Field Day Big Success From Every Angle

The field day held under the joint supervision of County Agents R. F. McFritche and Roy B. Davis was attended by almost two-hundred farmers, officials and business men from Gaines, Terry, Hockley, Lubbock, Lynn, Dawson and Scurry Counties.

The day was begun on the farm of Mr. O. L. Berry of Seagraves. On this farm crops on the deep broke land of both last year and this year were in better condition and showed promise of a greater yield than on the land that was listed. Plowing demonstrations were also given. Catapillar and Cletrac tractors were used to pull John Deere Tractor Grub Plows and Sanders Disc Plows. Depths from 12 to 18 inches were reached and good work was done despite the lack of moisture in the soil.

Following the plowing demonstrations lunch was served by the Seagraves C. of C. to 165 people. Mr. Bill Smart, cowboy poet from Loop, gave a reading then the crowd began a tour of the farms of W. H. Wharton, H. G. Griffith and Arthur Sawyer.

The affects of deep breaking in growing corn was brought out on the farm of Mr. Wharton. Here the corn on the deep broke land apparently will equal the fifty-five percent increase that was obtained last year.

The affects of deep breaking on cotton was brought out on the farm of Mr. Griffith. On an average stalk count of bolls the cotton on the broke land showed one third more bolls. This fact together with the fact that before breaking, the land could not be planted to cotton because of blowing out, is very significant.

Further demonstrations of the value of deep breaking in preventing sand from blowing and killing early crops were shown on Mr. Sawyer's farm. Also better crops were found on the broke land here.

The results as seen on this tour would indicate that once broke land is wet through that it will resist dry weather as well as listed land and that where there is sufficient moisture there will be almost one third increase in production.

The results of deep breaking as far as preventing land from blowing have shown that there must be clay turned up and that where there is a sufficient amount brought to the surface to make the top soil cloddy the land will not blow.

"The advisability of breaking to prevent land from blowing depends entirely upon your ability to bring sufficient clay to the top. No matter what size plow or what you use to pull the plow you cannot hope to stop the sand from leaving your land or killing your crops unless you bring up some of that tight land or clay." The above statement was brought out in a talk of Mr. J. D. Tinsley, Agricultural Agent of Santa Fe at a banquet given by the Brownfield C. of C. at the conclusion of the days program.

Herald Pulls Boner on First Bale of Cotton

The past week the Herald made a mistake on both who had the first bale of cotton as well as who ginned it. There was some talk of confusion before we were ready for press, and the matter had never been threshed out, and was too late for last week's paper when the matter was finally settled. The Herald had no desire to misrepresent anything, and is glad to make the correction.

We stated last week that Mr. L. E. Townsend had the first bale of cotton, getting in on Tuesday, but it later developed that he did not have a 400 pound bale, which is required to be classed as a bale and get a premium, as 400 or better must be had. This was ginned by the Farmers Gin in a round bale, we understand, and weighed some over 200 pounds.

On Wednesday, W. B. Benton came in with a bale that was ginned by the West Texas Gin that weighed about 435 pounds. Mr. Benton did not sell, but was given the premium made up here among the merchants and business men that amounted to $91.75.

Brownfield welcomes you to the Fair.

Stopped

Herald Family See Lot Of Good Crops Sun.

The editor, wife and son, Jack Jr., left here early Sunday morning to spend the day with the wife's brother, Cleve Holden and family, of Sudan, passing through the city of Levelland at about 9 o'clock. Littlefield about three quarters of an hour later, and were in Sudan about ten.

You can talk about dry weather all you want but there are surely some fine crops between here and there, the best all round possibly being in the Claene section a few miles over the line in Hockley county, but there is some mighty good crops in Lamb county. In fact without another drop of rain, there will be twice as much stuff made between here and there than twice the force on these farms will ever be able to gather, if nothing happens to it. The cotton will average knee high, and is loaded from top to bottom with bolls, squares and blooms, and all the latter will have oodles of time to make yet with the earliest known frost or freeze we ever have here. And there crops are still putting on forms.

Of course there are burned up corn fields, but it is all old corn, but a great deal of it made fair hog feed before it burned up. All the young corn is still green, and the milo, feterita, cane and kaffir is there by the thousands of tons.

On our way home, we stopped with the Geo. Bragg family for a few minutes, and found them all well and apparently he is doing a good business with his drug store. Upon being informed that we had a mighty fine noon day meal with good old fried chicken, cream gravy, etc., as the main piece de resistance. George informed us that he would save us quite a number of miles next time we get chicken hungry.

Summer Term District Court Now in Session

Court was called at about nine o'clock Monday morning, by Judge Gordon B. McGuire, and the grand jury empanelled and set to work. Ray Brownfield was made foreman, and it was set to work under the direction of District Attorney, T. L. Price. Kelley Sears was appointed door baliff and Leslie Green and Gus Rathiff, riding baliffs.

A number of civil land cases were being tried this week without juries, as well as a few divorce cases.

Next week the first week of the petit jury will be called and some criminal cases will be likely called and tried. All district officers were on hand this week and ready for work.

Show Here Last Week — Another Coming Soon

There was a kind of sleight of hand, magic and vaudeville show here the last three days of last week that kept us all tuned up with caliope music each afternoon on the streets. It was said by many to have been the best show of its kind ever seen in cities the size of Brownfield. It was especially pleasing to Ben Hurst, but his friends say it was because he got to let the lady pass a ring over his head. It was well attended, according to those who went—they having failed to pass out comps. The Herald was obliged to eschew a visit to it. They left Sunday for Levelland.

We understand that Harley Sadler is booked here in about a week for a full week of his performances, which are popular with all west Texas people. He is coming in person with his own show this time.

Then, there is the fair just in the offing with its many and varied attractions, such as good farm products, live stock, poultry, together with a gay carnival with its ferris wheels, merry go rounds and what not for the attraction of the younger generation. In fact, by that time the nights at least will be cool, and with these attractions, we will be able to forget the long hot summer and enjoy ourselves for awhile.

And, speaking of the fair, the catalogs are now in press and we are working them up as fast as possible. They will likely be ready for distribution over the trade territory by the latter part of next week. There will be 2500 of them, enough to reach the head of almost every family in this section who is likely to be interested in them.

Bunch From Hockley Attend Field Day Here

There was a nice bunch here early Tuesday morning from Levelland and Hockley county on their way to the field day exercises and deep plowing tests in this and Gaines counties. While most of Hockley county is rather hard land, just the same it will blow to some extent, and these farmers and business men were anxious to have a try in holding it down, not to say anything about the added value of deep plowing in making more to the acre. There was also a goodly representation from Lubbock.

Those here from Levelland and Hockley county, were, Editor Baldwin of the Herald; Judge John H. Doyle; W. T. McGee, county agent; C. A. Armyx; Lee Crowover; J. S. Trammell; C. E. Pendergrass; W. D. Armstrong and J. W. H. Rodgers.

HERALD CLOSES DEAL FOR LARGE PRINTING PRESS

Purchase is Made of Press and Folder Formerly Used by the Plainview News Before Consolidation With the Plainview Herald. Will Care for Small Daily

For several months the present newspaper press of the Herald has been entirely inadequate for our needs, but probably few people not acquainted with newspaper needs were aware of the fact. But when it takes a day and a half to get out an edition of a paper after everything is ready to go to press, leaving only four and one half days for other things too numerous to mention to be done in a printing office, then there is a real need of something faster that will save time.

As stated in these columns last week, when the present press was purchased in 1924, it was deemed large and fast enough to hold everything for at least ten years. But at that time our circulation was barely half the present number, and we were printing on an average of six and eight pages a week. Now with a doubled circulation, and still growing, we stand in real need of a press that will take care the business for we never print less than ten pages and mostly 12 pages per issue, and it takes a long time to print them 2 pages at a time, and then it takes some four or five hours of the good time of the whole force to fold and get them ready for the mails.

Last Saturday the Herald closed a deal for a large Scott press with attached folder which is capable of printing four, eight-column pages at a time, or pages the size of the Dallas News. However, the Herald does not at this time contemplate printing but seven columns to the page, which is one column wider than the present six column pages, but the columns will be about two inches longer than we now print. In other words, eight pages, or just two runs of the big press will give us more space than ten pages of the present size, which takes five runs to finish. The last run on the big press will be folded as they come off, which will take less than an hour and at present takes five people some five hours to do. As soon as the new press is received and set up, it is the intention of the management to put on the biggest subscription campaigns ever undertaken in this immediate section, and an endeavor will be made to get at least 1000 new readers for the Herald, which will make it one of the best advertising mediums in this section of the South Plains. With our little press we could not make any effort in this direction, as we had long since reached the capacity of it.

The press purchased has been used by the Plainview News for several years, and experts we have had to examine it pronounce it practically as good as new for all purposes. It was used by the News for both daily and semi-weekly, the later with a circulation of more than 2500. So you see we are now prepared to go the limit on taking care of new readers. We hope to add many new features from time to time that will interest our readers, and we know that we will be better prepared to help our advertisers in selling goods to this whole section.

It has always been our aim to keep the Herald up in line with the progress of the city. At times we have had to sacrifice almost to do so. We have had to defer and do without vacations that almost everyone else takes, and looking down the stream of time we can sometimes vision a time when a rest will come, when we will be able to turn it over to some one else for a few weeks and get about in the open spaces, but when that date arrives, we find we always need something else.

Our little press is a good one; does as good work as any in this section, and will take care of a paper of 500 to 1000 circulation with four to eight pages in a handsome way, and will find its way into some of these little shops where such is in demand.

Panhandle Construction Co. Gets Paving Job

The street paving bonds of $60,000 were sold at par Tuesday afternoon to John Dalrymple of Lubbock, and the contract for the paving let to the same gentleman. The city council was tied up all afternoon at the Legion Hall, where they met to dispose of them on account of the fact that court was going on at the courthouse.

The material for the paving will be brick over a four inch concrete base, which is considered a mighty good combination. The price for the paving was $2.62 per square yard, which is considered a good price for that nature of paving. Of course this price does not include gutters and curbs or street intersections, but it is believed that the entire cost will range well in the bounds of what any have figured it in advance.

It is believed that paving can be started possibly by the first part of November, depending on how fast property owners clear up their part of the business. And contrary to the generally accepted idea, when paving starts, it will not be held up on account of cold weather, but will be rushed through to completion. In other words, contractors have found a way to overcome cold weather by keeping the work well covered with dry sand.

It was thought the county would sell their bonds for their part of the paving Tuesday, but some preliminary work must be done before they can sell, but it is believed that the same parties will likely buy their bonds, and of course will do their paving as it will be economy for him to do so, both for the county as well as the contractor.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Fulton came in last week from Canyon, where they have been attending summer school at the Northwest Texas Teachers College. They report having appreciated the Herald very much while up there.

Field Day Banquet Enjoyed By Big Crowd

The end of a perfect day came to a close over the banquet board at the Hotel Brownfield Tuesday night, which was attended by a number of prominent men from A. & M. College, county agents from neighboring counties, county judges and commissioners from Terry, Lynn and Gaines counties, farmers from these counties, and a number of local business and professional men.

The program was opened by County Agent Roy Davis as toastmaster. Morgan Copeland was first called upon and gave a stirring welcoming address.

Interesting addresses were delivered by O. B. Martin, director of Extension Service A. & M. College; Henry Ansley, agricultural editor of the Amarillo News-Globe; J. D. Tinsley, Amarillo, agricultural agent Santa Fe railroad; Judge P. W. Pittman, county judge of Gaines county, Seminole; Judge Girder, county judge Lynn county, Tahoka; our own county judge, H. E. Winston; S. C. Evans, district agricultural agent, College Station. These were all good addresses in the subject most concerning those present and for which they had spent the day. They were from different angles of the work, however, and were therefore the more interesting.

Most of the speakers, however, were of the opinion that unless the soil really had a good hard base that could be reached by deep plowing, that it would not only be useless but folly to turn up soils to be blown away. But if a good stiff red clay subsoil could be reached a depth of say twelve or fifteen inches, it would pay to go to the expense of deep breaking.

Mrs. Stephens, of Post, made some good music on the piano which was highly appreciated by all present.

How many a lot about their hair—when it's half gone.

Finds Rifle in Road—Proves to Be Loaded

Monday morning some people of near Lubbock were on their way to Roswell after apples, and a 22 calibre rifle was found in the road just beyond Tokio. One lad got out and picked it up and handed it to another lad to try and see if it would shoot—it did. The bullet struck a little two year old girl in the neck, passed through and struck the child's father in the neck, also, but did not penetrate the skin.

The child was brought back to Brownfield where it was given first aid, and sent on to Lubbock. It's condition is considered serious.

People should be very careful of "unloaded" guns, and children should not be permitted to monkey with them around other children.

SCRUB BULL IS HALED TO COURT

Placed on Trial for Hindering Development and Prosperity of Dairy Industry.

Indicted for robbery, larceny, and a few other such charges, Scrub Bull went on trial for his life at Laurel, Mississippi, recently. It seems that for some time people had suspicions that Mr. Bull was hindering the right and lawful development of the dairy industry, thereby "maliciously and wilfully lowering production and decreasing profits in the dairy business," says the Bulletin of the American Bankers Association Agricultural Commission in commenting on the case.

This, it says, was the first trial of its kind ever held in that section and was attended by several hundred people. The jury, representing every vocation within the boundaries of the Laurel trade territory, rendered a unanimous verdict of "guilty." The death sentence was pronounced, "but during the night, before the sentence could be carried out, friends of the convict secretly spirited him away and he has not been seen since."

The arraignment came during the Milk Products Show sponsored by the banks of Laurel. People attending the show had the opportunity of also attending the bull's "trial" and went away firmly convinced of the seriousness of lax and out-of-date methods in the pursuit of dairying. The purposes of both the Milk Products Show and the trial were threefold, namely: to develop public sentiment for more and better Jerseys; to foster a more cooperative spirit for dairying and livestock growing, and to promote tick eradication.

The banks of Laurel entered into a cooperative arrangement in their efforts for fostering agricultural development and successful farming in the community, offering $2,165 as premiums to the outstanding farm workers throughout the territory during 1929. An instructive booklet has been issued, showing the agricultural activity of the banks, together with announcements of contests for farmers, exhibits in the bank lobbies and prizes awarded.

The Lamesa Journal announces in its last issue that it will begin next week issue a semi-weekly edition. We hope the Journal puts it over in nice shape, but unless we have greatly under-rated Lamesa, we are afraid Bro. Hearst is spoiling a splendid weekly and will sacrifice profits to put over a semi-weekly of less quality.

Nearly everyone is proud of his old home paper, and loves to show it to friends. No matter if it is only a little four-page affair, it represents home and all that which is dear to him. This week Dr. R. B. Parrish, local dentist, handed us his old home town paper printed in far off Houston, Minn. It was a neat, well printed eight page, six column journal, called the Houston Signal.

The Colorado Record kindly got the wrong "sow by the ear" in its last issue. In one article it stated that Rev. Ashford had a great meeting at Plainview, and in another it stated that Rev. Ashford would be home from Plainview Monday. Now Plainview is a good town with no cinders in its hair, but we claim that Brownfield was the place in which Rev. Ashford has been fighting sin in high places for the past two weeks.

South Plains, Inc., with headquarters at Lubbock, is still getting replies asking about the great South Plains section. This week they sent us another list of more than 700 names and addresses received from people in the north and east, resulting from their agricultural journal advertising earlier in the spring. This may be the means of moving lots of people from those congested sections to a new country with virgin soils.

The Herald may not be right, but it does not always agree with our city council in its rulings. For instance last week a show came to town, but were not permitted to erect their tent in the incorporation. They moved it just outside the limits, which in reality is not five blocks from the heart of the residential district and took in and out of town just as much money as if they had been in the heart of the business district. If these fellows show here, we believe in getting all we can out of them. We may be wrong, but this is our attitude.

The Brownfield schools will open next week. In fact, schools all over the county will open, unless it be schools which now have new buildings under construction. This will be a great day for a lot of students, while on the other hand, the sight of school text books, tablets and pencils in the show windows are galling sights to lots of others. Yet, in the wind up, you can never tell whom the school will benefit most. Sometimes the apt pupils that almost shouts when school opens will, when he finishes drift along in ruts of day labor, while his school mate considered a drag during school days will point his wagon toward the stars, and go with great speed. And, again, it is sometimes the other way around. One never can tell.

It seems that all the newspaper boys are swinging at the printing promoters these days. There was a time when most newspaper folks were sorter glad when these birds hit the town, as they usually stirred up something in the way of job printing. Now days, however, the printeries have about all the legitimate printing they can do and they recognize that these birds are pulling a lot of pure graft on the business men of the community. The business men being the best friend the newspapermen have, they hate to see them skinned out of hard earned dollars. More of us though, should be like Editor Weimhold, of Sudan. One of these solicitors came in his office last week and stated his business. Weimhold told him he did not want his business, and the solicitor talked back whereupon the Sudan editor threw him out of his office on his ear. The solicitor then left town.

Unlimited confidence in his ability to disguise himself beyond recognition in broad day light, and while relieving a bank of all ready cash and resulted in Charles Hockett making himself a candidate for the penitentiary and it is likely that he will be elected by an overwhelming majority. Mr. Hockett fastened a beautiful little mustache on his upper lip, made a few charcoal wrinkles, held up the town bank, fled to a wash basin, cleaned his face and went to see what the excitement was about. Since then he's been the center of said excitement. We might state further that Mr. Hockett is about forty years old, has a family, and was a very respectful and trusted citizen. He got into debt, needed a thousand or so dollars, and after due deliberation and studying from a two-bit book on stage make up decided he would make a splendid bank robber, get the money off his disguise and leave no clue as to who did the work. His plan was all right, if it had worked, but like a lot of other plans it went up like a toy balloon then let the old boy down on the rock of stern reality, and before he gets off he'll decide that money in the bank should be left there, unless withdrawn with a real good check.—Ropes Hustler.

FAKE ADVERTISING

Our neighbors, Jack Stricklin of the Terry County (Brownfield) Herald and T. A. Landers of the McLearn News, are becoming muchly wrought up over the ubiquitous fake advertising promoter. It seems that both of these communities have been pestered plenty by this specimen of the genus homo and the boys have donned their war bonnets and seized their trusty blades to do battle.

Well, if there is one species of reptile that can cause a newspaper man's gorge to rise, it is the fellow with a fake scheme to separate the business man from his dollars under a specious pretense of "advertising." A few display blocks on a worthless card, or circular, or folder, that is consigned to the waste basket with out a glance, is about all these gentry have to offer. Yet every once in a while some fellow is caught and stung—stung plenty, then he cusses all advertising, cuts loose from his home town paper—and incidentally "cuts off his nose to spite his face."

We have heard no complaint of this

THE CORRECT DIMENSIONS

The theory of "FOUR DIMENSIONS" has bothered scientists and mathematicians for ages past, but if you consider this bank as your banking connection, you will find its three correct dimensions to be:

- 1.—Large enough that its strength, security and facilities may be adequate for your every requirement.
- 2.—Broad enough in spirit and perspective to assist you to realize all the possibilities of your endeavors.
- 3.—Small enough that its officers may know you and be thoroughly acquainted and heartily in sympathy with what you are working to accomplish.

Are these not the correct dimensions for your bank?

DRY DEMOCRATS AND WET REPUBLICANS.

Bishop Cannon, in Virginia, and other democratic leaders who supported Hoover are attempting to make alliances with Southern republicans.

Bishop Cannon came squarely out and urged the democrats of Virginia to remain out of the primary and go into the November election with the republicans. He did that because all three democratic candidates in the primary had remained with the party last fall when the state went into the republican column.

One wonder just what Bishop Cannon and others hope to gain for prohibition by joining hands with the republican party in the North and East that party is just as wet as the democratic party.

What has Herbert Hoover done so far for the cause of prohibition, or for the enforcement of that law? True, he has named a crime commission, but made it very clear that its purpose was to investigate in a broad way general lawlessness. He made it clear it was not a commission to study especially means of enforcing prohibition.

Then he appoints the able anti-prohibitionist, George Wickersham, as chairman. His chairman immediately proposes the government curtail its activities in prohibition enforcement and leave that to the states. His whole proposal was just about what A. Smith and Raskob have all along been advocating.

Doesn't Bishop Cannon know that practically all the national leaders of the republican party are dripping wet? The leading republican newspapers of the North and East are wet.

The only differences one can see between the republican party and democratic party is that the republicans have been too astute to permit the prohibition issue to split them asunder.

Bishop Cannon, of course, realizes that William Randolph Hearst is the most rabid wet in the nation today. He may recall that in the last campaign Hearst supported Hoover, because, he declared, Hoover would be in the better position to secure a modification of prohibition than would Smith. Of course, we realize Hearst may have had some personal reasons for his opposition to Smith.

But it does appear to us that a sincere prohibitionist who deserts the democratic party and joins the republicans to further his cause is jumping from the frying pan into the fire.

The biggest single party prohibition force in the nation today is the dry democratic party of the Southern states. It can dominate the councils of the party, but only if it maintains a solid front.

But if the ultra dries of the South wreck the party in the South, they destroy the only party that is now predominately dry, in its rank and file.

That seems to us the height of stupidity. The righteous cause of prohibition can better be served by maintaining the solidarity of the dry democratic South, so that it may dominate the councils of the party.—Houston Mirror.

DRIVING CAPITAL ABROAD

Henry Ford has just concluded a contract for erection of a $30,000,000 plant in Russia. He also is building large plants in the other nations of Europe.

General Motors has announced an extensive building of plants in European nations.

What is going to be the ultimate effect of this on industry in this country? Both these great concerns formerly shipped vast quantities of their products to those countries. That gave employment to American labor.

European nations have begun to put tariffs on American products in retaliation for our tariffs. They are likely to go much further than they have. Our manufacturers can not ship their products overseas but they can carry their money over there and employ the cheaper labor of those nations.

That is precisely what they are doing now. Ford brags he is an internationalist, and recognizes no feelings of nationalism. In a broad sense all large business is international in its operations.

It appears we are arriving at that

HIS PLATFORM

Sam and Rastus were seated in a Jim Crow car on a southern railway, enroute to a plantation for the cotton picking season. They were discussing politics, with particular reference to the coming election. Rastus was a rabid partisan of the incumbent representative.

"Well," said Sam, "Ah likes him all right, Ah guess, but his platform ain't no good."

"Platfo'm" snorted Rastus.

"Platfo'm! Say, don't you know dat a political platfo'm is jes like a platfo'm of one of dese yer railroad cabs—hit ain't ment to stan' on; hit's jest meant to get in on!"—Service.

YOUTH—AND THE NEW LEADERSHIP

By CRAIG B. HAZLEWOOD
 President American Bankers Association

LEADERSHIP is a picturesque word. With it, one pictures Hannibal fighting his way through the passes of the Alps—Napoleon in his campaign—or Washington holding together his half-frozen army by the sheer magnetism of his character at Valley Forge. But I visualize something that holds a more astounding spectacle in many respects than any of these.

Craig B. Hazlewood

It is the onrush of our business life. Our economic progress plunges ahead at a rate unheard of in the history of the nations of the world and every industrial and financial leader is daily brought face to face with new and perplexing problems requiring the highest courage and intelligence for their solution.

Ninety billions a year, they tell us, this country is now producing in new wealth. The rate of increase is even more staggering than the amount. It is difficult to say where it may lead us in even ten or fifteen years.

We are moving exceptionally fast. Our economic and industrial structure is placing before us problems of greater and greater magnitude. Few men can see far ahead. Few are in complete control, for this is a changing world, as even the most inexperienced business man will readily testify. Our methods of adjusting ourselves rapidly to economic changes and of cooperating are far from perfect.

What an opportunity the leadership of five, ten or fifteen years from now presents! What an adventure it will be! What responsibilities it will lay upon the broadest shoulders that may be found! This is the challenge to leadership as I see it. In the hands of the young men must rest the responsibility for this leadership.

Boys Who Reached the Pinnacles

Business is full of the romance of youngsters whose chief characteristic was working hard and keeping at it. There was a green farmer boy who decided he would rather stand behind a counter than follow a plow. He seemed so obviously lacking in sales ability that for a time no merchant would hire him. He failed in his first position, and in his second his salary was reduced. He even agreed that he was a misfit—but he stuck. Out of his first five stores, I believe, three failed. But he persisted and worked hard. And that boy, Frank W. Woolworth, became the greatest retail merchant in the world with a store in every city of eight thousand or more population in this country.

There was another lad who clerked in a grocery store sixteen hours a day and studied mathematics in his odd moments. He became interested in the doings of the steel plant whose employees traded at this store. He began to study steel and sought a position in the plant. He carried a surveyor's chain and drove stakes. At night he studied mathematics and engineering. He did not despair. He could not be diverted. He kept the pressure on for seven years. And that boy, Charles Schwab, mastered the iron industry and became one of the country's great industrial leaders.

There was a lad who sold papers on a train. When he grew up, several million men and a score of billions of dollars of capital were given profitable employment through his inventions. Even in middle life, Thomas Edison continued to work twenty hours a day, if necessary to achieve his purpose.

Leadership is not play. Leadership offers countless positions of varying opportunity, of which the highest pinnacles will mean almost unbearable responsibility in the new era. There will be men with the fire and iron to qualify even for these places. Such men must have had the very finest preparation and the most grueling tests. Their reward will be the attainment of these highest pinnacles of achievement, and the rendering of an immeasurable service to their times.

Gold in Gulf Stream

According to estimates by M. Georges Claude, famous French inventor and scientist, the Gulf stream in passing a given point off the Florida coast, carries about 2 cents' worth of gold in each cubic meter. This would amount to eight hundred million dollars' worth of gold an hour over the whole extent of the stream at the same point, he declares. At present, there is no practical method for separating this "rainbow" gold from the sea water.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

No Stop Sign

Little Charles, only three years old, likes to visit his grandmother, who lives in English avenue. He can go out his back gate and across the alley to her back gate very easily. He and his little brother and sister are quarantined with the whooping cough, therefore he cannot go visiting. He was begging his mother to let him go to grandma's when she told him he could not go over there while the sign was on the house.

Charles quickly replied: "The sign isn't on the back of the house."—Indianapolis News.

MAIL BOX THEFTS AID CHECK FORGERS

American Bankers Association in Nationwide Warning Exposes Methods and Gives Rules to Combat Them.

NEW YORK—Active operations in many cities of mail box thieves, who open bank communications to customers, containing details of their accounts and cancelled checks showing their banking signatures, and use this material in perpetrating check forgeries, have led the American Bankers Association to issue a nationwide warning to its members with instructions for combating this form of crime. The warning as sent out by James E. Baum in charge of the association's Protective Department says:

"Heavy losses are being sustained through cancelled vouchers and statements stolen from the mail boxes of bank depositors in apartment and office buildings, thus divulging the depositors' balances and supplying models for forged checks. As a step to put customers on guard against these methods, banks are urged to instruct every depositor to whom they mail statements of deposit accounts on the last business day of each month to notify them promptly if such statement are not received by the close of the next day.

"Also banks should educate depositors to safeguard blank checks and cancelled vouchers as they would money. Such paper stolen by forgers soon puts real money in their hands. If all blank checks and cancelled vouchers were securely kept in safes instead of filing cabinets or desks, the check crooks would be denied their chief stock in trade, namely, genuine blank checks and signatures. Warnings to depositors against leaving blank or cancelled checks accessible to sneak thieves or burglars should be sent out at once.

"Estimates broadcast by surety companies indicate that individuals, merchants, hotels and others outside of banking are shouldering more than 99 per cent of the total amount of forgery losses. The bulk of forgery loss on checks is sustained by those who are willing to risk accepting them without reliable proof of identity or title of the presenter.

"Years ago the Protective Department of the American Bankers Association adopted the slogan, 'Strangers are not always crooks, but crooks are usually strangers.' If those outside of banking could be prevailed upon to observe this rule and think about it when considering accepting a check for their merchandise or services, for which they are also asked to give a substantial sum in cash in change, one of the biggest aids to the forgery business would be denied the crooks."

PAMPA will entertain the second annual American Legion rodeo August 30 and 31, and September 1. Lon Blanscet and Bill Jackson of Pampa will manage the affair. Rodeo stars from Cheyenne, Wyoming will be present. A purse amounting to $2,130 has been guaranteed for prizes.

BIG TRI-STATE FEATURE

"Mary," the 56-year-old acrobat with the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus, has been tramping up and down the country for so many years that she knows it is far wiser to obey than resist, so one word from Miss Rae Bailey and "Mary" does her stuff. In fact, all of the elephants with Hagenbeck-Wallace are exceptionally talented and are said to be the best trained "bulls" with any circus.

Cheerful Gardner, master elephant trainer, spent much time during the past winter instilling additional knowledge into his charges and the new routines are a bit unusual for elephants. Everything from an elephant barber shop to a Charleston contest is offered by these ponderous pachyderms.

Many changes have been made in the Hagenbeck-Wallace performances since its last appearance here and this year's program is said to be the best in history. Hagenbeck-Wallace comes here and gives two performances daily during the Tri-State fair, September 23 to 25, Amarillo, Texas.

Brownfield Takes a Game off Tahoka Sun.

It seemed to be the general opinion of the fans who accompanied the ball team to Tahoka Sunday, that the gang had regained their pep and enthusiasm that seemed to with them as in their first games of the season. A double header was played with Lamesa and Tahoka at bat first, Lamesa winning; Brownfield and Tahoka second in a game of seven innings.

the locals taking the game 3 to 2. Tahoka put in practically a new team, but nevertheless the boys just played good ball and only two or three small errors were made.

We understand this was the last game of the season unless a few games can be matched with Harley Sadler when he comes. It is said Harley has a good ball team.

Mrs. Betie Criswell, county treasurer of Yoakum county, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Mary, and two sons, were here this week shopping.

Another Advertising
Grafter Visits Tahoka

"These merchants have a certain amount they will spend on worthless specialty schemes, and if I don't get their money somebody else will" was the attitude as expressed to The News by an advertising grafter who worked Tahoka last week.

"I find that a local girl can sell this kind of stuff where I can't even get in at the door. * * * Just because it's a 'church directory', merchants fall for it who will not buy worthless advertising. * * * Four months ago I had a hospital bill of $1,000 staring me in the face, and now I owe nothing. * * * I worked hard for years before I found out that I could take business men's money so easy." These were some of the statements made to us by this salesman of high-priced, almost worthless advertising.

For less than one day's work in Tahoka he secured $70 for a 11x14 placard, $30 of which he paid the young lady solicitor and the News for printing—$40 for a few hours work, and he makes six towns a week—$240 per week.

For $3.50, the price paid for ads on the directory, merchants can get seven times as much space in the Lynn County News, circulated in 1150 homes; or they can get 500 circulars twelve times as large as any of the advertising spaces on the directory, or we will print the placard for one-seventh the amount the solicitor charged.

Tahoka merchants doubtless did not regard the advertising on this directory as being of any great value but responded to the solicitations for the ads out of a commendable desire to help these churches of the town.

The young lady who solicited the advertising was likewise prompted by the purest and best motives, as she felt that she was rendering a service to the religious interests of the community.

But the "grafter" cared nothing for the religious welfare or the church organizations of Tahoka. Neither was he concerned about whether the advertising would be worth anything to the merchants. He was after the money; and he took advantage of the well-known disposition of businessmen to be generous in their attitude toward the churches, to work his graft. Thus are the business men of Tahoka and other towns being continually imposed upon by unconscionable grafters, when the home printer could and would do identically the same work at one-fifth the cost.—Tahoka News.

Boy Scout Men Here Helping to Raise Funds

Two gentlemen from Lubbock, who are high in Boy Scout Councils of the South Plains area, were here the past week, helping to put over the local campaign to raise funds to help the local Boy Scouts to keep up their study and practice. They stated to a Herald representative that Brownfield had never put over the Scout movement as it should, but that he had hopes that the business men here were waking up to the importance of the movement.

They were taken in tow by Cashier W. R. McDuffie of the First National Bank, who carried them over the town introducing them to the business men. When we consider the good that scouting actually has accomplished with boys, and the very small number of them that have ever gone wrong when once they have seriously taken up Scout work, it would appear that most any amount spent on them by the citizenship of a community would be a good investment, for one of them have never been caught here stealing and breaking into homes and stores.

Only the past week three of the local young men were alleged to have been caught red handed stealing gas from the highway department, and now they are to suffer the humility of trial in the courts. And it is going to be even more galling for the families of these boys and men, for each of them have excellent families. Probably if these and other boys here whom the officers are now watching closely had been brought up under good scout masters, they would not be in this trouble today.

Save the boys, and you produce the best of citizenship for tomorrow.

"I heard a new story the other day. I wonder if I've told it to you?"
"Is it funny?"
"Yes."
"Then you haven't."

hibition enforcement to protect the property and lives of citizens. It is of infinitely greater importance to hunt an illicit still or angle for a bootlegger than prevent a robbery or preserve the life and other property of citizens. Headlines in the newspapers tell of one and a squibb in the southwestern corner of the paper tells of the other. The Grand Juries spend more of their time investigating a clue to a quart of illicit booze than to other infractions of the law. Why? Public opinion is so engrossed, through the propaganda of the Anti Saloon League that pressure is brought on the law enforcing body so that other crimes even murder and robbery is second in importance. Still the bootlegger thrives and so does the Anti Saloon Bums who go about the country in a quasi-religious character soliciting the nickles and dimes of children and hornswagling the unco good. All this in the name of Him who made wine His first miracle, but if He were here and repeat the act would be promptly put in jail and under the Dean Law sent to the penitentiary. Rather an anomaly. But consistency is the philosophy of fools and their number is legion.

Old Tom Love, of all sorts of fame, has broke out at the mouth again and is wandering up and down the eastern part of the state shouting his candidacy for governor of Texas on an anti Tammany Ticket, which means that he is entirely outside the regular democratic party, and expects the Hoover and De Priest contingent of the republicans in Texas to elect him. There isn't any danger of any sure enough democrat voting for him. He has been the Judas Iscariot in politics since he and a bunch of Ku Klux went to the Convention in 1924. He will be just as ready to betray them (the republican contingent in Texas) as he did the democrats if they fail to nominate him for governor. The man that consorts with such men as Dyer, DePriest, Fall, Sinclair and other black and tan pubs doesn't commend himself to any sure enough democrat state or national. They were his political associates in 1928. Tom you can't train with the hounds and run with the hare. It is perfectly possible for me to vote for a very dry democrat, I have done that many times in my life will probably do so again, but his musn't be Judias nor Annias, nor must be a cater to black and white teas in the nation's capital.

"Lives there a man with soul so dead that never to himself has said: The South Land is a white man's country." If Tom and his clan want social equality let them move to Hoover's neighborhood.

New Member Added to Police Force
"Patrolman A. L. Moorhead, well known member of the Austin police force, had the day off Saturday, for he had an important guest at his home. The guest was an eight and one-half pound boy, who arrived Friday night.—Austin American.

A. L. once lived here and still owns a good home near here. We'll bet that his cap is now too small and his belt will need to be lengthened several inches until that kid gets to squawking with the colic then he will need suspenders to keep his clothes up.

Murray Nettles and wife and J. A. Tichenor and wife each have a new girl in their homes. More face powder and lip stick in the near future for these fellows. They won't need much else by that time.

The Baptist brethren have had a meeting progress the past week. What a pity the bootleggers, burglars and all other law breakers cannot attend a good meeting and hear the lessons on good citizenship and really learn the commandments, Thou Shalt Not Kill, Thou Shalt Not Steal, Bear False Witness, Covet the property of your neighbor nor his wife, Love God, Keep His Commandments for this is the whole duty of man. The meeting closed last night, Sunday, with the baptizing of nineteen persons.

This morning, Monday, at about 7 A. M. we had the pleasure of listening to the landing of the Graf Zeppelin at Los Angeles Calif. We could hear the blowing of whistles and a little later the whir of the engines. The announcer told us that he could see the stars and that daylight could be seen in the distance. At the present moment he is telling of its being carried to the Mooring Mast by some three hundred and fifty men.

What a wonderful trip. Leaving New York a few days since for Friedrichshafen, Germany, the great ship wended her way across over the mountains across Asia and the icy plateaus of Siberia, portions of China thence to Japan, whence a few days later she started her long journey across the Pacific Ocean. Her next stop will be the Eastern part of the United States, thus rounding out the most wonderful journey ever attempted by air craft. We have been able, thanks to Radio, to follow them, almost hourly on the journey.

Man is really fulfilling the Commandment to conquer the Earth.

MEADOW BRIEFS (By Aesculapias)

SOME COMMENTS ON THAT BANK ROBBERY

Early Monday morning, I was up at eight, I noticed quite a stir in the direction of town and a fellow came tearing out my way but passed me up and stopped at Earl Cadenhead's. I could tell by the fellow's actions that he was terribly perturbed, yet stirred up, so I kept my ears open. He finally succeeded in getting Earl up in his nighties. "Say, Earl, somebody has broken in and robbed the bank!" Instead of turning pale Earl dropped his head back and opened that spacious cavern—it would equal Carlsbad—and gave a roar.

However I felt somewhat disturbed as I had deposited the day before a check from a fellow living between here and Brownfield, so taking my 410 and getting in my car I cautiously drove down to the Bank and called Theodore Lucas to one side. The would be robbers had just cut a hole in the outside door, shook the old rattle trap of a safe and passed it up.

On second thought I too knew there wasn't any money in the bank for I had tried to borrow some a few days previously and had been present and heard other prominent men try to write some checks and notes with a view to getting a few dollars to buy gasoline for their wives to go fishing. In fact Golden Jones has been gone a month and can't get enough to get back. What few dollars had found their way in during the week was kept out by Earl and Theodore. Besides it is believed that these two gents cut the hole themselves that they might have air and an exit if they should happen to get shut in some time by novices just learning the trade of bank robbing. Mon Telford and another fellow from Brownfield came up to investigate the robbery and the other fellow, not Mon, talked as though the would be robbers had come by or through Brownfield and incidentally gotten some acetylene and oxygen gas from some place down there.

It would seem from these facts, if they are realities, that the yeggs came from Brownfield and didn't bother any of the great financial institutions down there. Of course if they came from Brownfield—which I very much doubt—they knew there wasn't any use of tackling anything there, as they have no funds either, for they continue to mark my checks, "no funds", and besides Morgan Copeland has gone away to keep from being bothered by the importunities of would be borrowers.

We hope from the facts here promised that Jack Stricklin will stop blowing about Brownfield's trade and take the hint, that bank robbers passed up Brownfield in favor of Meadow. Perhaps they thought this an easy mark. They are disillusioned now.

Theodore, Earl and Mon all wished they could have been somewhere close about when these fellows were making the sparks fly. Now all you who read this and believe it hold up your hands. There that will do. I am just like you fellows I don't believe it either. I have this to say in closing this very serious article. The laundry would have a job.

Now another crew or possibly this same bunch stopped at the Last Chance Garage and twisted off the locks to gasoline pump and took out a quantity of gasoline. They perhaps intended to rob the bank and pay for the gasoline.

Neill Mc is now on a hot trail and if he comes up with them we shall claim original jurisdiction. Judge Peeler can set on their cases and with Fred Johnson to prosecute, a jury I can choose, we'll have those fellows looking up a telephone pole without the usual preliminaries.

Down with the robbers and yeggs. After this I will feel when out at night like Tam O' Shanter passing Always Old Haunted Kirk.

Since the above was written Meadow has been honored with another visitation of Weary Willies who proceeded to break in the Drug Store, blow up the safe, getting some twenty dollars, a few matches, jewelry, face powder—no lipstick—and a bunch of tweezers and nail files. Some other articles may have been taken but not missed.

Across the street they proceeded to prize open the door of the Jones Hardware Company, blew the door off the safe, pried the account files open and took some eighty dollars and a shot gun. Possibly other articles were taken but not as yet missed.

The damage to safes is very much more than the loot taken from the stores. So far no one has been apprehended for the deed and doubtless never will be.

At Levelland a few nights before some seven or eight business places were entered and small amounts obtained. It is believed that the same gang committed the several burglaries alluded to above and it is highly probable they are part and parcel of a widespread organization operating on the plains.

Promoter Puts Over Worthless Calendar

Some folks are sure enough persistent. They never acknowledge defeat. The fellow that was here week before last trying to get an envelope job, was back last week on a calendar job, and wanted us to figure on a batch of them, say one or two hundred. We informed him that we had no time to mess with the job thinking to get rid of him, but we understand that he got the job done in a neighboring town.

We understand that he tried to get some of the churches here to endorse the job—and do the work for him—but failed in this effort, then decided to just get out a calendar anyway. Here is where he begin to work his rabbit-foot. He then got a fine young lady of the city to do his soliciting, and put her forward, knowing that the merchants, or most of them would hate to turn her down, as she was to get quite a nice fee. She almost threw up the job when she found just how worthless it was, and what she was into. But a representative of the Herald told her to go on, that if she didn't he would get some one else.

Some of those who bought space were non-advertisers in the Herald. Of course they paid twice or three times as much for the space in this calendar as they would for a like space in the Herald, and will get about one-fifth the circulation. In fact, who will want one of these calendars to grace the walls of their homes after they are printed? People put up calendars, it is true, but they are usually nice scenes of landscapes, pretty women, or stock of some kind, and not just a bunch of jumbled ads with no information otherwise to make them valuable. Nine-tenths of them will be consigned to the waste basket without being read.

From this on, the Herald pledges the merchants here that it will not contract to print anything of this kind without it being endorsed by the chamber of commerce, society, club or church in this city, and if you want to get in on it anyway and pay for the printing of it in some other town, that's your business. Any way around, the promoter gets something like 80 percent.

E. W. Rambo and family have located in Wapato, Washington, and he is employed there as mechanic in the Ford Agency garage. He is the son of Mrs. R. W. Rambo, and his wife the daughter of Mrs. E. S. Cardwell, both of this city and county.
