from 1865 to 1881, the book includes accounts of the coming of the settlers, Indian depredations, ranching activities, the coming of the railroads and the disappearance of the frontier. The volume includes color maps, drawings and interesting photographs taken in early times.

One hundred copies of the book will be printed by the Clark Company especially for use in the West Texas history class at Simmons University. This course is taught by Dr. Rister.

Leslie Green was in Monday from the Union community and reported another big rain which halted harvesting for a few days.

Miss Mabel Godin, of Lake View, was here the first of the week visiting her brother, R. E. Collier and family.

J. S. Day returned this week from western Oklahoma, where he has been for some time picking cotton, in order to gather his own crop in the Tokio section.

The Methodist revival meeting closed Sunday night.

W. D. Moon the smiling Wellman merchant, was in Monday and reported a heavy rain in his section, which he said was far from welcome just at this time.

Mrs. T. E. Darden was in from the ranch, Wednesday after supplies.

Something Lacking in Men of Great Minds

Many great philosophers have shown an extraordinary inability to carry out their teachings in daily life. Their precepts are sound enough; their wisdom is undoubted. Yet they are foolish fellows, after all.

The reason is not so obscure as it seems at first sight. A man may have a fine brain, so that, in the quiet of his study, he can put in words great wisdom. But along with that fine brain may go a weak character which balks him whenever he attempts to cope with stark reality.

John Stuart Mill was a great philosopher. But in his daily life he committed every conceivable blunder. Thomas Carlyle concentrated his profound mind on the causes of misery in the world, and made his own home utterly unhappy by an uncontrolled and irritable temperament. He could give the world a lot; but for his long suffering wife, whom he loved in his own way, he had little but harsh words, scoldings, and churlishness.

Anatole France, greatest of modern French writers and commentators on life, said, shortly before he died: "I have never known a moment's happiness." Why had he not known happiness? Surely because, for all his wisdom, he had not, after all, mastered the art of life.

The great German philosopher, Schopenhauer, whose treatises on metaphysics are classic, was a fool in the affairs of life. While writing his monumental treatises on philosophy he yet contrived to be so peevish, suspicious, and quarrelsome that his own mother, with whom he lived, requested him to go away from her. It is said that he had not a single friend.

Many a simple, ignorant man possesses more real wisdom than a learned professor. The true test is action; those men are wise, who live wisely.

Providing Beauty

It is delightful to have something done without regard to the returns to the doer, to have something spontaneous, ample, gloriously useless; thousands spent for the mere pleasure of spending it on others; to have the savings of years bottled in a flask, and then pour it forth on feet and head. . . . and then break the flask. To some it seems like a criminal waste to put all the skill and labor of a lifetime on a few feet of canvas, while the painter can scarcely get bread, and then give that canvas to the world. But it will impart pleasure to thousands. . . . Pour out your money on the beautiful. Encourage the workers in the beautiful. . . . You who are rich ought to provide the beautiful for yourselves and for the poor.—Charles F. Deems, in "Religion in Beauty."

Successful Book Thief

Fortunately for our literary treasures, dishonesty among librarians is extremely rare, but the arrest of the curator of a Paris library for trying to sell a valuable Thirteenth-century MS. in his charge to a London book-seller recalls the depredations of the most successful book thief on record—Count Guglielmo Libri, for many years Inspector general of public libraries in France. In the course of his visits of inspection Libri contrived to remove from the various collections a remarkable number of valuable books and manuscripts, and before discovery managed to accumulate some $200,000 by the sale of his plunder. In 1848 a warrant was issued for his arrest, but he had friends at court and was enabled to escape to England, where he lived very comfortably for many years on the proceeds of his stolen treasures.

Tokio School Notes

We are very sorry to report that Mrs. Patterson, our primary teacher, was called to attend the bedside of a sister in Hopkins county, who is very ill. She left us last Thursday at noon and we haven't heard a thing from her since she left. Some of the high school boys and girls are doing her work.

School is getting on nicely. Our club is improving all the time in their work.

Our boys were to have played the Gomez boys a game of basket ball last Friday afternoon, but due to that flood Tokio received, and also to the fact that we had no airplanes or submarines, they remained at home. We do not know just when they will play the game. We girls wanted to play too, but the Gomez girls were not ready to play.

We regret very much that Joseph Young is ill and missing school. Melvin Anderson was also out of school a few days last week on account of illness.

Our school is going to be well represented in the contests for good book week at the Rialto Theatre at Brownfield, on November 19th.

We are all writing examinations this week. We are not expecting much for grades as we had become very rusty.

Miss Faye Lemons and Miss Myrtle Pippin, the two Harmony teachers, spent the week end in the J. T. Pippin home. Wilburn Pippin of Brownfield also spent the week end at his home.

The seventh grade took examination on history and English yesterday and are expecting a good grade and we don't want to be disappointed.

The seventh grade is making posters and so are the high school pupils. We are in hopes we can beat them.

One of the trustees came yesterday and got all the old spellers and took them to Brownfield and we are glad they are out of the way.

Terry Redford has accepted a position with Hudgens & Knight.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Patten of Tokio, were in town Tuesday.

BABES OF CIGARETTE SMOKING MOTHERS DIE EARLY

Chicago, Sept. 23.—Sixty per cent of the babies born of cigarette smoking mothers die before they reach the age of two, due primarily to nicotine poisoning, Dr. Charles L. Barber, of Lansing, Mich., told the annual convention of the American Association of Medico-Physical Research.

A baby born of a cigarette smoking mother is sick. It is poisoned and may die within two weeks from its birth. The post-mortem shows degeneration of the liver, heart and other organs. Sixty per cent of all babies born of cigarette smoking mothers die before they are two years old, according to his statement.

HANDS OUT THE LOW. DOWN ON THE NEW FORD

At last the low-down has been handed out concerning the much-talked of new Ford car which has had the people of the nation guessing for several months. There has been surmises, guesses, prophecies, etc., but it remained for an enterprising newspaperman to get at the bottom of the facts and publish them to the world. The following from an exchange will give the Herald readers what they have been looking for so many moons and by far the most authoritative information yet given. It goes like unto this:

"The new Ford product will be known as the Linford, taking its name from Abraham Lincoln and Mr Ford, its manufacturer. Some other name may be substituted.

"The car will be equipped with a running gear, engine, body, gasoline tank, radiator, and other accessories usual on most automobiles.

"The wheels, of which there will be four, will be set on axles and will turn 'round and 'round, forward or backward, depending on the choice and skill of the driver.

"On the extreme front end, the car will be equipped with a radiator, which will serve as a reservoir for water with which to water the road. The front of the radiator will be meshed so as to be an excellent smasher of bugs, insects, and other people's chickens and the like.

"Situating somewhere on the car will be a gasoline tank, which will contain a certain amount of gasoline or any liquid sold as gasoline by the filling stations. A lesser number of gallons can be used if desired. No wobble pumps will be used.

"All seats will be equipped with cushions of more or less softness. On the touring and sedan models the front seat will be placed directly in front of the rear seat, and the back seat directly behind the front seat. Both seats will be protected from the sun, rain, etc., by a top.

"In front of the front seat and behind the radiator will be placed a windshield which will serve as a barometer. When it is raining the shield will become smeared with mud, water, etc., from passing vehicles.

"The car will be guided by a steering wheel which will turn the car to the right or left, but never both ways at the same time.

"Entrance to the car may be gained through the doors cut somewhere in the side, or if desired, by climbing over.

"The sedan and coupe models will be closed cars and the touring cars and roadsters will be open cars."

SMITH TAKES BLAME FOR KILLING SHERIFF

Bill Smith, held at Morganfield, Ky., on charge of murder in connection with the killing of Sheriff Bob Smith and Deputy Jake Owens of Fisher county, made a statement on last Wednesday to Pete Norfleet, Texas special officer, in which he endeavored to clear Lloyd Conatser, 19 who is also charged with the officers' deaths.

Smith told Norfleet that Conatser did not even have a gun when the sheriff and deputy were shot to death near Roby August 27, as they were riding in a car with Smith and Conatser.—Snyder Signal.

We note later that Smith about faced, and now says Conatser fired the first shot.

Carload shipments of fresh fruit and vegetables practically doubled in number during the last eight years.

MEASLES PERHAPS

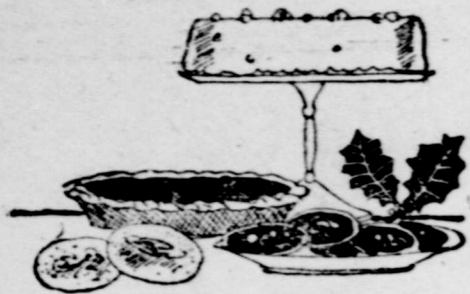

Teacher: "Joseph, what are you going to give your little sister for a birthday present?"

Joseph: "I dunno; last year I gave her the chicken-pox."

As veal chops have much less fat in proportion to lean meat than other chops, they are likely to dry out considerably in cooking unless protected by a coating of egg and bread crumbs. This is the reason for serving veal chops and cutlet "breaded."

Veal will stand a little more seasoning than other meats. Before cooking season with a few drops of lemon juice, a little Worcestershire sauce, and onion juice, as well as salt and pepper.

There is no foundation for the widespread notion that fish is particularly valuable as a brain food. The idea seems to have originally gained headway because fish was supposed to contain relatively large proportions of phosphorus. There is, however, no experimental evidence to warrant the assumption that phosphorus is any more essential to the brain than nitrogen, potassium, and other elements that occur in its tissues. Various other foods furnish a higher proportion of phosphorus than fish.

QUESTION BOX

ON HEALTH subjects Edited by STATE DEPARTMENT of HEALTH
J C Anderson, MD State H.O

THIS column will be given to discussion of matters pertaining to public health. Any questions regarding public health administration, prevention of diseases, child care, sanitation, etc., will be answered in succeeding issues of this paper. Questions in regard to cure of diseases will not be answered, as the scope of this Department includes only disease prevention. Address: Question Box, State Department of Health, Austin.

QUESTION

- 1.—Is there a State law regulating barber shops and beauty parlors?—A.N.C., Navasota.
- 2.—If so, what are the provisions of the law?
- 3.—What are the specifications for a healthy child?—E.B.R., Alice.
- 4.—Is meat canning in the home practical and safe?—Rural, Robert Lee.
- 5.—In a lecture I heard recently, it was asserted that butter was a necessary part of a child's diet? Is this true?—Mrs. E.M.L., Bay City.
- 6.—What is pyorrhea and can it be cured?—A.B.C., Hempstead.

ANSWERS

- 1.—Yes.
- 2.—The law regulating barber shops and beauty parlors provides that the owner or operator of such shops shall register with the state department of health; that no person shall be permitted to work in such shops who is suffering from a communicable disease, that shops shall be kept in a clean and sanitary condition at all times; that all combs, brushes, razors, clippers, etc., shall be thoroughly sterilized each time after use; that head rests of chairs be covered with clean new paper, cloth or other substance that has not been previously used; and that such shops shall not be used as sleeping apartments by anyone.
- 3.—A healthy child should have a good appetite, sleep well, be mentally alert, sleep with mouth shut and without snoring. His teeth should be clean and free of cavities; he should not be conscious of his eyes; and he should be able to hear a whisper across a fair sized room; he should be able to hold a glass of water steadily at arm's length, and be free from nervous twitching; he should carry himself erect; his skin should be free from puffiness and circles under the eyes; he should show a consistent gain in weight each month.
- 4.—Meat canning in the home is practical and entirely safe when a steam pressure canner is used. Such canners can be purchased for home use at small cost, are simple in operation, and last for a long length of time. Glass or tin containers can be used, and beef, pork, mutton, chicken, soups, etc., can be canned successfully. Steam pressure canners are also more successful in the canning of corn, and other vegetables which require a greater degree of heat for sterilization. Home Demonstration Agents are giving valuable service in this line of work.
- 5.—Butter should be included in the menu of a child at each meal, as it is rich in vitamin A, which provides growth and vitality, and it is an aid in affording protection against certain diseases. Lack of this Vitamin brings on a disease of the eyes. Butter also contains other vitamins that are beneficial to health.

foot misery than anything else. Shoes should be fitted to the feet and not the feet forced into shoes to which they are not adapted. Ordinary care of the feet require a daily bath, frequent change of hose, with hose and shoes both well fitted, and good care of the toenails, which should be cut straight across, and not slanting at the sides, as this tends to cause ingrowing toenails.

6.—Pyorrhea is an infection of the gums. This disease can best be prevented by cleansing the teeth well after each meal, and by dental inspection twice each year. Eating of foods rich in vitamin C, is also beneficial in keeping one's gums in a healthy condition. Vitamin C is to be found in oranges, lemons, and other citrus fruits; in tomatoes, and any vegetable which may be eaten raw, such as cabbage, lettuce, celery and onions. Milk also contains this vitamin, and a number of other foods, but when cooked the vitamin is destroyed by the heat.

CHEVROLET MOTORS HAS HUGE SELLING FORCE

With the more than 27,600 persons who make up the selling organization of the Chevrolet Motor Company involved, the unique "turkey-bean" contest inaugurated by the company a year ago is again in full swing during the month of October.

This huge sales organization has been divided for the duration of the contest into competitive groups in which the winners will eat turkey, while the losers will sit and dine only on beans—and pay the entire dinner check.

Two major divisions of the country have been made, with an assistant general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company in charge of each. D. E. Ralston has the western half of the United States, and M. D. Douglas has the eastern half.

Each of these sections have been further divided. The Flint sales region has been pitted against the Atlantic coast region, the Southeastern region against the Middle West region, and the Great Lakes region vs. the Pacific coast region. Every one of the 43 zone sales offices in the United States also has been squared away against another zone; cities are competing against cities, as are dealer organizations and individual salesmen.

In this way every man in the entire selling organization and every dealer in every section of the country gets an opportunity to demonstrate his ability to outsell his competitor and win himself a turkey dinner.

Officials of the sales department of the home office have gone into the field to aid various groups. R. H. Grant, vice-president in charge of sales, has gone to the Great Lakes region for one week and then will move to other regions; H. J. Klingler, general sales manager, is stationed on the Pacific coast; Mr. Ralston is concentrating on the Middle West; Mr. Douglas on the Southeast; R. K. White, sales promotion manager, has the Atlantic coast, and Sidney Corbett, manager of the truck division, is located in the Flint region.

Mr. Grant in an address to dealers at the beginning of the contest, stated that Chevrolet plans to sell 71,451 cars this month. He also stated that selling conditions in October loom considerably brighter than in September.

Oranges at the breakfast table, a salad at dinner, things formerly regarded as luxuries by families of average means, are fast coming to be necessities.

Less than a pound of tea per person is consumed in the United States. For years the tea drinkers of the nation seem to have been turning gradually from green tea to black tea, but in the last year green tea importations increased slightly and the black tea declined.

"ALL KINDS OF BUILDING MATERIAL"

Runs on Rail or Highway

The new type of omnibus built in the Transvaal for travel by either rail or ordinary road is described as running over the road-rail with the front axle supported on a rail bogie, the bogie being on the rail and the driving wheels on wheelways. The 35-horsepower, water-cooled engine can run on the South African motor spirit known as Natalite or on producer-gas. The Parker gas producer is used, with charcoal as the fuel, a charge of 30 pounds sufficing for the round trip on the experimental line of 40 miles. The rear wheels have twin giant pneumatic tires, the front tires being solid. The speed may vary from 18 to 20 miles an hour, and loads may be pulled up grades of 1 to 20. This novel vehicle can leave the track to deliver passengers, mail or freight, or can make special trips beyond the railway to any desired point.

Explanation Enough

Bluebelle is a lovely girl. People like her. She has a way with her, a way that invites confidences. But sometimes one of her confiding friends has to take her to task mildly.

"Bluebelle," said one of these. "I don't know who gave that secret away. When I told it to you the other evening I made it between you, me and the gate post."

"Well, you remember it was a strange gate post," responded Bluebelle gravely.

THE FRUITS OF LABOR

The only lasting benefit that can come from a prosperous harvest season is when the fruits of labor have been stored away against future need.

For the individual there is no protection that can equal the accumulation of a Reserve Account in a strong bank. It provides working capital; makes possible the grasping of opportunities; it is an ever-present fund with which to weather seasons of sickness, accident or other adversity. In short, it is a bulwark of protection for the certainties of today and the uncertainties of tomorrow.

Because we know the blessings that attend the building of a strong Reserve Bank Account, we urge the people of this community to put something aside in a Special Reserve from each harvest deposit.

HAM SMOTHERED IN SWEET POTATOES

Casserole dishes are always popular with the homemaker. They are easy to prepare and usually afford an attractive way to serve a number of foods from one dish.

The Bureau of Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, suggests this method of combining sweet potatoes and ham in such a dish: 1 slice of smoked ham cut into slices for serving; 3 cups raw sliced sweet potatoes; 1 tablespoon butter or ham fryings; 2 tablespoons sugar; one cup hot water. Broil the pieces of ham lightly on both sides and arrange them to cover the bottom of the baking dish. Spread the sliced sweet potatoes over them; sprinkle with sugar. Add the hot water and extra fat. Cover the dish and bake slowly until the ham is tender, basting the potatoes occasionally with the gravy. Brown the top well.

GOOD BREEDING IN BUSINESS PAYS WELL

A recent newspaper article comments upon the "agreeable politeness" of telephone operators, and wonders that the thousands of religious and social organizations of this country do not try to improve people's manners generally.

Probably the editor did not take into account that many religious and social organizations are in a position where they have their own axes to grind, and politeness is not one of them. Their position is secure; they feel safe even from adverse comment. And so, they do not bother to improve either their own or "the people's" manners.

The telephone company, being far-sighted, sees the virtue of politeness in promoting good will and improving service. Their girls speak millions of times a day to their customers, and soothe them by modulated musical voices. Telephoning is a pleasure under the American system.

Contrast the telephone operator's voice with the brusque, unpolished utterance one must often endure after a telephone conversation has been made. The comparison is odious and obvious.

The newspaper struck something new in its comment. But it again called attention to the general competence and good breeding of the present day efficient business corporations and their employees, from office boy to president. The result is good service and valued public esteem.

Scientists Seek Method of Harnessing Crater.

Not so many years ago the people of Iceland conceived the idea of harnessing the famous hot springs which abound in that country and, by means of pipes, conveying the hot water to their homes for heating and domestic purposes.

The wise men of Naples, Italy, are seeking for some method of impressing the volcano, Little Vesuvius, into service, and utilizing its heat for train car operation.

For 800 years the crater at Pozzuoli was considered extinct. A few years ago it awakened, and two volcanic cauldrons opened at the crater base, while more recently an eruptive mouth appeared.

Men of science consider that if the forces, heat and electricity, at this point were controlled by a power plant, it would be possible not only to provide sufficient electricity for the supply of the surrounding towns, but for Naples as well.

The great difficulty is in finding a piping which can resist the corroding power of the hydrosulphides and sulphuric dioxide of the soil near the volcanic mouth.

The commune of Naples had a huge iron pipe sunk, but after a short time it was entirely destroyed by the action of these gases. Later a smaller pipe of white metal was used, but this, too, corroded.

So far it has not been possible to find a piping which lasts more than a few weeks, after being sunk.

The Solfatara, ever since Roman times, has been celebrated for its curative properties.

In Roman days its baths were famous and today remains of them can be seen in the hillside.

Since the war the sulphurous vapors from the different apertures have brought health to many ex-soldiers suffering from lung trouble.

During the past five years vast quantities of kaolin have been taken from the crater basin, for the Neapolitan industry of chalk statuettes.

It was this extensive digging which caused the ground to cave in, when a volcanic cauldron of lava mud made its appearance.

A small observatory was erected, in order that the crater could be studied. The volcano was given the name of "Little Vesuvius," though it is miles away from Mount Vesuvius, and situated on the other side of Naples.

Experts consider the Pozzuoli crater as far more wonderful than Vesuvius itself.

The heat generated by the mud cauldron is 100 degrees hotter than boiling water, and is thus capable of generating power for electrical purposes.

Its vapors also carry a positive charge of electricity.

The only recorded eruption of lava from Solfatara is one of doubtful authenticity ascribed to the year 1128.

Early Life Insurance

Originally life insurance was not much more than an incident of marine insurance. When the success or failure of a voyage depended largely on the personal qualities of the master of the ship, the owners of ship and cargo would insure themselves not only against the perils of deep, but also against the danger of loss through the death of the master—that is, they took out insurance on the life of the master for the voyage. These early life insurance policies were written by individuals long before life insurance companies came into existence. The earliest policy of which anything definite is known was issued in London in 1583, insuring the life of one William Cybbons for 12 months. This was underwritten by 13 persons acting individually; the premium was 80 per thousand. A similar policy would cost today about $10, at age thirty-five.

Storms and Headaches

Each of us is carrying through life an enormous weight in the form of the pressure of the outside atmosphere upon our bodies. We don't, it is true, notice it, because inside our bodies is another pressure (in our blood, and so forth) which exactly balances the outside pressure.

Were it not for this equalizing pressure, we should experience grave discomfort just as do mountain explorers who go to great heights where the air is "thinner."

Roughly speaking, this is generally what causes many people trouble in a thunderstorm. The atmospheric pressure alters suddenly and disturbs the balance, with the result that the arteries swell up and probably affect the brain and nerve centers, causing a headache.

Sun and Fire Symbols

There are to be found occasionally upon the walls of old brick houses, at about the line of division between the first and second stories, flat pieces of iron 5 or 6 inches in length and shaped somewhat like the letter "S."

The use of these articles was clearly brought from England, where it is still continued, and there is a curious origin and meaning attached to them.

The figure in question is an early symbol of the sun. It is still used in Herefordshire and other parts of England. There one is informed that the reason for the particular form of these irons is that they were made thus in order to protect the house from fire as well as from collapse.

HARDWARE PURCHASED BY LAMESA PARTIES

A deal was made last week by which the Levelland Hardware and Furniture Co., passed into the hands of Edgar Brash and Russell Mitchell, both of Lamesa. They are experienced hardware men and will continue the business on the northeast corner of the square.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Robinson, the former proprietors, have given out no statement as to what they intend doing. They own much property here, and it is likely that they will continue to make this their home.—Levelland Herald.

AND THIS POOR EDITOR IS STILL EXPLAINING

A handsome bunch of flowers ornamented the editorial desk for several days the past week, the gift of Mrs. Kellis Frost and Mrs. Logus, with the cheerful explanation that they were intended for his funeral. And we don't blame them a bit. A two-line heading "Don't Have Accidents If Your Party Carries Booze" instead of appearing over the story of the dusky damsel from Fort Smith who was arrested west of Bentonville following an accident when the officers found whiskey in the car, was placed over the story of a Fayetteville accident in which the ladies figured. The trouble was caused by both stories having a line concerning a colored lady in the opening sentence.

We don't ever expect to get down apologizing to the ladies, but we don't want our readers to think the heading in question was placed there as a joke. It was just one of the little incidents that go to make newspaper life interesting—and sometimes exciting.—Rogers (Ark.) Democrat.

Bush Becomes a Vine

Plants do not need the ultraviolet rays of the sun, as do animals. No plants were grown where the rays were completely shut out. But when glass excluded the sun's blue rays as well, then the plants became spindly and when the green rays also were cut out the plants became still taller and thinner, with cupped leaves. The bushy soy bean became a twining vine as a result of losing the violet, blue and green rays of the sun.

Artificial Teeth

Most authorities agree that artificial teeth should be worn constantly. Removing them for the night causes the jaws to assume an unnatural position bringing a pressure upon the nerve at the hinge of the jaw. This has even been known to cause deafness.

Diet for the Beautiful

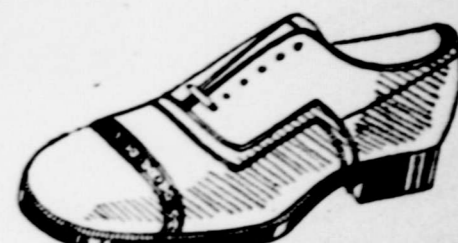

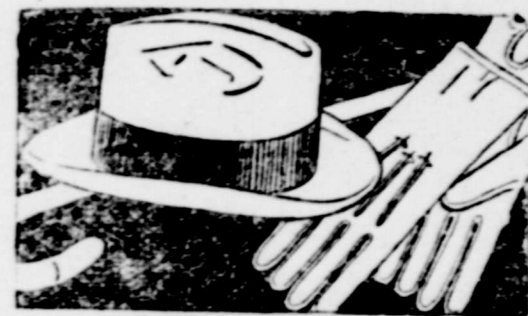

A women's athletic association announces that the woman who would be both beautiful and fit must secure 6 1/2 hours' sleep a week, eat only fresh fruit between meals, drink a pint of milk, relax for 30 minutes, and take an hour's outdoor exercise daily.

Idea Brought Wealth

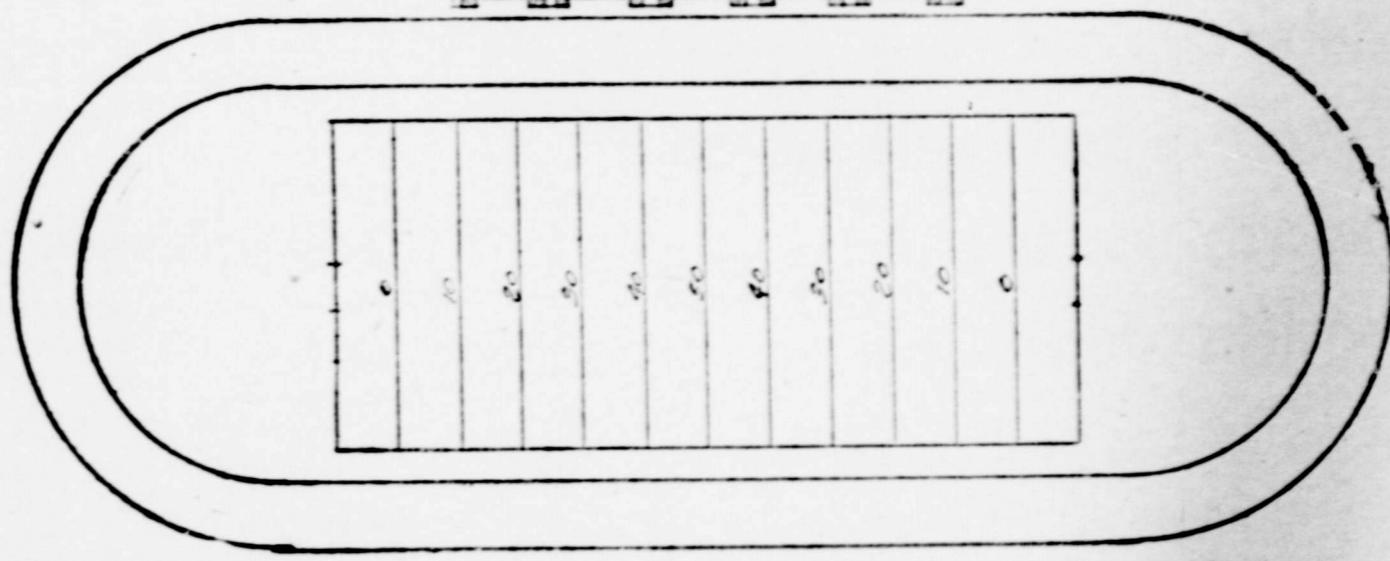

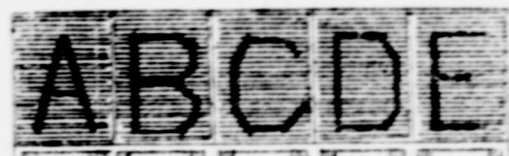

The man who discovered that a candle, if tapered at the end, would stick firmly into its socket, patented the idea, and afterward founded the largest candle factory in the world.

TECH COLLEGE BUILDING FIRST UNIT OF STADIUM

Lubbock, Oct. 10.—The accompanying illustration shows the football field of Texas Technological College and the first unit of a steel grandstand of the proposed stadium that will ultimately surround the entire field. This unit will seat 4000, and while these will be used for the Simmons University game Oct. 15, their installation was made necessary by the scheduling of the game with the Texas A. & M. College, Friday, October 28, the first conference team ever to invade the Panhandle of this State. Tech College is planning a gala day when the Aggies come to the Plains for the first time. Special trains will be run into Lubbock and many former Aggie students and football fans from all over the Panhandle are already reserving tickets for the big football classic. This will be the first major football game ever played in the Panhandle, but with Texas Tech likely to be admitted to the Southwestern Conference in the near future, it is to be the forerunner of many big games later on. In addition to the 4,000 new steel bleachers, there is a present seating capacity of 3,250. Enough temporary seats will be erected to make the total seating capacity of the A. & M. game at least 10,000. Arthur Sawyer took out a new McCormick corn binder to his farm this week. The Church of God people are still running their meeting under the tabernacle when weather conditions will permit.

Uncle Newt Emerson was in this week as full of business as a cranberry merchant, and in as big a hurry as Haley's commit. Dr. Millard F. Swart filled his engagement at the Hunter Drug store last week, and did a nice business fitting glasses while here. The Hardware dealers of this district are to hold their annual convention at Big Spring next Tuesday. The Big Spring folks are promising the dealers a great time. Miss Lois Daniel is visiting in town as her school at Wellman has been dismissed for at least one month for the school children to help gather the crops. R. A. Locker has reopened his cafe on the west side of the square.

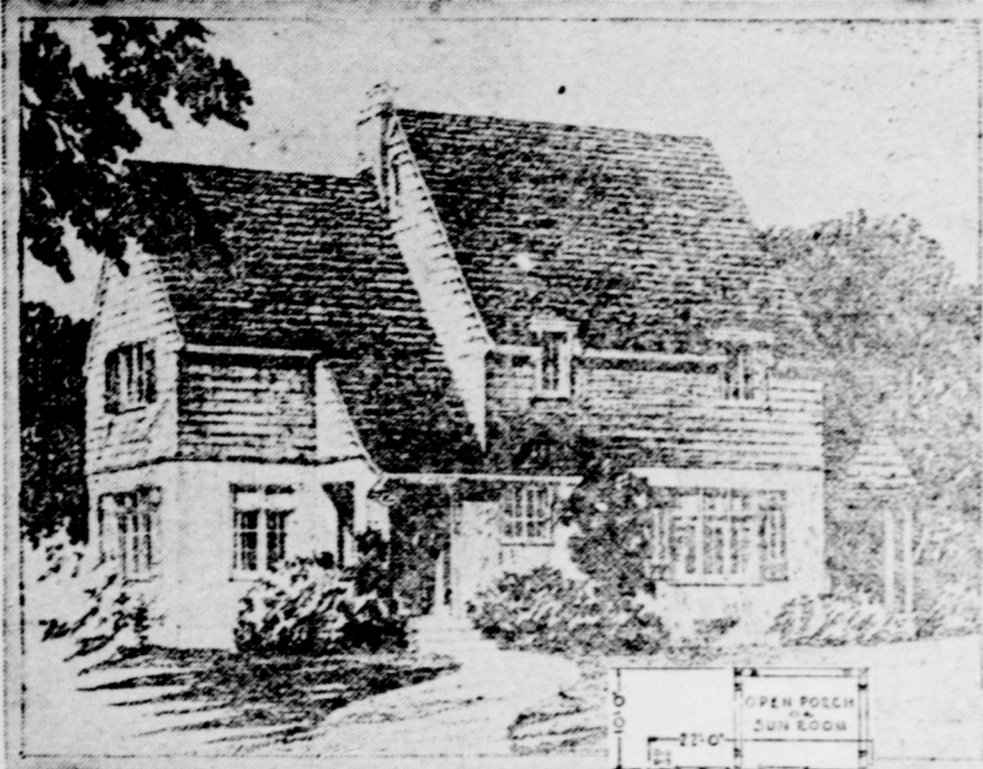

FIRE PREVENTION PROTECTS YOUR PROPERTY AND FAMILY

Last year over $1,000 worth of property was burned every minute. Clean property seldom burns—do away with rubbish and junk. Careless smokers burned $30,000,000 worth of property last year. Keep matches in metal boxes where children cannot reach them. Don't keep ashes in wooden boxes deposit them against wooden buildings or partitions. Don't change your electric wiring without consulting a competent electrician. Don't hang electric light cords on nails. Be careful with electric flat irons and always use with signal light. Use metal protection under all stoves and protect woodwork where stoves or furnaces are close to walls. Don't pass stove pipes thru ceilings, roofs or wooden partitions. Have all flues cleaned and examined and repaired at least once each year. Every open fire place should have a screen. Don't connect gas stoves, heaters or hot plates with rubber hose. Don't use gasoline or benzine to clean clothing near an open flame, light or fire. Use non-inflammable cleaner. Don't use kerosene, benzine or naphtha in lighting fires or to quicken a slow fire. Don't use liquid polishes near an open light. Many such compounds contain volatile inflammable oils. Don't go into closets with lighted matches or candles. Remember that there is always danger in the discarded cigarette or cigar stub. J. E. Michie reports a good sale of his hardware stock from the page ad last week. Some of the oil used in lubricating watches and other delicate instruments is obtained from the head of the porpoise. The better grade of neat's-foot oil are also used similarly. A. P. Stewart was in from the Tokio community, Wednesday.

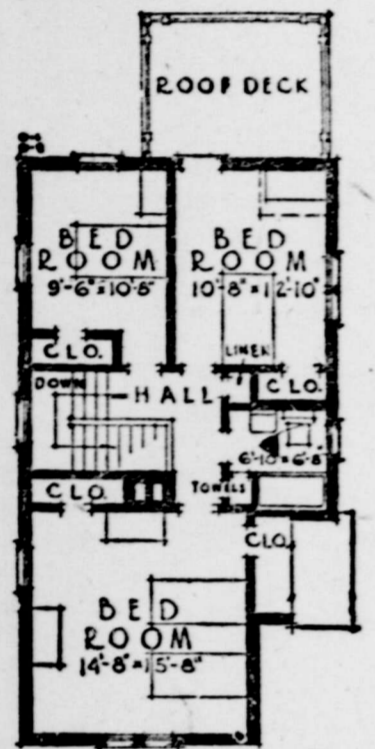

OWSLEY SCORES BUREAU'S ALLEGED FALSE REPORT

"Regardless of what you may think of it, it is my opinion that the guilty party who issued the recent false government report from the department of agriculture regarding cotton should be in the penitentiary," said Col. Alvin M. Owsley, speaking before Colorado business men and women at the annual banquet of the Colorado Chamber of Commerce, Thursday night. "It makes no difference to me whether it is taking the money at the point of a gun or by a deliberate false statement that will take the money from the farmer, it is as bad as the other, and I favor a law that will make it a penitentiary offense to issue a false report from Washington regarding cotton crops or prices," Col. Owsley continued. He was emphatic in his denunciation of the alleged efforts of certain parties connected with the department at Washington in trying to beat down the price of cotton, and stated that laws should be passed that would adequately protect the farmers from such practices, whether it be wheat, cotton or other products. Col. Owsley also spoke of the violation of the disarmament agreement on the part of the European countries. He said this country was the only one that had made any pretense toward keeping the agreement. All others are going ahead with a big program for war equipment, he said.—Colorado Record. Mr. and Mrs. Jno S. Powell and Uncle Joe Hamilton got in from Plainview Friday, and report that Jessie Hamilton will endeavor to keep all the children together, following the death of his wife last week. Mrs. Hamilton remained up there with her son and grandchildren, but we did not hear just how long she expects to stay. Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Stark of Seminole visited her mother, Mrs. A. B. Bynum, over the week end. Miss Ann Hamilton, popular clerk of Cobb and Stephens was at Lubbock on business on Tuesday.

Old World Charm Meets
New World Conveniences

PLACING your house according to your lot is the privilege of the person who builds this practical dwelling of the English farm house type. The entrance is so arranged that the house may either be placed lengthwise for a thirty-foot city lot or crosswise for a 60 or 75 foot lot.

The design here calls for a combination of stucco and stained siding with the roof of dark weathered shingles. The pleasing features of the living room include its windows on three sides, open fireplace and built-in book shelves. The open porch or sunroom may open off from either the living or dining room. The kitchen has all the details that delight the housewife—cupboards, broom closet, breakfast nook and double windows over the sink.

The three bedrooms all have double exposures and are well provided with clothes and linen closets. The bathroom is so placed as to be equally accessible from each bedroom. The attic is ventilated and makes a serviceable storage or playroom by sheathing the rafters and sides with celotex, which serves both as wall-board and insulating material.

This small home so light and spacious, yet compact and adapted to doing without a servant, is a typical 1933 product. The poky, dark houses of fifteen or even ten years ago with their fussy little hallways and poor planning would be scorned by the modern housewife who has learned to expect comfort built right into her home and to have everything planned for her convenience in working. Cold, draughty houses are also out of date. All well built houses, are insulated as this one is, with celotex sheathing on the exterior walls under the stucco. This effects a great saving in fuel in the winter and resists the intense heat of the sun in summer.

A STEP FORWARD

We wish to announce that we have a new formula for dry cleaning silks. We have done away with the old wet cleaning process, which we used to a large extent, as it was very unsatisfactory due to shrinkage and colors running.

We now have a dry cleaning formula whereby we can remove sweet spots and water rings from your most delicate silks and positively guarantee not to shrink same or effect colors.

Gloverized Dry Cleaning differs from ordinary cleaning as the electric train differs from the horse car of days gone by. The secret lies in the Glover Continuous Flow Purifying System—a patent process which removes every trace of dirt, grease, filth and germs from the cleaning solvent. Gloverized gasoline is pure, sweet and water-white from early morning until late at night. Don't take our word for it—come in and see for yourself!

WHAT MORE COULD THESE MALCONTENT'S ASK?

Loading up several ships with malcontents and radical extremists, the president of Chilli sent them to an island in the Pacific with his good wishes and his hope that they might work out a civilization of their own liking.

Out there they can throw bombs, they can engage in any violence or do any of the stunts which they were carrying on in Chille.

If they object to established institutions in their own island bailiwick it will be their privilege to dynamite them. If their officials are not satisfactory, it will be their right to bomb them. Whatever is wrong in the conduct of affairs, they can demolish with torch and blasting powder.

Being of like mind they can apply their philosophy of violence without challenge from those who believe in governments, laws and established authority. It is their island, and there will be no capitalistic hand to wrong them or oppose them or humiliate them.

If they believe in the torch and the infernal machine and violence, why should they not on their own island domain pursue liberty as they see it, and shoot up the town and blow up the banks or burn up all the temples of authority? If with them the bomb is preferable as an instrument of freedom to the ballot box, it will be theirs, if they so will, to bomb the ballot boxes. If a written constitution is the concoction of capitalism, they can spurn it and blow it into fragments and perdition with injury to no emissary of the capitalistic class.

Out there in the Pacific, where the ocean's surf sings the song of liberty on their own island, they can carry out their inalienable rights and every man vouchsafed life, liberty and pursuit of happiness, as he sees them.—Portland Ore., Daily Journal.
