CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Quite a number of people have been in the office this week for the purpose of collecting the prize money that is due to them from the Fair Association but there is still a very considerable bunch of premiums due and we would appreciate it if winners would call. Aside from getting your money, you will see the inside of the office and we might be able to explain something of your work.

Work on the cut off between Brownfield and Meadow, was commenced this morning and as it is about five miles in length, it will consume about four months time as it is to be constructed according to Federal specifications and is very likely to be placed or designated as a Primary Federal Highway. It is not the intention of the highway department to allow any traffic over it until completed.

An inspection of the proposed extension of highway 53 from Brownfield to Odessa has just been completed and will probably be disposed of at the next regular meeting of the highway commission. Recommendations for a very considerable alteration of the present route is going to be made and while not strictly according to our desires, the route will be very materially shortened after it reaches Seagraves.

Surveyors who are in the field for the purpose of working out an extension from Seagraves southwest, for the Panhandle & Santa Fe Railway Company, and while no one knows what the final plans of the company are, it is thought that is their intention to seek a junction with the Orient at Presidio for a connection with Gulf ports of Mexico. In the event that this is true we would be on a trunk line and our freight rates would be very much reduced. Examination of the class of work that is being done on our branch line in the way of lowering grades and widening the roadbed would indicate something of this nature is being planned. In any event the extension will be beneficial to us and is almost as good as another railway.

Plans for another highway from Chicago by way of Saint Louis and Oklahoma City, are being worked out by Oklahoma City, El Paso and this office, but no definite route out of Lubbock has been decided upon although three or more are under discussion and neither has any definite line between Seagraves and Carlsbad been decided upon, but it is expected that an agreement will be had within the next few weeks. As soon as this route is completed and ready to advertise, it will show a much shorter mileage from the Central States into El Paso and Old Mexico and aside from that, will be an all the year highway.

The United States Department of Labor has promised that they will be able to furnish us with an adequate number of cotton pickers within the next week. The writer got in the second order for pickers through the district office at Lubbock and was assured that assignments would be made in line with date of applications.

Near Jail Delivery Here Sunday Night

Nightwatchman E. Brown discovered that the two men in jail were about to escape Sunday night, and got there just in time to stop them. He heard a peculiar noise over about the courthouse and made investigation. After calling Sheriff Ellington the two officers made a thorough investigation which disclosed files, saws and knives and forks bent to be used as wrenches.

Somehow they had worked themselves in reach of the big bars that hold the steel door and using the improvised wrenches had removed the bolts, then had proceeded to use the big bar from the jail door to work themselves through the brick wall. Mr. Brown informed us that they lacked about one brick having the opening wide enough to escape when he ran in on them.

Fire Sunday—When Where—By Whom

You guys and geyenas who are now about the age of this writer, 48, but ashamed to own it can remember way back in the 80's and early 90's when you were school lads and molasses that a great deal of the history lesson of that period consisted of discoveries, with the pertinent questions when—where, and by whom, which you were supposed to dig up or stay in at recess. That period reminded us of a fire we had here Sunday, and ever since then, every fire boy we have met has asked us to pour it on the way fires are reported here.

Two of the boys went home with us from church under the impression that they might connect with something to eat. About two p. m. the fire siren sounded while they were sitting around looking disappointed, and this gave them a chance to get, and they got, one of them giving us his baby—just to hold—as he went by. Our fire boys get on the job, you can just bet. Well, some time after they left we gave the baby to his mother and leisurely strolled across the street—we never get excited about a mere fire like some folks. But as Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cruce were coming out with their car, we just thought we would have a joy ride with them.

In the mean time the fire truck seem to have stopped at the plug at W. B. Downings place, but by the time we got around in sight, the truck loaded down with firemen passed us and went on east on Hardin, looking this way and that like a bunch of niggers watching for a cottontail to emerge from a brush heap. They went on east of the high school about two blocks and then turned back, and us paraders thinking the whole thing a hoax, went home disgraced.

But there was a fire and that was what they were hunting for, and it is for this reason that the Herald has been asked to parabolically box the general public's ear, so to speak. Someone reported that Mr. Thompson's house was afire. Did you ever stop to think how many Thompson families live here? He might just as well have reported it was Mr. Smith's or Mr. Jones' house afire. Well, all the fire boys had to do was get out and pay all the Thompson families a Sunday afternoon call and inquire if they had more fire out than they need—plenty time; don't crowd. So they stopped at the first Thompson they came to, laid a line of hose in about three shakes of a sheep's tail, which commotion probably aroused this family from a good Sunday afternoon nap. They informed the firemen that no stray fire had been seen about their premises. And so on and on till in the north part of the city they actually found that a house Hubert Thompson recently moved out of had been afire, but he had it out when they got there, thanks to sheet rocked walls which do not fire easily.

The city recently spent some $30 or $40 to have some cards printed to hang on or near each telephone with the fire plug number nearest that residence, and you are supposed to give plug number and not the name of the person you think maybe somehow might live in the house. The fire boys don't know where everybody lives but they do KNOW where each fire plug is situated. They have made that a STUDY. With a good start and the wind as high as it was Sunday afternoon, the town might be left in a good shape to be entirely destroyed while the boys are out hunting somebody's house. Won't you give this serious thought and aid the boys by giving the plug number hereafter? They'll be Johnny on the spot if you'll give them an even break.

Plainview is to have a new eight story Hilton Hotel on the corner of Sixth and Austin streets. Construction will begin this week, and is expected to continue for six months, at which time the building will be completed.

Building permits in Lamesa have exceeded a quarter of a million dollars since the first of June this year. There is a great demand for rent houses. Plenty of labor to take care of the building now in progress is available.

The farm population of Texas is now 2,199,173.

Great Crowds Throng Our Streets Saturday

Just about all the boys and girls, men and women and babies from the forks of the creek, together with a lot of strange folks, white black, genercaked, intermixed with the copper colored folks from across the border to our south, who have come in to help gather the crop, were also in evidence, and so far as outward appearances and conversation went, if there was an unhappy or disappointed man or woman in the crowd. All seemed to be happy—and prosperous.

The tinge of fall in the air had given them warning of what is to come on in the near future and they were laying by in store against the approach of that time, and our merchants, many of which have on sales or special prices, were handing goods over their counters at a lively rate. And no business had any monopoly on the sales, either, but all were busy from the hamburger joint to the banks, and we noted with some degree of satisfaction that it was cash used mostly instead of "charge it" which has been the bane of many communities.

When the evening shadows began to draw near, and the farm wagons, trucks and cars began to wind their way home, it was noted that they were packed with clothing, groceries, furniture, hardware, dry goods, and occasionally one who did not wish to take chances on a stiff and unexpected norther, had coal in the wagon.

While a great many of the ladies and children from the farms in the trade territory amuse themselves by talking to friends, or resting in their room at the courthouse, a great many now avail themselves of the Saturday matinee at the local theatre, at which they not only pass their time after finishing their shopping, but see a good show, which is good for them after the week's grind on the farm. It is a happy contrast to what they have seen all week. We wish we had more amusement for the people who come here week after week to spend their money, and who are responsible for the growth and prosperity of this section of the state.

From 2:30 until near dark, one had difficulty passing along the north and west side of the square. While it was a rushing, milling throng, it was a good natured one, thanks to our matchless citizenship.

Business Men Invited To Hear Lecture

Lamesa has invited Brownfield to fellowship with her business men one night during the last week in October when Ben R. Vardaman of Chicago, nationally known business and community lecturer, will conduct a Greater Business and Community institute there. Word is coming to the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce every day now that the neighboring towns will visit Lamesa at least one night with as many of their business and professional men as possible.

Vardaman will speak in the evenings on such subjects as, "Building the City Fore-Square," "The Master Salesman," "Romance in Merchandise," "The Art of Making a Sale," "Handling Various Types of Customers," "Increasing Business Through the Use of Suggestion."

The first subject mentioned will be discussed at the Lamesa High School Auditorium at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon of the 28th, while the others will take place each evening as they are named, beginning with Monday evening the 29th of this month.

The Chamber of Commerce of Brownfield has been asked to take the lead in securing a large attendance from Brownfield. The evening Brownfield comes will be advertised as Brownfield evening and all who come will be recognized.

It is urged that all who can go will get in touch with the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and make ready for Brownfield night.

Just a Few Of Our Recent City Blunders

Of course none of our readers who live in the larger cities will give a hoot for any blunders real or imaginary that we pulled off while in Fort Worth and Dallas recently, as they see them more or less each day from the endless string of visitors from the "rural" sections, but for the benefit of our old pals of the "wide open spaces" we give our mistakes that they may be on their guard when sashaying around among the "urbanites." Now when we speak of "wide open spaces" we would not have you think that we are "dripping wet" out here, but this is a new term to describe our proximity to the north star with nothing but a three wire fence to shield us from its glaring light.

The second and more serious one will be described first. Be it known here and now that Dallas has a 7c fare and Fort Worth 10c on their street cars. After returning to Fort Worth from Dallas, we boarded a car, handed the conductor a perfectly good dime expecting a nickel and five pennies in exchange. He handed us two perfectly good nickels and we deposited them in the slot machine near at hand without further ado. This reminds us of the time we stopped a belated and wet neighbor in Johnson county, hurrying home out of the wet weather to ask him if he was getting back home. "Yes," said he, and started his team again.

A cute little girl over in Dallas tried to get us into a jack pot, but we were entirely too smart for her. We wanted to go to the third story of the building she worked in, and without a crack of a smile she told us to go into a nearby door, push the third button and an elevator would carry us up. She thought she'd get to see us lodge somewhere up and have to call for help. We told her about seeing Harold Lloyd get caught in one of those crazy things not long ago, and we were too wise an old owl for anything like that. She laughed apologetically, but her little game didn't work.

Arriving back in Fort Worth Sunday afternoon from a jaunt down in Johnson county to see another brother, we finally parked opposite the union depot to catch a Polytechnic car. With our mind probably some three hundred miles away, we did the silly thing of absent mindedness taking a big chew of tobacco. Well, when the car finally came along we had to take an inside seat, as other passengers had all next to windows, and the negroes had us balked for a rear platform address. Right there and there that quid began to swell up till it felt like a wagon bed in our mouth, and the amber juices began to come in like mill races. To spit over the big walrus next the window would invite unpleasantness, and our mouth was too full to ask an exchange of seats. Pretty soon we felt we had to cough and to add insult to injury the car made a turn about that time, and the sun burst full upon our face, and we knew we had to sneeze. A sneeze with our mouth full of saliva, to be polite, would have caused a riot. You good old tobacco chewers only can guess what would have happened. But we succeeded in smothering the inclination. We feared most then that someone would say something to us, so we made up our mind at once to play deaf and dumb for the first time in our life.

When we got off the car at Avenue G, we immediately spit or spat as the case may be, and folks, not bragging at all, but the place where we emptied looked like where some one had turned over a cupidor. Now the moral is, find out the street car fare before you get on so the conductor won't think you a "country hiel" over the matter of change. Don't let no smart city jane get you into a self-serving elevator, and leave your old plug cue to-home, and smoke twofers.

Many rumors are afloat in regard to a railroad survey into Lea County by the Santa Fe Railroad Company. It is said that a party of surveyors are now at Seagraves and that they are preparing to run one, and probably more, surveys into this county. From the fact that one of the Lovington truck owners was offered a job with them for a month to haul these surveyors, it would seem that several surveys will be run.

Rumor has it that one of these surveys will be run to the Midwest oil well at Hobbs, one of them from Seagraves to the state line directly east of here, and the other from Brownfield, through Plains, to Lovington—Lovington Leader.

J. J. Lane Caught By A Wall of Water

J. J. Lane, prominent Lea County cattleman, in company with J. M. Gardner suffered a terrible experience last Saturday night and Sunday morning at Eight-Mile Draw west of Roswell. They were caught in the rain storm which visited that country and are fortunate to be alive and able to tell of their narrow escape.

According to the Roswell Dispatch, it all happened when the clouds opened suddenly shortly after midnight Sunday morning and let down a heavy shower of rain.

Lane and Gardner, the story goes, were riding along the highway west of Roswell in their coupe, unmindful of the rain which apparently was not hampering general travel severely enough to cause them to turn back.

Just as they were crossing "Eight-Mile Draw," which had less than four inches of water at the bottom, they were struck awash by a wall of water more than seven feet high; a sheet of water gushing down the valley in a sudden spurt, following the sudden cloudburst.

The wall of water struck the car before the occupants were barely aware of what had happened. The car was washed 150 yards downstream by the force of the impact and came to rest on a bed of rocks just three feet from a deep hole which would have drawn its occupants under the waves had they struck it.

Lane was driving the car, according to Gardner's story, which follows: "We were just half-way across the draw when I chanced to look up just in time to see a seven foot wall of water descending upon us at a terrific speed—more like an express train than a stream of water.

"Before I could cry a warning to Lane, the torrent was upon us. It struck the car in the rear first and whirled us around into the center of the swirling waters. We were then picked up by the force of the uncontrollable torrent and literally swept down the stream for 150 yards without touching the bottom of the draw. We finally came to rest on some rocks as the fast waters surged around us.

"By this time Lane and I found ourselves on top of the car—how we got there or when we quit the interior of the coupe, we can't remember. It all came so quick. In fact, all we cared about was to be above the waves.

"Every moment it seemed the car must be swept from under us and we began divesting ourselves of our clothes with the idea of attempting to leave the car to its fate. Just then we were blinded by twin lights that were swung slowly back and focused dead upon us. They were the lights of another car that had approached the draw and seeing it was impassable, had started backing around to return from whence it came. Seeing us as his lights flashed by, the driver, realizing our danger, swung his car back and kept us in the glare of his headlights until graydawn dispelled the darkness and the receding waters showed us to be safe. The unknown friend then drove away and we have not yet been able to find out who it was." Lovington Leader.

Mr. Lane is a pioneer settler of Terry county and moved to New Mexico about 1918.

Two Children Accidentally Poisoned Sunday

One of the saddest incidents in the history of Terry county was enacted Sunday night when Joe Doyle and Jerry, sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dorman, who live on the Hartstill place were given sodium chloride in place of salts which was intended. As soon as the mistake was seen the children were rushed to Brownfield and died an hour later in the office of a local physician.

It seems that one of the children had been complaining as he had eaten too many melons and such like, but refused to take salts until the fond parents promised some jam. Whereupon the other little fellow announced he would take a dose for some jam, which was administered, as they did not consider the medicine would do him any harm. The poison, which had been given them to put on the chickens to kill insects, was in a salts box is the reason for the sad mistake. A baby is all that is left of the children, and for awhile it was very ill as it insisted on licking the spoon and got some poison.

The little bodies were carried back home and prepared for burial by the Brownfield Undertaking Co., and laid to rest in the Brownfield cemetery Monday afternoon, following services at the grave by Rev. E. V. May. Words of cheer and comfort find little lodgement with the heart broken young parents, and years will pass before they will forget but a few minutes at a time this sad tragedy of their lives, in which they insist they were somewhat to blame perhaps for having such deadly poison in such an innocent looking box.

It is now too late for them, they have learned well their lesson, but for others, we would suggest that all poison packages be so labeled and never kept in containers intended for internal medicine.

A large concourse of sympathizing friends followed the little caskets to the cemetery, and being innocent children, the parents may rest assured that they are safe at home with Jesus.

NEWSPAPERS OF TEXAS IN VOTE POLL

First returns in a State-wide survey of political sentiment in Texas as applied to the two leading candidates for President give the following totals:

Alfred E. Smith.....100,688
Herbert Hoover.....74,817

These returns are from fifty-one counties, representing all parts of the State, and are furnished by newspaper men in each county as their best estimate of how the vote in their respective counties will be cast Nov. 6.

The survey is being made under the auspices of The Dallas Journal, which invited one newspaper man in each county to participate in the survey by furnishing the figures for his county.

The returns so far, are but partial, but it is the plan to have a response from every county in the State before the survey is completed and the final results announced.

Of the fifty-one counties included in the first estimate, thirty-seven are placed in the list of those Smith will carry and twelve in the list of those Hoover will carry. Two counties are estimated as being a tie.

The counties which are included in this estimate have a qualified voting strength of 245,041, representing approximately one-fourth of the voting strength of the State.

They give Smith 57.3 per cent of the vote and Hoover 42.7 per cent. Smith's lead over Hoover is 25,871.

Later returns by the Dallas Journal including several more counties which include four of the heaviest voting counties in the state, give the following results:

Smith.....254,036
Hoover.....187,353

The $125,000 bond issue for the purpose of building a new courthouse in Callahan County was carried by a 125 majority recently. The new Temple of Justice will be erected in Baird.

STUDY TWINS TO FIND DIFFERENCES

Science Interested in Duplicate Human Beings.

New York.—Twins may be so bewilderingly alike that their own families see no difference in them, but scientists are investigating just how, and how much, these duplicate human beings really do resemble each other.

Measurements taken on 15 sets of twins identically alike were described by Dr. H. E. Perkins and Laura Bliss of the University of Vermont before the Eugenics Research association and the American Eugenics society in session here.

The same sides of a pair of twins are more frequently alike than their opposite sides, the investigation revealed. To visualize this, imagine a pair of twins like paper dolls folded over and cut by a simple pattern. If one is placed in front of the other, both facing the same way, the two sides will be more likely to match than if one twin stands in front of the other and they face each other.

In studying the symmetry of the twins the investigators examined the eyes, nose, ears, teeth, eyebrows, hair whorl, right or left-handedness, hand prints, and also mentality.

It had been previously suggested that a twin who has a duplicate exactly like himself would probably be an extraordinarily symmetrical person himself, that is, his two eyes and ears and hands would be unusually alike. It was found, however, that the identical twins were less often symmetrical individually than other twins who did not look alike, and who also were examined.

Mentally the twins examined were found to be strikingly similar in intelligence, the report stated. The youngest ones were more alike than the older ones, and the similarities were particularly close in answering questions which involved inborn or inherited tendencies and abilities. It was found.

"75-Pound Piece" of Ice Doomed by U. S. Bureau

Washington.—What, asks the Department of Commerce, is more simple than a cake of ice?

Another ice cake, replies the division of simplified practice, which has undergone simplification.

It's a melting story the division is telling, and the end of it may spell the doom of that commodity known to housewives far and wide as a "seventy-five-pound piece." The division asserts it isn't simple, it isn't economical, it doesn't properly fit the modern refrigerator and seeks its "ultimate elimination" in favor of 25, 50, 100 and 150 pound cakes ranging in dimension from 12 by 12 by 8 inches to 12 by 24 by 24 inches.

The 75-pound cake, which is 12 by 12 by 24 inches, will be eliminated if the division has its way at a conference here. Ice distributors attending will be asked to make sure dimensions are proper to fit the simplified ice boxes which the manufacturers will build to correct scale for the organized users.

Opinions of refrigerator manufacturers, ice men, architects, engineers and ice users have been compiled after a two-year survey. The division declares they were one in the opinion that unnecessary variety of ice cake sizes existed. The 75-pound cake seemed particularly to arouse their opposition.

Yosemite Park Booms and Makes Work Sweat

Washington.—Secretary Work has called three expert advisers to assist the Department of Interior in solving the problems of handling tourists in Yosemite National park in California.

Last year almost half a million tourists visited the park, compared to about 200,000 in 1926, and the problems of preventing congestion and preserving the natural beauty of the park have been more than doubled.

The men appointed are Duncan McDuffie of San Francisco, formerly of the President's co-ordinating commission for national parks; Frederick Law Olmstead, California landscape architect, and John P. Huwald, professor of geology of the California Institute of Technology.

Endurance Chess Game May Last Ten Years

Berkeley, Calif.—A game of chess between the University of California and Stanford which started in 1925 may be finished in another ten years.

Seven players at the University of California started the game in 1925. Fred Christianson is the only member of the original Bear team who is still attending the university.

Each day at noon the California team decides on a move, and mails its move to Berkeley. And so the game continues.

According to Christianson, the University of California has a bit the edge after more than three years of playing.

Chinese Tigers

C. P. O. Box No. 1234
Shanghai, China,
Aug 30, 1928.

Dear Editor:

Enclosed I send you a tiger. Chinese speak of four tigers—the yellow and black tiger, the black tiger, the white tiger and the money tiger. The latter is made of cash, the black tiger is the steed of the god-of-wealth. The white tiger is a sign of bad luck so is never seen in pictures. From childhood the Chinese fear the tiger. He is made a bugaboo to frighten children. If naughty they are told the "Lao-hu" (tiger) will catch them. So "tiger" is an ever present fear to little "Chinks," not only, but it remains to old age, rather as an evil spirit than as a tiger. As one goes along the roads he sees paper tigers pasted over the door, that the evil spirits, seeing the tiger, will flee away to a tigerless house. Chinese have great faith in tiger bones, claws and sinews as medicine. Since the tiger is so strong, medicine made of him must make one strong. Traveling medicine men with tiger skins stretched on poles as sign-boards rarely wait long for purchasers of their wares.

On the tiger cent rides Chang Tao-ling, the first Taoist Pope in China. He is said to have been born on Tien Moh San (Heavenly-eye Mountain) in A. D. 35. I have been on this mountain when out itinerating and slept in one of the temples. Chang was asked to be an official, but he chose to meditate in silence and cultivate virtue. He went to dwell in China's Western Hills where he was shown, a book given him from above, how to find the elixir of life and from other ancient books how to ascend to heaven, how to fly, and how to walk among the stars. With such and other magic powers he could fight demons, divide mountains and seas, rule the winds and thunder and send demons running with fright or bring spirits cowering before him. Being the head of the Taoists and being in possession of the elixir of life and of talismans for the cure of all diseases, not only is he highly respected, but he has enabled the Taoist priests to gain great wealth by the sale of such things to the people and they themselves to be sought out as great healers.

Charms with Chang Tao-ling's seal are purchased by rich and poor for homes or are carried about on their goodly sums and are pasted up in the persons. You can see these charms and seals above Chang's head. You will see, too, that he is dressed in fine, figured garments. In his right hand is his gavel of authority and in his left hand he has a cup of the elixir of everlasting life. The tiger on which he rides is crushing with his paws the five poisonous creatures that represent all creatures that injure the health. If you look carefully you can make out a snake, toad, centipede, lizzard and a spider. The little tiger behind has in its mouth Chang's own magic sword. Chang is pasted up in the home on the "Double 5th"—5th of 5th Moon—June 22 this year. He's supposed to repress the poisonous creatures so to ward off calamity and sickness, especially during the hot, trying months of summer. On the Double Fifth the children are dressed in cheap tiger-like suits of clothes, also to keep off disease—causing evil spirits who wish to harm children but are afraid of tigers. The children are also decorated with charms around their necks and arms and have tiger stripes of yellow paint on their faces.

Chang Tao-ling is also called the "Heavenly Teacher," "Chang the Angel," "Chief of the Wizards," "The Ideal Man," etc. I suppose 50 millions of him, such as I enclose, are pasted up and worshipped each year. The headquarters of his descendants and of the Taoists has been on the Dragon-tiger Mountain in Kiangsi Province since A. D. 1000. From this place come millions of charms, talismans, etc., to be sold to credulous people all over China. So you see how deeply steeped in superstition the Chinese are and how much they need the Precious Gospel of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. With best wishes and kindest regards.

Yours in Christ's glad service,
Rev. H. G. C. Hallock.

DESIGN SUITS TO CATCH SUN RAYS

Experts Fix Outfits for Outdoor Use by Tots.

Washington.—Active little bodies now may absorb beneficial sunshine while at play. Specially designed sun suits that leave plenty of skin exposed are recommended for children by the United States bureau of home economics.

The suits, the result of research by the division of textiles and clothing, under the direction of Miss Ruth O'Brien, are designed on the regulation romper plan.

They are made to provide varying degrees of exposure and to be used in sequence as the child's skin becomes accustomed to the sun and wind. Miss O'Brien advises mothers to use the sleeveless, low-necked suit first, then the one with the armholes cut down to the waist and the back out. The last stage is the suit with loose trousers of wide-meshed material and shirt made of two narrow strips of gauzy net, whose threads will not interfere with the sun's rays.

"All common textile fibers stop most of the ultra-violet rays," says Miss O'Brien. "So it is best to choose loosely woven fabrics for the sun suits, so that the rays can reach the body through the large spaces between the yarns."

"One of the most satisfactory suits that we have designed is made of cable net for the top and brown cotton suiting for the trousers, which are very short and very loose around the waist."

Farmer, Aged 81, Says He Has Walked 180,000 Miles

Glencoe, Minn.—The record of H. F. Beneke, eighty-one-year-old farmer here, is something for these cross-country runners to ponder over.

Mr. Beneke has clocked off 180,000 miles by foot in the past 17 years and still makes his daily walk.

"I had a fair-sized mileage ticked off when I was only eleven years old," the pioneer explained. "I walked nearly all the way from a point 25 miles south of Chicago to Glencoe in the summer of 1858. I was a member of a prairie schooner party, but there was no room in the wagons for the men and boys."

"For several years after that I walked frequently from the claim here to St. Paul and back, carrying provisions. During all that time I worked in the fields, and in those days, of course, there were no seats to ride on when working in the field. In fact, there was no farm machine. Later I made from 15 to 20 miles a day plowing and harrowing, and during the rest of the year I reckon that I walked at least five miles a day."

Most of his walking was done with wooden shoes, Beneke said. "We used to wear wooden shoes to St. Paul even in winter and exchange them for leather ones when we neared the town," he declared.

"One time I lost one of my leather shoes while crossing the river from St. Anthony to St. Paul. I didn't like to wear wooden shoes on the streets and tried to buy a pair of buffalo shoes, but couldn't find any to fit me in the St. Paul stores."

New Radium Explosive More Deadly Than TNT

Pasadena, Calif.—A new explosive of which radium is an important ingredient, was reported by military professors of the California Institute of Technology to have shown itself to be 30 per cent more powerful than TNT and 15 per cent more effective than commercial dynamite, in official tests conducted at the college.

Tests of the explosive, which was invented by Capt. H. R. Zimmer, of Los Angeles, former army officer, were conducted by Lieut. Col. L. M. Adams, professor of military science at the institute. An ounce of each of the three explosives was placed in three separate lead jars, and their comparative power determined by measuring the expansions created by the explosions.

Captain Zimmer refused to allow the institute scientists to analyze the explosive, declaring that he believed the War department might wish to maintain secrecy of his formula.

Bogy of "Old Age"

Let us free ourselves from thoughts of age! No man is old but he that thinketh in his heart that he is old. It is simply this thought of age, this consternation that men feel when time has taken their outposts and outworks that demoralizes men and enables time to capture them before they have retired to their impregnable fortresses where time cannot reach or touch them.—Evolution.

DANGER IN DRIVING TOO SLOW

From a safety standpoint, slow driving is sometimes as objectionable as excessive speed. There is a growing conviction among traffic authorities that the "crawlers" are almost as great a menace on main traveled highways as are speeders, and that a minimum speed is quite as necessary as a maximum one.

The "crawler" is a temptation to reckless driving by others. Vehicles quickly accumulate behind him and every driver is exasperated and eager to pass those ahead of him. Ordinarily cautious drivers are crowded into taking a chance by a sense of unjust delay. When several drivers massed in a close line all yield to this impulse at the same time—which often happens—an accident is very apt to follow.

There is no more room on main traveled roads for the jay driver than for the jay walker.—Kansas City Safety Council.

NEW KAFFIR HEADER IS USED WITH WAGON

A new device which attaches to the side of a farm wagon and used for heading kaffir corn, milo maize, sorghum, asterita, and similar crops which have been planted in rows has recently been developed, reports the research department of the National Association of Farm Equipment Manufacturers. This header is operated from a sprocket wheel attached to one of the rear wheels of the wagon. The outfit is attached to the side of the wagon box and cuts and delivers the heads of grain to the wagon as fast as the team is driven down the row.

We are sorry to report that Uncle Ike Newberry is preparing to sell out and move to South Texas, probably somewhere near the famous Taft ranch. Somehow we have a hazy idea that Uncle Ike is not only hunting a warmer climate, but also wants to go where there will be more Republican companions, as Uncle Ike has always been one—not just Hooverizing this year. But Terry county is losing one of its very best citizens.

SHERIFF'S SALE

THE STATE OF TEXAS County of Terry

Whereas, By virtue of an Order of Sale issued out of the District Court of Terry County, Texas, on a judgment rendered in said Court on the 20th day of September A. D. 1928, in favor of A. E. Pool, W. E. Pool and C. G. Goodman and against R. C. Cooksey and Rosie Cooksey No. 1083 on the Docket of said Court, and to me, as Sheriff, directed and delivered, I did, on the 11th day of October A. D. 1928 at 8 o'clock a. m. levy upon the following described tracts and parcels of land situated in Terry County, Texas, and belonging to Rosie Cooksey and R. C. Cooksey to-wit:—

All of the Southeast Quarter of Section Number 30 in Block D-11 in Terry County, Texas, on the 6th day of November, A. D. 1928, being the first Tuesday of said month, between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. on said day, at the Court house door of Terry County, Texas, in the town of Brownfield, I will offer for sale and sell at public auction, for cash, all the right title, and interest of the said Rosie Cooksey and R. C. Cooksey in and to said property.

Witness my hand this 11th day of October, A. D. 1928.

Official paper of Terry County.

The latest edition of the Extension Service Farm News showed a photograph of the first county agent to hold a position in Texas. The man was C. W. Stallings, and was made county agent of Smith county in 1906. The photograph showed a rather venerable and bearded old man at present. There are hundreds of them in Texas at present, and more in demand that cannot be obtained.

The norther that blew up Monday morning is holding on well, and is rather Irish on this Wednesday morning, but no damage has been done so far. It has the real old fall tinge that gets the sluggishness out of the stagnant system that has fought heat all summer. It also has a tendency of increasing the appetite, which in this section is almost always beyond the purchasing power of most of us, and besides we have no flue in our home yet—but it ain't going to be long now.

Fire Prevention Week has passed into history again, but with its passing perhaps some have secretly if not openly inquired what's the use of these yearly campaigns. We recently saw statistics on the matter published by those who had been closely associated with not only the campaigns, but on how to reduce yearly fire losses of both life and property. These statistics revealed the fact that not only had loss of life been reduced since these campaigns were inaugurated, but that fire losses of property had been greatly reduced. People are paying closer attention to their flues, wiring as well as the general construction of buildings in order to not only reduce fire hazards, but to reduce their insurance rates.

There are some people here who make no bones of the matter that they are voting against Al Smith because of his religion. Since Herbert Hoover in his address in New Jersey recently said that he did not want the vote of people who were that narrow, we don't see any other way out for them except not to vote.

For the first time in many years the Democrats are making an effort to get the negro vote in Texas. And for the first time thousands of negroes will vote the national Democratic ticket, but the better class of negroes throughout the state will vote for Hoover in November.—Tahoka News.

Well, in the name of high heaven what ticket should the negro vote. Who has been his real friend the Northern Republican or the Southern Democrat? As Jeff says, "Answer us that." And will say further that the good as well as the bad negro should vote with his true friends despite what you Republicans say. No Democrat has ever promised or given them a high political position in the South for their votes.

Cool did you say? Yes, but we are enjoying a change of the atmosphere that we had to put up with while away. We hope that we are several weeks away from jack frost or a freeze yet, for we need all the cotton we can get, and all the feed and pumpkins shocked.

The chilling breezes for the past week has put considerable more life into the natives. With a firmer and quicker step, they are going about their business of harvesting their crops.

This paper occasionally gets a piece of mail in which the editor is addressed as Esquire. Two decades ago this form of address was common, but like Judge and Colonel, the title is passing. Still, the old title has a ring of importance, and we find that such mail usually originates in some of the old New England States.

Our Hoover-Democrats contemporaries continue to pour it on Democratic New York City for its wetness, its crime and its negro appointees. They fail to train their guns on Republican Chicago, the most criminal city in America, or yet Philadelphia of Republican rule with its admitted 10,000 open saloons. Why?

No dear, Mrs. A. Smith may not be a high society matron; she might even offend some of the aristocratic diplomats from European capitals, as you suggest, but you'll have to admit that she has made a good mother and reared several fine boys and girls who are prepared to make their mark in the world—and that is still something.

A NOTABLE CREED

An interesting autograph letter from General Robert E. Lee to his son, G. W. Curtis Lee, and dated Arlington House, April 5, 1852, was unearthed a few years ago in Hattiesburg, Miss. The letter read:

ROBERT E. LEE
"My Dear Son:
"Your letter breathes a spirit of frankness. They have given myself and your mother great pleasure. You must study to be frank with the world; frankness is the child of honesty and courage. Say what you mean to do on any occasion, and take it for granted you mean to do right. If a friend asks a favor, you should grant it if it is reasonable. If not, tell him plainly why you cannot. You will wrong him and you will wrong yourself by equivocation of any kind.

"Never do a wrong thing to make a friend or keep one. The man who requires you to do so is dearly purchased at a sacrifice. Deal kindly but firmly with your classmates; you will find it the policy that will wear best.

"Above all, do not appear to others what you are not. If you have any fault to find with anyone, tell him, not others, of what you complain. There is no more dangerous experiment than that of undertaking to be one thing before a man's face and another behind his back.

"In regard to duty, let me, in conclusion of this hasty letter, inform you that nearly one hundred years ago there was a day of gloom and darkness, still known as "the dark day"—a day when the light of the sun was slowly extinguished as an eclipse. The Legislature of Connecticut was in session and, as the members saw the unexpected darkness coming on, they shared in the general awe and terror. It was supposed by many that the last day—the Day of Judgement had come. "Some one, in the consternation of the hour, moved an adjournment. Then there arose an old Puritan legislator, Davenport Stanford, who said that if the last day had come he desired to be found at his place of duty, and therefore he moved that candles be brought, so that the House could proceed with its duty.

"There was quietness in that man's mind—the quietness of heavenly wisdom—an inflexible willingness to obey present duty. Duty, then, is the sublimist word in our language. Do your duty in all things, like the old Puritan. You cannot do more. You should never wish to do less. You should never let me and your mother wear one gray hair for lack of duty on your part.

"Your affectionate father,
"R. E. Lee."

GRIND THE COW'S GRAIN

When it comes to eating threshed taffir or kafir in the head the milk cow is almost a total failure. In most cases the cow extracts 19 to 20 per cent of the actual feed value. A few cows with good teeth, patience and determination will realize up to 30 per cent of the feed value.

In eating corn and oats the record is a better one, but by no means perfect. There is a loss from the grain not digested. There is probably a greater loss in requiring the cow to do grinding which can be done more cheaply in a mill.

The finer the grain is ground the more completely and easily it will be digested. The energy which the cow saves in grinding and digesting will be turned into milk.

Ordinary corn chop is much too coarse for best results. Often when the grinding is being done at a custom mill the operator will open up his grinder and hasten along the process. Watch him. Get him to grind it finely.

Corn, oats and all the grain sorghums ought to be made into a meal for the milk cows. They should be ground finely as the so-called dairy meal which is seen in feed stores. And if it costs 6 to 8 cents a hundred more to get it ground finely the extra money will be well spent.

BIGOTRY

Bigotry has no head and can not think, no heart and cannot feel. When she moves it is in wrath; when she pauses it is amid ruin. Her prayers are curses, her god is demon, her communion is death, her vengeance is eternity, her decalogue written in the blood of her victims, and if she stops for a moment in her infernal flight it is upon a kindred rock to whet her vulture fang for a more sanguinary desolation.—Daniel O'Connell.

ONE DEBT THAT WILL OUTLAW

Two Detroiters with offices in the Dime Bank Building went into Fred Sanders store. One of them addressed the manager familiarly by his first name.

"We've just made a bet of the ice-cream sodas. We'll have them now and when the bet is decided the loser will come in and pay for them."

HUNTER NOTES

Are you all surprised in us writing every week? Don't be shocked, because we Hunter people are always on time.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Williams and family visited the former's brother, M. S. Williams, of Tahoka, this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Blair of Lubbock, visited Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Sims, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Shank Lyles spent the day Sunday, with Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Simms.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Williams spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Offill.

We are sorry to report Mrs. Jack Bryan has been on the sick list. We hope she will soon be up again.

The little entertainment given by Mr. Hill, Saturday night was enjoyed by everyone.

R. B. Offill, Jr., has a very bad foot, caused from stepping on a piece of sharp, rusty iron.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Price visited Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Williams of Tahoka, Sunday.

The Smith boys and Ben McNew enjoyed a horse-back ride Sunday afternoon.

HOOVER NO FRIEND OF FARMER SAYS EASTERNER

The picture that has been sketched in the minds of the American citizen of Herbert Hoover is "a myth of a man who does not and never did exist," is the judgement of Ed C. Lasater, Texas ranchman and during the war period Chief of the Livestock and Animal Food Products Division of the National Food Administration; because he believed that Mr. Hoover was in no sense the friend of the farmer and ranchman of America, Mr. Lasater resigned his position under Mr. Hoover with this terse declaration: "I do so because I have become convinced that the policies which control it are harmful to the common welfare." As one of his most important assistants Mr. Lasater came to know the man Hoover intimately. His conception of him is diametrically opposed to that which has been fed the public in honeyed words of a friendly biographer. His estimate of Mr. Hoover is set forth in the following statement: For every hour of the time that Mr. Hoover has been a member of the cabinet of two presidents agriculture has stood in need of a friend in the government. Of all the men who have sat in those two cabinets he has had most reason to know and he did know, beyond all peradventure of doubt, that the rest of this country was prosperous at the expense of the producers of our basic wealth. When he took his seat in the cabinet the pleas of the producers of this country for a square deal were still ringing in his ears. He has made no move to give them even the semblance of a square deal and promises of Herbert Hoover to bring relief to agriculture when he is a candidate for President of the United States are worse than idle; they are little short of insults to the intelligence of the American producers of raw materials.

DON'T MISS THE FUN.

TROUBLE

A popular but secluded rendezvous for Detroit business men was invaded by a man who seemed more than usually excited. "Speed up, friend," he said to the bartender. "Give me a shot before the trouble starts." The bartender obligingly set out a glass of whiskey which was tossed off pronto. Another was demanded in the same excited manner and swallowed instantaneously. As the third drink was set on the bar the attendant inquired: "What is the trouble that's going to start?" "Oh, there'll be plenty of it," replied the consumer. "I haven't any money to pay for these drinks."

FALL FASHION HINTS

Woman's dress is more varied, more individual and more interesting this fall than it has been for many years," declares Mrs. Dora R. Barnes, Clothing Specialist in the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, "but it will require study from each woman to choose the best colors for her type and wear them in the most graceful and becoming manner.

"Line is one of the most important things to consider," she says, "and the five fundamental line are: neck, sleeves, waist, hips and silhouette. The scarf neck is very smart and ties in a bow on the shoulder. The V neck line is very popular, lace collars and cuffs as well as lingerie collars and cuffs are good. Set-in sleeves are popular and there is a tendency toward trimming the sleeves as puffs, jabot or fuller sleeves. The waist line this fall is declared to be just at the top of the hip bone and the hips are fitted smoothly and closely. Below the hips there is fullness of some kind such as draperies, godets and plaits. Skirts are fuller at the bottom and the front and back are the same. Yokes are good.

"The new silhouette remains very slender but with a slight tendency toward princess. In spite of more fullness the lines of the new mode make the stout woman look slender and trim," says Mrs. Barnes. "The skirt is slightly longer than last season and for sport and street wear should be about three inches below the bend of the knee. For evening and formal afternoon wear the skirts are longer and the hem line uneven.

"Satin seems to be the leading material this fall but velvets and velveteens, both plain and printed, tweeds, printed jerseys, wool georgette and wool taffeta are also approved. Patterns are sharply angular, with modernistic and floral designs, checks and polka dots.

"Brunettes should rejoice, for brown is a very smart color this fall, whether red, brown, dark brown, or any of the new wine shades. Blondes are also remembered as blues are very chic, including light shades of navy, bright blue, green blue, and slate blue. Black is as popular as ever.

"Hats show one sided and off-the-face treatment with small hats very smart and the poke bonnet shape very popular. Fall styles dictate strapped shoes, pumps and low cut oxfords, that are simple, graceful and with very little trimming. Brown and black seem to lead in color."

Texas has moved into second place in production of natural gas, registering a 45 per cent increase last year.

The Hahn Filling Station gave a demonstration Tuesday night of their new radio and loud speaker with a musical program followed by an address by Al Smith. The program and speech could be easily heard down on the square five blocks away. A good crowd of Smith admirers congregated for the program. Mr. Hahn is announcing his radios in this issue of the Herald.

The first 4-H Club for Boys and Girls has been organized in Turkey for the school children. Miss Ruby Adams, county Demonstration agent organized the club and will meet with its members twice each month.

FAMOUS SMITH BABY STILL IS UNNAMED

Parents Unconvinced That Child Is Theirs

Cleveland, Ohio.—Nine months ago, with faces clouded by uncertainty and eyes misted by tears, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Smith left a hospital here with a baby girl, though they had insisted a boy had been born to them. Recently they still maintain the baby "probably" isn't theirs.

The Smith baby, less than a year ago the most famous baby in the world, was born August 22, 1927, at the Fairview hospital. After the birth of the child, when Mrs. Smith had regained consciousness, the nurses congratulated her on the "fine big boy" that had been born, and the doctor asked her what she planned to name him.

Name Is George.

"His name is George," she replied. And so the name of George Smith was officially entered in the records at the city hall.

Nine days passed, when, the mother said, she received a shock: She found it was a girl baby she held.

There was sharp dispute, and Smith went to see a lawyer. A few days later and the newspapers of the nation were filled with a new sensation. Two other Smith babies had been born at the hospital, and the hospital books, which at first showed the Sam Smith baby to be a boy, had been changed, and now showed a girl.

"It isn't that I wanted a boy so much," Sam Smith explained, "but what I wanted to be sure is that the baby in my home is my own. If I had a million dollars I'd spend it to get at the bottom of the baby tangle."

The court told me, and the doctors told me, that as time went on and the baby developed I'd be able to be sure she was mine. If it hadn't been for that I'd never have brought her home. And now I know I can never be sure this baby is mine, nor where the baby that really belongs to me actually is, nor what became of him."

The Smiths haven't named the baby.

"We named our baby, you remember, 'George,'" Mrs. Smith explained wearily. "Why should we name two babies? Some day, of course, we'll have to have her christened."

"It's not so much having a baby we don't know is our own," she went on. "She's a cute little thing. But it's not knowing what became of my boy that's what I'm worrying about. I can't sleep nights for thinking about it. Can't you see how any mother would feel if she didn't know whether her baby was dead, or in the hands of another who might not take good care of it, or what had happened to it?"

Sea Water Runs Dynamo in Belgian Power Test

Paris.—The dream of limitless power from the sea is taking form in a laboratory installation set up by Georges Claude, inventor of liquid air, at Ougree-Marlhuys, on the Meuse river, near Liege, Belgium.

Claude recently reported to the Academy of Science that a dynamo was being driven by utilizing the 40 degrees Fahrenheit difference of temperature between the surface water and that at a considerable depth. A 50-kilowatt generator, he said, was producing 40 kilowatts of power, much more than enough to do the pumping necessary in the process.

This surplus of power, produced by nature, Claude announced last year could be obtained from the sea in vast quantities, particularly near the equator, where the difference in temperature at various depths is very great.

The first installation, made to test Claude's calculations, is expected to be followed by a more elaborate plant, and eventually by a commercial installation. Claude, in his first prediction, forecast that the world might heat itself in winter and cool itself in summer with the incalculable power the sea could give.

Sweet-Coated Poison Fatal to Cutworms

Geneva, N. Y.—Bran, sirup, lemons, water and paris green combined in the proper proportions and sprinkled about the base of plants troubled with cutworms makes a cheap and effective "bait" for the pest, say entomologists at the experiment station here, where frequent complaints are received about the depredations of cutworms in cultivated plants.

The following mixture will suffice for five acres: Bran, 20 pounds; paris green, 1 pound; cheap sirup, 2 quarts; three lemons and 3½ gallons of water.

The bran and paris green are mixed dry. The juice of the lemons is squeezed into the water and the peel and pulp chopped to fine bits and added to the water. The sirup is then dissolved in the water and fruit juice mixture and the liquid stirred into the bran thoroughly in order to dampen it evenly.

ADOPT NEW GOLDEN
METAL TRIMMINGS FOR CARS

A new feature of luxurious motor car coachwork which made its first appearance at the international automobile salon in Paris is the use of a bright golden metal for exterior hardware and bright metal work such as bumpers and door handles. Though its cost is high for automobile use, noted coachmakers have greeted its appearance with intense interest and many predict its quick adoption for uses on the most luxurious cars.

The car on which this beautiful new metal made its debut is Studebaker's luxurious Louis XIV limousine, mounted on The President Eight chassis and displayed at the Studebaker stand in the Grand Palais.

Bumpers, door handles, and the tie rod between the headlamps are all done in this bright golden metal in keeping with the luxury of the interior finish, which is carried out to symbolize the luxury of the period when the court of Louis de Grand was the greatest in Europe.

Coachmakers see in the new process a metal which will permit them to vary the nickel and chromium now so widely used for headlamps and other plated exterior metalwork on fine motor cars.

A BETTER REACH

The story is told of a Scotch farmer whose wife had after many years outgrown her spectacles and had to hold her reading matter at arms length in order to see the print. One night she was having a particularly hard time reading the newspaper though she was holding it out as far as possible.

"Jock," she exclaimed, "I do wish the next time you go to town you'd buy me a stronger pair of specs."

"Huh," said Jock, ever mindful of expenses, "what you need ain't stronger specs—it's longer arms."

NOBODY KNOWS

Nobody knows why the summer rose droops and dies at the summer's close
And the vagrant wind its pedals brown
Scatter at will thru the busy town—
Ah, nobody knows!

Nobody knows why the summer goes
And the weary winter brings the snows
And the boughs are bare and the birds are gone,
And the dreary days drag dully on—
Ah, nobody knows!

Nobody knows why the days disclose
Fears and follies and wants and woes
And death and duty and pain and care,
Scatter their sorrows everywhere—
Ah, nobody knows!

Nobody knows why the spirit goes
And the lips grow dumb and the eyelids close;
And the world's desire and the world's unrest
Wake no more in the icy breast—
Ah, nobody knows!

Nobody knows why the day departs
And night brings shadows to the sky
And hearts,
And finds the dreamer at set of sun
With a broken heart o'er task undone
Ah, nobody knows!

Nobody knows? Ah, yes! Oh, yes!
And that One—God! We grieve and guess;
But he is clearer of sight than we
And he knows why that it comes to be
Yes, somebody knows!

SHERIFF'S SALE

THE STATE OF TEXAS
County of Terry
Whereas, By virtue of an execution and order of sale issued out of the District Court of Terry County, Texas, on a judgement rendered in said court on the 28th day of August A. D. 1928, in favor of J. N. Lewis and against L. F. Bilbo No. 1092 on the docket of said Court, and to me, as sheriff, directed and delivered, I did, on the 8th day of October A. D. 1928 at 4 o'clock p. m., levy upon the following described tracts and parcels of land situated in Terry County, Texas, and belonging to L. F. Bilbo, to-wit:—

three acres off the southside of a 11 3/4 acre tract owned by A. A. Turner, said 3 acre tract being 675 feet east and west and 193.6 feet north and south and described in said deed from A. A. Turner to L. F. Bilbo by meets and bounds as follows, to-wit: beginning at a point that is 1508.3 feet south of the southeast corner of Block No. 106 Original Town of Brownfield, for the south east corner of this tract; thence west 675 feet to a point for the northwest corner of this tract; thence north 193.6 feet to a point for the northwest corner of this tract; thence east 675 feet to point for the northeast corner of this tract; thence south 193.6 feet to the place of beginning, in Section No. 113 Block T Terry County, Texas.

AND on the 6th day of November A. D. 1928, being the first Tuesday of said month, between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. on said day, at the Courthouse door of Terry County, Texas, in the town of Brownfield, I will offer for sale and sell at public auction, for cash, all the right title, and interest of the said L. F. Bilbo in and to said property.

Witness my hand, this 8th day of October, A. D. 1928.
F. M. ELLINGTON, Sheriff
8-3tc of Terry County, Texas.

SALESMANSHIP

A merchandise investigator reports that he went recently into a big store, and the first person he met inquired:

"Can I do anything for you?"
The investigator answered, "No, thank you," and went his way without making a purchase.

At the second store he was met with this greeting:

"Good morning! How can I be of service to you?"
And that fellow sold a nice little bill.

"The first salesman made it possible for me to say 'nothing' so easily that I said it; the other put it squarely up to me to tell him what I wanted him to do for me," says the investigator. "I had to tell him, or confess that I came in the store simply from idle curiosity."

No—no moral; just something to think about.—The Servicescope

Approximately 4000 head of spring lambs have been shipped from Farnsworth, lately. Six carloads of lambs were shipped by E. W. Biggers, and five carloads by J. W. Rogers. The farmers in this section are finding this a profitable sideline.

Life's True Object

We are here not simply to get enough to eat so as to keep alive, nor to accumulate enough goods so as to be comfortable, but we are here to grow a life so fine and so useful that it will bring joy to others and be worth keeping alive forever.—Epworth Herald.

Great Lakes' Coast Line

The shore line of the Great lakes comprises 8,300 miles. They have a water-surface area of more than 95,000 square miles. From Montreal, the head of ocean navigation, to the head of Lake Superior the sailing distance is about 1,340 miles.

Golden Sands

Black sand containing gold is found after every westerly wind on some of the beaches on the west coast of the South Island, New Zealand. Many people earn a living by gathering the sand at low tide and washing it for the sake of its golden contents.

Ancient Scripture Book

The Hexapla is an edition of the Holy Scriptures containing six versions in parallel columns; especially a collection of Hebrew and Greek versions of the Old Testament thus arranged, published by Origen in the Third century.

Almost Beyond Belief

The malarial parasite is so small as easily to inhabit the interior of a human red blood corpuscle, of which five million are normally contained in a cubic millimeter of blood (about one-sixth of an average drop).

Useless Baggage

The trouble with many people, says a great scientist, is that they spend too much time "packing trunks" they cannot take with them and that would contain few useful things if they did.—American Magazine.

Animals Can Be "Dyed"

It is well known to biologists that living animals can be dyed artificially without injuring them. The two dyes most frequently used for this purpose are called methylene blue and neutral red.

Pedigreed Curios

Chinese collectors do not appreciate a curio unless it has its pedigree, comments Vanity Fair. It must be accompanied by a hoary list of purchasers dating from the time of its birth.

There's an autumn sting to the air that gives a briskness to everyone and a romantic glamour to the cool, clear nights that causes many to fall victims to Cupid's darts. October seems to vie with June in the number of weddings.

Miss Stewart Weds Mr. Stephens In Tahoka

A marriage of particular interest took place Sunday morning, October 14 at Tahoka when Mr. I. A. Stephens and Miss Lena Stewart surprised their many friends by marrying at eight-thirty o'clock.

They intended to tell no one of their wedding for awhile, but the little love god just naturally stamps his victims and the secret could not be kept.

This romance started in a business way before the couple came to Brownfield. Mr. Stephens formerly traveling for Higginbotham-Bailey-Logan out of Dallas met Mrs. Stephens at Bowie. After meeting again here their friendship became love.

The bride is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stewart of Bowie. She has been head of the ready-to-wear and millinery department of the new dry goods firm, Head-Hargrave since they came here in June.

The groom is well known being partner in the Cobb & Stephens Department Store.

They left Sunday for Carlsbad, N. M., for a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. Bynie White and to go through the Carlsbad Caverns. Upon their return they will keep house.

Mrs. McBurnett Hostess At Bridge Party and Club

Mrs. A. M. McBurnett entertained with three tables of bridge Wednesday morning at nine o'clock. High score was won by Mrs. Wingerd and next to high by Mrs. Flem McSpadden. Mrs. Wingerd received a pretty pink smocked pillow and Mrs. McSpadden two wall pockets and a hanging basket.

A pretty plate of sandwiches, fruit salad, whole tomato with oil dressing, olives, potato chips and iced tea was served.

The guests were Mesdames J. D. Miller, Collins, DuBois, Arthur Sawyer, Nobles of Hamlin, Wingerd, Fred Smith, Randal, Bailey, Gore, Hopson and McSpadden.

Mrs. McBurnett entertained her club, The Kill-Care Club, that afternoon with four tables of bridge. Mrs. Michie scored high and Mrs. Holmes next to high. The prizes were duplicated of the morning party except the smocked pillow was yellow instead of pink.

Sandwiches, fruit salad, whole tomatoes with oil dressing, olives, potato chips and iced tea were served to the members and guests who were, Mesdames Luther Cruce, Leo Holmes, J. E. Michie, J. B. King, W. R. McDuffie, E. G. Alexander, Flem McSpadden, Edgar Self, W. C. Smith, Claude Hudgins, Ray Brownfield, Ike Bailey, Roy Wingerd and Dick Brownfield and Misses Patterson and Martin.

P. T. A. Observes Fire Prevention Week

Fire Prevention Week was observed by the Parent-Teacher Association by an appropriate program given by the sixth grade room under Miss Bank's direction.

Mrs. Dunn, president of the Association urges all interested in the school to attend these meetings. Although the majority of fathers and mothers are interested in the welfare of their children, all do not realize the significance of the co-operation between the parents and teachers and there is no organization that carries this work on as well as the P. T. A.

Plans were completed for a big drive for new members.

I-Deal Club Business Meeting

The I-Deal Club met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. DuBois, the club president, for business. A new member was voted in.

Shower Newlyweds

Thursday evening at seven-thirty o'clock members of the S. S. S. Club and friends met at the home of Miss Annie Belle Scudday, and from there went to the Rialto Theatre where they called out Mr. and Mrs. Orb Stice, just recently married. The bride and groom were blindfolded and placed in separate cars where they were driven around town. Then they were taken to the home of Miss Anna Belle where the gifts had been arranged. An interesting program was given in which Miss Kathaleen Alexander sang "That's My Weakness Now;" Miss Katherine Holgate read, "Betwain to Love;" Miss Fay Brown played a piano solo; Miss Zelliea Holgate read, "What Gladys Loves," and Miss Mattie Jo Gracey read "A Recipe For a Cake." Miss Mattie Jo also did the Charleston.

Miss Lou Ellen Brown presided over the punch bowl and Miss Bernice Lane the "Wish Book." Fifty-two guests were present.

Mrs. Hudgins Entertains Friday Forty-Two Club

Halloween suggestions were used in the decorations and in the table covers and napkins and tallies when Mrs. Claude Hudgins entertained the Friday Forty-Two Club Friday afternoon.

The cut prizes were won by Mrs. Baldwin and Mrs. Brothers. Mrs. Baldwin receiving pretty pink and silver candles and Mrs. Brothers a hand-painted bread tray and knife.

To Mesdames Bailey, H. W. McSpadden, W. C. Smith, S. H. Holgate, E. M. Kendrick, W. B. Downing, Baldwin, Townsend, Nobles of Hamlin, Collins, Brothers, Hamilton, Gore, Webber and Dallas was served a delicious plate of sandwiches, pineapples and cheese salad, iced tea and paraffin.

J. U. Club Entertained

Miss Eunice Banks was hostess to the J. U. Club Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Randal.

Bridge was played with Miss Marie Bell scoring high and receiving a jar of fragrant bath salts and Miss Fay Martin second to high a pretty table runner.

Delicious pumpkin pie with whipped cream and hot chocolate were served to Misses Mildred Woodhead, Marie Bell, Grace Hulse, Olga Fitzgerald, Lucille Flache, Addie Hamilton, Violet McBurnett, Fay Martin, Ina Patterson and Bess Baldwin.

Woodman Circle District Manager Present

Mrs. Linbloom of Amarillo, district manager of the Woodman Circle was with the local circle on Thursday evening, October 4th, at a regular meeting in which fifteen new candidates were initiated. A delicious plate lunch of chicken sandwiches, olives, sweet pickles, fruit salad, cake and hot chocolate was served.

Halloween Celebration

On Thursday evening October 18th four more new members were installed. The new officers are: Guardian, Mrs. Lee Smith; Past Guardian, Mrs. Charlie Moore; Advisor, Mrs. Jim Moore; Chaplain, Mrs. George Neill; Clerk, Mrs. Jack Head; Captain of team, Mrs. Charlie Moore.

After the regular meeting Mrs. Judson Cool and Mrs. Jack Benton were joint hostesses in celebrating their birthdays. The hall was prettily decorated in keeping with Halloween and Halloween games were played. Watermelon and pop-corn were served to about twenty-five guests.

BIGGEST CANOE RACE EVER FILMED IN "ROSE-MARIE"

The greatest canoe race ever filmed in motion pictures has been produced in "Rose-Marie," the film version of the famous musical play, which is coming Monday and Tuesday at the Rialto Theatre.

More than 250 birchbark canoes, shipped from Canada to California, were used in the filming of an early sequence representing the return of the trappers to the fur-trading post following a winter's work in the Canadian north woods. The first man to arrive was acclaimed the hero of the old trapping days and was given the "key to the city."

Joan Crawford and James Murray have the principal romantic roles of "Rose-Marie," which was produced by Lucien Hubbard for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

The Head-Hargrave Dry Goods Co. reports the biggest sales the past few days since they have been doing business in Brownfield. In fact they report they did more business Friday and Saturday than any month before.

QUALITY MERCHANDISE

Our store is brim full of bright seasonable merchandise. Every department is complete. Never before have we offered the people of Terry county as wide a range of colors and patterns from which to make their winter selections. Never before have we carried a stock to compare with our present stock.

We believe in Brownfield and Terry county. We have built our store from a small shop to one of the South Plains largest stores in five years. We think our success came solely from Quality Merchandise reasonably priced. We still operate our store along these lines. We never have quality taken from our merchandise so we can sell it a little cheaper.

We believe there never was a garment made, this truth you must confess, that some bird couldn't make it worse and sell his junk for less.

If it comes from Collins' it must be right.
