The secretary has been so busy getting matters in condition for the coming year that very little thought has been given to publicity and this week is going to be rather short along that line.

One of the things that we are getting in after is an increased budget in order that the work can be more properly put over and preliminary arrangements for a membership drive are in progress. One of the main objectives this year, is undertaking to sell the organization to the membership in particular and to the public in general. The organization has been allowed to become too much of a one proposition and the idea this year is to make it one hundred per cent membership interest. Several business men are not affiliated with us and we are going to solicit them not only from a paying standpoint but from an interest idea and it is believed that no difficulty will be experienced after they are made acquainted with some of the main objectives that are to be undertaken. It is hoped that the membership drive will be completed and everyone of us be in the harness by April 1st, ready to pull for a bigger and better town and county.

Club Work in County Under Way Again

After three months of vacation the 4H clubs of Terry County are being reorganized by the County Agent and from all indications the number of clubs and club members will far exceed the total of last year.

Mr. Davis is visiting the schools over the county, distributing the membership cards and the clubs will elect officers at the next meeting.

Dairy cattle judging has already commenced. Davis, with the assistance of W. E. Williams, club leader of last year, are meeting the boys each Saturday evening in Brownfield and practice judging is being held. The first contest will be held at Plainview on April 2nd. The Terry County teams gave good accounts of themselves in the State contests last summer and with this previous training behind them they should make some team hustle at the dairy show at Plainview.

The class meets at the County Agent's office at 1:00 P. M. Saturday and all boys who wish to try out for the team should report at that time.

Dr. Copeland has ordered a Registered Jersey male from the Santa Gertrudis Jersey farms of Kingsville this week. This bull is sired by Worth Light's Hustler who won first prize over the Island of Jersey in 1920. Was grand champion at Ft. Worth in 1927 and sold in auction as a four year old for $2400.00. His dam has a register of merit record.

S. W. White of Meadow left Tuesday morning for Taft and Kingsville where he will receive and accompany a car of Jerseys to the Plains. Hale and Lubbock counties will receive fourteen head while Terry county farmers will receive thirteen heifers from the Taft Ranch and four bulls from the Kings Ranch. This is the largest shipment of Registered Jerseys that has come into this county.

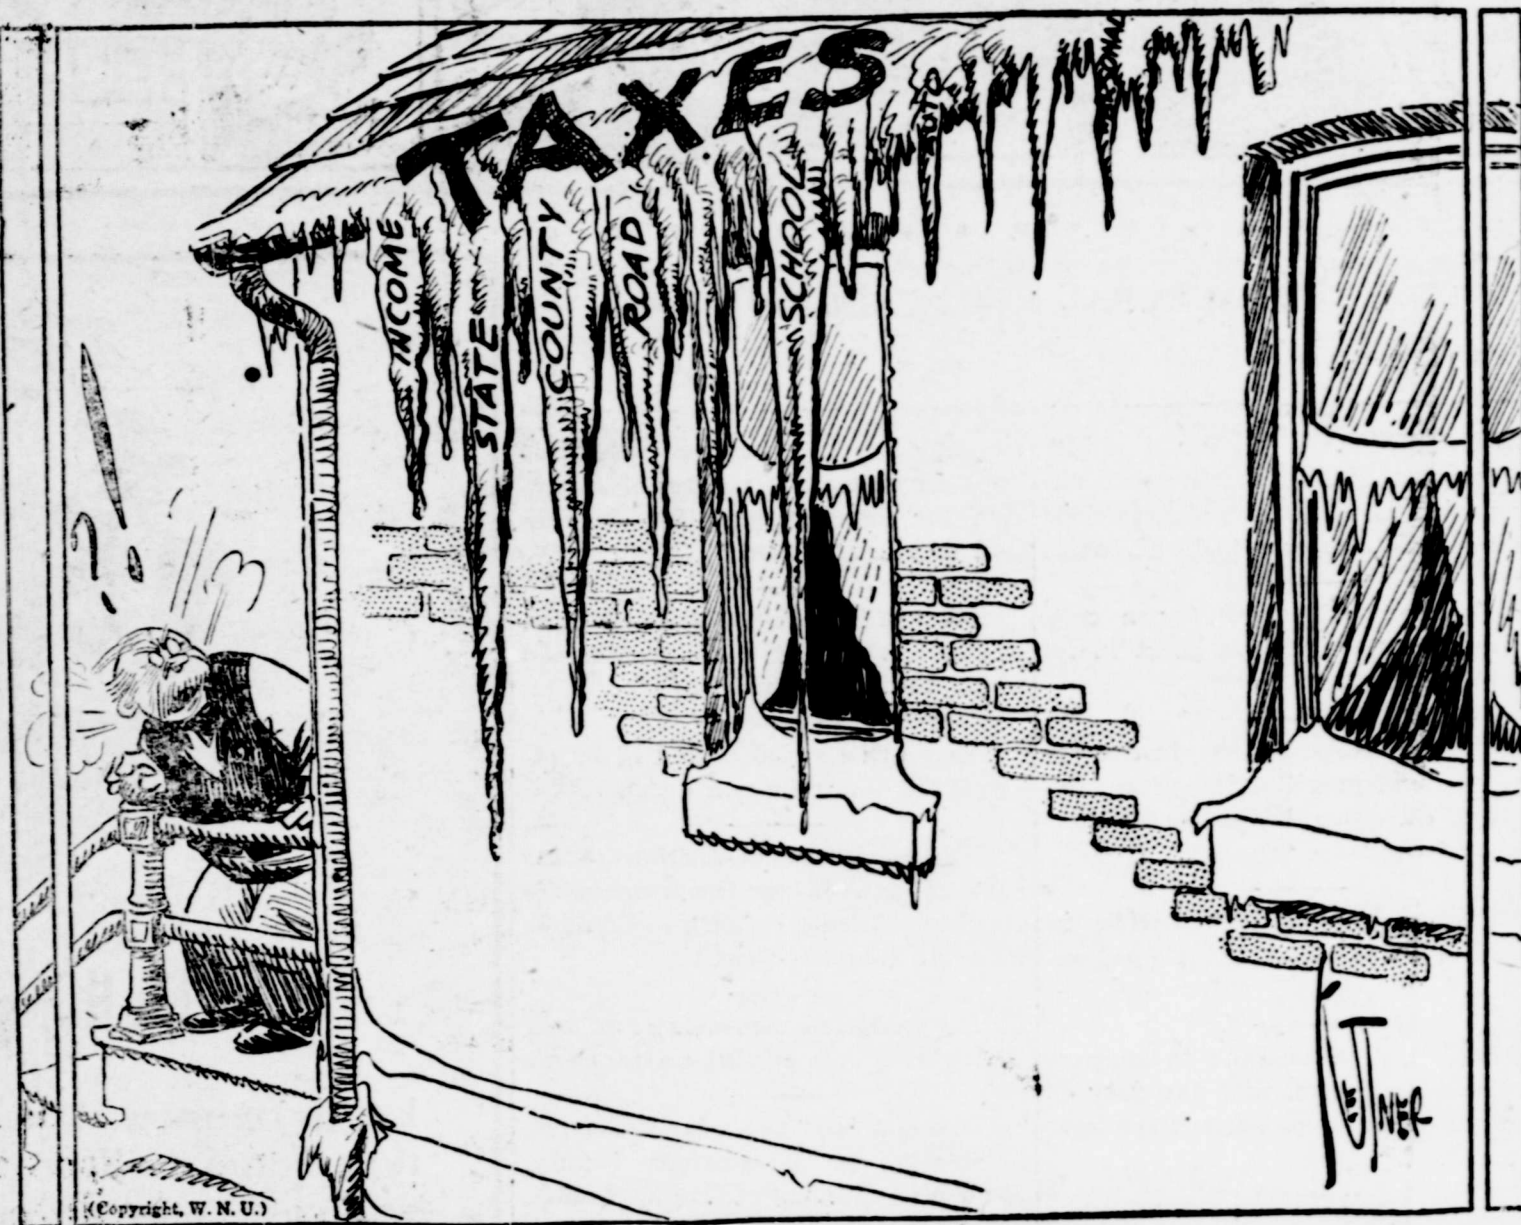

The 4H clubs of Terry County and the Terry County Farm Bureau will have a joint meeting at Brownfield on Saturday, March 16th. The morning program beginning at ten will be devoted to a club program while the afternoon program will be devoted largely to Farm Bureau work. Basket lunch will be served at noon. Good speakers, together with the spirit of the Terry County 4H clubs will make it a pleasant and profitable day for the farm boys and girls together with their parents.

ONE OF THE ELITE

"This picture is my masterpiece," explained the artist to a visitor at the art exhibition. "I painted it ten years ago when I was poor," he continued, "and I would have gladly accepted $50 for it, but ten thousand wouldn't buy it now."

"Yes, and I'm one of the ten thousand," the little woman hastily assured the artist.

About This Time of Year

Undersea Action Filmed For First Time

By means of special camera attachments and lights invented at the Columbia Pictures studios in Hollywood, it was possible to film all the underwater action in "Submarine," the De Luxe special production coming to the Rialto Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, under water. A highly sensitive lens enables the film to register objects moving at a depth of 150 feet under the surface of the sea.

The nature of "Submarine" made it impossible to use miniatures or do the work in a tank. One of the big thrills shows the sinking of a submarine and the futile attempt on the part of several divers to go down to it. Jack Holt not only succeeds in reaching the depth but attaches oxygen lines to the disabled ship. Another sequence shows Holt attaching depth bombs and buoys to a sunken craft in a tropical port.

Dorothy Revier and Ralph Graves are featured in support of Holt. The picture, known as an Irving Willat production was directed by Frank Capra.

Large Rick of Feed Takes Fire Saturday

The fire alarm sounded Saturday afternoon when the large milling crowd was at its height, which caused considerable confusion for a few minutes. It was a large rick of feed near the Santa Fe depot belonging to the Kimble Milling Co., of Ft. Worth, put there by their local buyer, Uncle Johnny King.

The fire boys had to make a long run a block or two beyond the fire before they could tie into a plug, and by that time the huge pile of maize which had been covered with bundle stuff was blazing at a lively rate, but they soon had the blaze reduced to a steaming heap of grain. If you have never tried putting out fire in a pile of grain, we want you to know that it is a job. But they finally conquered it some way—we did not remain to see.

We did not learn for certain how it caught, some thinking it caught from a nearby gin, while others seemed to think it was set by some young boys who have been seen playing around the pile of grain, and are said to go there to do their cigarette smoking. We also failed to learn whether or not the damage was covered by insurance.

Old Building Transformed Into Beauty

Few of us with not much experience in rebuilding, remodeling and renovating were ready to believe that such a transformation could have been made in so short a time as has been accomplished on the old Mercantile building that is being made ready by the owner for the Acorn Store which will open here Saturday the 16th.

Of course the building has a good outside and inside walls, but it had not been occupied in so long that it gave out a very dirty, musty appearance, and the spiders had done their work only too well by festoning the walls with their varied designs in architecture. It is indeed wonderful what a crew of carpenters and painters can accomplish in so short a time.

To begin with, the addition of plate glass in place of framed in ordinary glass together with new metal ceiling and two good coats of paint added at least 50 per cent to the looks of the exterior. The upstairs portion has been remodeled and repainted, and this section will be used for both display and storage. The metal ceiling on the inside as well as the wood work has been treated to fresh coats of paint, and the show windows made wider and transformed into more modern and beautiful display windows with highly polished floors.

When the fixtures of the store are placed and the new line of goods put on display, this store will look as if some giant fairy had bodily brought a new building to Brownfield and set it down in our growing business section.

Dock Powell Badly Hurt Last Week

While helping around with the reconstruction of the old Mercantile building last week, which is being prepared for the Acorn Store, the owner Dock Powell happened to a rather painful accident which has been giving him a lot of trouble this week.

In order to level up the floor, the bracing in the basement had to be raised a few inches, and Mr. Powell and the other workmen went down to do the work with the aid of some heavy timbers and a large jack. They had a portion of the floor started up, when in some way the jack flew out, and a heavy piece of timber struck Dock in the chest. He has been kind of under the weather since. A local physician X-rayed the wound this week and found that while no bones are broken, a bad bruise was shown, and he is now under treatment.

Man is really a success in life only when his wheel of fortune is meshed with the cog of charity.

Big Crowd For First Monday Trades Day

The old town looks a little quiet at this being written Tuesday morning following an extra big Saturday crowd and another Monday that would make a fair average Saturday crowd Saturday was one of the best days in point of crowds in the history of the town, and merchants report a flourishing trade, especially in the afternoon, which encourages our merchants to go after this trade as never before, for there is no doubt of the fact that they are coming here from more than half way to other trade centers.

While there was a good crowd Monday, the trade with the merchants was not in keeping with Saturday crowds, for that was not their purpose in the city. Most of them were here Saturday and made purchases for the coming week. It was however much better than the ordinary Monday with the merchants. The crowd Monday was here to trade, to exchange, to barter and sell what they did not need for the cash or for some thing they did need, and the merchants, or most of them understand this. It was for this that First Monday was established.

Appreciating the fact that the people of this section were not only good customers, but neighbors and friends the merchants here set out to help them in some way at a minimum expense to dispose of surplus property and bring the buyer and seller together. In this way they not only bring the buyer and seller together, but provide the seller with a free auctioneer to cry off their property without the usual percentage or a stated fee. Thus the local merchant in a measure is repaying a good customer for his highly appreciated trade for the past several years.

The folks here Monday, which by the way were practically 100 per cent farmers, had nearly everything in the category of farm implements, live stock and poultry to sell or trade, and they kept Mr. W. E. Legg busy the biggest portion of the day crying off their stuff. The 3rd monthly First Monday Trades Day is now history but it was far ahead of any here before attempted, and it is expected to grow in interest and value to the farmers from month to month.

W. B. McQueen, who lives six miles southeast of Memphis gathered 80 bales of cotton from a 40 acre field. He attributes his success to good seed and a good season. On other 240 acres in cotton, he gathered 250 bales of 500 pounds each.

The man who used to say business is business now has a successor who says business is service and a square deal.

Leslie Green Convert To Deep Plowing

Leslie Green, who owns a fine farm in the Union community was in one day last week and informed us that he was preparing to break at least 100 acres of his land this year as deep as six good mules can pull the breaking plow. However, Leslie is no recent convert to the deep plowing method in order to hold our lands, for he has witnessed results of it near him for the past two years. To put it in the words of C. D. Buchanan of the Tokio community, it is no longer a question of whether or not it will hold the lands, but the thing to be proven is will the land thus broken produce like the original. Mr. Buchanan is inclined to believe it will produce even better with the deep breaking for he has brought lands that were once blown off to the clay by shallow cultivation to good producing lands.

But to return to Leslie, he informed us that one farmer the past year who had good teams broke a lot of his and as deep as they could pull the plow. A neighbor came to his field and informed him that he was ruining his land, but he, although a new comer kept on and did not heed the advice of the old timer. At the wind-up of farm operations this year, the fellow who went down and turned up the harder soil, and turned the blowing sand underneath, made one-third more crop per acre all around than the other fellow, and now the old timer is a deep breaking convert. He was carried away with the deep breaking out one mile west of town, which he had just seen.

After the article in these columns concerning the deep breaking out on the Arthur Sawyer farm was written last week, we went back to see the big county catpillar drag the plow around for a few times, and while the little city catpillar had a difficult time in dragging the big plow around the field at 16 inches, the county tractor was pulling it some two inches deeper in high with the carburetor throttled down as far as it would go. County Agent Davis believes that a tractor the size of the one being lent to the county will pull a gang of three plows in intermediate gear without trouble.

Now, the only question is the expense incident to deep breaking, for it can readily be seen that no ordinary farmer can afford the outlay necessary to deep plowing of this kind, no matter how much he desires to do so. The only thing would be "Breaking Circles" not unlike bull circles, and have enough experienced tractor operators in shifts of eight hours to keep it going day and night until the land of all circle members is broken. Still another plan has been advanced for some one in the community able to finance the machinery to break for so much per acre for his neighbors.

Tens of thousands of dollars are lost here annually by crops being blown out, not counting the seed which is a small item compared to the time consumed, which is perhaps around ten dollars per day for each man and team. Then one must also consider that we have rather short seasons, and every day lost to the growing of a crop here counts up fast. Something must be done to stop so much replanting.

Cobb & Stephens Moving to New Store

The progressive firm of Cobb & Stephens are moving this week to their new store building on the north-west corner of the public square which is considered one of the most ideal locations in our city and one of the best equipped and prettiest buildings on the Plains.

You will also note that they are carrying a number of specials on their moving date, and are asking that you come in and get them and see their new store. Also a number of their wholesale people are congratulating them on their new location, and are helping out in the sale by carrying nice spaces in the Herald. Call on this progressive firm at your earliest convenience whether you are ready to buy just yet or not, for they want to meet you in their new store.

Some of the Trials of The Newspaperman

If you have ever thought of being a newspaperman, forget it at once. If you have ever been under the impression that there is some money in the newspaper game, dismiss the idea from your mind, and go to selling shoe strings on the corner. If you have about reached the conclusion that an editor has a perpetual holiday on good wages, no work and lots of play, go get a job digging litches or grubbing mesquites and enjoy yourself.

Most of the time a newspaper man can go to his work with a light heart, believing that he is faithfully serving the public, although the pay is meagre, but when he sometimes gets out on the streets to chase down an item or two like we are going to tell you about this week, he wants to resign and would if it were not for his creditors.

We learned this week that a good friend of ours and one of our early settlers had married. We could have phoned and ask him who he married. Perhaps his wife would have answered the phone and graciously answered our question, but we felt that would be rather personal and got out among his very bosom friends and even relatives for information. None of them knew. We were informed however by others that they were married and that the lady lived at least six different places; viz. Plains, Levelland, Littlefield, Plainview, Canyon, Texas and Tulsa, Oklahoma. We give up the job. At the same time, we wished to learn the name of the parents of a twin boy and girl born here last week, who live some ten miles out in the country. We first went to the man in whose home the twins were born, but he no savvy. He referred us to a merchant where the father of the twins does considerable trading. He knew the man well, but could not think of his name. We next went to the county clerk's office expecting to find it registered in the vital statistic column, but the attending physician had not registered it. We then called the physician who we were informed had attended the case; he was out. We were later informed that it was another physician. We came in re-registered as Andy often says over the radio.

Now this is the whole truth folks. We have not fudged on a single statement, and this is just about the sample of any other information a newspaper man gets when he gets out after it. People hear of such affairs—perfectly fresh on their minds, but they pay little attention to details. They don't remember whether it was Smith or Jones, male or female, black or white. Understand, we are peeved at no one; they are not supposed to gather information for us, and the memory of Brownfield people is fully up to the standard of other places.

Supt. Toone Asks Information and Co-op.

Brownfield, Texas
March 4th, 1929.
To the Mothers and Fathers of Brownfield:

I am taking the scholastic census and in addition to that the United States government wishes to get the census of all babies born in the last year. Please report to me the birth of any child during 1928 and 1929, up to April 1929.

I am also anxious to get the names of all children that will be seven years old before the first of September 1929.

I wish to importune the parents who wish their children to make the credits in the high school and their grades in the grammar school to see to it that their children are not absent nor tardy if possible to do so.

These are two very essential things in making your boy's or girl's school life a success.

Very truly yours,
W. B. Toone, Supt.

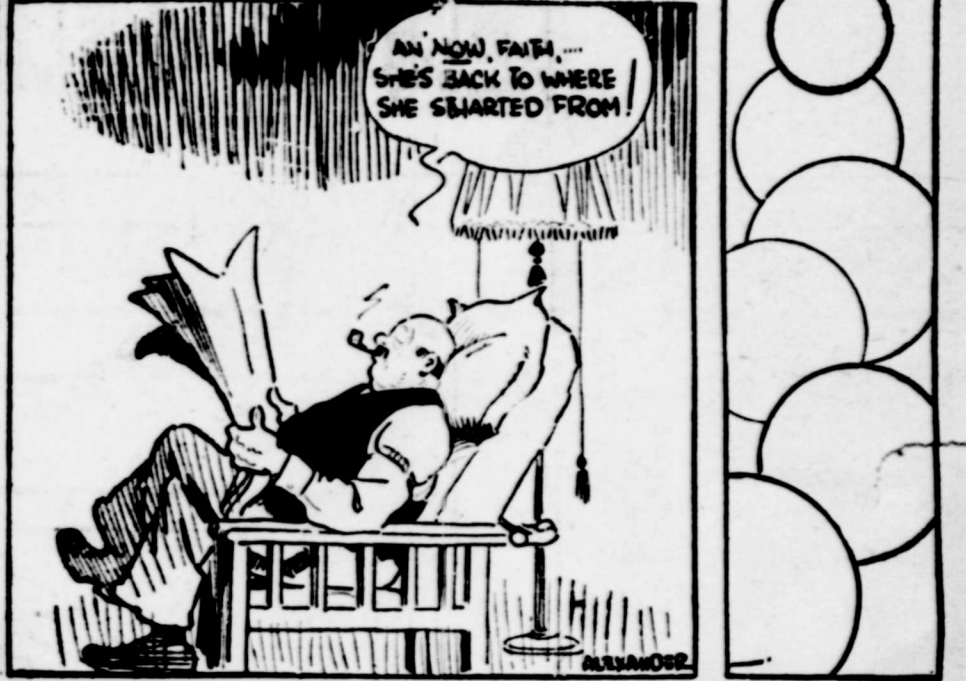

During one stretch of nineteen days J. T. Draper, of Lone Star made a profit of $61.00 from his 400 hens. The eggs sold amounted to $90.05, and the feed cost $29.05, and the price ranged from 30 to 36 cents. Draper intends to build his flock up to 1,000 hens and devote his entire time to them.

INAUGURAL HOOVERGRAMS

WASHINGTON, March 4 (AP)—President Hoover's inaugural address, bristled with epigrammatic statements. Here are some of them:

"We are steadily building a new race—a new civilization great in its own attainments."

"Rigid and expeditious justice is the first safeguard of freedom, the basis of all ordered liberty, the vital force of progress."

"There would be little traffic in legal liquor if only criminals patronized it."

"The duty of citizens to support the laws is co-equal with the duty of their Government to enforce the laws which exist."

"Our whole system of self-government will crumble either if officials elect what laws they will enforce or if citizens elect what laws they will support."

"Those who have a true understanding of America know that we have no desire for territorial expansion for economic or other domination of other peoples."

"We not only desire peace with the world, but to see peace maintained throughout the world."

Peace can be contributed to by respect for our ability in defense."

"The animosities of elections should have no place in our Government for government must concern itself alone with the common weal."

"Ill-considered remedies for our faults bring only penalties after them."

Ours is a land rich in resources, stimulating in its glorious beauty, filled with millions of happy homes, blessed with comfort and opportunity."

"No country is more loved by its people. I have an abiding faith in their capacity, integrity and high purpose."

A. T.: "Why do you worry about hat?" Charles: "Well, I aint got no back ache."

When L. E. called on Louise, A few brief weeks ago, He thought he would persuade her Thru life with him to go.

But oh, the fatal question He simply couldn't ask; He stammered and he stuttered— It proved a hopeless task.

Cheer up, despondent readers, Our hero's married now; Fair Louise solved the problem— It was leap year anyhow.

"You can stay here at the garage," said Mr. Brownfield to Ray "and see that the mechanic doesn't do any extra work to charge us for."

"Two cylinders are missing," the mechanic told Ray.

Ray: "Aw, you can't pull that stuff on me, those cylinders were there when we left home."

Peggy: "Do you love me?" R. L.: "Of course I do." Peggy: "Would you die for me?" R. L.: "Well, er—mine is an undying love."

Tires for the new Ford are specially made to give long wear

WHEN the new Ford was designed, it was immediately apparent that a new tire would have to be made to match the car's performance. It was distinctly a new problem, for here was a car with quicker acceleration, greater speed and more braking efficiency than any car of similar size or weight.

Though the Ford tires are designated as 30 x 4.50, they have the resiliency and air space of much larger tires because of the drop center rim of the steel-spoke wheels.

So that every Ford owner might be assured of maximum tire mileage at the lowest cost, the Ford Motor Company devoted many months to research and experiment in conjunction with the leading tire manufacturers.

For best results, the tires on the new Ford should be kept inflated to an air pressure of 35 pounds and checked regularly to insure this pressure all the time. This is important. Low inflation breaks down the side-walls of a tire. By causing overheating, it also destroys the rubber that acts as an insulation, with consequent separation of the cord.

As a result, certain definite specifications were developed for tires for the new Ford. These specify cords of certain strength and texture, a large volume of tread and side-wall rubber, sturdy sashid design, and reinforced plies for protection against bruise breaks—all the strong features of construction formerly considered for only the largest tires.

At the end of each 5000 miles, when you have the front wheels packed with grease, it is a good plan to have the wheel alignment checked. This will prevent premature wear.

Great care also was taken to secure the best riding qualities in connection with the transverse springs and the Houdaille shock absorbers.

When punctures come, as they will with any tire, you will find the Ford dealer particularly well-equipped to make repairs quickly and at small cost. See him, too, for replacements. Then you will be sure of getting tires built specially for the Ford car according to definite Ford specifications.

SNYDER GIRLS ON LINDY'S MARRIAGE

"Go out and find out what a few Snyder girls think about Lindbergh getting married," the editor told the demon reporter of the Times-Signal yesterday. And the demon reporter went.

Right at the start the demon reporter decided not to give the right names of the girls. Reason: No one could look at them later and say in a cutting manner, "Sour Grapes."

The first one interviewed refused to act thrilled, look thrilled or be thrilled with the news that the idol of the air and of the girls of this country and many others was contemplating matrimony. Miss A— (that isn't a name or even an initial of her name)—was rather cynical, but she works at a west side dry goods store.

"I cannot be thrilled thinking of anybody getting married," she said. "I really don't know anything about Lindbergh except the columns and columns printed about him in the newspapers, but it will probably be all right, provided his wife doesn't make herself a millstone around his neck and stop his career."

From Miss A, the blaze, to Miss B, the Snyder High School senior, went the demon reporter. She shook her bobbed locks and looked trustingly into the eyes of the journalistic snoop and said with a smile, "Well, what I think is that Lindy ought to marry someone who is cute."

"He should stay single," said Miss C, a man hater who works in a store on the north side of the square and who is interested only in her work. "Why he wants to get married I don't know. Why any girl wants to marry him or any other man I don't understand, either."

Crestfallen and dejected and even beginning to hate himself, the demon reporter sauntered forth to seek more fertile fields. He couldn't understand why feminine America was not particularly excited about the announced engagement of America's flying hero.

His next feminine victim was Miss D, of course, she being the next in alphabetical order, and who smiles sweetly smiles from a south side store counter. "What do you think of Lindy going to get married?" asked the reporter in his sweetest voice, which was very, very sweet.

The questioned one, in a voice just as sweet and sugary as that of the journalistic demon, said, "Huh, I should worry. The Prince of Wales is still a bachelor."

Can't the younger generation be thrilled anymore or are they jealous of Lindy and therefore catty, thought the reporter as he wended his way toward the fifth and final one to be interrogated on the great subject of the day.

"What do I think of Lindy getting married?" Miss E cried, as she started to work from a counter on the east side. And then she sobbed, "I am heartbroken. He might have married me. I would have yessed him if he had only asked, but he didn't. Boo! too! I don't like his fiancee's nose. Not at all."

And so the reporter wended his way wearily back to his typewriter to tell the world that Snyder girls think of Lindy's announced betrothal . . . and one of these days Lindy may arrive at Snyder's new airport.—Snyder Signal.

Well, we kept cool with Coolidge for some seven years, and now we suppose we will hoov along with Hoover for a like number of years. Just so we don't have to "hooverize" as we understood it during the World Wa..

The Democrats of the lower house of Congress can now truly say: "Lay on McDuffie," for Rep. John McDuffie, of Alabama has lately been elevated to the position of "Democratic Whip" in that body. He takes the place of Joe Robinson of Arkansas, recently defeated for vice-president on the Democratic ticket.

We find that President Hoover's cabinet is all composed of men from the north, unless one classify California as a southwestern state. Wonder how the folks that broke away from Southern traditions to vote the G. O. P. ticket feel about that. The prejudicial barriers to southern statesmen is still up, and you can just bet your socks on that.

Leon Trotsky, former dictator of modern Russia, seems to be getting a dose of the same medicine he doled out to the ruling class under the old regime for the past several years. He is fast learning that the worm can turn, and that all is not well in Utopia. A government under one dictator is just as good as another, and none are worth a tinker's dam. A government of the people, by the people and for the people is the only one that will stand up with the present knowledge people have of government. People of this age are too wise to play long as pawns and slaves.

In another portion of the Herald will be found in brief outline the substance of President Hoover's inaugural address, which gives the high points in his aims as head of the world's greatest government, and if they are carried out, and no one doubts the sincerity of Hoover, we are in for a season of well conducted and a clean administration of our government, without the Fall, Daugherty, Denby mess of the two previous administrations. The Herald had a write up from one of our radio listeners of the whole inauguration ceremony, but it was entirely too lengthy for a small weekly newspaper to handle, although it was a splendidly written article. Most farmers now take either dailies or semi-weeklies published by the big dailies, and they will get the whole thing in them even sooner than the Herald will get to them. The small country weekly is limited to a great extent to local affairs and cannot pretend to cover the field of dailies or state weeklies.

Note the Hogan Dry Goods ad in this issue. They are running a page get-acquainted ad in this issue. Go in to see them for they have a new and up-to-date stock and want you to share their bargains in these new goods, shake your hand and learn your name, where you live, etc. They are easy to get acquainted with.

W. J. Smith of the west side was in to see us this week. We had missed Mr. Smith from town for some time, and he informed us that he had not been doing very well physically since winter set in.

The brain is like the dollar: it isn't worth much until it's put to work.

One advertisement in The Herald is worth two mail-order catalogs in the attic.

Again, is it right to give a printing salesman your order for commencement cards when the local printers can do exactly the same thing, just as cheap and as high grade work in every particular as you can get when you place your order with the peddler.

Who boosts the schools and helps by taxation to maintain them?

Think on these things before buying from peddlers or sending out of town for your supplies.—Miami Chief.

"IF ITS IN A DRUG STORE, WE HAVE IT"

MEADOW BRIEFS
(By Aesculapias)

After sixty days of confinement at home on account of serious illness in the family, myself among the number, there is a rift in the clouds that have surrounded us. Although not entirely out of the physical and brain racking trouble there is hope.

To the friends and neighbors who stood by us throughout these trying days I wish to extend my sincere thanks, and we wish that none of them may ever be afflicted in a similar way.

I know little that has transpired about me, even in my own community. There has been an immense amount of sickness judged by the calls for help but only one death in the community.

As Will Rogers is wont to say I know nothing except what I see in the papers and as both State and National Legislatures have been in session there has been plenty of amusement mingled with disgust at the law making bodies.

In the meantime our old friend Jim Ferguson has come to life again and re-erected his Forum and trained his guns and pen on the Governor and Legislature at Austin.

Next to Moody the Doctors Organization come in for quite a bit of space in his paper, especially the State Medical Society which he calls, The State Medical Trust.

These attacks coming so soon after the resumption of his paper and the particular Cults whose cause he espouses might lead one to believe that Jim has an axe to grind. Personally I can see no reason why the Chiropractor and Christian Scientist should not at least be made to show that they know something of the human body which they propose to treat, in acute illness and for pay. This is all that has ever been required. Perhaps few are aware that no doctor regular or otherwise is required to stand the examination on The Practice of Medicine. The fundamental and collateral branches are all that is required—that's too much for Chiro's and Scientists.

That these cults have cured disease I imagine will not be denied by anyone, but at best they are simply isms. Very many claim to have been cured by prayer and even the ordinary Patent Medicine Vendor has people who shout his praises. Shall all who flaunt their wares guaranteed to cure be licensed to treat the sick? If not where will the line be drawn.

Much that Ferguson alleges is true. There is a medical trust. Has been for many ears. On their demand medical schools have been reduced, the requirements made so very harsh that only those who have money or good backing can hope to get through in a life time. The past few years has witnessed at every meeting of the National organization an effort to undo some of the things that are driving doctors from the country to the large cities. On the other hand as Ferguson charges, sanitariums and hospitals have sprang up and it is the deliberate aim of all such to drive the doctors out of the villages and towns.

This has already been accomplished in the Eastern part of the U. S. and is being rapidly consummated here.

This is not an attack on the hospitals, which we need, but on the methods pursued by these institutions which as charged by Ferguson are largely owned by doctors who are as much commercialized as any industrial or mercantile concern in the nation. This is no Swan Song, as I don't care a tinkers dam for the amount made out of the practice of medicine—just practicing from habit.

Ferguson's statement is overdrawn but it will bear perusal of all citizens who like fair play or are interested in having a doctor at hand when needed. Jim says it is no longer good form to have a baby in the country as well as unsafe besides and hospitals are the originators of such propaganda. However get the paper and read the article. Its readable and will be found in the Forum for February 21, and reproduced in the issue of the 28. Its interesting.

Today March the fourth, I had the pleasure of being present for the first time at the Inaugural Ceremonies of a President of the United States. Yes it was over the radio, of course, but none the less I was actually present so far as my hearing and feelings were concerned.

For three hours I listened attentively to descriptions of the immense crowd, the soldiers and marines, of the men and women closely surrounding the President. I followed them from the White House down Pennsylvania Avenue past the Treasury Building where new announcers described personnel of the procession, on to the Capitol, inside the Senate Chamber, where a new announcer furnished a rather minute description of the Chamber, the division of space occupied by various groups of individuals taking part in the ceremonies.

I listened to Vice President Curtis take the oath of office and also to his inaugural address, heard him in turn call the Senators down in groups and administer the oath of office, followed by the Proclamation of President Coolidge. But why waste time particularizing. In fact I felt like I was one of the boys and when the announcer informed us it was very cold and raining I felt wet and chilly along with the men and women standing out without cover.

Great is radio, which is just in its teens. Who would be without one after listening to a good program?

But Laws, laws haven't we gotten away from the Democratic Simplicity of Jeffersons Day when he rode in on horse back, tied his nag to a fence, walked in, took the oath of office, and straddled his horse and rode away.

Few courts of Royalty in the Old World can put on airs with this so-called Republic. That bunch gathered in the Capitol were just as careful as to who came and went first as any Court in Europe. It is related that the wife of one of the Presidents attempted to enter an elevator ahead of her husband was promptly stopped allowing her husband to enter first. Well that will do. We can't install the past if we wished. I would not if I could bring it back, but we could get along very well with it so much fuss and feathers.

Let us hope that the incoming President will endeavor to carry out the promises made by himself and party to the farmers and others who have suffered so much by adverse legislation and that poverty will be banished from the U. S. A. Ah men.

Signs of Spring are getting more numerous each day. Farmers are getting their land ready, in fact some have their land already for planting. New farm machinery is going out every day and the sparrows are building nests as usual just where you don't want them.

The gins continue to run and there is still some cotton in the fields.

CHIROPRACTIC

Lay aside prejudice, the child of ignorance—Come and investigate. I am making you a special offer of $1.00 for one adjustment from now until April the first. Come now and buy what you will need for the next several months at this low price. Do not put it off for the time is short and do not wait until it is too late.

J. C. Grimes was in Saturday from his new home in the Tokio community for the first time since he moved from the Lahey section. He informed us that he had kindly been down under the weather and was also busy getting his place ready for a crop.

W. J. Chesney, who formerly lived here, but who moved back to his old home near Colorado, was up last week looking after his interests here and paid the Herald a short call.

Ginners Trying to Finish This Week

The local gin men have been trying to close out the season's run for some time, but it seems to be hard for them to find a quitting place. However, for several weeks they have only been ginning on Thursdays of each week, and only four of them running. We understand that another took out last week, leaving only three of them in gear this week.

In conversation with S. L. McDonald of the Farmers Gin, one day the latter part of last week, he informed us that the whole thing would likely be ended this week for the season. He reports that quite a lot of cotton has been received for the past few weeks, in fact much more than they expected.

It has of course been mostly of a low grade variety, but has been finding a ready market at a fair price. Cotton has been climbing for the past few weeks, but this is always the case when most of the old crop is out of the hands of the farmers and the speculators want them to plant a large crop.

SENATE REFUSES TO ACT ON REAPPORTIONMENT

Washington, D. C.—The Senate recently refused by a vote of 48 to 23 to take up the House bill No. 11725, to provide for the reapportionment of the House of Representatives on the basis of the 1930 and future decennial censuses. This bill, which provides that the present membership of the House, 435, be retained, but that they be reallocated among the various states in harmony with future changes in population, passed the House and now awaits action by the Senate.

The question of reapportionment has aroused a good deal of interest during this session of Congress. As now provided by the Constitution the several states are allowed representatives in proportion to the number of persons residing within the state. The citizens of some states, because of their large alien population, are allowed larger representations than others by this wording.

An amendment to the Federal Constitution has been proposed by Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas, in Senate Joint Resolution No. 205, which would provide for the apportionment of representation in the House to be based upon the number of persons. While it is not likely that any action will be taken upon the measure by Congress before its adjournment on March 4, yet the provisions of the resolution are strongly supported and beyond doubt will be taken up in the next Congress.

Price and W. E. Bartlett, . . . Burton, H. L. Horn and L. Berry, County Commissioners.

PARENT-TEACHERS MEET

The Parent-Teachers Association met at the grade school building, on Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. This was one of the best if not the best meetings of the year in attendance and program. The speakers of the afternoon were Miss Long, Miss Woodhead and Mrs. Dallas, each giving a very interesting and instructive talk.

It is hoped that we may have the pleasure of getting our district president of Lubbock for a lecture in the very near future. Watch for this announcement and be sure and come. The low third grade having the most representatives present gets to keep the picture this month.

The next regular meeting will be first Tuesday afternoon of April.

TOKIO NEWS

There are a number of new pupils in school this week.

Our girls basket ball team played the Turner girls a game last Friday or our court. The score was 12 to 16 in favor of Tokio.

Also, immediately following the girls' game, the junior boys of Tokio defeated the Turner junior boys by a score of 18 to 1. Everybody seemed to have enjoyed the games.

Bro. Claude Allen filled his appointment in this community the past week end. He gave an excellent talk Sunday night on "The Change of Heart."

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Trout are building a new house on their farm three miles northwest of Tokio.

Miss Johnnie Mae Patterson, who is going to school in Lubbock, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Patterson, at their home in Yoakum county last week. Mr. Patterson took her back to Lubbock Monday morning, where he had business which detained him until late in the afternoon.

GOVERNOR SIGNS NEW MARRIAGE LICENSE BILL

Austin, Feb. 28.—Governor Dan Moody has signed Senator Julien Hyer's marriage license publicity bill. It will become effective 90 days from the end of the present session of the legislature. This will be between June 8 and June 15, depending on date of adjournment.

Rush for the green is expected to make May for once outrank June as a bride's month.

Under the bill three days notice must be given before a marriage license can be issued. Before its issuance the man must present a hygienic certificate.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this method of thanking the friends and neighbors who so kindly helped us during the illness of our loving husband and father. May God bless each and every one who so tenderly rendered their services.

Cablegram States His Mother Died the 28th

Albert Endersen, of the firm of Bell-Endersen Hardware Co., received a cablegram the latter part of last week stating that his mother, 75, died last Thursday morning at the family home at Gothenburg, Sweden.

Albert has visited his parents twice since he has been a resident of Brownfield, once several years ago by himself, and about four years ago when he took the entire family over for a long visit.

NEW RAILROAD SIGNALS VISIBLE DAY OR NIGHT

Electric lights of an intensity and color that make them clearly visible even in bright sunshine have recently been developed for use as railway signals, according to an article in Scientific American.

Signalling is done by changes in color and formation of the lamps, which are set up in groups. Thus, a vertical line of bright green lights means "track clear"; slanting lines of amber mean "caution"; and red cross-bars mean "stop."

Another type of electric light railroad signal has been designed to take the place of the moving semaphore. Powerful amber lamps are set in a black circle and are flashed on by groups to show the same position used with the semaphore. In this form, three lamps lighted in a horizontal row would mean "danger," that having been the danger signal with the semaphore, and three lamps in a vertical line would mean "clear."

The new day and night signals, it is said, make it almost impossible for an engineer to mistake a signal or to pass it without seeing it.

ALL RIGHT WITH HIM

Henpeck was staying in the country with his wife. She would not let the poor man out of her sight. One day he ventured out to go into the village, but she stopped him.

"Going to get something in the village, are you?" she cried. "You stop here, and I'll get it for you."

"Right!" said Henpeck, "get me a haircut and a shave!"

A HOPELESS CASE

"I will promise to come to church if you will answer me one question," said the hard-boiled sinner to the parson.

"Propound the question, my good man," said the minister.

"Who was Cain's wife?"
"My friend," admonished the minister, "you'll never be able to embrace religion until you stop bothering yourself about other men's wives."

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coe entertained quite a crowd at dinner Sunday. Besides the family were Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hester, Mattie, Ethel and Virgil Hester, Mr. and Mrs. Tarry Sexton and children, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Floyd, Miss Irene Wilson, Gerry Floyd and Albert Barton.

Mr. and Mrs. Tarry Sexton and children, Misses Luella, Mary and Wilma Coe, Irene Wilson and Ethel Hester and Messrs. Clyde Coe, Gerry Floyd, Albert Barton and Virgil Hester motored down to Wellman Sunday afternoon to Mr. Baker's and heard some good music, also singing.

Perkins & Reynolds, well drilling contractors of Kermit were recently awarded a contract for sinking a second well on Locust street property of the utility concern. The bore of the new well will be 8 1-2 and is expected to increase the available water supply 3,000 barrels daily.

Good results in increased interest since schools have been held near Lorraine have been noticed. Since a demonstration of running terracelines and contouring on the W. A. Hallman farm January 28, all of County Agent W. S. Forster's time was spoken for to demonstrate until the last week in February.

WHY NOT PATRONIZE HOME INDUSTRY?

More fruit peddlers struck town last Tuesday. They were going from house to house selling their merchandise, (and of course much cheaper than you could buy it from your home merchant, to hear them tell it) Again we urge Miami people to say "NO" to this peddling class of people, who are here today and gone tomorrow, and if you buy their wares, they have your money which never returns. Buy from the home town merchants.

In this connection we might mention some other things of interest. Should not the school place their orders for class rings and class pins with the local jewelers? They can show you catalogues with most any design and will give you a square deal if a small percent is to be made let the home merchant make it.

Again, is it right to give a printing salesman your order for commencement cards when the local printers can do exactly the same thing, just as cheap and as high grade work in every particular as you can get when you place your order with the peddler.

Who boosts the schools and helps by taxation to maintain them?

Think on these things before buying from peddlers or sending out of town for your supplies.—Miami Chief.

When work is completed on the Lee Highway, according to a Cowell paper, Foard will be one of the first counties in Texas to have all bridges across the county 24 feet wide, and of reinforced concrete. Foard will have 55 bridges, and culverts, with all culverts 30 feet wide.

SOME PLEASURES OF BEING A NEWSPAPER MAN

It's snitching on a neighboring paper, the Big Spring Herald, to use the idea for this little skit about the daily life of a newspaper office phone, but it applies so well to the lot in life of our own Record office phone that it is hereby changed and added to, to suit our own use:

There is another day dawning, another day of struggle. I don't mind telling you that it's the very dickens and all, being a telephone in a newspaper office.

Well, here comes the first call:

"Record Office."

"Who is this?"

"This is the Record office, Madam, what can we do for you?"

"Oh, have you any apartments listed this morning?"

"It's a little early for most of these ads to come in. However, I'll go back and look through the copy which has been set and see what we have."

After the reporter has made a note of apartments listed and read same over to me to the inquiring party, I'm hung up again. But I'll bet I won't hang long. Here it comes:

"Record office."

"You got my name spelled wrong in last week's paper. It should be M and you have it W."

"Sorry, old man. We'll fix it. Probably a typographical error."

And again:

"Record office."

"I have an apartment to let and I want to run an ad, please. Are you ready to take it down now? I'll send the money down later."

"I'm sorry, madam, but we have a new ruling not to take classified ads over the phone. I would for you if I possibly could, but it's against the company's rule."

"But they know I'm good for the money. I never try to shirk my debts."

"We know that madam, and it isn't altogether the money. We've been eaten out for several mistakes we've made by trying to take down names and addresses over the phone. So we have just decided not to do it at all any more. If you can just write out your ad and send it down, we'll be glad to fix you up. You understand that we do have some who won't pay for such seemingly small ads, and we must treat everybody alike."

And a hurt and fading-away voice replies: "Very well, then. Just let it go."

Thus it goes—long distance calls and inquiries about the time of day. But best and most welcome of all—I can tell by the tone of the reporter's voice—are the rings which bring local notes and tips on the news of the town. When I get these last ones I do really feel my importance and reflect that the life of a newspaper office phone is not so bad as it could be, after all.—Colorado Record.

WE FAW DOWN AND GO BOOM!

Dear Editor:—It's been near unto sixty years since the writer was ushered into this world, and since the first important happening in his life unto the present he has had much experience in the school of hard knocks, and little in the school of higher education, as such school are known to-day.

The time was when an appetizer for breakfast was the cutting of a cord of hard wood, while today the usual appetizer is a fancy cigarette or the juice of some citrus fruit. "In those days" men were respected for their brain and brawn, while in these days they seem to be courted for the "shine of their foretop or the cut of their pant legs."

Also in those days the girl who could make the best buttermilk biscuit was generally the girl who could do the "Virginia Reel" best and was sought after most by the stalwart sons of the soil, while in these days, the appeal that hits the fickle youth of the cement sidewalks most is "How they wiggle-wabble to a jazz tune, and how late Ma will allow them to stay out nights."

Mr. Editor, when I was coming up, the milk I drank came direct from the cow in the barn lot, and we secured it by the old-fashioned method of pulling their teats night and morning. The liquor we drank was called "whiskey" and it was made in a still under the supervision of the government, and while it would make you gloriously drunk if overly indulged in, it seldom made you sick.

Today we get our cow juice out of tin cans bought at the corner grocery and the liquor we drink, or don't drink for that matter, would tan the hide of a skunk and make it resemble warped sheet steel.

The first ride I ever took was strapped on a board and swung on my mother's back; and the last one I was strapped in an airplane and we made two miles to the minute. Going some!

We think we are smart. We think we are wise. We look back and say, "What simpletons our great grandfathers were," yet we find that thousands of years ago the farmers tilled their farms, to keep them from washing away, and to hold the moisture, that they might make abundant crops to feed their families and flocks and the world at large, but we of Kent County either haven't brains enough, or energy enough, or love of home enough to go and do likewise. Yes, we seem satisfied to let the cream of our soil wash away to the gulf, and the precious life giving waters that we need so badly to make our crops grow, take from us in this top soil more than it benefits. In fact we are so smart that we are rather foolish, we fly so fast we "Fall Down and go B O O M !"
—Sitting Bull in Jayton Chronicle.

HONEY USED IN RADIATORS AS ANTIFREEZE SOLUTION

Another agricultural product finds a new use. This time it is honey. Honey, mixed with water, has been tested as an antifreeze solution by private motorists and State agricultural colleges. Practically all reports of these experiments have been favorable, says James I. Hambleton, apiculturist in charge of the Bee Culture Laboratory of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The proper proportion of honey to water varies according to the lowest temperature expected, says Mr. Hambleton. Where zero weather is expected, equal parts of honey and water are commonly used. Such a mixture begins to form a slush at zero, however, and a greater proportion of honey is required for best results at lower temperatures. In the northern part of the United States and in Canada a mixture of three parts of honey to two of water, or even two to one, may be best. A quart of alcohol added each three gallons of the mixture will improve the circulation.

To make the solution, use a cheap grade of extracted honey, stirring it into hot water. Heat the mixture to a boil and skim off the scum. If alcohol is used, stir it in and boil from three to five minutes. Fill the radiator and maintain the level by adding year after year by sealing it while hot

-- Mr. Farmer --

If you are intrested in a two-row planter or two-row cultiator, we have a plan that will help you to buy with very little money down. If you have a single row planter or single row cultivator, we will accept either as part of the cash payment on a two-row of its kind. We only require ¼ down in cash and our single row planter or cultivator will be accepted at a fair valuation as cash on the deal.

—COME IN AND LET US EXPLAIN THIS IN DETAIL—
The Latest Improved Implements MAKE A GOOD FARMER BETTER!

AVERY TWIN-JACK CULTIVATOR

Easy on both man and team

Avery engineers did a big job in eliminating strain on the operator and lightening the work of the team when they designed the famous Jack Rabbit Cultivator. In the Twin-Jack they have repeated their success, this time in a two-row cultivator that is simple to operate—and easy on both man and team.

The Twin-Jack is sturdy, durable, flexible, easy to handle and comfortable to ride. It has a strong, rigid main frame that will not twist or sag under the hardest conditions. The frame is in perfect balance at all times, with the result that manipulation requires but minimum effort, the horses are spared sore shoulders, and more ground is covered per day with less fatigue.

Each pair of gangs is controlled by two independent levers, the inside lever raising or lowering the pair simultaneously, when desired. By means of an easy pressure on the stirrups the wheels may be angled to right or to left.

We will be glad to explain the many efficient, time-saving features of the Twin-Jack—or demonstrate at your convenience. There is no obligation.

There is a full line of famous Avery walking, riding and tractor plows, tillage implements and Champion harvesting and haying machines.

R. C. Cox was in from the farm Friday and informed us that he was about done gathering.

W. L. Palmer was in from the farm in the Union community Tuesday and informed us that he had some 200 hens laying and was receiving 500 baby chicks this week. He informed us that old King Cotton would be nill on his farm this year, that he was going in on poultry and cream and raise feed exclusively. He is also purchasing a late type feed crusher.

Will Cunningham met us with a broad smile Saturday and we soon found the cause. He said with the new schedule now on the Santa Fe, they were getting their Heralds at Lou on Saturday mornings instead of Monday as heretofore. They now go down on the train Friday morning instead of late Friday afternoon.

C. L. Lincoln is a new addition to our city from east Texas. He informed a representative of the Herald that he had been working for a number of years for a large Dallas insurance concern, but that so many of their customers had moved to west Texas they decided to locate him here and take care of this fast growing section.

T. W. Woodward, formerly one of our best corn raisers, but now an officer in an insurance concern at Dallas, accompanied by C. D. BROWNFIELD, TEXAS

Easter Sunday this year falls on March 31.

Work has been started on the completion of the Presbyterian Church at Snyder. When completed about May 1st the building will be one of the most modern church structures of West Texas consisting of an auditorium, ten Sunday School rooms, kitchen, session room, minister's study and other departmental rooms.

The three principal Texas crops in 1928, in the order of their value, were cotton, cotton seed and corn.

It is believed Texas can reach a population of 10,000,000 without becoming predominantly urban.

Clearing of the lots on which Abernathy's cheese factory is to be built has started, and plans for the building proper are being completed. The factory is creating quite a bit of interest among farmers because of increased dairy products prices which are expected.

Arkansas is overlooking a good bet if she doesn't advertise herself as a place where they can't make a monkey out of you.
