

GREATEST FAIR IN OUR HISTORY NOW IN PAST

Exhibits in All Departments Seemed to Be More Extensive Than The Past Year. Merchants Have Pretty Booths, and Community Exhibits Better Than Ever.

Boy! Howdy! That was some county fair, and you can swear it by all the prophets' whiskers that ever existed in all history. And despite the fact that it was a very busy season of the year with thousands of bales of cotton open and opening in the broad fields of Terry county, they were here from every neck of the woods and from five counties. There were people here from East Texas; Central Texas, and All Texas, but of course the main crowd was from the five or six adjoining counties.

Perhaps the live stock and poultry sections were but little better than last year in view of the fact that at this time last the crops were still green and little gathering was under way and the people had a chance to get their stuff here without trouble. This year the crops were almost a month forward, and many of the people were so busy that they would not take the time and trouble to get them in. Yet, despite this handicap, we consider the hog and poultry departments superior if anything to the past year. Then too, the exhibitors seemed to have been more learned in preparing their exhibits, and they showed up to a better advantage than last year. There also seemed to be a big increase in the number of live stock in the senior classes, as last year the main show seemed to be with the club boys who had purchased pigs out of the shipment received from the Lillard farms in Tarrant county in the spring before.

In the agricultural section we found that it was a decided improvement over the previous year with the possible exception of corn. It being dryer this year, that grain did not appear to be as good as 1928, but other grains were just as good, and a greater variety of them. Even the corn seemed to be better matured although the ears were less than last year, but were better filled out. While the cotton stalks were not as large as last year, they were better jointed, and a two foot stalk this year contained many more bolls apparently than the four foot stalks last year. Then they are much freer from worm holes. In fact, the cotton here this year has the ideal size growers want it to reach in this section to make the most, and with the least bother from insect ravishes. The agricultural section was a revelation to those who think that this has been a bad year in old Terry and adjoining counties.

In the fruit and vegetable sections were the real surprises and needed hours to fully comprehend and appreciate instead of just a few minutes in which a busy and rushed writer had to spare them. But they showed good care after they were planted as well as careful seed selection for this section before being planted. Some had evidently kept working and caring for this truck too, while most of us were talking about how hot and dry the weather was. But continuous care is the price of producing anything worth while. Weeds alone will grow without apparent care, and they are usually regarded as the old satan of the vegetable world.

A fellow sure could get a great kick out of the canned goods section as well as a great appetite by viewing them. It would seem that if the canned goods section was any representative of the average Terry county farm that a lot of our men folks are in for some splendid meals when the cold winter days arrive and there is nothing else to do except tend the chores, eat and sleep. They sure did have a pretty appearance in the nice, clean glass containers. Miss Murray, of the A. & M. College who judged them seemed to think that the exhibits shown here would stand competition at any show. In the flower section and the handiwork section, both of which also belong to the ladies there was some of the noblest efforts of nature to please the eye of mankind to be found. In fact there was a riot of coloring representing the most old fashion flower garden to the newer and rarer specimens from all corners of the earth. And just around the corner as if in competition with nature was the handiwork and art of the fair ladies of this section with almost every specimen of needlework imaginable. Here again colors ran riot, and the careful assembling of the whole gave it a very attractive appearance. There was always a crowd of both men and women at this booth, the latter of course being most interested.

We could never close this article without a tribute to the business institutions of this city who made the Fair possible by buying booths at the fair, the money of which went to pay premiums and to meet other expenses incident to the fair. To fully enjoy the decorator's art in these booths took more than a mere pause before one of them, for one must kinder put themselves in the decorator's place and try to see the depth and contrasts from his point of view. One soon saw that there was not a big jumble and general mixture just in order to show something, but that every line was arranged in its proper department and so displayed as not to interfere or hide something else in the both fully as important. Whether the booth represented a small service station or one of our large department stores, the beauty and art was there just the same, and with the well lighted sheds gave out an even gayer appearance by night than in day time. Lazy, careless merchants could never have made such a showing in the small spaces allotted them. All praise to the forward looking merchants of our city.

There was some real rivalry in the community exhibits, and you were not left to guess about that. There was no air about them that indicated a complacency of "well, who cares if we win or not." On the other hand everyone was alert for any vantage point. The exhibits were arranged and rearranged to give the exhibit the best possible appearance, and each had its faithful crowd of boosters from that community, and they were ready to tell you that they had it over all the rest of them and could show you why, no matter what the judges had to say when they had their ending. There were 14 of them representing every section of the county. When the judges got through they found that most of them were critically close in the number of points. Lahey was first and received $25.00; Scudday, second and got $15; Pleasant Valley third and received $10. The following eleven got five dollars each: Challis, Wellman, Harmony, Forrester, Tokio, Needmore, Gomez, Johnson, Meadow, Hunter and Union.

Last but not least comes the carnival which was held in connection, and was the center of attraction for all the younger folks as well as most adults it would seem, and the Merry-Go-Round, the Ferris Wheel, and the Merry-Mix-Up were well patronized from early morn till the last round at night. There was a number of side shows that attracted attention and the small coins of the big crowd. There then was a various and sundry chance devices, and we watched to see who patronized them, and soon found that it was not by any means confined to the youth or street man, but we saw what we considered staid farm women whom we have reason to believe are religious rolling the little balls trying to get a walking stick or perhaps a kewpie doll. The gaming instinct is too deeply bred into our race to absolutely wipe it out with any kind of legislation. Ours is a sporting race, and you might wipe out all the cards and dice in existence, and then they would gamble with you on which shell the pea is under. The fireworks display both nights were thrilling and enjoyed by huge crowds.

The crowd that entered the fair grounds for the two days has been estimated from 6,000 to 10,000, and we believe they were all there. The Herald will try to get the premium list for the next issue of the Herald, which will be worked up in the meantime by the county agent and the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

THANKS JOHNSON FOLKS WHO GATHERED HIS CROP

We had a communication from Bernie Stice this week in which he expressed his thanks for assistance of the Johnson community this week in gathering his crop, after the sickness and death of his beloved companion. His own words follow: "I hardly know how to express my thanks, and my heart goes out to each and every one of you. I will always remember your kindness and effort in lending me a helping hand and sympathy in this hour of need. I also wish to thank the merchants of Brownfield for refreshments sent us, Mr. Quante for the ice, and the ginners for ginning the cotton free. May God bless each of you in extending the helping hand in my hour of need." Your loving friend, Bernie Stice.

Proves Blue Ribbon Fowls Eat Well, Too

Just about the happiest man in seven counties was Papy John Powell last Friday afternoon when the poultry judges awarded him six first prizes, a number of seconds, and the sweep stakes of the whole poultry show on his pens of splendid Rhode Island Reds, and he certainly had some fine birds there if we are any judge of poultry. It seems that the judges also agreed.

In order to prove that his breed of chickens eat as well as they look, he brought the Herald a nice one already dressed Saturday morning, and we enjoyed him at the noon meal. It was just the right size to fry well and be right tender, and we want you to know that after we got through with that fowl that our "cook" had taken extra pains to fix just right, there was not enough left to appease the appetite of a confirmed invalid.

Thanks, Pappy John, and many happy returns of the day.

Brownfield Loses to Ralls 12-6 at the Fair

Tuesday at the Lubbock Fair, Brownfield met Ralls on the High School grid iron.

Brownfield got off slow in the first half allowing Ralls two touchdowns. But came back in third quarter fighting hard making a touchdown. Still holding this spirit in the fourth quarter the locals carried the ball in scoring distance again but fumbled. Ralls regained the ball punting out of danger which ended the game, score 12 and 6, with Ballard outstanding local player on defense and offense. We hope you better luck next time boys.

BUSINESS LIKE HOLIDAYS FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

A Bunch of Tired and Perspiring Clerks Were Glad When Saturday Night Arrived and a Rest Permitted Them. Mostly All Cash Deals, Too.

In conversation with a number of our business men, they were all of the opinion that Friday and Saturday were the two biggest days they have had in months, and one or two said they had the most brisk trade they have enjoyed since the holidays of last year. There was an extra crowd in the city both days. One could make a trip to the fair grounds and decide that all the people in the county were down there, and then come back to town and a larger Friday and Saturday crowd than usual would be found on the streets. Thus, in view of the fact that the two crowds were constantly changing, a fresh crowd of buyers were always in the stores, and the merchants and their helpers were simply rushed both days. One clerk informed us last Saturday afternoon that he almost had the jimmies, but had enjoyed it just the same.

In view of the fact that most people have now picked a few bales of cotton, they had the ready cash, and we noted more of them than usual with huge bundles of dry goods. Of course people must eat the year round, and they always buy more or less groceries, but if people get in close quarters they stop on dry goods and wear old clothes if necessary. But the time has arrived for the dry goods men to get theirs, and the fact that people were coming out of the stores with big bundles proved that they were selling something besides a few yards of gingham. They were selling fall outfits for whole families, and that's what counts up. The merchants have some fine, up-to-now stocks to select from. They have an-icipated the needs of a prosperous custom by going to the great dry goods markets of the country and buying heavily. So you will find just what you need right here in Brownfield.

Whether you want dry goods or groceries, hardware or furniture, drugs or tobacco, oil or gas, your cotton ginned or your corn ground into meal, a shave or a beauty treatment, you will find the very best right here and the goods are standard with the nationally advertised trade mark of the manufacturer on them which will always indicate that he stands behind his goods. It matters not with the local dealer if the goods does not stand the test, for the manufacturer stands behind him, and these trade marked goods must stand the test and satisfy you. Then, if these goods, whose makers have confidence enough in that they put their name and address on them and unconditionally guarantee them, why buy something else that might be just a bit cheaper, but its quality is unknown?

Brownfield business men are trying to build up a great trade center here, and they realize that they must do that by selling good goods just a bit cheaper. In order to do this they must advertise extensively and bring more people here in order that a greater volume of business and a quicker turnover of stock will enable them to sell on closer margin. In this way they can sell cheaper than the town that just depends on its trade from those who "just drop in at will."

They Tell Us Luker Hogged the Boy's Pig

A prominent man of this city who was at that time in position to know what he was talking about, and who now promises to do our fighting if party of the second part wants to get raw about the matter, tells us the following story, and asks that it be given publicity and headed "Luker Hogs the Pig."

Our informer was the cashier of the First National Bank at the time the story opens in May, we believe, 1928, when the above bank, the Brownfield State Bank and perhaps the Meadow bank all combined to ship in a load of thoroughbred pigs from the Lillard farms at Arlington. When these pigs arrived, they looked all shot to pieces, having traveled for about two days and nights, and there was an especially runty looking little male. The kids who purchased them from the banks were to draw for them, and then sign a note to the bank jointly with their parents. It so happened that G. W. Luker's little son drew the runt, and so ill pleased was he that we understand that he shed tears over the little runty male.

At this point he story runs that Mr. Luker informed Mr. Bell—the cat's out of the bag—we were trying to keep our informant a secret) that he had better pigs at home, but was letting his boy experiment with the runt. But that fall, after careful attention to the little porker through the rest of the spring and summer, the boy won a prize on the pig as junior bear. Well, that runty pig now weighs 746 pounds in his sock feet, and was on exhibit here again this year. The other day, according to Bell, Mr. Luker walked up to him down at the fair grounds with his thumbs under his gulluses and wanted him to "come look at HIS hog."

John Cadenhead and family, of Meadow, were here Friday night talking in the county fair.

Charles (Buddy) Rogers and Nancy Carroll in the Paramount Picture production of Arthur Train's novel "Illusion"

"Illusion" Great Talkie Coming to the Rialto

Charles (Buddy) Rogers, that personable young juvenile-hero, and his equally delectable partner of the recent Paramount opus, "Close Harmony," Nancy Carroll, will be seen and heard in their second co-featured all-talking picture, Paramount's "Illusion," at the Rialto Theatre, Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 7-8.

With a play that is excellent ("Illusion" is based on the novel by Arthur Train) and actors who are equally superior, it is difficult to judge which is the more deserving of commendatory precedence.

Rogers is a young magician who had learned his stage tricks through an early up-bringing in the circus. Nancy Carroll is the girl who was raised in the same environment and who is his partner in their successful stage act. She is in love with him. But Buddy, through his charm and suave appearance, gets himself invited to the parties and fetes of gay Park Avenue society. He falls for a wealthy heiress, played by June Collyer. Meanwhile Nancy becomes despondent, and in the same meanwhile June learns the true story of Buddy's background. She tells Buddy she can never marry him.

He goes to a theatre where Nancy is playing the old act with a new partner. The thrilling climax of the act comes. Four rifles blaze at Nancy. Their lead bullets for which she was supposed to have substituted harmless graphite ones by a sleight-of-hand trick, zing through the air toward their human target. Nancy is struck. She collapses. Well, for the rest of it see it yourself. It is real entertainment with every value that the talking screen can give.

There is fast and interesting dialog, there are a number of secondary character-impersonations by a capable supporting cast, there are three memorable songs introduced in a logical manner—and there are Nancy and Buddy, personable and glamorous sweethearts of the screen.

Lothar Mendes did an excellent job of the direction, and E. Lloyd Sheldon is equally deserving of praise for his work as adaptor of the story for the screen.

JOHN C. SCUDDAY

Another of Terry county's pioneer citizens passed away last week in the person of John C. Scudday, Sr., age 68 1/2 years, who died Wednesday evening September 25th, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. S. F. Lane, in this city.

Mr. Scudday moved with his family to Terry county in 1904 settling in the southeast portion, where he lived for many years, and then moved to west side of the county, after residing in this city a few years.

Mr. Scudday left surviving him, his wife and the following children: John C. Jr., Mrs. Sig. Lane who reside in Brownfield; Mrs. Mat Smith and Walter F. Scudday, residing at Alpine; Fred Scudday of Sweetwater and Earl Scudday of Del Rio; Mrs. Eula Eastham, Wichita Falls and Arthur Scudday of Tokio.

And thus it is, the old time pioneers, who blazed the trails of the western plains, lived off the rough edges of the west, started the opening of a mighty land, lives to see the fruit of his hopes ripen, passes on to the great unknown, and leave the harvest in the hands of the younger.

NEARLY MILLION AND QUARTER CHEVROLET 6'S ON ROAD

Detroit, Oct. 1.—The Chevrolet Motor Company announced here today that more than 1,200,000 of the new six cylinder Chevrolet cars have been placed on the road since the first of the year.

This achievement accomplished in little over nine months, is three times the best showing of any other manufacturer of six cylinder cars in a calendar year and tops Chevrolet's record total for the entire year of 1928.

It is now certain that six cylinder production will set a world record this year, surpassing for the first time in the history of the industry the output of four cylinder cars. This leadership of the sixes will come about chiefly because of Chevrolet's record showing this year.

Chevrolet factory officials declare that the dominating reason back of the leadership of the six is the public preference for the advantages which this type of construction affords. They point out too that the influence of great volume production, which has enabled the industry to get six cylinder prices down to the lowest on record and has made it possible for Chevrolet through maximum volume to offer six cylinder performance at a price that formerly bought only a four.

With a new yearly record already assured, Chevrolet factories are continuing on the biggest fall production program ever undertaken by the company.

FAMOUS GEYSERS ARE ACTIVE AGAIN

Yellowstone Park Wonder Back to Life.

Washington.—After eight or nine years of comparative quiet, geyser activity is now being displayed by two of the largest geysers in Yellowstone National park, the Giant and the Giantess, according to reports recently received at the Department of the Interior.

The Giantess, which played only once during the summer of 1928, has played twice since the beginning of the present calendar year, with a 22-day interval. During the second eruption it played for over four hours. The period during which water was erupted lasted only about 50 minutes the rest of the four hours being given to steam and enough accompanying water to form a fine mist coming down.

From these two eruptions it is hoped this geyser is coming back to activity. The average height of the Giantess eruptions is from 200 to 250 feet. Until recent years it has usually played two or three times a season.

The Giant geyser, which used to play every eight or ten days, during the last few years extended the time between eruptions to a month or more, and last summer and the year before only played at night when tourists were not able to see it. It also has played twice so far this year, at one time throwing water to a height of 150 to 200 feet for a period of 62 minutes. Sometimes the Giant throws its water as high as 250 feet. Until the advent of the new geyser in the park the Giant has been classed as the greatest existing geyser since the old Excelsior, which played out in 1890.

The new geyser, which as yet has not been given a special name, and daily looks out last July. It appears to have continued activity without interruption through the winter, although close observations have been impracticable under winter conditions. Its crater, which resembles that of the old Excelsior, measures 90 by 130 feet. Its tube may be measured to a depth of 74 feet below the surface, one foot deeper than that of the Giant. During the latter part of the past summer it erupted once in every ten to fourteen and one-half hours, the period of eruption lasting from four to six hours. It has been estimated that about 700,000 gallons of water are thrown out in one of its four and one-half-hour eruptions.

Escaped Monkey Has

Fun With Train Crew

Reed, Nev.—No. 9, the last and smallest train of the Southern Pacific, was made a monkey of when it roared through eastern Nevada, according to trainmen going through here.

When the train left Ogden there were 14 monkeys in a cage on one of the baggage cars. When the train reached Lakeside there were only 12 monkeys in the cage, while the fourteenth, not satisfied with the number in which the train was proceeding was our doing its best to help.

The monkey wandered over cars and under cars and the 60-mile-an-hour train of steel continued by the main line to tower for the animal. For 200 miles the monkey roared tag with the train crew. Then at Corral the animal left the cage and played games with Corral residents. Most of Corral's population turned out to help capture the primate, and it took all of them to do it.

Eventually Mr. Monk was captured and placed on No. 10 of the Southern Pacific for transportation to San Francisco. The monkey was none the wiser for its vacation.

Indian Tribe Claims

$17,000,000 From U. S.

Harro, Mont.—Aymonin Indians are preparing to wage an intensive battle to recover $17,000,000 they claim is owed them by the United States government. They have appointed Edward Kardis, federal secretary in President Harding's first cabinet, to fight the case against James G. Smith, who resigned his post as Indian agent to win President Hoover's pardon.

The Indians claim the government owed them $17,000,000 for the loss of their lands and the loss of their lives.

Coeds Prefer English;

Men Pick Economics

Cambridge, Mass.—English is the most popular subject among college girls and economics among men, if a survey conducted at Harvard and Radcliffe is an accurate barometer. Twenty-eight per cent of Radcliffe girls are concentrating in English, compared with 16 per cent of Harvard men. Seventeen per cent of the Harvard students are majoring in economics, while less than 5 per cent of the Radcliffe girls have shown preference for that subject.

All Alike Under the Skin

By CORONA REMINGTON

PEGGY PAXTON lived in a section of Westway where neighbors were neighbors. They gave little parties just for themselves, they had a bridge club, they exchanged recipes and dress patterns and different ideas on household economy and short cuts.

When the Harringtons moved into the house next door to Peggy's straight from "up north" the neighborhood showed a friendly interest in the new comers and they had not yet succeeded in getting their furniture uncrated and their gas and electricity turned on before callers came ringing their bell.

"Just brought a plate of hot biscuits. This salad will help for breakfast. I know you haven't had time to cook anything yet." "We had roast beef for dinner today, so I brought you a few slices."

Yes, it was a neighborly neighborhood. Mrs. Harrington had never known people like this before.

Mrs. Paxton sent Peggy over with a cherry pie. When Peggy rang the doorbell it was answered by a tall, blue-eyed young man who held a hammer in his hand and who seemed blissfully unconscious of the ridiculous splendor of soot across his left cheek.

"I'm Jim Harrington," he said with an engaging smile. "Mother'll sure appreciate this. Now, let's see. Where do you live? Fine! We'll be over soon. Thanks a lot."

And they came soon. Mrs. Harrington and Jim.

"I declare this is the sweetest town I ever saw in my life," said Mrs. Paxton's visitor. "It seems to me I have to mop and scrub nearly all day and every day and I've had to change my whole life. Up north Monday was my washing day, Tuesday broom, Wednesday mopping, and then of course my regular cleaning days. Now I have to get in a good scrubbing every day and a wall-wiping day every week. It's awful."

"You mean you are going to wipe all your walls and wash your wood work every week?" Mrs. Paxton inquired mildly.

"I should say so. Why, this town's so dirty that if I didn't see one could live in house."

Mrs. Harrington soon became the terror of the neighborhood. Her windows gleamed. All day long she was busy chasing dirt. Her home was her life, her all-consuming interest.

"Land, what must she think of my home," groaned little Mrs. Watson one day. "My boys keep everything top-top tippy."

"My sink's stacked high with dishes right now," laughed Mrs. Paxton. "I guess she'd make Jim break off with Peggy if she knew it."

To the other neighbors Mrs. Harrington's mania for cleanliness was something of a joke, but to Peggy it was a tragedy.

"What'll I do after we're married?" Peggy mused to herself. "She'll be always swooping around to see if I've dusted behind the empty fruit cans in the cellar. But she dusts hers every morning."

It was several weeks later that Peggy was sitting alone at home reading. Glancing out the window she saw someone rush up the front steps of the Harrington home and pound frantically on the door.

"There's no one there," she called through the open window.

"Well, the house's on fire," the man called. Looking up, Peggy saw two or three small sprays of smoke rising from the back of the roof.

Heading to the telephone she called the firemen, who came dashing and rattling down the street in an unbelievably short time.

"Just now the land settled on that back," said the chief when he had examined the roof. "You'll have to get inside and see up in the attic to see if it's all right in there, please."

The house was actually heated by the chief levels a row of pipes out of the kitchen door, across the hall and down the back wall.

"The roof for settling on the beam. Fix the pipe at the sink. That'll do it," he told the firemen.

It was then that Peggy stared in the middle of the floor and stood at what she saw. The sink was piled high with dishes, waiting each one stood beneath it, on the corner of the kitchen table was a tall-plate egg plate with a knife and fork thrown carelessly across it and beside it a cup that had once contained coffee.

Just as the firemen were leaving Mrs. Harrington burst in excitedly.

"My dear, if the neighbors ever find this out I'll be so humiliated I'll die," she said, her face red with embarrassment. "But I just had to go to town this morning on urgent business. Promise you won't tell anyone. Peggy, I'm so glad it was you who came in because you'll see in the fire."

"I'll promise anything," said Mrs. Harrington desperately. "I'd positively die if it ever got out."

"We're all alike under the skin," said Peggy happily. "I had really begun to think that you were some kind of a queer housekeeper. I like you very better now."

states. was six inches taller and much heavier than that on ordinary land. Mr. Bester follows the practice of lifting his land early, from 10 to 12 inches deep the first time, and when plants in the middle after hunting rather shallow. Such fields have withstood the drought very well.

TERRY COUNTY HERALD

"CITIZENS CAN ENFORCE THE LAWS," McGUIRE SAYS

The charge which Judge Gordon B. McGuire gave to the grand jury here upon the empaneling of that body last Monday morning was not exactly of the stereotyped character. It bristled with vigorous statements concerning the duty of grand jurors, of officers and private citizens, and in denunciation of the criminal.

"The idea that a law cannot be enforced is rot," the Judge declared. "When the officers and the citizens make up their minds that the law must be enforced, they can enforce it," he continued. "However, law enforcement does not mean that crime is to be entirely stopped. That will never be the case. But it does mean that punishment is to be inflicted on the criminal by the courts for his offenses, and by doing this crime will be reduced to a minimum."

After stating that no crimes of violence in this county had been called to his attention, the Judge charged the jury that if there were such crimes they should have first attention.

"Next in importance come the crimes against the property rights of the citizens, such as robbery, burglary, theft, swindling and forgery."

P. G. Stanford, of Plains, was an interested visitor here during the fair. He likes to look over good products.

Pippin Given Office Of Deceased Son

The Commissioners Court of Terry County met last Friday in called session to appoint some one to take the place of Wilburn Pippin, the County Treasurer, who died on the 22nd of September. We understand that there was quite a few applicants for the place, but Mr. J. T. Pippin, father of the deceased was given the office until his successor is chosen in the election next year.

Mr. Pippin is a prosperous farmer of the Tokio community, and has always been prominent in the social, school and church affairs of that community, and we are sure that he will fill the office with credit to himself and the county.

FIRST STUDENT TO EARN WAY THROUGH COLLEGE

Washington, D. C.—Today, it has become quite customary for boys and girls to earn their own expenses while in college, but in the early history of this country it was an unusual occurrence. The first student on record in the United States to attempt to earn his way through college was Zachariah Bridgen, at Harvard, according to best information available in the Bureau of Education, United States Department of the Interior.

Bridgen entered Harvard in 1657 at the age of fourteen and graduated at eighteen. The steward's books reveal that charges against him for college bills included "commons and sizings" (board together with food and drink ordered from the buttery), "tuition," "study-rente and bed" (room and bed), "fyer and candell" (fire and candles), "wood, etc." and a charge for "bringing corn from Charlestown." Credit was given him for "silver," "sugar," "wheat," "Malte" "Indian" (corn), "hooge" and a bush of parsnapes." On December 31, 1654, there was "given him by ringing the bell and waytings L1 2s. 6d."—the first record of an American student's earning a portion of his expenses in college by ringing the college bell and by waiting on table in the commons. As a waiter, he received 12s. 6d. per quarter for three successive quarters, after which he was paid "on quarter for a scholarship 18s. 9d." and credited "by his wages 50 shillings and a scholarship L3 15s."

The total cost of a college education in 1653 ranged from L30 2s. 1 1/2 d. to L61 11s. 8 1/2 d., or from $100 to $200 paid in silver and groceries.

"SOMETHING BETTER THAN CHRISTIANITY"

"The Infidel Who Claimed To Have Something Better Than Christianity" will be the sermon subject at the Methodist church next Sunday night at 7:30. This sermon will be interesting and at the same time it will bring a truly worth while message. Come out and hear it.

At 10:30 A. M. the sermon subject will be "How To Grow In Grace." If the elements are prepared and ready, this sermon will be followed by the sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

Two good messages and a hearty welcome at Methodist church. Come and worship with us next Sunday. Rev. B. W. Dodson, D. D., pastor.

Miss Mozelle Treadaway, who has taught in the local schools for several years, is attending Tech College this term.

Elder and Mrs. Liff Sanders returned last week from a vacation of several weeks spent in Colorado, the guest of their daughter. Bro. Sanders says it is fine to get out and go to another state where farming is a radical change from that of Texas, and see how the other man lives. Where they visited is a great sugar beet section, as well as other vegetables, corn and wheat.

Mrs. Clifford Dickson and children of Tahoka, were over during the fair, guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Walters.

IT'S GREAT TO BE A TEXAN—THANKS.

(Honey Grove Signal Citizens)
"It's Great to be a Texan." Everybody who has ever lived in Texas knows that to be a fact, but a person who has lived in this great state for many years and then moves to a state many miles distant realizes it more than ever. Take Will Edwards, formerly of Denton, for instance. Will was among the most prominent newspaper men in the State, and two years ago he heard the call of the metropolitan newspapers and went to Washington, where he was identified with one of the largest chain newspapers in the nation, later going to Atlanta, Ga., where he was with the same organization. But Will is a Texan, and heard the call of his home state, and is now residing in Dallas, where he is in charge of the Public News Service. After having been in two states in the two years in which he was away, Will has adopted as his slogan for the Public Utility News the phrase, "It's Great to be a Texan," and anyone who has ever lived in the grand old state will agree with "Big Bill."

One Gin Has Already Cut Half of Past Year

One of the happiest men in the city is W. E. Henson, manager of the Henson Gin. He announced the other day that he had already ginned this season more than half the amount of cotton he ginned the full season last year, and he has only entered the third week since he got his new machinery installed.

Mr. Henson is a great believer in advertising, and not only that, but he has all his stationery printed by the home printers. He informed us last year he had little to advertise as his machinery was obsolete so far as modern methods were concerned, but this year he had his plant right smack up to the very last word in ginning machinery, and that he really had something to advertise to his customers.

It is nothing but being fair to yourself as well as Mr. Henson to give his plant one trial, if you have not already done so, and he promises you not only a good, clean turnout, but that he will appreciate the opportunity to serve you as much as any old country boy in the world could. He will trade you cottonseed meal for your cottonseed.

MARRIED

Mr. J. T. Pippin, of Tokio, and Mrs. Lottie Green, of Abilene, appeared at the church of Christ parsonage last Sunday afternoon at about 4 o'clock, where Elder Liff Sanders said the words that bound them until death doth part.

They will make their home in Brownfield, as Mr. Pippin has been appointed County Treasurer to fill out the unexpired term of his deceased son.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Branch, of Meadow, were down taking in the county fair.

NOTED EDITOR IS OPPOSED TO BIG BOND PLAN

Fred Robinson of Waco, veteran newspaperman, publicist and patriot who has been frequently mentioned as a suitable person to be governor of Texas, has some very pronounced and interesting views on the highway question and taxation incident thereto. In a recent letter printed in the Dallas News, Mr. Robinson said: "I oppose the proposed road bond issue of about $300,000,000.

I oppose the rerouting of roads and leaving off the smaller towns, thereby virtually destroying them.

I favor closing the gaps on all important highways in one year, out of the funds in hand, and without increase in taxes.

I favor reducing the gas tax from 4c to 2c and reducing license fees to $3 for cars costing under $1,000 with maximum of $5.00.

I favor a Highway Commission of three members, elective preferred, that will be in session 365 days a year at annual salary of $5,000 each, so that any citizen can present his road problems at any time, instead of having to get permission to come to Austin to secure a hearing.

I favor a general reduction of state expenses, with lower taxes all along the line, as I consider this the best way to afford the farmers relief, as also the laboring man, and the average citizen.

While I have made no decision as to entering the race, many of those who know me well are urging that I do so, and if there seems any considerable demand for my services to carry out the policies indicated, from the 1,000,000 automobile taxpayers of the State and (about) 2,000 smaller cities and villages likely to be disastrously affected by a continuation of present policies, I may enter the contest at the proper time, and will do my best to make things "hum."

It will really be a contest of the people versus the politicians, with myself merely an incident, and striving to be of some benefit to my native state.

And I may be pardoned for stating my full initials are F. B. R., which all can see are emblematic for Better Roads."

BUTTERMILK VS. POTLIQUOR

By J. H. (Jim) Lowery in Honeygrove Signal

"Current Comment"—that's what I call myself—had the pleasure of meeting the apostle of unrighteousness, face to face, in forum debate a short time since and before a large audience told how he was trying to ruin the world. "State Press" of the Dallas News had the temerity and effrontery to contend, in the presence of the West Texas Press Association that the sinful brew known as pot liquor is a greater beverage than the delightful acidulated lacteal fluid commonly called buttermilk. In the language of McGuffey's old Third Reader, I "routed him, I scouted him," nor lost a single hair. I am not permitted to reproduce here the arguments submitted in the important discussion, but I want all of you to know I showed conclusively that pot liquor had caused most of the sin and misery in this old world of ours, and that buttermilk is the world's only hope. Satan induced Mother Eve to taste the brew of pot liquor, and caused the fall of our fore-parents. Pot liquor is responsible for all the bow-legged people, and all the pot-intestined people, as well as all the hairy people of earth. Judas Iscariot drank pot liquor and sold his Lord for a few pieces of dirty silver. Benedict Arnold drank the awful brew and sold his country. The good wife of our President had pot liquor for dinner the day she issued the invitation for (Mrs.) DePriest to attend the most famous tea party since the Boston Harbor affair. Pot liquor is responsible for the hookworms, the Jack pot and many other evils that cannot be mentioned here. The children of Israel were in slavery so long as they drank Egyptian pot liquor, but the Lord sent Moses to lead them, by a pillar of cloud by day and a pillar of fire by night, to a land flowing with buttermilk and honey. Buttermilk takes the shake out of chills, the heat out of fever and the hook out of hookworm. Beware the hellish brew of cabbage and cabbage snakes, greens and greenbugs, rancid bacon and skippers, branch water and wiggle tails. Seek the exile of the churn, which giveth beauty of person, peace of soul, the rose-tint of health and gladness of the innards.

The Press Day dinner will be served in the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus cookhouse. This will be the first time that the Texas Press has ever been entertained in a circus cookhouse. Among the attractions planned for newspapermen will be "The Red Robe," in the auditorium; the rodeo in the new livestock coliseum; the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, and the Morris and Castle Shows. The celebration is for all newspapermen, and is not confined to membership in any of the associations.

MARRIED

Mr. J. T. Pippin, of Tokio, and Mrs. Lottie Green, of Abilene, appeared at the church of Christ parsonage last Sunday afternoon at about 4 o'clock, where Elder Liff Sanders said the words that bound them until death doth part.

They will make their home in Brownfield, as Mr. Pippin has been appointed County Treasurer to fill out the unexpired term of his deceased son.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Branch, of Meadow, were down taking in the county fair.

Another Biggest Bank Fear Broker—Sold Short Our Disgraces

A Fight for John D.

Again "The world's biggest bank" makes its bow, bigger than any other.

Charles E. Mitchell, head of New York's National City bank, absorbs the Corn Exchange bank, creating an institution with resources of two thousand five hundred millions of dollars.

This one financial giant will have 100 branch banks in New York. The old-fashioned million has given way to the new "billion."

When will the TRILLION be transferred from books on astronomy to the books of United States bankers?

In Wall street a broker has closed up. His story is sad and brief. SOLD SHOOTS. And, most strange, he sold bank stocks short.

To "short" a bank stock with banks getting from 10 to 20 per cent for money on call, calls for an investigation in lunacy.

The Prince of Wales buys his first airplane, making his first flight as an aviator to see his father at Sandringham. It is a G. H. Gypsy Moth, price only $3,300.

The prince would not buy anything not "pure British." The little moth makes ninety miles an hour in painted bright red and blue, and carries a silver plate marked "H. R. H. the Prince of Wales."

We have an assortment of "national disgraces." One, our high percentage of illiteracy; another, the high efficiency of bootleggers, hijackers, organized criminals.

Another is the official usury established by the federal reserve as a basis for dealing in American securities.

Our worst disgrace is the fact established by the American Association of Obstetricians, Gynecologists and Abdominal Surgeons, that this nation has the highest maternity death rate in the civilized world.

Of the thousands of mothers dying every year in childbirth, 65 per cent are killed by septicemia and toxemia, both preventable.

You read that the naval conference will depend largely on what Japan wants and agrees to. The powerful face of the Japanese Premier Hamaguchi, who will do the deciding, tells you that Japan will talk plainly.

If Uncle Sam and Britain cannot agree, Mr. Hamaguchi might be useful as a good excuse.

Why doesn't Uncle Sam decide for himself what he wants in airplanes, cruisers, submarines and everything else? Do we NEED the approval of another country?

Col. R. W. Stewart, formerly head of Standard Oil of Indiana, beaten in a fight with Mr. Rockefeller, has gone to England. Perhaps he goes to join the Shell company in a great British oil merger and anti-Standard oil fight.

Colonel Stewart will visit Sir Henry Deterding, head of British "Shell," the biggest Rockefeller rival in the world's oil trade.

If the British want action and an American representative who knows the oil business, they show intelligence in selecting Colonel Stewart.

It looks like a real oil fight. Betting is wrong, and apart from that it might be unwise to bet against the Rockefellers. They have never acquired the habit of losing.

News from Jerusalem that will doubtless cause indignation and mass meetings tells of the arrest of 44 Jews of Haifa, held without bail, accused of premeditated murder of Arabs during the recent Arab-Jewish riots.

The President announces the appointment of Harry F. Guggenheim as ambassador to Cuba. Cubans will welcome Mr. Guggenheim, representing an able and powerful American family well.

Americans will be glad to hear that Mr. Guggenheim's work for aviation in America is conspicuously recognized.

Happy Free State of Ireland! It lacks the blessing of prohibition, but on the other hand it lacks our stupendous crime waves.

Irish military barracks are being changed into dwellings for workers. And Irish prisons are changed to broadcasting stations and other uses.

While this country multiplies its prisons, containing thousands of prisoners, with occasional frightful rebellion, the Irish Free State reports a total prison population of 700.

Britain is disturbed because the nation seems to have reached the "stationary point in population." No wonder—the same animal cannot be a good brood mare and a good cart horse.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Snodgrass and baby were up from Big Spring during the fair, visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Walters.

Mrs. Jack Stricklin made a trip to Tahoka and Plainview Monday to carry all our left over paper from the old press to the Tahoka News, and to get paper at Plainview that fits the new press.

HUNTER NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Riley Bryan from Hobbs, N. M., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bryan.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Williams spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson of Brownfield.

Mr. Garland Simms and Mr. Guy Smith spent Sunday together.

Mrs. Harrel Hansen spent Sunday with Mrs. Anton Hansen and family. Messrs. Odie Hill and Geo. Byrd toured to Hamley, Texas, Friday and took treatments from Dr. there. They returned home Sunday.

Mrs. Geo. Byrd and children spent Saturday night with Mrs. Byrd's sister Mrs. Raymond Adams and family of Brownfield.

Little Mildred Nolan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nolan of this place was called death late Sunday afternoon. The little thing was three years, four months and twenty-eight days old. A poisonous reptile called rattlesnake, bit the baby above the ankle, caused its departure from this world to a better one.

It was buried in the Forrester Cemetery, Monday afternoon at three o'clock.

"A precious one from us has gone, A voice we loved is still; A place is vacant in that home, Which never can be filled. God in his wisdom has recalled, The boon his love had given, And though the body slumbers in the grave, The soul is safe in heaven. We have lost a darling treasure, She was our joy and pride, We loved her, oh, perhaps too well, For soon she slept and died. All is dark within our dwelling, Lonely are our hearts today, For the one we loved so dearly, Has forever passed away."

CARD OF THANKS

We use this method of expressing our thanks and appreciation to the people of Brownfield and everyone who so faithfully and kindly assisted Wilburn in his sickness and death. Also all the kindness and assistance that was manifested to us. May God's blessings be with everyone of you. Also we wish to thank the Methodist people for the use of their church building.

J. T. Pippin and children, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Young, Mr. and Mrs. Odell Head, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Casey, Mr. and Mrs. Dellis Green.

Dee Brownfield of El Paso and Will Ed Harris, of Carrizo, N. M., were here this week visiting relatives and old friends.

BOY BITTEN BY A RATTLE SNAKE SATURDAY

James, the sixteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Coker, was bitten on the thumb by a rattle snake Saturday afternoon on the farm seven miles northwest of town.

The fang of the snake was left sticking in the wound, and the boy withdrew it and slit the flesh to the bone, after which the hand was soaked in kerosene. On coming to town he was given the serum treatment by Dr. H. N. Lusk. He is reported to be getting along nicely and will fully recover.

The boy was heading maize and saw the snake making its way into a hole in the ground, and was bitten in a haphazard attempt to drag it from its hiding place. The snake was killed and found to have four rattles and a button.—Lvelland Herald.

Barn Burn in West Part of City Friday

Well, the old saying goes that troubles never come singly, and we are almost convinced that the old saying has more truth than poetry about it. There was a Friday the 13th recently that we passed over alright, we thought, and had congratulated ourselves secretly. Along about that time also, as we were leaving the car in the garage one night, and started for the house, a black cat crossed our path. That ended the matter.

After the big press was installed the trouble started and we have been up against it, not so much with the press as with the folder, but we believe that the jinks have just about passed with the entrance of October with its witches and brooms along about its close. Friday morning we started to town when the fire siren sounded loud and lonesome and we decided it was an early morning practice alarm. However we were picked up by Shorty Bond and when we reached the city, we saw black smoke in the northwest part of the city, and hustled on over there. Low and behold, it was nothing more or less than our own barn going up in flames on our tenant property over there occupied by Mr. Dalton. None, not a penny insurance. We had it on the house, but none on the dingy barn.

The fire boys saved all they could of it, but left only a shell. We thank them for that much, but we are wondering what will happen next.

FORT WORTH.—Operator, will you look out the window and see if my cow is on the campus?

This is just one of dozens of inquires and requests that come into the telephone switchboard at Texas Christian University.

"We get them like that all the time," says Miss Ruby Lusk, the head operator. "The average run is about like this: 'May I speak with Mary Jones?' 'Will you call John Smith to the phone?' 'Does a horned frog have horns?' 'What time is it?' 'When will President Waits be in?' 'How much is the tuition at T. C. U.?' 'When do you play A. & M.?' 'Is Coach Schmidt there?'"

Besides Miss Lusk, four other girl students work on the board. They are: Misses Ila Berry, Valerie McLa-more, Opal Morgan and Addie Goates. "Boys talk just as long as girls, and sometimes longer," says Miss Lusk. "The boys even want us to make their dates for them, and sometimes we are tempted to say, 'How about us?'"

HEAVY TRUCKS ARE MENACE TO ROADS.—S. P.

Commenting on the statement of the Plainview Herald that "the heavy truck has become somewhat a menace to traffic," State Press in the Dallas News adds some pertinent comment of his own to a question of no little interest to Texas taxpayers, saying:

"Truck weights must be controlled by law and reduced to conform with the best interests of the public roads. It is practicable to build trucks that will ruin any road. The Appian Way more than 2,000 years old, withstood all the loads that horned oxen and draught horses could drag over it. But the Appian Way wouldn't last five years were it subjected to the uses of freight haulers employing the ponderous vans now coming into service.

"There is a limit to the strength of roads possible to be built with tax money. But there is no limit to the weight that commercial truckers will put upon them unless severely restrained. The fact that oversized goods vans are a menace to the minor vehicles on the highway is something to be considered . . ."

"Our point is that to allow any commercial interest to ruin roads, built with the hard-earned money of taxpayers is opposed to intelligent public policy. The railroads have had to spend multiplied millions in rebuilding their tracks and bridges to accommodate the monster locomotives of today. Are taxpayers to perform a like service for the freight truck-ers?"

Pat J. Ross, was up from the ranch west of Seagraves taking in the county fair. Pat reports ranges in good shape for the winter.

COUNTY ROAD BUILDING STIMULATED BY FEDERAL AID

Washington, D. C.—The stimulating effect of Federal Aid upon road building generally has reached far beyond the main routes upon which the states and the Federal Government are now at work jointly. This statement is made in a progress bulletin just issued by the American Highway Educational Bureau, based upon construction advances from the field.

"In understandable terms of mileage," the bulletin proceeds, "surface construction on local roads under the direction of county and township authorities has reached approximately 600,000 miles, or slightly less than one-fifth of the total road mileage in the country. In addition to this, almost another million miles of local roads have been graded and drained ready for construction.

"This gain in the county and township field shows how the two construction areas are steadily coming together, the one working in from the county under local administration, and the other working out from and between population centers under state and Federal direction. It presents a clear picture of the processes by which the public is coming into the ownership of a comprehensive and well-coordinated system of improved highways, and it also shows that the Federal Aid plan has gone far enough in practice to prove its worth as a safe channel through which to apply increased Federal Aid in order that state and interstate roads may be rushed to completion more speedily.

SHOCKING!

"Some of the things said over the wires aren't fit to hear," said the telephone girl to the lineman. "Well, you can't expect to work around electricity and not get shocked," the lineman rejoined.

H. L. Gantz, one of the associate editors of Farm and Ranch was a visitor to our Fair Saturday and made a pleasant call on the Herald office.

Ownership of a Pontiac Big Six is an experience in economy. True, most people choose Pontiac, not because it is so inexpensive, but because of the many big car advantages which it provides. But it is a fact that with a Pontiac you actually save money. You save—

When you buy . . . When you drive . . . When you trade it in

You save when you buy a Pontiac because it is the lowest-priced car ever produced which offers so many advantages. You save when you drive because, according to a large corporation which employed 996 cars of 33 different makes during 1928, Pontiac costs one cent less per mile to operate than any other low-priced six. You save when you trade it in because the demand for used Pontiacs has always exceeded the available supply. Come in to see and drive the car which offers all these advantages.

Pontiac Big Six, $745 to $965, f. o. b. Pontiac, Mich., plus delivery charge. Bumpers, spring covers and leather shock absorbers regular equipment at $15.00 extra cost. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list (f. o. b.) price when comparing automobiles unless . . . Pontiac-Pontiac delivered price includes only authorized charges for freight and delivery and the charge for any additional accessories or financing desired.

AIM AT THE GOAL

It is an excellent thing to form the habit of setting a goal and work toward that goal. We find that most of our great men have become famous in this way. Thomas A. Edison, for instance, spent many long hours in his shop, working. Trying to find a way of making a light without a flame. He set this goal and worked until he had accomplished it.

So it should be with high school students at the beginning of the school year. We should decide on a definite goal, which should be to excel all records and then work diligently to that end. Come on students; let's make this a wonderful year.

—T-C-R— THE VALUE OF A SCHOOL PAPER

The question may often be asked by some students and people of the town as well, "Why have a 'high school paper'?" It is true that it takes time, hard work, and concentrated effort on the part of the students to make the paper interesting. This time isn't wasted, but well spent and will be of special benefit to all students who contribute to it, as only good thought and good workmanship will be accepted. The school paper is ours, and it furnishes one of the best ways of getting our interests before the people. A pupil almost ready to drop out of school will sometimes take heart and fight the battle of getting an education to a successful victory if he sees an article of his in the paper. Also work by the best students will encourage others to work harder in order to get an article published.

—T-C-R— SENIOR PLANS

At an early meeting of the senior class, it was decided for various reasons not to publish an annual this year. The time, talent, and effort usually expended on such a publication will be devoted to other and more lasting undertakings.

Among other things, the class has decided to buy for the new high school, a beautiful velvet curtain such as all of the newer high school auditoriums are equipped with. Such a curtain will not only serve as a memorial to the class but it will be an ornament to the school as well.

Should you be called on to stand back of the class in a financial way in their undertakings this year, you may find some comfort in the assurance that whatever money the class may make this year is to be put into something for the benefit of the school and of the community.

—T-C-R— BOOK COVERS FURNISHED BY LOCAL FIRM

When school opened on September 5, the high school students found waiting for them a large box of book covers which had been furnished by the Brownfield Hardware Company. This courtesy is very much appreciated by both pupils and faculty. Surely no one has an excuse now for being caught with an uncovered book.

—T-C-R— FINE ARTS

Mrs. W. H. Dallas reports that there are twenty-two piano students enrolled from the grade school, and eight high school students. A music recital will be given in the near future and perhaps a club formed of these students.

Miss Velma McClish and Miss Eileen Ellington were presented in piano solos on the Federated Missionary Society program Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Walter Gracey.

The Speech Arts classes are getting down to fine work. This year we are planning to do some real constructive study. There will be three individual recitals, besides group recitals.

We hope to organize a Children's Theatre, and a High School Dramatic Club, which will make a study of Educational Dramatics, and produce some good plays.

—T-C-R— P. T. A. BUYS PIANO FOR HIGH SCHOOL

At a meeting of the P. T. A. Tuesday, September 16, it was voted to buy for the high school a piano. It was very slow with a great deal of hubbub in the study hall fumbling by both teams. Tahoka's where the students and teachers assemble each morning for a short chapel exercise. The school board bought for us a hundred new song books which also add greatly to the interest of morning assembly.

—T-C-R— CO-OPERATION ASKED IN ROUND-UP OF H. S. BOOKS

Those in charge of the high school library this year find in checking over the books that a hundred and twenty volumes are missing from the shelves. Less than half of these books can be located if not recovered by means of the book cards left behind naming the pupil to whom the book was issued, though even this is difficult to do for many of the pupils owing books to the library are not even in school this year. However, the worst of the situation is the fact that many of the books seem to have made their departure without even the formality of leaving a card behind them.

An effort is being made to retrieve as many of these books as possible and those in charge of the library are asking the cooperation of all patrons and ex-patrons of Brownfield High School. If there has been a boy or girl from your home attending high school in recent years, take a look at this stack of old school books in the closet and if there are books there that show signs of having belonged to the high school library, please send them to school by some pupil. We are depending on your interest and co-operation in this undertaking.

—T-C-R— FRESHMEN ORGANIZE

The Freshmen Class met and organized on Wednesday, September 25. They elected the following officers: President, Bessie Holly; Vice President, Lataine Eicke; Secretary and Treasurer, Johnnie Corning; Reporter, Kathleen Hardin; Sponsor, Mr. White.

—T-C-R— RESERVES PLAY TAHOKA

The Brownfield Reserves football team played the Tahoka Reserves on the local field last Friday the 27th. This was a very interesting and a hard fought game and the local team should be proud of their 18 to 0 score. The local team show promise of being a great team and more people should come out and see the games.

—T-C-R— FIRST QUARTER

Brownfield kicks off with a good kick by Holgate. The first quarter was very slow with a great deal of hubbub in the study hall fumbling by both teams. Tahoka's ball as quarter ends. Score Brownfield 0, Tahoka 0.

—T-C-R— SECOND QUARTER

Tahoka fumbles ball on first play and Burnett, local player, covers the ball. A long pass by Scudday to Huckatee, puts ball on Tahoka's 1 yard line. Scudday pushes over for a touch down. Brownfield kicks and tackles Tahoka on 20 yard line. We hold for downs and Tahoka is forced to punt, but Markham, Brownfield full back, fumbles and Tahoka covers the ball. Tahoka's ball as quarter ends. Score Brownfield 6, Tahoka 0.

—T-C-R— THIRD QUARTER

Brownfield kicks and the two teams battle each other in midfield. Huckatee receives another pass from Scudday for 20 yard gain. Scudday breaks loose in the next play and runs 40 yards for a touch down through a broken field. Score Brownfield 12, Tahoka 0.

—T-C-R— FOURTH QUARTER

Brownfield kicks off. Tahoka is fighting hard trying to overcome lead. The two teams battle up and down the field each team putting out their best. Goodnature finally gets away and runs 80 yards for touch-down in the last few minutes of play. Score Brownfield 18, Tahoka 0.

—T-C-R— P. T. A. NEWS

The Parent-Teachers Association met the third Tuesday of September at 4 o'clock at the high school building. Several were present and an enthusiastic meeting was held. Especially was the attendance and interest of all our teachers appreciated. The president, Mrs. Bell, presided and gave a talk on the aims and plans of the P. T. A.

Reports of delegates from the district meeting in Floydada were given by Mesdames Holgate and Gracey. Mrs. E. V. May led in prayer.

A piano was purchased for the high school. The association decided to procure a victrola and records in order to have the music memory contest in our grade school.

Plans were discussed for "round-up campaign" in children's health to be conducted before cold weather begins. Look for date of next P. T. A. meeting at the grade school.

—T-C-R— REPORT CARDS OUT

Every child in high school should bring home a report card on Friday, Oct. 4. This is two weeks earlier than it is customary to make reports in the high school, but this year parents are receiving reports monthly instead of only six weeks. If Freshman Johnnie Holly, fails to show the report card at home, it might be well for his parents to remind him that they would like to see it. If it isn't forthcoming then, there is surely something wrong. Call Mr. Toone or some member of the faculty and inquire.

Miss Patterson: Winnie Mae, practice making your e's and i's more plain.

Terrill: She makes eyes all the time.

Don: Billy, why are you fat guys so good natured?

Billy: We have to be. We can neither run nor fight.

The boys were out on the football field practicing when Mr. Hayhurst came up to Dolphus and said, "Dolphus, tackle the dummy." Dolphus tackled Mr. Hayhurst.

James: You had better not put me in that joke section.

Dell: You are nothing but a joke anyway.

Mr. Hayhurst: Ruben, by what route did Magellan sail around the world?

Ruben: By a water route.

Alvin met Lenore and Frances going to school but did not stop to ask them if he could carry their books. When they got to school Lenore stopped Alvin and asked him about it. Alvin replied, "They have enough to send in the papers about me now."

"Old Arizona" First All Out-door Talkie

"In Old Arizona" is the first big outdoor talkie and a surprising disclosure of what can be done with a microphone in the open air. It presents a sort of "What Price Glory" story with western trimmings. One thing that it absolutely assures is a different sort of show than has ever been seen at any time before. For this reason "In Old Arizona" will perhaps in days to come be reckoned as epochal. The voice of Warner Baxter registers notably well. Dorothy Burgess finds herself quite acclimated to this siren role. Edmund Lowe amuses with his portrayal of a hard-boiled soldier.

Dismantling of several plants in California and building of several in Texas during 1928 put Texas first in number of oil refineries in the United States.

A NEW KIND OF CATTLE THIEF

During the past several months, the Lubbock county attorney's office has been besieged by calls for help from a number of farmers who have suffered losses at the hands of a new kind of cattle thief.

This new kind of a thief has made it a practice to purchase cattle from farmers, at the farm, giving checks for the amount involved. These checks have later been found to be no good.

From the number of cases reported, all similar, County Attorney Vaughn Wilson has declared that farmers of the South Plains cattle, poultry or any other product of the farm.

Even though the strangers represent themselves to be connected with business firms, unless the farmer know the firm and is acquainted with its operations, these checks should not be accepted. Truth is there's not many firms that have men operating trucks for them, to whom the buying cattle for them, to whom the privilege of signing the firm's checks is given.

There is no difference, basically, in a man stealing cattle from a farm or ranch, by carrying or driving them off, while the owner is not looking, and in taking the stock from him while he is looking and giving in exchange a worthless check.—South Plains Farmer.

S. L. Greathouse was in with a good brood sow during the fair, which he had on exhibit.

Incubators in Use in Egypt Ancient Model!

The incubator for hatching chickens is probably as old as history, which in the Mediterranean region runs back more than 4,500 years. There were doubtless, incubators in Egypt before Moses was born, and to this day in that country they are just what they were in the lifetime of the great Hebrew leader.

The art of hatching chickens is handed down from generation to generation, from father to son, a secret craft. Baby chicks are an important article of trade, and they are produced by millions for rearing.

The typical Egyptian incubator is a rude and cumbersome affair when compared with the modern device. It is a building of considerable size, of sundried brick. Through it run one or more passages, and on both sides of each passage are ovens (so to call them) in two tiers. The oven at the ground level has a small door; the one directly above it is entered from beneath through a manhole. The ovens are arranged in pairs, one below and the other above. The eggs are placed in the lower oven, and a fire is lighted on the floor of the oven overhead, to furnish the warmth requisite for hatching.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Moon and the Weather in No Way Connected

Curiously persistent are the various superstitions relating to the effect of the moon on the weather or on the farm crops. One of the most unreasonable of these beliefs, says the weather bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture, is that if the horns of the new crescent moon tip downward, it is a "wet" moon, portending rain.

As a matter of fact, on any given date the position of the crescent moon is always the same in places having the same latitude, so the same kind of weather would necessarily prevail, were this sign of any value, throughout a belt of latitude extending around the globe. Again, near the equator, in a part of the world notorious for its heavy rainfall, the young moon is generally in an almost horizontal position, or, according to the proverb, it is almost always a "dry" moon. If the moon could be viewed from the North or South pole, on the other hand, its position would be, for the superstitious, indicative of "wet" weather, but these regions are characterized by so little rainfall and snow that they rank among the arid parts of the globe.

Phrase Often Misapplied

Probably the majority of people who use the phrase "of that ilk" are ignorant of the real meaning of "ilk." It does not properly mean kind, set, family or race, as often supposed. "Ilk" is from the Anglo-Saxon "ilc" and means identical or same. In Scotch "of that ilk" denotes that a person's surname is the same as the name of his estate. "Knockwinnock of that ilk" means simply "Knockwinnock of Knockwinnock," the name of proprietor and property being identical. The improper usage of "ilk" to mean kind or sort probably originated as a joke and has been perpetuated through ignorance of the true meaning.—Exchange.

Hens as Barometer

If Cayenne pepper is added to the diet of white hens which have been hatched from carefully selected eggs, their feathers become pale rose in color, and they flush to a brilliant red when the weather is damp, and increasing humidity indicates the coming of a storm. These hens thus become veritable living barometers, and the progression of color from pale to brilliant is so exact that a scarlet hen stalking about the barnyard is regarded as certain prophecy of a storm that may be expected within 12 hours.—The Tycos, Rochester.

His Objection

It had been a tiring case for everybody concerned. The plaintiff and the defendant were both slow witted, and everything had had to be explained to them at least twice.

"Do I understand, my man," said the magistrate at one point, "that the defendant hurled invectives at you?"

The plaintiff scratched his head wildly. Then a look of understanding dawned in his eyes as he replied: "No, sir, to tell the truth, it was only bricks he threw at me; but what I complain about was the terrible way he swore at me when they missed!"

Beauty Made by Dust

Dust and sand contribute to the beauty of the skies. The infinitesimally short waves of sunlight you pour down merely as white light but for the diminutive dust motes that get in the way and sift out the component colors, from violet to red. And even when the colors are brought into existence they would stream on through the atmosphere and into space if the all but invisible water droplets did not huddle together and hold them for the world to see.—National Geographic Society Bulletin.

Chisholm-Gross Co. Show Oakland-Pontiacs

The Oakland Motor Car company today announces another addition to its rapidly growing sales organization in the appointment of Chisholm-Gross Motor Co. as Oakland-Pontiac dealers here for the smart new Pontiac Big Six and its companion car, the colorful new All-American by Oakland. Both lines of cars are displayed at the new showrooms at Chisholm Bros. store where the public is invited to inspect them.

The huge Oakland-Pontiac merchandising body with which the new dealers here are now identified has shown one of the most remarkable growths in the entire automotive industry. With 5,000 dealers throughout the United States, it is five times the size of the 1925 Oakland dealer organization.

A. R. Glancy, president and general manager of the Oakland Motor Car company, believes that 1929 will be the company's greatest year. The production and sales program calls for a sizable increase over the 260,000 Oakland and Pontiac Sixes built last year, which was 35 per cent greater than in 1927, the best year since Oakland first began manufacturing automobiles in 1907.

Intensification of the field organization in preparation for the year has been made under the direction of W. R. Tracy, vice-president in charge of sales, with the addition of 50 field men to the traveling force, the creation of new district offices and changes in field personnel. As a result today there are under Mr. Tracy six regional offices and 25 district offices to maintain contact between the factory and the sales forces in the field in the interest of improved public service.

CITY WEIGHER VICTIM OF DARING BANDIT PAIR

Lamesa was without a public weigher for several hours last Wednesday, as the result of one of the most daring daylight hold-ups ever staged here, when J. E. McSpadden was forced to drive his automobile at the point of a gun, all the way from here to Silverton.

According to McSpadden, he had just crossed the railroad track, headed east, last Wednesday, when two men jumped to the running-board of his car and ordered him to drive on quickly.

He drove nearly to the city limits of Silverton when he was ordered to turn around and retrace his route, McSpadden said. Shortly after they turned around, the car ran out of gasoline and he went after some. When he returned, he said, the two men were gone.—Lamesa Reporter.

IS PLAYING BRIDGE GAMBLING? LAW SAYS IT'S NOT

Gambling is generally considered foolish, yet in all ages it has been a popular pastime. In some respects it is nothing more than a game of averages, yet even this has a strong appeal to some folks. Men used to be the worst gamblers, and it was considered that they used betting as a means of stopping an argument. Women never wanted an argument stopped, so they never or seldom bet. But now that women have taken up betting, it is reasonable to suppose at least some of them are getting tired of argument.

A leader representative asked a local citizen the other day if he thought playing bridge was gambling. "No," was the prompt answer returned. "There is no money betting in a bridge game," it was explained.

"The players primarily play for the honors of winning, and the prize which is awarded at the end of the game or games is merely given in appreciation of the skill of the superior player. Likewise, a booby prize, of inconsiderate value is frequently given the one who has shown the least skill in the game. No one would accuse any person of gambling for a 'booby prize,' which in reality is looked upon more in the light of a disgrace that the recipient can play no better. In some bridge clubs a person receiving three 'booby' prizes in succession is suspended from participating in future games and meetings for a stated period of time, on the presumption that during the interim they will increase their skill through practice of the game."

On the subject of gambling or gambling the law of Texas, in part: "Whoever shall play or bet or wager any money or other things of value, at any game of cards at any place not a private residence occupied by a family, shall be fined not exceeding $50.00."

The same law would apply to the strenuous game of dominoes. However, in both games this exception is made:

"The above quoted shall not apply in case such residence is one commonly resorted to for the purpose of gambling, nor where a game is a banking game."—Littlefield Leader.

MAHARAJAS, BEGUMS AND NIZAMS SECURE

Pictureesque Indian Rulers to Keep Jobs.

Washington.—The recent report of the Indian states committee opposing the federation of the Indian native states and the British administration in India, tends to perpetuate the picturesque rulers of the hundreds of little and big states in the giant peninsula of India.

According to a bulletin from the Washington (D. C.) headquarters of the National Geographic society, these rulers, although they have adopted western dress and customs for many occasions, still are among the most colorful potentates of the East.

Fortunes in Jewels.

"Consider the maharaja of Patiala in festive array if you would have a true picture of eastern splendor and color," the bulletin continues. "He wears a diamond tiara from which hang loops of diamonds, pearls and emeralds. Around his neck is a three-row pearl collar and, on his breast, an emerald breast plate. His coat is of rich brocade, and his hand rests upon a diamond-hilted sword sheathed in a velvet scabbard studded with diamonds. On his fingers are diamonds, rubies, emeralds and pearls.

"Patiala's maharaja is outshone by other princes in the splendor of their jewels. One ruler has a carpet of pearls, 8 by 10 feet. Maharaja Holkar, of Indore, has a carpet of gold in his throne room and tall gold chairs. The gajkwar (palace) of Baroda's treasure, includes gun carriages and cannons of 200. White bullocks, with silver-capped horns and beaded trappings, convey these cumbersome carriages through the streets in official parades.

"Until a few years ago the ruler of Bhopal was a woman, the begum. Bhopal is a Mohammedan state and its woman ruler made pilgrimages to Mecca, and also visited England. There she was protected from 'invidious' eyes by an enveloping cape which gathered around her head, with lace-trimmed slits for her eyes.

"Perhaps the most novel banquet table in India is that of the maharaja of Indore. A miniature landscape of flowers and trees illuminated by revolving colored lights adorns the table. A trolley electric train runs around its edge on a small track. The train carries seven coaches, one each for carrying brandy, port, sweets, nuts, chocolates, cigars and cigarettes. At the end of the meal, the maharaja starts the train by pressing a button at his place, and it stops automatically at the slightest touch of a guest who wishes to make his selection.

"The nizam of Hyderabad, the ranking Mohammedan prince of India and probably its richest ruler, has the largest harem in India. His household, including all retainers, numbers 7,000. Hyderabad was once known as Golconda, a famous market for diamonds in ancient days, and the nizam's personal collection of jewels is worth millions of dollars.

Colorful Courts.

"Although lacking in quality and quantity of jewels, the retainers of the rajahs, in their voluminous turbans and richly colored coats, are almost as picturesque as their rulers. Corps of match girls wear fortunes in heavy gold ornaments, and are picturesque in their brilliantly-hued skirts and pastel-tinted saris. Even the elephants of state take to color and jewelry. Their tusks are cut off and bound with brass rings. In some states they are provided with solid gold ankle bands, and are tattooed with shawl effect on their foreheads and ears. One ruler has a solid-gold pavilion mounted on the back of his favorite elephant, and others gild these howdahs and hang them with gorgeous trappings and tapestry curtains.

"The maharaja of Udaipur has some famous dancing horses. These are pure-bred horses, reared in gold-covered bridles and brocade saddles, which prance with careful steps to the sing-song music of their Indian accompanists. These dancing horses are popular and may be found in the stables of many of the Indian princes.

"Despite the enormous wealth of the princes and other potentates of India the masses of the people live in poverty. The average individual income of India's 380,000,000 people is estimated at less than the equivalent of $25 annually. British rule has brought two blessings to India, the building of railroads which avert the regional famines which, in the past, dealt death to thousands, and protection of her northwest border against invasion by marauding tribesmen."

Deputy Sheriff Kindly Gives Thief a Lift

Billings, Mont.—Walter Scott, negro porter, will be very careful with whom he rides in the future.

He left a barber shop, where he was employed, taking some hair tonic, appliances, and loose cash with him. Catching a ride out of town the following day, he was forced to take to the road again when the truck became bogged in a mud hole. His luck held out, apparently, as he approached another car that had stopped on the road.

Scott was given a ride to Hardin then escorted into the police station there by his kindly benefactor who happened to be a deputy sheriff from Billings who had heard of the barber shop robbery.

It was told us that some people who have recently moved here could hardly believe that all the stuff shown at the fair was produced here in Terry county. One fellow said it would take a city of ten thousand people down where he came from to make such a showing.

Grandma Bragg was among the visitors here from Loveland during the fair.

200 Tons of Ice Water Wasted Here in Year

Brownfield poured 200 tons of melted ice down the drain pipes of its refrigerators during the last year without its housewives getting any good from it.

This amazing figure, arrived at by the Leonard Institute of Food Preservation, is the annual ice waste in Brownfield due to faulty refrigeration. It is based on a survey of ice meltage in Rochester, N. Y., showing a per capita waste of 500 pounds of ice. The American public is literally pouring water into a sieve, the water being in the form of ice and the sieve being the leaky uninsulated refrigerator that does not keep out hot air.

The average family should use about 8,000 pounds of ice a year if the refrigerator is well insulated and the doors fit tightly, according to food specialists. This provides for keeping the ice chamber well filled in winter as well as summer. Although the average family uses only half this amount, the survey at Rochester, a typical American city, showed that an alarming portion of the ice purchased is wasted each year in the average home. For the nation this involves a loss of millions of dollars in ice alone, besides the even greater loss in spoiled food caused by the poor refrigeration.

Purchasers of refrigerators too often consider price alone, say food preservation experts. Like an automobile, the refrigerator should be purchased on performance as well as appearance.
