Methodist Revival to Start Here Sunday

As stated in last week's Herald, the Methodist revival will start Sunday morning at the eleven o'clock hour, and will continue for two weeks. We presume there will be two services throughout the week days, but what hour we have not learned.

The preaching services will be conducted by Rev. Burke Culpepper, of Memphis, Tenn., who is noted all over the Southland as a pulpit orator and a godly man. We learn that it will be a treat for the people of this section to be able to hear him in this series of meetings.

He will be ably assisted by John U. Robinson, also of Memphis, as a song leader and personal worker, who will have charge of all arrangement, services, etc. In fact, according to D. Dodson, the local pastor, he will just about be the whole thing outside of the actual preaching. And by the way, Mr. Robinson and the writer originated in the same county in Tennessee, but we have already fixed things. We'll not talk out of school.

The community in general is invited to attend this revival and help out in any way they can.

Brownfield Gas Line Work Has Started

Surveyors began surveying out the proposed gas line from Tahoka to Brownfield on Tuesday morning, according to M. O. Bridges, local manager of the West Texas Gas Company. This line will run from the main two miles west of Tahoka almost due west to Brownfield. Mr. Bridges was unable to say just when the work of excavating the ditches and laying the pipe would begin but it is expected to begin soon. Brownfield will have natural gas before cold weather returns.—Tahoka News.

IOWA PARK will sponsor a Community Work Day on June 4, at the Fair grounds in order to get the grounds ready for the proposed erection of a grand stand for general use. Labor and the use of tractors, teams and other equipment will be donated so that the work may be completed in one day.

Our Scholastics Some 200 Over Past Year

We were over at the courthouse this week nosing around for a little news, and ran upon something real interesting at the office of the county Judge, H. R. Winston, who also holds the office of ex-officio county superintendent in this county. His splendid assistant, Mrs. J. E. Moore informed us that she had the completed school census all ready to give out, and that was the one very thing we were looking for.

She also informed us that the census showed about 200 increase over last year, which means that Terry county will receive in the neighborhood of $3,000.00 more money from the state available school fund than we did last year. The following is a list of the schools in the county and the number of present scholastics:

Wellman	124
Forrester	115
Lahey	82
Willow Wells	37
Tokio	126
Harris	23
Midway	21
Poole	35
Needmore	57
Johnson	94
Scudday	71
Happy	58
Hunter	75
Pleasant Valley	78
Prairieview	94
Challis	70
Sawyer	48
Harmony	81
Brownfield	562
Union	163
Gomez	181
Meadow	285
Total	2483

Mrs. Moore also informed us that the report in the Dallas News concerning the unit basis for this county being passed by the legislature and signed by Gov. Moody was without foundation. She said it was reported as Terrell county by the Star-Telegram, which she believed to be correct.

The Dairy Judging Officers to Meet Saturday

The poultry judging of the past two Saturdays will be discontinued for a while and dairy cattle judging will be taken up by the 4-H Club members. All club members who wish to try out for the dairy cattle judging team be at the County Agent's office at 2:00 P. M. Saturday.

All officers of 4-H Clubs in Terry County will meet in the district court room Saturday evening May 25th. Important business will be taken up.

Preparations Under Way For Carrier Con.

Preparations are already under way here to care for and entertain the rural carriers and postal clerks here on May 30th, which will be remembered is also memorial day. Carriers and clerks are expected here from all over the 18th congressional district, and the people of this city are making preparations to entertain them to the very best of their ability.

Inasmuch as a great majority of postal clerks and rural carriers are ex-service men, the American Legion is taking a leading part here with the Chamber of Commerce and local mail men in preparing for the entertainment of visitors, and have committees out for that purpose. It is planned to give them a real good time from and after their business sessions over for the day at the legion hall. We presume that a program will be given out next week.

Foster Carroll, President of the Rural Carriers of this district was here recently looking over the matter of entertainment and facilities for the meetings, and expressed himself as highly pleased with the way things were progressing for the entertainment of Uncle Sam's letter handlers.

Besides the regular mail carriers, we understand the Legion here will entertain a number of visitors from posts of surrounding towns, who will be guests of the occasion. We should all lend every assistance we can in the entertainment of these visitors, for if we fall down on anything it will go against us hereafter in trying to secure conventions. Brownfield has never fallen down on anything she has ever undertaken of like nature, and with a united front she will not fall down this time.

Sacred Harp Singers May Be Heard Soon

C. Sears was in recently and informed us that before long a few of the old Sacred Harp Singers were aiming to get together for a day, perhaps in Brownfield, and give the younger generation an opportunity to hear the songs of their grandmothers and grandfathers. This would no doubt be interesting, and the Herald is in hopes that such an arrangement can be made.

He informed us that he and N. W. Jones and wife sang the old tunes and there were two ladies and a man around Tokio who also were proficient in the old song book of other days, and that one of these families had two copies of the Sacred Harp.

One time or another—why not Mon.

Did It Rain? Well We'll Say Precipitation

What appeared to have been a general rain at first, fell over this section Saturday night and Sunday afternoon, and while a general rain so far as most of the Plains and Panhandle section is concerned, did not fully cover this county. According to the government gauge at the courthouse, kept by the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, J. E. Shelton, there was a rainfall of both showers amounting to 1.30 inches.

The rain Saturday night began with a small sprinkle at about ten o'clock, and later gave us about a half inch about 2 o'clock Sunday morning. At about 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, another cloud made up directly west of the city and gave us a hard but short rainfall of .80 making a total of 1.30 inches in all.

As stated above, it would have been hard to convince anyone in the city that Terry and Yoakum and even further away did not get as much or more rain than we, but as one travels west the fall gets lighter, and little rain fell in the Tokio section, or even the west Johnson section. Travelers, however, seemed to think that the rain from Seagraves to Brownfield was about the same. Seminole got little rain, according to reports, and he fall was light all over the south part of this county. From here to Meadow and even beyond, good rains are reported.

As the cloud left here Sunday afternoon going toward Tahoka, we believed that they were also blessed with a fine shower, but we later had news that it was light over there. Lubbock reports rain about like we had, together with some hail. No hail in damaging quantities was reported in Terry county.

Acorn Store Managers Hold Meet at Lamesa

The meeting of the West Texas managers of Acorn Stores, Inc., was held at Lamesa last Thursday, May 2. Mr. Borden, the Lamesa manager being host.

After a business session, lasting several hours, the party adjourned to the Williams Hotel to enjoy a hearty meal served in Ray's best style. The following managers were present: J. E. H. McMillan, of Midland; A. J. Cooper, Big Spring; C. J. Green, Lubbock; W. R. Moore, Slaton; C. E. Stubblefield, Colorado; E. M. Singleton, Brownfield; D. L. Wood, Midland; Leslie White, District Manager, Big Spring.

The next meeting of the managers will be held in Colorado City. —Lamesa Journal

Whose Girls Are These — Whose Wives to Be?

The writer saw a couple of overalls who appeared to be about 12 or 13 years of age, on the streets of Brownfield recently, begging men for money—anything, a nickel or dime, anything they could get. It is nothing unusual to see girls on the streets of the city with overalls, that is quite common. There is no disgrace or harm in the fact that we can see, but the fact that they were begging men for money is altogether a different thing. It made no difference, they hit up every body they passed.

When a man refused them money, generally they had something smart to say to them. Sometimes they'd inform the man that they would not love him any more. Sometimes they would give a man or boy they met on the streets a friendly slap in the back with their open hand, like two pall boys or girls do each other.

We don't know whose girls they were—didn't want to know—made few inquiries, but were informed that both lived in Brownfield, but we'll bet two-bits their parents did not know this panhandling was going on, or they would put a stop to the matter if they had to use a leather strap. They are mere children now, and of course will be treated as such, and no insults will be offered them, but in a few years if they keep this up, some fellow with more passion than brains will make them a counter proposal, which will likely insult the girls, who will report the affair to male relatives with the result of more trouble for all concerned.

These girls appear to be of average intelligence. They are some days to become the wives and perhaps the mothers of children, but if such as this keeps up, will they be just the right person to fill such a sacred office? If they represent what the coming generation will be, what is to become of our renowned feminine modesty, and the world? They are young yet, however, and in a year or two, even if not corrected by their parents, they may become ashamed of such conduct and quit it. They are plenty old to know better now.

We wish to say for the benefit of the many sweet, modest girls seen in our streets that the two mentioned are not anything like represent the average girl of Brownfield, for most girls here their age would modestly decline the voluntary offer of either money, candy or drinks from strangers. Yet, if begging money on the streets becomes a fad, it might be the means of contaminating others of our coming womanhood. Parties knowing these girls and are friends to their parents might render the parents a real favor by informing them what their girls are doing on the streets.

Prof. Renner Talks On Dairy Testing

Prof. K. M. Renner, head of the dairy products department of the Tech College, made an interesting talk to the dairy farmers of this section last Saturday afternoon. He explained the plan of testing cows for butter fat by mail and something of the value to the farmer of such testing. As Mr. Renner explained it is the only real way of getting a true value of a cow is by weighing and testing her milk once a month as is proposed to do in this testing by mail association.

Among the men present who wished to put their herds on test were: J. A. Parks, R. H. Timmons, T. L. Causseaux and C. L. E. Meils. Others will take advantage of this cheap but accurate way of checking up on their herds.

Prof. Renner was accompanied by Prof. Bowers of the agronomy and soils department of the College and Mr. Hill of the South Plains Farmer. These men inspected the deep plowed plot on Arthur Sawyer's place west of town and expressed a great interest in this demonstration.

CANYON has started a campaign to raise $50,000 for the erection of the first hall of a museum building to house the relics of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society.

Old Fiddlers Contest Goes Over Splendidly

The Old Fiddlers Contest last Friday night at the Rialto Theatre drew the largest crowd that has been there in some time, while many others were kept away for the reason that the weatherman got too free with particles of sand and dirt toward night, and those very far out in the country stayed at home, not to say some right here in town. We know the above to be true, for several volunteered us this information Saturday, who said they fully intended to come. But a representative crowd of both town and country folks were on hand, anyway.

Well, the boys, Earl and Arnett, had a good picture on tap to open up with, which the crowd appreciated. Then came the old fiddlers, eleven of 'em if Ben Hurst counted right, and he always manages to get enough figures for the lumber concern he works for to hold his job—besides the aids, with guitars and banjos to hold 'em a light to fiddle by. There is no use for us to go into details about each and all of them, but we will just tip you off that each knew his onions about how to pull horse-tail hair over cat intestants in order to make them whine out that delightful, hair-raising, foot-trembling melodies that goes to make human nature feel like a two-year old once again. The only regret the writer has of the affair was that our better half refused pointedly to let us bring in a plank to pat our foot on. Concrete is the dumbest material to keep time on yet. It was never intended for such performances.

A young cowboy from Lubbock was given first place by the judges, after one tune with accompaniment, and one each around without accompaniment. A fellow from Tahoka got second, and a Lamesa man third prize in the $50 cash whackup. The several locals did not get a look-in, which was very well, for Brownfield was entertaining that night.

While the judges were out a local darkey came on the stage and Arkansas Ferris played Sallie Gooden, while the darkey, although past 50 showed the crowd that he was far from being past his useful age when it came to shaking his underpinning. He was heartily encored for a second round, and gave it with a vim, going off stage on all-fours, though still keeping perfect time. But he had to ask Arkansas to slow down a bit on the second hymn.

No Sunday Shows Here For Awhile at Least

Beginning last Sunday, the managers of the Rialto discontinued their Sunday shows, for the reason, according to the management, that the shows were not paying expenses. No doubt they would have kept them up during the summer if they had barely made expenses, for it was through request of the public, and not for the purpose of making more money that Sunday shows were inaugurated at all. There was no expressed or implied opposition to Sunday shows here that we are aware of, for they were put on during that part of the afternoon when there were no services at any local church, and they always closed promptly at six o'clock, no matter how many people were in the theatre.

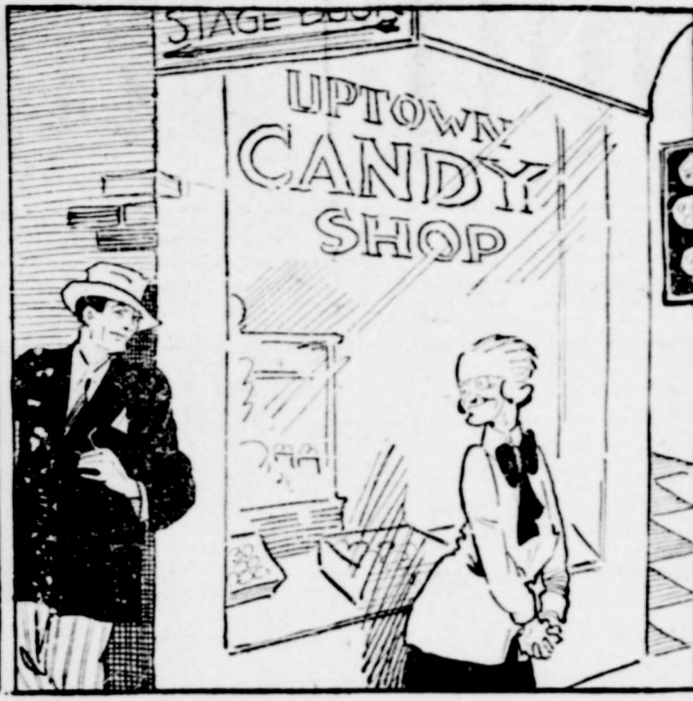

With the coming of warm weather, people are taking the opportunity to drive in the fresh air. Others are going to nearby cities to take in the "Talkie Movies," which are new to this section, and of course people are anxious to see them at least once, and Sunday afternoons are the leisure time of most people. We imagine there will be no more Sunday shows here until fall, unless the managers of the Rialto put on "talkies," but so far as we know, they are not now contemplating that move soon.

HAMLIN has completed plans for a cream route that makes a loop around the town, and then goes into Stamford, and collection will start upon the arrival of a sufficient number of cream cans and will be under the direction of T. A. Carter. The producers will receive a premium of 10 cents per pound above market price for sweet cream.

THREE DAYS TRIAL ENDS IN ACQUITTAL OF DUKE

After a trial lasting three days the Rev. W. E. Duke was acquitted on the charge of murder of J. A. Cox of Klondike, by shooting, on the 6th day of February, last.

The case was tried before Judge Gordon B. McGuire in the district court room. Defendant was defended by Garland and Yonge, Lamesa, with the district attorney and Judge Crenshaw, of Lubbock, representing the State.

The first day, Monday, was taken in selecting the jury, and the verdict was given after the first ballot, about ten p.m., on Wednesday, after the jury had been out three hours.

The case aroused great interest throughout this section, the courtroom being crowded each day, many being unable to gain admission. The closely parked automobiles around the square testified to the number of out-of-town people who came to hear the trial.—Lamesa Journal.

WHITE WAY LIGHT STANDARDS ARRIVE

Tahoka's White Ways is soon to be a reality. The Texas Utilities Company has distributed the standards along the way and W. S. Anglin, the local manager, states that the work of erecting them will begin next Monday. It is expected to have the White Way ready for service about June 1st.—Tahoka News.

W. F. Christy was in from the south route Saturday and put his subscription to the Herald up to fall, saying he would be more apt to have the cash then than in summer.

AMERICAN CAFE

C. W. Tankersly informed us recently that the corn shelling season was about over, and in view of the fact that corn is very wet and sappy since the rains, the rest of the crop will likely be shipped out in the shuck.

The American Cafe is undergoing a complete renovation this week. The walls are being given a coat of white alabaster, a plate glass put in the front, the furniture will be given a new coat of paint and other improvements made.

The streets of Brownfield were crowded Saturday with people from all over the county. They were also keeping our merchants busy waiting on them.

EDUCATIONAL PREPARATION A GROWING REQUIREMENT FOR SUCCESS IN MODERN BUSINESS

Death-Knell Sounded for Guesswork and Slipshod Methods by Advancing Technical Proficiency in Finance, Trade and Industry—How Banks Are Developing a Professionally Qualified Generation of Younger Bankers.

By HAROLD STONIER
American Bankers Association

THE great school of Experience is still holding classes in America, but the scientific spirit of the age has so generally invaded the workshops of industry and trade that they have largely become technical research and training laboratories in themselves and are no longer run on the old-fashioned cut-and-dry methods of former generations when Experience was considered the only teacher. It would be hard to find a working force in any pre-eminently successful business or industrial organization in the United States today but what the dominating leadership is schooled in the scientific principles of its specific field, whether manufacturing, merchandising or finance. The rapidly advancing standards of business in this country, with their relentless demands for efficiency as the only hope for survival in the competitive struggle for economic existence, has sounded the death-knell for guesswork and slipshod methods.

As a result, educational preparation in the techniques of commerce, industry and finance are virtually essential to outstanding success in these fields, as it is already an absolute prerequisite in the various recognized professions. This is not to depreciate the value of native ability and experience in business, but education after all is merely a means for helping the individual to apply the net good of the accumulated experience of many to his own day's work—a means for helping special native ability to come into its own more rapidly and surely and for enabling all classes of ability to gain the maximum of success to which they are entitled.

These facts are plainly recognized by practical, work-a-day business in every line. Every progressive business organization in America is emphasizing the importance of education as never before. Education has come to be looked upon as the answer to many of the problems within the organization as well as to problems affecting industry as a whole.

Business Organizing Institutes
Institutes for developing specifically qualified workers are being operated or organized in many fields of commercial and industrial activity. These institutes are trying various types of educational work with a distinct trend toward more and more emphasis upon education for the rank and file of business employees of all grades.

We have been having business failures in this country at the rate of about 2,000 a month. This score speaks for itself. It is glaring evidence of incompetence on the part of thousands of business men in handling the problems inherent in their fields of endeavor. The detailed records show that practically 75% of business failure in this country is due to lack of training and competence on the part of those who failed. This is conclusive evidence that no one can afford to undertake executive business responsibilities without adequate education and training. It is for that reason that every enlightened business organization is today insisting as never before that its employees take advantage of some type of technical training.

American banking is fortunate and has just cause for pride in that it has a record of twenty-eight years of definitely organized educational activity among its workers to its credit for developing trained bankers. People in banks in large numbers are taking advantage of the educational opportunity given by the great non-commercial college of the banking business, the American Institute of Banking. They see on every hand evidences of the value of the training it gives. Of the 10,000 graduates of this Institute, 70% now occupy official positions in American banks. The other 30% are still too young to have attained such heights. Here is an example and an encouragement to the people of all lines of business.

The American Institute of Banking has a membership of 64,320. Of these 33,851 are class enrollees, comprising younger bank people, both men and women, who are learning the scientific technique of their chosen business at the same time they are engaged in the practical work of earning their livings at it. The difference between the 33,851 enrolled in classes and the 64,320 total membership comprises older bankers who have taken the Institute courses in the past or are at the present time sponsoring some type of educational work in the organization.

Banking Educates Its People
It has been estimated that there are probably 375,000 bank officers and employees in the United States at the present time. These figures would mean that about one banker in every six is either enrolled in Institute classes in banking or is actively sponsoring some educational function of the organization. No statement could possibly give more emphasis to the importance placed on education by the banking interests of America than these facts.

"SCRAMBLED EGGS" By the 7th Grade. Kathleen Hardin, Reporter.

Wilburn was helping to build a fence. He hung his coat on a post. One of the gang for fun painted the head of a mule on it. When it came time to quit, Wilburn looked at it a minute then said, "which one of you boys wiped your face on my coat?"

Mr. Williams: "What is a pretzel?"
O. D.: "A pretzel is a doughnut that died while doing the Charleston."

Miss Dumas: "Chas, how many days are there in each month?"
Charles: "Thirty days hath September, All the rest I can't remember; The calendar hangs on the wall, Why bother me, at all, at all!"

There are two girls in our class by the same name. One of the girl's father died, and the other's father went south on business. The man who had gone south sent his daughter a telegram, but it was delivered to the daughter of the dead man. The telegram read, "Daughter, I arrived here safely, but the heat down here is terrific."

One of the high school senior girls was heard to say that something "was the most unheard of thing she had ever heard of."

English boy (bragging): "King George tapped my father on the shoulder and made him a knight."

Sidney (American): "Huh, that's nothin'" an Indian tapped my grandfather on the bean with a tommy-hawk and made an angel out of him."

Jesse: "Do mulberries have legs?"
Jesse: "Begorra, then I swallowed a straddle bug."

Judge: "What is your name?"
Negro: "Joshua, sah, Joshua."
Judge: "Are you the Joshua that made the sun stand still?"
Negro: "No, sah, I see the one that made de moonshine."

Mother: "What are you doing?"
Ray: "Nothing, mammy."
Mother: "My, but you are getting like your father."

Two boys were walking down the street the other day and saw some canberries for the first time.

James: "What's them?"
Mitchell: "Them?"
James: "Yes, them."
Mitchell: "Simp, them makes a finer applesauce than prunes."

OLNEY'S proposed street lighting system is about to become a reality. The present plans provide 40 standard lights and 60 bracket lights to be placed where standards are not appropriate. This system is subject to change and the exact number of each to be installed will be determined by a committee appointed by the council.

RALLS, in being chosen the place of meeting for the 1930 South Plains district convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, brings the meet to Crosby County for the second time, as it was held in Crosbyton in 1927. Ralls had an enormous delegation at the recent convention at Tahoka.

$1,500.00 in each of the years 1930 to 1933, both inclusive, from the date thereof, bearing interest at the rate of five and one-half (5 1/2) per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, and to levy a tax sufficient to pay the interest on said bonds, and to create a sinking fund sufficient to redeem them at maturity, for the purpose of constructing street improvements in said city as authorized by the Constitution and General Laws of the State of Texas with reference to cities and towns.

The said election shall be held in the Commissioners' Court room in the Courthouse in the City of Brownfield, Texas, and the following named persons are hereby appointed managers of said election:

J. D. Miller, Presiding officer, J. E. Shelton and J. B. Knight, Judges Jake Hall and Leo Holmes, Clerks. The said election shall be held under the provisions of the Constitution and General Laws of the State of Texas, now in force with reference to such elections and bond issues, governing cities and towns, and only qualified voters who are property taxpayers of said City of Brownfield, Texas, shall be allowed to vote.

All voters who favor the proposition to issue the bonds shall have written or printed on their ballots the words:—

"For the issuance of Street Improvement Bonds and the Levy of the Tax Therefor."

And those opposed shall have written or printed on their ballots the words:—

"Against the issuance of Street Improvement Bonds and the Levy of the Tax Therefor."

The manner of holding said election shall be governed by the laws of the State of Texas, governing general elections.

A copy of this order signed by the mayor of the City of Brownfield, Texas, attested by the City Secretary of said City of Brownfield, Texas, shall serve as proper notice of said election.

The mayor is authorized and directed to cause said notice of election to be posted at the courthouse door, and at one public place of each of the voting places in the City of Brownfield, Texas, for at least thirty full days prior to the date of said election.

The Mayor is further authorized and directed to have said notice of election published in some newspaper of general circulation in said City, to-wit: The Terry County Herald, which notice shall be published once each week for four consecutive weeks to the date of said election, the date of the first publication being at least thirty full days before the date of the election.

Attest: Jon, J. McGowan, Mayor

TAHOKA PASTOR RECOVERS FROM SMALLPOX

Rev. R. T. Breedlove, who has been confined to his room about three weeks with smallpox, is able to be on the streets again, the quarantine on the pastor's home having been raised Monday.

So far as reported, this is the only case of smallpox that has developed in Tahoka and the good pastor does not know when or from whom he contracted the disease. It is said that there have been several cases in the county recently.

Brother Breedlove doesn't have a favorable opinion of the malady. Although smallpox rarely has fatal results in these modern days and is not dreaded as it were a generation ago, yet the good minister says that his fever ran high and he vomited like sin. And one of the mean things about this attack was that he thought he had already had the smallpox many years ago. He knows now that the former attack was a joke. This last one was the real thing.—Tahoka News.

SEN. PARRISH WINS IN AUSTIN BATTLE

AUSTIN, May 8.—After losing the fight for his fee limitation bill before the senate state affairs committee, Senator Pink L. Parrish of Lubbock turned the tables on the bill's enemies in the senate today when that body voted to print the measure on a minority report.

The bill would limit every county official to a net return of $10,000. The vote to print was 16 to 7.

Senator Walter Woodful of Houston, was the only senator who opposed the motion from the floor. Woodful declared delinquent taxes weren't being collected before 1923 when the present system became effective.

Senator Tom Deberry of Bogata said that $10,000 may be a bagatelle in Harris county, but it's a considerable sum up in the tick belt and Arkansas section I represent.

"If you think the people want to pay more than $10,000 a year to any county official, you're sadly mistaken," Parrish advised.

Senator Thomas B. Love, of Dallas, refuted contentions that there was a considerable increase in the amount of back taxes collected under the present system.

Unfortunately goat-getters are more numerous than go-getters, mused the pessimist.

A Complete Change of Climate

IN A country as large as ours, distances are purely relative things. It all depends on one's point of view. I think of two cases in point, dissimilar in locale and setting, but both illustrative.

A cow-hand, on a ranch in the Staked Plains country down near El Paso, took a vacation. He decided to travel to far ports, so he went all the way to Texarkana, clear across in the northeastern corner of the state. If the reader is a Texan, or if he ever has toured Texas, he will appreciate that this is quite a journey. Upon the traveler's return, some of his friends asked him how he had enjoyed himself.

"Oh, pretty good," he said, "but so far as I'm concerned, I'll be satisfied to stay down South here, in God's country, where I belong. The way I feel now, I won't never go visitin' again away up yonder in the North. I don't care much for them Yankees."

Here's a companion piece:

A New Yorker was fishing in the upper peninsula of Michigan. His guide was a typical woodsman. One night by the campfire he regaled the New Yorker with accounts of the severity of the winters in those parts—how deep the snowdrifts were and how biting the winds from off Lake Superior and how thick the ice was and how low the thermometer fell and how long the cold weather lasted.

"Well," said the Easterner, when the native had halted for breath, "we have some pretty bad cold snaps along the seaboard but nothing to match what you describe. How do you manage to stand such conditions?"

"Me?" said the guide, "I don't try to stand 'em. Before it freezes up solid I pack up and git out of here and go south fur the winter."

"To Florida, I suppose?" hazarded the New Yorker.

"Nope," said the native, "Grand Rapids."

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

The State of Texas,
To the Sheriff or any Constable of Yoakum County, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon Casimir Andel, Louise K. Andel, George Andel, William C. Andel, Coleman Andel, Gisella Schuchardt, and her husband, C. W. Schuchardt, Joseph Osterhaus, L. R. Osterhaus her husband, Ethel Andel, Mary Helen Andel, and Katherine Louise Andel, Defendants and the heirs and legal representatives of said named Defendants, whose names and residences are unknown, by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest County where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Yoakum County, to be held at the Court House thereof, in Plains on the Second Monday in June A. D. 1929, the same being the tenth day of June A. D. 1929, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 25th day of April A. D. 1929, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court as No. 219, wherein First National Bank of Belleville, Illinois is Plaintiff, and Casimir Andel, Louise K. Andel, George Andel, William C. Andel, Coleman Andel, Gisella Schuchardt and her husband, C. W. Schuchardt, Joseph Osterhaus, L. R. Osterhaus her husband, Ethel Andel, Mary Helen Andel, and Katherine Louise Andel, Defendants and the heirs and legal representatives of said named Defendants, whose names and residences are unknown, are Defendants, and said petition alleging that on the 16th day of November 1908, Plaintiff was the legal holder and owner and entitled to the possession of Section 10, Block P, lying in Yoakum and Cochran Counties, Texas, containing 640 acres of land, and has since said time been the owner thereof and at all times entitled to its possession, and that on January 1, 1928 the Defendants entered into possession of said property and disposed of this Plaintiff and now withholds from it the use and possession thereof to Plaintiff's damage.

Wherefore, Plaintiff prays that after service and upon hearing it have its judgement for title and ready possession and such other relief as at law and equity it is entitled to have. For second count, Plaintiff shows to the Court that on November 16, 1908, Defendant Casimir Andel obtained title to the property, above described, being Section 10, Block P, Yoakum and Cochran Counties, Texas by conveyance from Alice E. Glaser and husband, and that the said conveyance was in settlement of an indebtedness from the grantors in said deed to the Plaintiff in this action, and the grantee in such deed was to and did hold the title of such property in trust for this Plaintiff, and he always recognized the same.

That the said Casimir Andel died about February 6, 1918 intestate with no administration upon his estate and surviving him was his widow, Louise K. Andel, and the following children: George, William C., Coleman, Gisella and Joseph, which were all the children born to him, and that the son, George, died about December 10, 1918 leaving surviving him his wife, Ethel and two daughters, who are now minors, Mary Helen and Katherine Louise; that he died intestate with no other descendants surviving him; that Louise K. Andel died about April 9, 1919 leaving as her surviving children and descendants of children the persons just named; that during the lifetime of said Casimir Andel he recognized the trust, aforesaid, but never made formal conveyance of the property to cestue que trust. That by reason of the foregoing, there having been no administration of the said estate, there exists a cloud upon the Plaintiff's title to the property, which Plaintiff seeks to have removed.

Plaintiff prays for process upon all the Defendants, that upon hearing it have its judgement quieting its title to the said Survey of land against them and removing the cloud therefrom, and for such other and further relief as at law and equity it may be entitled under the facts shown.

Herein fail not, and have you before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said Court, at office in Plains, Texas this 25th day of April A. D. 1929.

MODEL T FORD

THE Ford Motor Company is making a new car, but it is still proud of the Model T. It wants every owner of one of these cars to run it as long as possible at a minimum of trouble and expense.

Because of this policy and because of the investment that millions of motorists have in Model T cars, the Ford Motor Company will continue to supply parts as long as they are needed by Ford owners.

So that you may get the greatest use from your Model T, we suggest that you take it to the nearest Ford dealer and have him estimate on the cost of any replacement parts that may be necessary.

You will find this the economical thing to do because a small expenditure now will help to prevent costlier repairs later on, increase the value of the car, and give you thousands of miles of additional service.

For a labor charge of only $2.60 you can have your generator put in first-class condition. A new universal joint will be installed for a labor cost of $3. Overhauling the carburetor costs $1.50; steering gear, $3.50; radiator, $7.50. A complete overhauling of the rear axle assembly runs between $5.75 and $7 for labor. An average price of $22.50 covers the overhauling of the motor and transmission.

These prices are for labor only because the need and number of new parts depend on the condition of each car. The cost of these parts is low, however, because of the Ford policy of manufacturing and selling at a small margin of profit.

A Small Tale About a Large Nose

A NEW YORK playwright, famous for a gift of sardonic humor, was invited one evening to join an after-theater party at one of the Broadway cafes.

The prospective host told him he would be expected to pay some attention to a lady friend of his—the host's—fiancee.

The dramatist was wary. He remembered that more than once he had been called in at the eleventh hour to fill this role.

"Tell me something about this girl," he said. "Is she good-looking or is she one of those total losses?"

"Well," admitted his friend, "she isn't exactly what I'd call a raving beauty, but she's awfully nice—good company and all that sort of thing, you know."

"Yes, I know," said the playwright mournfully. "Well, for your sake I'll take a chance."

When he reached the appointed rendezvous at midnight, his worst fears were justified. Sitting at a table with his friend and his friend's sweetheart, was an exceedingly dumb-looking young woman. Her most outstanding feature—and in this connection the word "feature" advisedly is used—was an enormous hook nose.

To the dismayed eyes of the new arrival it loomed as the largest nose he had ever seen affixed to a human countenance. So, before joining the party, he fortified himself copiously from the contents of his pocket flask.

Presently, somewhat groggy but bearing himself with all proper dignity, he approached the group and in introductions took place. With some slight difficulty he seated himself. His fascinated gaze meanwhile fixed upon the nose of his appointed vis-a-vis.

An embarrassing little pause followed. Nobody seemed to have anything to say. It was the befuddled dramatist who broke the silence. Bending forward and addressing the stranger, he said politely:

"I beg your pardon, but do you smell anything dead around here?"

"Why, no," she said.

"Well, then," he continued, with an air of finality, "there can't be anything dead around here."

IN A southern city a colored youth applied at a leading hotel for a job as bellboy. There was a vacancy in the bell-hopping staff and the applicant, it seemed, had had experience in similar work at other hotels. The manager, liking the boy's looks, turned him over to the bell captain, who also was colored, for final examination before signing him to duty.

"De main question," began the inquisitor, "is whether you is got politeness. We insists yere 'at all our force must be respectful an' polite."

"Huh!" said the candidate. "I not only is got politeness, I lakwise also is got tact."

"Whut's de diff'ence 'tween politeness and tact?" asked the bell captain.

"A big diff'ence," said the new hand. "Listen: Lemme give you a 'ustration to prove it. A Voice Out of the Cotton

A GROUP of country negroes, seized with the desire to emigrate North—that same same contagion, by the way, which is depopulating some of the cotton fields—got as far as Birmingham, Ala., before their money ran out. In the hope of raising funds sufficient to enable them to continue their journey, the stranded travelers sought employment.

One of them became acquainted with a white gentleman who threw several odd jobs in his way. But this scrappy employment, while it provided temporary food and lodging, did not serve to gratify the more pressing ambition.

Reaching his office on a certain morning, the citizen found his colored friend awaiting him at the door.

"Mr. Blank," said the applicant "you's been so good to me already, I hates to keep on pesterin' you, but I suttinly does need wuk mighty bad ag'in, an' Ise hopin' mebbe you kin he'p me out ag'in some ez you's done two-three times befo'."

"Well," said his benefactor, "as it so happens, you may be in luck. Just now I heard dat they were needin' a hand down the street here, at the Eagle Laundry."

"Thank yuh, suh," said the negro; "but Mr. Blank," he added doubtfully, "I ain't never had no sperience washin' eagles."

We had it all made up to talk about the million dollar rain that fell here Saturday night and Sunday, but owing to the fact that considerable of the county got little or no rain we will have to lower our figures somewhat. But those who got rain are rejoicing, and the others are hopeful as the moon fills the 22nd. Come to Terry.

We understand, that an editor not far from here, has asked police protection from lovesick girls. We don't know, whether or not, he is single; but if we were single we would endure a lot of annoyance from pretty girls before we would send for the strong arm of the law. Of course, as it is, if a young lady should attempt to flirt with us, we would certainly notify the officers.—Ropes Hustler.

While cattle on the ranges are said to be doing well yet, where rain has not fallen to amount to anything, the grass and weeds are on a standstill, owing to the fact that we have had some wind of late. Wind dries up land and burns grass much faster than the sun. Where abundance of rain has fallen, the grass has taken a new start, and with the expectation that most of our high winds are over for the year, the cattleman is feeling good.

The extra session of the legislature has accomplished wonders indeed. They have passed four bills up to this time, all of which have been approved by the Governor. These bills are estimated to have cost the tax payers of Texas the sum of $20,000 each, and probably were not worth half the money. But what can one expect considering the average man sent down there to represent the people. Half of them have never made a stir at home, and the people send them down there to get rid of them that long at home. What Dan Moody ought to do is to kick the last one of them out of the capitol, and send them home to chop cotton. They might do some farmer some good in the cotton fields.

The beginning of the end of this school term is now in progress, and the boys and girls of school age will soon be on vacation for three months or more. The series of entertainments are going on in our schools this week, together with final examinations. If they have made good use of their time this term, they are feeling fine, and expect to be in an advanced grade next term. On the other hand, if they have frivolated their time away with foolishness, they may have to bear the embarrassment of staying in the old grade another term. Such, though, is life. Even after we bid farewell to class rooms forever, we still have our ups and our downs, apparently mostly downs, but the fellow that gets up and presses on is the final winner. Friend Baldwin, editor of the Levelland Herald about half way apologized in his last issue what he had to say about Terry county, and that's all we expect of him, and we are ready now to bury the hatchet. Funny though, how he fancied that all the people from Brownfield were drunk, when they probably had nothing stronger with them than aspirin tablets. Taking it for granted that liquor was easy to obtain here, he came by and visited all our drink emporiums, but got nothing stronger than coke, despite all the "high signs" he could give. It is hard for an old hand to get anything here except the bad odor from some fellow's breath—a stranger, never. Next time Baldwin should get in with some of the Brownfield crowd, then and then only would he stand any chance whatever to get anything better than Bevo.

—H—
'THERE OUGHT TO BE A LAW—'

There is a great deal of talk about the need of law enforcement and respect for the law. Civilization cannot be maintained without general observation of the restrictions that society has created to protect itself. But something equally important, and less considered, is that there is also a crying need of laws worthy of respect.

A tremendous percentage of persons now in prison are there because of "crimes" that twenty years ago were not illegal. The life and liberty of the American citizen is hemmed in by legal structures.

Law-making bodies have gone on orgies of legislation. Apparently nothing is too tyrannical or too absurd to place on the statute books. Instead of a well-ordered, scientific legal code, such as was contemplated by the fathers of the country, we have thousands of petty, conflicting laws, whose enforcement is hopelessly befogged by miles of red tape and bureaucracy.

It is no wonder that many self-respecting American citizens are beginning to look with a cynical eye on all laws. Despotism and illogical laws breed contempt for legislation. It is not freedom that creates anarchists, by tyranny. Constitutional rights are disregarded by lawmakers. Personal liberty is becoming little more than an echo from the past. Millions of good Americans are technically criminals.

There are hopeful signs that this modern "there ought to be a law" age will pass. No law can long survive the contempt of a great body of people. As a nation we would do well to uphold our constitutional rights instead of permitting them to be smothered by bureaucracy and paternalism which destroys liberty and kills private initiative and enterprise. The majority of our people are well disposed and honest and are not well-wishers as the politicians seem to believe.—Pyote Signal.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

The State of Texas:
Greetings:
To The Sheriff or Any Constable of Yoakum County:

Whereas, in cause No. 219 pending in the District Court of Yoakum County, Texas, wherein, the First National Bank of Belleville, Illinois is Plaintiff and Casimir Andel and others are Defendants, there has been filed in this Court an affidavit stating that Defendants are beyond the jurisdiction of the Court and a request to take the deposition of Phil Gass on the part of the Plaintiff, and it further appears to this Court that none of the Defendants therein have any attorney of record, and the said Plaintiff has filed in this Court the interrogatories which it desires to propound to the said Phil Gass.

Therefore, you will serve notice upon the Defendants, hereinafter named, by causing a copy of this notice to be published in some newspaper in your county for thirty days. If no newspaper be published in such County, then you cause such publication to be made in some newspaper published in the County nearest to this County; that after the expiration thereof the Plaintiff will apply for commission to take the deposition of the said Phil Gass in said cause No. 219, wherein the First National Bank of Belleville, Illinois is Plaintiff, and Casimir Andel, Gisella Schuchardt and her husband, C. W. Schuchardt, Joseph Osterhaus, L. R. Osterhaus, her husband, Ethel Andel, Mary Helen Andel, and Katherine Louise Andel, Defendants

The Human Fly Came And He Conquered

Well, the Human Fly came and conquered—both the walls of the county capitol, and the pocket books of those who watched him, thus killing two birds with a single stone. But so far as the Herald is concerned, he is welcome to all the swag he got for the feat, for we do not crave his job.

Just before the event, we heard at least two men say that he would get little money out of it, for according to them, there was no money in the crowd. But the last time we saw his cigar box it was more than half full of silver and dollar bills. So we presume if the men who told us he would get nothing must have changed their minds if they saw the box after he rifled the big crowd. In fact, he said he found the people of Brownfield very liberal with both their presence and money at his performance.

The show did draw a huge crowd, and was probably worth the money, for the wall of the courthouse has few toe-holds, and the wide carnish at the top is rather hard to get over even with a ladder for the common run of us. In fact, we don't want the job with a ladder furnished, for when we get about twenty feet off the ground our heart—otherwise a pretty quiet old organ—seems to get as large as a water bucket, and thumps like a stalled locomotive. Our toes also have a funny feeling like some one tickling them, and our head swims around like an old fashioned winding blade.

He gave the crowd a few thrills, once at the jail windows on the third floor, when he made as if falling—but he had an iron bar with a dead grip with his strong left. He also pulled a fake slip under the carnish

"NOAH" HAS ARK SET FOR FLOOD

Pacific Coast Hermit Ready for the Deluge He Believes Is Due.

Olympia, Wash.—The "Ark of the Pacific Coast," built to carry followers of the Lord to higher lands when He floods the Pacific coast, rides on Puget sound under the shadows of the dome of the state Capitol.

The "ark," built by a hermit named William Greenfield, is one of the strangest ships ever constructed.

Youth, middle-aged and aged are following in the paths of sin, says Greenfield, who has termed himself captain of the queer craft, and who has built the "ark" in answer to God's revelations, to carry him and nonsinners across the ocean to higher lands when He invokes the penalty on sinners.

Captain Greenfield is aided in his work by one known to him as Michael. The "Twentieth century Noah" says that God named Michael to assist him in preparing the vessel.

Neither Knows Date.

The vessel floats peacefully on the harbor awaiting the call, which Michael says will come in two years and which Greenfield says will come in one year, apparently neither knowing just when the deluge is to inundate the Pacific coast.

Greenfield has made it plain that he will not carry any animals with him when he takes the journey. He plans on making only a short voyage with the ship.

The hull of the craft was constructed by Greenfield at an Olympia mill in 1922, and floated to its present location, where at low tide it rests in a specially constructed cradle to keep it clear of mud.

The boat is anchored near the end of one of the arms of Puget sound, approximately a mile from the dome of the new Capitol. One inspired by man and the other by God, so says the "prophet."

A 100-horse power motor is located in the hull. Installation of the motor has not been completed. The craft carries no propeller.

Piano for Hymns.

The first deck of the "sin saver" is fitted up for living quarters where the modern Noah spends much of his time, probably pondering over the present state of the world. The tiny room in which he meditates is jammed with odds and ends. A small piano, in need of tuning, fills one corner. It is to be used by Greenfield after the "ark" has landed on dry land, for singing hymns of praise.

The room is lined with sheet metal and painted white. Toward the stern another room is located, to be used as a guest room for visitors. A narrow walk is provided along the rail of the stern where a ladder leads upward to the top of the deck. This deck is roofed over to keep the rains, that are slated to fall during the tidal wave, back.

Greenfield is of slight build, medium height and about sixty years of age. He is of English descent, but was born in Illinois.

Greeks Follow Italy in Tax on Bachelors

Athens.—The Greek government, following the example of Italy, is introducing a tax on bachelors.

The Greek census of last May showed, practically for the first time, a considerable excess of women—the figures are 52,214. This phenomenon is largely due to the fact that the Greek refugees from Asia Minor numbered more women than men.

The tax will be applied only after the age of thirty, and is removed after the bachelor reaches fifty-five years. War invalids and officers up to a certain rank will be exempt.

The criticism is made that "in these difficult days" men marry later than has heretofore been customary, and the critics say that the taxable age should be set at thirty-five years rather than thirty.

Leaps to Death

New York.—Eviding the grasp of her sister, Leah, after sending her nurse away to get medicine, Miss Esther Glasser, twenty-seven-year-old student, committed suicide by jumping from a window of her room on the fifteenth floor of the Medical Arts sanitarium.

Nice If She Would Only Lay 'Em in Pan

Elmdale, Kan.—Much has been written about the "helpful" Kansas hen, and the boon she has been to mankind. But "Old Rusty," a hen owned by Mrs. Heron Straulis, adds real service to her egg laying.

Always when it is time for the hen to lay she insists on coming right into the house to lay her eggs. She will leave the other chickens in the poultry house and come to the door of the house, where she will cackle and fuss around and is so persistent that she is admitted. Mrs. Straulis has a nest in one corner of the room, where "Old Rusty" settles down contentedly and lays an egg.

An Explanation for a Parent

IT WAS one of the hottest days in the year in the town down South where certain friends of mine live. The thermometer on the front porch registered 106 in the shade at noon. Shortly after dinner the three children of the household—Mildred, aged three; Jackie, aged five; and Anthony, who was seven, were reported missing. They were not to be found in the big yard nor about the stables.

Their mother grew uneasy. She instituted a search of the premises. Finally, when every corner and cranny had been visited without results, she thought her that there was just one spot she had overlooked. This was the attic. It did not seem possible that any human being willingly would linger for a single moment in a place which must be incredibly hot. Nevertheless, the lady climbed the garret stairs. As she lifted the trapdoor a breath of terrific heat, like a blast from a furnace, struck her in the face. But what she saw made her forget her own discomfort.

In a corner where a gable of the tin roof came close down to the floor, and under a sort of bower of grotto formed of blankets and cover-lids taken from the store of winter bedding, sat the two younger children. Neither of them had on a stitch of clothing. Their small pink bodies glistened with perspiration. To and fro in front of their snug retreat paced the older boy, majestically. He also was nude except that on his head he wore a huge coon-skin cap which he had resurrected from the ancient trunk.

"In the name of Heaven!" exclaimed the astonished mother. "Children, what on earth are you doing in this stifling place? You'll be sun-struck."

Master Tony raised an authoritative hand to check her.

"Don't bother us, please, mother," he bade her. "We're acting a piece out of the Bible." He pointed toward his brother and sister. "That's Adam and Eve yonder."

"Well, if that's Adam and Eve, who are you, pray?"

"Me?" He seemed surprised that she had not recognized him. "Why, I'm God, walking in the garden in the cool of the day."

HERE'S HOW ONE WEST TEX-AN DESCRIBES A SAND STORM

The folks were treated to a real blowout Wednesday night. Prior to that hour the weather man was letting things rock along in peaceful slumber. The moon had not come this way; the stars way up in their homes, were blinking and winking merrily; an occasional howl was let out by some prowling canine, and once in a while a Thomas Cat would give vent to some loud static as he passed the premises of his lady love. Otherwise a sleeping world was curtailed in silent night and weary mortals were forgetting the perplexities of a day filled with worry and annoyance.

But all at once the scene was changed. The solitude was broken by a yelping noise as if the tight breeches of ardent swain were being rent in twain. The sentimental Tom Cat hurriedly hunted for refuge from the impending storm; the singing dog sought his kennel with the rapidity of the Spirit of St. Louis. The wind swooped down to earth and grabbed up the sand in huge handfuls, and gleefully scattered it to the east, west, north and south. The entire country was filled with some dirt, more dirt and then most dirt. In other words it was a dirty deal throughout. No matter how tightly the houses were constructed the inmates were almost strangled when they tried to breathe. Many, upon suddenly being awakened, thought the burglars had resumed operations and were scattering sleeping potions over the house in order to quiet any who might be of an inquisitive turn of mind. But after an investigation was made it was found that it was the same old story over again—merely the West pulling off another sand demonstration. Nothing to be worried about; nothing to frighten the most timid; only another spasm of surplus ozone and released real estate taking a midnight joy ride thru endless space.—Rule Review.

Does your MOTOR SING or POUND?

STOP in the middle of a good substantial hill and listen to the various sounds coming from motors which are climbing it. Some glide along like song birds—others bellow forth like jazz-crazed saxophones. Why the difference? Simply this—the fuel.

Conoco Ethyl is a proper admixture of Conoco, the extra-miles motor fuel, and Ethyl Fluid, developed by General Motors. All Ethyl Gasoline is not Conoco Ethyl. To be sure you are getting Conoco Ethyl, fill only at those pumps which display the Conoco Ethyl sign.

With Conoco Ethyl Gasoline in the tank, your motor literally sings along because Conoco Ethyl delivers a steady, even flow of power—up hill or on the level. It won't knock. Hence, it eliminates that pounding noise—so hard on the ears as well as on the motor.

Being a proper admixture of Conoco, the extra miles motor fuel and Ethyl Brand of Anti-Knock Compound, Conoco Ethyl is the acknowledged pace setter for summer driving. It keeps the engine cool at all speeds—delivers maximum power and assures smooth, quiet running.

And best of all, it more than saves its slight extra cost by reducing wear and tear and by giving you the greatest motoring satisfaction you have ever enjoyed. Try Conoco Ethyl today.

Tech Prof. Gives Ration For Plains Dairymen

Furnished by W. L. Stangel, Head of Department of Animal Husbandry.

1. 50 lbs. of ground milo heads, 25 lbs. of wheat bran, 25 lbs. of cotton seed meal.

2. 50 lbs. of ground milo heads, 2 lbs. wheat bran, 20 lbs. of cotton seed meal, 5 lbs. of ground alfalfa hay.

3. 70 lbs. ground milo heads, 30 lbs. cotton seed meal.

4. 4 lbs. of cottonseed meal, 10 lbs. of ground Kafir fodder; Feed 2 bundles Kafir fodder, 1 at each feeding, in addition to mixed ration.

Note: With rations 1-3 inclusive allow all the roughage the cow will eat. All of the roughage common to this section are satisfactory. A safe rule to follow in feeding grain is to allow 1 lb. of concentrates to 2-2½ lbs. of milk with Jerseys and 3-3½ lbs. of milk with Holsteins.

It will be well to allow about 4 to 6 lbs. of alfalfa per cow per day if some is available or can be purchased reasonably.

Ear corn, hegar or kafir heads may be substituted for milo heads in above rations.

LOSING $5 TO SAVE 25c

American cotton farmers themselves constitute the chief undeveloped market for their product. The wrapping about the bales of cotton, put on at the gin in the farmer's home community, if it were made of cotton, would use up some 50,000 bales in an average year. An increase in consumption demand of 500,000 bales would have an appreciable effect on the market. It is a conservative estimate that if cotton farmers insisted on the use of cotton bagging the price of the whole crop would be lifted at least a cent a pound.

The sole reason why cotton bagging is not used now is that the jute bagging generally employed is cheaper. It would cost about 25 cents more to wrap a bale in cotton bagging than in jute. Cotton farmers suffer from a strange myopia which makes this 25 cents difference in ginning costs loom larger than the $5 a bale which is a modest estimate of what the farmer would ultimately gain if he along with all the rest spend the extra 25 cents for wrapping.

The failure of farmers to do this brought on the effort to place a duty on jute. If by means of the tariff the cost of jute bagging was raised to equal that of cotton bagging there would be general substitution of the latter and consequently a gain in cotton consumption and an increase in prices. But the point is that what the farmers are asking the Government to do in this respect is a thing that they could do themselves, at least insofar as the wrapping of their own product is concerned.—Fort Worth Star Telegram.

TEXAN'S GRAMMAR ACCEPTED BY KENTUCKY COM.

Austin, Texas.—Dr. Annie Webb Blanton, professor of rural education at the University of Texas, has received word that her book, "Advanced English Grammar," has been accepted by the State Text-Book Commission of Kentucky as a basal text book for the State for a ten-year period.

Don't take yourself too seriously—no one else does.

The world may owe you a living, but the collector's job is always a hard one.

NOTABLES SHUN RINGS OF 'PHONE IN WASHINGTON

Leading Officials Keep Their Home Numbers Out of Capital's Directories.

Washington.—If you ever want to reach Nick Longworth, speaker of the house of representatives, or his famous wife, Alice, by telephone, don't search the directory for the name Nicholas Longworth.

No such name is listed. You will find, however, the name "Mrs. A. L. R. Longworth." That's your number.

This is just one of many interesting things in the Washington telephone directory.

One will run into all sorts of difficulty in trying to get the residences of Washington's great and near great by telephone. A great many of these people don't like the sound of a telephone bell when they are at home, and, though all possess telephones, it is impossible to get their number unless they themselves give it to you.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson is one. Most of the cabinet members have unlisted telephones.

Several familiar and historic telephone numbers have been discarded now that Washington is planning to install the dial system.

For years the Supreme court of the United States was Main 1. It has always been a matter of pride on the part of many that this number was given to this great branch of the government. But with the new order of things Main 1 will go and Chief Justice Taft may now be reached by calling National 3500.

The White House retains its listing as Main 6, using also trunk lines 4, 5, 7 and 8. But this will not be for long. The historic 6 is due to go, along with the Supreme court's cherished number.

Best Cod Livers Are Worst, Science Finds
New York.—Cod livers that contain the most oil do not have the best, from the standpoint of preventing rickets. Dr. Alfred E. Hess, Dr. Charles E. Ellis and Edna M. Honeywell have found by recent experiments. The antirachitic potency of cod-liver oil is determined by a feeding experiment on young rats. In this way cod liver oil for the market is assayed. Using the same method, these investigators found that oil from "poor" livers was 200 times more potent than high-grade oil.

Extend Boundaries of Shenandoah Park

Luray, Va.—Old lines first designating the boundaries of the Shenandoah National park areas have been obliterated and much new territory is added according to the new map of the United States geological survey just completed in collaboration with the Virginia state conservation and development commission.

In the new map Luray is within three miles of the park limits; Front Royal is two miles away, and six towns in Page county are either within the boundary or almost on the line. The park is seventy miles long, and at its widest point is eighteen miles. The greatest width runs from Stanley, this county, to Wolfstown, in Madison, one of the most thriving communities in the Blue ridge.

Find Minerals Vary in Action on Humans

Cold Springs Harbor, N. Y.—Classification of minerals in the human body is expected to prove valuable to doctors as the result of experiments conducted by Dr. William Salant of the University of Georgia, and the biological laboratory here.

Searching for the reason certain powerful drugs failed to bring the expected reaction, Doctor Salant discovered a definite connection with the percentage of minerals in the blood. The effect of drugs, he decided, varies according to the individual's chemical condition.

The experiments point to the time when physicians will no longer prescribe the same medicine for all persons suffering from the same illness.

Beggars in Hungary Must Pay Income Tax

Budapest, Hungary.—All beggars in Hungary must henceforth pay taxes on their incomes the same as all other citizens and must register their name and address with the police and prove their inability to work.

It came about when the government discovered that the president of the National Association of Hungarian Beggars had called a meeting of the association to be held at Szeged in Hungary. The meeting was promptly banned and dissolution of the organization demanded. When investigation proved that many beggars made more money than respectable workmen, the government came out with its drastic regulations.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

The State of Texas To the Sheriff or any Constable of Yoakum County, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon Roy Kendall, the unknown heirs of Roy Kendall, if he be deceased, and their heirs and legal representatives, by making publication of this Citation in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest County where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Yoakum County, to be held at the Court House thereof, in Plains, Texas, on the Second Monday in June, A. D. 1929, the same being the 10th day of June, A. D. 1929, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 9th day of April, A. D. 1929, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court as No. 218, wherein Edward Randall, Mary Manson Ellis, Nolan V. Ellis, and Edw. Randall Manson are Plaintiffs, and Roy Kendall, if he be deceased, and their heirs and legal representatives, are Defendants, and said petition alleging that the plaintiffs are the lawful and absolute owners in fee simple, (Edward Randall owning an undivided one-half interest, Mary Manson Ellis an undivided one-fourth interest, and Edward Randall Manson an undivided one-fourth interest), of all of Section No. 857, Block "D", John H. Gibson Certificate No. 145, containing 640 acres of land, in Yoakum County, Texas, and entitled to the possession thereof; and that plaintiffs also have and hold title to said land under the Three, Five and Ten Year Statutes of Limitation. Plaintiffs pray judgment against all of the defendants for the title to and possession of said land; for damages; writ of possession; and all such other equity, general and special, to which and further relief, both at law and in they may be entitled.

Herein Fail Not, and have you before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have

TEXAS U. STUDENTS DISPLAY WILD FLOWERS

Austin Texas.—Advanced students in botany at the University of Texas have undertaken to keep fresh wild flowers on exhibition in the University library for the benefit of students interested in learning the identity of Texas wild flowers. The displays are changed twice each week, and an effort is made to place there not only the common flowers of the State but also many that are interesting because of their rarity. The specimens are labeled with their common names, their scientific names and their family names, and the student who watches the exhibit from week to week will secure a splendid working knowledge of the wild flower life of Texas, according to Dr. B. C. Tharp, professor of botany.

WHY TRADE AT HOME

trade at home and never roam Seeking "bargains" elsewhere. I love the town in which I live, For all my interests are there. And then again, I buy from friends, We all need one another. When I run short I can approach My dealer as a brother. When buying here with conscience clear I put my money down. I know it stays right here and works For the welfare of my town. Another thing, right here I bring The produce that I raise, And always get an honest deal— I've found that it pays. And then I know when buying here It helps things relax, And also helps the man that pays His portion of the tax. And when I'm sick and in bad luck The man I buy from is here With his pocketbook, if need be And kindly words of cheer. So that is why I trade at home. I'm a booster thru and thru, For a town that's good to live in Is good to trade in, too. —From an Exchange.

She: "This dining room table goes back to Louis the Fourteenth."

He: "My whole living room goes back to the Home Furnishing Store the fifteenth."

TWO-BITS

There are numerous stories about instalment buying, some are good and some are bad, but here's the latest: W. F. Godfrey, manager of Godfrey & Smart, Ford dealers, was explaining the fine points of the new Ford to a prospective buyer, and as is the case in most sales, the terms were reached, and Mr. Godfrey was explaining how easy it was to buy and the number of installments to be paid, when the man informed him that he could not reach even the first payment, that he had only a quarter. Being a "go-getter" Godfrey took the man's quarter, issued a receipt, market it "first payment," and turned to the next customer.

Incidentally two days later the man drove the Ford out.—Texas Spur.

BARRIER BROS. GO INTO VOLUNTARY BANKRUPTCY

Friday of last week, Barrier Bros. Inc., entered into voluntary bankruptcy, including each of the chain of nine stores in West Texas, one of which was in Spur, and the main store headquarters being in Lubbock. ### WHY NOT?

Mrs. Prim—"I didn't see your husband in church this morning."

Mrs. Glim—"No, he doesn't dare go now."

Mrs. Prim (shocked)—"Doesn't dare to go? Why?"

Mrs. Glim—"Last Sunday the pastor prayed for the loose livers of the parish. After the service my husband asked him if he wouldn't slip in just a few words about his floating kidney—and the minister threw a hymn book at him."

"How does that new cigarette lighter work?"

"Beautifully, it only takes one match to light it now."

"BOBBY" SKIRT, TUCK-IN BLOUSE WITH SUSPENDERS FORM A CLEVER TRIO

When a "bobby" skirt and a tuck-in blouse and a pair of suspenders, really and truly bona fide suspenders, form a threesome the result is a very attractive sports costume. The picture proves just that. It's a bit flapperish, to be sure, which, no doubt, enhances it all the more in the eyes of the younger set.

It seems that the suspender dress comes to us via Hollywood way, where it is extremely popular among the younger screen actresses, Barbara Kent, who posed for this photograph, being one of the first to take up the fad.

Granting that it is the suspenders which give the thrill of novelty, yet for smartness and up-to-dateness the skirt and the blouse are sufficient unto themselves. In fact, they furnish a clew to two of fashion's latest trends. The plaited wool skirt, for instance, belongs in the wardrobe of the modern young girl. Not only for sports but for school wear, a skirt such as this is quite essential from a practical as well as a fashionable point of view.

Of course a separate skirt calls for any number of blouses, and it is the tuck-in versions over which such an ado is made this season. The very latest ensembles, whether of tweed or knitted, whether with long coat or jacket, feature the tuck-in blouse. There is an exaggerated simplicity about the new tuck-in blouse which is really quite fetching.

Among the many versions of the "tuck-in" there are none more attractive than those of white jersey which lace at the front opening with a colorful cord. White washable silk, such as pongee and tussah, are equally as smart styled in a tailored way.

With skirts and jackets of print or plain fabric the sleeveless tuck-in blouse is also sponsored, for "without sleeves" has become a hobby with the mode for the milder months to come. Which all goes to show that the tennis expert and the golf enthusiast are going to dress for comfort as well as "looks" in the future.

Pastor Bids God-Speed To Graduates

The baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class will be preached next Sunday morning at eleven o'clock at the Methodist church by Reverend Douglas Carver of White Deer. At twelve forty-five the seniors will entertain the high school faculty with a banquet at the American Cafe.

Following the graduation exercises Monday evening at the Methodist church, Miss Christova Sawyer will entertain the class.

On Tuesday evening the Parent-Teachers Association will entertain with a farewell party at the home of the president, Mrs. Will Alf Bell.

Seniors Complimented With Pretty Party

The senior class was complimented with a pretty party Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Dalton Lewis with Mrs. Clyde Lewis and Mrs. Clarence Lewis as assisting hostesses.

The class colors rose and silver were beautifully carried out in the decoration of red radiance and American Beauty roses. The color scheme was repeated in the refreshments of meat sandwiches, congealed salad, pink and white cake, pineapple and strawberry mousse and iced tea with cherries frozen in the ice cubes. Red radiance roses were given as plate favors.

Forty-two and bunco were played with Miss Ora Ella Gray cutting high for the girls and Miss Mary Ann Bell, low. Lolan Flippin cut high for the boys and Jim Cousineau, low. Both the high cut prizes were boxes of chocolates and the low cuts were bath salts.

Those enjoying this delightful occasion were Jim Cousineau, Kathleen Alexander, Mary Ann Bell, Bessie Chisholm, Christova Sawyer, Almada Grigg, Jessie Chisholm, Lolan Flippin, Denison Cook, Eddie Ballard, Harlan Howell, Lorine Wirtz, Nina Walters, Julia Head, Ora Ella Gray, Gladys Newsom, Doc Seuday, Lee Orval Lewis, Phalbia Johnson, Iva Roe, Clovis Kendrick, Dell Smith, R. Miss Eunice Banks Honoree at Bridge Party Friday Eve

Announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Eunice Banks and Mr. Nathan Johnson, Seagraves, was made Friday evening by Mrs. J. L. Randal and Miss Mildred Woodhead, when they entertained with a bridge party at the home of the former.

Roses and cut flowers were used throughout the reception rooms where bridge was played. The announcement was made when the refreshments consisting of fruit punch, ice cream and white individual cakes were served. On the cakes were written in caramel icing "Banks and Johnson, May 25th." The table cut prizes, "diamond engagement rings" went to Miss Mozelle Treadaway, Miss Marie Bell, Miss Bess Baldwin, Jake Hall, Paul Crawford, Leo Holmes, and the wedding ring to Miss Panks. A lovely gift was given the honoree.

Much fun was manifested in a mock ceremony which followed in which Mr. Davis acted as preacher, Miss Baldwin, maid of honor, and Mr. Williams, the best man. Mr. Nance was the little ring bearer and carried the ring on a large sofa pillow.

The guest list included besides the bride and groom to be, Misses Bess Baldwin, Ina Patterson, Fay Martin, Olga Fitzgerald, Mozelle Treadaway, Addie Hamilton, Christova Sawyer, Violet McBurnett, Lucile Flache, Marie Bell, Larue Sawyer and Mary Ann Bell, Mrs. Stinson of Midway, a sister of the bride elect, Messrs. Cy Tankersly, Greer, Roy Davis, Williams, Parrish, Tom Cobb, Paul Crawford, Nance, Will Fitzgerald, Hayhurst, Guy Lord, Jake Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Bowers.

Grammar School Graduates Banquet

The graduates of the Grammar School were complimented with a banquet Tuesday evening at eight-thirty o'clock at the Wines Hotel by the mothers of the students.

The tables were suggestive of spring with the large may pole in lavender and silver, the class colors, and twenty four dolls dressed in lavender and silver. Roses, the class flower, were prettily arranged on the table.

An attractive menu of fruit cocktail, fried chicken with gravy, vegetable salad, hot buttered rolls, buttered potatoes, iced tea and cake and ice cream, the cake being in lavender and the cream in silver. The souvenirs were caps, whistles and confetti.

A pleasing program with Miss Kathaleen Hardin toast-mistress was given. At first the class sang "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here" with Mrs. Endersen at the piano. Lataine Eicke president of the class, made a short talk; Musical reading "Welcome Graduation Day"—Anna Letha Hamilton; "Reminiscences of the class"—Sam Perkins; "Sweethearts on Parade"—Orchestra composed of the students; "Toast to the Faculty"—Kathleen Hardin; "Rainbow Around My Shoulders"—Orchestra—dedicated to Mr. Williams; "Friendship"—talk by Mr. Williams; "Old Pals Are The Best Pals"—duet, Ray Brown and Martha McClish; "Spanish Cavolin"—closing song of the class.

Besides the graduates were Misses Fogle, Lucile Flache, Elizabeth Dumas and Professor Williams, Mr. James Leo Holmes, Endersen, McClish, Hamilton, Ripples, Wheeler, Davis, Tipton and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Brownfield.

Mr. Walter Gracey and family were Lubbock visitors Sunday.

I-Deal Club Hostess

Mrs. Arthur Sawyer was club hostess to the I-Deal Club Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock. The color scheme of pink and white was prettily carried out in the use of pink roses and honey suckle.

Decks of cards were given as table cuts. These were won by Mrs. Bailey, Mrs. McGowan and Mrs. Michie. A box of pretty handkerchiefs was awarded Mrs. Endersen for high score.

The hostess served a salad course with iced tea and maple nut pudding. The guests were Mesdames Flem McSpadden, R. L. Harris, Ike Bailey, Leo Holmes, DuBois, Tom May, E. A. Graham, Ralph Carter, Endersen, Michie, McGowan and Miss Fay Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Bowers and children were in Lubbock Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Green are in Hereford for a month.

Maids and Matrons Meeting

The Maids and Matrons met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. L. Bowers with Mrs. Walter Gracey and Mrs. J. E. Shelton as assisting hostesses. Professor Murphy concluded the lecture on Hardy's "The Return of the Native" and also discussed Swinnerton's "Nocturne."

Sandwiches, vegetable salad and iced tea were served to Mesdames Toone, Michie, Randal, Will Alf Bell, DuBois, Homer Winston, Stricklin, Ellington and Misses Grace Hulse and Fry Martin and Professor Murphy.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Bell who will be assisted by Mrs. McSpadden and Mrs. McGowan.

Mrs. J. F. Ruch's of Odessa is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. T. Auburg and also a sister at Lubbock.

James Harley Dallas has been elected captain of the track team at the Tech for next year.

Louise Allen Has Birthday Party

Little Miss Louise Allen celebrated her eighth birthday Friday afternoon with a party. Out door games were played after which the birthday cake was cut by little Miss Bettie Joe Savage. The cake and punch were served to Onida Louia Mullins, Marjorie Wren Moore, Jay Greenfield, Sammie Jean Legg, Geneva Murphy, Billie and Irwin Moore, Bettie Joe Savage, Pauline McCulloch, Jimmie Jackson, Vivian Woodriddle, Mary Nell Adams, Paul and Burdett Auburg, Alvin Burnett Junior, Velmoise Burnett and Estelle Goodpasture.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Holmes and Misses Mildred Woodhead and Eunice Banks saw Al Jolson in "The Singing Fool" Thursday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Michie and children were Lubbock visitors Friday.

Saturday Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McGowan and Bill were in Lubbock to see Al Jolson.

Bible Class Meeting

The church of Christ Bible Class met with Mrs. Legg Monday afternoon. The class started the study of the book of Ephesians with Mrs. Roy Collier as teacher.

The members present were Mesdames Eunice Jones, Grey, Ditto, Sanders, Hardin, Redford Smith, Collier, Pace, A. L. Burnett, Barnes, L. F. Hudgins, W. G. Harris and Hamilton.

The next meeting will be at the church.

Baptist Women's Missionary Union

Circle One of the Baptist Women's Missionary Union met with Mrs. W. H. Collins. Mrs. Collins led the devotional. After a short business meeting the circle had a lesson in "Royal Service" with everyone bringing up her part well.

Sandwiches, banana pie and iced tea were served to the members who were Mesdames Alewine, Alexander, Allen, Oral Adams, Auburg, Bandy, Burnet, Coe and J. F. Ruchs of Odessa. The circle will meet with Mrs. Alewine next week for a study of 19, 20 and 21 chapters of Matthew.

Circle Two met at the church with not as large attendance as usual.

Circle Three did not meet.

Mrs. Dube Pyeatt was hostess to the Louise Willis Circle. Mrs. Gladys Green led the lesson. Mrs. Townsend discussed "The Changeless Christ" Mrs. Lazelle Huckabee, "The Light Making All Things New;" Mrs. Curtis Huckabee, "Speaking in tongues the mighty works of God;" Mrs. Sexton, "Christ's Compassion and Man's inhumanity to man;" Mrs. Du Bois, "Relaying the Gospel."

Sandwiches, olives, two kinds of cake and lemonade were served to Mesdames Gladys Green, Townsend, Lazelle Huckabee, Curtis Huckabee, Sexton, Du Bois, Luke Huckabee, Mangum, Brown, Carl Lewis, Ike Bailey, Ballard, Shaw, Allen and Benton.

Methodist Missionary Society

The Methodist Missionary Society met Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the church. An interesting lesson was had in "The Missionary Voice" with parts taken by Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Longbrake and Mrs. Wheeler.

The members present were Mesdames Mangum, Michie, Linville, Marjorie Linville, Cleve Williams, Downing and Powell.

Rev. Hardy C. Powers, wife and three children of Los Angeles, Calif., were here the past week visiting Mrs. Powers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. King. Rev. Powers went to Tahoka this week where he will conduct a meeting for the Nazarene church there.

Miss Viola Lee visited friends at Crowell and Paducah the week end.

The Herald had a letter the past week from T. P. (Slim) Ellis, who now lives at Clarksville, Texas. He wanted six months more of the Herald, and in that time, we look for him back here.

Mr. Singletary, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, of Oklahoma City, and chairman of the highway department of their C. of C., was here one day this week, on his return from the caverns at Carlsbad, N. M. He informed us that he was mapping the route from St. Louis, Oklahoma City and other points through here to the Caverns, and would have them ready by the time he real tourist season starts. Tourists from that section will from now on be routed directly this way instead of Fort Worth, which is more than a hundred miles out of the way.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. King, who have been here with the Hogan store since it opened, left last week for Tahoka, where Mr. King was made manager of a new store they have purchased in that city. These good people made many friends while here, who wish them well in the new surroundings.

A gentleman representing the West Texas Gas Co., was here this week to see how many would use gas, preparatory to their running a line over here from Tahoka. He informed us that practically 100 percent had signed up to use gas, when he came by the Herald office. Sure, we signed on the dotted line.

Mrs. Lena Maude Bridges and little daughter, of Stillwater, Okla., are here this week the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. King.

Mr. Burton G. Hackney, of Tahoka, is the new manager of the Hogan Dry Goods store here. Mr. Hackney appears to be a very polite, genial gentleman, and we welcome him to Brownfield.

Sallie T. Stricklin visited in the G. G. Gore home in the Johnson community over the week end.

Rance King and wife, of Big Spring and J. A. King and wife of Midland, were here over Sunday, visiting with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. King, Mr. and Mrs. Dee Elliott and other relatives.

PAMPA'S Chamber of Commerce recently conducted a poultry and dairy school at which 50 students from the vocational agricultural class of the high school, and about the same number of farmers from the territory were present. The school was in charge of Prof. K. M. Renner and Prof. R. C. Mowery of Texas Tech.

Very few flowers were in evidence on our streets, but perhaps—let us hope—that the mothers living were remembered in a more substantial way by the boy or girl away from the old homestead.

What about father? Perhaps he was reminded by the absent one that a fat check would have to be sent at once for his or her return or to buy a new frock or suit of clothes to meet his graduation needs. No flowers for you old man, until the day you make your last journey—West.

Our school closes this week with a banquet Monday night. The baccalaureate was delivered Sunday night by the Rev. Nennison, pastor of the Methodist Church here. Commencement Exercises Thursday evening, May 16. The graduating class are: Misses Bernice Sisk, Edna Hester, Berta Donowho, Ireta Mitchell, Jessie Mae Whatley, Cora Mae Kizer and Maggie Lee Whatley. Two boys: Victor Kelley and Malcolm Timmons. Seven girls and two boys. Quite a disparity when the sexes are about equal in school. But the graduating roll of most schools show a like disparity. One reason for this is to be found in the number of boys that must quit and attend to the crop and on the other hand girls take more kindly to school than the average boy. This should not be so, as education is just as important to the boy as to the girl.

Now comes Prof. Sheldon of the Dept. of Physics New York University and declares that we have "No existence in reality except as waves—multitudinous knots—perhaps in what we call the ether. We are analogous in a sense to the sounds that issue from a grand piano when a chord is struck." Perhaps some other ultra scientific professor will discover that we are nothing but dots and dashes. Verily we have become nothing but sounding brass and a tinkling sycal if he is correct.

I have always thought that man was of the earth earthy. That matter in its last reduction was molecules and atoms as the end, but in recent years it has been further attenuated by the Electron which has been described a wholly electrical phenomenon, a diminutive universe in which the particles were traveling at a terrific rate—positive and negative particles. I was about to believe that my ancient forbears were provided with prehensile appendages and were arboreal in their habits, coconuts and other toothsome fruits were their daily fare but to reduce me to just a bag of wind of no more substance than a ray of light doesn't square with my way of thinking—if I am thinking.

What scientists will finally decide about the how, whence and whether or the the beginning and termination of matter, whether organic or inorganic, is of little moment but it seem that the trend is absolutely toward the ridiculous in dealing with life.

I visited Brownfield Monday morning and was pleased to find that rain had fallen all the way but I was not prepared to see the city turned into a mud hole.

Mr. Collins asked if Meadow wasnt pretty wet and I answered that it was but not so moist as Brownfield, in fact there was more water and mud holes in one place there than on all our streets.

Watching the cars dip and rock about on the street leading out our way reminded me of Ranger in the balmy days of the oil boom. They kept a boy and slide to ferry people across the streets and at one place a team fell in one of the mud holes and drowned. Such a thing could occur in Brownfield if it would keep raining for about two weeks and traffic continued to pass through it.

I dislike to see our county capitol immured in mud and slush and feel like donating a few dollars to have the unsightly mud puddles filled with any old thing that will help.

I really hope they pave the square and the street leading out our way.

TOKIO NEWS

There was enough rain fell in this neighborhood last Sunday to keep the crops that are up alive, but not enough to plant on.

ed the streets of Meadow and is still standing in pools around the houses and along the highway.
It is quite a treat after a month or more of dry weather and sand storms. The farmer can now hitch up Jack and Jude and meander down the listed land and dream of bumper crops and a new car this fall.
So Mothers Day has brought us something besides pleasant memories of childhood and Dear Old Mother.
