CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The writer has just returned from a trip to Fort Worth and Dallas and is confident that his efforts while away will result in much improvement to our mail service as the program was finally concluded will give use seven day service on all classes of mail from Post to Roswell and from Lubbock to Seagraves. Stayed in "Industrial Dallas" for several hours and noticed that business was rather on the quiet order in spite of the fact that all of East Texas is in such a fine shape and has such a large buying power.

Business in Brownfield, seems to be satisfactory, but if a considerable number of our people who seem to have formed a habit of going to other towns for their merchandise, would leave a little more money with the home merchants, all of us would be better off. However human nature is the same wherever you find it and a fellow said to me a few days ago, that the people of Seagraves traded in Brownfield, the people of Brownfield in Lubbock, and those in Lubbock at Dallas, while Dallas went to New York and New York to London, and London to Paris, while Paris went to Hell. And I expect he told the truth. Most of us are interested in our town and county and are trying to develop them to their full possibilities, so lets all get together and trade with our home merchants and pay the farmers a fair price for their produce and make our section a better place in which to live.

A letter has been received from the president of the elevator company, who said that our trackage prices were so high that he could not afford to establish his plant and from the contents of it, we have arrived at the conclusion that he was not much interested anyway and was glad of an excuse to withdraw from the field. Maybe some other milling company will be found who is able to vision the future and be willing to serve us by the time that our next crop is ready to harvest.

LUBBOCK COUNTY ELECTION CALLED

LUBBOCK, Texas, Dec. 13.—Acting upon a petition signed by over 1,000 taxpayers of Lubbock County, the Lubbock County Commissioners' Court passed a motion Monday, calling a county-wide bond election in the amount of $1,000,000 which will be voted on Jan. 12, the issue to provide funds to pay the county's part in the paving of State and Federal designated highways in the county.

The issue follows closely upon the heels of another issue which was defeated here Dec. 1. The defeated issue would have provided funds for the present program and sixty-five miles of county roads. Voters' expressed opposition to including the county roads.

The issue that will be voted on Jan 12 will include funds to pave Highway Nos. 7, 9 and 53 through the county, the newly designated highway from Lubbock west toward Levelland and a road from Idalou north to the county line toward Silverton.

The issue will also provide 22,000 that will be used in paying off bonds voted by road district No. 1.

Dear Santa Claus:
Will you please bring me a big doll with pretty hair and sleepy eyes, and a ring and wrist watch. I would like to have lots of nuts, candies and fruits. Don't forget my little brothers and sisters.
With love,
EARLEEN WILLIAMS

I would love to have a pretty baby doll, a little aluminum doll set and nuts, candies, and fruits. And Santa, I will have mother to leave the front door open so you can get in easy to fill my stocking.
Much love,
LA VERNE OFFILL.

Dear Santa Claus:
Will you please bring me a baby doll, a cedar chest and lots of apples, oranges, candy and nuts. I have been good. Lots of love,
ALMA FERN GREEN.

Christmas Morn

Down through the ages of the past,
To that first holy Christmas morn,
When lowly shepherd and wise king,
Paused, paying homage to the newly born.
Back through the ages of the past,
Comes today, another Christmas morn;
And a busy world, stops to rest;
Paying reverence to the Christ child born.

THE TERRY COUNTY HERALD
Wishes each of you a Merry, Merry Christmas

American Legion Puts Over Sporting Event

A large crowd attended the first monthly sporting exhibition at the American Legion hall last Wednesday night, which is under the auspices of the Legion boys. There was a proposition made and advertised before the show of money back at the door after the show if there were any not pleased or did not feel that he had his money's worth.

The opening attraction was staged by Jap Proctor and Marion Stone, both local boys. The second event was Buster Edwards and Lucky Pace, also local boys, followed by a bout between Nolen of Gomez and Buchanan of Wellman. All these were interesting bouts, and the contestants showed good science and training as well as hard hitting qualities when necessary.

But the funniest part of the whole procedure was six young fellows ranging from 10 to 12 years all in the ring at the same time. These buttons went in to fight—and fight they did. Some hit at others so hard they landed on their backs when they missed their aim. The crowd was in an uproar all the time this battle royal was raging.

Following this, Al Stephens and Bruce Johnson, well matched in size and build, went in for a wrestling match. They went the time limit without either getting his antagonists' shoulder to the floor. This was followed by the main event of the evening, a three round bout between Battling Casey, of Colorado State and Carl Back of Stamford. This was a fine event, and the boys did not just play with each other to kill time. Considering that Back was out of training, the event was pretty evenly matched.

We have heard of no one who even intimated that he wanted his money back, but are awaiting the next event with enthusiasm.

There are about 6,000 grade crossings on the public highways of Texas.

Must Have New License Plate January 1st

Special State Highway officer, J. C. Keller called upon the Herald one day last week and informed us that he would begin stopping cars on the first day of January that bore the old 1928 license plate, for the law requires that you have the 1929 license plate on your car January 1st providing you aim to use it on the highways. It is perfectly permissible to obtain and put them on your car now, according to Keller, and if you are called away suddenly right after the first, you would not stand a chance to be held up on a hurried call to have to pay the taxes on your car.

Mr. Keller informed us that he wanted to be perfectly fair and frank with the people of this section, and to keep down any misunderstanding or possible hard feelings toward him, he was giving his information through the press. So be forewarned and get your new license and put it on your car before the first day of January.

Rotary Club Sponsoring A Cheer Fund

The local Rotary Club with the cooperation of the several churches of the city, are sponsoring a movement to see that each and every family in Terry county have something in the way of Christmas cheer such as fruits, nuts, candies, etc., and in case of children they will be provided with toys.

If you know of any destitute families near you, report the fact to the Rotarian committee mentioned elsewhere, or to one of the pastors of the Brownfield churches, right away.

Dear Santa Claus:
Please bring me a doll, some nuts, oranges, candy and apples, and I will be your little girl all next year.
Very truly,
Marie Sharp.

Bowers Brothers Install Late Model Crusher

While strolling over the city Saturday afternoon, we happened to note a funnel shaped contraption up towards Bowers Brothers wholesale establishment, and went over to investigate. We found at once that Bob had put one over on us without any consultation, advise or permission to go ahead, but we let him off with a slight reprimand for not asking us about it. He kindly grinned and endured it.

Using part of the old McAdams sheds to house the machinery, which consists of a large type four cylinder tractor engine, the crusher and elevator machinery. When we called he was crushing a combination feed consisting of corn and maize. This well crushed feed is then elevated to the funnel shaped contraption spoken of above. Just what part it plays, unless it is a kind of cleaner and mixer, we failed to learn. The feed then goes into a chute like seed chutes at gins and is unloaded into the wagon bed without trouble. The crusher is a large type one, capable of crushing a wagon load of feed in just a few minutes.

Speaking of crushers, the Herald together with local merchants who handle crushers are preparing to put on a feed crusher week here early in January, when a good description and merits of each crusher will be given in these columns. A large crusher manufacturing concern will also carry a large ad. There should be a feed crusher on every large farm in Terry county, for it is said that feed has almost as much again value to stock after being crushed, as it is then in an almost predigested state.

LONGBOTHAM SAYS THAT RAISING TURKEYS PAYS

Cliff Longbotham reports that although his turkeys recently shipped to Chicago did not quite bring the listed price on the Thanksgiving market he received good prices as indicated in the following table by which his product was rated:

Young Toms	45c
Young Hens	42c
Old Hens	38c
Old Toms	33c

Mr. Longbotham states that express rates are excessive being $4.05 to Chicago. He says that shipping dressed turkeys to the distant markets at Thanksgiving and Christmas times will be profitable when the turkey growers unite to make their shipments together by freight.—Seminole Sentinel.

TO THE PUBLIC

The West Texas Warehouse is discontinued for the rest of the season. All cotton left there will be at the owner's risk.—Jess Smith, Weigher.

Christmas Cheer For Kiddies By Rotarians

The Rotarians of Brownfield want to work in co-operation with the churches of the town, the American Legion, Aid Societies, Circles and all the other different organizations and clubs and societies, in fostering, promoting and distributing cheer among the poor and needy, worthy or unworthy. We want your immediate assistance in helping us reach these people. Give some name to either, Will Alf Bell, Homer Winston, Dick McDuffie, Wood Tudor or J. L. Cruce. The boys scouts have promised to assist in distributing these presents which are to be assembled and distributed from the American Legion Hall at 2 o'clock Christmas eve.

Help. Lets make some child happy who might otherwise be forgotten on this yuletide.
Children write your letters to Santa Claus in care of the Rotary Club.

SOME PINK BOLL WORMS FOUND IN ECTOR COUNTY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Three live pink bollworms and seven dead ones have been found by the scouts of the United States Department of Agriculture near Odessa, Ector County, according to preliminary reports made to Washington. No worms have been found in the other counties of that West Texas area, where the infestation is believed to have come from the Big Bend area on the Rio Grande.

The department has about fifty experts at work in the area and will not be in position to make a more definite announcement until the cotton acreage is all gone over, probably by January. The infestation of the West Texas area was first discovered in January and February of this year, when the worm is thought to have carried by wind from the Big Bend infested field. A hard freeze occurred shortly before the discovery and belief of the cotton experts was at the time that the infestation had been killed out. All the specimens found then were dead and it was only during the last few days that live worms were discovered.

Dear Santa Claus:
I have been a good girl and I want you to bring me a sweet little baby doll and some doll clothes and candy, oranges, apples and nuts.
With love,
MARY EVELYN GREEN.

Mr. and Mrs. Bynie White of Carlsbad, N. M., are here for the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Amé Flache.

Kiddoes Are Bearing Down on Old Santa

When old Santa Claus gets the last weeks Herald, and this one for that matter, he will know that the kids of old Terry have been keeping him in mind for a long time, and cheer his old heart up splendidly in his ice bound manufacturing plant up north. He'll also find that all of them have been good kids—they say so themselves—and who'll deny they're right, all the time.

But this week will end the matter so far as the Herald is concerned, as another issue will not appear until Santa has made his annual calls and returned to his abode in the faraway northland. The Herald has enjoyed putting up these letters for the little folks. We have got a good kick out of them in their simple, frank, child-like simplicity. No scheming or dodging the issue, or hinting in them. They go right out and reach the spot at once. None of them try to make Santa think themselves saint like, but try to let him know that they are just "average" children. Would that more of us grown ups practiced honesty of words and purpose like these little folks.

There is hoping that each of them are fully satisfied with what old Santa bring them, and that they have a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Not only the children, but we hope the grown up readers of the Herald and its loyal advertisers have the best Christmas they have ever enjoyed in their lives.

INSURANCE COMPANIES

REPORT TEXAS O. K.

Dallas, Texas, Dec. 17.—Investments for the Texas Life Insurance Companies continued their upward climb during November according to reports just compiled for these companies.

The reports indicate that there was a slight decrease in the amount of loans on real estate, although these still took up 49 per cent of the total invested by Texas companies.

Bonds accounted for 22 per cent of the total, while policy loans were confined to but 29 per cent. As in October, the comparatively small amount of policy loans indicates the state to be in an especially good financial condition. Of the total of $527,000 invested by the Texas Life Companies in first liens on real estate, West Texas took the major part. South Texas, North Texas and Central Texas following in the order named.

Investments of the 13 reporting Texas Companies, for the first time this year, amounted to more than $1,000,000 for the month. All of the companies reported collections and liquidation of obligations as satisfactory.

THE THREE OLD MAIDS

There were three girls in a family, one about 18 years old, one about 23, and one about 30. They each had dates for that night, so they decided that next morning they would say "morning" as many times as they had been kissed the night before.

Next morning when the 23 year-old girl came into the room, she said, "Fine morning this morning." Then came the youngest sister and said, "Fine morning this morning; if it is as fine a morning in the morning as it is this morning, it will be a fine morning in the morning." Then the eldest of the sister came in and said, "Darn it, howdy."

COME CHISHOLM'S WAY

PULLED AN AWFUL BONE

The greatest act of asininity we have heard of lately was committed by Industrial Dallas, incorporated, a subsidiary of the chamber of commerce. They had a map printed showing the purchasing power of Texas counties in which every East Texas county was uniformly shown up to be good, while West Texas counties invariably were marked poor, thus doing our section incalculable harm in the East where these maps have been distributed. However they printed too many maps for some of them not to get into the hands of the "wrong" people, and the reaction against Dallas business men is going to be fierce. If Dallas is working for a division of Texas, they could not have devised anything more insidious. Speaking for ourselves, the Tribune-Chief is buying seven-eighths of its supplies from Dallas wholesalers, and to receive such a knock from the men we patronize does not sit well. And we suppose all over West Texas are thousands of business men who feel like we do.—Quanah Tribune-Chief.

One of our friends handed us the price of a few issues of the Herald recently to go to a friend in another state. The friend is now a regular reader on his own hook, and a good prospect for a permanent settler. Why not try it yourself?

Forty meters a day are being set out in Post since the acquisition by that city of a natural gas system. The gas company will have its new permanent office home completed for occupancy by the close of the month.

O'Donnell has recently had a great reduction on their key insurance rate following the finishing of a modern system of water works.

TO KEEP FROM GROWING OLD

Always drive fast out of alleys. Always race with locomotives to crossings. Engineers like it; it breaks the monotony of their jobs.

Always pass the car ahead on curves. Don't use your horn, it may unnerv the other fellow and cause him to turn out too far.

Demand half the road—the middle half—insist on your rights.

Always speed; it shows people you are a man of pep even though an amateur driver.

Never stop, look or listen at a railroad crossing it consumes time.

Always lock your brakes when skidding. It makes the job more artistic.

Always pass cars on hills. It shows you have more power and you can turn out if you meet a car at the top.

Never look around when you back up. There is never anything behind you.

Drive confidently, just as though there were not twenty-three million other cars in service.

Several car loads of cattle to be shipped in to Olton in the next three months have been contracted for by County Agent D. A. Adams. They will be mostly Jerseys. Interest is manifested in Guerenseys, and all-purpose types as milking Shorthorns, Red Polls, and others.

Terry county had only ginned 4,657 bales of cotton up to December 1st, compared to 8,487 same time last year.

Building permits in Lamesa have totaled $300,000.00 this year with every prospect of continuing. Brick, brick veneer and stucco houses have held the majority in the residential district with frame buildings in the minority.

A bond election for $100,000.00 was carried by a vote of 297 to 91 in Robert Lee. This will go to building a highway for the Mitchell County line between Robert Lee and Colorado City to the Tom Green county line, between Robert Lee and San Angelo. The road will probably be designated as a state highway.

Plans for three and possibly four more stories being added to the Graham hotel at Pecos by the first of the year are being completed. Ball room, room garden, banquet hall, club rooms and one hundred and twenty-six guest rooms have been planned.

The records at Lubbock show that with twenty-three permits issued during the past month, residences topped the list with $112,500 worth. The months total was $151,000 bringing the years total to $3,188,169.

MR. BEES settled back comfortably in the new easy chair which his daughter-in-law had given him for Christmas. His feet were resting on a little foot stool from his granddaughter; in his mouth was a briar pipe from his grand son, and on his lap a first edition of Tom Sawyer from his son. He was clad in a velvet lounging robe from one of his daughters, and under his white beard could be seen a new Christmas tie and the edges of a new silk shirt. Comfortable looking slippers adorned his feet, and a new reading glass was in his hand. A box of Havana cigars, a dozen books, ties, socks, and a fountain pen were on a table at his side.

Mr. Bees was smoking and gazing into the fire. The strains of a New York orchestra playing "Holy Night" came to his ears from the mahogany radio in the corner. The seventy-five electric bulbs on a beautifully ornamented Christmas tree furnished the only light in the room except that from the fire. The music of laughter came from an adjoining room.

But Mr. Bees was not conscious of his surroundings. As he was gazing into the fire his thoughts were traveling through the mysterious flame into a distant past. He was living over again the first, and perhaps the happiest Christmas day that he could remember, a Christmas day some seventy-five years before.

In a tiny house in what was then called Canada West, now known as Ontario, a poor family was struggling against the elements for its very existence on the frontier of civilization.

"Oh, Marvel of Marvels—a Big Red Apple!"

Mr. Bees must have been four or five years old at the time. His mother and father were in their early twenties. The one-room house was practically buried in a drift of snow that Christmas eve.

Mr. Bees, then only Ted, was busy admiring the pictures painted by Jack Frost on the one window of the little home. Such hoar frost! Was there ever the like of it before or since! It was a veritable forest of ferns and trees and bushes, snowy white, more beautiful even than the green ones that grew so thickly in summer along the little stream in back of the house—and more impenetrable. Stars and planets and comets were in this frosty forest, too, and here and there the outline of a palace, at least for the imagination of little Ted. It was the most beautiful thing that he had ever seen, or probably ever would see, in this world at least. He could see it now, in memory, as plainly as he saw it then.

His mother was at the stove preparing supper. Soon she called him from his reverie, and he sat down by the soap box with her and with his father. A pan of warm milk was on the box—and in the milk were hunks of bread—a feast for a king. Each of the little family took a spoon and ate from the brimming pan. How good it tasted! Would he could taste it now.

While his mother swept up the crumbs Ted hung his stocking near the stove. Then his mother pulled out the trundle bed, and in two minutes Ted was in the land of dreams.

How cold the house was that Christmas morning when at five o'clock he jumped from his trundle bed and ran to the stove to get his stocking! He took it quickly back to bed, and dug his hand way down into the toe to see what Santa had left for him. Oh, marvel of marvels, a big red apple! And four little animal cookies! But last and best of all, a stick of peppermint candy striped with red. What more could any child desire?

"Your after-dinner coffee, sir," said a white be-capped maid at his elbow. As he drank the coffee, and looked into the fire, and listened to the music Mr. Bees heard only the pan of milk simmering on the stove, saw only the hoar frost forest, and tasted only the stick of peppermint candy, his happiest memories in life, perhaps.

C. Schroeder and son, Henry, Chas. Druessendow, Otto Nessbaum, and another gentleman whose name we failed to get, were up from Haskell county prospecting this week. Mr. Schroeder is a former resident of this county, but had to leave on account of his wife's health, but still retains his property here. Mr. Druessendow became a reader of the Herald while here. All said our feed and corn crop looked good to them.

E. W. Harlan and wife were in from the farm Monday complaining that they were not getting the Herald. Just sending it to the wrong address, that's all.

We have noted several of our college students home for the holidays, among them Uyless (Blue) Graham from the New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell.

Our ginners are to take Christmas week off. While most of them will remain in Brownfield, we understand, some of them will likely make visits to relatives in the East. W. E. Henson and family will probably spend Christmas with relatives at Ashdown, Ark.

Alias Joe and His Christmas
Clara Agee Hays

A NORTHWESTERN gale swept dry snow around the corner where old Joe sold papers. Shoppers in heavy wraps hurried past, arms loaded with bundles. Children slipped in anticipatory happiness. Old Joe pulled his worn sack coat about him and fastened it tighter with a piece of wire. His hands, in dirty outing mittens, were cold. He knocked the backs of them together gingerly and stamped his feet feebly on the icy walk.

"Paper! Evening Journal! Paper!" he droned monotonously. Mentally he figured his gain. Enough for a fifteen cent bed and sandwiches, maybe. But, tomorrow's being Christmas, nobody'd buy papers. He wanted to get enough to buy a little something to—his old face took on a foolish and shamed grin—maybe to make him happy and help him to forget just what an old beggar he was. Then, he wouldn't have to eat so much either. A vagabond. That's what he was. Never been much else—for years.

"Well, hello, Santa Claus!" a young man's voice hailed merrily.

Old Joe turned. "Paper?"

A laughing, well-dressed couple faced him. "Why, Jack!" the girl mischievously remonstrated.

Old Joe grinned sheepishly behind his beard. "Wanna paper?" he asked.

"I say, Fran!" the youth exclaimed. "Here's our Christmas!" He drew her farther away and whispered. They returned. "Hey! How'd you like to come to our house for Christmas?"

They talked some time before they convinced old Joe that they meant it. Too cold to be proud, he even submitted to the bath and hair cut that Jack paid for. In a suit too small for Jack's father, Joe came abashed into the kitchen and ate.

"You see, Fran's my sister," explained Jack. "The folks went off on their Christmas spree and left us home. We told 'em, we'd do something rare for our celebration!"

Jack and Frances had eaten down town. It was late, Joe was given some blankets and put on a cot in the corner of Jack's long room.

In the night Joe awakened suddenly. Painfully, he raised and listened. "Hey you—Uncle George! Gosh, I'm sick!"

"Wh—Whar'd Ye Git This?" He demanded.

Jack moaned. Old Joe turned the light on as he was told and called Frances. She wailed, "I can't come! I'm sick. I've been trying to call some one."

The next morning, the doctor on his second call, turned to an old man with a neatly trimmed beard and a clean suit. "They're all right, now, with the nurse here. It was something they ate last night."

Jack was better. He smiled faintly. "Well, the joke was on us, wasn't it, Uncle George? You did us the favor by getting the doctor here and running errands in the night. Before you go, step in the closet there and get my case."

Joe popped rheumatically out of the closet, wide-eyed, carrying not a case but an old enlargement. "Wh—Whar'd ye git this?" he demanded, hands trembling.

"Oh, that's why we call you Uncle George. You see, it's a habit we have to—er—sort of tease Dad. That's his brother, George. He ran away when he was young. Nobody's heard of him since. Dad says he was smart and sure to make his mark somewhere. One of these days, he says, Uncle George will drive up in a Rolls-Royce with enough hundred dollar bills to paper our house. Dad's actually proud of him. We are, rather, too. But we call—er—different fellows 'Uncle George' to make Dad—well, you see—" Jack stopped in embarrassment.

Old Joe nodded. "Wall, I gotta be goin'!"

"Wait! There's some money in my case. I want to pay you."

"Naw, jest come down an' buy papers of me if you wanna help. I'm a gonna start savin' up to buy a stand."

Outside Joe's trembling hands opened an almost empty purse, and pulled out the small original of the enlargement upstairs. A tear contradicted the sheepish grin. "Wall, it's a good thing the fellers took to callin' me Joe, lately, stead of George," he told himself.

Jesus Christ, whose birthday we are supposed to celebrate on Christmas, told us how to give good gifts unto our children and this might also apply to giving to anyone, so far as material gifts are concerned. We should never give anything to anyone that might cause a blush of confusion on the part of the receiver, or later regrets on the part of the giver. Useful gifts cost little if any more than foolish ones. Let's give good gifts—gifts that will elevate the recipient.

Well, Governor Dan finally got his 31 commissioners from all over the state together to formulate plans for better road construction. After getting them together Dan told them what to do, how to do it and threatened a veto of any legislation not in conformity to his own plans. Mussolini, where art thou?

It is said that new Helium gas plant in Amarillo will have a section in its building where the temperature will go 300 degrees below zero. We had been wondering all along why the plant was located at Amarillo.

Without doubt there is not a person in the good old lone star State but that loves its schools, colleges and universities, but we often wonder, with all the money appropriated for them by a paternal legislature that they cannot educate pupils cheaper than they do. We know a man right here in Brownfield who has probably worked for Texas all his life and loves it but is having to send his boy to another state for an education, and a private school at that, because an education comes too high in Texas schools, almost as high again. Why is it with all our millions of dollars appropriations for them they have to charge like rips to educate our own children?

Christmas Memories For Others

By Florence Harry Wells

MARK! the Herald Angels sing, "Glory to the new-born King!" The Christmas chimes were pealing overhead as Mrs. Peggy Walton hurried past the great department store.

A lump rose in Peggy's throat. Her eyes grew misty. She wondered if all these hurrying Christmas shoppers heard those chimes and felt as she did. Their faces gave no evidence of emotion; but neither did hers, Peggy assured herself.

Communing with herself Peggy thought of other Christmas shopping expeditions when all was joy and anticipation. But that was when Bob was little and the four grandparents and two aunts were all coming for the holiday festivities to the big brick house in the little town. Now Bob was twenty-one, the grandparents had passed away—Grandmother Walton and Grandmother Prentiss had gone just a short time apart the past summer. The two aunts felt as Peggy did that Christmas memories would be less poignant if they didn't try to have the customary reunion. And instead of the big brick house with its cheery fireplaces, in the friendly little town, they lived in an apartment in the city. Not much Christmas atmosphere about an apartment Peggy reflected.

But something must be done about Christmas for Bob's sake, if for no other reason. It wouldn't seem much like Christmas for Bob to come home from college to just her and Dad.

Peggy had passed beyond the sound of the chimes, but between shopping ventures her mind dwelt constantly on this Christmas problem and what she could do. All their friends had their own families at Christmas, just as they had had theirs until this year.

That brought her back again to the little town and the many changes that had taken place even in the short time they had been gone. Other homes besides theirs would miss the older generation this Christmas, Peggy began enumerating them in her mind.

There was Judge Hatford who had done so much for them when the first break had come and her own father had passed away, and even last summer when her mother, too, had gone. It was Judge Hatford who had taken the sting from the legal aspects. Yet, it was but a few weeks later when he also had been laid to rest in the little cemetery on the hill; then there was genial, courtly Mr. Morrow, and Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, separated from each other but a brief month, and Mr. and Mrs. Dawson—Peggy stopped in her summary. Why hadn't she thought of the Dawsons before? There was Fred Dawson, and Katherine, and their little boy Dick, and Katherine's younger sister, Mary; they, too, must be looking forward to Christmas with sorrowful memories; for always they had come from the far-off city to the home in the little town for the holidays and now there was no home to which to come.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS

Not because it is a time honored custom, but because of the sincerity of our appreciation, we take this opportunity to thank you for the privilege of our relations the past year and to wish for you an old fashion Christmas.

When you start for your fireside on Christmas Eve, may you leave behind you all cares, distractions and fears, and take with you only those truly Christmas sentiments—Hope, Happiness and Good Cheer.

"It's worse for them than for us. I'll write them at once," Peggy decided. "They're just what we need. Mary and Bob will have a good time. We always enjoy Fred and Katharine. And there's little Dick, bless his heart; a child is what we want to revive the Christmas spirit."

Again Peggy found herself within hearing of the Christmas chimes: "Joy to the world" was ringing forth as she approached the department store on her homeward way.

But there was no rump in her throat this time and her eyes were clear and scarry as she gaily hastened along, planning for others and winning for herself a Merry Christmas.

Out of Tune

To the person out of tune with life, Christmas may mean a wearisome duty, a bestowing of gifts on indifferent people, receiving in return things of incredible unsuitability for which he must write notes of imitation thanks.

Instead of Christmas Tree

Italy has an "Urn of Fate" instead of a Christmas tree. They put their Christmas gifts into a big deep bowl, and grown people in a family take turns drawing for gifts.

Mr. R. B. Davis our very efficient county agent informed us that he had nothing much to say this week as he was very busy getting up his annual report for the close of the year, which he considers a very profitable one. As the full time agent for Terry county next year he plans a great program, and we know the club boys and girls and the citizenship in general will give him full cooperation.

Mrs. J. L. Randal recently had a letter from Miss Alta Butcher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Butcher, of Wild Cherry, Ark., who formerly resided in the Pleasant Valley Community, stating that her aunt, Mrs. Price Turner died December 3rd, and was buried the following day.

HUNTER NOTES

The box supper given last Friday night was not very largely attended. However all that were present enjoyed themselves. Fourteen boxes and the cake brought $31.45. We take this means to thank the Forrester community for their help.

Mr. Paskell Goza and his sister who are teaching school at Happy visited Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Lyons this week end.

CANNED MEAT HEALTHFUL, THEY SAY

Home canned meat, if properly processed, retains the vitamin B found in fresh lean meat and is healthful in preventing pellagra. Miss Lola Blair, Foods Specialist in the A. and M. College Extension Service, announces after consulting with two eminent Washington authorities, "Pellagra is a dietary disease which is on the increase in Texas," says Miss Blair, "and the best way of preventing its occurrence is to consume fruits, vegetables, eggs, lean meat and milk. We have questioned whether the canned meat put up by thousands of farm housewives every year is entirely healthful and whether it can substitute for fresh lean meat in pellagra control."

Dr. Cummings of the United States Public Health Service writes: "The studies of the Public Health Service indicate that canned meat retains much if not all the pellagra preventing potency of fresh meat. This is all the more probable since tests of canned salmon have shown that it retains much if not all the protective potency of fresh salmon."

Dr. Louise Stanley, Chief of the Bureau of Home Economics in the U. S. Department of Agriculture, says: "I would say that if the meat is well canned it will not interfere seriously with its nutritive value. Vitamins A and B are the ones usually present in meat. There is no considerable amount of A, and B is rather resistant to heat, so I think it would be retained. I do not believe the time and temperature of processing meat would destroy any very large amount of vitamin B factor and I see no objection to teaching the use of canned meat."

"This knowledge," states Miss Blair, "is important to the thousands of farm families who are using canned meat because the fresh product is expensive and hard to obtain. It is also important in the study undertaken by Texas home demonstration club women of the prevention of dietary diseases of which pellagra is the most common to all parts of the state."

RADIO MAKES LIFE ON FARMS HAPPIER

Widespread use of the radio has proved the final step in releasing the farm family from isolation, the Oklahoma Farmer-Stockman of December 15 comments.

Not many years ago the farm family practically hibernated during the winter months. It was a time which to the farm women especially was a long nightmare of loneliness and discontent. Now, however, the radio has pulled back the curtains of isolation and put the farm family in close touch with the best of everything in the way of entertainment, education, travel and religion.

The broadcasting of market reports has been especially valuable to the farmer. Before the farmers had the radio, the local shipper received the telegraphic market reports each morning, and it was quite common on receiving news of a rise in the market for the buyer to hurry out and buy a carload or two of hogs or other livestock before farmers received news isn't possible since every farmer with of the advance. Now that practice livestock ready to market keeps close tab on the radio market reports which he receives as promptly as the buyer does. Many times farmers have in this way saved enough in a few shipments to more than pay the entire cost of their sets.

Another important radio service to the farmer, from the practical side, is the broadcasting of weather predictions. If rain is called for, the farmer knows better how much alfalfa to cut down, whether to start threshing or whether it is advisable to start on a long automobile trip over dirt roads. Now that the combine is becoming common and the moisture content of the combined grain must be closely watched, these weather predictions will be even more valuable.

PHYSICIAN FOR THE LIMBS WHY NOT THE LUNGS

In spite of the best efforts of the doctors, it is still difficult for the average person to realize that it is cheaper and easier to stay well than it is to get well. A lot of people think that it is brave to believe that the pain that bothers them will wear off without their doing anything about it. Some have a fear complex and won't go to the doctor because he might find something the matter with them. There is neither logic nor common sense in either of these attitudes. For example, one of the most insidious diseases, one that creeps upon its victim with almost no pain and but little other warning, is tuberculosis. Loss of weight and appetite, a stubborn cough, a persistent feeling of fatigue, are the commonplace indications of it; symptoms so familiar that we often treat them with contempt. Neglect, however, may lead to months, even years of serious illness, and perhaps the loss of life itself. Thousands of patients have recovered from tuberculosis, but there would have been many legions more if they had faced their problem in time.

If one has a broken limb, one does not go about hoping that it will "wear off." Why, then, should we take equally absurd chances with our lungs?

The Texas Public Health Association, and its affiliated organizations, is conducting an active campaign to stress the importance of the early diagnosis of tuberculosis. The twenty-first annual Christmas seal sale is being held to supply funds for this and other phases of the tuberculosis campaign in Texas.

Another block has been added to the contract for paving at Happy. This will make five and one half blocks of brick street when it is completed. Rainy weather has retarded the work for a short time.

USE AIRPLANE NOISE TO LIGHT THE WAY

No longer will it be necessary to keep airplane landing fields brilliantly lighted all night when a new invention, only recently demonstrated, is perfected to the point of being manufactured in quantity. The noise made by the hum of an airplane 1,000 feet in the air closed the switch that lighted a bank of flood lights at a Pennsylvania aviation field in the first demonstration of the sound sensitive automatic light apparatus developed by an electrical research engineer.

The device uses the drone of the airplane to control electric energy. From a tiny current at first this controlled energy is increased in power by amplifiers until it is strong enough to throw a good sized lighting switch.

A loud speaker operated reversely is the "ear" of the mechanism. Laid on its back it gives the apparatus a directive effect with reference to noises from above. A microphone completes the auditory section. Passing through several amplifiers the impulse then passes through the time-light relay the last step before the current automatically throws the lighting switch.

The switch locks automatically and the lights remain on until the switch is thrown by a field attendant.

APPROPRIATION FOR LUBBOCK IN FEDERAL COURT

A bill has been introduced in Congress asking for an appropriation of $200,000 for the building of post office at Lubbock. The proposed building will be 85 by 130 feet, three stories high.

When constructed, it will be in such a manner that additional rooms may be built for accommodation of the new federal court recently located there.

The past few weeks have witnessed a decided improvement of the railroad property in Fabens. A new chimney has been added to one building, new desks installed in the station, fixtures replaced by new ones, and others added. A new telegraph desk and instrument have been installed.

The Texas Committee on the Relation of Electricity to Agriculture has established 21 experimental electrified farms in Texas.

Mrs. T. B. Wood, about 35, of the Pleasant Valley community, died last Saturday afternoon in a Lamesa Sanitarium during an operation. Burial was had in the Lamesa Cemetery Sunday afternoon. The Woods family are very prominent in their community, and the people there as well as Brownfield will regret to hear of her passing.

"You Can Turn a Farmall on a Dime and Have Nine Cents Left Over!"

"YOU can turn it on a dime!" We often hear that said about the McCormick-Deering Farmall. There never was anything like it for getting around fast and easy in cramped space. It has the original exclusive patented square-turn feature found in no other tractor, bar none.

We have never turned it on a dime but here's what we will show you—a Farmall with 4-row cultivator and also with a 7-ft. Farmall mower, working and turning in a patch of ground 20 by 40 feet. That one-fiftieth of an acre! Did you ever see any other tractor that could do much more than stand still! on that?

The Farmall is the only square-turn tractor on the market. In the field you are 300 feet down the next furrow or grain-side while a clumsier tractor is making its slow loop-turn. One rear wheel stops to help you turn a close corner, and that comes mighty handy the year around.

Farmall belongs on just about any farm. It works on all jobs—belt, drawbar, and power take-off—and on all crops, even to the planting of corn, cotton, potatoes and other row crops. Many men are using Farmalls on little and big farms alike, without a single horse on the place.

Come and see us demonstrate these things. Drive the Farmall yourself.

"Hang a wreath at your threshold on Christmas

Christmas—The Great Love Link Of The World

Into each home the spirit of Christmas should enter, where children may garner treasures of sweetest experiences—the memory of which will dwell in their minds throughout the years to come. And the older ones should renew the perennial spirit and live over the joyful memories of the past and add to them the pleasures of the present.

Parties, shopping and preparing for Christmas have held first place among society.

Most of the churches are planning Christmas trees to help bring cheer to the children and most of them and a few of the clubs are giving quite a bit of time to charity though they usually work so quietly no one knows just what is being done.

Students are beginning to arrive home from the colleges and many of our teachers are leaving for their homes in other places.

GO SOUTH GIRLS, GO SOUTH

MADISON, Wis., Dec. 10. (AP)—The single girl living in the warm breezes of Florida is more apt to get married than her sister in chilly Wisconsin, it was indicated by a survey announced today by the school of commerce at the University of Wisconsin.

Girls between 15 and 24 years of age were included in the correlation of temperatures and wedding bells, which revealed that warm climate, especially in non-industrial centers, goes hand in hand with a high percentage of married women.

Only 27 percent of the native white women were found single in 12 southern cities of 100,000 or more, while in a dozen northern cities, where the thermometer averages 15 or 20 degrees lower, 33 percent were found unmarried.

NEEDED A TONIC

A farmer called upon his doctor one day and said:

"Doc, when you're out our way I want you to stop in and see my wife."

"What's the matter with her?"

"Oh, nothing serious, I guess, Doc, but this morning she got up at four o'clock as usual, milked the cows, got breakfast for all hands, churned, done up her housework, and along about 10 o'clock she said she felt a little tired. I think mabby she needs a tonic."

MEADOW BRIEFS

By Aesculapias.

The calendar along with other outward signs such as, monetary demands and pictures of a rotund individual much bewhiskered and the appearance in Drug Stores and other stores of vari-colored boxes admonishes to me that the season of so called good cheer, is at hand.

Christmas Day like most of our church holidays have been fixed by the Catholic Church and they perhaps more than any other make it an occasion for special service of a religious character.

In most countries and among the vast majority of the people it is simply a holiday for the exploitation of generous impulses and the assembling of families and friends to enjoy good drinks and good eats at least once a year.

The custom of the observance of Christmas dates back to about the third century after Christ and is the most universally observed of christian holidays.

At Christmas play and make good cheer,
For Christmas comes but once a year.

Again:
At Christmas I no more desire a rose
Than wish a snow in May's new fangled mirth;
But like of each thing that in season grows. —Loves Labor Lost.

Later:
T'was the night before Christmas,
when all through the house
Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse;
The stockings were hung by the chimney with care,
In hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there. —C. C. Moore.

In practice the giving at Christmas has become a great drain on the resources of the average family. Many very many buy beyond their means in an effort to meet the supposed wishes of friends and members of the family. While in business a few years since I have had many that were a year meeting obligations contracted for Christmas giving, and some have never met the outlay yet. Lets give freely but always within our means. It is the thought not the amount given that brings pleasure to the recipient of Christmas remembrance.

At this season lets seek out the needy, especially children and see that warm clothes as well as something to eat is provided especially for a reasonable time that impoverished parents may have a few days in which to replenish the larder or provide coal to keep the family warm. Christmas organizations will provide the holiday meal.

To us old fellows the day will be tame, as the old fashioned Egg Nog will not be forth coming Christmas morning. None of us feel like violating the law provided by the majority, which is violated by very many that shout the loudest for its enforcement. So Timothy will not take a little for his stomach's sake or his oft infirmities, unless he either makes it himself or patronizes the bootlegger.

Both will be done and here's hoping that not a son of a gun of the entire violaters of the "Eighteenth" will ever be apprehended.

I wish all, both saint and sinner, in the name of He who provided the wine for the Marriage Feast, a glorious Christmas spent in the way that suits you best, in spite of all W. C. T. U. or other spies and informers. Ah-men.

I wish to reciprocate the kindly expressions of our New York friend, in the last week's Herald, in reference to oil in our county. I am sure that it will be found sooner or later and it is just as likely to be in abundance on his land as elsewhere. I hope that in the near future he will be able as I have in the past of standing on the floor of his own derrick and watch the golden liquid climb upward to the top of the derrick and glint and sparkle in the sunlight and feel the tingle of probable wealth. But—I also hope that he will not be seized with the desire to make John D. of happy memory, a back number in the oil business.

As to occupying the Editors Triped on the fifteenth floor at Meadow and writing editorials I sincerely hope that Meadow may experience her part of the program. In such event it is probable that our friend may be the editor of Prophecy—I hope so.

I was mistaken in my report of a newspaper for Meadow. The gentleman came, made a little noise and left. Wise man. We would be glad to have a newspaper for Meadow. One that could stand on all four of its feet. A plant not a mushroom or one that would rob its citizens as some have in the past. The population adjacent is not sufficient to maintain a good newspaper.

We have a county paper second to none in the state. If we would give the number of subscribers to it that have been given to some of the week-encraved specimens run for filthy lucre alone, the Herald would be of much more benefit to us than any home paper we are likely to have soon. If Brownfield could benefit by advertising in the sheets we have had here in the past why can't Meadow profit by advertising in the Herald?

We regret to see one of our best dry goods concerns selling out its stock preparatory to going out of the business. This will leave a good opening for some one with the necessary capital to at once go into business in a line that is not over done here.

Health Boards are warning the people of the epidemic of Flu that seems eminent just now. Just where they expect us to go or what they expect us to do is not vouch saved by these scare venders. In fact I really expect they don't know a darned thing about it themselves. We might put on a gas mask and wrap up our heads as I saw done in nineteen hundred and eighteen, or hunt up the serums and sprays, or we can just go ahead and act like human beings, avoiding excesses, late hours and above all, unnecessary alarms.

Doubleless vaccines, immunogens and sprays might have favorable effects with some but the great mass of folks will be compelled to trust luck until such time that medical science devises some measures for combatting this globe trotting scourge.

Another thought, when you have provided your wife and children a Christmas present drop around to your doctor wherever he may be located and slip a few dollars to him. I am sure that many of you have slighted this duty and obligation. He has children who would like a few sticks of candy and a package of gum, and besides if flu should come along you might need his services. This will save your conscience and save you the trouble of having to change doctors or going to some other place at greater expense.

Also remember your preacher. He may be called on to tell the assembled guests what a fine character you are, and should not be expected to use too great margin between the fact that you're no good and that his family expect him to make a good man of you.
