Methodist Revival to Close Sunday Night

Every community needs periodically to be brought standing at attention on the question of God and the claims of Jesus Christ. What America most needs to bring it back to normal ways, end the reign of lawlessness and quiet the waves of discontent is a real revival of religion. There is no other power but the power of God, working through the hearts of men, that can save the present generation from self-destruction. Christ must be enthroned in the hearts of men. His teachings must be their guiding star. His Spirit must be the motive power of their lives.

The revival now in progress at the City Tabernacle, conducted by Rev. Burke Culpepper, D. D., and his assistant, John U. Robinson, both of Memphis, Tennessee, promises to be one of the most notable events of the kind ever held in Brownfield. Dr. Culpepper stands out pre-eminently as one of the strongest and most forceful evangelists of his denomination. His reputation is nationwide. In the sermons he has delivered in Brownfield he has ably sustained this reputation.

Rev. B. W. Dodson, D. D., pastor of the Methodist church, said in a recent sermon that he desired the best for the people of Brownfield, and had secured Dr. Culpepper for this campaign because he was a great evangelist and a man of God. He is one of the general evangelists of the Methodist Episcopal church, south. "I am anxious that all hear this man as he delivers his great sermons, for I do not think one can sit under the sound of his voice and not be benefited. The time is short, as Dr. Culpepper can only be with us this week."

All who have heard Dr. Culpepper know where he stands on the cardinal "Sin," he declared, "is real, whether it be in the back alley or in the mansion. I hate sin with a bitter, burning hatred, but have only love and pity for the sinner. Church members have no right to mix up with the things of the world. If there is one clean place it should be the church."

The Incarnation

One of the greatest sermons delivered by the evangelist was the one Sunday morning on "The Incarnation." Dr. Culpepper discussed in a most illuminating way the formation of precious gems, horticulture, animal and plant life.

"Everything comes into life through the mystic gateway of birth," said the speaker, therefore it was not unthinkable that God should send His Son into the world through the only route that He has ever used to people this planet. Environment and heredity were discussed at length. Mary, the mother of Jesus stands out as the most marvelous woman that the world has ever known, and through her God gave the world a Savior. God loved the world. He sympathized with the world. He sacrificed for the world by sending His Son into the world to die for it. Jesus Christ was the world's only instance of perfect love, purest sympathy, holy sacrifice and death.

Sunday Night's Sermon

One of the greatest demonstrations of the revival was at the service on Sunday night. The subject used by the evangelist was "The Sin God Never Forgives." One may sin against God and Jesus Christ and be forgiven, but when they sin against the Holy Spirit is committed that will never be forgiven, declared the speaker. At the conclusion of the sermon scores went forward for prayer themselves and also for loved ones.

Judgment Bound

In a forceful sermon on Monday night Dr. Culpepper declared that there were four epochal periods in the history of man: His creation, his fall, his redemption and his judgment. All are judgment bound and will either spend eternity with "Moses and the Lamb or howl with Demas and the damned."

Young People at Revival

The service Tuesday night was complimentary to the young people of Brownfield. The entire center section of the tabernacle was reserved for them. A spirited and spiritual song service, led by John U.

R. B. Davis, County Agent.

Arthur Cobb, of Tokio, is one among our brand new readers.

Robinson, preceded the sermon.

Dr. Culpepper delivered a strong sermon, his theme being "Purpose Made, Purpose Stayed, Purpose Paid." His discourse was based on the heroic Bible character, Daniel, who purposed in his heart that he would not eat the meat nor drink the wine that would defile him.

One first-class purpose is sufficient to revolutionize a life, the evangelist told his hearers. "If you cannot serve God in Brownfield you cannot serve Him anywhere," declared the evangelist. "It is not what you put on that counts, but what you put in."

At the conclusion of the sermon the entire audience of young people clasped the hand of the evangelist in token of their appreciation of the sermon, and also as a pledge to make their lives count for the most.

Merchants Close

Merchants and business men generally have closed their stores and places of business to attend the morning services. The sermons at these hours have been forceful and uplifting and have been well received by the large audiences that have heard them.

Vesper Services

Each afternoon at 4 o'clock Dr. Culpepper has held a service in some place of business. Large crowds have attended these services, at which time the evangelist has given a "nature study," or related some human interest story and applied the thought to the conditions of today.

Splendid Singing

An attractive feature of the revival is the singing by the large choir, under the capable direction of John U. Robinson. The congregational singing is inspirational and much enjoyed.

Revival to Close Sunday Night

The revival will close Sunday night. Dr. Culpepper and Mr. Robinson going to Chattanooga, Tennessee, for their next engagement.

Yes, We Have Some Hot Tamales, Folks

One of the newest comers to our city is Mr. J. T. McDonald, of Ashdown, Ark. In coming here, he opens a new industry in the city, yet is not in competition with anyone, unless it be the grocery men who sell canned hot tamales. So we heartily welcome this good stranger. We say good stranger upon the recommendation of another citizen hailing from the same place, for W. E. Henson says that his friend McDonald is not only a tamala maker to your hearts content, but a good citizen as well.

Mr. McDonald appeared upon the streets for the first time Monday with the familiar little wagon with the sign, "Tamales, 20 cents per dozen" on its sides, and the Herald man ask him how long he would be on the streets. He said until dark if he did not sell out before hand. They were all gone by mid-afternoon. All who ate them pronounced them fine, and superior in every way to the canned variety.

In the first place, he used corn meal, lots of it, produced right here, and then came the beef, lots of which is produced in this section, and he wraps the whole up in old Terry county corn-shucks. The only thing imported is the pepper. We can therefore say that as a manufacturer, he is using home products, and every little bit helps the whole.

Mr. McDonald announced that he was here to stay—to make this his future home. "I am going to do my best to stay here until fall with what I can make out of the business, and then I will show you how to make hot tamales."

Youth Gets Leg Broken Repairing Windmill

While helping to repair a windmill which was out of commission last Sunday morning about ten o'clock, Lawrence, 16 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Edwards, who live 14 miles southwest of town, had the painful misfortune of getting his left thigh broken.

It seems that some of the arrangements they were using to lift the piping or sucker rods gave way, and fell, but he side stepped just enough to keep the object from falling on his head, but failed to get his left leg out of the way. He was brought to town and his limb was put in plaster cast by a local surgeon, and he was carried back home in the Brownfield ambulance. Last reports said he was doing fairly well, considering the seriousness of the wound.

Natural Gas to Be Here By August 1st

In view of the fact that the City has purchased a new natural gas engine from the West Texas Gas Co., they have guaranteed that their company will have gas in the city on or before the 1st day of August, which is but two brief months away. We understand that stakes are being set along the highway from here to Tahoka for the right-of-way of the gas line, and when the big ditching machine is put to work, it will not take long to lay the line for the distance of 27 miles, for it will start out of Tahoka about one mile this side of that city.

The engine the city purchased is the latest type of natural gas engine, and they are said to develop the full power rate capacity. In fact, the 165 horse power engine that was purchased is said to develop as much power as the largest engine of the fuel oil variety now in use which is rated as 240 horse power. This will give the city two complete power units, except when the peak load comes on about dark, and remains on until bed time. The company promised to rush the order through for this engine and have it here by the time as is ready for use here.

Another thing that is probably pushing the gas company is the fact that Brownfield is preparing to pave the streets, as they want to lay all their mains before paving is put down, as it will save them quite an item of expense, as to come later they would have to tear up quite a bit if paving and replace it, and it can never be put back as well as it was originally.

Most of the people who are now building either residence or business buildings, are laying gas pipes in them, in order to be ready to tie on the moment gas is available. Others are also getting ready to pipe their property for gas. The gas company has a franchise for the next 25 years we understand.

Dr. Ellsworth Addresses Rotarians Friday

The local Rotary Club and visitors were greeted last Friday with one of the best talks on agriculture and prosperity that the writer ever listened to, and all we talked with were of the same mind. It was not a rehash of any other speech we ever heard, it was a brand new effort from a brand new point of view, and the club was more than pleased that he brought to Brownfield. The only regret is that a lot of farmers of the section were not permitted to hear his masterful address.

This was about the only thing offered, and he had just about enough time after the lunch to make himself thoroughly clear. It is not often that bunch of business men want to hear talk on farming conditions, but men in all walks are becoming more and more interested in the fundamentals of our nation and our prosperity, for upon the progress of the farmers of our country rests the rise or fall of the rest of civilization.

This address was given by Dr. Ellsworth, head of the Agricultural Department of Tech College, who was introduced by Morgan Copeland. He was accompanied by Brownfield by Neill Wright. Dr. Ellsworth, being limited for time, launched right into his address, using charts and drawings which he had made to further impress his hearers. From these he showed the trend of prices for a period of several years for commodities produced in this section, such as corn, wheat, cotton, cattle and swine. He showed conclusively that farm product prices were not based upon the fact that any certain political party was in power, but upon over production, or over-breeding, and he predicts a price drop in both beef and pork livestock in the next year or two, because there is being so much raised at present, and he advised against new breeders entering the business just at present.

Misses Minnie Hazel and Lura Maude Green, of the Johnson community, were guests of Sallie Y. Stricklin over the week end.

Street Paving to Be Rushed, Says Council

In view of the fact that our Mayor, Joe J. McGowan is attending the International Rotary Convention in Dallas this week, we were unable to see him about the progress that was being made in the way of getting the paving started in Brownfield, but we had a talk with one of the city councilmen, who was thoroughly familiar with all that had been done toward getting started. Of course, as stated last week there is a world of work to be done before actual paving can be started, but this preliminary work is being rushed with all haste possible, but with the view of not forgetting accuracy, for mistakes in the preliminaries will tend to hold up construction in the end.

The large engineering firm of Montgomery & Ward of Wichita Falls have been employed to set the grades of the city and to see that the contractors comply with conditions and specifications, and a representative of that firm is expected right away to begin his work. The council informed this company that they expected them to stir around and get everything in shape for paving at the earliest possible moment, as they wanted to get the main business section around the square paved before the fall rush if it were humanly possible. It is thought there will be no hitch in getting the attorney general to approve the issue, as he now has in his office all the data about Brownfield he will need, as all this had to be gotten up in previous bond issues.

With the coming of gas in the next two months, and the paving about the same time, Brownfield will enter the class of thoroughly modern cities, for it will have everything the best of them have at the present time, such as plenty of electrical power and light, a modern water works system, a modern sewerage system, natural gas for heating and cooking, and the business and a portion of the residence section nicely paved.

With these things in view, we look forward to rapid growth and expansion in the years to come, and here on old Lost Draw will be reared a city that all this section will be proud to call home or their trading point. The people around Brownfield are proud of the town, and lots of farmers urged the business men to vote for paving, as they wanted to see their town go forward. They feel that the people who live here are their neighbors and friends, and that they are giving them a fair deal in selling to them, and all the market affords in buying their stuff.

A gentleman informed us recently that a big firm wanted to put in a store here recently. In fact they sent a representative here to look over the situation. He liked the people, the town and the huge trade territory, but our streets were not paved, and he turned us down. Lots of people want live in a non-progressive town. Lots of good will live in a slow town, but oodles of the very best people will not live in anything but a moving, growing town.

Another Big Rain Here Friday Night

The rains have been quite frequent of late, in fact a bit too frequent to suit the old farmer, as he thinks its high time to get some seed in the ground, but, nevertheless we must take the rains, the sunshine and the wind as they come and make just as little complaint as possible.

A right blowy looking cloud came up from the northwest last Friday evening that looked more like a cyclone cloud than any seen here for a long time, and when it hurriedly arrived did blow right sharply, and hurried a small bit here, but no damage was done. Those little skimming clouds swirled about in front like they had no idea where to go, and that's always a sign of wind; perhaps hail, but the only hail reported was in some sections of the north part of the county, reported elsewhere in these columns.

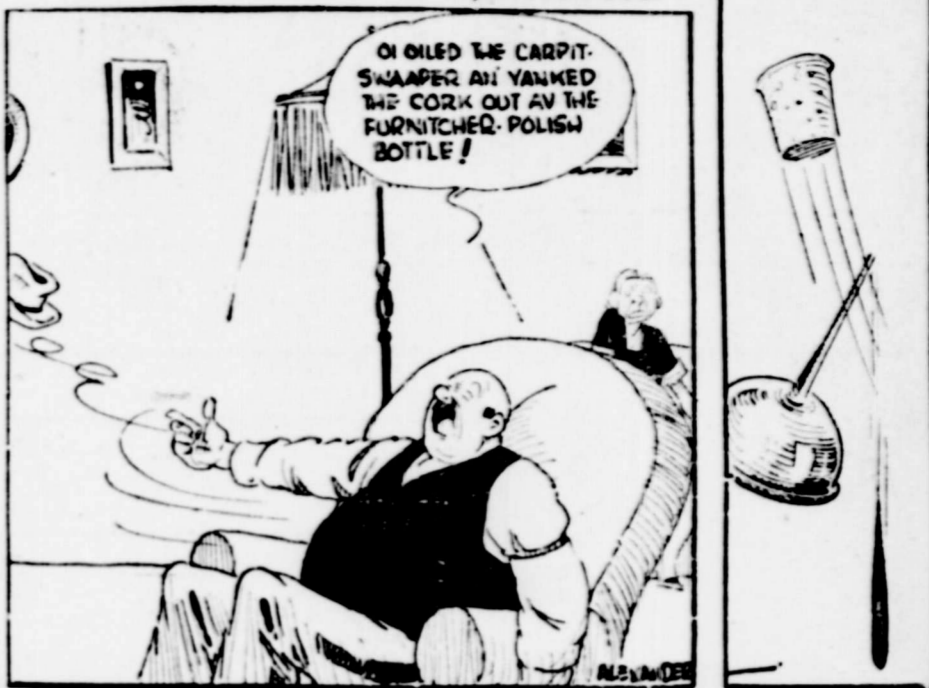

According to the government rain gauge here, there was something near an inch of rain, making about five inches in the past ten days.

SAY—LISTEN!

A minister in a certain town in Alabama took permanent leave of his congregation in the following manner:

"Brothers and sisters, I come to say goodbye. I don't think God loves this church, because none of you ever die. I don't think you love each other, because I never marry any of you. I don't think you love me because you have not paid my salary. Your donations are mouldy fruit and wormy apples, and "by their fruits ye shall know them."

"Brethren, I am going away to a better place. I have been called to be chaplain of a penitentiary. "Where I go ye cannot come, but I go to prepare a place for you", and may the Lord have mercy on your souls."

GRAHAM has produced some yearling steers that brought $60.00 a head, the highest price ever brought in Young county. The animals belonged to W. A. and T. M. Corbett, breeder of high grade cattle for 35 years. There were 750 head in the lot and they brought $35,000.

MAKING THE COUNTRY SAFE FOR HEALTH

College Station—The battle for rural health through sanitation isn't won yet, but steady improvement is noted from year to year, home demonstration authorities of the Extension Service say. Indeed, it is not too much to expect, they think, that the fly may soon be almost entirely excluded from houses due to the constant screening of more and more homes. Last year 4100 homes were reported by home demonstration agents to have been screened or flies, mosquitoes and other insects controlled in various ways, or sanitary out-houses built. The country is a naturally healthful place to live if simple precautions are taken, but lack of information, agricultural distress, and high costs have combined to retard sanitation measures.

BARRIER BROS. CHAIN OF 9 STORES SOLD IN LUBBOCK

The stocks of goods in the chain of nine stores operated by Barrier Bros., Incorporated, which firm recently went into voluntary bankruptcy, was scheduled to be sold Wednesday of this week in Lubbock by Leonard Pearson, Receiver in Bankruptcy.

One of the Barrier Bros. stores was operated in Spur, while the main headquarters of the firm and the business was in Lubbock. Bids for the stocks was to be considered separately and for the chain as a whole. A number of business men from other points were in Spur during the week, looking over the stock of goods located here.—Texas Spur.

MILLIONTH FRIGIDAIRE USH- ERED IN WITH FLAGS, BOMBS

Dayton, O.—High explosive bombs crashed for an hour above the city as the one millionth refrigeration unit to be built by Frigidaire Corporation came through one of the many conveyor lines and emerged as a porcelain finished electric refrigerator, all ready to freeze ice cubes.

Beneath the bomb smoke, flags fluttered from roofs of the factories and office building. But there was no sounding of whistles to signal even a short shut-down. With the plants far behind orders thousands of employees continued their work, while the steady reverberation of the bombs marked the building of the millionth unit.

For many weeks three shifts of workmen had been tending the 15 great porcelain enameling furnaces, held unvaryingly at 1600 degrees Fahrenheit. For weeks and weeks other departments had held to the same operating schedule. In one day 134 carloads of finished products were shipped from the factories. And on the day the millionth unit left the Moraine plant the factories were still farther behind orders than they were two months earlier.

The millionth Frigidaire, bearing a gold serial plate, will be shipped by airplane to Atlantic City to be featured exhibit at the annual convention of the National Electric Light Association.

Refrigeration equivalent to 120,000 tons of melting ice daily is the capacity of the one million units already built, according to E. G. Biecher, president and general manager of the corporation. This ice tonnage would be sufficient to supply 9,600,000 families with 25 pounds of ice daily.

MARION TALLEY TO QUIT GRAND OPERA IN TWO YEARS

CLEVELAND, O., May 14.—Marion Talley hopes to sing again—not before gala crowds of the grand opera, but to aged people and little children who will not have to pay toll to hear her $500,000 soprano voice.

The retiring prima donna and potential farmerette confided this desire while here to sing her swan song with the Metropolitan Opera company.

"When I say I have retired from grand opera, I mean it," she declared. "When I sing again it will be gratis—for the feeble and the children who would not be able to hear me if they had to pay to come in. However, before I can do this, I must fulfill a recording contract which has two years to run."

J. O. Hobbs of the Harmony community was in Saturday with a kind or downcast look, saying the best fruit crop he ever had started since he had been in the county, was all knocked into a cocked hat Friday night by hail. He reported several others hailed out, but that some not far from him were spared, among them being the orchard of Uncle Bill Howard.

Elder Liff Sanders went to Lubbock Sunday and filled the pulpit there at the church of Christ. That church is calling in neighboring city preachers for the time being to fill their pulpit, we presume in order to get something new occasionally.

Mrs. G. G. Gore and son, Crede, of the Johnson community were Lubbock visitors, Monday.

Everybody is glad to see the smiling countenance of Rev. Ernest May back on the streets, after a two or three weeks visit to relatives in Tennessee and Mississippi, and attendance on the sessions of the Southern Baptist Convention at Memphis. He filled his pulpit Sunday morning, but understood that he turned out for the Methodist revival Sunday night.

The wind has been rather high here for the past few days, but we suppose you noticed that.

The Deadly Blow

THE late Alf T. Ringling, of Ringling brothers, loved the lore of the circus. In his library he had countless books and pictures and documents and ancient posters all pertaining to life under the big tops.

It was back in the days before the Ringling show had attained large proportions, when Barnum and Bailey's circus was, as its billing proclaimed, "The Greatest Show on Earth," James A. Bailey was the junior partner in the mighty enterprise, but that master showman, P. T. Barnum, being still in good health, remained in active charge.

The aggregation, with its menagerie, its three rings and its elevated stages and hippodrome track, and all, was touring the South. A day or two earlier, an acrobat who just had closed with a traveling burlesque troupe—by special request of its manager—applied for a job with the circus and was given one.

"You recommended yourself pretty highly when you came around the other day," said Mr. Barnum. "In fact, as I recall, you told me you were the best man in your line anywhere. Now I hear that you haven't made good."

"Is that so?" he answered with heavy sarcasm. "Well, lemme tell you somethin'. There ain't nobody can reflect on my abilities without answerin' to me. Why, I'm the guy that's makin' the show what it is. If I hear any more of this sort of talk, I'll quit."

"All right, then, quit," said the famous showman.

"You said it," answered the indignant troupier. "I'm out. I've resigned. Do you know what that means, Mr. Barnum?"

"I think so," said the older man. "It means you've quit."

"Think again. Do you happen to know what town this is?" "Certainly I do—Pine Bluff."

"Now you've got it. Here, right in the middle of the season, I'm leavin' Barnum and Bailey's circus flat on its back in Pine Bluff, Arkansas."

The Species Was Not Yet Extinct

BY WAY of a beginning, it is incumbent to me to explain that the negroes of the coast of South Carolina and Georgia have a distinctive patois which differs radically from the speech of members of their own race up country. "Gullah talk," as it is called, has but one gender—the masculine. Everything—a man, a woman, a bull, a cow—is "he." "Where" is "w'ar," "though" is "do," etc., etc.

With this bit of explanation, we may proceed. An Englishman, desirous of killing some big game during his visit to America, accepted an invitation to visit a plantation owner on one of the sea islands lying below Charleston. In honor of the visitor a deer drive was arranged. The Britisher, chaperoned by an old negro man, was assigned to a "stand" on one of the best "runs." Beforehand he had been told to shoot only at bucks, as the does and the fawns enjoyed protection.

Presently, to the ears of the nervous Englishman where he crouched with his black companion in a thicket, came the sound of the hounds' baying. The dogs had found a fresh scent. They were drawing nearer and nearer.

Fifty yards away, across an open glade, a darting patch of tawny brown showed in the undergrowth. The Englishman fired, and a convulsive thumping in the underbrush told him he had not missed.

The old negro left his covert and ran forward to see what it was that had been shot.

"Did I kill him?" called the excited amateur.

"Yeah, boss. You kill 'im," answered the darky, as he bent over the stricken game. Then, seeing that the fallen animal had no horns, he added: "E a doe do."

At this moment the host hurried up the trail, having heard the shot from his place of ambush a hundred yards or so away.

"Any luck?" he called out as he approached.

"Oh, yes," answered the Britisher, exultantly. "I thought I saw a deer and dropped it, but your black fellow yonder has just told me that it is a fad—a creature which I thought was entirely extinct. Lucky, eh, what?"

Old Idea Wrong The old tradition that the royal road to efficiency is for everyone to come in at the bottom is now a delusion. The brain which is capable of being trained for highly skilled work is not usefully employed in the hewing of wood and drawing of water.—London Daily Telegram.

Superstition Is Old The superstition of lighting three cigarettes from one match arose from the custom of having three lamps on church altars in Russia; it was considered unlucky to light these three lamps from one taper, and the priests would not do so under any consideration.

Words Without Weight An expert has figured it out that the electrical energy developed by 5,000,000 persons, all talking at once would keep just one incandescent light going. That helps us to understand how little illumination comes from most conversations.—Manchester Union.

Willis Kept on Record Lawyers and searchers in titles frequently apply for permission to scrutinize old wills in the records of the New York Surrogates' court. In some cases where the influence of the dead hand is felt, often they play a part in resolving title to a piece of property that may have been originally secured from the first Indian resident of Manhattan or granted later by the Dutch or by King Charles or King James.

Italian Singers Italy has produced much more than her proportion of singers of world renown. Some have attributed this to the climate, some to the diet, some to the open-air life. These may have helped, but others insist that the most important element in the success of the Italian-born singer is the Italian language itself. In Italy the child is taught to love beauty in nature and art.

Years of service in MODEL T FORDS

THE Model T was so strongly and sturdily built that it is still rendering reliable, economical service to motorists in every section of the country. Millions of these cars can be put in shape for two, three and five more years of use at very small cost.

So that you may have this work done economically and satisfactorily, the Ford Motor Company is still devoting a considerable section of its plants to the manufacture of Model T parts. It will continue to do so as long as they are needed by Model T owners. The following list gives the approximate labor charges for reconditioning the Model T Ford:—

Table with columns for Engine, Rear System, Front System, and Chassis, listing various parts and their approximate labor charges.

These prices are approximate and are for labor only, because the need and number of new parts depend on the condition of each car. The charge for these parts is low, however, because of the established Ford policy of manufacturing and selling at a small margin of profit.

Autoists Using Streets For Racing Tracks

There has been some quite serious wrecks of late mostly caused from careless driving, but in a few instances the blame, if any would be hard to place, as for instance the one here Saturday night last in which a child had its hand so badly cut in the shattered glass of the door that it is feared it will be necessary to amputate the hand.

But, we have heard a number of citizens complaining of fast driving in our main streets of late. Those driving small, fast cars are especially the violators, and it would seem that citizens must band together in a kind of vigilant committee in order to put a stop to the practice.

When a person goes down a street it ninety to nothing, it is about all they can do to keep a small car in the road, much less look out on each side for people coming down another street, probably at the same wreckless rate, not to say anything about watching for children or old people at the crossings.

Of course the officers cannot be everywhere, but they are now enlisting the good people of the town to make the number on the cars, and they promise to do the rest.

Terry County 4-H Club Officers Meet

Officers of the eighteen Terry County 4-H Clubs met in the District Court room last Saturday afternoon. Harlan Howell, county president, presided at the meeting.

Minutes of the last meeting were read by Ray Brownfield who is county secretary.

Among the new business that was taken up was the serving of the lunch to the postal employees who are to meet in Brownfield Thursday.

The date for the Annual Club Rally was set as Friday, July 12th. A program committee composed of Mildred Tapp, Shorty Brown and Herbert Chesshir were appointed by the president to work with the county agent in formulating a program for Rally Day.

A committee composed of Horace White, J. O. Hobbs and Loyd Lee were appointed to take up the matter of lunch for July 12th. It will be up to these boys to "work out some scheme whereby all club members will receive plenty to eat.

Last year the club rally brought over two hundred club members out and there should be around three hundred boys and girls here this year.

The president reminded the officers of the Short Course and that each club will be expected to send one or more delegates who will leave here on July 27th. The transportation fee, which the club will pay, is about $10.00.

The County Fair was brought before the meeting and while it is some months before it is held yet, now is the time to begin growing stuff for exhibits. It was the unanimous opinion that each club would want to have an agricultural booth this year.

GRANDMA BRIDGES DIES

Grandma Bridges who passed away last Tuesday morning May 21 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Black, Gomez, was Mary Alice Dugan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dugan, was born December 16, 1851, in Jefferson County, Arkansas. She united in marriage with H. M. Bridges, September 5, 1867, at Pine Bluff, Ark. Born to this union were 8 children, 4 boys and 4 girls. Six of whom survive her. Those surviving her are: W. R. Bridges, Slaton, Texas; Mrs. F. C. Black, Brownfield; Mrs. Z. B. Atkins, Crystal Falls, Tex.; Mrs. W. H. Black, Gomez; Mr. N. L. Bridges, Monticello, Ark.; Mrs. C. D. Moore, Brownfield.

At the age of 37, the deceased obeyed the gospel and united with the Church of Christ at Breckenridge, Texas, since which time, she has ever been a faithful and devoted christian as she loved the church and was ever devoted to it. Deceased with her husband moved to Terry County in 1906, and has resided here most of the time since. Her husband preceded her in death April 3, 1918.

A woman working for wages is "gainful" employed; one keeping house 16 hours a day is listed as "no occupation."

Pat's eye was badly discolored. His wife asked him who did it.

"Mike Murphy," he sadly replied. "What!" she exclaimed, "do you mean you let that little shrimp black your eye?"

"Martha," said Pat reproachfully "don't speak disrespectfully of the dead."

WHITE & MURPHY

"Where It Pays To Trade"

ONE FIRED—ANOTHER RESIGNS

Because of his connection with a philanthropic society which advertises its services for those unable to pay for treatment of certain diseases, the Chicago Medical Society expelled Dr. Louis E. Schmidt, although his connection with the Social Hygiene League was disinterested and purely philanthropic. Disgusted by the action of his colleagues, Dr. Herman N. Bundensen, president of the American Public Health Association has resigned from the Chicago Medical Society.

It appears that Dr. Schmidt had something to say about the high cost of being sick, and that some of his brethren took it as a criticism of their fees. Dr. Bundensen is quoted as agreeing with Dr. Schmidt, and adds that—"It is the duty of the medical profession to assume the burden of bringing these costs down to a reasonable level.

"I do not say that doctors' fees are high, nor do I understand Dr. Schmidt ever to have taken that position," Dr. Bundensen said in his letter of resignation. "But we all know that the other costs of being sick are overwhelming the families of modest income. The great hosts of the middle classes simply cannot afford to have treatment unless they borrow or beg the money—and Americans do not like to beg."

The Julius Rosenwald Foundation, endowed to support medical clinics which will furnish treatment to the sick at nearly cost, asked the co-operation of both physicians and the public in correcting the present situation, and adds:

"The family in which serious illness occurs is not much interested in the details which make up the sickness bill," the statement said, "but is greatly concerned with the total."

The Chicago Herald, in a comprehensive editorial on the entire controversy, closes with this significant paragraph:

Expulsion from medical societies of high-minded and progressive members of the profession will not arrest the march of genuine progress. Physicians as a class have won deserved honor for their self-sacrificing devotion to their noble work. Everybody knows that they labor unselfishly for the sick poor. No one can doubt that they have the highest motives in following their exacting profession. Just now, however, there seems to be a special need for wise leadership among some disturbed medical men who fear a serious loss of income.

It is to be hoped that this Chicago tempest shall reach beyond its own trap and bring some constructive action all over the Nation. Dr. Bundensen appears to have the rights of it in saying that the medical profession has the first obligation, but the public itself must take a hand if that great body of citizens between the wealthy and the poverty-stricken is to have a fair chance in hospitalization and treatment.—Farm and Ranch.

GETTING RID OF FREE SPEECH

What can happen to liberty and free speech when dictators and bureaucrats come into power is shown by George S. Seldes in an amazing book called, "You Can't Print That!"

Mr. Seldes has been the representative of American newspapers and news syndicates in most of the great countries of the world and many lesser principalities. And while his book deals exclusively with foreign conditions there is a lesson in it for Americans.

In Italy, according to Mr. Seldes, nothing can be printed in the newspapers that is not favorable to Mussolini's Fascist dictatorship. And foreign correspondents find that their dispatches are censored, and held by the government unless they throw bouquets at the ruling powers. After a few "offenses" against the dictator they are requested to leave the country.

The same is true of Russia, from which Mr. Seldes was expelled when he refused to conform to the rigid censorship. Roumania, Mexico and many other nations which exist under the iron rule of tyrants absolutely prevent free speech. Crimes of violence and murder against those who fight for their principles and attempt to establish parliamentary government are common.

In the United States we have minority groups and bureaucrats, reformers and radicals and the like whose power is gradually increasing. In numerous cases they have censored the truth, when it did not flatter them, and on every occasion they oppose real freedom and real liberty. They pass laws against anything with which they do not agree. They hound honest business and the honest citizen. They are unknown to tolerance.

If the modern trend continues we will shortly be in for government of You Can't Print That and You Can't Do That in this country, and the world will be saved for the dictators.—Manufacturer and Industrial News.

FIRE AS A COMPETITOR

Harry C. Shearer, Secretary of the Fire Prevention Committee, Detroit Board of Commerce, makes a strong argument against fire waste.

Detroit, Michigan, has just been announced as the winner of the grand award of the Fire Waste Contest held each year under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Mr. Shearer regards his work against fire as a sound economic service to the City of Detroit and the nation.

"Fire is competition to merchants and manufacturers. For instance, every time a dry goods or grocery store burns there is not only a loss to the community but some manufacturers and wholesalers in large cities suffer because this store has been their customer. Suppose that a man owns his own home and is contemplating the purchase of an expensive radio, new furniture, rugs, or redecorating that house, and it burns. Immediately the merchants in the town lose that business. When you stop to think that thousands of homes and stores are burning throughout the country each year, you can see the competition that the stores have with fire. I believe that these last statements I have made could be elaborated upon with further study and statistics could be gathered together which would provide a new attack upon the fire losses in this country. When these facts are brought home to the merchants and manufacturers they will be able to see the enormous amount of business they are losing and should join us in our fire problem."

Eventually stock fire insurance and every civic organization will work to prevent fire. A fire will be considered as a community catastrophe. When losses have been reduced, it will be possible for companies to expend their entire efforts in preventing fire under some such plan as elevator liability insurance is now operated. When such a day comes, the economic structure of America will be strengthened and the individual prices on combustible products or commodities reduced.

Tobe Rentfro and family were here over the week end visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Hudgens, and his sister, Mrs. Cecil Smith.

Luck Picks Its Pals

"I have found that good luck is a wise choicer of its companions," says Irving Bachelor in the American Magazine. "It prefers to run with the man who sees his way clearly and is prepared to act quickly when approaching decisive moments. Luck is no laggard nor waster of time."

Should Have Weight

Home truths may hurt, but usually they are prompted by an affection that the more flattering outside world does not possess. The family is the closest organization on earth, and in estimating oneself it is not wise wholly to ignore the family verdict.—Exchange.

Old Fashion Magazine

From 1830 to 1839 Godey's was known as the Lady's Book; 1840-1843, Godey's Lady's Book; 1844-1848, Godey's Magazine and Lady's Book; 1848-1892, Godey's Lady's Book, and from 1892 Godey's Magazine. It was purchased by F. A. Munsey and merged in the Puritan, October, 1893.

Varieties of Waterfowl

The term "waterfowl" includes ducks, geese, swans, gulls, pelicans, etc. There are 250 different kinds of birds found in Oregon and Washington, about half of which would be water birds. They are found along the coasts and in the marshes of rivers and lakes.

Newspaper Like Theater

A newspaper, like a theater, must mainly owe its continuance in life to the fact that it pleases many persons; and in order to please many persons it will, unconsciously perhaps, respond to their several tastes, reflect their various equities, and reproduce their views.—William Winter.

Keep Cellar Whitewashed

Cellar walls should be whitewashed once or twice a year. Whitewash is a disinfectant. If the cellar walls admit moisture it is recommended to wash them with a dilute solution of hydrochloric acid (one part acid and five parts water), and then apply a plaster of oil-mixed mortar.

Effect of Water on Wood

The average life of wood in sea water is from ten to fifteen years. In tropical waters it may be only two years. Sound piles have, however, been removed from fresh water in which they have stood for more than 1,000 years.

Something Like That

"Next to roast beef, the currant bun is the most popular food in England," says a cookery expert. The currant bun, of course, gets its name from the currant in it.—London Opinion.

Use Underground River

An underground river on the island of Kauai, Hawaii, has proved a boon to the sugar industry of that section. It has been "tapped" for the purpose of irrigating the occasionally dry sugar lands.

Earliest Christian Church

The church of the Nativity is the oldest Christian church in existence. It was built by Empress Helena, A. D. 330, over the grotto where Christ is supposed to have been born.

Wise Professor

It was an English college professor who said the right use of our leisure hours is a more difficult problem than the right use of our waking hours.—Archaeon Globe.

Mitered Headgear

The original shape of the miter was that of a cone. It has undergone an evolution until in modern times it is a tall ornamental cap terminating in two peaks.

Their Consolation

Few men are so vain as to think they are better than other men, but men are always consoling themselves with the thought that they are no worse than other men.

Use for Old Auto Tires

Pieces of old automobile tires are fastened to the feet of the camels that travel over the Gobi desert in Mongolia to protect them from the burning sand and sharp rocks.

Really Simple Problem

To work out our life problems we need to add love, subtract hate, multiply good, and divide between truth and error.—Janet T. Coleman.

Gilt Frames

Gilt frames can be cleaned with onion water. Use a soft cloth dipped in water in which onions were boiled. Polish with white of egg.

No Need Then

It's only after the doors of success have been unlocked that a man receives the keys of a city.—Arkansas Gazette.

Tyndale's Great Work

The printing of Tyndale's translation of the New Testament was completed at Worms (Germany) in 1526.

Gum by the Mile

It is reported that over 100,000 miles of sticks of chewing gum are sold every year.

HOW MANY HOT DOGS EATEN BY TOURISTS

Washington, May 23.—King Hot Dog, who holds sway among the Nation's arterial highways, is devoting some of his leisure time and wealth to art and heavy.

New roadside stands, combining beauty with utility, are replacing the unsightly ones of the past.

The American Automobile Association reported that the campaign to augurated by the Art Center in 1927 upon the initiative of Mrs. John D. Rockefeller Jr., is producing notable results in all parts of the country. Unsightly stands are being torn down and more artistic ones are being erected.

The automobile association estimated that 59,000 roadside stands did a $250,000,000 business last year in catering to tourists. The number of hot dogs consumed is estimated at 280,000,000.

OCTOBER 24, 25 and 26 has been set for the dates of the eleventh annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at El Paso. The Seventy-fifth anniversary of the Gadsden purchase will be celebrated, and the establishment of the Butterfield mail route commemorated. President Gil of Mexico has promised to meet President Hoover there at that time.

THE 1929-30 SCHEDULE

The extent to which sound has permeated the motion picture industry is revealed with terrific force in a survey of the production schedule for 1929-1930 which was made recently by The Film Daily.

The twenty-five companies queried plan to make 504 talking or synchronized films and 403 silent pictures.

Of the 403 silent pictures, 360 will be silent versions of talking films. This leaves only 43 all-silent films on the schedule.

Of course, it must be remembered that such a forecast is subject to changes. There is nothing absolutely set in the plans, but the figures undoubtedly point the way things are going in the studios.

Conservative men in the industry estimate that more than 2,000 motion picture theatres are now equipped for reproducing sound and there are many orders in for equipment.

REPORT SMALL CARRY OVER OF AMERICAN COTTON

Austin, Texas, May 27.—On May 27 the indicated supply of cotton in the United States totaled 4,846,000 bales, compared to 5,583,000 bales on May 1, 1928, according to Bernard Nichols, editor of the Texas Business Review, issued monthly by the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas.

"Supplies are the smallest since 1925 and cotton is disappearing at a rapid rate," Mr. Nichols said. "In April, 632,000 bales were consumed in the United States and 454,000 bales were exported, making a total disappearance of 1,088,000 bales. If the same ratio between disappearance and carryover is preserved as last year, the carryover on August 1 will be reduced to about 1,875,000 bales. Moreover, this estimate is conservative, since consumption and exports are on a larger scale this year than last."

GOOD PLOWING IS "LOST ART" SAYS ENGINEERS

Much of the plowing being done on the modern farm is done in a hasty and careless manner, according to observations of Ohio State University agricultural engineers. This is in spite of the great improvement in farm machinery during the past few years, and indicates a lack of proper care or knowledge of plow adjustment on the part of the operator. "There are fewer possibilities of failure to do good work with a tractor plow than with a horse-drawn plow," say the engineers.

Elder S. S. Bozeman informed us Monday morning that after preaching at Union over the week end, he had succeeded in putting a church of Christ to work there, and that they would meet each Sunday morning at ten o'clock.

A girl baby was born to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wingerd, of this city, at the Lubbock Sanitarium, Sunday.

STABLES OF SOLOMON DUE FOR DESTRUCTION

CHICAGO, May 18.—King Solomon's stables, where in Biblical days he kept the fine Egyptian steeds he obtained when he married a pharaoh's daughter, soon are to be destroyed in the search for further evidence of lost civilization.

Discovered last summer by the Megiddo expedition of the University of Chicago, vestiges of a still earlier kingdom, a city of wealthy Canaanite kings, have been found below their level.

Everything of scientific value found in the stables has been carefully surveyed and all possible data have been obtained, the expedition leaders assert.

THE RIGHT OF WAY

From the wreck of a flyover the engineer and fireman of a big locomotive gathered a flapper who, somehow or other, seemed to have escaped injury.

"Why in the world didn't you stop?" the engineer asked.

"I sounded my horn before you blew your whistle."

"Have you seen Lucy?" asked one of the guests when they met in the smoking room. She's here the 'Essence of Innocence.'"

"Is that what she's representing?" the other retorted in amazement. "I thought by the brevity of her costume that she came as the 'Spirit of Forgetfulness.'"

MEADOW BRIEFS

(By Aesculapias)

Our twelve hour drouth was broken Friday evening by a shower of some two hours duration. If this thing continues I fear we will not be able to feel as thankful as we might with a little less water. I can hardly join the Herald in wanting the thing to continue through June. Several castles tried to swim the pond south of town just after the rain and drowned their motors. A motorist will drive his car into any kind of a hole when it looks that he should have better sense or as Jeff says, "Show some Discretion." The darned things turn over occasionally and a closed car is rather hard to escape from.

There is little excuse for this on the highway as those having it in charge know that any ordinary rain makes it dangerous to cross. Why not fix it? The place can be missed by turning east at the crossing of the railroad and going some four hundred yards to a left turn that brings them into town, but tourists do not know this. The place should be fixed or a detour sign placed at the crossing.

I congratulate Brownfield on the decision to pave the square and such of the streets that need it most. People are determined to bond for all conceivable purpose as long as they are able to get them taken at any price just as they will buy just as long as they can run the faces by weekly, monthly or yearly installments. If this passion for going in debt can be directed toward some needed improvement perhaps it is just as well to go ahead. I have always believed and still believe that one can just as consistently charge his grocery or dry goods bill to posterity as any other form of indebtedness.

Miss Ethel Ellison died at the family home in Meadow Tuesday night or last week after a long illness. She had just returned from a trip to better her health.

The death of this young woman in the prime of young womanhood is indeed sad. All deaths are sad, but is not so bad for one who has lived out the usual allotted time to take his or her departure as nature has decreed that life must cease after a season of activity.

We sympathize with those to whom she meant so much. She was laid to rest in the Meadow Cemetery. Elder Sanders of Brownfield preached the funeral sermon.

"Calm on the bosom of thy God. Fair spirit, rest thee now."

Two youngsters have arrived in our midst since last report, both boys. One at the home of C. J. Crawford, the other at B. M. White's. Both of these old codgers seem highly pleased.

Farmers are busy planting and re-planting, and cotton seed are very much in demand.

SHOWS THE WAY TO DAIRY PROFITS

Madison ville—By multiplying his sales of dairy products more than six times in one year, J. N. Raney, a farmer near here, has established farm dairying on a profitable basis. It has come about by shifting to good cows, planting pasture crops, feeding a balanced ration and keeping careful accounts as a demonstrator working with W. H. DuPuy, county agent.

During May a year ago Mr. Raney sold $30 worth of dairy products, but in April this year his sales of milk and sweet and sour cream amounted to $202.41 from nine cows, four of which were pure-breds. Feeding at the rate of one pound of feed for every three and one-half pounds of milk, the cost of feed for the month was $57.30. At the same time his flock of 106 hens had all the skim milk they could consume and produced $32 worth of fresh, in fertile eggs at a grain feed cost of $13.35.

Mr. Raney keeps a milk and feed record nailed to his barn door and weighs each cow's milk night and morning, enabling him to feed each cow according to production. He supplements his native pasture of Bermuda grass and bur clover with Sudan grass drilled in 18-inch rows, and last winter sowed one acre each of alfalfa, sweet clover, crimson clover, hairy vetch and Austrian field peas with oats as a nurse crop.

Mrs. R. C. Forrester of Wilson, well known and having many friends in Tahoka, underwent a most serious operation Monday morning in a sanitarium in Lubbock. R. E. Key, who is a close friend of the family, was at the sanitarium at the time and he reports the patient as doing well, apparently, when he left there Monday afternoon. Friends here at Wilson hope for the patient's speedy recovery.—Tahoka News.

SAN ANGELO to Sonora will be the route of a new rail line of the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient. Work will begin soon by permission of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Several carloads of rails are on their way to San Angelo and engineer crews are surveying the route for depot sites.

WEST TEXAS CHAMBER MEETS OCTOBER 24-26

Vernon, May 23.—Dates for the eleventh annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention were set for October 24, 25, 26 by the advisory board in session here today. The tentative dates of July 2, 3, 4 suggested by the Seymour district convention last week were abandoned in deference to numerous protests from secretaries who had local celebrations already planned.

A definite statement from George Akerson, secretary to President Hoover, to the effect that the president is going to visit Texas this year was read by D. A. Bandeen of El Paso, and the October dates were selected with the reservation that in case President Hoover wanted an earlier date, such could be arranged.

CIGARETTE HEROES

It is our opinion that the American public is becoming sick of the fake advertising that is foisted upon this country in the shape of purchased testimonials favoring cigarettes and patent lotions. The brilliant rescue by able seamen of men at sea was turned into a mockery recently by the instant appearance of advertising telling what an important part a cigarette played in the heroic rescue.

Recently one of America's most beloved automobile racers scornfully rejected a cash offer to write a testimonial saying that he noticed most of his friends smoked a certain brand of cigarette. The man himself did not smoke.

The American manager of a brilliant English sportsman now visiting in this country told the writer of this editorial that he—the manager—would sell a testimonial if he were paid enough. The testimonial appeared shortly afterwards. The manager put feet of clay upon his hero for a mess of money.

No wonder Mr. Lindbergh and Miss Helen Wills retain the affections of the world. They are above commercial bribery.

What are the National Vigilance Committee and the Better Business Bureaus of this country doing to keep public confidence in truthful advertising?—American Motorist.
